LICENSING OF AUTO MECHANICS RAPIDLY

Most of the Agencies Queried Are Against Plan; Chamber Tables It.

A six months survey conducted by the Chamber of Commerce in regard to the advisability of licensing by the state of all automobile mechanics has been completed, and in a report to the Automotive Division yesterday, Executive Secretary E. J. McCabe stated that forty-three replies were received to the questionnaire, of which number twenty-seven voiced objection to the plan and sixteen favored it to some degree.

The subject was discussed at several meetings of the Automotive Division of the Chamber last December and the plan was finally presented to the Board of Control of the Chamber, which body authorized that a survey be made. The Chamber office communicated with Chambers of Commerce throughout New England and New York state, as well as several branches of the United States Chamber and various State Chambers of Commerce throughout the country and national automobile associations.

FOR BONUS TROUBLES
The principal argument against the plan, according to a consensus of the 27 replies that voiced disapproval or objection, was that the organizations contacted were not in favor of additional state bureaus which would be necessary to examine and license automobile mechanics.

Up To Motorists
Prominent national officials of the United States Chamber of Commerce and of various Automobile Associations voiced the opinion that the intelligent automobile owner realizes the importance of having his repair work done in a reliable service station where first class mechanics only are employed, and that through this, the situation is automatically taken care of itself.

DANGER OF STARVATION
In the House, Representative Black (D., N. Y.) introduced a bill to authorize a $125,000 appropriation for the care of the bonus marchers...
18 IN FAVOR
Of the 18 who favored the plan, to some degree, two represented Connecticut cities, eight from other New England cities, two from cities in New York state and four from state Chambers of Commerce.

BONUS MARCHERS KILLED
One World War veteran was killed and two others may die from injuries they received last night in an automobile accident while en route from Lexington, Ky., to Washington to join the "Bonus Army."

On the religious question, Senor Davila denied church property would be taken over.

WOMAN BELIEVED
KILLED BY AUTO

Found Lying On Road With
Back Broken She Is Later Identified.

Woburn, Mass., June 8.—(AP)—Police and medical examiners investigating the death of Jean Calloway, 29-year-old Boston woman who was found dying by the roadside in an isolated section of Woburn today inclined to the theory that she had been struck by an automobile.

She was found yesterday by a man attracted by her screams and died two hours later at a hospital. Her back had been broken in two places and her chest crushed. While it was thought possible that she might have fallen or leaped from an automobile, Medical Examiners Timothy Leary of Boston and Vernon C. Stewart of Woburn were inclined to the belief that she had been struck by a car.

Miss Calloway was unidentified for several hours until state detectives had located. Mills Hoyer of Boston, whose name was found on a card in the dead woman's pocket-book.

Wine Drinking Party
Police said a wine drinking party in a restaurant in Boston's north end preceded Miss Calloway's death and they sought seven men and a blonde woman known as "Helen" who were in the restaurant with the woman before Miss Hoyer left for home.

Miss Hoyer told officers she found "Helen" and Miss Calloway in a restaurant late Monday night. They were with two escorts, Miss Hoyer said, and all had been drinking. She tried to persuade Miss Calloway to go home with her and when she refused left her a card with her address.

Miss Hoyer returned to the restaurant about 12:30 yesterday morning, she said, and again tried to persuade Miss Calloway to go home. She left with three men and Miss Calloway called her back and urged her to stay. Miss Hoyer went home, however, and said she knew nothing of what happened after that.

LEGISLATURE ENDS
IN MASSACHUSETTS

Solons Refuse To Act On Ely's Tax Program Or Approve Extra Session.

Boston, June 8.—(AP)—The Massachusetts legislature was prorogued at ten minutes before midnight last night after it had refused to take any action on the special taxation program of Governor Ely or pledge itself to a special session without extra compensation should one prove necessary.

President Gaspar G. Bacon of the Senate and Speaker Leverett Saltonstall of the House gave written assurance to the governors, however, that if a special session should be called they would make every endeavor to have the members serve without extra compensation. Governor Ely had refused to consent to prorogation until he had received such a promise.

The only bill considered during the closing hours of the 147th session of the legislature which affected the governor's plan for relief of cities and towns was the House bill providing for transfer of $2,000,000 from the highway fund. It was rejected in the Senate by roll call, 23 to 17.

Before the Senate had acted on the measure Governor Ely had told newspapermen that he would not approve such a bill. "It accomplishes nothing," he said.

The joint rules committee had reported "no legislation necessary" on the governor's message last Friday in which he said that he hoped the general court, before prorogation, would pass a resolve pledging services without pay at any special session that might be called. Substitution was moved and refused when the committee report came to the Senate.

The last veto of the session came just before 10 o'clock last night, when the governor returned without his approval items in the supplementary appropriation bill calling for $764,750 to provide for the payment of money not yet borrowed in connection with the governor's building program of 1931. The veto was sustained.

Taxation Bills
During the night session the supplementary budget was enacted and $9,750,000 state taxation bills were passed.

A bill to establish an emergency finance board for regulation of the affairs of cities and towns in financial distress, last of the cities and towns relief proposals, was killed in the House by an overwhelming vote.

During the legislative session 304 acts and 49 resolves received the approval of the governor. He returned 8 acts and four resolves and was sustained in 5 of the acts and all of the resolves. The governor withheld his approval from two acts which have become law under provisions of the Constitution of the Commonwealth.

The Senate was prorogued by Frederic W. Cook, secretary of state, at 11:46 p. m., and the House three minutes later.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8.

tains a good many crude ideas and he lacks the tact to either cover up or minimize his deficiencies. With his general equipment, if he had had a shred or two of diplomacy or just a little less cock-sure confidence, he might have become considerable of a figure in the Senate, not to be displaced by a glorified pitcher like this Field.

It is to be predicted that if the latter is elected—as he is fairly certain to be since Iowa Democrats are almost as scarce as Iowa rocks—the people of that state will find no great reason to be proud of their selection.

CARRYING IT FAR

There was a very pretty little news story in a Bridgeport newspaper Monday about a boy of five whose safe arrival at Hamburg, Germany, had been cabied at the conclusion of a voyage made quite alone under the guardianship of the ship's officers. Such a voyage for a child of that age is very unusual. So the fact that he had arrived safe and well, had been met by his grandparents and been taken to their home in Coblenz made a nice little human interest tale.

However: This Stratford five-year-old is not an orphan. His father and mother are alive and have a home. The little boy was sent to Germany to stay for several years—for what reason? So that he might go to a German school rather than a Stratford school and get his start in life as a German and not as an American.

THE GUILFOYLE CASE

It is possible that in the criminal annals of this country there may be a parallel for the peculiar case of Dr. Harold N. Guilfoyle, Hartford veterinary surgeon, who has asked the Superior Court to change his life sentence to one of death by hanging, demanding it as a legal right; but nothing like it has occurred before in Connecticut, so far as we can recall.

It is, however, far from being the first time that the grounds on which Guilfoyle brings his petition have existed. His contention is that, having been indicted for first degree murder and his guilt of first degree murder having been proved, the trial court of three judges had no legal right to arrive at a verdict of second degree murder and sentence him accordingly to life imprisonment. There are many instances of such outcomes of trials under first degree indictments in this state. It has been the custom of juries to reach verdicts that disregarded the indictment's stipulation of degree for so long a time that it has become an established part of Connecticut criminal practice. It is therefore extremely improbable that any court would find, in the Guilfoyle petition, sufficient reason for annulling the decision in the present case.

Public opinion would, it is fair to assume, be almost unanimously against the following of the course proposed by the petition—a reopening of the case and imposition of the death penalty. The doctrine of double jeopardy would somehow seem to apply. The proposition offends the common sense of fairness.

Altogether Dr. Guilfoyle seems to be running very little risk of the gallows in making his extraordinary and somewhat sensational appeal.

Perhaps one does not have to be unduly suspicious in order to get an impression that there may be more to this maneuver than appears on the surface. It is narrowly within the bounds of possibility that the prisoner or some shrewd adviser may have seen, or thought he saw, a chance of attacking the verdict in this unique way and perhaps in the end invalidating the conviction without very great hazard of having it succeeded by a conviction in the first degree.

It is somewhat less difficult to conceive of a lifer trying to get out of prison altogether, through a technicality, than it is to imagine him trying to get out of prison life by way of the death chamber.

IN IOWA

Iowa Republicans apparently have had enough of Smith D. Brookhart as their representative in the United States Senate. His defeat in the primary by Henry Field, the spectacular seaman and general merchant who advertises his business and his political aspirations from his own radio station, appears to the outsider to be more a matter of Brookhart weakness than of Field strength.

The seedsman seems to be a shrewd sort of country trader with a keen perception of the foibles of his fellow men rather than a potential statesman of even the fourth grade. He has made the best of his opportunities, conducting his campaign very largely on the fact that Brookhart has used his position to get a swarm of his relatives on the public payroll. There must be eight or ten of them occupying federal and state offices through the senator's influence. Field has harped on that string till he has, apparently, won a senatorship.

Seriously, it looks as though Iowa had made none too good a swap. Brookhart is really an able man, a good many sizes bigger than the high individual who has now beat him. Unfortunately he entered dates while Reynolds' plurality was not far from 7,000.

But even if Morrison should come out of the second primary a victor, North Carolina, one of the sternest of prohibition states for many years, will have made some new history that casts a bright light on the change in sentiment toward the Eighteenth amendment.

GARNER BILL

Speaker Garner's "relief" bill, passed by the House yesterday under a gag rule, has probably accomplished, through the very act of its adoption by that body, the purpose for which it was originally conceived. Nobody believes that the twelve hundred million dollar public buildings program embodied in it will survive Senate action; least of all, in all probability, the bill's author. But hundreds of communities, particularly in states more or less politically doubtful, have had lapsed before their eyes specified proposals for pork-barrel endowments in the way of federal building contracts and labor employment; and it is going to be great campaign material for the Democrats to tell the people of these communities how the Senate, or perhaps even a Hoover veto, kept them from getting these magnificent handouts.

That, quite obviously, is the true purpose of the Garner bill. It has been intended as Democratic propaganda; and quite particularly Garner propaganda. One may look for some very special reason any time the name of the speaker of the House of Representatives appears in connection with a legislative measure as its author.

IN NEW YORK

If Winter Comes

New York, June 8.—Because it was May, someone recalled that it was Mayor James Walker himself who had penned the refrain "Will You Love Me In December As You Do In May?"

December is quite a few months off! Nevertheless, two newsreel camera directors, from their vantage point on the stern of a truck, made mental notes to suggest musical hunch to the sound track experts.

New York Personalities

Whatever may happen between this May and next December insofar as Mayor James Walker and Samuel Seabury are concerned, Jimmy will remain a symbol of one phase of New York life that gets most often into the public prints.

To begin with, there is the Walkerque blue silk handkerchief. It is such a handkerchief as the indelible brand of Fifth Avenue. So do the other sartorial fancies of hiszonor!

Other ingredients: an apartment at the Mayfair; quiet cornered reservation at the swanky Casino cafe; first row seats at first night Broadway shows; a certain manner of flicking a cigarette; a nervous habit of seeming to arrange an immaculate tie; a reputation for rapid fire repairs; wisecracks that carry a bite and a Manhattan philosophy; a keen perception of audience moods and a quicker turn in the direction of the theatrically sentimental; a birth certificate with a Greenwich Village address; a Tin Pan Alley legend—

Or a restless combination of nerve and nerves; a Broadway sense of crowd psychology; a keen capacity for showmanship; a reputation for never being on time or not showing up at all; but rarely failing to show up when the spotlight glares properly; an accident of being photographed in such ease and at such places as all weary New Yorkers envy; a finished performer and a political trouper who can play any town from London to San Francisco; a double match for any heckler and capable of silencing with a phrase the loudest haranguer; at home in any company, with Florida or the Riviera for his winter retreats; a ringside seater at the prize fights.

ASTONISHING

While it is a long way from being established that the North Carolina Democrats are going to nominate and elect a wet to the United States Senate the astonishing fact remains that the wet has won the preliminary primary, and by more than an eye-lash. When it is considered that the dry candidate was the present Senator Morrison, entrenched and possessing a complete and powerful machine, the extent of the change in the general attitude of North Carolina toward prohibition may be realized, for the liquor question was the paramount issue of the campaign.

There is still a chance for Senator Morrison to defeat his opponent, Robert R. Reynolds, because there must be a run-off between these two, Reynolds having fallen considerably short of a clear majority, there being some 60,000 votes that in the first primary went to three other candi-

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCOY

Berries

Among the wholesome berries we find blackberries, blackberries, blueberries, cranberries, loganberries, mulberries, raspberries, rosbuck berries, service berries, strawberries and whortleberries.

Blackberries contain more magnesium than the others; cranberries more calcium and sulphur; huckleberries lead in potassium and phosphorus and raspberries lead in chlorine. It is better to obtain the fully ripened berries so that on sugar is needed to make them palatable. The berries which do need the addition of sugar, such as cranberries, are not as valuable from a dietetic standpoint.

Strawberries contain a larger amount of iron, sodium and silicon than any other fruits or berries. The strawberry flavor appeals to everyone and it is better for one to use the fresh fruit rather than artificial flavoring in preparing foods. Strawberries, though an acid fruit, do not cause acidosis. In fact, they are so alkaline-forming as to be a valuable remedy.

The Strawberry Rash

While strawberries are wholesome, it must be remembered that they are an acid fruit and should never be used with starchy foods, but should be eaten along with milk, non-starchy vegetables or proteins. They should never be used as strawberry shortcake. Wrongly combining strawberries with starches is largely responsible for their bad reputation of being poisonous to some people. Those individuals who break out after eating strawberries suffer from a toxic condition, and it seems that the strawberries actually speed up the elimination through the skin to such an extent as to cause itching or even inflammation. Care should also be used in not using the other berries with starches. All of the berry pies and berry shortcakes, while exceedingly palatable, are unwholesome for this reason.

Berries of all kinds combine well with milk or cream and may be used in imparting a delightful flavor to many recipes which do not call for starch or flour. Below is given an excellent recipe for making berry ice cream. One may vary the flavor each time the ice cream is made, using strawberries one time, loganberries another, and so on throughout the obtainable varieties of berries.

Berry Ice Cream

Measure into a dish half the contents of an envelope of unflavored gelatin and add to it enough cold water to soften and add the desired amount of any kind of berry, mix thoroughly with a half pint of cream. Into another bowl put a pint of whole milk into which has been thoroughly mixed about half a cupful of honey and add the berries. Next, add the gelatin which has been dissolved over hot water. Stir all together and pour into freezer and freeze until of the desired consistency. The amount makes about one quart depending upon the quantity of berries used. The amount of honey will vary, according to the kind of berries you prefer.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Pellagra)

Question: Mrs. Myra L. writes: "I would like some information about pellagra. Can it be cured?"

Answer: The best dietetic treatment for pellagra is a short fast for four or five days followed by a well-balanced diet as outlined in my weekly menus. In overcoming this trouble it is especially important that you obtain sufficient protein, such as meat, and also a sufficient amount of foods containing Vitamin B2 which prevents pellagra. Some of these foods are: whole grain cereals, milk, meat, green leafy vegetables, egg yolks, asparagus, dried lima beans, wholewheat bread, buttermilk, ravy cabbage, carrots, canned green corn, eggplant, fresh ham, lentils, oatmeal, oranges, parsnips, baked Irish potatoes, baked sweet potatoes, green peas, canned tomatoes, turnips, walnuts and yeast.

(Catarrh)

Question: Mr. E. Robert J. writes: "I am clearing my throat and bringing up little pieces of clear mucus. Do you think this is necessarily a forerunner of tuberculosis?"

Answer: The little sacs you mention are simply the exudation of catarrhal phlegm and cannot be considered the forerunner of tuberculosis. Of course, an extreme catarrhal condition may be good soil for the development of tuberculosis, but your problem now is to get rid of your catarrh, which you can be doing by diet and exercise. I will be pleased to send you instructions if you will write to me again and enclose a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

FREIGHT CARS BURN

Clinton, Mass., June 8.—(AP)—A gas tank car exploded and burst into flames early today after the "Buller" crack freight of the Boston and Maine railroad between New York and Portland, Me., was derailed about a quarter of a mile south of the Clinton station.

Eighteen of the train's freight cars were destroyed by flames from the burning tanks. No one was injured and the line was cleared of wreckage within a few hours.

A broken track on the fourth car from the engine caused the derailment and 18 cars of the 22-car train left the tracks. A number of the cars rolled down an embankment into Coachlake pond.

The train had left Worcester on her run to Portland a short time before the accident.

The Political Follies of 1932

By BODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

Washington — The increasing vigor with which Governor Franklin Roosevelt has been hollering for his "forgotten man" strengthens the likelihood that this year's presidential contest will resolve itself into at least the semblance of a conservative-progressive struggle.

We do not seem to be much nearer the long-awaited political reformer which would provide a liberal party and a conservative party instead of a Republican and Democratic party each of which is loosely divided into factions in which the conservative is usually predominant.

No one need look to the party platform for any such distinction between the major parties. The very fact that the parties are divided among themselves, sectionally and in nearly every other way, destroys any possibility of a strong, definite, constructive platform.

An Important Factor

But Roosevelt, in the probable event that he is nominated, will at least be sufficiently distinguished from Hoover in his general viewpoint as expressed on the stump to attract most progressives and a large number of independent voters who regard Hoover as an arch-conservative.

That will be a very important factor if Roosevelt is nominated. There is no precise method of computing what might be considered the potential progressive or independent vote in 1932, or of estimating the increase that would be bound to accrue to it in any such year as this. It seems worth remembering, however, that the late Senator LaFollette received nearly 5,000,000 votes for president when he ran on a progressive third party ticket in 1924.

Cite England's Case

On the other hand, there are many who will tell you that this is going to be an emphatically conservative year rather than one in which the progressive idea is likely to be favored. In state primaries there have been results which have been used either to substantiate that theory of its converse, but there has been one national election which the theory's proponents point to as extremely significant—that in Great Britain.

Their supposition is that Britain was faced with a crisis, that the United States is in a crisis and that the popular trend toward safety—the progressives nearly all piled off into a third party.

Smith's Boomerang

Al Smith's attacks on Roosevelt for his alleged "demagoguery" in urging the cause of the "forgotten man" reacted in the governor's favor among the progressives. Apparently Roosevelt figured that the entire net result was favorable toward his candidacy, for he has followed up with a demand for redistribution of the national income and a warning that there will be trouble if nothing is done on the part of the "millions in want."

PHONE WORKERS STRIKE

Shanghai, June 8.—(AP)—The nine telephone workers employed by the Shanghai Telephone Company, which serves the International Settlement and the French concession, went out on strike today in opposition to the installation of an electric meter system which would increase the number of employees.

The strike developed just as the city was recovering from a strike which disrupted the service.

MOVE TO COMBAT COMMUNIST ACTS

V. F. W. Here Names Committee To Fight Un-American Propaganda.

Decided action was taken at the meeting of Anderson-Shea Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at their meeting last night, to combat, by the selection of a committee, forming a link in the National chain of anti-Communist groups representing the National body, of all Communist activities aimed at the National Defense Act of 1920 and other infractions against recognized government.

John G. Glenny, Leo T. Mason and William Leggett were selected by the commander to co-operate with the police in combating all un-American propaganda in this vicinity. Information regarding the activities of Communist groups working in this vicinity will be forwarded by the National V. F. W. Committee on Communist Propaganda in New York, and the local committee will in turn report any activities disclosed in this connection.

The committee asks co-operation of the school children, churches, B.Y. and Girl Scouts, and all organizations interested in this work to report un-American meetings or agitator-inspired gatherings. The committee wishes to call attention to the fact that the headquarters of the Communist Party of America are at 50 East 33rd street, New York City, and the Internationale which is practically the same body, is located at 80 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Bulletins will be issued by the committee from time to time warning of workers of the Communist International groups in this state. Hartford County Council Commander, Raymond E. Frost, was the guest of the post at last night's meeting and gave members information concerning the 1932 convention to be held June 24-26 in New Britain.

Commander Frost notified Commander Moriarty that Anderson-Shea Post will lead the Veterans' Division in the parade, Saturday, June 25, as last year's first prize parade June 25 with 100 members strong, dressed in a striking uniform of red, white and blue and a band.

It was voted to issue a challenge to Dilworth-Cornell Post, American Legion, for a series of three twilight baseball games to decide the ex-service men's baseball championship of Manchester. A vote of thanks was given Comrade James Hynes for his services as the Memorial Day parade marshal.

MEANS TRIAL OPENS

Washington, June 8.—(AP)—The trial of Gaston B. Means on an indictment charging embezzlement and grand larceny of $104,000 from Mrs. Edward B. McLean in an alleged Lindbergh ransom fraud began today in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

Selection of a jury was delayed by arguments over whether Catholics would be prejudiced either for or against the testimony of a priest who figured in strange negotiations between Means and Mrs. McLean, after she hired him to recover the infant kidnaped on March 1 and later found dead.

Colonel Robert H. Guggenheim, close friend of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, was named as a witness for the prosecution by United States Attorney Leo A. Rover. The prosecutor also called Dr. Francis Hurney, the priest.

BANDITS SENTENCED

Bridgeport, June 8.—(AP)—Prison terms ranging from one to six years at Wethersfield to six months in the county jail were imposed by Judge Frank P. McEvoy in the Criminal Branch of Superior Court today on the pleas of guilty of five men whose arraignment was the final chapter in a series of hold-ups that terrorized storekeepers in Norwalk in the last few months.

Three of the men whose ages ranged from 25 to 40 years were sentenced each to serve from one to three years for robbery with violence and in addition one year for burglary. They were Charles Hauser, Robert Brown and Edward Hendricks. William Canfield, who provided an automobile in which the men operated in one hold-up, was sentenced to eight months in jail, and John Britto, driver of the car, was given a six months' sentence.

STEAMER AGROUND

London, June 8.—(AP)—The Spanish steamer Teide, out of Barcelona, ran aground today south of the island of Fernando Po, off the west coast of Africa, Lloyd's reported.

The vessel was said to be in a dangerous position but boats put out from the island to take off the 500 passengers. The British steamer Aitiam radioed that she was on the way to the assistance.

11 ARE INDICTED

Charles Oederman Uses Herald Advertising To Sell Garden Plants and Flowers.

Once again The Herald has proved that it pays to advertise. Charles Oederman of 504 Parker street put up all sorts of signs at his farm informing passersby that he had garden and flower plants for sale but they availed nothing.

Finally he decided to put an advertisement in The Herald. This accomplished astonishing results for Mr. Oederman. He said that people came from Coventry, Rockville and Manchester to buy his plants.

CAPTAIN HEEBNER IS ELECTED AGAIN

Named To Head Hose and Ladder No. 1—In Position Since 1898.

Hose & Ladder Company, No. 1, of the South Manchester Fire Department, held its thirty-fifth annual meeting at its headquarters on Fire street last night and Lewis N. Heebner, general manager of the Manchester Electric company, was re-elected captain of the company, a position which he has held since its organization in 1898.

Fire Alarm Report According to the report submitted by Mr. Heebner, on the activities of the company for the period from

Capt. L. N. Heebner

June 1, 1931, to June 1, 1932, the company responded to 15 bell alarms and 48 still alarms during the year, a total of 63 alarms that exceeds last year by six bell alarms and 17 still alarms. This is, by far, the largest number of alarms in the history of the company.

The heaviest fire loss of the year occurred when the Park building, located at 841-843 Main street, owned by William Rubnow, was completely gutted by fire on February 4, 1932. Damage to the building itself amounted to approximately $100,000.

The Executive Committee will meet next Wednesday evening, June 15, at the Hose House to frame the roster and plan the activities of the company for the year. The outing committee will meet in the near future and select the date and location of the outing.

Fireman Hampered In his report, Mr. Heebner also brought out the fact that the firemen were seriously hampered in their work by both automobiles and persons at the last fire of the fiscal year at 473 South Main street on May 26, last. The report said that "this fire brought to a climax a condition which has existed for some time at almost every bell alarm fire. This condition must be corrected before it results in the destruction of homes and property or in a tragic accident of some sort."

The report also reviewed the social activities of the Company, including the annual outing, the annual banquet, the bowling contest, and also recorded that the company completed the year without a financial deficit.

Company's Growth During the thirty-four years which he has served as Captain of Hose & Ladder Company, No. 1, Mr. Heebner has seen the company grow from a membership of twenty-two volunteer firemen to an organization of fifty-eight members. The company organized on May 22, 1898, the first company to come into being after the organization of the South Manchester Fire Department. Originally the fire alarm system consisted of thirteen boxes, which number has grown to 85, including private boxes.

A small one-story building, 8 by 12, without attic, cellar or club-room, erected on the premises of H. C. Forbes on Pine street, served to house the apparatus owned at that time, which consisted of one two-wheeled hose cart and equipment. When the fire occurred in the old Cheney Block at a loss of nearly $100,000, the community awakened to the fact that their present fire protection was inadequate and many needed improvements, including the purchase of a hook and ladder truck with money raised by public subscription, from west side residents.

First Alarm System It was during this same year that an auxiliary fire alarm system was installed in one of the member houses. This system was originated by Mr. Heebner, who was also superintendent of the fire alarm service and was a device operated through a relay at the Central Station from the main fire alarm circuit which enabled members to locate the box from which the alarm was rung, without waiting to count the number of blasts of the whistle, which many times were rather indistinct.

In 1913, the horse-drawn apparatus was replaced with a motor driven outfit, consisting of a combination chemical hose wagon and a hook and ladder truck. In 1920 a fire pump was purchased and in 1928 a combination ladder and chemical motor truck was purchased, the total value of the equipment now being about $25,000, owned entirely by the company.

FATHER HANGS SELF Ansonia, June 8.—(AP)—The body of Peter Hoek, 57, father of five small children, was found hanging from a tree in a suburban section last night. He had been in ill health and had grieved over the death of his wife a year ago. The medical examiner gave a finding of suicide.

Tex Rickard left an estate appraised at $500,000, but it was finally valued at about $184,000.

Diplomas Awarded At Hamilton Heights This Afternoon; 54 In Graduating Class.

Three Manchester girls received their diplomas at the commencement exercises held this afternoon at St. Joseph's Seminary, Hamilton Heights, Hartford. They were Miss Dorothy Agnes McNeill, daughter of Mrs. Lena McNeill, of Elliard street; Miss Katherine Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, of Fairview street, and Miss Mary Clemens, daughter of Mrs. Jennie H. Clemens, of East Center street. All three were graduates of St. James' parochial school of this town.

Bishop McAuliffe addressed the class of 54 and presented the diplomas to the graduates who had successfully completed four years of study. Two of the local girls were honor pupils, and all took the regular college course.

MIDDLEBURY HONORS MISS RUTH McMENEMY

Miss Ruth McMenemy, a junior at Middlebury college, Middlebury, Vermont, has been honored with election as social chairman of the women's college at Middlebury, a newly created office. Miss McMenemy will play a prominent part in the College Dramatic club play, "Death Takes a Holiday", which opens Senior Class Week Friday evening of this week. She will remain for the senior ball Monday evening in McCullough Gymnasium and is expected at her home on Marble street on Tuesday.

Governor Wilbur L. Cross today issued a proclamation in which he designates Tuesday, June 14, as Flag Day; taking cognizance of the depression by stating that "For over a century and a half, the Flag has been a living symbol to which in these days of stress and strain we must dedicate ourselves anew in confident hope of peace, plenty and contentment."

The proclamation is as follows: "Among our national holidays, Flag Day stands out alone and unique as the one that typifies the whole of the national being. The Fourth of July is the anniversary of the Nation's birth. Memorial Day is sacred to the memory of those who gave their lives that the Nation might live. With faith undimmed in the permanence of our Country, its safety and security, and with an abiding confidence in the social justice for which the Flag stands, and in accordance with the Statute, I designate Tuesday, the fourteenth day of June next, as Flag Day."

STUDENTS IN RIOT Pittsburgh, June 8.—(AP)—An anti-war demonstration and protest against the appearance of Gen. Douglas McArthur as the commencement speaker at the University of Pittsburgh was stopped by police today.

Two students and a former student were taken to a police station. They were removed from the university activities building while preparing to hold a meeting.

A group of students recently protested the engagement of General McArthur, army chief of staff, as the commencement speaker. Chancellor John G. Brown of the university disregarded the protest and said the group represented a small percentage of the student body.

The commencement exercises were held in the athletic stadium. Ten city detectives were detailed to duty there while thousands gathered to hear Gen. McArthur and witness the exercises for the 1,362 members of the graduating class.

28 PASSENGERS HURT IN RAILROAD WRECK Deans, N. J., June 8.—(AP)—A fast express smashed a derailed freight near here last night, sending 28 passengers to hospitals for treatment, and bruising about 20 others.

Only two of the injured were in a serious condition today. Frank Schock, engineer of the express, and Harry McCulley, his fireman, were in a critical state. Both are of Atlantic City.

When his locomotive and three cars plunged over an embankment, Schock was hurled into a brook and was almost drowned before being pulled out. He suffered fractured ribs and other hurts. McCulley suffered a possible skull fracture.

The four truck-trunk line of the Pennsylvania railroad was still blocked. New York-Philadelphia trains were re-routed via Monmouth Junction and Perth Amboy.

The express was bound from Atlantic City to New York when the crash occurred. It plunged into a freight derailed by coal which sprinkled the tracks from an open chute in a gondola. The express locomotive caromed off a gondola car and landed in the brook.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, June 8.—(AP)—The securities markets again presented a somewhat waxy appearance today. Stocks gave away more readily than bonds, but neither market showed any disposition to resume last week's recovery. Nevertheless, the reaction from Saturday's highs was still kept fairly well within the bounds of a normal setback.

Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit remained a weak feature in shares, losing about 3 points. Special selling also cropped out in Macy, which dropped 4 to a new low. Woolworth reacted 2, in selling coincident with announcement of retirement of H. T. Parson as president. American Telephone lost as much. Alaska Juneau, bull pool favorite of a few months ago, sagged 1 1/2 to a new low. Miscellaneous issues of a point or so included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Tobacco "B", North American, Santa Fe, North Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, National Biscuit, Corn Products, General Foods, International Harvester. Auburn was a firm spot, rising more than 2 points in short covering on the expected formal announcement of its price reductions.

With steel production reported at the lowest since last December, and some uneasiness manifested in financial quarters over the state of governmental economy and relief measures, brokers were inclined to the belief that the share market was giving out as good an account of itself as could be expected for the moment. It was pointed out, however, that any further substantial slump toward the low average levels recorded before last week's recovery would be a bad technical sign.

The wide open break in the B-M-T shares has been a disturbing influence this week, and probably has accentuated the reaction of the general market from Saturday's top levels. The common stock has recovered under 12, compared to the year's high of 50 1-4, and the preferred has dropped under 38, from a 1932 top of 76 3-8. The only explanation thus far has been the prospect of dividend reductions or omissions in connection with meeting a $12,500,000 note maturity Aug. 1. B-M-T common reflected considerable bullish activity not long ago, accompanied by circulation of rumors regarding transit unionization in New York, and a possible fare increase.

Although automobile production was estimated for the United States and Canada at 185,970 cars and trucks for May, an increase of about 20 percent over April, it is apparent that the quickening of output by the Ford Motor Co. has accounted for much of the improvement. Steel buying by the automotive makers has been disappointing. Ford takes care of a substantial part of its own requirement. General Motors May sales showed some reduction. Total sales to dealers were 68,739 cars and trucks, as against 78,369 in April. Auburn's sharp price cuts are expected to accentuate the competitive situation.

Electric power production figures for the past fortnight show a reduction of 12.2 per cent from the like period of last year, or a slightly more favorable comparison than in the preceding three weeks. For the second week of May, it was off from last year as much as 13.1 per cent.

Cardinals Sell Rhem and Delker To the Phillies

RICKEY CONTINUES TO LET PLAYERS GO BY SALE OR TRADE

Already Ten Have Figured In Transactions Including High, Grimes, Hafey and Wilson.

New York, June 8.—(AP)—Shortly before he left for a conference with Manager Burt Shotton of the Phillies, Branch Rickey remarked with a laugh, "Well, the National League's 'angel' must be on his way."

They have been calling the field marshal of the St. Louis Cardinals just that, and a few other things, around the baseball corridors these days. Apparently his latest visitation bore fruit for the Phillies since blossomed forth in possession of Charles Flint Rhem, big right-handed pitcher, and Eddie Delker, utility infielder.

The explanation of most of the Cardinals' extraordinary success of player deals, by which the Cubs, Dodgers, Reds and Phillies have benefited this season, is that the world champion adopted a house-cleaning plank for their 1933 campaign.

The policy of most pennant winning clubs is to stand pat, at least until circumstances force a change. The Cardinals, however, do not believe in letting a championship streak bring their vision. They are willing to trade away a considerable portion of their chances of winning this year and they have unquestionably done so in order to build more solidly for 1933.

In short the Cardinals prefer to reorganize now, at a profit, rather than to repeat, at an added cost in the future.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by William Braucher

It is hard to believe John McGraw really has resigned as manager... his heart is so concerned with all the doings of the game... he has lived by his ball club for so many years...

If you were to take a figure in baseball today typical of the very game itself, you would have to take one of two men... the other man is Connie Mack... their rivalry has been traditional since they first met in a world series...

The years passed and they met again... in 1911... and Mack turned the tables on the National League master mind, winning four games to two... Then, two years later, they met again...

McGraw never forgets... not only does he cherish the memory of injuries, but keeps a flame a bright fire of friendship for those he likes... there are ball players who have not played with the Giants for many years...

McGraw smart in the ways of baseball, he never has been one to take defeat complacently... he would use every means within his power to win a ball game... he resorted to all sorts of strategy and tricks to win games...

He became the base of umpires... there were times even in his later years as manager of the Giants when his appearance on the field was the signal for a riot... especially in Cincinnati.

Shortly after Andy Freedman made him manager of the Giants, McGraw started to make radical changes... he signed one player at an increased salary... Freedman told him he had been intending to let the player go...

In his handling of the club, McGraw was an autocrat... he was an egotist... they finally began calling him "the master mind"... his name gave rise to that expression as it has been used on the diamond for many years...

McGraw was a natural showman... and knew, too, the value of the old things in baseball... he kept Jim Thorpe around for years after it became apparent Jim would never be able to hit a curve ball...

They say he made many mistakes... he let players go for little or nothing... and paid huge sums to get them back... he did not hesitate once he did not want a ball player on his team...

CONVENTION MUST PICK NEW LEAGUE PRESIDENT

Luther Group of New England In Session Here Soon Must Name Rev. Hjelm's Successor.

When the 16th annual convention of the New England Conference Luther League is held at the Swedish Lutheran church here on Saturday and Sunday, June 25 and 26, it will be necessary to elect a new president at the opening session to succeed Rev. Arthur O. Hjelm of Worcester, Mass. Rev. Hjelm has accepted the call to the pastorate of St. Paul's Lutheran church in Chicago, Ill., vacated by Rev. Knut E. Ericson, who will arrive in Manchester early next week to assume his duties as pastor of the local church.

Rev. Hjelm has been president of the Conference Luther League for a number of years and has proven an able and efficient leader. In past years the annual election of officers at the business session Saturday afternoon has been a routine matter but Rev. Hjelm's removal from New England will make the election of a new president imperative and there will in all probability be several nominations for the office. Rev. Hjelm will attend the convention here and will preside over the business session. He will also deliver the confessional sermon at the Communion service Sunday morning. It is expected that this will be one of the most largely attended sessions of the convention, more than a thousand persons probably being present.

The link in the Buckland road development eliminating the sharp curve at Adams street and Tolland Curran, is now open to use, the storm sewer protecting it having been completed. This finishes the new road from Love Lane Junction to Tolland Turnpike at Buckland with the exception of the delayed operations at the underpass of the New Haven road, where there is a bad bottle neck. It is expected the railroad will do its part of the work during the summer, when the last of the road work will be finished.
