

FOX MUST APPEAR AT SENATE PROBE

Former Film Magnate Claims He Is Too Sick To Testify Concerning Stock Market Speculations.

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—The Senate banking committee, by a unanimous vote, today refused to release William Fox, the former film capitalist, from a subpoena to appear before it in its Stock Market investigation.

Chairman Norbeck explained after the committee's session that no action was taken on Fox's request that he be permitted to return to New York to recuperate from illness that is preventing his appearance.

In this request, made through a personal representative of Fox, the latter promised to hold himself subject to the call of the committee.

Norbeck said the committee did not refuse or accede to this request, but that it took a sick man's talk but indicated that failure to set was tantamount to permitting Fox to go back to New York but remain under subpoena.

He added with a smile, however, that if he (Fox) took a sick man's talk to New York, the committee will feel that he was sufficiently well to testify.

The committee has been attempting for several days to get Fox to appear. The film operator, however, ill in his hotel, has steadfastly refused to attend and has sent to the committee statements from physicians that his appearance would endanger his life.

He is suffering from diabetes, F. A. Hornoy, his doctor, notified Norbeck today that he had examined him this morning and that his condition was about the same except he had contracted a head cold.

Norbeck said the Stock Market inquiry hearings would be resumed Thursday with "a lamb" to the witness stand would name the witnesses scheduled to appear.

RIVALRY WATCHING NEW YORK'S VOTE

Politicians Say Decision Will Show Who Will Be Democratic Candidate.

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—New York with her 94 votes became the sudden focal point of Democratic convention skirmishing here today as leaders of Governor Roosevelt looked to the Empire State to make a choice for him in the quarrel with Alfred E. Smith.

DOCTOR WARNS SENATE POOR GROWING RESTLESS

New Yorker Says Congress Dares Not Adjourn Without Providing Relief; Next Winter a Critical Time.

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Dr. Sidney E. Goldstein of New York today urged a Senate committee to pass unemployment relief legislation, warning its members that Congress dare not adjourn without meeting the situation.

He told the Senate manufacturers committee that "despair leads quickly to a state of desperation, and outbreak and explosion are nearer than our leaders realize."

Dr. Goldstein, chairman of the executive committee of the joint committee for unemployment relief, said: "Those of us who are nearer to the working classes, know that their temper is changing and that they will not suffer much longer without relief. No government can now injunctive without reaping a revolution."

"Congress dare not adjourn without meeting this national catastrophe in an adequate and statesmanlike manner. Mr. Hoover and his associates start at the wrong end. What is needed is not an increase in the credit power of financial agencies that exploit and oppress the people. Instead of credit power in the hands of others, we demand for the working classes immediate relief and employment."

"There is no excuse for the government."

TROOPS OPERATE CHILEAN TRAINS

Attempt To Call Strike Fails; Santiago and Rest of Country Is Quiet.

Santiago, Chile, June 20.—(AP)—Trains on the Santiago-Valparaiso railway line were operated by soldiers today, after a strike of the trainmen in protest against the counter-revolt which overthrew the Junta headed by Colonel Magaña.

There was an effort to start a strike of street railway employees and tie up the city transportation lines here, but it failed.

The military train crews on the Santiago-Valparaiso line were protected by detachments of troops as they operated the trains. Except for these disturbances everything appeared quiet at the capital today.

Country United
Carlos Devilla, head of the new Junta, declared emphatically that all armed forces and a "united country" stood behind his government, in spite of reports that a counter-revolt in behalf of Colonel Grove was under way.

First Day of Summer But Not Longest Day

Iowa City, Ia., June 20.—(AP)—Astronomy offers a brain-twister for tomorrow, the first day of summer. The problem—Is tomorrow or Dec. 22 the longest day of the year? Answer—December 22. Solution—June 22 is only the longest "daylight" day of 1932, one and one-half seconds more from sunrise to sunset than today, and two seconds in excess of Wednesday. But Dec. 22, measured from noon to noon, is more than 24 hours long—the excess being 30 and two-thirds seconds. That is longer than any other day this year. Explanation—By C. C. Wylie, assistant professor of astronomy of the University of Iowa: "Because of the fact that we measure time rather than apparent time, sun does not rise from day to day by about 30 seconds near the date of the winter solstice. In mid-

MURDERS WIFE, FOUR CHILDREN; KILLS HIMSELF

Georgia Farmer Was Brooding Over His Arrest For Breaking Liquor Law; His Father Finds Bodies.

Canton, Ga., June 20.—(AP)—Paul Hardin, 30 year old farmer living ten miles southwest of here, shot his wife and four small children to death last night and then committed suicide.

The tragedy was discovered this morning by John Henry Hardin, father of Paul, who went to his son's home for a visit. The elder Hardin found the house locked, and peering through a window, saw the bodies in a bedroom.

Notified Canton police, who broke through a door, and removed the bodies of the farmer, his 24 year old wife, and their four children, Henry, 6, Ruth, 4, Dorothy, 2, and Pearl 1. All had been slain by a pistol found near Hardin's body.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict that Hardin killed the others and took his own life.

The elder Hardin said he thought his son's mind had been deranged by brooding over his arrest last January on a Federal charge of violating the liquor laws. Young Hardin has been at liberty on $3,000 bond pending trial.

HIT BY AUTO, MAY HAVE BROKEN NECK

Lorenzo Bentley, 72 Years Old, Run Down At Center This Morning.

Lorenzo Bentley, 72, of 4 Sterling place, was struck by a car driven by Leon Cone of Crystal Lake at the Center shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. Mr. Bentley was in the middle of the street, crossing from the north sidewalk to the bus parking area as Cone came up Main street and turned into East Center. Bentley received bruises about the face and a possible fracture of the neck.

Let Children Cross
Cone reported to the police that he had stopped to allow several school children to cross and started up again. The driver said that he saw Mr. Bentley hesitate, and he continued on towards East Center street. When the car was nearly opposite the pedestrian, Cone saw him start across, too late to avoid striking him.

Car Stopped Quickly
He was struck by the left fender of the car, and was thrown to the pavement. Cone said that he was

SCHEME TO LOWER TARIFFS OF WORLD

Belgium and Holland Sign Pact and Other Nations Expected To Follow.

Lausanne, Switzerland, June 20.—(AP)—A customs union between Belgium and Holland, open to participation by the other European states, was reported to have been signed here today.

It was designed as the first step in a general reduction of world tariffs advocated yesterday by the six northern nations which are parties to the Olo protocol of 1930. The larger powers are much more likely to accept this union than the combination which Austria and Germany sought to effect some months ago.

ANOTHER NEW SPEAKER

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—The House today had another Speaker—Representative Bandhead (D., Ala.).

The duly elected presiding officer, Garner of Texas, was still ill from bronchitis and had to remain at home.

NEW YORK GREETSS AMELIA EARHART ON HER ARRIVAL

VANNIE HIGGINS, GANGSTER, SLAIN

Walks Without Guards and Eight of His Rivals Kill Him in Brooklyn.

New York, June 20.—(AP)—Vannie Higgins, who got careless, is dead and the police are hunting "Rats."

"The rats," said Vannie Higgins, who was one two three among the big names of gangland until guns erased him yesterday, "they even tried to wipe out my family."

He was shot four times. One bullet passed through his abdomen. Just before he died several hours after he was fired on by mobsters, he said:

"I ain't saying who did it. I'll take care of them."
But he died and the police are trying to "take care of them."
Three Suspected
They sought three men for questioning. One of them is Salvy Spalte, whom Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh named as an intermediary in the baby case. The others who police hope may know something about the Higgins murder are "Tough Willie" McCabe and William Bailey, one of Higgins' "boys."

Higgins, reputed to be a power in the liquor racket, was shot down by eight men, who opened fire methodically at Higgins, his wife and their eight-year-old daughter on a Brooklyn street. One bullet narrowly missed the child as her father, bleeding from fatal wounds, ran from the attackers' fire only to collapse a moment later.

Higgins was set upon and knifed in a brawl several months ago. Since then he had seldom vented out a word without a bodyguard. Saturday night in response to his daughter's pleading he went with her and Mrs. Higgins to an affair at the Knights of Columbus club in Brooklyn, leaving his bodyguard free.

FAVORABLE REPORT ON PITTMAN BILL

Measure Authorizes U. S. To Buy Up All the Domestic Silver Production.

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—A favorable report on the Pittman bill authorizing the United States to buy up the domestic silver production was voted, 8 to 4, today by the Senate banking committee.

Chairman Norbeck declined to make public the votes of the committee members, announcing only the totals. The measure was recommended to the full committee by a subcommittee Saturday, which favored it by a 2 to 1 vote.

As the bill stands the United States would be authorized to purchase all the domestic silver at the current market price at the time bought, with a limit of 5,000,000 ounces monthly and a price limit of fifty cents per ounce.

Would Aid Recovery
The bill would be paid for through the issuance of silver certificates of $10, $25 and $1. denominations and subsidiary metal coins.

Senator Pittman (D., Nev.) sponsor of the measure, and other advocates of rehabilitation of the white metal as a monetary unit contend that removal from the world market of the United States production would aid enormously.

This country produces roughly about one-fifth of the world's annual production, the domestic peak output in recent years having been approximately $1,000,000. An expenditure of from $9,000,000 to $12,000,000 annually was estimated as likely to be needed to take the domestic metal off the market.

Amelia Earhart

tion," she said, adding in her opinion women have been over-praised for their achievements in flying.

"Do you think you've been over-praised?" she was asked.

"Yes," she replied promptly. Met by Fliers.
Accompanied by her husband, George Palmer Putnam, publisher, Miss Earhart arrived on the liner Le De France. They were taken off at Quarantine aboard the city yacht Riverside, where a score of widely known fliers waited to greet the tall slim young woman with curly blonde hair who long ago was nicknamed "Lady Longy."

While furs whistled, aerobats sent columns of water high into the air and airplanes swooped and roared, the Riverside proceeded to the Battery, where a crowd of 5,000 more waited to give Miss Earhart her second welcome home. It was very much like the welcome she received four years ago on her return after her flight to Wales as a passenger with Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon.

"I'm just as glad to get back as I was four years ago," she said. "And this time I know the committee better."

One of the first to greet her as she came aboard the Riverside was Elinor Smith, who herself had been planning a trans-Atlantic solo flight when Miss Earhart beat her to it.

"Thanks, Elinor—it means a great deal to have you say that," she replied in response to Miss Smith's congratulations.

She added the five hours' blind flying she was compelled to do had been to her the high light of the flight. "It's easier flying than having to keep searching for a horizon," she told Miss Smith.

No Time To Think
Some one asked her what she thought about during her night alone over the Atlantic.

"I lived on credit over there," she said. "I didn't go to for any orgy of buying, but I had to get some things." Among her purchases was a tailored brown suit and hat and striped blouse she wore today.

Talks About Prince
"I hope the Prince was amused," she replied when some one asked her about her meetings with the Prince of Wales.

"Like most fliers," she added, "the Prince was."

She was greatly impressed by the King and the Queen of the Spains.

"They are both exactly what you'd expect a King and a Queen to be like," she said.

Musical, she added, showed her a "more grotesque side of his personality than some Americans are aware of."

Day's Program
After the greeting by Miss Walker at the City Hall, Miss Earhart will be in Naugatuck Wednesday.

BOLTON'S WHOLESALE MARKET A SUCCESS

Growers Dispose of 1,200 Bushels of Strawberries—50 Trucks Attend. Fruit growers and farmers who compose the Bolton Growers' Association were jubilant over the success of the first Sunday's business of the recent combine. They sold yesterday at the headquarters, Emil Brochetto's farm in South Bolton, 1,200 bushels of strawberries. More than 50 trucks visited the market during the afternoon and a busy, interested throng negotiated for the berries, or satisfied the inner man at the hot dog and other refreshment stands. One truck left the market with a load of 125 bushels of freshly picked berries, which sold at about $3.25 a bushel. Fruit dealers from all over the state and throughout Massachusetts were represented. The Bolton growers realize a better profit in disposing of their produce in this way, and incidentally save time in taking the fruits and vegetables to the Hartford and other markets. Everything is wholesale. No purchaser, whether a dealer or consumer can buy less than a crate or a bushel. Already 40 farmers have joined the association. Just at present strawberries are the main item. They are picked every day and the market is held from 4 to 6 every afternoon.

OBITUARY DEATHS

Mrs. Alice B. McVeoy, wife of Patrick B. McVeoy, of 72 Church street, died Sunday morning at her home after a year's illness. She is survived by her three children, Miss Julia M. McVeoy, Miss Helen D. McVeoy, and Edward F. McVeoy, all of Manchester and by her brother, Thomas D. Flaherty, of Deep River. She leaves, also, two sisters, Miss Rose Flaherty, of New Britain, and Miss Mary Flaherty, of Williamstown. Mrs. McVeoy was born in Williamstown, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flaherty. She came to Manchester thirty years ago, and soon after was married to Patrick McVeoy. She was a charter member of St. Margaret's Circle, Daughters of the Holy Family, and one of the officers of the Circle. She holds membership also in the local division of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. She was an active member of St. James' Guild before her illness, and was a worker in St. James' church. The funeral service will be held at her home Tuesday morning at 9:30. At St. James' church at 10 o'clock a solemn requiem high mass will be sung. Burial will be in St. James' cemetery.

SEN. LONG SCORES NEW APPOINTMENT Calls It Crime To Put Marcel Garsaud On Power Commission—His Charge.

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Opening a fight against the reappointment of Marcel Garsaud to the power commission, Senator Long (D., La.), told the Senate today "there never was a greater crime against the men, women and children of this country than when that man was put on the power commission." Long referred to Garsaud, a Louisiana, as "a thimble-rigger, thimble-rigger appointee of the most nefarious interests in that part of the country." "Every job he ever had," said Long, "was a result of this power trust."

ABOUT TOWN

The Junior Boys' Glee club of the Emmanuel Lutheran church will rehearse at 6 o'clock tonight. The regular monthly meeting of Campbell Council, K. of C., will be held this evening in their rooms in the State Theater building. Action will be taken on applications and the committee on the outing to be held next Sunday will report. Sergeant John McGilgan came upon a man early this morning who was looking for a friend from Bolton. The man, who speaks English with difficulty, told the officer that he had come from New York to work on a fruit farm in Bolton and had walked to Bolton, but did not find the man. He was sure he could meet him in Hartford at market if he got in there early enough. The car for Hartford on the first trip in the morning leaves at 4:30 so the officer took him to the center where he was allowed to sit in the car and having done considerable traveling he decided to make himself comfortable by removing his shoes and stockings saying that his feet were "sick."

HANSEN TO GRADUATE AT YALE TOMORROW

Ludwig B. Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hansen of 37 Elro street will graduate with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering in the Yale graduation exercises tomorrow morning. Ludwig Hansen has been prominent in athletics and other extra curricular activities. The past year he was fullback on Yale's championship 150 pound football team. He played class football, basketball and baseball on four championship teams, and hence won four sets of numerals. In the past winter he played with Yale Students, an organization of Yale students entered in city wide basketball competition to foster good feeling between town and gown. Hansen has been chairman of the Yale Student Branch of American Society of Electrical Engineers for the past year. He is a member of Scroll and Compass. His fraternity is Beta Chi. He has worked his way through school, and was aided in this by holding scholarships for four years.

NO BAND CONCERT HERE TOMORROW

The annual series of band concerts sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce will not start tomorrow night as the Salvation Army Band has not been able to prepare its program on such short notice, having received the invitation to play only last Saturday. It is expected, however, that the concerts will begin Tuesday evening, June 28, in Center Park. The concerts will be presented weekly through August.

WHOLESALE ARRESTS

New Haven, June 20.—(AP)—The forces which effected the repeal of the so-called Savin Rock gaming law during the 1931 General Assembly were disclosed today as the complainants who brought about the arrest of 33 concession owners and employees Saturday night by State police. The wholesale raids at the west shore amusement resort were made after a committee representing the Women's Church Union, the New Haven Council of Churches, the Connecticut Council of Churches and the Women's Law Enforcement committee had complained to Anthony Sunderland, state police commissioner, and S. R. Boyd, state attorney. State police were said to have spent three weeks gathering the evidence on which they issued bench warrants. The 33 men arrested will be arraigned in Superior Court tomorrow before Judge Ernest A. Inglis. They are at liberty under bonds of $500 each.

MINNEAPOLIS ORGANIST GUEST OF LOCAL FAMILY

Acting Organist George H. Byles of the South Methodist church, who when in town makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hohenthal of Center street, had as his week-end guest his friend and fellow-student, Luther Nosse of Minneapolis, Minn. Mr. Nosse and Mrs. Byles graduated a year ago from the Yale School of Music. The former returned for a year of study and will receive his master's degree this week. In order to obtain it he composed a symphony which was produced by the New Haven Symphony orchestra two weeks ago. He also won a $2,000 scholarship to study abroad and will leave for Vienna in September after spending the summer vacation at his home. Organist Nosse attended the services at the South Methodist church yesterday and complimented the work of the choir. Mr. Byles left today for Boston to attend the convention of organists there all this week.

MINSTREL FESTIVAL AT CONCORDIA CHURCH

Will Be Held Wednesday Evening—Organist Werner In Charge of Minstrel.

A minstrel show and strawberry festival will be the attraction Wednesday evening at the Lutheran Concordia church, Winter and Garden streets. The refreshments which will include strawberry short cake with whipped cream, strawberries in various other ways, ice cream and coffee, will be served by the Ladies' Aid society of the church, and the minstrel will be under the direction of Organist Fred Werner. The festival will open at 7 o'clock and at 8 the entertainment will be given by the young men and women of the choir. It will be a blackface minstrel, somewhat similar to one given successfully at the church a few months ago. The program will include a variety of songs and choruses, numbers and the usual patter of jokes and local bits. The price of admission, as their advertisement elsewhere will show, is placed purposely low so that whole families may enjoy the minstrel.

LOCAL TENNIS PLAYERS LOSE IN TOURNAMENT

Jimmy Britton and Bobby Smith Defeated In West Hartford Tourney. Two Manchester High school tennis players competed in the West Hartford Country club net tournament Saturday and Sunday. Both were eliminated. Jimmy Britton fell in the first round, losing to Joe Garsaud, tall, hard-hitting champion of Hartford. Garsaud, who lost to Lee Wiley in the New England tournament 6-2, 6-4, was forced to three sets to conquer the local southpaw, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. Bobby Smith, leading local school-boy tennis star, won his first round match outlasting T. Waddy 6-0, 6-2 and then was defeated in the second round by T. W. Slack 6-8, 6-3. Slack was seeded number four in the present tourney and Garsaud number one. Slack went to the third round in the New England tourney.

CHARGED WITH ARSON Stamford, June 20.—(AP)—Frank Raino of Stamford was arrested this morning by Stamford police on a charge of arson, which alleges he set fire to his home, the interior of which was gutted early this morning with a loss estimated at $2,000. Discovery of holes in the walls of every room in the house with oil-soaked rags stuffed in them led to his arrest. Raino and his family were absent from the house when the fire was discovered at 2:15 this morning.

Personal Notices CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all my neighbors and friends and especially the police force for their kindness and sympathy extended to me during my recent confinement in the loss of my loved one. I would also thank all who furnished me with flowers and cards. ERIC TRILLAS ROSELL.

NEW LONDON REPORTS INFANTILE PARALYSIS

New London, June 20.—(AP)—Dr. Millard Knowlton, director of the State Bureau of Preventable Diseases, arrived here this afternoon from Hartford to consult with local health officials relative to the discovery of a vast case of infantile paralysis here Saturday afternoon. Pending further investigation and advice from State officials Health Officer B. N. Pannell has ordered the public schools closed and all children under 15 years of age and under excluded from theaters and other public assemblies until further notice. The victim of the disease is Herbert Dempsey, 12, who is in a critical condition at the Mitchell isolation hospital in a respirator. The grammar school he attended draws pupils from all parts of the city and it was because of this that the health officer ordered all schools closed until further notice.

DR. WOOLLEY ADDRESSES GRADUATES BY PHONE

South Hadley, Mass., June 20.—(AP)—Mount Holyoke college seniors today heard their president's commencement address over a transatlantic telephone connection. Mary E. Woolley, president of the college and American delegate to the Geneva disarmament conference, spoke to the senior class from Geneva, Switzerland. Her voice, coming over the transatlantic telephone, was amplified to all attending the 95th Mt. Holyoke commencement night here. "I am glad that you are going to add your influence to the life of your day," she said. "It means every bit of power that you can bring to it—intellectual power and moral and spiritual power." Dr. George E. Vincent, former president of the Rockefeller Foundation predicted reaction in higher education from extreme specialization and vocationalism toward the old idea of liberal education modified and reinterpreted to meet the needs of modern times.

IN FIRST SERMON

Large Congregations Hear Pastor At Emanuel Lutheran Church.

Rev. Knut E. Erickson delivered his first sermon as pastor of the Emanuel Lutheran church yesterday, speaking in the English language at the morning service and in the Swedish language at the evening service. Rev. Erickson confined his address in the morning to his ministry in the local pastorate, using as his text the following verses from St. Paul's second epistle to the Corinthians: "For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus' sake. For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us."

The congregation was very large at both the morning and evening services.

RECOVER 24 BODIES

Montreal, Qc., June 20.—(AP)—Divers today resumed their search for the bodies of three men missing since an explosion wrecked the oil tanker Cymbeline as she lay in dry dock here last Friday.

Including the three missing, the death list today stood at 27, with 24 bodies recovered. In addition 35 injured were in hospitals.

The bodies of three firemen killed in the explosion lay in state today in a draped hall in fire department headquarters. An open space has been prepared for the body of Fire Chief Raoul Gauthier, whose body has not yet been recovered. A civic funeral will be held for them Wednesday.

Meanwhile, arrangements went forward for the burial of other victims of the disaster today and tomorrow.

SOCK AND BUSKINS HOLD ANNUAL DANCE

Initiations of New Members Is Both Entertaining and Embarrassing—Good Stunts.

The annual Sock and Buskins dance, which included the initiation of new members was held at the Country Club Saturday evening. The old and newly-elected members were asked to arrive early in order that the initiation of new members and election of new officers might take place before the guests arrived. Those on the committee for initiation planned an entirely new stunt this year which was quite effective and caused much embarrassment to the new members. Stuart Joslin, chairman, called on the members of his committee, each of whom had prepared a stunt for five people, respectively. After giving each of the new members a few minutes in which to think the thing over they were called on to entertain.

Hallett Stiles and Agnes Donohue were asked to carry out the usual romantic scene only instead of using the old expressions "this is so sudden" at cetera, they employed only the letters of the alphabet and put the meaning across to the audience by their inflection and actions. Letters such as "I-m-n-o" and just plain "o" were worked in quite appropriately at times and furnished decided entertainment.

Bessie Quinn and Gordon Fraser worked out the well known scene "Romeo and Juliet", a chair draped with Miss Quinn's stunning red evening wrap, serving as the balcony. She was asked twice, and maybe more, to take a ride in the Austin of her ardent admirer but he was forced to be content with a red rose which was flung to him in a most dashing manner.

Walter Wright, as the husband, Rita Stephens as the wife, and Ernest Durkee as the lover who, in the end, was forced to play "second fiddle" worked out the old "triangle" in the form of a melodramatic pantomime. Alice Atkin, Alma Androlot, Marian Fraser, Doris Junior W. C. T. U. Group Hears Seminary Speaker In Prohibition Talk.

The Y. P. B. had an interesting rally last evening at the South Methodist church. The chapel was well filled with an audience which was much interested in the varied exercises. Miss Ellnor Burr had charge of the program and read the scriptures. Prayer was offered by Miss Florence Schilge. An anthem was rendered by the Cecilia club under the leadership of Thomas Maxwell. After the announcements by Rev. A. Colpitts, and during the taking of the offering, Miss Lillian Hutt rendered a piano solo. Another song by the choir followed. Miss Theodora Maxwell at the piano. Miss Betty Quimby recited "Shall America Go Back?" by Evangeline Booth. Some time ago Miss Quimby won a diamond medal with this reading in a medal contest under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Miss Quimby is the daughter of C. P. Quimby, principal of the high school.

Following this, Miss Burr gave a few words explaining that the "Y. P. B." is the Young People's Branch of the Manchester W. C. T. U. She then introduced the speaker of the evening, Alfred H. Coons of Hartford Theological Seminary. He began with emphasizing the great changes in the world for the better since the time of Christ, and said he believed greater changes yet are ahead. "I want Prohibition," declared he, "because I want Liberty. Some say Liberty died when the 18th Amendment was placed in our Constitution. No: Liberty was born then! I love my children and all children and do not want them maimed or killed by drunken drivers of automobiles or airplanes. These disasters will be increasingly frequent as the 18th Amendment is repealed—as proved in Canada. We have no use for that which will bring harm to others and will injure both drinkers and non-drinkers alike. Alcohol does not bring freedom. It has destroyed homes, betrayed the hopes of men and women, and deceived a multitude of people who are in many ways most

TAX GOES ON TONIGHT

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Today is the last tax free day for matches, autos, candy, radios, face powder, yachts and all the tremendous list of articles brought into the Federal government's revenue raising net by the new emergency tax law.

After tonight the movies (except those where you get in for 40 cents or less) will cost more, so will telegrams and long distance phone calls, while bank checks will cost two cents apiece.

It will not be necessary however to stick three cents stamps on to letters until next month.

FOREST FIRES CONTINUE

Chicoutimi, Que., June 20.—(AP)—Forest fires continued to burn today in the counties of Chicoutimi and Lake St. John, and in some sections the situation was considered alarming.

A number of new fires have broken out in both counties and there has been no rain.

Fifty men were transported by airplane yesterday to aid in fighting a fire on the Mistassini river, 150 miles from the village of the same name. This fire was reported burning in brush and forest timber over a stretch of 16 miles.

Two hundred men employed by pulp companies and the government were fighting without breaks in St. John county. Fires dotted across on all sides, with the most serious blazes around Antoine and Hemon townships. Several fires also were burning in the Saguenay region.

Half a Loaf is Better Than None!

That's an old, old saying but it's true today. Many of us have to be content with a little less of everything—and so it is with the family laundry. Here's where the half loaf becomes very, very satisfying to me.

I would like the luxury of New Method's "Alironed" complete family laundry service but right now I am perfectly happy with the luxury provided in the "PROSPERITY" and "SUCCESS" services.

These low-priced services provide me with far more than the proverbial "half loaf." I couldn't keep house without them. They lift the drudgery from my shoulders and make house-keeping with a limited budget far more endurable.

We have five more complete family laundry services as well as dry cleaning and suit pressing services. You May Have New Method Quality at Ordinary Cost!

NEW TAXES

Beginning at midnight tonight the American people are going to experience the effects of political monkeying with the flat-rate sales tax which was originally proposed as an emergency measure for the raising of revenue for the balancing of the federal budget. The law now going into effect is a hodgepodge makeshift, the administration of which, in all human probability, will not be thoroughly understood by one ordinary individual in the country.

"Is a sheepskin a fur?" If it is a fur it is taxable at ten per cent when it is sold. If it isn't a fur it isn't taxable. The government itself doesn't know. Is ping-pong a game or a sport? If it's a sport a ping-pong set must pay ten per cent upon its sale. Otherwise nothing. Uncle Sam doesn't know. Nobody knows.

There will be literally thousands of cases of confusion such as this. It could all have been avoided by a straight sales tax with very definite exemptions covering the fundamental necessities of existence. The sales tax would have cost the people no more.

But the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives went on a wild rampage over the sales tax proposal, kicked its own leaders out of the boat, ran up the black flag—and gave us this thing!

Well, we can pay our two cents on our bank checks with a fair sort of idea of what we are doing. And next month we will put three cent stamps on letters without much bewilderment. Also we are going to know all about the four cents a gallon on oil and the one cent on gasoline that will be tacked onto the price. As for the rest of it, most folks will fork over whatever the storekeeper says he ought to and the manufacturer whatever the latter says he ought to, and we will be helping to balance the budget without in the least knowing what it is all about.

NEXT THE DEMOCRATS

With the opening of the Democratic national convention only a week away substantially all analysts of the situation except those whose predictions are obviously mere Roosevelt ballyhoo agree that the New York governor cannot get the Presidential nomination on the first ballot; and a good many of them are convinced that he cannot get it at all.

Theodore C. Wallen, reviewing the field for the New York Herald Tribune, places the outside maximum of Roosevelt votes in the initial test at a figure which leaves the New Yorker 80 delegate votes short of the 770 necessary to nominate under the two-thirds rule of the party. His is as good a conclusion to accept as a basis for guessing on the outcome as one could need or find.

Whether or not Roosevelt can pick up, on the second or third ballot, enough votes from the half dozen other recognized candidates and favorite sons to give him his two-thirds is a question the answer to which Governor Roosevelt would, it is probable, dearly love to know. Opinion is divided even as to the probabilities in the case. There is a good deal of feeling that that last 80 votes is going to be extremely difficult to obtain—that the country has been combed very thoroughly already to make up the 690 on which the Roosevelt leaders are figuring, and that the first-ballot strength of the Roosevelt movement will prove to be the best strength it will ever show. It is generally assumed that if Roosevelt does not get his two-thirds very early he will never get them.

On the other hand, Roosevelt's array of delegates is so large that it would seem unreasonable to expect that the convention could nominate any other candidate against the opposition of the New York governor. Which would seem to make the stampeding of the convention to Alfred E. Smith a practical impossibility—unless the governor should return a blow with a caress and himself consent to the Smith nomination. This is a possibility so remote that no forecaster apparently has even considered it. They have, indeed, taken into account the possibility that Roosevelt's support might gradually dwindle away, if his nomination should appear too difficult, but nobody has suggested that if Smith should succeed in "stopping Roosevelt" the latter might fall to indulge in the reprisal of stopping Smith.

Yet Franklin D. Roosevelt is a man of great amiability—an amiability and forgiveness so great as to approach rather closely to softness; it is that very quality which a good many Democrats do not like in him. Would it, after all, be wholly out of keeping with his character if, in the event of his being kept out of the nomination, quite graciously, to the man whom he must thank for his licking? Not one politician in a thousand would do that. But stranger things have happened than that Roosevelt should prove to be the one thousand and first.

Mark Sullivan has a theory that the whole Smith movement is a masked maneuver in the interest of the candidacy of Newton D. Baker and that Smith himself has no real notion of becoming the candidate. Which will strike the average person as being a bit far fetched, but from which again may be a deduction from more inside information than most political writers possess.

Anyhow, the Democratic national convention of 1932 promises to provide what it almost always does provide, a whale of a good fight.

BISHOP BARTLETT

Manchester has reason to take a deep interest in the career of Rt. Rev. Frederick E. Bartlett, bishop of North Dakota. Not only is he a native son of this town but he is a prelate. Not only is he a prelate but, judging from the report of his hagiographical sermon at Trinity last evening, he is a good deal of an intellectual. Declaring that there is now a struggle for mastery between three religions, the religion of secularism, bolshevism and nationalism, Bishop Bartlett cried out for the birth of a more glorious religion to conquer them—a religion of world community and the brotherhood of mankind under the sovereignty of God.

The churchmen who attack secularism as Bishop Bartlett attacked it are not too many. Least of all do we frequently learn of their exhorting college graduating classes to "cast aside ambition for worldly success and gain." Particularly impressive is this closing clause: "The problem you face is not one of the intellect; it is one of courage—the courage to go down the straight road and face the Cross."

In this muddled time when materialism has reduced the ambitions of whole populations to the sordid level of "get" and when so very few pupils echo warnings of the consequences of the philosophy of greed and luxury, it is a rare thing to hear a spiritual leader directing youth into the straight road of deliberate sacrifice to the cause of humanity.

Perhaps Bishop Bartlett himself will find the Cross—he would not be the first martyr to the cause of truth. Or perhaps he may attain instead—or first—to a great spiritual leadership. At all events he is no common man. And—rare and splendid virtue—he is not afraid.

COURAGEOUS

By its overwhelming defeat of the bonus bill the United States Senate earned a new measure of respect. The circumstances under which the vote was taken were extraordinary. It was a new and tremendously disconcerting experience when the Senate was called on to make its decision in the face of such physical, political and sentimental coercion as was exerted by that crowding mass of ill-fed and ill-clad veterans. That so few of the senators yielded to the stress of the occasion and that so many of them cast their ballots according to the ruling of their consciences are items to their everlasting credit that the country should not soon forget.

It brings proof of one reassuring certainty—that while we may lose patience with the Senate for its vanity, its small-like wasting of time and its love of the sound of its own voice, it is entitled to the admiration that its membership is courageous and fundamentally patriotic.

There was argument for the passage of the bonus bill not easily to be brushed aside. The senators had to make their decisions on that argument under the impelling force of the ragged bonus army to fluence. It would have been easy for many to compromise with their convictions. Very few did. It constitutes a clean and encouraging chapter in Senate history.

SEEKING LIGHT

Suspicion that a mistaken theory of money standards may lie at the roots of the economic demoralization of the world is beginning to manifest itself in places where nothing but an unshakable faith in the monetary status quo has ever existed hitherto. Brown University, it is just now announced, has received a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation to finance a comprehensive study of the gold standard. It is proposed to "examine the international gold standard as an economic institution and to consider whether the environment in which it must now function is or is not so changed from that of the pre-war period, in which it flourished most successfully, as to require any really fundamental changes in the nature of the international gold standard itself, its management and the service which it is expected to render to the world."

There are some minds which see, in the present state of economic learning, a condition generally similar to that of medical knowledge in the middle ages when there was plenty of dogma derived from meticulous observation of exterior phenomena but absolutely no scientific understanding.

It is an encouraging development when the Rockefeller Foundation and Brown University arrive at the realization that it might be a good thing to find out something actual about the gold standard and what makes it tick and how, and to what effect.

McAdoo's 44 Delegates

On top of all that, there will be William Gibbs McAdoo himself, heading the 44 delegates of California which are pledged to John N. Garner. McAdoo is neither for Roosevelt or Smith. In case of a deadlock in which Garner's chances seemed to vanish, McAdoo might conceivably play a deciding role at Chicago.

Reports from California say the delegates would be more likely to follow his wishes than those of Garner or anyone else's in 1924.

They argue against Roosevelt, as they did against McAdoo, that he can't carry the big eastern states. And many of Roosevelt's followers and south next November and hence of Bryan before him, that Roosevelt can carry everything in the west and south next November and hence won't need the eastern group.

THE PARALLEL ENDS

The parallel begins to fade, however, when you compare Roosevelt's chances just before the convention of 1924 and those of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today. Some sensational break may yet hurt Roosevelt, but so far no scandals have risen to plague and block him as they did McAdoo and there is no nasty religious row such as made the latter's nomination impossible and caused the convention eventually to be called a sham.

It also appears that Roosevelt will start on the first ballot with more delegates than McAdoo did and if he has a majority, as McAdoo never had, the end is likely to be in sight at the beginning.

A BOOK A DAY

TELLS OF "PALE STAR" AND HIS MANY BATTLES

"Little Aleck" is Biography of Stephens, Vice President of Confederacy.

Alexander Stephens, whom Jefferson Davis called "the little pale star from Georgia," was one of the most interesting, admirable and tragic of all the leaders of the Southern Confederacy.

He was not enamored of slavery—but he became its most famous defender.

He opposed secession—but he was one of those chiefly responsible for bringing it about.

As vice president of the Confederacy, he was heart and soul for victory—but he opposed President Davis's policies so sharply that he helped to make victory impossible.

All of this is brought out in "Little Aleck" by E. Ramsay Richardson. Here is a very fine biography which should have been called to your attention earlier but which, somehow, got lost in the press of books that looked (and weren't) more important.

Stephens weighed 90 pounds and had unbelievably poor health. He used to go to Congress in a wheel chair and support himself on crutches when he rose to speak—but he was one of the greatest orators Congress ever knew.

Once he might have become president; later he could have had the presidency of the Confederacy for the asking. Always he was a fighter, and always he was an extremely influential statesman.

Mr. Richardson has written a very interesting book about him, and you won't want to miss it. It's published by Bobbs-Merrill, and costs $3.50.

MEASURE COSMIC RAYS

Passadena, Cal.—The first successful measurement of cosmic rays is said to have been taken here by Dr. Robert A. Millikan and C. D. Anderson, of California Institute of Technology. The rays were photographed by tracks left in water vapor. The measurements show the rays to be high powered particles of light. It is expected that the rays will be used to study the structure of the atom.

MENTAL COMPLEXES

The science and art of psychoanalysis has given us an insight into many peculiar activities of the mind. On every hand you hear the word "complex" referred to. There are both the inferiority and superiority complexes, the security complex, and a dozen others which you hear discussed.

One of the greatest truths brought out by the psychoanalyst is that past events which should have had an unimportant meaning are given undue more of future through unconscious magnifying ability of the imagination and the multiplying strength of exaggeration. A "complex" is thus built as the seed of the materials for its growth, that is, other ideas of a similar nature and those possible of association in doing so together, making a complex of associated ideas. The trouble is, such a complex is often a destructive one. A simple sexual incident of childhood may become a devouring monster in later life because the neurotic patient unconsciously gathers together all of the ugly and unwholesome ideas around this subject.

A child, criticised for his failure in school, may build up a destructive complex of failure lasting all through his life. He may learn to hate his father, to hate his mother, to actually scan the newspapers for stories of failures, to find excuses for his own anticipated failures, and thus spend all of his life making excuses—instead of making good. The psychoanalyst and the psychologist can be of great help to such neurotic individuals by helping them to uncover the complex. This is done by simply helping the patient to unravel the tangled skein of destructive ideas and understand each thing for its true worth. The greatest difficulty in doing this is that the patient is usually unaware that the complex has been developed through his own imagination and exaggeration. To be bluntly told this fact will often defeat the object of the well-meaning friend or the psychologist.

The one who honestly wishes to get rid of destructive mental complexes should learn to earnestly study over all the events of his past life and view each happening in its true importance, as viewed in the light of more mature understanding. He must, figuratively, lay all his cards on the table and not be surprised at what he finds. All experiences must be honestly judged at their true worth. He must learn to balance his thinking and emotive life so that he will no longer suffer from an undue exaggeration of some idea.

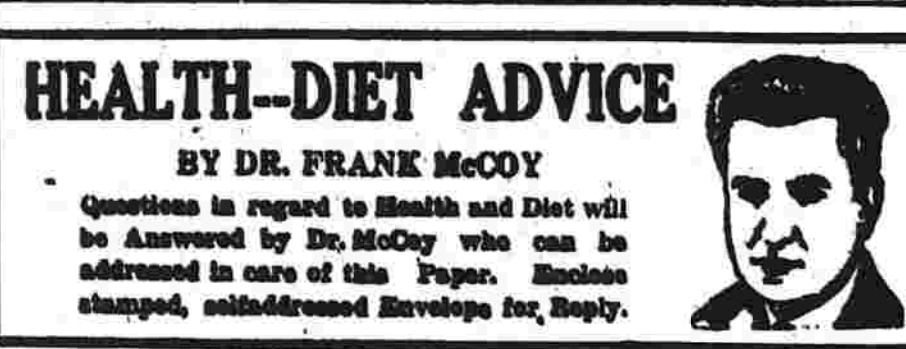

Many psychologists are publishing books today which are of great help to the patient who earnestly wishes for the proper mental and emotional balance.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Herpes)
 Question: K asks: "What is the cause of a skin disease called 'Herpes'? How can it be cured?"
 Answer: Herpes can be cured through removing the systemic cause which is a form of acidosis. Send for my special Cleansing Diet Course, for which you need send only a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

(Abscessed Tooth)

Question: Mrs. Mayme DeL. writes: "My dentist discovered from an X-ray of my teeth that one of my gold-crowned ones was abscessed. This tooth has never given me any trouble, but my dentist wants me to have it out and have some bridge-work done. I would appreciate your advice as to whether or not a condition of this kind can be cleaned up with a proper diet."
 Answer: If the gold-crowned tooth upon which the abscess has developed is dead, the best policy would be to have the tooth removed.

IN NEW YORK

Movie Stuff
 New York, June 22. — Any symptom of sudden and mysterious activity in certain provinces of New York's underworld kingdom is sufficient cue to scatter squads of inquisitive sleuths along 47th street from Sixth Avenue to the boundary line of old Hell's Kitchen.

Arriving automobiles become the subjects of immediate curiosity, frying flashlights and fingers search for the glint of gun metal. Hasty, shadowed figures are halted, questioned, searched. Guns are often extracted from under armpit holsters or hip pockets.

Staccato, melodramatic episodes during the futile continuities of a film, melodrama and mystery, from the golden overflow of Broadway into the side street shadows without so much as a hint of what is going on.

On this mid-town highway are located the hidden council rooms of the capitol of the potatoes. There is a certain hotel... a certain speakeasy... a certain back room; sometimes a suite of rooms; sometimes an open bar temporarily closed to all others; some meet in one spot, some in another.

Starting with the grape-vine business, up from the rather-worldly "dicks" from the underworld squad, must learn whether war or peace is intended. Just the other night, Spitalo, whose name figured large during the futile negotiations over the missing Lindbergh, was nabbed with three of his fellows. A night or two later it was "Dutch" Schultz, so-called beer baron of Manhattan, who was halted a few doors up the street.

Depression, it is said, has hit the booting industry. There had been price slashing and a great falling off in buying. Just a few conferences to see what to do about it!

Other meetings with other principals have had a more stunner import.

Dope Stuff
 There is, not so far from this sector, a certain grocery store the windows of which are watched with eagle-eyed interest by federal men.

It had been for years a signal post for the world of drug-users and narcotic peddlers. Weak after weak, the most innocent arrangement of wares might have been noted by passers-by. Then, one day, there would be, mixed with the soap and the canned goods, a few dozen marbles — glass, agates and "mils." Again, a small avalanche of cube sugar might be trickling from a container.

Customers would appear asking for sugar cubes or marbles. These and a dozen other articles, were the "signals." Sometimes the dope would be cleverly secreted within the article; sometimes it would be merely a sign to those in "the know" that "the stuff" had arrived.

The Other Tummy
 In many of the underworld activities has appeared the name of a detective — one Ed Tunney. Yes, you've guessed it, he's Gene Tunney's brother and he's no man fighter himself.

And Sherry Magee, a theater orchestra director with the music show, "Hey, Nonny, Nonny," is son of the late Sherry Magee, famed outfielder and umpire... Sherry has been on the air with George Olsen, Ben Bernie and other hands... And Frank Reddy of the Will Hays office, sends a note from Westboro, Mass., that not only did his parents recently celebrate a 60th wedding anniversary, but there hasn't been a death in the family for three generations... Which looks like "one for the book."
 GILBERT SWAN.

SELF RELIANCE SUCCESS FACTOR

Vice President Curtis Gives Advice To Graduates of Vermont University.

Burlington, Vt., June 20.—(AP)—Vice President Charles Curtis, commencement speaker at the University of Vermont, today urged upon the university's graduating class the need for self-reliance...

"Self-reliance," the vice-president said, "is a quiet, steady inward feeling that you are able to do that which you set out to do; a feeling that with yourself and yourself alone, rests the ultimate outcome of your endeavors."

"Simply put, it is the individual over himself resulting from self-study and self-knowledge. It is not a natural study at all. It is acquired; the acquisition is laborious. We come into the world utterly reliant on others for everything we need; we may continue almost wholly in this condition during all the formative period of life; some never change."

"Before we can be self-reliant we must overcome the habit of earlier years, the habit of leaning on parents, teachers, friends, or leaning on anyone in fact who will permit us to lean on them."

"The persons successful in business are honest—with himself and with those whom he deals with honest with himself first of all."

"There is today no newly discovered secret way to health and happiness and they cannot be had by working a rabbit's foot or mumbling a mysterious set of words."

"The qualities of self-reliance, common sense, industry, energy, perseverance, honesty, sobriety and education have produced the great leaders of today. It is these same qualities which will produce the leaders of tomorrow and the next day."

Vice-President Curtis was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by President Guy W. Bailey of the university. Doctor of Laws degrees were also awarded to U. S. Senator Warren R. Austin of Burlington, a graduate with the class of '09; Governor Stanley C. Wilson of Vermont, and George Adams Ellis, New York attorney.

Other honorary degrees were awarded as follows: Arthur Chester Eaton of Worcester, Mass., a graduate of the university and head of the engineering department of the New England Power Company, Civil Engineer; Charles Malloy Williams, dermatologist of New York, Doctor of Science; Frederick Charles Prescott, author and teachers of Ithaca, N. Y., Doctor of Humane Letters, and Lynn Harold Hough, theologian and author, Doctor of Humane Letters.

There were 169 graduates from the academic colleges at today's 129th commencement.

DELEGATE FOR SMITH VISITS GOV. ROOSEVELT

Fitchburg, Mass., June 20.—(AP)—M. Fred O'Connell of Fitchburg, a Smith-pledged delegate to the Democratic National convention, whose talk with Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt Saturday led to reports of defection in the ranks of Massachusetts convention delegates, has dispelled the defection talk with a statement that his visit to the New York governor was purely social.

O'Connell's talk with Roosevelt brought a statement from John F. Fitzgerald, former mayor of Boston and a delegate at large to the convention, that anyone who did not "carry through" for former Governor Smith would say "good bye" to his political future.

Last night, explaining his talk with Roosevelt, O'Connell said: "I am well acquainted with a close friend of Governor Roosevelt and he invited me to accompany him and meet the governor on a call he had to make on the chief executive."

"I was delighted to accept the invitation just as I would have been to meet any other distinguished citizen. I had a very nice chat with Mr. Roosevelt. It was largely reminiscent."

"Nothing was said about alienating my support of Smith. . . . I was elected as a Smith delegate and will support Mr. Smith. I ran pledged to Smith, but I did not criticize any of the other candidates for the high offices. I believe it is our duty to build up the party rather than drag it down."

BUT TWO FATALITIES OVER THE WEEKEND

By Associated Press A suicide and a death caused by a fall from a bridge were the only fatalities by violence in Connecticut during the week end. Edward R. Pidgeon, 63, committed suicide at his Westport home Sunday by shooting. His body was found by his housekeeper, who notified police. Authorities were puzzled as to a motive for his act, for they say Pidgeon, a life long resident of Westport and a Yale graduate owned considerable property. He was unmarried.

The body of Pat Hill, 56, of Ansonia was found under the New Haven railroad bridge along the Hamamassett River at Clinton Sunday night. Whether he had been struck by a train and then had fallen from the bridge was not definitely determined.

There had been a report that the Clinton jail Sunday night suffered a fire, but it was later determined that the fire was a small one and that the jail was not damaged.

ROCKVILLE

SUSPECT INCENDIARISM IN ELLINGTON BLAZE

John Pobolsky Whose Barns Were Burned Saturday Saw Men On His Property.

An investigation is being made by the Ellington authorities of the origin of a fire which destroyed a stock barn, ice house and other out-buildings at the farm of John Pobolsky in the Saddle Mill section in Ellington Saturday morning at 2 o'clock. The damage is estimated at $2000 which is partly covered by insurance. The property is known as the old creamery place located on the highway between Ellington and Rockville.

Pobolsky was awakened about 2:30 a. m. by the reflection of the fire which lighted up his room. At first he thought it was daylight and went to the kitchen and noticed the fire. The Ellington Fire Department was called and a line of hose was run from a nearby pond. A large storage building was saved although the roof was somewhat damaged.

One morning early last week Mr. Pobolsky noticed three men leaving his barn which he was unable to recognize any of them. He felt that the fire on Saturday was of suspicious origin. The cattle were out to pasture at the time of the blaze.

St. Bernard's School Graduation Thirty-four graduates of St. Bernard's School received diplomas on Sunday afternoon at exercises held at St. Bernard's Catholic church. The procession of pupils, the girls in white and the boys in blue suits, was a beautiful sight.

Rev. George T. Sinnott presented the diplomas. Prizes were also awarded the following: American Legion Medal awards for honor, leadership, scholarship, service and courage; Miss Mary Flaherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Flaherty and Norman Schuey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schuey; Louise Leahr prize for religion, Robert Cratty; Louise Leahr prize for scholarship, Norman Schuey; the prizes being given in memory of Miss Leahr who died about a year ago; local Irish History prizes, Miss Gertrude Murphy, Robert Burns; State Irish History prize, Robert Burns.

There was singing by the class and an address by Rev. George T. Sinnott. Members of the graduating class are: Rita St. Louis, Mary Flaherty, Gertrude Murphy, Dorothy Pasternak, Margaret Loalbo, Mary Lalley, Helen Dailey, Grace DelBene, Agnes Miriam, Irene Wilson, Edith Johnson, Alice Dismow, Cecelia Trap, Gertrude Marley, Mary Doyle, Rosemary Hannan, Marian Wright, Clinton Kellner, Louis Gessay, Henry Monor, Norman Schuey, John Burbe, Robert Burns, Francis Pikat, Wayne Vincent, George Hemmann, Robert Cratty, Francis Cratty, John Mack, Emil Gregel, Stephen Connors, Theodore Ulrich, John Stephen and Andrew Gessay.

St. Joseph's School Graduation Graduation exercises at St. Joseph's Polish Parochial School were held in the school hall last evening at 7:30 o'clock, with many parents of the pupils and friends attending. The program opened with a Salutory by Francis Wrona, followed by a pantomime, "Lead Kindly Light" in which the following took part: Phyllis Orlovaska, Julia Marzalek, Steffe Miodinska, Mary Paniczko, Helen Szarek, Jane Janton, Anna Bioniarz, Adela Janton, Dorothy Grous, Angela Brienkowska, Mary Ferzanowska, Helen Bastak, Bernice Borkowska, Anna Hajduk, Helen Sogajlo and Margaret Cedor.

A comedy "Who Stole the Chickens?" was next presented by two characters, Ben Pullet, Leonard Butler, Little Rooster, Ladislaus Kiczewski. The song and drill which followed was enjoyed by all present and those taking part did it in a most creditable manner. "Step Sister," a play, was a feature of the exercises with the following characters: Mother, Eleanor Butler; daughter, Genevieve Songajlo; step sister, Gertrude Grous; maid, Sophie Biotnicka; schoolmates, Neimier Vanda, Carrie Orlovaska, Helen Dereszewska, Anna Martyja; mail carrier, Edwin Iwanicki; maid, Mary Iwanicka.

This was followed by a playlette, "Letters." The pupils taking part were: letter "I," Anna Durejko; letter "U," M. Zagura; letter "S," D. Cedor; letter "A," C. Orlovaska; letter "E," I. Witkowska. In closing the pupils sang, "The Dearest School."

The list of graduates are: Eleanor Butler, Gertrude Grous, Helen Dereszewska, Mary Iwanicka, Anna Jasion, Charlotte Orlovaska, Genevieve Songajlo, Wanda Niemiec, Edwin Iwanicki, Henry Raczkowski, Edward Uziembo, Francis Wrona, Joseph Grous.

SMITH TO ATTEND

New York, June 20.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith will be among the early arrivals at Chicago for the Democratic convention. He has engaged quarters at the Congress hotel—the same from which the campaign of Governor Roosevelt for the presidential nomination is being conducted—and intends to leave for Chicago tomorrow.

Samuel Seabury, counsel for the Hofstadter committee and the author of a report to the governor suggesting the removal of Mayor James J. Walker from office, has made reservations at the Drake hotel, but has not definitely decided about going. He has been mentioned as a presidential possibility.

HOOVER TO MAKE BUT FEW SPEECHES

President To Remain At Capital and Take Little Part In Campaign.

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—President Hoover today announced formally he would "not take part in the forthcoming campaign" except for a few major addresses.

The Chief Executive also said he had abandoned hope of journeying to the west coast to open the Olympic games, an invitation he had accepted previously.

The entire campaign, Mr. Hoover said, will be conducted and managed by Everett Sanders, newly elected chairman of the Republican National committee.

The President's statement follows in full: "I have informed Republican leaders that except for a few major addresses expounding policies of the administration I will not take part in the forthcoming campaign as my undivided attention must be given to the duties of my office."

"The campaign will be conducted and managed entirely by Chairman Sanders and the Republican organization. It has been settled that the offices of the Republican National committee should be removed from Washington and established at Chicago and New York. Mr. Sanders will be visiting Washington in the course of a few days to complete these arrangements."

"In accordance with the tradition since their beginning that heads of states should open the Olympic games, I had hoped to avail myself of that pleasure and I had also hoped to spend a few weeks at my home at Stanford University, but at the moment this seems improbable as my paramount duty is here."

There are plenty of mystery thrillers on the market, but we have yet to see on so difficult of solution as the question, "What are the Boston Braves doing up there?"

There were rumors on Capitol Hill last night that the governor's first choice for his nominator was United States Senator Robert F. Wagner, and that he was prevailed upon by John F. Curry, Tammany chief.

Curry has not said which candidate will get the support of the powerful tiger, claiming to control some 50 New York votes. Curry personally is very friendly with the governor, although political observers generally list Tammany's votes for former Governor Alfred E. The decision as to the next step in the Walker case was expected to be born from the governor's conference with his two attorneys named to advise him on the evidence. Whether the governor intended to hurry his fight on the demand for the ousting of the mayor was not settled before the convention.

NEW RUBINOW BUILDING NOW OPEN

RUBINOW BLOCK ALL RENOVATED

Building Damaged Four Months Ago By Fire Now Ready For Occupancy.

After more than four months of the most thorough rebuilding, the Rubinov building is again open and ready for occupancy. The entire second floor has been completely redesigned, and each separate office and apartment likewise altered to make possible the addition of the latest features in building construction. In the offices extensive use has been made of the so-called "office show window," a new device that has been used in the design of many a Manchester building. Instead of the customary plans calling for windows only in the front of the offices, the new plans used in the Rubinov building called for specially designed windows in one additional wall, thus providing for greater light and ventilation.

On the north side a complete new stairway has been constructed. A marble lobby with tile floor of modern design has been built, the lobby now extending into the building for a distance of about ten feet. A beautiful oak stairway leads up to the hall on the second floor. Each room here is painted in a separate color combination, giving ample play to any choices that tenants may have in this matter.

2 SLIGHT BUMPS TOTAL OF WEEKEND ACCIDENTS

Only two slight automobile accidents occurred here over the weekend, both on Saturday and both on Main street. James Murray, Manchester resident, proceeding north on Main street, Thursday evening and approaching Park street, was signaled to stop by the traffic officer at the intersection. He did so but Harold Clemson, also of Manchester, did not get the signal quickly enough and his car struck the rear of the Murray car. The damage was a bent fender on the Murray car and another one on the Clemson car. The accident was investigated by Patrolman Prentice, no arrests being made.

Saturday evening Edman Freeman of Rockville struck his car on the west side of Main street while he and members of his family did some shopping. He was backing out from the curb when a car coming from the north and driven by Arthur C. Frouse of Stafford struck the front bumper of the Freeman car. The front fender of the Freeman car, but little damage was done. The accident was investigated by Patrolman Martin. No arrest was made.

UNSEASONAL WEATHER SPREADS CORN DISEASE

New Haven, June 20.—The late, cool spring with drought in June is thought to be responsible in Connecticut for the appearance of Stewart's bacterial disease, which ruined much Illinois corn last year. The trouble is rare in this state, but it has appeared this summer in early sweet corn on many farms, among them that of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station. The affected plants are about a foot high. Examination of 25 to 30 fields showed usually 1 to 3 per cent infected stalks and in two cases these ran as high as 10 to 15 per cent.

Station botanists believe that the disease has occurred before in Connecticut, but that the peculiar conditions of this season enabled it to spread with more virulence. It is expected that as soon as the corn can make a more vigorous growth, the disease will probably die out. Stewart's disease is caused by bacteria that apparently infect the seed. The first symptom is withering and drying of the green leaves. If the stalk is cut lengthwise, a brown discoloration is seen at the base of the stalk. Later, the roots rot off. All varieties are apparently susceptible to the disease.

FORTUNE CONFISCATED

Madrid, June 20.—(AP)—Three million dollars of former King Alfonso's fortune has been confiscated by the Republican government, virtually completing the seizure of all his real and personal property. About $2,500,000 in cash and securities and objects of art worth about $500,000 were taken over in this action. The cash and bonds will be placed in the public treasury and the rest of the articles will become the property of the state. About $1,700,000 was in property which did not belong to the King personally but to societies which he headed. Very soon after he was dethroned the state took over the palaces and other extensive property which the monarch controlled.

ROTARIANS GATHER

Seattle, June 20.—(AP)—Trains and ships brought Rotarians from many corners of the world here today for their twenty-third annual international convention, and the number of delegates passed the 5,000 mark.

Not until 8 p. m., (P. S. T.) tonight will the convention be formally called to order. Officials of the city, the state, the Seattle Rotary Club and the Vancouver Rotary district will give formal welcomes. R. L. (Bob) Hill, of Columbia, Mo., chairman of the convention committee, will preside at the opening session. Sydney W. Pascaill of London is president.

During the afternoon, a general assembly of all voting delegates was planned, to discuss matters pertaining to Rotary organization. The names of seven men who will be nominated for new directors of the organization were announced today. Allen H. Bigg, of Pittsfield, Mass., was one of them.

MASONS OBSERVE ST. JOHN'S DAY

Manchester Lodge and Affiliated Orders Hear Rev. Colpitts In Sermon.

Members of Manchester Lodge of Masons and affiliated Masonic organizations observed St. John's Day yesterday by attending the morning service at the South, Methodist church. Rev. Robert A. Colpitts spoke on "The Soul of Masonry," using as his text, Matthew, 7:21, "He that doeth the will."

Rev. Colpitts said in part: "Between Masonry and the Christian church there always has existed a very definite bond of sympathy. Both draw their teachings from the same sacred Book, pay reverence to the same God, and believe they move under the scrutiny of the same all-seeing eye. Here then this morning there is not a mobilizing of the men and women of Masonry over against the men and women of the church. Rather it is a mobilizing of common Christian ideals. Here we clasp hands in the certain conviction that spiritual ideals rather than material concerns constitute the supreme issue and interest of life. The major question today is whether life is to be dragged down to the level of the beast and the law of the jungle; or is to be drawn up to an angel-like adventure in things of the spirit.

In this matter of spiritual ideals, Masonry has a glorious tradition. But neither institutions nor individuals are guaranteed survival simply because of a noble history. The question which cuts close into the heart of the whole matter is this: What is the measure of Masonic purpose for the future?

Two misapprehensions of Masonry are sometimes voiced by the uninformed both of which are fatuous and utterly false. First, Masonry is not an allied offensive against individuals or institutions, no matter what the "race or creed or clan." Nor is Masonry set to save her members from just punishment by the State when offenses have been committed for which the law exacts punishment. Her altars inculcate respect for law and for all civil authority.

Live the Ideals
The problem of problems for Masonry is precisely the same problem as that of the church. It is the problem of producing members who will live the ideals of Masonry in daily life. An abstract ideal has no vitality in itself. Not until the abstract ideal is incarnated in a life, is translated into concrete living, does it become vital. Here then is the soul of Masonry. To expect more than this from her members is an injustice to them. To expect less than this is an injustice to her."

If Germany calls a Hohenzollern back to the throne, they might as well throw away the old saying that a "burnt child dreads the fire."

MAINE PRIMARIES

Portland, Maine, June 20.—(AP)—The polls opened in Maine today in one of the most important primary elections in years with the 300 candidates for Republican and Democratic nominations setting a record.

Chief interest centered on the gubernatorial candidates five Republican and five Democrats. The Republican contenders were: A. K. Ames, lumberman, former State Senator F. W. Carlton, Woolwich; Burleigh Martin, Augusta, president of the State Senate; Senator Arthur G. Spear, Portland and Lewis O. Barrows, Newport, executive councillor.

The Democrats were: Mayors F. H. Dubord of Waterville and Charles M. Richardson of Rockland; former Mayor Louis J. Evans of Lewiston, P. C. Thurston, Bethel manufacturer, and James Perkins, former prohibition administrator.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY DIXON, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter. She quarrels with her father about Dan, leaves home and, taking advantage of Leap Year, asks Dan to marry her.

"They are married and for the first time Cherry finds out what it means to lack money. Her struggles with housework are discouraging. DIXIE SHANNON, movie critic of these News, is friendly with Cherry. She meets handsome MAX PEARSON, who also works on the News.

Cherry receives a letter from her mother enclosing a check for $500. She returns the check because pride will not let her keep it. A young woman who lives in the same apartment building attempts suicide. That evening when Dan arrives he tells Cherry he has something for her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIII

Dan grinned down at her. "I'll give you three guesses," he announced. "What do you think I have?"

"Is it something for me?" Cherry asked.

"Yes."

"But I haven't the slightest idea."

"You can guess, can't you?" Dan insisted. "What would you think it's likely to be—a Rolls-Royce or the crown jewels of England or—"

A faint cry, plaintive and high-pitched, interrupted him. It came from Dan's coat pocket. It was repeated, this time louder. An unmistakably kittenish "Meow!"

"A kitten! Oh, let me see it!" Cherry cried. "Where did you get it, Dan? Oh, you little darling, you—"

This last was addressed to the wriggling ball of gray fur that had emerged from Dan's pocket. The kitten, balancing in Dan's two hands, looked about on this new world in which it found itself and emitted another "Meow!"

"Cutie, isn't it?" Phillips asked.

Cherry had taken the kitten and was holding it nestled against her shoulder. The warm, soft fur touched her cheek. The girl's eyes were bright as a child's.

"It's adorable!" she told him. "Did you know I've always wanted a kitten? That's another thing I could never have at home. But where did you get it? Can we really keep it?"

"We can if you want to. I stopped at the drug store on the corner for cigarettes. There were four of these little fellows there with their mother. One was black and the others were sort of gray striped. I thought this one was the cutest and the man said he'd be glad to give it to us. It's not quite a month old."

The kitten seemed eminently contented with its perch on Cherry's shoulder. It was purring now—a miniature sing-song that could barely be heard.

"Do you hear it?" Cherry demanded. "It's singing. Oh, of course we'll keep it! And it was sweet of you to bring it. Dan," she began to laugh. The kitten had raised one velvety paw and with experimental gestures was investigating Cherry's ear.

"Put it down," Dan suggested. "Let's see what it thinks of the floor."

Cherry set the kitten on the floor. It was completely gray except for a white line down the center of its forehead, rounding out in a symmetrical arc of white about its nose and mouth. As though aware of their scrutiny the little animal backed slowly away from Cherry and Dan, stopped and gazed up at them.

"Well, I'll be darned!" laughed Dan. "Would you look at the little beggar giving us the once over?"

Cherry was down on her knees beside the kitten again. "I know what I'm going to call it," she announced. "Did you ever see anything so pink as its nose? I'm going to call it 'Pinky.'"

"That's a swell name for a gray cat!"

"Why, I think it's a grand name—and anyhow that's what it's going to be!"

Their own meal was forgotten in their interest in the new pet. Presently, however, the kitten was left curled up on a pillow on the floor and Cherry and Dan sat down to dinner.

Dan broke a roll and buttered it. "Well," he said, "I had a piece of welcome news today."

"What was it?"

"Your husband, Madam, is the winner of the $5 bonus for the best written news story of the week."

"Oh, Dan, I'm glad!"

"So'm I. That five bucks will

MRS. JAMES A. REED

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

Lura Mansfield Reed... formerly senator's wife... hostess, homemaker.

Daughter of physician at Cedar Rapids, Ia... educated in Cedar Rapids grade and high schools... attended seminary... knew James Reed in her youth... married him in 1887 when he was successful lawyer and she a widow... moved to Kansas City three years after marriage.

Beautiful... golden hair... pansy-blue eyes... medium height... unquenchable vivacity... has genuine interest in people and affairs... is devoted... loyal... genuine... Always beautifully dressed... chooses complete ensembles in buying clothes... fond of metal cloth and bright colors... strikes note of cheerfulness in home decorating, also.

Prefers informal entertaining... likes to have friends around her... believes in neighborliness... dislikes formal social life... entertains perfectly... always places right people next to one another and has pleasing music, food and flowers... but only entertains for some constructive purpose, never for display.

Plays piano... likes music... reads constantly... plays bridge brilliantly... but not too often... attends movies regularly with husband because he likes them... Expert fisherwoman... keeps still when the fish are biting... lets her husband have his own workshop and library... stays out and lets him do as he pleases... doesn't scold him when he is late for meals... always considerate, understanding, companionable, entertaining... Fond of new home in Kansas City... keeps self out of sight... considers her job that of being restful background for her husband.

help out considerably in our financial status. But that's not all. Two of the fellows who have been owing me for the last six months kicked in with $12 more. I'd forgotten about both of them! Yes, it looks as though we can pay our bills and stay out of debtors' prison after all. My check Saturday will pay the rent for another month and this $17 will carry us over the week."

"It's worked out wonderfully, hasn't it?" Cherry asked. She said it so fervently that the young man across the table looked up.

"I—had some news today too," the girl went on. She told Dan about the check from her mother and about sending it back. When she had finished Dan leaned across the table and took her hand. His eyes were troubled.

"You're sure you wanted to do that?" he asked. "Of course I couldn't have let you spend any of that money for our living expenses or for me but you might have bought something for yourself. Clothes maybe. Or—whatever girls buy."

Cherry laughed. "Of course not, silly. What could I be wanting? Oh, Dan, you and I do have so much! We ought to be so thankful!"

She told him about Miss Jamieson who had lived on the top floor and was now at the City Hospital. The recital of the story sobered both of them. For some time after the meal had ended they sat in silence.

All at once Cherry cried out. "It's the kitten! It must be hungry!"

Little Pinky's front paws pressing against her ankle had startled the girl. She filled a saucer with milk but the kitten was not interested. Try as they would they could not make Pinky drink until Dan filled a teaspoon and poured it down the kitten's throat. Pinky coughed, licked the milk from his whiskers and antics to try a gulp for himself.

The kitten's antics kept them amused most of the evening. It chased paper balls attached to a string. It climbed into boxes and out of them and once, when Dan threw down a newspaper, the kitten crawled under it and had what must have been the most exciting adventure of its brief life getting out.

"It's going to be company for me when I'm here alone," Cherry said. "I don't see how I'll ever have a dull moment with that little rascal around."

"You'll probably wish that little rascal was 100 miles away a good many times."

The girl was sure that she would not. The kitten finally went to sleep in her lap and Cherry transferred it to its pillow so gently that it did not awaken.

It had been an eventful day. She and Dan sat in the window seat and looked out on the night. Moonlight streamed over the patch of ground below that by day was nothing more than a weed-grown space where laundry flapped in the breeze. Tonight it might have been a garden. Ugly buildings took on grace from the black shadows. The faint scent of plum blossoms came from a tree across the alley.

Cherry put up a hand and touched Dan's cheek. "We've so much to be thankful for," she whispered.

It was the middle of the next morning and Cherry was frowning over the cookbook when there was a knock at the door. She arose and opened it.

"Oh—good morning!" Cherry said. "Won't you come in?"

Mrs. Moreau, from the floor above, stood in the hall.

"I haven't time to stop," she said, "but I thought you'd like to know Miss Jamieson is going to get well. I've just been talking to the janitor. He said the hospital found she had an aunt in Chicago and they got in touch with her. She's coming—the aunt I mean—and if she has money enough to do that it probably means she can take care of the girl and see her through."

"I'm so glad!" Cherry said fervently. "And thanks for telling me. I've been thinking about her all morning."

"It's bad business to be sick and alone in a city," Mrs. Moreau said, shaking her head. "Well, I must be getting up now."

"Bad business indeed! After she was alone again Cherry got out her purse and examined its contents. There was $2.75 inside.

On impulse she hurriedly changed to street clothes. Pinky, the kitten, was dozing on the window seat as Cherry softly closed the door behind her and went down the stairs.

She boarded a downtown car and rode to Twelfth street. Lawrence's flower shop in the corner of the Washington hotel was where Cherry had always bought flowers. She reached the shop and paused before the window display.

Tall, long-stemmed roses and exotic lilies filled three huge vases that stood on black velvet. They were beautiful roses. They must cost a great deal.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

A week ago a little boy sat on a curbstone reading a funny paper. His eyes were glued to the red and blue and yellow pictures. So absorbed was he in the picture stories that he did not see a truck pull up to park.

It knocked him over and ran over his frail little boy and killed him.

Perhaps he saw it in time and could have jumped out of the road, or perhaps it was just one more of the iron colts to which he had become accustomed.

He lived in a world of moving death but it had never touched him and he knew it never would.

The driver may have seen him, but perhaps not. The driver too had become accustomed to children swarming about, but he had never hurt one and he just knew he never would.

The little boy knew—the driver knew—the boy's mother thought she knew. They say he often sat there and she supposed it was safe enough.

But one or all were wrong. No one will ever know which of the three that day should have been more careful. The little chap is dead.

And now the driver will watch curbstones and the mother will forbid the other children to go very much good.

The picture shows the state of mind that causes accidents. One person cannot prevent them. It takes three people to cooperate in saving a life.

There is one thing that all drivers of cars must recognize and that is the feeling on the part of chilchildren that they will never be hurt. A child is on a familiar street, his street. It is safe and friendly. He has played there since he could walk. All the neighbors are his friends, the stores on the corner is like another home. He belongs in his little kingdom.

False Sense of Security

On that street he relaxes. He is not weyed up to caution. He is not afraid of anything. Nothing has ever hurt him, and nothing will. In spite of the warnings he is not alert to danger. Danger? We might as well tell him to look about well every time he crosses his own hall because "something might happen."

We try to bring children up now without suspicion and without fear. They are trusting and confident. It is very difficult to plant warnings on a soil of such faith. They don't take root.

It seems strange that this cult of fearlessness we are emphasizing now in our teaching should be identical with the most dangerous age in history.

A parent knows that to make a child really fearless he must withdraw any hint or intimation of danger until the child can reason his way.

That is in the home. In the street it is impossible. Children must be warned, but it won't do very much good.

The necessary precaution must be taken by all drivers of all cars. It is up to us. We know what our cars will do. A child doesn't. He trusts us.

We must slow down or stop if there is the slightest doubt about a child being safe.

tramped for half an hour and finally was satisfied. She came to a small shop flaunting price marks all over its windows. "Roses 75 cents." "Lilies 50 cents a bunch." "Iris 75 cents."

Cherry entered and paid 50 cents for a large bunch of lilies.

"We don't deliver, Ma'am," the clerk told her. "That's extra. It'll cost 25 cents to have them delivered."

Cherry paid the extra quarter. She wrote Miss Jamieson's name on a white card and the address of the hospital. On a separate card to be enclosed with the flowers she wrote, "Best Wishes from a Friend."

There was less than $2 in her purse (car fare had taken 10 cents) when she left the shop.

"That means I'll have eggs again for dinner," Cherry told herself. "Dan won't mind when he knows why it happened. Wonder whether he'd like 'em fried or in an omelet?"

She was considering this problem and had almost decided to undertake a quest when she recognized a young man coming toward her. Cherry stopped. There was a stationary store ahead. In another moment she would have entered it but the young fellow called out her name.

"Well, Cherry!" he exclaimed.

"This is certainly luck. Haven't seen you for days!"

"I—I've been shopping," she told him. "It's nice to see you again."

"You don't say that any too convincingly," Max Pearson laughed, "but I've got a test. If you really mean it come and have lunch with me."

Paris has cast a favorable eye on short sleeves and moderately low cut necklines at the back. So this little dress has at least two voguish features. No, it has more, the skirt is slim and straight. Inverted plaits at either side provide interesting fullness.

Its original, in white washing silk had vivid orange-red button trim, and wavy-red bindings finishing the belt. Or if you like, you can wear a leather belt to tone with the buttons.

Then again you may prefer to have a pale blue pique dress. It would be adorable with the inset vest of white pique dotted in blue. Striped linen is charming in this model with the vest and buttons to tone with the predominating color of the print.

In pale colored washing silks, it looks fresh and charming with the vest of cotton mesh in white or matching shade.

You'll find it so attractive too for sheer cotton voile prints are so cool and conservative in their dark backgrounds for the daytime wear. And they tub so beautifully.

You'll find it an especially easy dress to make. The long shoulders form kimono sleeves. The two-piece slightly circular skirt is pressed into inverted plaits at either side and attached to the hip yoke. The skirt joins the waist under the removable belt.

Houston, Tex.—Police Court Judge Fred Turner heard one of the strangest excuses for speeding it has ever been his pleasure to hear. It came from a citizen arrested for speeding. FEMININE AND FLATTERING ARE NEW GARDEN PARTY FROCKS

A Shawl Effect Distinguishes This Dress.

Summer frocks have a habit of shouldering the new vogue for intrigue in feminine fashions in a manner that is as flattering as it is interesting. Gowns that are satisfied to let their skirts hang in straight unadorned lines get busy, in most instances, and do something about their necklines.

This garden party dress of yellow softened mousseline de soie uses an entirely new shawl effect, which stands up a little from the neck, and extends across the shoulders to the place where the large puffed sleeves join it. These sleeves, which are interesting enough to hold all sorts of tricks, are sewn to the collar. The shawl collar is shirred in front and hangs loosely across the bust.

Fitting for Summer

The frock is lightly fitted from the bust to a place a little below the hipline. From there it grows lavish with its material again and flares with a double mousseline de soie skirt. A wide brown cue sash encircles the waist and ties an exciting looking bow at the back.

A leghorn hat, decorated with a brown ribbon, and trimmed with cornflowers and yellow and white buttercups, completes the costume.

All in all, it is as feminine as any ensemble could be, and succeeds in setting up an air of mystery without sacrificing any of its demure enchantment.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

CALL IT A DAY—FOR BEAUTY'S SAKE

Many people have a habit of taking their worries and troubles with them when they go to bed. Instead of relaxing, and calling it a day, they take out every petty annoyance—that has been shelved somewhere in their minds and proceed to brood and worry about it. Nothing is more injurious to beauty.

Sleep is a body builder and tissue restorer. It will help the years to vanish and smooth out a wrinkle or two if you will let it.

Make sure that your mattress is comfortable and that your bed is placed in such a position that you will get a steady stream of cool, refreshing air without being in a draft.

Then relax. Stretch your body until you feel every muscle pulling and taking its own place instead of twisting into a knot. Then let yourself go limp, just as though you were a mountain stream falling over a cliff. Sink down. Don't exert any pressure on your body. If you can imagine that you are as listless and lifeless as water or clouds or something else that falls or floats, you will lose that sense of boundary and really rest.

Make sure that there isn't a stray of lamplight from somewhere shining into the room. It will distract you.

Cool, crisp sheets are an absolute necessity for relaxation. If you feel better when there is the scent of pine forest, or the hint of lilacs from wayside bushes in the air, sprinkle the pillow slip, ever so lightly, with perfume or toilet water.

There is an exercise which will assist you in going to sleep, with the kinks and knots out of your system. Fasten yourself to a sitting position, making the muscles of your back do all the work. Repeat several times. This exercise should be repeated seven or eight times every night after you are in bed.

If you want to preserve the slender line of your throat, don't use a pillow. Lie on a flat surface. Try putting your face on a pillow. Note the bulge under your chin. Then take away the pillow and see how your chin behaves. You will probably hurl the offenseless pillow across the room and not use it any more.

It is surprising how quickly you will grow used to doing without it. In a little while you will be uncomfortable with it.

DEEP DIVING DEVICE

Cologne.—A new diving machine, shaped like a tadpole, and built to withstand ocean pressure at 10,000 feet below the surface, has been perfected by a local inventor. It weighs about two and a half tons, and reaches any specified depth through its own propulsion. Other devices have to be lowered by cables. Pressure inside the diving "beak" is regulated by evaporation of liquid air.

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famed Authority

THE PERIL OF FIREWORKS

Fourth of July Celebrations Blamed For Many Cases of Blindness.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

Each year some 70 children lose their eyesight due to accidents occurring during play. The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness has just completed a special investigation of this hazard. The various schools for the blind in this country include today more than 600 children who have lost their eyesight through accidents.

The subject is particularly important just before our annual celebration of Independence Day on July 4 because weapons, explosives and fireworks of various types are responsible for a considerable number of such cases.

Air rifles, "B. guns," shotguns and other small caliber rifles, blank cartridges and cap pistols, slingshots and rubber band flippers, arrows and stones are responsible for almost one-third of all of these cases of blindness in children.

Fire crackers, torpedoes, bombs, and various types of fireworks, are responsible for almost one-fourth of the cases, and other explosives for about one-tenth.

Then knives and scissors, sticks and nails account for another 10 per cent, as do chips of steel, wood, glass, dust and sand. Only 5 per cent of all the cases are due to accidents occurring in sports, and only 3 per cent to automobile accidents.

Assuming a certain number of accidents necessary under modern conditions of life, for example automobile accidents and falls, and those due to games in sports, it should be realized that the vast majority of the accidents to the eye are preventable because they concern types of play that are not necessary for children, and because they concern exposure of children to dangers that are avoidable.

The boys and girls of this country are exposed to more hazards to their eyes in the week around July 4 than they are during three months at any other time of the year. Many municipalities have endeavored to control fireworks by local legislation.

At one time it seemed likely that danger from Fourth of July accidents would be brought fully under control, but of late there has been an increase in this type of accident. It is likely that there will be some national legislation to regulate this hazard.

Parents, teachers, and everyone interested in the welfare of the child should become active in this matter not only for the prevention of these serious cases of blindness, but also for the prevention of other types of injury, including burns and lockjaw that develop from such accidents.

Once off the ground the plane needs no controlling in the air, he avers. Cornell and California Are Poughkeepsie Favorites

Eight College Crews In Regatta Tonight

Undeclared Syracuse Boat Stroked By Tom Lombardi, Grid Hero; Showers Possible; Race Starts At 7:15 This Evening.

By ALAN J. GOULD
A. P. Sports Editor

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 20.—(AP)—The biggest college nautical battle of the year, due to break out late today along a four mile stretch of Old Man River, found the intersection rivalry sharply drawn once more with Cornell and Syracuse, ancient up-state rivals, ready to fire their variety big shells against the challenges of California and Washington.

The non-combatants, as well as those commanding the eight collegiate fleets on the Hudson, were pretty well agreed the winner of the feature engagement will be found among these four powerful, experienced boat loads.

Among the other variety entries in the main battle, Navy, Pennsylvania, Columbia and Massachusetts Tech, in about that order were conceded no more than an outside chance to explode a surprise torpedo among the favorites. Navy set off just such an upset a year ago at the expense of Cornell, but the Middies have lost most of their championship combination.

Cornell with four veterans of the 1890 variety championship crew led by McManus, ruled a slight favorite as regatta draws to a close. Cornell as well as California have bettered the course record in practice. Washington has developed impressively since moving to the Hudson, whereas critics have marked California's short end stroke as an indication the Bears have their eyes mainly on the Olympics, in which the distance is only an approximate mile and a quarter.

"Old Man" Teneyck, Syracuse coach and dean of all the rowing mentors, placed unusual confidence in his big boatload, stroked by the redoubtable Tom Lombardi, football star.

Three of the variety favorites, Cornell, Syracuse and California, also figured prominently in the dope on the two preliminary races for junior and varsity crews. Win or lose, California and Washington planned to compete in the Olympic trials.

The forecast was for cloudy weather with a possibility of local showers but racing conditions were expected to be excellent. The two mile freshman race, first on the program was slated for 4:15 p. m. E. S. T., followed by the three mile junior varsity race at 5:15 and the four mile varsity battle at 6:15 p. m.

Crystal Lake Moundsman Hits Five Batters In One Inning; Score 11 To 9.

The Manchester Pirates defeated the Crystal Lake Eagles 11 to 9 at Crystal Lake Saturday afternoon. The Pirates were ahead until the eighth inning when the Pirates gathered five runs. Kloter went wild hitting five batters in this inning.

The hitting was pretty evenly divided between the Pirates. Cargo was hit for 16 bingles. Thornton played a nice game at short and managed to get two hits himself. Phillips played a nice field game and came through for two hits. McQuade, Willis and Krol starred for the losers. Sonkup played a nice game both at bat and at field.

Tonight the Pirates play the Shamrocks in a Y. M. C. A. league game at the north end.

Yesterday's Stars

(By Associated Press)
Stone, Tigers—Clouted home run, double and two singles to help beat Senators.

Hadley, Browns, and George Eames, Athletics—Former limbered A's to 8 hits in opener; latter effective in pinch as teams split doubleheader.

Clint Brown, Indians—Clouted homer with two on to win own game against Red Sox.

John Allen, Yanks—Blanked White Sox with three singles, 1 to 0.

P. Waner and Pie Traynor, Pirates—Their singles in eighth drove in tying and winning runs against Dodgers.

Tex Caretton, Cards—Shut out Giants with two hits.

HARVARD VS. YALE BASEBALL SERIES STARTS TOMORROW

Brooca and Devens Slated To Pitch; Cantabs Beat Trinity 10-3.

New York, June 20.—(AP)—With its conquest of the eastern intercollegiate league completed the champion Yale nine now turns to its climax series with Harvard. All hands concede that this will be a pitcher's series.

Everything indicates that Devens will start for the Crimson in the opener. Brooca is regarded as a sure choice at New Haven and it should be a Brooca filled with confidence after his general assault upon their eastern teams just concluded.

The records reveal the Ell sophomore is in possession of four league records for the season and tied in two others. Turning back Princeton 6 to 0 at Princeton Saturday, he struck a famed Tueloe Tiger to run his season strikeout mark to 70, just double the former record.

In addition he set the figure for innings pitched at 67 1-3. Also lowered the earned run record 1.60 per game and stretched his total of victories to seven.

The records he equalled were Jim Peterson's mark of eight league games pitched and Walters' feat of seven started and finished.

The final standing:
W. L. Pct.
Yale 8 2 .800
Columbia 7 3 .700
Penna 5 5 .500
Dartmouth 4 6 .400
Princeton 3 6 .333
Cornell 2 7 .286

College schedule this week: Tomorrow Harvard at Yale. Wednesday Yale at Harvard. Saturday Yale at Harvard (in case of tie).

Harvard brushed up for the Yale series with a 10 to 3 victory over Trinity at Hartford Saturday. Captain Al Lupien's triple hit Ray Adams hard, especially in the early innings, and collected a total of 13 hits. Harvard used three pitchers and they allowed only three hits. One was a home run by Pitcher Adams with two runners on base to account for all of the runs made by Trinity.

Captain Lupien, former Manchester high school star, went hitless in five trips to the plate. He walked once and scored a run, fled to right twice, fouthlied to first and struck out. He had one chance in the field and handled that perfectly. Lupien batted in fifth position. Lupien was hitting at plus-500 clip earlier in the season but of late had been a sort of slump which he hopes will end during the Yale series.

The defeat for Trinity closed the season for Coach G. H. Wright's combination which was six and lost as many games. The victories included wins over some of Trinity's leading rivals. Quite a few Manchester people watched the Harvard-Trinity game.

COLLINS QUITS POST AS RED SOX MANAGER

Boston, June 20.—(AP)—The defeated Boston Red Sox were left today without a pilot, Manager John Collins having resigned.

Collins told Quinn his health was going back on him and that he wished to step out and give some one else a chance to break the wavering tentacles. Collins, the fifth manager to come and go during the nine-year Quinn regime, was one of the few players to come unscathed from the "Black Sox" scandal of the 1919 world series. McManus came to Boston by the water route of the night. He has seen twelve years of action in the big show.

GEMS IN NIGHT GAME WEDNESDAY

Local Team Playing New Haven Cops; Also Play Saturday and Sunday.

The Gems will play their first night game in New Haven Wednesday night at Donovan Field, Savin Rock, against the New Haven Police team. The game is slated to start at 9:45 p. m. and will be played under flood lights. The New Haven Bulldogs of the Eastern League use this field for their home games.

The game is a charity affair for the benefit of the New Haven Register-Fresh Air Fund, and the New Haven Times Milk Fund. New Haven merchants are offering prizes to holders of lucky tickets. The New Haven Police have won 10 games and lost one this season, and the Manchester Gems with seven straight victories should be just the right attraction in New Haven.

The starting lineup for this game will be managed that will represent the Gems in Hartford Tuesday, June 28 in Hartford. Games will be played at Colt's Park. Stratton, 2b; Shortell, ss; Sipples, 1b; St. John, cf; G. Dixon, 2b; Walcott, c; E. Dowd, lf; and Putnam, rf. Fisher Berg will pitch this game, as the Gems will save their new pitcher, Jack Curtis, of Willimantic, for the game in New Britain Sunday, with the Falcons.

The Falcons A. C. have also won seven games. This game in New Britain is for Mayor's Unemployment Relief Fund. Saturday the Gems are booked to play the C. G. Dolphins Coast Guard team in New London, at the Submarine Base field. The Dolphins are leading the City League in New London. The Manchester Savitt's Gems baseball club will be feted to a banquet on Thursday night at the Oasus Club in Hockanum. This has been an annual affair with the Gems for the past three seasons. Local members and guests invited are Tommy Sipples, "Woody" Walcott, Ernie Dowd, "Lefty" St. John, Jack Stratton, Thomas W. Stowe and Archie Kilpatrick of The Herald, and Nick Angelo.

Art Rousseau, star pitcher for Dartmouth College the past two seasons has been signed up to play with the Gems this season. He is a pitcher, and has been one of the main stays of the Dartmouth team this season.

SOUTH END TIGERS SPLIT TWO GAMES

Playing on a rain-soaked field the South End Tigers broke even with Hebron yesterday winning the first game 4-0 and losing the second 12-7. Fisher, star South End pitcher, and Ed Markham were unable to play.

Ed Markham pitched the first game allowing only three hits, but in the second game Jimmy Manning star Hebron pitcher subdued the locals. Callis made a pretty good break catch in deep right field to break up a rally which might have beaten them in the first game. The Tigers would like a game with the West Side Aces. Call 6078.

Sharkey Will Weigh Around 200 Pounds

New York, June 20.—(AP)—The does he will be heavier than he has ever been in his long and erratic career. Schmeling has been down to 188 pounds during the training siege put probably will scale 190 or more when he weighs in.

Advance calculations point to one of the best heavyweight duels in recent years. The Boston Tar wants the title and confidently expects to win it. But Sailor Jack will be facing a vastly improved fighter. Max has lagged fast in the last two years. Der Mas was an impressive fighter a year ago when he stopped Young Stripling in 15 rounds in his first title defense. And he has advanced several strides since then.

Estimates of the probable receipts vary from $250,000 to $400,000 and of the attendance from 40,000 to 60,000. The referee and judges will not be selected until the day of the bout. The first bout is scheduled for 8 p. m. (E. T. T.) and the main bout around 9:30 or 10 o'clock. In the event of rain, the contest is to be held Wednesday.

Sharkey weighed 203 pounds after the workout and probably will hold that poundage at weighing in if

LEGION WINS AT ROCKVILLE, 17-0

Rautenburg and Raguskus Lead Batting Attack For Local; Game Tomorrow.

A. Raguskus and Rautenburg's fine hitting combined with McCurry's and Kismann's good pitching enabled the Manchester American Legion to whitewash the Orioles from Rockville 17-0 Saturday at the Four Aces in a non-league skirmish.

Raguskus hit a single, double and triple while Rautenburg connected for three. Local members and Kismann allowed but two hits in the entire game, issued no walks and shut out Rockville without a run. Young Eddie Raguskus has all the makings of developing into a fine first baseman. He fields well and also hits well. Karpuska played the best for Rockville.

So far this season Manchester has two victories and no defeats to its credit. It will try to keep its slate clean tomorrow night when it travels to Thompsonville to play the Legion team of that city in a league contest. Members of the Manchester team must report at the West Side Rec at five o'clock.

ACES ARE BEATEN IN JEWETT CITY

Sturgeon Blasted From Mound and Fraser Fustishes; Jarvis' Double Wins

The Aces traveled to Jewett City yesterday and lost a free hitting contest in the eighth inning when Jarvis doubled with three men on to put the Jewett City nine out in front with a three run lead.

The game was featured with plenty of hits; the local boys collecting 15 and Jewett City eight. For the local team Varrick and Boggan both hit well and for Jewett City Derda was the best man collecting three out of four times at bat.

Sturgeon started pitching for the local team but was relieved by Fraser in the fifth. Fraser allowed three runs in the seventh and Varrick was called upon to finish the game.

BON AMI WINS OVER NEW HAVEN

Brainard's Double In Eighth With Sacks Loaded Breaks Up Battle.

The Bon Ami defeated San Mansey's Trinity Church Parish House baseball team from New Haven at the north end Saturday afternoon. The score was 6 to 2. Jack Godek allowed the visitors only five hits.

Manchester scored all of its runs in two innings, two in the first and four in the eighth. The latter rally broke a two-to-two deadlock. Bill Brainard's double with the bases loaded was the feature of the deciding rally. Brennan and Raynor showed much speed on the bases.

The Bon Ami plays the Cardinals in a league game Saturday night at 6 o'clock. Saturday's summary:

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Life
 Life is a joke; see the jest of it;
 Life is a break; make the best of it;
 Life is a game; put your heart in it;
 Life is a play; act your part in it;
 Life is a song in either key—
 Major or minor—Which shall it be?

First Stenographer—The boss' little moustache makes me laugh.
Second Stenographer—It tickles me, too.

The first thing a child learns is where its mouth is located, and the second, is where ice cream cones are for sale.

Anker—So your son is going to college. What is he doing there?
Teller—Aging.

Horses are said to be staging a comeback on the farms of North Dakota. Well, if the horse can come back, maybe the rest of us can too, if we will only use a little horse sense.

Albert—This is pre-war stuff.
Cecil—You don't mean to say there's going to be another war?

We hear rumors of a new razor to be put on the market shortly. Our old razor is all right—what we need is a new chin.

He—My mother says I'm a wit.
She—Well, she's half right.

Some folks get a lot of enjoyment out of attending a circus, while others would rather sit at home and read about Congress in the newspapers.

Correct This Sentence: "If you're going to the party," said the neighbor, "I'll be delighted to keep your five children."

Cocoo Notes: Young men expect to make greater success in a big city, and the first thing they do is lose their laundry... It has been our observation that most of the free things offered to you have strings tied to them... The professor who sent his wife to the bank and kissed his money goodbye wasn't so absent-minded at that... The more clocks and watches there are in the house the oftener somebody asks somebody else what time it is... People get so tired of supporting the government that they want it to support them for a spell.

Mrs. Harrell—When I'm DEPRESSED I buy a new hat.
Mrs. Casper—I tried that, too—now my husband is DEPRESSED.

The Girl Says—Any mail from males today?

Ladies Now Shoot First
 "A lady killer" used to be a man. But many changes come in life. And now a lady killer often is. The foolish lady's loving wife.

The best way for the government or the individual to balance his budget is not to spend more money than he receives.

Servant Girl—Madam, master lies unconscious in the hall with a piece of paper in his hand and a large box alongside.
Wife (fervently)—Oh, my new hat has arrived.

One thing we are quite sure of and that is that the modern bride isn't as dumb as some brides were about twenty-five years ago.

We've got an idea that the old-fashioned parents controlled their children much better because they had more sense than the kids.

GROWING FURNITURE
 Sweetwater, Tenn.—Two months ago James L. Burns bought a piece of rustic furniture—a flower stand. It has now begun to put out new growth, three inches long, and has several leaves. The stand is made of hickory, an inch in diameter.

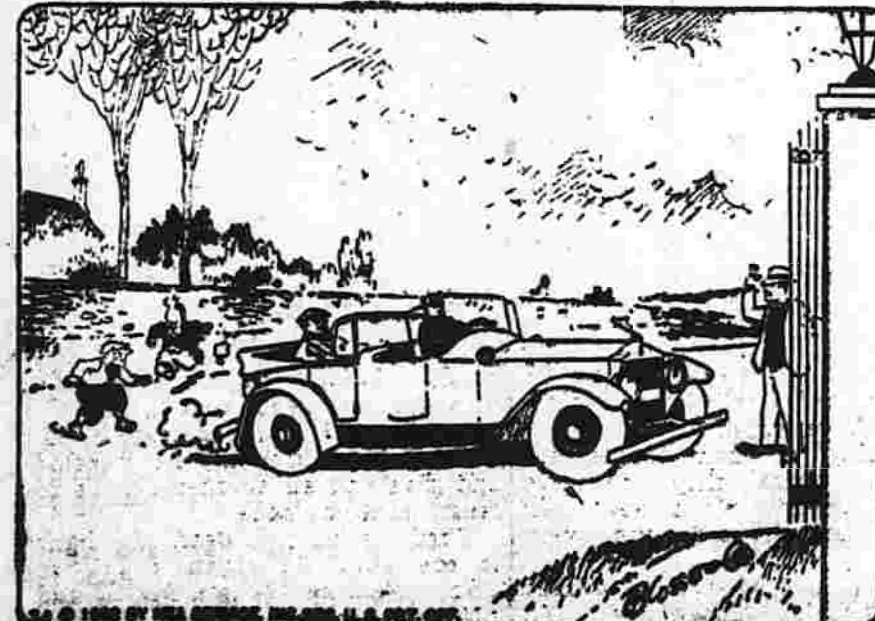

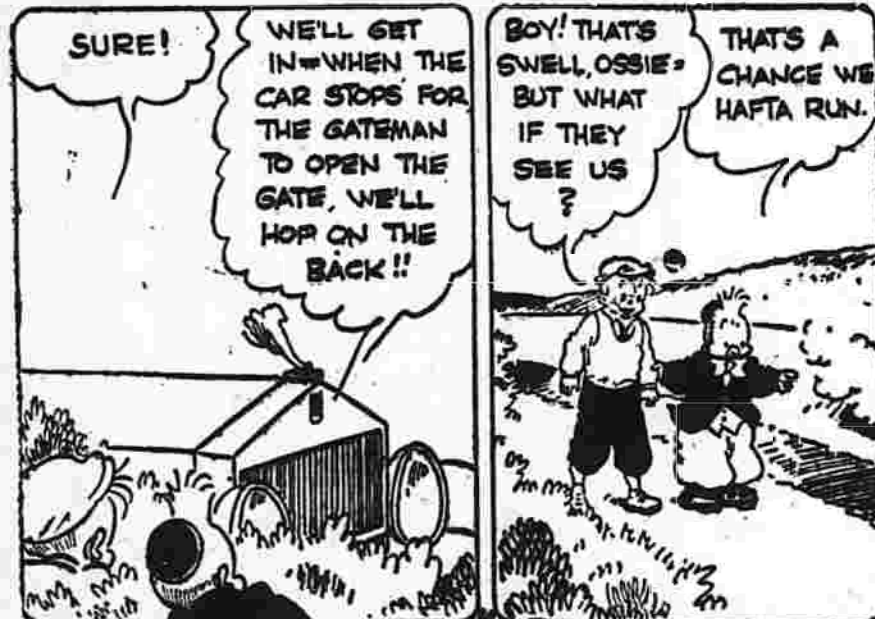

SOME TALKER!
 Rock Island, Ill.—Company was what Ted Lamp craved as he sat on his front porch. Along came a stranger, and Lamp invited him to sit down and talk. The stranger talked so long that Lamp finally fell asleep, lulled to slumber by the chatter of the man. When he awoke he found the stranger had departed, taking with him the change Lamp had in his pockets.

ONLY OUT HIS FINGER
 Knoxville, Tenn.—Just as a train came down the track, H. R. Stallworth decided he'd cross in his car. Of course he came out second best in the resulting crash, but the odd thing about it is that all he suffered was a cut finger and a bruised wrist. His car was entirely demolished in the collision.

11 CASES IN COURT AS JUDGES RETURN

Week's Accumulation Heard Today—Variety of Cases Presented.

Eleven cases were presented in Manchester Police Court this morning, six of which were the result of arrests made last week when the court was closed owing to the absence of its two judges, Raymond A. Johnson and Thomas Ferguson, who attended the Republican National Convention in Chicago.

Arrested with Mullen was James Loney of 1-2 Charter Oak Place. Both were found guilty of intoxication and breach of the peace. Mullen was fined $15 and costs, Loney was given a similar sentence which was suspended and the defendant placed on probation for six months.

The Mullen-Loney cases, which were heard jointly, took up most of the lengthy session. The court was crowded with spectators who were roped back from the enclosure.

house, Mrs. Wright testified, and she said that one large one was hurled through the dining room window, and barely missed her daughter's head.

Both Mullen and Loney denied any connection with the case and when arrested, said the court would have to prove the grounds. They claimed to be returning from a Crystal Lake dance and Loney said Mullen was going to stay at his house overnight so that they might get an early start back for the lake in the morning.

Mullen's fine and costs totaled $30.22 while Loney's amounted to $26.47. Mullen gave notice of appeal. George England furnished a bond of $300. Loney paid in full.
