

FIRE SWEEPS CONEY; THREE MILLION LOSS

Heart of Famous Resort Heap of Ashes — Scores of Houses Burn — Thousands Homeless — Bath-ers Lose Clothing.

New York, July 14.—(AP)—The heart of Coney Island is a three million dollar ash pile today, but the bands play on.

Fire which started in rubbish under the Boardwalk — Coney Island's polygot promenade—swept three square blocks of the resort late yesterday.

While a carousel sent its music plipping down through long waves of smoke, the fire, belloyed by a fresh breeze off the ocean, destroyed:

Fifty hanglows and houses; six bath houses and bathing pavilions; 200 parked automobiles; the pergola; the "Streets of Bagdad" (an amusement place); a small apartment building; five blocks of the Boardwalk and most of the buildings fronting on it.

Two score houses and several business places were damaged. At St. Joseph's orphan home on the Boardwalk 300 children were lined up in fire drill as the flames licked in its direction.

Firemen brought the blaze under control before it could reach the orphanage. Thousands Homeless Many thousands were made homeless. At least 5,000 bathers among the 25,000 in the surf at the time lost their clothes and personal possessions as the fire destroyed bathhouses.

Two hundred persons required first aid attention. Only two, however, were reported seriously hurt. Both were firemen.

Every piece of fire apparatus in Brooklyn was called out. Darkness was falling before the fire was under control. It was still smouldering today.

It was the biggest fire Coney Island ever had; and it was a great free show for the 150,000 men, women and children who watched it.

No Comparison Even the Dreamland fire in 1911 when property damage in the millions resulted, could not compare with yesterday's blaze.

Twenty-five thousand persons in bathing suits stood along the beach to the edge of which the fire came. Where the flames roared hottest the bathers were forced back almost to the water's edge.

About 2,000 bathers forgot their clothing until it was too late. Personal Losses No estimate of the personal losses suffered by bathers could be made. It ran uncounted into the tens of thousands. Adding to their loss was their predicament of being many miles from home with only a bathing suit and no funds for transportation. Subway and street car companies helped solve this dilemma by providing free transportation.

VETERANS GATHER AGAIN AT CAPITAL

Little Likelihood Men Will Get Cash Bonus Before Congress Quits.

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—War veterans again were massed on Capitol grounds today after a sleepless night of police-inspired marching about the plaza.

Wan and heavy-eyed they lolled in the shade as Congressmen who have refused their request for immediate cash payment of the bonus entered the Capitol and office buildings for the day's work.

While there seemed little change of the relief legislation they seek before Congress adjourns there was likelihood that Congress would act favorably on a request yesterday by President Hoover for a time extension for lending the veterans train fare home.

The Chief Executive also requested that the veterans' administration be permitted to use enough of its funds to give all the veterans transportation.

Mr. Hoover's recommendation was before the House for action today. Under the legislation appropriating $100,000 for train fare and subsistence loans to veterans, the deadline for applications was midnight tonight.

Several thousand veterans marched wearily back and forth across the Capitol plaza in double and single file. Now and then recruits would enter the lines. Occasionally they would drop out to enter the Capitol building.

They moved across the gallery double file, others simply to file through the corridors.

There were little notes on the procession, and the veterans' groups gathered on the grounds in the afternoon.

AIMEE MCPHERSON IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Evangelist Reported In a Coma — Removed To a Los Angeles Hospital.

Los Angeles, July 14.—(AP)—Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton was reported by her physician, Dr. Edward H. Williams, as being in a "precarious" condition today.

Her removal from a Lake Elsinore resort to a Los Angeles hospital in an ambulance was ordered. She was reported to have lapsed into a coma last night.

"Mrs. Hutton's condition can now be regarded as precarious," said Dr. Williams. "She is an awfully sick woman."

"She must be removed to a hospital and kept there. There is a strong possibility that she may suffer a cerebral hemorrhage from the brain concussion."

Nervous Breakdown Mrs. Hutton has been ill since she suffered a nervous breakdown more than a year ago. Her condition was aggravated by a tropical ailment contracted on a recent Central American tour. Last Saturday she suffered concussion of the brain when she fainted and fell, striking her head on the concrete floor.

Her husband, Dr. Hutton, and her son, David Hutton, had been found guilty by a jury in a breach of promise suit brought by Myrtle Jean St. Pierre, a nurse.

The noted preacher of Angelus Temple began to drift into unconsciousness, Dr. Williams said, while she was conferring with an attorney regarding a $240,000 damage suit filed by Roy Stewart, film director, over a motion picture contract. Recently she lost a $10,000 suit to Harvey Gates, a scenarist.

Discharged Employee Apparently improved, she awoke Wednesday to direct the company of 20 employees of the Temple, which have been put into circulation as the interpretation of the Anglo-French treaty is applicable to the matter of British debts to the United States.

The statement said: "In connection with reports which have been put into circulation as to the interpretation of the Anglo-French declaration to which other governments have been invited to adhere, there is no truth in any statement that it is applicable to the question of British debts to the United States of America."

FARMERS OF STATE ARE IN ILL-LUCK

In Addition To Drought Crops Are Hard Hit By Various Blights.

(By Associated Press) Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station staff members who devote much of their time to study of bugs and crops, report the Connecticut farmer this summer is having an exceptional run of ill luck.

To the prevailing drought which is hitting corn at its most critical period of growth added a multitude of bacterial diseases and a re-appearance of Stewart's disease detected on corn in the late spring. In the cities the "scorch" has appeared on the elm tree leaves.

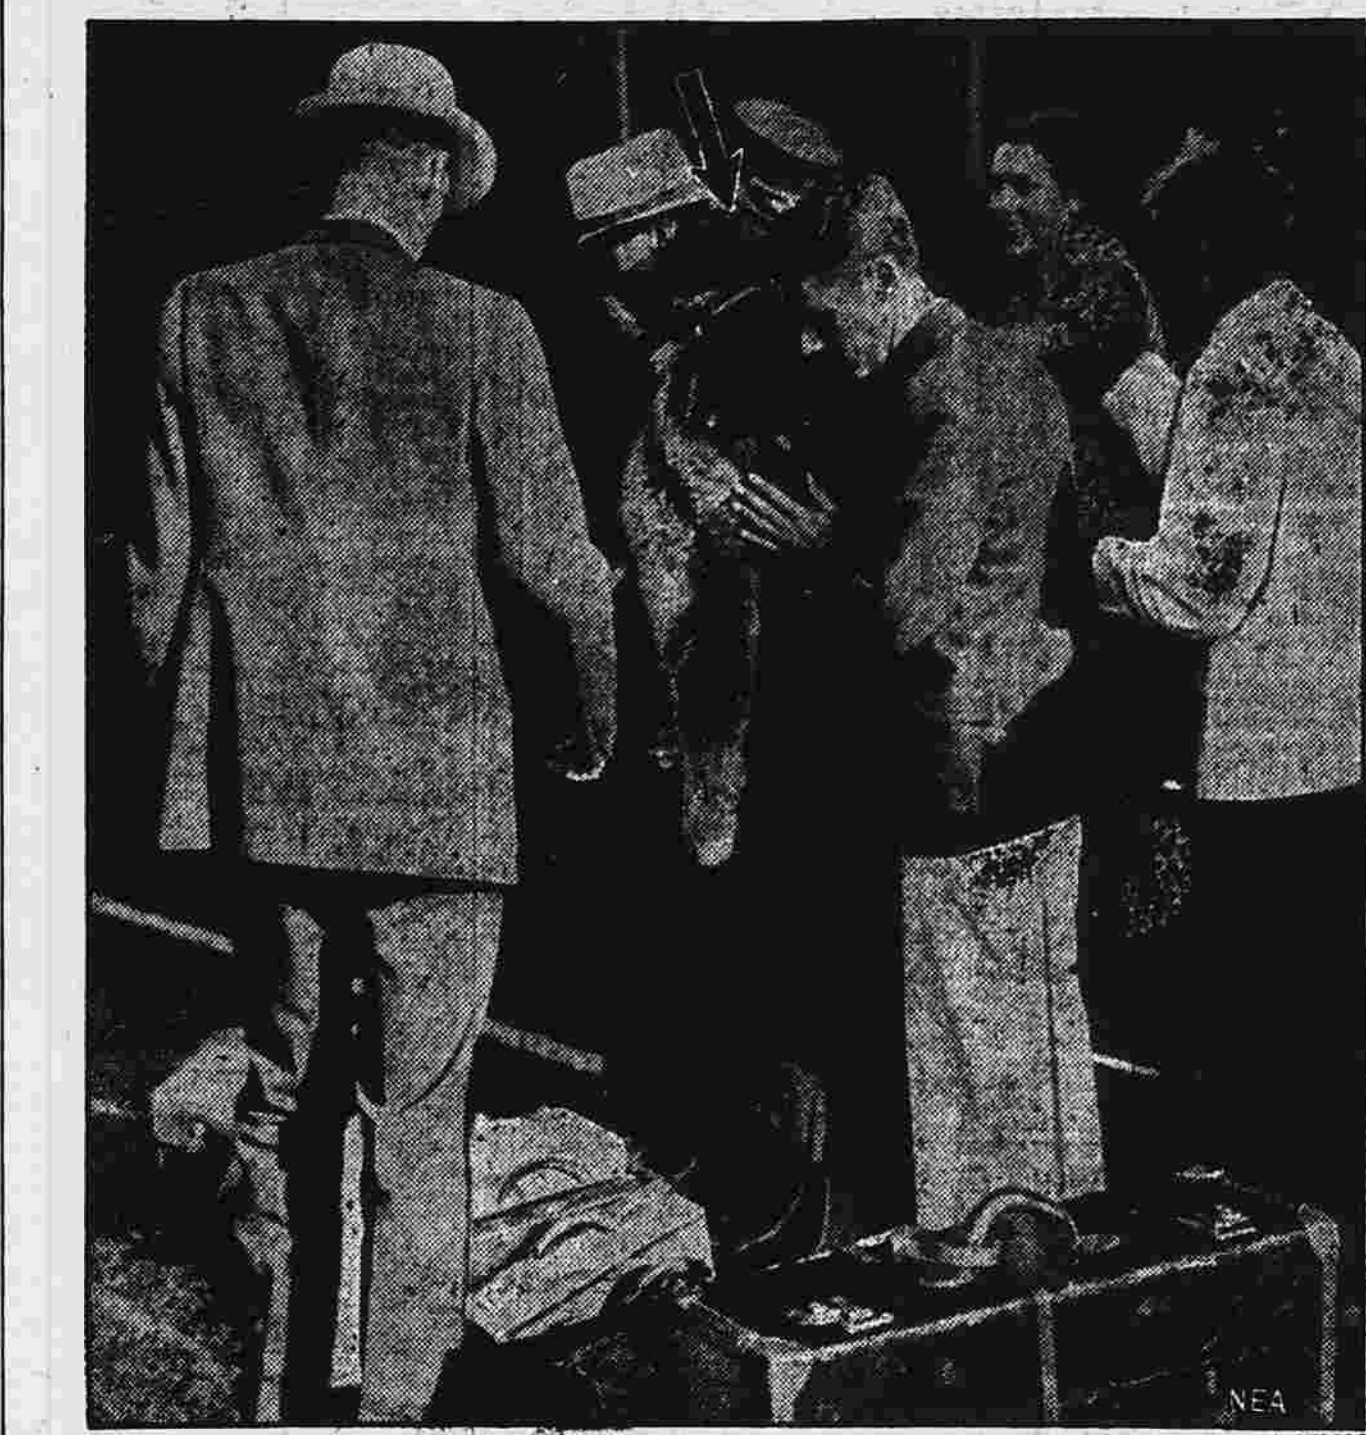

Many Complaints The state is flooded with complaints against diseases. Corn has reached tasselling time but Stewart's disease is ravaging many fields. Unless rain comes quickly much of the crop will be wilted beyond recovery. Ears are not forming and the drought has checked growth.

Apple Trees Hit Fire blight has hit apple, pear and quince trees. The scorch on elm tree leaves show no sign of fungi or beetle jaws. It is attributed to sub-soil dryness of two years ago, the moisture last year did not penetrate below the top layer.

The removal of the Federal corn borer quarantine is not expected to affect Connecticut, the experiment station said today. Connecticut has the honor and does not quarantine against itself but as a protection for neighboring states. The state quarantine probably will be maintained.

HURT AT HORSE SHOW Bridgeport, July 14.—(AP)—One horsewoman was thrown from the saddle and Miss Hope Gimbel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard P. Gimbel, of Fairchester, was knocked in the shoulder and knocked to the ground in a spectacular, thrill-packed opening day of the ninth annual horse show of the Fairfield County Hunt Club at Westport, witnessed by more than a thousand society prominent persons.

Family, Friends Surround Window in Love Tragedy After Sorrowful Trip

Still shaken by sobs after tragedy in Winston-Salem, Libby Holman Reynolds is shown here, she was shielded by her family and friends on alighting at Norfolk & Western depot in Cincinnati, O., her home town. Libby, under arrow, is in the arms of her brother, Alfred Holman, Jr., with her father and mother in the friendly crowd around her. WAR DEBTS OWED TO U. S. WORRY FRANCE, BRITAIN

New Accord Reached By France and England Interpreted Differently By the Two Signatories.

London, July 14.—(AP)—It was officially stated at No. 10 Downing street that there is no truth in any statement that the new Anglo-French treaty is applicable to the matter of British debts to the United States.

The statement said: "In connection with reports which have been put into circulation as to the interpretation of the Anglo-French declaration to which other governments have been invited to adhere, there is no truth in any statement that it is applicable to the question of British debts to the United States of America."

NOAH D. WEBSTER, FINANCIER, DEAD

One of State's Oldest Bankers, Passes Away At 84.

Willimantic, July 14.—(AP)—Noah D. Webster, 84, one of Connecticut's oldest bankers and an organizer and victim maker by avocation, died at his home yesterday.

He was honorary secretary of the Willimantic Savings Institute from which he retired in August, 1928, after being connected with the bank, the oldest state bank in Windham county, for 58 years. He had been treasurer since 1889.

Made Violins A musician of note, Webster was organist in the Congregational church from the time he came to Willimantic in 1870 until 1905. In his spare hours he made violins, scores of which are still in use.

He was born in Somers, August 19, 1847. Ten years later his father, Daniel Webster, Jr., was appointed warden of the Waterford Prison, where he was stabbed to death by a convict. The family then returned to Somers and young Webster clerked in a Broad Brook grocery store and later became a bookkeeper at Hartford.

His widow and a daughter, Miss Faith R. Webster survive. The funeral will be at the family home Saturday afternoon, in charge of the Rev. Andrew B. Chalmers, Congregational pastor. Burial will be in Willimantic.

NO ACCORD REACHED ON AID FOR JOBLESS

Fear a Hoover Veto On Farm Relief Bill

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—While the House rules committee withheld action on the Norbeck farm relief bill passed yesterday by the Senate, Democratic leaders in the House said today they had been unofficially informed that if it were sent to the White House it would be vetoed.

It is up to the rules committee to decide whether the bill should be given priority in the House for a vote before the imminent adjournment.

It was understood in House quarters that a number of Senators who voted for the measure now were looking at it askance, because of doubt as to its constitutionality.

The measure provides a tax and a tariff, some Republican and Democratic House members claim. Under the legislation all tax and revenue measures must originate in the House.

There was no official word as to President Hoover's position, but it was clear on Capitol Hill that he was believed strongly opposed to the legislation.

HINT AT AN OUTSIDER IN DEATH OF REYNOLDS

Young Millionaire Told His Tutor On Night of the Tragedy That He Saw a Strange Car.

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 14.—(AP)—Bit by bit Sheriff Transou Scott added to his evidence in the Smith Reynolds—death mystery today, but there was no indication a solution was near.

A section of door jamb from the bathroom connecting with the bedroom of Libby Holman, Broadway singer who was widowed by the unexplained shooting eight days ago of the heir to tobacco millions, was removed for preservation.

Fingerprints were found on the section underneath what seemed to be the prints of bloody finger marks. The blood-stained marks were described by J. Eric McMichael, assistant solicitor, as too indistinct for comparison.

Do Not Correspond The finger prints below were clearer. McMichael told the Coroner's Jury they did not correspond with any of the prints made of all persons known to have been in the palatial home for the gay party that preceded the shooting of the 20-year-old Reynolds.

It was admitted officially that the fingerprints being preserved might have been made at any time recently.

Look for Outsider Checking every lead that might afford the slightest information regarding the death, attributed by the Coroner's Jury to "unknown parties" after an original guide verdict had been invalidated, officers admitted they had not overlooked the remote possibility that an outsider, a marauder, may have been concerned.

They mentioned the testimony of C. Raymond Kramer, Long Island tutor of Reynolds, that the young master of the house rushed out at 10:30 p. m. when Kramer drove up in his automobile and asked the latter about another automobile which

SWEAT BOX KILLS FLORIDA PRISONER

Governor To Probe Action of Officials For Punishing Young Convict.

Tallahassee, Fla., July 14.—(AP)—Governor Boyle E. Carlton says the state plans vigorous prosecution of the two prison camp officials indicted in the sweat box death of Arthur Mallefert, young prisoner, but asserts the incident "is a rare exception in the prison life of Florida."

Every effort, the governor said today, will be made to see justice done in the case of Captain George Courson and Guard Solomon Higgins, both charged with murder of Mallefert who was found dead in a sweat box where he was placed for punishment and safe keeping.

Called An Execution Called an execution because of the rare exception in the prison life of Florida. On the whole our prisoners are well cared for and well treated. This is evidenced by the fact that we have never had a prison riot nor a camp disturbance of any grave consequence.

"We do not condone in any fashion," the governor said, "the treatment accorded Mallefert."

"Even this case is not totally one-sided. Mallefert was determined to beat the law."

Discuss Big Relief Bill For Three Hours and Half Without Reaching An Agreement—Big Obstacle Is Publicity On All Loans Made.

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Unexpected difficulties in ironing out differences between the House and Senate delayed progress today of the new unemployment relief bill and congressional conferees recessed without agreement.

The conference, which sponsors of the bill had predicted would produce an agreement within an hour, broke up after three hours and a half to meet again later today.

Failure of the conferees to reach a compromise on the half dozen differences in the $2,000,000 bill as it passed the House and Senate virtually precluded any chance of final action before tomorrow.

The big obstacle proved to be the provision inserted in the House bill by Speaker Cederly deciding vote, for publicity on all loans made hereafter by the Reconstruction Corporation, including advances to banks.

Senate conferees insisted upon their clause requiring publicity only for loans made in pursuance to the bill itself. Much of the discussion today was on this one point, and tentative agreements were reached on most of the other differences.

Senate conferees said also that they had yielded to the House and accepted authorization for a $7,000,000 construction program at military reservations.

Senate conferees said also that they had yielded to the House and accepted authorization for a $7,000,000 construction program at military reservations.

Reorganization of the Reconstruction Corporation by elimination of two ex-officio members of the board, as provided in the Senate bill, probably would include some provision such as in the Senate bill to prevent loans to financial institutions, officers of which have been on the board of the reconstruction corporation within a year.

No decision was reached on the difference involving capitalization of regional agricultural credit corporations. The Senate bill provided for capitalization of $3,000,000 furnished by the Reconstruction Corporation while the House bill required that half of it should come from private sources.

Republican conferees said after the meeting there would absolutely be no agreement on the bill unless Speaker Cederly yielded on the publicity provision.

REPORT ARGENTINE RELATIONS BROKEN

Uruguay Involved — Revolts Also Reported In Other So. American Countries.

Buenos Aires, July 14.—(AP)—A complete and sudden break in diplomatic relations between Argentina and Uruguay added new heat today to the boiling cauldron of South America's dissensions.

These brought up to date, are: Revolts in Brazil, Peru and in Ecuador; the collapse of the peace negotiations which sought to end the ancient feud between Paraguay and Bolivia over the Gran Chaco boundary dispute; and the new rupture between Argentina and the Uruguayan republic.

Irrked because Argentina showed a disposition to believe reports that General Severo Toranzo, former commander of the Argentine army and now an exile in Uruguay, was aboard the cruiser Uruguay when it came to Buenos Aires to assist in the celebration of Argentine independence day July 9, the Uruguayan government announced yesterday it had severed diplomatic relations with Argentina.

Wrong Report The report that General Toranzo was aboard the ship proved erroneous.

Uruguay recalled its ambassador at Buenos Aires last night and invited the Argentine ambassador to leave Montevideo. While Uruguayan cheered loudly the government's "defense of the national integrity" at Montevideo, Argentines here denounced the extra editions of the newspaper incontinuously.

Confidence was expressed here that the breach would be healed soon, but in the meantime it was said, the problem of preserving order in Argentina will be more difficult because the break means an end to the co-operation of Uruguay in helping suspected agitators out of this country.

Twenty Children Killed Conocotop, Chile, July 14.—(AP)—Twenty children were reported to have been killed and forty others injured yesterday when a massive volcanic disaster at the Takamaka volcano here caused the eruption of a column of smoke and ash in the presence of a large audience of young people in the vicinity of the crater.

There were about 200 children in the theater for a special matinee comedy film when the eruption occurred. Many of the children were in the gallery and the children rushed to the exits.

Lightning May Hit You From Ground Not Clouds

New York, July 14.—(AP)—Lightning nerve in the soil—an arrangement of wires showing whether the ground was positive or negative. He set up automatic cameras to photograph lightning.

He obtained pictures of 185 flashes and along with an automatic record from the ground nerve showing whether the soil was positive or negative. Sometimes it was one, sometimes the other.

Eight of the pictures showed lightning branching upward. Four of these upward branchings came from positive ground and four from negative—both kinds of lightning striking up.

More important scientifically, is negative lightning branching downward, but with the outstanding difference that the negative strokes branched less frequently than the positive.

FREEZE RELIEVES TOWN FROM HEAT

Rest of State Swelters But Manchester Is Quite Comfortable Today.

Although an Associated Press survey today reveals unusually hot weather throughout most of the United States except portions of the West Coast, Manchester did not seem to mind the heat today as much as previously this summer.

Nevertheless it was plenty warm here today. Three different thermometers publicly displayed along Main street revealed 85, 85 and 90 degrees Fahrenheit at 1 o'clock this afternoon with the probability that the mercury would climb into the low nineties before the day's high mark was reached.

LIST PLAYGROUND EVENTS OF SEASON

Director Lewis Lloyd Announces Schedule of Summer Features.

Director Lewis Lloyd today announced the schedule of special weekly activities to be held at the east and west side playgrounds. The season opened with the annual pet show held yesterday afternoon at the West Side playgrounds the details of which appear in another column.

Friday night of this week there will be a program of dancing on the green at the West Side playgrounds with the Recreation Junior orchestra playing from the rear balcony of the Recreation Center. The greensward to be used for dancing will be the strip immediately in the rear of the Recreation up to the race track. The orchestra, under the leadership of John Lloyd, will play from 8:30 until 10:30. There will be no charge.

Next week Wednesday on July 20, the annual Vehicle show will be held at the East Side in the evening starting promptly at 8:30. On August 3rd, the annual Rockville Night will be held at the West Side starting at 8:15. July 27 will be the date for the Globe Hollow day set for 2 p. m. in the afternoon. On August 6, the town championship swimming race will take place at Globe starting at 2:30 in the afternoon. The baby show will be at the West Side on August 10. The Costume Show will be August 17 at the West Side, the Junior and Intermediate track and title field meet for boys and girls at the West Side on August 24 and the exhibition of sloyd work will be at the East Side Rec. on August 29.

HINT AT AN OUTSIDER IN DEATH OF REYNOLDS

Reynolds thought had entered the premises about the same time. Kramer said he saw no indication of the other car and there was no mention of the circumstance by any other witness.

Another Wild Report A report to the effect young Reynolds' body was not in the basket placed in the family vault last Friday was denied today by the undertaking firm in charge of the burial. The rumor had it the internment was ordered deferred in a message from R. J. Reynolds, Jr., who was cruising off the African coast when notified of his brother's death.

No definite information was available yet with regard to the return of R. J., Jr., but a member of the family said he understood Reynolds could not reach here before Wednesday or the evening of next week.

That Bullet Incent Authorities indicated they had not completely discarded the inquiry into the incident at Port Washington, L. I., nearly a year ago in which a pistol was discharged in a house rented by Libby. Their report was that the bullet made a hole in Smith Reynolds' shirt. Libby described the incident to the coroner's jury, but the black-haired singer denied the bullet had pierced the clothing of her future husband.

She said she pulled the trigger upon the instance of Smith who sought to demonstrate how the trigger of the revolver could be pulled without firing the weapon by leaving an empty cylinder under the hammer.

20,000 ARE PRESENT AT BAT'S FUNERAL

"Henry Ford of Europe" Who Was Killed in Plane Crash, Is Buried.

Prague, Czechoslovakia, July 14.—(AP)—Thomas Bat'a, the millionaire shoe-maker, whose factories won him the title of the Henry Ford of Europe, was buried today in a forest cemetery beside the pilot who died with him in an airplane crash on Tuesday.

Nearly 20,000 of his employees attended the funeral services in the factory yards. The shops were closed for the day and the two coffins, buried under flowers, lay in a square surrounded by the factory buildings.

Flora Present Edward A. Filone, the Boston merchant, was one of a number of foreigners who attended. He had come from Caribbea in one of Bat'a's airplanes.

The manufacturer's will, read at the end of the service, pledged his associates to carry on the policies on which he conducted the business. "Never think of yourselves," he had written, "but put all your strength and all your interest into the common welfare."

At the end of the service the factory's sirens sounded a farewell blast and thousands followed the coffins to the cemetery.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, July 14.—(AP)—The securities markets clung tenaciously to their recent gains today, but for the moment at least, met with but limited success in efforts to extend them.

The stock list had to absorb profit taking, and traders were inclined to pause, while waiting for further developments in commodities, and more definite information as to the adjournment of Congress.

A little hangerover liquidation appeared in spots, particularly American Can, which sagged a point in moderately active trading. Opening gains of a point or so in a number of the leaders were largely lost in a morning sag, but a firmer tendency appeared during the middle of the day, when net gains of fractions to a point appeared in such issues as General Motors, American Telephone, Sears, Woolworth, Dupont, Bendix, United Aircraft, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, United Fruit, Lehman Corp., American Sugar, Johns-Manville, Liggett and Myers B., Consolidated Gas and others. Utilities were notably firm and People's Gas had one of its wide moves rising a number of points.

Bond dealers reported a fairly good reception for the $40,000,000 of public utility bonds put upon the market, the largest in many weeks, and this undoubtedly helped the utility shares, in view of further financing which a number of these companies have to do, when conditions favor. This may have been a factor in the rise in People's Gas, which is one of the three principal units of the Incol group which has some financing to do shortly.

News of a character to stimulate the list further was meagre. Banking quarters were inclined to regard the new accord between France and England as constructive, and there as it presumably indicated a united front in dealing with European problems of economic recovery. Lack of agreement between these two principal powers has been regarded by some quarters in Wall Street as a particularly disturbing element in the European situation in recent years.

Some of the recent buying in the local securities markets has come from abroad, notably London. Houses with European connections reported that the buying had been of a scattering nature, and there had been little inclination to bid for stocks on advances. One house reported many more inquiries than actual buying orders. Yesterday's sharp rise in stocks, carrying the average through recent resistance levels on the upside, was apparently accomplished largely at the expense of shorts, but some quarters report that there has been a limited degree of real investment accumulation, and that some speculative leaders have started to discuss plans. The chief obstacle, apparently is the extremely low level of corporate earnings, probability of further dividend slashing, and lack of prospect of immediate substantial improvement in business.

Bradstreet's weekly food index showed a gain for the fourth successive week, but some observers pointed out that it may take several more weeks, or even months, before it can be said with assurance that there has been a turn in commodities. Bar silver was up 1-4 cent to 39 7-8 cents an ounce.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Miss Mabel Stannard of 305 North Main street and Mrs. Martha Rogers of 15 Lilly street were admitted yesterday.

Mrs. William Lee and infant daughter of 8 Bealve were discharged yesterday.

Hospital clinic patients admitted today for tonsil and adenoid operations were: Betty Todd of 108 Russell street; John James of 88 Beach street; Dyer Carroll of 494 North Main street; James Sloan of 474 North Main street; Edward MacManus of 30 St. John street and Renee and Frances Lapanicola of 104 Clinton street.

Joseph Maloney of 607 East Center street was admitted today.

Raymond Dolan of 88 Home-stead street was given emergency treatment for a scalp laceration last night. He was discharged following treatment.

SLEMP ASKS HOOVER TO URGE AMENDMENT

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Leaving the White House this afternoon, C. Bascom Slemm—former secretary to President Coolidge—said he had advised President Hoover to take an "unequivocal stand" on prohibition in his forthcoming speech accepting renomination.

Slemm said he suggested that the President declare approval of an amendment to replace the Eighteenth.

Although Slemm declined to give Mr. Hoover's reaction, he said he believed Mr. Hoover would follow this line.

Slemm, who is on the committee which will notify the President formally of his renomination, said the Chief Executive had told him the ceremonies would be held early in August, certainly before the middle of the month. Slemm quoted the President as saying the acceptance speech would be delivered in Washington, although the exact spot had not been chosen. The south portion of the White House has been suggested.

SHOT ON MARCH 1ST ANSONIA WOMAN DIES

Ansonia, July 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Lillian Doyle, 39, who was shot by her husband, Michael Doyle, 49, on the evening of March 1st, died at her home on Clifton avenue at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon. Doyle, who walked to a nearby grocery store after the shooting and asked the clerk to call the police, is still being held at the New Haven county jail on the orders of the coroner.

Mrs. Doyle, who was a nurse, had been near death several times since the shooting. One shot was fired by the husband, the bullet entering her chest and lodging in the spinal column, caused complete paralysis. She was for a time under treatment at the Griffith hospital being taken home March 29.

The cause of the shooting has never been made known. Mrs. Doyle shortly after 6 o'clock on the eve of the shooting entered the bedroom where her husband was sitting, after returning from a house where she had acted as a nurse. The two daughters of the couple who were in the kitchen, heard a few words that sounded like a quarrel and then shot Doyle. The two daughters there is one son in the family.

SEES A SETTLEMENT OF FREE STATE PROBLEM

Holyhead, Wales, England, July 14.—(AP)—Belief that a satisfactory settlement of the differences between the Irish Free State and Britain was made possible as a result of a meeting of the Free State Labor Party in Dublin yesterday was expressed by William Norton, leader of the party, on his arrival here today.

After an interview with President Eamon de Valera, Mr. Norton left Dublin to confer about the Free State-British conflict with leaders of the British Labor Party. His purpose is to avert, if possible, the threatened tariff war between the two countries.

Mr. Norton said he had been authorized to proceed to London with a plan acceptable to the Free State, and, he thought, also acceptable to the British.

If economic war was unavoidable, he declared, the Irish Labor Party would stand with the government of the Free State.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Mystic, July 14.—(AP)—Sight of his own blood ended the desire of Walter R. Brooks, to commit suicide this morning.

Brooks left his home and walked a short distance away until he came to a vacant building. Taking a razor from his pocket he drew it across his throat and when the blood began to trickle from the wound he became excited and rushed to the street calling for help.

Neighbors sent for Dr. A. H. Meyers, medical examiner and after taking four stitches in the wound, which was not very serious the doctor ordered Brooks removal to the insane hospital at Preston for observation. Brooks told the medical examiner that he was despondent because of the lack of money, food and work.

In 36 Weeks Period 775 People Were Given Jobs By Emergency Group.

The final report of the Manchester Emergency Employment Association submitted today shows an operation budget of payments and expense over a period of 36 weeks extending from November 1 to and including the week of July 10th.

The report shows a total payroll expenditure of $91,081.50 paid workmen of the Association for a total of 215,800 hours worked. Of the total number of workers, registered numbering 1,315, 723 were married men with dependents and 593 single men. There were 103 married women workers, registered and 137 single women. Married men constituted 54.9 per cent of the total of the registrations, single men 20.7 per cent, married women 7.8 per cent and single women 16.6 per cent.

Of this total of registrants, 544 married men were given jobs constituting 70.3 per cent of the total of all payroll expended; 137 single men were employed for 16.3 per cent; 96 married women employed for 8.6 per cent and 38 single women for 4.9 per cent of all money expended for emergency work.

Of the total amount expended, 350 contributors received $20,849.31 worth of work against their contributions. Projects paid for by the owner totaled $17,547.69 including the $15,000 appropriation made by the town for the work on the Broad street extension.

Projects authorized by the Manchester E. E. Association totaled $2,684.50.

ALL KINDS OF PETS IN KIDDIES' EXHIBIT

First of Playground Features Is Held Yesterday Afternoon At West Side.

Pets of every description imaginable ranging from cats to crows were put on display at the annual Pet Show held at the West Side playground yesterday afternoon.

The Pet Show yesterday attracted more than two hundred persons including many adults who watched proceedings from the baseball bleachers.

The wide range of pets which they had to consider before making the final selections was as follows:

William Taggart, 10, 111 Cooper street, small snapping turtle; Bobby Kerr, 13, 9 North Fairfield street, pony; Evelyn Chagnot, 13, 13 Moore street, rat; Dorothy Werner, 13, 11 Cross street, rabbit; Russell Clifford, 12, 13 Short street, 14 rats; Herbert Frisell, 8, 116 High street, rabbit; Wesley Short, 13, 83 Pleasant street, guinea pig; Ronald Vennart, 13, 184 Cooper street, white collie dog; Leonard Torsenson, 10, 62 Pleasant street, bull dog; George Hunt, 7, 131 Pine street, angora cat; Stuart Hagaman, 7, 104 Cooper street, 8 rabbits; Irene Dowd, 6, 32 Lilac street, Belgian shepherd dog; Edna Dowd, 4, 32 Lilac street, small turtle; Rene Pissani, 5, 142 Pine street, cat; Mary J. Durkin, 6, 427 Main street, white split dog; Peggy Noonan, 6, 98 Cooper street, cat; Almada Stechols, 9, 86 Cooper street, small turtle; Virginia Hall, 7, 88 High street, cat; Frances Gulmelo, 8, 9 Eldridge street, poodle; Howard Janicke, 5, 11 Bank street, prize winners were announced in yesterday's Herald. They were as follows: Russell Clifford's 14 white rats, most number of pets; George Hunt's angora cat, the most attractive; Edna Dowd's small turtle, the smallest; and Mary J. Durkin's crow was in a bird cage and it was plain that the "pet" would much rather have preferred to be soaring above the tree tops. He flew about the cage and once almost pecked a too familiar cat on the nose.

FIRE SWEEPS CONEY; THREE MILLION LOSS

home to those in bathing suits. Police also commandeered buses.

In addition to the bath houses and private homes destroyed the fire wiped out scores of small shops. Sleep On Beaches.

Their homes gone, thousands slept last night on the beach canopied only by the sky which threatened intermittently to give them a wetting. Other homeless took advantage of shelter in theaters and other public buildings.

Police estimated the total number of homeless at 5,000. Policemen were on duty through the night arranging provender for the hungry. During the night ambulances were forcing their way with difficulty through packed streets, and with thousands of men and women running about in bewildered stampede before the roar of fire fighting equipment, Coney Island went on its play. Ferris wheels made their slow circles, roller coasters streaked on with their cargoes of laughing youth, and throngs, laughing and excited, moved unconcernedly among the amusements.

SECOND LARGEST BLAZE New York, July 14.—(AP)—Only once in recent New York history has a fire brought out more apparatus to fight it than that used to control last night's blaze at Coney Island.

That was January 30, 1931, for a fire in the Lincoln Arcade, Broadway and Sixty-sixth street, Manhattan. A "9-9" alarm calls out all the fire equipment of the Greater City of New York.

Yesterday's "7-7" called out all equipment of the Brooklyn Borough in which Coney Island is located. It was followed by a "6-6" alarm, which is the Manhattan Borough summons to all firefighting stations.

Nearly 12,000 firemen were on duty during the night as a result of the Coney Island fire, the day force being held on duty by the double alarms.

COUPLE KILLED

Troy, N. Y., July 14.—(AP)—Merton A. Dibble, of 397 North Main street, North Adams, Mass., and Emily J. Dibble, believed to be his wife, were instantly killed in an automobile accident near Boyntonville on the Troy-Bennington highway today.

The Dibbles were driving toward Troy when, it is reported, their car slipped another, then swerved off the road, struck a stump and overturned.

Internal machines have been breaking down for some time, but the only one that really bothers the average man is the one just in front of him on Sunday afternoon.

MAKE RAPID PROGRESS AT NEW UNDERPASS

West Abutment To Be Completed Today—Will Be Several Weeks Before Bridge Is Finished.

The new west abutment that is to carry the rails of the New Haven road over Adams street, Buckland, will be completed today. There was a large number of men working in that vicinity today. The forms for the cement were all completed earlier in the week and the work of pouring the cement got underway yesterday. In two hours this morning progress has been made and the foreman in charge expected that the work would be completed early this afternoon.

The east stone abutment is to be retained, but in order to take care of the carrying span it has been necessary to remove about four feet from the top of the abutment and the tie irons have been placed in position there. A concrete top will be laid on the stone abutment. The iron work has not been installed for the entire large span that will have to replace the one now in use and this will not be done until both abutments have been given an opportunity to settle before the back is refilled and the iron work started. This will mean that there will be several weeks' delay before the present west abutment, which is still being used for the carrying of the weight of the overhead bridge, can be torn down and the final work of laying the roadway below can be completed.

BRAVE POLICEMAN DIES AFTER 13TH OPERATION

New York, July 14.—(AP)—Jack Kennedy of the Nassau county police, who submitted to thirteen operations to fight off paralysis which resulted from a bullet wound he received in 1928 has lost his long fight for life.

Kennedy was shot from ambush near Woodmere, N. Y., as he approached a car parked in a thicket without lights. The bullet which pierced his spine caused complete paralysis and resulted in a series of operations. On April 29, when he went to the operating table for the thirteenth time, doctors warned him he had a 1,000 to one chance for recovery.

He took the chance he said he had to think of his wife and little boy, believing the pension of $1,600 he was to receive would not be sufficient for their support. Apparently winning the gamble he was removed to his home in New Hyde Park and was planned to be out on crutches within a few weeks. Last night he died.

MRS. CALLES STARTS FOR HOME IN MEXICO

Boston, July 14.—(AP)—Senora Leonor Calles, wife of General Plutarco Calles former president of Mexico, apparently fully recovered from a recent brain operation started back for Mexico City at noon today.

Senora Calles and the official party which includes her husband and others who accompanied her here from Mexico City are expected to arrive in the Mexican capital on the morning of July 18. The young wife of the Mexican statesman left the Peter Bent Brigham hospital about an hour before the train drawing her special car left the South station.

Evidence of the completeness of Senora Calles recovery was seen by spectators in the fact she was able to walk from the entrance of the South station to the private car, resting only slightly on the arm of her husband.

LINEMAN BURNED

Meriden, July 14.—(AP)—Michael Craig, of 56 Crown street, a lineman, employed by the Meriden Division of the Connecticut Light & Power Company, was severely burned about the neck and right foot when he accidentally came in contact with a "live" wire while engaged in tree trimming work this morning. His burns were termed second and third degree in nature but he is not considered to be in serious condition at the Meriden hospital where he was removed for treatment.

HARRIMAN APPOINTED

New York, July 14.—(AP)—The name of Harriman again came to the fore in the management of the Union Pacific railroad today, with the election of W. A. Harriman as chairman of the board of directors. Harriman, a partner in Brown, Bros. Harriman & Co., had been a director of the road for some time. He succeeded Robert S. Lovett who died June 19, last.

CONGRESSMAN HURT

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Representative Virgil Chapman, Democrat, of Paris, Kentucky, suffered a wrenched back and abrasions in an automobile accident this forenoon.

Chapman was on his way to the Capitol in a taxicab which collided with another machine. He was taken to the office of Dr. George Calver, the Capitol physician, for treatment.

Calver said Chapman's injuries were not serious.

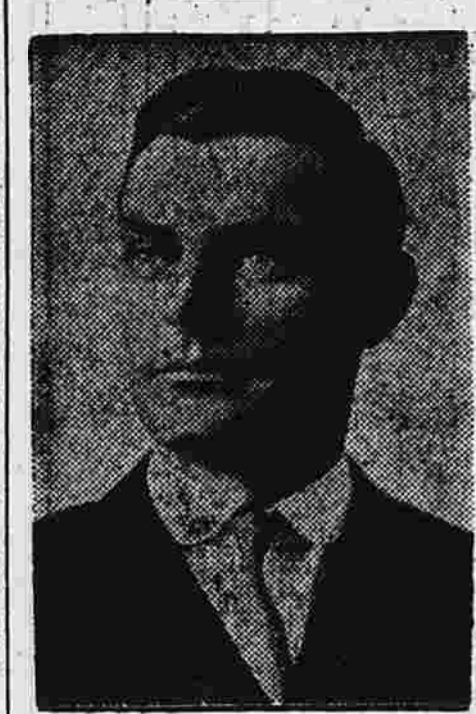

CONTRACTS AWARDED

Hartford, July 14.—(AP)—Contracts for the construction of a new dormitory and storehouse and bakery at the Mansfield State Training school and hospital were awarded by the State Board of Finance and Control today. The general contract for the dormitory went to Charles F. Smith & Son, Hartford.

SOCIALIST LEADER HERE TOMORROW

Jasper McLevy, of Bridgeport, To Address Open Air Meeting in Park.

Jasper McLevy, Socialist candidate for governor of Connecticut, will address an open-air meeting to be held here tomorrow evening under the auspices of the Socialist party of Connecticut.

Jasper McLevy

The meeting will take place at the bandstand in Center Park at 8:00 o'clock. The necessary permits have been secured.

Mr. McLevy has for years been a leader of Socialist forces in this state. In 1931 he polled over 15,000 votes as the Socialist candidate for mayor of Bridgeport, running six thousand votes ahead of the Republican candidate and only two thousand behind his victorious Democratic opponent. He is now president of the Bridgeport Central Labor Council and a member of the National Executive Committee of the Socialist party.

Fred Schwartzkopf, Socialist Alderman in Bridgeport, will also speak.

MELLON MAKES SPEECH

Sulgrave Manor, England, July 14.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon spoke here today at the ancestral home of George Washington as part of a Washington bicentennial celebration.

"The first President," he said, "did not seek to make America self-contained. In matters of foreign policy he urged independence without isolation, co-operation without alliances."

"Another of his chief concerns was the establishment of the public credit. But the deep impress which he left was due to the sheer force of his character."

Several hundred Americans and Englishmen made the trip to Sulgrave Manor, stayed for tea and returned to London in the evening.

VARE AND WALL IN GOLF FINALS

Win Semi-Final Matches In Griswold Cup Tourney At Eastern Point.

Eastern Point, July 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Glenn Collett Vare, Philadelphia, today won a decisive victory over Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Philadelphia, by a margin of 7 and 6 in a semi-final match of the Griswold cup tournament today at Shenecossett.

Mrs. Vare equalled men's par for the 12 holes, going out in 37, one over par, won with par 4's at the next holes and took the 13th with a birdie 4 to make up the stroke she yielded on the outgoing nine. Mrs. Hurd won only one hole, the fourth where she sank a nine-foot putt for a par 3.

Miss Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., won the other semi-final match after a nip and tuck battle with Miss Katherine Bragaw, of West Orange, N. J., by a margin of 1 up. They were all even at the end of the first nine holes, each taking 42 strokes on the way out.

Miss V. all won two of the next three holes and Miss Bragaw rallied to even the match at the 17th in spite of a disastrous five at the short 16th which Miss Wall won with a three. At the last hole Miss Wall got down in par four to win the match while her opponent took five.

The boys all gave Mr. Holl three rousing cheers for the privilege of using his beautiful lake front for the outing.

The new dormitory is a fine one remade from an old garage and accommodates sixteen boys. The large dormitory accommodates 27 boys and the leaders sleep out in a tent near the dormitories so as to keep an eye on the boys.

All the boys are in fine health and are all gaining weight. At all times of the day they are under close supervision.

DOCTOR TO HAVE HEARING

Hartford, July 14.—(AP)—The State Medical Examining Board has set July 26 at 11:30 a. m. for a hearing in the case of Dr. Frederic E. Rainville, 71, of Griswold, he having been summoned to show cause why his license to practice medicine in this state should not be suspended.

In this case the accused having been committed to jail after having been found guilty of performing an illegal operation on February 9 of this year at Jewett City. On May 7, 1930, he was found guilty of a similar offense and at that time he was fined $500 and his license to practice suspended for six months.

CONTESTS KEEPING KIDDIES "ON TOES"

Kiwanis Guests At Hebron Having Time of Their Young Lives In Camp.

Kiwanis Camp is in full swing now with 48 boys having the time of their lives, eating "three squares" a day and romping through the woods and fields of Hebron on all sorts of games.

To make the handling of the boys an easier matter they are divided into tribes. Each tribe has a leader; the Mohawks in charge of Fred Johanson, the Nipmunks in charge of Gunnar Johnson, the Tuxis in charge of Lemnart Johnson and the Sioux under Louis Jones.

Tribe competition is strong. Every tribe is trying hard to win inspection, games and other contests. The Sioux are ahead with 15 points and the Nipmunks a close second, with 10.

One thing these boys can do is eat. Thirty loaves of bread, forty quarts of milk, 2 pecks of potatoes, ten pounds of meat, 4 pounds of rolled oats, and other foods make up the menu for a day. Mrs. Selma Erickson is proving to be a fine cook for the second year and is taking good care to see that the boys are getting plenty to eat. The food is well cooked and nothing is thrown away.

Yesterday the boys were invited over to E. J. Holl's cottage to enjoy an afternoon of water sports. After swimming and boating a fine dog roast with coffee and ice cream on the side was fully enjoyed. Transportation to and from the lake was provided by the Orford Soap Company and the C. R. Burr Nurseries.

The boys all gave Mr. Holl three rousing cheers for the privilege of using his beautiful lake front for the outing.

The new dormitory is a fine one remade from an old garage and accommodates sixteen boys. The large dormitory accommodates 27 boys and the leaders sleep out in a tent near the dormitories so as to keep an eye on the boys.

All the boys are in fine health and are all gaining weight. At all times of the day they are under close supervision.

HYTLER AS CHANCELLOR

Pirmasens, Germany, July 14.—(AP)—Gregor Strasser, Adolf Hitler's chief lieutenant in the National Socialist Party, predicted in a campaign speech here today that his chief would be chancellor of Germany after the election on July 31.

"We will show the world that government without the Nazis is impossible," he said. "When Hitler becomes chancellor after this election, he will have the confidence of all the people, something which the present chancellor and his weak minister of the interior never will have."

TAX FREE CITIES

Iola, Kan., July 14.—(AP)—Iola citizens look forward with confidence to a municipality tax free city in 1934.

If that goal is reached, Iola will join Kansas and Coffey, Kansas, in functioning without the necessity of city taxes. Iola's recently determined 7 1/2 mills tax levy for 1933, the lowest in 78 years, will yield less than one-third of the total money necessary for expenditures. The remainder will be taken from a surplus created by earnings of municipally-owned gas, water and electric utilities.

City officials estimate that by 1934 the profits of these utilities will amortize Iola's remaining indebtedness of $250,000, making a city tax levy unnecessary in that year.

ROOSEVELT GIVES UP TRIP TO WOOD'S HOLE

New Bedford, Mass., July 14.—(AP)—Abandoning his plans to visit Woods Hole, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and his party aboard the yawl Myth, unexpectedly put in here today for supplies.

The New York governor indicated he would proceed to Woods Neck, the anchorage at the entrance to the Cape Cod Canal where vessels wait their turn to pass through that waterway.

The northeast wind made this old whaling port much more accessible than Woods Hole, his original destination when he put out from Cuttyhunk this morning. His change in plans however, was due to the fact that he learned Charles R. Crane, U. S. Minister to China during the Wilson administration, could not reach Woods Hole in time to see him.

After Governor Roosevelt passes through the Cape Cod Canal he will find few suitable anchorages this side of Boston, nearly fifty miles away.

THURSDAY, JULY 14.

RELIEF PROBLEMS AGAIN

In another month the fiscal year of the town of Manchester closes and the Selectmen will be faced with the problem not so much of justifying the expenses of the present year as ascertaining to the best of their ability what chance there will be in the new year of striking a balance in the budget. Between August 15 and the October town election the board must arrive at some definite decision with regard to the proposed relief program for next winter.

Everyone has been fervently hoping that the clouds of depression would break under some magic spell, but the summer is half gone and the prospects are no brighter than they were a year ago. There are, here and there, indications of an increase in business, but so there were a year ago. Another winter like that endured last year will surely test the town's ability to take care of its needy. There can be no dilly-dallying with the problem this fall. The facts must be faced squarely and petty political squabbles must not interfere with the duty of the community to care for those in need.

The Selectmen must propose a relief program. They must recommend either that the relief funds be raised by taxation or by general donations. Last year's program called for both a taxation fund and general contributions. The town's charity appropriation was increased $50,000 and was spent as authorized by the town meeting in creating work for the jobless. The unemployment bureau provided work that allowed for the distribution of some $80,000 to those who were unemployed. The execution of this fund was highly satisfactory. The difficulty lay in raising the necessary money.

It is doubtful that a fund can be raised this coming year in the same manner as last year's was secured. Towards the end of the jobless bureau's work the contributors were gradually failing to carry out their pledges. Many said that they would not guarantee to give a certain amount, weekly if the proposition were put up to them another year. Many of the factory heads and those in charge of stores that were aiding the plan said they would not again ask their employees to contribute by that system. It is possible that such things will be forgotten when next fall arrives, but nevertheless the Selectmen have a problem in recommending what the town should do.

Taxation plans are coming so thick and fast that the man who has saved a dollar will find himself in need of community aid soon. The new government taxes are hitting everyone. A state sales tax is proposed and now the various towns are faced with raising their own relief funds through taxation. There is no denying that the easiest way to raise any community fund is through general taxation—easy for the towns, but far from easy for the small property holder or small industry that is striving to weather the crisis and hold at least a small part of what has been earned and saved.

The Herald has opened its columns to those who may have suggestions for such situations previously, but never with a more sincere desire that someone come forward with a real solution of a problem than it does this year. Two or three plans, as yet in the rough, have been suggested and it is possible that workable schemes might be forthcoming from them. A new source of revenue is usually the solution of any big business that faces bankruptcy, but a municipality is strictly confined as to its source of revenue. Relief will come, of course, when business picks up, but in the meantime every resident of Manchester should prepare himself to aid and support the town authorities in whatever plan they deem best to meet the problem.

OUR LIQUOR PROBLEM

Two years ago The Herald, anticipating the collapse of prohibition within a relatively short time, urged the importance of electing to the Connecticut Legislature representatives and senators sufficiently interested in the highly important subject of liquor control to insure the adoption of legislation calculated to protect the well being of the state's people by preparing well in advance for the abandonment of federal prohibition.

It is not surprising, of course, that the suggestion went unheeded, because two years ago the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment appeared to be at best a far-off goal. Now it is imminent, and the subject of the kind of state control that must succeed becomes a very lively one.

It is not going to do at all for the next Connecticut Legislature to procrastinate on this question of liquor legislation and wait until the last of the needed states has voted for repeal before attacking the task of creating a new and better system. No more serious problem will confront the General Assembly next January than the evolving of a sane, workable and plan for handling the traffic in intoxicants, to go into effect the day federal prohibition is repealed, and it will call on the best intelligences and the highest of motives for a solution as nearly perfect as possible.

Slowly thinkers, mass-minded individuals who have no particular convictions on the subject of liquor control, cranks whose convictions constitute sheer obstinacy, persons who are not keenly interested in the progress of society, these will have no proper place in the next Connecticut Legislature. It is going to behoove the people of this state, therefore, to select their representatives and senators with a good deal more than customary particularity and with very special relation to their fitness for a great moral task. For this very delicate and very difficult job Connecticut should pick the highest grade General Assembly it has ever elected.

The town which sends to the Legislature a fanatic who will fight furiously for a hopelessly unworkable state prohibition, refusing to admit that the theory of total denial has been blown to atoms, will be just as derelict in its duty to itself and its children as the town which elects a representative who truckles to the sots and who would like to see the saloon restored to its old-time political influence. Connecticut cannot have her new liquor policy established by such irresponsible and injurious forces. It must be framed by broad, earnest and highly intelligent men and women, determined to give this state, if they can devise it, the best liquor law in the world.

The sooner the people of Connecticut begin to think about what to do when the rein of federal prohibition, booting and speaking come to an end, the better results they are going to get. The more they think about it and the more they talk about it and the more they study the question during the next few months the better for themselves, their children and the honor of our state.

IN NEW YORK

Noah's Ark—Up-to-Date
 New York, July 14.—It was the old adage, "Noah's Ark," which headed all these paper made animals and figures on the "Broadway Arrarrr."
 Today no marquee hallyloo is complete without a few mechanical figures. Such eye-catching devices are often quite as costly as the attraction itself. To be sure, the costs have been cut to meet the depression times. At the moment, those lick their chops and alligators bare their teeth—all for $4,000.
 But "Noah's Ark," which set the styles, ran up to $50,000. Flaming belched and electric waters flowed. A special steam plant was installed to produce an imitation of smoke.
 One of the more venerable jokes of the street originated with this display. Two visiting cloak-and-suiters were reported observing this spectacle. One, asked the other:
 "Hey, Moe! What's that?"
 "It's the Warner brothers down stairs preening paria."
 The dark display was the creation of Langdon McCormick, father of a score of melodrama thrillers of yesterday, who has now turned his talents to Cosmo Island shows and flash displays. He was reported to have changed $15,000 for his ideas. Any change in the display set the Warner back some $7,000.
 The "Show of Shows" adornments involved some $15,000. A single letter in a star's name has often cost up to $500.
 To the Mirror End
 Such gestures in the process of "biling" a film or stage favorite or an attraction are considered essential and usually are insisted upon by the performers.
 One of the big street's summer yams concerns two members of a vaudeville team—apparently pals, but secretly jealous of attention given the teammate. The younger died suddenly, and a short time afterward, the other ordered an elaborate tombstone.
 The man who was disturbed fearing that the death had been too great a shock for the actor.
 "You look perfectly well," said a fellow actor. "What's the idea of buying a tombstone? You're not going to jump out a window or something, are you?"
 "No," admitted the hooper. "I'm getting my tombstone made in advance to make sure my name will be in as big letters as Joe's."
 There's a Limit
 Then, a couple of years ago, there was that amusing yore for big billing.
 The name of Norma Talmadge had appeared in letters that were 15 feet high. An envious Hollywooder immediately demanded that her name be given even greater space. A few days later the other fellow's name appeared in letters that were 18 feet high. Whereupon, at considerable cost, the Talmadge letters were enlarged a couple of feet.
 Thus it went on until a draw had to be called. Somebody reminded the rivals of a city ordinance regulating the distance from the marquee at which an electric sign may be hung.

THE HUTTON FARBCE

Now that the dismal farce-comedy of the "love balls" suit between the Los Angeles nurse and Almeda McPherson's husband has played itself out, the ordinary citizen is moved once more to wonder why the time of American courts has to be taken up with such affairs.
 To be sure, they are occasionally good entertainment. This particular trial could hardly be excelled on the stage or in the movies for its laughs. But the courts, after all, are not maintained to furnish comedy. They are maintained to handle serious legal business, and they have more than they can do without slugging rowdy brutes.
 The average breach of promise suit ought never to reach the courts. The plight of the woman whose sweetheart jilts her for another woman is not a happy one, but her remedy should not, ordinarily, lie in a lawsuit.
 THE PRICE OF SUBMARINES
 Loss of the French submarine Frontenac, with 63 men aboard, emphasizes once more the tribly, dangerous nature of all underwater craft. Not a year passes without a tragic submarine accident in some navy or other. Cruising on such a risky occupation is a risky occupation in any place time.
 The worst of it is that in the prevention of state of naval strategy and tactics, the submarine seems to be an essential part of a fleet. The responsible naval authorities who urge the abandonment are relatively few.

THE RECENT MARRIAGE OF ADOLPH ASTAIRE

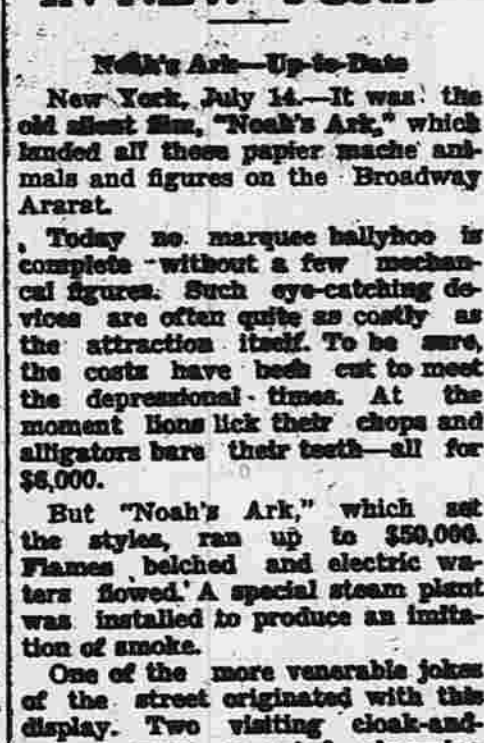

The recent marriage of Adolphe Astaire into London publicity recalls still another chapter in the story of biling. This was one of the many marriages of famous performers. The last one was little whether their names are prominently displayed, knowing full well that their followers will congregate.
 The Astaires, although headliners, have been discarded at observing the names of relatively unimportant players in the rights whereas they were mentioned in small electric type.
 GILBERT SWAN.
 TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY
 QUENTIN ROOSEVELT BLAIN
 On July 14, 1918, Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt, youngest son of General Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States, was shot down and killed in an air battle back of the German lines in the Chateau-Thierry sector.
 British troops south of Tientsin made a substantial advance in a day of late fighting.
 American attacks on Italian positions in northern Italy were repulsed with heavy losses.
 Allied successes continued in the Balkans, French forces sweeping back the American troops opposite their British allies another defeat on the Bulgarians.
 HERE IN GOAL
 The three eastern provinces of Manchuria are said to contain 2,000,000 tons of iron ore and 2,000,000 tons of coal.

Was taken all other nations do, and the chance for getting international agreement on a no-submarine treaty soon accordingly dim.

The submarine has a black record in peace as in war. If international agreement to abolish it cannot be had, let us hope that some genius will invent a new ship, or a new protective device, that will make it obsolete. The price of maintaining it is terrifically high.

ANOTHER MYTH
 In 1925 Al Smith was a "myth." Now that Gov. Roosevelt cruises on the "Myth II" can it not be said he is a "myth, too?"

TREATMENT FOR ARTHRITIS

A most important factor in the cure of arthritis is the patient's mental attitude, as one who has the determination not to be given up is most likely to succeed in overcoming his trouble. Much depends upon the willingness of the patient to diet persistently enough to overcome the joint inflammation and then to take corrective exercises at the right stage of the cure, in order to prevent permanent stiffness from disuse, and to facilitate return of as much movement as may be possible with the damaged joint.
 The presence of acute attacks which occur from time to time in chronic arthritis seems to be a favorable indication as cases undergoing such acute attacks seem to have the best outlook regarding recovery. Chronic rheumatism may be easily cured at the start, but becomes more difficult to overcome as each new joint is involved.
 Chronic arthritis is usually considered incurable, but I have seen some remarkable cures, even in advanced cases, where the patient persisted in sticking closely to the diet for a sufficient length of time. Fasting and dieting are doubtless of paramount importance in clearing up arthritis and should be placed first above all other measures. I sometimes advise a patient to begin on a five-day fast, using tomato juice, following the fasting instructions given in my Cleaning Diet Course, simply substituting the tomato juice for the orange juice. It may be advisable to repeat the short fast at intervals of about one month apart; in between the fasts the patient is to use the diet given in the last part of the Cleaning Diet, avoiding starches and sugars.
 The fast will be found to have a beneficial effect in cleaning up to a large extent the focal points of infection, however, it may be necessary in addition to employ local treatments. Where abscessed teeth are present, it is desirable to consult a dentist as to treatment.
 During the fast, and as long as any soreness is present in the joints, it is helpful to take two enemas daily. This measure speeds up elimination from the body one or two days ahead of the regular time.
 An ordinary case of arthritis will improve markedly while following the Cleaning Diet. Where the arthritis persists, it is advisable to take a course of colonic irrigations, which have great value in many cases. Frequently, a failure to improve will be based upon kinks, sagging, or adhesions of the large colon and these patients should be encouraged to find if such a condition is hindering the cure. When such is found to be the case, suitable deep manipulations of the intestines are indicated in order to free them from normal functioning.
 In every case, rest of the affected joints is advised, as long as any inflammation is present. Exercise at this stage is to be AVOIDED, lest it increases the irritation.
 As to local treatments, heat in the form of warm applications will be found to give relief from pain, and is also beneficial in improving the circulation through the joint. Where there is no acute inflammation, hot water, salt massage may be employed, followed by joint manipulation, which are the treatments with the diathermy and the deep therapy electric lamp.
 When the home has been given ample opportunity to rest, then corrective exercises should be begun to avoid the stiffness following cessation. Both passive and active exercises are used in order that the lagging power of the joint be restored as nearly as possible and the patient develop sufficient muscular strength.

THE CHANCE FOR A REVOLUTION

The chance for a revolution in the United States is extremely remote. Americans are still wealthy, still optimistic, still inherently conservative; it is highly improbable that the troubles born of the depression will lead to any violent upheaval.
 This is the conclusion of the German economist, M. J. Bonn, in his new book, "The Crisis of Capitalism in America."
 Nevertheless, Herr Bonn thinks the capitalist structure in America may be in for a far-reaching change.
 Americans, he points out, are not worshippers of the past. They are always willing to try something new, to experiment, to discard old institutions and try to devise something better.
 Furthermore, he asserts, they are unshakably confident of their own ability to invent and despite the profound cleavage between Russian and American theories, he believes that the American people—because of American individualism, mass production and an unswerving belief in the National Organization for Reformation in Wisconsin, who was one of the national committee in 1920, will again be the Democratic national committee.

 Democrats explain their optimism partly with the assertion that Al Smith would have carried Wisconsin against Hoover in 1928 had it not been for a heavy Lutheran vote—that sect being extremely numerous in the state—which they interpret as having been anti-Catholic. And the Democratic party, after what it went through in 1924 and 1928, certainly deserves a nice long rest from the religious issue.

AMELIA EARHART

NO HIGH-HATTER, HOLLYWOOD FINDS

Hollywood—Amelia Earhart Putnam proved it to Hollywood again. The really big people haven't time to be high-hatted.
 Some of the movie stars who parade their importance might have taken a healthful lesson from the famous woman first's demeanor as she visited her first talkie studio the other day. She autographed time after time, always with a smile, unassuming, acceded to at least two dozen requests to pose for photographs, and in general proved herself a regular person, not at all inflated over her singular feat.
 Of the studio she said, "I find it slightly interesting, no, I don't find it thrilling." "I like people," she remarked. "They don't have to be celebrities." "Interesting in view of Hollywood's known penchant for staring at celebrities, is Mrs. Putnam's comment that here she is recognized much less frequently than in the east."
 "And children seem to know me better than adults—probably because the new generation is most interested in aviation."
 Quiet Gary Cooper
 The oft-quoted stories about Gary Cooper's strict silence toward his co-star in "Devil and the Deep," "Nathan's Business," and "The Sign of the Cross," by Tallulah herself, are true. Some of the stories have had it that Gary vouchsafes only a cold "good morning" when he sees Tallulah on the set, and lapses thenceforth into silence.
 "Did you ever hear of Gary's talking much to anyone?" asks the gorgeous Tallulah throatily. "He's a sweet boy."
 With The Plumbers
 An actress was claiming to be related to George Palmer Putnam, publisher husband of Amelia Earhart, who was a pretty secretary. "I'm related to that," she thought she was, too.
 And then Gene Raymond—we're sorry, but he did—aimed in with: "Sure, you're a Putnam. Always Putnam here and Putnam there!"

JUBILANT DEMOCRATS FORESEE VICTORY IN WISCONSIN AFTER G. O. P. SPLIT

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Chicago—Wisconsin is one of those Republican states where the Democrats, having polled an unprecedented vote in their presidential primary, think they can win next November.
 Furthermore, many of the folks up here take your breath away by suggesting seriously that the Democrats may even elect a Senator to succeed John J. Blaine or a governor to succeed Phil LaFollette. That seems to grow out of a general uncertainty, the fact that a presidential victory usually has a tendency to put over a party's state ticket, and most of all the increasing bitterness of the row between the LaFollette progressive Republicans and the stalwart / conservative Republicans.

ORDINARY A REPUBLICAN NOMINATION

Ordinary a Republican nomination here is equivalent to election, but it now seems easy to imagine that if LaFollette is beaten for the nomination by Walter Kohler, the conservative, many of his followers will prefer to vote for the Democratic gubernatorial candidate or not at all.
 And if LaFollette wins the primaries many stalwarts may refuse to vote for him in the election. The possibilities are rather similar in the Blaine and John B. Chapple. F. Ryan Duffy, of Fond du Lac was high man on the Roosevelt delegate state in the primaries, polling 130,000 votes. National Committeeman John M. Callahan ran well ahead of the rest of his anti-Roosevelt slate with 110,000.

THE COMBINED 240,000 VOTES COMPARES WITH A DEMOCRATIC TOTAL OF 141,000 PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARIES

in 1928. The LaFollette anti-Hoover slate lost out in the same primary election to the pro-Hoover faction and LaFollette chieftains are sure they lost only because so many of their own progressives flocked to the Democratic primary where there was a real contest.
 Does That Go to 1932
 Asent the possibility that the Democrats will carry Wisconsin for "Old Bob" LaFollette once lost a race for Congress—back in 1922 apparently—simply because a Democratic candidate was sweeping the state in a presidential election.
 But Wisconsin casts separate ballots. When you go to the polls here you get individual sheets on which to mark your choice for president, governor and so on. Theoretically, at least, that tends to discount the effect of any presidential landslide on the state ticket and the progressive leaders point to that fact in discussing the possibility of a Democratic cleavage.
 The Democrats, who are also all steamed up over the possibility that the prohibition repeal issue will be a great help to them here, are putting forth some of their best men for the year.
 Charles E. Broughton, editor of the Sheboygan Press and an uncompromising wit, has been chosen as the next national committeeman. Mrs. Gertrude Bowler, president and ex-officio organizer of the Wisconsin National Organization for Reformation in Wisconsin, who was one of the national committee in 1920, will again be the Democratic national committee.

COUNCILMAN DOWDING INJURED IN BAD FALL

Head Severely Cut As Ladder Breaks While At His Work At Express Co. Office.

Councilman William R. Dowding, who has charge of the local office of the American Railway Express located at the old Rockville railroad station, received a bad gash on his head just over the right ear yesterday afternoon about 4:30 and was taken to the Rockville City Hospital where he was attended by Dr. R. C. Ferguson who found it necessary to make seven stitches to close the wound.

Mr. Dowding fell from a ladder at the station while nailing up a loose money order sign. He said the ladder doubled up and he fell with his head against the window sill. The wound bled considerably but he went about his work for a short time. The loss of blood however became so great that it was necessary to call the physician who stated that it was called in the nick of time or Mr. Dowding may have had to consent to a blood transfusion. He was taken to his home after two hours spent at the hospital.

HEBRON

About forty were present at the meeting of the National Rural Letter Carriers' Association, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Hilding Saturday afternoon.

State officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary present were: Mrs. Eva Ward, State President; Bethel; Mrs. Cora Loggie, state secretary and treasurer; Danielson; Mrs. Louis June Moran, Montville; executive committee member. A picnic luncheon was served on the lawn, with salads, rolls, hot dogs, and coffee, which were heartily enjoyed by all. The meeting of the ladies' and men's association were held separately. Some of the state officers of the men's association were present, but their names were not secured. Fairfield, Hartford, and Westford counties were represented besides Tolland. The ladies of Tolland County are proud of the fact that they have a 100 per cent membership. Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Loggie and Mrs. Moran, state officers, each spoke in an entertaining and inspiring manner. At the close of the program Mrs. John Morton of New York, sang several selections, accompanied on the piano by Miss Mildred Hutchinson of Gilead. Old favorites were sung and some of the newer popular songs were then sung by all in chorus.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Horace Porter will have an antique auction at his home Saturday, July 16. It will be an all day affair and people are expected from all over this and other states. Mrs. Charles J. Douglas, writes that she and her husband, Dr. Douglas, who are on a trip to Alaska, met Charles Tennant, a former Hebron resident in Dawson, Alaska, the sun at midnight. It dipped below the horizon a little at about sunrise, from where they were. Edwin Smith, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Smith, is ill with scarlet fever. The house is quarantined and every care is being taken to prevent the spread of infection. The other children of the family are kept apart from the sick child. It is not known where the disease was contracted as this is the only case in the vicinity. The children went with their father to Hartford a few days before the disease developed.

KILLED IN CRASH

Mexico City, July 14.—(AP)—James N. Crofton, millionaire president of the Agave Caliente Amusement Company, was seriously injured and Carl Gilpin, president of the Gilpin Air Lines of Los Angeles, was killed in an airplane crash here last night. Three others, Miss Nona Rico, a Mexican motion picture actress, Gilpin's wife, and an interpreter also were injured. The crash occurred when Gilpin, piloting a huge monoplane, attempted to land in the dark and rain. The landing gear was stripped off and the plane rolled over several times. All the victims were rushed to the Red Cross hospital in Toluca, capital of the State of Mexico. Crofton was treated for a broken right leg and hand, and a gash over his left eye. The party left San Diego Tuesday. They were attempting to fly from Guaymas to Mexico City today.

WIFE RECEIVES FORTUNE

Los Angeles, July 14.—(AP)—The widow of the late King C. Gillette is named as sole legatee of the razor manufacturer in his will filed with the Probate Court here. The only description of the property disposed of in the will is that it consists of real estate, stocks and bonds, yielding a very uncertain income, but probably in excess of $100,000 a year. The will, drawn March 31, read in part: "I am intentionally making no provision for my son, King C. Gillette, in this will, having full faith and confidence in my said wife to make such provision for our said son as she may deem best."

CONGRESSMAN FAINTS

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Representative Turpin (R., Pa.) was in the Naval hospital here today, a casualty, physicians said, of the stomach, long-drawn-out session of Congress. Yesterday, as the war hurriedly to the floor, he was hurried to a hospital here.

LEAVES DEATH OUEL

Bridgeport, July 14.—(AP)—After nearly three months in the death cell at Waterbury prison Joseph Courney is back in the Windford county jail to await a new trial on a charge of slaying Frank Rude at Berlin last March. High Sheriff Tom Reilly brought the Black Rock prisoner to Bridgeport yesterday after the Superior Court had ordered his removal from Waterbury.

ANDOVER

Charles Wright spent the week-end with his family returning to work in New York Sunday evening.

WETS TO REMAIN

Pittsburgh, July 14.—(AP)—Walter W. Waters, commander of the war veterans encamped in Washington, says funds available from a private source will enable the vets to remain in the capital indefinitely. In an interview last night Waters disclosed that a contribution sufficient to care for the 20,000 bonus seekers would be set up on private property soon through the fund pledged to him. He said a playground, dairy farm and hospital would be included in the camp to be erected. "Failure of Congress to pass the bonus measure has not disconcerted us," he said on his visit to Pittsburgh to address meetings of war veterans. "We will stay until the bonus is granted. Many of us have no homes to which we may go."

DON'T BE SLOWED DOWN BY STALE GAS

YOU PAY FOR POWER... GET IT!

Only FRESH gas gives you all the power you pay for. Why? Because as gas gets staler, it gets weaker. Looses valuable "easy starting" elements. Falls victim to a chemical change—and gets sluggish and feeble. Another thing. The staler the gas, the stickier it is. And the more apt it is to make a motor knock. That's why Gulf is pleased to announce a system that assures you of getting FRESH-MADE gasoline—packed with power. Two important developments make this possible... First, Gulf refines

What the Imperial Parley At Ottawa Really Means

New York, July 14.—(AP)—The Imperial economic conference which opens at Ottawa July 21 is really a meeting of the board of directors of the British Empire.

Things have changed since the days before the war, and like every other large corporation the Empire must seek new sources of income and new markets for its goods.

In the old days the mother country could count on a large income from loans made abroad. She sold her goods where she could and bought where the price was best. The Dominions bought in the open market and sold wherever they could find a buyer.

Not Collecting Now

But now England is paying instead of collecting. It is harder to find a market for goods. The Empire has a tendency to assert a larger measure of independence. They too are having their troubles keeping out of the red. Great Britain is going to Ottawa

WARNS OF REVOLT AGAINST TAXATION

Rev. J. S. Wadsworth Sees History Repeating Itself; Writes From Geneva.

By REV. JULIAN S. WADSWORTH

I am sorry but there is little that is encouraging to tell of the happenings this last week either here or at Lausanne. Our hopes have been up and down with the difficulty of finding an agreement between France and Germany on the settlement of the War Reparations. Herriot and Von Papen have been back and forth to Paris and Berlin by aeroplane to get the latest instructions from their unstable governments. The meeting of the Assembly Extraordinary held here in Geneva yesterday was not more encouraging as it merely extended the time to November 1st for the report of the Lord Lytton, Commission of Inquiry in Manchuria. It was pathetic to hear Dr. Yen plead so earnestly that the Assembly would take as little time as possible since the harm being done in China by the continued occupation of its territory by the armed forces of Japan is beyond his power to describe. Dr. Yen will leave the first of August to assume his duties in Washington as ambassador. He is a man exceptionally well trained in Columbia University. Dr. See, (Cornell) whom we all admired so much in Geneva as Chinese representative before the coming of Dr. Yen, is at present in Spain, recovering from a complete break down from the nervous strain which was upon him here. Dr. Wellington Koo (Yale) will be sent to France as ambassador and will be the representative for China in Geneva when Dr. Yen leaves. It will be well to have him here as he has been in Manchuria with the Lytton Commission.

How The War Debts Stand

Motor Hints

Timely suggestions on the care of the car by the Automobile Club of Hartford.

GUM STICKS MOTOR RINGS

It will probably surprise many owners to know that gum may interfere with engine operation quite as seriously as carbon. Occasionally carbon becomes an actual hazard because it raises compression and can be rendered harmless with sufficient effective anti-knock gas.

Gum is always troublesome. Its chief objection is that it gets around the rings and makes them stick in their grooves. If a ring is not free to adjust itself according to demands it fails to press against the cylinder wall. This means compression loss. When an engine lacks power often it needs merely an injection of gum solvent.

This gum comes from the lubricating oil as well as from some kinds of gasoline. It can thus be controlled to a certain extent by careful selection of oil, but removal by the injection process is so simple and inexpensive there is little advantage in striving to prevent its formation.

WAR DEBTS OWED TO U. S. WORRY EUROPE'S LEADERS

By Associated Press.

The "Gentlemen's Agreement" arrived at secretly toward the end of the Lausanne reparations conference, has been published in full, presumably at the request of the British government which was criticized in Parliament for having participated in it.

The text revealed that the signatories agreed not to ratify the reparations treaty written in Lausanne until they had secured satisfactory settlement of their own debts.

In the words of the agreement, if this satisfactory settlement is not reached "the legal position of all the interested governments would become what it was before the Hoover moratorium," and "in case the settlement in question cannot be obtained, the accord with Germany will not be ratified."

In that case the agreement provides that if Germany's creditors cannot obtain a settlement of their own debts, most of them to the United States, "a new situation will be created and the interested governments will have to agree on what they should do," presumably at another conference, but at any rate the Lausanne agreement will not definitely go into force until after it is ratified by the creditor governments.

Visits Coppet

I must leave the Conference and tell you of an interesting afternoon we had at the Village of Coppet, where there is an old chateau still belonging to descendants of the famous Necker and his brilliant daughter Madame de Staël.

Count d'Haussonville, with two maiden ladies by the name of Necker consented for the first time since the death of Madame de Staël to allow the chateau and grounds to be opened for a village for a benefit to the local village Red Cross Association. A play was written for the occasion and acted in the large library by prominent people from Lausanne, Geneva and Paris. She herself had often arranged such gatherings and her brilliant friends would give plays of her own composition. In addition to these famous gatherings in her salon at Coppet it was customary for her father, Monsieur Necker and Madame Necker to open the park to the entire village when the peasant people came to make merry with games and dancing.

It was a perfect June day. We took the boat here, landing at Coppet in less than an hour. The street led quickly to the great wrought-iron gate of the chateau. The cobbles had not the feet of distinguished visitors in centuries past and were not less uncomfortable than now for ladies who wore high-heeled slippers.

Turn Back History

Immediately it seemed as if a page of the Eighteenth Century was before us, as in the court we were received by persons whose costumes were all of that period. Going into the park beyond with its velvety green lawn and great fountain bowl, almost like a small lake, was even more realistic as a garden picture of the time of Louis XVI. Many of the distinguished persons of the court were easily recognized as they sauntered in the long avenues of the park in gay conversation. Monsieur and Madame Necker with great dignity were mingling among the people of low and high degree. As always there was something magnetic in the presence of the daughter, Madame de Staël that held the attention of everybody. She seemed quite like the most flattering of portraits, that painted by LeBaron. We talked intimately with Madame Necker, whose renowned beauty was not greater than this of Madame Hensler-Campiche, who so faithfully took her part. M. M. Rogive and Marignac were seen in animated conversation and it was easy to imagine the flashes of wit and satire which passed between them. It was Monsieur Montmorency, friend of Lafayette and favorite of the king, who was particularly gracious in showing us the sleeping rooms and the salon just as they were when Madame de Staël was here recognized as the social leader of the intellectual circles of her day.

It was interesting to think that a woman could make of that salon at Coppet a rival of the French Court, and cause two French Emperors to look toward it with jealousy and foreboding of fear for its political power of disintegration.

Historical Parallel

While sitting there under an oak which might easily have given its shade in the eighteenth century, I was thinking of what is actually happening in France today, and was startled with the suggestion of a parallel. Do the pages of history repeat themselves after centuries when people have forgotten their lessons?

As I looked upon Necker I was thinking of Herriot, Briand and Edouard Herriot, and of those millions of unemployed people in France who are awaiting the Empire for them in times were already a financial settlement can open by the Lausanne Conference.

READING THE OIL GAUGE

The oil gauge is one of those things that have to be taken with a grain of salt although an experienced motorist can read much into it. Many gauges, for instance, show maximum pressure at normal road speeds, so that stoppage of the oil lead would not be caught promptly. Stoppage causes an increase in pressure to the maximum, so that it is necessary to let the engine idle or run slower to catch evidence of this.

It is entirely normal for the pressure to drop with continued speed or high mileage because the oil thins out. Some drivers mistake this for worn bearings or need for readjustment of the oil regulator. A continued higher reading, at this season, shows that heavier oil has been used.

On some cars there is a pressure drop when the car goes into a sharp right curve. This is explained by the fact that the oil is pulled away from the pump temporarily by centrifugal force.

CARBON AS A SILENCER

The muffler is another one of those units of the car that improve with use. Bear this in mind if the exhaust of your new car seems just a little sharp.

Mufflers often drone and make other objectionable noises merely because of the plates and passages ways for the exhaust gases are too sharp. An accumulation of carbon makes a smoother path and also serves to deaden the noise.

The principle is somewhat the same as that of a sleeve valve motor which improves as it becomes carboned. Carbon, incidentally, often tends to seal compression at the ends of the pistons of any motor, but we usually cannot permit it to remain because of its habit of pre-igniting the gas.

Very often exhaust noises are the result of leakage, especially at the point where the exhaust pipe is attached to the end of the exhaust manifold. As the motor is used carbon particles gradually seal up these points.

AMIEE McPHERSON IS SERIOUSLY ILL

It is impossible to focus her mind on details of the Stewart suit.

In Cambridge, Mass., the committee always gets a stimulus in Miss Woolley's presence. She has such poise and balance of judgment and speaks with so much of calm confidence that you always leave her with a sense of renewed hope and courage.

As Americans, we were invited by the Friends' ranking committee, and Mrs. Gilbert to their home, to help keep the Fourth. About two hundred and fifty of us are here at present.

While an undersized oil filter cartridge will protect the motor and function successfully it will not serve as long as would one of proper size. And therein lies a hazard.

When an oil filter fills up with dirt and abrasive it builds up oil pressure and may spring a leak. Whether or not it is equipped with a by-pass it is quite likely to prove troublesome when filled up and due for replacement. This situation is aggravated by failure to install a cartridge that is large enough.

Since there are sizes for various makes of engines it is important to select the one suited to the motor. The right sizes are always stocked by the authorized car dealers, but it occasionally happens that an owner is obliged to accept a smaller one in an emergency. Under such conditions he should remember to replace again at 7,500 miles instead of the usual 10,000.

FIGURING GAS CAPACITY

If you have lost the original specifications of the car, and would like to know the capacity of the tank, the information can be obtained by first measuring the diameter and the length of the tank and by then using the following formula:

The capacity of the tank in gallons will be the result of the diameter squared, multiplied by the length, and divided by the constant 295.2. Thus a tank 18 inches in diameter and 36 inches long will hold 37.61 gallons of fuel.

Many of the newer cars have flat type tanks which cannot be made to fit this rule. Your best plan here is to use up most of the gas in the tank, drain out by unscrewing a plug at the bottom and then fill at a gas pump. Be sure to have the car standing on a level ground, also tipping the car will make a difference.

Occasional removal of the drain plug at the bottom of the tank is one way to guard against dirt in the fuel lines.

ANGER AND FEAR RULE

Anger and fear have a relation to the difference in the color of the eyes and hair and shape of the heads of different persons, according to a University of California scientist.

Position Changed

That statement disturbed officials in London, but it was said that the British position was unchanged and that perhaps there might be an additional statement making it even stronger.

Throughout all this controversy the United States has remained in its role of interested observer.

When the Lausanne Treaty was first discussed in the British Parliament the chancellor of exchequer was goaded into saying that the negotiators had had an opportunity to

ARREST THREE SUSPECTS

New London, July 14.—(AP)—With the arrest of three men in Noank the state and railroad police and U.S. marshals have cleared up a number of recent holdups, tool shed robberies and other offenses.

Most of the holdups that were entered were summer cottages. Those under arrest are Dexter Holliday and William Froedshur, both of Noank and Stuart Small of Groton Long Point. All three will be presented July 25 in the Groton Town Court. Small is charged with breaking and entering and theft and the other two with receiving stolen goods.

JUST A GLIMPSE

Washington.—Raymond Grayton, of Alexandria, Va., drove his car into town to do some shopping. After he had made his purchases he got in the car and drove home. Police met him there and charged him with stealing a car. He was taken back to Washington where he met Daniel Cave, a friend of the car. Raymond found he had parked next to Cave's car, which was identical with his and which could be started with his ignition key. All he had done was to get in the wrong car.

AIRPLANE ROUTES OVER ARCTIC NEXT

national Polar Year research group, is on its way to establish a base 100 miles above Upernivik, Greenland, several hundred miles north of the Arctic Circle.

To Remain a Year

Both expeditions will stay in Greenland approximately 12 months, thus obtaining detailed data throughout a whole year cycle to assist in determining what seasonal and other advantages the far northern route may have over other possible routes across the Atlantic. Pan American, which operates mail and passenger service from the United States to the West Indies and Central and South America, has long been studying conditions which would be met on a southern Atlantic route.

Neither northern expedition will use aircraft during the present surveys.

The field plans for the expeditions were finally approved after long study and innumerable consultations participated in by among others, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, noted Arctic explorer and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the company's technical adviser.

Interim reports will be received from the expedition bases and these also will be carefully studied and conclusions will be drawn from them by Stefansson, Col. Lindbergh and other interested experts.

HOOVER VISITORS

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Two Senatorial callers, after early morning conferences at the White House, said they had discussed both local and national politics with President Hoover.

Senator Merrett (R., N. H.), who has conferred with Mr. Hoover several days during the present week, said he informed the Chief Executive he felt there need be little worry over New Hampshire being safe Republican.

Senator Ewing (R., Del.), declined to discuss details of his conversation with Mr. Hoover other than that it was about political matters.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY DIXON, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, marries DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter, after a quarrel with her parents. It is a Leap Year marriage and Cherry does the proposing.

She and Dan move into a cheap apartment and Cherry's first struggle with housework are discouraging. DIXIE SEANON, movie critic of the News, is friendly. Cherry meets handsome MAX PEARSON, also of the News, who tries to make love to her. After several weeks Cherry's mother becomes seriously ill. The girl goes home and there is a reconciliation with her parents. Cherry will not allow her to accept financial aid from them however.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIV

Brenda Vall spread more of the bluish-gray paste on her face. She smeared it on like a mask beginning at the edge of the towel, pinned tightly about her forehead, and working downward to the base of her neck. She patted the soft, warm compound with her fingers and when she had finished only her eyes and mouth showed. The eyes looked like slits in the gray mask. Brenda's lips, usually so vividly crimson, were pallid and pressed together in a tight line. Scath lips. Quick tempered lips. Cruel lips.

At last the mask was done and Brenda inspected herself in the mirror of the dressing table. Though the effect was far from flattering she seemed satisfied. Here she turned to the bedroom. Brenda had abandoned the luxurious chiffons and satins she usually wore. A cotton kimono, faded and soiled, was draped about her fastened at the waist by a safety pin. Her hair was concealed behind a black net. Her bedroom slippers covered her feet.

She rose from the dressing table, went to the chaise longue and lay back against it with a sigh. The mask must remain on her face 20 minutes and the watch at her wrist gave the time as a little after two o'clock. Brenda closed her eyes, relaxing as magazine articles by beauty experts always advise.

There was no one else in the room or in the apartment. The maid who wore the crisp, gray uniform and ruffled cap appeared there only when Miss Vall had visitors to impress. Her name was Minnie Johnson, though on duty she answered to "Yvonne." Yvonne was to arrive this afternoon at four o'clock.

Ten minutes passed and then a bell shrilled loudly. The telephone in the next room. Brenda's eyes darkened with annoyance. There was nothing for her to do, however, but arise and answer the call. The bell-like bedroom slippers clattered clumsily as Brenda slipped on them. She had to push the cloth about her head so that she could hold the instrument to her ear. It was a French telephone done in ivory enamel.

"Hello," she said. Dan Phillips was speaking. His voice sounded eager and excited. "Is that you, Brenda?" he asked and went on without giving her time to reply. "I want to tell you I've just seen the boss. Told him I was through with the Wellington News and this town, too. I'm quitting Saturday. Everything's all settled."

cloths until the ugly clay was removed. The beautifying began in earnest now. Lotions and creams and cubes of ice. Brenda worked with practiced fingers. She patted and molded and smoothed out the tiny lines about her eyes and across her forehead. She finished with stinging astringent that brought color rushing to her cheeks. It was an hour's work but when it was completed undeniably the years had dropped away. Almost Brenda could have passed for 25 instead of 36.

She glanced at her watch again. Twenty-five minutes until four. Well, that was time enough. Yvonne would come in time to arrange the tea table.

There was a desk to the right of the window and Brenda sat down before it. Half a dozen letters lay on the desk. All of them had been opened and in five the contents was strikingly similar. "On account due from Miss Brenda Vall" most of them began. One was from the management of the apartment house. Another was from a New York dress shop. There was a bank statement, imposing in its long envelope, but the figures on that statement were anything but impressive.

She passed over all these, picked up the sixth envelope. This one looked stationary. The handwriting on the sheet inside the envelope was masculine. It read: "Dear Miss Vall: I will be in Hollywood next Monday on my way to Mr. Harris. She would take the davenport where the light was flattering and the table for the cocktail tray conveniently near."

It had been purchased two days before—immediately on receipt of Mr. Harris' letter—and was exactly Brenda Vall's idea of attire suitable in which to receive an important figure of the motion picture world. The jade green velvet fell into graceful folds. The white milled lace figure closely and was accented by a circle of pearls. Brenda fastened the low neckline with a ruby clasp. She stepped into sandals of gold kid and buckled the straps. Billa, bill! There would be more bills for this new finery, but what was expense on such an occasion?

"I'm going to Hollywood!" The thought danced madly in Brenda's mind. There would be money enough there! "I'm going to Hollywood to write for the movies!" The bell rang and she answered it. Yvonne had arrived promptly to the minute. Brenda began to snap out orders to the girl.

"Remember—the cocktails in the crystal glasses. Yes, they're ready. I mixed them myself. The shaker on the tray. Yes, of course! You'd better bag right away with the sandwiches!"

A messenger delivered the box of yellow roses and Brenda arranged them in a low bowl. She placed the bowl on the table beside the davenport, then moved to the opposite side of the room where the flowers were reflected in a mirror. The setting must exactly be right. Every detail was important. Brenda stepped back in the doorway, surveying the living room. A fire was crackling in the fireplace and the dancing flames cast a warm glow over the room. She pulled a chair

PARIS' REACH COSTUMES "SOBER UP"

Practicality and Simplicity Rule Seaside Mode

By JEAN FATOU
Paris, July 14.—The need for comfort of the seaside has always expressed itself in a very individual manner in the course of past seasons, and more especially so since the time when a totally new departure was made in the beach mode which came in the guise of pajamas.

It is almost inevitable that with a garment like the pajama, fantasies bordering on the eccentric should be engendered. This might falsely imply that it is in itself an eccentricity, whereas accustomed to it as we now are, it can be as sober and in good taste as a beach dress.

To retain its simplicity, the pajama must be just wide enough for comfort and, so far as the practical side is concerned, it must be fashioned of a relatively light fabric, either wool or linen, but in any case perfectly "shadowproof." Wool has the advantage over cotton of not creasing and thereby always retaining a well-groomed air.

The trousers can be pulled on over a swimming suit or completed by a sleeveless blouse, plus a sleeveless vest, but both protect the arms when necessary. Another alternative is the one-piece pajama, also completed by a jacket or bolero.

Beach pajamas as offered by Jean Fatou are sober and very tailored looking. Left is a straw and bayana brown combination in fine wool jersey and right shows a red and white effect in tulle de soie. Both have little bolero jackets with sleeves in the darker color to protect the wearer from the sun's rays.

nearer to the hearth. That was for Mr. Harris. She would take the davenport where the light was flattering and the table for the cocktail tray conveniently near. Brenda moved to the fireplace, held out fingers that were icy to the blaze.

"It's because I'm nervous," she told herself, "and there's no reason for it. Of course everything's going to be all right!" She went back to the kitchenette to give Yvonne final instructions. It was 20 minutes past four now.

"He'll be here any minute," Brenda assured herself. She took a cigarette from a lacquered box, lighted it and placed it to her lips. Then she sat down. It amused her to think of Dan Phillips. Headache—she had managed that very nicely! How could she bother with that dissipated youth when the great chance of her career was at hand?

Woman's Place In The News

Professor Abby Smith is one of the three women on the faculty of Columbia University who the university has honored with the title of professor. For 44 years she has been actively engaged in her profession, in teaching the methods and applying them personally.

Advice Against Teaching. Mrs. Chase Woodhouse, vocational director of North Carolina College for Women, also holds the position of Director of the Institute of Women's Professional Relations. She is said to be better informed on what college women are doing than anyone else in America.

Dean of Army Nurses. Major Julia C. Stimson, who represented the nurses of America at the dedication of a new nurses' home for French women erected jointly by the French government and the American Committee for Devastated France, has just returned to America.

Active In Farm Work. Miss Edna Rosenkrantz, secretary of the State Farm Federation of Iowa, performs a group of extensive duties. She superintends the cooperative buying, edits the business magazine, acts as general executive of the association, and takes care of the legislative program.

Decares Linen. Mrs. Elsie Cobb Wilson, of New York City, is the first woman in the world to be employed by the United States Government as an ocean liner. She has also departed several of the American embassies. At present she is completing the work of decorating and furnishing four ships which are valued at $5,000,000 each.

OFF FOR ORIENT. Vatican City, July 13.—(AP)—Pope Pius made farewell today to 28 Franciscan missionaries bound for China and Japan. Four of them were Americans and one a Canadian.

The Americans are Father Julius Dillon, Father Trappan, and Victoriano Robichelli all of New York City, and Eugene Gaver of St. Louis. The Canadian is Father Joseph Bellone, of St. Joseph, Mo. Leo.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barry

Don't let summer stay too long in the state too. A mother has asked me if too much water for children wasn't wasteful. The answer is splashing and playing in the water for hours at a time, with boots or tongs.

Probably one a hot day a half or three-quarters of an hour is not too long for a little child, but to continue longer, particularly if it happens every day, may have undesirable results.

Outdoor play in the water is a different thing. Here children are exercising, getting sun and fresh air and not constantly in the water. I am referring to the garden sports, little fishing, algae, tubs, hose attachments or pools.

What are called rheumatic diseases include many conditions due to different causes and with slightly different manifestations. There is rheumatoid arthritis which begins usually with a fever and affects many small joints with inflammation.

LEGION NOSED OUT BY V. F. W. 9 TO 8

Seven Run Rally in Third Enables Winners To Repeat Former Victory; Bellucci Whiffs 10 Men.

The team representing Anderson-Shea Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars won the ex-service championship of Manchester last night on the West Side grounds, beating the Dilworth-Cornell Post, American Legion, 9-8 in 7 innings. Bellucci was strong in the pinches, errors and accounting for four of the Legion runs. Last week the V. F. W. boys trounced the Legion 15-2.

The Legion scored first when Russell got a life in the second inning on an error by Sentiff. He stole second. Copeland singled to left, scoring Russell. Anderson and Matthiason struck out, but G. Tedford singled to right, scoring Copeland.

The Legion added another counter in the third on a single over short by Billy Stevenson, scoring on a hit along the third base line by Russell. Copeland lined to Bellucci to end the scoring.

The V. F. W. wrecking crew got busy in the third, eleven men facing the Legion hurler in the inning and seven runs were scored on six hits and three walks. Bellucci, up twice in the inning walked both times and stole second each time. Altogether there were five stolen bases in the fatal third. The third ended with the V. F. W. leading, 7 to 3. The Vets picked up another run in the fourth on a single to left by Smith, a walk by Edgar, a sacrifice by Shields and Sentiff's solid blow to left.

The Legion gave the Vets a scare in the sixth when they added two runs on two hits, coupled with two errors. Matthiason and Zimmerman struck out to end the threat. In the final inning the Legion staged a rally to come within one run of tying the King.

After "King" Phillips had struck out, singles by Russell and Brennan and an error by Edgar on an infield drive by Matthiason enabled Russell and Brennan to score. Frank Cervini struck out to end the game.

SIPPLES' HOMER WINS FOR GEMS

Cracks His Third of Season With Score Tied and West Hartford Loses.

Tommy Sipples cracks another home run last night to help the Gems defeat West Hartford 3 to 1 in a Hartford Twilight League baseball game at Colts Park and thus keep their league record free of defeat.

The score was tied at one run each team when Sipples made his four-py drive in the fourth after the West Hartford team had tied the score. Putnam's double, a sacrifice and Sipples' long fly gave the Gems a run in the first and the other tally in the sixth came when Wallitt doubled and rode home on Huband's single.

The Gems were held to four hits by Jones while Fisher was touched for seven but struck out six.

NURMI'S INJURY A SERIOUS ONE

Great Finnish Runner May Not Be Able To Compete Even If Reinstated.

Los Angeles, July 14.—(AP)—In town less than 24 hours, Paavo Nurmi, the great distance runner from Finland, found himself today the center of pre-Olympic speculation.

There was much talk that the phantom Finn would be unable to compete in the 1932 Olympiad even though he might be permitted to do so by the International Amateur Athletic Federation, for, like the ancient Greek, Achilles, his heel has proven vulnerable to injury.

Nurmi was limping about today, suffering from a pulled Achilles tendon. The injury was suffered while practicing aboard ship in crossing the Atlantic and was aggravated in a workout yesterday.

The injury to Nurmi will not affect Finland's plans to demand recognition of the great runner as a contestant in the Olympic games. A hearing will be held July 28 by the International Amateur Athletic Federation to consider the status of Nurmi, who has been barred from the Olympics because of alleged corrupt expense money he collected while staging exhibition races in Europe.

Nurmi refused to discuss his case on his arrival here yesterday, but to a friend he hinted he was not yet too hopeful he would be reinstated. With his injured heel it appeared doubtful a reinstatement would do the Finnish team any good for all indications were that Nurmi would be only a spectator this year.

Grimes Disappointment To Hornsby and Players

That heroic figure of the last world series, Burleigh Grimes, must have been a source of the keenest disappointment to Rogers Hornsby the last few months.

Grimes who won 17 while losing nine for the Cards last year and pitched two brilliant games in the big series, looked for a time as though he was set for a big year but something slipped about a month ago and he has been of practically no value since.

Grimes' inability to regain his stride cost the Cubs a 5 to 0 defeat by Brooklyn yesterday and deprived them of a much needed victory. As the Pittsburgh Pirates were dropping a pair to Boston the defeat kept the Cubs from climbing within a single game of the league leaders.

Grimes was limping about today, suffering from a pulled Achilles tendon. The injury was suffered while practicing aboard ship in crossing the Atlantic and was aggravated in a workout yesterday.

The injury to Nurmi will not affect Finland's plans to demand recognition of the great runner as a contestant in the Olympic games. A hearing will be held July 28 by the International Amateur Athletic Federation to consider the status of Nurmi, who has been barred from the Olympics because of alleged corrupt expense money he collected while staging exhibition races in Europe.

Nurmi refused to discuss his case on his arrival here yesterday, but to a friend he hinted he was not yet too hopeful he would be reinstated. With his injured heel it appeared doubtful a reinstatement would do the Finnish team any good for all indications were that Nurmi would be only a spectator this year.

TRACK COACHES PICK MCCLUSKEY

His Name First Mentioned in Steeplechase As Mentors Predict U. S. Team.

Palo Alto, Calif., July 14.—(AP)—America's winning of the traveling array of athletes seems likely to be rounded with record smashing emphasis in the final Olympic track and field tryouts Friday and Saturday before upward of 25,000 spectators in Stanford University's stadium.

Combined with the National Senior A. U. the decisive tests for the American team have brought together the greatest collection of track and field stars in the country's history. The teams will stand on the results of the tryouts. The desire of Ben Hartman to compete in the 400-meter run has disposed of the talk of picking him without trial for the 800 meters.

Since his defeat in the Intercollegiate 440 by Ed Carr of Pennsylvania, Big Ben has been pointed for a second and "stronger" in the 400 meters. They are "needed" in separate heats of the 400 meter run. The preliminaries tomorrow will reduce the all-star field from around 300 athletes to not more than 125 for Saturday's final. This will be held in half again by the deciding trials. The first three in each of the 15 events will qualify for the Olympic team in addition to which extra men will be chosen for the 400 and 800-meter relay teams.

Although the spotlight focuses on a flock of Pacific coast stars, all eyes are turned to California to watch California's Olympians, the best athletes indicated the East and Midwest will contribute most of the place winners. On a consensus of experts the prospects point to these results: 800-meter run—Ben Hartman, Bill Carr, Karl Warner. 1,000-meter run—Eddie Gemung, Charles Hornbostel, Dale Letts. 1,500-meter run—Gene Vanska, Penrose Halliwell, Glenn Cunningham. 2,000-meter run—Paul Remora, Ralph Hill, Dana Deane. 3,000-meter run—Louis Gregory, Tom McDonough, Tom Otty. 4,000-meter run—Ferry Beard, George Selig, Jack Kover. 5,000-meter run—Burt Beatty, Vic Burke, Joe Healey. Amateur-Pro Tourney To Attract 20 Stars

Public Welcome To Watch Play At Country Club Course—First Fourteen Tear Up At 1:45 P. M.; Course In Fine Condition.

Manchester golfers will have an opportunity of seeing the state's best professionals show their wares here Sunday afternoon when an invitation Amateur-Pro tournament will be held at the Manchester Country Club course. The first fourteen will tee up at 1:45 Sunday afternoon and about every ten minutes thereafter successive will play the clubhouse until all the players are out. The public is welcome to watch the play.

Twenty state professional golfers have already signified their intention of coming here for the tournament. They will be paired with 20 of the best amateurs at the best club for best ball play. The pairings will not be made until Sunday morning when the professionals arrive at the clubhouse. Practically all of the low handicappers at the Manchester Country Club have signed up to enter the tournament.

Gene Kunes, state professional champion, George Shearer, state professional champion in 1929, Jack Perkins and Ernie Doring are but a few of the stellar list of golfers who will be seen here. Last year Gene Kunes and Jack Chaney, Jr., were paired and won the tournament with a best ball score of 84. Should these two be drawn to play together again they stand a fine chance of repeating since Young Jack Chaney is showing his "usual fine brand of golf this year. "Fats" Turkington who shot a 73 here in the other night is another local golfer in the prime of condition and if he draws a top-notch professional for Sunday will be up among the best scores.

Y.M.C.A. CONTEST

Nope Out Ben Ami 6 To 5 In League Baseball Game Last Night.

The Cardinals defeated the Ben Ami in the "Y" League last night by putting on a thrilling hitting rally in the last half of the final inning to win by the score of 6 to 5. In the first inning Ben Ami opened with a double and scored on Copeland's hit. Pitt singled after Copeland was thrown out at second. Hewitt struck out. Godek tripped to stretch it into a 2-1 homer. Things looked dull for the Cardinals when they came to bat in the first and were put out in order.

Weber, the Cardinals' mound ace, two wasn't warmed up in the first. Turner the next three batters to the dugout via the strikeout rock in the second. Buggins opened the second with a scorching double to deep center and scored on Sugar's single to right. The next three Card batters went out to order.

Weber finished 11 of the Ben Ami including the last seven to face him in succession. The Cards and Shamrocks meet next Wednesday night.

The pairings will not be made until Sunday morning when the professionals arrive at the clubhouse. Practically all of the low handicappers at the Manchester Country Club have signed up to enter the tournament.

Gene Kunes, state professional champion, George Shearer, state professional champion in 1929, Jack Perkins and Ernie Doring are but a few of the stellar list of golfers who will be seen here. Last year Gene Kunes and Jack Chaney, Jr., were paired and won the tournament with a best ball score of 84. Should these two be drawn to play together again they stand a fine chance of repeating since Young Jack Chaney is showing his "usual fine brand of golf this year. "Fats" Turkington who shot a 73 here in the other night is another local golfer in the prime of condition and if he draws a top-notch professional for Sunday will be up among the best scores.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, July 14.—New offerings of public utility securities totaling $40,709,000 are being made today by banking firms and syndicates. This was the largest total for a single day for several months, and banking quarters suggested that appearance of the issues was due to recent improvement in the bond market. The largest offering was the $25,000,000 Edison Electric Illuminating of Boston two-year 5 1/2 per cent notes priced at 99.62 to yield 5.30 per cent. Others were the $10,000,000 offering of Brooklyn Union Gas at 98 and a $5,709,000 issue of 5 1/2 per cent sinking fund bonds of the Boston Elevated Co., at par.

Checks for the June quarter dividend of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. totaling $41,984,247 will be mailed to about 700,000 stockholders tomorrow. The higher postage rate will add $25,000 to the cost of this transaction. At the same time, Walter S. Gifford, president of the company, will make public the results of operations for the quarter ended June 30. According to unofficial estimates telephones in service throughout the Bell system total approximately 15,899,994 on December 31, 1931.

In brokerage house opinion dividend developments so far this week have been as favorable as could be expected under the circumstances. The cuts announced by Continental Can and Proctor & Gamble were not drastic, and Woolworth helped the record by declaring the regular.

To simplify arrangements for the joint use of their fractional distillation patents, Atlantic Refining Co., Standard Oil of Indiana, Standard Oil of New Jersey and the Foster Wheeler Corporation have decided to grant licensing rights to a common agent for the use of those patents. They have organized the Petroleum Distillation Corp., under Delaware laws, with an authorized capitalization of 2,000 shares of no par stock, which will be acquired by the companies concerned.

June production of newsprint in Canada totaled 161,368 tons, while shipments were 164,810 tons, says the Newspaper Service Bureau. Output in the United States last month was 25,399 tons and shipments aggregated 24,955 tons. Canadian production in the first six months of this year was 150,883 tons less than in the same period of 1931, a drop of 13 per cent. American output was 46,895 tons, or 8 per cent under a year ago.

NICE WOMAN DIES

Paris, July 14.—(AP)—Despite the efforts of doctors who worked 50 hours to save her life, Mrs. Katharine Whelan Gordon-Ellis, daughter of the late Frederick Whelan, American cigar store executive, died last night in the American hospital.

FLOODS IN FRANCE

Nice, France, July 14.—(AP)—M o u n t a i n torrents sweeping through the valleys near here today carried to death an undetermined number of homeless unemployed who were in the habit of sleeping under the bridges across the river.

TEA YEARS AGO TODAY

Tea Years Ago Today—Trygstad carried the light blue and brown-capped siles of Harry Payne Whitney to victory on the 11th renewal of the Fleetwing handicap at Empire City.

When the New York State Athletic Commission, in Bologna Bulletin No. 9,241,242, announced that hereafter the radio broadcasting at prize fights must be placed in the hands of experts, it made everyting perfectly clear. Up to now, apparently, the N. Y. S. A. C. has left the matter of broadcasts in charge of amateurs. And now, would the N. Y. S. A. C. kindly tell the folks just what and who is an expert?

The Mack Machine Stories by the effect that Connie Mack was very disgusted with that of his athletes this year, and that certain incidents, outfielders, pitchers and catchers had been placed upon the block willy-nilly, are just so much spinach. When and if Mr. Mack decides to trade any of his players, you may depend upon it that Mr. Mack, disgraced or not, will get full value received. Mr. Mack is not tearing down any more ball clubs, but is trying desperately to build one up.

Shalk at Buffalo Tidings from Buffalo operatives glowingly describe the success of Ray Shalk as manager of the Bisons. It will be recalled that Shalk never had much luck as manager of the Chicago White Sox. But then, Mr. Shalk undoubtedly has a better team at Buffalo than he ever had at Comiskey park.

Senator-Yankee Feeling During the Dicky-Reynolds hostilities, minor engagements between certain of the Senators and Yankees were overlooked. Thus, Buddy Myer, Babe Ruth took Buddy's legs from under him and with a neat slide to second base during the game, Fitcher Allen of the Yanks hit Buddy on the arm with a fast ball. Lou Gehrig, tearing into second, turned Buddy upside down. Maybe you couldn't blame a little guy like Buddy Myer if he slid into second base during the game. Fitcher Allen of the Yanks hit Buddy on the arm with a fast ball. Lou Gehrig, tearing into second, turned Buddy upside down.

The Printed Word The Cardinal front office has resorted to a little pamphlet, distributed among the fans, giving news of the team's achievements. In a recent issue of the tiny four-page paper, it was called to the attention of the fans that they should be sure and turn out on Homecoming Day to see Hefey, Rootger, High and Fray, former Cardinals, in Cincinnati uniforms.

Be Careful, Boys Ball players perhaps have to save their intelligence for the ball field. That seems to be the only conclusion to be drawn from recent therapeutic errors made by Messrs. Babe Ruth and Earl Webb. Both these lads, from time to time, have been told to use eye-washes, Ruth, by mistake, recently poured turpentine on his optics. Webb used iodine. Well, well!

About Mr. Goodman Harrison Johnston, who has not qualified for a national amateur tournament for two years, was chosen a member of the Walker Cup team. Johnny Goodman, the Omaha lile bond and share man in the first round at Pebble Beach in 1929 and who came in 18th with a good score in the National Open this year, was not named. Maybe you can think up a good wisecrack to go with that one.

Do You Remember? One Year Ago Today—William T. Tilden, II, wrestled the American professional tennis championship from Vincent Richards by beating his former protégé, 7-5, 6-3, 6-1, in the finale at Forest Hills.

Five Years Ago Today—Eight Americans, led by Bill Mehlhorn with 78-73-146 and Bobby Jones with 76-71-147, passed the qualifying heats in the British Open golf championships at St. Andrews.

Tea Years Ago Today—Trygstad carried the light blue and brown-capped siles of Harry Payne Whitney to victory on the 11th renewal of the Fleetwing handicap at Empire City.

GOLF BALL TRAVELS 130 MILES AN HOUR

Detroit, July 14.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen hits a golf ball off the tee at a velocity of between 120 and 130 miles an hour. This was established in a test made yesterday with stop watches and an automobile at the proving grounds of a local motor car company.

Synchronizing the start of a drive five times with an automobile maintaining a 130-mile-an-hour speed, Sarazen got the ball into the lead yards. Then for a time the ball and car travelled on even terms but finally the car pulled away.

FILM STARS PROFIT FROM PAY FIGHTS

Hollywood.—Watching the parade of movie events and personalities from day to day, one inevitably concludes that smart worms stand to profit by their turning of the head. Besides relieving the monotony of casting and romance and divorce news with dashes of fiery color, the rebels of Hollywood serve themselves well.

When Ann Dvorak quietly packed up and walked out on Warner Bros. the other day, presumably to sail from New York for Europe, there were many to argue that her threat was more protest than actual intention to skip her contract. For a long time before, Ann was in a quiet way, dissatisfied with her meager salary—but she always said, "I don't think it's worth fighting about." Apparently she changed her mind.

Good Boost For Star When she comes back, minus salary for as many weeks as she was absent, she'll have for compensation the fact that a lot of movie fans have read about her fight, many of them fans who hadn't yet "discovered" her. It's a grand publicity stunt, and the more honest the grander.

The case of James Cagney, who left the same studio, is still in the air. Off to the east, also to Europe eventually, Cagney can follow the sweet trail left by his last picture, "Winner Takes All." The studio may wash its hands of him, but the fact that Cagney draws but will no longer draw for Warner Bros. will be no comfort.

Fighting To Fame One outstanding picture, and a lot of fighting, have put Rowland Brown up there with the best of the directors. The picture was "Quick Millions," and the fighting has been done with the best studios, including Radio, where he is again. For a while he was walking out almost as rapidly as he walked in. He let it be known that he wasn't taking anything from anyone. He's directing "Liberty Road" now.

John Boies almost became a professional baseball player. He was a southpaw pitcher on a college nine—the University of Texas—and "pro" scouts sought him out. John was willing, but his parents decidedly weren't. So he studied medicine and became an actor.

AUTO VICTIMS DIE

Sharon, Conn., July 14.—(AP)—Donald R. McIntyre, 37, Philadelphia and Stockbridge, Mass., and Leslie Rathbun, 29, of Stockbridge died in a hospital today shortly after their car veered off the highway and struck a tree in Amenia, N. Y. The automobile, believed to have been operated by McIntyre, caught fire.

LEAGUE LEADERS

NATIONAL Batting—F. Waner, Pirates, .369. Runs—Klein, Phils, 89. Hits—Klein, Phils, 129. Triples—Paul Waner, Pirates, 27. Home runs—Klein, Phils, 25. Stolen bases—Stripp, Dodgers, and F. Waner, Pirates, 13. Pitching—Betsis, Braves, and Swetonic, Pirates, 10-2.

AMERICAN

Batting—Fox, Athletics, .377. Runs—Simmons, Athletics, 92. Hits—Fitzsimmons, Athletics, 104. Home runs—Fitzsimmons, Athletics, 12. Triples—Myer, Senators, 15. Stolen bases—Fitzsimmons, Athletics, 34. Stole bases—Chapman, Yanks, 19.

HORSE SHOW EVENTS AT NANTIC CAMP

Camp Cross, Nantico, July 14.—(AP)—Ten events will compose the program for the Governor's Day horse show of the 122d Cavalry of the Connecticut National Guard Sunday. Half and quarter mile races, polo, and open jumping are scheduled along with a combined pistol and sabre run, a mounted wrestling match between ten men from New Haven and ten from Hartford and a race for officers chargers.

HORSE RACING

Toledo, O., July 14.—(AP)—Vic Fleming brought in two of the winners in last night's Grand Circuit racing at Ft. Miami track. Driving Newbrooke, Fleming won the first and third heats of the claiming trot, and brought Young Senator home in the lead in the first and final heats of the $3,500 all American 11-class trot. Bray Stout won the second heat of the Claiming Race, and Locke Bunter was the second heat victor of the All American.

STATE OFFICIALS TO MEET

Hartford, July 14.—(AP)—The annual meeting of the state executive association will be held at Rocky Neck Park at noon tomorrow, and will be followed by a box lunch prepared by the Park Department. It will be the first time most of the executives have seen Rocky Neck Park, the newest of the State parks.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURES

The doctor came out of the tent where Duncy was. Said he, "I've spent some time in looking Duncy over, to find out what is wrong. I'm sure that, if he'll rest a bit, he shortly will be feeling fit. You know, of course, that rest is what makes little fellows strong. The main thing that's the trouble here is that he wrenched his side somehow. The muscles are inflamed 'cause they have undergone a strain. 'I've told him he must lie in bed. 'All right' is all the wee lad said. Now, if he disobeys me, all my work will be in vain. 'Oh, we will see that he obeys,' e'en though he is confined for days," said Scouty. "We can't have him sick, because he is our friend. 'We'll make him do what we want him to do, and he'll understand it, I'm sure, in the end."

GAS BUGGIES—There's Always One for Every Baby

By FRANK BECK

Now, dear readers, you will understand why hem and any were not overcome with joy when they beheld their visitor. "We'll make him do what we want him to do, and he'll understand it, I'm sure, in the end."

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Edna Wallace Copper may have all that youthful complexion she claims to have but she should have that voice of hers filed or scraped.

BADLY SMITTEN
I was charmed by the look in her eyes.

By her nightingale voice I was smitten. And her beautiful figure, oh, my! By her glorious hair I was bitten. She's really the charmingest girl, sir.

In her arms any man would find bliss, sir.

But what struck me most about her was her hand when I started to kiss her.

Host—When I was a young man, I always said I'd never be satisfied until I'd smothered my wife in diamonds.

Guest—Most laudable. But why in diamonds?

A failure who understands why he lost, and blames the right person, who is himself, has some elements of greatness.

Sherlock—Ah, Watson! I see you have pitted on your summer underwear.

Watson—Marvelous, Holmes! How did you deduce that?

Sherlock—Well, you have forgotten to put on your trousers.

Take it or Leave It: It's a consolation to know that those who live by taxes shall perish by taxes.

It would serve some of these hoarders right, too, if they forgot where they hid it.

Only exceptional men can run enterprises on idealistic lines and make them pay.

We can't figure it out why a girl who lives on $12.00 a week before marriage has to ask for $200.00 a month alimony.

The average person's imagination is what enables physicians to make a comfortable living.

Believe it please, there are fellows so tight that they regret it when the pores function.

Buying her too big a stone has put more than one boy on the rocks.

Maybe so many society girls go on the stage because it has become a matter of good form.

Mother (to little Jessie)—Don't be so noisy. Why can't you be quiet like Jimmie?

Jessie—Oh, he's got to be quiet. You see we're playing he's daddy coming home from the Elks and I'm you.

A lady member says she has never seen a congressman drunk on the floor of the House, but maybe she didn't look under the desks.

Loafer—Will you marry me?
Working Girl—I'm afraid not.
Loafer—Aw, come on, be a support.

The Lord will provide all right. Never doubt it. But you may find yourself bitterly dissatisfied with the way He provides.

The Wife—Don't you think we ought to get mother a little present to take back with her when she goes? Can you suggest something?

The Brute—What about a nice big jar of vanishing cream?

It may be, as a woman's college inquiry shows, that men get mad twice as often as women, but don't the women break even by getting twice as mad?

Jerry—Tom, are you ever troubled with sleeplessness?
Tom—I am. Some nights I don't sleep three hours.

Jerry—I pity you, then. I've got it awfully bad. I've been afflicted now for about three years. The doctor calls it "neuric insomnia pa alaxitli."

Tom (grunting)—I've had it about six months; but we call it a baby.

Horseradish is now being brightened up with the aid of beet juice. It is now a horseradish of another color.

The business man who retired to escape salesmen has returned to his office to avoid house-to-house canvassers.

Teacher—Your trouble is you don't address the ball properly.
Would-Be Golfer—Well, I was polite as long as I could be.

TRICKED HIM
"Where did you go last night?"
"I went to a slight-of-hand performance. I offered my hand to Doris and she slighted it."—Answers.

THE DECOY
"I'm sure Dolly will make an ideal wife. Whenever I go to her home I find her busily darning her father's socks."
"That took me in, too, until I noticed it was always the same sock."—The Humorist.

NICE TO HIM
Doctor: Now, before I examine you, may I ask what you drink?
Patient: Thank you, doctor. A small whiskey and soda for me.—The Humorist.

ABOUT TOWN

Miss Lillian Murdock of Walker street is spending this week at the "Villa Vandriou", Lake Quinsigamond.

One local store has received the 1937 Presidential campaign commemorative plates. The Hoover plate is orange and the Roosevelt plate green.

The Army and Navy club auxiliary will have an outing this evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Volmer Thornfeldt of Cambridge street.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Skinner and children of Sarasota, Florida, who have been visiting Mrs. Skinner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lettney of Oakland street, are now the guests of Mr. Skinner's father in Higganum.

A number of the members of St. Mary's Girls Friendly society are planning to motor to Canaan Sunday afternoon to witness the pageant and flagpole ceremonies at 4 o'clock at the grounds at Holiday House.

The Beethoven Glee club will have an outing Monday evening at the Kiwanis kiddie's camp at Hebron where a dog and marshmallow roast will be held and at which the forty or more boys now at the camp will be guests. It is planned to leave at Emmanuel Lutheran church at 6 o'clock. Carl Matson, chairman of the social committee has sent out cards to ascertain how many will go. The Beethoven men will engage in a variety of sports at the camp.

Farm and Home week at the Connecticut Agricultural college at Storrs is scheduled for July 24 to 29 inclusive and will doubtless attract many Manchester people. The gathering is always one characteristic of Connecticut and New England, and those engaged in the various pursuits related to agriculture find the lectures and social features most helpful.

An increase in Manchester Negro population is reported with the influx of a couple of more families from Rockville. The new residents have not taken other tenements but are residing with other families already living at the north end.

Notice was given today by the State Highway commissioner that bids would be received until July 25 at 10 a. m., Standard time, for the purchase or removal of the building on the Bolton-Andover road known as the A. C. Broll luncheon room. There will be a representative on the grounds from 10 until 12 noon, Standard time, to answer questions.

ATTENDANCE CONTEST WINNERS GIVEN PARTY

Concordia Y. P. S. Dog Roast Held At Boy Scouts' Cabin In Glastonbury.

A hot dog roast will be held at the Boy Scout cabin in Glastonbury, Tuesday evening, July 19. The "Blue" team, headed by Miss Elsie F. Roth will be hosts to the "Red" team of which John W. Lange, Jr., is captain.

The "Red" team has worked diligently in getting everyone on their team to attend the regular business meetings. Since April the two teams have competed good-naturedly.

The contest was real close, but the "Red" team nosed out the losers by six members, at the June meeting.

Everyone planning to attend, will gather at the church by 6:30, where private cars will convey the members to the cabin.

MANCHESTER GRANGE HAS ANNUAL OUTING

Outdoor Games Played In Early Evening—Cards Are Pastime Later In Evening.

More than fifty of the members of Manchester Grange and about a dozen children took in the outing at the City View dance hall on Keeney street last evening. All sorts of outdoor games were played until rain began to fall, when the party gathered in the hall, for a period of bridge, whist, and dancing. The younger people chose the latter pastime and about eight tables were filled with card players. Prizes were won by Mrs. Ruth Bunce, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loomis, at bridge, and a number of prizes were awarded to the winners in the different stunts. Refreshments consisted of frankfurter sandwiches, doughnuts and cold drinks.

If She Doesn't Know About PERSPIRATION ODOR how can she know about anything else?

This isn't the Victorian age of false modesty. The girl of today isn't supposed to be delicate, shrinking violet. The girl these days is expected to be sophisticated—to be wise in the ways of the world. In days gone by, little attention was paid to the matter of perspiration odor. But today the woman is scorned who neglects to guard against the offensiveness of this nasty, unclean odor. No wonder men whisper among themselves that the woman who is careless about perspiration odor is an unsophisticated back number. It is even implied that if she is careless in this respect, she might also be careless in other matters of personal hygiene. Make it a habit to go over your arm-pits EVERY morning with PERSTIK. It is just as important to do this as it is to brush your teeth—and it is just as easy. PERSTIK resembles a lipstick, except that it is pure white. Heavy editors of leading magazines are simply "raving about PERSTIK. They call it the cosmetic "find" of the season. Good Housekeeping Institute has tested PERSTIK and awarded it Seal of Approval. Don't risk humiliation and embarrassment. Use PERSTIK regularly and you will never have to worry or wonder about perspiration odor. PERSTIK is sold at Hale's Drug Department (main floor, right). Your money back unless PERSTIK proves completely satisfactory. PERSTIK will not irritate—even after shaving.
