FOUR BIG SYSTEMS FOR 300 RAILROADS

I. C. C. Approves Plan To Merge All Eastern Roads Into Four Great Systems; Now Up To Carriers.

Washington, July 22.—(AP)—A new consolidation plan for the unification of 300 eastern railroads into four great systems now rests with the carriers.

It was put before them late yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission which sought by yielding on some points and making new suggestions to end years of wrangling over how consolidations should be effected to preserve competition, serve the public and save money.

The plan was not the commission's original proposal just exactly two years and seven months earlier for the establishment of five eastern trunk lines; it was not the railroads' suggestion last October, one for four systems, it contained some concessions and new allocations the commission hoped would be accepted.

The New Plan

By the new plan, carriers would be grouped under the Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York Central. The Delaware & Hudson and the Seaboard Air Line would constitute independent systems, while the Pennsylvania would be forbidden entry into New England.

What would be the carriers final attitude toward the offered compromise could not be said. Officials of the Baltimore & Ohio and the New York Central found some things worthy of commendation but had not committed themselves definitely.

When the roads in October suggested their four party grouping they said if it were approved without change the plan would fail.

Breaks U. System

The new schedule would break up the proposed Wabash-Seaboard system, abrogate two anti-trust decisions by authorizing the Pennsylvania to absorb the Westwood and the Baltimore and Ohio to take in Western Maryland.

Commissioners Easton and McManamy dissented from the entire plan while Brainerd, Lee and Mahaffie would not accept minor features.

Lee said the Boston and Maine should be allowed to retain the Delaware and Hudson.

The commission ruled that although the Pennsylvania might be willing to accept the plan, it could not until it had sold off the hands of trustees all its holdings and those of its subsidiaries in New England roads.

The Pennsylvania and its subsidiaries the Pennsylvania Road Corporation now have 22.79 per cent of N. Y. C. H. H. road and the Pennsylvania road has a 19.26 per cent interest in the Boston & Maine of which the Boston Railroad holds.

VON GRONAU OFF ON TRIP TO U. S.

German Flier Using the Arctic Route To Reach Chicago; Made Previous Trips.

List, Island of Sytt, July 22.—(AP)—Captain Wolfgang von Gronau, German aviator, and hero of two previous trans-Atlantic flights from Germany to the United States, took off from here again at 11 a. m. today for Chicago.

He was accompanied in his sea-plane, known as the Greenland W-1, by a crew of three, including a second pilot, a mechanic and radio operator. His route will be substantially the same as that followed in his two previous flights in 1930 and 1932, by way of Iceland, Greenland and Labrador.

His first stop was planned for Iceland. His first stop in North America was scheduled to be at Montreal.

The sea was so calm at the take-off that he was obliged to launch another plane to which the water so his heavily laden machine would lift from the surface.

Members of Crew

Frans Hack, the mechanic, and Fritz Albrecht, the radio operator, participated in Captain von Gronau's two previous flights. The second pilot on this trip is Gert von Roth.

Captain von Gronau's first flight to New York was made in a five-year-old plane which once had served Captain Rold Amundsen in the Arctic and which had drifted in the Atlantic for four days two years before when Captain Frank P. Schoonover, English aviator, was forced down in it near the Azores.

von Gronau covered the estimated distance of about 4,670 land miles in his flying time of 27 hours.

CHIEF OF POLICE TAKEN TO PRISON

Berlin Official Taken From His Bed By Squad of Soldiers and Led To Jail.

Berlin, July 22.—(AP)—Hugo Helmsberg, chief of the Berlin police, was tumbled out of bed at 5 o'clock this morning by a squad of soldiers and led away to the military prison on suspicion of actions in contravention of the presidential decree imposing martial law in Berlin.

A major of police and a member of the Reichsbanner whose name is Carlberg were arrested with him. Helmsberg, one of the most popular members of the police force, was arrested on Wednesday, along with Albert Grzesinski, commissioner of the Prussian police, when Grzesinski and his chief assistants refused to relinquish their jobs at the demand of General von Rundstedt who is in charge of the execution of martial law. They were liberated in a few hours.

The specific charges against the police chief were not disclosed.

PEACE CONFERENCE SCENE OF BATTLE

French and Italian Delegates In a Row—Police Called To Restore Order.

Geneva, July 22.—(AP)—A session of the Inter-parliamentary Union in the next room to the world disarmament conference broke up today in a violent row between the French and Italian delegates.

The controversy arose over who knew the most international law and above the tumult the French delegates shouted "Assassins of Matteotti!"

(The slaying of Giacomo Matteotti, a Socialist deputy, was one of the sensational events of the early Fascist parliamentary process.)

General Italo Balbo, head of the Italian delegation at the disarmament conference, rushed from the door where disorder reigned.

Police Called
The police were called in to restore order.

It developed that the French Socialist deputy, Renaudel, and the Italian deputy, Costamagna, had started the trouble.

The Frenchman objected to the meeting's attempt to instruct the meeting's participants in the disarmament conference, and Costamagna protested loudly and there followed a wild uproar during which Renaudel shouted: "Down with the assassins of Matteotti!"

Some blows were struck before the disorder was ended.

Monster Greeting Card For President Hoover

Winchester, Mass., July 22.—(AP)—Ernest Dudley Chase, whose hobby is the composing and manufacture of unique greeting cards, is engaged in the completion of what he believes to be his masterpiece, which he will send to President Hoover on the latter's 58th birthday, August 10.

The card, if present plans materialize, will contain the original signatures of approximately 50,000 citizens of the nation. They will not be those of great personages alone, but will consist for the most part of the plain John Jones and William Smith of the nation from Maine to Lower California and from Washington to Florida.

The card will consist of four parts, approximately 20 by 40 inches. One

Ten persons were injured, one was reported missing.

POLITICIANS SPECULATE ON PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Wondering How Far He Will Go On Prohibition Question When He Accepts the Nomination.

MUCH DISCUSSION ON TUNNEY STATUS Is Legal Resident But Not a Voter in State — His Appointment Was Legal.

Washington, July 22.—(AP)—The rapid pace of the Presidential campaign is forcing toward decision these two highly interesting and possibly dominating questions of party strategy:

How far will the Republicans go toward an affirmative bid for the prohibition vote? And how far will the Democrats go in asking the support of the post in the matter of Governor Frank P. Rowland?

Major Tunney, however, cleared up this point himself, in a Democratic political stump speech at Columbia Lake Tuesday, when he disclosed he had been a legal resident of Connecticut for three years. He said that Governor Cross was aware of his status when the staff appointment was made.

Not Made Voter

The claim that he is not a legal resident of the State was based on the assertion that he had not been made a voter. Deputy Attorney General Ernest L. Averi, when asked as to the requirements for legal residence in the State, pointed out that the statutes require residence in the State of one year, and whether the individual is a registered voter does not apply.

The deputy attorney general points out that there is nothing in the statutes which require residence in the State of civil members of the staff to make them eligible for appointment.

Bodies Found in River After Taking Auto Ride With Two Strange Men.

Lake City, Minn., July 22.—(AP)—Aid of clinic specialists at the Mayo hospital at Rochester was enlisted today by authorities seeking the cause of the mysterious deaths of Louise Prigge and Frances Polkowski, both 22.

The scantily clad bodies of the young women were found 22 miles from here—that of Miss Prigge in the Fumero river and that of her chum, who had been visiting at the Prigge farm, on the river bank a half mile away.

They were last seen alive Tuesday night when two men called at the Prigge home near Rochester to take them for an automobile ride. The first name of one of the men was known although Louise was said to have gone out several times with him.

The internal organs were sent to Rochester for examination.

Some investigators said it was possible that an argument preceded the death of one and that the other was slain to hide the identity of the men.

The candles will be in the form of slips of cardstock each of which will contain the signature of a citizen.

Chase, who has been at work on the card for about eight weeks, has sent out 20,000 letters in his quest for signatures. He says he has obtained about 20,000 already and that he hopes to obtain the names of 20,000 which he has set himself. The signatures are received on cards and Chase cuts them in the proper form and mounts them on his

CHINESE READY TO FIGHT JAPS IN JEHOI AREA

Despite Tokyo's Denial, Military Leaders Call It An Invasion—Protests Lodged With League of Nations.

Nanking, China, July 22.—(AP)—The Kuomin, official Chinese News Agency, reported today that "armed resistance without neglecting diplomatic methods" is the policy decided upon by the National government with regard to what it termed a "Japanese invasion" of the province of Jehol.

The agency said that the government had ordered Tang Yu-lin, governor of Jehol Province, and Chang Hsiao-Liang, former Manchurian head lord, to mobilize "strong forces" against the Japanese. At the same time protests were lodged at Tokyo and with the League of Nations.

A small Japanese expeditionary force was sent into Jehol several days ago. Japanese authorities said that it was intended merely to rescue Gonsiro Ishimoto, a former Japanese army officer who had been captured by Jehol troops.

Expect No Trouble
The Japanese said yesterday that they expected no trouble as Jehol authorities had promised to liberate Ishimoto within a few days.

Jehol, really a province of Inner Mongolia, lies on the Manchurian border and when the new state of Manchoukuo was established recently was claimed by Manchoukuo as a part of its territory. Recently Chinese government circles expressed alarm over what they termed Japan's determination to seize control of the province.

There were reports yesterday that Chang Kai-Shek was returning to Nanking because of the Jehol crisis. Alarm confusion was reported to have been caused throughout all northern China.

South-Southwest, Swelter in Heat

Deaths Total 36 As Temperature Hovers Around 100; Many Persons Drowned.

The Appalachian watershed smoked like a furnace today, its residents still awaiting the showery weather such as relieved the Great Lakes region and the southwest recently.

Temperatures ranged from 100 degrees at Charlotte and Raleigh, N. C., down into the nineties. High humidity abetted the oppressive heat, causing Washington to swelter at 92, New York at 87, Baltimore at 81, Pittsburgh at 85, Cumberland, Md., at 98 and most of West Virginia at the same broiling point.

Deaths due to the heat totaled 36 throughout the land. Lightning and drownings claimed at least 27 persons while rescue workers at Pontiac, Mich., feared they would never find the 14 persons missing from boats overturned during a squall.

Heat Returns

The Upper Mississippi valley and Great Lakes region, assuaged by thunderstorms yesterday, suffered an immediate renewal of the heat wave. Readings there, like those in most states, were above normal last night but Federal observers promised temperatures "not so warm" in most of the midwest today. The Missouri valley was slated to be an exception. A hot weekend was its prospect.

Unlike Pittsburgh, no other cities reported new highs for the season. St. Louis, customarily hot, said it was 97, Louisville 96, Milwaukee 90, and Des Moines 96. Showers brought readings in Chicago down from 95 to 77, in Lincoln, Neb., from 99 to 78, and in St. Paul from 88 to 76.

Maine Congressmen Says But Half Million Men Would Get Jobs.

Washington, July 22.—(AP)—Representative Beedy (R., Me.) said in an interview today statistics do not support claims of anti-prohibitionists that the legalization of liquor would help the farmer and the taxpayer.

Beedy cited a statistical summary prepared on the prohibition question, giving comparisons on grain production and consumption, employment, taxation and the nation's voting strength.

This tabulation gave the average annual gain consumption in liquor production from 1913 to 1917 as 32,800,000 bushels as compared with a total average grain production in this period of 7,000,000 bushels.

BOLIVIAN PAPERS DECLARE FOR WAR

Demand That Stern Action Be Taken Against Paraguay—Crisis Approaches.

La Paz, Bolivia, July 22.—(AP)—Bolivian newspapers demanded today a declaration of war against Paraguay as "The only step Bolivian can take."

"With an adversary," said La Republica, "nothing remains but radical measures. War is the only dignified step for Bolivia as a reply to constant bloody aggressions by Paraguay. It is necessary to prove once and for all that there is sufficient spirit in this country to secure respect for our rights."

The government appointed a commission to undertake measures for the national defense. La Republica said a Cabinet shake-up might be necessary to give President Salamanca free hand.

SITUATION CHANGES

Washington, July 22.—(AP)—Renewed indications of the seriousness of the differences between Paraguay and Bolivia came today with the statement by the chief of the Bolivian Chaco delegation that Paraguayan military actions of the last few days had changed the situation so far as mediation phases were concerned.

Eduardo Diez de Medina was referring to Bolivia's information to representatives of neutral countries, who are trying to act as peace-makers, that she would place herself in their hands for investigation of the Chaco claims.

Near State of War

He said Bolivia's action was taken only with respect to investigations of incidents on June 15 and June 29. Since then, de Medina said, Paraguay had brought the situation almost to a state of war. He added that Bolivia could not be bound in her future course by her desire to be conciliatory with regard to the situation surrounding the first two clashes, characterized as minor.

De Medina added, however, that the Chaco delegation which came here in an effort to negotiate a settlement of the territory dispute between the two countries, had as yet received no instructions to withdraw.

Says They Cannot Exist By Trade Within the British Commonwealth Alone; Canada Approves Suggestion.

Ottawa, Ont., July 22.—(AP)—The Irish Free State and the Union of South Africa gave indication of balking at the principle of preference tariff dealing as the imperial conference settled down to work today.

In the objection of the Irish Free State, as voiced by Sean T. O'Kelly, head of the delegation, there was an echo of brewing tariff war between the Free State and Great Britain over President De Valera's refusal to pay annual annuities to Great Britain.

N. C. Havens, South African minister of finance, emphasized that South Africa could not subscribe to the theory of a self-contained and isolated British Empire.

Lower Tariff Walls
"None of its members," he said, "can exist by trade within the Commonwealth alone. If our industries are to survive, tariff walls are inevitable but it is our duty to see how far they can be lowered or where preferential entries can be made through these walls."

For the rest of the Dominions the blunt proposal of Prime Minister Bennett of Canada, made in opening the conference to lower Canada's own tariff walls for the British Empire products, was received with approval, at least in principle.

After World Trade

Stanley Baldwin, head of the British delegation, warned that Great Britain would have to keep its trade in mind and that "however great our resources, we cannot isolate ourselves from the rest of the world."

American observers noted with particular interest Mr. Baldwin's charge of front office the 1930 conference at London which broke up when he refused tariff preference proposals which would have permitted Great Britain to cut in on Canadian industries.

Now, however, with Great Britain equipped with a tariff policy of her own and able to dictate terms, Bennett seemed ready to offer to make industrial sacrifices to save the Canadian farms, who contribute 85 per cent of its exports to Great Britain even now and at normal times 85 per cent.

GERMANY MAY QUIT ARMS CONFERENCE

Unless Nation Is Treated As Equal, Spokesman Tells Delegates At Geneva.

Geneva, Switzerland, July 22.—(AP)—Germany's delegate informed the world disarmament conference today that his country will not participate in further deliberations after this summer's recess unless the conference clearly recognizes Germany's right to a position of equality among the other nations of the world.

"The right of equality," he said, "is a fundamental principle on which the League of Nations rests. If this conference were to establish the rules and principles of general disarmament and at the same time excludes Germany or other states from these rules and principles, subjecting any state to discrimination, such an attitude would be incompatible with sentiments of national honor and international justice."

Not in Resolution
The draft resolution with which the conference proposes to terminate the first session of its work takes no account of the German position, he said.

"The work of this conference has given the impression that the necessary disposition is not yet understood or not yet attained by all the participating governments."

"The German government considers that the proposals regarding one of the fundamental problems of disarmament make any useful work impossible."

Charlie Chaplin Imitations Barred As Sons Prepare For Movie Debut

Hollywood—Frank Craven, who acts when he isn't writing, has a nice job on his hands.

It is to write a screen story to feature two little boys he has never seen, two very famous little boys, and their mother, who is equally well-known. It is the story that will initiate the two young sons of Charlie Chaplin to their father's profession.

Craven, sitting in his office at the studio the other morning, admitted he hadn't the shadow of an idea what sort of story he would write. But he was smilingly unworried.

"I know I'll get it written," he said. "The mechanical job of putting a story on paper never worries me. The only question in my mind is, will the studio like it? But I haven't any control over that, so what's the use of worrying?"

Craven, author of 14 plays, in many of which he has appeared, has had experience in letting him to freedom from worry in that regard or any other pertaining to his craft. Fox recently completed filming of his "The First Year," and several other of his plays have been screened.

And, compared to some of the dramatic tasks he has handled, the conception of a screen story for Lita Grey Chaplin and Charles Spencer, Jr., and Sidney Earle is mere routine. Craven may have no idea as yet on the type of picture he'll write, but has definite ideas on what it will not be. "The chief of these is that it will in no way recede to the poor taste of trading on the success of the youngsters' father."

"I've seen the boys in newspapers," he says, "and they're a clean-cut, attractive pair of kids. That's how they'll be presented, just as they are."

"I don't know yet whether Miss Grey will play their mother in the film—she may be cast as their aunt, or a friend, or just as a young woman in the story. All that has to be decided."

Craven, on the stage since he was three years old, and a member of a family full of stage names, acted for the screen in his "The Very Idea," produced as an early talkie, but has no acting plans for his present sojourn.

Sidney Earle Chaplin and Charles Spencer Chaplin, Jr., sons of Charlie Chaplin, are preparing for their debut in films with their mother, Lita Grey Chaplin (below) divorced wife of the film comedian. Chaplin has announced plans to enter legal objection to their appearance on the screen.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

There are faces that manage to make a place for themselves in the beauty picture just because they lift their eyebrows with the right degree of amused surprise. A few people have been born with eyebrows that are dark, luxuriant and well-shaped. More people have to achieve them.

First of all, when you begin to raise your eyebrows for beauty, do not pluck them. That mode is out. Beauty must be natural and there is nothing more artificial than a thin line of eyebrows, and nothing more likely to spoil your effect than eyebrows that are just beginning to grow out. Of course, if a stray hair grows where it should not, it is all right to pull it out. But there is nothing to do with the plucking process.

Use an oil on your eyebrows to keep them strong and soft and luxuriant. Massage the oil in the roots of the hairs at night. If your eyebrows are too light, darken them. But do it in a restrained way. The color of your eyebrows should be natural, emphasizing the natural line of the arch or the straightness, until you have made it as becoming as you can. As a rule, the general line of your eyebrows is the one best suited to you. A sample of fine, careless, women lose track to cover it all over again.

Eye shadows follow various shades. Brown, blue, black and mauve are the most acceptable. The color of your eye shadow must harmonize with your eyes, brow pencil, your lashes, brows, and eye-lids have to co-operate in order to set off your eyes.

To darken your brows, trace a line very lightly over the brows. Use an eyebrow pencil. The part of the brow near the nose requires a much lighter treatment than the part near the temples. Such treatment makes your eyes appear to be wider apart. There is a more breathless, eager look to your face, and such a look always imparts youthfulness.

If you want to play up the arch effect, darken the eyebrow more right in the center. Give your eyes the proper setting and trust them to say the right thing.

AIR PATHS of GLORY

By DEKETER TREED
NBA Service Writer

Two army aviators shot a plane at a mark 2400 miles away and—hit the bull's-eye!

Who were they and what has become of them? Their names are Lieut. Lester J. Maitland and Lieut. Albert F. Hegenberger. They are still flyers.

It was five years ago this June that they jumped aboard their big plane and soared over the Pacific over the same route on which the gallant Capt. Rodgers faced death. Since they aimed at that little cluster of islands out in the broad Pacific, they must navigate perfectly. They must make in two degrees in calculations would be a mere trifle by, on to an almost certain watery grave.

If they missed the islands, the next landing place would be 2600 miles farther, at the Solomon Islands. But they had fuel enough to reach Hawaii, so they could not fail. They were expert pilots. Maitland, enlisting in the army air corps during the World War, took to flying naturally. Hegenberger had had almost as much experience. And both had been in planes practically every day for years.

Their plane soared on, maintaining a speed of approximately 100 miles an hour despite wind, occasional banks of fog and treacherous currents of air that buffeted them. They checked their instruments constantly, allowed for drift. As the hours passed and they went by the 20 hour mark, they peered anxiously ahead, trying to discover those little black smears on the blue horizon that they knew they must reach.

As they passed the 24 hour mark the suspense was nerve-racking. It was almost unbearable. And then they saw a faint outline of something. It became plainer and they breathed signs of relief. They checked their flight clock. Honolulu, in 25 hours 56 minutes. They had navigated perfectly and piloted perfectly. They had hit the bull's-eye!

In the days that have passed since they were applauded so lustily by the people, they have been in and out of the limelight.

Maitland wrote a book about the flight. Then he returned to Kelly field in Texas, and became a "sellable" pilot, who could train pilots in the use of a compass and the art of flying. He specialized in speed flying. Eventually he was decorated by President Coolidge.

In 1920 he was injured seriously in an automobile accident. The same day his wife was awarded a divorce on the charge of adultery. Maitland is completely recovered from the accident now and he continues flying. It is the life he loves.

The air paths that Hegenberger has followed have taken him along many of the most exciting routes at Kelly field, but primarily he is a test pilot. He has broadcast from a plane successfully. In 1928 he flew a plane operated by a mechanical pilot. Only last summer he was in a plane at Schenectady that was steered by a compass, controlled by an electric motor. His great skill was proved last July when he set a plane down in a meadow near Mattituck, L. I., in a thick fog that might have been disastrous for one less expert.

Maitland and Hegenberger, blazers of the air trail to Hawaii, they started young, as flyers, and both did fair to fly for many years to come.

"Portrait of an Airman" Tells Story of Flyer's Struggle to Keep His Sanity

Probably there are, somewhere, certain World War aviators who have not yet written books about World War aviators. Their numbers are dwindling, however; give them time, and they'll all be authors.

The newest one on the list is Philip Arnull, who contributes "Portrait of an Airman," an occasionally exciting novel about a young Englishman who became an ace.

EXERCISE MAY BE HARMFUL TO THOSE WITH KIDNEY ILLS

Muscular Activity Makes Heavy Demand on Blood

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and Hygiene, the Health Magazine

It long has been recognized that exercise places extraordinary demands on the human tissues, particularly if the exercise is long continued, perhaps to the point of exhaustion, or if it is done at such a rate as to tax severely the accommodation of the body.

Years ago it was recognized that there might be occasions in which albumin would appear in the excreted fluid, or urine, without the presence of Bright's disease or any actual inflammation of the kidney. It was found as long ago as 1904 that constant standing in one position might cause the sudden appearance of albumin.

It occurred to investigators that there must be some basis for the failure of the kidney, revealed in this manner. They therefore studied 47 women who had indulged in physical exercise such as riding a bicycle, running around an indoor track or working on a rowing machine.

In some 15 per cent of cases there was albumin in a sample of fluid before the beginning of the exercise which apparently did not increase greatly after exercise, and, in fact, was reduced in some instances. On the other hand, 87 per cent of those women who had no albumin before exercise developed the appearance of albumin after exercise.

During exercise there is a marked elevation of the pulse pressure, an increase in the rate of the circulation and a shunting of the blood from the interior of the body to the active muscles and the skin.

Muscular exercise stimulates the metabolism, or chemical interchange in the body, and at the same time produces heat. If the exercise is severe enough the amount of heat produced may exceed the amount of heat usually lost by the body and, as a result, the temperature rises.

200 POUND SWORDFISH TOWS BOAT OVER HULL

Boston, July 22.—(AP)—Members of the crew of the schooner Malvina B., of Vineyard Haven, after years spent their years they will doubtless speak in reverent terms of a 200-pound swordfish of a fare of 65 landed at the fish pier today by Captain Isaac Knowlton.

The fish was sighted Saturday, while the schooner was on the south shoal grounds. A sailor spotted the fish from the dory and the swordfish towing an empty keg behind 100 fathoms of line.

When it appeared the fish had become exhausted, a man put out in a dory and picked up the kegs. Suddenly the big fish recovered its strength and with all speed put away from the vicinity of the Malvina B. Captain Knowlton said the swordfish towed the dory a mile and a half, then it turned on the dory, but being just before reaching the pier.

The men of the Malvina B. are not surprised that the schooner, Marie, out of New London, Conn., failed to capture the fish. For in addition to the dory and tackle of the Malvina, the fish was towing a keg bearing the name of the Marie.

SAYS WET CLAIMS ARE NOT SUPPORTED

Beedy said there are 45,000,000 workers in the United States of whom 9,000,000 are estimated to be unemployed.

"Yet, the total workers in the liquor business before prohibition was only 499,000, a very small percentage of our present day unemployment," he said.

Beedy said the tabulation showed the annual average liquor tax from 1913 to 1917 was $38,000,000, of which $24,000,000 was Federal revenue and $14,000,000 local and state levies. This compared, he said, with a total cost of all government in 1918 of $2,900,000,000 and of $14,000,000,000 in 1930.

"This tabulation shows that in 1919 the Federal government collected $24,000,000 in liquor taxes," Beedy said. "It is 1932 system, tax as necessary to balance the Federal budget aggregated $1,118,000,000."

JOHNSON RAPE CONGRESS

Chicago, July 22.—(AP)—Senator Hiram Johnson of California stopped off in Chicago today long enough to say that "mass killings were done in the last session of Congress and with less knowledge than ever before."

The California Republican replied, "I am not talking politics. I was asked who he would support in the presidential campaign. He said, however, that he was greatly impressed with Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's fight to Chicago to accept the Democratic nomination before the convention closed."

RECONSTRUCTION VILLAGE
Springfield, Ill., July 22.—(AP)—Governor L. L. Emerson today approved plans that eventually will result from the past, faithful reproduction of Old Salem, the village in which Abraham Lincoln lived from 1831 to 1837.
Reconstruction of the shops, cabins and stores as the emancipator knew them will be well under way this season and will round out a four year program of Lincoln shrine preservation undertaken by the governor in 1929.

Careful research will make the restoration as historically authentic as possible. Plans and records and remnants of old stone foundations have yielded exact locations of the village buildings.

35 FAIRS SCHEDULED IN STATE THIS FALL
Practically All of Them Continue This Year — People Seem To Appreciate Them.
Hartford, July 22.—Connecticut people are apparently appreciative of the fairs which are held in all parts of the state every fall if the number to be held this year is any criterion. While many fairs in other sections of the country have found it necessary to postpone holding exhibitions on account of the present business conditions, those in Connecticut, for the most part, are going on the same as ever.
Thirty-five fairs are scheduled to be held in the state according to a list of fairs and dates just issued by the State Department of Agriculture. Although two or three societies will not hold fairs this year, others have been organized so that the total number is remaining fairly constant. The fairs start off in August and will continue through to the middle of October.

BIG SALAD POISONS OVER 400 PERSONS
Washington, July 22.—(AP)—Health officials sought today to find out if it was deviled egg salad that sent more than 400 picknickers to hospitals yesterday for ptomaine poisoning treatment.
The clue as to what had stricken the picknickers developed when two dozen escaped hours before also fell ill. Investigation showed some of the salad pot senders for the picnic down the Potomac river had been sent to the veterans' camp.

Only two of all the victims, however, were reported dangerously ill today although 149 spent the night in hospitals.
When the Charles MacAlister, river steamer, tied up at her wharf yesterday after a trip to Marshall had just across the Potomac to Mount Vernon, several of them had attended the picnic about two weeks ago.

All available ambulances, fire trucks and stores of auto ambulances rushed the ill to hospitals, leaving them to capacity. Most patients want home before nightfall.
About 1,000 employees and guests of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Debris attended the picnic for which the Charles MacAlister had been chartered.

GUILTY OF SELLING UNMARKED BREAD

Market Manager, However, Is Released of Charge of Short-Weighting Patrons.

Israel Pomerantz, who has the bread counter concession at the Popular Market, was found guilty by Judge Raymond A. Johnson in police court this morning of selling unmarked bread. He was fined $38 and costs.

James Bruno, manager of the Popular Market, who was charged with short-weighting customers through his agent, Michael Hayes, was given a suspended judgment upon payment of court costs of $12.65 when evidence presented showed the short-weight was an error rather than intentional.

Pomerantz's case took the longest time. He was defended by Reuben Taylor, of Hartford, and complainants were Milo Griffin, sealer of weights and measures for Hartford county, Napoleon Fournier, inspector for the State police and John J. Zekas, a member of the State police force. Griffin, the first to testify, said that he took 12 loaves of bread from the counter and weighed them. Three were slightly under weight, he said. Pomerantz admitted he sold the bread. There was no weight marking on the wax paper wrapper, Griffin testified. There is a state law that bread must be marked as to weight.

Inspector Fournier said that he weighed 12 loaves at one time and their combined weight was 11 pounds. He said he had warned the market about selling unmarked bread on April 13. Zekas unmarked bread from Pomerantz, he testified, and there was no weight on the wrapper. Attorney Taylor, representing Pomerantz, offered in testimony an advertisement which appeared in The Herald offering the bread at five cents a loaf. Prosecutor Hathaway objected to this evidence and his objection was sustained. It was maintained by Pomerantz that the bread he sold was wrapped in the bakery where purchased. The same bread is sold regularly in Hartford and the law is not enforced there, he said.

In his finding Judge Johnson said Pomerantz was evasive and evidently was not telling the truth in some of his statements. The fact remains that Pomerantz had been warned that he must sell marked bread only and had failed to heed the advice was against him, the judge said. He found him guilty and imposed a fine of $38 from which an appeal was taken.

Bruno's case was somewhat different. He was defended by Judge William S. Hyde. State Policeman Zekas testified that he went into the Popular Market and bought some ham and a piece of lamb. The ham was marked 14 cents a pound and the lamb 18 cents a pound. The cost of the ham totaled 75 cents and the lamb $1.00. The lamb weighed five pounds and a half ounce. The cost should have been 96 cents, he said. Sealer Griffin was waiting for Zekas outside and he went into the market and tested the scales. He said in court that the scales were standard.

Clerk Testifies Michael J. Hayes who made the sale said that he worked for the market three or four days a week. He said he had no knowledge of the scales were out of order, but that he had short-weighted anyone. He told the prosecutor upon questioning that he did not work on percentage but on a straight salary. He said he weighed the ham and the lamb which he sold to Zekas on the same scales.

Inspector Fournier testified that he had tested the scales on April 13. Judge Hyde emphasized the fact that the ham and the lamb were weighed on the same scales and said that it was his intention to check anyone the ham, too, would have been short-weighted. He brought out that Hayes was not an experienced salesman and could easily have made an error of half an ounce. The fact that it was but an error totaling four cents in actual cash was emphasized. Judge Hyde called it an honest error. Prosecutor Hathaway maintained such an error would amount to something in a bulk business. Judge Johnson ruled as above and the case was paid.

Judge Johnson suspended judgment upon payment of costs of $12.65 and Bruno paid.

Charles Pomerantz, of New Britain, who was fined $225 and costs for transporting liquor and for passing stop signs and who was given until today to pay appeared in court this morning and paid a total of $243.52 so that he would not have to go to jail.

MANCHURIA BROKE Shanghai, July 22.—(AP)—Dispatches from Chinese sources in Harbin said today that the government of Manchuria is facing a serious financial deficit. The first budget is expected to provide approximately $20,000,000 income, but expenditures are estimated at about $24,000,000.

SUNSET SERVICES TO BE CONCLUDED

Young People of North End Societies To Conduct Sunday Services Two More Weeks.

Young people of the North Methodist Episcopal League and Christian Epesovor society, sponsoring the Sunday sunset hour services, have decided to continue them for at least two additional evenings. These meetings have all been held outdoors at the North Methodist church and have been well attended. Excellent speakers and music have been provided by the committee in charge and the programs have been helpful to old and young.

Dr. J. L. Barton of Hartford will be the guest speaker Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. For years he has been a popular speaker at Everyman's Bible classes, and at gatherings at the state prison at Waterbury. He is also president of the Baptist Layman's association of Connecticut, and his message will be well worth hearing.

The final Sunday evening in July, the speaker will be Rev. Alfred Clark, rector of Grace Episcopal church, East Haven, and formerly assistant minister at St. Mary's Episcopal church in this town. A special invitation is extended to St. Mary's parishioners to take this opportunity of greeting Mr. Clark.

PHYSICAL EXAM FOR CAMP GIRLS

Those Who Will Go To Hebron Monday For Two Weeks Get Health Rating.

Forty-three girls, fourteen from the north end and the rest from the south end, were given a physical examination by Dr. D. C. Y. Moore today, preparatory to starting for a two week's vacation at the Kivianis Middle Camp at Hebron on Monday. The girls will be driven to the camp in automobiles by members of the Kiwanis Club, leaving the railroad depot and the High School at 8 o'clock.

On the return trip from the camp, the Kiwanians will bring back the forty-three boys who have spent the past two weeks there. A general atmosphere of regret pervaded the camp today at the thought that the vacation was soon to end. Helge Pearson, camp director, will be assisted by four young women who have had much experience with children, during the remaining two weeks of camp. They are: Miss Marion Browning, Miss Thelma Carr, Miss Olive Smith and Miss Dorothy Armstrong.

FORMER LOCAL YOUTH BITTEN BY RATTLER

Steve Berk Who Went West With Jack Hoxie Poisoned By Snake in Texas.

Word reached Manchester today of injury to a former local young man who left town two years ago with a circus that "played" William. He is Steve Berk, formerly of Union street. A newspaper clipping from Fort Davis, Texas, tells of Berk being bitten by a rattlesnake which made him unconscious for six hours.

Berk, who is 25 years old, was bitten by the snake when he went out into the yard to discover what was causing the dog to bark. He found that he had something beyond. Investigation led to his being bitten in the palm of his hand. Berk had presence of mind enough to wind some stout fishing around his wrist and made a tourniquet with the aid of a nail.

That is all he remembers until in a doctor's office some six hours later. The doctor worked over him for an hour and a half and it was announced that the young man's condition had been detected in the nick of time to prevent serious consequences.

Berk was living at the home of Jack Hoxie, owner of the circus in which Berk went away with. At one time Berk was employed by Merton Strickland as a truck driver. He is now engaged in work on the Lampy Canyon bridge construction near Fort Davis.

BUILDING ACTIVE THOUGH NOT BIG

New First National Store At Center Leads — Other Small Local Jobs.

Signs of increased building activity in Manchester are found in the fact that nine building permits, amounting to $4,910, were issued during the past week. These permits include alteration of the store at the center which will be occupied by the First National Stores, Inc. The contract has been awarded to the Ideal Construction Company of Hartford for alterations to the first floor of the building, owned by Bender Brothers. This work will provide a large store, as the present front is a dividing partition between the two stores has been taken out. The building has been furnished with new Lally columns and structural steel, a new wood floor, plate glass show windows with the display space. There will also be the walls and the vestibule and heating will be by steam.

An addition will be erected at the rear of the building of frame construction with a concrete foundation, a suspended exterior and stucco roof, one story high. Other permits are for a two-car garage at 717 Tolland turnpike, being built by Felix Kazeychik; a two-car garage for Frank Nachowski at Hawthorne street, being built by Elmo Amault; enclosing of a porch for Bert Moseley of 85 Brookfield street, by the Paramount Improvement Corporation of Hartford; and alterations and additions, including tearing down a barn and moving a carriage shed on Taylor street by E. R. Machell.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, July 22.—(AP)—With rails providing the motive power, and oils the fuel, the Stock Market negotiated another modest grade today, getting up close to the peak level of June. The announcement of the Interstate Commerce Commission's approval of the four-party eastern trunklines merger, with only minor modifications of the executives' plan, had a beneficial effect upon the carrier securities generally, and oils improved in response to first samples of first half earnings. Of the eastern trunklines stocks of Baltimore and Ohio and Chesapeake and Ohio made relatively the best progress, getting up a point or more. Delaware and Hudson, normally a New York Central and Pennsylvania rose about 2 points. Among other rails, Union Pacific and Santa Fe gained about 1 point. In the oils, Standard of California and N. J., Seaboard Oil and Atlantic Refining gained a point or so. Miscellaneous shares rising about 1 to nearly 2 points included American Telephone and Electric Co., Case, Procter and Gamble, National Biscuit, Air Reduction, Eastman, Homestake, General Railway Signal, National Distillers and U. S. Steel Preferred. The list sagged a little after a firm opening, but soon resumed its climb. The market was able to push through its previous year resistance levels of July was regarded as encouraging. The upturn took the general level, as measured by averages, up close to the peak of the early June rally, which greeted the formation of the Morgan-sponsored interest holding corporation. The advance received considerable help from the manner in which the list received second quarter earnings leading to the conclusion that the less favorable exhibits had been discounted in advance in many cases. The earnings report of Atlantic Refining for the second quarter and first half provided substantiation of advance estimates indicating that the improvement in gasoline prices had carried the industry generally out of the red. Atlantic Refining's net for the first half, $1.18 a share, of which $1.02 was earned in the second quarter. For the full year 1932, the company showed only 13 cents a share on the stock. A number of adverse statements are appearing, however. FIRE STILL RAGING

Wolcott, Conn., July 22.—(AP)—The forest fire which began Wednesday afternoon to devastate 100 acres of woodland along the Wolcott-Southington town lines was reported today to have extended over a large area to the property of the New Britain Water Supply Works in Wolcott at Lake Compounce. A number of workers from Thosaston were brought to the scene last night to relieve the exhausted fire-fighters from this district, most of whom are back at work again today. A path a mile long, wide enough to admit passage of an automobile, has been cut into the Southington reservoir into the woods, bringing the water carriers supply within a mile of the fire. Prior to the cutting of this path the truck bearing water could get no nearer than two miles of the blaze. Fire wardens said today that there seemed small prospect of getting the fire under control without the aid of a heavy rain.

Red Cross Representative To Be Here For Demonstration; Seniors Can Qualify For Rating.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock under the supervision of Capt. Fred Bryant, field representative of the American Red Cross, a life-saving demonstration will be conducted at Globe Hollow, or in case of rainy weather, at the Recreation indoor pool.

This also will be an opportunity for all seniors to qualify for an examiner's rating, giving them the power to teach and pass students in life-saving.

It is hoped that all the members of the senior life-saving corps will be on hand to help this the first class ever conducted here in Manchester, a success.

From the public viewpoint it will prove more valuable as a water safety method and the people are invited to attend this demonstration for which no collection or charge will be made.

The different approaches will be demonstrated, carries and also breaking of front and back straps, double grip on arms and the proper way to use the prone pressure of resuscitation, which may be required from any cause that paralyzes the human diaphragm and stops breathing.

The seniors and juniors are all expected to attend this demonstration.

SCHOOL FOR AUTOISTS

Evansville, Ill., July 22.—(AP)—The police department's school of practical auto driving for women held commencement yesterday with everything lovely but the valedictory.

The women voluntarily took the course in how to travel the streets with least possible danger to drivers and pedestrians.

At the commencement, continuous curbside kibitzing from the idly curious as the final examinations were taken on a practice street, all but two of the ten candidates passed.

But even the successful were distracted when their police instructors cheerily farewellled with: "Well, we'll be seeing you."

BUYING WATER Some members of the Manchester Taxpayers' League at a meeting of that body Wednesday night seemed perturbed lest their leaders, Selectman Sherwood G. Bowers and Frank V. Williams be not given credit for starting proceedings towards possible purchase of the South Manchester Water Company's plant.

The Taxpayers' committee made no unusual discovery when they heard "rumors" that the water system owned by Chesney Brothers was for sale.

There are many angles to the water plant question that would require careful consideration. First of all, Manchester must make up its mind that it wants municipally-owned utilities.

Not long ago the president of the Taxpayers' League warned the citizens in town meeting against voting further bond issues.

Another amendment When you speak of amending the constitution, this summer and fall, most of your hearers will take it for granted that you are talking about the prohibition law.

RELIEF IDEAS In yesterday's Open Forum columns appeared the first response to The Herald's bid for suggestions as to ways and means of handling the town's relief problems this coming winter.

not to be in a hurry to urge the purchasing of the water company's interests. Evidently a little extra consideration of the costs and the dangers to political prestige involved helped call a halt to the "negotiations."

ROADSIDE RESTAURANTS Anyone who does much motoring through the open road country must be convinced that solid prosperity—depression or no depression—awaits every roadside lunchroom proprietor who appreciates the value of cleanliness, good cooking and a neat appearance.

But things are looking up. The exceptions are not as rare now as they used to be; furthermore, it is comforting to notice that the man who has the good sense to operate one of these exceptions almost invariably prospers.

For the motorist, who is a pretty long-suffering citizen, such lessons about such things. He develops a keen eye and when he spies a roadside restaurant that is neat and clean in appearance, with a bit of grass about its walls, screens on its windows, not too many advertising signs nearby and some slight evidence of decent taste in its architecture, he loses no time in stopping to sample its wares.

And how they stand out in the motorist's memory! Like the elephant, he never forgets. He tells his friends about the good places, and goes back to them himself; and gradually they build up a patronage that insures their permanence.

NO ONE IS SAFE Police records offer few things more shocking than the case of the New York suspect who died following an eight-hour grilling by police—died, according to physicians, of a broken larynx, which was incurred while he was in the police station.

It is quite beside the point to remark that this suspect was, all in all, an undesirable citizen, that he was accused of an atrocious crime and that the evidence connecting him with it was exceedingly strong.

AND NOW! The Herald's bid for suggestions as to ways and means of handling the town's relief problems this coming winter.

Just how the leaders of the Taxpayers' League figure the town could make money on the water system when Chesney Brothers themselves, even including the sewer agreement, realize considerably less than a reasonable profit, we do not know, but it is interesting to note that the Herald's bid for suggestions as to ways and means of handling the town's relief problems this coming winter.

discussion of the question of moment. Perhaps a hot, humid day in July is no time to be cutting for suggestions or ideas about something that won't be needed until some cold, misty day in February.

Those of our readers who have suggestions, ideas, or opinions on municipal aid for the jobless are urged to submit them for presentation to the general public through the columns of The Herald.

IN NEW YORK Spigotty Andy, July 22. — Newark cameramen of Manhattan, a swarming, adventurous crew for the most part, keep a scroll of honor which lists the names of fellows who have known the tangy flavor of hazard.

And here's the story: For several years letters have been coming into the work-a-day newsroom of Paramont, written in a ludicrous pidgin dialect that was sometimes bad English and sometimes good Spanish.

THE BIG CHANCE! A few months ago Andy wrote proudly that he had saved his dollars and purchased an up-to-date movie camera. He would be content to cover commercial subjects and that sort of thing until the "big chance" came.

Well, it did come! Press dispatches told of revolution in Chile, Insurrectors had seized Santiago and wiped out the old regime.

Oh, Andy hadn't even waited to answer. He had rushed for a press pass, stuck it in his hat, made hurried arrangements to get films out through the lines and had dashed off on the heels of the retreating regular troops.

As I have said, it read simply: "Spigotty Andy—Ace camera man." GILBERT SWAN.

Political Follies of 1932

Washington—Speaker Jack Garner has joined with Governor Roosevelt in making the 1932 presidential campaign look more and more like a struggle between progressives, under the Democratic banner, and conservatives under the Republican.

Garner and Roosevelt have not seen each other for three years, although they have talked over the telephone, probably to agree on progressive plans, since the nominations. The last time they met, Roosevelt stopped off in Washington on his way south and talked with Garner, who had just become or was to become House minority leader.

Both sides will be flinging a lot of hokey in this fight, which will remain a political rather than a social-economic struggle even if one party does seem more liberal than the other.

But the Democrats, taking full advantage of the issue which has been given them, obviously are setting themselves up as the party of hope.

they already are talking on the shades of Jefferson, Jackson and Wilson and undertaking to carry the torch for the "down-trodden masses."

Garner's Relief Bill Speaker Garner's proposal to lend Reconstruction Finance Corporation money to individual business enterprises, contained in the relief bill agreed on by the conference committee and approved by the Garner-Hoover debate, apparently would benefit the small merchants, manufacturers and farmers.

It looks as if most of the large business interests would support the Hoover-Curtis ticket, but there would be some of the big industrial states, but some of them believe he can win with a solid south and a solid west if necessary.

HEWITT PITCHES ONE HIT GAME AND WINS 1-0

Lone Tally Comes On Single After Two Are Out Followed By Many Misplays.

Jack Hewitt, speed ball artist for the Pilots, knocked on the door of the Hall of Fame last night but Doortender Ernie Dowd refused him admittance. Hewitt pitched hitless ball against the Crescents for six innings until Dowd came to bat in the fatal seventh and singled over Zapata's head for the only hit the Crescents got. The Pilots won 1 to 0.

Hewitt and Herb Wright engaged in a pitching duel with Wright holding the Pilots to four hits. Although Hewitt pitched superb ball the Pilots won the game on two breaks such as are always bound to come in tight games like these.

In the third inning Wogman whiffed, "Chuckle" Smith flied to short and "Shorty" Maloney singled to left field. Wright repeatedly threw to Tierney at first base to catch Maloney but failed to do so. Finally Wright threw one past Tierney and Maloney went to second. Maloney dashed for third on the next play and went all the way home with what proved to be the winning run, when "Gyp" Gustafson threw the ball over McConeky's head at third.

The Crescents made a good bid to tie the score in the last inning when Dowd singled and then stole second and third only to be left stranded when Billy Dowd and Eddie Boyce both fanned the breeze and Gustafson flied to left ending one of the best ball games ever witnessed at the West Side Oval.

HOW OLYMPIC STADIUM WILL LOOK WHEN ATHLETES BEGIN BIG SHOW

This remarkable photograph-drawing shows graphically how Olympic Stadium at Los Angeles will look this summer when athletes from all parts of the world begin the 10th Olympic games. Runways, pits and other necessary construction has been planned to permit competitors to be in action in all parts of the huge bowl at the same time, lending the effect of a many-ringed circus. Thus there are pits and runways for the broad jump and hop, step and jump on both the north and south sides of the field. The west end will have the javelin throw runway, a pole vault pit, a high jump pit and a shot put ring, and the same events will be contested at the opposite end of the stadium at the same time, with the exception of the javelin throw. Rings for the discus, hammer and weight events will be in the center of the field. The track for the races is 400 meters around, which is slightly less than a quarter-mile.

The V. F. W. baseball team will play the West Side team tonight at the West Side grounds. F. W. of Willimantic.

Hartford, July 22.—(AP)—Thomas Donahue, State athletic commissioner has issued an ultimatum that boxers may not fight oftener than once in four days.

"And if Courtney boxes in Atlantic City Monday," he said "he will not be permitted to appear in Connecticut rings next week at all."

Donahue announced that Courtney's proposed bout with Al Gaiser in West Haven and also an amateur show there next Tuesday could not be held until a state license has been obtained and a bond posted.

RED SOX START WINNING GAMES

Jolley and Johnson Lead Attack; Senators Regain Fourth Place.

(By Associated Press)
The Boston Red Sox, up to a few weeks ago a demoralized team that threatened to break all existing records for games lost, are showing distinct signs of improvement under the guidance of Marty McManus.

With Smead Jolley and Roy Johnson hitting better than they did, and the young pitchers coming through, they have won 10 of their last 22 contests and have been shut out but once in the last month.

McManus is depending on a set of youngsters to pull the Sox out of the ruck. Larry Doerner, the rookie who yesterday held the Yanks to two hits in seven innings, is his latest find. As well as he hurried yesterday Doerner has yet to receive credit for a big league victory. Old Wiley Moore went the last two frames in which the Sox came from behind to win 3 to 2.

The Washington Senators regained fourth place in the American League by beating Detroit 6 to 4 in their final, Monte Weaver had the Tigers stopped after the first inning.

The St. Louis Browns broke their losing streak of eleven straight when Walter Stewart pitched himself to a four-hit game and beat the Athletics 5 to 3. Groves Goslin smacked two doubles and two singles in leading the Browns' attack.

In the National League's only engagement the pace-setting Pittsburgh Pirates beat out the Phillies 3 to 2 in the 9th to increase their lead to 2 1/2 games.

MARVELOUS MANHATTAN

New York—I have just seen something I never saw before on Manhattan island—a truck-load of live, bellowing cows.

Now I've seen 'em truck steers up to Madison Square Garden for the rodeos, and calves of undetermined sex for the rodeo calf ropers.

The trucks were being conveyed east on Forty-sixth street, and the red traffic light stopped the truck at Park avenue.

When the truck was stopped there, in the choked-up traffic alongside the ornate New York Central building, men, women and children left the sidewalk to move out close to the cow conveyance.

Another rural touch: I was walking along that wide open space called Chrystie street when a spring wagon came by—yes, sir, a spring wagon drawn by a real, sure enough horse.

The wagon was loaded with watermelons, and the driver kept crying his goods to those on the walk and in the buildings.

Only he didn't quite have the Main street accent on "Watermelons." His was the accent of the Ghetto, sprawled out to the east of him.

Pushcart Bazaar I strayed off Chrystie down Heer street, so long a favored parking place for pushcart vendors and, by the way, one of the most widely known streets in the world.

As might be taken for granted, not even the pushcart vendors are such a rushing business right now. Yet they're still lined up, end to end, on both sides of the street, as far as one can see.

Here you see plenty of characters whose racial aspects are so emphasized that if you'd see copies of them on the stage you'd say: "Go on, nobody looks like that in real life." They are treated with respect by the adults of the district, but some of the youngsters mock them rudely.

I walked along Orchard street and closely examined some of the pushcart wares. Honestly, I think every article ever thrown away as junk has its hundreds of counterparts on sale at the Orchard street bazaar.

Some of the goods I noticed were broken augers, hammer-heads and other tools used safely razor blades, soiled linen, used-up pencils, shredded inner tubes, discharged cartridge shells, discarded toys, and—oh, just think of anything you couldn't use. It's on sale in some one or more of the Orchard street pushcarts.

MARKET REACTION New York, July 22.—(AP)—Security markets today responded to the Interstate Commerce Commission's railroad consolidation decision with a fairly brisk upturn in the early trading.

Stocks had apparently discounted the four-trunk line plan for eastern railroad consolidation over the past six weeks in which railroad shares had moved slowly and irregularly forward.

In the Bond Market, although railroad liens had been advancing since June 30, gains were somewhat more pronounced.

for LOVE or MONEY by H.W. CORLEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MONA MORAN who supports her mother, invalid father, little sister, KETTY, and her two well-to-do brothers, RUDY and HARRY, is determined to marry for wealth and position. She is receptionist for a Wall Street law firm and in the office sees men of the world to which she aspires.

Mona's brother announces that her childhood sweetheart, STEVE SACARELLI, grandson of the ice and coal dealer, has returned home. Steve disappeared three years earlier and it was rumored he was in prison though Mona never believed this.

She meets him on her way to work one morning. Steve is handsome, well dressed and well-mannered. Mona reluctantly agrees to dine with him that evening.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER III
 Mona's day in Garretson, Lawton & Amesbury's exclusive office was filled with a sense of important deeds accomplished. It was a world in which success, like correct manners, was taken for granted; where men were warriors with brisk, confident, conquering steps.

Mona met few strangers inflamed by a glorious ambition that drove them toward ultimate success. These men had achieved, were still achieving. Failure was a word as little to be associated with them as the word poverty.

They came from that world to which Mona aspired—that cool, confident world from which fragrant, attractive women wearing costly furs now and then appeared to wrest their lords from the excruciating affairs of attending tea, a polo game, or shopping tour.

Mona knew that nature had endowed her with as much real beauty as any of these women possessed. Often enough had she seen an eyelash flicker at her own loveliness, enhanced rather than subdued by her quiet gown. Frequently as she bent her head to announce Mrs. Thus-and-so's arrival she could sense the sharp intake of breath as the import of her own beauty struck home.

With callers, both men and women, Mona was aloof, businesslike, and soft-voiced. She was a part of the excellent Garretson, Lawton & Amesbury machinery, ever conscious of her effect as a human being.

These people, obviously possessing breeding, wealth, poise, were moved by Mona's attractiveness.

She had heard murmured references to Botticelli, Burne-Jones and sea green velvet. Other offerings at her throne occasionally were less subtle. "Where did the old man find that beauty, anyway?"

The old man was Mr. Garretson. Though she sat at the reception desk some distance from his sanctum sanctorum, Mona felt that she served him alone. Mr. Garretson had hired her. Mr. Garretson had recommended the raises in salary which had followed at regular intervals.

She sat in the softly lighted, thickly carpeted reception hall, her molten copper hair gleaming softly against paneled walls, her frills at wrist and throat pure and startling against the sombre richness of the faint mahogany desk on which her tiny pad, blotter, and pencils, neatly sharpened, rested beside a shining French telephone.

It was Mona's duty to interrogate, visitors, separate the wheat from the chaff, send some away without offense, delay others, convey this and that message to this and that person with just the correct touch.

There was a switchboard operator within, safe in a frosted glass cage, but she transferred the most difficult of her supplicants to Mona. Mona invariably answered all calls for Mr. Garretson and Mr. Amesbury. Mr. Lawton has unusual independence and frequently he answered his own.

"I am sorry, Mr. Amesbury sees no one without an appointment. . . . I'll see if I can find Mr. Lawton for you. . . . Who is calling, please? . . . Mr. Garretson is in conference and cannot be disturbed. I'll see that he receives the message. . . . Yes, Mrs. Thayer, Mr. Lawton has a closing at 11. I can get you 15 minutes at 11:30."

That 15 minutes would begin at 12:15, with luck, and last an hour, topped by luncheon at the Savarin. Mrs. Thayer was a charming widow.

"I'll let you know the moment he arrives, Mr. Garretson. . . . No, Mr. Lawton, the Bankers' Club luncheon is Wednesday. . . . Yes, Mr. Amesbury, I'll see that you do not miss your train."

The elevator clicked and the door swung open. The light faded as the door closed again behind its outgoing passenger, and the car dinged on its way.

Setting the telephone back in its place, Mona smiled mechanically at the newcomer. Her heart was in a tumult which he could have been pardoned for not sensing, so controlled was her face.

It was Barry Townsend, the wild young man of the firm, nephew of one of their most lucrative clients. Tall, well set up, coffee brown. Yale football team, 1927. Handsome, humorous.

Further than that Mona did not go in her thoughts. It was true, however, that Townsend was charming, wealthy, shrewd, attractive — and attracted.

Mona's method in such instances was to remember, consider, and capitulate later — if at all.

It would be merely to the extent of the most conservative of invitations.

Though Mona had been with the firm for two years she had not laid eye on Barry until a month ago. It was rumored that he had displeased his uncle who held the family purse strings until Barry became 30. He had dashed away to Mexico—or was it China?—soon after finishing college.

Here he was back again, confident, gay and the despair of that portion of the debutante list favoring older men. Twenty-eight seemed to many of them the beginning of the social stage in manhood.

"As I live! Barry Townsend" announced in well-timed surprise. "Portrait of a Red-Haired Lady. Mmm . . . it is a portrait . . . No, she starts, she moves."

Mona said dryly, "Burne-Jones. Botticelli. I've heard all that."

The young man dropped his bantering. "Miss Moran, I braved the elements and the hour ostensibly to ask old Stroud to give you a ride. Actually it was to ask you to dine with me. Any evening, any hour, any time. Only the sooner, why the quicker."

Hsi eyes followed the movements of her hands about her desk straightening a few papers.

"I've been for heaven knows how long where, there wasn't a soul to talk to except my partner. Of course there were a few other white men but they worked for me. When they weren't cheating me—or trying to—they yessed me. No white women at all."

"Think of it! Never sitting at a table with a woman. Never talking to one or dancing with one." His smile grew boyish. "Have pity on me! Dine with me somewhere and let's go places and do things!"

The sincerity in his voice touched Mona but she met it flippantly. "My mother told me never to trust men who asked me out to dine."

"Does that mean I am never to see you?"

Mona raised demure eyes. "You are getting quite an eye for an eye now."

"A very satisfactory eye, but if you call him my partner or what-you-call-him may be a bit out here any minute and I'll have to be back behind the scenes and ask for cash I don't need."

The telephone chimed. It was L. Carr calling. She had a gorgeous invitation for both of them for dinner. Mona just must not refuse!

"I am dated up, Lottie. I'll call you back, though, at lunch time."

The girls conversed softly for a few moments, fona punctuating Lottie's wisecracks with "Yes. . . . Well. . . . I'll see."

Barry, his back carefully turned, during the conversation, sat on the edge of her desk, swinging his cane at imaginary tracings in the carpet.

"If you are dated up tonight, of course that's that," he said reluctantly.

"I've made it a rule never to spend the hours after work with people I've met at the office. Firm members, employees or clients. I can't break that rule. I'm sorry."

"Great! I'll remove my business to a rival firm!"

They both smiled at that. His business was as tied up as though he had not yet emerged from the cradle. People said there was a spite clause in the will.

"Can't you break that rule just once?" the young man went on pleading. "I'm not really a client, I'm a liability. Do say yes! I swear I'll be down here every morning until you agree!"

An office boy moved through a silently swinging door, dropped a paper on Mona's desk and disappeared to spread the information that Townsend, Jr., was proposing to Miss Moran.

Mona lifted her lip. "Mr. Stroud, please. Mr. Barry Townsend calling."

Barry lifted his hat and stuck from a chair and sauntered after the office boy.

"You're going to change your mind," he teased over his shoulder with the flashing smile. "Wait and see. You are going to dine with me and don't forget it!"

"Yeah?" breathed Mona to herself, smiling, too. "Well, maybe."

The fates were laughing. For just how soon this was to come about surprised Barry even as it was a shock to Mona.

ARTIST'S MARKET
 Chicago, July 22—(AP)—Culture is preparing to invade Grand Park. Summer "hobo haven" on the lake-front.

Chicago artists whose products are moving slowly in city galleries announce they will offer their wares in an outdoor mart in the park the second week in August.

Groceries, clothing, dental treatment, rent advances or anything else will be accepted in exchange for art works, the artists assert.

SLAYER KILLS SELF
 Harrisburg, Pa., July 22—(AP)—Barney Goddard, 31-year-old slayer of his three small children, committed suicide today in his cell at the Dauphin county jail, prison officials announced. He hanged himself after tossing his shirt into strips to make rope.

Goddard, an unemployed miner, was brought to the county jail here last week from Lykens after he had

CONFERENCE TO STUDY STATE'S RURAL NEEDS

Will Be Held At Storrs Church Next Week — To Enrich Farm Area's Social Resources.

Storrs, July 22—A rural church conference, broad and non-sectarian in scope and attitude, will be held at the Connecticut Agricultural College, July 28 and 29 for the purpose of analyzing rural community conditions and planning for the enrichment of the social resources in Connecticut's country areas.

The conference is the first of the kind in Connecticut and is being conducted in cooperation with the Connecticut Federation of Churches. The committee in charge represents the federation and consists of Rev. Carlton P. Hubbard of the Eastern Congregational Church, Rev. Robert Hueston of the South Willington Federated Church, Dr. J. Quinter Miller of Hartford, secretary of the federation; Rev. J. Garland Waggoner of the Storrs Church, and Dr. J. L. Hynes, professor of sociology and education at the State College.

Every church interest in the state has been invited to attend the conference which has been planned as much for the layman as for the clergy. The first session of the conference will begin at 10 a. m. on Thursday, July 28. The discussions will center about descriptions of significant developments in the work of the Church of rural Connecticut. Those appearing on the morning program include Rev. H. H. Tompkins of the Colchester Congregational Church, Rev. Oliver W. Bell of the Hazardville M. E. Church, Rev. George B. Gilbert of the Middlesex Archdeaconry, Durham; Rev. A. E. Baller of the Bantam and Litchfield M. E. Churches.

The afternoon programs will be in conjunction with the Honorary Recognition Exercises of Farm and Home Week when the State College officially recognizes the rural leadership of two or three Connecticut persons. Dr. Robbins Barstow, president of the Hartford Seminary Foundation, will be the speaker of the day. The address will be followed by the presentation of Connecticut's own rural play, "And Thou," written by Walter Stammers, head of the editorial department of the State College. The play will be followed by the showing of college livestock.

A supper for ministers of rural churches and members of the Extension Service of the Connecticut Agricultural College, will be held Thursday evening. This will be followed by discussions and demonstrations of religious drama and pageantry in the rural community. The combined county choruses under the direction of G. Loring Burwell of Waterbury, will give a recital of "The Holy City."

The rural church conference program for Friday, July 29, will be presided over by Rev. E. L. Richards of the North Madison and Killingworth Congregational churches. The morning sessions will be occupied with research reports on social and religious conditions in the rural life of Connecticut. Among those who will appear on the program are Dr. Malcolm Dana of the Hartford Theological Seminary and the Yale Divinity School, Irving G. Davis, professor of agricultural economics at the State College, Dr. Millard Knowlton of the State Department of Health, and Dr. Victor A. Rapoport, assistant professor of sociology at the State College.

The conference on rural churches is scheduled as part of Farm and Home Week at the State College; July 24 to 26. Through the week special interest meetings will be held. Several thousand Connecticut farm men and women are expected to attend. All meetings are open to the public.

ASSASSINS SENTENCED
 Berlin, July 22—(AP)—Two men who attempted to assassinate Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, last April were sentenced to ten months imprisonment today.

They fled at Dr. Luther as he boarded a train for Basle to attend a meeting of the World Bank directors. He was only slightly wounded.

CHAPLAINS ELIMINATED
 Santiago, Chile, July 22—(AP)—All chaplains in the Chilean army were suspended from duty today by the ministry of war pending a decree abolishing the rank.

Minister of War Lagos said the ruling was made to eliminate privileges held by the church acting through the chaplains over soldiers of all faiths. Religious services in the army will be permitted when desired.

HOBOS HONOR HOW

Cincinnati, O., July 22—(AP)—Beside railway water tanks and in "jungles" box cars and "hob houses" the nation's hoboes paused today to pay tribute to their departed leader and benefactor — James Eads How.

This was the second anniversary of the death of How, a Harvard graduate who scorned a millionaire's life to ride the rods with the "wandering Willies."

Jeff Davis of Cincinnati, now "King" of the hoboes, passed the word along the cross ties to "commune the day with spirit of the man who established the International Brotherhood Welfare Association that every hobo, tramp and bum might eat."

The organization How established is not faring so well, it was revealed. "Vic" Anderson, secretary, said its legs are shaky, that the numbers of men seeking permanent work have made things tough for the hoboes, who work only when they feel like it.

SCARANO BETTER
 New Haven, July 22—(AP)—Louis Scarano, shot in the chest as he stood at the door of Mrs. Antonetta Della Rocco's apartment, showed slight improvement today as police continued their search for the woman's estranged husband.

An operation for removal of the bullet was performed yesterday about the time officers released Mrs. Della Rocco's three sons, who had been taken into custody with their mother shortly after the shooting at 2 a. m.

The woman, however, still was held incommunicado for further questioning. Police were working on the theory that jealously caused Della Rocco to hide in the hallway and shoot Scarano as he approached the apartment.

BOSTON HEIR IS FOUND WITH JAPANESE VALET

Long Beach, Calif., July 22.—(AP)—Allan Bradford Monks, 50, Boston heir who had been sought by his family for nearly two years, was held today in the city jail for San Diego police on a charge of issuing a bad check. His Japanese valet, George Otsuka, 40, was held as a material witness.

Police Surgeon W. F. Prince said he would recommend to police that Monks, apparently suffering from a form of "American sleeping sickness," be taken to the psychopathic ward of the Los Angeles General hospital.

Police were forced to break down a door which had been locked from the outside to arrest Monks yesterday. The man would not talk.

His wife, Mrs. Marie Anonita Monks, and her uncle, Wiley Watson, are held on a worthless check charge in San Diego.

"I locked the door and took the key with me," Otsuka told police. "I have been caring for Monks on his wife's orders and have been following her instructions."

The search for Monks started when the Boston bank handing the $1,300,000 trust fund of which Monks is the beneficiary demanded an investigation when it was learned Mrs. Monks was signing her husband's monthly remittance check. Police entered the case when payment on a check made payable to Watson and supposedly signed by Monks and cashed by Mrs. Monks was stopped.

MONSIGNOR DYING

Holliston, Mass., July 22.—(AP)—St. Rev. Mons. Patrick J. Supple, prominent Roman Catholic churchman, was close to death today at the home of his sister here.

A brother, Dr. Edward A. Supple, who is attending him, issued a bulletin saying Mons. Supple was "in a very deep coma" and that members of the family had been called to the bedside.

Mons. Supple became ill while attending the recent Eucharistic conference in Ireland.

Saturday

Breakfast—Wholewheat-raisin muffins; peanut butter; stewed or fresh figs.

Lunch—Cantaloupe a la mode.

Dinner—Roast veal; spinach; avocado salad; raspberry whip.

*Green Peas in Turnip Cups: Select and peel young tender turnips and scoop out to form shells, saving the scooped out portion. (See Monday dinner menu). Boil the shells in plain water until tender but not soft enough to break. Cook in a separate pan a sufficient quantity of fresh green peas, using only enough water to keep from burning, and permitting it to evaporate entirely as the peas finish cooking. Season with hot cream (canned or fresh) and fill each turnip cup, topping with a lump of butter and a generous sprinkling of chopped parsley. Serve hot, with a garnish of pimento across each cup.

Vegetables prepared and served in small colorful portions have a distinct appeal to children, and mothers will find the extra effort required for such methods well worth while.

The constant urging and forcing of children to "eat their vegetables" may be eliminated gradually by a little ingenuity in the kitchen.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Ether and Gas)

Question: Mrs. Elida S. writes: "My doctor wants to put me under ether for a rupture operation, and under gas for tooth extraction. Would he suggest either if he thought that I had any sort of heart trouble? He examined me but did not say anything about it. My heart never bothers me and I live four flights up. I would like to get rid of the rupture and the tooth, but I am afraid of the ether and the gas."

Ans: Why don't you ask your doctor about it? Many physicians prefer ether for certain operations, and sometimes gas or a local anesthetic for other kinds of operations. Experience has shown that the kind of anesthetic should not be used in all cases, even with patients who have no heart trouble of any kind. Ask your doctor about it and he will no doubt be able to explain this to you so that you can understand his reasons for using the anesthetic which he expects to use in your two operations.

(Head Sweats)

Question: B. V. writes: "My baby nine months old has for several months been subject to profuse perspiration which occurs only when she is sleeping or nursing, and the strange part of it is that the condition manifests only at the head. Will you tell me if this is an indication of anything wrong and what measures I can take to overcome it?"

Answer: Most mothers dress their babies too warmly, and this is generally the cause of the baby sweating. The baby will sweat if too many covers are used while she is sleeping, or if she wears the same amount of clothes while nursing as she does at other times, and the heat of the mother's body and the effort used in nursing will make the baby's head unusually warm. Rickets in babies is often accompanied by head sweating and may be the cause if the baby is not overdressed.

PROFESSOR HONORED

Berlin, July 22.—(AP)—Professor Frederick James Woodbridge of Columbia University, New York, was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Political Science today by the University of Berlin.

Dr. Woodbridge represented the university at the centenary memorial in honor of Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, Germany's noted poet, here last March.

FILM CONTRACT

ANSWERS STUDIO TYPIST'S DREAM

Hollywood.—There's an advantage in remaining "undiscovered" on a movie lot for two years. Dorothy Wilson, heroine of one of those unbelievable real-life stories of Hollywood learned enough about movies and movie contracts when she was employed as a studio stenographer to keep her head the day she was offered one. Nine out of ten girls, given a pen and a dotted-line document, leap to sign. Dorothy waited a week, thinking it over, and when she signed she had a real contract. Dorothy, whose screen career came unexpectedly when Gregory Lacava spotted her going to lunch on the lot, and gave her a leading role in his "The Age of Consent," had come to Los Angeles from her home town, Minneapolis, two years before. "I was working in Chicago, and decided to see the world. I saved $150 out of my stenographer's salary, and came out here. "I was lucky. I found a job in two weeks through an employment agency. It was in a studio. "Back home most of us think of picture people as being unreal. It was thrilling to work so close to them. And then—this happened," she relates with normal enthusiasm. "Happened to me! I've been up in the clouds ever since—I've forgotten how to type, en." Ordinarily, "forgetting" how to type wouldn't be wise. These screen cinderellas often hear that midnight stroke too soon. But Dorothy isn't "just another blond." She has a piquant freshness, satirical humor that sets her beauty apart. She is 22.

Fifty The Poor Super This one must have come from the embittered ranks of movie writers, ever at feud with those rascals of the studios who tell them and others how to do their jobs: A studio employe, strolling the boulevard, was sighted, they say, by a visitor from the old home town. "And what are you doing now?" the tourist asked. Her comment: "Sh-h-h!" moaned the other. "I tell my folks back home I have a garbage route, but—don't tell anyone—I'm a supervisor!"

Just Eals Souvenir of the recent Fid Dorsey-Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen personal appearance tour: Lowe in New York, the story goes, wired a friend in Hollywood: "Knocked 'em dead at the Palace." Recently Fid returned and was shown the wire. Her comment: "Sure! Fid—the knocked 'em. Eddie—he was dead!"

BODY IDENTIFIED Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 22.—(AP)—The body of a man taken from the Niagara river at Lewiston yesterday was identified today as that of William H. McCauley, 60-year-old baker, who disappeared from his home here last March 28. After McCauley's disappearance some of his clothing was found on rocks in the gorge near the Devil's Hole, police said. Coroner W. L. Draper said today he would issue a certificate stating death was due to drowning.

ACTION IS DROPPED New Haven, July 22.—(AP)—David M. Richman, referee in bankruptcy, today dropped his threatened contempt action against Samuel Shapiro, attorney, and Frank L. Nutting, a witness. He said after a review of their statements, he decided they had not been maliciously.

Silk City Diner Sells 45 of Them After Advertisement in The Herald.

The Silk City diner sold a total of forty-five beef stews at ten cents each yesterday, most of them after The Herald appeared on the street carrying an advertisement to the effect that such a dish would be sold each day, starting at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and continuing until the supply was exhausted. The rapid sale of the stew indicated that it supplies a popular demand and the management of the diner said today it would offer the stew as long as the demand continues to exist. The experiment, an economical but nourishing beef stew was prompted by an editorial in Tuesday's issue of The Herald, which stated that such a stew was being sold profitably in New York. The Silk City diner was quick to respond with a similar offer in Manchester and the results boys out The Herald's contention that a ten cent beef stew could be sold successfully locally.

Grand Jury Believes Police-men Lied in Telling of Death of Suspect.

Miscola, N. Y., July 22.—(AP)—The Grand Jury continued consideration today of the third degree killing of Hyman Stark, and there were indications that special attention was being given to the possibility of perjury indictments against policemen charged with murder, assault and conspiracy to obstruct justice. When Justice Meter Steinbrink, at conclusion of a John Doe hearing into the slaying of Stark, a robbery prisoner accused of assaulting a detective's mother, issued warrants for 18 policemen he suggested that evidence also be given the Grand Jury concerning the truthfulness under oath of the defendants. The warrants charged four policemen with second degree assault, seven with second degree assault, all 13 with conspiracy, and Deputy Police Chief Frank Tappen with neglect of duty and being an accessory to a second degree murder.

Defense Funds Edward Edstrom, counsel of the county police force's benevolent association, announced that the organization would if necessary donate its entire fund to assure able defense.

State Police Lieut. Francis E. McGarvey and the four troopers assigned with him to supersede county detectives in the investigation, gathered information today not only on the Stark case but also about another alleged police beating. Similar Case Since Stark died charges have been made that Michael Leo Chirillo, who was arrested on an assault charge by one of the detectives accused of beating Stark, was also beaten by police. Chirillo asserted last night that he was beaten in the presence of Assistant District Attorney Martin W. Littleton, Jr., who was the chief witness against the police in the John Doe hearing into the Stark death. Littleton declined to comment on the Chirillo allegations today but Inspector Frank King, who said he was present when Chirillo was questioned, asserted that the prisoner merely suffered from hysteria. "When he was told what the charge against him was and how serious it was and what the penalty might be," King said, "he just went all to pieces."

A private physician who treated Chirillo said he had abrasions of the face, back and right side.

TEN ARE DROWNED Pontiac, Mich., July 22.—(AP)—A placid lake transformed suddenly by high winds into a death trap was being dragged today for the bodies of at least ten persons believed to have perished as they were seeking relief from a hot summer day. One body was recovered last night before darkness stopped the search. The body was that of a white man, William Burns, about 28, of Detroit. Nine negroes, two of the women, are missing and believed to have perished.

BUYS NEW CHAIN

New York, July 22.—(AP)—First National Stores, Inc., announced today that it had acquired for cash and purchased money obligations the stores of the Cloverdale Company. The price paid for the chain was not stated. The Cloverdale Company was established 25 years ago and has been operating 277 stores and markets in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts. Charles H. Farnsworth, president of First National, said his company did not assume responsibility for the present Cambridge, Mass., warehouse which has been serving the Cloverdale company. He said all merchandise in the future would be supplied from the Somerville, Mass., base of First National Stores.

RIOT IN HARTFORD

Hartford, July 22.—(AP)—A half dozen sympathizers of striking union bankers and the three sons of one of the proprietors of a bakery firm were arraigned before Judge Richard T. Steele in Police Court this morning on charges of breach of the peace as the result of what Prosecuting Attorney Wilson C. Janison termed a small riot which occurred last night near Rosenbergs and Jacobs Bakery Shop at Garden and Westland streets. Several persons were struck by flying fists when the meeting called by the strikers was broken up. Some one not in sympathy with the strikers raced the motor and towed the horn on a parked car while one of the strike sympathizers was addressing a crowd of about 500. Judge Steele suspended judgment in all nine cases.

Trade School League

The powerful Electric team easily defeated the Carpenter team 16 to 5, behind Worststed's effective pitching. Worststed allowed only four hits, and it was his second victory over the Carpenter.

The Carpentry team, which was led by the Electric, who were the victors, were the victors in the fifth inning contributed six unearned runs for the Electricians. Adams and Karahis hit hard for the Electric, while Beck, Wilson and McAdam shown for the Carpenters.

The undefeated Drafting team chalked up another victory over the Machinists 8 to 3, thereby retaining their leadership in the Trade School Interdepartment League. Lennon, who pitched a no hit, no run game last Friday, allowed eight scattered hits, and after the second inning held the Machinists scoreless. "Red" Kilpatrick and Haberman were the heavy hitters for the Drafting, while Peterson, as usual, was the main spark plug for the Machinists.

SPORT PLANTS

It may be some time before the last rebuttal is recorded in the east-west tangle over timing methods around the cinder paths.

The controversy broke with a loud blast after the Intercollegiate A. A. A. Championships, held at Berkeley, Cal. where the westerners charged that eastern clockers leaned backward by timing Frank Wykoff in 9.9 seconds for the final of the 100 yard dash and "Red" Record in 18 seconds flat for the 150-yard high hurdles final.

The timing of the eastern veterans it was claimed by west coast critics, also cheated Bill Carr of a better record than his 47 seconds for the 440 in which he whipped Ben Eastman.

Hokum? That was my first reaction to all the squabbling, too, but like to John W. (Torry) McGovern of Cornell, a veteran of these meets, as to the eastern viewpoint:

"Why should we want to take anything away from these boys on the coast who have done so many brilliant things in track and field? So far as the talk of a 'conspiracy' is concerned, it is all the bunk but it is a fact that for a long time, the coast sprinters have been getting off on what we call a 'rolling' or 'perfect' start.

"In other words they knew the starter was going to give them 1-2-3 and the gun. An anticipatory start. If it can be so described, mean at least a yard on the getaway in favor of the sprinter.

"Then, at the finish, they have been closing on the moment the tape is touched by any part of the body, whereas it is a definite, clear-cut rule in this country as well as England that the runner has not finished and cannot be timed until his entire body is past the finish mark.

"Combine this with the favorable start and it will mean at least one-fifth of a second, on the average, in faster time. It's important when you consider that world records can now be broken by a tenth of a second."

"Botten in Berkeley"

Now listen to the invalid but nonetheless emphatic Mr. Dink Templeton, Stanford's famous track coach:

"These eastern timers simply showed themselves up when they gave the times they did at Berkeley, which was the cause of his trying to clear obstacles as well. In 1930 and 1931 he was capable of treating Loukola, but lost by a slim margin in the finish. Now he is unbeatable by any Finnish steepchaser.

"This spring he further did well in the cross-country championships, putting up a hard fight against Nurmila. He led when the couple were 300 m. from the tape, but had to submit to Nurmila's deadly finish. Last year Toivonen's best time for the 5,000 meters distance was 15.05, whereas this year he should be capable of covering the distance in about 14.40.

"Martti Matilainen had the honor of being chosen as a new comer for the Finnish Olympic team and has been entered for the 3,000 meters steepchase. He is 25 years old, the youngest of the Matilainen brothers. At the previous Olympic Games two oldest brothers were in the Finnish team, viz., Kalle for the 10,000 meters and Jukka for the 400 meters hurdles.

"Martti appears to possess Kalle's staying power and Jukka's skill at hurdling and by combining the two has developed into a steepchaser. Martti has not yet had time to achieve wonderful times on the track, but at cross-country running he has been well to the fore during the last two years. Martti Matilainen is employed on the State Railways.

Toivonen Is Greatest Finnish Steeplechaser

Has Bettered McCluskey's Time; Martti Matilainen Is Finland's Second Best Bet For Olympics.

Joe McCluskey's greatest opposition in the coming Olympics is expected to be furnished by Finland athletes. The best Finnish bet this year is Vernor Toivonen who won the steepchase tryouts in that country with a time of 15.25 seconds three more than the Manchester lad.

In the 1928 Olympics at Amsterdam three athletes from Finland swept the 3,000 meter steepchase. This year Toivo Loukola, winner of the 1928 event, did not even make the team, according to information prepared by the Consulate General of Finland who has dispatched booklet dealing with records of all leading Finnish athletes to newspapers. Here is what the booklet has to say about Finland's entrants in the steepchase:

"Vernor Toivonen won the Finnish steepchase tryouts for Los Angeles with sovereign ease, achieving the almost incredible time of 9.9 seconds. After the event had been run the track was measured and found to have been 35 meters too short, but even if we did add 8 seconds to Toivonen's time for the lacking distance, it is still excellent. By his speed Toivonen tied out Toivo Loukola, the winner of the Olympic steepchase in 1928, so thoroughly that Loukola was compelled to break off the run.

"Toivonen is now 24 years of age and has been a member of the national team since 1928. He is a native of Ove Andersen, who won the bronze medal for the steepchase at Amsterdam. Toivonen has already begun to practice running and he trained together with Andersen, which was the cause of his trying to clear obstacles as well. In 1930 and 1931 he was capable of treating Loukola, but lost by a slim margin in the finish. Now he is unbeatable by any Finnish steepchaser.

"This spring he further did well in the cross-country championships, putting up a hard fight against Nurmila. He led when the couple were 300 m. from the tape, but had to submit to Nurmila's deadly finish. Last year Toivonen's best time for the 5,000 meters distance was 15.05, whereas this year he should be capable of covering the distance in about 14.40.

"Martti Matilainen had the honor of being chosen as a new comer for the Finnish Olympic team and has been entered for the 3,000 meters steepchase. Little Theodore was always an inquisitive child. One day Theodore and his mother went to a wedding. As the bride and groom walked stately down the aisle, little Theodore chirped:
 Theodore—Oh, mamma, why does the bride wear a white gown at weddings?
 His Mother—Because white stands for purity, darling.
 Theodore (after being silent for a moment)—Ooh, mamma, then why must the groom always wear black?

Dumb Dora—Isn't Bill just wonderful? He's already been promoted to field marshal.

CIRCUS IN NO-RUSH TO QUIT MANCHESTER
 Short Jump To New Britain Today Gives Performers and Workers Chance To Sleep.

There was not much of a rush in loading down the different tents and loading the trucks at the circus grounds last night at the close of the show as is usually the case. The show was over shortly after 10 o'clock and workers started taking down the seats and the smaller tents at once. The big top was dropped at midnight.

All of the performers did not leave town last night as several took advantage of the short jump to sleep in hotels in town and will join the show when it plays in New Britain today. The short time it would take to make the trip between Manchester and New Britain was the cause of the slow-up and all opportunity was given the workers to get some sleep before starting out early this morning for New Britain.
