Montreal Will Be Next Stop On German Flier's Plane Trip To Chicago.

Cartwright, Labrador, July 25.—(AP)—Captain Wolfgang von Gronau, German aviator and his three-man crew prepared today to take off for Montreal on their way to Chicago.

Von Gronau yesterday completed his third trans-Atlantic flight to North America in as many years when he brought his flying boat down in Independence Harbor at 5:45 p. m. E. S. T. after a 600-mile water hop from Igvigt, Greenland. The ship covered the six hundred miles in easy fashion, in eight hours and twenty minutes.

The distance from here to Montreal, the nearest leg of the flight, is one thousand miles.

Captain von Gronau is demonstrating as he was in 1930 and 1931 flights the feasibility of a trans-Atlantic air route from Europe to the United States by way of Iceland, Greenland and Labrador.

He took off from List, Isle of Sylt, Germany, last Friday. His crew consists of a second pilot, a mechanic and a radio operator.

The mechanic and radio operator made last year's flight with him.

HARTFORD CHILDREN LOST IN NEW YORK

New York, July 25.—(AP)—Carl Larson, Jr., eight years old, and his brother Walter, six, were still the guests this afternoon of the Children's Society at their Bronx shelter, while the Missing Persons Bureau of the police department was sending out a description of the children. In the hope of locating the parents or relatives.

The two youngsters were getting ready to sleep on a park bench at one o'clock this morning when a patrolman spotted them. They said their parents had just moved from Hartford, Conn., to the Bronx, and when they went out for a walk last night they could not find their way home. All they could remember of their address was the number 338.

The boys said their Hartford address had been 168 Maple avenue. Their grandmother still lives there, they said, and gave her name as Cornack. They had extra clothes with them and the park where they were found was in vicinity of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad but they denied they were running away. A few minutes later they said they were going to "see grandma."

The Children's society was making an effort to communicate with the grandmother in the belief she may know the New York address of the boys.

SENTIMENT FOR TREATY

Washington, July 25.—(AP)—Henry J. Allen, special counsel in the St. Lawrence waterway negotiations and Republican campaign publicity director, said after a conference at the White House today he had told President Hoover there was a better feeling toward the treaty now than existed two weeks ago.

Allen told newspapermen he had informed the President that he felt the "first mad moments of objection" were over.

There were indications that Allen might confer with Governor Roosevelt of New York, the Democratic nominee, upon St. Lawrence waterway matters.

Allen himself would neither confirm nor deny such reports.

Peculiar Signs On Gold Beads Give Science Clue To Deposits Of Platinum And Rare Metals

Houghton, Mich.—(AP)—Little gold and silver beads made at the Michigan College of Mining & Technology furnish a new clue to deposits of rare metals in the west and southwest.

The metals are platinum and its still rarer relatives, ruthenium, rhodium, palladium, osmium and iridium. These are mostly newcomers in commercial mining, but all potential prosperity builders.

They occur in many ores mixed with gold or silver, especially with gold, but are so diffused that their existence, even in paying quantities, has been as difficult to detect as a needle in a haystack.

Process Reveals Rare Metals

The Michigan Tech discovery is that every one of the platinum metals will write its own peculiar sign upon a gold or silver bead made by a certain assay process. These autographs reveal both the presence of the rare metal and an accurate idea of how much there is. The sign reading was largely developed by J. L. Byers of the metallurgy faculty.

The beads are droplets of gold or silver slightly smaller than match heads. They are made by heating highly purified filings of the ore to be tested.

If there is any ruthenium in the gold, even as little as one-tenth of one per cent, the surface of the bead will show somewhere a small, circular dark blue spot, a tiny crystal of ruthenium dioxide.

These blue spots spread like moss on a stump according to the percentage of ruthenium. Always they show first at the bottom of the gold droplet. As the amount of rare metal increases, the blue encrustation spreads upward. With two per cent of ruthenium in the ore, the blue mantle entirely covers the gold.

Ruthenium Changes Color of Bead

Rhodium signifies its presence, not by an encrustation, but by changing the color of a gold bead to an iridescent reddish purple. That shade is the index for about two per cent of rhodium. The color of old rose means about two-tenths of one per cent.

Palladium gives the gold a somewhat pebbled surface, warps the spherical smoothness and yields colors ranging from brilliant gold to a silvery bronze. All the variations indicate fairly definitely the palladium percentage.

Osmium and iridium show their presence by causing dimples to form in the surface of gold beads. The dimples are accompanied by a lacy fretwork as the rare metal content increases. At high percentages the bead will not hold together, and falls in fragments. Each metal has its own rate of dimple making.

IDLE RELIEF SYSTEM CALLED INEFFICIENT

New Britain, July 25.—(AP)—The unemployment relief system of this city was scathingly indicted today in a report submitted to the board of finance and taxation by a special investigating committee composed of finance commissioners and manufacturers. The plan used here is "not even intelligent," the report said, alleging inefficiency and charging that this was due to "political interference."

The report recommended that the present public welfare commissioner resign and an expert supervisor of relief be appointed. Modification or abolition of the "scrip" system of paying the unemployed and changes at the city stores where scrip is exchanged for food stuffs were also advocated.

It was pointed out that the number of persons receiving relief increased rapidly shortly before the mayor's election in April when Mayor George A. Quigley was re-elected.

TROUBLE AT MINES

Clarksville, Ark., July 25.—(AP)—An investigation was launched here today by civil authorities and National Guardsmen in a round-up of those who brought disorder to the Johnson county coal fields in their attempts to organize non-union workers.

Meanwhile, the militia kept a close watch on several hundred union miners who have sought to induce the workers to stay out of the mines until the operators make an agreement with the union.

The disorder occurred at the Clarksville Coal Company's mine after Bob Griffith, a pit boss, refused to permit the organizers to enter the shafts and talk with the workers. The invaders pounced upon him, beating and kicking him, but he was not seriously injured.

About 25 others are sought for the attack on Griffith.

New Britain, July 25.—(AP)—Police Chief William C. Hart was served with a mandamus today ordering him to appear before Judge John R. Booth in New Haven tomorrow to show why he has refused to issue a license for Woods Health Chautauque, which planned to open here last night but was prevented from doing so by city officials. It is claimed that the permit issued for the show has expired and that the tents are set in a section restricted by the zoning law. The writ obtained by the Chautauque owners was issued by Judge Newell E. Jennings.

ROADS IN MANCHESTER GREATLY IMPROVED

The work that is being done on Laurel street by the town's outside forces is nearing completion. The grade of the road has been established and by covering over the cobble stones gutters it makes a much wider travel section than was the case before the work was started. Plans are now underway for the resurfacing of Gerard street.

The work that has been done on the town this year on roads has resulted in good roads in nearly all sections of the town. The cost has not been as high as might be indicated from the amount done and has brought much favorable comment from many who have passed through Manchester. A man who had been connected with a New York office of a large insurance company and recently transferred as manager of the Hartford office of the same company, had occasion to go through Manchester Sunday on his way to Providence. Last evening he came to Manchester and was looking for a house to lease here, having been impressed by the roads and home conditions he noted as he drove through.

MERCHANT SAVES CASH

Worcester, Mass., July 25.—(AP)—A Scotch storekeeper and a bandit met here today in a battle of wits, and finance and the honors went to the merchant—hands down.

A faded blue sedan chugged to a stop in front of John Barry's store on the west side. A hatless, collarless young man hopped out and approached the cigar case.

As Barry came to the case the bandit ordered him to "Stick 'em up" at the same time, demanding the cash in the register.

"Oh!" exclaimed Barry, who handed him some silver.

"I want the bills" said the bandit. While he was pocketing the silver however, Barry took $70 in bills from the drawer and ducked out of the door. The surprised bandit made a quick getaway.

PACKARD A CLAIRVOYANT?

Editor of The Herald:

Mr. Packard seems to be vested with that supernatural and magical power of prognostication. He obviously is fully qualified for the title of "clairvoyant." It has been proved that it is far easier to criticize, in fact, anyone can criticize, but not everyone can build.

Mr. Packard evidently is quick to jump to conclusions, the stand of the Republican party is only conjecture to the Democrats. Whatever it may be it will by far surpass the platform of the Democratic party.

The Republican nominees and millions of people were in accord with the passing of the 19th Amendment. Prohibition was in effect during the greatest industrial prosperity period this country had undergone.

The stand of the Republican party with regard to Prohibition is unknown, but they will do the logical and expected thing in repealing the amendment, not for the purpose of merely of gaining public favor, but because of their desire to remove one of the minor abuses which is rampant today. The propensities of the Democrats in accepting this issue as a major one merely places it in the class of "campaign balldoo."

Did Mr. Packard analyze the Home Loan bill and relief measures, and the Glass currency expansion bill? In discussing the former we must consider that the government functions the way any business organization of great magnitude would. The balance in the treasury has been sufficiently drained. Will temporary relief stem the tide? Did the Bonus Bill bring back prosperity? NO—people do not want "temporary relief" they want tangible and constructive methods to bring back the economic standing to a reasonable basis. It has been proved that the panacea for debt is credit, and to increase the already loaded obligations would make the duty of the lender greater than the extravagance of the borrower. In other words, both would be pursuing the same forms of deception.

Money today is dear. To bring prices out of the ruinous level would bring back the improvement required and make it cheaper. Under the Glass currency expansion bill, money would be made cheaper, but what would happen? We would endanger our monetary standard possibly there would be a replica of the problems of Germany with regard to the mark. Does Mr. Packard remember the plight of Germany during its economic struggle to restore its money standard? Mr. Packard is entirely too careless as to the matter of "public favor." He must remember that Mr. Hoover's acceptance speech will soon be forthcoming, and that the Republican platform will be in agreement with the majority. I wonder what position Primo Carnera would be offered if he were to join the ranks of "Democratic boosters"—at least Gene Tunney would have a sparring partner.

HUNT FOR TREASURE ON STATE'S PROPERTY

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 25.—(AP)—State troopers halted a gold rush on state property here today, but not until treasure-seekers had carried away with them gold and silver to an estimated value of $1,000 to $3,000.

The rush began yesterday when it was learned that money was being unearthed by workmen excavating for the foundation of a new drink hall on the Saratoga Springs state reservation. Immediately orders were issued to the scene and when the troopers, by direction of Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., stopped mining operations today 300 men with shovels and picks were delving in the earth.

The coins ranged in value from $20 gold pieces down to the old-fashioned silver three-cent coins. The latest date of any coin was 1890 and the earliest was minted in the early part of the 18th century.

The coins were found in tin cans, preserve jars and other containers. One man is reported to have uncovered a milk bottle containing $300 in gold. Three other men unearthed about $400 between them, and other individuals obtained lesser sums.

Attorney General Bennett, when the matter was brought to his attention today, directed that the state police put a stop to the mining operations on the ground that treasure found on state property belonged either to the state or to the owner of the property prior to its acquisition by the state.

ONE-DRINK DRIVING

There is no question whatever that there are thousands of persons driving automobiles who, because of temperamental and moral shortcomings, have no right to be entrusted with such potentially dangerous machines.

Society, therefore, is beset by perils imposed on it through its own shortsightedness and of which it is incapable of ridding itself.

There is one type, however, which gets into more personal trouble than any other which could, if it would, cure itself of being a nuisance and a menace—the drunk driver.

It is an unhappy fact that many of the countless persons who find themselves in police courts on charges of driving while intoxicated are very decent people, often particularly safe and sane drivers when sober.

The penalty is heavy. It involves the loss of the offender's driving license. But still the list of the drunk drivers grows and they never seem to learn.

Not a single one of the convicted drivers, in all probability, ever starts out with the idea of driving his car while intoxicated.

To be absolutely sure of keeping out of those police court cases—perhaps out of some needless, fatal accident—leave the first drink alone.

liberty, his job, his reputation and perhaps his whole future.

DIFFICULT STUNT

The chief propagandist of the Democratic party, Mr. Michaelson, upon whose facile pen the leaders have depended very largely for the success of their scheme to fix the blame for the world wide depression on Mr. Hoover and the Republican party, may be compelled to execute that difficult military maneuver, a complete change of front during the height of the engagement.

The hopes of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Garner and of Democratic Congressional candidates everywhere for victory at the polls in November have been predicated absolutely on a continuation of hard times.

Such reports of returning prosperity as those sent out yesterday and today by the Associated Press, giving in detail the numbers of employees called back to their jobs by large numbers of mills and factories in New England and elsewhere are more convincing campaign arguments by far than all the fulminations and "smearing" that has emanated from the Democratic publicity bureau.

The depression, upon which the Democratic party has taken up its position for the political contest of 1932, is being nibbled away under the Roosevelt-Garner propagandists. By fall it will be, from present indications, no longer tenable ground.

When the young men and women who have been habituated to thinking of "Flo" Ziegfeld as the greatest of stage showmen in their period have reached the age of sixty how many of them will be able to recall his name?

Now, in the hour of his burial, theatre goers and the press pay tribute to Ziegfeld as a peerless manipulator of beauty, light, color and fun, occupying a field of his own, unapproached now or in the past in the production of the pageantry of the theatre.

Yet how many remember the names of Imre and Bolossy Kiraly? They were the Ziegfelds of the day when the producer had to work with gas footlights and borders and when the spotlights were calcium. But they were artists as Ziegfeld was an artist and they too were in a class by themselves.

Truly the fame of a wizard of the theatre that survives for fifty years is of surpassing endurance. Or that is anything but a vague and formless shadow after thirty years—or ten.

likely to be one of the major subjects dealt with by the conference, with the influence of Great Britain likely to be thrown on the side of a double standard.

It is most unlikely that any extended discussion of the remonetization of silver can go on at Ottawa without the same question becoming of the keenest interest in the United States.

If the entire British commonwealth should go onto a gold-silver basis and thereby succeed in automatically stabilizing the pound sterling at somewhere between $8 and $8.50, the provinces of the empire and the British islands would have no need to erect a tariff barrier against the United States; the relative cheapness of her money as compared with our gold standard currency would be all the protection they would need—to our serious loss in their trade unless we, too, abandoned the single standard.

GREAT LAKES TREATY

That Senator Hiram Bingham is no dodger of uncomfortable issues is again demonstrated by his voluntary advocacy of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Waterways treaty. There is no possible question but that diversion of a large part of the Midwest-European freightage to inland ports would be, in a direct and narrow sense, disadvantageous to New England; that it would injure the business of Boston and Portland and render impractical for a long time the development of such potential great ports as New London and Providence.

Thousands of New England workers have been summoned back to their jobs within the last few days with assurances that the wheels would be turning steadily for months to come.

Coney Island's Biggest Show... Fun goes on as usual at Coney Island today.

The one-million-people who ordinarily show up over a week-end to buy hot dogs and ice cream; to rent bathing suits and hug girl friends in the Cave of the Winds, has been swelled to a couple of millions.

Such statistics may, in the end, change the entire playground status of America's most famous summer spot. These 6000 will need help.

And a fire-proof future... There were tens of thousands who accepted its $5,000,000 fire as the greatest free show Coney has ever staged.

Always a Show!... The populace of some 60,000 will gather, while outsiders gasp to the thrill of steep dips and chute the chutes and solemnly decide how the town that is in their home shall be rebuilt.

The Political Follies of '32 By ROBBY DUBOIS NRA Service Writer

Washington—War debts will creep in as an issue of the 1932 campaign whenever anyone thinks they can be profitably capitalized.

Although the allies have agreed virtually to wipe out German reparations if they can make satisfactory debt readjustments with the United States, all progress on this important international issue, with its enormous economic implications, will be held up until we get that election over with.

The Administration's Stand... The Republicans avoided any mention of the debts in their platform as devised at Chicago with the aid of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, but they are in a position to reiterate the administration's expressed opposition to cancellation in case the Democrats press them on the issue.

No Big-Hearted Mood... There will be plenty of time to arrange that after the election, and the European debtors stand to gain rather than lose if they wait.

Congress's Hostile Attitude... Europe has been advised that this government would be emphatically opposed to any "united front" debt settlement, although during the Hoover-Laval conference here she was assured of revisions if she could get straightened out on reparations.

Little Talk of Repudiation... Any movement toward repudiation will come from a "united front" position such as the allies appear to have reached at Lausanne, since no nation would repudiate alone because of the danger to its credit.

WARNS ON CASES OF HYDROPHOBIA

Boy's Death, Second in 15 Years, Emphasizes Importance of Precaution.

Death of a four year old boy at 10:40 a. m. Sunday morning, July 24, from rabies serves to emphasize the importance of more intensified precautionary measures to protect other humans from this disease, according to a statement issued today by the State Department of Health.

Rabies is primarily a disease of animals and is spread in this section of the country almost entirely by dogs. People are particularly liable to contract this horrible disease by controlling its prevalence among dogs.

This case is the second human victim of rabies in Connecticut reported since 1917. The boy was badly bitten on the face on the evening of July 7. The doctor who dressed the wounds reported there were about forty puncture wounds from the dog's teeth. In a day or two when the dog was observed to be acting queerly, antirabic treatment was ordered for the boy. Two or three days later when the dog died its head was found to be positive for rabies.

The prevention of rabies is possible because of the long incubation period, or period between exposure and onset of the disease, which usually occurs. When a period of thirty to forty days or longer elapses from exposure to the occurrence of the first symptoms ample time is allowed for the establishment of immunity through preventive treatment. The fourteen-day treatment used in Connecticut is expected to establish immunity about a week after the last dose, or three weeks after beginning the treatment. In this case the onset of the disease occurred just two weeks after the boy was bitten by the rabid dog. There was no opportunity for the antirabic treatment to exert its preventive effect. While the incubation period is apt to be shorter in case of a bite on the arms or legs, a period as short as two weeks is very unusual.

Another case of a rabid dog investigated recently was a dog that wandered into Connecticut from Massachusetts. The dog came into a Connecticut home unannounced. The family attempted to do a good turn by caring for the dog. They gave it water but it did not drink. They identified it by its tag number and the dog was taken home to its owner in Massachusetts. The next day the owner visited the Connecticut family that had befriended the dog and announced that its case had been pronounced rabies. According to antirabic treatment was ordered for all four members of the family at once. Some concern is felt for one member who was bitten on the lip while trying to read the tag number.

These experiences emphasize the importance of public support for more extensive and intensive measures for the control of rabies among dogs. In our form of government no public official can go very far beyond the demands of public opinion in the discharge of his duties. The Commissioner on Domestic Animals has been waging a valiant fight against the disease rabies, but the support and approval of the public is necessary in order that his efforts may be attended by the highest degree of success. Rabies must be eliminated among animals in order to remove the menace of rabies to humans.

K. A. SKINNER DEAD

Wrentham, Mass., July 26.—(AP)—Kenneth A. Skinner, former roller skating champion of the world, a pioneer in the automobile industry in New England and a native of Nova Scotia, died at a hospital here yesterday aged 73 years.

Skinner, first president of the Boston Auto Dealers Association, came to this country when he was 17. He had achieved considerable publicity as a roller skater in the Canadian province and later demonstrated his skill in Australia, Paris and London. He became interested in the business of automobiles and built a number of rinks abroad. He settled permanently in Boston in 1900 and soon entered the automobile business. He was an early advocate of campaigns to end reckless driving. In 1920 he had owned one of the few foreign automobiles in Boston and was prominent in many endurance runs.

Skinner married Adelaide Cushman, the actress, in 1888 and after her death, in 1902, married Miss Georgia Dubay who survives him. He made his home in the Back Bay of Boston.

Von Schleicher, Horseman, Holds Curb Bit On Germany

Berlin.—(AP)—Whenever General Kurt von Schleicher, minister of defense and power behind the von Papen chancellorship, has broken a horse so that it no longer snies or balks, he gets rid of it and buys another wild steed. Only unruly mounts interest him.

Von Schleicher's political friends and foes alike see in this passion for "raw" horses an explanation for his sudden rise in politics.

As conditions became worse, his interest in state affairs increased. He projected himself boldly into the dismissal of the Heinrich Bruening cabinet, and he was busy when developments led to the federal dictatorship in Prussia and martial law in Berlin.

This appetite for excitement may be the key to a character that puzzles even his closest friends. Although he "mixes" more than any other member of the government, nobody seems able really to fathom him.

The former crown prince comes to have tea with him, but his friends deny that he is a monarchist.

In the reichstag lobby he is seen arm in arm with a social democratic leader, yet he insisted upon giving right of way to the socialists' most bitter enemies, Hitler's brown shirts.

One of his closest friends said that the general's political creed is: "The State—and not any party."

There is one thing upon which all who speak of him agree: He is indefatigable both at work and at play.

At 8 o'clock in the morning he charges on a temperamental horse through the Tiergarten, Berlin's "Central Park."

From 10 a. m. until early afternoon he sees to it that things run smoothly at the ministry of defense. No matter how high may be the mountain of work, von Schleicher manages to clear his desk.

The afternoon is reserved for cabinet meetings and brief, crisp addresses to groups of officers. If he finds a leisure moment, he reads Shakespeare or Goethe.

U. S. TREASURER SEES ERROR IN SILVER SCHEME

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington.—Take it from W. O. Woods, treasurer of the United States, any time anybody wants a silver dollar for the paper dollar he has in his possession, if he'll just call at the treasury department on the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and 15th street, Washington, Woods will "be tickled to death to see him."

The treasurer's invitation was issued after he had received a communication from a group of people in the western states informing him that a group of "silver clubs" had been organized in that section.

Membership in these clubs entails a pledge on the part of each to spend all paper dollars and to use nothing but silver in monetary transactions.

The idea is to create a greater demand for silver and increase the price of the commodity. Approval of the movement, by Treasurer Woods was sought.

Dollar for Dollar
He wrote them, saying they were on the wrong road. The fact that they use only silver dollars would help the situation not at all, he declared.

"These people don't seem to realize," says Woods, "that for every paper dollar we issue there's a silver dollar backing it up in the treasury here at Washington."

"Why we have actually coined $540,000,000 in silver dollars. Of that amount $485,000,000 is stored away in the vaults of the treasury. Some $45,000,000 is in actual circulation."

"In one room we have $50,000,000 in silver dollars stored. A bag containing 1,000 weighs 99 pounds, when we start to count all we have on hand it takes around six weeks with a large crowd of men working steadily."

"It would be a big load off our shoulders to get rid of them." Actually if everybody decided to exchange their paper dollars for the "silver dollars" it would mean that the production of silver would be increased thereby, the treasurer asserted. No silver mines would increase their activity. The result of such a move rather would be to open the vaults of the treasury, he said.

The 485,000,000 stored there would be the silver put in circulation. Saving for Uncle Sam
Uncle Sam would welcome such a proposition, for it would mean an actual saving to him. Dollar bills cost him about a penny each. The average life of the bill is about nine months.

The "Cartwheel" continues in circulation indefinitely. When one considers that there are 893,970,994 pieces of currency in circulation, the cost of putting them out may be understood. Over half of this number are in one dollar bills—483,186,622.

There are enough silver dollars already on hand to take care of the paper one dollar extant—in fact more than enough.

UNCLE SAM'S NEW TAXES

WHERE THEY HIT YOU—AND HOW!

By NEA Service
Be patriotic—dye your hair! Help Uncle Sam balance his budget—take a bath often; don't be a slacker by bathing only on Saturday night! "See your dentist twice a year"—and meanwhile aid the government by using plenty of tooth paste, on which there is a federal tax.

"Toilet preparations and soaps v. provide $13,500,000 of the additional $112,500,000 in new revenue that Uncle Sam is raising to balance his income with his expenditures this year. The revenue act of 1932, as it is known, places a manufacturer's tax of 10 per cent on toilet preparations; except tooth pastes, mouth washes, toilet soaps and shaving creams on which the tax is 5 per cent.

The tax is based on the manufacturer's selling price. You may or may not see it, but it is there nevertheless. Some retailers add the tax to their sales price and call it a tax, others quietly boost the price of the article a few pennies to cover the tax. A few may absorb the tax. The law says the 10 per cent tax applies to "perfumes, essences, extracts, toilet waters, cosmetics, petroleum jellies, hair oils, pomades, hair dressings, hair restoratives, hair dyes, toilet powders and any similar substance, article or preparation." The 5 per cent rate applies to toilet soaps and dentrifices, etc.

Thus, you pay a tax to Uncle Sam if you dye your hair, a tax to keep it from falling out, a tax for taking a bath or washing your face and hands, a tax for washing your teeth—a tax for nearly everything calculated to doll up your personal appearance.

So that no tax penalty may be lost, Uncle Sam defines toilet preparations as "any preparation used in connection with the bath or care of the body, or applied to the clothing as a perfume or to the body as a toilet article." Soap sold for kitchen or laundry use is tax free, but the same soap is taxable if sold for toilet purposes. Peroxide is free as an antiseptic, taxable if used for bleaching the hair.

Cleanliness, long next to godliness, is now pretty close to the tax collector. NEXT: Gasoline and lubricating oil

QUARRYVILLE SOCIETY PLANS ANOTHER SUPPER

Will Be Served Thursday Evening On Church Lawn—Annual Fair In August.

Mrs. A. N. HOWITZERS GIVEN CAMP PROGRAM

Orders For Two Weeks Training Period and Work Schedule Announced.

For several weeks the ranks of the Howitzer Company have been at full strength. A number of applications for enlistment were turned down as it is impossible to exceed the authorized strength of sixty-three men.

The schedule of military training for the company includes the following: Monday, August 1, care of animals, harness, carts; cart drill, use of fire control instruments. Tuesday, August 2, cart drill; combat training, squad and platoon; use of fire control instruments. Wednesday, August 3, combat training, squad and platoon, offensive and defensive; combat training, company, offensive and defensive. Thursday, August 4, combat training, platoon, attached to battalions for maneuver en route to bivouac at Stone's ranch.

Friday, August 5, same as Thursday returning to camp at Niantic. Saturday, August 6, inspection, individual equipment laid out on cot in quarters. Sunday, August 7, Governor's Day, brigade review at 3:30 p. m. Visitors are welcome in camp at any time during Governor's day.

Monday, August 8 to Thursday, August 11, inclusive, the gunners' camp in Massachusetts will be open. Friday, August 12, special program to be announced later. Saturday, August 13, field inspection, shelter tents pitched on drill field and equipment laid out in front of tents.

The Howitzer Company considers itself fortunate in being able to spend only one night in bivouac outside of camp. Every effort is being made this year to make the company meet the best. Although the ration allowance per man has been reduced to forty-one cents per day, the company is making progress in food-stuff rationing to make it possible to maintain the high standard held for several years. In fact the mess funds available should make possible some improvement. Several important items of kitchen equipment have been secured to add to the efficiency of the mess.

More men than usual will probably remain in camp during the evenings this year than heretofore. Special attention will be given to athletics and such activities in order to make off-duty time more enjoyable for the men. The customary rough-and-tumble initiations which have featured former camps will be omitted in the Howitzer Company this year. In its place a ritual has been prepared and a degree team will formally initiate each member who has not previously attended camp. This initiation will probably take place during the first few evenings in camp.

The street of the Howitzer Company will be located at the lower end of the field near the river. The line of officers' tents will be located on the opposite side of the field. The train which will take the company to camp is scheduled to leave the Manchester railroad station at 8:35 a. m., daylight time on Sunday morning. Arrival in Niantic is due at 11:30 a. m. Mess will be served soon after arrival and the afternoon will be spent in moving baggage and establishing camp.

TAXING DISTRICTS IN STATE TOTAL 351

of this principle in the case of the needy, the poor and the unfortunate. "Waiver interest for needy" "Conduct may be based on this well balanced legislation. It permits those in distressed circumstances to defer, without interest, for a period not exceeding three years the payment of their real estate taxes upon the satisfaction of certain conditions; places definite obligation upon all other tax debtors, who are presumably able to discharge their obligations promptly to pay their taxes within two years from the due dates of such taxes or first installments thereof; and fixes upon collectors the definite obligation of seeing that, with certain exceptions, all taxes are collected within such two years. Except for the few cases of definite exemption of real estate taxes from the payment of such taxes which taxes shall have been levied against those in unusual financial circumstances, the new legislation goes away with the continuance of tax liens by certificate and their recording in the land records of the town. It is worthy of note that the tax lien continuance is an anomaly and is practically unknown in the laws of the other states. It is, also, worthy of note that in confining the tax lien continuance to the unrecorded tax liens, the law contemplates its original policy and the 1874 act of permitting the continuance of tax liens only in the case of the needy. Prior to 1874 the policy of continuing tax liens by certificate was unknown in Connecticut as it is in most, if not all, of the other states.

The provision in the 1931 legislation requiring complete collection of taxes, with certain exceptions, within a certain specified period is not a new one in Connecticut. For nearly 20 years after the founding of Connecticut the law contemplated the full collection of each tax levy within one year after it became due. The 1931 legislation in re-establishing the principle of this policy gives, with certain exceptions, two years after the due dates of taxes to complete collection. This period of two years is longer than that in most other states. At the same time the interest rate for delinquent taxes in the new Connecticut law is reduced to one-third of the former rate. In addition many states impose high penalties provisions which are unknown in the Connecticut property tax law.

Taxes Defined "In a good tax collection system something more is necessary than mere provision for mandatory collection of taxes which are not voluntarily paid. Taxes, simply defined, are forced contributions for the support of the state. The essential element of all the states emphasize the compulsory element in a tax, most, if not all, the states have gone one step farther and have, also, emphasized the time element. The time element in the payment of federal taxes is made in the tax laws of a person liable to a federal income tax knows that within twelve months after the end of each fiscal year he must have paid in full all taxes based upon his income for that fiscal year. The time element, also, plays a not unimportant role in the administration of state taxes. Usually state taxes are paid in less than twelve months after the end of the fiscal year upon which they are based. Where the time element has become a conspicuous position in tax collection procedure it is usually little, if any, trouble with uncollected taxes. In giving great emphasis upon the time element has been done in the recent past the new Connecticut local tax collection law. To this end, the principle which has been followed for more than two centuries after her founding but is, also, recognizing a practice which has been common in other states for many years. No municipal fiscal system could long continue if the municipality could not annually count on a substantial amount of receipts from taxes. Much of the collection legislation of the various states has been based upon the belief that this year's taxes should be paid this year, as well as the belief that the provision should be made by which collection of these two beliefs may be seen in the provision in the laws of many of the states whereby the collector must proceed, within a few months after the tax shall have become due, to force collection of unpaid taxes by one or more specified methods.

Numerous Methods Tried "There are three general methods, one or more of which are commonly in use in the various states, by which overdue taxes may be collected. In the first method an over-valued incentive is given to the tax debtor to promptly pay his taxes by the charging of high interest rates and penalties as soon as the taxes become past due. The second method a powerful incentive is given to the tax debtor to pay his taxes on or before a given date by the immediate after that date to file the property represented by such taxes. In the third method a powerful incentive is given to the tax collector to collect all unpaid taxes by a certain date by the provision that on that date he must make full settlement of all taxes with his community. The interest provided in the Connecticut statute is unusually moderate when compared with that of the other states. Many provide high penalties which are charged in addition to interest. Few have a lower rate than the Connecticut statute provides for interest but no penalty on delinquent property taxes; it does not provide for both. It is probable that the provision requiring all taxes with certain exceptions, to be paid within two years from the due date of the tax or first installment thereof will result in more selling of real estate for taxes than has been the case under the former law permitting taxes to run for years. It should be emphasized, however, that a longer period may elapse under the new Connecticut law before the collector is required to force collection than is the case in the laws of the vast majority of other states and that the collector is given a greater choice of methods by which collection may be forced than in other states. It is, also, significant that, in the attempt which has been made in the new Connecticut law to arrive at a golden-mean of tax-collection procedure, the harsh severity of the laws of other states has been softened by the unique provision for the unfortunate.

MISSING BOY IS FOUND AFTER ALL NIGHT HUNT (Continued from Page One) who directed the army of searchers. Perfectly Well "He's well—perfectly well" Mrs. Driscoll announced later. She expressed the belief that his boy companions separated from his companions after they went over a cliff. Although the other children were reported to have been telling stories to Robert about wild animals in the woods, his mother said he was not nervous or upset when he was brought home. His father, informed last night of Robert's disappearance was on his way to Madison. A telegram from Mrs. Driscoll however halted his trip. Robert was asleep beside a large rock when he was found by a group of five searchers. "Camping out all night is lots of fun" he told the man "There's nothing to be afraid of."

Led by a bloodhound the searchers came on the boy a half mile from where the dog had found one of his shoes. In the party were Clifford E. Miller of New Haven, William Stack of Guilford; Louis Prescott, Stival Lupone and Donald Norton of Madison.

BOOZE PRICES DROP Washington, July 26.—(AP)—Howard Jones, the acting federal director, believes big business bootleggers are losing ground to small scale competitors. No exact figures have been compiled but Jones says his agents lay it in a large measure to keener competition crowding "big fellows" on whose activities the bureau concentrates. Jones says agents report that "green corn liquor" is bringing low prices in sections of the southern corn belt that barely meet cost and eliminate margins of profit required by large scale bootleggers operating extensively equipped distilleries. There isn't the money in it there was, is the way Jones explained it.

Rescued Meets Rescuer 14 Years After Battle

Manchester Man Who Carried Wounded "Buddy" to Hospital Meets Him at V. F. W. Session in Boston.

On July 17, 1918, Harold Davis of time since that day that Sergeant Andy "Buddy" carried his "Buddy" through Belleau Woods to safety. "Farden me, Buddy," asked Davis, older and a bit more aged than that first day near the front line, "but isn't your name Andy...?" "Sergeant Andy..." "But I was a sergeant, Buddy," replied Andrew, "but I was a sergeant of Wetherell street, South Manchester." "Do you remember carrying me back to the first aid station on the morning of July 17, 1918?" inquired Davis. "I certainly do," replied Davis.

The two veterans, meeting for the first time since the war, talked over the things that had happened since the conflict. Davis had a clone call but finally recovered from his wound. Officers and members of the organization in attendance gathered around as the two talked over the 14-year-old incident. "I'll never forget how that Leath-ernack called me out for carrying you in my arms like a baby," said Goldsamer. "After he saw that hole in your chest he snatched out of it and helped me take you back to the station."

MRS. BUSTER KEATON STARTS DIVORCE SUIT Hollywood, Cal., July 26.—(AP)—Of the screen antics of Buster Keaton, film comedian, are listed by Natalie Talmadge among reasons for the divorce she desires from her "frozen face" mate. "I guess I'll washout," was Buster's comment on the filing yesterday of a divorce complaint by Natalie after 11 years of married life. In addition to the interlocutory decree of divorce sought, Mrs. Keaton asked the Superior Court to give her the custody of their two sons, Joseph, 10, and Robert, 8, and $500 a month for their support. Besides remaining away from home at night and returning without explaining his absence, Mrs. Keaton said her husband's behavior in the presence of guests is another cause for divorce.

CHANCELLOR ENDS RULE OF MILITARY (Continued from Page One) make timely and sufficient use of his weapons is violating his duty." The most important duty of the police, he said, is maintaining public order and security before, during and after the election.

OPPOSE HEAVIER TAXES Bridgeport, July 26.—(AP)—President Martin J. Ryan called all of the delegates of the Federal Businessmen's Council to meet with the five representatives of Bridgeport in the General Assembly at a conference on Thursday night of this week for the purpose of arranging a program to oppose further taxation by the state and to advocate securing funds for relief of the jobless by cutting the cost of government. It is proposed that three Senators and the two members of the House discuss with the business men the proposed state budget, with the idea in mind of being prepared to oppose additional taxation at the special session of the General Assembly that it is proposed to call this summer.

NO SPECIAL SESSION OF ASSEMBLY NEEDED Hartford, July 26.—(AP)—Unless conditions justify an adjournment before November requiring immediate action by the state for relief of municipalities, there will be no special session of the General Assembly until after election day. Executive Secretary Edmund Wynne said today. Though Governor Wynne has not completed his study of the needs of the municipalities, however, he is not in a position to decide on the necessity of a special session. Mr. Wynne indicated that he appears to be entertaining the idea of special legislation, more favorably than any time since the passage of the law to press him for relief measures.

At least a tentative decision is expected to be reached in about two weeks, Mr. Wynne indicated, when the municipalities will favorably be advised of the results of his study. At present Mr. Wynne is conferring with the representatives of the municipalities and the business community in the city. A report of August 1, however, is expected to be ready in two weeks.

BELIEVES ITALY WORLD'S MODEL IN GOVERNMENT

By JOHN EVANS.

Rome. (AP)—Mussolini proudly watches the spirit of fascism march around the world.

Being premier of Italy, he must not directly inspire political movements in other countries, but he always holds up Italy as an example of how the proper kind of "revolution" can save a country.

His words often seem addressed to all the rest of the world. "They or us," he said in a message to his black shirts at the beginning of his ninth year in power, picturing the world as a battlefield between his revolutionary ideas and older forms of government.

His ideas are in a dozen countries, outbreaks of turbulent men, frequently like his black shirts who once fought in the streets, knife in one hand, gun in the other, crushing the disorder Italy's free government could not or did not control. Then he tossed out the government.

Hitlerism in Germany and Austria, similar movements in Finland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Belgium and Holland, stern "duty" killings in Japan and the fight of Australia's "White Guard" against radicalism—all these encourage the Duce's followers to think the Italian idea will sweep the world.

The band of revolutionary thought, which may everywhere soon become action, stretches clear across Europe from south to north. Hitler and his brown shirts are evident disciples of Mussolini. Hitler was expected to visit the Duce last year, but Mussolini felt it might seem bad form to encourage so openly a revolution in Germany and Hitler promptly found that work would keep him at home.

Once Mussolini was quoted as saying, "Fascism is not an article of exportation." He denied that two years ago, and substituted the phrase: "Fascism is idea, doctrine and realization is universal."

"We are struggling against a world in its decline," he said in one of his messages. "Hence the battleground of fascism was Italy, now it is the world and everywhere one fights for or against fascism."

Fascism, before and for some time after Mussolini's famous march on Rome, October 23, 1922, was a war veterans' struggle to save the country from anarchy, riots, communism and terror.

Today, says Mussolini, in a definition soon to be published in the Encyclopaedia Italiana, "fascism is a religious conception and in its origin it is a system of government, and above all, a system of thought."

Discipline is a cardinal principle. Several millions in the various fascist organizations take an oath of allegiance to the Duce, pledging their lives to defend him and fascism.

Mussolini, having disciplined his men, disciplines parliament until it is merely a censoring, almost automatically approving, all measures, initiating almost none. Lately he has turned it to the less tangible aspects of fascism.

He settled the long quarrel between church and state, paid homage to the Pope, and disintegrated himself into a reverential conduct to the Church which is at variance with his earlier attitude.

While strengthening fascism at home, Mussolini, even two years ago, foresaw "a fascist Europe, a Europe with institutions inspired by the doctrine and practice of fascism."

Fascism, which he believes is spreading and will spread, is for him the solution of "the 20th century state," for "it solves the triple problem of relations between state and individual, state and groups, and relations among groups," meaning the strongly organized, state-supervised "corporations" of employers and employees, industries and professions.

"Therefore," says the Duce, "we smile when funeral prophets number our days."

RELEASES TOY BALLOON; LANDS IN BOAT AT SEA

Miss Barbara Hayward Gets Postal Card Back From Nova Scotia Where It Went.

Miss Barbara Hayward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hayward of Webster street, who spent the past week at the Connecticut Agricultural College, released a toy balloon at the college which went over 400 miles before landing. Miss Hayward released the balloon a week ago yesterday, at the opening of the annual junior short course for 4-H club members. Over 300 balloons were released, each with a postcard attached asking that it be mailed to the party releasing it. The one Miss Hayward sent landed in an open boat at sea about seven miles off Cape Negro Island, Shelburne, N. S. Wilfred Doane, who found the attached card mailed it to Miss Hayward.

May Install Sanitary Sewer
At the next city meeting which is to be held in the fall it is expected that the matter of providing sanitary facilities for the Pillsbury Hill section will be given attention. The health committee of the City Council has considered a petition for sanitary sewer connections from about a dozen property owners of the section and while the members believe the improvements requested should be made, there is no money at the present time to do so.

Ice Box Theft
The ice box of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Tyler at Vernon avenue was entered some time after 11:30 on Saturday night. Several pounds of butter, bacon, eggs and other food were stolen from the ice box. The Tylers returned about 11:30 and everything was all right at that time. The small room on the veranda where the ice box is located was locked but Mr. Tyler forgot to take the key from the door. In the morning the door leading to the ice box was open and the key and food gone. Evidently it was the work of someone who was hungry.

FRENCH WOMEN PREPARE FRESH SUFFRAGE DRIVE

By ADELAIDE KERR.

Paris. (AP)—In a "do or die" spirit, French feminists are massing their forces for the biggest women's rights drive they have ever launched, determined to obtain passage of the women's suffrage bill recently referred back to committee by the senate.

Meanwhile the attack of hostile senators on the measure during the five day debate preceding the urgent vote has caused two of the most important women in France to express their faith in the suffragists' cause.

Senate Action Boomerang
Both Madame Curie, co-discoverer of radium, and the Comtesse de Noailles, widely known poet, replied to Senator Louis Barthou's declaration that they were "unfavorable" to women's rights, by published statements that they thought "the principle essentially just and that it must eventually be recognized."

The action of the upper house in defeating by a vote of 253 to 40 a measure calling for "urgent consideration" (i. e. an immediate vote) was "the best thing that could have happened" and has given them new courage, suffragists say.

It sent the bill back to committee, which will report it out for new discussion after the election of approximately 100 new senators in October. Passing of the question of women's rights is virtually certain to result in defeat for the feminists.

To Work Politely
Now, spurred on by the fact that the suffrage bill weathered a senate discussion for the first time in French history, feminists are preparing a campaign to be launched late in August to convert the new senatorial candidates to their cause.

How successful they will be depends upon their tact, they say. They mean to make no enemies and to base their plea on a vote "taxation without representation," women's work in both fields and factories during the war, and the fact that many French women are now earning their livings the same as their husbands.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Colby, Kas.—Marion Talley, farmette, says her wheat crop is "good" but the best price "disgrunting" is "Mias Talley, who really is Mrs. Michael Bauchenstein, besides farming, is also quite a singer."

Louisville.—A neighbor of the Craft family thinks the practicing of two boys on a drum and saxophone respectively is, to put it in plain language, a nuisance. Judge Ruthenberg, no saxophone or drum enthusiast himself, ordered William Craft, 13, and James Craft, 12, to confine the confusion to half an hour each day.

New Orleans.—The gasoline stations have hung out the "welcome" sign to the old grey mare and her brothers and sisters. Horse drivers are invited to drive in and let their thirty animals fill up. It is a gesture of hospitality. Besides, horses don't live forever, and their owners may be buying automobiles some day.

Los Angeles.—Sir Harold Bowden, chairman of the English Olympics committee has a good word to say for Hollywood movies. They are so popular with Britshers, he said, that they have "substantially reduced the consumption of liquor."

Somers Springs, Kas.—Jason Penrod is a regular. He figured his 900-bushel potato crop wouldn't bring enough money to pay for harvesting it, so he ploughed out the crop and invited the needy to "come and get 'em." They came—the needy—in well-well! motorcars.

New York.—Miss Emilie Steinscher has an odd job. She specializes in canaries' diseases. She says they have got just like elderly gentlemen. And it is surprising how susceptible the birds are to pneumonia.

REYNOLDS COMING HOME

New York, July 26.—(AP)—Pan-American Airways announced today that Richard J. Reynolds, Jr., older brother of Smith Reynolds of Winston-Salem, N. Y., who was shot to death by a party or parties unknown recently, will probably arrive in the United States a week from Thursday.

The aviation company was informed that Richard Reynolds, who was on a cruise when his brother was killed, had sailed yesterday from West Africa, on one of the French light cruisers which carry mail to South America.

The cruiser will arrive at Natal, Brazil, Thursday, or Friday, and Reynolds should catch the Pan-American plane which leaves there Sunday and reaches Miami the following Thursday.

To Take Vacation
Chicago, July 26.—(AP)—Mayor Anton J. Cermak dropped his vacation today for a six weeks' trip to Europe in search of recreation and rest.

The mayor will go to the baths at Carlsbad, to his native village of Klado in Czechoslovakia and to the Italian villa of his friend, Paul V. Collanai, a trustee of the Chicago Sanitary District.

HEBRON

TOLLAND

Tuesday, July 26th is Post Office Day, or the 157th anniversary of the establishing of the United States Post Office, with Benjamin Franklin as first Post Master General. The day will be observed by a window display at the center post office here, and the carrying of flags by the local mail carriers. Mrs. Alma Porter, postmistress at the center office, received suggestions from P. O. headquarters at Washington as to a large general celebration through the country at the time the project was thought of, but it is hoped that this can be done later.

Miss Marjorie Martin spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Josephine Martin.

The severe thunderstorm of Saturday afternoon and evening caused considerable trouble with electric lights hereabouts. There were several reports of thunder which sounded as if nearby places were struck, but so far no reports of damage from lightning have been received. The rain was greatly needed, and more would have been welcome. Several trees were uprooted and the roofing ripped from a barn building at the Robinson farm on Post Hill, by the wind.

Mrs. Samuel Wolfe of New York has given to her parents, Harry and Sarah Kesman of this place a deed in the property which they have occupied for the past several years on the Amston road. The deed is conditional, and after the death of the parents, the property will revert to Mrs. Wolfe, her heirs or assigns.

Mrs. Wolfe and her children returned to New York Sunday, after having spent some time at the Kesman place.

Archdeacon J. S. Neill of St. Mary's church, Manchester, preached at the morning service at St. Peter's Episcopal church, Sunday, on "Andrew Simon Peter's Brother." There was a congregation of 46, with several visitors.

Enoch Crandall has returned from New London hospital and is being cared for temporarily by Mrs. Harold Gray.

Mrs. Barbara Minter has gone to St. Joseph's hospital for observation and treatment. She is suffering from nervous troubles.

The Rev. Benjamin H. Bissell spent Sunday in New Haven. He preached at the Holy Communion at St. Peter's church Monday morning at 8 o'clock, in observance of St. James' Day.

Theodore Merritt and Miss Eunice Merritt of Yonkers, N. Y., motored here recently and were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Rathbun. Miss Grace Rathbun accompanied them back to Yonkers for a week's visit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Backs Jones entertained the Rev. and Mrs. Walter Vey, Mrs. Helen White and her daughter, Miss Daisy White, at "The Bradford House," Mr. Jones' old home, on Thursday. Mrs. White is recovering from a severe cold which kept her in bed for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Horton and children motored to Unionville Sunday afternoon and spent the day with Mrs. Horton's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Doye. The latter returned with them to spend a little time at their home. Mrs. Horton, Arthur V. Linds and her two sons, Arthur and Richard, of Hartford are also guests at the Horton home for the week.

The Hebron Cardinals played the Manchester Juniors Sunday afternoon at the Hebron baseball field, coming off victors by a score of 16-1. The Hebron Athletics also won an easy victory over their opponents, the Rockvilles, in a game played on the Kibbe field on the same afternoon.

Miss Anna Barrett of Norwalk arrived here this week for a few days of vacation.

Mrs. Rosella Waldo is spending a little time as the guest of Mrs. Cora Hollister, her sister-in-law, in Glastonbury.

Miss Grace Rathbun is spending the week as the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merritt and family in Yonkers, N. Y.

Mrs. Howard Jones of New Haven is the guest of Mrs. Daniel G. Horton at the Horton bungalow.

There was a union Christian endeavor meeting Sunday evening at the center, with the Glee and Hebron C. E. societies represented. The Rev. Robert Parks of Grace church, Yantic, was the principal speaker, and Miss Standish of Lebanon sang two solos, "Make Me a Blessing," and "The Holy City." She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Hutcheson, organist.

Farrar Emmons and a friend from Boston spent Sunday here, returning the same day by motor.

Clarence Brown, a former resident of Hebron, was here making calls on Monday. He was on a motor trip from Hartford.

FRENCH WOMEN

and family and Miss Thelma Cummings spent Sunday afternoon at Hayward Lake, where they partook of a picnic supper.

Reports have been received of queer pranks of lightning at the Loren M. Lord place Saturday afternoon. The house was entered three times by the electric current, table was overturned or shaken about, and a sugar bowl was hurled to the floor and crashed into pieces. In other houses fuses were burned out, and many were badly frightened.

SEVEN HURT IN FIRE

Little Rock, Ark., July 26.—(AP)—At least seven persons were burned and injured and one person was missing in a fire that partially destroyed a three-story brick hotel here early today.

Witnesses said an unexplained explosion shook the building shortly after 2 a. m. and the entire structure burst into flame. Firemen rescued many of the twenty-five or more occupants from windows while others jumped or ran to safety.

An accurate check of guests and rescues was impossible until records could be examined closely. W. Fryor was pronounced in critical condition as a result from a fall from the third story of the hotel and Mr. and Mrs. William Scherer were given out today as dead.

LICENSES SUSPENDED

A list of operators whose licenses to drive automobiles in Connecticut have been suspended for one year because of a conviction for driving while under the influence of liquor was given out today at the State Motor Vehicle Department as a part of the effort to reduce this highway menace. The department statement advised people to notify the department or the police in case they should see any of these drivers operating motor vehicles.

TUNNEY MAKES PLANS TO BECOME A VOTER

Stamford, Conn., June 25.—(AP)—Gene Tunney doesn't intend to go half way in his decision to add the cause of the Democratic Party in Connecticut.

Although a resident of Stamford for three years, the retired heavyweight boxing champion has never voted in the state. He plans, however, to become a voter in time to cast his vote in November for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential nominee, and Governor Wilbur L. Cross of Connecticut, who is expected to seek re-election.

Tunney, who recently offered his services to Democratic leaders, has asked Sheriff Thomas J. Reilly, registrar of voters, to include his name on the "To Be Made" voters list. He probably will be sworn in as a voter in October.

New Hubby—All right, you eat them yourself.

Doctor (examining pretty flapper)—You've got acute appendicitis. Pretty Patient—Don't get fresh. I came here to be examined—not admitted.

Banker—The way for you to straighten out your financial difficulties is to try to live within your means from now on.
Business Man—Within our means? Certainly not! We may be poor, but we're not so badly off as that.

THE REASON MOST PARENTS ARE SO PATIENT WITH SCHOOL TEACHERS IS THAT THEY DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO WITH THE YOUNGSTERS THEMSELVES.

Stotto—Shay, can you tell me where Main street is?
Officer—You're standing on it.
Stotto—No wonder I couldn't find the blamed thing.

Guest—Look here waiter? How long must I wait for the half portion of duck I ordered?
Waiter—Till somebody orders the other half. We can't go out and kill half a duck.

The Chef That Made Cold Tomato Juice Popular As an Appetizer Got Away With Something. . . . He Didn't Have to Warm it Up.

Stebbins—Did you hear about Willard, the bank cashier, stealing fifty thousand and running away with his friend's wife?
Perkins—Good Heavens! Who'll teach his Sunday School Class tomorrow?

It's perhaps not that men worry too much. But so many of them do their worrying over the wrong things.

Housewife (to beggar at door)—I could give you some of my husband's old clothes, but they need a little patching.
Beggar—That doesn't matter; I can wait while it's done.

A good many boys will have to give up the idea of getting married for awhile, adding that they can't afford it now that the girls have had a cut in salary.

Sammy (as he danced in from school)—Hurray, Ma! At last I got 100 in my studies!
Mother—Fine! What study did you get 100 in?
Sammy—I said 'studies,' not 'study.' Sixty in readin' and forty in spellin'.

PEOPLE GET USED TO WHAT THEY CANNOT HELP MORE QUICKLY THAN THEY THINK THEY ARE GOING TO.
"Go after business" . . . sounds like good advice, until you remember where business has gone.

The old time girl had to take off a lot of things before she went to bed, but her complexion wasn't one of them. . . . A lipstick is merely something that gives a new flavor to an old pastime.

A New York jury awarded a young dancer $8000 because a young man had "cast a spell on her." Evidently, the spell didn't work on the jury.

POLICE COURT

James N. Dean of 345 Main street, East Hartford, was before Judge Raymond A. Johnson in the Manchester police court this morning on the charge of drunken driving. He pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs. Dean was arrested on West Center street last night by Traffic Officer Herman Muske. A complaint had been received by the police that there was an automobile driver on the Silver Lane road that was acting very queerly. He had side-wiped one car without any serious damage. The officer lost no time in placing Dean under arrest.

Mr. Dean is factory manager for the Chance-Vought Co. in East Hartford. He admitted that he was to blame, for not allowing the man who was with him to drive the car.

The Women of the Moose will hold their regular business meeting tomorrow evening at the Home Club on Brainerd place.
