Comes From Behind To Press Finland Star For Victory—Great Finish Gives Him Confidence For Saturday Finals.

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

Los Angeles, Aug. 2.—(Special)—Joe McCluskey's grand finish last evening in his Olympic steeplechase record of 9:14.07 indicates he has come back rapidly since being laid low by an attack of the grip last week.

JOE McCLUSKEY

Comes From Behind
Joe told he thought he would "licky" to do as well as 9:18 in his first race since winning the American championship but after a slow start he showed his characteristic gameness and speed in closing the gap and racing almost a dead heat with Iso-Hollo. They were barely two feet apart. Joe coming from behind the last lap.

Iso-Hollo, however, who trained for as much as 10,000 meters in the Olympics, had much more in reserve than McCluskey at the finish and I doubt if Joe can beat him in the final next Saturday. It will take at least 9:10 to win this Olympic title and Iso-Hollo in the trials looked like the only man capable of doing it.

Joe confident
McCluskey, however, is confident he will be faster in the five-day interval and I'm inclined to agree with him. For one thing his confidence is now restored. After the race he said:

"Iso-Hollo outfoxed me on the finish. I sprang up even with him but saw I couldn't beat him with a sprint at that time so I eased down, hoping he would do the same and then I tried to catch him off guard with a sudden spurt. He was watching me out of the corner of his eye, however, and matched my spurt stride for stride. He had a big grin on his face when he finished, and I know he wasn't running hard at the

PRISONER KILLED BY AL SMITH'S KIN

Deputy Sheriff Shoots Young Man Who Tries To Escape On Street.

New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff Vincent J. Glynan, a nephew of former Governor Alfred E. Smith, shot and killed Walter Edward Webel, Jr., today after he said Webel struck him and fled in an effort to escape service of a contempt of court warrant.

Webel and Inez Murray, both residents of Brooklyn, were married when minors and the girl's parents succeeded in having the marriage annulled. A child was born and Webel was ordered by the court to pay $10 a week toward its support. Having fallen far in arrears a warrant was issued for his arrest on a charge of contempt and Glynan was given the warrant to serve.

Struck Officer
After the shooting, Glynan said, he went to the home of Webel's parents, waited until Webel came out, and then told him he had a warrant for his arrest. Webel, he said, struck him and then started to run. Glynan said he followed, firing two shots in the air as a warning. When Webel failed to halt, Glynan

USING AIRPLANE IN SEARCH FOR SOLDIER SLAYER

Posse of 75 Men Hunt In Fairfield Woods For Man Who Killed Taxi Driver; Think He Is Surrounded.

Bridgeport, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Equipped with tear bombs, riot guns and clubs, State and local police, volunteer firemen and residents began today a chase through the woods and rocky fields of the Snake Hill section of Greenwich Hills, Fairfield, for the murderer of George Butler, taxi driver. About 75 police officials and volunteers, afoot and on horseback, joined in the posse.

Use Airplane
Meanwhile Gerry Moller, president of Northwestern Airways, Inc., with Officer Gene Courtney of the Stratford police, having taken off from the Bridgeport airport was scanning the countryside from an airplane in the hope of locating a fugitive in a soldiers uniform who phantom-like is reported by Fairfield residents to have appeared in the woods on several occasions.

Suspect Surrounded
Shots fired in the woods and evidences of a fair such as might have been slept in by a fugitive added to the belief that the posse had surrounded the place where the murderer hid after he had shot the taxi driver from the rear seat of his car and dragged the body to the roadside.

The searchers were convinced they were pursuing either a demented man or the fugitive.

Banker Suggests "Rainy Day" Plan For Nations In South America.

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 2.—(AP)—W. W. Cumberland, New York banker, proposed to the Institute of Politics today that South American countries set aside in prosperous times a "definite percentage of their government revenues in excess of the fixed sum necessary for the running expenses for the retirement of their debt."

In times of stress, Cumberland declared, they should be obliged to reduce corresponding, their amortization payments.

Because, he contends American banks in South America have brought losses rather than gains, the proposal should be enforced as soon as foreign lending is resumed.

German Election
Pierre Lyauty, French economist, told the Institute that France has not found reassurance in the German elections and will not find assurance until September when they know what will be the attitude of the National Socialists who doubled their number of seats in the Reichstag in the elections.

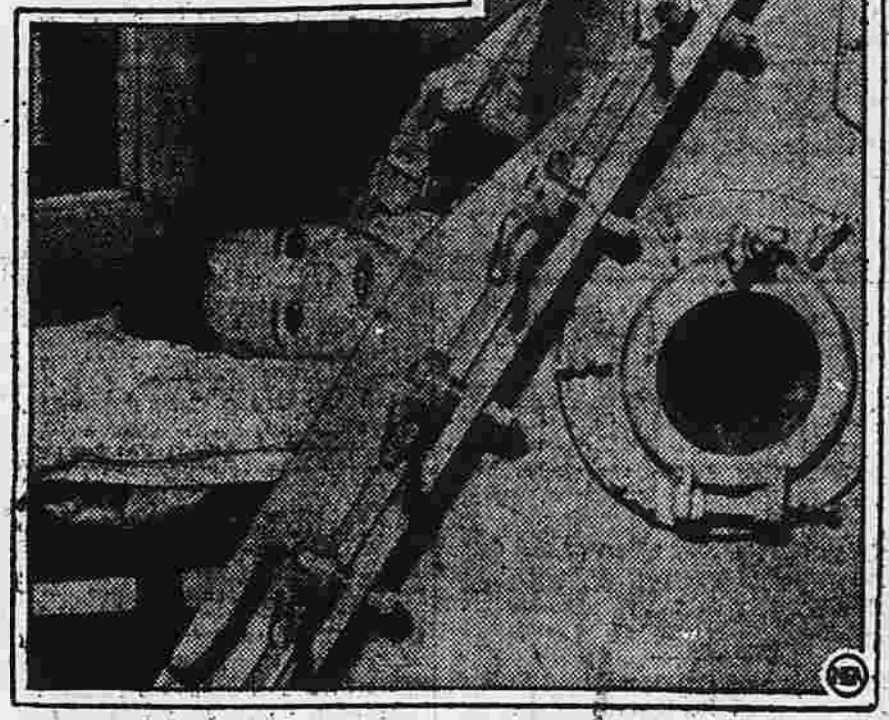

He deplored the tendency among members of the Right parties to submit to "dictates of the masses and demagogic orators who sway them." He feared that German argument for the necessity of arming against the communists might cover a pretext for a return to the pre-war spirit of militarism.

France Helpless
Lyauty declared France was helpless against an invasion by Germany. Count Westarp, formerly of the German general staff, two days ago described Germany as being against France and the allies.

"Germany with her huge industrial power and central position would be able to strike more rapidly and decisively than any other European country," said Lyauty.

J. S. CANADIAN TRADE IS PROBLEM AT PARLEY

This Country Big Factor In Discussions; Bought More of Canada's Exports Than Whole British Empire.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 2.—(AP)—The stupendous portion of the trade of Great Britain and Canada, which is with the United States, proved the greatest stumbling block today to all negotiations for intra-empire trade deals at the conference here.

With all its dominions and colonies, the British handled only about 23 1-2 percent of the world's trade in 1930 while the United States alone handled 12 1-2 per cent, almost half as much.

In the United States there was sold in 1930 more than one-third of all the linen manufactures exported by the United Kingdom; 48.2 per cent of all the tin, and nearly 19 per cent of all British exports of leather and leather goods, other than wearing apparel.

On the other side of the ledger the United Kingdom took one sixth of all the exports from the United States, some of the outstanding items being four-fifths of the American exports of hams and more than half the tobacco, worth $79,400,000.

Imports From Canada
The United States bought more than ninety per cent of Canada's total exports of fresh fish, hides, skins and pulpwood and between 80

Posse Searches For Girl Missing Since Saturday; Old Man Questioned.

Waynesville, Mich., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Sheriff and minister clues led sheriff's officers, state police and possemen to organize a search today for a search of the desolate swamp where 17-year-old Evelyn Sanford last was seen before her disappearance Saturday night.

The swamp, only a short distance from the missing girl's farm home near Freesol, has been searched twice, but portions of it are difficult to access. There was a growing fear that the girl was the victim of a degenerate.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah has decided whom to support in the coming presidential election, he said today, but he was not ready to announce his choice.

The Idaho legislator restated his campaign status as he passed through Chicago en route to his home as follows:

He will not support President Hoover on the Republican platform; there is "no possibility" that he will come out for Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee; he will not back William D. Upshaw of Georgia, the prohibition candidate; there is "no Third Party" as far as he is concerned.

FEAR AN EPIDEMIC IN MARCHERS' CAMP

Case of Typhoid Fever Reported—Claim That Veterans Stole Army Tents.

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 2.—(AP)—The Federal government and the state of Pennsylvania stepped in today to unscramble complications which have thrown the bonus expeditionary camp into confusion.

One case of typhoid fever was reported to have been found among the veterans. The man who was reported as suffering from the disease is Harry Lowry, 45 years old, of Tampa, Fla.

While virtual sanitary "martial law" was set up by the Pennsylvania Health Department at the camp, a deputy United States marshal and Washington police officers are serving warrants in connection with a charge that tents loaned to veterans in Washington were stolen.

Deputy Marshal J. G. Lowers of Pittsburgh read a search warrant to Camp Commander William Waite in the office of Mayor Eddie McCloskey and another warrant charging larceny against Isadore Kanner, formerly of the staff at Camp Bartlett, where it is alleged the tents were stolen.

Kanner was taken before the United States commissioner for a hearing. J. Don O'Connor, World War veteran and Johnstown attorney, was retained as counsel for the veterans.

The officers also have warrants for Frank Muggie and Buck Reynolds. They have not been served.

Lowers and the Washington police said they also were seeking Doak A. Carter, in charge of the veterans here, but Carter declined to come to state headquarters. The officers were told Carter had gone to the Johnstown airport and that he contemplated flying to Washington.

The officers said they will go to the camp late today to search for the missing tents. Leaders of the veterans said they will be glad to co-operate with the officers.

The camp grew sullen with the sudden turn of events.

Meanwhile, State Sanitary Engineer C. B. Marks of Harrisburg consulted with county health authorities and they inspected the campaigning ground described previously by investigators as "dangerous to the health of every one living there."

A number of cooking utensils were ordered destroyed. Vaccination of the entire camp to guard against typhus and smallpox was recommended.

Gov. Ely To Speak
Bridgeport, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts will speak at the annual outing of the T. F. Reilly Association in Danbury, August 28, it was announced today.

Hartford, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Governor Wilbur L. Cross today said he had practically decided not to call a special session of the Legislature for the consideration of economic conditions in the State. The governor said that it seems apparent at this time that a special session at this time might not be necessary, but such assistance may be required for the aid of certain municipalities in the State will be obtained through other methods.

The governor has been seriously considering the question of obtaining federal assistance for the towns now seriously hampered in the conduct of their affairs by lack of funds. He has carefully studied the Federal Reconstruction Act and before leaving Hartford today for his summer home at Lake Simpsco, N. H., said that he is practically convinced that such aid as may be necessary for the several towns in the state may be

Efforts of Neutral Nations To Arbitrate Dispute Over Chaco Jungles Fail—Paraguayan Youths Swarm To Enlist While Foreign Minister Council Sends Message To League of Nations.

By Associated Press
Preparations for war continued in the jungles of the disputed Chaco between Paraguay and Bolivia today while neutral government worked behind the scene for basic arbitration.

All recent gestures to this end have been rejected. Paraguay has said she will not be responsible for reprisals against Bolivian "aggression." Bolivia was indifferent to the last note of the neutral nations.

PARAGUAYAN YOUTHS SWARM TO ENLIST WHILE FOREIGN MINISTER COUNCIL SENDS MESSAGE TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Hundreds of Paraguayan youths swarmed army headquarters to be the first to enlist in the general mobilization authorized by Congress last night. The foreign minister advised the League of Nations Council Bolivia had violated the articles of the League covenant.

TROOPS ARE MOBILIZED
Asuncion, Paraguay, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Hundreds of Paraguayan youths swarmed around army headquarters today and clamored to be first to enlist in the general mobilization authorized by Congress last night.

Thousands of trained troops were removed from barracks and distributed to other quarters in order to make room for newly enlisted men. Military cadres marched through the streets, lined with huge, excited and milling crowds, demanding to be sent to the "war" area.

They fled up to the residence of President Jose P. Giggiani and cheered.

Note To League
Plans to call the Army and Navy reserves were rushed and, in the meantime, Foreign Minister Higinio Arbo, sent a note to the League of Nations council declaring Bolivia had violated Articles 10 and 11 of the League covenant which require members to respect the peace and territorial integrity of other members.

Besides the news of the attack on Fort Boqueron, one of Paraguay's important strongholds in the Chaco territory, the government also heard 'he Bolivians were marching on Fort Itaipu, which also has figured in the sixty year old dispute between the two nations over the wild, swampy, mostly unmappped territory which forms their common boundary line.

Arbo's Message
"As a member of the distinguished international institution" the foreign minister said in his note to the League, "Paraguay calls attention to the commission by Bolivia of hostile acts, without explanation or a declaration of war."

"When the attack on Fort Bogado by the Bolivians was repulsed July 25 the Bolivian chancellor falsely alleged that Paraguay had attacked (the Bolivian) Fort Florida, which does not exist."

Reviewing the attacks on Fort Corrales, Toledo, Martinez, Itaipu and Boqueron, the note added that "such conduct does not become a nation belonging to the League."

Paraguay was willing to submit the controversy to arbitration, the foreign minister said and accepted an offer of neutral nations to make an investigation of the mid-July incidents, but military hostilities developed in the meantime.

BOLIVIANS RECORDED
La Paz, Bolivia, Aug. 2.—(AP) Bolivian people with holiday enthusiasm, cheered the government today for its decision to settle the sixty year old boundary dispute with Paraguay, even if that should mean war.

The enthusiasm with which they celebrated yesterday the Bolivian attack on Fort Boqueron and the government's note to Secretary of State Stimson at Washington informing him of Bolivia's intention continued as fervent as ever today.

The note to Mr. Stimson said Bolivia was not interested in "investigation which do not define the fundamental issue." It was sent in reply to offers of consideration of neutral nations.

"We defend ourselves in a territory we consider ours," the note said and historically we have a right to the banks of the river Paraguay.

"After Paraguay had attacked at Fort Florida July 15 we were at our duty to defend ourselves."

POLICE BOARD MAKES REPORT

Saving of $13,000 Over Year Previous Noted; Only One Regular Named.

The Board of Police Commissioners have presented the annual report of the Police Department for the fiscal year ending August 15, 1932.

The report states that the savings have been effected through a fifteen per cent reduction in salaries of officers and policemen.

The department purchased two new motorcycles during the year, replacing the same number outworn in service.

The commissioners stated in their report that the objective of the department was to furnish adequate police protection at a minimum cost to the taxpayers.

"We have the honor to submit our report for the fiscal year ending August 15, 1932, a year throughout which it has been our objective to provide for our town a high standard of service at a minimum cost to the taxpayers."

Respectfully submitted, Willard B. Rogers, Harry B. Bissell, C. R. Burr.

NO EXTRA SESSION NEEDED SAYS CROSS

Such Federal assistance would be on solicitation by the governor, in asking for the loan, who will outline the Reconstruction Corporation the necessities of these towns.

The method of repayment will be in deductions made by the Federal government from funds ordinarily appropriated to the state.

The governor reported no action will be taken toward seeking Federal assistance for Connecticut towns until after the report of Angus P. Thorne of Bridgeport has been received.

With this information in hand the governor will supply the Federal commission with the total amount required for the aid of towns in this state.

The commissioners at the organizational meeting in October elected Colonel Harry B. Bissell, the newly appointed member secretary.

"The report follows: 'To the Honorable Board of Selectmen, 'Town of Manchester, Conn. Gentlemen: 'We have the honor to submit our report for the fiscal year ending August 15, 1932, a year throughout which it has been our objective to provide for our town a high standard of service at a minimum cost to the taxpayers.'

Respectfully submitted, Willard B. Rogers, Harry B. Bissell, C. R. Burr.

STRANGER FLEECES AMERICAN TOURISTS

Not Only Takes Their Money But Runs Off With Daughter of One.

Oxford, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Two American tourists, Mrs. Annie W. Fisher of Lyndhurst, N. J., and her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Walsh, appeared in police court today to charge false pretenses against a debonaire chance acquaintance.

The acquaintance was Robert Arthur Cooper, well-dressed man of about 40, whom they accused of obtaining $311 of their money and running off with Mrs. Fisher's daughter, Kathleen.

According to the testimony the three women had met Cooper purely by chance in Winchester cathedral last month. Mrs. Fisher testified that Cooper represented himself as a well-off army officer employed in the war office.

Cooper, she said, traveled with the party from London to Oxford, and enroute, informed her that he had fallen violently in love with her daughter.

Cooper left them at Oxford with $85 of their money to be changed to American currency in London. Kathleen accompanied him and the testimony was that the two were to have returned to Oxford the same afternoon. That was on July 6.

"Today," added Mrs. Fisher in her testimony, "is the first time I have seen her since and I don't see my daughter until July 26 at Tramore, Ireland."

18,000 Pounds of Dynamite Explodes; Cities Shaken

Montpelier, Vt., Aug. 2.—(AP)—The explosion of 18,000 pounds of dynamite at a state-owned powder house between here and Barre today was the object of a rigid investigation.

Eight persons were injured, one seriously; scores of windows were shattered and an audience in a nearby motion picture house were thrown into a near panic when the shock occurred last night.

The powder house was situated about 8 1/2 miles from Montpelier and the same distance from Barre. The shock of the explosion was distinctly felt in both cities.

The audience in a Montpelier motion picture theater was badly frightened but were easily quieted down when no further explosion was heard.

The powder house was located in a pasture about half a mile from any other structure. Nothing remained today but a huge hole where the building had stood.

Doctors Le Verne Holmes and Edwin Higgins are the physicians who will respond to emergency calls tomorrow afternoon.

Members of the family of Patrolman Winfield R. Martin have returned to their home on Wadsworth street after a camping trip along the Sound.

NEW FRENCH PACT HITS U. S. TRADE

Americans Face Loss of Millions—Other Nations Also Hurt By Treaty.

Paris, Aug. 2.—(AP)—American business interests face the loss of millions of dollars worth trade with France owing to a treaty just signed by France and Belgium.

The pact, signed yesterday, becomes effective next Monday. It waives for Belgium, the import tax of 4 percent on semi-finished goods of certain classes and the 6 percent tax on finished goods.

Protests were made not only by Americans but by German, British, Japanese, Mexican and Chilean interests, but there seemed to be nothing that could be done.

Even French producers, especially of the metals included in the list protested against the new arrangement. Under its terms the French interests who mine in foreign countries the metals involved are left under a handicap in competing with the Belgians in their own market.

The office of the American commercial attaché was busy studying the effect of the Franco-Belgian pact today in an effort to estimate the total amount of American trade which would be affected.

Another decree issued by the government today fixed the amount of foreign goods permitted in the manufacture of flour in France at 15 percent.

OBITUARY FUNERALS

Mrs. Rosalie McCarthy, 78, died yesterday at 3:30 a. m. from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hannah Donahue of Vernon, and at 9 o'clock from the Sacred Heart church. Rev. P. J. Killen celebrated the mass and conducted the committal service at the grave in St. Bernard's cemetery, Rockville.

Mrs. Florence Foley of Vernon sang as the body was borne into the church, "What Can My Jesus Do More." At the offertory she sang "Ave Maria." At the close of the mass she sang "Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling."

The bearers were Emil Jarvis, John and George LeChapelle, James McCarthy, William Moore and John Hart.

The funeral of Lestley G. Lennon was held this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lennon, 20 Division street at 2 o'clock and at St. Mary's Episcopal church at 2:30.

The bearers were Russell Thomas, Harold Moeck, Daniel Edwards, Gustaf Falot, Ward Lakin and George Greenaway. Rev. J. Stuart Neill of St. Mary's church officiated. Burial was in East cemetery.

Both appeared nervous but both proclaimed their belief he would be acquitted. Lancaster expressed hope that his father, Edward William Lancaster in London, would not worry about outcome of the trial.

Beverly Clarke, New York chemical engineer and brother of Haden, sat with State Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne and other prosecution counsel.

Robert (Lefty) Bryan, of Chattanooga, Tenn., turned in a fine second round victory over Dick Murray of Union, N. Y., 8-10, 6-3, 7-7. Lester Stoen, powerful Los Angeles youngster, completed the final match of the first round with an 8-6, 3-6, 6-4 victory over Eddie Jacobs, of Baltimore, today. Darkness halted the match after two sets last evening.

CASHIER SUSPECTED IN ALLEGED HOLD-UP

New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—United States Attorney George Z. Medala announced today that Henry Cohen, former teller in the midtown branch of the Public National Bank and Trust Company, was arrested last night for embezzlement of $11,800 which he had reported as robbed from him.

An indictment was handed up last night but was sealed pending Cohen's arrest by Department of Justice agents attached to the Bureau of Investigation.

Cohen's story at the time was that as he sat at his gridded window in the bank, a man pushed through an envelope and a note reading, "empty your cash drawer or I will shoot to kill." He said he was so frightened he filled the envelope with bills, passed it out to the robber, and did not even report the robbery until after he had attended to a depositor.

"It was next to impossible for the holdup to occur," Assistant U. S. Attorney G. S. Tarbell Jr., who presented the case to the Grand Jury, said today.

FARM BUREAU PARLEY

Chicago, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Fifty Farm Bureau executives from nine midwest states decided at a conference in Chicago today that farmers were more interested in organization than ever before.

From the states represented, delegates reported Farm Bureau memberships as either increasing or "holding up surprisingly well." Delegates came from Missouri, Indiana, South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan and Wisconsin.

"Farmers generally have about $1 income where formerly they had $3," said L. J. Melrose, a director of the Minnesota Farm Bureau, "but they are prompt in going into their reduced earnings for organizing purposes."

"That can mean only one thing—the farmer is becoming more and more anxious to protect his business by co-operating with his neighbor."

SECRETARY WORK TIME
 Indications of a national shorter work week conference, to be called by President Hoover, may be the sign of the first organized attempt to solve the nation's economic problems through any other than purely fiscal measures. Such a conference, if and when it is held, may turn out to be of the utmost importance to the well being of the people and to national prosperity.

At the very beginning of the industrial depression the project of avoiding unemployment for large numbers of workers by reducing work hours was frequently advanced. At that time, however, any such proposal was coupled with insistence that the income of the employed must not be reduced in consequence of the reduced productivity of the individual. That was not only the trade union attitude but, surprisingly, it was the position taken by any number of persons in authority who ought to have known better.

As this newspaper pointed out three years ago, reduction of hours without reducing wages correspondingly could result only in one thing—an instant increase in the cost of production, rapidly mounting cost of living, disappearance of purchasing power and presently clogged markets, slackened demand and inability of the industries to continue.

Three years have brought great changes in public opinion on such matters. It is now perfectly well recognized that production costs must not be substantially increased and that if we are to have a shorter work day or a shorter work week for the purpose of employing the jobless it must be brought about without making the products cost more than they otherwise would. That means that, at the outset, the full time employes in the industries would have to accept a smaller return for less labor in order that his fellow man may be given a chance to get any wage at all.

There have been many "plans" advanced looking to the shorter work week. As is usually the case, fabricators of such plans are liable to lose sight of first principles through their absorbed interest in details. Some of the "plans" advanced are marvels of fussy circumstantiality. But after all the question can be resolved into very simple form—would it be better to have the total payroll of the industries and general business divided among enough more people in order to sop up the pool of unemployed labor than to have things go on as they are?

There is sound argument to support the affirmative. Opposed is the special interest of those now employed.

GAMBRINUS' BANNER
 Analyzing Governor Roosevelt's campaign opening speech through careful re-reading, one is struck by the circumstances that it contains just one concrete, definite commitment from which no line of retreat has been left painstakingly open. Mr. Roosevelt is unequivocally for beer.

The Democratic candidate's treatment of every great major economic question is either so general as to mean very little or so qualified itself so extensively as to leave its author a network of loopholes out of which to squirm at any moment. Beer, however, provides Mr. Roosevelt with one definite issue of which, apparently, he has no fear. Referring to the Democratic platform demand for the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and immediate prohibition tion of the Volstead act to legalize the sale of beer and wine, he says: "If the present Congress takes no action I shall urge the new Congress to carry out these provisions."

And there you have the meat in the nut, the great moral and economic foundation of Mr. Roosevelt's appeal to the American electorate for election to the headship of this nation. Beer!

This newspaper has fought, consistently, against the permanent continuance of federal prohibition. It has believed the Eighteenth amendment, fastened upon the country very largely indeed by the Democratic solid South, to be a great social and political blunder. It sees no occasion whatever for altering its position toward prohibition by a fraction of an inch. But it does not tolerate for an instant the squalid and sordid thought that the destiny of the nation, its vast problems of poverty and prosperity, of content and distress, of progression and retrogression, of happiness and chaos, revolve about a schooner of beer— or millions of them.

This country will have descended to a pretty low plane of civilization if it permits its mass mind to be distracted from a hundred harassing puzzles, whose solutions are of the utmost importance if we are to resume our national progress, by the hoisting of the banner of King Gambrinus and the shouting of the Rooseveltian slogan, "Beer!"

The Seventy-third Congress inevitably will give the country relief from the evils imposed upon it by the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act. That is as certain as anything can be. Both major political parties have declared for reform of the prohibition situation, the difference being that the Republican party has promised something it can deliver, resubmission of the question to the people with a guarantee of each state's rights, while the Democratic party has promised something it never can deliver if its thorough majority shall get into the saddle.

"SOUND MONEY"

The Democratic platform declares for "sound money" and Mr. Roosevelt, who seems to be fearful of being positive about anything else, has screwed up his courage to the point of promising that his administration—if and when—will stand for "a sound currency." Which would seem to make it appear reasonably certain that the forces that maneuvered the Roosevelt nomination at Chicago have forgotten all about the early campaign aid lent to the governor's cause by such party members as Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana. Because Mr. Wheeler is one of the very few members of Congress who are open advocates of the bimetallic system of currency, which is the very antithesis of what is usually meant by "sound money." It is to be suspected that what Governor Roosevelt, as a New Yorker born and bred to the old traditions of the New York propertied classes, means by "sound currency" is gold, gold certificates and other paper money directly redeemable in gold, with an adequate gold reserve behind it. Still we are not sure, and nobody can be sure, that this is the case and there is no way of finding out unless Mr. Roosevelt himself tells us.

It would be interesting to know exactly where the Democratic candidate stands with relation to the Wheeler silver free coinage bill; where, for that matter, he stands with relation to the currency expansion bill that Senator Carter Glass, another of Mr. Roosevelt's staunch party friends, succeeded in getting put over at the last moment before Congress adjourned.

We should like to know, and it is reasonable to suppose that a considerable number of other persons would like to know, what the Governor is talking about when he generalizes on a "sound currency."

PASSING OF ME
 While there seems little reason to doubt the authenticity of the Harbin dispatch announcing in detail the death of General Ma Chan-shan, slain together with a handful of his troops when he was trapped between two Japanese divisions in a mud hut village north of Harbin, any sporting book maker would probably lay ten dollars against a thousand that Ma will yet pop up again, in the flesh, with a double handful of trouble to hand to the Japanese invaders.

The trouble with the Harbin item is that it is based solely on information derived from Japanese sources and the identification of the celebrated Manchurian bandit-general appears to lack the endorsement of any Chinese or European personality acquainted with him.

Furthermore, the highly improbable would seem to have happened when General Ma, accompanied only by a personal guard, permitted himself to be caught in any such situation in a terrain which he knew much better than did his enemies.

General Ma be-fooled the Japanese a good many times, including the time they thought they had bought his support. It is difficult to resist the fancy that just possibly he may have fooled them once more. A sergeant outfitted with a drooping mustache and sent to hold an untenable position might easily serve as a shot-to-death substitute for the ubiquitous Ma if it happened to serve his purpose to play possum for a while.

NEW TYPE CAR
 The believers in "psychological" depressions and in psychological cures for any depression may find reason to rejoice in the report that Professor A. M. Low, noted English crusader against and corrector of noise, has perfected a new type of automobile having 24 cylinders and which, gratefully, will require no shifting of gears.

How such a result is attained is far beyond our mechanical understanding, but would require no technical genius to appreciate the elimination of the shifting process from automobile driving. Everybody, of course, will want to scrap his present car and buy him one of these which you only have to feed and steer.

That, according to the pep-up school of economists, ought to turn the trick. Forty or fifty million cars in America will need immediate replacement. That will mean the starting up of all the motor car factories, full time, the opening of mines, a boom in the glass and textile business, new silk shirts for the newly enriched automobile builders, more shoes, more jobs, more money. Whiz-bang! There's millions in it, there's the mill-yuns in it!

Perhaps the fact that everybody will want one of the new, revolutionized cars will mean that everybody can buy one. But somehow, to us, that sort of a method of restoring the country's stability seems to leave something lacking. Perhaps it may be the money or the credit to buy the new car.

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCoy
BANISHING MORBID FEARS

In trying to overcome excessive fears or phobias, one should first understand that some fears are a normal protection against danger and an instinctive revulsion of the body from harm. It is only the morbid fears, or those which are continuous without reason, which may be considered pathological. On the other hand, a lack of fear or hypochondria may also be considered abnormal. The hypochondria may be blustering, bold, self-confident, optimistic, adventurous.

Much more common, however, are the people who are afflicted with excessive fear. While fear normally is the starting of a defensive mechanism in those with excessive fear the reaction is paralyzing or agonizing. In this respect a phobia may be considered an exaggerated reflex. Fears or phobias are fairly common among those who inherit a high-strung nervous system. Most of the fears which affect adults occurred during childhood and are really what is termed "conditioned fears." For instance, a mother may unwittingly cause a lifelong fear of darkness and of confined spaces by shutting a child in a small closet as punishment.

Fears always become more exaggerated with any disease which causes the nervous vitality, such as systemic disorders. These physical causes should always be ascertained by careful examination as the first part of the treatment, then the mental causes should be uncovered. Fears are often present in diseases of the brain, but there is no doubt that the great majority of people who suffer from excessive fears have no organic trouble with the brain. Fears which only occur under certain conditions such as being alone, being in the dark, hearing strange noises, looking down from a height, etc., are usually of the type which were conditioned during childhood. Fears may become worse by permitting the mind to dwell upon them sometimes so much as to be obsessions.

If you are troubled with excessive fears, try to search back into your mind to discover, if possible, the cause of your fear. You may find that some very small incident in your childhood is the cause of a fear which has persisted for years. One should try to cultivate a good mental attitude and to suggest to oneself several times, just before going to sleep each night, that the fears are useless and that the cause only exist in your own imagination. During the day, when you feel yourself becoming afraid of anything, try to switch your mind to something else in which you are interested. Especially helpful is performing some work with your own hands. You must think about and plan at the same time.

The physical condition has a great deal to do with the mental state as appears from the following through some toxic crisis, and it is always a good plan for anyone who suffers from needless fears to undergo a cleansing diet regimen to get the blood in a good condition. The power is always improved after such a regimen and one can better get destructive thoughts out of the mind. One should also use large amounts of the non-starchy vegetables in the diet to provide good elimination and one should use regular exercises each day. One with plenty of sleep in order to build up the vitality of the nervous system.

These measures combine, will usually overcome the excessive tendency to fears within a few weeks or months. Extreme cases might need the assistance of a trained psychologist or a psychoanalyst. However, I always advise first getting the physical body into good condition, for it will be found that in many cases this alone will serve to banish needless fears.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Gastric Ulcer)
 Question: Norma C. writes: "I have a gastric ulcer; and do not seem able to take the milk diet. Do you have a diet which excludes milk and which would be suitable for me? Also keep up my weight, which is already below normal?"

Answer: A liquid diet is necessary to permit a gastric ulcer to heal. Solid food tears the healing surface of the scar and prevents a cure. The milk diet has proved to be the most satisfactory, but, if you have an idiosyncrasy against milk, it might be necessary to substitute non-starchy vegetable broths made with oat meal, or you could use orange juice fast if the orange juice does not turn your stomach. What you really want is a diet which will cause you to lose weight until the ulcer is healed, and for this reason it would be better for you to take a vacation from your work, especially if the work is heavy.

(Aching in Elips)
 Question: Miss Z. writes: "I notice when I go to bed, if I lie on either side for an hour or so, my hip sore aches, but as soon as I turn on my back this passes off. What would cause my sides to bother me in this way? They seem all right during the daytime."

Answer: It might be caused by a slight inflammation of the nerves, which aching is made more pronounced by pressure, but I would suggest that you have a careful examination made of the lower spine by a good osteopath or chiropractor to determine if there is any nerve pressure present.

Betty Jean Robertson has returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weecott of Wethersfield.

Several antique seekers of Tolland attended the large auction held at Mansfield Center recently. Dr. and Mrs. Aaron Pratt, who have spent some time with Mr. Pratt's mother, Mrs. Charles H. Daniels, have returned to their home in Windsor.

Mrs. Alice Alling Grena, who has been spending several weeks in town, has returned to Hartford. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Graham and daughter of Hartford spent the week-end at the summer home of his mother, Mrs. Anna Graham, "The Llica."

Mr. and Mrs. Horton Chapin, who have spent some time in town with relatives, have returned to their home in Oradell, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thomford of New York City are spending some time at their summer home Stone Croft on the old Stafford road.

Mrs. M. S. Studdiford and Mrs. S. C. Cochran of Lambertville, N. J., were guests recently of their cousin, Mrs. Mary Jewell Baldwin and her daughter, Marjorie.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Johnson and Mrs. Hattie Ladd Weeks of Wethersfield, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Ernest Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Demarest of Oradell, N. J., are spending some time at the home of Charles C. Talcott.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Reed of North Brookfield, Mass., were Sunday guests of Mrs. Louise S. Martin, and Mrs. Martin returned to the river.

FIND HALE'S BODY

L'Ascension, Que., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Barely 15 feet from the spot where he was last seen, the body of George S. Hale, Montreal superintendent of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., has been taken from the waters of the Ten Mile Creek, near here.

Hale had been the object of an intensive manhunt since he disappeared while fishing July 19. The body was discovered by a fisherman yesterday.

Pending an autopsy and inquest, it was decided that Hale apparently slipped into the river and drowned. A portion of the river bank had fallen away and it was presumed his weight had caused this break.

POLICE DETAILS

Commissioner C. P. Burr was the only member of the police commission in town last night on the date of the regular monthly meeting of the commission. The commissioners have voted to meet at the police station the first Monday of each month to talk to the men a few minutes before they go on duty.

Colonel Harry Hissell is at Niantic and Commissioner W. B. Rogers could not get back to Manchester until late, so there was no inspection.

Yesterday marked the change-over for the month. There is no shift among the day men with the exception that Herman Muske is riding motorcycle days and Raymond Griffin nights. Patrolman Seymour is on vacation and Patrolman Martin is covering his day beat during his absence.

At night Policeman Galligan is at the north end, Cavanaugh at the Center and Cassella on lower Main street. Policeman Prentice is driving the Ford.

LOCAL LEGION TO VISIT NEWINGTON VETERANS

Dilworth-Cornell Post, No. 118, American Legion will visit the Veterans Hospital at Newington tomorrow night under a new schedule instituted last March. Tomorrow night's visit will be the first by Dilworth-Cornell Post.

According to the schedule of visitation, the local post will take its turn with all the other posts of Hartford County in visiting the hospital, taking along cheer, amusements, matches, and toilet necessities for the boys.

Contributions for the hospital will be received from members of the post and others wishing to help, and may be left at the store of Francis Gray, jeweler, on Main street, up to noon tomorrow. After closing hours contributions may be left at the home of Commander John L. Jenney, 20 Summit street or the home of Everett Kennedy, 385 Center street for delivery to the Veterans hospital tomorrow night.

MADE ASSISTANT CLERK

Greenwich, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Miss Alice M. Rich, who has been desk clerk for the town clerk here for over seven years, was appointed yesterday to be assistant town clerk to take the place of the former Nora Murphy recently married to Judge of Probate William C. Runge.

OLD WOMAN ELECTED

Berlin, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Clare Zetkin, "Grandmother of the German Revolution" is at the age of 75 the senior member of the new Reichstag and, according to tradition, she should call the new Parliament together and conduct its proceedings until a regular president is elected.

According to custom the largest party is awarded the presidency and if Frau Zetkin should preside she would have to hand over the gavel to the National Socialists, bitter enemies of her own Communist Party. She is very feeble, however, and may be unable to attend the opening session at the end of this month.

EVIDENCE OF TRAGEDY

Salem, N. J., Aug. 2.—(AP)—The charred wreckage of a 28-foot motor boat as their only clue, police today searched for some means to identify the body of a man, burned beyond recognition, which was found in the craft on the Delaware river near Fort Elsbury.

The boat, bearing the name "Do-Do" and the registration number M-1318, was discovered yesterday by the crew of a dredge working in the river.

Electric Cooking COOL! -- As A Vacation Breeze. When you sit down to a delicious meal that your wife has prepared, do you ever stop to consider how many hours each day are spent in the preparation of your food? Do you actually know the exact time she spends for you—the hours that should be hers—that your appetite may be satisfied? Give her an Electric Range—it will free her from the kitchen, give her more time to enjoy life as you would have her enjoy it, give her golden hours with the children—hours of leisure, otherwise lost forever. BEGIN HERE TODAY
MONA MORAN, receptionist in a Wall Street law office, goes with her childhood sweetheart, STEVE BARRETT, to a popular supper resort, the Halcyon Club. Mona supports her invalid father, mother, little sister, KITTY, and neo-do-well brother, BUD. Steve has been mysteriously absent for three years. He has returned, well dressed and prosperous. With no thought of impropriety, he has ordered a gown and wrap sent to Mona which, after much indecision, she wears.

At the office that day Mona has met BARRY TOWNSEND, rich and socially prominent, but refused his invitation to dine with him.

Bud Moran comes to the Halcyon Club to see BUCK HARKINS, the proprietor, who has underworld connections. Mona sees her brother and fears he is associating with gangsters. Steve quits her fears.

LOTTIE CARR, fashion model, dismisses her escort and joins Mona and Steve. Steve's business partner arrives. He proves to be Barry Townsend. Barry tells Mona how Steve years before had befriended him, how together they sailed for South America and have been operating a diamond mine that Townsend inherited.

After Mona and her friends leave the supper club Harkins tells his lieutenant that Steve has a huge diamond, known as "The Empress of Peru." The gangsters plan to steal this diamond.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XII

The next few days passed swiftly for Mona. She was relieved about Bud, had persuaded herself that the boy she had seen that night at the Halcyon Club was someone else. But was working regularly now, had turned over $20 to her on Saturday. Kitty was doing well in school too.

Steve, braving good-natured little Ma's indignation, called Mona on the telephone. Barry Townsend haunted the office. Finally, breaking her vow not to indulge in social engagements with anyone met through the office, Mona went to lunch with Barry.

"After all, Steve introduced me," she eased her conscience. Later she went to tea with him at a smart downtown tea place while Mollie Drury relieved her at the reception desk.

Little by little, piece by piece, Mona gleaned the story of Barry's business in South America, Steve's connection with it, and the friendship between these two.

"Park and Third avenues never meet, no matter how far they go," she had told Barry significantly. Steve had been born on Third.

"You little snob!" Barry teased. "Don't you like me? Won't you forgive me for living on Park avenue?"

"Do you wish to be forgiven?" "There's no Third avenue and no Park where Steve and I belong, Mona."

He noted her look of inquiry. "Sure. We belong there. We're going back when we've tied up a few matters of business."

"It must be wonderful," Mona said wistfully. "No suburbs, no crowds, no—"

"They'd make you queen!" Barry put in.

She told Lottie what she had learned when the girls were spending a cozy evening together in Lottie's apartment a few evenings later. "Cooking in," as she expressed it, and having a feminine hour of chat.

It seemed that Barry Townsend's mother had been first engaged to the Mr. Townsend who was Barry's uncle and Mr. Garretson's friend.

She was half Spanish, this beautiful mother of Barry's. Wealthy and of excellent family. After being engaged to one brother, she married the other. Not the elder one who had the most money, but Barry's father who was the younger. The jilted fiancé never recovered from this blow and the girl's father refused to forgive her for it. She belonged to an honorable family and had failed to keep her word.

The father gave his daughter her dowry, of course, but he never spoke to her again. As a wedding gift he gave her some land in Brazil—land that had not been productive in hundreds of years.

"Maybe you'll find a diamond mine on it," the father had said. He meant it as a bitter jest but the land was, after all, in the diamond country.

Then came the amazing part. An old negress, crossing the land one day, picked up a shiny stone. It was a diamond!

Barry's father had worked the mine, had organized a syndicate for this purpose, but it had always been a joke in the Townsend family for the mine had been a source of expense instead of gain. When Barry's father died he left his entire estate to his son.

It was Steve who had helped Barry make something of this property. Steve was diplomatic in dealing with the natives. Together Steve and Barry had made good. Now Barry was back in New York trying to persuade his uncle to release money that legally would not belong to the young man until he was 30 so that they could install new dredging machinery in the mine. Steve, moreover, had found the gorgeous diamond which they called the Empress of Peru.

What Notables Are Wearing

dressed in two of Lottie's most attractive negligees.

Lottie was manicuring her nails and Mona, lying flat on her back, abstractedly traced scrolls in the atmosphere with one finger while she talked.

"Why don't you marry one of these diamond kings?" Lottie asked presently.

Mona made a slight grimace, charming and eloquent. "No one has asked me, silly," she said.

Lottie surveyed her nails at arm's length rather carefully. Her heart—or what she would have told you took the place of heart—leaped strangely at these words.

"She thought to herself, 'Can it be that I'm falling in love with him?'" Lottie meant Steve Sacerelli.

She tucked her slippers feet beneath her on the chaise longue and her eyes became pensive. Wearing blue velvet pajamas Lottie looked like a lovely blond angel.

"Lottie frowned. 'Let the thing ring!'" Lottie couldn't be bothered. Let it ring.

"This was precisely what the telephone did. The instrument continued to ring noisily until Lottie rose unwillingly, walked to the little sicken bedroom and flung herself down in a chair, prepared for an exhaustive chat. Lottie was a victim of 'telephonia,'" once she persuaded herself to take up the receiver.

Her voice answered sharply and rather anxiously, Mona thought. Almost immediately Lottie was back in the living room.

"It's for you," she said. "For me?" Mona looked blank. "Why? no one knows I'm here—not even Mother!"

Lottie shrugged. "Then it's someone who took great pains to locate you," she observed.

Mona took up the telephone, and said "Hello." The voice at the other end of the wire was that of Morgan, Barry Townsend's valet. Mr. Townsend presented his compliments and asked if the young ladies would care to come up for a late supper? The gentlemen were dressing, and they had instructed Morgan to call several numbers until Miss Moran was located.

As a matter of fact Morgan had been instructed to call out "the police, the fire department and the marines," but the discreet valet understood these exaggerations and modified his instructions to suit the circumstances.

The car would call for the young ladies in half an hour, he said. "Let's go," urged Mona. "Do, Lottie! I can't go alone. Steve's been busy at some business or other and I haven't seen him for an age."

"All of two days I'll bet! However, I like to see the young folks get together and far be it from me, Lottie Carr, to ruin any love-love maiden's plans!"

The blue velvet pajama jacket went hurling across the room, caught on a picture frame over Lottie's bed. She burrowed in the closet, selecting an evening gown for herself and another for Mona.

Mona wheeled about. "Love-love? What do you mean by that?"

"What do I mean by love-love? Why, just that. Love-love! You're head over heels in love."

"Don't be ridiculous, Lottie."

Lottie held her gown, a soft white halo of chiffon, above her lovely head. She let it fall and instantly she was smiling her provoking smile.

"So I'm ridiculous?" she said, setting the gown carefully about her hips and surveying the effect in the mirror. Then she looked back at Mona. "Ridiculous? Not at all! You're in love, my girl, or my name isn't Lottie Sherlock William Burns Carr."

"Do you think I'm in love with Steve Sacerelli? Why, you know I'm not!"

"I didn't say Steve. You're in love with Barry Townsend!"

"Barry? What in the world makes you think that?"

"Oh, I read it in the Gazette. Now hurry! Let's be off to the festivities. And, by the way, I'll take care of Steve. He won't mind!"

"I'll call up Bud," Mona decided as they were about to leave the apartment. "I'll tell him I'm going to be home late."

Her telephone call was promptly followed by another. It was a message from Buck Harkins to Bud Moran.

"Go after her in a couple of hours," Buck instructed. "Tell her your mother is sick, see? And while she's putting on her hat get an impression of the door. Keep your eyes open, Kid, and your mouth shut. It's a safe bet Steve will show those girls that diamond tonight!"

BREAST MILK BEST FOR YOUNG BABIES

Infant Death Rate Higher if Cow's Milk is Used, Bulletin Shows

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiea, the Health Magazine

Infant mortality rates signify the number of deaths of infants at birth, and from birth to one year of age. There are certain principles concerned in evaluating these rates. These principles indicate the means of attack against the diseases that caused the deaths and also the means of lowering these death rates.

As is pointed out in a recent bulletin of the League of Nations, infancy must be protected against three main dangers. First, difficulties that exist at birth; second, disturbances related to diet and digestion; and third, infectious disease.

Practically all deaths at birth and during the first seven days of life may be related to congenital and developmental defects. The infectious diseases and the disturbances of digestion concern infants somewhat older.

Any district in which the death rate of infants is 50 or less for each 1,000 births may be considered as having a low infant mortality rate. Any rate over 70 is considered a fairly high rate. Wherever rates are over 70 there is likely to be a considerable amount of disease of the stomach and intestines, and this represents the extra mortality.

In a previous series of articles in these columns I discussed some of the ways in which attention to the mother previous to the birth of the child would insure healthfulness of the mother and a lowered infant mortality rate.

The means which are used to reduce deaths at birth and within the first one or two weeks of life are concerned primarily with the health of the mother rather than that of the child. By preventing toxemia and a difficult childbirth the lives of both mother and infant may be saved.

It has been a rule in medicine for years to consider the health and life of the mother before that of the prospective child. It is always for the obstetrician to decide at the time of the emergency the measures that he is going to take with a view to saving the life of the mother and to doing everything possible to save the life of the child.

One of the greatest dangers to all infants is the danger of improper food. It happens, however, that this is also the easiest and most certainly overcome of all of the dangers. Mothers must be encouraged, in every possible case, to nurse their own babies.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

"Prairie Chronicle" is Interesting Novel of Pioneers in the 20th Century

"Prairie Chronicle," by Juana Foust, is a reminder that the pioneer era isn't quite as distant in point of time as we often suppose.

It is a novel that tells of the migration of the Collins family from the south to the west; a migration that began when the Civil War destroyed the family's prosperity, and that ended only when the second generation helped open up an empty section of New Mexico in the 20th century.

Chiefly it is the story of Return John Collins, who grew up in Oklahoma in territorial days and who led the long trek to New Mexico. In simple, forceful language the author describes that laborious journey, tells how these latter-day pioneers won their homes, and how they made their homes in the new land.

Return John, incidentally, is an interesting character as you will meet in a whole summer's reading. He was strong, stout, ruthless, and his swift death into meanness, trickery and finally into complete mental and physical disintegration under the blows of hard luck is very ably handled.

The latter part of the book, which tells how the up-to-date third generation rescued the family from the barren, hot, hard work of Return John and led it to the quiet, well-watered life in the west, is an excellent picture of our last pioneer period, and a curious, interesting story to boot.

"Prairie Chronicle" is published by Houghton Mifflin Co.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Burton
Copyright by H. A. Service, Inc.

A LESSON FROM THE CHINESE
I have just finished a belated reading of "The Good Earth" by Pearl Buck, the prize-winning epic of Chinese life. The story is a saga of Wang Lung, who rises from a poor young farmer to a prosperous gentleman.

We could learn something from the Chinese. They love their children and are, as we know especially proud of their boys. But their love is not emotional. It does not prevent the parent from studying each child and planning his life ahead according to that child's temperament, ability and necessity.

One of Wang Lung's boys was scholarly and quick to learn. Him he educated well. The next had a business turn. Very exactly therefore, he was apprenticed to a friend to learn figures and trade.

His vast acres he must leave in capable hands, so the third boy was kept on the land and trained. The girls were arranged for also, but here American custom cannot be seen. The marriages are not only a matter of bargain between parents but are consummated at an age that the Occidental mind resists.

The matter of selection and preparing his sons for auspicious careers, the quiet observation of their characters, his sympathy and understanding of their weakness and strength impressed me from the beginning.

Here was a real father. He had heard nothing of psychology. He could not even read or write his name.

And yet no Freud, Adler or Watson could have found fault with his "conditioning" of his sons for special work when they were still boys.

There was no time wasted by hit or miss general education, no turning out a lot of square pegs at 22 or 23 to be fitted into any round or triangular hole the world might have to offer.

Our American fathers follow the custom here today if it is not their fault. One swallow cannot make a summer and one father cannot take an educational system into his hands and say that ten million are wrong and he is right.

But perhaps these fathers are to blame after all. If they had interest, I think that long ago we would have evolved a system of life preparation for both boys and girls that starts to condition them and mold them at 12 instead of 20.

We would have more energetic young people working with interested enthusiasm toward a real goal, not a vague groping after they graduate, trying to find a niche to fill somewhere.

Taking a child early, discovering his real interest and ability, realizing the shape of the place he desires to fill and then helping him to fill it, would obviate painful disappointments later.

Despite the happening at Geneva, it seems as if there will be no war in the future. Nations have at last learned how to break each other without fighting.

Joe Says Iso-Hollo "Outfoxed" Him Near Finish

Highlights In Career Of McCluskey's Rival

Iso-Hollo Is One of World's Best Runners; Competes In 5,000 and 10,000 Meters, Besides Steeplechase.

Here's a brief history of the athletic career of Volmar Iso-Hollo of Finland, who outran Joe McCluskey to set a new Olympic record in the trials of the 3,000-meter steeplechase yesterday afternoon. Iso-Hollo was timed in 9:14.6 and experts predict that he will triumph in the final Saturday, because of his tremendous reserve power.

Iso-Hollo is rated as one of the best long-distance runners in the world. He is a young Lehtinen of the same kind of blood that Ville Ritola was to be Paavo Nurmi. Iso-Hollo is not overburdened with age, for this summer he will be 25 years old. By profession he is a typesetter and lives at Kerava near Helsinki and is married.

Iso-Hollo began his athletic career as a promising skier and is still good on skis. He developed into a runner while in the army in 1927, and belonged at first to the Finnish Workers' Athletic Union, taking part in the Moscow Spartakiade in 1928 with good success. In 1929 he changed over to the Suomen Urheiluliitto (Athletic Union of Finland), after which began his development into the highest class. Already that year Iso-Hollo covered the 5,000-m. distance in 15:00.3. In 1930 his best times were 5,000 m. in 14:53.6 and 10,000 m. in 31:19.6.

Last year Iso-Hollo took a great stride forward, running 5,000 m. in 14:36.3 and 10,000 m. without rest, in 30:51.4. The latter result, which Iso-Hollo achieved on the Stockholm Stadium track in the Sweden-Finland match, he ran in the blue singlet of Finland together with Paavo Nurmi. Their Swedish competitors were so much inferior that Nurmi and Iso-Hollo could have settled down to walk in between. The Swedish runner, who had a leg together to the last lap, then exerted themselves in earnest, Nurmi beating Iso-Hollo by a couple of metres. The experts believe that Iso-Hollo would have been capable of running 10,000 m. last summer in about 30:30.

This year Iso-Hollo covered 5,000 metres in 14:18.3. Iso-Hollo has made quite a number of competition trips abroad, to Germany, Sweden, Norway and other countries.

SIMON PURES BATTLE IN TEN STAR BOUTS

Crystal Lake Card Starts At 8:30 Tonight; Paganini Meets Britt.

Tonight at Sandy Beach Arena, Crystal Lake, the weekly amateur boxing show will get under way at 8:30 with Matchmaker George Groch again featuring ten star bouts. The weekly shows at the Arena are drawing capacity crowds due to the well matched bouts and fighting seen there.

On tonight's card, Romeo Dube, the hard hitting welterweight from Holyoke, tackles the popular Young Leonard of Stafford. Both these boys have been the victors in all their recent fights, meeting the best in the Simon pure ranks. Without a doubt Leonard and Dube are the two leading welterweights in the amateurs today. In bringing these two boys together Matchmaker Groch has scored in securing a bout that will give the fans a fight long to be remembered for its action and punch.

Raymond Paganini, the tough little Italian boy from Manchester, will, on tonight's card be given another chance at Jimmy Britt, the Flyweight Champ of Rockville. Paganini and Britt met once before at the Town hall in Rockville during the indoor season with Paganini losing a very close fight. With this chance to even things tonight Paganini is confident he can defeat the Rockville boy and even the score against him.

Good luck, Paganini. At Sattrby, the boy who last week at Capitol Park, Hartford, gave Wally Bonola a real beating, stacks against Sal Canata of Holyoke, Sattrby, a Rockville boy and a stablemate of Britt, is fast coming to the fore by his steady wins, but will find in the Bay State boy a puncher as will as a boxer and one who will give him plenty of trouble.

Young Griffo, the East Hartford Terror, meets Peter Burke of Ware, Mass. Griffo, a colorful little fighter, and one who is always punching will give a tough customer in Burke as he has been in the ranks now for some time and has met and beat the best including Mike Murphy of East Hampton.

AMERICAN BEATS WRESTLING CHAMP

Big Upset in Heavyweight Division At Olympics; Winners of Trials.

Los Angeles, Aug. 2.—(AP)—With one defending champion out of the way and another in a precarious position, catch as catch can grapplers of Finland, United States, Sweden, France and Hungary today led in the quest for 1932 Olympic crowns.

Osvald Kapp, husky little Estonian who won the lightweight title at Amsterdam in 1928, was eliminated after two straight defeats in the opening rounds. He lost to Charles Paocome, France, and then to Charles Karpati, Hungary.

The big surprise came in the light heavyweight class when Pete Mahringer, American from the University of Kansas, conquered Thure Sjostedt, Sweden, welterweight. Mahringer immediately was installed a favorite.

Finland started today's milling with five undefeated bone-brules. The United States boasted four, Sweden three, Hungary and France two each, and Canada, Germany, Australia, Japan and Greece, one each.

Other American winners were Robert Pearce, Cushing, Okla., bantamweight, two victories; Edgar Nemi, University of California; featherweight, Jack van Bebber, Perry, Okla., representing Los Angeles Athletic Club, welterweight.

GIBSON SUDDENLY BECOMES MIRACLE MAN OF BASEBALL

Pirates' Veteran Coach Guides Team From Cellar To Top of National League; Pennant Seems Sure.

New York, Aug. 2.—Down in Pittsburgh they are saying that George Gibson is the miracle man of 1932, and so long as baseball must have a miracle man at stated intervals, it appears George will do very well until a better miracle man comes along.

But the miracle George is working with the Pirates is not that downy requirement of a hat and a couple of bunnies to perform. The elements of the old catcher has compounded into his current phenomenon are the open secrets of good coaching, good luck and the sweetest set of signals you ever saw.

The team started the season as if to better last year's record of misfortune by winning the cellar championship from the Reds. After a month of indifferent baseball, the Pirates were a bang-up last, having won 12 out of 30 starts. The experts looked upon this outfit with something of an "I-told-you-so" expression, since not one of the experts had given the club a pre-campaign tumble.

Suddenly the pitchers, coached by the fiery old pitcher Doc Crandall and by Gibson, an old catcher himself, began to function. The fielding was spotty but the Pirates were hitting.

Holdout Heinie Meine returned to strengthen the staff. Steve Swetonic came off the shelf as a regular starter and finisher. Bill Harris proved a pleasant surprise with some excellent pitching, as did Larry French.

The Pirates, taking a jump at a time when last year's first, are now at the head of the home stretch appear to be a club that can't be headed.

Good luck with recruits helped to furnish the balance that made the club, to say the least, the best. The small lot of teams in the National League.

Fioryd Vaughan turned out to be one of the season's discoveries at shortstop. Tony Piet came through at second base. Dave Barbee, a big twister from the Coast League, finally began to indicate that he was an outsider, after all, and not a moving picture as had been suspected for several seasons.

The Pirates caught the old college spirit, and even though Lloyd Waner, Heinie Meine and Pie Traynor, who went out for some time because of injuries, the boys continued their irresistible rush toward the top position.

World's Greatest Athlete

Finland is proud of her runners and javelin throwers, but her special pride and joy happens to be "Pappa" Jarvinen's husky son, Achilles, shown above. Unofficially, he is the best all-round athlete in the world. He holds to make the 100 official in the Olympic games. Achilles has a record of more than 800 points scored in the 10-event decathlon. The world record, set by Paavo Yrjola, another Finn, at the 1928 Olympics, is only 8088.29 points.

JOHNSON IS FIVE UP END OF FIRST ROUND

Plays Harry Megson Again Tonight In Finals For President's Cup—His Opponent Not In Good Form Carding a 99.

Charlie Johnson led Harry Megson five up as their first round match in the President's cup golf tournament ended last night at the local Country club course. Another 18 holes in this final match will be played tonight and if Johnson plays his usual consistent game he should be the winner. Johnson's medal score for the first 18 was 79 while Megson was off his recent form with a 99.

Johnson had to give Megson 12 strokes last night and he gives him 12 strokes again tonight. Strange to say Johnson lost three holes to Megson without considering stroke handicap but Megson went bad on several holes carrying an eight, a pair of sevens and too many sixes.

Megson can play much better golf than he displayed last evening since he has been consistently in the middle 80's. Provided he plays much better golf tonight he can still give Johnson a hard battle although five holes is a lot to overcome.

Only one Chamber of Commerce tournament match was played last night. Harry Benson defeated G. R. Willis in a second round battle by the score of 6 and 5.

Yesterday the local Country club caddies were host to the caddies from the Wetherhead Country club and they took a beating. Wetherhead got 14 1-2 points while Manchester gathered 13 1-2. The scores follow:

PHONE INQUIRIES ON MCCLUSKEY SWAMP HERALD

Records Here Broken As 690 Call In First Hour and Quarter; Over 1,000 Telephone For Results.

All records were broken at the Herald office last night between 9:15 and 10:30 p. m., when members of the staff answered 690 telephone calls for news of the Los Angeles Olympic trials in the 3,000-meter steeplechase in which Joseph McCluskey, Manchester runner, placed second to the great Finnish runner, Iso-Hollo.

Announcement was made in The Herald yesterday that the Herald would cover the race which was due to start at 9:15 or 9:45 p. m., according to which heat the local runner was entered in. The office was opened at 9 o'clock, and calls were coming in at that time and continued intermittently until the time set for possible returns. It so happened that the events were slow in starting, several women's events coming ahead of the 3,000 meter steeplechase.

Outside of the Herald building a crowd of 600 was gathered to learn, at first hand, the success of the town's pride in the grueling race. Calls continued to come in long after the race result was supposed to be over, and the callers indicated that they intended to stand by with the Herald staff until the result was flashed over the wires from Los Angeles, no matter how long the delay.

At 10:37, after well over 1,000 inquiries had been received, the news came from Los Angeles: "McCluskey places second in second heat, two feet behind Iso-Hollo of Finland, after a sprint at the finish line!"

In a split second the news went out to all Manchester and the three office phones rang continuously. The information was also megaphoned to the crowd waiting outside. A great cheer went up from the assemblage when the news came that the former high school track star, after a week's illness with grip, had raced the last 100 meters in the long, grueling race, sprinting with the Finnish prodigy at the tape to lose by a scant two feet.

From the time the Herald received the news, until nearly 11:30 p. m., hundreds more of calls were answered. Immediately upon receipt of the result, the Herald notified Mrs. John McCluskey at her home on Foster street. Mrs. McCluskey was overjoyed to know that her son, after a period of sickness, had come through in the trials, qualifying for the finals next Saturday.

"We feel now that Joe is himself again, that he will come through with flying colors next Saturday," said his brother John. "He should better his time and run a stronger race."

There was, and still promises to be, great interest in the 3,000 meter steeplechase, the finals of which are scheduled to be run some time next Saturday. As yet no information has been received regarding the scheduled hour of the steeplechase finals, but the Herald will furnish the results coming direct from Los Angeles over the Associated Press wire instantly after the finish.

In addition to the results given out over the Herald telephones to residents of Manchester and vicinity, the facts of the race will be megaphoned from the Herald building.

Calls came in over the Herald phone last night from homes, pay stations in Manchester, Hartford and many other surrounding towns, these calls being distinguished because of the momentary delay in getting them through. During the busiest part of the night, at approximately 10:45 p. m., the calls were continuous on three phones. So many were on the Herald wires that the stock phrase "McCluskey qualifies" was heard in the second heat, two feet behind Iso-Hollo of Finland, time 9:14:19.6, was about all that could be transmitted during the rush. Full details of the great race will be found on the Herald sport page today, written by Alex. Gault, Associated Press sports editor.

PIRATES-EAGLES

The Pirates defeated the Eagles in the Y. M. C. A. League last night by the score of 7 to 3. Cargo twisted for the victors and although he was asked for nine bingles kept them pretty well scattered. The Eagles scored in the first, second and seventh. The Pirates could not score until the fifth when they started like a tornado, getting seven runs.

Wednesday night the West Side will play the Cardinals.

This gave Glenn Hardin, American, the distinction of moving into world record company despite being beaten. Hardin finished second in 52 seconds and this was accepted as equalling Taylor's mark. Taylor was third and the defending champion Lord David Burgley of England fourth.

Officials said paid attendance for the two days of sparkling competition in the stadium approximated 110,000.

and, but he didn't talk to me, as some of the boys thought.

May Beat Him
"What I have to do Saturday in the finals is go out and beat down from the start, if I hope to beat him. Those who said he has no sprint because of the way he finishes against Kusoinaki are mistaken. He has too much for me. Perhaps if he runs the 5,000 meters, too, I'll have a chance to beat him. My time was 9:14.7, one-tenth slow."

This was McCluskey's first defeat in a steeplechase. He leads the strongest trio the United States has yet sent into an Olympic 3,000 meter steeplechase. Tom Evenson of England lowered the Olympic mark to 9:18.5 in the first trial with Walter Pritchard, called Mattie, at his heels. Then in the second heat Iso-Hollo clipped it again to 9:14.6 with McCluskey behind him by a narrow margin. Glen Dawson followed Joe in.

Ten Ben Saturday
Ten will run in the finals Saturday. They are Evenson, Great Britain; Pritchard, U. S.; Toivonen, Finland; Lippi, Italy; Bartolini, Italy; Iso-Hollo, Finland; McCluskey, U. S.; Dawson, U. S.; Bailey, Great Britain; and Mattie, Finland. The time the race will be run is not known yet.

U. S. BRILLIANT

On the creation of a record-breaking feat unparalleled in world athletic competition, American moved swiftly into a commanding position in the Olympic track and field championships, as a result of the most smashed victory for the nation's sprinters in eight years.

The first brilliant chapter of the U. S. coronation in the realm of human speed was completed yesterday when two black thunderbolts blitzed down the Olympic cinderpath. They were so close together at the finish that only the motion pictures finally could establish the Eddie Tolan of Detroit beat Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette by two inches in the world record equalling the time of 10.3 seconds for the Olympic 100 meter championship.

Run Again Today
Without a day of rest, Tolan and Metcalfe along with their two closest rivals, Arthur Jonah of Germany and George Simpson, third American sprinter, were scheduled for the first two rounds of the two hundred meter trials.

The continuation of the speed whirl shared the third day's track program interest, were a final heat in which the new British champion, Long Tom Hampton faced the challenge of three Americans, Eddie Genung, Charles Hornbostel and Ned Turner, among others.

Meanwhile the dazzling Olympic comeback featured at the crowning of two sturdy Irish champions, bury Patrick O'Callaghan in the hammer throw for the second straight Olympiad and slim Robert Merion Tisdall in the 400 meter hurdles, a feat which the new British champion, Long Tom Hampton faced the challenge of three Americans, Eddie Genung, Charles Hornbostel and Ned Turner, among others.

FRENCH VICTOR IN FOIL FINALS. Competition So Close Judges Had To Use Points; Americans Are Third.

Los Angeles, Aug. 2.—(AP)—In competition so close that it was necessary to decide the victor on points, France was declared winner early today over Italy in the team foil finals of the 1932 Olympic games.

The bouts ended in an 8 to 8 tie, and the French fencers were declared victors when the judges ruled they had scored 62 points to the Italians' 58.

France and Italy began the final match shortly after midnight after the United States team had been eliminated from a three-way tie.

The United States had beaten France on points in one competition, but in another match of the round robin play, had lost 10 to 6. Italy defeated the United States 9 to 1.

By being among the last three survivors, the American fencers automatically took third place, the highest Olympic rating they ever have won.

Results of the competition: France defeated Italy 8-8 (points 62-58).

Denmark defeated Mexico 11 to 5. Italy defeated Mexico 16 to 2. France defeated Argentina 12 to 4.

United States defeated France 8-8 (points 60-54). Italy defeated Denmark 12-4.

France defeated Denmark 10-6. Italy defeated United States 11 to 5.

France defeated United States 10-5. Italy defeated United States 9 to 1.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY IS FORMED IN CANADA. Calgary, Alberta, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Canada today had a new political party, the "co-operative commonwealth federation."

The aim of the new group will be to establish a "planned system of social economy for the production, distribution and exchange of all goods and services."

GAS BUGGIES—Keep Out

By FRANK BECK

Said Duncy, "This giraffe is fine, I only wish that it was mine. I think that I could ride on it and see that would be fun."

SENSE AND NONSENSE

The Doctor's Lament
Last night when others were at rest
I rode about and did my best
To save some patients, called by fate,
From traveling through the Golden Gate.
This morning, when the news I read,
I thought they might as well have died.
"TWO HUNDRED INJURED IN A WRECK."
"MAN FALLS, SUSTAINS A BROKEN NECK."
"TWO DROWN WHILE ROCKING A CANOE."
"GRADE CROSSING MURDERS TWENTY-TWO."
"GAS BLAST TAKES LIVES OF TWENTY-THREE."
"TWO DIE 'NEATH FALLING APPLE TREE."
All night I toiled to save one life,
And millions die in useless strife;
What is the use to make one well,
While thousands harken to death's knell?
Where is labor's recompense?
Why can't the world have common sense?

The country deacon has just come home from a convention of his church in a large city. His wife was busily plying him with questions:
Wife—I guess you heard a lot of swell singin' in that big church?
Deacon—Yep! but they sang mostly a lot of them there anthems.
Wife—What's anthems?
Deacon—Well, I don't know jist 'sactly how to explain that to you, but it's like this. The cows are in the pasture. That wouldn't be no anthem. But supposin' I said: "The cows, the spotted cows, the brindled cows, the mottled cows are in the pasture, pasture, pasture." That would be an anthem.

THIS 'N THAT: Men with ideas are common enough, but men who can spot a good idea in a mass of worthless ideas are rare. We have noticed that the men who fumble the words of "The Star Spangled Banner" know every syllable of "Sweet Adeline". To worry about that which has happened is futile; to fret about that which possibly may happen is foolish. . . . Almost every day they take somebody to the hospital for observation. Folks don't have a bit of privacy any more. . . . Most of us have had to do without a lot of things for the last two years, and it's a wonder the government can't do the same. . . . The haberdashery stores are showing shirts with little stiff bosoms and the rest of the garment of different cloth. They think up things like that for us rubes. . . . One-but-union suits make is easier for the laundry to score 100 per cent in ripping them off. . . . A girl is never so green that she doesn't know a blue-white diamond. . . . All that seems to save some men is their blunders. . . . We may be a trifle vague as to who won the war, but we have a fairly good idea of who's paying for it. . . . A good many of the after-dinner speakers need a calendar instead of a watch. . . . Aren't some boys dead easy? They let every girl they brush up against sweep them right off their feet. . . . The poorest wheel on the wagon is usually the one which makes the most noise. . . . Just about the time a man reaches the age of discretion people begin to call him grandpa.

Lady—Here's the money for cleaning my window.
Window Cleaner—It's already paid for, madame.
Lady—You mean my husband took care of it?
Window Cleaner—No, ma'am. It was the young man in the apartment across the street.

ANOTHER WAY TO SAVE MONEY, OF WHICH NOBODY SEEMS TO HAVE THOUGHT, IS TO LEAVE THE LETTUCE OFF THE COLD MEAT PLATES AT BUSINESSMEN'S LUNCHES.

Visitor—What a unique town. Brashville Citizen—Unique? Visitor—Yes, taken from the Latin, UNUS meaning ONE, and EQUUS meaning HORSE.

It is quite interesting to look at a month-old baby and mediate upon the very million or so ideas, notions and fancies it hasn't got in its head.

Jim—Heien's the very picture of health.
May—Yes, and she painted it herself, too.
