

WALKER DECISION TO BE DELAYED

Court Order Obtained Which Delays It Until August 19; May Even Push It Beyond November Election.

Executive Chamber, Albany, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Possibility that Governor Roosevelt's decision on the ouster charges against Mayor James J. Walker of New York City may be delayed until after next November's election developed today when Roosevelt announced he would withhold his action until after the question of his removal powers went to the courts.

Shortly after the morning session of the Walker hearing now in its second day, the governor stated he would not pass upon the mayor's case until the Supreme Court has had an opportunity to determine the legality of a writ of prohibition, demanded by George Donnelly, secretary of the Bronx Chamber of Commerce.

Meets August 19. The Supreme Court does not meet until August 19. Donnelly, rebuffed in three courts, today obtained from Justice Harold J. Hinman of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, an order instructing Mr. Roosevelt to explain his jurisdiction. The governor directed Attorney General John J. Egan, Jr., to prepare argument on the legality of the action.

Mr. Bennett, leaving Governor Roosevelt's office after a five minute conference, said: "The governor sent for me immediately and told me to notify Judge Hoffman that he would show no discourtesy to the court and would withhold his decision until the courts had passed upon his authority."

The Supreme Court is the trial court of New York and corresponds to district courts in most states. Should either party to the litigation dispute the action of the Supreme Court and that likely would develop no matter what decision was given, the way would be open for appeals to the Appellate Division and finally the court of last resort, the Court of Appeals. But a final word came from that court, it is possible that Mr. Roosevelt's candidacy for the presidency will have been passed upon by the people.

Both the Appellate Division and the Court of Appeals now are in recess. They may however be called into special session at any time by the presiding judge.

The surprising court action entirely subordinated the events of the hearing session in which Mayor Walker resumed testifying, denying he had profited by the granting of a bus franchise.

SECOND SESSION. Executive Chamber, Albany, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Mayor James J. Walker of New York arrived in the executive chamber shortly after 9:15 a. m., (Eastern Standard Time) today for the second session of the public hearing before Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of charges demanding his removal from office on evidence presented before the Hofstadter legislative committee.

Mrs. Walker was not with him this morning. She attended the opening session yesterday. Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter committee, arrived a few moments before Walker.

The mayor was dressed in the same dark suit he wore yesterday. A small crowd in the corridors of Waterbury, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Charles J. De Blasech, Fifth Ward Republican leader, this afternoon served notice on Mrs. Mabel Preusser, presiding officer at the meeting of the New Haven county and Litchfield county Women's Christian Temperance Unions, that he will attend the session this afternoon, and in his capacity as a trustee of Mill Plain Union church will throw Albert Levitt out of the church for political purposes. He said he was then assured by Mrs. Preusser that the meeting was non-political. Later he heard that Mr. Bingham had been attacked by several speakers and telephoned Mrs. Preusser with his ultimatum. Mr. Levitt is expected to arrive at the meeting shortly before 8 o'clock.

FERNANDES CALM, WALKING TO CHAIR

Murderer Shakes Hands With Officials Before He Pays Penalty For Crime.

Boston, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Sylvester Norman Fernandes, 22, of Mashpee was electrocuted at the state prison early today for the murder of John Alves, 44-year-old cranberry picker.

Alves was found shot to death last December in his Barnstable home. Fernandes, arrested a few days later, confessed, police said, he killed Alves and stole $150.

Fernandes was calm as he stepped into the death chamber and asked permission to shake hands "with two good friends," Dr. James L. McLaughlin, prison physician, and Deputy Sheriff James E. Bowes, in charge of the Barnstable county jail, where he was incarcerated before being brought to state prison. Both men stepped forward and shook his hand.

The doomed man said "good bye" to the other witnesses and died reciting a prayer.

Leaves Three Letters. Fernandes gave three letters for delivery to Fr. Ralph W. Farrell, prison chaplain, shortly before the hour of death. One was for his wife and the others to friends on the Cape who identities were not made public.

Medical Examiner George Burgess Magrath of Suffolk county was prevented from witnessing the execution by other business. Prison officials said it was the first execution he has missed since he has held his present office.

The official witnesses were: Lt. Col. Thomas F. Tierney, surgeon general of Massachusetts; Dr. William H. Waters, representing Dr. McLaughlin; Dr. Samuel M. Martin, assistant prison physician; Deputy Sheriff Bowes; Warden James L. Hogsett of state prison; Fr. Farrell; James Lee, intern at the Chelsea Marine hospital; and Thomas J. Riley representing the Associated Press.

SKULL OF CLARKE SHOWN TO JURY

Gruesome Exhibit At Lancaster Murder Trial—Doctor Explains Wounds.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The bullet-pierced skull of Haden Clarke, writer and mysteriously slain fiancé of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, was brought into the court room today at the trial of Captain W. N. Lancaster for Clarke's murder.

The skull, along with slides showing parts of the head were brought before the jury and spectators by Dr. M. H. Tallman, defense witness and one of a commission of four specialists who conducted an autopsy on the body of the young author.

The two bullet holes, one marking entrance of the bullet that fatally wounded Clarke on April 21, and the other marking the exit were pointed out by Dr. Tallman as the two jurors in the case leaned forward in their chairs, their expressions varying from acute interest to horror.

Looks at Skull. Lancaster, charged with slaying Clarke as an act of jealous retribution after the author replaced him in the affections of Mrs. Keith-Miller, peered intently at the skull.

Beverly Clarke, brother of the young author, betrayed no emotion as he sat at the table of the prosecuting attorney.

Mrs. Keith-Miller, third figure in the unusual love triangle was not in the courtroom when the skull was shown. Neither was Mrs. Ida Clyde Clarke, mother of the dead man, who was subpoenaed as a witness in trial, but who has not testified.

NO LEVITT ENDORSEMENT. Waterbury, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Joint meeting of the New Haven county and Litchfield county Women's Christian Temperance Unions meeting here today intends to take no action to endorse the candidacy of Albert J. Levitt, of Redding for United States senator, opposing Senator Hiram Bingham. This statement was made this morning by Mrs. Mabel Preusser of Waterbury, president of the New Haven county union who is presiding at the joint meeting. The W. C. T. U. cannot officially endorse a political candidate, she said, because its membership is composed of both Republicans and Democrats.

Walker Arrives (Early) at Hearing

Belying the customary tardiness which won for him the title of "the late Mayor of New York," Jimmy Walker is shown here as he arrived—twelve minutes early—at the State Capitol in Albany, N. Y., to make a public defense of removal charges against him. The mayor, attired in a neat blue suit, is indicated by arrow, and directly ahead of him is Mrs. Walker. Large street throngs witnessed their arrival.

RIOTS CONTINUE ALL OVER SPAIN

Mobbs Try To Burn Churches But Fires Are Extinguished By Volunteers.

Madrid, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Rioting and burning redoubled much of Southern Spain today as the government laid plans to punish General Juan Sanjurjo leader of Wednesday's abortive rebellion, and his followers.

One man was killed and three were wounded at Santa Fe when civil guards dispersed a group which burned the Agrarian Casino. One workman was killed in a political fight between laborers and employers.

A vigil guard was killed at Seville when a mob attacked the jail.

Churches Set Afire. In the towns of San Lucas and Aznalcala, mobs set fire to the churches, but the fires were extinguished by civilian volunteers.

In Santiponce a mob attacked the mayor, seized his cane and began to beat him with it. He was rescued by a group of town hall guards.

A line of guards was stationed around the building of the newspaper Las Provincias at Valencia to protect it.

The bullet-pierced skull of Haden Clarke, writer and mysteriously slain fiancé of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, was brought into the court room today at the trial of Captain W. N. Lancaster for Clarke's murder.

German Parties Plan Coalition. New Cabinet May Be Formed of Hitlerites and Members of Centrists.

Berlin, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A possibility that Germany's next government may be dominated by a coalition of Adolf Hitler's National Socialists and the Centrist Party of former Chancellor Heinrich Brüning emerged today as Berlin awaited the return of Adolf Hitler for conferences with President Paul von Hindenburg.

The Telegraphen Union said Hitler would NOT arrive today and the conferences would NOT be held until tomorrow.

The Centrists, although their representation in the new Reichstag will be comparatively small, occupy a pivotal position.

Centrists' Demands. They have made an emphatic demand that the new Cabinet be formed on strictly constitutional lines with the Nazis bearing a great share of the responsibility.

HOOVER BASES HIS WHOLE CASE ON RECORD, PLANS FOR FUTURE

Views of Candidates On Various Problems

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP)—which we have in motion so that this is what Presidential candidates of the two big parties say about prohibition: "When we get the chance, the Federal government will assume solid leadership." Our Republican leaders tell us economic laws cause panics which no one could prevent. We must lay hold of the fact that economic laws are not made by nature. They are made by human beings.

War debts: Hoover—if for any particular annual payment we were offered some other tangible form of compensation such as expansion of markets for American agriculture and labor, and the restoration and maintenance of our prosperity then I am sure our citizens would consider such a proposal.

Roosevelt—I am confident that the United States of America wants repeal—when that happens we as Democrats must and will enable the states to protect themselves against the importation of intoxicating liquors which our importations violate their state laws. We must rightly and morally prevent the return of the saloon.

Tariff: Hoover—I am squarely for a protective tariff. I am against the proposal of a "competitive tariff for revenue" as advocated by our opponents. That would place our farmers and our workers in competition with peasant and sweated labor products.

Roosevelt—I accept that admirable tariff statement in the platform of this convention (advocating "a competitive tariff for revenue, with a fact finding tariff commission, free from executive interference").

Reconstruction: Hoover—I am today organizing the private industrial and financial resources of the country to cooperate effectively with the vast governmental instrumentalities.

PROHIBITION REFORM ALSO ON PROGRAM

Sees Present Problems As Only Eighteen Months Old, First Phase of Depression Having Been Under Control When Europe Collapsed—Gives Credit To Democrats For Aid But Attacks Garner Policies—Demands Roosevelt Explain Tariff Position—Audience Astonished When President Goes Beyond Platform In Advocating Prohibition Change.

Raps Dry Law

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A presidential call for prohibition reform and a promise to beat down the economic "hurricane" leads Republicans into the 1932 campaign.

An astonished and tensely expectant audience of Republican leaders heard Mr. Hoover last night in his speech of formal acceptance of renomination go far beyond his party platform and demand a new order of liquor control.

"I cannot consent to the continuation of this regime," said the President solemnly.

There was applause. But the Republican hosts who had frequently interrupted Mr. Hoover's challenges to Democrats on their tariff and House records seemed surprised. It wasn't the same applause.

However, as the man whose hair has grayed considerably in four years of presidential care concluded his carefully prepared address, Senator Fess of Ohio, long a prohibition champion, was applauding with the rest. A moment later he gave his benediction to the prohibition suggestion.

"A Common Ground." Mr. Hoover proposed as a "common ground" for "all reasonable people" that:

"Each state shall be given the right to deal with the problem as it may determine, but subject to absolute guarantees in the Constitution of the United States to protect each state from interference and invasion by its neighbors, and that in no part of the United States shall there be a return of the saloon system with its inevitable political and social corruption and its interference with other states."

He said the Democratic plan for outright repeal meant a return of the saloon. He pointed to the "boot-licker and speaker" of the present regime.

Before and after the eagerly awaited prohibition declaration the President dressed in serge coat and white trousers, told the sweltering guests and a vast nation-wide radio audience just what he stood for, what he had done and what he contemplated.

Only once did he mention the Republican party. He willingly gave credit to the Democratic members of Congress who helped in enactment of the emergency reconstruction measures. He attacked the Democratic proposal of a "competitive tariff for revenue."

Mr. Hoover asked re-election on his record. The word "I" appeared frequently. Also did the phrases "I shall persist in that" or "I shall continue to oppose that" as he ran scale of governmental problems and political issues.

"I rest the case of the Republican Party on the intelligence and the just discernment of the American people" he concluded. "Should my countrymen again place upon me the responsibilities of this high office, I shall carry forward the work of reconstruction. I shall hope long before another four years have passed to see the world prosperous and at peace and every American home again in the sunshine of genuine prosperity."

The threat of Republican days a generation ago was woven into the picture by the presence of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of his former president.

Readers Presides. Everett Sanders, secretary to Calvin Coolidge and new chairman of the National Committee, presided. Representative Snell of New York, chairman of the notification committee, formally told Mr. Hoover of his nomination.

Mr. Hoover hammered away on the economic emergency and steps to decide the fundamental question for themselves, will meet with the approval of the people of Connecticut as that has been the contention of the party and all of its representatives in both branches of Congress since the ratification of the 18th Amendment was refused by this state.

Democratic leaders declined for the present to comment on the address.

PRESIDENT TURNS BACK TO 18th. AMENDMENT

Goes Further Than His Party On That Issue—Says Change Is Necessary, In His Acceptance Speech.

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP)—President Hoover has turned his back on the Eighteenth Amendment.

He last night not only espoused a new saloonless, state-option plan of liquor control under Federal constitution safeguard, but recited what he saw as consequences of the present system which led him to declare:

"I cannot consent to the continuation of this regime," and: "a change is necessary."

These words, swept him, the leader of his party, far beyond the platform declaration of that party, which proposed only that the plan which he has now espoused be submitted to the people for decision.

They left the supporters of existing prohibition with a dilemma more difficult than the one that faced them when the two major party conventions had recorded their views the one for submission of the Constitution-safeguarded alternative to the Eighteenth Amendment, the other pledged to outright repeal and Volstead modification.

Roosevelt's Stand. Against the words uttered by President Hoover both wet and dry groups have the stand of Franklin D. Roosevelt:

"This convention wants repeal," he said to the Chicago convention. "Your candidate was repeal. And I am confident that the United States of America wants repeal. I say to you now that from this date on the Eighteenth Amendment is doomed."

For himself and for the party, he also espoused protection of dry states against imports of liquor and states against imports of liquor and states against imports of liquor.

EDITORIAL VIEWS ON HOOVER SPEECH

Following are some editorial comments on the President's speech:

New Haven Register: President Hoover's entire speech of acceptance was a carefully considered and direct exposition of his policies.

He declared his belief that liquor control should be returned to the states. He has repudiated the straddle involved in the resubmission plank of the party platform and has moved forward to express his own conviction. x x x it will be easy to find opponents to suggest that it was time he did this. x x x but such suggestions cannot obscure the fact that President Hoover has taken prohibition out of politics."

Hartford Courant—"What he says on this contentious issue is, like the Republican platform itself, calculated to make some measure of appeal to both the supporters and the opponents of prohibition."

RORABACK LAUDS HOOVER ADDRESS

"A Dignified and Masterful Presentation," Says G. O. P. Leader of State.

Hartford, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Chairman J. Henry Roraback of the Republican State Central committee in commenting on the Hoover speech said today:

"The President's acceptance speech was a dignified and masterful presentation to the country of a few of the many great and critical problems which have confronted it during the past three years. Too few people have made an honest endeavor to appreciate or even understand them. The clear cut and unequivocal manner in which he stated his position upon many of these problems must appeal to all fair-minded people. Upon the much discussed question of prohibition his declaration, 'I shall persist in that' or 'I shall continue to oppose that' as he ran scale of governmental problems and political issues. 'I rest the case of the Republican Party on the intelligence and the just discernment of the American people' he concluded. 'Should my countrymen again place upon me the responsibilities of this high office, I shall carry forward the work of reconstruction. I shall hope long before another four years have passed to see the world prosperous and at peace and every American home again in the sunshine of genuine prosperity.'"

Britain Is Given Credit For Starting Market Boom

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The two percent discount rate did not bring an upheaval, a large portion of the British bondholding public began to figure up its lower security yields and it is said, cast its eyes on the American market.

Foreign buying almost immediately began to make its appearance on the New York Stock Exchange. Domestic traders and investors learned to begin to figure up its lower security yields and it is said, cast its eyes on the American market.

The present British war loan conversion is the largest of its kind attempted since the depression began.

STORM AT FIERCEST IN CENTER OF TOWN

Hail Comes With Downpour But Large Farm Areas Seem To Have Escaped.

A sudden hail storm of five minutes duration struck Manchester early this afternoon but farm and tobacco lands in the vicinity without serious damage as hail fell only in a restricted area. The most damage to crops occurred to the southeast of the town, according to a survey made immediately following the storm, although the brunt of it was felt in the center of the town.

Only a smattering of hail was reported by farmers directly north of Manchester, but the wind and rain was unusually severe in this section. The hailstorm swept in from the northwest, cutting across the center of the town and over Highland Park. Otto Nelson of Charter street reported that hail fell thicker at his home and that he had swept up a pile in his yard measuring two and one-half feet high. The west side of Manchester felt the storm heavily, vegetable and flower gardens being badly damaged.

Only slight damage from hail was reported in an area extending from the Collins farm on the Wapping-East Windsor Hill road, nor did the storm extend far enough to the east to carry hail to the Peop peach orchard. It seemed most severe when the storm swept over Manchester, the hailstones being about the size of marbles.

The nine point program may be extended as conditions warrant. We are to forget the past, if possible, and think of the future. Perhaps— Grappling with the prohibition problem he hewed closely to the G. O. platform. An effort to play with the drys with flitting with the wets remains starchy and evasive. Syracuse Post Standard: "The increasing measure of confidence with which America is facing its problems will be heightened by his message." The Knickerbocker Press, Albany: "Generally, it can be said, it (the Hoover address) supplies the management of the Republican campaign with ample ammunition for offensive and defensive purposes." Buffalo Evening News: "The address was such a presentation of the experiences of the government in one of the most trying periods which this nation ever has known that it must continue to be studied as one of the authoritative documents on these extraordinary years so long as they are a subject of human interest." Buffalo Times: "An exceedingly well written and, on the whole, frank statement of his conservative position. ... We get the impression of a sincere conservative, sobered by past mistakes and by vast responsibility." Chicago Daily News—The address as a whole, presenting as it does a full length portrait of the mind of Herbert Hoover, will repay careful study. It is the product of an able, sincere and deeply conscientious Chief Executive.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS ENROLLING VOTERS

Not To Be Beaten In Caucus This Year—List 72 and Get Receipt For 80 More.

The "Young Guard" of the Democratic party has been working hard to enroll all Democrats for party caucuses in order to have a sufficient number to control the coming Democratic caucus. This is being done to gain recognition from the "Old Guard."

At the first meeting of the Board of Registrars, consisting of George E. Dunn and Henry Schmidt, the largest enrollment at one time in the history of the town took place. The "Young Guard" claimed to have enrolled over 100 names.

During the first registration period a committee from this same group appeared and handed a list of over 30 names to George E. Dunn who refused to accept them as Democrats for registration until he communicated by person or by letter. The "Young Guard" lost no time and set out to personally register their members. Before the day was over they claimed 72 Democrats and also claimed to hold a receipt for 80 additional enrollments. A committee consisting of Nicholas Ashe and Lawrence Monahan appeared before Mr. Dunn and presented these thirty names. The names were accepted and a receipt given for them.

It was necessary to hold this registration as there was trouble about the registered caucus list last fall when the "Old Guard" took control and retained control. Some of the old time Democrats who were not registered were barred from voting. It is interesting as to what the result of the next caucus will be, whether the old or young guard will have control.

Mon. Charles Phelps Remembered
The Hon. Charles Phelps of Ellington avenue attained the age of 80 years on Wednesday of this week and a tribute was rendered him in the form of a beautiful poem from Union church, written by Rev. George S. Brooks. The poem was engrossed by former Mayor John P. Cameron and handsomely framed and presented by Arthur I. Dickinson of this city to Mr. Phelps at his summer cottage at Eastern Point, Groton.

Mr. Dickinson also presented Mr. Phelps with a letter of reminiscences of his early days in Odd Fellowship, and an I. O. O. F. gold recognition pin. Mr. Phelps is a charter member of Rising Star Lodge. On Wednesday evening, Mr. Phelps was given a pleasant surprise party by his immediate family and a few friends. He also received many telegrams, cards and letters of congratulations. Court Foresters Pride No. 1, F.

of A. will hold its annual outing on Sunday at the "White City," Worcester, Mass. The group of young men will leave this city at 9:30 that morning and the return trip will be made at 7 o'clock. There are 88 members planning to make the trip. There will be a program of boating, bathing and sporting events and the boys will enjoy a basket lunch.

Among those to make the trip are: Chief Ranger Michael Mantak and Arthur Uitch of the South Foresters; Arthur Badstuber, Theodore Hirth, Louis Bushby, Richard Gworek, Raymond Pitney, Francis Pitney, Matthew Allen, Alan Schues, Samuel Harrison, Michael Hirth, John Zimmerman, Fred Apel, Carl Beer, Willard Kubny, Luther Treubin, John Bupis, Harry Shapers, Kenneth Gayton, Norman Dowding, George Mantak, John Furphy, Anthony Kaminski, Clarence Wilson, Irving Sweet, Arthur Hewitt, John Cynkiewicz, Norman Schuey, Robert Coleman, Thomas Burns, Buell Chapman, Armond Dauphin, Stanley Carnecki, Raymond Bear, Raymond Lube, Joseph Gillick and Arthur Farr.

Ellington Grange Meeting
There was a large number out to the regular meeting of Ellington Grange held in the Ellington Town Hall on Wednesday night. After the regular business meeting there was a delightful program presented as follows: Song, Songs of Long Ago; roll call; group singing accompanied by piano and violin; pantomimes from Robert Louis Stevenson's "Child of Garden of Verses"; selection by kitchen band; reading, "Carson," Mrs. Fred Areny; vocal duet, "Whispering Pines," Sisters Backofen and Hamilton; group singing.

The committee in charge included Louis M. Wood, Edmund Miller, Harry Dickinson, John Girardin, Ruth H. Aborn, Ellen Finance and Ethel Bancroft.

Memorial Building Under Repair
The Cornell Construction Company of Pawtucket, R. I., has been awarded the contract to repair the tower on the Memorial building on Park Place. There has been danger of brick, stone or slate falling from the building and perhaps injuring someone so the Board of Selectmen decided the repairs should be made at this time. The brick and stone have been loose for several months. The workmen found that some of the bricks were protruding at least two inches in the front of the building the two stone pillars above the archway were found to be loose. They are to be reset and pointed.

George F. Davis
The funeral of George F. Davis who died at the Hartford hospital on Tuesday was held from St. Bernard's church this morning at nine o'clock. Rev. George T. Sinnott, pastor, officiated. Burial was in St. Bridget's cemetery, Manchester.

George F. Davis was born in Ellington, the son of John and Aurelia (Allen) Davis, February 13, 1864. Davis avenue, this city, was named for the father of Mr. Davis. He lived on Ellington avenue, just over the Rockville line in Ellington, and was a dairy farmer for many years. Besides his wife, Mrs. Sarah Davis, the deceased leaves one daughter, Mrs. Michael McCormack of West Hartford, three sons, Wal-

Favors Change in Prohibition Law—Opposes Cancellation of War Debts But Wants Some Arrangement Other Than Annual Payments — Emphasizes Help For Jobless—Urges Nation To Join World Court—Strong For Protective Tariff—Opposes Federal Government Going Into the Power Business.

FULL TEXT OF SPEECH

Washington, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The text of President Hoover's speech accepting renomination follows:

Mr. Chairman and My Fellow Citizens:

In accepting the great honor you have brought me, I desire to speak not simply and no plainly about my own life, but about the life of the United States which may hear or read my words can not misunderstand.

The past three years have been a time of unparalleled economic calamity. They have been years of greater suffering and hardship than any which have come to the American people since the aftermath of the Civil War. As we look back over these troubled years we realize that we have passed through two stages of dislocation and stress. Before the storm broke we were steadily gaining in prosperity. Our wounds from the war were rapidly healing. Advances in science and invention had opened vast vistas of new progress. Being prosperous, we became optimistic—all of us. From optimism some of us went to over expansion in anticipation of the future and from over expansion to reckless speculation. In the soil poisoned by speculation grew those ugly weeds of waste, exploitation, and abuse of financial power. In this overproduction and speculative mania we marched with the rest of the world. Gradually the country was retributed by the inevitable world-wide slump in consumption of goods, in prices, and employment. At that juncture it was the normal penalty for a reckless boom such as we have witnessed in the history of our country. Through such depressions we have always passed safely after a relatively short period of losses, of hardship, and adjustment. We adopted policies in the government which were fitting to the situation. Gradually the country began to right itself. Eighteen months ago there was a solid basis for hope that recovery was in sight.

The Second Blow

Then there came to us a new calamity, a blow from a broad front, to strike at the very safety of the Republic. The countries of Europe proved unable to withstand the stress of the depression. The memories of the world had ignored the fact that the industrial diseases left by the great war had not been cured. The skill and intelligence of millions in Europe had been blotted out by battle, disease, and starvation. Stupendous burdens of National debts had been built up. Poisoned springs of political instability lay in the treaties which closed the war. Fears and hates held armaments to double those before the war. Governments were fallaciously seeking to build back by enlarged borrowing, by subsidizing industry and employment with taxes that slowly sapped the savings upon which industry must be rejuvenated and commerce solidly built. Under these strains the financial systems of many foreign countries crashed one by one.

New blows from decreasing world consumption of goods and from falling financial systems rained upon us. We are part of a world, the disturbance of whose remotest populations affects our financial system, our employment, our markets, our prices, our farm products. Thus beginning 18 months ago the world-wide storm rapidly grew to hurricane force and the greatest economic emergency in all history. Unexpected, unforeseen, and violent shocks, with every month brought new dangers and new emergencies. Fear and apprehension gripped the heart of our people in every village and city.

Whole World Hit

If we look back over the disasters of these three years, we find that three-quarters of the population of the globe has suffered from the flames of revolution. Many nations have been subjected to industrial change and vacillation of government. Others have resorted to dictatorship or tyranny in desperate attempts to preserve some sort of social order.

I may pause for one short illustration of the character of one single destructive force arising from these causes which we have been compelled to meet. That was its effects upon our financial structures. Foreign countries, in the face of their own failures not believing that we had the courage of ability to meet this crisis, withdrew from the United States over $2,400,000,000 including a billion in gold. Our own alarmed citizens withdrew over $1,600,000,000 of currency from our banks into hoarding. These actions, combined with the fears they generated, caused a shrinkage of credit available for business, industry and commerce by several times even these vast sums. Its visible expression was bank and business failures, demoralization of security and real property values, commodity prices, and employment. This was but one of the invading forces of destruction.

Two courses were open

We might have done nothing. That would have been utter ruin. Instead, we met the situation with proposals to private business and the Congress of the most gigantic program of economic defense and counter attack ever evolved in the history of the republic. We put it into action.

Our measures have repelled these attacks of fear and panic. We have maintained the financial integrity of our government. We have operated to restore and stabilize the national credit. As a nation we have paid every dollar demanded of us. We have used the credit of the government to aid and protect our institutions, public and private. We have provided methods and assurance that no citizen shall be made to suffer from hunger and cold. We have instituted measures to assist farmers and home owners. We have created vast agencies for employment.

Nation's Courage

In a large sense the test of success of our program is simple. Our people, while suffering great hardship, have been and will be cared for. In the long view our institutions have been sustained intact and are now functioning with increasing confidence of the future. As a nation we are undefeated and unafraid. Government by the people has not been defied.

With the humility of one who by necessity has stood in the midst of this storm I can say with pride that the distinction for these accomplishments belongs not to the Government or to any individual. It is due to the intrepid soul of our people. It is to their character, their fortitude, their initiative, and their courage that we owe these results. We of this generation did not build the great ship of state. But the policies I have inaugurated have protected and aided its navigation in this storm. These policies and programs have not been partisan. Members of the Democratic party in Congress whose patriotic cooperation against factional and demagogic opposition has assisted in a score of great undertakings. I likewise give credit to Democratic as well as Republican leaders amongst our citizens for their cooperation and help.

Look To The Future

A record of these dangers and the policies in the past three years will be set down in books. Much of it is of interest only to history. Our interest now is the future. I dwell upon these policies and problems only where they illustrate the questions of the day and our way to the future. As a government and as a people we still have much to do. We must continue the building of our measures of restoration. We must profit by the lessons of this experience.

Before I enter upon a discussion of these policies I wish to say something of my conception of the relation of our Government to the people and of the responsibilities of both, particularly as applied to these times. The spirit and devising of this government by the people was on the basis of a protection of people amongst nations and in domestic emergencies by great national power, and on the other to preserve individual liberty and freedom through local government.

Government's Work

The function of the Federal Government in these times is to use its reserve powers and its strength for the protection of citizens and the maintenance of support to our institutions against forces, beyond their control. It is not the function of the Government to relieve individuals of their responsibilities to their neighbors, or to relieve private institutions of their responsibilities to the public. The primary responsibility of the state, or of state governments to the Federal Government, in giving that protection and that aid the Federal Government must insist that all of them exert their responsibilities in full. It is vital that the programs of the Government should compete with or replace any of them but shall add to their initiative and their strength. It is vital that by the use of public revenues and public credit in emergency the nation shall be strengthened and not weakened.

Basic Principles

And in all the emergencies and crises and in all our future policies we must also preserve the fundamental principles of our social and economic system. That system is founded upon a conception of ordered freedom. The test of our government is whether there should be maintained equality of opportunity to every individual so that he may achieve for himself the best to which his character, ability and ambition entitle him. It is only by this release of individual responsibility, that we secured the great sums of individual accomplishment which carry this nation forward. This is not an individualism which permits men to run riot in selfishness or to override equity of opportunity for others. It permits no violation of ordered liberty.

In the race after the false gods

of materialism men and groups have forgotten their country. Equality of opportunity contains no conception of exploitation of any selfish, ruthless, class-minded men or groups. They have no place in the American system. As against these stand the guiding ideals and concepts of our nation. I propose to maintain them.

The Solution

The solution of our many problems which arise from the shifting scene of national life is not to be found in haphazard experiments, but by revolution. It must be through organic development of our national life under these ideals. It must secure that cooperative action which builds initiative and strength outside of government. It does not follow, because our difficulties are stupendous, because there are some souls timorous enough to doubt the validity and effectiveness of our ideals and our system, that we must turn to a state controlled or state directed social or economic system in order to cure our troubles. That is not liberalism; it is tyranny. It is the regimentation of men under autocratic bureaucracy with all its extinction of liberty, of hope, and of opportunity. Of course, no man of understanding says that the system works perfectly. It does not. The human race is not perfect. Nevertheless, the movement of a true civilization is toward freedom rather than regimentation. This is our ideal.

Not to be Stampeded

Oftentimes the tendency of democracy is to strike blindly, to listen to demagogues and slogans, all of which would destroy and would not save. We have refused to be stampeded into such courses. Oftentimes democracy elsewhere in the world has been unable to move itself to save itself in emergency. There have been disheartening delays and failures in legislation and private action which have added to the losses of our people, yet this democracy of ours has proved itself to be sound.

Our emergency measures of the past three years form a definite strategy dominated in the background by these American principles and ideals, forming a continuous campaign waged against the forces of destruction on an ever widening front constantly shifting front.

Thus we have held that the Federal Government should in the presence of great national danger use its powers to give leadership to the initiative of the people themselves; but it must insist upon individual, community, and state responsibility. That it should furnish leadership to assure the co-ordination and unity of all existing agencies, governmental and private, for economic and humanitarian action. That where it becomes necessary to meet emergencies beyond the power of these agencies by the creation of new government instrumentalities, that the insurance companies and the pressure of forfeiture upon home owners, and procure the reconstruction of more homes and the employment of more men.

Home Loan Banks

It is in accordance with these principles that we are now in process of establishing a new system of Home-Loan banks so that through added strength by cooperation in the building and loan associations, savings banks, and the insurance companies, we may relax the pressure of forfeiture upon home owners, and procure the reconstruction of more homes and the employment of more men.

Kept Out of Politics

In pursuance of that same policy, I each winter thereafter assumed the leadership in mobilizing all the voluntary and official organizations throughout the country to prevent the spread of hunger and cold, and to protect the million families stricken by drought. When it became advisable to strengthen the states who could no longer carry the full burden of relief to distress, I urged that the Federal Government should do so through loans to the states and thus maintain the fundamental responsibility of the states. We stopped the attempt to turn this effort to the politics of selfish sectional demands. We kept it based upon human need.

Devoted Workers

No government in Washington has hitherto considered that it held so broad a responsibility for leadership in such times. Despite hardships, the devotion of our men and women to their duties has secured the success of the National average of infant mortality, general mortality, and sickness, which are less today than in times of prosperity. For the first time in the history of depressions, the profits and wages of living have been reduced before wages have suffered. We have been more free from industrial conflict through strikes and lockouts and all forms of social disorder than even in normal times. The nation is building the highways to secure the return of their costs to government agencies and at the same time we increase the wealth of the nation.

Party Platform

So much for the great national emergency and the principles of government which we stand for and their application to the measures we have taken. There are national policies wider than the emergency, wider than the economic horizon. They are set forth in our platform. Having the responsibility of this office, my views upon them are clearly and often set out in the public record. I may, however, summarize some of them.

The Farm Board

The Farm Board by emergency loans to the Farmer's co-operative served to stem panic in agricultural prices and saved hundreds of thousands of farmers and their creditors from bankruptcy. We have created agencies to combat business depression and failure of their cooperative organizations, and we are erecting new instrumentalities to give credit facilities for livestock growers and the orderly marketing of farm products.

It is in accordance with these principles that we have made proposals to reduce the cost of world armaments by a billion dollars a year. Credit Association. It was in accordance with these principles that I first secured the creation by private initiative of the National Credit Association, whose efforts prevented the failure of hundreds of banks, and loss to countless thousands of depositors who had loaned all their savings to them.

As the storm grew in intensity we created the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with a capital of two billions to uphold the credit structure of the nation, and by thus raising the shield of government credit we prevented the wholesale failure of banks, insurance companies, of building and loan associations, of farm-mortgage associations, of livestock-loan associations, and of railroads in all of which the public interest is paramount. That strength has been averted through the savings of more than 5,000 institutions and the knowledge that adequate assistance was available to tide others over the stress. This was done not to save a few stockholders, but to save twenty-five millions of American families, every one of whose very savings and employment might have been wiped out and whose whole future would have been blighted had these institutions gone down.

It was in accordance with these principles that we expanded the functions and powers of the Federal Reserve banks that they might counteract the stupendous shrinkage of credit due to fear, hoarding, and to foreign withdrawals.

Immigration Limit

I favor rigidly restricted immigration, in order to relieve us of added unemployment, already reduced the inward movement to less than the outward. I shall adhere to that policy.

Foreign Policy

I have repeatedly recommended to the Congress a revision of the railway transportation laws, in order that we may create greater stability and create a more efficient system for all our transportation. I shall persist in it.

Change Necessary

The Constitution gives the President no power or authority with respect to changes in the Constitution itself; nevertheless my countrymen have a right to know my basic principles upon this matter. They are clear and need not be misunderstood. They are based upon the broad facts I have stated, upon my experience in this high office and upon the convictions of other statesmen of this country. It is my belief that in order to remedy present evils a change is necessary. I shall recommend a proper share of initiative and responsibility which the very essence of our Government demands shall rest upon the states and local authorities. This change must avoid the return of the nation to a state of anarchy.

Foreign Policy

My foreign policies have been devoted to strengthening the foundations of world peace. We inaugurated the London Naval Treaty which reduced arms and limited the ratios between the fleets of the three powers. We have made concrete proposals at Geneva to reduce armaments of the world by one-third. It would save the taxpayers of the world a billion a year. It would save us over $200,000,000 a year. It would reduce fear and danger of war. We have expanded the arbitration of disputes. We have recommended joining the World Court under proper reservations preserving our freedom of action. We have given leadership in transforming the Kellogg-Briand pact from an inspiring outlawry of war to an organized instrument for peaceful settlements backed by definite mobilization of world public opinion against aggression. We shall, under the spirit of that pact, consult with other nations in times of emergency to promote world peace. I shall enter no agreements committing us to any future course of action or which call for use of force to preserve peace.

A New Doctrine

Above all, I have projected a new doctrine into international affairs. It has doctrine that we do not and never will recognize title to possession of territory gained in violation of the peace pacts. That doctrine has been accepted by all the nations of the world on a recent official occasion, and within that few weeks every power of mind and spirit, in the nations of the western hemisphere, that is public opinion made tangible and effective.

Living Standards

Today millions of our fellow countrymen are out of work. Prices of the farmers' products are below a living standard. Many millions more who are in possession of every power of mind and spirit, are to be employed in the future. We must with a spark of humanity can sit in any place without suffering from the pictures of their families and helpings before him day and night. They would be more than made their children not to be devoured by war.

Change Necessary

The Constitution gives the President no power or authority with respect to changes in the Constitution itself; nevertheless my countrymen have a right to know my basic principles upon this matter. They are clear and need not be misunderstood. They are based upon the broad facts I have stated, upon my experience in this high office and upon the convictions of other statesmen of this country. It is my belief that in order to remedy present evils a change is necessary. I shall recommend a proper share of initiative and responsibility which the very essence of our Government demands shall rest upon the states and local authorities. This change must avoid the return of the nation to a state of anarchy.

Foreign Policy

My foreign policies have been devoted to strengthening the foundations of world peace. We inaugurated the London Naval Treaty which reduced arms and limited the ratios between the fleets of the three powers. We have made concrete proposals at Geneva to reduce armaments of the world by one-third. It would save the taxpayers of the world a billion a year. It would save us over $200,000,000 a year. It would reduce fear and danger of war. We have expanded the arbitration of disputes. We have recommended joining the World Court under proper reservations preserving our freedom of action. We have given leadership in transforming the Kellogg-Briand pact from an inspiring outlawry of war to an organized instrument for peaceful settlements backed by definite mobilization of world public opinion against aggression. We shall, under the spirit of that pact, consult with other nations in times of emergency to promote world peace. I shall enter no agreements committing us to any future course of action or which call for use of force to preserve peace.

A New Doctrine

Above all, I have projected a new doctrine into international affairs. It has doctrine that we do not and never will recognize title to possession of territory gained in violation of the peace pacts. That doctrine has been accepted by all the nations of the world on a recent official occasion, and within that few weeks every power of mind and spirit, in the nations of the western hemisphere, that is public opinion made tangible and effective.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 12.

HOOVER'S SPEECH

With a fervor and power unexpected in such extraordinary degree and exhibiting astonishing reserves of force and courage in the nation's leader after these years of grueling struggle against a thousand forces of disaster, President Hoover last night laid the case of his administration before the American people.

In no previous public utterance has President Hoover ever so searchingly found his way to the understanding and the hearts of the American people. No earlier declaration by any statesman or publicist of any party so lucidly or with such dramatic force had pictured the history of these past three years and the part taken by the federal government in meeting and combatting the perils with which the nation was confronted.

With the brilliant illumination of a lightning flash Mr. Hoover makes startlingly clear the one great governing principle of his administration—the preservation of the American Union as a federal entity, according to the very essence of its creation, in the face of a thousand temptations to throw down the bars and let in paternalism, centralization and the poisonous, liberty-destroying fallacy of "strong government."

None who listened to the address and none who read it today can fail by any chance to understand that what President Hoover has been fighting for through all this bitter time has been the preservation of democracy—that he has had more faith in the people than they have had, at times, in themselves; that he has battled against quick and beguiling theories of relief and brought the whole force of his being to the support of less obvious and alluring methods of rehabilitation because he has looked deep down into the consequences and seen in the former only eventual destruction of the rule of the people and in the latter a surer and safer way out.

Herbert Hoover today, after last night's speech, stands out as America's greatest exponent of the federal idea which lies at the base of all our institutions and the most powerful opponent of those men eating twins demagoguery and the tyranny of centralization.

The country had been looking with concentrated interest for Mr. Hoover's declaration on prohibition. Before the speech was ended the importance of that question had been dwarfed by the stupendous realities made clear by the President's words.

We said yesterday that Mr. Hoover's speech of acceptance might win or lose him the election. If it does not win it will be because the American people have determined to abandon, for the pursuit of strange gods, every lot of the principles and theories upon which this country was built and which have made it the most successful and richest nation on earth.

tion cannot last forever. Even a woodlouse arrives at a time when he can no longer stay in the same old spot. And Governor Roosevelt is not as indeterminate as a woodlouse. So it is a reasonable guess that he knows pretty well by now whether he is going to fire Jimmy or let him ride.

Just for a flier we'll risk the guess that Jimmy will have to go. Not because there is, as Mr. Roosevelt told the London editor on the phone, no politics in the affair, but because there is bound to be politics in it. Walker, of course, shouldn't have been mayor at all; he is quite a wrong type. He has cost the people of New York, by his system of government under Tammany, a dreadful lot of money that they couldn't afford. But it is a pretty naive person who will give Governor Roosevelt credit for gumption enough to fire him just for that reason. He will probably make himself believe that that is the reason for his giving Jimmy the sack, but it won't be—not altogether, by a long shot.

Mr. Roosevelt has been very badly bitten by the Presidential bug. His course for the last year is proof enough of that. It would take a very sanguine and simple mind to believe that he is more concerned that New York City should be rid of a bad mayor than that he himself shall be elected President. And being so anxious to be elected it is just plain logic that he will govern himself, in the Walker matter, with at least one eye to its effect on his chances of success in November.

That being the case—which it is not uncharitable and at the same time not silly to assume—Jimmy stands a fine chance of the bounce. Tammany, of course, will cut Roosevelt's throat to the best of its very excellent ability if he fires Walker. That will, in all human probability, insure the loss of New York state's electoral vote to the Democratic party in November. And that is the sum total of the risk that Roosevelt runs in canning Jimmy.

Take the other side. If Roosevelt doesn't can Walker he blows up with a loud bang, as a courageous white-armored knight of pure and lofty principles in at least half a dozen midwest and western states where he has managed to get himself that kind of a reputation. And it is precisely on his chances of carrying those states that the governor and his friends have been figuring. On the other hand, even if he did not sack Jimmy, and even if Tammany did not sock him, he probably wouldn't be able to carry New York state in any event. So it is a very dubious sacrifice that he will be making, merely swapping a very slender prospect of carrying New York for a very much better chance of gaining thereby a fine bunch of midwest and western electoral votes—always provided that on election day they are still seeking revenge on Mr. Hoover for the low prices of corn and pigs.

With the sure loss of his western friends if he doesn't, as against the loss of New York state which he probably couldn't get any way, if he does, the politics of the situation certainly indicate that Mr. Roosevelt will pliously eject Walker from his mayoralty.

Of course we may be all wrong. But we'll bet an apple.

DOESN'T MAKE SENSE

Somewhat related to a recent editorial in this newspaper is the announcement of a plan for a twenty-million dollar housing development in the borough of Queens, New York City. Samuel Rusoff, the subway builder, is the author of the plan and the enterprise is to be his own. He proposes to erect on a new development model apartments for the "white collar" class of tenants to rent at $10 and $11 a room monthly; meaning that the apartments will bring in from $40 to $70 a month each.

In order to get rentals down to even such a figure and at the same time insure some of the decencies of life to the tenants a very special combination of conditions has to be created. First, operation under state laws which limit the income to be earned by the property to 6 per cent and which require state approval of the plans, secondly willingness on the part of capitalists to assume the risks involved for the sake of a possible 6 per cent return, and, lastly, exemption of the property from all taxation under the same state laws.

In other words the most extraordinary sacrifices must be made by the community and a large amount of relatively unselfish capital must be found before decent living conditions can be provided within the city for dwellers who are able to pay a rate of rental which is far in excess of the average rent paid by families throughout the country.

The editorial referred to above questioned the probability of the continued growth of America's great cities and industrial centers and suggested, as we have often done before, the likelihood of an early drift away from these congested centers by industry and business and therefore, of course, by populations.

Having great multitudes of workers into overcrowded cities where living is inescapably costly and where, obviously, industries cannot successfully compete with those located in more efficient and less expensive places, does not, it seems to us, make sense. What does not make sense eventually is abandoned.

VALUES OF IGNORANCE

Monarchism in Spain appears to occupy something of the same position that prohibition now does in the politics of America—it seems to have had some very imposing and self-confident leaders who, proceeding boldly to battle in a determination to overturn the whole circus, suddenly found themselves without any following at all.

Nothing could have been cockier than the fashion in which the monarchist generals started their revolution against the new republic. They went stamping up to the very gates of the government offices, apparently without a doubt in the world that everybody was going to either flee before their indignant wrath or else fall in behind with loud huzzahs—only to be met by machine gun bullets and the grip of a cop's rough hand on a shoulder.

Nobody wanted them, nobody would follow them, all they got was the razzberry from the people of Spain and what looks like a pretty reasonable chance of facing a firing squad.

It is to be doubted if even the stone wall and the bite of the bullets will hurt quite so much as the belated realization that they have made themselves the laughing stock of all Spain.

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCoy

DANGERS OF HOT DAYS

Every hot season brings a toll of deaths from heat exhaustion and sunstroke. This occurs when the individual has not taken the proper precautions or made changes in diet and clothing which are necessitated by the change in temperature.

Heat exhaustion develops from inability of the body to adapt itself to a rapid rise of temperature. This occurs most frequently when the air is very humid or the clothing is too heavy, which prevents a ready evaporation of perspiration. By sensible changes in our diet and clothing, we can avoid much of the unpleasantness of the hot weather. In one of the middle western cities I saw a number of cases of heat prostration in individuals soon after they emerged from a very cool theater into the sweltering external heat.

Heat stroke may occur even when it is not in the sun. It comes on slowly and leaves the surface of the body cool and the temperature somewhat subnormal. The individual is always having a sluggish circulation. It is well to place them on a fruit fast for several days, with tepid or warm shower baths, hot enemas, deep breathing exercises, and dry friction baths.

A sunstroke differs from heat exhaustion in that it is caused by a congestion of the blood to the head. The effect is sometimes immediate unconsciousness, and is often produced by not wearing a hat while in the direct rays of the hot sun. Care should be taken to increase the circulation on the arms by rubbing them with a friction mitt or rough cloth. After the bath, dry vigorously. Keep your digestion in good working order by eating less bread, cake and potatoes and use a abundance of all kinds of vegetables. You will also find exercise beneficial in stirring up your general circulation, improving the skin on the arms and warming the hands. Sun baths are fine in building a better skin.

Question: Miss R. O. R. asks: "I dearly love watermelon but every time I eat it for dessert I suffer from gas."

Answer: I would suggest that you use the watermelon all by itself as a complete meal. You will be able to enjoy it, without the after effects of fatulence. Melons do not combine well with the ordinary meal.

(Beams)

Question: M. Reilly OF, asks: "Would eating too much aluminum food, such as eggs, cause one to have eczema? What foods are to be avoided by one suffering from this trouble?"

Answer: The use of an excess amount of any kind of food, such as proteins or starches, may be a contributing cause in the development of eczema or any other skin disorder. The trouble comes mostly, however, from using wrong combinations of all kinds of food. Study my weekly menus, and you will have a weekly lesson in food combinations. Also send me a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope for the article on eczema.

One Firm That Doesn't Deserve to Come Out of the Depression!

IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 12. — Stage demography, it seems, requires almost as many volumes as the Golden Bough or the Greek and Roman myths.

Doors that refuse to close at the right time; doors that insist on opening at the wrong time; revolvers that fail to go off or that explode too soon—all elementary, by dear Watson—elementary!

There was Broadway records, that fateful moment when portions of Leonore Ulric's apparel refused to stay in place. Only in dream books, where obstreperous clothing rates many paragraphs, will you find a parallel.

Miss Ulric was playing in "Kiki." From an unconventional character to begin with, she graduated to an evening dress. It was a gown that included a flowing train.

Part of the business was to assume a nouveau hauteur (snooty manner, to you) She preened in the best possible manner. But there came the evening when Ben Hardy, who appeared in the same scene, trailed too close behind. Oh, far too close! And stepped on the train. Came that s-z-z-ur-kk sound of ripping!

And a snickering audience beheld the opening gesture of a burlesque striptease as they emerged from a very cool theater into the sweltering external heat.

That, however, is not the end of the story. A less experienced playgoer might have fled from the stage. Not Miss Ulric! With a graceful flip of the silk yardage, she tossed most of it over one shoulder and swagged off. So great was the ovation received that the late David Belasco seriously considered using this as a bit of "business" in later performances.

"We Begin" is First-Rate! Now About the Mayflower Expedition

Every school boy, naturally, knows that the Pilgrim fathers landed at Plymouth Rock in 1620 and that they contrived to found a permanent colony after a terrific struggle. He knows, too, that some of them had lived for a time in Holland because of their search for religious freedom, and that none of them could get along in England because of their refusal to submit to the established church there.

But few of us know any more about it than that. The human values involved, the sufferings and hardships and years of mental stress that the Mayflower expedition involved for the men and women and children concerned—these things we can only imagine.

We get a look at them, now, in "We Begin," a novel of Helen Garside Carlisle, which is one of the brightest spots of the summer season. The author centers her attention chiefly on three people—an English farmer, his wife and his brother, who form an odd triangle in the Mayflower's passenger list. The whole story is presented from their varying points of view.

One brother sees in the new world a chance to "get ahead," to farm broad acres and establish his fortunes. The other sees it through the eyes of a religious bigot. The wife sees it with alternating hope and despair. By looking at it with these three eyes, we find the story woven with a new richness and clarity. "We Begin" is a first-rate novel. Published by Harrison Smith, it is the July choice of the Book League of America.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

Washington—Whatever were the motives that impelled the appointment of Atlee Pomerene, a Democrat, as chairman of the great Reconstruction Finance Corporation, it appears that the probable political effects of that unusual move have been considerably exaggerated.

The truth is that nearly every one has been left unimpressed. As a master political stroke, as an attempt to increase popular confidence in the R. F. C., it has only resulted in a certain amount of eyebrow-raising.

There is no more point, it is much in saying that the president took the R. F. C. out of politics campaign by appointing Pomerene than there is in asserting that the R. F. C. is just as much in the campaign as it ever was.

Whether the Democratic leaders have been planning to make an important issue out of the corporation and its operations is very doubtful. If they do their effort will be directed at the basic idea of the corporation as a method of relieving depression and distress to the exclusion of more direct relief to small business men and other individuals.

Any attacks upon the acts of the R. F. C. would be directed at past performances and at Republican officials responsible for them—including Hoover—rather than at Mr. Pomerene or anything likely to happen under his chairmanship.

The summer and fall operations of the R. F. C. became pretty well barred off as a source of political issues when the Senate voted to investigate it through a committee headed by Senator Couzens and authorized by the House Democrats to get through an amendment to the last R. F. C. bill under which the corporation must report its loans to Congress each month.

Those two developments killed off chances that the big federal lending agency might be used for political purposes by the administration during the campaign and similarly ruined any chance the Democrats might have had to prove that it was so being used.

There is nothing in the Pomerene appointment to prevent the Democrats, if they so desire, from hammering at the fact that when the corporation was under Republican auspices it turned over $30,000,000 to the Daves bank in Chicago or to some at anything else the organization did under Hoover, Daves and Eugene Meyer.

Meanwhile, nobody seems to have discovered just why Hoover picked Pomerene. It is pretty certain now that he first propositioned Al Smith and Owen D. Young, both of whom refused. There are plenty of other Democrats of more or less comparable stature and ability. Pomerene was once a senator but he has been defeated in his last couple of attempts to get back in.

Although prominent in Ohio, Pomerene's national fame lately has rested on his association with Owen J. Roberts, now supreme court justice, as one of the two special prosecutors in the naval oil reserve cases. Roberts did most of the work and appeared to much the better advantage.

Charles C. Miller, the banker from Utica, N. Y., who became president of the R. F. C., is another appointee not widely known to the country. Inasmuch as the R. F. C. is the keystone of the Hoover effort to meet the depression, since Hoover's future is so importantly involved in its success and because its leadership is about as important and powerful as any job below the presidency, it is reasonable to suppose that Hoover, Meyer and Secretary of the Treasury Mills will keep a watchful eye on it. Meanwhile, with Pomerene and Miller in their chairs, its aspect will be less that of "Wall Street" and "the big banks."

Chew a stick of gum, eat a piece of candy, partake of a cooling soft drink or strike a match to light your cigarette—

Every time you do any of these things you are helping Uncle Sam raise money, by means of his new 1932 tax bill, to balance the federal budget.

However, these particular taxes are mostly painless to the consumer. They are small and in most cases the dealers are absorbing them and shouldering their cost.

The 2 per cent tax on chewing gum, treasury experts estimate, will yield $1,000,000 a year. This tax is only one-tenth of a cent on a 5-cent package. Overlooking nothing Uncle Sam collects from the manufacturers of cathartic chewing gums as well as those who make the usual kind.

On the average, every person in the United States chews more than 100 sticks of chewing gum a year, and the same has a retail value of $14,000,000, say trade authorities.

The 2 per cent tax on candy is estimated to yield $3,000,000. It applies to candy of every description, including candy cough drops.

The various taxes on soft drinks are expected to yield $7,000,000. There is a tax of 1 1/4 cents per gallon on near-beer, 5 cents a gallon on unfermented grape juice, 2 cents a gal. on fruit juices and imitation, 2 cents a gallon on carbonated beverages, 2 cents a gallon on still drinks (meaning those not charged or carbonated), 2 cents a gallon on mineral waters costing over 12 1/2 cents a gallon, 4 cents a pound on carbonic acid gas used by soda fountains, 6 cents a gallon on fountain syrups and 5 cents a gallon on the same syrups when they are to be used in bottled goods.

Matches are taxed at 3 cents per 1000 for the ordinary kind and one-half of 1 cent per 1000 for the paper kind. Thus, the tax on a penny box, which contains 50 matches is one-tenth of a cent and on paper packages, which usually contain 20 matches, a tiny fraction of a cent. Moreover, most paper matches are given away free by advertisers.

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

AMERICANS ADVANCE On Aug. 12, 1918, British and American troops in Picardy advanced rapidly and were reported on the outskirts of Reims, which was taken by the Germans in their first spring offensive. American forces also gained a foothold in Bray, in the same region. Hard-pressed German regiments were retreating in good order, but with tremendous losses from Allied artillery. The German divisions in this region apparently lacked reserves and were compelled to renege on the battle line despite the fierce fighting. News of another Austria defeat in Italy further disheartened newspapers in Berlin, some of which were beginning to hint that peace should be made.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Muskogee, Okla.—Muskogee won the game, 12 to 3, but it wasn't that easy. When time for the Hutchinson-Muskogee game of the Western Association came yesterday there were no funds to play with. There were no bids to buy any. Muskogee solved the problem. It traded a pitcher to Hutchinson for four balls—and the game proceeded.

Albany—The official reporter of the Walker "Dueling" Scowas on Shakespeare. Counsel quoted from the bard saying: "Mewing and puking in the nurse's arms." This irked the reporter, who made the official report read: "When he (Mayor Walker) was a baby, chewing on teaching 'ring in the nursery."

Oklahoma City—Next Christmas five motorists who were kind enough to give a Texas hitch-hiker rides across Oklahoma are going to get presents. The Texan, desiring to give his name, visited the state motor car license bureau and obtained the names of the owners of license plates on cars which had given him lifts. "I'm going to send them something nice on Christmas," he explained.

Milwaukee—The profits of the once famous shimmy dance would appear to be not so good. Court testimony disclosed that the father and son of Glida Gray, who shimmied to fame, have been receiving aid from the county outdoor relief department.

Oklahoma City—What does a reputed trans-Atlantic star say to his wife? Jimmy Mathers, who flew from America to Germany in one hop with Bennett Griffin, said: "Uh, honey, I'm glad to see you." Griffin put all his emotion into a single word: "Daring!"

New York—Ruth Chatterton, returning from Europe, explained why she thought it best not to discuss reports of her intention to marry George Brent, also of the film. "It would not be good for me to discuss Mr. Brent," she said, "while I am still married to another man."

Mounts Rainier and Shasta, volcanoes in the United States, emit heated vapors, giving evidence that their interiors are still hot.

for LOVE or MONEY by CORLEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BONA MORAN, receptionist in a Wall Street law office, is in love with BARRY TOWNSEND, rich and socially prominent. She met Barry through STEVE SACOARE, her childhood sweetheart, who has returned to New York after three years' absence. Steve has been in South America where, largely by chance, he has become associated with Barry, owner of a diamond mine long believed worthless. Together they have made the mine pay and are now business partners. Steve owns a huge diamond mine called "Empress of Peru." LOTTIE CARE, fashion model, joins Mona, Barry and Steve on several dinner and dancing engagements.

Mona's brother, BUD, becomes involved with gangsters who plan to steal the big diamond. Steve suspects this, traps Bud and when he confesses helps him escape to South America where he is given a job at the mine.

Some time later Barry invites Mona, Lottie and Steve to spend Sunday at his uncle's palatial country home. It is a delightful day but Barry fails to propose as Mona had hoped he might. He asks her to dine with him next week. However he becomes ill with influenza and fails to keep the appointment. Another girl at the office shows Mona a picture of GENEVIEVE DOWER, society girl, and says Miss Dower is engaged to Barry. Mona, very unhappy, goes to the hospital to see her father. She is told he must have special treatments that will cost $500.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI

Mona arrived at the office next morning with the determination to approach Mr. Garretson in the matter of the loan. At $5 a week saved from her salary or forfeited from her next advance she could repay the amount in a little over two years. Within two years she could expect two increases in salary. Turning these to the repayment of her debt, she would be as well off as at present. Better, of course, with Dad well again and home. She had made up her mind quite completely to forget Barry Townsend. Barry was engaged to Genevieve Dower. Genevieve Dower, who knew the same people he knew, who was photographed at Palm Beach and Piping Rock, who had been "presented" at Pierre's. Barry was engaged and his pretty speeches to Mona had meant nothing whatever except a manner of passing away the time. That was that!

At 10 o'clock Mona cautiously approached Mollie Drury to ask Mr. Garretson's plans for the day. "Want to see him in a good mood, do you?" repeated Mollie. "What do you want—the Empire State Building? Mr. Garretson's alacrity to make the bath smooth for Miss Moran was no sore point with Mollie nor was it a secret. Mona had received several raises since Mollie had but the private secretary's initial salary had been much larger. "I'm going to ask a favor," Mona replied.

Mollie observed, "Sure, he'll do it. All you have to do is tell him what it is!" "Mr. Garretson may not want to do this, though," Mona added, not in the least ruffled by the slightly caustic note in the other girl's voice. "Is it a big favor?" "Big enough. If you'll tip me off how he's feeling—"

"Sure. If the Boss isn't turning handspins or looking like the cat that swallowed the canary I'll tell you know."

Mona thanked her. "And if it's all right try to make an appointment for me, will you, Mollie? I'll do something for you some day."

Eleven o'clock and Mr. Garretson arrived simultaneously. The lawyer seemed, moreover, to be in the best of moods. Gray hair, all the trimly built, he was a truly distinguished looking man. He set to work immediately. Half a dozen telephone calls, an argument with a friend over which golfer had beaten the other, letters, hurried plans for the afternoon's appointments and then he paused, looking pensive. He placed his finger tips together and without glancing toward Mollie asked her abruptly to send in Miss Moran.

"Great Scott—he's getting clairvoyant!" breathed Mollie when she appeared beside Mona's desk. "I was just ready to ask him about you when he tells me to bring you in."

She eyed Mona critically. "Wipe off a little of that war paint, darling. The Boss likes you for your 'freshness and charm!'"

Face to face with her employer in his private office, Mona tried to summon courage for her request. Mr. Garretson greeted her as deferentially as though she were a lucrative, valued client. "Good morning. Sit down, please." He looked at her disturbingly and resumed his seat as Mona sank into the chair opposite. The width of the shining desk, scrupulously neat, lay at his blotter pad, Mona thought it surprisingly bare to be the base of operations for a firm the size of Garretson's.

Mr. Garretson first mentioned Mona's intended appointment. "I happened to catch sight of your name on Miss Drury's pad, this morning," he apologized. Mona, thus encouraged, slid forward in her chair and picked nervously at the desk top. "I—I want to borrow some money, Mr. Garretson. That is, I want an advance."

"My father is ill," she went on bravely. "I need a sum larger than I can save in time to have it do any good. I need $500 and I thought I could pay it back in about two years. You can deduct it from my check every week or I'll forfeit any raise I might have in that time." Again Mr. Garretson nodded. "I see. You may have it, of course. But tell me," he leaned forward, "why are you so sure you will with me for two years? Not—hastily—that we might contemplate a change but that you might. You see," he smiled charmingly as he reached for his check book, "you are a very attractive young woman. Attractive young women are here today and gone tomorrow. Marriage—as for the employer—snaps them up!"

"But I am not going to marry!" Mona said blushing.

Mr. Garretson did not answer for an instant. He scrawled busily, signed and blotted the check. "That's what they all say." The check folded, he laid it on the desk directly in front of her, and motioned toward it with one hand. "There is the amount you mentioned. Pay it back as you wish. Make your own arrangements. And please forget the check for a moment while I make what may seem a strange suggestion. Request rather. I think I would call it a request."

He stared at Mona a moment and then proceeded. "The check is yours, no matter what answer you may give to this other matter. The two matters are distinct and separate. I gave this my attention first because I wished to get it off your mind. I supposed your troubles were financial and financial worries often distress so deeply that other considerations may not receive fair attention. Therefore bear this in mind. The money—and more if you require it—is yours whatever your reaction to my request may be. "You say you are not going to be married. Are your affections involved?" Again he smiled. "Don't misunderstand me. I am not proposing! But a certain understanding is necessary before I proceed. You have no one in mind?"

"No one," said Mona dully. "But Mr. Garretson, I don't see—" "That relieves me," he told her. "Frankly, I was afraid that the rather dashing young man who calls in his car at five—but never mind! You say you are neither engaged nor expect to be? Very well."

"Miss Moran, I have a client—that is, the firm has a client—who wishes to marry you. Don't interrupt me, please! At the moment he is ill. The marriage, for certain business reasons, must be performed rather soon. I cannot go into that but I assure you that, as such matters generally go, the reasons are acceptable."

"It will not, I suppose, be a marriage such as you may have looked forward to. This client realizes his proposal is unusual. He is wealthy, charming, of excellent family. He will give you a year, during which you bear his name, sit at the head of his table, consider him as a husband. At the end of that time you may be his wife in reality or go to Reno and receive a quiet adjustment."

"I treat you with the utmost respect and kindness. I need not mention generosity. Sums such as this"—he indicated the check—"will be constantly available. You will have your own car, your own bank account, your own apartment in the home. Mona started to speak—" "Don't answer just yet! Go back to your desk and think it over. Personally I advise it. You cannot lose and you may gain a great deal. Happiness, I mean. In any case you will always be provided for plentifully."

Mr. Garretson rose. "It's been rather an ordeal, I don't mind telling you, to put forward this strange request. But there were reasons why it could not be done otherwise. Think it over. Let me know by three o'clock this afternoon. If you agree—and again let me remark that you cannot lose by the arrangement—in a year or so you can marry someone else and bring him a small fortune! If your answer is 'yes' we'll talk over more specific plans. If you decline we'll forget it."

"I'll think it over." "That's right!" He walked with her to the door. As she grasped the knob Mona raised her eyes uncertainly. "May I—I may I ask you is doing me this honor?" she said timidly. Then she smiled, the formality of her question sounded like a motion picture caption.

Mr. Garretson smiled too. "You may. The gentleman in question is Barry Townsend." (To Be Continued)

WALKER DECISION TO BE DELAYED

The State House cheered as he passed. Governor Roosevelt entered the chamber at 9:43 a. m., E. S. T., and the hearing was begun.

"There are two matters I want to make clear," he said. "First, he said, both Seabury and Walker would be permitted to ask questions at the hearing proceeds."

"Second," he said, "if the mayor or his counsel wishes to cross-examine any witness whose testimony is included in the record of the Hofstadter committee, I shall make it possible for them to do so."

John J. Curtin, chief counsel for the mayor, arose and began to argue against the governor's ruling admitting the Seabury records as evidence.

"I never heard of testimony of that sort being admitted as evidence in a hearing of this sort," Curtin said, "and I don't believe there is any other lawyer here who ever did either."

He challenged Roosevelt to cite any case where "testimony of this sort" had been used as evidence in a proceeding of this sort.

"The first recorded instance of the value of cross-examination," he said, "is in the Bible itself."

He then recited the story of Susanna and the Elders, who, reputedly by her, accused her of improper conduct with another man.

"She was condemned to death on the story of the Elders," Curtin said. "Then up rose Daniel and said: 'And so,' he concluded, after relating how the stories of the Elders disagreed when Daniel questioned them separately, 'it is put to death not Susanna, but the Elders.'"

Curtin argued that Seabury, not Walker, should submit a list of witnesses on whose testimony he relied most in drawing up his conclusions against Walker.

"Printers' Mistakes
He objected to using Seabury's analysis of the evidence before the Hofstadter committee as a basis for questioning the mayor, on the ground that Seabury himself at yesterday's session called attention to a couple of mistakes in it, which he attributed to the printers."

"I am not holding this hearing," Roosevelt interrupted, "on conclusions by Judge Seabury or on briefs. They are not in evidence."

Several times the governor evinced impatience during Curtin's prolonged argument.

"Never mind what he indicates," Roosevelt cut in once, as Curtin discussed Trook's brief. "Stick to the evidence."

Curtin wound up with a repetition of his demand that Seabury produce witnesses to be cross-examined by Walker.

Roosevelt reiterated that the record did not include any briefs or conclusions.

"Also Quotes Bible"
"You have referred to the case of Susanna and the Elders," Roosevelt said, "I believe that is quite pat."

"You, Mr. Curtin, are in the position of the Prophet Daniel. I will not say that His Honor is exactly in the position of Susanna."

period while the franchise was up. On Firm's Payroll
"Did you know Senator Hastings was on the payroll of Equitable Coach Company as far back as September 1928?"

"I didn't know he was on a salary, although I understood he was interested in some way."

"Did you talk with Senator Hastings about the Equitable franchise?"

"If you didn't know he had a financial interest in the company what did you think his interest was?"

"I knew he was interested in bus transportation. He had been with other companies."

Governor Roosevelt asked Walker if he remembered attending a party celebrating the granting of the Equitable franchise.

"I attended no celebration," Walker said. "I did attend a party, but no one who knew anything about bus transportation was there."

"Was Senator Hastings there?"

A-Senator Hastings and his wife were there, but he was not there because of interest in bus transportation. Walker said the event was a costume party, attended by "theatrical people, who didn't know any more about the bus transportation than the people in Honolulu."

He didn't know, he said, whether any Equitable Company officials were present. He said he could not remember ever in his life having seen J. Allan Smith, New York representative of the company.

Roosevelt then turned to the $10,000 letter of credit purchased by Smith.

Q-Where was Senator Hastings office at that time?

A-I don't know.

Q-Did you know Senator Hastings had an office with J. Allan Smith?

A-I did not and I don't know it yet.

Governor Roosevelt then read from the record of the Hofstadter committee testimony of Senator John A. Hastings to the effect that the mayor had told him he would aid in financing the Equitable if Hastings would give him his word of honor not to buy any stock.

Walker said he had never had any specific discussion with Hastings on the subject.

understanding they were for the mayor. The stock was later offered by S. Allan Smith as collateral for a loan that was obtained to help get financial backing for the Equitable franchise.

The record indicated that $9,000 was paid to Senator Hastings," Roosevelt observed. "Did you know that?"

"I did not, Your Excellency," Walker replied.

Walker said former Governor Sulzer of New Jersey told him he should lay aside 900 shares of Interstate stock for him before the company was organized, but Walker said he refused it.

"Wasn't it considered a valuable right to be able to buy Interstate stock?" Roosevelt asked.

"I don't know," Walker replied. "It may be they wanted me to buy the stock for the very reason they wanted Governor Sulzer to be president of the bank, or as people frequently must want to trade on the prestige of Your Excellency."

PRESIDENT TURNS BACK ON 18TH AMENDMENT

against the saloon, but not as a constitutional amendment. Roosevelt has pledged himself to urge upon the next Congress—falling action by the present one—immediate legalization of beer and other light alcoholic beverages through modification of the Volstead Act, as proposed by the party platform.

Modification Ignored
Hoover did not mention modification last night.

Mr. Hoover's acceptance speech still expressed his approval of the "high purpose of the Eighteenth Amendment, and recounted that he had done everything in his power to make it effective."

But his words reflected a conclusion that the prohibition, which four years ago he termed an experiment noble in purpose, had fallen short, despite success "in great measure" in dry communities.

He was emphatic, however, against the saloon, against writing out of the Constitution the Federal power to prevent its re-establishment. He slashed into the Democrats:

"Our opponents pledge the members of their party to destroy every vestige of Constitutional and effective Federal control of the traffic."

"That means over large areas the return of the saloon system with its corruption, its moral and social abuse which debauched the home, its deliberate interference with those states endeavoring to find honest solutions, its perversion of Legislative and its perversion of Legislative, which even touched at the capital of the nation. The Eighteenth Amendment smashed that regime as by a strike of lightning."

"I cannot consent to return of that system."

But upon this he recounted the tale of non-enforcement by states and cities, a non-enforcement which he said was increasing. He said there was a growing illegal traffic in liquor.

"But worse than this," said the President, "there has been in those areas a spread of disrespect not only for this law but for all laws, grave dangers of practical nullification of the constitution, a degeneration in municipal government and an increase in subsidized crime and violence. I cannot consent to the continuation of this regime."

Was the Way Out?
"Refuse to accept either of these positions, on the one hand to return to the old saloon with its political and social corruption, or on the other to endure the bootlegger and the speakeasy with their abuses and crime. Higher is intolerable. These are not the ways out."

He discussed then the Republican platform, pointing out it did not dictate to the conscience of any member of the party. He pledged continued enforcement "to the utmost of my ability," explained he had no power to bring about a change in the constitution, but said:

"Nevertheless, my countrymen have a right to know my conclusions upon this matter. They are clear and need not be misunderstood."

Change Necessary
"Is it my belief that in order to remedy present evils a change is necessary by which we resummon a proper share of initiative and responsibility which the very essence of our government demands shall rest upon the states and local authorities?"

The change he described was the one which gives each state the right to deal with the problem of liquor for itself "but subject to absolute guarantees in the constitution of the United States to protect each state from interference and invasion by its neighbors, and that in no part of the United States shall there be a return of the saloon system with its inevitable political and social corruption and its organized interference with other states."

Such a proposal is already before Congress. It engaged, in fact, the attention of the Senate in the final session before adjournment a month ago, for on that last day, July 16, Senator Glass of Virginia, the Democrat, was successful in having his resolution for a new constitutional amendment taken up for debate. It was left unacted on in the end.

WORKERS BURNED
New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A republican on Tuesday's fire and resistant four-hour tieup of the east-side division of the interior-rough Rapid Transit Co. subway caused a ten-minute suspension of local service today between Brooklyn bridge and Grand Central station when power was shut off after two men were burned in a manhole. The men were repairing cables burned in Tuesday's fire. A power cable and both were burned about the face and arms. The victims were Patrick Ward, 25, and William Dixon, 26, of Guttenberg, N. J.

DRYS MAKE REPORT ON BINGHAM CASE

Tell What Roraback Said When They Protested the Nomination.

Waterbury, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Republican State Chairman J. Henry Roraback told the Council of twelve, the prohibitionist body that went to him recently to protest the re-nomination of Senator Hiram Bingham. "You prohibitionists are only interested in prohibition. You would vote for a cut-throat or a murderer as long as he 'spined prohibition.'"

This was the report given today by Mrs. May B. Tuttle, prominent W. C. T. U. worker and a member of the council of twelve in her address to the joint meeting of the New Haven county and Litchfield county W. C. T. U. at the Mill Plain Union Church here today.

Although Mrs. Mabel Preusser, president of the New Haven county union who presided at the league, predicted that no official support of Albert J. Levitt's campaign against Bingham would be pledged by the W. C. T. U., Senator Bingham was denounced by practically every speaker this morning. Mr. Levitt, founder of the Independent Republican Party, will address the meeting this afternoon.

Mrs. Tuttle, in discussing the council of twelve's interview with Mr. Roraback said that in asking for a candidate other than Bingham they did not insist on a "dry" Bingham, they told Roraback, was a "laughing stock" and a "horn in the flesh."

To this, she said, Mr. Roraback replied that Mr. Bingham was an outstanding member of the Senate. A spokesman for the council agree, said Mrs. Tuttle, but inquired "outstanding in what way?"

As Curtin continued his prolonged and involved arguments, Roosevelt appeared to grow more impatient. He frowned and adged, now and then conferring in whispers with M. Malcolm Fertig, his counsel, and Martin Conboy, engaged as special counsel for this case.

"I am not the least bit interested in conclusions," he said as Curtin finished.

After a brief tilt between Seabury and Curtin, on Curtin's interpretation of one of Seabury's conclusions, Roosevelt turned to the matter of the Equitable Coach Company, Inc., and indicated he would begin questioning Walker. He asked the mayor to take a seat opposite him and closer to his desk.

"Senator Hastings is an old friend of yours, isn't he?" the governor asked.

Q-You have read in the papers that Senator Hastings was interested in the Equitable Coach Company.

A-Yes.

THINK AUSTRALIAN IS BEST OARSMAN

Only Biggest Kind of Upset Could Stop Pearce From Winning Single Sculling Championship.

Long Beach, Calif., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Apparently only the biggest kind of an upset could deprive Henry Robert (Bobby) Pearce, Australia, from the distinction of having twice in succession captured the Olympic single sculling championship.

Pearce's defense of his world title was the feature of today's program, calling for decisions in four of the seven divisions of the Olympic regatta.

The remaining finals, including the eight oared race with California flying the American colors against Italy, Great Britain and Canada will be rowed off tomorrow.

Pearce's chief opposition figured to come from Bill Miller of Philadelphia, the American champion, in a four-man race which also includes G. Douglas of Uruguay and Leslie Southwood of Great Britain.

Our Best Chances
The best chances for American triumphs rested in the California eight, co-favorite with Italy in the eight-oared final, and the veteran double sculling combination of Garrett Gillmore and Ken Myers. The U. S. A. won these events in the 1928 Olympic regatta.

In the eight-oared ranks Canada's leaders and the Cambridge University boat lead representing Great Britain qualified decisively for the finals in the row overs for beaten crews yesterday.

Besides Miller, the only other American title contender today was the pair oared boat with coxswain, which reached the final without any preliminary test, due to the limited entry.

JAPAN'S CHANCES
Los Angeles, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The aquatic world was forewarned today that Japan plans to lead a distinct Orient hue to the closing episodes of the 10th Olympiad swimming championships. They had three sturdy performers in each of the three remaining races.

With the only men's final on today's program the 100 meter backstroke there was a strong possibility Japan might overcome the five-point United States lead.

Masaji Kiyokawa who was within nine tenths of a second of the world record in the semi-finals yesterday seemed the class of the field.

Kentaro Kawatsu and Toshio Tria also showed better form than Robert Zehr and Robert Kerber of the United States.

Reduces Record
Yoshiyuki Tsuruta reduced his own 200 meter breast stroke Olympic record by almost three seconds yesterday in winning the first heat in 2:46.2. His teammate, Reizo Koike, equaled this effort a few minutes later. United States entrants failed to qualify.

Meanwhile America's mermaids dominated. Eleanor Holm won the 100 meter backstroke crown from Bonnie Mealing, Australia, in one minute, 19.4 seconds, 1.1 seconds slower than her own Olympic record set in the semi-finals. This increased the feminine team score to 51 against 17 for Australia.

Hungary's water polo team maintained its undefeated record by trouncing the United States, 7 to 0. The victory virtually assured Hungary the title.

PIRATES PLAY TOMORROW

IRISH NINE BEATS MANCHESTER GREEN

Comes From Behind In Final Frame To Win, 7-6; Five Errors Score Many Runs.

The Manchester Green team finally met defeat last night on the Charter Oak grounds when the Irish Nine, East Side contenders for the sandlot championship of the town, came from behind in the final frame and topped the Green by one run, 7-6.

The Green tallied three runs in the first, adding two more in the third and fourth to take a commanding lead. Errors by Cone and Hubard and passed balls by R. Jarvis, the catcher allowed several runs to cross to bring the Irishmen Green in the fifth.

Solid smashes by Sturgeon and T. Sullivan in the final frame, aided by two passes and a liner over second by J. Sullivan with the winning run on third ended the game.

WITHDRAWAL AIDS GOLFERS IN QUEST OF NOYES TROPHY

Grant and Clare Decide Not To Play In Norwich Tournament, Berry Wins Medal, Ahern Runner-Up.

Norwich, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Sixteen golfers seeking the Noyes trophy found their chances greatly enhanced for a victory in the Norwich golf club invitation tournament today with the withdrawal of Bobby Grant, New England amateur champion and Charley Clare, Race Brook ace.

While Richard F. Berry of Hartford was winning the medal in the qualifying round yesterday, Grant and Clare spent the day at Brae Burn. They decided to withdraw from the tournament to practice for the sectional qualifying round of the National amateur tourney.

Berry shot a 74 to win the medal, nosing out Dow Ahern of Williamantic by one stroke when the latter missed one foot putts on the 14th and 15th holes. Burt Resnik, defending champion placed third with 78.

Berry teed off against G. B. Hanson of Hartford today in a first round match, Ahern was pitted against Harry Cook of Shenecosset and Resnik opposed Eben Learned, Jr. of Norwich.

Other pairings: Ed Sulsaman, Tumble Brook vs. L. B. Stoner, Hartford; Edward G. McKay, Norwich vs. C. S. Henderson, Hartford; Bob Mustard, Williamastic vs. D. W. Morton, Norwich; J. S. Griswold, Lyme vs. John B. Murphy, Norwich; and Don Scocell, New Britain vs. Ralph Sturges, Hartford.

BON AMI TROUNCES WETHERSFIELD A. C.

Codek Leads Team To 5-2 Victory With Homer and Triple; Losers Get Only Four Hits.

The Bon Ami baseball nine trounced the Wethersfield A. C. at the North End playgrounds last night, 5 to 2. Wilson pitched a good game, allowing but four hits. Godek and Zapata led in the hitting, the former getting a home run and a triple, knocking in three runs and scoring two.

Butch Carter caught a fine game and Hook Brennan starred in the field, making a sensational shoe string catch. Stenson was the only visiting player to get two hits. The score:

Bat Battalino Wins Bout With Townsend

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Benny Leonard has run his string of victories to 21 in a row with Paulie Walker, young and strong welterweight from Trenton, N. J., as his latest victim.

Leonard had to rally strongly in the last three rounds to gain a close decision over Walker in a ten round battle at Ebbets Field last night. The former lightweight champion had won the first two rounds but absorbed a beating in four of the next five rounds as Walker cut him about the nose and eyes with sharp lefts and rights.

Bat Battalino, former featherweight champion outpointed Billy Townsend, The Crescent scored a spectacular ten round semi-final. The Hartford bather floored Townsend for a count of seven in the fourth round.

PLAY THREE GAMES IN AS MANY DAYS

Bluefields Have Ambitious Schedule; Start Tomorrow With Firemen of No. 1.

The Bluefields, whose stamping ground is on McKee street, have an ambitious schedule this week-end, playing three baseball games in as many days, starting Saturday afternoon when they will mingle with Hose Company No. 1 at the McKee street diamond.

The Bluefields will battle the North End Pirates of Hartford Sunday afternoon at McKee street and Monday evening will play a West Side team, consisting of players chosen from the playgrounds league. The latter game will be played at the Four Acres.

The Bluefields are desirous of obtaining games with both local and out-of-town teams. Arrangements may be made by getting in touch with William McCormack of 55 New street.

PARSHALL PUTS OVER 2 WINS AT HARTFORD

Drives Ankabar To Victory In 2:10 Trot and MC-I-Win To Capture Three Year Old Pace.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Doc Parshall was the cynosure among drivers at Charter Oak Park today as a result of victories in two of the 8 in five-year-old pace. He drove Ankabar, chestnut gelding owned by H. J. Schmoeger of Peoria, Ill., to victory yesterday in the historic Charter Oak 2:10 trot, feature event on the four-day program.

As then drove MC-I-Win to capture the three-year-old pace. MC-I-Win, owned by C. F. Rowley of Cleveland, paced the mile in 2:02 1/2 in the first heat to set a new track record.

Governor Wilbur L. Cross and his staff were invited to witness today's racing, which included the 2:18 trot, the free-for-all pace and the classified trot.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

In the West Side Juvenile League the Buicks, behind the one hit pitching of Adams, tied the Nashs for the first place position in the league. Adams struck out eleven of the Nash batters and also got four nice hits off Surplus who pitched mound for the Nashs. E. Moore also got four hits besides fielding his position at first base cleanly. Next Tuesday afternoon the Buicks will play the Austins who have been strengthened by adding "Bobby" Lorch to their lineup.

The West Side Bears defeated the East Side Hawks in the Indoor Playground League Thursday afternoon at the West Side Field 9 to 4. The game was closely contested and at the end of the sixth inning the score was 4 to 3 in favor of the East Side.

The Pines continue to lead the West Side Jr. League with three victories against no defeats, but they are closely followed by the Birchs and the Oaks who have three wins and one defeat chalked up against them. The league will close August 19th and the two leading teams will play the best two out of three games to settle the question as to which is the better team. Efforts will be made to have an all star team from the West Side League play a series with an all star team from the East Side League.

WALLINGFORD GOLFER IN SEMI-FINAL

Toronto, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Will Gunn, Jr. of Wallingford today had gained the semi-final round of the Canadian amateur golf championship. The other three places were filled by Canadians.

Pairings for today sent Gunn against Gordon Taylor, and C. Ross Somerville against Jack Cameron, with Somerville and Gunn favored.

BOYS MAY BE BOYS, BUT SO ARE A FEW OLD BASEBALL MEN

Five Major League Vets Click On All Points For Pennant Contenders They Represent.

New York, Aug. 12.—Just in case you should be interested in statistics, there are five men playing ball in the major leagues whose combined years of service total 83 seasons—and they are not just being kept around ornamental purposes, either.

The men, and their years of toll, are: Joe Sewell, Yankees, 13 years; Babe Ruth, Yankees, 19; Sam Rice, Senators, 18; Rabbit Maranville, Braves, 21; and Riggs Old Hoss Stephenson, Cubs, 12.

Their average age is 37. Sewell is 34; Maranville, 40; Ruth, 38; Rice, 40; and Stevie, 33, though it does seem Stevie has been around long enough to be older than that.

Ruth is hitting between 330 and 340. So is Stevie. The other gentlemen are not such murderers, Rice hitting just under 300, Sewell clouting around 283 and Maranville well, he's taking his turn at bat, anyway, and that's something.

The three gentlemen who are not hitting at top figures—Sewell, Maranville and Rice—make up for it in all around defensive spryness, or you can bet all the unpaid taxes they wouldn't be in there.

The others are doing a pretty good job of fielding, too. Ruth's unshaky judgment of the spot to which a ball is destined to ride as soon as it is hit saves his crashing legs. And Sam Rice can go after them, as Dan Howley would say, from town to town. Besides, Sam Rice stole home the other day, probably just to celebrate his 2300th ball game in Washington uniform.

Last winter it was taken for granted Maranville would be released so he could catch on as manager of a minor league club. Instead of that, he has been the inspiration of the Boston team in its hard fight to stay in the first division. He has found life easier at second than at short, and has rewarded the management with the kind of sparkling plays only the Rabbit can make.

Stevie and Sewell played together on the University of Alabama team 14 years ago. Joe's short and the Old Hoss at second. Stevie, in his years at Cleveland and Chicago has compiled a batting average of .341. Sewell's mark is .319, but that figure hardly does justice to his power with men on the bases.

And Ruth? Why waste words! HORSES BRING HIGH PRICES
Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP)—A consignment of 15 head from W. R. Coe's Shoshone stud brought the best prices in two years in the Saratoga yearlings sales last night. The Coe batch brought a total of $84,800, an unusually high average of $4,320. A new single high price of $13,500 for the current sales also was set.

PILOTS HIT HARD, DEFEAT CRESCENTS

Collect 8 Hits To Win, 6-1; Hewitt Holds Losers To Four Bingles.

The Pilots defeated the Crescents at the West Side last night 6-1. "Jock" Hewitt held the Crescents to four hits while his mates collected eight off the slants of "Johnny" Falkoski to run up a total of six runs. The Pilots scored three runs in the first inning when the first three men up singled. Hewitt sacrificed and Raguskus was safe on Dowd's error. The Crescents scored one in the first when Falkoski singled and came home on Eddie Boyce's drive to right field.

The Pilots put the game in the bag in the fifth inning when Hand and Smith singled, Wilkinson sacrificed and Mahoney walked filling the bases. Then Hewitt caught hold of one of Falkoski's fast ones and cleaned the sacks with a terrific drive to left field. That ended the scoring. Hewitt struck out ten men and Falkoski whiffed nine.

WALLINGFORD GOLFER IN SEMI-FINAL

Toronto, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Will Gunn, Jr. of Wallingford today had gained the semi-final round of the Canadian amateur golf championship. The other three places were filled by Canadians.

Pairings for today sent Gunn against Gordon Taylor, and C. Ross Somerville against Jack Cameron, with Somerville and Gunn favored.

CUBS BEAT PIRATES, REGAIN FIRST PLACE

Triumph 3-2 and Earn Game Margin; Wes Ferrell Wins 19th Game of Season.

Nine days after Charley Grimm took over the managerial reins, the Chicago Cubs have regained first place in the National League tonight.

Their 3 to 2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday gave them a half game margin over the Pirates yesterday to give them first place.

The only other National League game of the day saw the Phillies and a six games losing streak at the expense of the Boston Braves 7-2.

Action in the American League also was limited to two games. Wes Ferrell won his 19th victory of the season as Cleveland beat Detroit 3-0. The St. Louis Browns walked Tel Lyons for five runs in the fifth inning and beat the Chicago White Sox 6-5.

JUNIORS WIN FIFTH TITLE
Tampa, Fla. (AP)—Tampa's American Legion junior baseball team has won the Florida championship this year for the fifth consecutive season, earning the right to enter the district tournament with other southern states to compete for further honors.

THREATENED BY GUN COP MAKES ARREST

Patrolman Prentice Goes Into Cellar For His Man Despite Brandished Revolver.

Threatened with death by a revolver brandished by a man insanely intoxicated Patrolman Joseph Prentice subdued Max Schaller of 53 Walker street last evening with the simple but emphatic command, "Put down that gun." Schaller had cried out that he would kill anyone who came into the cellar after him. Undaunted by the threat and by the dangerous way Schaller handled the gun Prentice walked down the cellar stairs, showed Schaller he meant business and brought his man back to the police station.

Schaller's intoxication reached cyclonic proportions judging from the appearance of his garden today. Flower and vegetable plants were swept to destruction by various implements Schaller happened across in his drunken madness. Patrolman Prentice said he thought another "twister" had struck town when he arrived at the Schaller home. Because his wife said she would call the police Schaller displayed his dislike of that threat by a fist attack upon her.

In court today Schaller was presented upon the charges of intoxication, breach of the peace and assault. He pleaded guilty to all three and Judge Johnson fined him $10 each on the first two and for the third violation sentenced him to jail for 15 days. After court Mrs Schaller pleaded that she and her seven children could not afford a $20 fine at this time and Judge Johnson remitted it. He did insist that Schaller serve the jail sentence. Costs of $13.07 were paid.

Five or six years ago Schaller paid a $60 fine for threatening persons with a revolver. He said today

CONFIDENCE

Editor of The Herald: Mr. Rogers' letter of voluminous length commending the procedure of Watkins Brothers for setting a precedent for Manchester merchants, is a matter of great significance.

When striking at the collapse of public morale and lessened confidence, one of the deep-rooted evils of the depression is most fantastically touched. Inasmuch as this condition prevails throughout the world, concerted action of co-operation and effort throughout, will offer a support for the requisites of tangible improvement.

Most of our advocates have been hesitant to prophesy. There are, however, encouraging signs that the worst is over. Recovery, therefore, depends on the collaboration of all nations, and the Lausanne agreement is a notable achievement of that end.

The recent Ottawa conference, will give a practical lead to the international co-operation which is necessary to restore the markets of the world, and will, in that respect, be a prelude for the good results to be obtained through the proposed World Economic Conference, particularly with regard to the raising of general price levels which seems to be the worst symptom of the plight of all staple industries.

The depression has greatly lowered working costs, but it would be impossible, even for the lowest cost producers to bring them down to such extent as to make present prices economic, unless, there were an unbelievable lowering of the present standard of living.

We go through life faced with obstacles and problems, today's troubles lose their sting tomorrow . . . and like the sun which shines brightly only to disappear from the horizon it appears the following day as if nothing happened. Life does not go backward nor does it tarry with yesterdays . . . and with the addition of CONFIDENCE to our repertoire of weapons required to offset the gravity of the present crises, success will be inevitable.

Therefore, Mr. Rogers' letter expressing the need of CONFIDENCE is a statement not only of national and civic importance, but, international as well.

Yours very truly,
EDWARD E. EDGAR,
19 Locust St.
August 11, 1932.

that he had never used the gun and that it was a souvenir he had brought back from Mexico. Patrolman Prentice said that although it didn't help him at the time he was making the arrest it did give him some relief to find that the gun wasn't loaded.

Fruit Thieves

One other case was presented before Judge Johnson this morning. Four boys, old enough to know better, were charged with stealing fruit from trees in the yard of William Rubinow, of East Center street. Three of the youths are juniors in High school and the other is a sophomore. They had stripped a plum tree of all its fruit, both green and ripe. Other such misdemeanors have been reported in that neighborhood and the police were on the lookout for the guilty parties.

Probation Officer Edward C. Elliott, Jr., represented the boys and said he believed they didn't realize the importance of their wrong doing. He asked that they be given a chance to show that a warning was sufficient. Judge Johnson continued the case a month and placed the boys in charge of the probation officer for that time.

WATCH FOR PERSEIDS, SEE BEAUTIFUL SKY

Display of "Shooting Stars" Not Great But Gazers See Most Impressive Skies In Years.

Policemen, milkmen, reporters and whoever else can be classified as "stay-out-lates" had an unusual opportunity last night or early this morning of viewing the Heavens' display of Perseids. Although the tail of the comet discovered some 70 years ago by Swift, and from which these Perseids are supposed to have come, didn't make a particularly good show in itself, those who watched saw one of the most beautiful early morning skies of the year.

Not more than seven or eight "shooting stars" were noted at any one time but star-gazers saw the Heavens at their very best. The usual millions of stars seemed to have multiplied again and again and there was a depth to the blue of the sky that emphasized all the more impressively the infinity of the celestials.

DRUMMERS CONVENE

Meriden, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The forty-seventh annual convention and field day of the Connecticut State Rifers and Drummers Association will open here tonight with a ball and dance. Tomorrow morning the program will start with a parade in which about 50 corps from Connecticut, New York, Massachusetts and Rhode Island will participate. Saturday afternoon competitive field events including corps and individual playing contests will be held at St. Stanislaus stadium. Double Feature
Joan Blondell in a picturization of Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Miss Pinkerton", and Jack Oakie, Andy Clyde, W. C. Fields and Ben Turpin in "Million Dollar Legs" are the feature attractions at the State today and Saturday.
You may think you have seen "mystery stories" on the screen, but as the old saying goes, "you ain't seen nothing" until you have seen "Miss Pinkerton". Mary Roberts Rinehart has been credited with writing the greatest of all mystery stories in "Miss Pinkerton", and in its adaptation to the screen, it has lost none of the quality that placed it in its exclusive niche. Miss Blondell is ideally cast as the harassed heroine, and she has for her leading man, none other than that new screen favorite, George Brent. Others in the large supporting cast are Ruth Hall, John Wray, Holmes Herbert and Mary Doran.
"Million Dollar Legs" is a comedy set against the background of the Olympic games. Jack Oakie has the male lead, and he is seen as an American brush salesman who lands in a fictitious kingdom gone mad over the approaching Olympic games. In order to save the defunct government, Jack offers to organize an Olympic team to save the treasury. The story was built for laugh purposes only, and how well it succeeds may best be testified to when it is stated that there is not a dull moment from start to finish, in fact, the audience is in one continuous uproar.

As an extra added attraction Saturday only, the management will present little Mary Ann Jackson, juvenile leading lady of the famous "Our Gang Comedies", in person, afternoon and evening. Mary Ann is making a tour of eastern theaters before resuming her work in the Gang comedies in the early fall. Mary Ann is well remembered as the freckle-faced little girl who is usually the cause of all the trouble in the comedies. She will appear three times on Saturday, and present her complete act each time, which runs exactly twelve minutes. In her act, Mary, dances, sings and relates some of her experiences in making "Our Gang Comedies". It is a real treat for the children. They will have an opportunity of seeing the little favorite in the flesh as well as meeting her personally, as Mary Ann descends into the audience at the conclusion of her act and personally greets as many of her youthful admirers as she can.

WAPPING

Wapping Grange has received an invitation to meet with East Hartford Grange on Friday night, August 19, as it is East Central Pomona Officers' Night, and each Pomona officer is to furnish one number for the program.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Bidwell of South Windsor were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Gabriel at their summer cottage at White Sands beach, Lyme, recently.
The First Congregational church of which Rev. Harry S. Martin is pastor, will be closed for the month of August.
The Federated church of Wapping will be closed for the last three Sundays in August.
Mrs. Josephine (Gowdy) Foster and family attended the Gowdy Family reunion at "Twin Oakes" in the district of East Wallop, town of Enfield, last Saturday, August 6.
Miss Doris Rockwell returned Monday to her home in East Windsor Hill from her vacation which she spent in Maine.
The game of baseball between the Uncas Boys of Wapping and the Buckland Boys, was won by the Wapping team the score being 6 to 5, on Wednesday afternoon.
Miss Jennie Whitton of Hazardville is spending a week's vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Foster of Foster street.

Mr. and Mrs. Dion have moved into the Cassius Newberry house at South Windsor, from Burnside.
Miss Amelia Watson of East Windsor Hill has been spending a few days with friends in Massachusetts.

SHANLEY'S APPEAL

New Haven, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Major James A. Shanley of Governor Cross's military staff who is a candidate for the Congressional nomination in the Third District today used newspaper advertising columns to appeal to the Democrats of New Haven to give him the nomination. Two years ago he ran against Congressman Tilson.

Shanley in the appeal said:
"We have a few so-called leaders repudiating me, a New Haven born, bred and educated man, a son of a Jew Haverer x x x and these same few leaders are calling upon all the resources of the local government to deliver the Congressional delegation to Mayor Maloney of Meriden, which delegation rightfully and fairly belongs to me."

TROTTING STARS SET FOR GOSHEN

Grand Circuit Races Close In Hartford Today—Classic On Wednesday.

Goshen, N. Y., August 12.—While Hartford's annual Grand Circuit meeting closed today, horsemen moved on to the next scene of harness racing's big show, Goshen, where on Monday the Circuit opens a five-day engagement, topped Wednesday by the $80,000 Hambletonian Stake.

The sorties in Hartford on Tuesday and Wednesday settled nothing as far as America's three-year-old racing stars are concerned and as 10 or 12 crack eligibles moved into the summer campaign stretch today there was no factual evidence that this year's big stake can be settled on paper as much as a minute in advance of the first scoring down past the judges' stand.

The Marchioness, crack filly owned by Mrs. Will Caton of Syracuse, and driven by her trainer-husband in the opening event at Hartford, added another victory to her string in the three-year-old trot winning the second and third heats in a bitter duel with the J. L. Dodge colt, Hollywood Dennis, which won the first. The Marchioness, as a matter of fact, was lucky to head the big colt in the second heat but a bad break on the backstretch cost the colt the race. Clearly it was a battle between these two with Calumet Chuck and Sir Walter Scott completely out of contention in the four-horse event.

Maid McElwain, winter-book favorite, remained idle at Hartford although named to start in two events there. Will Hodson, her trainer, decided to give the filly a rest before she makes her greatest bid for prestige in the Hambletonian. Far from out of the show, Hodson said the Maid will be better for a brief layoff. Meanwhile the stars in the barn of Ben F. White already quartered at Goshen, The Lad, Brevere and Jane Willett, are getting the hang of the Goshen track. Brevere looks exceptionally good, has worked in 2:06 at Goshen in handy fashion. Jane Willett, called by many close observers the most likely dark horse, worked in 2:05 1-4.

Among the other Hambletonian candidates which will arrive in Goshen tonight are Hollywood Robin, Hollywood Brand, Prince Hannover, Maid McElwain, Invader, Warren Guy, Calumet Crusader, Kashmazy, Fronta Britton, Generous, Uphill Traveler, and others.

NEW OF SHORTAGE

New Britain, Aug. 12.—(AP)—When auditors who had examined the records of Emil J. Danberg, former clerk of City and Police Courts, made their final report today to W. H. Judd, chairman of the board of finance and taxation, Judd expressed the belief that the city would not be required to reimburse the commissioner of motor vehicles for $4,928 because the motor vehicle department, the auditors said, was aware of Danberg's alleged shortage long before he was expelled and arrested.

Danberg was bound over to the September term of Superior Court on a warrant charging him with misappropriating public funds.

ANOTHER OCEAN HOP

Bridgeport, Aug. 12.—(AP)—George Hutchinson, who plans a trans-Atlantic flight with his wife and two children, took off from the Stratford Airport today for Newark in the two-motored Sikorsky amphibian plane he intends to use on the trip.

His wife and two daughters, Catherine, 8, and Janet, 6, who are included in the plans for the flight, were with him. In addition, Hutchinson said here, he will take two mechanics.

WATKINS' SALE REAL REVIVAL

Firm Complimented On Success—Furniture Bought Throughout New England.

Leading manufacturers of quality furniture have centered their attention upon the current sale of Watkins Brothers Incorporated now being conducted. Frank admissions have been given by several heads of America's greatest furniture manufacturing plants, complimenting the policy of the management in disposing, at this time, in view of the rapidly changing standard of prices in quality merchandise, of the entire $175,000 stock of the store.

Little Fellow Leads

facturers struck the keynote of the new policy yesterday when he said: "It takes the little fellow on Main street to show the big fellows of the world how to start a business revival." Watkins Brothers, in this sale, has reached out far beyond the established coterie of clients who have made this store their headquarters for generations.

It is of interest to note the assortment of sales made yesterday by the Watkins Brothers large force of salespeople. New England was the field yesterday, in one of the biggest days that the store has experienced since the opening day. The record goes to the little town of Georgetown, Maine, for the longest distance sale; Georgetown is 30 miles north of Portland, and that the news of the South Manchester furniture sale reached the Pine Tree state is a distinct credit to the store management.

Dis. int Sales

Other large sales were made to customers living in Orange, New Jersey, West Rutland, Vermont, and in Connecticut in the following cities and towns: Rockville, New Britain, Meriden, Bridgeport, Norwich, Willimantic, Hartford, West Hartford, Farmington, Glastonbury, Hampton, Middletown, Stafford Springs, New Haven and other towns in this vicinity.

It was readily admitted that more furniture has been sold in the past two days than in the past two months. Extra salespeople were unable last night to take care of the large number of out-of-town customers. Salespeople worked until early this morning re-arranging the entire four floors of the store for this morning's business.

Even with the 21 extra salespeople, it was impossible to remove sold furniture from the floors in time for the opening this morning. The transportation system is being heavily taxed, immediate deliveries now being limited to Manchester and vicinity. Out of town deliveries are scheduled ten days in advance.

People Respond

The Watkins Brothers Inc. management has again proved that they were right in assuming that the buying public would respond to a sale of this proportion, once they realized the values to be given in every line of merchandise. That they have been given due recognition by the manufacturers at this time and in this unprecedented emergency, is indeed gratifying. A divisional salesman, heart of the Watkins sales in Albany yesterday and made a special trip to Manchester this morning to investigate.

Stocks have been so rapidly depleted that it is evident that the sale, originally scheduled for two weeks, will be completed within that period of time. When the sale has been completed, alterations will be made in the store and all floors will be re-decorated and a complete new line of merchandise bought.

SKULL FRACTURED

New Haven, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Overcome by carbon monoxide gas, his skull fractured, Donald Hallock, 42, was found early today on the floor of his garage. At Grace hospital his name was placed on the danger list.

Police believe he fractured his skull when he fell after being overcome by the powerful gas.

Sport Chatter

Irishmen Want Games

The Irish Nine would like to range games with the following teams: best out of three, St. Field's; V. F. W. Fribbles, No. 7; or 4. For games call Joe Sullivan or Joe Lavett, phone 7925 between 5 and 6 p. m.

HARBOR KIDNAPERS

Wichita, Kan., Aug. 12.—(AP)—W. C. Logan, silver cashier, New York bank cashier, was taken for a ride by the two men who early Thursday forced him to open the Farmers state bank and give them access to between $4,000 and $5,000 in cash.

The ride ended near here last night with Logan's release in a cemetery, but unlike most "ride" victims he was unharmed. The banker notified members of his family and ended a search undertaken by fellow townsmen and officials of a half dozen Nebraska counties. The robbers, described by Logan as middle aged, continued their flight after his release.

One secret of getting ahead

You need good health to succeed. Many a man has seen his chances go because he was too sick to keep pace with competition. Often his poor health was due to constipation. This ailment frequently causes headaches, loss of energy, sleeplessness. It takes the "punch" out of your day's work.

Try eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Science shows this delicious cereal supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. How much safer than using pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

In the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Troop 5
Eighteen Scouts of Troop 4 hunted for hidden treasures Tuesday evening instead of having a regular meeting. The trail which was a difficult one led from Troop headquarters to the Center Springs Park where the treasure was found by Scouts G. Frost and Mohr.
A watermelon was divided among the Scouts present. Eight of the Scouts who did not receive any of the melon because half of it was bad will get their share at the meeting next week.
A game of "Shoot the Cannon" was played soon after the watermelon feast. In this game, Scout Turner accidentally jumped into the brook which was nearby. A game of "Run, Jack, Run" was also played, but Ulrich was too fast for the others so the game was called off.
As soon as darkness had descended into the woods, the Scouts left for home.
Notes
All second Class Scouts or over will be taken to Rock Neck for a week-end vacation this Saturday, the only cost will be 50 cents to cover the price of meals. Meet at Troop headquarters before eight o'clock Saturday morning.
Scribe, Matchett.

THREE HURT IN ACCIDENT
New Haven, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Three men were injured early today when their car crashed into a parked truck operated by Joseph Quirico of 60 Putnam street, Hartford.
Joseph Mauriello, 45, is on the danger list at New Haven hospital with a possible fractured skull.
Louis Pittersella, 47, suffered a fractured arm and dislocated hip and Genesee De Mucia, 53, driver of the car, received cuts on the arm. No arrests were made.

CHRIST A CANDIDATE
New Britain, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Ernest W. Christ, widely known in State political circles, announced today that he would be a candidate for State Senator on the Republican ticket in the fall. Mr. Christ was a member of the lower House in 1926 and the Senate in 1929. He also served on several state conventions.

NEW SWINDLE
Denver, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A new wrinkle in swindling confidence men was reported to the police today.
Two men obtained $19 in cash and gasoline by presenting to a filling station attendant the facsimile of a $20 traveler's check which had been taken from an advertising blotter.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

STARTERS: The rising generation retires about the time that the retarding generation rises. . . A wisecracker says that an adult is a person that has stopped growing except in the middle. . . If a married woman eats onions you can be pretty sure she's still in love with her husband. . . No use saying to the bride, "with all my worldly goods I thee endow." She's got 'em, if any. . . It's also true of the bonds of matrimony that they are not worth much unless the interest is kept up.

MINUTES OF GOLD
Two or three minutes—two or three hours—
What do they mean in this life of ours?
Not very much if but counted as time.
But minutes of gold, but hours sublime,
If only we'll use them once and a while
To make some one happy, see some one smile.
A minute may dry a little lad's tears,
An hour sweep aside trouble of years;
Minutes of my time may bring to an end
Hopelessness somewhere, and give me a friend.

Your mind is a store room; you and you alone are in possession of its key. Fill it with rubbish and chaff and then step in and see how many diamonds you can pick up.

Mother—How would you like a nice cake for your birthday with ten candles on top, one for each year of your age?
Tommy—Oh, mom, I've got a much better idea. Why not one candle and ten cakes for my age?

Waiter (pleasantly)—You sometimes find a pearl in an oyster stew.
Diner (grunting)—I'm looking for oysters.

"I can't enthuse much over spinach," declared a man. "The blamed stuff even isn't food for thought."

Mrs. Bott—What happened to that handsome young man you had for a roomer?
Mrs. Knott—Oh, I had to put him out. He told me he was a bachelor of arts, but I found he had a wife and a family in another city.

THERE ARE PEOPLE SO OPTIMISTIC THAT THEY COULD EXPECT TO GET HONEY FROM A WASP'S NEST.
So I Said To Her—Do you remember the boy that used to pull your pigtail at school?
And She Said To Me—Oh, is that who you are?
And I Said—No, that was my father.

Superintendent—What we want is a night watchman who will watch, alert and ready, for the slightest noise or indication of burglars—somebody who can sleep with one eye open and both ears on the job and who is not afraid to tackle anything. See?

Applicant—I see. I will send my wife right over.

Joe—How are your children coming along?
Bill—Fine. Tony wants to be a racketeer, and Holly wants to be a chorus girl.
Joe—But what happened to Alf?
Bill—Oh, we had to kill him. He wanted to go to college.

Sometimes the fellow who starts out on the theory that the world has an opening for him never succeeds in getting out of the hole.

Wife—Don't you think a man has more sense after he's married?
Husband—Yes, but it's too late then.

More baseball teams have been organized this year than for many years. Athletic activity has not been confined entirely to baseball, golf, croquet, horseshoes, volley ball, and indoor baseball sharing a place in home sports. Many old time players who have not participated in outdoor sports for years have had their chance this year.

Mrs. Elizabeth Phelan of Church street left this morning for a few days' stay in New York City and Mineola, L. I.

GO TO BREAK CAMP AT STONE'S RANCH

Local Company Not To Return To Niantic—Entrain At Black Hall Station.

Due to a change in the Regimental orders, Company G of Manchester, now in training at Niantic, will not return to Camp Cross from the Stone Ranch rifle range where they are firing for record qualification, but will entrain for Manchester Sunday morning at the Black Hall station.

The men of the local company were glad to receive the news, as it will mean that there will be no more details, inspections, parades or detail work in connection with breaking camp.

Company G has qualified one sharpshooter, Sergeant Stanley L. Storrs, and ten marksmen, Lieut. Raymond Eggerson, 2nd Lieut. Stephen Frye, Sergeants Eydolaki, Murphy, Goads, Minicucci, Caselli, Corporal Polito, and Privates Giorgetti and Quinn. Company G has qualified as many men as any other company in the regiment. A number of men missed qualifying by a few points.

Company G has enjoyed this year's camp better than any other due to the fact that they have had few parades and very good meals during the two weeks of camp. This year, as in years past, the Company Commander has hired a civilian cook to supervise the cooking of meals at camp, but the cook deserted on the first day, and First Cook Trude Vince took over his work and did a better job than any cook ever hired by the Company.

Range Notes
The Company gets a big laugh when some old-timer pulls a boner. Yesterday while firing for record, Corporal Polito got a couple of ("swab's") (misses) so he was told to ask the man distributing the ammunition to ask for "Bulls Eye" shells, which was supposed to give the marksman a perfect (?) score. He went over and asked for it and didn't get wise until the boys started to laugh.

Private "Bang" Hewitt made a decided hit singing at the 2nd Battalion Minstrel the other night. Hewitt sang, "In My Hideaway" and "Wasting My Time on You."

Everyone is wondering who stole Private Vesco's insignia pins and Private "Tony" Salmond's underwear. Corporal Fracchia is being complimented for having the best squad for details.

PARADE, DINNER FOR MCCLUSKEY
Committee Plans Big Welcome Home Party For Town's Olympic Entry.

Bands will play, soldiers will march, the governor of the state may be present and thousands of people will be given an opportunity to hear words spoken in praise of Joseph McCluskey, Manchester's native son, when he returns from Los Angeles, California, where he competed in the Olympic games. Joe was given the third place in the 3,000 meter steeplechase, in the improperly measured event but the United States flag was hoisted in honor of his effort while thousands cheered his sportsmanship in not protesting for a better position. Manchester will do its utmost to show its appreciation of its first Olympic athlete.

To prepare for the celebration a committee representing the Town of Manchester, the Chamber of Commerce, the Ninth District schools and the Manchester High school, the Recreation Centers the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus, met last night and organized by electing William P. Gulah as chairman, E. J. McCabe as secretary and Harold C. Alford as treasurer. These same men were made an executive committee, with power to appoint other committees such as reception, parade, music, dinner and decorations. Selectman Thomas J. Rogers was named as honorary chairman.

It was not possible to complete details at the meeting last night as there is an uncertainty about the date that McCluskey will be back in Manchester, but it is expected that he will be home about August 24.

At the meeting last night the committee of eleven named by Campbell Council K. of C. to arrange for the welcome home was dissolved and representatives were present either in person or by proxy from leading local institutions. F. A. Verplanck of the Ninth District dropped in to assure those who were taking the matter of the celebration in hand that he would lend such help as possible and that Principals C. P. Quimby would be ready to do his part. The representation from the schools was increased by adding the name of "Pete" Wigren, the man who trained McCluskey in high school.

Edward F. Taylor, representing the Recreation committee spoke for the members of that committee to assure the gathering that there would be complete cooperation. Wells Strickland, as a selectman and a representative of the Y. M. C. A., assured his support and named Mark Holmes to represent the "Y" in the celebration.

Thomas J. Rogers, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, not being in town, had given the assurance that he would do what is possible to help out. Further appointments to committees was left with the executive committee and a report of their doings will be made at a meeting to be held in the Municipal building Tuesday of next week.

Bands in Manchester will be asked to take part in the parade. The plan is to have McCluskey arrive by automobile from Hartford shortly after 5 o'clock at Depot Square and from that point he will ride to the Center. It is expected that both Company G, and the Howitzer Company will take part in the parade and the bands to be invited are the Salvation Army, the American Legion, the Center Flute, and the Klitites. The parade will end at the Center, or possibly go to the West Side playgrounds, the latter to be considered with the Center Park as the one most likely to be selected.

Arriving between 8:15 and 8:30 there would be an opportunity for those employed in the mills and shops to reach the park. The exercises there would consist of the formal welcome home address delivered by the Honorary Chairman and Mayor Thomas J. Rogers with remarks by Joe and a welcome back to Connecticut by Governor Cross.

In the Masonic Temple, after the exercises at the Center are over, a dinner would be served to Joe and members of his family and the price for the dinner will be made so low that an opportunity will be given to hundreds of Manchester residents to attend. A band concert would continue in the Center Park following the exercises if present plans hold.

The Connecticut Fifers and Drummers Association will hold a field day at Meriden Saturday. The Center Flute band of this town and the recently re-organized Talcottville Drums Corps will take part.

TO ARREST YOUTHS STEALING FRUIT
Police Have Had Many Complaints and Will Punish Those They Catch.

Police have received complaints about groups of boys stealing fruit and breaking down limbs heavily laden with fruit. Last night five local youths were caught "red-handed" stealing plums from a local orchard and were given a good talking to and warned that any further depredations will result in a penalty being imposed. Police are determined to stop the wholesale theft of fruit, and have taken measures to apprehend the guilty ones.
