NO BAND CONCERT
 HERE LAST NIGHT

Through Misunderstanding
 Crowd Was Told That Band Would Play.

Due to a misunderstanding, the Salvation Army Band did not present a concert at Center Park last night, disappointing a crowd of more than 2,000 people, who had gathered there for the public reception to Joe McCluskey and to hear the concert that was scheduled to follow the ceremonies.

This concert was intended to be the final one in the series sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. When the band was asked to march in the parade in honor of McCluskey, Bandmaster David Addy said that the band would either march or give the band concert but would not do both, because of the strain it would cause the members of the band. Another reason was the fact that the band was not at full strength, several members being ill, while others are on vacation. Seventeen members paraded last night.

Ady imparted this information to Jack Jenney, chairman of the parade committee, and the latter asked the band to forego the concert. The Chamber of Commerce was unaware of this, and after the reception last night it was announced that the regular concert would be given. The amplifiers at the park were then taken down and when Addy announced the concert would not be given he was not heard by the crowd.

Mrs. Oswald Johnson and Mrs. J. Clarke Baker will play with the Middletown club Friday morning.

22 COURT CASES
 DURING AUGUST

Receipts In Greater Proportion
 Assault Cases Total Six.

The month of August brought only twenty-two cases before the Manchester Police Court, a decrease of twelve over the preceding month of July. Receipts took an even greater drop in comparison, amounting to $805.50 as compared with $1,366.53 for July.

Only one case of driving while under the influence of liquor was heard in court, although there were nine cases of motor vehicle violations that included reckless driving, driving without a license and minor charges.

A big increase took place in the number of assault cases, there being a total of six. The remaining cases consisted of arrests on sundry other charges. Of the receipts, $195.65 went to the state and $609.85 to the town.

OPINION OF WORLD IS AGAINST JAPAN

Tokyo Official Admits This In Answer To Question; Other Questions.

Tokyo, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Naval and military aspects of Japan's relations with her neighbors, including the United States, and the world-wide censure of Japan's force in Manchuria were subjects for discussion today in the House of Representatives.

A member demanded to know what the government was doing about "concentration of the American Navy in the Pacific." Foreign Minister Uchida said he saw no reason why Japan should ask Washington to explain its fleet dispositions or otherwise take official notice of them.

"As for Manchukuo," he said, "Japan is confronted with an unprecedented opposition of world opinion. Nevertheless we are determined to follow the course already fixed in the face of all opposition. The government is doing its utmost through our diplomats abroad to improve world feeling toward Japan, but thus far we can admit no optimism."

The minister of the Navy told another questioner that the Navy is considering the advisability of re-establishing the naval base at Port Arthur to protect Japanese and Korean fisheries along the Manchukuo coast and also to prevent piracy. A secondary naval base maintained there was abandoned in 1924.

Baron Uchida assured another questioner that the government had no intention of restoring the Kwangtung leased territory, which includes Dairen and Port Arthur, to Manchukuo following recognition of the Changchun regime.

A member asked whether the Japanese Army would not use the "right of self-defense" to solve the problem of Jehol. He was informed that in view of the international relations involved the Japanese Army has no intention of taking any drastic action in Jehol in the near future but Manchukuo might use its own forces to protect its own interests in Jehol.

FATHER IS RELEASED

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Stating they were convinced he knew nothing of the whereabouts of his missing eight-year old son, Wilmington police today released Paul James Wilfong after several hours questioning.

The boy, Paul James Wilfong, Jr., disappeared from his mother's home in Troy, N. Y., last Sunday, and authorities there asked Wilmington police to question Wilfong, who is estranged from his wife.

Police said Wilfong told them his wife went to Troy with their son several weeks ago. A daughter, Mildred, 14, lives here with her grandmother. Wilfong told police he had learned of his son's disappearance through the newspapers.

ROCKVILLE

DROP ARSON CHARGE AGAINST HIGH ST. MAN

Anthony Anton Released When Evidence Presented Is Insufficient—Bus Driver Fined.

Anthony Anton of 23 High street, arrested for arson last Friday, was in the Rockville Police Court on Monday morning and presented before Judge John E. Fisk by State Policeman Thomas Hunt of the Stafford Barracks. Anton was discharged as the judge stated that there was not enough evidence presented to find him guilty.

The case, which has attracted much attention was the result of a fire in the Anton property on High street early Sunday morning, Aug. 14. Anton was not represented by counsel. Frank Anton, son of the defendant testified that his mother died last December and that he and his brother lived with the father.

Although Mr. Anton was a heavy drinker the boys stated that he was not under the influence on the morning of the fire. Among other witnesses were Chief George B. Milne, Captain Fred Eitel of the Hook and Ladder Company and Captain Stephen Tobin.

After the testimony of all witnesses was given Judge Fisk said he could not see where any evidence had been introduced that would convict Anton on any of the charges against him, that of arson, intoxication or being a common drunkard.

Bus Driver Fined

Arthur W. Goldberg of New York, driver of a bus, who crowded a state policeman off the road on the afternoon of August 27, was in the Rockville Police Court on Monday and given a fine of $20 and costs for careless driving. Goldberg made the statement that he had been following a slow car for some distance, going about 30 miles an hour when on the Vernon highway at the Town Farm he thought he had plenty of room to pass when he saw the state trooper and other cars coming in the opposite direction. He immediately backed up again behind the slow driver.

State Policeman Kelly, who was forced off the road testified that Goldberg was driving carelessly in trying to pass other cars while traffic was coming the other way. Although Judge Fisk found Goldberg guilty he said "There are many slow cars on the highways today and they are a menace on the road. These slow drivers have no consideration for others" he said, "and are very thoughtless."

Mill Being Torn Down

One of the Rock Mill buildings, known as No. 2, in the center of the city has been sold to Fred Richards of Snipeck street and is being torn down and the brick and lumber will be sold. The mill, together with the larger building, has not been in use for many years, and was formerly used for light manufacturing.

The building, which is being torn down is 100 feet long and 40 feet wide and is about 100 years old. Timbers in the building show they had been hewed by hand, and are apparently as good as when the place was built.

Mr. Richards has a force of men tearing down the building. It is understood that very little money was involved in the purchase price, as the owner, Frederick Swindells, was anxious to get the building out of the way. This mill was one of the old landmarks and stood Brooklyn street. The larger mill, which is still standing faces toward Central Park.

Dr. Morin's Company Honored

Dr. J. Ralph Morin of Windsor avenue, has been promoted battalion commander of the 118th Medical Regiment, National Guard. His company won the two highest awards of the regiment, a silver cup two feet high, for military bearing, discipline and drill, known as the Charles C. Purdon trophy. This company also won the Howard S. Robinson trophy for general efficiency for the year, the third year in succession they have won this award. Dr. Morin has returned from two weeks training at Niantic. George Bartlett of this city is also a member of the 118th Medical Regiment.

Wed 25 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hoffman of Oak street were married 25 years ago on Tuesday and last evening a number of friends called to help celebrate the occasion. They were presented with gifts and cards of congratulations. They also received many telephone messages.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman were married in Austria Hungary on August 30, 1907, coming to Rockville 21 years ago. Mr. Hoffman has been in the Taylor business here for that length of time. The couple have six children, five of whom were born in this city. They are Ludwig, C. A., Margaret, Helen, Otto and Elsie Hoffman. The family attends the First Lutheran church, being members there.

Plea For Clothing

The Rockville Welfare Association is making a plea for winter clothing for the people in the community in need. Although working conditions have been improved some there is sure to be a demand for these articles as soon as cold weather arrives. Those having clothing are asked to telephone Miss Minnie McLean, Miss Elsie Cummings or Miss Marian Butler and they will be called for without delay.

Mrs. Mary Jopeck

Mrs. Mary (Katie) Jopeck of Wilson, formerly of this city, died at the Hartford hospital on Monday, following a short illness. She was born in Rockville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jäkel of High street. Besides her husband and parents, Mrs. Jopeck leaves five sisters and three brothers. The funeral will be held on Wednesday.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Stratton of 63 Chadwick avenue, Hartford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth to Thomas O'Hara, son of Mrs. Mary O'Hara of 9 Lawrence street, this city. The wedding will take place about the middle part of October.

RITCHIE'S PREDICTION

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland is certain rural Maryland will support Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidency.

A guest of the New York governor at the executive mansion last night, Governor Ritchie told newspapermen:

"I think Maryland will be for Governor Roosevelt all right.

"I am sure about the country, rural districts. You see, our vote down in Maryland is about equally divided between the rural and urban sections."

Governor Ritchie said he planned to go as far west as Illinois and then into New England to stump for Roosevelt and Garner. He added that the National Democratic prospects "look good, but everything depends upon what the candidates do and say between now and election."

STORM DANGER PASSED

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 31.—(AP)—The tropical storm that swept the southern tip of Florida, yesterday moved northwestward over the Gulf of Mexico today after striking the lower Florida west coast without serious damage.

Storm warnings were ordered down at Tampa at 6 a. m., today, but the Weather Bureau at Washington advised caution to vessels in the northeastern gulf and off the coasts of northwest Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Reports from Pensacola early today said the barometer there stood at 29.86, a drop from 29.92 at 8 p. m.

ITALY LAUNCHES NEW WARSHIP

Genoa, Italy, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Italy's latest heavy cruiser, the Bolzano, was launched here this morning in the presence of royalty, government officials and thousands of spectators.

Princess Maria Adelaide, sister of the Duke of Genoa, broke a bottle of champagne on the ship's prow just before it slid down the ways.

At the moment of its launching the Bolzano was further advanced in construction than other ships of its type. It already weighed 9,000 tons of its eventual total of 10,000.

The Bolzano is the seventh of Italy's new series of heavy fast cruisers begun in 1928. It is 195.2 meters long, 30.8 meters wide. It is expected to develop a speed of 36 knots per hour guaranteed and more in actual practice, under the push of four turbine motors working up 37,000 horsepower. It carries eight-inch guns and four-inch anti-aircraft guns.

DEMOCRATS TRAIN ELECTION GUNS ON G. O. P. OLD GUARD

Washington.—As battle plans for the November election shape up, it becomes evident that some of the men who have almost become institutions on capitol hill because of their long service face bitter fights to retain their posts.

And if the democrats fulfill their own predictions it will be a mournful day for the republicans on the senate side of the hill next March 4. No less a person than Senator Moses, republican of New Hampshire, has admitted the possibility of a democratic senate after that date. Republican control now hangs by the slenderest margin, the party division being 48 republicans, 47 democrats and one farmer-laborer. Even the slightest shift in the political winds might bring about a complete shake-up in the organization of that body.

Old Guard 'On Spot'

The democrats are out a-gunning. There are a half-dozen senators at least—the very backbone of the Old Guard—whom they have definitely put "on the spot."

One is Reed Smoot of Utah, the oldest senator of them all in point of service. Continuously since 1903 the tall Utahian has clung to his seat. If the democrats could "bag" Smoot in the fall there would indeed be rejoicing in that camp. An apostle of the doctrine of high tariffs, conservative in all of his political beliefs, Smoot has theories of government differing from most democrats.

Then there's Jim Watson of Indiana, the republican leader of the senate. Much as they like the Indian personally, much as they would miss his back-slapping and incessant handshaking, his defeat probably would be considered in much the same way as that of Smoot.

He, too, is one of the Old Guard—has been since he first came to congress as a member of the house back in 1894. He has been and is a regular of regulars in all his political thinking.

The slow-moving, slow-talking Wesley Jones of Washington is another of the democrats are shooting at. Chairman of the appropriations committee, he yields to no one in his party regularity.

There Are Others

"The tall sycamore from Connecticut"—Hiram Bingham is another. Democrats haven't forgotten how he tried to put them "on the spot" for their prohibition plank after the Chicago convention. The sharp-tongued, wisecracking Moses is still another.

Serious "Sammy" Shortridge of California is also, as are the President's good friends, Glenn of Illinois; the bald, bespectacled Oddie of Nevada, and Steiwer of Oregon.

Democrats would chortle to see any of them fall by the wayside.

The principal reason that charity can't begin at home these days is that there's nobody home.

Speaking of Wooden Kimonos

All spruced up for a high dive, Miss Billy Johnson of Hoquiam, Wash., is just a chip of the old block for her pond lily model bathing suit is made entirely of wood.

Billy displayed the novel suit at the inventors' congress in Portland, Ore. It is fashioned from spruce veneer one-eighth of an inch thick, peeled from the log as a large roll of paper would be unrolled. Just the kind of suit the girls pine for.

TAXES ON GAMING BRING INCREASE IN GERMANY'S REVENUE

Berlin (AP)—Taxing the "gaming" instincts of its burghers proves one of the best means the German state treasury has of improving its revenues.

Figures reveal that receipts from lottery, playing card, and betting taxes are steadily increasing while ordinary taxes show a marked decline.

Statistics show an increase of more than 50 per cent in tax revenue in horse racing bets. The tax offices cashed in more than 27,000,000 marks (roughly $6,750,000) in 1931 as compared with only $17,000,000 marks in 1924. The size of the bets is growing smaller.

No depression is being felt in the German playing card industry. About 16 German factories are fully employed to fill the demands of their customers.

Taxes on cards brought roughly $650,000 last year, a little more than during the previous year. The increase is mainly due to the growing number of bridge fans in Germany, the factories say.

A tax on lotteries, however, brought the fattest financial yield, which increased nearly 100 per cent since 1927. The state treasury received roughly $15,000,000 from the selling lottery tickets in 1931. That was the same source brought only $8,000,000 in 1927.

All in Shape

Once upon a time she was Miss Bernadette Wright, 20, of Brooklyn, N. Y. But now she is "The Modern Venus." That was the beautiful title she received at Coney Island, N. Y., recently.

Crown Princess May Don Robes of Queen Helen

Seldom seen pictured in any except tennis costume, Helen Jacobs, in the new and attractive portrait above, assumes an expression befitting court royalty.

With the announcement by Mrs. Helen Willis Moody that she will remain in Paris with her husband and not defend her American national singles championship, Miss Jacobs is considered certain to succeed to the U. S. crown. The sturdy California girl posed for this picture during her last trip to London.

Science Says Eye Won't 'Photograph' Faces, But It Will Retain Crude Images After Death

New York.—(AP)—Science has some facts bearing on claims that a murderer's image may be "photographed" in the eye of his dying victim.

Scientific investigations show that eyes under certain conditions—that is, with scientists standing waiting with their instruments—may be caused to retain crude images. The facts seem to preclude possibility of an identifiable "photograph" of a face.

The only scientifically verified objects thus recorded are intensely bright. In Germany years ago an outline of a lighted lantern was fixed on the retina of a rabbit's eye so clearly that it could be photographed and recognized. This case is historical.

An explanation of what happens was made in 1931 by Michael Foster, professor of physiology, Cambridge University, England.

"It," he wrote, "the image of some bright object, such as a lamp or a window, be thrown onto the retina (the sensitive curtain at the back of the eyeball), care having been taken to make the retina for some time previous away from any rays of light, the portion of the retina upon which the rays have fallen will be found to be bleached."

"In fact an 'optogram' of external objects may thus be obtained. If the retina be removed and treated with a four per cent solution of potassium alum before the choroidal epithelium has had time to obliterate the bleaching effects, the retina may remain permanently in that condition, as photographers say, may be 'fixed'."

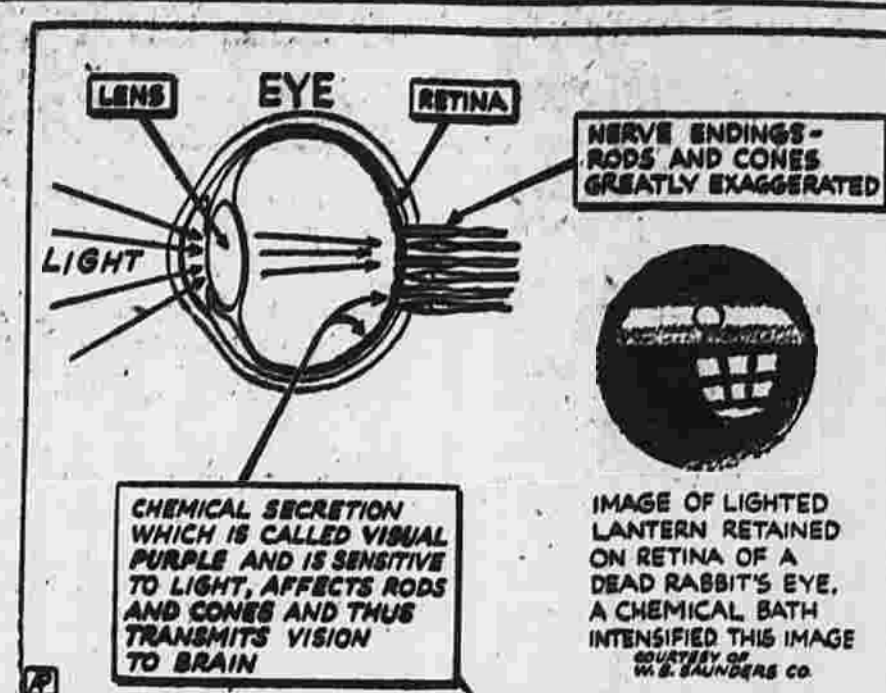

Other scientific experiments indicate that this purplish screen on the retina does not last long under natural conditions.

"The color is a chemical named 'visual purple,' a substance which seems to make contact with the nerve endings in the retina called rods and cones. Light falling upon this visual purple causes chemical changes which affect the nerves, thus translating light into nerve messages to the brain."

The latest scientific study of visual purple was announced recently in Science, official organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

There Gordon L. Walls, of the University of Michigan, told of finding visual purple in the eyes of numerous snakes. He is not studying "eye photography" but seeking more facts about the mechanisms of sight.

The American home is the last word in efficiency and comfort, an architect proudly states. The only thing left to do is to find something to keep the family in it.

CHEMICAL SECRETION WHICH IS CALLED VISUAL PURPLE AND IS SENSITIVE TO LIGHT, AFFECTS RODS AND CONES AND THUS TRANSMITS VISION TO BRAIN

IMAGE OF LIGHTED LANTERN RETAINED ON RETINA OF A DEAD RABBIT'S EYE. A CHEMICAL BATH INTENSIFIED THIS IMAGE

The belief that a slain person's eye will reveal an identifiable "photograph" of the murderer's face is not borne out by scientific investigation, although the eye may be caused to retain crude images. At left is a cross-section of the eyeball and at right is image on retina of dead rabbit's eye.

NATION CROWDED BUT ITALY URGES POPULATION GAIN

Rome—(AP)—One of the fascist government's gravest problems—that of finding room for Italy's teeming millions—is rendered more vital by its own ceaseless battle to keep the population increasing.

Mussolini has been hurling the question of what to do with all his people at the world ever since he came into power. Simultaneously he urges those same people to augment their number.

It creates a situation that is magnified by the present delicately balanced division of Europe and which for that reason probably will be allowed to go unsolved for the moment. But indications are that eventually it must force itself upon the world.

213 To Square Mile
Statistics just completed show the density of population as 213 to the square mile. In 1921 it was only 200. The increase has been methodical since 1861, when the figure was 124.

Persons not of fascist Italy's way of thinking might see a ray of hope in the fact that in the last two years there has been a noteworthy decline in the numbers of births. The fascists, however, view the matter in just the opposite light.

They term the decline a "grave danger" and "suicidal tendency" and have set themselves to check it.

Large Families Win Prizes
Prizes frequently are offered to families with the largest number of healthy children and Mussolini repeatedly tells the nation that a people must multiply to be in ascendancy.

The figures that caused the wave of alarm showed that in the first half of 1932 there were only 502,408 births in Italy, compared with 538,825 and 584,613 in the first six months of 1931 and 1932 respectively.

A noteworthy decline in the number of marriages also was revealed, the figure being 125,976 for the first half of 1932 and 137,979 and 151,750 for the same periods in 1931 and 1930.

2,500,000 Gain In Decade
There were 41,709,581 people in Italy when the last census was taken in April, 1931. This represented a gain of approximately 2,500,000 in 10 years. All these people are crowded into an area almost half the size of Texas.

Italy has large colonial possessions in Africa, but they are mostly desert land incapable of supporting large populations. Mussolini asserts that Italy was not given a just territorial award after the war and has consistently argued for revision of the peace-treaties.

Hollywood Actress Travels 12,000 Miles For Film Chance

New York—The far famed "Bohemian atmosphere" of Greenwich Village, made-to-order for tourists and stunning Manhattanites, now bears the melancholy strain of taps as Don Dickerman goes to the bankruptcy courts.

The droll and artificially-flavored Dickerman creations could not stand the pressure of times when people have grown more serious, and the playboy is a little out of date. His phoney pirates grew less ferocious as their pay dwindled and creditors arrived; his farm folk and his old English settings; his displays of art works of struggling painters and his theatrically designed buccanier backgrounds—these were for days when gay crowds roamed the Village byways. Dickerman prospered, and what started as a good natured hobby of a brilliant young college man became something of an industry.

Remainder—Five Old Suits
From an experiment in the old, old village days, the idea grew to a chain of "atmosphere" night clubs. Dickerman chuckled. He grew rich. He could engage in other hobbies, such as taking long explorational trips with Dr. William Ebebe, the naturalist-writer. He was rumored as having tossed much of his money into West Indian trips.

He returned to New York with many trophies, most of which found their way to the walls of his resorts. He patronized young artists and he knew art, yet he had helped create much of the fictitious "art atmosphere" of yesterday. All in good fun! And now, by his own admission, "business is terrible" and he claims as his worldly goods, "five old suits of clothes, all three or four years old and badly worn."

Amusingly enough, his list of creditors includes such worthies as Rudy Vallee, Arthur Brisbane, McClelland Barclay, George Palmer Putnam, and smart magazines in which he purchased space.

Helped Rudy Vallee
Rudy Vallee enters the picture as one of his early stars. It was in Dickerman's "Heigh-ho" cafe that Vallee started his "Heigh-ho everybody." Here Rudy's career started on the up-grade.

In the Village it was the Pirate's Den which put Dickerman on the map. This was a dank and murky basement, ill lit with sputtering lanterns. Its tables were of rough boards. Its waiters painted ferocious scars on their cheeks and cawed dirks between their teeth as they dished soup. From time to time they issued growls and mutterings. An art student, brandishing a cutlass acted as the doorman.

Timid ladies from out-of-town would be taken there after whispered warnings, to enjoy delicious shuddering with a $1 dinner. The place gained national fame. Sight seeing busses unloaded their crowds there. It was a pioneer "atmosphere" spot and Dickerman, finding that it worked, became the product of a masquerade Bohemia.

Village's Hey Heyday
The Village filled with artists and poets. Edna Millay, Floyd Dell, Max Eastman and all the rest became its key figures, along with a score of other famous ones. Romany Marie opened a gypsy cafe and little basements appeared everywhere. Bobbie

No longer can Eva Tanguay, America's original flapper and musical comedienne of 30 years ago, sing "I Don't Care!"—the song that brought her fame. For, at 54, Eva Tanguay has lost her health and her $2,000,000 fortune and is reported near death in her home at Los Angeles. The stock market got her money. Above is a recent picture of Eva and below is the gay toast of Broadway as she appeared in her harum-scarum days.

ARBUCKLE STARTS COMEBACK CAREER

After 12 Long Years, "Fatty" Seeks Fame In Movies Once More.

New York—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle has returned to the kitchen, as though time had stood still and tragedy had not made him a public exile for twelve years. The last memory of Fatty was that of a chef, juggling dishes, tossing pies and otherwise turning gastronomy into a shambles. And the next view of Fatty will reveal him just about where he left off. For over in the Brooklyn Vitaphone studios, Fatty is enjoying the glow of hope that can come only to a "come-back."

Twelve years have shifted him around, without reducing his girth to any great degree. From a comic in the films, he was transplanted to the role of villain in many eyes—but his was the role of a clown. He became variously an anonymous hanger-on, a nameless assistant director and then a director of comedies. Had his story been in scenario form, Emil Jannings would have made a rather good selection for the lead. Fans Are Curious

Years went on while studio doors hesitated. But now he is glowing again before the camera. The nearby throngs have heard about it. They climb on fences. They scale the tops of barns and rooftops. Fatty is 45, a fairly advanced age for a comic. But when he acts some 20 years seem to slip from him. Yet he is not without worry. In serious moments he wonders what a newer generation will think of his slapstick. And in twelve years there can be quite a turnover in people and tastes. Well, at any rate, he has his fame, his underized derby, his huge shoes, his comic suspenders, his flapping trousers. He has the chef's apron. He has Alf Goulding, one of Hollywood's veteran directors, to guide him. He even has some of the vintage jokes. For instance, when a waiter calls for "lettuce salad without dressing" the answer from the kitchen comes: "One September Morn, coming up!" Now who has heard of September Morn in twelve years? No Pie-Throwing There's an order of pork sandwiches, which results in the kitchen call of "A couple of grunts going for a walk." Not even a Harvey House has heard such lines in many a year. Fatty, preparing for his great moment, haunted the Brooklyn studios for a week before the "shooting" started. He conferred daily with Sam Sax, production manager, slightly nervous and worried after his long absence. His nervousness became more obvious as the day of the first take arrived. It was decided in these conferences to reintroduce him in a role with which old-timers were familiar—that of a chef. No pies will be tossed in this 1932 product, but there will be squashy, collapsible fruit, reminiscent of the old Mack Sennett days. Fatty admitted that he was timid about the talkies. "I still believe in pantomime," he told me. "But I think sound will improve the old situations. And there will be a lot of new ones, too. We used to depend on slapstick for a 'crash'; now we can get it over with sound. You see, I directed a lot of shorts and got a pretty good notion of how sound can be brought into a film. Of course, I want my first picture to catch on—and that's really why I'm a bit nervous. In some ways I believe dialogue should be kept to a minimum—for the crowd wants a chance to laugh. In my own silent interludes, I've seen pictures where laughs are planted too fast." Fatty isn't going back to Hollywood unless a feature picture awaits him. He lives on Coney Island, and likes it. Farmers are becoming more like the city dwellers every day. First they got telephones, electric power and radios, and now they have gone on strike. A New York minister says that war is becoming unpopular. That's always the way—AFTER the war.

South American Nations Fighting For Jungle

Buenos Aires. — (AP) — Backwoods fighting in the Gran Chaco, the Manchuria of South America, where Bolivia and Paraguay have clashed again over disputed boundaries, caused no great surprise in this capital.

Months ago it was predicted that when the effects of the rainy season had worn off, the numerous outposts maintained in that jungle wilderness would be in conflict as the two governments sought to push forward into the no man's land that has been built up there.

The trouble goes back to Spanish colonial days but it has become acute only since the growth of the republics and the pressure of economic conditions have turned attention to the great natural resources of the region.

Both Bolivia and Paraguay claim the whole of the Chaco as between the Paraguay and Pilcomayo rivers. Actually the territory is about equally divided now as far as physical occupation goes.

The gist of the whole quarrel is the wide and deep Paraguay river, navigable right up to the point where it debouches from Brazil. Bolivia has needed free access to that great stream as an outlet to the Atlantic ever since Chile drove her back from the Pacific many years ago and left her landlocked.

But her approach has thus far been effectually blocked by the Paraguayans who have put settlements west of the river through almost the entire length of the Chaco. Out beyond these settlements is a thick line of Paraguayan military posts.

So the Bolivians have been pushing down lines parallel more with the Pilcomayo river, although that stream can scarcely be considered navigable.

The Bolivian pressure appears lately to have been exerted chiefly in a southerly direction. The location of the post styled Fort Mariscal Santa Cruz by Bolivia and

The pear-shaped patch on the map constitutes the Gran Chaco, claimed by both Paraguay and Bolivia. The fort where the latest clash occurred is shown within a square in the white strip which marks where the army outposts of the two nations overlap.

Fort Carlos Antonio Lopez by Paraguay, indicates this. This fort was described by Bolivia as "attacked" in mid-July while Paraguay announced its "recapture" a few days later.

The new state of Manchukuo would take on a glittering halo for these people if it would honor the claims. Official quarters and financial circles have watched movements in the Far East of Alfred Massenet, representative of the Franco-Asiatic Bank of Paris, which bought some of the claims on the Chinese Eastern railway when the Russo-Asiatic bank, which floated the initial loans, was dissolved after the Russian revolution.

M. Massenet proposed to float a loan for the new state of Manchukuo providing French claims in the railway were accepted.

But officials here believed that a loan of an amount sufficient to interest the new state would be diffi-

FRENCH INVESTORS CONCEDE LOSS ON CHINESE RAILWAY

Paris. — (AP) — The billion and a half pre-war francs which Frenchmen in every walk of life scraped together in order that the Czar could build the Chinese Eastern railway and lost forever, officials say. They have little faith in recent attempts of a group of Paris financiers to resuscitate French rights.

LIFE MORE FUN IN MEN'S CLOTHES

Daughter of Former Salvador President Startles Paris in Male Attire.

Paris. — Perhaps the one woman in Paris who hasn't the slightest interest in the faddy and luxurious new styles that are being shown for fall and winter is the pretty daughter of a former president of the republic of San Salvador.

For Senorita Helena Araujo has discovered that a girl in man's clothing can go places, see things and have exciting adventures. And since those things are what she most wants to do, she intends to continue wearing trousers in spite of convention, parental disapproval or the edict of Paris police.

Helena's father, Arturo Araujo, and her mother, an Englishwoman, are now in Guatemala, where they have been exiled since the revolution of last December. "Teddy," as she prefers to be called, was born in New York 13 years ago, educated by private tutors and at schools in San Francisco and London.

Not long ago she left the home of an aunt in London to begin a hiking trip. "I was bored," she explained. Her wandering led to France, she hiked to Nantes, and there tried to beg passage on an English sailing boat. When the captain refused, she made friends with members of the crew and stowed away in a musty sail locker. Seafolks drove her to surrender, and she was put ashore at Lisbon and made her way here, still wearing her gray flannel trousers, khaki shirt and heavy shoes.

Helena is much too pretty and shapely to conceal her sex, and Paris police, who find it very difficult to be stern with her, have warned her twice that it is illegal for a woman to go about in men's clothes.

Beauty Models Form Union

First to the tape in qualifying trials for Chicago's new models union is pretty Kathryn Swagerty who appears in a fair way of anid into immediate membership. Bernice Argast (right), secretary of the union, is sizing up Kathryn's qualifications. The girls figure on the eight-hour day with extra pay for overtime and are said to have a charter from the American Federation of Labor.

Gene Clark the Ivories Gene Sarason, American and British Open Golf champion, notices a great similarity in golf and billiards and is fond of the latter as a diversion. Both games require precision, concentration, proper grip and the follow through on all strokes.

TRUMPET PLAYER DRAWS GUN FIRE

Neighborhood Noise-Makers Beware, Court Approves Shots At Peace Disturbers

New York. — "Bl-a-a-a-h-h-h" bleated Stephen Jensen's trumpet.

"Wham! Bang" volleyed Armand von Borowsky's pistol.

"Entirely justifiable... defendant discharged," said Magistrate William C. Dodge.

"Congratulations!" echoed scores of urban noise-sufferers.

And that's how von Borowsky became a hero. For not only did he take the law into his own hands and blaze away at a neighborhood noise nuisance; his action was actually commended in court.

Becomes a Hero

Now that the full significance of the affair has been brought home to him, through deeply grateful letters and telephone calls, even from total strangers, the handsome young German-American is very proud and happy.

"I never dreamed, when I shot at that trumpet player, that I was doing a real public service," von Borowsky admitted. "But now, it seems, I have established what is called a legal precedent, which may be will permit other people to shoot horn tooters also. Or yet even bad sopranos, or loud radios. That would be fine."

Von Borowsky, besides being an executive in a textile-dyeing concern and a pistol inspector in the Ordnance Department of the U. S. Army Reserve Corps, is the commodore of the Touring Kayak Club, a boating organization.

Stephen Jensen and his trumpet live right across the street from the club.

Confusion Contended

"Myself, I am a patient man," declared the commodore. "For instance, there is a Scotchman living

Aquatic Stars "Just Friends"

Here's pretty Eleanor Holm, "woman backstroke champion of the world," with Dick Degener, of the championship U. S. diving team, as the two watched other aquatic stars perform in the Olympic games at Los Angeles. At the moment, it appears Dicky is taking more than casual interest in Eleanor's "pitty itty finser," but they're "just friends," they declare.

near here who plays the bagpipes all day long. And I have never—yet—done anything to him.

"But on this night we have friends at the club, and one of the ladies has a headache. The trumpet is tooting right at us from an open window. It plays always the same tunes—'Yes, We Have No Bananas,' 'Home, Sweet Home,' and 'Taps,' the bugle call. For four years it has played the same tunes, with the same mistakes.

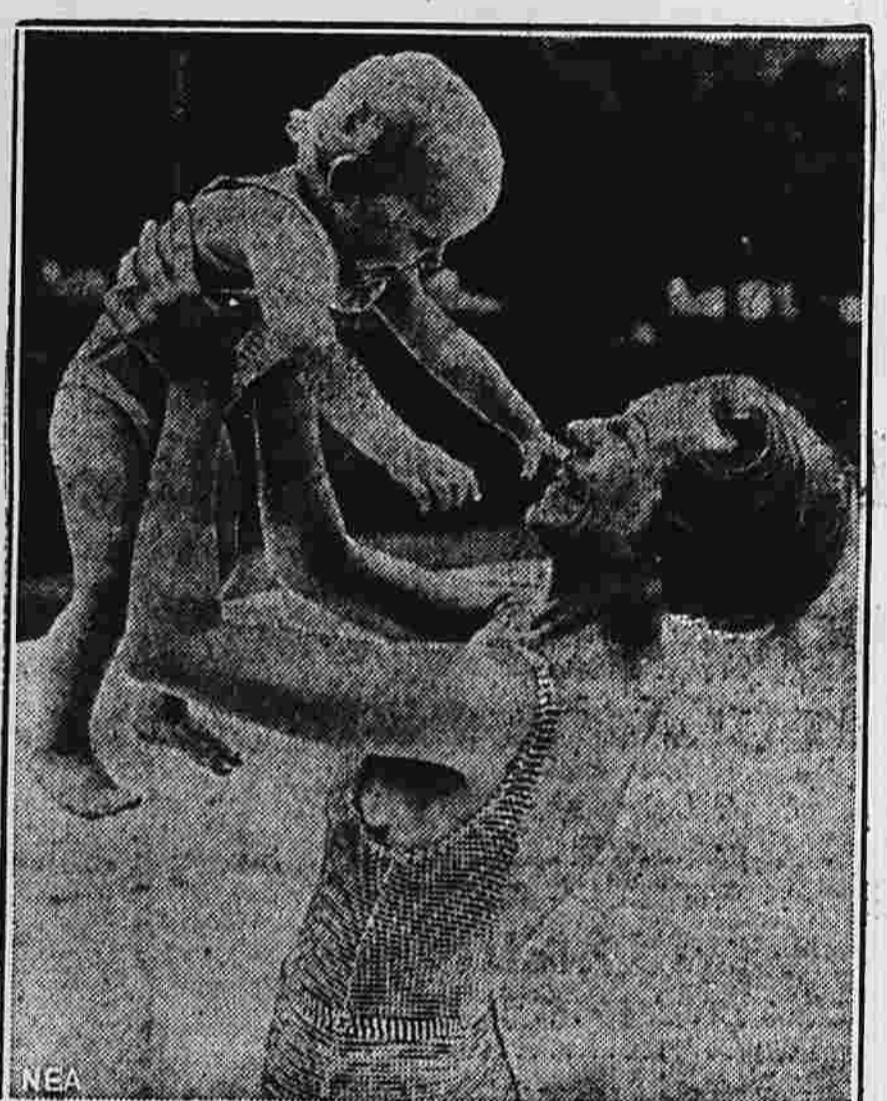

"The lady's headache is getting worse, so I take our club's fog-horn and turn it on this trumpet player. Maybe he thinks I am trying to join him in a nice duet. Anyway, he toots louder than ever."

"The lady's headache is getting still worse, so I get the pistol I use to start boat races. It shoots only harmless blanks and has a square bore, but it makes a fine noise. I lean out the window and shoot. Every time the trumpet strikes a note I shoot. It is an awful commotion. Finally I have shot seven times and the trumpet is quiet. By this time, though, the lady's headache is very bad indeed.

Six cars of police and detectives whirled up to the scene within a few minutes. With drawn guns they surrounded the club, seized Von Borowsky and yanked him into night court for disorderly conduct. After hearing the story, Magistrate Dodge refused to accept his plea of guilty. "I think you have been doing somebody a favor," commented the judge. "You had justifiable provocation. Defendant is honorably discharged."

"So, now," mused Von Borowsky, "I guess I can go gunning for that bagpiper."

A Candidate for the Olympics of 1948

With a couple of aquatic champions for parents, 17-month-old Diane Wright surely should be a star of the Olympics of 1948. Here you see her in training with her mother, Mrs. Martha Norellus Wright, former world champion swimmer, at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. Diane's father is Joe Wright, the famous sculler from Toronto, Can.

ITALY'S DELEGATES TO LEGION MEETING HEADED BY WOMAN

Rome (AP)—Italy's department of the American Legion will send to the Portland national convention a delegation headed by a woman. She is Mrs. Julia Whellock of Newark, N. J., who was commander of the Legion here for three years.

Other members of the convention delegation named at the annual convention here are: Amerigo Vitelli, re-elected commander; Riccardo Zucchi, vice-commander; the Rev. John Maynard, secretary; and the three voting delegates, Carmine Casolini, Felix Martini and Giuseppe Spinucci.

Fourteen years after the end of the war, there are said to be in Italy many Italian-born veterans of the American army who have never made any claims for pensions, insurance or bonus payments and the Legion has undertaken to aid them in establishing their rights.

"The Italian Legion has 760 members, almost all naturalized Americans who have retained their adopted citizenship."

crowd that envisions a political empire based on booze know that the strong points of their power will be the saloon, no matter what its name. "In many larger cities the gangs which attempted defiance of the Federal government have sold out their depleted butness to smaller fry of the underworld and have taken up gambling, commercial racketeering, and vice; disquisitions which are covered mainly by state law.

Fear Federal Law.

"These gangs working closely with state and city political organizations know they cannot successfully buck Federal law but can, will and do defy state law by their control of state and city political organizations. So also the small bootleggers, all they want is a wet majority in politics, withdrawal of Federal law and state control. That is why so many bootlegging politicians have turned to the traditional slogan of "State's rights." Under the present plan of the predatory and vicious interests "State's right" has no more relation to its original high ideals than a skull and bones pennant has to the Stars and Stripes.

and William C. Fox for the Congressional nomination from that district. Both are from New London. The endorsement of Mayor Maloney for the Senate seat has heartened friends of Major James A. Shanley of New Haven. Before the town caucuses, the latter unsuccessfully sought to have New Haven pledge its delegation to him.

Dr. Dolan Silent Dr. Edward G. Dolan of Manchester and Homer S. Cummings of Stamford of the New Guard today said they had no comment to make on either the Monday or last night's conferences, they understanding the governor alone was to make known any decisions reached as to the proposed makeup of a ticket acceptable to all.

plete and incomplete precincts against 147,563 for Shortridge; 131,832 for Representative Joe Crail, Anti-Saloon League choice; 93,773 for Shuler as a Republican, and 37,823 for Leo V. Youngworth, Los Angeles attorney and prohibitionist.

State Uncertainty

The sectional variation and the uncertainty as to what percentage of the incomplete precincts remained to be reported complicated the situation. "Tubs in campaign addresses said repeat of the Eighteenth Amendment would do more to help solve the problem of unemployment and taxation than any other move." A few months before election, Shortridge, generally regarded as a dry, took a stand for reestablishment. McAdoo, also long regarded as a dry, accepted the Democratic platform, including its prohibition repeal plank.

PLANTS REOPEN

North Adams, Mass., Aug. 31. — Five mills representing four different types of industry are now on night and day schedules a survey made today showed. Plants representing two other lines are on full time and a 250 percent increase in business in the last two weeks was reported in still another manufacturing field.

RAIN WASHES OUT VIEW OF ECLIPSE

Manchester People Disappointed As Storm Clouds Fill the Sky.

As the Herald went to press rain-laden clouds promised to deprive Manchester people of viewing the solar eclipse late this afternoon. The eclipse is to be about 98 percent total in this section of southern New England and with the cloudy sky showing no signs of clearing, indications were that the small remaining percentage of the sun's rays would be completely eliminated.

MISS HUEBNER STRONG TENNIS CONTENDER

Last Year's Champion Defeats Miss Oswald Easily Yesterday—Other Matches. Miss Eleanor Huebner, last year's runner-up for the town title in women's tennis, defeated Miss Francesa Oswald yesterday afternoon, 6-1, 6-2 in a second round match. Miss Huebner was very impressive and showed that she will probably make another strong bid for the title this year. She will next play the winner of the match between Mrs. Robert Houghton and Miss Muriel Tomlinson.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

DEPRESSION means only PRESS ON with the D-I-E taken out!

John rushed around looking for his coat.
 Mrs. John—What do you want your coat for, dear?
 John—That fellow Brown across the road has just telephoned to ask if I can lend him a corkscrew.
 Mrs. John—Well, what do you want your coat for? Surely there's no need for you to go out? You can send Mary with it.
 John (turning upon her more in sorrow than in anger)—My dear, your last remarks sum up the whole reason why women cannot lead armies, control nations or take anything but a subordinate part in the affairs of the world.

One reason why romance lasted longer in the old days was because a bride looked much the same after washing her face.

A case came before a police court involving the ownership of an eight-day clock. After listening to both sides the judge turned to the prosecutor:

Judge (gravely)—You get the clock.
 Accused—Oh, and what do I get?
 Judge—Well, you get the eight days.

"I tried to find out what time it was over the radio and the nearest I came to it was to learn that it was the Lucky Strike hour."

Bobby—Can't I change my name today, mother?
 Mother—What in the world do you want to change your name for?
 Bobby—Cause Daddy says he will whip me when he gets home, as sure as my name is Robert.

The traveling man in his wisdom tells his wife he's glad to get away from the big hotels for a few days so he can enjoy her home cooking. . . . The last time a woman went out on the front porch to see the new moon over her right shoulder some one stole the Sunday roast out of the refrigerator. . . . What has become of the old-fashioned smoke nuisance that used to worry so many of our cities?

What is a pig doing when he is being? He is making a hog of himself.

Advice To Girls: Look out for the boy who loves you from the bottom of his heart—it may only be a FALSE BOTTOM.

Butler (to new cook)—Mind you, I'm not saying anything about your cooking—but there's been a terrible run on cheese and crackers in the dining room tonight!

Catty Neighbor—Is your son a good violinist?
 Mrs. Bragalot—Say, when he plays the Anvil Chorus, the whole family has to wear goggles to keep the sparks out of their eyes.

A girl will buy expensive underwear and still think she's limiting herself to the bare necessities.

People are advised to be careful and save money, and then are advised not to hoard it but to spend it. . . . Our advice is to do what you please with it, providing it is yours.

Depositor—Have you been with this bank long?
 Cashier—Oh, yes. I was here when there was only ten vice presidents.

Suitor—May I marry your daughter?

Stern Father—What is your vocation?

Suitor—I am an actor.

Stern Father (angrily)—Then get out before the foot-lights.

Some of the politicians are attempting to carry water on both shoulders, hydrant water on one shoulder and fire water on the other.

RESISTANCE STIFFENS

On August 31, 1918, German resistance to the great allied offensive in northern France stiffened enough to hold their gains for the day to a fraction of the sweeping advances accomplished on the two previous days.

Nevertheless, important gains continued to be made, and Canadian troops stormed Mt. St. Quentin and the British took Marrieres Wood and some of the high ground beyond it.

British troops also stormed Kemmel Hill in a desperate battle which had its climax in hand-to-hand fighting.

American forces pushed forward in the vicinity of Juvigny, despite increased resistance.
