Text: Num. 10-11-12, 29-35. The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Sept. 11. By WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of The Congregationalist

From Egypt To The Holy Land

BY GEORGE HENRY DOLE. International Sunday School Lesson Text, Sept. 11th. "Come with us, and we will do thee good."—Num. 10:29.

The study of the vicissitudes and wanderings of the people of Israel in ancient days would have no great value and interest for us beyond the records of any other people or phase of history were it not that these records contain much that is symbolic of the problems of progress for humanity in almost every phase of life.

The individual reads the story of the progress of the people from the bondage of Egypt to the Promised Land, and he finds in the record an illustration of what is going on in his own life.

Read not the story of Israel's journey from Egypt to the Holy Land as merely history, but as a parable formed from history and expressive of spiritual truths that express us out of oppressive and afflictive conditions to a state of the promised light and joy.

through the gratifications of merely the natural desires, yet the good that the Lord wants to give, in which happiness exists, cannot be received except as the self is sacrificed.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 10.

LEVITT, DEMOCRAT

Announcement by Professor Albert Levitt of Redding that his "Independent Republican" party has enough signatures to its petition in all the towns to insure the inclusion of its candidates on the ballot in the November election is mildly interesting in itself.

Additional interest may attach to it for those persons, heretofore Republicans, who have been led into this movement under the impression that it was an adventure in liberation of their party from bossism, if they will look up Professor Levitt in the issue of "Who's Who in America" of 1928-7. They will find there one intriguing fact.

Mr. Levitt's sketch is not a short one. From it we learn many things concerning the number of degrees he holds, the surprising frequency with which he has fitted from one college chair to another, his creditable war record as a chaplain overseas, including both wounds and gassing. And then comes a perfectly astonishing word—"Democrat."

We can't recall Professor Levitt as giving out, ever, that so recently as two or three years before he loomed on the horizon as a reformer of the Republican party he was writing himself down as a Democrat. Yet "Who's Who" makes no errors in such matters. Its sketches are usually written by its subjects—always at least checked up by them. So we may take it as a fact that so recently as 1928 Mr. Levitt had never been a Republican at all. If at some time subsequent to that year he became a Republican his period of service within that party, prior to his bursting out as an insurrectionist, must have been of the briefest. Not long enough, in fact, for the professor to acquire the feel of membership.

This one word, "Democrat," in that five-year old volume explains many things. It is very easy to understand how a person who up to his fortieth year at least had always been a Democrat could have a poor opinion of the Republican party in Connecticut—or anywhere else; that such a person would require not too much evidence to be convinced that the Republican party was a wicked thing and its leaders more wicked yet. It was always easier to convince an Englishman or a German that Napoleon Bonaparte wore hoods and a spiked tall than it was to make a Frenchman believe in the Little Corporal's diabolism.

So far as Mr. Levitt's attitude toward the Napoleon of Connecticut Republicanism is concerned, it is natural enough in one born and bred across the political Rhine, though it would be difficult to understand in a political Parisian.

The puzzling thing is why the professor should be flaunting a tricolor cockade. When and where and how did he get the right to wear it—to call himself a Republican?

It is our suggestion that the handful of men and women whom the Professor has managed to enlist in his "Independent Republican" party ask him about this—when he joined the Republican party and how long did he stay in it before he began trying to scuttle it?

Professor Levitt, as a soldier, or even as a chaplain of soldiers, knows what they do, in war, to the enemy found within the lines in the wrong uniform. And what they call him.

THE CHURCHES AND RUM
 In the midst of the customary jangling and disputation over the merits and demerits of parties and candidates which mark every Presidential campaign there is considerable danger that the people of the country will overlook a very important duty.

It is inevitable, in view of the declarations of both major parties and all major candidates except the amiable Curtis, that with or without qualification the control of the liquor traffic will be vested before long in the states. It is even possible that such a change will be brought about at an unexpectedly early date. The people of the state are forgetting to prepare for such an eventuality. Unless they come alive to their responsibilities they are likely to be caught napping.

It is a rather singular thing that just at the very time when the advocates of temperance should be most alert and should be organizing their forces for effective handling of the liquor situation bound to develop in the near future, they are doing nothing whatever in that direction. The great majority of the drys have either given up fighting or they are failing about them, in disappointed rage, taking a punch at every head in sight out of sheer revenge. They could be in very much better business—better for the country and better for their eventual self respect.

That better business would be the enlistment of all possible forces of good order and rational progress into regional groups for the study of the subject of state liquor control and for organization in the interest of the wisest and most broadly beneficial policy that can be worked out.

The days of Constitutional prohibition are drawing to a close. A very grave duty rests upon the people of the states in preparing for the situation sure to develop—perhaps very soon. There must be a crystallization of public thought and public sentiment upon definite, well thought out and enforceable laws that will avoid at once the self-destructive errors of federal prohibition and the injurious, demoralizing effects of the old system of exploiting alcoholic appetite for private profit.

It seems to us that if the churches and the clergy, whose backing of federal prohibition was as admirably motivated as it was mistaken, do not now, in view of absolute fact, assume the leadership in this essential duty they will be doing less than they should and less than the public has a right to expect of them.

There are countless thousands of people in this country and in this state who are profoundly opposed to the private saloon system, who recognize its evils as only less than those of Volsteadism, and who would be ready and eager to join forces with any competent leadership in the organization of protection against—not the repeal of federal prohibition but the consequences of unpreparedness.

We submit this suggestion to the clergy and church leaders of this community. Why should not the leadership in such preparedness movement start in Manchester as well as anywhere else?

COURAGEOUS

At the conference of the International Union Against Tuberculosis at Amsterdam, Holland, yesterday, Dr. Stephen J. Maher, chairman of the Connecticut State Tuberculosis Commission, delegate representing the United States, made an address which, in one way in particular, was extraordinary.

It is always extraordinary when a high standing physician with the eyes of the world on him frankly admits, as Dr. Maher did at Amsterdam, that his own profession is responsible for the ignorance of the laity in any particular relation. Yet Dr. Maher put squarely up to himself and his fellow experts the damaging popular superstition that tuberculosis is dangerously communicable to adults. He was sharply criticizing the tendency among specialists in the fight against the white plague to advocate what he termed the "millinery," the fuss and feathers of the anti-T. B. campaign, with special reference to the notion that sanatoria graduates should have a long period of "after treatment" in tuberculosis villages or settlements.

Some of the argument for such prohibitively costly treatment has been based on the difficulty many patients have in getting employment after being discharged from sanatoria.

"It is true," said Dr. Maher, "that graduates of sanatoria often fail to secure employment after their return home; but this is due to the fact that their former employers and fellow workers are still in a state of unreasoning panic about the supposed contagiousness of adult tuberculosis to other adults. This state of panic is due of course to the lurid propaganda fathered by you and by me, twenty-five years ago, but now known to all of us to be in good part untrue. To remedy this deplorable condition of panic we must in the first place show the public that in modern civilization adult tuberculosis is seldom conveyed to other adults, that the cured convalescent is probably the least dangerous member of his community, and that the sanatorium where he has been spending the past year is a safer place to visit than any church or theatre or school or bus or train or tram."

 Connecticut has long been aware that in Dr. Maher it has one of the most outstanding authorities in tuberculosis treatment. It will be a revelation to many, however, that he is quite as courageous an enemy of professional sham and hokum as of the disease itself.

More people will be converted to a new fearlessness of tuberculosis contagion, to the everlasting benefit of the cured, because they will be prepared to believe a physician who isn't afraid to admit having been all wrong once upon a time.

"LABOR" PARTY

There are a great many people in this country who believe that the workers of the country are not now and never have been adequately represented in the political control of the states and the nation—that the dominating influence in both the major parties is that of the bankers, the capitalists, the business people and the manufacturers; that the rank and file of the people, including the farmers, cut relatively a small figure in the determination of issues or the affairs of government.

Therefore when President William Green of the American Federation of Labor begins hinting that organized labor may abandon its traditional policy of non-participation in politics and may organize a party of its own there is sure to be a quick pricking-up of ears. The importance to which the Labor party of Great Britain has attained and the respectability and responsibility which it has demonstrated can hardly fail to affect American opinion of labor parties as a general proposition.

It is immensely unlikely, however, that if the United States ever does have an important workers party, it will be under the leadership or auspices of organized labor as we know it. A labor party, to function usefully, must be led by men of the keenest economic vision, profound students of the history of the race, scholars and statesmen as well as workers. Nowhere within the horizon of labor unionism is there any leadership of this type. There are no MacDonaldis, no Snowdens, American trades unionism has been for too long a time a mere machine for the pressing up of wages, to the complete neglect of all consideration of economic fundamentals. It has bred no political leaders worth their salt in the task of making this country a better place for the workers to live in. Higher and yet higher wages are a mere child's theory of economic betterment. A labor party would need genius at its head—plenty of it. There is none in sight—not in the trade union organizations.

MUCH MORE TO BE HEARD
 Introduced just before the close of the last session of Congress, the Costigan-La Guardia bill received only a brief and almost unnoticed hearing. Inasmuch as all authorities agree that the unemployed will experience the toughest of all their depression winters in 1933-33 and as Senator Costigan of Colorado and Congressman La Guardia of New York are experienced, hard fighters, much more is sure to be heard about it after Congress reconvenes in December.

The railroad labor unions thus far have been the strongest group to champion the proposal. Donald E. Richberg, counsel for the Railroad Labor Executives' Association, had most to do with drafting the plan, with advice from various economists, lawyers and bankers.

A "United States Exchange Corporation" would be set up with a revolving fund of $3,000,000,000. Instead of cash the borrower would be given credit certificates up to $300 for individual support plus $100 for each dependent but not more than $500. Producers and distributors of the necessities of life would be licensed to accept the certificates and cash them with the U. S. F. C. if they agreed to accept them at face value.

GOOD ONLY FOR NECESSITIES
 They could be cashed by the borrower only for necessities and an attempt would be made to determine which necessities could contribute most to increased employment if their purchase were stimulated. The credits would be repayable beginning with the renewed employment of the borrower, who would agree to pay in 10 per cent of his salary until the loan was paid off.

Washington—A bill which will interest a flock of people if enough of them hear about it is the Costigan-La Guardia bill which would authorize a credit of up to $500 to the unemployed head of any American household, repayable in 10 years at a rate of interest rising from 1 per cent to 4 per cent.

The idea is to give all good, loyal American families temporarily out of luck, the privilege of borrowing a little from the government to tide them over with the necessities of life, much as the banks and railroads are able to borrow public funds through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The scheme is both a relief and "regulatory" measure. It is argued that the stimulation of purchases by consumers who have been deprived of the ability to buy even necessities would help meet the serious causative factor of reduced purchasing power and might even lead the way back to prosperity.

GIVE THE TOES ROOM

You have undoubtedly seen the cripple man in the circus who used his great toe for writing, brushing his hair, helping to dress, and picking up various objects. The toe is naturally prehensile, as are the fingers. However, the toes of most of us, after being cramped into the shoes and accustomed for years to little or no movement, are so stiffened and rigid that we find it hard to use them at all.

Some races develop their ability to use their toes almost as readily as their hands. We read about Chinese oxmen who use their toes to work the cars, and of native Australians who grasp trees while climbing with the great toe, and of the Hindoo tailors who ply their needles with the help of the toe. So accustomed are we to shoes, however, that when we, at the beach, see some individual who saves himself the trouble of stooping over, by picking up papers, socks, pencils, matches or clothing with his toes, we stop and wonder in awe and admiration.

When you are buying your shoes, you should be most particular to find the type of shoe which will allow the toes, all of them, enough room to move properly. Both the shoes and stockings should fit correctly, if real foot comfort is to be yours. When stockings are too long, they will cause blisters, while those too short will pull the toes painfully backward. The hose should be changed daily—and it is well to alternate with one pair of shoes one day and another the next. By placing the shoes in the closet with shoe-trees inside they will last longer, and this gives the odor of perspiration a chance to dry out of them.

In buying a shoe, be sure that it is broad enough to do away with the deplorable tendency of the big toe to push the others over and buckle them over in such a position that the underneath toenail saws away on the upper toe, and the joints are so stretched that bunions result. By

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Falling Hair)
 Question: Mr. Harry A. P. writes: "I have been told that falling hair is caused by thyroid gland trouble. Is this correct?"
 Answer: There is, no doubt, a close relationship between the growth of hair and the function of the thyroid gland. Those who have an insufficiency of the thyroid secretion usually become fat and have a poor growth of hair, while the thin person is usually of the hyperthyroid type and has plenty of strong hair.

You have noticed that on some days there is more advertising in your newspaper than on other days.

Friday, for instance, we carry many messages to help you with your over-Sunday shopping. Certain department stores have their favorite days for advertising certain merchandise.

But—here's the tip—on days when the paper seems "thinnest," you sometimes discover the biggest bargains. It stands to reason that some advertisers prefer to run their announcements on days when the advertising columns are less crowded. And thus by looking sharp on the seemingly dull days you encounter surprises!

In fact, we don't think there's ever a time when one can draw an honest yawn and say "nothing in the paper today."

Another Great American Game!
 Comedy of Bad Manners
 New York, Sept. 12.—Notes on nothing in particular and every thing in general: The Algonquin "round table" crowd has finally been caricatured for the stage. . . . George Oppenheimer, of the Viking Press staff, is responsible. . . . And his play, "Here Today," now headed for Broadway, is said to contain prototypes of Robert Benchley, Dorothy Parker and others who foregathered at the lunch table. . . . Oppenheimer, incidentally, refers to his opus as "a comedy of bad manners."
 Checking up on dozens of reports I have been getting concerning a Shakespearean barnstorming group, which has been arriving by private bus in remote towns of the Tennessee mountains and mere hamlets of the middle-west farm belt, I find that it is James Hendrickson's unique troupe. . . . Hendrickson was a former actor with Robert Mantell. He later became an expert typographer and printer hereabouts, going in largely for artistic job work. . . . But always he remained a Shakespearean student, and he has been touring in tiny communities where no professional troupe had previously visited. He gathered seven Broadway troupers, two from the old Frederick Ward brigade. . . . He packs his own scenery, made special to suit the limitations of fire halls and school auditoriums.
Chop Prices Not Chopped
 The originator of the ultra-smart cafe in New York, I am told, was Herr Max Baumgarten, a professional looking gent who arrived from about about 1910 when steak and chop houses abounded. . . . He opened the Volcan three years later and so great was his success that customers crowded the steps on Saturday night. . . . Today the swanky speakasies get the smartest dining clientele.
 And though one hears of "depression prices" those spots which attract a certain crowd show small sign of slough. A midnight sandwich at Baum's still costs as much as an average meal, and Dinty Moore's corned beef comes as high as ever. Also there are

IN NEW YORK
 Of the old steak place, Bread's Chop House, Beef Steak Charlie's, Keen's and Billy the Oysterman's continue to draw many of the "regulars." Lashova is another place with a fan following—also Chaffetz's, The Parlor, The Lobster, The Tavern and a few others.
 Hollywood to Broadway
 Dropping into one of the movie palaces which now presents half a dozen vaudeville and music show acts in addition to a picture, I noted Owen Moore—after all these years—doing a four-day silk hat monologue act. . . . And looking strangely like a Hollywood version of Jimmy Walker for some reason. When I was a youngster in Hollywood, Owen was sitting pretty close to the movie peaks. In the act, a short film appears wherein he is cast. A gag requires that he shoot the screen figure from the stage. One of the lines requires him to say to the screen reflection, "You've been my worst enemy a long time." . . . I wonder—did the screen shadow come to haunt Owen Moore, the artist?
 Speaking of which, reminds me that critics are blaming Rod La Rocque, another screen performer, for the failure of Broadway's first production, "Domino." La Rocque's annunciation was of the dramatic school variety—using "futures" for "future" and the like. Also his lines were mopeously intoned. The stage has given Hollywood scores of its best current players. For some reason, few of the screen people have become stage successes. Lily Damita made a good music show ingenue; so did Lupe Velez, and Lola Moran in a current attraction. In straight drama roles, the story has been different.

MARRIAGE NO AID TO CURE "NERVES" Experts Find That It Speeds Up Pace—First Baby Excites the Mother.

Ythaca, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(AP)—So far as its effects on cases of "nerves" is concerned, marriage is no sedative. Instead, it speeds up the pace so much that 152 married couples, declared the American Psychological Association meeting here, rate distinctly more nerves than college boys and girls.

The effect of having children is peculiar. The arrival of the first day has a "calming" effect on the husband and just the reverse on the wife. But couples with three or more children both seem to have conquered their nerves more effectively than other married groups.

This report is made by Raymond Royce Willoughby, of Clark University, under the heading "Neuroticism in Marriage." Neuroticism means any nervous maladjustment not caused by organic troubles.

Shell shock is the most shining example of neuroticism. Women said Dr. Willoughby, have more of this sort of nervous upset than men, but the differences are not great and sex is only a minor cause.

"Are you interested in meeting a lot of different kinds of people?" was one question put to the 152 couples and the collegiate. Yes meant nervousness, a sort of wanderlust, perhaps.

Yes replied 40 per cent of the husbands, 24 of the wives, 14 of the male students and 6 per cent of the female students.

"At a reception or tea do you seek to meet the most important person present?" was another.

Husbands yielded to 74 per cent, wives beat them with 76, while both the boys and girls at college tied at 47.

At being frightened in the middle of the night, husbands rated one, wives 13, male students none and female students 13. At being afraid of lightning the husbands rated 6, wives 31, male students 7 and female students 22.

Ready tears, stage fright, tiring of work easily, the "nervous" and "being at least sometimes a social leader" were some of the nerve tester subjects.

A new electrical instrument which records some of the strange happenings of hypnosis was described by Dr. Erich Lindemann of the University of Iowa. When a hypnotized person is told that his arm is paralyzed, the electrical record shows that an actual change takes place in the muscle whose paralysis has been "suggested." This muscle becomes less "excitable" electrically.

War Dead Supplanted The bodies of scores of British soldiers have been exhumed secretly from war cemeteries in France and Belgium and smuggled home for reburial.

Scattered all over the world in almost 100 countries, colonies and territories, the British cemeteries are maintained by the income of a $25,000,000 fund appropriated by the British government.

Since the war there has been little complaint from relatives, who have found the British cemeteries beautiful and well kept.

Plans for a get-together to be held this month will be formulated and the entertainment committee who have had this get-together under consideration for this past month are now in a position to start the winter's activities off with a bang.

Peter Damico and his orchestra from the Richmond Hotel at the end of the Mohawk Trail in North Adams, Mass., will play at Rau's, Crystal Lake, tonight.

Ed Murphy and his Bancroft Hotel Orchestra, who pleased a large attendance at Rau's early in the season, will play again Saturday, September 24.

One of the reasons for all this automobile safety agitation is that you never can tell how a cow or a woman is going to act on the road.

Dial Twisters

By W. J. DALTON

A year or so ago I was "hit hot up" about the then new antenna system which really did reduce interference. If you remember it was a double aerial with a pair of twisted wires leading to a coupler at the radio—the ground was attached to the set.

Now it is being featured in practically all the national radio magazines as a sure cure for interference. The common, every day run of antenna may be made much more effective as a noise reducer if the same precautions were taken in its installation. Keep these ideas in your mind when erecting an aerial: Put it up in the air as high as possible, make it as long as you can up to a couple of hundred feet or so, keep it away from electric wires and above any in the vicinity, use a shielded, grounded lead-in wire and make sure that a good ground is used on the set.

The idea of placing the aerial wire above any surrounding power or electric wires and then using a metal sheath wire for the lead-in is because, in this case, the set-top aerial wire should be the only collector of radio energy. Interference through the aerial is almost eliminated and whatever outside noises are heard come through the electric wires that are attached to the set.

The longer the aerial, to modern machines, the less pick-up of unwanted noises, in proportion to music or speech.
Some facts about the newer tubes which were put on the market this summer:
The 66 tube has five prongs on the base. It is smaller than and an improvement over the 237. It can replace the 237 in most radios with better results. Its amplification is 13.5 times to 9 for the 237. No changes are necessary in the radio in order to use it.
The 87 tube has a six prong base with a cap at the top of the bulb. The manufacturers had quite a stock of superlatives to describe it.

Houston, Tex.—When a hobo blew into town from San Antonio recently he found that thieves treat hoboes just like they do men of means. He laid himself down on mother earth for a peaceful snooze with the sky for a cover and his well-filled suitcase for a pillow. When he awoke he found only the cover remaining, his suitcase, containing half a set of false teeth, a suit, 40 handkerchiefs, and shaving accessories having been stolen from under his head.

A miracle, says the scientist, is something that goes contrary to the facts as we know them. Something like a politician's home-made statistics, we suppose.

Kansas City—(AP)—Kansas City fans are singing the praises of Eddie Plink, rightfielder who took the "sun garden" which other outfielders avoided. This season he has led his American association club in runs driven in, and is rated a sliver base runner as well as a safe slider.

FLYNN SUSPECTED IN MASS. HOLD-UP

Tap Dancer, Arrested in New York, Said To Have Been Among Bandits.

New York, Sept. 10—(AP)—Patrick J. Flynn, 28 year old tap dancer, was turned over today to Lieutenant of Detectives Frank L. Wright of Chicopee Falls, Mass., to be taken to that city to face charges of assault and robbery.

Flynn was arrested in his Riverside Drive apartment Tuesday night after unusual precautions were taken by the police following the receipt of a telegram from the chief of police of Springfield, Mass., that Flynn was a dangerous man and probably would be killed.

When Detectives Charles Kellerman and Louis Raabkin, reinforced by a police squad with rifles and tear gas bombs, arrived at the apartment they found Flynn taking a bath. His wife, who appeared on the stage under the name of Dorothy Jeans, admitted the police to the apartment. Flynn offered no resistance to an arrest.

Assigned in West Side Court the following day, Flynn was held without bail for hearing next Wednesday. When Lieutenant Wright appeared today with copy of the complaint and other papers, the prisoner was turned over to him by Magistrate Guy Van Amringe.

According to Lieutenant Wright, Flynn is accused of being one of four men who attempted a holdup of Turcott's Inn, at 9 Berger street, Aldenville, Mass., early on Labor Day morning, when Damase Pelouquin, manager of the inn, was shot in the arm.

Twenty guests in the place were lined up by the hold-up men, and one of the robbers started for the cash register when Pelouquin attempted to stop him and was shot.

The hold-up men, Fred and Pelouquin was taken to police headquarters in Chicopee Falls, where he identified Flynn's picture as that of one of the hold-up men.

TRAVEL TALK FEATURE OF MEN'S MEETING

James B. Hutchinson To Speak Before Friendship Club On Monday Night.

On Monday evening at 7:30 the opening meeting of the season of the Men's Friendship club of the South Methodist church will be held. The speaker for the evening will be James B. Hutchinson, who will have as his topic "Travels Around the World." This talk is a continuation of a talk given by this speaker at the meeting held in June. Many of the members have requested Mr. Hutchinson to speak at this meeting largely because of the interesting facts brought forth by him at his previous talk. On this occasion he will deal largely with incidents of his travels just after the conclusion of the war and deals with his experiences on the Atlantic Ocean, and in the Caribbean sea, while he was employed as carpenter on fruit carrying ships. Light refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting. A cordial invitation is extended to all men whether members of the club or otherwise to attend.

SPAIN TO PARCEL LAND TO PUBLIC

52 Million Acres To Be Used For Farms—Government To Supply the Equipment.

Madrid, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Spain's projected experiment in community farming and the distribution among the laboring people of large estates of the soil and the former crown lands was approved by the National Assembly today when the deputies voted upon the final chapter of the long-discussed "agrarian reform."

The measure will have to go through the formality of a final vote on the bill as a whole, which was expected to be taken later in the day. It provides for the parceling of an estimated 52,000,000 acres of land, said to be valued at more than five and one-half billion dollars.

At the same time the Assembly approved the Catalan partial independence bill, which has been a center of much contention since the establishment of the Republic a year ago last April. Premier Azana said the measure eventually would convert Spain into a union of federated states, similar to the United States.

The measure, which is expected to settle a controversy which has existed within Spain 50 years, gives the province the right to use its own language and to direct its own education, economic and social system, as well as the right to police its own territory.

Questions of foreign relations and naval and military protection are conceded to the National government, however.

The territory had a population of 2,355,900 in the 1920 census. It comprises the present provinces of Barcelona, Tarragona, Lerida and Girona.

As soon as the measure providing for the partition of the great estates is published in the official gazette, the Agrarian Institute, which will be charged with enforcing the law, will ask the proprietors to begin registration of their land. If it is not registered within 30 days it will be subject to an assessment equal to 20 per cent of its value.

The bill involves several hundred noble families, about 20 former royal estates, and the land of about 8,000 other families.

Jean Harlow—Her Tragic Love Role In Life Teased By School Chums For 'Boyleless' Childhood; Mother Is Best Pal

Jean Harlow at 3 With Her Mother, Always Her "Pal" A School Rebel at 14

Editor's Note: This is the second of four stories on the life of Jean Harlow, the famous platinum blond of the movies—first married at 16—whose second romance has just been ended by the suicide of her husband, Paul Bern, motion picture executive.

A blue-eyed girl with wavy hair the color of white gold, stared rebelliously at a low table on which were displayed dozens of flat-heeled shoes, then twirling defiantly about, stalked away on the French heels of her own dainty slippers.

The only teacher at Ferry Hall, said to have "liked Harlow" was Miss Brown, dramatics teacher. She recognized the girl's ability as an actress. When it came time for her to select the cast for the school's annual spring play, "The Winter's Tale," she disregarded the tradition which awarded leading roles only to seniors and juniors and chose Harlow for the part of the Princess Perdita.

Through Harlow's first year at boarding school, her mother was a frequent visitor at Ferry Hall. The bond between mother and daughter was clearly recognized. Usually Mrs. Carpenter started back to her home in Waukegan, Harlow and a schoolmate accompanied her.

Week-ends at the Carpenters became one of the school's most coveted pleasures. Mrs. Carpenter was young and understanding. She was beautiful. She was modern. When Harlow and her guests, contrary to school rules, drew forth their cigarettes and lighted them, she did not comment.

Then one day news came to Harlow at school that her mother was to re-marry. Her new husband was Marino Bello, former Chicago hotel man. Following the marriage, she moved to a cozy though unpretentious little house in Highland Park, closer to Lake Forest.

It was about this time that romance first entered Harlow's life. One day in the dramatic class, Adah, Jeannette, ("Tada" to her friends) Leland, petite, dark-haired junior from Detroit, leaned over and asked her if she would like to go to a dance at the Drake hotel in Chicago the following Saturday night with a boy named "Chuck" McGrew.

As a child, Jean spent her summers at her grandfather's summer home on the Missouri river. Flowers surrounded the house, but the child took no more interest in them than she did in her dolls, which were carefully stored away on a shelf as soon as she received them. It was right from New York to Turkey, Polando has been found unqualified to serve as examiner of aviation in the registry of motor vehicles.

This became known today when it was learned the civil service department had summoned the only four of 21 applicants who successfully passed an examination for examiner and that Polando was not among them. Polando it was learned, failed to satisfactorily answer practical questions.

At first Harlow's blond beauty didn't blend well with her new background. The story of the shoes hurt her in the eyes of her classmates who continued to clump around in their awkward oxfords. She was too pretty. For one so young, she seemed too sophisticated.

As a result, when the new girls were initiated, the old girls singled her out for the butt of most of their practical jokes. They made her wear her pale gold curls in a score of tightly braided pigtails. They smeared her white skin with grease blackened with soot. They marched her onto the campus where the boys from Lake Forest College and the Academy, watching proceedings from the sidewalk, might hurl good-natured gibes at her appearance.

breathless way she listened to their stories went a long way toward establishing her popularity in the school.

All the while that her star was rising with her schoolmates, it was waning with her teachers. It was a source of unending mortification to them that, though she skimmed over and slighted her lessons, she recited them perfectly. Against their will, they were forced to give her a scholarship.

The head mistress started after the retreating girl, angry, perplexed. Her ears still rang with the latter's reckless, "I won't wear such hideous shoes; I'll go home first." During all the years of her head mistress-ship, she had never encountered such rebellion. Yet it is an interesting commentary that, for the rest of the school year, the girl went around in her own high-heeled slippers.

That girl, as you may have guessed, was Jean Harlow, the screen's original platinum blond whose first romance ended in a divorce court a year and a half ago and whose second husband was found dead by his own hand two months after their marriage.

She was just 15 then, a freshman. On the school register she was listed by her real name, Harlow Carpenter.

Her mother, Mrs. Jean Harlow Carpenter, a young and comely divorcee who lived in Waukegan, an industrial town some 15 miles north, had brought her there a few days before.

Earlier, they had lived in Kahaga City, where Jean was born on March 3, 1911. Mrs. Carpenter's husband, Jean's father—was a physician. The maternal grandfather was a wealthy real estate dealer, who adored the blond, blue-eyed child.

As a child, Jean spent her summers at her grandfather's summer home on the Missouri river. Flowers surrounded the house, but the child took no more interest in them than she did in her dolls, which were carefully stored away on a shelf as soon as she received them. It was right from New York to Turkey, Polando has been found unqualified to serve as examiner of aviation in the registry of motor vehicles.

This became known today when it was learned the civil service department had summoned the only four of 21 applicants who successfully passed an examination for examiner and that Polando was not among them. Polando it was learned, failed to satisfactorily answer practical questions.

At first Harlow's blond beauty didn't blend well with her new background. The story of the shoes hurt her in the eyes of her classmates who continued to clump around in their awkward oxfords. She was too pretty. For one so young, she seemed too sophisticated.

As a result, when the new girls were initiated, the old girls singled her out for the butt of most of their practical jokes. They made her wear her pale gold curls in a score of tightly braided pigtails. They smeared her white skin with grease blackened with soot. They marched her onto the campus where the boys from Lake Forest College and the Academy, watching proceedings from the sidewalk, might hurl good-natured gibes at her appearance.

MAINE MAN GETS BIG POTATO CROP CHEAPLY

Last spring the Hartman Tobacco Company leased to Arthur Clarke, who came here from Maine, 180 acres of tobacco land which he planted to potatoes. He raised some early potatoes which he sold at the rate of 40 cents a bushel, but reserved the greater part to the Green Mountain variety, which are now about ready for digging.

Two cut up the seed potatoes and the planting was done by machinery. The machines were run such long hours that some of the work was done after dark by the powerful headlights of the machines. Spraying was done periodically and there is every indication that Mr. Clarke is going to have a big crop of about 350 bushels to the acre. The price of potatoes is not expected to be high, but he expects a fair summer's profit from his work.

POLANDO DID NOT PASS

Boston, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Although John L. Polando of Lynn and Russell Boardman established the long distance non-stop air record with their light from New York to Turkey, Polando has been found unqualified to serve as examiner of aviation in the registry of motor vehicles.

This became known today when it was learned the civil service department had summoned the only four of 21 applicants who successfully passed an examination for examiner and that Polando was not among them. Polando it was learned, failed to satisfactorily answer practical questions.

They marched her onto the campus where the boys from Lake Forest College and the Academy, watching proceedings from the sidewalk, might hurl good-natured gibes at her appearance.

Before the Thanksgiving holidays arrived, however, the older girls began to warm toward her. They discovered that in spite of her worldly veneer she was only an unsophisticated girl. She had never had a boy friend, and her best girl friend was her mother.

Her lack of experience with boys made her a willing, even an eager, confidante for all the girls in her dormitory. The wide-eyed, almost

DEMOCRATS IN N. Y. ENDORSE ROOSEVELT

Curry, Tammany Leader, Friend of Al Smith, Introduces the Resolution.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(AP)—After unanimously endorsing the presidential candidacy of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, and selecting Albany for the state convention October 3 and 4, the New York State Democratic committee adjourned its meeting today, four minutes after it had been called to order.

The resolution endorsing Governor Roosevelt was introduced by John F. Curry, Tammany leader, who had stood behind former Governor Alfred E. Smith during the National Democratic convention in Chicago, where Mr. Roosevelt was finally chosen the presidential standard-bearer.

Applause greeted the mention of Governor Roosevelt's name as the resolution was introduced. The resolution was seconded from the floor by several others, and applause followed its adoption.

It called for "active and loyal support" of the democracy of the state for the New York governor.

The resolution read: "Resolved, That the Democratic state committee of the State of New York hereby enthusiastically ratifies the platform adopted by the National convention of the Democratic Party and pledges its active and loyal support and that of the united Democracy of the State of New York to our candidate for President, the Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt, and to our candidate for vice president, the Honorable John N. Garner.

And, be it further resolved that the members of this committee and all Democrats are urged to please before the people the high qualifications and splendid records of our candidates and the principles contained in our platform, to the end that we secure for our candidates a triumphant election."

Land Plane Records Fall Before Daring Pilots; Doolittle and Hazlip Stand Out.

By CARL C. CRANMER

Cleveland, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The manufacture of speed is one industry which has not slackened its output in 1932.

Hot-hammered by the pistons of flying steeds, three new records were forged at the national air races this year.

The three now are held by the "Halfpenny-Doolittle colony" at St. Louis. One of them, the world land plane speed record, had been held in France for eight years.

Two former army men, Maj. James H. Doolittle and Capt. James G. Hazlip, neighbors and associates in business but rivals in speed, hold two of the records. The third is held by the other half of the "Flying Halfpennies", Mrs. May Hazlip, wife of Captain Hazlip.

When Major Doolittle flew 296 miles an hour for the new land plane speed record he bettered by more than 17 miles an hour the previous mark set by Warrant Officer Bonnett in 1924 at Istres, France.

Only one record in man's history exceeds it, and that is the mark made by Lieut. C. H. Stainforth of England in a seaplane—406 miles an hour.

When Captain Hazlip flew from Los Angeles to New York in 10 hours, 19 minutes, he shortened by nearly an hour the coast-to-coast time of Doolittle the year before.

Doolittle in 1931 averaged 225 miles an hour. This year Hazlip's average was 245 miles an hour.

Matching her husband in record breaking, Mrs. Hazlip flew his plane to a new world speed record for women. Her average, 255 miles an hour, beat the old record by 45 miles an hour.

Doolittle's winning average of 202 miles an hour in the 10-mile classic, the Thompson trophy race, also marked this event as the fastest of its kind in the world.

Twenty Wins In Last 24 Games Brings Senators Within 1-2 Games of A's; Yanks Drop Double-Header.

By HERBERT BARKER

While the New York Yanks and Chicago Cubs proceed leisurely to share the victories which bring them closer and closer to the major leagues' two championships, Walter Johnson's Washington Senators are roaring along at a terrific clip that may yet earn them second place in the American League.

Twenty victories in their last 24 games today had carried the Senators to within a game and a half of the Athletics. It was the Senators' bats which beat back the St. Louis Browns 6-4 yesterday. The Senators held a 6-1 lead as the Browns came to bat in the last half of the seventh. Then Crowder weakened and before the frame was over the Browns had scored three runs.

The Chicago Cubs beat the Boston Braves 5-2. Twelve more Cubs' wins automatically will give Charley Grimm's club the pennant.

Don Hurst's single in the 12th drove in the run which enabled the Cubs to beat St. Louis Cards 8-2 and make a clean sweep of the series.

The New York Giants split two games with the Cincinnati Reds, dropping the first 10-4 and winning the second 11-1.

The Boston Red Sox overcame a six run lead and whipped the White Sox 9-6 in eleven innings.

BOXING, ONCE ART, SINKS TO ESTATE OF PHONY RACKET

Originated By Jim Figg As Sport, Has Now Lost Ideals It Once Boasted.

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of six articles which trace boxing from its founding by James Figg to the present phony era.

By WERNER LAUFER
NEA Service Sports Writer

Boxing has sunk to the level of a racket. The proud old sport that was the idealistic vision of Cudgeler James Figg, originator of its technical routine and the first recognized champion, in 1719, has been chiseled out of nearly every one of the ideals it once boasted.

From a science of physical proficiency that was meant to teach manliness and self-reliance, it has been degraded to a tool to satiate the greed of criminal harpies, conniving politicians, chiselers and gorillas.

These factors have played a large part in its downfall: Control of pugilistic plums and decisions by political influence. Intimidation by gorillas. Financial gain, rather than the fighters' own physical ability, governing victory. Boxing commission rivalry that encourages intrigue among managers and promoters. Exploitation of pugilistic talent by designing managers.

Victimizing of the fans by appointment of incapable and unscrupulous referees and judges who are legally protected. Silly legislation.

Boxing has gone through so much that there is a question of what the sport will stand. It has exhibited in hours and on barges since its inception, and has been housed in the glittering amphitheaters of the Golden Era that ended with Gene Tunney.

It has hidden from the law on sequestered farms. And now, protected by legislation, of one sort or another, it has become what it never was—the fugitive days—an instrument to cheat the fans of a fair deal.

Now boxing has furnished one spectacle of a heavyweight championship winning by sitting on the floor, and another of a man being handed the same title by an atrocious decision.

In the characters in both of these vaudeville sketches have been the same—Schmelzing and Sharkey, and even now the way is being prepared for a third meeting of the two.

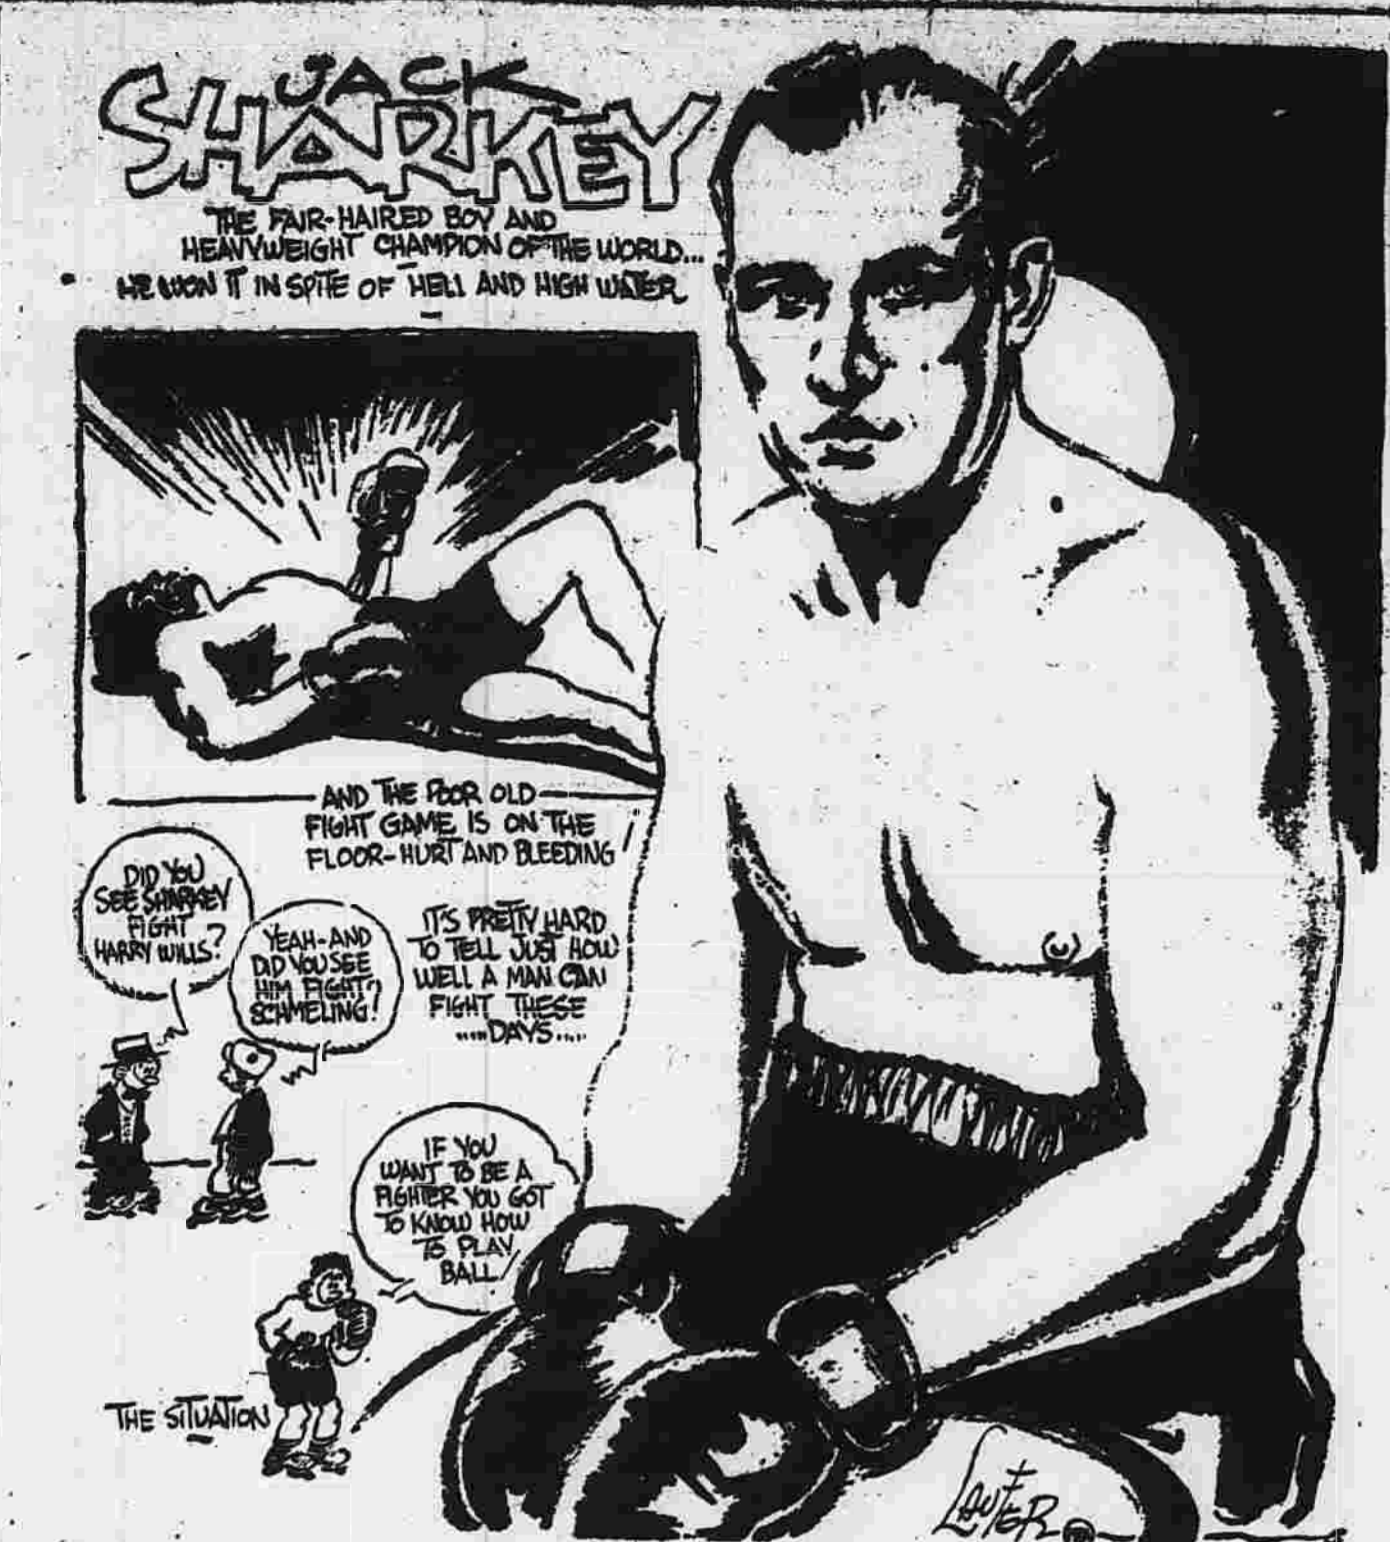

The political influence that entered into both of these extravaganzas is no secret with the fans who pay their money.

The no-foul rule was suspended for the first bout—and Schmelzing won on a foul. The decision handed down in the second affair by which Jack Godek pitched both games so far for the Aces and succeeded in winning one game and only for poor support in the second game would probably have won that too.

The Aces are out to win, and the West Sides are out to lose. An interesting game is expected. The lineup will probably be as follows:

Aces: Brennan, c.; O'Dowd, lf.; McCoolley, 3b.; O'Leary, 2b.; Slavin, 1b.; Hedlund, rf.; Varick, cf.; Sandrowski, c.; Burkhart, lf.; McCann, ss.; Boggs, 2b.; Smith, 2b.; Pitt, 2b.; Tierney, 1b.; Bystolnik, c.; Holland, cf.; Sturgeon, p.

TOWN TITLE PLAY RESUMES SUNDAY

Aces, West Sides Meet In Deciding Game of Series At Fouracres.

The Aces and West Sides will resume play for the town title tomorrow afternoon at the West Side field. Both teams have won a game and tomorrow's game will tell the story.

The Aces won the first game after ten innings, 2 to 1, and the West Sides came back last Sunday and won the second encounter, 5 to 3, in a loosely played ball game. Both teams will use their strongest lineups and it is expected that a large crowd will turn out to witness the final game of the series. Play will start at 3 o'clock.

The Aces will probably use "Bingo" Sturgeon on the mound against Harold Matson or "Jack" Hewitt for the West. "Big Jack" Godek pitched both games so far for the Aces and succeeded in winning one game and only for poor support in the second game would probably have won that too.

The Aces are out to win, and the West Sides are out to lose. An interesting game is expected. The lineup will probably be as follows:

VINES SURVIVES GRUPELLING BATTLE TO REACH FINALS

Wins 75 Game Struggle From Sutter; Cochet, Allison Match Halted By Darkness.

Forest Hills, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines stood in the final round of the National tennis championship today, satisfied perhaps there are no more Cliff Sutters to conquer.

Vines, defending champion, battled Sutter through two and one-half hours of torrid tennis in the semi-final grueling 75 game struggle by scores of 6-8, 8-10, 12-10, 10-8 and 6-1.

Vines opponent in the final awaited the outcome of a duel between Henri Cochet of France and Wilmer Allison of Texas, four sets of which were played before darkness forced postponement last evening.

Cochet won the first set 6-1 and the fourth 6-8, the other two going to Allison by 12-10 and 6-4 counts. The afternoon deciding set was on at 11 o'clock this morning, the winner to face Vines later in the day.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR DOBIE'S TEAM

Cornell's Problem Is a Matter of Reserves; Stronger Opposition For This Year.

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(AP)—There is rejoicing wherever Cornell Alumni gathers for Gil Dobie says he will have a "fair football team."

The prediction is accompanied by "ifs" and "ands" and "buts" but those familiar with Dobie and his gift for underestimating, the prediction from Cornell's coach means more than a five thousand word laudatory oration from a less careful commentator.

"A team's prospects are good, bad or indifferent," Dobie said in explanation of his prediction; depending on the prospects of the opposition. On this basis it might be said Cornell's prospects for 1932 are only fair, because we expect much stronger opposition from our principal opponents than we did last year.

"Our problem as usual is one of reserves. Our replacements are lighter in weight than the men they replace and there is a wide gap between the ranks of our first string men and those who back them up. However, we expect to put a well balanced team on the field and if we can keep it intact we should have a fair season."

Dobie has a veteran team with which to work, a backfield headed by his touch-down man, Perrygo, and Viviano, and a schedule so arranged that only two major games come on successive Saturdays. Five candidates answered the football call and are going through drills twice a day.

SERIES MAY BREAK ATTENDANCE MARKS

If They Go To Seven Games Gate of a Million and a Half May Be Collected.

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Baseball looks to the 1932 World Series to break all records for attendance and receipts in the event the New York Yanks and the Chicago Cubs represent the American and National Leagues respectively.

The Yankee Stadium with its seating capacity of 89,946, will produce a maximum "gate" of $234,000 under the scale of prices prevailing for the series.

A sell-out would break the single game record for attendance set at $3,600 by the Yankee in 1928, and set the same mark in 1928. With the addition of 9,000 bleacher seats for the series, Wrigley Field, home of the Cubs, will accommodate 51,900 and produce a maximum "gate" of slightly more than $200,000.

BISSELL TO PLAY IN TENNIS FINAL

Easy Eliminates Carl Johnson, 6-1, 6-3; To Meet Winner of Holland-Smith Match; Has Impressive Record.

Earl Bissell last night scored his fifth triumph in the town tennis tournament with a straight set victory over Carl Johnson, 6-1, 6-3, at the Country club courts.

Johnson, who became an overnight sensation in local tennis circles by beating Tom Hawley, last year's runner-up, was no match for the older player, who will meet the winner of the Holland-Smith match in the finals of the tourney.

The date of the finals has not yet been announced by those in charge of the tourney and as a result no information can be given on when they will be held. Holland, the defending champion, was scheduled to meet Robert C. Smith on the Jesuit court at 10 o'clock this morning and was the favorite to win. Holland is in quest of his fifth successive title.

At the start of the tourney, Bissell was not given more than an outside chance to come through to the finals, greater confidence being placed in his brother, Sherwood, who was seeded in the draw.

But Bissell moved steadily forward, winning one match after another, while his brother dropped his first round match to Robert H. Smith in three sets. Earl defeated Clarence Wogman in a preliminary round, 6-0 and 6-1. He then eliminated Anton F. Ward 6-2 and 6-2, and followed this with a victory over James Britton by the same score.

He then met his first stiff opposition of the tourney, his brother's conqueror. Bissell was extended to three sets to win, 6-4, 6-8 and 6-2. This triumph placed him in the semi-finals and tonight's victory earned him the chance to become the 1932 town tennis champ.

DEMONSTRATE NEW FOOTBALL RULINGS

Coaches Gather In Annual Meeting Today; Several Colleges To Allow Broad-cast.

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—With the troublesome question of broadcasting having been left in the hands of the individual members, the Eastern Intercollegiate Association turned its attention today to the annual meeting on the interpretation of the football rules.

To present a more vivid picture of just how the new rules are going to work, Lou Little's Columbia football team was invited to give a demonstration at Baker Field during the afternoon.

Various aspects of the changes in the code, affecting the kickoff, the use of the hands by defensive linemen and the new dead ball rule, were to be described by Little, J. B. (Jack) Sutherland of Pittsburgh, Eddie Casey of Harvard, Ralph Sasse of Army, Mal Stevens of Yale and H. O. (Fritz) Crisler of Princeton.

Army, Navy, Columbia and Harvard at last night's meeting announced they would let some of their games go on the air, but other members of the association were not immediately prepared to say what their decision would be.

DECIDE RACING TITLE ON A ONE MILE TRACK

Detroit, Sept. 10.—(AP)—For the first time since automobile racing became a major sport the national title is going to be decided on a one mile dirt track.

TRIO OF SLUGGING FEATS MARK WEEK IN MAJOR LEAGUES

Foxx, Ruth and Paul Waner Give Outstanding Performances At the Plate.

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The chances for any serious record-breaking by major league batters appear rather slim but a couple of slugger feats worthy of note have gone into the records this week.

The home run hitting of Jimmy Foxx and Babe Ruth stand out in the performances of a rather ordinary week of hitting ending yesterday. Foxx hit only two home runs but Ruth only one. Jimmy's pair, however, gave him a total of 51 for the season and made him the third major league batter ever to go above 50 for a season. Ruth's blow was his fortieth and it made the eleventh season the Babe hit that many.

Paul Waner, Pittsburgh Pirates, did the week's other outstanding job of clouting when he hit four doubles to bring his total up to 55, four short of Chuck Klein's National League record.

The rest of the batting and slugging argument went along as usual with few changes except that Dale Alexander of the Boston Red Sox finally won recognition as a "regular" and stepped into second place in batting in the American League to give Foxx an argument for the first time in many weeks. Foxx raised his average a point to .366 while Alexander's mark through Friday was .359. Frank O'Doul, Brooklyn National League leader, also gained a point going to .370.

Trailing O'Doul in the National were Virgil Barnes, .348; Klein, .345; Hurst, Phils., .342; Terry, Giants, .338; Paul Waner, Pirates, .335; L. Waner, Pirates, .333; Stephenson, Cubs, .331; Traynor, Pirates, .329; O'Connell, Giants, .328. Other American League leaders were: Ruth, Yanks, .342; Gehrig, Yanks, .346; Manush, Senators, .342; Combs, Yanks, .325; Jolly, Red Sox, .325; Farrell, Browns, .320; Cronin, Senators, .320; Simmons, Athletics, .319.

The topmost slugging figures in the two leagues were: Ruth, Klein, .142; Foxx, 137; Hits, Klein, 203; Simmons, Athletics, 192. Runs batted in, Foxx, 148; Hurst, Phils., 132; Doubles, F. Waner, Pirates, .057; Gehrig, Yanks, .041; Triples, Cronin, Senators, and Herrick, Reds, .018. Homers, Foxx, 51; Klein, 35; Stolen bases, Chapman, Yanks, 34; Klein, 20.

MANY GOLFERS HAVE CHANCE IN TOURNEY

Glens Falls, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(AP)—As the Glens Falls Open golf tournament swung into the last 36 holes today Denny Shute, Tony Manero and Willie MacFarlane were bunched in the lead with 142 but the championship appeared to be within reach of any of a dozen or more players.

Manero and MacFarlane played the steadiest golf in the two 18 hole qualifying rounds carding two 71s each. Shute was saved by a brilliant 68 which he shot on the first 18. He shot 74 on the second day. On the heels of the three leaders came Mike Turness and John Gledin with 143's. Then came Paul Runyan with a 74 and Jose Jurado with a 75. Golden appeared to have found his game. He partly made up for a shaky 74 on the first day with a 69 yesterday.

AMATEUR TOURNEY TODAY

Glens Falls Country Club, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Five Farms difficult fairways and greens were started today for the next to last times by scores of golfers who Monday will open their bid for the National Amateur Golf championship. This suburban layout has been mastered by only three players since the pre-tournament practice began.

Tony Torrance, captain of the British Walker Cup team, scored a 68, two under par, late yesterday afternoon while earlier in the day playing against a stiff wind, Chandler Egan of Delmonco, Calif., had a 69 and Frank Dulp of Portland, Oregon had an even par 70.

NEW DIVISION TITLES FOR GAME WARDENS

Now Become Wild Life Protectors Under Re-Classification of State Departments.

Hartford, Sept. 10—Under an order of the State Board of Fisheries and Game, in effect today, the several divisions of the department have been given new names and the heads of these divisions new titles to conform with the activities under their supervision.

A. Joseph Williamson, in charge of the state's law enforcement force, assumes the title of Chief, Division of Wild Life Protection and all members of this branch of the service, the title of Wild Life Protectors. Eben W. Cobb, of Farmington, formerly designated field supervisor, in charge of fish propagation and stocking assumes the title of Chief, Division of Fish Restoration. Field Agent Homer Judt, of Bristol, in charge of leasing and purchasing of public fishing and hunting areas, assumes the title of Chief, Division of Land and Water Acquisition.

Commissioner Charles F. Griffin stated yesterday, "Adoption of the title Fish and Game Protectors is prompted by the change in duties of these officers. Formerly their activities were confined principally to fish and game law enforcement. Now they are devoting much of their time also to control of predatory species which prey upon beneficial insectivorous and song birds and other wild life as well as protecting natural resources of the state in which the public generally is interested. They now engage in water pollution inspection, planting of foods for birds, distribution of fish and game and many other duties. They are no longer solely game wardens in the sense that they are concerned only with game or with law enforcement."

WOMAN CLAIMS SHE SAW LOST 'DRY' OFFICIAL

well hunt—advanced when he failed to keep an appointment with President Hoover last Tuesday—was abandoned today by prohibition officials directing the activities of 185 special agents working on the case.

They felt the passage of a full week and the widespread publicity given Robins' unexplained absence eliminated such a solution.

President Hoover frankly was concerned about the case.

At the request of the White House, Justice Department agents in Chicago began a city-wide check of hotels on the chance that Robins might be suffering from amnesia.

Mrs. Bryant said she saw the missing man in the loop before reading accounts of his disappearance and that he appeared "distraught." But at her sister's home at Southwest Harbor, Me., Mrs. Robins doubted that the man seen in Chicago was her husband. She knew of no reason why Robins should have gone there. In Oregon, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, co-worker of Robins in the allied forces for prohibition, said he was worried over the disappearance. Poling last saw him in New York Saturday, before he left the City Club, presumably for Washington.

Mrs. Robins said no reward will be offered for her husband's return or for information as to his whereabouts, saying these were the colonel's own instructions.

W. H. ALLEN'S BUSINESS TRAINING CIVIC ASSET

G. O. P. Primary Candidate For Selectman Has War Record To Add To His Ability.

The business experience which has brought William A. Allen of 165 Henry street to an executive position with the Aetna Life Insurance Company makes him one of the most able candidates for the Board of Selectmen, in the Republican primary on Tuesday, according to those who are behind his entrance into the political field. Mr. Allen has been employed by the company for the past 22 years.

The order for quarantine or inoculation of dogs in certain areas of this state is in keeping with the propaganda which has appeared and is appearing in different sections of the United States and which the American Medical Liberty League says "is due to commercialism and is sponsored by medical politicians who are able to derive benefit financially from both the human and sub-human angles."

Those of us who know the harmful and dangerous results which often occur from anti-rabic inoculation, seriously object to the inoculation of dogs and the subsequent liberty of those inoculated. They make a serious and unnecessary menace to society.

THE WELL-BABY CLINIC

Editor of the Herald:

Those who have never visited the well-baby clinic will find it well worth their while to do so. It will give every citizen of Manchester, and every citizen interested in the scientific betterment of the human race a genuine thrill of encouragement to see the work that is being done there. The well children who are kept well. The well children who have been cured of some ailment. All these attractive babies who are being so carefully watched, even when they seem perfectly healthy, so that no physical trouble has a chance to develop.

It is impossible to conceive of any activity affecting more fundamentally the improvement of human life in which the doctors and nurses of Manchester are working for this end. See the clinic rooms, the play pool developed for the use of the children, and best of all, the babies themselves. Then you will surely want to co-operate in the very best way in which you can, and more children—your babies, your friends' babies—have this wonderful start in life.

RABIES SITUATION

Editor, Manchester Evening Herald:

A dog with dumb rabies is unable to bite. The only way a petson may be infected by one is by having a cut or sore come in contact with the dog's saliva. In the so-called "dangerous" situation in Manchester, publicity has been given only to two cases, both of the "dumb" type.

Will some one kindly explain in detail the expenditure of several hundreds of the taxpayers' money for anti-rabic treatments in town?

well hunt—advanced when he failed to keep an appointment with President Hoover last Tuesday—was abandoned today by prohibition officials directing the activities of 185 special agents working on the case.

They felt the passage of a full week and the widespread publicity given Robins' unexplained absence eliminated such a solution.

President Hoover frankly was concerned about the case.

At the request of the White House, Justice Department agents in Chicago began a city-wide check of hotels on the chance that Robins might be suffering from amnesia.

Mrs. Bryant said she saw the missing man in the loop before reading accounts of his disappearance and that he appeared "distraught." But at her sister's home at Southwest Harbor, Me., Mrs. Robins doubted that the man seen in Chicago was her husband. She knew of no reason why Robins should have gone there. In Oregon, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, co-worker of Robins in the allied forces for prohibition, said he was worried over the disappearance. Poling last saw him in New York Saturday, before he left the City Club, presumably for Washington.

Mrs. Robins said no reward will be offered for her husband's return or for information as to his whereabouts, saying these were the colonel's own instructions.

Denver, Colo.—At a recent party Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Johnson announced that it was their 10th wedding anniversary. Consternation reigned among the guests—for the anniversary, they knew, was still six months away—until the Johnsons let out their 10-year-old secret. It seemed that they had been secretly married in Colorado Springs six months before their elaborate church wedding here. But even their parents did not know about it until the party 10 years later.

BOLTON DEMS NOMINATE G. O. P. CAUCUS MONDAY

Only 21 Take Part in Last Night's Proceeding; Republicans Expect Contest.

Bolton Democrats held their caucus for the nomination for town officers last night meeting in the basement of the Center Congregational Church. There was no contest and no prepared list of officers were presented. Lester Bolton chairman of the Democratic town committee, was moderator and James Connors, clerk.

In nominating for assessor the 21 voters present cast ballots which resulted in eight named appearing. Two withdrew on the announcement of the ballot and a second ballot showing no nomination, two more candidates withdrew. On the third ballot George Rowe secured sixteen votes and was nominated. The other officers nominated were: Board of Relief, Frank Strong; auditor, Lester Bolton; first selectman, R. Kneeland Jones; second selectman, Elbert Atwood; tax collector, Arthur Maneggia; constables, George Rose, Myron Lee, William Skinner; registrar, Miss Virginia Freese; school board member, Mrs. Margaret Halting.

In nominating Mr. Maneggia the caucus endorsed a Republican. The work for the past year has been done by him who succeeded his father, Andrew, who for many years was endorsed by both parties.

Bolton Republicans will caucus on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, daylight saving time. Contents for the several offices are expected and a much larger attendance is expected than that at the Democratic caucus last night. Residents of South Bolton have two candidates for selectman, Arthur L. Genovesi has announced that he will be a candidate for first selectman and John Swanson is a candidate for second place. Mr. Genovesi has been a resident of Bolton for about three years, coming from Roxville. Mr. Swanson, is a former Manchester resident. He has been a resident of Bolton nearly ten years.

The tentative program of events includes: (1) landing of airplanes with invited guests and flag raising; (2) airplane stunts by Mrs. Deacon; (3) athletic events; (4) merry-go-round, ferris wheel, children's circle swing and midway; (5) Hartford Turnbund men's team exhibition on the parallel and horizontal bars; (6) exhibition by Troops A and B, 122nd Cavalry, C. N. G.; (7) Hartford Turner girls exhibition; (8) minuet dance by Neals Rebekah lodge of East Hampton; (9) Swedish folk dance by Norway Lodge I. O. G. T. of New Britain; (10) Rebekah drills with eight teams competing including Sunset Rebekah lodge of this town which won second place last year; (11) dancing from 8 to 12 p. m.; (12) tennis tournament from 8 to 9 p. m.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Orchestra
There were fifteen members of last year's orchestra and ten new candidates who appeared at the first meeting last Thursday. Mr. Turkington is encouraged by the prospects and announced that the second rehearsal would be Monday in the assembly hall at 3:10 which is at the end of the sixth period.

Tennis
After the town tennis tournament there will be, as in previous years, a high school tournament for both boys and girls. It's quite probable that the boy's tournament will amount to an elimination tournament. Inasmuch as Robert Smith, who is probably the best tennis player in the high school, is a candidate for the football team and will find it difficult to play his first and second round matches, the inter-class tournament will be run without him with the understanding that the winner will meet Smith in a challenge match.

As the C. C. L. L. tournament is near at hand, the team which will represent Manchester high at Wesleyan will be picked on the basis of the elimination tournament. The high school tournament will start next week.

MASONIC ACTIVITIES

Holgar Bach and David Nelson have been appointed as the committee to have charge of the bridge tournament for the members of the Masonic Fraternity and it is expected that these parties will begin the first week in October and probably be played on Monday nights.

One of the best activities of the Masonic Club in the past has been the several good pocket-billiard tournaments and it is expected that a tournament will be conducted this fall. In conjunction with this tournament an invitation is to be extended to one or more of the fraternal organizations in town to participate in an inter-club tournament. John Cullin has charge of this work for the Masonic Club.

The Rangers drill team of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon under the direction of Captain Frank Schiebel will demonstrate their skill at the Masonic get-together social, Friday, October 14.

ITALIAN-AMERICANS FOR G.O.P. REGULARS

At Meeting Agree On Slate That Includes Pero For Support In Primary.

Addressing fellow members of the Italian-American Republican club at the Nathan Hale school last night, Joseph G. Pero, candidate for Selectman, promised to do all within his power to aid the best interests of his race if chosen at the primary next Tuesday.

Pero, well known local peach orchard proprietor, said he would not be elected but would work for the best interests of the town at large. He asked the members of the club to support him and to solicit the aid of their neighbors and friends. Pero said that the Italian colony should be represented on the Board of Selectmen.

Freeing, Pero, Judge William S. Hyde, chairman of the Republican town committee, outlined the history of the two political parties from their earliest days. He was introduced by Aldo Paganini, president of the Italian club. Judge Hyde predicted the election of a "regular" Republican Board of Selectmen.

The meeting of close to 200 Italian Republicans for nomination next Tuesday. This group was classified as "regular" Republicans. The list includes the following: Selectmen: William Allen, W. George Glenney, John L. Jenney, George E. Keith, Joseph G. Pero, William W. Robertson, Wells A. Strickland.

POLICE COURT

Philip Farr of Charter Oak street paid a fine of $5 and costs in court today for driving a wagon without a light. Farr had been previously warned not to do this thing. He was arrested last Sunday night by Officer Joseph Frenchie. Farr insisted on having his case continued when it was brought up Tuesday morning, so that he could engage counsel. This morning Attorney W. S. Hyde appeared for him and entered a plea of guilty.

Ross Allan Campbell, a sailor, who was charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was unable to be in court this morning. Attorney W. S. Hyde who appeared for him stated that Campbell had been shipped to Honolulu. Mr. Hyde stated that just as soon as Campbell came back to this country he would bring him into court.

What people are talking about these days
"Why not give due thought to credit?"
"Everybody knows credit is founded on trust, and that business—90% of it—is based on credit. Only 10% on cash."
"All right, then the country's trouble isn't so much need for cash as need for credit—another way of saying, more need for more trust."
"In a big way the government, through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, is helping to build confidence. But we can't expect the government to do it all. Then how can you and I help?"
"Just this way. Let all of us business men show more of this confidence in our dealings with each other—and, sure as I'm sitting here, a better feeling will result which is sure to lead to better business."
What leads so many people in these times to turn to Trust Institutions as executor and trustee under their Wills? What, but confidence? Trust in our unbroken record for faithful work in the settlement of men's estates.
Why not give your own estate the benefit of this far-reaching protection?
