Edward Stearns

Block on the west side of Main street. The lease is effective October 1, at which date the old lease for five years expires. Based on Year's Record The decision of company officials in Chicago to renew the contract was based on the outstanding increase in sales volume and profit shown by the local store during the past year.

"Every male employee offered not only assistance in re-arranging the fixtures, but together they made many suggestions for improvements, the result of which we offer for the inspection of the public. The employees are eager to serve you and will continue to make your local Montgomery Ward store not only the most attractive, but the friendliest store in town.

New England Orders "The orders we have given for merchandise will certainly assist the mills and factories to greater prosperity and the greater part of these orders will be filled in New England. The Fashions, Ladies Wear, Blanket, Curtain and Bedding Goods departments have all been granted more space because of the steady demand. Likewise, men will be pleased to find the suit department complete in every respect and the prices of the high quality merchandise that has been purchased for them is unbelievably low."

At one time he was mentioned as possible successor to Lord Byng as governor-general of Canada.

REPUBLICANS TO START BIG SCALE CAMPAIGN

Aroused By Maine Result, Bonus Topic And Roosevelt's Speeches, G. O. P. Prepares For Finish.

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—A new urge of activity, presaging a whirlwind finish after weeks of half motion, has been put into the presidential campaign by the Maine election, the Roosevelt western swing, and renewed discussion of the bonus.

So far as the political generals themselves are concerned it appears certain that the efforts to be exerted on public opinion from now on will be on a scale as great as the country has seen in any recent campaign.

Democrats Active For the moment, most of the outward activity is on the part of the Democrats. Governor Roosevelt, speaking toward the west, is asking for the support of the voters of both parties, as he turns from the old subjects of general depression and prohibition, to speak about farm relief, power and the railroads. It is the aim of the Democrats to candidates now if possible, enough western strength to win regardless of what the east may do.

WHO'S WHO IN MANCHESTER and VICINITY

INTRODUCING THE LIVE PROGRESSIVE FIRMS AND PEOPLE THAT MAKE UP THE INTERESTS OF MANCHESTER AND VICINITY.

BY WILLIAM AND LUCILLE WOODS.
EXCLUSIVE STAFF SPECIAL FEATURE WRITERS.

GOLDEN RULE MAN

Fire is a destroyer of credit. Insurance is the great restorer. The reach of fire is great, no place whether it is built of stony wood or sturdy concrete, is entirely beyond it. Some materials merely resist fire longer than others. Don't you believe, then, that insurance deserves more of your consideration? The writer has found Clarence H. Anderson, 647 Main street, to be a most thoroughly reliable insurance man. Mr. Anderson has lived in Manchester for five years, and is a loyal citizen and a public spirited gentleman. By his genial manner and largeness of heart he has built up a splendid business and it is a pleasure to go into his office. He has always given liberally to any enterprise which tends to build up Manchester, and a better-hearted person never sold an insurance policy. Mr. Anderson has just recently added the Fireman's Insurance Company of Newark, New Jersey, to his list of companies, writes fire, automobile, liability, casualty and life insurance. Clarence H. Anderson was born in Plainville, Connecticut, he enjoys a game of golf, and started his business career in the bookkeeping department of the Stanley Works, New Britain. He was Division Chief of Sales Tax in the United States Revenue Office in Hartford prior to opening his insurance office here five years ago. Phone 8343 and ask—How many insurance companies does he represent?

A CAREER STARTER

Teaching "the young idea how to shoot" has a terrific importance in the scheme of things, and one Manchester citizen who can claim real credit on this score, is G. H. Wilcox, of the Connecticut Business School, 148 Main street. You must have an accurate knowledge of business yourself, before you can impart that knowledge to others, and here is where Mr. Wilcox stands "ace high." It was always characteristic of him to want to know the "why" of things, instead of fretting over obstacles, and that accounts for the splendid success he has made in teaching Commercial and Business subjects. He knows when students walk out with his diploma, they have a pretty good start on the road to "somebody." G. H. Wilcox's first post-office address was Middletown. He started teaching business subjects in 1903 and was in business in Hartford with his brother for several years. He has lived in Manchester for 15 years, likes flowers as his hobby, and started his career in the same line he is now engaged. Phone 7244 and ask—What is the average enrollment at this business school?

"Out a bank door" the last day of Congress rather than face the bonus marchers in front of the Capitol. The Senator, an aggressive enemy of prohibition made only brief reference to the liquor question. He provoked a long wave of applause when he said: "You all know where I stand on prohibition." Garner was also attacked by Prof. Bakewell who described him as the "unimpeachable Speaker Garner" and said he was "a small man with a large voice" who advocated "the huge pork barrel bill." Giving his first campaign address since his nomination, he charged the Democrats with attempting to blame President Hoover for the economic difficulties of the world. "This" he said "is an attempt to capitalize on distress, foment discontent, and draw class against class. It is the old trick of the Demagogue." Former Governor J. H. Trumbull, the gubernatorial nominee and State Treasurer Roy C. Wilcox, the party candidate for lieutenant-governor could not attend.

The envelopes were not postmarked. Early in the final session, Legionnaires showed their desire to vote on the bonus and prohibition, listening impatiently and frequently interrupting opponents of immediate bonus payment. The vote was 1,167 to 109. Repeat Asked For When prohibition was reached, repeat was asked for 1,144 to 153. The Legion goes into its new year.

OPEN FORUM

DEFEND THE HERALD

Editor of the Herald: May 7 recall to Mr. Paul Pickard that a short time ago the Herald gave notice to its readers that it intended to give its full support to the regular Republican party and to give it as forcefully as it was able? It surely is the right of the Herald to do so; and the editor should be thanked for being so frank about it. Everybody knows where the Herald stands. To expect it to laud the virtues of the Democratic or any other party is unreasonable. Yet, even though the Herald defends the machine which holds the present grasp of power, it bows fairly to the right of other people to hold different views. Several times the editor has invited correspondence to the Open Forum. It asks only that letters be brief and orderly. Without doubt it deals some sharp stings and agonizing whacks, but has not a newspaper the right to decide its own attitude in its own household? If you are a guest or have no home of your own, what are you going to do about it? Carolin Korner Britton. 98 Church St.

Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert of Colonel Henry Champion Chapter, D.A.R., attended a state meeting of regents and chapter chairmen, held Tuesday afternoon at the Oliver Ellsworth Memorial Chapter House in Windsor. Everett G. Lord accompanied her.

The Republicans held their town caucus Monday evening at the town hall. It was a lengthy session, not breaking up until towards midnight. There was something of a contest on for the office of first selectman, as quite a number wanted Winthrop Porter instead of Clarkson F. Bailey. The ticket finally selected reads as follows: Assessor, three years, Rufus Rathbun; board of relief, Edmund H. Horton; selectmen, Clarkson F. Bailey, Floyd Fogli; auditor, Richard Hubbard; tax collector, Edward A. Smith; registrar of voters, John N. Hewitt; board of education, Clifford R. Perry, Edward A. Smith; grand jurors, Philip Mota, Richard Hubbard, H. Clinton Porter; constables, Harold Gray, Harry Wood, Herbert Porter; agent of town deposit fund, Mrs. Della Porter Hills. Robert E. Foote acted as moderator, and Mrs. Della Porter Hills, the town clerk, as secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bartlett of Upton, Mass., were callers here one day this week at the home of Mrs. John N. Hewitt. Mrs. Bartlett, who was formerly Miss Bertha Burnham, was a classmate of Mrs. Hewitt's at Northfield Seminary, nearly forty years ago. She was at one time a teacher in the White School, Gilead, and was a bridesmaid for Mrs. Hewitt, at the latter's wedding.

When leading Republicans here discovered that no warning had been posted for the Democratic caucus for the nomination of town officers, etc., Tuesday of this week being the last legal date on which it could be held, they were inclined to chortle with glee. The Republican ranks being somewhat split over a first selectman contest, there is some apprehension over the outcome of the election, although the town is usually rock ribbed Republican. With any move the Democrats might make being declared illegal, the Republican ticket would be automatically elected, however. The dream was rudely shattered when Carlton B. Jones, chairman of the Democratic town committee, explained that a clause had been inserted in the warning for the previous Democratic caucus for the nomination of convention delegates, etc., empowering the Democratic town committee to nominate the town officers. The warning, rain spattered and worn, but still legible, had been taken down from the pole on ivy-grown town billboard, and was exhibited by Mr. Jones in proof of the legality of the committee's proceedings. The ticket as prepared by them reads:

Assessor, Maurice J. Keefe; board of relief, Ames W. Sisson; selectmen, Claude W. Jones, Homer Hills; agent of town deposit fund, Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert; auditor, Susan E. Pendleton; grand jurors, Clayton A. Hills, Frank H. Jones, Carlton B. Jones; tax collector, Clarence E. Porter; constables, Charles F. Miner, Walter Jones, Robert Schuyler; registrar of voters, Carlton B. Jones; board of education, Essie M. Jones, and Edna Benninger.

Mrs. Horace Wells Sellers gave a tea at her home in Ardmore, Pennsylvania, Tuesday afternoon, in honor of her guest, Miss Helen Gilbert, whose engagement to her son, Mr. Charles Coleman Sellers, was recently announced. Relatives and friends of the family were present.

The Rev. Benjamin H. Bissell is spending a few days at Brantford Point as the guest of Professor and Mrs. Eugene P. Chase, at the seashore cottage of their aunt, Miss Alice Chase.

A meeting of Colonel Henry Champion Chapter, D.A.R., was attended by several local members, Wednesday afternoon, at the Chapter House in Colchester. The regent, Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert, was in charge of the program. A paper on "Prophet's Rock" was read by Miss Clarissa L. Pendleton, after which Miss Florence S. M. Crofut of Hartford, chairman of the committee on historic spots, gave a very interesting historical account of the settling of Hartford. A sycamore tree which had been planted on the grounds of the chapter house the year before, was then dedicated to the memory of George Washington, each member placing a shovelful of earth at the roots. Mrs. Olive A. Clark had composed a poem for the occasion, which was read by her daughter, Miss Anne Clark, treasurer of the society. "America, the Beautiful," and "Star Spangled Banner" were sung in chorus, after which tea and cakes were served. The hostesses were Miss Sadie Bigelow and Addie May Wickwire.

Mrs. Leon G. Rathbun, who has been kept in for several weeks by an attack of neuritis, was at church last Sunday for the first time in two or three Sundays.

A meeting of the Pastors' Union was held at the Hebron Center Congregational Church Monday morning, bringing out about twenty of the clergy of various denominations from several surrounding towns. Wives and other friends were also present, bringing up the number to thirty or more of the visitors. A

DIES OF BURNS

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Police search for Joseph Abate, 30, sought several days in connection with an incendiary fire which followed an explosion which blew up a house Monday evening today when word was received that Abate died of burns this morning in a New London hospital. Abate was believed to be the man seen fleeing the building a moment after a terri- fic blast within the house shook the neighborhood. The explosion was followed by a fire which swept the structure with a loss of $8,000.

Neighbors at the time said the fleeing man appeared to be carrying a torch which he threw away. Police believe the "torch" was actually Abate's burning clothing which he extinguished by rolling in the grass.

Abate had told officer at the Lawrence and Memorial Associated hospital in New London he received his burns when an automobile truck caught fire.

CLAIMS GOV. ROOSEVELT MISQUOTED PRESIDENT

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, in a statement through the Republican National committee, said today Governor Roosevelt "Grossly" misquoted President Hoover in the Democratic candidate's farm speech at Topeka, Kansas.

The committee said Vandenberg's statement had been telegraphed from his Michigan home. It said in part:

"Governor Roosevelt's program for agriculture x x x defines an impossible theory which contradicts itself in its own terms and for which neither he nor anybody else can produce a practical formula.

"Meanwhile, he makes a bad matter worse by grossly misquoting the President through the ancient and familiar trick of removing words from the context.

"The governor quoted the President as having said in 1925 that continuous overproduction means surpluses which can only be curbed by prices low enough to make production impossible for some of the acreage in use. x x x The quotation is inaccurate. x x x

"Governor Roosevelt erroneously continues: 'The President and his supporters insisted in 1928 that we were importing 3,000,000,000 of farm products.' x x x The President made no such statement."

SAVANT REPORTS SURPRISING FIND

Nobel Prize Winner Says Cosmic Rays Are Electrical Particles.

New York, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Nobel prize winner Arthur H. Compton is returning from the Arctic Circle with one of the most surprising of all the recent alterations in conceptions of "this changing world."

From the Pas, Manitoba, he announced definitely last night discovery of evidence that cosmic rays may be electrical particles rather than waves.

From the layman point of view this is somewhat as mystifying as stating that he had found a new kind of tree, whose leaves when shot out of a gun, would penetrate steel like six-inch shells.

In the realm of invisible rays, where cosmic radiation and electrical particles belong, the particles have been considerably like leaves—by comparison with "waves" rays they did not show much penetrating power.

For example, the highest power particle rays thus far announced, these from a two and one-half million volt new tube set up by the Germans Lange and Brach, are reported in a letter this week to the Associated Press as penetrating about one-half inch into the flesh of mice.

By contrast, the "wave" rays of radium, or what scientists call Gamma rays, penetrate an inch of lead rather easily.

Penetrate 800 Feet Cosmic rays, which Dr. Compton's announcement seems to put in the particle class, go through a man as if he did not exist, penetrate many feet of lead, 200 feet of water and about 800 feet into earth.

If cosmic rays are particles, then the record for penetration passes from the "wave" form of radiation to this strange phenomenon which may be made of something like infinitesimally small bullets.

An explanation was sought from physical authorities today. The answer is first that a little is now known that these cosmic particles may prove to be something sufficiently different in bullet form to account for their penetration.

A more likely explanation was that cosmic particles have tremendous energies ranging from 100,000,000 volts. Man's experience with laboratory-made particles is confined to merely two or three million volts and his observations to perhaps 5,000,000 volt particles which are shot off by radium.

Theoretically, it was said, 100,000,000 volt driving power is so far in excess of known experimental energies that no one can safely predict what particles from such a source might do.

It is even possible that more knowledge about the bullet-like electrical nature of cosmic rays may help scientists clear up one of its greatest puzzles.

This is that the "waves" of light behave in some respects like waves and in other like particles. So do all other "waves" of radiation. And vice versa, the "particle" forms of radiation, like electrons, behave in some ways like "waves."

How Measured What Dr. Compton measured was as simple as placing iron filings on a sheet of paper under a magnet. If the paper is shaken the filings collect more thickly along the "lines of force" close to the poles.

Compton used the whole earth as his "sheet of paper." He took the magnetic poles for his "magnets." His instruments showed that the invisible cosmic rays were concentrated more thickly close to the magnetic poles.

That seems to prove that the magnetic poles attracted the rays. In the present state of the knowledge of physics anything which is attracted by magnetism is in some manner electrical, and is also possibly somehow "particle" in nature.

TWO BANDITS KILLED

Newark, N. J., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Two men identified from police records as James O'Connor and Richard Ryan, both wanted in New York, were shot down early today in front of a road stand near the Meeker street station of the Lehigh railroad by four men, who then escaped after an exchange of shots with railroad policemen.

Ryan died instantly and O'Connor, mortally wounded, died within an hour. Frank Stamets, a Lehigh railroad fireman, was struck in the knee by a stray bullet.

The "Big Bunnies", or the leaders from each class who will help Mr. Quimby in selecting an appropriate rendezvous for the class are, Dorothy Wirtalla from the senior class, Ada Webb from the junior class, Margaret Colman from the sophomore class and Marjorie Mitchell from the freshman class.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon each class chose the color paper which they will use in laying the trail. The seniors will follow the pieces of yellow paper or pad paper, the juniors will watch for the newspaper, the sophomores will keep their eyes open for the white paper and the freshmen will use varietal colors mixed in with some confetti.

Miss Helen Estes, Miss Beulah Todd, Miss Hulda Anderson and Miss Blanche Feder will accompany the girls and will aid them in printing signs and clever forfeits which are tacked on posts and fences at different intervals along the way.

For the members of the Freshmen class who have not participated in this outstanding school event a bit of advice about "old clothes" might be necessary. Students who wear something they don't care about have a much better time. There will be fires at the end of the trail and so hot-dogs are a good thing to put in with your lunch. Coats and lunches will be carried by automobile for you in order that the hike will be easier.

There are to be prizes, both first and "booby", awarded to the first to arrive at the rendezvous and the last one from each class. In order to obtain this prize it is necessary, first to give a detailed account of the trail. In case of a tie a stunt in front of the crowd will determine the winner of the prize.

After lunch a short sketch put on by the hares and hounds of each class will be staged in front of the students. More details of the chase will follow later on in the week.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Arvia, Spain.—The divorce of onion and garlic has been decreed by the Spanish republic. For centuries two neighboring towns called Ajo (garlic) and Cebolla (onion) got along with the same common council and secretary, but now they have been separated.

New York.—Lon Warneke's slyer in cattle hardly netted him a fortune, but it got him a plethora of pets. Last winter, in Mount Ida, Ark., home town of the Cub pitcher, it was considered the smart thing to buy sorraway cattle and fatten them for the spring market. Warneke bought 300, but come spring, he said, he could find no market.

"Well," he said, "I guess I'll have to keep them for pets."

Newark, N. J.—The late Mrs. Frederick Hartman's will has been rejected by probate officials because of a mistake. Mrs. Hartman and her daughter Frieda made their wills at the same time four years ago. The documents got mixed in signing—Mrs. Hartman signed her daughter's will and vice versa.

Ontario, Calif.—Fraulien, a racing pigeon who saw some sights in her day, is dead. She is said to have been captured in the Argonne drive when she was dropped by parachute to a German officer behind the American lines. Lieut. George Herbert brought the bird to America.

Bloomburg, Pa.—Ezra Allen Folk, 18, died rescuing his father's cows when the barn caught fire. He saved all the livestock, then collapsed and died of burns.

Milford, Conn.—Prof. Manley Hudson, noted law teacher of Harvard University, must appear in town court for allegedly driving on the wrong side of the road. "I've just been in Europe," a policeman quoted him, "where every one must drive on the left side. I haven't readjusted myself to the American custom."

Illinois Wesleyan College has announced it will accept farm produce in payment of fees. That may be all right to pay the faculty members with, but we'll bet the football team will demand cash.

FEDERALS CAPTURE COLONEL MERINO

Leader Of Chilean Revolt Arrested While At Banquet, With 200 Others.

Santiago, Chile, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Colonel Arturo Merino Benitez, leader of the revolt which forced Carlos Davila to resign the presidency Tuesday, was captured by Federal troops today at Ovalle.

A regiment of carabinieri were reported to have captured 22 Air Service officers, 50 mechanics and 50 planes, in addition to Colonel Merino, who is chief of the Air Service. The prisoners were to be brought to Santiago.

The air service chief fled from the capital yesterday when General Bartolome Blanche, Army commander-in-chief, temporarily resigned as acting president. General Blanche resumed office a few hours later and announced that he would hold it with the aid of the Army.

The rebel fliers were gathered at a banquet when the Federal troops arrived. They had dug defense trenches and made numerous observation flights up to midnight last night, but the Federal attack came unexpectedly and found them unprepared.

Col. Merino refused to surrender but was overpowered. The rebel fliers tried to escape by plane but the Federal machine gun fire discouraged them. Approximately 200 prisoners were taken.

VATICAN ROAD OPENED Vatican City, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Vatican railroad which is only 600 feet long was officially completed today.

Henceforth the Pontiff may use it to take him to the edge of Vatican City but first he will set a day for the ceremony of official delivery by the Italian government, which built it under the Lateran treaty.

FARM LOAN BRANCHES READY TO OPERATE

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—seven agricultural credit corporations and six branch offices will be ready to start functioning tomorrow.

Appointments announced yesterday of managers, boards of directors and committees to operate the farm loan agencies of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation are effective on September 16. The appointed officials are expected to get together immediately and complete their organization.

The work of making loans, it was stated at the Reconstruction office, probably will get under way in two weeks. The agencies will operate largely with volunteer workers. The only salaried executive officers will be the managers of each branch. The boards of directors operating the corporations and the committees looking after the branches will receive only expenses and a per diem for the actual time spent attending meetings.

There are still three credit corporations and nine branches to be organized. These are expected to be ready for announcement within a few days.

BUSINESS BETTER WHEN SALESFOLKS ARE NEEDED

Rubinow's Ad For More Store Help Shows How Quality, Prices and Publicity Operate

Proving that public favor can be won by sound merchandising enforced by newspaper advertising, Rubinow's reports a decided pick-up in fall business. The increase has been such as to make it necessary to secure additional salespeople, and Rubinow's "Help Wanted" ad appears in another column of today's Herald.

Mr. Rubinow today said: "The large number of patrons in the past few weeks proves that good business can be had by giving customers new and desirable merchandise at prices that make them realize that they are getting bargains that may never be seen again in a lifetime. Rubinow's has been established longer than any other specialty store in Manchester. This experience has taught us to gauge the public's demands. Newspaper advertising has provided us with an excellent medium for giving information to the public. It is this policy carefully studying customers' needs that has been responsible for our continuing in business in Manchester through three depressions. When it is combined with the lowest prices for quality clothing that I have ever seen, you do not have to look any farther to know why we have to add to our salesforce at this time."

GARNER IN CAPITAL
Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Speaker John N. Garner arrived here early today to confer with Democratic leaders about plans for speaking in the campaign and is to leave during the week-end for New York.

VALERA'S NEXT TRIP
London, Sept. 16.—(AP)—President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State will spend Monday in London on the way to Geneva where he will preside at a meeting of the League of Nations Assembly.

No arrangements have been made for him to see Prime Minister MacDonald, but it was thought likely that he would call on J. H. Thomas, secretary for Dominions, to discuss outstanding issues between the Free State and Great Britain.

Marked-Down Merchandise Is Expensive

DISILLUSIONMENT

One of our sources of uneasiness which we admit arise more or less frequently—has been, of late, the inadequacy of a good many of the campaign speeches made in behalf of the Republican national ticket by speakers supposed to be first string performers. We have complained that there has not been enough of enlightenment in much of this oratory, not enough of sound and lucid explanation of the causes of the depression and of the operation of administration measures to combat it.

The Democrats were having too easy a time of it. All they had to do was to keep on declaring that if the Republican party was solely responsible for national prosperity it just naturally followed that it must be solely responsible also for the hard times. It was up to the Republicans to show the fallacy of this reasoning—and it has seemed to us that this had not been done with all the force and lucidity that were possible.

Governor Roosevelt, however, proves not to have been content with that very simple, very easy and very effective type of campaigning. He has endeavored to make a more intellectual kind of appeal. And since his speech at Topexa on Wednesday it must have dawned on a great many persons, Democrats, Republicans and especially the fence-riders, that he made a stupendous mistake.

Those Kansans who have been led to believe—and many of them have believed—that Franklin D. Roosevelt was a great progressive liberal, who would bring to the Presidency some magic economic remedy for their ills, must have been bitterly disappointed by the futility and emptiness of the Topexa speech from their point of view. When the Democratic New York Times, long a Roosevelt supporter, finds it necessary to say that some of his utterances at Topexa "seem doubtful or at least ambiguous" it puts the case mildly. The Times admits that Roosevelt "seems to get into rather deep water" when he tries to explain his program to the Westerners.

He told them, for instance, that steps must be immediately taken to "make the tariff effective."

"The plan," Mr. Roosevelt said, "must provide for the producer of staple surplus commodities, such as wheat, cotton, corn (in the form of hogs) and tobacco, a tariff benefit over world prices which is equivalent to the benefit given by the tariff to industrial products. This differential benefit must be so applied that the increase in farm income, purchasing and debt-paying power will not stimulate further production."

The Kansas farmer who can figure out whether that means higher tariff on farm products, or lower tariffs, or by what process it is going to get him out of his fix in either event—or whether it means anything at all—is too smart to need any aid from any President or any Congress anyhow.

We shall do less worrying about any advantage the Democrats may have in this campaign if Mr. Roosevelt will only keep right on making speeches like the one at Topexa. If he had said: "I haven't the remotest idea how to get you fellows out of your jam other than to get the whole country out of its jam, but I can promise that you and the rest of the country will stand at exactevens in anything I can do," the Democratic candidate would now be something to be afraid of in the West. But when he pretends to a wisdom far beyond what he possesses and takes refuge in a blind confusion of phrases, he puts his feet in it. It won't take many of those speeches to disillusion the West concerning Mr. Roosevelt.

THE BONUS VOTE

The action of the American Legion convention yesterday in voting overwhining approval of immediate payment of the adjusted compensation certificates, usually known as the bonus, had been discounted so thoroughly that its rejection of President Hoover's advice brought no surprise whatever. The delegates to the convention were in an angry, resentful mood; the courageous course of the President in declaring his uncompromising opposition to the proposal had been weakened in advance by the unfortunate and unwise incident of the Mitchell report, stigmatizing the late Bonus Army as largely an assemblage of bad characters and Communists; lastly the one profoundly appealing argument that might have been presented with a reasonable chance of forestalling the vote for the bonus was never properly emphasized, either by Mr. Hoover or anybody else.

Those veterans gathered out there at Portland were not all brought up under the fiscal tutelage of Eastern bankers. A great many of them, particularly those from the West and Midwest, all their lives have heard currency questions discussed; mere bald assertion that fiat money and currency expansion are necessarily ruinous would not be sufficient to convince them. Certainly the overwhelming vote by which the resolution was adopted is proof that a very great majority of the veterans flatly rejected that declaration of the President just as they have pooh-poohed it every time it has been made by anybody else.

There is a very much better reason than this one of fiscal impossibility why the adjusted compensation certificates, not due until 1945, should not be paid now. That reason is that the proposal contemplates the violation of a pretty sacred agreement, entered into on the Legion's own terms; that in demanding immediate payment the veterans are going back on their own word and are setting themselves up as an especially privileged class and seeking their own welfare above and before the welfare of many times their own numbers of people who in many cases are far less able to bear the burden of the payments than they themselves would be.

There is an essential unfairness about the proposal that nine out of ten members of the Legion would have been practically certain to admit if it had presented to them in its true light. It is only reasonable to believe that the men of the Legion, on the whole, would have yielded quickly enough to the right kind of appeal to their manhood and their sense of fair play to the masses of the American people—who must be ground under further taxation, in one form or another, if the bonus should be paid. But it was futile to expect them to be profoundly moved by arguments to the effect that bonus payment would make the American dollar less valuable. Most of them are only interested in the dollar in so far as it will pay a dollar's worth of debt. What its value might be in francs or shillings is a matter remote from their sense of responsibility.

It is an unhappy thing that the Legion should have taken this action. It can do its members no good. The chances are that a year from now the Legionnaires will be ashamed of it. But we cannot refrain from believing that the fault does not lie so much either with the veterans, or even with those blather-skite Congressmen who egrged them on to the demand, as with the presentation of the case against immediate payment. There has been too much talk of ruining the credit of the country and sullying the almighty dollar, and not enough about square shooting and manhood.

OVERLOOKED

In the midst of our own domestic political campaign the American people are paying but the slightest attention to an event which, if it is altogether possible, may have infinitely greater effect on the future of the United States and its inhabitants than the election of either Mr. Hoover or Mr. Roosevelt to the Presidency, or whether the next Congress shall be dry or wet.

The culmination of the practical annexation of Manchuria and its thirty million of Chinese to the Japanese empire, marked by the promulgation of Japan's "treaty" with the make-believe state of Manchukuo, may turn out to have been of more far reaching effect and of greater historical importance than even the vast World War itself, because of more enduring consequences.

China and its enormous population have relied on the pledges of the western world to protect them from the ambitious encroachments of Japan, who, of course, has long sought complete domination over the whole Chinese race and its territories. Discovering now that those pledges are valueless and that China must depend on her own wits for her self-preservation. It is far from improbable that she will accept the inevitable for the moment and proceed to arrange the future to her own best possible advantage. That advantage may very well indeed seem to her to be best obtained by turning from the Caucasian nations to a Mongolian one, by teaming up with Japan in the formation of a mighty coalition of the yellow races and the military exploitation of the world.

For China well knows that during the long period of such a program her ancient culture and her moral and numerical superiority would enable her eventually to absorb and swallow up her temporary partner.

Future generations of the white races may have to pay an enormous price for the failure of their forebears to keep the faith with China in this year of 1932.

REPEAL OPINION

It was a foregone conclusion that the American Legion convention would vote in favor of the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and it is entirely possible that to some considerable extent Legion opinion in many localities may be better than the average of population opinion in those areas. Nevertheless it is interesting to note that only five state delegations turned in a majority vote against the repeal resolution—Iowa, Kansas, Mississippi, South Carolina and Utah, and of these only one, South Carolina, was unanimous.

When the Legion delegations of thirty-one states vote without a dissenting voice for repeal, when several others fall short of unanimity by only a vote or two, and when only a single delegation shows itself to be unanimously against such action, it implies a poor opinion of the representative quality of the Legion to doubt that a cross-section of the country's position on prohibition is fairly well reflected in the vote.

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCoy

Many patients bear up bravely until they lose their appetites for food. A keen appetite backed up by healthy hunger is one of life's blessings. To one with a good appetite even the simplest foods have a deliciously pleasing flavor and after eating he leaves the table with a contentment which only comes to those who are really healthy and have worked up an appetite by physical activity. How different are the conditions of one who eats when he has a poor appetite. The small amount of food is repugnant, eating is a chore, and the food flavors seem flat and tasteless to the palate. He listlessly picks at his food and finally leaves the table dissatisfied.

Do not believe in trying to stimulate the appetite when it is not present, or poor appetite is one of the first signals that there is a clogging up or obstruction in the body. If you have noticed animals very much, you will see that they avoid their usual foods at the first indication of sickness, and a lack of appetite is a natural indication that something is wrong with the body. People have been taught for so long that they must eat to keep up strength that many of them are worried and at the first indication of a poor appetite begin to look for some magic tonic or appetizer to whet up the jaded taste buds. This is a poor policy for the body can live for many days and weeks without food, and if the digestion is impaired, it is folly to force oneself to eat more food which will be apt to undergo fermentation and putrefaction and cause trouble.

Poor appetite may be associated with many disorders such as stomach troubles, liver derangements, sick gall-bladders, fevers, colds and catarrh, headaches, appendicitis, and many acute diseases both in children and adults. Sometimes also the poor appetite may simply be a reaction from having eaten too much, too often use of excessive sweets, or continued wrong food combinations. Mental causes also exist and one, who is worried, tense, fearful, or nervous, finds his appetite dulled.

A poor appetite may exist for a long time without any other symptoms being noticed. In such a case it may be that the cause is not enough exercise. One who uses the muscles vigorously each day is rewarded with an appetite as sharp as a razor if he is in good health. Stale air, too much heat, or undue fatigue, will also induce a poor appetite.

The cause of the everyday variety of poor appetite is very simply. The first step is to follow the natural inclination and stop eating. But it is a good plan to drink plenty of plain water in order to drain out of the tissues the accumulated food substances, and also use some orange juice or tomato juice in order to overcome the acid tendency in the body. You do not need fear that you will fast too long, for you will get hungry again when your body really needs food. When going without food for a few hours or a day until the appetite returns, it is well to use at least one enema a day to assist in elimination, which will otherwise be sluggish because of the lack of food stimulation. Also one should practice deep breathing and regulated exercising in the fresh air.

Even the poorest appetite, will, after going without solid food for four or five days, improve if there is no organic trouble in the stomach or other digestive organs, and then one can look forward to eating with pleasure and the first meal is likely to bring an undreamed-of flavor and savor. As a rule, the entire digestive system is improved by this short fast. Furthermore, by taking a short rest and relieving the body of clogging food products, you may prevent yourself from having an illness. Remember to exercise more and eat less heavy food and you will be able to keep a good appetite.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 16.—She was pointed out to me in a room where several dozen very attractive chorines and models were waiting for jobs. She was out of work, too, but she breezed chitely and contently into the place, talked with the secretary for a moment, and busted out. She was, easily, the most smartly dressed woman in the place.

"A few years ago," a friend whispered, "that girl was considered one of the most dangerous gigsters in New York—topped just this side of blackmail and once or twice tripped over the border. She worked alone, never used the badger game on the boys—no, she had an interesting story of her own. She worked with a dog."

They used to call her fluffy little pup "the bloodhound" in chorine circles. She had taken an apartment in Park Avenue. In the years when money poured out of the Exchange like water, she would often find a dog lying on the floor. She knew by experience that the combination of herself and the dog would attract the attention of strolling males. They would pretend to admire the dog and use that as a lead toward further conversation. In this conversation she would determine whether or not an acquaintance should be continued. If money seemed in sight, she could become most friendly.

Well, it seems that three men paid "through the nose," as they say on Broadway. A fourth cried "blackmail" and the girl was through—as all such folk are through when the bluff is called. She had, it seems, taught the dog to nip her and she carried a dull-edged razor which she would use should she find herself in a predicament. She could she had lured a moneyed victim to her apartment, the dog would suddenly bark, and then begin to nip her. The sucker would immediately rush to her aid and another girl, in an adjoining room, tests have shown that certain medicines rubbed on the skin can be afterwards found in the analysis of the kidneys' secretion. I do not know of any oil which will have an effect on curing a growth in the neck.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Pancakes and Coffee)
Question: Letty L. writes: "I am fond of pancakes and coffee for breakfast. Sometimes I use oatmeal and poached eggs in addition. Would this hurt if I am careful with my other meals? I never see you mention pancakes in your menus."
Answer: I do not recommend the ordinary pancake because it is exceedingly hard to digest, and a breakfast such as you described is apt to make you lolly and sleepy the remainder of the day. Even if your digestive system is good, the strain will tell in time. A good substitute for pancakes is a thoroughly toasted waffle in which the starch is completely dextrinized. I do not advise much butter or syrup on the waffle. In addition, one or two eggs may be used in any manner except fried, and some sliced fruit, prepared without sugar. I advise breakfast cereal only for children and those getting sufficient exercise.

(Oils and Liniments)
Question: Mr. Doris B. asks: "Are there any oils or liniments that will penetrate an unbroken skin? If so, will you please name one or two? I have a friend who claims there is no oil that will cure a growth in the neck."
Answer: Oil and liquids will penetrate the skin to some extent, as China's population totals 474,737,388 the Nationalist government's ministry of interior announced today. It said the population has increased only 75,000,000 in the last two centuries.

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY
By Dan Thomas

Greta Wants Apartment for One!
Hollywood, Sept. 16.—Facts from filmland: The world may be large enough to hold both Bing Crosby and Guy Lombardo, but one motion picture studio isn't. Consequently Guy and his band aren't being seen in "The Big Broadcast," now in production at Paramount. Nobody seems to know just why these two aren't on speaking terms though.

What a lot of people were disappointed when Jack Gilbert and Virginia Bruce up and were married of a sudden in Jack's studio dressing room. Invitations for the wedding, slated for the following week, already had been sent out. And some of the folks around town were making big preparations for the event. While Jack was out looking for a minister for the hurry-up event, Greta Nissen was looking for an apartment for one. "Wonder what's happened between her and Weldon Hayburn?"

Corinne Misses England
Rex Lease is going to be married again—the fourth attempt. And all he will say about the victim is that she is a gorgeous creature. Rex is a Chicago. Wonder if he is trying to keep pace with Jack Gilbert? The report now is going around that Fifi Dorsey is a natural blond and eyes her hair black just to be different. That calls for an investigation. Corinne Grimith is already in plaining in a loud voice or "dear old England." Well, the boats run both ways.

George Raft once worked in a mine. And doesn't mind telling about it. Another new movie baby—Eddie Nugent is the father. Hope he makes as good a father as he is an actor. One of Hollywood's largest parties was in progress the other night. And not a drop of liquor was served. In this town that is something. Of course, Mary Pickford was the hostess.

Hot Glens is back from putting over a big deal down in Texas. And we understand he doesn't care much what happens to the picture business now. Dolly Owen, another New York society deb, now is here for a crack at pictures. And already has a contract.

Facing Mr. Lawrence
It doesn't sound possible, but it happened just the same. A producer lurching in the Brown Derby heard two men in the next booth praising the work of D. H. Lawrence. Immediately he wired his New York office telling them to sign Lawrence to do an original story for him. Two days later, having received no reply, he wired again. Then he got his answer: "Lawrence has been dead for two years."

One-time famous comedy star, broke and separated from his second wife, has moved into the home of his first "better half" as a non-paying boarder until he is able to get a job. We ask you, where else could that happen?

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUCHNER
NEA Service Writer

employs and on the government service.

Washington—The most sweeping salary reduction in history is now fully effective in the world's largest business organization. After weeks of excitement and uncertainty following passage by Congress of the economy act, the employees of the United States government know how they are to be affected by the cut and the furlough method through which it is to be imposed.

The economy act was one of the most complicated laws ever placed on any statute books. It had to be worked out for people of every conceivable grade and occupation, working under every sort of condition in a great mass of rules and traditions growing out of many years which had to be harmonized under one general statute.

Comptroller General McCarrie made nearly 200 rulings before the act seemed thoroughly construed and interpreted, the last of which gave the coup de grace to a plan to establish the five-day week in the federal executive service.

About 650,000 employees have received a pay cut of at least 3-15 per cent. About half of them are postal workers. Reductions on the higher salaries run from 10 per cent at $10,000 to 15 per cent at the top. The reductions are expected to save between $80,000,000 and $90,000,000.

Those affected include all civil employees and the officers of the army and navy.

The salary cut is imposed by the process of making each employee take a month's furlough without pay. The actual loss of pay for 24 working days in each year, Sundays and Saturday half-holidays being excluded. But since many employees couldn't stand a whole month without receiving any salary, the deduction is made at the minimum rate of 3-12 per cent each month—or about two and a half days' pay. Rural mail carriers and certain others are being furloughed, but lose a month's pay.

McCarrie, in his ruling on the economy law, has followed the general policy that the law was designed to effect the greatest possible saving. The two big decisions that had to be made by his office were, first, how the deductions were to be made and, second, how the furloughs were to be taken and credited.

The law is effective only for the present fiscal year, ending June 30, 1933, and what Congress will do about eliminating it or extending it at the next session is problematical. Meanwhile, about 50,000 government workers are praying that it will do some thing to alleviate the effects of unusually drastic economies in certain smaller departments and bureaus which threaten them with total payless layoffs of from two or three months through "administrative furloughs."

Other phases of the economy law now in effect include:

Money saved by the furloughs is impounded and goes back to the treasury. Although no vacation leave with pay is allowed, a certain "reasonable" amount of sick leave with pay is permitted. All automatic salary increases have been suspended and no promotions may be made except to fill vacancies, and then only by written order of the president. No vacancies may be filled except in absolutely essential cases, also by presidential authority. Money saved by failure to fill vacancies goes back to the treasury. Employees who reach retirement age are now automatically retired except in rare cases when the president acts to retain them, although previous practice has been to keep many of them on past the retirement age.

Subsequent articles will describe some of the more important effects which the economy law has had on the federal em-

BULGARIANS RETREAT

On Sept. 16, 1918, allied troops continued their hot pursuit of the Bulgarian Second Army, which had been completely beaten in the offensive which started the day before.

The breach between the First and Second Bulgarian Armies was widened and the position of the Second Army was extremely critical.

The advance of the two days opened up the way for an allied drive into the heart of Bulgaria itself. Military observers reported that Bulgarian resistance was heartless and expressed the opinion that Bulgaria would soon be out of the war.

Paris was bombed by a large squadron of German planes. Six persons were killed and 15 were injured. One plane was brought down by anti-aircraft fire.

Just arrived

Every single day in the business week finds new arrivals gracing our four big floors of furniture, rugs, draperies and ranges, so there are always interesting things to wax enthusiastic over! Today? Here are a few of the new things we're showing...

Who ever thought that a Duncan Phyfe coffee table, correctly fashioned in every detail, could be made for as little as $4.75? That's the price on a new one just put on the floor, in maple finish with either an oblong or oval top, and brass tipped feet!

It doesn't cost much to furnish a smart maple bedroom today, now that a great big assortment of matching Colonial pieces has arrived. We figured out a group just to see how little it really cost, and here it is: 3 drawer, bracket foot chest; mirror to hang over it; dressing table with turned legs; a mirror that all swings in a frame to use on the dressing table; and a Pilsner type bed. Complete in solid maple this 5 piece group costs only $56!

There seems to be no end to new designs in occasional chairs, as a new shipment just unpacked reveals. In this new group there are four different designs available in a choice of green, rust and taupe coverings of various patterns. Each chair is a gem! Arms curved at the front to meet the seat and other chairs have such features as button seats and brass nail trim. The price of these delightful chairs is only $18.50.

We discovered a new dining room suite today that had arrived on the floor without our knowledge! It is in the Early English style with those heavy turned and carved legs that are so typical, and a draw-leaf refectory table that is such a convenience. There are nine pieces in the group including a large buffet, a court cupboard-type china cabinet, and chairs upholstered in a green figured tapestry! This great big set costs only $139.

CALL of the WEST

BY R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN HERE TODAY
STAN BALL, an agent for cattle interests, faces ASPER DELO in his office in the city. Asper is accused by the cattle men of intruding on their range with his stolen outcrops. Ball accuses DeLo of crooked work at his Three Rivers camp. He accuses DeLo of having men shot who try to check up on him. Ball says he is going up to make a check himself. DeLo retorts that he will personally see that Ball does not stand before the office building. Ball sees sidewalk slip a girl into a car. He catches the car and saves DONA DELO, Asper's daughter. When he learns who she is he slips away after telling her he is STANLEY BLACK.

Dudley Winters, in love with Dona, agrees to get Asper DeLo back of his wild trip to Three Rivers if she will marry him. She gives him some encouragement.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER III

Dona applied the brakes and pulled her trim roadster to a halt at the curb before a spacious apartment house. Without giving the early hour a thought she sent a rancorous blast of the horn echoing through the maples that shaded the lower floors. She had only to signal once. A figure staggering under a load of khaki and leather appeared from the main entrance and moved down the walk. The pile of equipment reached the curb. There it erupted and Dudley Winters rose from its midst. He removed a soft felt hat and bowed.

"At your service, lady."

"What on earth have you there?" Dona gasped as he pointed a gloved finger toward the assortment scattered around Dudley.

"A sleeping bag, two guns, three fish rods, a camp outfit, two water bags, a collapsible canoe and several lesser items," Dudley surveyed the outfit proudly.

"And a bag of golf clubs!" Dona burst out laughing as she looked over the assortment.

"They aren't so uncivilized as to be without at least a nine hole course, are they?" Dudley grinned sheepishly.

"You can't take any of that junk," Dona was positive.

"But my friend Herman at the outfitters recommended the minimum of equipment," Dudley had enjoyed the selection of that outfit and was willing to defend it.

"Herman made you pay well for routing him out of bed last night. All you need is the outing clothes you're wearing and a suit case with a change of necessary things. You can get all the outdoor equipment you need at Three Rivers. Now hustle that stuff back and pack a few clothes." Dona was more than a little vexed now that she was over being amused.

Dudley sensed his mistake and gathered up his new possessions. He stowed the stuff away and came back on the run. Leaping over the door of the roadster, he slid into place beside Dona.

The car shot away from the curb and sped down the avenue. Dudley leaned back to drink in the fresh morning air. "Boy, it's great to be out and slipping along! Never knew the mornings were so bracing," he shouted.

"You haven't seen the sun come up for a good many summers," Dona shouted back.

Dudley grinned and sank deep into the soft cushions. He was excited and willing to admit it. The mission they were on did not impress him as very serious. At first he had been impressed but after spending a night preparing for the trip he had discounted the danger. He fished for a cigarette and ducked his head low to light it.

Dona gave her attention to the road. She was an excellent driver though her slender shoulders seemed almost frail behind the big wheel. Her thoughts were not with Dudley. She was wondering if Stanley Black would call while she was away. Try as she would she could not put him out of her mind entirely. She was sure he was just another lonesome rider who had come into her life and gone on. She had known many such before her father had moved to the city but none had been so striking as Stanley Black. She had never felt any loss when they had ridden away.

The sun came up and the roads began to twist into the hills. Patches of purple sage showed among the bunch grass and far to the west a blue range of mountains marked the timber country. Dona set to wondering for what outfit. She knew that all the cow ranches had their men in the high country where their white faces were grazing in the forest reserve. Several outfits ran cattle near the timber grant on Three Rivers. There was the Bar B and the Blind River outfit. Dudley broke into her reverie by demanding that they stop at a lunch room for coffee and rolls.

Noon found them speeding into a foothills village where they had lunch. The stop was only a half hour and then they were off again. Dudley had rolled down his sleeves but not before his arms had burned to a fiery red. He was still in a spirited mood whistling snatches of new songs into the teeth of the brisk wind.

By four o'clock they were deep into the broken country. The hills looked dry and hot but the valleys were green with irrigated ranches. Dona knew the road and did not have to ask at any of the crossroads for information. The yellow dust had darkened their clothes and smudged their vain faces. Dudley had developed two little streaks from each side of his nose to the corners of his mouth and his hat was already taking on the appearance of a watermelon. Not once before in the three months since he had packed up and followed her time from school in the east had she seen him with so much as a smudge of dirt on his face.

Sundown found the dusty roadster pulling up beside a spacious log hotel. At the side and back of the building high corrals ranged and lean cayouses gazed sleepily out at the newcomers. Dona signed peacefully and leaned back against the cushions. She was returning to her own end she liked it. In that moment she wondered why she wished to live in even a western city when she could have the outdoors for her own.

"Do we park here or do we unload?" Dudley pulled himself up stiffly and surveyed the scene. "And is this a hotel or a barn? The sign says it's a hotel but my nose says it's a barn." His grin was broad.

"This is Seth Doby's place and we'll camp here tonight," Dona pressed the horn and began dusting herself off.

A gruff man of great height appeared in the doorway and clumped down the worn steps on badly run-over riding boots. His gray hair stood up in an unruly whorl and his beard was long and unkempt with suspicious streaks of brown in it. He wore a blouse of denim and faded overalls.

"Howdy, strangers. Want to hitch and come in?" He smiled and his watery blue eyes twinkled.

"We are stopping with you tonight," Dona answered with a returning smile.

"Yes and eating, too," Dudley grinned.

Seth Doby carried their suitcases inside and deposited them in a ground floor room. He returned and motioned to a curl-cornared register. "Flip your name and your wife's in the book while I yep for supper."

"We wish two rooms," Dona hastened to explain.

"Old Seth grinned. "Right. Well, jest sign up." Without further words he recovered Dudley's suitcase and took it to another room.

Dona went to her room at once. She was soon splashing in a washpan of cool water and preparing to slip into a fresh dress. Outside the door she could hear Dudley demanding a bath.

"Ain't no such animal in this hotel," Seth Doby's voice boomed. "Where you headed for, stranger?"

There ain't no baths out in this dry country."

"I'm trailing a man named Asper DeLo. Has he been through here recently?" Dudley asked.

"Old Swede DeLo? Sure. Stayed here a couple of nights ago. Say, boy, I've known Swede DeLo for 30 years. Him and me had the dog-nabest fight two humans ever had. Swede put me down for the count, too," Seth Doby laughed loudly.

Dona knew Doby did not recognize her as the freckled girl with the pigtail braid who used to ride with old Swede DeLo. Eastern finishing school had erased the marks of the range too thoroughly. As she stepped to the door Doby had his back toward her and he was absorbed in telling Dudley about Swede DeLo.

"Don't you make no mistake about that man, DeLo! He was the maddest I've ever seen. Lowed as how he had been stittin' in an office until bow-legged cow hands thought they could come in and spit in his face. I figure he sure aims to bag himself a meddler, or I don't know Swede DeLo," Doby stroked his beard.

"Is he that bad?" Dudley asked seriously.

"Swede DeLo made his stake by fighting rustlers, lumberjacks and log jacks. He's a hellion when he gets his ire up and he sure had it up when he went through here. I had a time getting him to bed down overnight with us."

Dona stepped forward and spoke smilingly. "Run along and wash up, Dud, while I talk to Mr. Doby."

Seth Doby looked sharply at the girl, then scratched his shaggy head. "You know me and I should know you, but I don't."

"I'm Dona DeLo, Pigtail D." Dona's white teeth shone.

"Well, dagnab it! Sure you are!" Doby held out a knotty hand.

"Is Dad really on one of his benders?" Dona's blue eyes were troubled and her smile had faded.

Doby shook his head. "He sure is and I believe the old fool is getting a whackin' lick out of it. I tried to knock some sense into his head. Warned him plenty."

"You think he might be in danger?" Dona could not conceal her fear.

"He's in for a tough time. I know the man he aims to get." Doby's face sobered.

"Can't you go up with us?" Dona caught the old man's arm. "You used to be able to handle Dad."

Doby shook his head. "I'd do anything for you in remembrance of the days when you was Pigtail, though the city has shore taken the range scrub out of you, but this time I can't."

"Why?" Dona looked the old rancher in the eye evenly.

"Well, I don't figure Swede DeLo has lined out jest right this time and I told him so."

Dona nodded and her tone was cooler though her smile was wide. "But you will feed us with the same kind of steak you used to cook?"

"Sure! And I'll lend a hand, too, if I can." Seth Doby's honest face showed embarrassment and pain as he turned to the little dining room.

MAY "CHARGE" FINES
 Evanston, Ill., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Evanston woman, arrested for traffic violations may simply say to the arresting officer:

"Please charge it."

The new system of "charge accounts" was adopted yesterday as a result of protest of many women who said they were being inconvenienced by being arrested while on the way home from shopping trips when they had no money left to pay fines or for bonds.

When they appear later in court, however, the transactions will be strictly C. O. D.

The new rule applies to Evanston women only, and they must show upon arrest, that they live in Evanston.

Dudley sensed his mistake and gathered up his new possessions. He stowed the stuff away and came back on the run. Leaping over the door of the roadster, he slid into place beside Dona.

The car shot away from the curb and sped down the avenue. Dudley leaned back to drink in the fresh morning air. "Boy, it's great to be out and slipping along! Never knew the mornings were so bracing," he shouted.

"You haven't seen the sun come up for a good many summers," Dona shouted back.

Dudley grinned and sank deep into the soft cushions. He was excited and willing to admit it. The mission they were on did not impress him as very serious. At first he had been impressed but after spending a night preparing for the trip he had discounted the danger. He fished for a cigarette and ducked his head low to light it.

Dona gave her attention to the road. She was an excellent driver though her slender shoulders seemed almost frail behind the big wheel. Her thoughts were not with Dudley. She was wondering if Stanley Black would call while she was away. Try as she would she could not put him out of her mind entirely. She was sure he was just another lonesome rider who had come into her life and gone on. She had known many such before her father had moved to the city but none had been so striking as Stanley Black. She had never felt any loss when they had ridden away.

The sun came up and the roads began to twist into the hills. Patches of purple sage showed among the bunch grass and far to the west a blue range of mountains marked the timber country. Dona set to wondering for what outfit. She knew that all the cow ranches had their men in the high country where their white faces were grazing in the forest reserve. Several outfits ran cattle near the timber grant on Three Rivers. There was the Bar B and the Blind River outfit. Dudley broke into her reverie by demanding that they stop at a lunch room for coffee and rolls.

Noon found them speeding into a foothills village where they had lunch. The stop was only a half hour and then they were off again. Dudley had rolled down his sleeves but not before his arms had burned to a fiery red. He was still in a spirited mood whistling snatches of new songs into the teeth of the brisk wind.

By four o'clock they were deep into the broken country. The hills looked dry and hot but the valleys were green with irrigated ranches. Dona knew the road and did not have to ask at any of the crossroads for information. The yellow dust had darkened their clothes and smudged their vain faces. Dudley had developed two little streaks from each side of his nose to the corners of his mouth and his hat was already taking on the appearance of a watermelon. Not once before in the three months since he had packed up and followed her time from school in the east had

OUMIET BEATS FISCHER TO REACH SEMI-FINALS

Turns Back Challenge Of Golfing Youth, One Up; Meets Goodwin Today; Somerville, Guilford Also Win.

Five Farms Course, Baltimore Country Club, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Fighting off the sensational challenge of golfing youth for the second straight day, Francis Oumiet moved closer to the defense of the United States amateur championship yesterday by turning back 20-year-old Jimmy Fischer of Cincinnati, the medalist and intercollegiate titleholder, in a thrilling 36-hole match, featuring the quarter final.

The champion's margin was just one up as he sank a difficult 12-foot putt on the very last green to beat back Fischer's rush, during which the University of Michigan star had taken two straight holes, the 24th and 25th, to prolong the battle.

The victory put Oumiet into the semi-finals, where he will play the youthful Omaha star, Johnny Goodman, over the 36-hole round today. Goodman, in his strongest advance since he beat Bobby Jones in the first round at Pebble Beach three years ago, was carried to the 36th green before eliminating the young New Yorker, Maurice J. McCarthy, Jr. one up.

The other two semi-finalists are Ross (Sandy) Somerville of London, Ontario, four-time former holder of the Canadian amateur championship, and the veteran Boston "seige gun," F. Guilford, national titleholder in 1921.

Both had an easier path to triumph. Somerville, started off with a record-smashing 68 for the greatest score exhibition of the day and trounced young Billy Blaney of Boston 5 and 6, on the latter's 27th birthday. Guilford, hitting the most tremendous wallop the tournament has seen in many a year, bludgeoned Chick Evans of Chicago, two-time former champion, to defeat to the tune of 5 and 4.

Guilford's victory was a repetition of the conquest he scored over Evans in the 1921 semi-finals on the way to the championship. It marked the first time since then that big Jesse has gone this far in the tournament. The last time he even qualified was in 1926.

Somerville's morning round of 68, two under par, knocked over the competitive record for Five Farms which Johnny Fischer, with a 69, had equalled in the qualifying competition Monday. The Canadian needed to come back in 33 strokes to get as much as a two-hole lead on the curly-haired Blaney, who fought tenaciously and posted a fine 31 himself.

The pace set by the Canadian in the afternoon, however, proved much too swift for Blaney. Somerville quickly rolled up a big lead, ended the match on the 31st green

COACH OF N. Y. U. IS NOT WORRYING

Says His Team Will Not Use Trick Plays Or Fancy Formations This Fall.

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—For ten years Howard Cann has been officiating at football games watching different systems succeed or fail, jotting down ideas, diagnosing plays and now he has a chance to put all those theories into effect, and what a "chance."

He probably is in the toughest spot of any coach in the country, successor of John F. (Chick) Meacham, one of the smartest of the tribe, as head coach of N. Y. U. football and facing a schedule which includes Colgate, Purdue, Georgia, Fordham and Carnegie Tech.

But it takes more than a big job to worry Cann.

It is not worrying "Everybody has a hard job if it is a job worth having," says the big fellow, himself a great athlete at N. Y. University 16 years ago. "I've been a basketball coach for a long time. I've officiated at football games and scouted teams for ten years and you can believe, I'm not worrying at all about my first football coaching job. I'm having the time of my life."

"I don't go in much for trick plays or fancy formation," he says. "If a team is well grounded in fundamentals it won't lose many football games."

"I think it's a rule in the coaches' union to howl calamity until your team proves you a liar, but I am not hardened enough yet for that."

and posted even par for the 18 holes of the afternoon round to demonstrate there was no fluke to his earlier performance.

Somerville Favorite
On the strength of this great shot-making Somerville loomed as a favorite over Guilford, despite the latter's long-hitting advantage, and became the strongest foreign title threat since T. Philip Perkins, British champion, reached the final against Bobby Jones in 1928.

Oumiet still packs the shots, the resources and the courage of a champion, but he has now needed all these factors in two successive rounds to beat off the onslaught of youthful challengers. Fighting uphill most of the day, the 39-year-old titleholder was fortunate to win, due as much to Fischer's unexpected lapses in putting as much as to Oumiet's own skill.

PLAY IS RESUMED IN TRADE SCHOOL BASEBALL LEAGUE

Open Second Half Competition Between Departments; Draftsmen, Carpenters Win.

The second half of the State Trade school inter-departmental baseball league opened Wednesday with five teams representing the Carpentry, Drafting, Electrical, Machine and Textile departments lined up for honors in the second half race. The Drafting team won the first half, but it is expected that the second half race will prove to be a battle between the Carpentry team and Electrical department teams according to the records of Wednesday's games.

In the opening games played Wednesday on the Charter Oak grounds, the Draftsmen trimmed the Machine team 9-2 and the Carpenters sprung up a surprise by beating out the strong Electrical team, 4-0. The Draftsmen slammed Karkevitch all over the lot in the first two innings, scoring 8 runs on 7 hits and a walk.

Lennon, star hurler of the Drafting team, held the Machine to three scattered hits. The stick work of Lewis, Rubacha, "Red" Kilpatrick and Lennon was a contributing factor in the Machine's downfall.

In the opener, Farewell, former Grotton High hurler pitched a whale of a game for the Carpenters, holding the hard-hitting Electricians to a brace of singles. This boy is a find for the Carpenters, having a nice fast ball and perfect control. The Electricians heavy sluggers, Sendrowski, Brewer and Normstedt were held hitless by Farewell. Ashland's single in the second, Adam's double in the sixth were the only hits garnered off Farewell's delivery. Orlovski, lead-off man in the second inning clouted a homer for the Carpenters, two more runs counting. In the inning on two batted balls by Borelli and an error by Karshis.

Sendrowski pitched good ball for the Electricians, striking out nine men, but received poor support from his teammates. The scores:

GRID GAME TOMORROW
The Baldwin's Paint Shop Aces football team open their season by meeting the strong Wolveriens of the north end Saturday morning at 9:45 at the Charter Oak street grounds. The lineups of the teams are as yet unknown but when they take the field for the kick-off they will prove to be two evenly matched teams. Last year the "Aces from the land of paint" had the best team in town in their class. They have hopes of being the best team this year also. The Aces will hold a light practice to-night.

Watch Oregon In Football Is Warning From West

The world is out to watch the University of Oregon in football this fall. The tip is offered by Roy Craft, sports critic at Eugene, Ore., where the university is located.

In Craft's words, "Oregon has the material, the coaching staff and the enthusiasm," but he admits a lot depends on the showing the sophomore players make.

Prince G. (Frank) Callison, former Oregon and Olympic Club football star, is in charge of the Ducks this year. Assisting him are Johnny Kitmiller, the All-America "Flying Dutchman" of the 1930 season, Jack O'Brien and Gene Shields.

Says Craft: "Callison's chances this year depend to a large degree on the showing of his last year's freshmen stars, though he has a good many of Doc Spears' players from a year ago. Callison's team will differ from Spears' eleven in one respect: Doc was essentially a defensive master, while Callison specializes in offense."

After Callison's playing days, during which he was named all-coast center, he tutored the high school teams at Medford, Ore. His eleven won state championships in 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927 and 1928, a record probably unsurpassed anywhere in the United States. He was Oregon freshmen coach under Spears.

Three members of the backfield which started against Harvard last year were in the lineup today as the varsity line varsity eleven went out for its second day of practice.

Albie Booth, last year's captain was replaced by Bob Lassiter at left halfback, although he attended the workout in the capacity of backfield coach.

The variety was selected from 92 players who reported yesterday for the strenuous signal drill with which Head Coach Mal Stevens opened the season. In addition to the six designated as the varsity eleven, six others were named to the "Blue shirt" or first string squad.

The rest of the candidates were divided up into eight teams for drill on fundamentals.

The varsity lined up yesterday with O'Connell and Sargent on the ends; Captain Jack Wilbur and Holman, tackles; Barnum and Converse, guards; Malin, center; Parker, quarterback; Lassiter, left halfback; Crowley, right halfback, and Levering, fullback. Others on the Blue Shirt squad were Sullivan, Hughes, MacLean, Williamson and Clem Williamson, backs; Nichols, guard and Howland center.

Nichols and Kilullen will not report for another week or ten days.

HARVARD HAS HEAVY TEAM
Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Ninety-five candidates for the Harvard football team reported at Soldiers Field yesterday to Coach Eddie Casey for the first workout of the year. Casey cut the varsity squad to 51 after the morning practice which consisted chiefly of conditioning work. Of this group, 13 Yale graduates are in the line-up.

Thirteen others were members of the 1931 varsity. A bigger and heavier team than Harvard has had in recent years is expected this year, Casey said. He considered this fall's schedule the toughest. The Crimson has faced in years. It calls for games with six strong teams on successive Saturdays. This situation, Casey said, would require the development of two complete teams.

HORSES AWAIT TURF CLASSIC TOMORROW
Country's Best In 43rd Running Of Futurity At Belmont Park.

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—A pot of gold totaling more than 100,000, the turf's richest award dangled today in front of the best two-year-olds of the country today as they awaited the 43d running of the Futurity at Belmont Park tomorrow.

Not more than 12 horses are expected to start the seven-furlong dash but in the field will be W. R. Coe's Lady's Man. Happy Gal, Sun Archer, Crowling Glory, Caterwall and others not so well known, are primed for the task of preventing the Coe speedster from boosting his total earnings close to $200,000. Lady's Man will pack the top weight of 130 pounds.

The first of the five official races will start tomorrow at 12:30 p. m., with the series ending next Thursday. A recall race, if needed, will be run off next Friday. Six of the yearlings are foreign born, while one will be sailed by a 12-year old girl, Faisy Raskob of Centreville, Md., the daughter of John J. Raskob, former chairman of the Democratic National committee.

Misleading her to the right to enter her "Ripple" in the star class races by scoring highest in the Eastern Shore Fleet competition. This was her first Summer of sailing in the star class. Mason Sheehan, Jr., will be her crew. The yachting association will hold its annual meeting tonight at which officers will be elected.

JACK DEMPSEY WAS GREATEST FIGHTER IN BOXING ANNALS

Through Him Fight Game Came To Be America's Supreme Sport; Is The Unforgettable Man.

This is the fifth of a series of articles by Werner Laufer in which the story of the fight game is reviewed from the days of James Figg, the first heavyweight champion, to the present.

By WERNER LAUFER
NEA Service Sports Writer

Dempsey was the greatest of all. He steered the fight game to the same high place where Babe Ruth brought baseball.

There is an odd parallel of poverty between the two. Ruth was an orphan, a friendless boy from an industrial school in Baltimore. Dempsey was a bum from the roads, a freight train passenger, the lowest of the scale of hoboes.

Yet they both reached the point where the enthusiastic cries of thousands urged them on.

Dempsey will continue as a legend after it has been forgotten what the man looked like. He arose by punching power above the scorn and suspicion that clouded his earlier efforts. They booed him as a World War slacker, and thousands cheered him to the skies as a cheated champion.

At Chicago, 104,943 of the popular "fancy" hoped Gene Tunney would stay "out." And the controversy that followed that long count by Dempsey still resounds through the fight world.

At the start he was a kid from Colorado riding the rods east. New Yorker scooped at him after John Lester Johnson, colored giant, broke his ribs. Dempsey went away, met Jack Kearns in a bar-room and came back to New York as champion.

The fight world knows no more amazing tale. A man who admittedly dived for Jim Flynn, a fat has-been heavyweight in the west, became a tiger who attracted $2,668,000 worth of paying worshippers at Soldiers' Field.

And that affair at Soldiers' Field was staged by a Dempsey who was well past his heyday—a man trying to come back, fighting desperately to reverse the verdict of Philadelphia when a cool and calculating examine smashed him to ribbons on a rainy night.

These things are well-known, but no less wonderful. Picture the man himself: Irish, Indian, Jewish, Scotch—a mingling of many tribes in a mongrel personality. Becoming heroic by sheer ability to best his brothers into the ground by the power of punches.

He came from a pick-and-shovel heritage to the topmost spot in sports. It must be said of him also that he reached the summit unaffected, as much of a fun-loving boy as he had been back in the boxcar days.

He was exploited by shrewd managers here and there—but he remained bigger than those who had tried to "use" him. He was thrown in against the toughest brawlers the world has known, and those who backed him in those efforts were in the game merely for the sport of the moment—plus the out-and he came out of every trial with victory and a smile.

There is no parallel for Dempsey. His managers make mistakes after mistakes, such as having his picture taken in the shipyards with the man wearing patent leather shoes, and similar asinities—but he proved himself, in the end, greater than any of the men who dictated him.

Impulsive, irresponsible, lovable Jack Dempsey—what a great memory of a fighting man!

He was not invulnerable. Early in his career, he took severe beatings from such men as Willie Meacham, Johnny Sundenberg and others, who were to be remembered only as "those who beat Dempsey."

He was more than a man boxing—he WAS BOXING. He became the unforgettable man. And through him the fight game came to be America's supreme sport.

Next: The future.

Cuyler Of Cubs Looms As World Series Star

Chicago Must First Win Pennant, However; Kiki's Homer In 11th Beats Giants; Yanks Lose.

By GAYLE TALBOT
Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler sat on the bench while the Pittsburgh Pirates absorbed four successive beatings from the New York Yankees in 1927, but it is a safe bet the fleet outfielder will see plenty of service in the world's series this year, assuming the Chicago Cubs win the National League pennant.

Particularly has he been "poisonous" to the N. Y. Giants. Almost single-handed he beat them in two games of a recent series at Chicago and yesterday he was the hero of the Cubs' thrilling 11-inning 8-7 victory over the same club at the Polo Grounds.

Pittsburgh recovered from a brief slump to trim the Boston Braves 3-2, but failed to gain an inch. They still were five and a half games behind the Cubs today.

Making his first start for the Cardinals since early spring, Ray Stark, young righthander from Rochester held Brooklyn to two widely spaced singles and won handily 2-0. The Phillies downed Cincinnati 7-4 to make a sweep of the three game series.

The Yankees suffered their first defeat since clinching the American League flag when the Chicago White Sox beat them 8-5. Lefty Gomez was the victim.

NEW LINCOLN STATUE UNVEILED IN INDIANA

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 16.—(AP)—A new, different statue of Abraham Lincoln was unveiled here today.

It is the likeness of Lincoln at 21; a stalwart Indiana frontiersman, unburdened by his country's problems. The figure leans against an oak stump, axe at side, book in hand and a hound dog nesting against it.

Twenty-two feet tall, the statue in bronze fills a vacancy that had existed in artists' and sculptors' likenesses of the Emancipator.

It is the work of Paul Manship, New York sculptor and was cast in Brussels, Belgium. The permanent resting place of the statue is in the plaza of the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company building here.

Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, United States Senator James E. Watson, Ida M. Tarbell, a Lincoln biographer; Daniel Carter Beard, National commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America; and Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York avenue Presbyterian church, Washington, D. C., were among the notables invited to the unveiling.

NEW 40 AND 8 HEAD

Portland, Ore., Sept. 16.—(AP)—John A. Eldon, Cleveland attorney, was elected National head of the 40 and 8, honorary fun and service order of the American Legion, at the close of the organization's 13th annual convention.

The new chief re chemin de fer of the Societe Des Quarante Hommes et Huit Chevaux immediately laid out a program for membership and welfare work among ex-servicemen, children and youths of his organization.

Among his objectives, Eldon named a membership of at least 50,000 at the end of the year and the launching of a national boxing program, patterned after the "Golden Gloves" tournament of the middle west and east, to promote the spirit of fair play and Americanism.

Sous chefs de ch min de fer, or vice presidents, elected included: John T. Crowley, Boston.

Among other officers elected was Aumonier Nationale; Leroy Kaufman, Tower City, Pa.

THEATERS AT THE STATE

Keaton-Durante Comedy
Buster Keaton and Jimmy Durante in the roaring comedy "Speak Easily," and Ann Dvorak and David Manners in "Crooner" are the feature attractions at the State tonight and Saturday.

Hilarious antics, high speed action and a bevy of beautiful chorus girls combine to make "Speak Easily" the prize comedy offering of the season. Ever since Buster Keaton and Jimmy Durante appeared together in "The Passionate Plumber," there has been an insistent demand on the part of the public that they be costarred in more pictures. They are a perfect comedy team, Keaton with his dead-pan, and Durante with the largest nose ever seen on or off the stage and his continuous chatter. Keaton is seen as a small town college professor, with plenty of money, who goes to New York to back a musical show. Durante is seen as his eccentric piano player who goes through the entire ordeal with Keaton. Laugh follows laugh in rapid succession and any audience will find it the shortest eighty minutes they ever sat through a picture when they see "Speak Easily."

Ann Dvorak and David Manners are presented in "Crooner," a highly diverting picture that depicts the life of a famous radio idol. This radio romance entranced thousands of women all over the country with the magic of his voice, but his own love affair was as stormy and turbulent as any you ever heard of.

Chapter two of the thrilling serial story, written by Peter B. Kyne, will be shown as an added attraction Saturday only. Few serials ever made holds an audience spellbound as does "Heroes of the West." The story is written around the trials undergone by the pioneers who built the first transcontinental railroad.

Some child is going home from the Saturday matinee exceedingly happy, as the State management will give away the first of five beautiful playboy ponies at the Saturday matinee. These ponies have been on exhibition in the State lobby for the past week and have drawn forth many words of admiration from young and old alike, and are given away through the courtesy of the New Method Laundry of Hartford.

HOOPER SPEEDS UP WORK ON ARMS ARE HIS OWN

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Organized banking groups in six Federal Reserve districts had before them today a request from President Hoover for activity in filling credit needs of livestock owners and shippers.

The President urged financial aid for livestock areas during the feeder season and pending first operations of the Reconstruction Corporation's agricultural credit institutions. His telegram to this committee yesterday was immediately transmitted by Executive Secretary Everett Case to chairmen of the banking groups in Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Dallas and San Francisco.

In Scotland, a tax-collector was chased for two miles by a cow. Now they're thinking of making the cow the national animal.

HOOPER SPEEDS UP WORK

London, Sept. 16.—(AP)—British official quarters remained reticent today regarding Germany's claim to equality in armaments with the other nations of Europe. The German Embassy has been in close touch with the British foreign office, but the nature of the conversations has not been revealed.

The government made it clear today that the views expressed yesterday by Arthur Henderson, former foreign secretary and now chairman of the disarmament conference, were not necessarily the views of the British government.

Mr. Henderson, in an address before the National Peace council, called upon the World War allies to carry out the disarmament provisions of the Treaty of Versailles and asserted that the volume of opinion among delegates to the disarmament conference is so strongly in favor of immediate steps to meet Germany's claims that the issue can be settled to the advantage of the whole world.

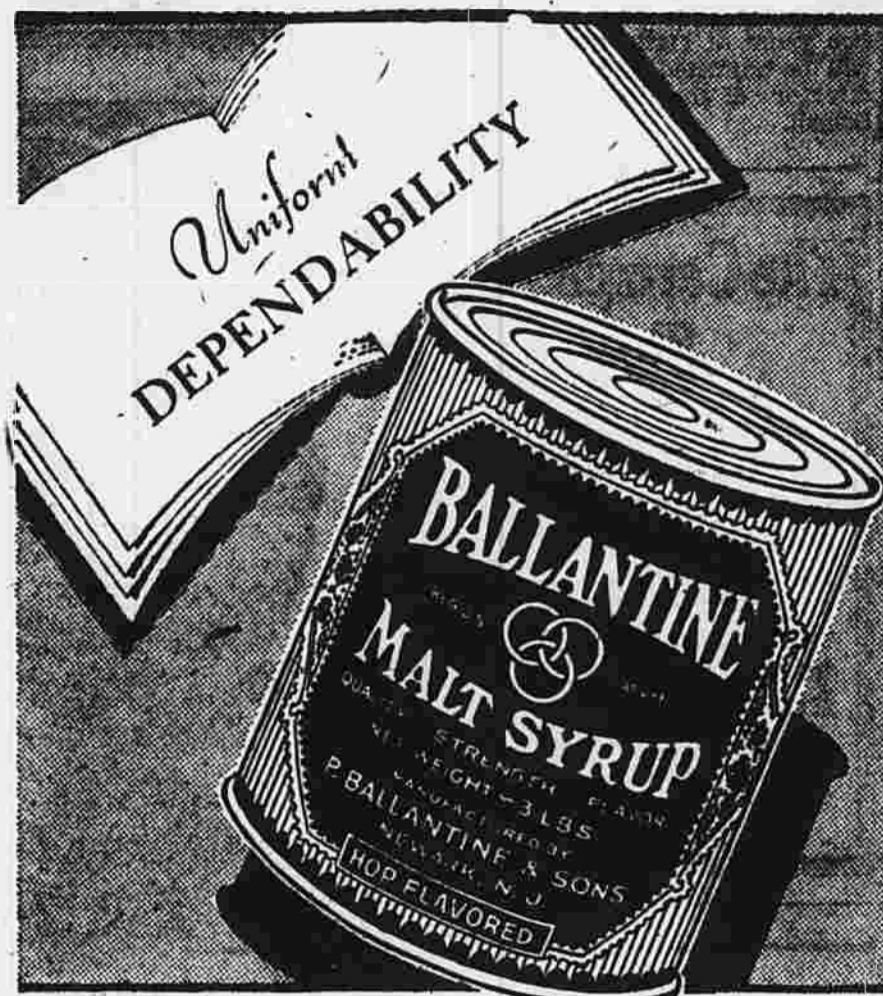

Sir John Simon, the foreign minister, will go to Geneva on Tuesday for the resumption of the disarmament deliberations.

QUAKES IN NEW ZEALAND

Wellington, New Zealand, Sept. 16.—(AP)—A violent earthquake which caused considerable damage in the Hawkes bay district was felt over a large area this morning. Reports from Gisborne this afternoon said minor shocks were continuing and that in some districts the earth was shaking regularly every few minutes.

Three persons were injured at Wairoa, where a bridge was damaged by last year's quake and a new bridge is under construction.

Chimneys were toppled over and the telephone service was suspended because of damage to the underground cables.

9,000 YDS. OF CLOTH ALLOTTED TO TOWN

To Be Made Into Garments For Needy; To Be Handled Through Schools.

According to Town Treasurer George H. Waddell, a shipment of 9000 yards of cloth is en route to Manchester for use of the needy, through the agency of the American Red Cross. From New York City 4000 yards of Lustru prints is expected; from Charlotte, N. C., 2000 yards of gingham, and from Concord, N. C., 3000 yards of "Frolic" cloth, another gingham fabric.

Mr. Waddell explains that this cloth will not be given out promiscuously, but through the town's school system and organizations. Superintendent of Schools F. A. Verplanck is co-operating with the officials at the municipal building and a portion of the cloth will be made into garments by the girls of the domestic science classes in the different schools. Children in families whose parents are unable to buy clothing for them, will be furnished with dresses, blouses or undergarments by applying to their teachers or the instructors in the sewing classes.

Miss Jessie Reynolds and Mrs. James Johnston, of the town social service and health departments, will furnish organizations with the names of those in need, and the number of different garments required by the individual families, and the dresses and other articles will be made and delivered to the families designated. In this way it is believed a great number of worthy people will be outfitted.

Thus far the only organizations who have volunteered to assist are the Ladies of St. James's Guild, the Women's Home League of the Salvation Army and the Girls' Friendly society of St. Mary's Episcopal church. Town Treasurer Waddell believes that a number of other women's societies will volunteer their services when their regular meetings get under way.

CARPET MAKING CLASS TO BE LIMITED TO 18

Only 18 students will be admitted to the class in carpet making which J. G. Echmalian of this town will give under the auspices of the Bygones-Sanford Company in Thompsonville starting Monday, Oct. 3. The instruction will be for two hours each Monday evening. Competitive examinations will be given next Thursday morning for those who wish to seek enrollment. Only boys with at least two years of high school education will be admitted. Mr. Echmalian is director of the local State Trade School.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

Although the regular classes of the Y. M. C. A. Gymnastic program do not start until the first Monday of October, the members can arrange to make use of the gym for exercise, practice goal shooting and use the baths from four to seven each afternoon from now on. All the teams and groups that are planning to make use of the building are invited to come in and talk things over during these hours or in the evenings.

The leaders group has a very interesting program ahead of them and already several of the leaders have been in to arrange to get into this class. Physical tests will be given to all who can qualify as a member of the leaders group. Physical tests and physical achievement tests will be given each three months period in order to see what the advancement of the individual may be. Charting of each member of this group so as to see how he is advancing will add a great deal to the value of the winter training. Any young man interested may see the new Secretary for further information.

LOANS TO RAILROADS
New York, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Railroad Credit Corporation announced today that it had authorized loans totaling $4,500,000 to eight railroads at its September meeting.

expected no interest defaults on major railroads this year. Interest requirements up to October 1 have been taken care of.

E. R. Woodson, vice president and controller of the corporation, said revenues were being received at the rate of about $5,000,000 a month. These represent the proceeds from the freight surcharges that became effective on Jan. 1.

The area of the District of Columbia is 69 square miles.

ONE-ARMED MAN STOPS WILD CAR, SAVES TOT

Alfred E. Dunham Suffers Minor Hurts When He Jumps On Running Board, Steers Car.

Alfred E. Dunham is under the care of Dr. T. F. O'Loughlin, and is receiving treatment for lacerations and bruises suffered when he stopped a runaway car on the top of High street hill. Out-of-town visitors had parked the car in front of the home of Andrew Gill. A three-year-old child was in the car. It is not known whether the child started the car or if the brakes gave way.

Mr. Dunham, who has only one arm, heard the child cry, leaped on the running board and grabbed the steering wheel, guiding the car and succeeding in turning it into an open lot. As he completed this feat the door flew open throwing him to the ground. On the grade where the car had been parked there were several other cars, which were saved from a crash by the act of Mr. Dunham.

RESEARCH REVEALS ALL-BRAN RICH IN HEALTH-ELEMENTS

Helps Correct Constipation with "Bulk" and Vitamin B; Also Has Iron

Recent scientific research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains two things needed to overcome temporary and recurring constipation. It has "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

These two important food-elements promote regular habits, and help do away with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy, so often the result of constipation.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is mild in action—much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make the ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using pills and drugs—so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's daily—enough for most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Besides, ALL-BRAN brings your body twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Equally tasty as a cereal with milk or cream, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green packages. Sold by grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

a pearl about the size of a pea in a clam last week.

Albert Fiechsig of Lawrence street, a World War veteran, is at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital at Newington.

Steve Naggy has sold his gasoline filling station on the Tolland Turnpike to Mrs. Amelia Schaeffer of Grove street.

Miss Hattie Gleaser of High street has returned from the Rockville City hospital where she has been receiving treatment for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vincent of Union street have returned from a trip to Vermont.

PLEASE WILL NOT QUIT Columbia, S. C., Sept. 16—(AP)—Cole L. Elease, active in South Carolina politics for 44 years, indicated here today his defeat for the Senatorial nomination in last Tuesday's Democratic primary would not permanently retire him to private life.

"The talking is all over now for two years," the former Senator and governor said. "That's all I can say now."

Political observers pointed out an election for governor would be held in this state two years hence.

NEW POLAR EXPERIMENT

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 16—(AP)—Another Polar year experiment was under way today as a balloon, four feet six inches in diameter was believed soaring into the stratosphere over Western Canada.

Because of declining atmospheric pressure as altitude is gained the balloon was expected to burst at a height of more than eight miles and drop to earth. By that time it was hoped instruments attached to the balloon would have made important records of temperature conditions and air pressure.

enjoying such great prosperity. The people felt that greater prosperity was just around the corner and why worry about budgeting or careful management of their money which would safeguard them in case of smaller income or no work.

"The present financial breakdown is a spotlight in the highway of national bankruptcy.

"x x x If out of the present economic crisis we can find ways and means to improve existing conditions and to avoid their recurrence, the experience nationally and individually will not have been in vain."

FOR CALENDAR REFORM

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 16.—(AP)—The interest of the late George Eastman in the movement to establish the 13 month calendar, which he assisted financially for eight years will be carried on with funds provided from his estate by the University of Rochester, chief beneficiary, in accordance with his wishes. This was learned today at the Rochester office of the International Fixed Calendar League, of which Mr. Eastman was president.

Plans which Mr. Eastman had outlined for the activities of the league in the United States and abroad are being followed under the direction of M. B. Cotsworth, whose headquarters are in London, with M. N. Stiles as American secretary at Rochester.

LUMBER INDUSTRY NOW USING TRUCKS

traffic to trucks amounted to approximately 12,000 cars.

Water Movements

"During the past year there has been a very substantial water movement of domestic cotton from the gulf ports to New England. x x x An idea of what this change means to rail carriers can be gained from a study conducted by one railroad which developed that during the past season it lost 1,000 car loads of this traffic to trucks, which picked up the cotton at port cities.

"It is generally conceded that there is a tremendous highway movement of refined petroleum oils, as well as fuel oils, from the seaboard to interior territory. x x x The study of one New England railroad of the situation on its own system resulted in the conclusion that the annual movement by tank trucks from the seaboard to points on its line amounted to approximately 12,000 carloads.

Losses on Coal

"One New England railroad states that its loss of bituminous coal to trucks can be conservatively estimated as amounting to about 400,000 tons a year."

Day said that northern Maine potatoes, which "previously moved to eastern seaboard destinations by rail," had, in substantial volume, "been forwarded in seaport furtherance by water to various north Atlantic, south Atlantic and gulf ports."

"Investigation," he added, "develops that during the past season the water movement amounted to 13,000 cars."

"Another commodity which appears to be leaving the rails in sizable amount is sugar. Some figures furnished me by an actual shipper show that in 1929 he forwarded by rail to points in Massachusetts 123 cars. In 1930 he forwarded 123 cars by rail and the equivalent of 70 cars by truck. In 1931 he forwarded 20 cars by rail and the equivalent of 180 cars by truck. This year practically the entire movement is by truck."

government program for that period and only 39.5 per cent of the quota under the five-year plan for the whole year.

The statistics were confined to percentages but indicated the acute state of the country's food supply.

The effects of being shown in widespread shifting of workers, searching for better living conditions.

The greatest decline in production was shown in sugar, meat, salt and fish. The output of granulated sugar for eight months dropped 59.9 per cent below production for the same period last year, reaching only 45.5 per cent under the government plan.

Meat Production

Meat production fell off 41.7 per cent in comparison with the previous year and accomplished only 62.9 per cent production under the plan. Salt was off 23.7 and came to only 53.1 per cent under the plan. Fish was off 9.3 per cent and reached only 64.7 per cent of the plan quota.

Flour, vegetables and margarine showed increases over 1931 but still were short of fulfilling the plan.

The newspaper blamed improper organization and leadership in factories and improper care of raw materials and products for the situation.

D. Levitin, member of the Collegium of the Commissariat of supply, recently called work in the food industry "unsatisfactory."

The government plan calls for an increase of 36 per cent in 1932 food production over the production for 1931.

FLIGHT NOT APPROVED

Liberty, N. Y., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Otto Hillig, the "flying photographer" of this southern New York town, has encountered official headwinds in his projected second Atlantic flight, which was to have started Monday.

Hillig said last night he had received a telegram from his pilot, Roger G. Williams, who was in Washington, saying: "Washington does not approve of our flight."

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Don't Worry! The World War was won despite a million fool suggestions, a couple of congresses, and a political presidential campaign.

Teacher (pointing to the map)—Wow, Willie, when you stand facing the north you have on the right hand the great continent of Asia. What have you on your left? Willie—A wart, but I can't help it teacher.

You're getting along when you can remember the time when it was considered a luxury to be born in a hospital.

Don't Quit
When things go wrong, as they sometimes will,
When the road you're trudging seems all up-hill,
When funds are low and debts are high,
And you want to smile but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Life is queer with its twists and turns,
As everyone of us sometimes learns,
And many a failure turns about,
When he might have won had he stuck it out,
Don't give up, though your pace is slow—
You may succeed with another blow.
Often the goal is nearer than it seems to a faint and faltering man,
Often the struggler has given up,
When he might have captured the victor's cup,
And he's stumbled too late, when the night slipped down,
How close he was to the golden crown.
Success is failure turned inside out—
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt,
And you can never tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems far;
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit—
It's when things seem worst that you mustn't quit.

Son—Dad, what's influence?
Dad—Influence, my son, is a thing you think you have until you try to use it.
Young Clerk—Could you learn to love me, do you think, Josephine?
Gay Young Stenographer—Well, Napoleon, you never can tell. I learned short hand in six weeks.
A young man fell into a state of coma but revived before his friends could bury him. One of them asked what it felt like to be dead.
Young Man—Dead! I wasn't dead, and I knew it because my feet were cold and I was hungry.
Friend—But how did that make you sure?
Young Man—Well, I knew I wouldn't be hungry in Heaven and my feet wouldn't be cold in the other place.
PASTOR—You say you cannot get along with your husband? People must learn to bear and forbear. Did you ever try heaping coals of fire on his head?
YOUNG WIFE—No, I never did. But I've tried boiling water.
A young woman may marry without parental consent if she is 16, but she can't vote until she is 21. Indicating that it takes more brains to vote than to manage a home and children."

Father (to son who has just spoken of a pretty girl)—Do you know that girl?
Son—Know her? Why I'm engaged to her.
Father—Heavens! Are you serious about her?
Son—Oh, no. Just a passing fancy.

QUOTATIONS

It would take a courageous man to say the depression is over. I will say that there has been a decided improvement.
—W. H. Moulton, shoe magnate.

You can no more stop this movement (farm strike) than you could stop the Revolution in 1776. I couldn't stop it if I tried.
—Milo Reno, head of the Iowa Farmers' Union.

With so much money needed for charitable purposes, it would be unseemly (for the Republicans) to put on an elaborate and costly campaign.
—Joseph E. Nutt, treasurer, Republican National Committee.

The chicken is out of the pot and two cars are not in the garage.
Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland.

As for Manchukuo, Japan is confronted with an unprecedented opposition of world opinion. Nevertheless, we are determined to follow the course already fixed in the face of all opposition.
—Count Yasuya Uchida, Japanese foreign minister.
