

SEVEN REPUBLICS ARE NOW WARRING

But Three Left in South America Where Disturbances Have Not Been Reported.

New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Disturbances of the public order, running all the way from comparatively minor attempts at revolution to first class civil war, are afflicting seven of the ten republics in South America.

Paraguay and Bolivia are having an "undeclared war" over the Gran Chaco territory which lies on their borders. Colombia and Peru are at loggerheads as a result of the seizure of the Colombian city of Leticia by Peruvians. Brazil is racked by civil war. Another of a long series of revolts is under way in Chile, and in Ecuador, which is ruled by a provisional government as a result of a military uprising a month ago, the administration has just ousted the minister of war, charging him with being involved in a plot to set up a military dictatorship.

Most Important

From the foreign point of view the most important of these disturbances are the Brazilian civil war and the controversy between Paraguay and Bolivia.

After weeks of the heaviest fighting since modern machines of war were devised, Brazilian Federal government and the Rebels of the State of Sao Paulo now are negotiating for an armistice, but at the same time the fighting continues.

The League of Nations and neutral countries of the Americas have been seeking for some time to re-establish peace between Bolivia and Paraguay. The latest important turn in that controversy was an announcement by Paraguay that its army had succeeded in ousting the Bolivians from Fort Boqueron, over which there had been heavy fighting. Both nations have previously shown willingness to negotiate a peaceful settlement.

G. O. P. CONVENTION IN N. Y. MONDAY

State Chairman Macy Gathering His Forces — Two Candidates For Governor.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 1.—(AP)—State Chairman W. Kingland Macy is expected in Buffalo some time today to marshal his state Republican organization for the convention Monday and Tuesday.

With two candidates for the gubernatorial nomination concluding their campaigns, the managers of Colonel William J. Donovan of Buffalo predicted that he would go into the convention in a leading position, although on the other hand the supporters of F. Truett Davison, assistant secretary of war, promised a battle to the end.

Contrary to the case in many previous Republican conventions, the balance of the state ticket had not been generally speculated upon. The recent endorsement by the Democratic organization in New York of State Senator Samuel F. Hotzstadter for the Supreme Court removes him from the list of possible candidates for the attorney generalship.

The gubernatorial field embraces a third candidate, Mayor Roland B. Marvin of Syracuse, who is described as "receptive." Mayor Marvin has the support of Majority Leader George R. Pearson of the State Senate.

Marvin has done little to urge his nomination. The campaigns of Donovan and Davison, who have spoken in various parts of the state, have been comparatively mild. The long list of potential candidates of a few weeks ago has dwindled gradually as names were withdrawn or support was transferred to one of the remaining trio.

Friends of the Syracuse mayor have heard that he had been urged to seek the attorney generalship, and in view of the elimination of Senator Hotzstadter from the field, Marvin's friends believed he would press his candidacy for the high post of head of the state's law department.

Running concurrently with the Democratic state convention at Albany, the Republican meeting is scheduled to get under way shortly before noon Monday. Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., as temporary chairman, will sound the keynote of the convention, and later Chairman Macy will give the permanent chairman's speech.

LEADERS TO SCAN TOWN ELECTIONS

Democrats Claim 25 Towns Which Will Be More Than the Average in This State.

Hartford, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Town elections will bring the Connecticut political campaign to a midseason climax Monday, although Republican and Democratic leaders generally agree that the results will have little bearing on the November balloting.

Local issues and personalities rather than state or national questions usually are the controlling factors in the selection of town officials. Nevertheless, chief executives of both parties will scrutinize the returns closely for any extraordinary trends.

Democratic Hopes

Some Democratic leaders have expressed the belief the party will emerge victorious in about 20 towns which is not a large proportion but which is greater than the customary percentage.

Republicans look for their usual conquest of virtually all the municipalities. Nothing has entered the town campaigns, they contend, which points to any cause for defection from the ranks.

The state organizations of both parties, however, have been giving support to their local leaders and for psychological reasons, as well.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for September 26 were $4,077,200.47; expenditures $4,077,200.47; balance $68,505,997.26. Customs duties for 26 days of Sept. were $24,991,450.00.

Singles Champ Gets License for Life "Doubles"

Henry Ellsworth Vines, Jr., the world's singles champion at tennis, had to get his mother's written permission when he entered the doubles. His partner is Julia Verie Lowe, with whom he'll soon be honeymooning. Vines, not yet 21, had to have his mother sign the marriage license application in Pasadena. Here you see, left to right, Mrs. Vines, her tennis-champ son and his bride-to-be, as they returned with the important paper.

ITALY MAY WITHDRAW FROM NATION'S LEAGUE

Mussolini To Urge Again That Europe Disarm For Her Own Safety — To Define Attitude Tonight.

Rome, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini, who is scheduled to speak tonight through the Fascist Grand Council at a midnight session was expected emphatically to urge again that Europe disarm for her own safety.

In political circles it was thought probable the premier would define clearly his attitude toward the League of Nations and newspapers and officials said they believed there was an intimation Italy might possibly announce her withdrawal from the League.

"Sharp comment" on the League and its failure to achieve disarmament have recently been made by Mussolini, his ministers and Parliament. The Grand Council, on April 4 said the many international conferences should cease and it voted to discuss at tonight's meeting "Italy's position in the League."

Called Mortal Blow

Mussolini himself, in a recent article, said if Germany withdrew from the disarmament conference

THOUSANDS GO BACK TO WORK IN PENNSY

Jobs Provided For More Than 5,000 In and Around Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Hundreds of dark, dreary homes in western Pennsylvania radiated with happiness today, as jobs were provided for more than 5,000 persons after months of idleness.

The National works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company at Monaca were re-opened Monday on a three to four-day-a-week basis, re-employing 1,200 men and women. Other departments in the mill are scheduled to resume operation in about 10 days, giving work to 1,200 more employed.

Nearly 400 men have returned to work in four mills of the Lockhart Iron and Steel Company in Pittsburgh. The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad recalled 400 men in its locomotive and car shops. More than 150 laborers were put back to work in the Carrier's freight car shop.

The Union Railroad Company notified 150 shopmen to report at Monaca Junction October 10 for part time work.

Officials of the Standard Tin Plate Company announced that its Cannonsburg plant will reopen Monday. They said 3,000 persons are affected.

More Of The Best Men In This Town In This Week's Honor Roll

Just the finest and biggest men and women in their respective business in Manchester have been placed today in the "Who's Who" Honor Roll which is found on Page 3 of this issue.

You do not already know who these "wonder men and women" are, then read this list.

They are men and women who have brought to this section thousands of dollars and have not only built the homes of Manchester and community homes for the American people, but have placed the entire State of Connecticut in the limelight by always being power to these men and women who have the wealth of progress burning.

First place money today goes to Mrs. Florence Fish of 22 Linn street and Mrs. E. J. Gleason, 75 Oak street.

ROOSEVELT CLASS PLEA ATTACKED BY AL SMITH

Pertinent Paragraphs In the Smith Article

New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith in his first article today as editor of the new Outlook said:

"The country is set for a change. I have already stated that I sympathize with this new and that I believe the best interests of the country will be served by the success of the Democratic Party and the election of its ticket."

"To all intents and purposes the campaign may be said to be over. The real question is what will the Democratic Party do with its victory? A change of government of itself does not insure improvement of conditions.

"On the other hand, the Democratic Party has the great advantage of a liberal background and record. In the past it has never failed to be hospitable to new ideas."

"The first issue to be decided is what elements will control the Democratic Party, because it must be admitted that the party is not united and that it is composed of a number of conflicting elements and interests. This was clearly indicated at the recent Chicago convention.

"With some of the elements and forces in the party, I am completely out of sympathy, not for personal reasons, but because I believe that they are inimicable to the best interests of the country.

"In my opinion the Democratic Party must purge itself of these interests if it is to serve the Nation in this crisis."

"We should stop talking about the forgotten man and about class distinctions. . . . The forgotten man is a myth and the sooner he disappears from the campaign the better it will be for the country."

"In the course of the long period which will undoubtedly elapse before the 18th Amendment is repealed or modified and in the face of the urgent need of new and fairer sources of taxation, the President still insists on kicking away the hundreds of millions of dollars which could easily be raised by a tax on beer and wine."

"Having discovered that they cannot win in a fair fight, the drys are now ready to adopt cautious tactics to obtain a draw. From now on, we shall undoubtedly see a sham battle over the kind of repeal or modification amendment which is to be submitted to conventions in the several states."

"If the fight keeps on long enough and the wets gain in representation there will be a serious drive for cutting out all enforcement money in the budget . . . in the end the 18th Amendment will be as dead as the 15th so far as enforcement is concerned."

"The important thing for the voter to keep in mind . . . is that he must apply the acid wet and dry test to every Congressman and every Senator who is running for re-election this fall."

SAILOR RESCUES THREE WHEN LIFEBOAT FAILS

Epic of Sea Told When Survivors of Freighter Are Landed — Hero Swims Through Surf.

Seattle, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The heroism of a 22 year old seaman who swam through a boiling surf which a lifeboat could not negotiate to rescue the three survivors of a crew of 37 of the freighter Nevada from a lonely Aleutian island, was told today in the official report of Captain E. J. Healy, commander of the rescue liner President Madison.

When boats of the Madison were kept from shore by the surf, E. J. Blomberg, youthful able seaman, plunged into the water with a small line and swam to the rocks, where he hauled in a large line on which marooned men were rescued. The entire crew of the President Madison volunteered to man the two small boats sent out in gale-driven seas when the liner arrived alongside the Japanese freighter Oregon Maru at the scene of the tragedy in the north Pacific.

Three Sailors Hurt

Three seamen were injured when one of the lifeboats from the Oregon Maru capsized in the storm while trying to reach the Nevada.

E. J. Stull, third officer of the Madison, was placed in charge of the rescue party.

The lowering of the boats was perfect and also was their approach to the beach. The President Madison, at that time was about a mile and a half from the shore line, from which point all operations could be closely observed. When the rescue party approached the beach, the surf was breaking so high they could not land a boat.

"The landing was then anchored, and the lifeboats were pulled up the beach and the surf and Mr. Blomberg, able seaman of the President Madison, age 22, took a small line and swam to the rocks. He thus

CABINET MEMBERS GIVE UP SEATS

Retiring British Ministers Deliver Badges of Office To King During Ceremony

London, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The three principal retiring cabinet members who resigned last Wednesday over a disagreement on the protective tariff policy of the Ottawa conference, delivered their seals of office to the King at Buckingham Palace today.

The leave-taking of the three veterans, Lord Snowden, Sir Herbert Samuel and Sir Archibald Sinclair, was the occasion for a brief ceremony in the State apartments.

Their successors, Stanley Baldwin, Sir John Gilmour and Sir Godfrey Collins were handed the seals by His Majesty in the Privy Council session which followed.

One of the spectators who watched the coming and going of the ministers with interest in the throng outside the palace gathered for the daily ceremony of changing the guard, was Crown Prince Michael of Romania. He was accompanied by his mother, Princess Helen, and his sons, Prince George and Prince Nicholas. The King's Guard was also present.

The ceremony of the seal taking by the King, Lord Snowden, Sir Herbert Samuel and Sir Archibald Sinclair, was the occasion for a brief ceremony in the State apartments.

RESULTS!

Had's special sale of 500 bundles of points exceeded the expectations of the Red Gove management this morning with the stock sold out at 10 o'clock. A large line of customers were waiting a new supply at 11 o'clock. The sale is expected to exceed 500 bundles for the day. The potatoes were first quality Green Mountains from Wapping and were on sale at 89 cents per bushel.

Had's are not being guaranteed after 11 o'clock noon. This is one of the largest ever held here in the history of the business.

The Candidates

Victor E. N. Houston, Republican candidate for re-election as a Congressional delegate, was attacked by Lincoln L. McCandless, Democratic candidate for re-nomination to Governor Lawrence H. Judd that he punishes the general convicted of manslaughter, for slaying Joseph Kahanavich, an alleged attacker of Mrs. Maudie. The governor committed their sentences of 10 years imprisonment to one hour.

Houston had obtained Congress certainly would have taken away from him from the fact that the candidates had been freed. McCandless charged the Republican was taking a bribe.

Says "Forgotten Man" Is Myth, in Article in Which He Endorses Democratic Ticket—Asks What Party Will Do With Victory, Urges Voters To Apply Acid Wet and Dry Test To Every Senate and Representative Candidate Running This Fall.

New York, Oct. 1.—Alfred E. Smith's first contribution to The New Outlook, on sale today, contains an attack upon what has come to be regarded as a vital part of Governor Roosevelt's campaign—his appeal to and for the Forgotten Man.

Nowhere in the article did Mr. Smith mention by name his successful rival for the Democratic nomination. He reiterated, however, his endorsement of the party and its ticket, and predicted victory in November.

"We should stop talking about the forgotten man and about class distinctions," wrote Mr. Smith. "There is no other country in the world where individual initiative counts for so much, where opportunities are so great and where class distinction is so unimportant. In no other country is there so little evidence of economic class hatred, so little encouragement to the Communist, the Fascist or the Junker, and such responsible, far-sighted and loyal leadership of labor."

All Are in Trouble

"Just now all our people are in trouble. The old rich are the poorest. What is the matter with us today is the matter with every effort of all good citizens of what ever class or creed to fight our way out of the bog of depression to the solid ground of good American enterprise and prosperity.

"The forgotten man is a myth and the sooner he disappears from the campaign the better it will be for the country."

While Mr. Smith withheld specific approval of Governor Roosevelt, he attacked President Hoover vigorously for neglecting his opportunity to make full and immediate use of the $500,000,000 appropriation for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as a "self-starter" for business recovery. He said also that the President, although admitting that Federal prohibition was unconstitutional favored retention in the Constitution of the theory of Federal control.

Prohibition Dead

The former governor warned also that the Eighteenth Amendment might be rescinded as dead as the Fifteenth by the refusal of one House of Congress to appropriate funds for enforcement and urged voters to "apply the acid wet and dry test" to every Representative and Senator who submits himself to the electorate this fall.

"The President, after all," he wrote, "can only suggest constitutional amendments. It is the Congress which decides."

Whatever his personal evaluation of Mr. Roosevelt might be, Mr. Smith declared that in his opinion "the best interests of the country" would be served by the success of the Democratic Party and the election of its ticket. "The Democratic Party," he asserted, "offers the greatest opportunity for the success of the country in its ability to meet it."

Party's Post-Election Course

With the campaign over and the victory assured to the party which standard he bore in 1928, Mr. Smith said that the "real question is what will the Democratic Party do with its victory?" The first issue to be settled, he said, is that of the conflicting elements which made themselves heard and seen at the Chicago convention in the control of the party's destiny. In this connection the article continued:

"With some of the elements and forces in the party, I am completely out of sympathy, not for personal reasons, but because I believe that they are inimicable to the best interests of the country. In my opinion the Democratic Party must purge itself of these interests if it is to serve the Nation in this crisis."

Business Improvement

Discussing the return of prosperity, Mr. Smith said there were no conditions that predicted a boom in business and industry. He said: "Business is not only in a state of depression, but is being held back by the fact that the government is not doing enough to help it."

WHO'S WHO IN MANCHESTER AND VICINITY

INTRODUCING THE LIVE PROGRESSIVE FIRMS AND PEOPLE THAT MAKE UP THE INTERESTS OF MANCHESTER AND VICINITY.

BY WILLIAM AND LUCILLE WOODS. EXCLUSIVE STAFF SPECIAL FEATURE WRITERS.

THEY "FAVE THE WAY"

The Manchester Sand and Gravel Company with plants at Buckland and on Charter Oak street, do indeed, pave the way. As we go along about our daily tasks we give little or no thought to the important part that sand and gravel plays in our lives. Old Mother Nature has put the rough elements in this old world of ours, but she insists that we "dig in" and get them out for ourselves. The Manchester Sand and Gravel Company, have been "digging in" for years, and today have dug a niche for themselves that holds them firmly at the top of their line of endeavor in this entire locality. This firm supplies sand, gravel, rock, loam, cinders and filling to contractors throughout this section. This business is owned and operated by Wm. J. Thornton. He started this business 12 years ago and has, through hard work and constant attention to details reached the top of the success ladder. Mr. Thornton is also engaged in excavation and trucking. William J. Thornton drew his first breath right in Manchester and has been associated with this type of business for over 20 years. He was formerly connected with The Hartford Sand & Stone Co., and was employed by the Connecticut State Highway Department for six years. Baseball is where he shines in sport. Here's a man who had the courage of his convictions, went into a new business "on his own" and has won because he had "what it takes" to get there. Phone 5245 or 6175 and ask—How many cubic yards of sand and gravel does this firm produce annually?

ALWAYS ON THE GO

One lesson the world has taught us is to "keep moving" and now we will tell you about a man who has become successful because he has always kept moving. This man is R. D. Wilson, 147 Parker street, Manchester Green, and is one person in this locality whose entire success depends upon the fact that he intends to keep moving. Mr. Wilson operates a fleet of three trucks that he makes special long distance trips at any time to suit his patrons. He is equipped with both local and long distance vans which will move you across the street or move you across the continent, and he'll do it with a minimum of bother on your part and at surprisingly low cost. His experience in properly loading his trucks, his expert knowledge of how to pack fragile articles will save you a great deal of loss by breakage and other damages that are incurred by those who do not thoroughly understand this business. R. D. Wilson was born in the land of the Shamrock, Ireland to you, but has lived in these United States for 23 years. He has been associated with the moving and transfer business for 26 years and has operated his own business for the past ten years. He is one man who knows it is better to work for yourself than to have to cater to the peculiar whims of a "boss." He has had vision, far-sightedness and has made good because he knew he could do it. Phone 7831 and ask—What is the fastest distance to which he has transferred goods during this past year?

CLEANLINESS HIS HOBBY

There may be larger markets in the town than this one but we venture to say that there is none which sells better groceries or meats. This is the Hollywood Market, 381 E. Center street, which serves the people of this vicinity with the very best in food stuffs. You will always be sure of getting a little better service at this store than you are expecting. Cleanliness is obvious everywhere and your attention is invited. The manager, C. J. Woodhouse, who has been in this business for many years, is correct in his opinion that his customers are entitled to the best. Mr. Woodhouse insists on selling nothing but government inspected meats. This always insures the buyer of the highest class and the best quality. Prompt service, extreme sanitary conditions, pleasing personality towards the patrons and the excellence of the provisions are the essentials that go to the making of this successful business. We wish this market all the good fortune obtainable for the store as well as Mr. Woodhouse are of sterling character. C. J. Woodhouse is a native of this town and after being graduated from the Huntington Business School of Hartford, he was employed as a bookkeeper at a Hartford firm. Fishing is where he shines in sport. Mr. Woodhouse is friendly and cheerful to all who come into his store and is well liked by all who know him. Phone 4233 and ask—How long has he been in the grocery and meat business?

Tuesdays Spotlight Shows That:

There are approximately a quarter of a million evergreens planted at the C. R. Burr and Company nurseries of 119 Oakland street.

Michael A. Orsattelli of the Royal Ice Cream Company, 27 Warren street, has been associated with the ice cream business for 26 years.

Otto F. Viertel of the Blue Ribbon Bakery, Cottage street, has been associated with the bakery business for 24 years.

Jacob H. Greenberg has been proprietor of the Greenberg Dryers and Cleaners, 28 Oak street, for 5 years.

Hudson W. Hollister of 286 Woodland street has operated his own heavy hauling business for 8 years.

Potterson & Krahn, Radio and Electrical Company, of Depot Square, charge only $1.00 for a radio service call which includes testing all tubes, checking voltages and making any required minor adjustments or repairs.

Adding to the cross currents of unrest was the candidacy of three officials whose powers were lessened by legislative action as an outgrowth of the Meams case and other serious ones. They are Patrick Gleason, sheriff; John L. Foran, warden of the penitentiary; and James Gilliland, Honolulu city attorney.

The Legislature severed Gleason's connection with the city Police Department. Laws regarding Gilliland's office was abolished, effective January 1, 1932.

Gleason is seeking re-nomination, Lane aspires to a legislative seat and Gilliland is a candidate for mayor of Honolulu. All three are Republicans.

Among candidates are 10 citizens of Japanese ancestry, five seeking legislative seats and five places on the Honolulu Board of Supervisors.

ABOUT TOWN

The new voting machines have been uncrated and placed in position in the Municipal building lobby ready for the town meeting Monday morning.

Joseph Charlier, tax collector in the eighth school and Utilities District, today began collection of taxes on the grand list of $7,415,000, to realize a sum of $7,415,000 on a one mill tax. With school collection the district no longer collects the school tax and the money collected from taxes this year will be used for utilities and the playground. The grand list this year is practically the same as that of 1931.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burr of two street have returned from a two weeks automobile trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trueman and son, Sherrywood, of McKee street, are visiting friends in Boston over the week-end.

The social dancing classes at the Y. M. C. A. will begin Monday, with a class for boys and girls of the seventh and eighth grades from 2 to 5 o'clock in the gymnasium. The other classes will be held similarly to last year, with a class for boys and girls of the third and fourth grades on Thursday at 3:30 o'clock and for the boys and girls of the fifth and sixth grades at 4:30 o'clock the same day. A very small charge is made.

The Manchester Soccer Club will go to Hartford tomorrow to play the Portuguese Soccer Club of that city. Members will meet at the School street Rec at 7:30 o'clock. All persons able to furnish transportation and desire to go are asked to gather at the Rec or get in touch with Frank Buch at the Rec today.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Christian Rules Of Life

Text: Mat. 6:5-15; 2 Tim. 3:14-16. The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 2.

BY WM. E. GIBROY, D. D. Editor of The Congregationalist

From our studies in the Old Testament during the past two quarters, we turn now to the New Testament to consider in a series of lessons the Christian standards of life.

At the root of the Christian life is the idea of devotion; that is, an attitude of faith and worship toward God, manifested in an attitude of love and devotion to man.

Our thought upon the Christian's devotional life is centered in the words of Jesus in which he describes the true nature of prayer. It is not a matter of outward form and profession, or of ritual observance; it is a matter, rather, of the spirit and of the heart.

So much has been written concerning the Lord's Prayer that any word of interpretation could add little to its exposition. One might point out in the prayer the two-fold devotional aspect in the relationship of the one who prays toward God and toward his fellow men.

This seems so simple that it is amazing that anyone should not have perceived it; yet, it is the doing in his earthly teaching of his disciples, and one of the most difficult things that the Church has had to accomplish in the later centuries of the Christian movement.

From these vital words of Jesus we turn in our lesson to the words of a man who perhaps above all others manifested in his practical life the devotional spirit of the Master. Paul is writing to the young man, Timothy, whom he considered his son in the faith.

Ahmedabad, India, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi was understood today to have informed his followers here he would resume his "fast to the death" if, after six months, the caste distinction of untouchability has not been removed from the opposed classes.

The Possibilities Of Growth

BY GEORGE HENRY DOLE International Sunday School Lesson Text, Oct. 2nd.

"Grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ."—2 Peter, 3:18.

The most marvelous of all things that constitute the Divine Human of God. Second, man is created in the image and likeness of God. Third, man has no life in himself, but he is a receptacle of life.

Why throughout Scripture were angels seen clothed with light, glory and holiness that mortal eyes could not look upon? Why was the angel seen by John like unto the Son of God, like the Lord when upon the mount of the glorification?

EMANUEL LUTHERAN

Knut E. Erickson, Pastor

Tomorrow will be Family Reunion Sunday at Emanuel. We are hoping to see all our families present. We are also expecting to have many saved ones who live elsewhere with us and their families at the service tomorrow morning. There will be special music and an appropriate message. A most cordial welcome is extended to all who care to worship with us.

There will be a welcome for all.

The Confirmation class was organized last Saturday morning and includes the following young people: Doris Anderson, Ernest Anderson, Astrid Benson, Louise Berggren, Marion Erickson, Martin Grynhammer, Sylvia Grynhammer, Carl Hultman, Richard Hultman, Arthur Johnson, John Johnson, Vera Johnson, Ernest Larson, Helen Mattson, Everett Patten, Earl Rudin, Viola Thoren, Constance Wennerstrom.

Arrangements have just been completed for the installation of the new pastor, Rev. Knut Erickson, which will be held Tuesday evening, October 18th. Dr. S. G. Haglund, president of the New England Conference will be in charge of the service, being assisted by the pastors of the Hartford District. There will be special services on Wednesday evening of the same week, when visiting pastors will preach.

We had just about a perfect attendance at the meeting last Thursday evening of the Class Secretaries in preparation for the Confirmation reunion to be held November 6th, and a lively interest was manifested.

The Junior Mission Band meets this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mothers are urged to send their boys and girls. Miss Esther Johnson will be in charge.

The Luther League will meet on Friday evening at 7:30. We will have as our guests the young people of the Meriden congregation, who will also furnish the program.

On Wednesday evening the Dorcas Society will celebrate their Twenty-fifth Anniversary by a "Birthday Party" at the home of Mrs. T. G. O'Connell, to which all former members have also been invited. At this time a special effort will also be launched for new members. A cordial welcome is extended to all the young women of our church to join us.

Other announcements for the week are: Beethoven Glee Club, Monday at 7:30 p. m. G. C. Glee Club, Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. Boy Scouts, Wednesday at 7:15 p. m. Women's Missionary Society, Friday at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. and Mrs. Berlin are booked to return after spending only four days in Paris and two in London.

BOMB ENDS DANCE

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Dance of the Junior Cantabrigians, exclusive Cambridge women's social organization, came to a sudden and painful end today when an unidentified person dropped a tea-gas bomb on the dancing floor.

More than 100 couples, members of the orchestra and a score of patronesses rushed from the clubhouse as the gas clouds filtered through the rooms.

Firemen alerted out the building suddenly for the couples to return for their wraps. Dancing was called off.

RISK DEATH FOR NOTHING.

Lunenburg, N. S., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Lunenburg's famous deep-sea fishermen counted the results of their spring and summer trips to the banks and shook their heads rather disconsolately as they multiplied the figures by present market prices. Some of the men had risked death for nothing. Others had operated at a loss.

Today the fishermen were wondering whether or not it would be worth their while to send out the fleet for the "winter trip" in the face of present low prices. Four of the vessels were outgunning, however, and it was thought that at least half a dozen would put to sea.

FLOODS IN TEXAS.

Rio Grande City, Tex., Oct. 1.—(AP)—For the second time in a month, lowland dwellers along the Rio Grande have been driven from their homes by a flood. Seven drowned were reported from the Mexican side of the river.

INTEREST IN ELECTION CENTERS ON DEMOCRATS

Contest For Member of Board of Education Is the First in a Number of Years.

The annual town meeting and election will be held Monday in the Town Hall. Polls will be open from 5:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. In the evening at 8 o'clock the business meeting of the town will be held.

The chief interest in the election is in the choice of a Democratic member of the Board of Selectmen and of the school committee.

There will be a contest on the Board of Education, the first time in several years. There are four candidates and three will be chosen. Sherwood C. Cummings and Miss Marion Butler, Republican, whose terms expire this year are seeking reelection. Arthur T. Bissell, a Democratic member of the board, whose term also expires, is also a candidate for reelection. The fourth candidate is Dr. T. F. O'Loughlin, Democrat.

Fonitrymen To Tour On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week more than 100 poultrymen of Plymouth County, Mass., will visit Tolland County on a tour of poultry farms of eastern Connecticut. Agent Walter T. Clark of the New London County Farm Bureau will meet the Massachusetts poultrymen at Westerly at 2 p. m. on Tuesday. They will leave Berlin, Mass. several hours earlier. The party will go to the submarine base at Groton for an inspection trip and will spend Tuesday night at the Mohican hotel, New London. The following day they will visit farms in Norwichtown and Mansfield and the poultry plant at the Connecticut Agricultural College at Storrs; also the Belle Poultry Farm at Ballouville and the Lowrey Farm in Willimantic. About twenty-five automobiles will be used for transportation.

REX STILL DELAYED

Gibraltar, October 1.—(AP)—The time of departure of the new Italian liner Rex which was delayed here two days on its maiden voyage to New York was still unknown shortly after noon today and the passengers were showing increased discontent.

Some of them left the ship this morning to sail aboard the Vulcania for New York.

Agents said the Rex probably would sail this afternoon but there also were reports that the repairs would require a few more days.

Furnace Master James H. Walker of New York said he was still uncertain about his plans.

LEAGUE ASKS CUTS OF TOP. C. IN BUDGET

Taxpayers' Group Would Slash Selectmen's Figures On All Items.

The promise of an interesting town meeting was indicated by the tenor of the members of the Taxpayers' League last night during the special meeting to consider the annual town budget proposed by the Board of Selectmen.

Every item in the town budget as prepared by the Selectmen which is not fixed by statute was suggested for cuts and in one instance, the appropriation for park tree warden and spraying calling for $9,500 for the ensuing year was asked to be eliminated altogether. CHILD LABOR

It is to be hoped that President Hoover, in his Des Moines address next week or on some other equally formal and conspicuous occasion, will amplify at some length one thought that he touched on effectively but briefly in his radio address to the Women's Conference at New York Thursday evening—the elimination of child labor.

Mr. Hoover has dealt with no subject more appealing to the people of the country than this one of taking children out of industrial employment. Heretofore this factor of child labor has been largely a social question, and even in that capacity it has aroused the interest of millions of men and women. Now it has become also an economic question, for there are far more adults waiting opportunity to do the world's labor than there are opportunities. The employment of children in industry never before had so little to present by way of excuse.

This is a subject on which Governor Roosevelt is not likely to express himself at all, certainly not with enthusiasm. His greatest political strength lies in states where child labor is exploited more ruthlessly than anywhere else in the country. The Democratic candidate can hardly be expected to put himself in a position where, some day, he might be called on to approve of national legislation aimed at the exploitation of baby operatives in the cotton mills of the Carolinas and Georgia.

Mr. Hoover is less cautious. He is earnestly and deeply concerned with the future of the American child. He has also enough economic vision to see that child labor is standing in the way, right now, today, of the employment of a great many adults.

The more the President says on this subject the better. Its importance has been insufficiently recognized in this campaign. It is properly a political subject, since "there is no human relationship that is not legitimately a matter of politics."

USELESS, COSTLY

The town of Westport, this state, is up against the same problem, with relation to the town election Monday, that Manchester faced in the matter of the recent Republican primary—more candidates than there are pointers on the voting machines hitherto in use. The town has been compelled to rent four machines for Monday's election because there are 31 candidates and only thirty pointers on the machines now owned by the community.

This involves an item of expense of some $700, the company manufacturing the machines charging $190 each for rental in addition to the express charges. And it all comes about because nobody in authority felt legally justified in adopting a suggestion of the town clerk that the item of grand jurors be dropped from the list of candidates.

Time was, not so many years ago, when every Connecticut town elected, along with the active municipal officers, quite an array of wholly honorary officers including, if memory serves, a public weigher and a "hog hayward"—heritages from ancient days. Somehow we got rid of some of these, but the grand juror still persists in a good many towns with organized courts—as useful as a second tail on a cow.

Perhaps the ballot would stand a little more shortening up, here and you.

SCALING DEBTS

One of the things that are, it appears, very difficult for the average person to comprehend is that the most serious effect of a period of deflation is that it sets up in every direction a great burden of debt which requires a great deal more of commodity wealth to discharge than it would have taken at the time the debts were contracted; so much more that the whole debtor class is hopelessly involved and has no escape except through bankruptcy, a compromise of the indebtedness or some artificially promoted system of currency inflation which will restore values to the point they occupied at the time of the creation of the debts.

The bankruptcy method is abhorrent to the debtor because, while it frees him of his obligations it strips him of his property, leaves him naked, so to speak, to the world's winds. He will resist it, en masse, to the last breath.

For two generations the nation has been so sedulously taught the virtues of a "superior" currency that even the huge debtor class sees in desperate panic from any suggestion of a compensatory inflation of money, though it might mean their salvation—and those who can see the possible benefits of departure from the gold standard do not dare propose it.

This leaves the alternative of a compromise of debts. And on this question Senator Borah is the only notable figure who has expressed himself. It is his contention that the insurance companies, which hold $1,700,000 of farm mortgages, could devote a single year's reserves to the reduction of these mortgages by two-thirds. It has been explained that such a proceeding would cut the gross income of the companies only 2 per cent. and yet would restore a large part of the agricultural population to a position of solvency.

Since it is extremely unlikely that the insurance companies will signal themselves out to be the only creditor group engaged in this kind of helpfulness, perhaps the greatest usefulness of Senator Borah's proposal lies in opening up a field of thought.

If it lies within the power of a single creditor element to lighten the burden of a considerable part of the distressed population does it not follow that it is within the power of the creditor groups, as a whole, to lighten the burden of the entire debtor class by this same method of scaling debts? The debts themselves are inflated exactly in proportion as general and commodity values have been deflated; for which reason it is a debatable question whether they are any longer, in their entirety, just debts.

It is difficult to conceive of any more complicated, puzzling job than working out a theoretical system for the general scaling down of debt by any other means than by currency inflation, which does the trick automatically—Germany, it will be remembered stripped her creditors and her creditor classes to the hide by her wholesale post-war inflation, and did it intentionally. But just the same we might be getting somewhere if we were to grasp the fact that, somehow or other, by some process or other, the vast country-wide burden of inflated debt must be scaled till it represents somewhere near its original weight, unless we are to go through wholesale liquidation. We might then become convinced that scaling would be better even for the creditor than well nigh universal bankruptcy. And, having progressed that far, it might not be so difficult as it seems to evolve some method of making the scaling uniform and general. You never know what you can do till you try.

IN BAD FORM
 Harris Whittemore, Jr., of Naugatuck, has resigned from the American Legion as a magnificent gesture of protest against the action of the Legion's national convention in demanding the immediate payment of the bonus. We don't think so much of it.

In the first place, the Connecticut Department of the Legion voted against the Portland resolution, which in itself should have served to give the Naugatuck veteran pause. In the second place Mr. Whittemore is the son of a very rich man and his lines have fallen in extremely easy places. It is hardly up to people in his way of life, who know absolutely nothing about the problems of the penniless family man out of a job, to sit in judgment on their less luckily placed comrades.

IN NEW YORK

A Fireman Cleans Up
 New York, Oct. 1—The vacuum cleaner, now being applied so industriously to Broadway's eyesores and midway intrusions, is being guided by—of all people—a gent removed but a few years from Portland, Ore.

It is a somewhat monotonous refrain of the big town that the achievers and the doers are folk transplanted from the hinterlands. Still, one might expect the fellow who tries to save Broadway from itself and return it to its old traditions, to be a man of the show-world; a Cohoesque figure who takes his sun baths in the bright lights; a sentimentalist out of yesteryear.

Instead, the chieftain of the Broadway Association, which has ribbed the Manhattan police into clean-up action, turns out to be John Gratie, erstwhile newspaperman and print-shop operator of Astoria, Ore., who wound up in Portland.

The story goes like this: Gratie has a talented daughter. She is a musician. Feeling that New York gave better opportunities for continuing a musical education and starting on a career, the Gratie family picked up and moved.

Out in the northwest, Gratie had made something of a reputation in Rotary Club circles as an organizer. Shortly after he came to Gotham, he decided to visit the local Rotary luncheon. There he met men who were trying to organize a Broadway Association. He volunteered to help.

And that was that—from Rotary Club to the "wisest" street in the world. Or so they'd have you believe!

The Mayor Joins In
 Gratie, a most-un-Broadway-ese personality, presents the changes that have been turning Broadway into a cheap Coney Island. As a gent from "the sticks," he had built illusions about the big street—illusions of glamor and tradition.

Recently, as representative of the Broadway Association, he furnished the police with a list of "nuisances" ranging from indecent picture displays to unsightly parades of tawdry sandwich men; from gyp-joint steers to ugly auction sale signs.

So, if your Broadway snaps up a bit and looks its old self one of these days—credit a visiting fireman from the northwest.

Meanwhile, the sudden demise of the burlesque houses from a rap over the head delivered by Acting Mayor McKee is likely to lead to court action. For the Minny, who introduced the current burlesque vogues, have money and will fight back.

It needed no night stick to lay low the old-time burlesque, however. This had died when the first stripper pranced on the stage and began to take off her apparel. The stripper, in fact, because the big drawing card. Few of the men who packed the theaters came to see the show. They yawned until the "strip" acts came on.

Old School Dead
 Old-school burlesque was one of the theater's most important training schools. Fannie Brice was a graduate; so was Sophie Tucker. Polly Moran, Blossom Seeley, Vinnie Henshaw, May Howard, Ethel Shutta, who became a Zigfield star and is now Mrs. George Olsen; Charlie Hoy, Webster and Fields, and a vast number of others.

But this form of burlesque has been dead as a last week's column. If burlesque is to get a new break, it will have to reform.

SHEET THE CAMPAIGNS

While Congress is at work on the job of shifting the date for beginning its own terms from March 4 to January 1, it might go a step further and submit to the country a drastic change in the date of electing Presidents. Under the present arrangements the constant headlining of political campaign matters and the intrusion of political arguments, seriously, interferes every four years with the proper concentration of public attention on the World Series baseball games. To be sure there might be found some difficulty in finding an election date that would not clash with an Olympic or with the football season or a major prize fight, but the harm done would probably be less than in permitting the shadow of a Hoover or a Roosevelt to come intermittently between an adoring nation and its Babe Ruth.

KEEPING BABY'S BED DRY

Babies by living on an exclusive milk diet receive such an enormous quantity of liquid that the bladder is really overworked all the time. Every time the bladder fills up to any extent, the baby will urinate in order to relieve the pressure. Some infants learn to control this after a few months, but a lack of control cannot be considered really abnormal before the second year.

As the child grows older it will learn to avoid wetting its clothes during the daytime because of the scorn it receives from its companions and from its parents, but the bed-wetting often continues for a much longer period. The bed-wetting is often exceedingly exasperating to the child, and criticism does not usually accomplish much in discouraging the child to overcome this disorder helps better than punishment.

The three principal causes of bed-wetting are: First, an over-distention of the bladder from drinking too many fluids during the latter part of the day and before retiring; chronic or acute bladder inflammation; third, lack of subconscious mental control.

Usually, after the child changes from the milk to solid food, it is a good plan for these children to avoid liquids after three or four o'clock in the afternoon. Children fed on improper food combinations may develop a chronic inflammation of the bladder. This can usually be corrected by a few days exclusively on acid fruit, followed by a diet of the right food combinations. Where present, these two conditions are present, the habit can sometimes be stopped by making mental suggestions to the child while it is awake.

It is a good plan to offer some little reward to the child if it has a dry bed in the morning. For example, take him to a picture show or to a picnic in the park if the bed is dry every night during the week.

The bed-wetting often takes place at night because the child actually dreams that he is going to the toilet, and usually the child is very embarrassed upon awakening to find the bed wet. This is most apt to occur on cold nights.

If the child is a sound sleeper, good suggestions may sometimes be given to him when asleep. After the child is asleep, the mother may sit at the side of the bed and talk to her child in this manner: "When you wake up in the morning, your bed will be perfectly dry," or "Mother will be so pleased to find the bed perfectly dry in the morning." Use the word "dry" over and over again, but in giving this mental treatment, never at any time use the word "wet." This treatment may seem too simple to be true, but I urge you to try it for a few times, as children are very sensitive to positive suggestions.

There is abundant evidence to believe that, when a person is asleep, the mind can be educated and instructed by someone giving instructions and suggestion in a low tone of voice. With children, this method of giving suggestions is especially valuable, as their minds are more elastic. When the mind receives suggestions during sleep, there is very little resistance to the ideas given, and they continue to assert their effect when the child is awake but without any conscious remembrance of the suggestions given.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

BOTH SIDES GIRD FOR BATTLE OVER BONUS WHEN CONGRESS MEETS AGAIN

Washington.—A hot and bitter battle will be fought here this winter over the demand for cashing of the soldiers' bonus certificates.

On the one side will be the veterans, their organizations now solidly behind the proposal, worked up to a new pitch of grim determination to get that two-billion-and-more dollars.

On the other side will be the most formidable opposition ever encountered by a piece of veterans' legislation.

In between will be Congress, ordinarily spinless in the face of veteran demands: No one can tell what conditions will be like next winter or how effectively the pro-bonus and anti-bonus forces will organize in the meantime, but it is a good guess that the veterans will not be able to achieve their demand by persuading both houses to pass the measure over a presidential veto.

The cash bonus bill passed the House at the last session and failed in the Senate, so it didn't even reach the White House, where President Hoover stood ready to veto it.

Then the bill didn't have the support of the American Legion, which has now voted overwhelmingly for it. Nor was the distress of unemployed veterans so acute as it may be this winter. That distress has been the main factor behind the increasing pressure to cash certificates which are not payable until 1945.

On the other hand, this Congress in its second session will not be facing a season of primary and election campaigns. It will be a lame duck session, full of defeated members who will have, for the time being at least, little to lose by voting their convictions and perhaps something to gain by falling in line behind President Hoover in his opposition.

It is not unlikely that this time the anti-bonus group will be able to exert political pressure of its own. Furthermore, in view of unemployment matters, many veterans will object more strenuously than ever to seeing their bonus certificates at the expense of the rest of the population.

Political interests, however, are centered on whether Governor Roosevelt would take any particular position on the bonus before election. In advance of any statement by Roosevelt, the best guess is that he will be prepared to leave the issue, although it was believed that he would surely veto such a bill if he were president.

The National Economy League, meanwhile, is getting an increasing amount of publicity and support due to the anti-bonus movement. Founded originally by Archfield Blewett and Greenfield Clark, two veterans, it has grown rapidly and is established in nearly all states: its aim of obtaining reduction of government expenses.

It announced as its first objective "the elimination of the great annual expenditures, now amounting to more than $450,000,000 annually, for those veterans of the Spanish-American and World Wars who suffered no disability in war service."

The league is making the most of the facts and figures of Veterans' legislation, pointing out that the country has already spent some $1,000,000,000 for World War veterans and at the present rate, which is likely to be stepped up, will have spent more than $1 billion by 1945.

A joint Congressional committee has been named to study the whole structure of veteran legislation and will report at the next session. It will be getting busy soon after election.

PLAN TO REVIVE GALSWORTHY PLAY

Joseph Schilkraut To Play Leading Role in "Loyalties" With Le Gallienne.

New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—John Galsworthy's best known play "Loyalties," seems to have become a favorite revival since it was first presented ten years ago.

When the play was first done in 1918, Ernest Milton and Cathleen Nesbit originated these parts. The play was last revived on Broadway in 1926.

Law Leslie, an energetic and experimental producer, has had one of the most varied careers on Broadway. He has produced a score of distinguished musicals, some of them successful and some of them disastrous financial failures.

Score In Last Seconds Beats Middletown, 13-6

Visitors Tie Count, Locals Put Over Winning Touchdown, All In 47 Seconds; Sendrowski's Pass Decides Game; Fraser Stars.

Manchester High opened its Central Connecticut Interscholastic League football campaign with a last-minute 13 to 6 victory over a plucky Middletown outfit that came within a few seconds of earning a tie score. To be perfectly frank, the red and white striped Kellyettes were somewhat lucky to come through with a victory.

The game was played on the new gridiron at Mt. Nebo, the result of a last minute switch. The field was termed by veteran local football observers as the best that has ever been available in Manchester.

But to get back to the game itself, Manchester scored in the second quarter after Ray Berger had blocked a punt. Manchester couldn't gain this time but a little later the energetic Mozzer, brilliant local quarterback, broke through and not only forced a fumble but recovered as well. Still unsatisfied, he plunged over for a touchdown a few plays later.

Visitors in Limelight Manchester had the edge the first half but in the final two quarters the visitors were in the limelight most of the time through their determined aggressiveness plus some rather shabby plays by the home team, especially by Bobby Smith, local halfback, who just couldn't seem to do anything right.

Forward Pass Scores Then came the missed try for the extra point with was not blocked but went wide. Manchester seemed doomed to a tie game at this point but on the ensuing kick-off Chet Sendrowski made a twenty yard return and then on the next play heaved a long accurate forward pass to Al Judd who dashed the remaining distance for the score. Berger's try for the point from droppick was successful and the game ended.

The score by periods: Manchester 6 0 0 7-13 Middletown 0 0 0 6-6 Touchdowns: M. H. S., Amos, Judd; extra point: Berger (droppick). Referee: Wiggins; head linesman, Huband.

BATTING IMPROVES IN SENIOR LEAGUE

National Pitching Also Looks Up; O'Doul Leads Hitters With 366.

New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Batting in the National League showed a distinct improvement in 1932 over 1931, the final unofficial batting marks for the season which ended last week reveal. Pitching performances also looked up.

Frank (Lefty) O'Doul, of Brooklyn completed the season with a 366 average in 1931 a 348 mark gave Chick Hafey of St. Louis the lead by a fraction of a point. O'Doul also led in singles with 158.

The highest marks in the various slugging departments were 164 runs scored by Eddie Collins of Philadelphia, 226 hits by Klein and Bill Terry of New York; 68 doubles by Paul Waner of Pittsburgh, a new league record; 19 triples by Babe Herman of Cincinnati, 38 home runs by Klein and Mel Ott of New York 141 runs batted in by Don Hurst of Philadelphia.

After leading through most of the season Klein was tied or beaten at the end in everything but runs. Even his base stealing mark of 20 was tied by Tony Piet of Pittsburgh. Terry took second place among the leading "regulars" with a .349 average. Behind him came Klein, .346; Paul Waner .341; Hurst .340; Virgil Davis, Philadelphia, and Orant St. Louis .337; L. Waner, Pittsburgh .333; Traynor, Pittsburgh .330; and Herman, Cincinnati .325.

The Phillies lead in club batting at .292 and the Boston Braves in fielding with a .973 mark. In addition to Paul Waner's doubles only one record was broken although several minor marks were tied. Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn smashed a mark by hitting five homers as a pinch batsman.

Lonnie Warne of the Chicago Cubs led the moundmen with a record of 22 victories and six defeats for a 786 average, somewhat better than Paul Derringer's 18 and 8 marks of 1931. The St. Louis Cardinals' "freshman" pitcher, Jerome "Dizzy" Dean was the year's strike-out king, fanning 191 rivals.

HORSESHOE MATCH The Manchester Horsehoe Club will play a return match with the Pope Park team of Hartford in that city tomorrow afternoon. Members of the team are requested to meet at Horse Company No. 3 at 1 o'clock. The Pope Park team tied the locals last week.

JOB BEFORE MAN Cleveland.—A job is a lot more important than a husband, in the opinion of Mrs. Katarzyna Bijak. Recently her employer told her she would either have to give up her job or her husband. She elected to lose her husband and sued for divorce in Common Pleas Court. It was granted on the grounds of gross neglect of duty. There are three children in the family.

From July 14 to 17, 1911, 88.15 inches of rain fell at Baguio, in the Philippine Islands.

BREADON SEES HOPE FOR NIGHT PLAYING IN MAJOR LEAGUES

First Trial Interests Cardinal Manager in Possibilities; Has Met Fans' Approval.

St. Louis, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The first trial of floodlights at Sportman's Park before a crowd of 10,000 has left President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals "interested" in the possibilities of introducing night baseball into the major leagues.

Several defects in the portable lighting equipment of the House of David ball club manifested themselves during the game, but Breadon pointed out that these have been overcome in permanent installations.

"At Columbus, where we have the latest thing in floodlights," he said, "there is not a shadow or a dark spot. In some respects the visibility is greater than by daylight.

"The ball is highly illuminated by the lights, and really is more easily followed."

Breadon added that fans at Columbus and at Houston, Tex., where the Cardinals also have a farm, have shown their approval of night baseball by their attendance.

"At one game in Columbus this year," he continued, "we had 19,000 attendance. There were 10,000 here for the night exhibition, yet only about 400 the same afternoon for a regular championship game."

Breadon contended that many persons might have been attracted by the novelty of the first night game in the park, others by the picturesque opponents of the Cardinals, and still others by Grover Cleveland Alexander, former Cardinal hurler now manager of the bearded team.

Yet the Redbird magnate is convinced "a far greater number of persons are able and eager to attend ball games at night than is the case in daytime."

The introduction of an occasional night game into the league schedule, he thinks, "might not prove a bad idea."

Do You Remember? One Year Ago Today—The Athletics defeated the Cards in the first game of the world series, 6-2, before a crowd of 32,529, who paid $185,191 to enter Sportsman Park, St. Louis. Grove struck out seven Cards during the game.

RED MEN IN GRID DEBUT AT MT. NEBO TOMORROW

HOOKS AND SLIDES

It must not be much fun to fight this Max Siegfried Adolf Schmeling. He seems to be the kind of a guy who shoots for the eyes.

They called a halt on the German's assault of Mickey Walker in the ninth round when both of the only pair of eyes the Mick has left were closed. And my memory of the appearance of Jack Sharkey after going 15 rounds with the beetle-browed Dutchman is that one big shiny lump on Sharkey's face where an eye should have been.

Max attacked Stripling's eyes, too. In the last round of their stirring battle on the Cleveland lakefront, Double Yell was pawing blindly about the ring, trying to find the fellow to hit him.

Risiko suffered eye trouble after his bout with Schmeling and so did Paulino.

No Setups The "Braves" as the new Red Men A. C. will be known are up against a real team in the Williamannett A. C., as advance reports state that the Bay State team has lost but five games in their five years of battling on the gridiron, and have been tied only twice.

The Williamannett A. C. is composed of high school, prep school, college and professional stars and a heavy line. "Bunk" Tremblay, center of the Bay Staters, has received an offer to play with the Orange A. A. of Orange, N. J., and Walter Geoffrey, the Bay Staters' field general, is slated for Worcester Tech star, Diller, left end, formerly starred with the Frankford Yellow Jackets so it looks like the Braves will have their work cut out for them during the hour's struggle tomorrow afternoon.

Rogers Will Kick Just to start the season off in the right manner, Thomas J. Rogers, chairman of the Board of Selection, will boot the first ball from the field and then the real battle will be on.

It Happens to Many Greb was partly blinded by blows, but being one of the greatest fighters who ever lived, carried on and spent the last days of his life in the shadows. Pete Herman of New Orleans, former bantamweight champion, is almost totally blind.

Many cheap fighters resort to the trick of hitting an adversary on the head, and as the blow is struck, allowing the thumb of the glove to stick out straight and dig at one of the eyes. This is a variation of the gouging tactics frequently employed in the rough-and-tumble battles of the old days in the back rooms.

Schmeling, of course, is not that kind of a fighter. He is rough but he is a straight shooter.

ALEXANDER WINS AMERICAN LEAGUE CROWN IN BATTING

Foxx Collects Most Individual Records; Allen of Yanks Leads Hurlers; The Averages.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Big Dale Alexander of the Boston Red Sox, matched the 1932 batting championship of the American League from Jimmy Foxx, but the star first baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics, collected enough individual leadership to stamp him as the most valuable batsman in his organization.

Semiformal figures, which have been checked and doublechecked, give Alexander an average of .367 for 124 games, while Foxx amassed a mark of .364, in 154 contests. Foxx, however, batted in the most runs, scored the most runs, had the most home runs and the most total bases. His 58 homers left him just two short of Babe Ruth's major league record, but ahead of the mark of 54 for right hander swatters, set by Hack Wilson of the 1930 Chicago Cubs. He slugged in 169 runs, scored 151 himself, and his 213 hits were good for 438 bases.

Foxx' teammates, Al Simmons, who will be with the Chicago White Sox next season, led in hits with 116, while Heinie Manush of the Sox, right behind with 214. Eric McNair, the young Philadelphia infielder, won the two base hit crown with 46, while Joe Cronin of Washington, had 13 three base hits for a leadership. In stolen bases, Ben Chapman of the Yankees, repeated as champion with 37.

Alexander went to bat officially 392 times, made 144 hits, of which 27 were doubles, three were triples and eight were home runs. Ranking behind the new champion and Foxx were the following regulars: Gehrig, New York, .349; Manush, Washington, .343; Ruth, New York, .341; Cramer, Philadelphia, .336; Simmons, Philadelphia, .335; Walker, Detroit, .333; Rice, Washington, .331; Combs, New York; Cronin, Washington, and R. Ferrell, St. Louis, .319.

In team batting the Athletics repeated as leader with .290, four points better than the champion Yankees, however, led in scoring with 1,002 runs. Washington held hostiles to the lowest total in scoring, allowing 714 runs.

Washington shaded the Athletics in team fielding by the merest fraction of a point, .97988 to .97987. Detroit, St. Louis and New York were tied for 969. Cleveland had .968, Boston, .963, and the Chicago White Sox wound up eighth with .957. The Sox, however, led the league in double plays with 165, while St. Louis turned in the only triple play of the campaign.

Johnny Allen, the Yankee freshman, had the top percentage among the regular pitchers, winning 17 and losing four for a mark of .810. General Alvin Crowder, the veteran Washington right-hander, won the most games, 26, but lost 13, while Bob Grove won 25 and lost 10; Vernon Gomes won 24 and lost seven; Wes Ferrell of Cleveland, won 23 and lost 13, making the fourth straight year in which he has won 20 games or more, and Monte Weaver of Washington, won 22 against 16 defeats.

Charlie (Red) Ruffing of the Yankees, was the strike king, fanning 190 batsmen in 290 innings.

GREEN IN SERIES WITH THE PIRATES To Play For Much Battered Town Title; Doubleheader Tomorrow.

Ignoring the Aces claim for the low baseball championship which was won by the latter from the West Side team at the West Side grounds three weeks ago, the Pirates and Manchester Green teams will play for the mythical town title Sunday at Jarvis Grove.

Meet Willmansett A. C. In Seasons Opener At New Field; Large Crowd Expected To See Game.

The prospect of ideal football weather, an all-Manchester team and a brand new football field at Mt. Nebo is expected to bring out a record crowd tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock when the newly organized Red Men A. C., composed of many well-known local football stars faces the Williamannett (Mass.) A. C. in the first semi-professional game of the current season.

Coach Walter Harrison, adjudged by local players to be one of the best leaders of gridiron teams in this section, and who has led teams to victorious seasons in Middletown and Manchester, has collected practically the cream of footballers in these parts for the initial struggle of the season.

The "Braves" as the new Red Men A. C. will be known are up against a real team in the Williamannett A. C., as advance reports state that the Bay State team has lost but five games in their five years of battling on the gridiron, and have been tied only twice.

Team Undismayed By Two Defeats; Charley Root Expects To Stop Yanks; Pippas To Hurl For New York; Crowd Packs Wrigley Field.

Team Undismayed By Two Defeats; Charley Root Expects To Stop Yanks; Pippas To Hurl For New York; Crowd Packs Wrigley Field.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Like weary warriors new born at the feet of the homeland under their feet, the Chicago Cubs rose in their native haunts of Wrigley Field today to face a fresh onslaught of the New York Yankees, as the World Series, injected with new life and vigor, moved into its second phase.

Undismayed by two crushing defeats of their beloved warriors in the opening conflict in New York, the worshipping faithful of the Bruin clan rallied to an all but hopeless cause with spartan spirit. To add to the excitement Franklin D. Roosevelt and his presidential campaign party were scheduled to view the show.

All Seats Taken Every reserved seat in Wrigley Field was sold, throngs waited in line for the early morning sale of 13,500 bleacher seats and 3,500 standing room tickets and there was every indication that a crowd of fifty thousand loyal as only Chicago crowds can be, was the least to expect for the third battle of the championship series, first of three straight games here.

From every side came declarations of a Cub revival. The spearhead of that almost fantastic hope was the veteran side-arm fast-ball pitcher, Charlie Root, the nominee of Manager Charlie Grimm for the task of holding in check the bats of Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth, Bill Eichelberger and Lefty Gomez in the two New York engagements. Back in the glamorous days of the Yankee World Series battles of 1926, 1927 and 1928, Pippas won two post season battles and never has met defeat in World championship play.

Benefitted by an enforced day's rest as the two clubs sped westward aboard special trains to arrive amid cheering crowds early in the afternoon the Cubs were obviously heartened by the demonstration of loyalty and affection that awaited them here.

From Root, tight-lipped and determined, came assurance of relief from a problem that vexed the Cubs in both games and led directly to most of the Yankee's critical scoring.

"You can just bet," said Charlie, measuring each word, "that there'll be none of that 'too careful pitching' for our side in there tomorrow. They'll get no unnecessary bases on balls from me."

The probable lineup: Yankees Combs, cf; Sevali, 3b; Ruth, lf; Gehrig, 1b; Lazzeri, 2b; Dickey, c; Chapman, rf; Crossett, ss; Pippas, p.

World Series Notes Lou Gehrig is the only active member of the Yanks who has played in Wrigley Field. He played with against the Prep champions of Chicago 12 years ago and hit a home run with the bases full in the final game of the series.

Joe McCarthy planned to take to the coaching line for the first time during the series, a sort of home coming celebration. He spent many afternoons out there when he managed the Cubs.

Yankee outfielder for the Chicago and of the series. Ruth was listed in left field today, where there is not quite so much territory to patrol and the sun is not so troublesome. With two victories already in the sack, the Yanks were held at 1 to 10 to win the series. They were 7 to 5 at the opening of the series.

EASTERN FOOTBALL STARTS ITS SEASON

Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Other Outstanding Colleges Hold Openers Today

New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Old Guard of Eastern football moved into action for the 1932 season today.

The old "Big Three"—Yale, Harvard and Princeton—the service schools Army and Navy and a host of other outstanding colleges in the gridiron lists, among them Pennsylvania, Fordham, New York U., Carnegie Tech., West Virginia, Holy Cross and Georgetown had their official openings.

The handful of big colleges which started a week ago continued for the most part against typical early season opposition.

A pair of intercollegiate games for Army and Navy furnished a couple of the high spots with interest in their doing this season heightened by the fact that they have decided officially to resume relations after several years in which they have dealt with each other only in the interests of charity.

Princeton met Amherst, the only team the Tigers could beat last year. Yale and Harvard expected little trouble meeting respectively Bates and the University of Buffalo.

Colgate took on an intercollegiate opponent in playing its second game against Case of Cleveland.

Pennsylvania opened as usual against Franklin and Marshall; New York U. won against Little Hobart, Carnegie opened against Geneva and Georgetown took on Mt. St. Mary.

PRINCETON VS. AMHERST Princeton, N. J., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Princeton today unleashed its new model football team constructed of the same material but by a different method, against its regular opening game opponent, Amherst.

It was the Tiger's first game under the new coaching staff headed by "Fritz" Crisler.

Princeton defeated Amherst 27 to 0 last year for its only victory of the season.

DARTMOUTH VS. VERMONT Hanover, N. H., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Dartmouth will end its full strength against Vermont today in the last "breather" the Green will have before starting on its string of games with four consecutive major rivals on the other Saturdays of this month.

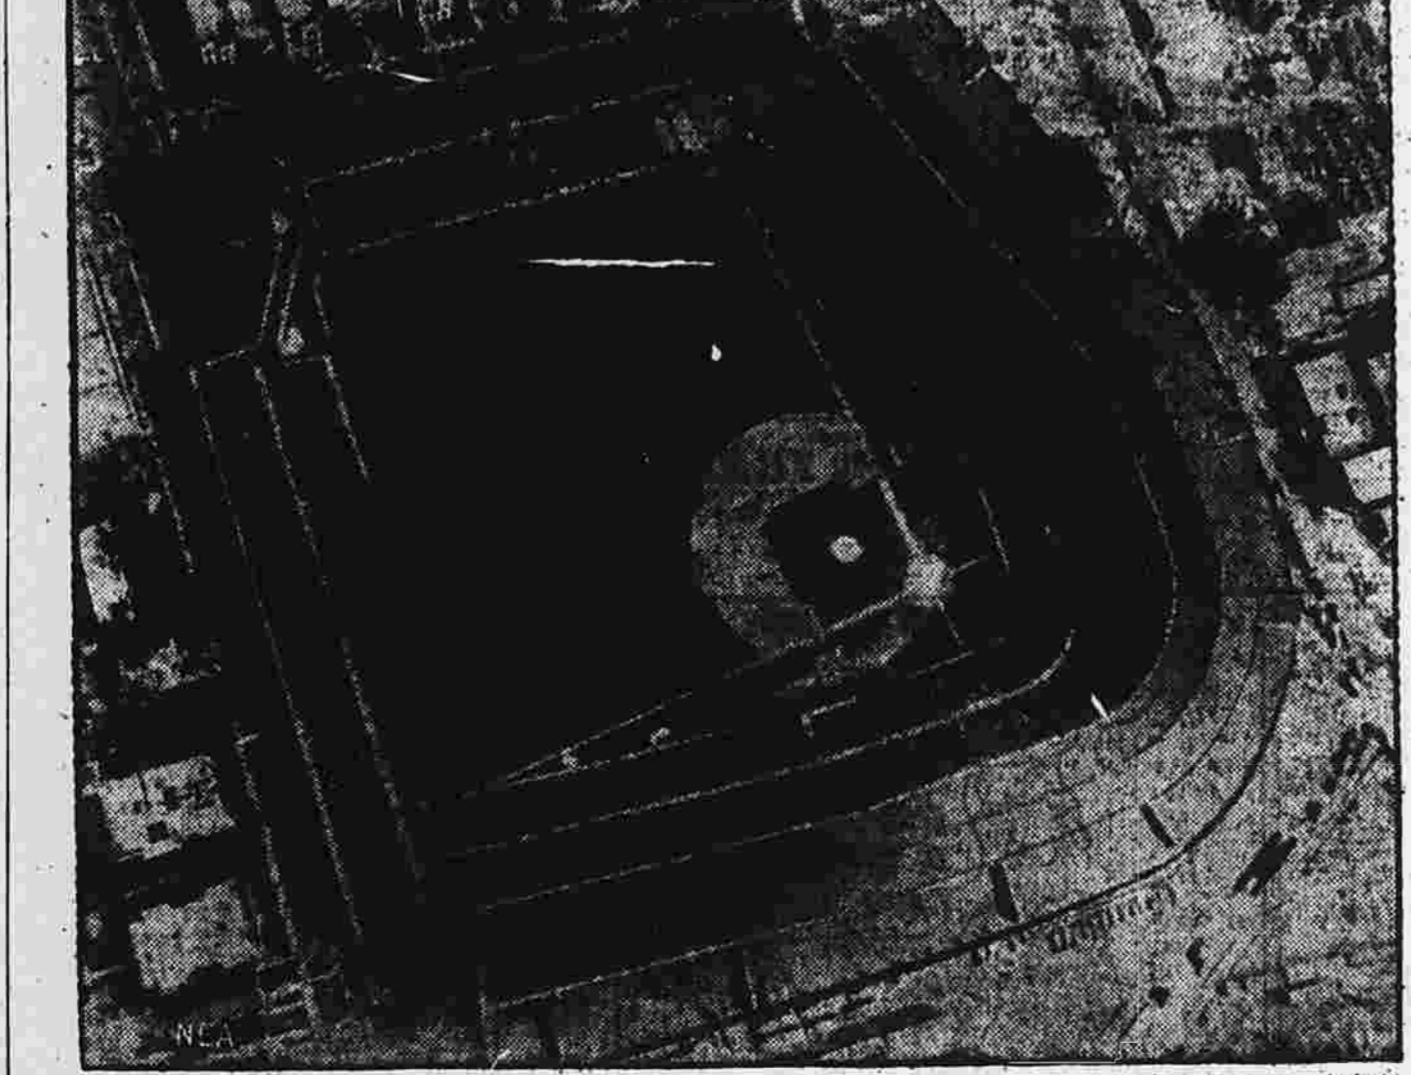

HARVARD VS. BUFFALO U. Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Bisons from the University of Buffalo, still licking the wounds received last week in the 72-0 slaughter by Cornell will open Harvard's 1932 football season today at the stadium. The Crimson will start a veteran line in front of a new backfield, Jack Crickard being the only one of last year's regular ball carriers in the starting lineup.

Last Night's Fights By ASSOCIATED PRESS Pittsburgh—Batting Gladys, Donna, Pa., outpunched Joe Marcus, New York, 10.

Hollywood, Calif.—Midget Ad Wolgast outpunched Pedro Villanueva, Mexico City, 10.

Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Guatemala and Honduras have celebrated their 11th anniversary of independence. And isn't it about time for another revolution to free them?

CHICAGO'S PLAYGROUND FOR WORLD SERIES

With two-world series games played in New York, the Cubs and Yankees will take up their baseball argument in three more games—if the series goes that long—in Chicago. Above is an excellent aerial view of Wrigley Field, home grounds of the Cubs, where the games will be played.

ARMORED TRUCK BOBBED

New York, Oct. 1.-AP)-Five robbers held up the three man crew of an armored truck in front of the entrance to Pier 49, Hudson River, at the foot of Bank street today and escaped with a $10,000 payroll consigned to the Southern Pacific Steamship Company.

Police reported that the robbers, riding in an automobile, drove their car against the armored truck and when the crew of the truck alighted to learn whether any damage had resulted, confronted them with revolvers.

SERIES WEATHER

Chicago, Oct. 1.-AP)-The Chicago Cubs and New York Yankees were promised fair weather for the third game of the World Series today.

The official weather prediction was: "Fair with increasing cloudiness; somewhat warmer."

The day dawned cool and fair with every indication of being ideal for baseball.

A few fleecy white clouds dotted the skies the fore part of the morning.

Top coats, popular during the past few days, were shed as the mercury mounted.

Wanted

We have a client that will exchange a well located neat home of 6 rooms for a larger single or a 2-family of 12 or more rooms with good attic space. Would also consider small farm close in with seven or more rooms. If you have anything to offer call immediately.

statement by the executive committee of the Liberal Council, of which Viscount Grey is president.

The committee said it was of vital importance for the success of the coming world economic conference that the government of the United Kingdom enter it unfettered by any fiscal engagements with the dominions which would impair its power to secure by negotiation the lowering or removal of "those foreign tariffs which today are strangling trade and intercourse between the nations of the world."

The cabinet having refused to accede to the Liberals' request, the committee added, it was inevitable that they should withdraw, declining to accept responsibility for a course which, in their judgment, could only prove detrimental to the best interests of the country, dangerous to its relations with the overseas dominions and calculated to intensify the spirit of economic nationalism which they held to be steadily becoming a menace to the peace of the world.

as for actual control, are anxious to make a good showing in the area of Insurgents' Next Move.

Executive of the Independent Republican party, which has set up headquarters in New Haven, are considering what action to take in regard to the secretary of state notice that the names of republican presidential electors can not go on the Independent ticket.

Professor Milton Conover of Yale, the Independent Senatorial nominee wrote President Hoover that the refusal would tend to injure the Hoover-Curtis ticket. Whether this letter meant the action would not be contested was not made known.

The secretary of state's office has been checking the signatures on the Independent Republican petition, as well as those on other tickets. Until the names are completed the number of parties to be registered on the ballot will not be definitely known.

Socialist nominees have been addressing meetings throughout the State but neither the Communists nor Social Labor groups have held any advertised rallies.

SUBSTITUTE RATE

This rate included the complete elimination of the area or flat rate charge and the substitution of a service or demand charge of fifty cents a month. A charge of three cents per hour for the first 500 kilowatt hours was made, with two cents for each additional hour over the 500, known as a block system rate. He said that this rate would eliminate the overcharge of $70,000 and would give the company a net return of $36,000 on a fair value of $60,000. The company, he said, now earns much more than that and will get double in the future.

The attorney also stressed that the company's tax returns to the town on taxable property were considerably lower than the values presented by Stone & Webster experts. He said the question of taxation should be looked into and that the income tax should be deducted from the gross income and included in the net income. He was questioned on this by John A. Collins, commission attorney, and Levitt defined the difference between income tax and municipal and operating revenue taxes, claiming that the latter taxes are a welfare to the consumer, whereas "the consumer derives no benefit from the income tax."

When Levitt concluded his argument at 3:35 o'clock, Smith said that the company would argue orally only to "correct the misstatements or the confusion of attorneys for the petitioners." He expressed his astonishment that Mr. Levitt could prepare a model rate structure within 24 hours, without benefit of careful study and expert advice.

Levitt's retirement reserve theory he said was an "extraordinary assumption. We do not even notice" the petitioner's statement that six per cent is a reasonable return. "We merely deny an overcharge annually of $70,000 at this time."

Smith said that much of Levitt's argument was based on misconstruction of the testimony given by expert witnesses. He also said that he was grateful to the counsel for his statement that reduction of the retirement reserve would make the fixed capital figure reasonable.

Hearing Ends

The oral argument brought to an end the five-day hearing of the case before the commission, which opened Monday morning. Levitt presented two witnesses during the hearing, Sherwood Bowers and Matthias Spies, both of whom testified to the unreasonableness of the local light rates.

The Manchester Electric Company called seven witnesses in all, William E. Hood, Jr., and Gordon Rogers, appraisal experts of Stone and Webster; Maurice L. Blanchard, certified public accountant of Taylor, Webster and Blanchard.

Frank Cheney, Jr., of Cheney Brothers; Samuel Ferguson, president of the Manchester Electric company; James Turnbull, assistant treasurer of the company; and Luther R. Nash, nationally known rate expert.

The actual earnings of the company in the last few years are startling, he said. Levitt presented a list of earnings by percentages, according to the sworn valuations of fixed capital investment. The table was as follows: 1925, 20 per cent; 1926, 1928, 34 per cent; 1927, 21 per cent plus; 1928, 34 per cent (year company was purchased by Connecticut Power company); 1929, 32 per cent; 1930, 20 per cent; 1931, 17 and a fraction per cent; 1932, estimated on original cost appraisal, 8 1/2-10 per cent on reproduction cost appraisal, 9 1/2-10 per cent. According to the tax list valuation the earnings would amount to fifty odd per cent.

Doesn't Call It "Illegal"

Levitt said that a six per cent return would have netted the company $31,000 in 1931, but the company actually earned $108,000, attributing the difference to overcharges of more than $70,000. "I will not say here that they are illegal charges," he said.

"Why is the net return so much over the legal rate?" asked Levitt. "The answer lies in the area of charges," he said. "It is not the function of the company to say that the customer should use what the company thinks is the normal or proper amount of current." He then stated that all costs in the area covered in the opinion of the "rate" of the company, which charges ten cents per kilowatt hour, without an area charge.

"It is difficult and possibly unseemly to suggest a rate to the commission at this time," said Levitt. "But if it is possible to have a rate structure that gives a reasonable return, that does not make the customer pay something for nothing, and that reduces the cost of consumption, then I can suggest such a rate."

When Levitt concluded his argument at 3:35 o'clock, Smith said that the company would argue orally only to "correct the misstatements or the confusion of attorneys for the petitioners." He expressed his astonishment that Mr. Levitt could prepare a model rate structure within 24 hours, without benefit of careful study and expert advice.

Rastus—Quick, Sambo, a wildcat has run into yo' house, wear yo' wife's apron!

Sambo—Well, he'll jes' hab to get out de best way he kin, dat's all.

Old Uncle Lorenzo from out near Pansyville says: "If a business man sits an' waits fo' his ship to come in, it will be a nestle."

Ephraim—Boy! When Ah kisses mah wife she jes' closes her eyes. Esakial—Ah'll say she do! Ephraim—What's dat? Esakial—Ah say, do she?

Old Uncle Mose, in spite of his illiteracy, had built up quite a competency from his white-washing and calculating trade. During the course of some business with a notary public, the latter prepared a document.

Notary—Please sign this here. Uncle Mose (with offended dignity)—Look heah, sir, Ah doesn't ever sign mah name, suh. Ah's a business man, suh, wid no time fo' such trifles. Ah always dictates mah name, suh!

White Boss—I understand you once worked on a western farm. Negro Laborer—Yessuh, boss, Ah sho did.

White Boss—Are the grasshoppers as bad out there as they say? Negro Laborer—Yessuh, boss, dey is. Why, one time Ah let a team of two hosses jes' long 'nough to git drink, an' when Ah come back, de grasshoppers had done eat bof dem hosses an' wus pitchin' hoss shoes to see which ob dem would eat de harness.

Old Uncle Ramus from Molasses Chatter says: "De world may hab been created in six days, as de Bible says, but it sho' takes longer dan dat to git it to rumain' right agin when it gets outta whack."

Pepper and Salt . . . The well digger is probably the only man who can succeed in his life's work by beginning at the top. . . If money talks, then some checks must talk back. . . All things may come to the man who waits—provided he lives long enough. . . The main fault with the capitalistic system just now seems to be a lack of capital. . . No one has yet been able to make a pork-barrel any more respectable by calling it a relief program. . . An optimist is an ex-husband who buys himself a new white apron and jacket. . . The bride gets all the showery before the wedding, and the groom gets all the thunder and lightning after. . . Also there seems to be a surplus of plans for restoring prosperity, none of which will work. . .

Gretchen—Where are you going? Fredy—To buy your birthday gift. Gretchen—I'll go along with you. I'm going to the jeweler's myself.

The hero took good aim, and shot for the villain's heart. The villain did not die, however, because his heart wasn't in the right place.

Mother (for the third time)—Run quickly and wash your hands for dinner. Little Son—Mother, (looking over his hands) they aren't really dirty—just kinds blurred.

Nothing is so annoying to a man slaying his own praises as to be drowned out by a man blowing his own horn. . . All a bald-headed man has to do to get ready to go anywhere is to straighten his necktie.

He was one of those smart men who like to show their cleverness: Smart Man (as tramp approached)—Watch me take a rise out of him. Then he listened solemnly to the tramp's tale of woe. Smart Man (when tramp had finished)—That's the same old story you told me the last time you accosted me. The Tramp—Is it? When did I tell it to you? Smart Man—Last week. The Tramp—Maybe I did, maybe I did. I'd forgotten meeting you. I was in jail all last week.

The most unprincipled cough is the one that creeps down the church aisle and attacks the fellow in the middle of a prayer.

Two girl friends sat together in the theater gossiping away in the usual manner. "Alice says I paint," said the first girl. "The horrid thing!" "Never mind what Alice says," the other answered in a soothing tone. "If she had your complexion she'd paint, too."—Montreal Gazette.

BRIDE: I tried a cooking idea of my own, and my husband said I'd better try it on the dog first. Wasn't that cruel? NEIGHBOR: Very! And I thought your husband was so fond of dogs.—Answers.

VACATION FOR HIM "You must be having a pretty tiresome summer by not going on a vacation?" "On the contrary; my wife and mother-in-law are at the seashore."—Fathinder.

CHENEY LIST SHRINKAGE NOT OVER 2 MILLIONS

Error of Reporter in Transmitting Figures Cause of Wrong Report—Actual Cut Is $889,404.

Due to an error in computation and transmission of figures over telephone made by a Herald reporter the Cheney Brothers assessment list was incorrectly reported yesterday.

The assessment list shrinkage as presented to the Ninth School district is $889,404 instead of just over two millions as reported.

WATER SUPPLY HERE IN GOOD CONDITION

Local Rains Have Kept Reservoirs Filled Despite Conditions Through State.

Manchester's water supply, both the Manchester and South Manchester reservoirs, are well filled for the winter months, according to reports given out today.

During the past 60 days there have been several heavy rains which in addition to filling the reservoirs and springs have eliminated the use of the water supply for lawns and gardens.

Manchester has one of the best supplies of water in the state, the water for the North End district coming from the watershed in the Lydall street and Vernon street district and the South Manchester water supply arising in the hills of Glastonbury.

ADVERTISE IN THE HERALD—IT PAYS

Why not step around it? This man miscalculated the effects of the depression. He had made his will in 1925. Under it he specified several sizable bequests, to be paid at once upon his death. His wife was to receive the residue of the estate. When he died last winter, the executor of his will paid the bequests promptly, as directed. But where was the wife's residue? The fall in the security market had practically wiped it out. Of course this man could not have changed the trend of the market. But he could have changed his will, making his wife come first—as he had really intended—instead of forcing her to come last. LOOK AHEAD. Get out your own will and read it over. Is it up to date? Why not go over it with our Trust Officer? Perhaps he can make some practical suggestions which your lawyer can incorporate in that valuable document. THE MANCHESTER TRUST CO. SOUTH MANCHESTER, CONN.
