GREATER U. S. NAVY IF ARMS CUT FAILS

President Warns World We Will Build Up To Limit of London Treaty—Germany Backs Stand.

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A navy built to the London treaty limit and "equal to that of the most powerful in the world" is considered by President Hoover a necessity if arms limitation efforts fail.

GERMANY IN FAVOR

Berlin, Oct. 27.—(AP)—President Hoover's assertion last night that the United States government would build up her fleet to full strength if the present disarmament negotiations should fail has found approval in official circles here.

"The President's strong words cannot but forcibly remind those nations which are disinclined to disarm of their promise given when the Versailles Treaty was signed," said a spokesman for the foreign office.

"Mr. Hoover's action is in direct line with Germany's present policy of aloofness from the Geneva conference. Our aloofness doesn't mean that we are disinterested in disarmament. Quite the contrary. But it is a tactical measure for reminding other nations of their duty."

"We hope that the President's statement will result in a better understanding of our position."

"It is as inevitable as the security of America is threatened by the military policies of other nations despite America's favorable geographical position, how much more reason has Germany with her open frontiers and surrounded as she is by strongly armed nations, to be concerned about her security."

AMERICAN LEGION ASKS QUESTIONS

State Department Sends Quiz To All Candidates To Get Their Stands.

Hartford, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Letters have been sent all candidates for the U. S. Senate and Congress in Connecticut by the Department of Connecticut, American Legion, asking the candidates whether or not they favor the following National Defense Act advocated by the Legion:

- 1—Increasing the Regular Army to 165,000 men and 14,000 officers, the National Guard to 210,000 men and officers by yearly increments of 5,000, and the officers reserve corps to 120,000 officers, with annual active training for 26,000 as provided by the National Defense Act of 1920.
2—Maintenance of reserve officers training corps unit at every qualified educational institute desiring it.
3—Continuation of the citizens military training camps, with provision for not less than 50,000 students annually.
4—Appropriation of suitable funds for anti-aircraft defense, mechanization of military forces, a system of munitions supply, manufacture of enough munitions to keep government plants operating and to keep private plants available for emergencies.
5—Promotion of rifle practice through Legion and other teams.
6—Increasing the air corps so that it would equal that of any other nation in size and strength.
7—Training of air corps personnel so as not to reduce training of other branches of the service.
8—Increasing naval forces to equal those of any other nation, under the provisions of the Washington and London naval treaties.
Candidates were also asked to write remarks on the questions. All items on the questionnaire are in line with policies adopted by the National and State organizations of the Legion. The State Department does not intend to take a stand for or against any candidate but does intend to publish the answers.

ROOSEVELT TAKES UP PLIGHT OF JOBLESS

Holds Conference With State Republican Leaders To Consider Situation.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 27.—(AP)—With most of his presidential campaigning behind him, Governor Roosevelt today turned his attention to a serious state problem, the care of New York's thousands of unemployed next winter.

The Democratic presidential nominee ended an eight days' trip to the midwest and the south last night when he motored up the Hudson River from New York city where he left his special train, yesterday morning.

He had left Albany October 18. Today his chief engagement was with Republican leaders of the State Legislature Senator Pearson of Syracuse and Speaker Joseph R. M. C. of Innes of Ripley and members of the unemployment relief commission. They will review the latest relief survey and discuss the advisability of a special session of the Legislature.

Mr. Roosevelt at the end of his three thousand mile campaign trip expressed his confidence that he will be elected President. He said: "I am not only convinced, but this last trip confirms a definite opinion reached after the trip to the west, that the tide set in many weeks ago for the Democratic ticket. That continues to flow and will until the polls close."

Few More Speeches Although the southern and midwestern train journey terminated Mr. Roosevelt's extended campaign trip, he will make one or more speeches in New England and West. Straw vote campaigns have indicated that the tide is running against the Democratic nominee in all the six states of New England. Democratic leaders are avowedly hopeful of a victory in the coming election. Looking ahead also to Monday's political journey through five Atlantic seaboard states, starting July 34 hours after his return from Indianapolis where he speaks tomorrow night, the Chief Executive denied himself to visitors during the morning.

Speech At 7:30 White House, aides said he will begin his address in Indianapolis at 7:30 p. m., Central Standard Time, Friday night, about an hour earlier than the starting time of his previous addresses.

Dr. Adne W. Leonard, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Council of the Pittsburgh area, last night, Stimson cited the efforts of the past few years to end wars, adding "we have a right to take courage in the light of such events."

Dr. Adne W. Leonard, bishop of the area, who presided, told the gathering that "the position of the President of the United States with regard to world peace is in complete accord with the church which I represent."

BINGHAM IS BACK IN HOME STATE

Senator Returns From Campaign In Middle West—To Speak Tonight.

Hartford, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Senator Hiram Bingham who has been campaigning in the middlewest for the election of anti-prohibitionists to Congress, resumes his own drive for votes tonight with addresses at Waterbury and Ansonia.

Bingham and former Governor John H. Trumbull, who have been bearing the brunt of the Republican campaign in Connecticut, are faced by heavy speaking schedules for the remaining ten days before election. Trumbull will be on the platform with Bingham at Waterbury this evening, and also will give a talk at Naugatuck.

The former governor's schedule for the remainder of the campaign is as follows: Hartford, Oct. 28; New Britain, Oct. 30; Bridgeport, Oct. 31; Unionville and Milford, November 1; Hartford, November 2; Middletown, November 3; Southport and Norwalk, November 4; West Hartford, November 5; Waterbury, November 6, and Hartford, November 7.

Society Folks Scramble for Invitations to Their Wedding

New York's 400 is scrambling these days for the coveted bits of cardboard that will admit the elite to the wedding Nov. 11, Armistice Day, of pretty Bianchetti Hooker (left), called "the luckiest girl in the world," to John D. Rockefeller 3d (right), the crown prince of the oil dynasty, in magnificent Riverside church, New York (shown in the center). An invitation to the ceremony or to the reception that will follow is just about the highest recognition of social position there is to be had.

HOOVER LEAVES TONIGHT FOR MIDDLE WEST AGAIN

To Make At Least Eight Speeches Before He Returns To Capital—Busy With Addresses Today.

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—President Hoover today engaged himself in a speech-writing drive, in preparation for departure at 11 p. m. on a fourth midwestern swing that will carry him through at least eight states in the succeeding twenty-four hours.

Looking ahead also to Monday's political journey through five Atlantic seaboard states, starting July 34 hours after his return from Indianapolis where he speaks tomorrow night, the Chief Executive denied himself to visitors during the morning.

Speech At 7:30 White House, aides said he will begin his address in Indianapolis at 7:30 p. m., Central Standard Time, Friday night, about an hour earlier than the starting time of his previous addresses.

Dr. Adne W. Leonard, bishop of the area, who presided, told the gathering that "the position of the President of the United States with regard to world peace is in complete accord with the church which I represent."

Ever since I assumed the duties of my present office," Stimson continued, "I have been in the view of a President whose chief preoccupation in the conduct of foreign relations has been to promote this great cause of peace."

STUDENTS START RIOT NEAR COURT

Over 100 Stage Demonstration After Colleagues Are Arrested.

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A siege of the White Way's famous Night Court by 750 college students ended early today in suspended sentences for 14 youths and a co-ed seized by charging police reserves.

Free for all hiccups featured the demonstration, which swirled in front of the building, forcing Magistrate August Dreyer to adjourn court because all his policemen were outside, helping quell the students. The demonstration grew from a protest meeting by students who demanded free speech and reinstatement of Oakley Johnson, economist, who was dropped from the faculty of the College of the City of New York.

Student supporters said he was dismissed as a Communist sympathizer. College officials, denying this, said he was an "extra" instructor, dropped because of a budget cut.

ELBERT ARRESTED AS SOON AS FREED

Case of Young Colored Boy Puzzles Waterbury Because of Court Decision.

Waterbury, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Wiley Elbert, 16 year old negro, was arrested on a charge of criminal assault this morning after Judge Brown of the Superior Criminal Court dismissed the information consisting of 40 counts on which Elbert had been given 10 years in the reformatory, Judge Brown dismissed the Superior Court charges in accordance with the mandates of a Supreme Court decision handed down Tuesday.

It was stated today that Elbert was arrested in the Juvenile Court tomorrow morning before Judge John F. McGrath. Two courses are open to that court in case guilt is found. Elbert may be sent to the Meriden School for Boys or he may be bound over to Superior Court for another trial.

If the second course is followed and a conviction follows another appeal to the Supreme Court is probable. The Supreme Court in the decision did not state the Superior Court had no jurisdiction but said it was "not in the view of the Supreme Court decision. Before passing the order, however, Judge Brown inquired if the Juvenile Court authorities of Waterbury were planning to take action."

State's Attorney Lawrence L. Lewis said he thought they were planning to take action. He said he was in court with a warrant. Judge Brown inquired if there was a detective in court ready to take Elbert into custody if released.

Lieut. Joseph Stevens of the Waterbury police department stepped forward and told the court that he had a warrant in his pocket to serve on Elbert when released. Upon receiving this information Judge Brown discharged Elbert from the Superior Court charges.

Lieut. Stevens then took Elbert to the reformatory.

Free Meals and Politics Land in the Police Court

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Daniel Rubenstein's regard for Patrolman George Wandling has soured.

Rubenstein, a restaurateur, has had Wandling on the free list for meals ever since Wandling thwarted a robbery at the Rubenstein restaurant two years ago.

Recently Rubenstein turned his back on the Democrats and announced to Wandling, who is called the "Adonis Cop," that he intended to vote for President Hoover. Officer Wandling couldn't see it that way. He was eating a meal at the time, so Rubenstein handed him a check for 85 cents.

THOUSANDS OF JOBLESS START RIOT IN LONDON

Says He Knows Men Who Got Lindy Money

Seville, Spain, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Jean Saul, detained by police yesterday for questioning in connection with the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby, said today that he would disclose none of his information about that crime except to American police.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS GREET AL IN STATE

Makes No Speeches To Save His Voice For Boston Address Tonight But Issues a Statement.

New Haven, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith, on his way to deliver two New England campaign speeches to the Roosevelt-Garner ticket, was greeted by crowds of cheering Connecticut Democrats as his train crossed this state today.

The former New York governor, wearing his famous bowler derby and a broad smile issued a statement when his train pulled into New Haven in which he called for the election of the Democratic state ticket.

Governor W. L. Cross headed a delegation which boarded the train at Stamford and rode across the State with Smith.

At New Haven, more crowds gathered around the observation platform to roar for the 1932 Democratic nominee. He appeared, wearing his brown derby, to say "Hello" to the crowds.

SIX BOYS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Two Seriously, When Wheel Comes Off Auto—Were All Soccer Players.

Norwalk, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Six members of the Roger Ludlow Junior High school soccer team were injured here last night, two of them critically, when an automobile in which they were riding turned over.

It was learned today at the Norwalk hospital that Ernest Kosmek, 15, and Harold Tolles, 15, are suffering from concussions of the brain and body injuries. Their names are on the danger list. The other four lads are still confined to the hospital with numerous abrasions and bruises. They are: Harold Margolin, 15; Frank Wargo, 13; Louis Zakhar, 13; Samuel Walloff, 13.

Driver Is Held Edgar Keene, 19, the driver of the car, is being held on a charge of reckless driving.

Following a contest at Dunbar Field with the Benjamin Franklin Junior High school team the Ludlow lads climbed on Keene's automobile for a ride to their section of the city. Eight boys crowded the automobile, four standing on one running-board and four on the other. Police say that the weight on one side caused a tender to bear down upon a wheel and lock it. The wheel came off and rolled into the driveway of the Riverside elementary and the car turned over, burying four lads in the wreckage. Two escaped injury by jumping. Passersby and an ambulance rushed the injured to the hospital.

Most Serious Disturbance In Years—Over 50,000 Massed In Hyde Park

When Battle Begins; Sticks and Stones Hurlled Through Windows and At Police—Dozens of Windows Broken.

London, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Rioting unemployed, yelling defiance at the police, participated today in the most serious disturbance of the kind that London has seen in years.

Fifty thousand people were massed inside Hyde Park and at the several entrances as a column of several thousand jobless marched in for a demonstration in protest against administration of the dole system.

In Great Cumberland Place, opposite the marble arch entrance on Edgeware Road, a brick was thrown through the postoffice window. Mounted police charged, swinging their clubs and the mob fell back, cursing and boozing.

The police retired and the crowd swept in again upon them. Time after time the horses pressed back the mob, withdrew, and the mob surged in again.

Stones and Whipped past the policemen's heads several persons were injured and taken away in ambulances.

This fighting took place over a 300-yard section along the bridge path from the marble arch westward.

Meanwhile the throng inside which had been listening in an orderly manner to speeches from fifty soap box orators, suddenly became menacing.

Attracted by the siren at the nearby ambulance station, the mob began to gather inside the park railings.

The mounted police extended their charges along Baywater Road as the crowds before and behind them grew more hostile.

The rioters pulled branches from the trees and tore up the park railings as weapons. They threw anything that came to hand.

One mounted policeman was separated from his galloping squad. His helmet was knocked off by a rock.

Battle Grows As the fighting grew more severe a score or more injured were carried away, some of them apparently hurt seriously.

There were women screaming among the rioters. Some of them fainted and were carried into stores. Dozens of windows were broken and as darkness fell there was no sign of a truce.

During the rioting a number of elderly gentlemen who lead their dogs through Hyde Park every afternoon were out as usual for the daily exercise.

It was nearly six o'clock before the police restored some semblance of order. The marchers moved away, singing and shouting taunts but under heavy police guard. The traffic around the marble arch was still snarled.

CROWDS ASSEMBLE London, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Two thousand jobless men massed in Hyde Park this afternoon while the air resounded with the vocal protests of Britain's unemployed from thirty platforms and as many soap box stands.

This was the great unemployed demonstration to which the men had trudged through rain and mud from the far corners of the island in a "hunger march" which the authorities said was sponsored by Communist organizers.

Ten thousand people had crowded into the park before the marchers arrived. Five thousand policemen were there to see that there was no trouble. The police had taken the most elaborate precautions in years to prevent disorder, and there was none as ten lines of marchers converged on the park through the London traffic, cheering and singing, with red banners flying.

"We want food!" they shouted. "Down with the baby starvel!" "Down with the means test!" Dole System This last was a reference to the provision in the dole system which requires certain recipients of government aid to furnish proof that they have no other means of subsistence.

Here and there men and women scattered through the crowds rattling collection boxes. Red banners with the Soviet hammer and sickle waved over many groups and there were others which read "Down with the Government!" and "To the Government! We want work or food!"

The lines of men had moved four abreast through the city without disorder but with increasing excitement as they approached the park.

Only a few minutes before they arrived police ordered the removal of piles of bricks and paving blocks from the park entrance just as a procession.

Declared Ineligible Tunney who has been actively campaigning for the Democratic ticket, has been declared ineligible to vote by the Stamford Superior Court here with his right to vote in Stamford at the coming election as the stakes.

Raymond Hackitt, Stamford attorney who is acting as "second" for the retired and undefeated heavyweight fight champion of the world, spent an hour and one half today in conference with Superior Court Judge Frank P. McEvoy in the judge's chambers at the county court building.

This was preliminary to the main battle in open court in the course of which Tunney's proxy will lead with a petition for a writ of mandamus against the board of registration of Stamford.

Does No Talking Smith did not back platform speaking, explaining his voice would not permit it.

As his train steamed across Connecticut.

Debt Cancellation Is Not an Issue Under-secretary Castle said today that party platform declarations against foreign debt cancellation in neither case means necessarily "There shall be no discussion of the matter with foreign powers, no accommodation, no amelioration of the terms of the debts."

The State Department official added that since both parties are recorded against cancellation "the debts are not in themselves a political issue." In his address prepared for delivery to the Rotary Club here, Castle continued: "We propose to remain as we have already shown ourselves, a generous creditor, but not in any case to the detriment of the citizens of this country. Whatever arrangements may be made must be for the benefit of the United States."

Bargaining Treaties Castle said "The American tariff does not prevent the payment of the intergovernmental debts" and added: "The idea recently expressed that by lowering the tariff through bargaining treaties, European nations might ship us goods in quantities large enough to enable them with ease to pay their debts was discussed in the Senate in 1914 and 1915. It was rejected."

TREASURY BALANCE Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for October 26 were $2,000,735.64; expenditures $8,074,053.23; balance $78,280,878.88. Customs duties for 26 days of October were $30,623,008.81.

POPE CONDEMNS MODERN PICTURES

Especially When Artists Deal With Religious Subjects, He Tells Cardinals.

Vatican City, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The Pope strongly condemned modern art especially as it dealt with religious subjects when he inaugurated today a new picture gallery in Vatican City.

The ceremony was attended by eighteen cardinals, who heard the Pontiff declare that the new school of painting resolved itself into caricature and even profanation in touching religious subjects.

The Pontiff recommended that the bishops of the world be doubly careful of the art they permit to be introduced in churches.

"The list of masterpieces in this gallery," the Pope said, "shows how religious sentiment is capable of full development in any art, any epoch and any surroundings, as long as art remains faithful to its inspiration."

False Art The Pope said he grieved because "false art can be found in many churches which show God and prayer." He said artists should always remember that religious art "must be in conformity with the religious."

He added that the doors of the church would "remain wide open for any manifestation of art which really is worthy of this name." The Pontiff spoke in Italian in response to an inaugural address by Bartolomeo Nogara, director of the Pontifical museum and galleries. Paintings in the new gallery number approximately 400. Of the 100 new ones, eight, attributed to Paolo Veronese, come from the Pope's summer palace at Castelgandolfo. The best of the recent additions is a painting by Ciotto, made in 1300 for the high altar of the old Vatican Basilica, predecessor of St. Peter's. This was done in panels, and when St. Peter's was built the panels became separate pictures covered with glass. Now the panels have been re-assembled and restored.

The gallery will be opened to the public on Nov. 6.

WOMAN BANDIT

Springfield, Mass., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Miss Helen Orzolek, 20, of New Haven will be brought here tomorrow to face a charge of assault and robbery while armed.

Refreshments will be served, in charge of James Lewis and Virginia Loomis. Wadsworth McKinney is in charge of the program.

A concert and dance will be given at Princess Hall at Rockville tomorrow night, with music furnished by the Dutch Band, well known broadcasting orchestra from WJZ at Springfield, Mass.

A program of old time and modern melody will be presented. The concert will be from 8:30 to 9 o'clock, with dancing from 9 to 12:30 o'clock. The affair is sponsored by the Clerks A. C. of Rockville.

EINSTEIN COMING

Berlin, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein will sail for the United States on the steamer Oakland December 10, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency reported today.

He will travel to California by way of the Panama Canal to resume his work at Mt. Wilson Observatory before beginning his new duties as head of the mathematics school of the Institute for Advanced Study.

ABOUT TOWN

Ward Chaney Camp, Spanish War Veterans, will hold its regular meeting at the Armory at 8 o'clock tonight, at which time a program will be presented in observance of the birthday of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. Following the meeting, a Hall of Fame social will be held, to which the Auxiliary has been invited.

The Highland Park Community Club will be the scene of the Halloween Social of the Epworth League of the South Methodist church at 8 o'clock tonight. Members desiring transportation are asked to meet at the church at 7:30 o'clock. A program has been arranged, including a chamber of horrors and a ghost pantomime by Joseph Dean. Those attending must come in costume, or a fine will be imposed.

Refreshments will be served, in charge of James Lewis and Virginia Loomis. Wadsworth McKinney is in charge of the program.

Sunnyside Junior Circle of Kings Daughters will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. C. E. Wilson of Woodbridge street.

A concert and dance will be given at Princess Hall at Rockville tomorrow night, with music furnished by the Dutch Band, well known broadcasting orchestra from WJZ at Springfield, Mass.

A meeting of the Public Safety Committee of the Board of Selectmen and the Manchester Electric Company officials will be held Wednesday, Nov. 2, at 2 p. m., for the purpose of discussing street lighting rates for the ensuing year.

Elizabeth Rich, of Manchester, member of the sophomore class at the University of Vermont, has been chosen a member of the Women's Glee Club.

Miss Phyllis L. Burdick of 309 East Center street, employed in the Manchester Trust Company won a first prize at the horse show conducted by the Circle B Club in Norwich last night. Miss Burdick's award came in the three-gaited class. Miss Burdick's feat was made more difficult because she rode a strange horse.

Several hours of downrush of water on "Bakery Hill" the heavy grade on Main street between Woodland and Hilliard streets, carried so many fallen leaves into the area at the foot of the hill that the street was flooded and the drifted leaves clogged the manhole near Hilliard street. Several truck loads of the accumulation were removed by town employees this morning but hours later the men were still working at a jam of leaves in the storm water sewer pipe extending to Depot Square that had plugged the pipe tight.

BABY RELEASES BOUND PARENTS

But 28 Months Old She Brings Scissors To Mother To Cut Self Free.

Spring alley, Minn., Oct. 27.—(AP)—A 28 months old girl who aided in the release of her parents after they had been bound and robbed by five men at their farm home, was proclaimed as the town heroine today.

The child, Lois Ann Ward, at her mother's direction, brought a pair of scissors with which the mother freed herself and three other members of the household.

Victims were the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ward; John Clouse, farmer for whom they worked, and Miss Mabel Root, his housekeeper.

Five men posing as automobile salesmen overpowered and bound them. Mrs. Ward, who was tied to a bed, said "after they left I managed to get one hand free and I reached for the scissors. She understood as soon as I got them I cut myself free and released the others."

DEMOCRATIC RALLIES IN TOWN NEXT WEEK

Polish Club Meeting Attended By 175 Last Night — Dr. Dolan Speaks Twice in Day.

An Italian Democratic rally will be held in Tinker hall, Wednesday evening, Nov. 2 at 8 o'clock. Addresses will be given in English and Italian by Hon. Francis Conti of Hartford; Dr. A. L. Avitable of New Britain and Dr. Carmine G. Cipriano of Waterbury.

A Polish Democratic rally was held in the Lithuanian hall, Golway street last night. About 175 persons were in attendance.

Democratic club will hold a rally in Tinker hall Tuesday evening, Nov. 1. The principal speaker will be State Labor Commissioner Joseph Tose of Hartford.

Dr. Edward G. Dolan, chairman of the Democratic town committee, spoke at a meeting of the Bridgeport Women's Democratic Federated club in the Booth Homestead in Stratfield yesterday afternoon and spoke at a meeting of the Democratic workers in Hampden. In the evening he spoke at a rally in Torrington under the auspices of the Torrington Town Democratic committee and later in Windsor.

Smith's New Haven statement read:

"I have not for the condition of my voice, which I must conserve for my Boston speech, I would be delighted to speak at length at New Haven in behalf of the re-election of Governor Cross and his running mate on the Democratic ticket in Connecticut."

"Surely, in view of the splendid record Governor Cross has made, the people of Connecticut will re-elect him by an overwhelming vote."

"I cannot make an appeal too strong in behalf of Augustine Lonergan, Democrat, for U. S. Senator. His record in Congress testifies more eloquently to his fitness than can any word of mine."

"I have not only political, but personal interest in the election of Frank Maloney to Congress from the Third District. He and I have been warm friends for years. I can testify to his fine character, ability and integrity. He is equipped in a most mature way for public service."

In the party which boarded the train at Stamford and rode to New London, in addition to Governor Cross, Mayor Frank Hayes of Waterbury; David A. Wilson, Democratic State chairman; David E. FitzGerald, former mayor of New Haven; John W. Murphy, mayor of New Haven; David McCoy, New Haven town chairman; Archibald McNeil, national committeeman; Augustine Lonergan, U. S. Spellacy, former national committeeman and a group of women representing the Connecticut Federation of Women's Clubs.

M. H. S. WEST HARTFORD GAME IS POSTPONED

Today's heavy rainstorm washed out the Manchester High-West Hartford High school game, scheduled to be played at Mt. Nero this afternoon, and as a result the game was postponed till tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The game was originally scheduled for tomorrow but was advanced to today because of the teachers' convention at Hartford Friday. This will be Manchester's final C. C. I. L. contest. A victory will give the local school a tie for second place.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

Herman Heck, Stuart Joslin, Walter McConnell, Wadsworth McKinney and Harry Day will be the delegates representing the Manchester "Y" at the State Conference of Older Boys to be held in Stafford starting tomorrow night, Saturday and Sunday.

There is to be a meeting tonight of captains and managers of teams within the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of forming a basketball league, the games to be played in the "Y". From the players on these teams there will be later selected a team to represent the "Y" in a county basketball league.

Because of bad weather the Eagle football team could not hold practice out of doors last night and was invited into the gymnasium where the players went through signal practice.

ALIENS GIVEN HEARING

Hartford, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Eleven aliens arrested by the U. S. Immigration authorities in a roundup in Bridgeport Wednesday morning were being given hearings in the Hartford county jail here today.

Roused out of their beds at an early hour, the aliens—all natives and subjects of Portugal—were herded into a patrol wagon and brought to Hartford Wednesday night. Inspectors Kenny and Gaughan assisted by three Bridgeport police officers made the trip. The aliens are charged with having been smuggled into this country. Seven of them were found living in one rooming-house. Several admitted at their hearings in the county jail today that they had paid money to be brought into this country in violation of the United States Immigration laws.

Swanson ordered the investigation immediately after the Secret Six charges were made public, declaring himself "extremely anxious to institute pretty good proof of our charges."

GAME BREEDERS MEET

Hartford, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The Connecticut Game and Fur Breeders Association will meet Saturday afternoon at evening in the Hotel Gardiner here to discuss game laws and game-birds of the state.

Arthur L. Clark, new superintendent of the State Fish and Game Department will outline the department's requirements for better game birds at the afternoon session.

OBITUARY FUNERALS

Alphonse Bouthot The funeral of Alphonse Bouthot of 85 Charter Oak street was held this morning at 9:30 o'clock from Holy Trinity church, Rome, and 9 o'clock at St. James' church. Rev. Patrick Killen celebrated the mass and also read the committal service at the grave.

Mrs. Margaret Sullivan sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory she sang Weigand's Ave Maria and at the close of the service, "Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling." The closing funeral march by Chopin was played by Organist Packard.

The bearers were Hugh Shields, Joseph Stepe, Emil Plandon and Joseph Dion. Burial was at St. James' cemetery.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS GREET AL IN STATE

necticut Smith sat in his private car discussing the state situation with Governor Cross and other Connecticut leaders.

He was scheduled to address a rally in Providence, R. I., at 3 p. m. and a Boston campaign meeting today.

Rain failed to dampen the ardor of the crowds which ran down railroad tracks to get a glimpse of the man to whom Connecticut gave its support in the Chicago convention this year.

At several station stops he leaned out the window and waved his brown derby at factory workers who had left their machines to get a glimpse of him.

Where's Your Derby? Smith shook hands with Governor Cross and said: "Where's your brown derby?" Smith referred to his brown derby which he placed to the Connecticut governor in 1930.

"I didn't think you'd wear yours." Cross replied with a grin as he fingered his gray fedora.

"It's lucky, I always wear it," Smith replied.

"I'm as happy as the cat with the hat on its head as he talked."

The crowd at Bridgeport lined the station and extended into the street in spite of a heavy downpour.

His Statement Smith's New Haven statement read:

broadcast and rival parades are planned.

Despite the chief Executive's efforts, one of his secretaries reported there was no likelihood that the Indianapolis address could be finished until tomorrow between rear platform appearances enroute.

Shortly before lunch, the President took time to present an American flag to the captain of the U. S. S. Constitution as a Navy Day event. He planned to devote the afternoon to campaign work.

The flag presented to Commander L. J. Gulliver, skipper of the Constitution, was more than 200 feet long, and inscribed with the four stars and coat of arms of a Chief Executive's rank.

The President made the presentation on the south lawn of the executive mansion, with Mrs. Hoover, Secretary Adams, Ernest Jahnke, assistant secretary of the navy, and Admiral Pratt, chief of naval operations, in attendance.

The President conferred briefly with Secretary Wilbur, who has just returned from a trip through the country, and Franklin Fort, chairman of the home loan discount bank system.

Fort said he had reported to Mr. Hoover satisfactory progress by the home loan bank system, and had informed him he was departing on a speaking tour in his behalf, opening at Appleton, Wisconsin, tomorrow night and continuing on into Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

PASSPORT DENIED MRS. MARY MOONEY

Mother of Tom Planned To Make a Trip To Moscow Tomorrow.

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The International Labor Defense announced today that the State Department has refused to grant a passport to Mrs. Mary Mooney, mother of Tom Mooney, who is serving a life sentence in a California prison in connection with the Preparedness Day bombing in 1916.

Mrs. Mooney was scheduled to sail for Moscow tomorrow night as an honorary delegate of the International Labor Defense to the World Congress of the International Red Aid on November 10.

The I. L. D. said the passport was refused because Mrs. Mooney was unable to provide birth and death certificates of her husband, Brian Mooney. The husband died in Canaan, Ind., in 1929, the organization said, and no records were available because no vital statistics were kept in that town at that time.

Carl Hacker, organization secretary of the organization said that "this procedure in regard to the case is most unusual" and that it is "a deliberate attempt on the part of the State Department to prevent Mother Mooney from going to Europe."

Over 125 registrations were received at the office of the Manchester Emergency Employment Association in the Municipal building which opened for business this morning. Of the total number of registrants who filed today, about one-eighth did not file last year.

No attempt will be made to give jobs to those who have registered until the list of registrants has been completed. Herbert McCann is in charge of the Association's office. Miss Gladys Keith is office assistant.

PRESIDENT POSES WITH 2 ELEPHANTS

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Two live elephants, symbol of the G. O. P., one of them carrying a banner "This Is An Elephant's Job and No Time For Donkey Business" today trumpeted onto the White House lawn to serve as background for a photograph of President Hoover and a delegation from the Young Republican League.

Kenneth Uglov, president of the league, presented the President with an elephant symbol for his lapel and said his group was prepared "to pledge you that on November eight, 5,000,000 young men and women throughout the country will cast their votes to re-elect you President of the United States."

The two elephants, Eva, 32 years old, and Danny, 33, were borrowed from a theater for the occasion.

Immediately afterwards, the President stood with a delegation of several score Knights of Pythias, some of them in uniform, who answered a call of their leader for "three cheers for Hoover" as the President departed.

NO POLITICS

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Cortland Otis, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, issued a statement today in which he said that a national-wide broadcast on Oct. 29 by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and Silas Strawn is entirely non-partisan.

He said the fact that announcement of the broadcast was originally made from the Republican eastern headquarters here had led some people to believe that the broadcast was sponsored by the Republican National committee and was to be made in the interests of the Republican campaign.

"It is an entirely non-partisan affair," Otis said. "Admiral Byrd is a Democrat and Strawn a Republican. The broadcast is entirely sponsored by the Junior Chamber and not in any way by the Republican National committee."

BABY CYCLONE Meriden, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A wind of near cyclonic force swept through a section of Middale about 2:30 o'clock this morning and caused several hundreds of dollars damage. The baby twister left in its wake overturned sheds, uprooted trees, blown out windows and unshingled roofs.

The fresh wind, according to residents in the damaged vicinity, came from the southwest and traveled toward the northeast where it spent itself in about five minutes.

The most severe damage was caused at the Dickerman Brothers farm on the Meriden-Waterbury turnpike, near the Middale-Cheshire junction.

Henry C. Mills, manager of the farm, today estimated the damage done on the farm between $500 and $600.

JUDGE MUNGIER ILL

Ansonia, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Judge Robert L. Mungier of this city, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, New Haven, was taken to the New Haven general hospital this afternoon for observation, preparatory to an expected operation. Judge Mungier has been ill for some time and has temporarily relinquished his duties on the bench. The nature of his illness has not been revealed.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS TO DO "BROKEN DISHES"

Pick Well Known Metropolitan Success As Their Second Offering of the Season.

"Broken Dishes," a comedy of character by Marvin Plavin, will be the second offering of the Community Players this season. The play will be given under the auspices of Ever Ready Circle of King's Daughters at the Whiton Memorial Auditorium on Monday evening, November 21, for the promotion of its community charitable work. The circle is already at work on the distribution of tickets. The Players are holding rehearsals.

The play is not slap-stick farce, but a domestic comedy of the Middle West, an altogether wholesome and entertaining play of family life.

Audiences in New York and Chicago must have lived the play intensely, for it had long runs in both cities. In New York it moved from one theater to another as other plays opened and closed again.

Leonard Johnson, star of "Dulcy," "Minkie" and other local amateur productions that live in memory, will play the lead in "Broken Dishes," played so long in metropolitan theaters by Donald Meek. Those familiar with Mr. Johnson's work feel that the role is in capable hands.

A rehearsal of the first act will be held under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Handley tonight at the Y. M. C. A.

POLITICAL FIGHTS INTEREST CURTIUS

Former German Minister Listens In On All the Campaign Broadcasts.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—America worries more over the destiny of the former German Kaiser than do the Germans themselves, Dr. Julius Curtius, former German minister of foreign affairs, said today in an interview.

With Frau Curtius and their son, Klaus, student at Yale University, Dr. Curtius arrived in the city for a week-end visit.

Dr. Curtius, an slightly bald and of medium stature, said he favored the one-third reduction by every nation of armaments and hoped Germany would be supported in its plea for equal treatment.

"Our demand is not a demand for competition in armaments," he declared. "We merely want enough for defense. However, we would be willing to put even that aside if an agreement could be reached between Germany and France."

While Dr. Curtius refused to be drawn into any comment of the present action of the Leipzig State Court in giving President von Hindenburg unlimited powers, he did display a lively interest in the American political battle.

"I've been following all the campaign broadcasts of Hoover and Roosevelt," he said.

Dr. Curtius, a political ally of Stresemann, former leader of the government, was former minister from 1929 to 1931.

NOMINEES KEEP UP BIDS FOR SUPPORT

Trumbull, Cross and Levitt Continue Their Intensive Campaign In State.

By Associated Press
Alfred E. Smith came to Connecticut today to receive fresh expressions of admiration from Democrats of the state who aided him in his unsuccessful fight in Chicago for the presidential nomination.

Although party leaders had tried for weeks to have him speak in the State, the former New York governor, invading New England in the interest of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket, ruled out speech-making in Connecticut to save his ailing throat as much as possible for his speeches at Providence and Boston.

Stops at Bridgeport and New London and a ten minute halt at New Haven were his New England itinerary.

Governor W. L. Cross, state chairman David Wilson and other party leaders went to Stamford to board Smith's private car for the trip across the State.

Campaigns Speed Up
Smith was one of several National leaders of various political affiliations expected to visit the State before the windup of the campaign. His passage through the State gave additional impetus to the platform battle being waged with growing intensity in all corners of Connecticut by candidates for National and state offices.

Three gubernatorial nominees continued their bid for support in speeches tonight. In Torrington, Governor Cross charged Republicans with blocking several of his proposals, including the old age pension, investigation of public utility rates and reorganization of state departments.

His Republican opponent, former Governor J. H. Trumbull, praised the Republican Legislature before a Shelton audience for providing for a state referendum on prohibition.

Excellent Fore Sight
"I believe," Trumbull said, the Republican legislature which made the referendum possible had excellent foresight and showed a commendable spirit of fair play in giving the voters such a clean cut opportunity.

Albert Levitt, the Independent Republican nominee, recommended in a speech in Hartford the establishment of a $50,000,000 fund to provide half time employment for 100,000 persons now out of work. He also assailed the Republicans' claim of sound state finances and charged Governor Cross with making "deals to get the big offices like judgeships, commissionerships and heads of departments."

Frederick H. Payne, assistant secretary of war, carried to Bridgeport the campaign in President Hoover's behalf. He asserted the Democrats are "untried, uncertain, evasive as to what they will do if given National power."

ROCKVILLE ANNUAL CITY CLEAN-UP COMPLETED IN A DAY

Extra Force of Workers Makes It Possible To Collect Rubbish In Short Time This Year.

The fall clean-up of tin cans in this city took out all the city help and trucks on Wednesday and lasted but a day, according to an announcement made at the meeting of the City Council held in the Memorial Building on Tuesday night. In previous years the work was done in two or three days. But due to the increased force of workers the collections were completed sooner than expected. Superintendent George B. Milne, was highly commended on the good work of the department of which he has been the head for several years.

Resolutions on the death of the late Captain Stephen J. Tobin were adopted at the meeting. Several petitions were also granted. Mayor A. E. Waite presided.

Fire Department Meetings
The companies of the Rockville Fire Department will hold their regular monthly meetings next week on Tuesday night at the Rock & Ladder Company.

Emblem Club Card Party
The Rockville Emblem Club held a public card party at the Elks Home on Wednesday afternoon. There was a large number present. Prizes were awarded Mrs. Carl Frutkin, Mrs. Arthur Vincent of this city and Mrs. James Foley of Manchester. There was a social hour and refreshments.

Plans will be completed by the members and committee for the Firemen's Bowling League to be held this winter. It is expected the Ellington, Tolland, Stafford and the four local companies will join the league.

It was reported that several slot machines have been taken from several of the stores in town. It was rumored that warrants had been issued under the gambling laws, but before the papers were served a couple of men appeared with trucks and removed the machines. A man from East Hartford is alleged to have been in charge for a New York firm.

May 15, Be Reopened
The Sophomore Class of the Rockville High school will present a play on "Paranoid" Teachers night which is to be held noon entitled "Spreading the News." The following have been selected to take part: James Redmond, John Halloran, Stella Novak, James Dick, Warren Reynolds, Thomas Lorus, Alvinus Cieschowski.

Payette E. Hopkins
Payette E. Hopkins of 9 Lawrence street, died at his home on Tuesday evening about 9 o'clock, following an illness which covered a period of several months.

Mr. Hopkins has lived in Rockville for the past 60 years, and was one of the most highly respected citizens of the city. For 52 years he was overseer in the winding department of the Belding Bros. Silk Mill giving up work when the mill closed several years ago. He was a member of the Rockville Baptist church and the United Workmen of America.

The Ladies Aid society of the M. E. church will hold a meeting on Friday afternoon at the M. E. parsonage on Union street. Plans will be completed for the annual fair to be held on November 4.

Miss Helen Finney of Malden Lane is spending a few days with relatives in New York city.

The Silver Cross society of St. John's Episcopal church will hold a public card party tonight in the parish rooms on Ellington avenue.

Supper will be served at 6:15 p. m. Matters of importance will also be discussed.

Model Club Officers
The Model Club of the Rockville High school has elected its officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, Stanley Flowers, vice-president, Edward Wochomurka, secretary and treasurer, Frederick Schutz. Meetings are being held each Thursday afternoon, with Kenneth Little of the High school faculty in charge.

MacCracken To Speak Here
William F. MacCracken, former Assistant Secretary of Commerce in charge of Aeronautics, will be the speaker at a Republican Rally to be held in Rockville on November 5 with John A. Danaher candidate for secretary of the state. Announcement to this effect was made on Tuesday by the speakers bureau at Republican State Headquarters. Other announcements of rallies were also made.

Congregational Women To Meet
The Council of Congregational Women will meet with Mrs. David

J. Hondow of Elm street on Tuesday afternoon, November 1. Mrs. Walter Driscoll and Miss Marion Butler will be in charge. The subject will be "China." A large gathering is expected. There will be a social hour.

Friendly Class Social
The Friendly Class of Union Congregational church will hold its regular monthly social and refreshments in the church social rooms on Wednesday evening, November 2. There will be a program of entertainment and refreshments will be served. Mrs. Mary Gregus, chairman of a play to be presented to the public in the near future, will give a report on the progress being made. The following members are in charge of the social Wednesday night: Mrs. Mary Gregus, Mrs. John Alley, Mrs. Ellen Fias, Mrs. Arthur Hickey, Mrs. Mary Drummond, Dr. Earl C. Northrup and Luther H. Fuller.

FUR DECORATIONS ARE COMING BACK

Mink and Ermine Making Appearance At Fashionable New York Affairs.

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The mink and the ermine have been brought right into the ballroom this fall, and the wolf at the door had best keep a firm grip on his belt.

Fur, it has been suddenly rediscovered, can be ornamental as well as useful, and fashion designers are finding new places to put fur trimmings.

A glance around at a supper club these nights shows fur doing duty on the bodies of evening gowns, for décollete trims, shoulder caps or off-shoulder draperies, and on the collars of evening coats.

In the widows along Fifth avenue and street coats with oversleeves of fur, or with a combination of collar and oversleeves which gives the effect of a loose fur capelet.

At the Mayfair Club the other night, one of the screen's best-dressed women wore a white satin gown with off-shoulder draperies of dark mink, and with bands of the same fur giving the skirt a tiered effect. Another leader of fashion wore a particularly swaggy black velvet coat with ermine collar, fastening in its simplicity.

Ermine Bodice
A schiaparelli evening gown in one of the stores combines an ermine bodice and silk jersey skirt with striking effect.

The vogue of oversleeves for street coats has led to some bizarre results, usually appealing but occasionally startling. Among the more successful attempts at novelty is a mainbocher coat shown in one fashionable shop. This coat of black diagonal wool has an outstanding jabot collar of kid caracul, with circular lampshade sleeves, of elbow length superimposed over the fabric sleeves.

Another smart coat of cashmere broadcloth uses Persian broadtail for its standing collar and loose slashed oversleeves. It is cut on semi-fitted lines, and the fur sleeves are so voluminous that the slashing gives the effect of a loose capelet.

Capes, incidentally, have an important place in the newest evening mode.

Workers Are Advised TO VOTE FOR HOOVER

Ansonia, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The H. C. Cook Company, large manufacturers here have sent a circular letter to each employe calling their attention to the present industrial conditions and the effect that the results of the coming election are likely to have on them. The officials of the company, while not trying to dictate in any way in the matter, plainly advise that their workers vote for President Hoover.

The letter in part follows: "Every one of voting age should vote on November 2. You are free to vote as you choose, none of us will question you. If we know you are going to vote for the other man we will still feel the same toward you."

"This is such an important election and there is so much talk from both Republicans and Democrats, we thought you might like to know how the officers of your company are going to vote and why."

SCHOOLS TO CLOSE AS TEACHERS MEET

State Convention Being Held Tomorrow—Trade Sessions In Hartford.

All of the public schools in Manchester including the State Trade school will be closed tomorrow for conventions. The Connecticut State Teachers' Association is holding conventions in Hartford, Bridgeport, New London and New Haven. For Trade schools and the entire public as well, the Connecticut Section of the American Vocational Association, will be held at the Hotel Bond and Hartford Trade school.

The general meeting of the teachers' convention in Hartford will be held at the Bunnell Memorial Hall where the gathering will be welcomed by Mayor Rankin. Dr. Margaret Kelly, principal of the City Normal school, will talk on the "Common Way to Culture." Several sectional meetings will be conducted. The general theme of the convention is that "Cultural growth should appear throughout all stages of life."

The members of trade school teachers at which the public is welcome to attend, will be held throughout the day at the Hotel Bond and Hartford Trade school. The program opens at 9:30 with section meetings in vocational home making, metal trades and industries, building trades and vocational agriculture. The vocational rehabilitation section meets at the trade school at 10 o'clock. Lunch will be served at 7 o'clock at the Bond followed by the business section.

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS
Get quick relief from neuralgic pain, rheumatic pain, neuritis, headache, sinusitis, colds, coughs, chest colds by rubbing plenty of Home Remedy (Laxative) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain, but it is still in sink down and soothe the pain or loosen the chest cold. The drug, in any drug that is powerful enough to "burn" or loosen is there could not be good for you.

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Home Remedy by name (called "Red-It" in English). There are many cheap imitations which do not loosen the chest cold or soothe the pain. This is why they are cheap. That's why they are ineffective. Find out Red-It and you will get real results.

SOLDIERS GET LOST
Asuncion, Paraguay, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A skirmish in the Gran Chaco in which Paraguayan troops took a number of Bolivian prisoners was reported today by the war ministry.

The bulletin also told of an incident in which three Bolivian soldiers walked into a Paraguayan outpost with their hands in the air to report that four officers and 170 men of their regiment were lost in the jungle and perhaps dying of hunger and thirst. The Paraguayan forces sent out searchers.

THE MONEY FOR JOBS
 As the Manchester, Emergency Employment Association again picks up the burden of co-operation with the town government in preventing winter suffering among the unemployed it must be conscious that it is tackling a bigger and more difficult problem than that of last year.
 While it may be true enough that there are valid indications of an "up-turn" in general business, with some very encouraging gains in employment, there is no reason to believe that the betterment of conditions can be so rapid as to make itself appreciably felt in the relief situation before next spring. When Charity Commissioner Waddell says that the effects of unemployment will probably be more cruelly manifest during the coming winter than ever before there is no reason to doubt the accuracy of his prediction. With a town relief appropriation obviously altogether inadequate to take care of the needs of the dependent families and the town government harassed by well nigh insupportable fiscal problems, it is clear enough that the Emergency Unemployment Association is facing a heavy responsibility.

With the experience of last winter as a substantial guide and with the added advantage of the energetic and capable leadership of Frank Cheney, Jr., it is altogether reasonable to expect that the association will accomplish much in the way of providing emergency employment. It did a good job last winter. It is to be anticipated that it will do a better one this winter—because it knows more about this kind of work and because the need is sure to be greater.

Organization, planning and tireless labor can do a great deal. But the blood in the veins of this class of relief work, as of all classes, is money. The best will in the world, the keenest intelligence and the warmest and most hearty purpose will not avail much if there are not enough funds to meet the situation.

We do not know what plans are in the mind of the association for financing emergency employment during the next six months; but we do know that whatever those plans are they will fall short of complete fulfillment unless there is, this fall and winter, a new and profound realization on the part of many Manchester people of their duty to share, to a much greater extent than ever before, that which they have with those who have nothing.

The system of financing emergency employment last year was far from ineffective; it bore fruit; it brought results. But it bore with disproportionate severity upon two classes of people, the employed workers and the very small group of the very well-to-do. The people who did not do their proportionate bit—who were never effectively reached—and never yet have been effectively reached—are that very considerable element who do not consider themselves as rich or even moderately well-to-do but who nevertheless have reserves ample to security, who enjoy moderate incomes but who, perhaps more than any other class in the community, have tightened their pursestrings in fear lest their security be sacrificed.

Unfortunately there are a good many of these; a good many in Manchester as everywhere else. Good citizens, well disposed people, nice people—who are not doing and never have done their part in helping their fellow men, in this great emergency, to preserve the health of their families and their own self respect. Together they constitute a potential source of emergency unemployment funds that may mean all the difference between getting through the winter successfully and reducing the jobless to despair.

eat tasks confronting the Emergency Employment Association is to evolve some plan for inducing these heretofore financial untouchables to make, as other folks are making, some real sacrifices in the cause of humanity.

FOOD ORDERS
 The system of provision stores ordered upon by the dealers and the Selection of the town of Manchester at Tuesday's conference assuredly does not err on the side of too strict limitations upon the right of the beneficiary to choose his own bill of fare. The person who cannot select from the list of commodities approved by the town authorities, a sustaining, wholesome and balanced diet for his family must be sorely afflicted with notions. It is probable that the variety of foods available under the new order system is just about five times as extensive as that within the reach of the moderately well-to-do family of the period of the Civil War.

At the same time the fixing of limits to the gastronomic aspirations of relief beneficiaries, whereby beneficiaries will be prevented from squandering their order credits on grocery store luxuries, cannot fail to operate to the advantage of everybody. Of particular value in the new arrangement is the agreement of the food dealers to supply advance weekly quotations of prices for the entire approved list. With the institution of the system of vouchers, by which at any time it will be possible to check back the list of supplies obtained on any particular order, there would seem to have been evolved a workable arrangement under which the assisted family will get the right kind of things at as little cost to the town as is possible without resorting to absolute rationing.

We may have to come eventually to the latter recourse if these days of depression continue a long time but there is more reason to believe that we shall not be compelled to do so than that we shall. Until we do have to, the system just devised would appear to be about as good a one as is likely to be found.

OUT OF THE PAST
 At New London Governor Cross varied his customary practice of being merely futile in his speech making and became nasty. He made the bald declaration that Connecticut manufacturers, "as in previous years, are intimidating workmen, wherever they have any, to line up with the Republican organization and vote the Republican ticket."

Probably Governor Cross thought this was a good thing to say because he happened to remember having heard some Democratic campaign orator say it away back in 1884, before the days of the secret ballot, when bosses of both parties did in fact have representatives at the polls to see that their employees voted "right." As to the accusation having any relevancy to the present times or the current campaign, the governor might with just as much sense have said that Noah was hiding in the hills of Barkhamstead, prepared to have all the animals vote for Hoover and Trumbull on election day. That would have been no sillier.

Governor Cross cannot bring the evidence of one single instance of any Connecticut manufacturer—and in this must be included Democrats and Republicans alike—making any attempt to coerce his employees politically in the last twelve months, including this one. Any such action on the part of an employer would be absolutely certain to react in a manner exactly opposite to his desire—and well he knows it.

Governor Cross is evidently older than his years. He falls into the mental weakness of confusing long gone days with the present hour. Forty or fifty years ago this talk of employer coercion was standard stuff. Today it is not only without shadow of truth, it is a confession of a dislocated memory.

WHAT'S A CENTURY?
 The following brief note was sent to us pinned to a clipping from Tuesday's Herald of an item describing an old British coin plowed up by a Manchester resident. The item stated that the date of the coin was 1723 and then proceeded to say that the head portrayed on the face of the coin was that of George IV. This is the note:

The Manchester Herald:—
 Gentlemen: Something is a little wrong here. George I reigned 1714 to 1727. George IV from 1830 to 1836.
 Truly yours,
 Austin Cheney.
 You're telling us, Mr. Cheney?
 It was about two minutes after the first paper came off the press Wednesday that the bright young man who wrote that item discovered that he had made an error of just one nice round hundred years in the regal activities of the fourth George and had trotted that worthy sov-ern sign onto the stage a century ahead of his cue. We have been using smelling salts and other restoratives on that young man ever since and the whole force has united in assuring him that if he is good and tries very hard he may yet live it down.

As to the copy reader who passed the blunder, he is hard boiled in the waters of so many mistakes so much worse than this one that he hasn't even bothered to go afloat hunting, though he knows intimately the abiding place of alibis by the million.

After all, what does a mere century amount to among friends—and Georges? There'll be plenty of centuries after all the Georges are dead—than Pharaoh's old cat.

WATCHES VS. DOPE
 It is somewhat of a relief to hear of a smuggler who smuggles watch movements instead of narcotics or booze. To be sure it was an unfriendly thing that Richard Bieshous did to the watch factory hands at Waltham, Waterbury and Elgin when he had 28,000 Swiss watch movements shipped to him at New York from Belgium in bales of rabbit skins, expecting of course to sell them in place of 28,000 watch movements that otherwise might be manufactured in America. A hundred thousand dollars worth of watch movements mean quite a lot of work, and Waltham, Waterbury and Elgin need all of that commodity that they can get. So that Mr. Bieshous deserves to be rated among the Public Enemies.

However, a watch smuggler is so much nicer a person than a dope smuggler, and so much more unusual than a rum runner, that it is impossible to note the revival of plain, old fashioned gyping of the customs without a feeling that the smuggling business is getting, if not worthier, at least a little cleaner.

IN NEW YORK
Going Places—Seeing Things
 New York, Oct. 27.—Merely another Broadway floor show opening at the Paramount grill, to all intents and purposes—and with a bit of human interest, for Eddie Jackson was to go on alone "in songs." Maybe you don't get the plot. . . . But just around the corner, in the biggest of bright light the name of Jimmy "Schnozzle" Durants is emblazoned. . . . And time was, way back when Broadway was more fun, when Clayton, Jackson and Durants ran their own club and formed a team of the like of which has never been equaled for popularity. . . . But they broke up and "Schnozzle" went out to Hollywood and rang up a reputation that got him in the big money. Folk began to forget that there was a Jackson and a Clayton.

So Eddie Jackson came on "in songs." And for six minutes, the cheer leaders greeted him. So he got back on "the map." And will doubtless stay there all winter.

Broadway Sidelight
 About noon time on a recent day, a young man named Barton MacLean walked into the offices of Arthur Hopkins and tossed a play manuscript on the desk. . . . "What you'd best do is to read this. Think you'll like it." And the young man walked out. So unusual had been the procedure that Hopkins began to read at once. At 5 o'clock a purchase order had been given. . . . Just the other night, Hopkins brought to the street a melodrama called "Rendezvous." And still they say Broadway is a hard street to crack.

Another Wallace Mystery
 At the opening of "Criminal at Large," was Johnny Weaver, creator of "Poems in America," trying to get the London fog out of his lungs. It is a mystery play, one of the last of the late Edgar Wallace, who suddenly died in Hollywood. . . . "What a neat idea it would be to build a mystery around the death of Wallace," suggests Johnny. . . . Why not? . . . The most versatile detective story writer in the world dies mysteriously—well, for the purpose of the plot. And far from his native land. . . . Who killed him? . . . Maybe a reader! . . . Or—oh well, write your own!

Night Scene
 So to the opening of the Barney Gallant Greenwich Village spot, where everyone you ver met shows up. . . . Barney is not his own master of ceremonies this year. . . . Walter O'Keefe was doing his stunt there just two seasons ago. . . . Helen Morgan dancing by, exotic—but plump! Well, she can afford to be. . . . Writers, artists, players. . . . Funny, you see the same gang wherever you go, night after night. . . . Don't they ever go home? . . . I get paid for it. I have to go. . . . But they just go. . . .

A Fellow Can't Rest!
 They're all out again at the new and very swanky Montparnasse Club, with Charley Lucas, who has entertained all over the world, in charge. . . . But there's Fay Marie, the most shapely character player, professional artist and actress who whispers that she'll have a housewarming Sunday in her new Ambassador Hotel apartment. Oh, well, you can't even have Sundays to yourself at this season! . . . And that quietest fellow, and most unassuming, you'll see at any of the spots just now—Adolph Menjou. He works at fitting only on the screen. GILBERT SWAN.

TREATMENT AND PREVENTING INFLUENZA
 In yesterday's article I explained some of the causes and symptoms of influenza. It is very important that one know how to properly care for this disease. If an influenza epidemic should occur in your neighborhood, the best plan is to start at once to clean out your body so that you will not be as liable to develop this ailment which has taken its toll of so many lives. You should be careful not to tire yourself out by worry or overwork. Go out into the open for at least an hour each day; begin to develop strength and soundness by exercising and taking long walks. Do not neglect your intestinal elimination, using one or two enemas each day if necessary. If you feel the first symptoms of influenza which I described in yesterday's article, do not delay in giving home and going to bed. Keep on your day's work because most of the deaths from influenza are due to neglect in the beginning.

The first thing to do is to use an enema of two quarts of warm water and thoroughly cleanse the bowels. Next take a hot tub bath, lying in water as hot as can be borne, for about twenty minutes. The temperature should be about 104 to 108 degrees fahr. After the bath, dry quickly and wrap yourself in some heavy woolen blankets, then lie down in bed and have somebody else place plenty of covers on top, and a hot water bottle at your feet. You will need some assistance because you must not uncover yourself once you begin to sweat. The bedclothes should be well tucked around you so that no air will be drawn under the covers if you move about. Drink a glass of hot water every thirty minutes as long as you are awake. You will soon begin to sweat and will continue to do so until your fever has disappeared. If the head becomes congested, apply a cold compress to the forehead. The sweating treatment should be continued for several hours, then the patient should take a tepid bath and return to bed between clean bed clothing. If the fever continues, an occasional short cool shower may be followed by a brisk rub-down. Repeat this sweating treatment every day for the first two or three days. One enema should be used morning and evening, using a bedpan if necessary, as the patient should not be expected to get out of bed at all. The patient should not be given food of any kind except water which may be flavored with lemon or orange juice.

The patient should not under any circumstances attempt to go out, or return to work, until he has entirely recovered. Once your temperature has become normal and your appetite has returned you may start combinations of food. However, you very likely will not feel hungry for several days, and it is advisable to only use plenty of water and acid fruit juices during this period.

The theory that the body requires nourishing food during an acute attack of influenza is very wrong and has probably resulted in many deaths which could have been prevented by the methods I have just outlined.

MARVELOUS MANHATTAN
 BY WILLIAM GAINES
 New York—Too bad the new subway is losing more money than it was expected to lose, but the situation does make things mighty nice for the passengers.

Everybody knew the Eighth Avenue line was going to run in the red for a couple of years or so, but when only 5,118,803 passengers were recorded for the first month, the city really had something to worry about. More than 7,000,000 passengers had been estimated as the probable first month's haul, and the 5,118,803 riders found plenty of room and no station jams corresponding to those on the other lines. I've been an Eighth Avenue rider myself almost a dozen times and never failed to find a seat, even during rush hours. That's something, if you know your subway. New York's cherished 5 cent fare, however, is not supposed to guarantee elbow room. Some of the 5,118,803 won't be surprised if, some of these days, they get a bill for the luxury they have been enjoying, in the form of a hoisted elbow and a smashed nose. So say some of the politicians.

Anything to spoil a fellow's ride.

Subway Serenades
 Those very noisy and discordant little bands that invade the subway coaches are a problem for the transit companies and the law. Usually there are four or five players in such groups, who sneak into the trains with their instruments under cover—horns, violins, accordions, drums and an occasional unfamiliar brass or string contraption.

The group hogs enough room for 20 straphangers, and gets into action between stations. The music is deposited in the hat, or maybe the involuntary listeners only hope their contributions will have some effect in quieting the players.

After the bandmen have raised havoc in one coach, they pass on to another and another, until a guard finally is made aware of their presence. Then they are ousted at the next station or delivered into the hands of a subway officer.

This subway serenading is not humored by the law. Not even licensed street bands have the privilege of so annoying the passengers. But lectures in court and fines, have not yet eradicated the nuisance.

Panhandlers' Song
 The first smash-hitting song to come across the footlights this fall is about a panhandler who needs and deserves a dime. It's the big feature of a new revue.

The show hadn't been running many days before the walk between Broadway and the theater, at West Forty-fourth, was lined with panhandlers every night when the curtain came down. They found good picking in the outpouring audience, maligned by the sentimentalitty of the papers and the theater, at West Forty-fourth.

Do the "pans" read the dramatic cliche in the manner you describe, but I could not determine this without an examination. Only an examination would tell whether the condition is caused by local disease or some systemic affection, as from the thyroid gland, etc.

(Sleeping Soundly)
 Question: Rip Van W. asks: "Do you think sleep before midnight is better than after?"

Answer: Scientists have found that there is no difference in sleep. You will sleep just as soundly before twelve as after and vice versa. The first few hours of sleep are the deepest, however, and a person who goes to bed at nine o'clock will sleep the soundest from then until twelve o'clock; if he goes to bed at twelve he will sleep his soundest from about twelve until three or four o'clock.

(Blip J.M. asks: "What causes the eyelashes, eyebrows, etc. to fall out and the eyelids to remain more or less inflamed?"

Answer: There is a disease called blepharitis which affects the glands and follicles of the eyelashes with itching and scaling. The usual causes are: unhygienic surroundings, toxemia, exposure to dust, gas fumes, lack of sleep, lack of cleanliness of the eyes, nasal affection, and the need of glasses. Of course, there are a number of other diseases which may affect the eyelashes in the manner you describe, but I could not determine this without an examination. Only an examination would tell whether the condition is caused by local disease or some systemic affection, as from the thyroid gland, etc.

Macico has turned back to its owners the operation of the South-eastern Pacific railroad of Mexico. Apparently everything didn't go so scheduled.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington
 WHAT'S THE USE OF HOLDING ELECTIONS IF YOU DON'T GET THE RESULTS YOU WANT?
 ARE ALWAYS RIGHT?

Washington. — Although these presidential straw votes or polls will be badly discredited if Mr. Hoover happens to win the election, they stand to become an extremely important factor in our political system if their accuracy is once more attested at the ballot box.

Those who want to get facetious about it will be asking again: Why go to all the expense of a presidential election when the Literary Digest is willing to conduct one free of charge?

More seriously, there is little doubt that politicians and campaign contributors will be less disposed to go to a lot of useless expense and effort if they are completely convinced weeks before election that they have a hopeless cause.

Straw votes never before attracted anywhere near as much attention. There are so many important ones that you can often check any given poll with several others, which makes the poll method of prediction much harder to abuse than it would be with only one poll in progress. Politicians wait for the published returns from week to week and then whoop or turn pale. A learned book has been written about the polls and their uses, and the increasing seriousness with which they have been taken.

The Republicans are now spluttering about these straw votes just as the Democrats did in 1928, when the poll returns showed Hoover defeating Smith by a large margin. Republican Chairman Sanders gives the party's official reply when he says the poll votes were all taken before Hoover's Des Moines speech, that Hoover makes "millions of votes" every time he speaks and that polls have been wrong by as many as five million votes.

Perhaps last minute switches of sentiment do prevent a man from the accuracy of the polls. If Sanders is right the poll business will surely go into a marked decline. But the polls have picked the winner in the last few elections and usually the so-called switches of sentiment in the month or two of a campaign have been figments of the imagination. Nor do many cold-blooded observers believe that there is now in progress any substantial swing to Hoover.

And one is forced to speculate rather furiously as to what presidential politics will be like in the future if everyone is going to know in September what is going to happen in November.

Among the voters the result may be to produce a situation such as where the voters, having done their duty at the primary, stay away from the elections in large numbers because they know the Democratic ticket is going to win. . . .

And the great who planned to toss $50,000 or so into a campaign post with the idea of collecting a diplomatic post from the administration is likely to hold his hand if he thinks his party hasn't an outside chance.

It is also contended that the supremacy of one party in a national poll tends to attract a large number of voters, who are most of all anxious to be on the winning side, thereby making things so much harder for the party which is trying to swing popular sentiment in the face of adverse poll results.

Another possibility is that politicians who figure they are licked—no longer able to kid themselves, as they have often done in the past—will adopt wild and desperate measures at the last moment in frantic efforts to snatch victory from the jaws of defeat.

As the mind roams further possibilities become actually nightmarish. Imagine, for instance, a major party presidential candidate who tries trouncing in the polls. He recognizes the infallibility of the polls and realizes that he is about to become the worst licked man in history. Suddenly he throws up his hands and yells to his campaign manager: "To hell with all this! Nominate somebody else. I'm going home!"

RICH POOR MAN
 Cleveland, O.—Even though he had $2,000 in his pockets John Strowkowski, 38, was down in the dumps. And that's where the police found him. And why an affluent citizen should be living in a city dump is something officials are trying to learn from Simkowski's relatives, when they find them. Simkowski's wealth was revealed by his checkbook, which is being held by police while his own languishes in the psychiatric ward of County Jail.

FLOWERS HIS UNDOING
 Jacksonville, Fla.—The love of Otis McHenry for beautiful flowers put him in jail. McHenry, carrying a bunch of rosebuds, asked Fred St. Boston if he wanted to buy some and have them set out in his yard. Boston said "yes," and Otis went to work with a spade. Meanwhile, Boston remembered having read of some bushy thefts from the city's parks. He phoned police, who questioned McHenry until he confessed.

The headline, "Chinaman ready to buy $100,000 worth of bonds," is a mistake. It was a headline in a newspaper in New York.

SITTING BULL IS GIVEN HIS DUES AS REAL LEADER
 New Biography Reveals Heroic Sioux as Warrior, Not "Medicine Man"

A great warrior and an admirable statesman gets his just dues in "Sitting Bull," by Stanley Vestal, and I am glad to recommend the book to you as one of the most interesting biographies of the year. . . . Vestal went to what must have been a terrific amount of work to get the real facts on the life of the famous Sioux chieftain. He sets forth here his findings, and they are worth reading.

Sitting Bull, he insists, was not a mere "medicine man." He was a real tribal chief—the most able and influential man the plains Indians produced in their final struggle for independence.

He won his position through great personal bravery, high ability as a hand-to-hand fighter and as a military strategist; the most able and influential man the plains Indians produced in their final struggle for independence.

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY
 LUENDORFF RESIGNS
 On Oct. 27, 1918, General Ludendorff, first quartermaster general of the German army, resigned after the Reichstag adopted a bill placing the military command under the control of the civil government. General Groener succeeded Ludendorff. The crown council and dignitaries of the entire empire conferred. The Italian and British forces around the Piave in a new drive toward the Isonzo, capturing several towns, 9,000 Austrians and 61 guns. The French advanced on a 15-mile front between the Oise and Sarre, gaining five miles at some points.

Germany answered President Wilson's note, asserting that the peace negotiations were being conducted by a People's government and that Germany was awaiting proposals for an armistice.

AIR DEBATE FIGURES
 Hartford, Conn.—The passenger death rate in airplanes in 1932 is set forth in a report by the Rockwell International Airplane Travelers Bureau. It shows that in 1932 there were 1,000 deaths out of five million passengers, compared with 1,000 deaths out of five million passengers in 1931.

REAL DIXIELAND OLD MANHATTAN

History of Famous Song Revived—Author Born 117 Years Ago This Week.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 27.—(AP)—The original Dixieland—so say some authorities—is old Manhattan; and the song itself, which makes southerners the world over choke and sob, or shout and fight, was written by a Yankee.

His father helped slaves escape from the south, and the son, quite unknowingly, gave a nation of gray warriors a battle song.

There are three schools that disagree over the origin of Dixie as it applies to the south. Some say it came from Dixon of Mason and Dixon's line.

Dixie's negroes led a life of ease on the Manhattan estate because there was no cotton to pick and no tobacco to hoe.

It was in 1859 that Emmett sang Dixie in New Orleans. The south had never heard it before.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Toppenish, Wash.—Hogs were traded for ducks, sheep for hawks, grain for groceries, and chickens for a load of straw here in an off-day.

Brookfield, Mo.—Judge George W. Bailey, who handed down a decision in favor of Santa Claus, has begun his fiftieth year on the bench.

Chicago—Triplets born in the near future in Chicago won't have to be without cribs to sleep in.

Chicago—A more or less permanent link, says Dr. L. H. Wolf, may be in store for the woman who wears a slanting hat with a brim seen constantly by one eye.

Franklin, Pa.—School children trooped into Nick Costanzo's candy shop and, opening their history books, caused Nick to flush with pride and pleasure.

Chicago—Along with the bouquets World Fair officials have received over their coming exposition, they now have a brick, but what a brick!

San Francisco—So, the 18-year-old bride was given the $50,000 and a honeymoon to Hawaii was next in order.

Philadelphia—A picture that got front page display in a newspaper got Mrs. S. Parker Chase a divorce in Delaware county court yesterday.

Freeport, Ill.—Why wait until death comes to hear one's funeral sermon, Mrs. Mary Hall, 79, asked herself. Then she summoned the Rev. George Auman, pastor of the United Brethren church and had him preach her funeral sermon.

Kansas City—The duck hunting of Mayor Bryce E. Smith can only be described as deluxe, at a lake on his farm not far from the city is a heated and lighted blind, in which also can be found magazines, cigars, a medicine chest, weapons, ammunition and sometimes food.

Yarmouth, N. S.—Keith Grey, while going through a thicket near his home and was shot in the neck by a neighbor who mistook the sound for the snort of a deer.

Greenburg, Pa.—It's going to be a tough winter with blizzards, high winds and snow galore, the weather sharps assert, listing the following reasons:

Wabash, Ind.—Dave Lynn thinks he's the "forgotten man." When C. O. Jellison couldn't find his automobile he reported it stolen.

Baldwin, Kas.—Baker University officials announced today that for reasons of economy the homecoming celebration, and "Dads and Mothers" days would be combined this year in a single celebration.

Chicago—Machine guns being more or less dangerous, Miss Doris Berg, clerk in a telegraph office, summoned police when two strangers walked in with two heavy cases, which she believed contained such weapons.

AMERICANS PREY ON FOREIGN BORN

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Secretary Doak said today that while the Labor Department has been "vigorously attempting to enforce the immigration law, it is our most vigorous activities have been to apprehend and convict American citizens who are guilty of robbing the foreign-born people."

"We discovered," he said, "not only out-of-the-service men working this racket but even some of those in the immigration service were levying tribute on the poor, unsuspecting foreign-born people here."

"This was a vicious and malicious falsehood, it is never considered the political angle of the situation and it certainly has never entered into my enforcement of the immigration laws."

"On the contrary, I hunted down these racketeers, these slave drivers, these damned crooks who had been preying on our foreign-born under the guise of being their benefactors."

Montreal, Oct. 27.—(AP)—One party to the three-cornered arrangement by which Russian crude oil is traded for Canadian aluminum products has decided to withdraw from the transaction.

BUT SIX CLAIMS LEFT TO WENDEL FORTUNE

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Consul General James Floyd Dew, 89, and William Robert Dew, 81, brothers of Beckley, W. Va., today withdrew their claims to the estate of Ella V. Von E. Wendel, late multimillionaire Fifth avenue resident.

John H. Palmer, attorney for the brothers, who had been directed to produce his clients in court today, announced at the opening of a hearing before Surrogate James A. Foley that while he believed the claims of the brothers to fourth-degree relationship valid, he had been unable to obtain proof.

With the disposal of their claims and the dismissal of three fifth-degree claims because of non-appearance, only six claims remain to be heard of the 2,300 persons throughout the world who have asserted relationship to Miss Wendel.

The three claims dismissed today were those of Emma W. Webster, William S. Wendel and John L. Wendel, whose counsel withdrew from the case recently.

The claims still to be passed upon include Thomas Patrick Morris, Scotman now living in Brooklyn; Mattie B. Margaret O. and Mattie Dew, Addie D. Way and May D. Abrose.

Nine fifth-degree claimants were recognized as relatives of Miss Wendel at hearings last summer.

Cleveland, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The search for Ebert Holleran, 8, who failed to return home last Saturday, went into its fifth day today with the boy's fate as much a mystery as ever.

A police theory that the boy might be wandering about the city was somewhat strengthened by reports of several persons that they had seen a boy resembling him.

Stratford, Oct. 27.—(AP)—William M. Clegg, Democratic candidate for Congressman at large, promised the introduction by the Democrats of a bill to relieve what he declared as "sweatshop conditions" in factories, in an address today before a group of women voters.

He prepared address, he said "Despite the frequent claims of our political opponents that factory conditions in Connecticut are ideal, we find that quite the reverse is true in some localities."

Inspectors working under a Democratic Labor Commission Joseph Tone, have rooted out many of these evils. The next session of the General Assembly will witness the introduction by Democrats of legislation to definitely put an end to the sad conditions now existing.

BRAUN TO ASSIST NATIONAL REGIME

Berlin, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Premier Otto Braun of Prussia, recognized yesterday by the Supreme Court as the constitutional head of the Prussian state, indicated today after a Cabinet meeting that he is willing to co-operate with the Federal authorities who took over the administration of Prussia last July.

The Supreme Court decision which recognized Braun's authority also accepted the constitutionality of the replacement by the Federal chancery of the Prussian ministry, justifying the act by the existence at the time of widespread political unrest in Prussia.

His statement Premier Braun's statement issued this afternoon read: "It is the unanimous view of the Prussian ministry that an decision of the Supreme Court is an authoritative and proper basis for disentangling this situation.

The state government will exercise them by co-operation with other responsible authorities wherever possible, and will be guided solely by the interests of the state and the Nation."

Realizes Position Premier Braun was reported as fully realizing that while he and his fellow ministers are technically in office, yet the entire executive power of Germany's largest state is in the hands of the Federal government, through Chancellor von Papen as commissioner.

The Junker head of the government appeared determined not to yield any of his power, and according to a government spokesman, under the Supreme Court decision, must retrace his steps in but one direction.

This is to revoke the appointment of the Federal representatives in the Reichsrat, or Federal Council.

HOOVER SENTIMENT GROWING STRONGER

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—James E. Garfield, secretary of the Interior in the Cabinet of President Theodore Roosevelt, visited Republican eastern campaign headquarters today and expressed the opinion President Hoover will carry Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky.

Garfield, who has made a campaign tour of the four states, called upon Senator Felix Hebert, eastern campaign manager.

"In Ohio," Garfield said, "the situation for the Republican Party has been steadily improving. Sentiment among Ohio voters since the President's speeches at Des Moines, Cleveland and Detroit has been markedly favorable. Employment conditions there are showing steady improvement. Over 4,000 men have gone back to work in the railroad shops and there has been a business revival in the Mahoning valley. The northeastern part of the state is agricultural, and it is now trending toward recovery."

"The situation in Indiana and Illinois is excellent." "In Kentucky," Garfield added, "I was astonished to find the Hoover sentiment as strong as it is."

BUTHE'S NEXT FLIGHT New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The rebuilt plane in which Ruth Nichols crashed at the start of a proposed solo trans-Atlantic flight last year was at Floyd Bennett Field today in readiness to fly westward in preparation for a solo flight by Miss Nichols from Honolulu to San Francisco.

It was learned that Miss Nichols plans to fly in the next few days to the west coast, whence she will sail with her plane for Honolulu. She plans to fly back to San Francisco as soon as weather permits. Two entries in the ill-fated Dole race of several years ago flew from California to Honolulu, but no one has flown the 2,098 reverse course projected by Miss Nichols.

MONKEY BUSINESS

Melrose, Mass., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Monkey business in a double dose had Melrose police on the jump today with the monkeys still in the lead by one mile.
Dr. C. W. Harlow came out of his house this morning to see two monkeys doing their daily don on the ridge pole of his home. Police were called but by the time they reached the doctor's house the roof of the Melrose high school had become the stage for the monkeys. While police were on their way to the high school the Simians adventured into new fields and finally wound up on the roof of a house a mile from the high school.

RECTOR APOLOGIZES

Vienna, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The rector of the University of Vienna apologized to the American minister today for a political disturbance at the university yesterday in which three American students were injured.
Glorious Stockton, the American minister, demanded tonight that the government take every precaution to safeguard American citizens. It was his second protest within a week, for another American student was injured last Thursday.
The rector promised to do everything he can to prevent a repetition of the disorders, announcing that the university will remain closed until Nov. 8.

BIG KIDNAPING PLOT

Boston, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Police feel confident that they have frustrated the planned kidnaping of a score of Greater Boston men.
Questioning of Maurice Cohen, alleged leader of the gang, which kidnaped Herman F. Rustein three weeks ago, led to the arrest of a fifth man, Benjamin Swartz, described by police as the "finger man" of the outfit.
After Cohen's arrest in a Walpole house Tuesday night, Rustein identified him as one of the men who held him captive. Police said Cohen later confessed his part in the kidnaping but declared he acted in the belief Rustein was being abducted to force him to participate in a bootlegging venture.
The five now under arrest included three men captured at a Hull cottage in which Rustein was held prisoner, Cohen and Swartz. Police said that as a result of Cohen's arrest they sought three more men—two from Philadelphia and one from New York.

LOST RING FOUND

Verona, N. Y., Oct. 27.—(AP)—A wedding ring lost 63 years ago on the George Benedict farm near here by Mrs. John James Cox, now dead, who was on her honeymoon, has been returned to her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Bierworth, at Madison, Conn. It was found by an inmate of the Rome state school in a newly plowed field, and was in perfect condition, the initials and date, September 16, 1869, being plainly visible.

WHEN A FELLOW IS OUT OF A JOB

When a man has no part in the work of the earth, when a fellow is out of a job he feels the whole blinding mistake of his birth.

When a fellow is out of a job, he feels he's no share in the whole of the plan. That he's got the mitten from Nature's own hand.

When a fellow is out of a job, he's left out behind, on the shelf he is curled.

When a fellow is out of a job, ain't no juice in the earth and no salt the sea.

When a fellow is out of a job, ain't no ginger in life in the land of the free.

When a fellow is out of a job, ain't this universe ain't what it's cracked up to be.

When a fellow is out of a job, SAM WALTER FOSS.

Ex-College Stars With New London Boy's Club

Team That Meets Red Men Here Sunday Has Imposing Lineup; Harrison Works Hard To Shape Players For Battle.

The Boys' Club of New London will bring 24 players to Manchester Sunday and will put an all-College lineup on the field against the Red Men, the first team of this caliber that the local eleven has faced thus far this season.

The list of former college players on the Boys' Club is as follows: Allen, fullback; Fordham; Hamer, r.h.b.; Gettysburg; Edward, l.h.b.; Canisius; Crowley, r.h.b.; Thomas College; Murphy, end; Manhattan; Shory, tackle; Villanova; Gilson, guard; Canisius; Moore, center, Conn. Acad.; White, guard, Providence; Mineke, tackle, Temple; Nevue, end, Ryder.

Coach Harrison is not worried over the many shining lights of the Boys' Club team and promises to have the Red Men on edge for the battle of their life. He will give his men a long hard practice Friday and Sunday morning, and will be all set to batter the collegians Sunday afternoon.

Harrison is drilling his team on interference one department in which they were weak in past games. Feet, star back, did not have many opportunities to get away for long runs last Sunday due to a lack of proper interference, and the coach is trying to remedy this glaring deficiency.

Coach Harrison is satisfied with his line for the balance of the season. He will use Squatrito, Rowe, Keefe, Spencer, Wells, Ambrose, Happen, McLaughlin, LaCoste, Furey, Bronkie, Pentore and S. Vendrillo in the line and will have a backfield composed of Groman, Feole, Mantell, Hanson, Eagleson, Angelo and two other backs not yet announced.

Red Men players are requested to report Friday night for practice at 8 o'clock and Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Fans are requested to show their tickets prominently at the game so as to assist the ticket sellers.

STAGG DECLARED PHYSICALLY FIT

Patriarch of American Football Sees Doctor and Gets a Clean Bill.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A worried old man, the lines of uncertainty written all over his brow, stepped into a doctor's office for a physical examination. An hour later, his eyes ablaze with determination, he strutted out to hand Father Time another kicking.

It was Amos Alonzo Stagg, 70-year-old patriarch of American football. "Through? Through?" he repeated. "I guess not for while yet. I'm in good physical condition. My blood pressure is 130. A lot of young men would like to be that healthy."

The physician's pronouncement of physical fitness has fired the comeback spark to a roaring flame in the Staggian heart. And today, cheered by thousands of alumni, students and an admiring administration, he appears to have clinched his campaign to stick as head football coach at Chicago, almost certainly for another year and probably for the rest of his life.

By O. W. "RED" SEVERENCE (Written For The Associated Press)

Clever coaches often break the tension of nervous football teams before a big game by resorting to comedy relief. But the great St. Mary's team of 1931 that defeated Southern California, later crowned national champions, turned the tables on Coach "Slip" Madigan before one of their big games by using this very system of psychological diversity.

St. Mary's was faculty. Southern Methodist university of Texas, then one of the two major undefeated teams and 60,000 fans were jammed in the Oakland, Calif., stadium awaiting the kickoff.

Coach Madigan, tied up at the college with head injuries, sent the team ahead to the stadium, in charge of "Toby" Hunt, St. Mary's captain.

A new gatekeeper greeted the squad with outstretched hands, but mistook Toby for the coach. "How do you do, Coach Madigan," he said, "will there be any more of your team coming through this gate?"

Toby, seizing his opportunity, solemnly assured the gatekeeper the whole squad was present and advised him to admit no one from St. Mary's without a ticket. Meanwhile, Madigan finally arrived breathlessly at the stadium, only to find a determined gate keeper blocking his way.

Indignant protests brought the response, "I'm on you. Coach Madigan went in here more than 30 minutes ago."

Saying that further argument was futile, "Slip" dashed over to the nearest ticket office and found the only seats available were in the $5.00 section. He bought one.

"On my way to the dressing room," Coach Madigan said, "I suddenly realized my boys had played a joke on me. After having a good laugh which relieved me of my intense nervousness, I found myself relaxed and capable of giving the necessary instructions before sending my team on the field."

But, most encouraging was the attendance. The fans turned out in large numbers, said the Eagles' leader for the day at least, was "out of the red."

FINANCIAL GREED OF SPORT'S SUPER STARS IS PLAYED

Hockey President Condemns Holdouts; Better Off Without These Players, He Says.

Boston, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The greed of sport's super-star figures, especially those in professional hockey, today was condemned by C. F. Adams, President of the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League and vice-president of the Boston Braves.

He pointed out that the recent epidemic of holdouts in the National Hockey circuit, notably those of Babe Siebert, Dave Trotter and Hooley Smith, not only interfered with the financial advancement of hundreds of younger players but also was "killing the goose that lays their golden egg."

"I am pleased to say," President Adams said, "that to my knowledge no Boston Bruins player is a hold-out; therefore any statement I might make about such players would not be of selfish interest, but rather I hope, for the benefit of professional sport and players in general."

"In the past years of inflation and speculation, sport has not been immune from those evils, which have so seriously affected practically every business in the entire world, whether sport, mercantile or manufacturing."

"There are in sports, as in business, so-called 'super-men,' whose performances have attracted the frown of publicity, which has possibly inflated their personal opinion of themselves."

"In this development of ego, they forget what was the foundation of their past prosperity and lucrative employment, and quite unwittingly are 'killing the goose that lays their golden egg' by their unwillingness to readjust their compensation to the present day purchasing power of the dollar."

"The actions of such a group have an effect beyond the immediate selfish interests of such individuals. They affect the possibilities of lucrative employment for hundreds of other persons and the need of investments of millions of dollars, most of which, as far as I know, have paid little or no return to their owners."

"These 'super-stars,' by demanding salaries above reasonable present day levels, are directly interfering in the financial advancement of hundreds of younger players, already in, or seeking the field of professional sport as a means of livelihood."

"Much as I regret it, I, nevertheless, have gradually formed the opinion, particularly during the past two years, that business, whether it be sports or trade, would be better off without the selfish 'super-stars.' There might be a temporary protest from the public, but with new faces in the field, old faces are soon forgotten."

"Pony" McAtee, Noted Jockey, Quits The Track—Just Tired

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Linus Robert Gerry and Marshall Field expires this year. "The duties of the sport were too exacting and I feel that I need a long rest."

McAtee's riding career is studded with victories, especially every outstanding stake on the American turf. He first gained recognition when he piloted Demrosch to victory in the 1916 Preakness.

He has won two Kentucky Derbies, with Whiskery in 1927 and Clyde Van Dusen in 1929, and three Belmont Park Futurities—Moloch Goose in 1924, High Strung in 1928 and Jamestown in 1930.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

It hasn't been two years since Tommy Loughran fought Max Baer in New York and on the same card the obscure Stanley Poreda boxed a fellow named Walter Cobb in one of the preliminary bouts.

Now Poreda, stepping up gradually to top-ranking among the heavyweights, brushes Loughran aside with a decisive victory in ten rounds in Loughran's home town.

All that goes up in boxing, must come down. Gene Tunney fought a preliminary bout to the Dempsey-Carpenter Battle of the Century at Boyle's Thirty Acres. A couple of years later he out Dempsey to ribbons in Philadelphia.

He Wanted Tunney
It was Loughran's dream to fight Gene Tunney. He declared Tunney was a "mechanical fighter" and that was the kind of a fighter easiest for him to beat.

Oh, yes, there was something else between the pair, too. Loughran and Tunney met in an eight-round bout something like ten years ago. Loughran was not more than a middleweight then, but he gave Gene as good as he sent. Tunney did fight him in the first round with a terrific right hand, but Loughran came back to outwit him.

Retreat Courtous
Years later, when Tunney was training at Speculator, N. Y., for his final fight—with Tom Heeney—Loughran motored from Philadelphia to watch him train. The night before, Loughran had fought Fets Lazo, and the boy from the mines had opened up a nasty cut over Tommy's eye.

AUBURN PLAINSMEN LATEST THREAT IN SOUTHERN CIRCUIT

Is Popular Favorite To Win Conference Title After Beating Tulane; Georgia Looms As Threat.

Atlanta, Oct. 27.—(AP)—All but six of its 22 teams either beaten or tied, mid-season finds Southern conference football with only Tennessee of the favored few still in the running.

Alabama, Tulane and Vanderbilt, other members of the "big four" picked by experts early in the season, have fallen by the wayside. Alabama and Tulane by defeat and Vanderbilt in a tie with Tulane.

But a new threat has risen from the plains of Alabama in the light but fast and ferocious Tiger of Alabama, Polytechnic Institute, better known to fans as Auburn.

A decisive victory over the championship Green Wave from Tulane has made Auburn a popular favorite to win the conference title, and, barring upsets, a tie with Tennessee probably is the only thing that will keep the Plainsmen from achieving top honors.

Auburn meets Mississippi, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina, with a good chance to overcome all of them. Georgia looms now as the greatest obstacle in its path to conference honors. Tennessee must hurdle Vanderbilt and Kentucky, as well as Duke, Mississippi State and Florida.

Auburn's light team is built around the punting and running of Jimmy Hitchcock, one of the outstanding halfbacks of the conference.

Tennessee has Beatty Feathers, who has developed into one of the greatest kickers ever to play for the Vols.

Soccer Notes By Observer

The position of the teams changed but slightly as a result of the games last Sunday. The local players of their victory over the Chance Vought eleven moved out of the cellar. The United kicked the Hartford club to the tune of six goals to nothing and consolidated their position in second place.

The choice of games for Sunday, Oct. 30th seem to be the United vs. Chance Vought. Having seen both sides I would say that the score will be close. There is little to choose between the defenses of the clubs, but the United are stronger forward.

Portuguese ... 5 0 0 10
United ... 4 1 0 8
Hartford ... 2 2 1 5
Manchester ... 1 3 1 8
Germania ... 0 4 0 0

To assist in equipping the local players with uniforms a prize drawing was started and the schedule for drawing the winners last Sunday. However, owing to the short return of blocks it was necessary to postpone the drawing of the winners until Sunday, Nov. 3.

Now that the playing personnel of the team is more or less settled, the management feels that it is time for the players to appoint a permanent captain. With this end in view a players' meeting will be held after practice on Friday night. All players are requested to make a special point of attending.

It is with regret that we learn that J. Thompson, the local's promising goalie, and one of the few who participated in the organizing of the present team, has decided to sever his connection with the team.

With Armistice day only two weeks away it is time to make the final arrangements for the game between the Old Timers and the present soccer team. The club management meets each Tuesday evening in the West Side Room. This would be glad to discuss final details with all those who are interested in placing the Old Timers team in the field.

CAN DARTMOUTH BREAK YALE JINX THIS YEAR?

YALE IS HOPEFUL OF FIRST VICTORY

Coach Believes Team Has Fine Chance Against Dartmouth This Saturday.

New Haven, Oct. 27.—The Yale eleven which faces Dartmouth Saturday will not lack training in fundamentals if Coach Mal Stevens can help it. For the second successive day, the Eli mentor drilled his charges almost exclusively yesterday in the A B C of football.

Stevens was heartened by the progress made by his squad in blocking and blocking in yesterday afternoon's workouts.

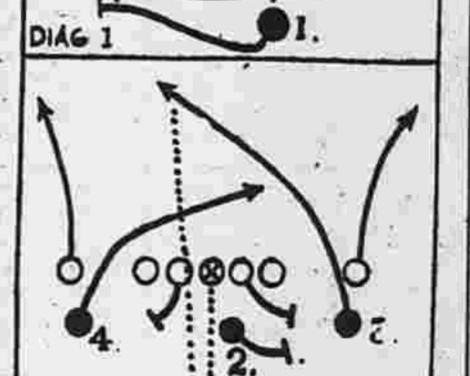

"I can safely say, at no period during the season thus far has Yale shown much good form in this department of the game. If the boys carry on Saturday as they have shown their defeat by Army, Yale will be no easy mark for the fine eleven coming down from Hanover. The spirit of the men is good and they are determined to win, and I believe we have a fine chance for victory."

Stevens has lost Johnson, his regular center, for the season. The player was injured in the Army game and is recovering at the university infirmary from a slight concussion of the brain.

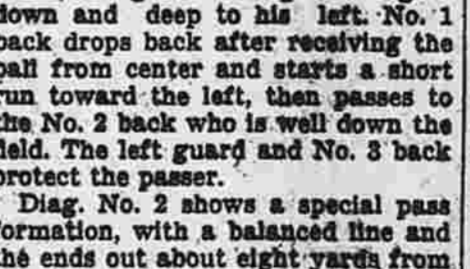

FOOTBALL SKETCHES

By ART KRENN
NBA Service Sports Writer
Here are two Michigan plays that had much to do with the defeat of Northwestern. Michigan is well schooled in this type of offensive play, completing four passes for a total yardage of 75 against the Wildcats.

Diag. No. 1 shows a Michigan short kick formation and a forward pass to No. 2 back, who has gone down and deep to the left. On this Diag. No. 2 shows a special pass formation, with a balanced line and the ends out about eight yards from the tackles. Nos. 3 and 4 backs take their position one yard back of their respective ends. The passer is 10 yards back.

The right end goes diagonally and deep to his right. The left end also goes deep and hooks to his left, with the No. 4 back looking in short behind the defensive line. No. 3 back goes straight down over center.

The pass is optional, but in this case No. 3 is the receiver. The guards and No. 2 back protect the passer.

Punts—Passes
(By Associated Press)
New Haven—If Yale's old grade are feeling pessimistic about their football team they should listen to Coach Mal Stevens. "There has been great improvement during the past week," he said yesterday. "If the boys carry on Saturday as they have since their defeat by Army, Yale will be no easy mark for Dartmouth."

Princeton, N. J.—If Princeton has trouble solving Michigan plays Saturday it will not be from lack of coaching. Earl Martineau has been playing the part of Harry Newman on the scrubs "Michigan" team for the past couple of days and Campbell Dixon and Ted Waldman, a former Michigan coach, have also been in the backfield.

Providence—Brown will not be troubled by a lack of good back when it meets Dartmouth Saturday. Captain Bill Gilman returned to the gridiron and Joe Brown, unable to play in the previous game, is ready to play it off on Saturday.

Green Has Not Won Game Since Series Started in 1884; Eli's Poor Showing Makes Indians Favorite.

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—One of the oldest football rivalries between major colleges will be resumed Saturday as Yale and Dartmouth meet for the 16th time in Yale bowl. The eleven first met in 1884 when Dartmouth was just getting started in football. Yale won by 101 to 0. They have kept at it off and on since then, with the Green's importance increasing steadily, but Dartmouth is still looking for its first victory.

From 1884 through 1900 the Indians could not score a point. Then they broke off until 1924 and Dartmouth ran into the first "big game" ending in a 14-14 tie after losing several good chances to get the winning touchdown. The jinx has continued and every other game up to 1930 resulted in a Yale triumph. In 1930 there was a scoreless draw and last season brought the most exciting of all the ties, when the Indians staged a wild finish to knot the count at 33 all.

Dartmouth, although twice defeated this season has high hopes of winning Saturday. The squad, with the single exception of Roald Morton in its good condition, the Indians already have shown they are hard to beat. Yale on the other hand, has yet to win its first game of the year and is turning to desperate measures in hopes of finding a few capable ends. Even if the latest experiment of converting Duke Parker from a quarterback succeeds, the Eli's will be short of wingmen.

Few if any of the other rivalries which crop up in Saturday's schedule have anything like the age record of the Yale-Dartmouth series. Michigan and Princeton did start in the days before the method of scoring games in points had been invented, but they ended their relations there until last year.

Trinity and Wesleyan opened their series in 1887. Dartmouth and Navy first played in 1888. Columbia and Cornell which send a pair of undefeated teams into action this week, have been battling since 1889 with the big red teams holding a wide edge in the series. Brown, in spite of defeating Harvard for the seventh time in another battle of undefeated teams.

LOU LITTLE IS GIVEN NEW 3-YEAR CONTRACT

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Despite refusal of Columbia athletic authorities to discuss the matter, it was generally understood today that Lou Little, highly successful coach of the Lion football squad, has signed a new 3-year contract with the university calling for an annual salary of $18,000.

"No formal announcement regarding Coach Little's contract will be made until the end of the 1932 season," athletic authorities announced, just as a committee of seven, appointed by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the University began an investigation of charges of professionalism in Columbia athletics.

Little's first contract with Columbia, for three years at an annual salary of $18,000 expires this fall. He came to Columbia from the head coaching post at Georgetown. He was a famous tackle at Pennsylvania and coached there for several seasons.

The East Side and West Side Recreation Centers volley ball teams opened their season last night with victories at Meriden, both teams winning three out of five games from their opponents.

DRASTIC ECONOMY MOVE IS PLANNED BY MINOR LEAGUES

To Propose Radical Changes In Administration At Meeting On December 7, 8 and 9.

St. Louis, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Radical changes in the administration of the minor leagues through the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues will be proposed at the convention in Columbus, O., December 7, 8 and 9.

Among the significant recommendations to be made by the five members of the executive committee—William G. Bramham, chairman; Warren C. Giles, secretary; J. Alvin Gardner, Joseph F. Carr and Ross C. Harriott are the following:

Putting teeth in the salary limits by requiring the player and club president to sign affidavits to the salary paid, providing a player may be placed on the ineligible list for two years for a false affidavit and the fixing of a club 20 per cent of the maximum monthly salary limit.

The lowering of the player limit as follows: Class AA, 17 men; Class A, 16; classes B, C and D, 15, including manager, and the placing of salary limits on the ineligible list for two years for a false affidavit and the fixing of a club 20 per cent of the maximum monthly salary limit.

All class AA clubs shall have on their active player list at all times during the playing season not less than two "non-class" players; class A, three; others six, and each club in classes B, C and D be required to own outright and at all times not less than ten contracts on their active player roster.

An amendment to the National Association agreement, striking at the practice of major league clubs withdrawing support from their farms during the season by providing that where any club assumes the ownership or operation of a club of lower classification and withdraws such support during the season it shall not be permitted to have a working agreement, or part or complete ownership of a minor league club at any future time, except upon posting a guaranteed annual to double the maximum salary limit per club.

Elimination of the broadcasting of home games.
Discontinuance of the payment of transportation of players reporting where club trains.
The setting of a rule requiring such expenditures.

Sport Forum

The Eagles Sports Editor, Herald:
Well, I guess the old football spirit still lives at the north end. The Eagles are carrying on. Playing against a much heavier and more experienced team Sunday, they gave the fans plenty for their "two-bits." While they did not "click" quite as well as on the previous Sunday, they showed even more of the "old fight." With just a few positions strengthened they can successfully meet many of the stronger teams in this section of the state.
But, most encouraging was the attendance. The fans turned out in large numbers, said the Eagles' leader for the day at least, was "out of the red."

WIND AND RAIN STORM
CLEANS TREES OF LEAVES

Traveling Hazardous Last Night and This Morning — Business Here Deplores Storm.

A heavy rain and wind storm struck Manchester during the night and although the wind died down this morning, rain was still falling at noon. Streets were showered with wet leaves making traveling conditions hazardous.

Traffic on Center street was much slower this morning than usual. Trolley cars coming up the hill on Center street were forced to sand the rails to prevent slipping. The Connecticut Company had workmen out early this morning taking care of switches and removing leaves from the "frogs". The storm did much to remove autumn's beauty in the woods and this morning many of the tree were almost barren of leaves.

Business men called attention to the fact that it seems to rain every Thursday when they plan to keep open at night.

But Results Are Disastrous For North End Man Who Challenged Joseph Waichin.

Joseph Waichin of Golway street is a wrestler. In the cellar of his home he has equipped a small gymnasium and among the apparatus are several different heavy weights that he uses in developing the muscles of his shoulders, arms and legs.

Friends of Joe were telling about his ability to do weight lifting. A volunteer from the crowd offered to do some lifting saying that he would lift as much with his teeth as Joe would with his arms. They went to Joe's home Monday night. As a starter Joe picked up a weight marked 100 pounds and lifted it with one arm above his head. The volunteer strong man saw that it was properly hooked up and with a strap around the weight and a loop inserted in his front teeth he started the lift. The weight came off the dropped to the ground. The attempt floor an inch or so and suddenly to lift the weight by his teeth had resulted in two teeth being pulled out and that ended the contest.

A number of boys and girls from the various local churches will attend the rally for older young people of Hartford county to be held at the South church, New Britain, Saturday from 2:30 to 9 p. m. Professor Ralph Harlow of Smith College will be the principal speaker.

Third and Fourth Degrees Conferred On Large Class of Candidates Last Night.

Manchester Grange P. O. H. held its regular meeting in Odd Fellows hall last evening. About 90 of the local members were present and guests from Hebron, Lebanon, West Hartford and Glastonbury brought the attendance to well over a hundred.

The work included the conferring of the third and fourth degree on a class of candidates. In connection with the fourth degree the regulation Harvest supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Robert Thompson and her committee. During the meal there was chorus singing and entertainment numbers.

Manchester Grange will elect its officers for 1932 at the first meeting in November.

POUFF the new
two-way stretch
Girdle $2.50
WIFF
the Knit
Brassiere
$1.

Pouff has been the best seller for "slim moderns" this season. Fashioned of supplest—the improved two-way stretch material—an entirely new knit which insures the ultimate in durability. Soft and light, yet snug and firmly moulding for the youthful figure.

And Wiff is just a "wiff" of a brassiere. Softly knit and ideal to wear under new styled frocks. See these new garments tonight!

New roofs for old

You do not often give a thought to the roof of your house, but when it begins to leak you give serious consideration to it.

Nowadays, however, aside from the fact that roofs are a protection from weather conditions, they constitute an important part of the architectural beauty of a house.

If you wish to make the roof of your home harmonize with the new vogue, consult us.
