

RITCHIE RAPS FORD IN CAMPAIGN TALK

Maryland Governor Accuses Motor Magnate of "Black-jacking Employees Into Voting For Hoover."

Indianapolis, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Indiana Democrats resumed their campaign today fresh from participation in an old fashioned political rally which culminated last night in an address by Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland in which he told them: "The only hope in America is in putting in a Democratic administration which can succeed."

Thousands of State Democrats joined in a rally here, addressed by an old fashioned red fire torchlight parade reminiscent of years ago and later filled to capacity Cadle Tabernacle, with its 15,000 seats.

After an ovation of ten minutes, Governor Ritchie launched into an attack on the Republican administration for what he termed "as mismanagement" and asserted the only hope in America is "in putting in a Democratic administration which can succeed."

He said he had come to Indiana to dispel the efforts he said were being made "by Republican orators, from President Hoover down, to convince the American people that the country will not be safe in Democratic hands."

Why Dangerous? Since when, he asked, "has it been dangerous to change a National administration which has shown itself incapable? The danger lies in continuing such an administration, not in changing it. ... Democratic success, instead of imperiling the country will save the country."

The governor departed from his prepared address at a few points, and omitted much of it because of time limitations for radio broadcasting.

At one point he attacked Henry Ford for what he said was "black-jacking employees into voting for Hoover," and added "that this plan of ... telling workmen how to vote is un-American, and thank God, un-American."

Again, in attacking President Hoover and Republican orators for what he termed "belittling the candidate of the Democratic Party for President of the United States," the governor said:

"Tonight I am told he has called him ignorant, and charged that he misrepresented the facts and I want to say that as an American citizen and as a Democrat I resent this."

When the governor denounced the Republican plank dealing with prohibition as being one that offers "no hope" at all and called the Democratic plank on the question one which "gives positive assurance" his audience demonstrated its approval.

SEEKING TO BUY RICHFIELD FIRM Largest Oil Interests In U. S. Want To Acquire Control.

Los Angeles, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Two of America's largest oil interests, Standard Oil Company of California and the Consolidated Oil Corporation, seek control of Richfield Oil Company of California once valued at $200,000,000. It was plunged into an equity receivership after the Stock Market crash and revelations of defalcations reaching into the hundreds of thousands.

The latest financial maneuver between Standard Oil and Consolidated interests topped their rivals' offer by about $400,000 with a bid approximating $22,500,000. The second Standard offer represented an increase of about $5,000,000 over its first.

Chairman G. Parker Toms said the Richfield bank creditors' committee has accepted the new Standard bid and invited bondholders and trade creditors' committees to do likewise. Previously bondholders and trade creditor representatives approved the Sinclair offer.

Hoover Launches Final Vote Drive

Hoover in one of the most intensive last-minute campaigns any President ever waged for re-election, President Hoover, accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, is shown on the rear platform of the special train which carried him into West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana in an attempt to bring doubtful areas of the three states into the Republican camp.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Declaring that the Veterans Administration was guilty of "half truths" as to allowances paid to World War veterans, and assailing the National Economy League's methods in advocating reductions, John Thomas Thayer, legislative representative for the American Legion, told the Capital District Kiwanis International that if the economies recommended were effected "thousands of veterans suffering from tuberculosis would receive announcement of their deaths."

Mr. Thayer challenged a recent statement by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, Administrator of Veterans Affairs that the cost of veterans' relief in the coming year would total $1,000,000,000, and that the total of all outlay by the country for veterans' relief would reach $15,000,000,000 by then. Only $356,000,000 of the $1,000,000,000 would go to World War veterans, he said, and of the $15,000,000,000 for all wars, the veterans of the World War have received only $2,181,000,000.

CONNECTICUT CAMPAIGN STRIKES ITS FULL STRIDE

National Leaders Invade State While Local Nominees Continue To Make Bids For Support.

By Associated Press The political campaign in Connecticut struck its full stride this week, the busiest since the state convention, as candidates and their supporters pulled out all stops, with steady increasing vigor into the battle for votes.

Notable Al. E. Smith and Secretary of Treasury Mills came into the State to bolster the ranks of Connecticut workers.

Democrats were denied the chance of hearing Smith, who refrained from making any speeches in the State because of an ailing throat. He issued a statement, however, urging the election of Governor William L. Cross.

Mills, following Smith into the State the next day, appeared before the Connecticut Manufacturers Association in New Haven yesterday to urge the re-election of President Hoover.

There was hardly a day's rest from speechmaking for three of the gubernatorial candidates during the week.

MUSSOLINI VISITS FASCIST EXHIBIT Lives Again the First Three Years When Party Fought For Its Life.

Rome, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini inaugurated the Fascist biennial exhibition this morning and lived again the first starting three years of Fascism before he came into power. The exhibition illustrates the story of the tumultuous days from 1919 to October 15, 1922, when Mussolini's blackshirts were fighting Communists and Socialists in the streets.

The premier remained for several hours in the building, reconsecrating especially for the biennial display. With members of his Cabinet and other leaders of the Fascist Party, he wandered slowly from one to another of the eighteen halls.

Mussolini had nothing to complain of with regard to his own representation in the display. He Rise To Power The man who has become leader of Italy and possessor of the most absolute power in Europe except in Russia, could trace his rise from the time he was kicked out of the Socialist Party in 1914.

The premier who sent hundreds to jail for opposing him looked over the court orders that sent him to prison on two occasions.

It Dues who has built up the most united political party in Europe studied the documents of that meeting in a public square in Milan, in March, 1919, which laid the foundations of the Fascist party.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for October 27 were $1,288,700. Expenditures, $15,291,522.55. Balance, $770,225,779.78. Customs duties for 27 days of October were $32,125,853.81 (Continued on Page Eight)

FRANCE MOVES FOR NEW PLAN, TO AID PEACE

Would Abolish All Professional Armies In Favor of a Short Conscriptual System—Deputies Agree.

Paris, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Premier Edouard Herriot today won the Chamber of Deputies over to a new French disarmament plan providing for conscription in Europe and American accord in such a guarantee for security as the United States "had envisaged itself."

The conscript plan was the basis of the new plan and would abolish all professional armies, such as the German Reichswehr in favor of a short term conscriptional system.

The American participation in guarantees was one of the conditions under which France would be willing to launch into the conscriptional army plan. The point was not outlined by the Premier in his address to the Chamber.

Just before debate closed, however, the Premier said he had taken note of the interpretation placed on the Kellogg-Briand pact by the secretary of state Henry Stimson.

Confidence Vote The Chamber voted confidence in the government on the new disarmament plan, 430 to 20.

The impression was growing in diplomatic circles that tangible disarmament results must await an agreement between France, Italy and Japan. It also was felt a five-power naval conference between the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan was inevitable.

Today's conference between M. Herriot and Mr. Davis had been scheduled for 9 a. m., but was postponed until late this afternoon. The American representative contracted a cold enroute from London and remained in his apartment in the forenoon. His condition was not serious.

Press commentators admitted the new plan involved another rift in the Treaty of Versailles, but understood Herriot's declaration that "if peril comes anew to France as it did in 1918, she will be saved by the heroism of her sons and her magnificent innocence."

The resolution of confidence as finally adopted emphasized the necessity for conciliation between people and respect for the principal of the League of Nations. The reference here was especially to condemnation of aggression. The document asks for reduction of armaments with extension of the powers of the league to assure peace as pacific and at the same time courageous.

DR. SCHNEE QUILTS HIS GERMAN POST

Noted Statesman Claims Co-operation of Nazis Is Needed To Unite Nation.

Berlin, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Dr. Heinrich Schnee resigned his membership in the German People's Party today with the declaration that a stable government can be effected only with the co-operation of Adolf Hitler's National Socialists.

Dr. Schnee said that Nazi co-operation was also necessary if the fight against the Versailles Treaty was to be successfully conducted.

Schnee was former governor of German East Africa, and recently served as a member of the League of Nations' Lytton commission that investigated hostilities in Manchuria.

He had been a member of the party since its inception and represented it in the Reichstag from 1924 to 1928. His letter of resignation declared his resignation for the Reichstag.

More Under Surface Political circles generally looked to see more in the resignation than it appeared on its surface. It was pointed out he is chairman of the United Patriotic Societies and the German Colonial Society as well as vice chairman of the Federation for Germanic Culture Abroad. Rum Runners' Radio Seized by Dry Agents

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—A rum-runner ring was the way Federal agents described a raid on a hidden radio station as they arrested seven prisoners today on a charge of breaking the radio laws.

Two months of investigation culminated last night in a surprise raid on a Coney Island house. In the walls of the place, the agents said, they found the most powerful unlicensed broadcasting outfit uncovered in years.

Confusion on Rum Row was predicted by the detectives as a result of the raid.

ROOSEVELT'S AUTO BILL ON COAST IS UNPAID

Los Angeles, Oct. 29.—(AP)—A different kind of an aftermath was heard today to the recent visits here of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, and Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, who spoke in behalf of the candidacy of the New York governor.

It was a suit by a motor livery which alleged it had been unable to collect $684, billed to Democratic organizations for hire of automobiles used by the governor and Mayor Curley.

The suit named the governor, the mayor and the Young Democratic Clubs of California, as defendants. The club organization has not issued a reply. Governor Roosevelt spoke here Sept. 24 and Mayor Curley Sept. 15.

RADICAL LEADER SERIOUSLY SICK Labor Defense Seeks To Remove Edith Berkman To Private Hospital.

Boston, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Officials of the International Labor Defense today prepared to provide $1,000 bonds for the release of Edith Berkman, radical labor agitator awaiting deportation to Poland.

The Labor Defense officials would remove her from the central New England sanatorium in Rutland to a private hospital.

Miss Berkman, who is suffering from tuberculosis, has been confined in the Rutland sanatorium for several weeks.

W. W. Husband, assistant secretary of labor, said yesterday that an order had been signed authorizing Miss Berkman's release in $1,000 bonds that she might be transferred to a private sanatorium near Boston.

Miss Berkman was arrested by Federal immigration officials shortly after she had taken an active part in the general textile strike in Lawrence in 1931. She was ordered deported to Poland and because of tubercular symptoms was transferred from the East Boston immigration station to the Rutland sanatorium.

JOHNSON ENTERS POLITICAL LISTS California Senator Assails Hoover Policies; Calls For Support of Independents.

San Francisco, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Rising the standard of what he declared was a Progressive revolt against "special privilege" Senator Hiram W. Johnson, Republican Independent, assailed the administration in an address here last night and urged election of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, as president.

Before an audience which filled Drexler's auditorium to its 7,000 capacity and overflowed into the streets, the Senator recalled his first campaign for governor of California in 1892 and expressed pleasure "to comrades in arms are here in such numbers."

SCENT HOAX BY 19 IN WENDEL ACTION

New York, Oct. 29.—The claims of nineteen residents of the Middle West to shares in the $40,000,000 estate of the Ella V. Von E. Wendel, were termed a hoax by counsel for the state at a hearing yesterday before Surrogate James A. Foley.

The claimants, who are residents of Illinois, Ohio and Indiana, had failed recently to establish their relationship within the seventh degree. Through the evidence presented yesterday by counsel on their behalf, they sought to establish first-degree relationship, the limit set by the court.

During the hearing, John M. Harlan, counsel for the estate, characterized the new claims, based upon the state of the evidence, as a "demonstrable hoax," in that it was supposed to have been written by John Gottlieb Matthias Wendel, grandfather of Ella Wendel, from the residence on Fifth Avenue, ten years before the family lived there.

PRESIDENT HITS ROOSEVELT'S POLICIES

Forced Opponent To Shift His Position On Tariff; Says All Other Positions "Equally Untenable."

Aboard Presidential Special, Enroute to Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—President Hoover's campaign trial led him eastward today from a fourth inroad of the midwest in which he struck out more directly than ever before at Governor Roosevelt, characterizing the Democratic nominee's positions on election issues "as equally untenable."

The President was swinging back through Ohio and West Virginia to Indianapolis, where he told a capacity audience in the 22,000 seat Butler Field House last night that if he had time he could "drive" his opponent "from every solitary position he has taken in this campaign."

This statement following an assertion that he had forced Governor Roosevelt to "shift" his position on the tariff, drew cries of "At-a-boy" from the cheering throng.

Half a dozen-year platform appearances face the President today as he sped back to the capital to prepare for his initial campaign tour of the big eastern states Monday.

Despite scheduled stops at Clarksville, Grafton, Piedmont, Keyser and Martinsburg, W. Va., and Oakland, Md., Mr. Hoover's mind was chiefly occupied with the four speeches he will deliver Monday in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Newark and New York.

No Trouble Although before the President arrived at the Hoover city there had been suggestions of a capitol to swing his reception and the Democratic celebration for Governor Ritchie of Maryland, who also spoke there last night, nothing of the kind occurred.

The Ritchie celebration came after the reception for the president was all over and the address of the Chief Executive came to the Maryland governor was when his parade passed the club where Ritchie was staying.

Mr. Hoover received a nine-minute ovation from a crowd which jammed the stadium at Butler University to the rafters and was frequently interrupted as he directed most of his speech to Governor Roosevelt's campaign "positions."

Replying direct to Roosevelt's statement in Baltimore Tuesday night that "After March 4, 1933, the Republican Party was in complete control of all branches of the government—executive, State and House, and I may add for good measure, the Supreme Court as well," the President characterized it as "an atrocious charge."

Atrocious Charge "He implies that it is the function of the party in power to control the Supreme Court," Mr. Hoover said, adding that "for generations, Republican and Democratic presidents alike have made it their most sacred duty to respect and maintain the independence of America's greatest tribunal."

The President also spoke directly of what he called Roosevelt's attempt "to establish the idea in the minds of the American people that I am responsible for bad loans by American bankers and investors in foreign countries."

"The governor does not inform the American people that most of these bonds are issued from New York state, and that the governor has done nothing to reform the evil," the President said.

Mr. Hoover then asserted that in 1928 Governor Roosevelt "was engaged in that business for profit and actively occupied in promoting such loans" as chairman of the organization committee of the Federal Reserve national Banking Commission.

"I have no reason to believe, and I do not believe," the President said, "that the governor's enterprise on this occasion was not perfectly proper and soundly founded. I do not wish to convey that impression."

Private Promoter "But the governor as a private promoter for profit during the boom of 1928 believed and practiced what the governor, as Presidential candidate, now denounces as immoral and a cause of our calamities."

Turning to his charge in Cleveland two weeks ago that the Democratic National committee had circulated "calumnies" in connection with the employment of cheap Chinese labor years ago, the President said "that committee privately acknowledged that these have not a shred of foundation. They refuse to take the usual course and withdraw their statements. They have sought to maintain their continuing poison by silence."

Other "Calumnies" The President also asserted the committee had issued other "calumnies" and that Roosevelt had "diverted them. He withdrew their campaign documents saying

"President Hoover has taken the children; his real interest in the nation's children may be proved by his recorded effort to smother the inquiry into the Children's Bureau."

"I am not prepared to demand interest in children from (Continued on Page Eight)

New York, Oct. 29.—The claims of nineteen residents of the Middle West to shares in the $40,000,000 estate of the Ella V. Von E. Wendel, were termed a hoax by counsel for the state at a hearing yesterday before Surrogate James A. Foley.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Christian Life And Law Observance

Text: Ro. 13:1-7; Gal. 6:1-10

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 30.

By WM. E. GILROY, D.D., Editor of The Congregationalist

There is no deeper problem for thoughtful men and women than the problem of law observance with consideration not only of its practical side, but of the philosophy and relation to spirit, attitude, and freedom which underlies it.

The amount of space that the New Testament gives to the problem, as it confronted the early Christians, makes the writing of Paul and others very valuable for their suggestiveness and guidance in meeting the problem today.

Perhaps it should be said that if we are to get full effect of such writings and teachings, we must take them as a whole. In this particular lesson, for instance, take chiefly from Romans 13 we have an early statement of Paul's attitude toward law and government, which, I believe it could be shown, was considerably modified in his later life.

Paul was a colonial, born under the Roman empire, and a citizen of that empire. It was no small thing to be a free-born Roman citizen, and Paul valued the privilege and the responsibility very highly, as more than one passage shows.

As a man who had devoted his life to large plans and purposes, Paul had an instinctive admiration for the Roman empire with its sweep of power and authority. He evidently believed, also, that on the whole this authority was exercised for orderly ends, and he had a large measure of confidence in the sort of justice meted out by Rome.

Thus it was that when Paul found himself under conditions of his own arrest, unable to get justice in the Palestinian courts, he appealed, as was his citizen's privilege, to Rome and to Caesar. Then came a period of disillusionment. Instead of finding prompt and just consideration of his case at Rome, he found himself held as a prisoner with delay in the process of justice and little means of real vindication.

The result is that in Paul's later writings the epistles that came from the period of his imprisonment in Rome—there is a very different note. He is not so sure that "powers that be are ordained of God," but he speaks of them often as manifestations of the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience.

These discriminations are vital and important. The situation is considerably changed from that of Paul's day, in a democracy in which the citizen rule and authority are in the hands of the people themselves.

We ought to have respect for our government and institutions, because they are of our own making, and if we cannot respect them, it is because we ought to be doing our own work and living our own lives of citizenship upon a more effective plane.

We should, however, remember that every breakdown of justice and of right, every failure of power and every denial of rights and liberties to the citizen who is entitled to them, tends, not to the strengthening, but to the weakening of government.

The power of civil institutions in a democracy does not depend upon a spirit of subservience, but upon a spirit of moral and righteous independence, which not only observes and obeys the law, but demands that these laws in themselves and in their administration, shall be just and righteous.

The obligation rests upon the citizen in this connection in clear and plain. There can be no such thing as law and order where the sense of law and order is not strongly embedded in the citizen and in the entire conception of citizenship. All the sanctions of moral and spiritual life support this high principle in relation to the state, and one cannot be a good Christian without being a good citizen.

SOWING AND REAPING

BY GEORGE HENRY DOLE International Sunday School Lesson Text, October 30. "Whoever sows a seed, shall also reap."—Gal. 6:7.

How would you answer these four questions? Think carefully.

Is he who observes the law to keep out of jail a good person? Is he who obeys the commandments to keep out of hell a good person?

Is he who does good to gain commendation, power and wealth a good person? Is he who does good to get to heaven a good person?

Emphatically you answer, No. You perceive that the motive in each case is the self. The good of the neighbor, or unselfish service, is not called into action. Nothing is intrinsically good that is done either for reward or from fear of punishment.

Genuine good is disinterested service. In such service the love of good itself is the motive. Motives determine the kind of seed that we sow in character.

Doing good for the sake of self only sows the seeds of selfishness, and the more good of that kind one does, the more selfish he becomes.

The Bible likens men unto trees because it takes time to change our character. Plant the seed of what you wish to become.

Send out the life that you wish to be yours. Whatsoever we sow, surely that we shall reap.

Thousands and Countless of Interest in Local Soldiers

At the last monthly meeting of the company association it was voted to have the pool table repaired and put in playing condition. A committee of three members has been appointed to arrange the work.

The annual inspection of ordnance material was made Friday, Oct. 16, by a civilian inspector from the Army Base at Boston. He was assisted by Captain John Williams of Company K, 16th Infantry.

The annual inventory of government property held by the unit will be made on November 3rd. All uniforms and equipment must be turned in by the men at the drill on Tuesday, November 1st. All articles will be arranged in piles and marked in order to facilitate the making of the necessary count.

FLAMING CHAMPION
 It votes can be changed in the last two weeks of a Presidential campaign President Hoover must be changing many from Democratic leanings to enthusiastic support of the Republican party by such speeches as that at Indianapolis last night. During a period of so many months that it has run into years the Democrats have been persistent and consistently representing the President as an inert, timid man. If they have succeeded in instilling doubts as to the capacity of Mr. Hoover to lead the nation out of the morass of world depression it has been, when all is said and done, solely through this device.

Now the people are seeing how utterly false a picture of the President has been held up to their eyes by his political enemies. Instead of a leader of less than ordinary courage and decision, of sluggish and dilatory temperament, they behold a flaming champion dealing titanic blows upon an amazed and stunned enemy, himself the very heart and center of the conflict.

The American people love a fighting man. Today they realize that of all the fighting men in this war of the ballots the most valorous is the President himself—his arm the strongest, his righteous anger the hottest, his sword strokes the most skillful and the most destructive to the enemy.

The artful dodging of Governor Roosevelt becomes mere flat-shaking in contrast to such devastating assaults as Mr. Hoover delivered last night at Indianapolis. There is reason to believe that the President may win his battle in the last fortnight, after all.

VOTE ON REPEAL
 It is most important that Connecticut's voters, a week from next Tuesday, should not fail to register their individual wills in the referendum on the prohibition question.

The matter to be determined by majority vote is whether or not there shall be submitted to Congress, as the authentic message of the people of this state, a petition calling for the repeal of the prohibitory amendment through a further amendment to the federal Constitution couched in the following terms:

Article 18 of the amendments to this constitution is hereby repealed. The power to regulate or to prohibit the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors is reserved to the several states. The Congress shall have the power to regulate the sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors in interstate commerce in a manner not to abridge or deny the powers herein reserved to the several states.

It is improbable that even the most poorly informed voter will labor under the impression that the people of this state, by merely declaring in favor of this amendment, will be changing the prohibitory laws. But the referendum does possess the very real merit of giving the people of this state their first opportunity, since the adoption of federal prohibition, to express their joint opinion on that highly controversial subject. It should be made as complete as possible.

It is necessary that, before there can be any satisfactory settlement of the question of federal prohibition, the true sentiments of the voting populations of the country shall be ascertained. Connecticut is responsible only for the disclosure of the sentiment of her own voting population. It is up to the other states to disclose theirs. Our job is to find out where our own people stand; with the others we have no immediate concern. But we should do our own job thoroughly. In order to do it the voters must all give expression to their respective positions at the polls.

This newspaper has been and remains definitely opposed to the presence of prohibition in the federal constitution. It is anxious to see the Eighteenth amendment repealed. It has, to the limit of its ability, striven to combat what it sincerely believes to be the error of continuing that amendment in the nation's charter. Its present purpose, however, is not to urge its readers to vote "yes" on November 5, but rather to be sure and vote whether their convictions be "yes" or "no."

Above all things, what is needed in this matter of prohibition is an accurate survey of public opinion. Congress can get nowhere, legislatures can get nowhere, nobody can get anywhere, until we know, beyond possibility of denial, where the people stand on this great social question.

In this state the people have opportunity to put an end to uncertainty and controversy as to the position of their own majority. It is a duty that they owe to their country, their state and themselves to make of this referendum an unquestionable record of the will of Connecticut.

Whether wet or dry, whether you are for the proposed amendment of repeal or are against it—vote.

MORE BICYCLES
 Now and then one sees, in this or that newspaper or magazine, some reference to a "come-back" of the bicycle. There seems to be a rather general taking for granted of a quite widespread resumption of the use of that simple and cheap machine, replacing to some extent the short range transportation of the automobile. While there has been, in this immediate vicinity, no revival of the adult use of the bicycle on a scale to attract notice, it would appear to be inevitable that unless there is a sudden and very extensive business improvement in the near future such a revival may very well be looked for.

Of course the capabilities of the bicycle as a medium of transportation are immensely less than those of the motor car. On the other hand they are immensely greater than those of a pair of shoes. And judging from the appearance of a good many of the cars now on the road it isn't going to be a great while before more than a few of the people who have been using automotive transportation for years are going to be without that modern convenience. It costs money to maintain an automobile, especially if it is to be run with any measure whatever of safety. And it is to be suspected that there are a good many people in this country, even some of them in Hartford County, who may soon have reason to be thankful that there is a pretty good old bike up in the attic and that in their youth they learned to ride.

A good many automobiles use up most of their mileage in the daily negotiation of several little trips of two or three or four or five miles. They carry their owners to work or the owner's children to school or the children's mother to market; the only long trips they go on are week end pleasure rides or vacation journeys. For such cars the bicycle is no insignificant substitute. It doesn't have to be registered, you don't have to pay for a license to ride it, it doesn't eat either gas or hay, it isn't likely to do any damage to anyone, so you don't really need to buy liability insurance for it. Add it will take you there and bring you back—if the distance is not too far and you didn't learn to ride too long ago.

So it would be no great wonder if soon there were, indeed, a very much larger number of bicycles on the road than for many years past.

But there will also be a lot of automobiles. And the automobile and the bicycle, on the road, constitute an unhappy combination. The bike is a source of unending anxiety to the motorist; the automobile is a source of deadly peril to the cyclist.

Most of the bicyclists in recent years have been boys, with a smaller number of girls and a very few adults. The youngsters manage, amazingly to escape with their lives from countless traffic predicaments; only now and then is one of them killed or maimed. But if large numbers of adults ever take to the wheel again there will be another story to tell—unless they abandon the right hand side of the road and take to riding on the left side, facing traffic.

The Highway Department and the Motor Vehicle Department, with perhaps some small aid from the press, have succeeded after years of frantic scolding in getting pedestrians, for the most part, to walk on the left side of a highway, facing traffic. It has saved a lot of lives. Now, with the probability of more and more bicycles appearing on the roads, why should not the authorities start a drive to shift them, like the pedestrians, over to the left, similarly facing traffic? The risk to the cyclists would be greatly reduced. So would the danger to automobiles that arises from the apprehension of the driver that the cyclist doesn't know a car is overtaking him, distracting the driver's attention and causing him to swerve, often, too far to the left for safety.

If there are to be more bicyclists the most that can be done for their safety is not too much—even, if necessary, the passing of a law flatly forbidding them to ride on the right hand side.

SCOTTISH STIRRINGS
 It is nearly two hundred years since the disaster of Culloden marked the last attempt of the Scots to break the bond which unites their country with Britain—and that is the longest period in the very long history of the land of mist and mysticism during which it has known internal peace. Perhaps two centuries is longer than it lies within the Scottish temperament to abide such tranquil monotony after a thousand years of skirling pipes and flashing claymores, of brow turnout and glorious, bloody death. At all events there is left enough of the old leaven of the wild Highlands and of the stubbornly independent Lowlands to provide the germ for present Scottish stirrings and rumblings having to do with anything from separation from Britain altogether to a very moderate increase in the measure of home rule.

David R. Anderson, a Glasgow newspaper editor, writing in the London Daily Telegraph, warns England to sit up and take notice of what is happening north of the border. He reports the home-rule sentiment more active in Scotland than for a long time. The Direct Actionists, who would split away from England and form a completely independent nation, are, he says, very few—they amount to nothing. But there is, he reports, a larger group that would like to void the Union of 1707 while remaining within the Empire and still another and larger faction that yearns to have Scotland run her local affairs while leaving to the British Parliament such things as succession to the crown, peace and war, defense forces and foreign affairs—some such relation as that between Washington and Connecticut.

So far nobody seems to be worrying much about the likelihood of Scotch separatist sentiment growing importantly. Still, two centuries is a long time for the Scots to sit content under any rule. May be a Presidential election every four years, like we have, would act as a safety valve.

MARVELOUS MANHATTAN
 By WILLIAM GAINES

New York — Vernon (Goofy) Gomez was winding up to make his first appearance on a Broadway stage. His charming fiancée, of the musical shows, had been coaching him, but the Goof was nervous.

"Say," he told me, "I didn't feel this way, even when I had to face the Cubs." You may remember what he did to the Cubs in the world's series. His performance then largely accounted for him getting a job in vaudeville.

In case you're interested, Gomez is not called "Goofy" because he is goofy in the sense that slang word is generally understood. He isn't the Ring Lardner type of left-hander, who doesn't know enough to come in out of the rain. He's just a young fellow with a sense of humor and a great fondness for kidding, and the ball players tagged him "Goofy" because of his kidding.

The Rodeo, Cal, boy is double-jointed, by the way. He can do the most remarkable things with his bones, and might have been a comedian. If the circus had taken him in his youth, I asked him if this talent for bone twisting had anything to do with his pitching success. He said he didn't know, unless, perhaps, it enabled him to get more of a snap on his curve ball.

Peeks At Personalities
 Edna Best and her husband, Herbert Marshall, have gone back to London to be unhappy again, if you take them at their word. I talked to the pair a short time before their departure. They were anxious, then, to get back to London, which they sorely missed. But once over there, they said, they begin to think there's no place on earth like New York and begin to yearn to get back.

Just a season or so ago, I knew a promising young thespian. He seemed headed for big things, but along came the slump in shows and he finally quit Broadway in disgust. I've just met him again, a visitor to the big city.

"I won't extend my hand," he said, "because they're all calloused from working on the farm."

He's been working on his brother's farm up in Connecticut—plowing the plot, and such things. Nobody would mind that; anybody would be glad to shake his hand. But he just had to prove he's still an actor.

"I'd rather have callouses on my hands," he cried, "than a calloused soul. And that's what I would have got, if I'd stayed around Broadway."

Copy despatch!

Poor Housekeeper
 Two Greenwich Village couples among my acquaintances completely reverse the old domestic proverb.

The wives are working for a living; the husbands are staying home, keeping house. Not so long ago the husbands were hired out, too, but they lost their jobs.

One of the husbands is—I should say, was a commercial artist. During the long day he finds it impossible to keep away from his drawing board, and his spouse frequently returns home in the evening and finds the breakfast dishes unwashed.

"The most terrible housekeeper I ever saw," she snaps in mock anger.

A good, old-fashioned comic strip situation come to life!

October is challenging June as a popular month for weddings in the town's smart circles.

CHewing GUM
 The original chewing gum industry is said to have begun on a capital of $55.00. Now, every month in the United States, more than $7,000,000,000 is spent for chewing gum alone. In 1927 we exported over $1,500,000,000 worth of gum to foreign countries. This is one of the unlooked for results of war, since the American doughboy spread the habit to other soldiers who took it home with them and thus, in a round-about way, caused the modern chewing gum manufacturer to have his label printed in eighteen different languages.

The first chewing gum was spruce gum. After that came the paraffin wax, and then the chicle gum, which was made from the latex of a tree in the mountains of India's coral strand.

Chicle is the sap drawn from the bark of the sapodilla tree, Mexico and Central America are the chief sources. The trees are tapped during the rainy season by slanting the bark in great crisscross patterns. After once being tapped, the tree does not yield again for five years. If the tapping is continued up into the branches, the tree will be destroyed.

When the milky juice runs down the crisscross channels, it is gathered into canvas sacks hung at the bottom. The bag is taken to camp where the milk juice is boiled down until the milkiness disappears. What is left is a brownish cream-color, and is molded into the large brown blocks of crude chicle used commercially.

In this crude form it is loaded into ships and brought to American chewing gum factories where the blocks are ground up into meal. It is reduced to syrup, refined and sterilized and is then ready for sweetening and flavoring. Many flavors such as mint, double mint, peppermint, grape, licorice, etc., are added. It is also sometimes medicated as a laxative.

After being flavored, the gum is rolled into large sheets and then cut into stick size and sold to little chewing gum factories where they buy him gum they allow him to eat too much candy.

The moderate use of chewing gum stimulates secretion of the saliva and also tends to cleanse the teeth. It is also used to relieve nervous tension and sometimes an aid to giving up chewing tobacco. In heredity, according to J. C. Stearns and Wilcox Overback, University of Denver physicists. This may be possible when it is considered that cosmic rays, which are thought to wield a vast influence on human life and from the stars, X-rays have been found to influence heredity and, since cosmic rays are similar to X-rays, it is possible that they, too, influence heredity.

Curving Fingernails
 Question: G. L. O. asks: "Will you kindly tell me the reason and cure for curving fingernails? As soon as my nails grow beyond the tips of my fingers they begin to curve backwards. This is very uncomfortable and also necessitates my keeping them cut short, which is also unpleasant. They sometimes crack in a flakey line about half way down. I do the ordinary housework and eat plain food, so shall be obliged if you will advise me."

Answer: I would advise you to use more of the leafy green vegetables principally the uncooked ones so that your system will be well supplied with the organic minerals necessary for the growth of your nails. Just eat all the raw foods you can in proper combination.

Hardened Ear Wax
 Question: Mrs. Bonnie M. writes: "Every so often the wax in my ears becomes hardened, affecting my hearing. This has been going on for about five years, and at different periods it is necessary to consult a specialist for the removal of this wax. Is there any safe way I can do this myself?"

Answer: Hardened wax in the ears can be easily removed with an ear spoon. First of all, soak the ear passages with warm olive oil, allowing some oil to remain for two or three days. Then with the ear spoon gently remove the wax.

Healthful Canoeing
 Question: Hobart asks: "What muscles of the body does canoeing develop most? How does it affect the health?"

Answer: Canoeing develops the muscles of the arms, chest and back. Canoeing is a beneficial exercise to improve the circulation, breathing and endurance.

A BOOK A DAY
 BY BRUCE CATTON

HERE'S THE WAY THEY COO 'EM IN MARYLAND

New Book Gives All the Famous Recipes of "Free State" Cookery

The food that the cooks of Maryland cook is famous up and down all the land as very good food. Cookery has been carried to one — its finest peaks of perfection in the Free State, and those of us who live outside the state borders often cast envious eyes on the lucky people to whom Maryland cookery is an every-day affair.

When the book is being so, a fat book entitled "Eat, Drink and Be Merry in Maryland," by Frederick P. Steiff, ought to fill as they used to say, a long-felt want.

In it Mr. Steiff has presented most of the recipes which have made Maryland cooking famous. You can learn here, for instance, just how the expert cook chicken a la Maryland — can learn, in fact, that in Maryland they drop the "a la" and simply call it chicken Maryland. You can learn to prepare fish, oysters, clams, terrapin and, if you get bold of any; how to make omelets, and Brunswick stew (which is really a Georgia dish, isn't it?) and sweet potato pie, and a lot of other very good things.

These recipes, by the way, are very old and time-tested, for in some date back a century or more. Mr. Steiff gives the origin of each, and the book is filled with pictures of old inns and manor houses where the delightful dishes originated.

If you believe in being kind to your stomach you'll find the book well-worth reading. Published by Putnam's, it sells for $3.

"WELL" DONE
 Birmingham, Ala.—While tramping through a field in search of a liquor cache, Deputy Charlie Calhoun walked into a dry well 14 feet deep. He climbed from the well unassisted, and discovered 41 gallons of rye liquor near the well. His only injury was a small cut on the back of his hand.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

Washington—It may occasion rejoicing in some quarters that an unusual number of college professors have gone into the sordid business of politics.

In some states they are running for office. A couple are helping one of the presidential candidates assemble his material and prepare his speeches. In at least one state others have actually become a campaign issue.

The spectacle of professors in politics is by no means new. You may remember President Woodrow Wilson, who was praised for his scholarship, and his progressive idealism and damned for his arbitrary school teachers' attitude.

There are ex-professors in Congress now, the most conspicuous of them to come to mind being Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio and Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut.

Bingham taught at Harvard, Princeton and Yale. Fess taught history at Ohio Northern and was president of Antioch College. Both belong to the extreme conservative wing of the Republican party and neither has brought anything new or interesting into the political scene.

The situation in Connecticut, where Bingham is up for reelection, has been all cluttered up with professors. The outstanding Democrat there is Governor Wilbur L. Cross, who was dean of the Yale Graduate School and an expert on English literature.

In 1920, when hardly anyone supposed the Democratic gubernatorial nomination was worth having, Cross grabbed it, made a hot campaign as a wet and won the election. All reports indicate that he has been at least as able as other governors.

The man who may beat Bingham is Professor Albert Levitt, an insurance Republican who is running on a dry, independent ticket and is out to lick the Republican state machine owned by J. Henry Roraback. Levitt has no chance of winning the election himself, but if the contest is close he may draw off enough votes from Bingham to give it to Congressman Augustine Lonergan, the Democratic nominee.

Levitt is a professor of law, learned in many branches of jurisprudence, and was wounded and gassed in France while serving as an army chaplain.

Professor Harry M. Ayres of Westport, a Columbia University professor and former member of the legislature, seemed fairly certain to be the Democratic nominee against Professors Bingham and Levitt until he fell into a row between the Smith-Roosevelt factions and was nosed out by Lonergan.

Professor Raymond Moley, a Columbia University economist, is frequently described as the chief Roosevelt strategist.

He helped Roosevelt formulate policies as governor. He accompanied the candidate on his recent western tour as a research expert

IN NEW YORK

A Broadway Farewell
 New York, Oct. 29.—All through the summer months there have been hesitant farewells to the Palace theater, that last shrine of the trouping hoof and vaudeville performer.

Sentimentalists held a sort of hope that someone would miss the Palace or the "Palace" would sail—but the old Palace kept backing away, farther and farther. First it went from the last of the two-day to the "continuous"; then to the combination pictures and variety; now the variety slips away, perhaps forever, and the Palace becomes just another movie house for special feature pictures.

Theater "War" In Offing
 As we fond oldsters, who used to gather at the Monday "professional afternoons" for the most amusing theatrical gathering of a week, stand waving our handkerchiefs, the entire amusement scheme of things changes before our eyes and gargantuan innovations march in lavish parade.

Just up-street a few blocks, the new Roky re-streets itself for an early winter opening, with extravagant ideas for stage shows and with the world's great performers signed for star attractions; with modernistic decorations and a world of trick stage gadgets; with vast stages for vast spectacles and even vast space for the audience.

This, of course, strikes a certain fear to those movie palaces which have been employing famed stars of stage and screen for the interludes between pictures. The Paramount, Capitol and old Roky scramble and was credited with much of the composition of Roosevelt's important speeches.

Out in Utah the Democratic senatorial nominee is professor Elbert D. Thomas, who threatens to steal the toga of the venerable Senator Reed Smoot. He is 49, teaches political science and history at the University of Utah and, like Smoot, is a Mormon—although Smoot may receive church support in the end because of his high church position.

Thomas bombards the administration and Smoot as a part of it, stressing unemployment and the

Advertisements multiply the returns on Your Investment

Many are the manufactured products in which you have already invested your money—your refrigerator; the electricity in your home; flour, baking powder, sugar in your pantry; sheer hosiery; floors of oak, to mention only a few. Advertisements help you to receive greater satisfaction from these possessions, as well as pointing out the efficient way to make new purchases. They tell you of new desserts to make in your refrigerator... new conveniences to attach to your electric sockets... finer cakes, biscuits, puddings, to make with good things in your pantry... soaps to safeguard the delicate hosiery; wax to protect the fine floors.

If a product is advertised, you can be sure of its quality anywhere you buy it... sure it will live up to its promise... and sure that its maker will aid you to prolong its usefulness. Read advertisements to increase the efficiency of what you have, as well as to learn about true bargains in whatever you need to buy.

EXTENSIVE LINES OF HARDWARE AT F. T. BLISH STORE

Company Has Grown Rapidly In Step With Town—Store One of Town's Most Attractive Shopping Places.

The F. T. Blish Hardware Co. was established in 1895 and has grown with the town. In this period of thirty seven years Manchester has seen a very remarkable growth in population, industry and the trading areas which it serves.

It has been the policy of the store since it was started to pick staple lines of merchandise that had merit and were nationally known.

The Blish Hardware Co. serves a large farming clientele in and around Manchester. This clientele has become a very important part of the business and the store is now prepared to supply the farmer with every need.

Five years ago the store moved from the Furnell building to their present spacious quarters in the "Five Block". Several years ago previous to the change it was found that such a move must be made to accommodate an ever increasing business.

The Blish Hardware Co. also features a leather department, one of the best of the kind in this part of Connecticut. All types of harnesses are kept here.

Knitted details also are becoming increasingly important in relation to woolen dresses and suits. Knitted blouses and collar and cuff details are themselves smartly with the new wools.

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—October, before it disappears, may be written down as the month which brought a revival of two-piece dresses. They are being seen these days in all the smartest places.

The two-piece models of the current revival succeeded in combining smartness with practicality, and appear in such varied fabrics as knitted wool and crinkly crepe.

One young debutante at a Wednesday matinee wore a two-piece white dress in a striking combination, with a high neckline, a yoke detail which gave width below the shoulders, and a back-closing blouse with sleeve fullness between elbow and wrist.

DOZEN HIGHWAY PROJECTS ADDED TO AUTUMN LIST

Mackdonald Announces Improvement of Twenty-Eight Miles of Road and Construction of Four Bridges.

Highway Commissioner John A. Mackdonald today announced plans for twelve new road improvement projects which include slightly more than twenty-eight miles of highway work and the construction of four new bridges and two culverts.

The Federal Aid Emergency project calls for close to three miles of bituminous macadam pavement on Route No. 171, the East Hampton-Moodus road, in the Town of East Hampton.

Under the seven Town Aid contracts, nineteen different sections of road will be improved and concrete slab bridges will be built at two places in Bethany and on roads in Colebrook and Madison.

Sealed bids on all of the proposed work will be received at the Highway Department headquarters in the State Office Building, Hartford, until 3:00 p. m., Wednesday, November 7.

The projects announced by Commissioner Mackdonald today are as follows:

- Federal Aid Emergency Project. Town of East Hampton: About 15,292 feet of 2 1/2 inch bituminous macadam on South T. R. base on the East Hampton-Moodus Falls road, Route No. 171.
- State Aid Reconstruction Project. Town of Stamford: About 18,234 feet of reinforced concrete on the north section of the Long Ridge road, Route No. 137.
- State Aid Projects. Town of Kent: About 2,225 feet of trap rock waterbound macadam on the extension of the Warren road, Route No. 341.
- Town of Wolcott: About 10,352 feet of trap rock waterbound macadam on the Wolcott road.
- Town of Woodbury: About 8,118 feet of trap rock waterbound macadam on the Weekepeemee road.
- Town Aid Projects. Town of Bethany: Two concrete slab bridges at Hoadley Bridge and Porter Bridge and a box culvert at Todd Bridge.
- Town of Brooklyn: About 54,200 feet of loose gravel surface on five sections of town aid roads.
- Town of Colebrook: About 14,125 feet of loose gravel surface on Piney Hill road.
- Town of Colebrook: A concrete slab bridge on Steel I beams over Still river at Robertville.
- Town of Durham: About 15,200 feet of four inch trap rock waterbound macadam on Cherry Lane, Hoadley's road, Parmelee road and Maiden Lane.
- Town of Madison: A 20 foot span concrete slab bridge over Fence Creek on the Shore road.
- Town of Pomfret: A culvert and about 34,040 feet of loose gravel surface on eight sections of Town Aid road.

VETERANS' COMMITTEE OPPOSES STORES' ACTION

Want More General Observance of Armistice Day - Stores Had Decided to Close.

A feeling of resentment was expressed by the Joint Armistice Day Committee at their meeting last night when it was reported that Manchester merchants, through the Chamber of Commerce, had definitely decided against closing their stores for Armistice Day.

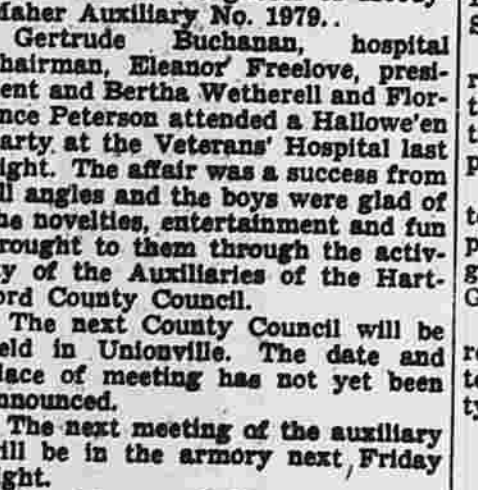

No official notice of the intended action of the Chamber of Commerce was received by the secretary of the Armistice Day Committee, but the ex-service group were informed of the action at their meeting last night through a Herald story.

About a week ago the Chamber of Commerce was invited by letter to contact the Chamber of Commerce with the object in view of closing for the day. The decision of the Executive Committee of the South Merchant's Division was not handed to the secretary of the Armistice Day committee in time for last night's meeting, nor was the chairman or any member of the Armistice Day committee asked to be present at the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce to discuss the matter of closing or to present their case.

The Chamber of Commerce unofficially states that because of the fact that Hartford stores and other cities do not close, it would effect local stores seriously. It was also pointed out at the meeting that Armistice Day comes in the same week as the presidential election, which the merchants state is a poor day for business.

In view of the action already taken by the Chamber of Commerce with respect to keeping the stores open Armistice Day the committee authorized the secretary to contact the chairman of the Executive Committee of the South Merchants division in an effort to have the local stores close for the forenoon.

It was the consensus of the ex-service group that partial observance of the holiday through closing the stores in the forenoon of Nov. 11 would be fair and would be satisfactory to the Armistice Day committee.

Cross Country Championship To Be Run On Yale Course It Is Stated.

Attempts to bring the first state cross country championship to Manchester in conjunction with the annual Thanksgiving Day run here were unsuccessful yesterday, due to the fact that the race has already been set for the Yale course on Monday, November 14.

The length of the course was changed from three miles to two and one-half miles, the length more familiar to the local runners. It was also decided to count points for the first five places instead of the first ten, although the latter number will be given medals.

JOHNSON ENTERS POLITICAL LISTS

Franklin D. Roosevelt for President of the United States.

Mr. Johnson declared "the angry cry of party rivalry," which he said meant "special privilege," could "neither frighten nor halt Progressive Republicans in this memorable contest."

"The record of the present administration," he said, "is its condemnation." It was a record of "bewildered vacillation, three years of false prophecy and broken promises."

He commended what he termed the "gospel of fear" which he said the administration now turned to in a political campaign as "hypocritical smugness."

Senator Johnson asserted Republican campaign workers in some cities were urging employees to demand support of their employers for President Hoover.

"Cross Coercion

"It is maintained for the great humanitarian in the White House," he continued, "to allow this cruel coercion. We ought to denounce this and resent it. I thought that sort of when he whipped the corrupt influence in our state government out of business."

Comparing philosophies of government offered by the Republican and Democratic presidential candidates, Senator Johnson said:

"The one represents the divine right of big business and great corporations, the other the right of all the people."

Criticizing the war debt moratorium, the Senator asserted unemployment in the United States is greater than in England, France, Germany and Italy combined.

He said the administration's farm relief efforts were "a matter of hypocrisy in every farming community."

ARMISTICE DAY OPENING: 5 DEFENDS KINDERGARTENS

The Editor of The Herald, Manchester, Connecticut. Dear Sir:

I am submitting this article to be printed in your Open Forum on Saturday, October twenty-ninth. As a former kindergarten teacher in Manchester, I have read with interest the contemplated action of the School Board concerning kindergartens.

At this time—more than ever a child should be given the chance to develop in surroundings of happiness and security—among children of his own age and under the guidance of those trained in child education. Parents today are having many problems to face and I know many children are things said at home which are not for a young child.

Where money is scarce—there is nothing with which to buy toys or supply amusements and healthful activity. The mother who is faced with this repeatedly is the least fed her children on reduced wages gets so tired and loses her patience—and the father not used to being at home so much with his children loses his temper with the result that the child who is not to blame is nagged repeatedly by several adults, all because he has no means of an outlet for his natural energy.

The Busy and Happy child is a GOOD CHILD. With things to do CONSTRUCTIVE the child is not DESTRUCTIVE!

Children of kindergarten years are not impressionable age when habits formed are lasting ones—also a majority of children form their best good habits in kindergarten under the guidance of the teacher, and from standards set by a group of children.

At this time, I have the pleasure of organizing a kindergarten in a public school in a small borough in New Jersey. There had not been a kindergarten for 27 years. A survey made by professors from Teachers College, Columbia University, found that the school was its lack of kindergarten and over-crowded elementary grades.

Manchester has splendid schools and excellent teachers. Many Manchester girls have been privileged to learn in their home town, but Manchester has been fortunate to receive the services of girls naturally interested in their own community, because they grew up and went to school there.

WISE, SMITH SALE A GREAT SUCCESS

Bargains Offered At Hartford Store Draw Big Crowds Daily.

Wise Smith & Company's 35th Anniversary Sale has proved to be the most successful of all the Anniversary sales yet held. Day after day since the sale started the store has been filled with enthusiastic shoppers who have come to this store from all of central Connecticut to take advantage of the greatest bargains that have been offered by any great store.

Department buyers have expressed great satisfaction with the results irrespective of the department and its line of merchandise. The owners of the store are more jubilant than that for they feel that the sale has been a very real accomplishment in view of present business conditions.

It is believed that today more people shop at Wise Smith's in Hartford than any one other store. In recent years, their store has been so completely reorganized that they now appeal to all types of people and carry one of the most complete lines of merchandise to be found in the city.

ORANGEMEN EXEMPLIFY R.A.P.M. DEGREE TONIGHT

Big Gathering Expected At Orange Hall For Ceremony—Supper At 6:45.

A large turnout is expected tonight at Orange hall, when a large class of candidates will be raised to the R. A. P. M. degree. Washington L. O. L. is putting on the degree. Supper will be served at 6:45 sharp.

After supper the brethren will go to the main floor where the degree will take place. Past Master Archie Hague will occupy the chair and will have charge of the degree. David Morrison, the present Worshipful Master, will occupy the vice-chair, Captain Joseph Johnston has charge of the drill team and expects a full turnout at 2 o'clock this afternoon for rehearsal.

This team under the present officers journeyed to Everett, Mass., earlier in the year and were highly commended for their splendid work in connection with the degree. A number of candidates from Bridgeport will also be raised to this degree. A large number of visitors from all parts of Connecticut are expected and a good time for all is being looked forward to.

BROKER FOUND DEAD

New York, Oct. 28. (AP)—Frederick Lincoln, 30, a broker, was found dead of gas poisoning today in the kitchen of his eight-room apartment at 404 East 59th street. Police pronounced the case a suicide.

A relative, however, arriving at the apartment after being notified by police, said that Lincoln had not been ill and insisted that death was the result of an accident. Although police said that three burners of the gas range were turned on, this relative insisted he had information that only one burner was on.

Mrs. Lincoln, the former Gladys Brinley, of Riverside, Conn., left Thursday to visit her mother at Riverdale, it was said. The Lincolns were married five years ago and went to live in the 59th street apartment house three years ago.

The relative, who declined to give his name, said Mrs. Lincoln had been notified of the death.

CHEMISTS TO MEET

Storrs, Oct. 29. (AP)—The Connecticut Valley meeting of the American Chemical Society will be held at Connecticut Agricultural College November 19.

Dr. H. B. Bickery of the Connecticut Experiment Station at New Haven will be the principal speaker.

REC CENTER TO SHOW ITS WORK TO PUBLIC

East Side Facilities and Activities Will Be Demonstrated, Public Entertained, Monday.

The public is invited to visit the new East Side Recreation Center on Monday evening when the general activities and facilities will be demonstrated. Many residents of Manchester have never witnessed the active work at the Recreation Center during the fall and winter months and the year's program under Director Frank C. Bush and Associate Director Miss Gertrude E. Fenerty will be made clear.

The evening's activities are scheduled to start at 7:30 and at 9 o'clock there will be a general assembly in the main gymnasium where a light lunch will be served followed by dancing until 11 o'clock. The music will be furnished by Art McKay's Serenaders, a local orchestra. Everyone is welcome to inspect the Rec Center and watch the conduct of the various classes, but children must be accompanied by their parents.

The order of activities at the East Side Rec is as follows: Basement: Swimming pool, men from 7 to 9 and women from 8 to 9:45; boys' gym, men and women from 7:30 to 9; Handwork from 7:30 to 9 on the main floor; cards, checkers, chess, pool, ping-pong and boxing, from 7:30 to 9.

Main gymnasium: Women's gym from 8:30 to 9:45; men's gym from 7:45 to 8; women's tap dancing from 8 to 8:15; men's and women's volleyball from 8:15 to 8:30; men's and women's basketball from 8:30 to 8:45; basketball from 8:45 to 9; music club from 8:30 to 9. General gathering in main gym from 9 to 9:30; dancing from 9:30 to 11.

CONNECTICUT CAMPAIGN STRIKES FULL STRIDE

Trumbull and J. Henry Roraback, Republican State chairman, charged that State employees were being intimidated and urged modernization of the State public utilities laws.

In Norwich last night he charged that Trumbull became a director of the Connecticut Light & Power Company eight months after he had resigned in 1927, resting in his company the water power rights in the upper Housatonic River.

"I now ask from a public platform" the Governor queried, "what further public utilities legislation does the leader of the Republicans have in mind and whether my opponent, the Republican candidate for governor, is being called back to help him out."

Republican Record Meanwhile in Enfield, Trumbull told of permanent improvements to State institutions costing $12,000,000 which "were projected by the Republican state board of finance and control during my last administration the time that the 1931-1932 budget was being put into final shape."

"I make mention of these conditions," he continued, "to show that the proposals for expansion of our hospitals and institutions were an integral part of the work of the Republican party in this state and that the Democratic campaigners are out of order in claiming any part of the credit for the accomplishment."

Albert Levitt, the Independent Republican gubernatorial nominee spoke in New London on the farm problem, urging a cooperative organization of farmers operating under state supervision. "The consumers of food in the cities should be awakened to the fact that the high prices they pay are not paid to the farmers," he said. "It is to the interest of the city dweller to aid the farmer in getting a reasonable return for his labor and products."

Jasper McLevy, the Socialist gubernatorial candidate will speak in New Haven tomorrow at the same meeting which will be addressed by Norman Thomas, his party's presidential nominee. Thomas will also speak in Hartford and Bridgeport.

FROZEN TO DEATH

Sheridan, Wyo., Oct. 28. (AP)—As efforts were made today to identify the frozen body of a hunter, another storm swept the Big Horn mountains, marooning a party of 22 men seeking to hunt muskrats.

The body believed to be that of Dillon McKinnon, 37-year-old Graybull, Wyo., youth, was found on the western slope of the mountains. McKinnon was trapped with Fred Deimel, of Sheridan and Dell F. York, of Columbus, in a storm that struck a week ago.

Two still are missing and their bodies held out for their being found alive.

TORONTO HERE TONIGHT

Dr. A. Philip Brown, Speaker At South Methodist Church.

Dr. A. Philip Brown, pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle of Toronto, Ontario, Canada, will be the speaker at the 10:40 service in the South Methodist church tomorrow.

Dr. Brown will speak on the subject called Canadian system of liquor control. Tomorrow in the Protestant churches at World Home-Service Sunday. Dr. Colpitts had planned to discuss the topic of prohibition but with the visit of Dr. Brown he withdrew his plan to fill the pulpit. Dr. Brown delivered the sermon last Sunday in the largest congregational church in the city of Detroit.

of his tour as the Democratic presidential candidate. Monday afternoon when he is scheduled to be in Portland, he will have campaigns in literally "from Maine to California."

The meeting with Mr. Smith occurred last night when the 1932 Democratic standard bearer came to Albany on his way from Boston where he made a speech in behalf of the Roosevelt-Gannett ticket Thursday night to Buffalo where he speaks tonight.

Sitting beside Governor Roosevelt on aavenport at the executive mansion, the "Happy Warrior" gave his optimistic report on his trip to Boston, the same city in which Mr. Roosevelt will speak Monday night.

Smith grinned when newspapermen asked him if the meeting had been as profitable as he had expected. "If we had been Frenchmen we would have kissed each other," he said. "Being a couple of Americans we just shook hands."

"We have," he said, "been talking about the campaign and about the situation in the East." Governor Roosevelt explained the meeting in a nutshell.

Unlike the famous Smith-Roosevelt handclasp at the Democratic convention Oct. 6, the handshaking which Smith said he and the governor exchanged last night was witnessed by newspapermen and other public. There were no photographers this time, by the governor's request.

After their talk together the two men held a joint press conference, in which Roosevelt explained to the governor my trip through the New England states beginning when did it begin? Smith began, "I'm losing all track of time, he said grinning. "I came very near eating meat today."

Smith said that besides the steady he visited Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts, he also believed New Hampshire would go Democratic.

"GREEN" SETBACK PRIZES

The Manchester Green Communities club has held its final setback contest in the prize series and awarded grand prizes.

Mrs. Madeline Dismusson, who ran up the highest score for the tournament, was awarded $2.50. John Phelps and Robert Lettrorp were tied for second prize, each receiving $1.50.

Winners of first prizes last night were Mrs. Roy Roberts and Jack Hayden; second Mrs. Madeline Dismusson and Robert Lettrorp; third Mrs. E. N. Hemenway and John Phelps.

The men's committee, which is in charge of social this season has decided to award turkey as first prize, and dollars for second prize at the setback-dance to follow from now until Christmas.

Fruit squares and coffee were served after the games last night and dancing in the assembly hall of the Green school rounded out the evening.

Lots of people who feel sorry for the trouble President Hoover has been through for the last four years are going to vote to give him four years more of it.

Pennsylvania railroad's net operating income in the past week reached the highest point so far this year at $4,519,965. Including surcharges net operating income amounted to $5,185,995, compared with $2,637,608 in August and $5,708,983 in September, 1931. Gross revenues of $25,325,562 marked the largest for any month since May.

Construction contracts awarded in the 37 eastern states during the period from October 1 through October 15 totaled $54,889,900, the W. Dodge corporation reports. This compares with a total of $58,501,000 in the first half of September and $11,735,600 for the first half of October, 1931.

The New York Stock Exchange has announced that, as of Nov. 1, it will strike from its trading list the 6 per cent gold notes of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis (Nickel Plate) railroad, which were due Oct. 1, last. It was stated, however, that certificates of deposit of this issue would not be stricken from the list.

political, implying that Dr. Schnee's connections embrace all sections of Germany.

Informal articles argued that by resigning from political partisan party, Dr. Schnee had been placed in a position to mediate between the warring rightist parties with a view to establishing a stable coalition after the Reichstag elections November 8.

Dr. Schnee's letters Dr. Schnee's open letter said in part:

"I regard the co-operation of all national forces unconditionally essential for the re-construction of the Fatherland and liberation from the fetters of the Versailles dictate.

"For such co-operation Nazi participation is indispensable. I feel deeply concerned that political groups in Germany have led to developments which are the very opposite thereto."

Dr. Schnee said the Nazis gave the strongest impulse to the fight against the Versailles Treaty, especially among the nation's youth. Yet foreign countries conclude from the non-participation of the Nazis in the national government, he said, that "foreign political actions of the government are supported by only a small section of the German people."

From the standpoint of domestic politics also he saw stability guaranteed and Bolshevism successfully averted only if the Nazis are taken into the Cabinet.

Dr. Schnee said he was opposed to a coalition government of Parliament by constant dissolution and new elections. This policy he said would lead to estrangement between the government and the people.

BRISTOL WINS THIRD LEAGUE TITLE IN ROW

Defeats Meriden 31 To 6, Winning Permanent Possession of Trophy; Other Teams Vie For Runner-Hop Honors.

For the third successive year, Bristol High school captured the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League football championship, by overwhelming Meriden High at Muzzy Field in Bristol yesterday afternoon by the score of 31 to 6. The victory was Bristol's fifth in a row and gave the Maroon and White permanent possession of the league trophy, a feat never before accomplished by any school in the League.

As in previous games, the combination of Gursko and Palau were outstanding factors in Bristol's triumph. Palau opened the scoring with a field goal, Gursko added a touchdown and a kick intercepted by Palau to give Bristol a 17 to 0 lead in the first half.

Meriden's lone score came in the second half when Gursko's punt was blocked and Majowaki recovered behind the goal line. In the final quarter, Gursko scored twice and Palau kicked the goal, making a total of four successful kicks from placement.

According to the present League standing, West Hartford is firmly entrenched in second place with two games to play, Manchester is third, Middletown fourth, Meriden fifth and East Hartford sixth. However, all save Manchester have one or more games to play and the standings will undoubtedly be changed before the schedule is completed.

LOCAL BOY MAKES WESLEYAN ELEVEN

Robert Mercer Earns Regular End Position On Varsity; Played At H. S.

Robert E. Mercer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mercer of 15 Elro street, who graduated from Manchester High School in 1929, has earned a regular berth at left end on the varsity football team at Wesleyan University at Middletown. "Rock," as he is known to his friends, has started at that position in every game this year.

Young Mercer won his letter at the local High School in football, playing with the varsity in his junior and senior year. He was regular on the team in 1928, when Manchester captured the C.C.I.L. title without losing a game in five starts.

Mercer is in his junior year at Wesleyan this year but did not try out for football until this fall. His ability immediately won him a place on the first team, which he has held ever since. It is expected that he will be in the starting lineup when Wesleyan meets Trinity at Hartford this afternoon.

EQUIPOISE HAS HARD TASK IN RACE TODAY

Laurel, Md., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Equipoise, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's four-year-old grey racer, today faced a gigantic task in the get-away feature of the 24 days Laurel racing meet.

Not only has the Whitney horse top weight of 129 pounds to carry but he also has a field including Jack High, Mate, Plucky, Plucky among others to beat in the $15,000 added Washington Handicap at a mile and a quarter.

Today's running brought Equipoise to the season as a four-year-old to 14, ten of which he has won. Plucky Play beat him by a nose once.

SUB-ALPINES WIN AGAIN

The Sub Alpines outplayed and outscored a much heavier team, winning by a score of 18 to 6 against the Black Jacks Friday morning at the Heights. The Alpines showed a much smoother attack than the Black Jacks which resulted in their three touchdowns. Raimondo, Muldon and Johnson scored. The Sub-Alpines' line showed plenty of strength with D. Diocro and Benson making repeated tackles. Joe Valente the star of the Black Jacks had to go home without any clothes since the Alpines stripped them to shreds. G. Edwards started for the Black Jacks.

LOCAL SOCCER CLUB TO PLAY GERMANIA

Players get to Glastonbury For League Game Tomorrow Afternoon.

The local Soccer club will travel to Glastonbury tomorrow to play the Germania club. Having tasted the fruits of victory the locals are looking forward to this game and are full of confidence as to the ultimate result.

However, they do not intend to lightly treat the German eleven. There is a lot of thought in the fact that Germania held the Portuguese team to 3 goals to 1. The locals feel that any team which can do that are worthy opponents.

All the players are requested to assemble at the School Street Recreation Building at 1 p. m. Transportation will be by automobile to Glastonbury. Directions received as to the easiest way to get to the ground are: Proceed along the Silver Lane road to the Hilltown road, turn left along that road, and keep going until the bridge is reached. The ground is about 200 yards over the bridge on the left of the road.

Players will dress for the game at the Rec. Bldg., and return there afterwards for a shower.

SPORT SLANTS

ZALAN GOULD
ASSOCIATED PRESS, SPORTS EDITOR

The city limits of San Diego, California, begin away out in the brown hills. You can zoom along the concrete for miles before you strike habitation. The sporting interests of this thriving city cover an equally wide range. You can get an argument there on any athletic subject.

San Diego turns out athletes, like Bill Miller and Les Ramage, as well as fans who do not hesitate to write or wire their views on current subjects. I recall distinctly a warm telegram of protest that "Four San Diegans," no relation to the well known quartet of Hawaiians, sent me during the Olympic Games.

They did not like the intimation that American athletes remained out of the opening Olympic ceremonies, to save wear and tear on their feet, while our foreign rivals took up the march as a matter of patriotic obligation. If the visitors were willing to risk their dogs in a parade, the four San Diegans argued, there was no reason why the Americans could not be sportsmen enough to do the same thing.

A $500 Memory
As a matter of fact, one of our leading American athletes probably paraded himself right out of a championship, not only by marching but also by carrying the national colors for upwards of two hours in the Olympic Stadium.

This athlete was Morgan Taylor, the world record-holder in the 400-meter hurdles.

Now comes a letter from Jerry Burns of San Diego, who signs himself an ex-ball player and fan and makes the mistake of giving us an argument on the 1925 world series between Washington and Pittsburgh. He writes: "You made the following statement in the San Diego paper: 'No team ever has lost a seven-game world series after winning the first two games.' How about the 1925 series? Washington not only won the first two games, but the first three games and then lost the next four to Pittsburgh. My memory of that series is very vivid for the simple fact that I lost $500."

Hasn't Been Done
But not quite vivid enough. Walter Johnson pitched Washington to victory in the first game, but Vic Aldridge hurled the Pirates to triumph in the second. The Senators then won the next two games in Washington and appeared to have the world championship all wrapped up. The Pirates rallied, however, and took the next three in a row for one of the greatest come-backs in baseball history. The final game was a thriller, decided by Elni Cuyler's two-base blow off Walter Johnson with the bases full.

We repeat, therefore, that no team ever has lost the world series after taking the first two games, when seven games were the limit.

Fail To Halt Onslaught Of West Hartford Team

Red and White Heavily Outweighed By Opponents And Take Worst Defeat of Season; Fumbles Also Factors In Decisive Trouncing.

Outweighed and outplayed, Manchester High's 1932 football eleven was unable to halt the terrific onslaught of a powerful West Hartford High school grid machine at Mt. Nebo yesterday afternoon and ended its Central Connecticut Interscholastic League season with its most decisive defeat this season. The final score was 20 to 0, and the outcome gave the victors possession of second place in the League.

From the outset, the Red and White team—therein lies the answer to the overwhelming victory. This bruising, charging forward wall of flesh rode roughshod over the stalled West Hartford defense. On the defense, the line swarmed over the locals, tackling and blocking with a perfection that stopped the ball carriers in their tracks. On the offense, the Manchester line was scattered like leaves before the wind, and West Hartford's backfield dashed through gaping holes for gain after gain, earning eight first downs to Manchester's four.

West Hartford Scores
Manchester threatened thrice, the first time early in the opening quarter and the third late in the final period. The first threat was halted by a fumble, the second and third by a stonewall defense. West Hartford scored on three touchdowns, threatened on two other occasions, the first being stopped through a poor pass from center which forced a kick, the second by an intercepted pass.

The second touchdown came with startling suddenness in the third period, as the ball was in play at midfield. West Hartford's signal caller barked the play, the line went to work and range and guard stepped out to clear the way for center. Nichols dropped kicked the point. In the final quarter, Nichols punted to Manchester's five yard line. Smith ran back the punt 25 yards, then tried a pass. The ball went into the end zone and he galloped along the sidelines for the third and last score. He added the extra-point with a line kick.

Local Rally Falls
Soon after the Red and White produced a short-lived rally. Smith ran back the kick-off ten yards to the 35 yard line, then added a first down around left end for thirty yards to West Hartford's 35 yard mark. Judd skirted right end for 15 yards more, but the victors' line held him down, talking the ball to midfield as the game ended.

Sendorowski took the opening kick-off 30 yards to midfield then added a first down. Here the advantage shifted to Sendorowski who kicked to the 23 yard line. Captain Foley made a first down, then Nichols punted to Manchester's 38 yard line. Judd got away for another long gain around the end, making forty yards to West Hartford's 25 yard line. On the next play, Owens fumbled and Wallace recovered for West Hartford. Wallace, the biggest man on the West Side team, played a wonderful game at left tackle and guard, stopping the advance of the local ball carriers with heavy losses, stopping many attempts at forward passing by dropping the passer in his tracks.

Fumble Halts Thrust
Late in the quarter, Sendorowski punted and Berger grounded the ball on West Hartford's 3 yard mark. Nichols kicked to his 40 yard mark. Della Fera making five yards. Sendorowski shot a pass to Della Fera that gained seven yards but fumbled on the next play, taking a loss that forced a kick. West Hartford then began the drive that eventually ended in a touchdown, although stopped momentarily by a poor pass to Langs.

Langs' 50 yard dash for a score in the third quarter. Mosser took the kickoff from behind the goal line to the seven yard mark. Sendorowski punted to the 40. West Hartford took a 15 yard penalty and kicked to the 13 yard line. Then Fraser fumbled and Nelson recovered as the period ended.

A first down failed to materialize when Reutenberg tackled Langs for an eight yard loss. On the next play, Sendorowski intercepted a pass on the 10 yard line, advancing 13 yards. Wallace threw Smith as the latter tried to pass, and Sendorowski punted. Nichols kicked a moment later for an eight yard loss. On the next play, Sendorowski intercepted a pass on the 10 yard line, advancing 13 yards. Wallace threw Smith as the latter tried to pass, and Sendorowski punted. Nichols kicked a moment later for an eight yard loss. On the next play, Sendorowski intercepted a pass on the 10 yard line, advancing 13 yards.

TRIED 14 PASSES
Manchester tried fourteen passes, four of which were completed. West Hartford intercepted four, none completed.

OBSERVERS SEE NO INDICATION NOTRE DAME IS SLIPPING

"Gradual Decline" Predicted At Rockne's Death Is Not In Evidence As Irish Continue To Win.

By JOHN W. STAHR
South Bend, Ind., Oct. 21.—(AP)—That "gradual decline" in Notre Dame football, rather widely prophesied after Knute Rockne's death, thus far has been exceedingly gradual as to defy detection by the naked eye.

In fact, those who have followed Irish grid fortunes at close range for years insist that, in man-power at least, Notre Dame is better equipped right now than during the last two—and most notably successful—years of Rockne's regime.

To the average fan the prodigious pace at which Hunk Anderson's current horde is careening through all opposition betrays no tendency to slide off the Rockne standard. As for the experts, they have been too busy tabulating touchdowns to notice any signs of decay.

Thus, so far as campus observers are concerned, it dispels the theory that Notre Dame would not hold the same lure for young talent with the "Old Master" gone.

Several young men who matriculated in the fall of 1931—after Rockne's death—already, as sophomores, have indicated they will play important roles in Irish grid warfare, while this year's freshman squad is considered one of the most promising in years.

Meanwhile, development of varsity material among the upper classes has proceeded in the customary Notre Dame fashion, and Coach Anderson has been almost embarrassed in several games—because no matter how many repetitions he makes the touchdowns continued to roll in.

Those on the "inside" here are not at all shaken in confidence by the comparatively "poor" season of 1931, when defeats by Southern California and Army and a scoreless tie with Northwestern interrupted the victory march started by Rockne's 1929 and 1930 eleven.

The locker-room oratory, the persuasion, the magnetism, the delicate touch of ball-balancing mechanics of Rockne may be gone, but "the system" remains, with a greater power-house than ever to plug for it.

CHAMP LOSES 7TH SUCCESSIVE FIGHT
Nichols, Light Heavyweight Title Holder, Beaten By German Sensation.

Boston, Oct. 28.—(AP)—With bloody head unbowed, George Nichols of Buffalo, recognized as the light heavyweight champion by the National Boxing Association, lost his seventh straight bout to Adolph Heuser the ex-like German sensation, last night at the arena.

Nichols gave one of the most stirring fights ever given in this city, coming up from the canvas, after being dropped five times in the first round, to turn back the German's tornado-like rushes.

A heavy left to the body, the first of which turned Heuser almost green, forced him to become cautious midway. As Nichols rammed terrific hooks into Heuser's body, he dropped his guard and the Buffalo bouncer found openings for heavy blows that flattened his opponent for long counts in the fourth and fifth sessions.

BOYS' CLUB OPPOSES RED MEN TOMORROW

Three Connecticut gridiron squads battled to repel invasions from out of the state today.

Facing a Yale team which has yet to win a game this season, the Dartmouth Indians invaded New Haven in hopes of defeating the Bull Dog for the first time. The Coast Guard Academy eleven, victorious over Norwich University last week remained at home to face the Rhode Island State attack.

The Green went into the Yale game a strong favorite. The Eli's, slow in developing a winning offense, were thoroughly trounced by the Army eleven last week, while Dartmouth, at the same time, held the strong Harvard team to a 10-7 victory. Last year the squad from New Hampshire let loose a whirlwind offense in the last half to come up from far behind and tie the final score 33-33. Yale has played to ties against Bates and Chicago and has been defeated by Brown and the Army.

Wesleyan which lost to Amherst six to nothing in the opening game of "The Little Three" series last week, was regarded as slight favorite as it went into the game with Trinity. Trinity was held to one touchdown in defeating Conn. Aggies last week while the Crimson squad decisively trounced the Doleman early in the season.

The Coast Guard Academy eleven met one of its steepest rivals in the Rhode Island State team. With the visitors minus the services of Ken Goff, star halfback, who was a strong element in the Cadets three successive defeats in the last three years, and with the strength of the Coast Guard team demonstrated by its decisive victory over Norwich University last week, Coach Merriman's aggregation have hopes of beating the visitors for the first time.

The Conn. Aggies who demonstrated a workable defense against Trinity last week, were expected to put up a stubborn battle against the invading Tufts team, although the visitors were listed as the favorites.

MANY TO COMPETE IN CROSS COUNTRY
Annual Thanksgiving Day Race To Be Greater Than Ever This Year.

Plans are proceeding rapidly for the sixth annual Thanksgiving Day cross country race, sponsored by the Recreation Centers, and the meet is attracting wide attention in track circles, verified by a letter that has been received from the Irish-American A.C. at Newark, N. J., a club that is anxious to enter a team this year.

A meeting of the cross country committee will be held at the Chamber of Commerce office, Monday morning at 11 o'clock. Last year, thousands had the pleasure of watching the race on Thanksgiving Day morning. This year, the interest expected to be even greater as arrangements are being made for more competition with a larger number of out-of-town runners competing. Joseph McCuskey, Manchester's famous runner, will undoubtedly be entered as a member of the Recreation Centers' team, of which Robert Dougan has charge.

ACES PLAY TOMORROW
The Aces will play Wapping at the West Side field tomorrow evening starting at 7:00. The Aces are hoping to break the streak that seems to be following them. Wapping was defeated by the Celtics 10-0. The Orioles also defeated the Aces 12-0. The Aces have not been able to get started in any of their games and will be a hard team to beat tomorrow.

NEW LONDON TEAM HAS LINE-UP OF FORMER COLLEGE PLAYERS; LOCALS EXPECT HARD FIGHT GAME; STARTS AT 2:30.

The Red Men A. C. will step out of their role as semi-professional players tomorrow afternoon to give battle to one of the flashiest teams of ex-college stars ever to be assembled in Manchester in one team. Heretofore, there have been individual backfield or line stars late from the major colleges of the country with teams here but the Red Men will face an entire line Sunday at Mt. Nebo, in the Boys' Club of New London, further bolstered with an all-college backfield.

The New London team has played six games to date this season, starting off with a scoreless tie with the strong Middletown Sons of Italy. The Boys' Club has clapped defeats on the Coast Guard Academy, New London, 12-0; the U. S. S. Herndon, 12-0; the Boston Submarine team, 15-0; the All-Burdias 10-0, and the flashy New Britain Pawnees 24-0.

Last year the Boys' Club defeated the Quantico Marines of Quantico, Va., and won the President's Cup. The Boys' Club is one of the attractions of New England and the Red Men are fortunate in being able to book a team of this caliber to play here.

Coach Harrison is not very cocky over the prospects for a win tomorrow, but has drilled his team this week on new plays and the Red Men expect to line up against the former collegians with a snap and pep that has been sadly missed during the early part of the season. Foote, driving halfback, will be on hand for the Reds and Elmo Mantelli who made several good plays against Bristol Northwales last week will also be in the backfield.

The lineup of the teams:
Boys' Club . . . . . Red Men

UNBEATEN RECORDS WILL FALL TODAY
At Least Six of the Eastern Teams Face Defeat in Today's Bill.

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—A good half of the baker's dozen of eastern football teams which came up to the last October Saturday with records unmarred by defeat were in serious danger of having their clear records spotted today. Six of them were paired off in three decisive games and two of those contests, Harvard-Brown and Columbia-Cornell, were rated as the nearest things to toss-ups.

Holy Cross, however, was favored over unbeaten but somewhat smaller Catholic University, Pittsburgh, although one of the best in the East, was distinctly the underdog as the Golden Panthers went out to do battle with the great Notre Dame scoring machine, and Johns Hopkins was given only an outside chance to defeat Rutgers. Colgate, on the other hand, was a topheavy favorite over Penn State.

IN THESE DAYS

"Say, Bill, if you had five bucks in your pocket, what would you think?" "I'd think I had somebody else's pants on!" —American Motorist.

THIS AND THAT IN FEMININE LORE

This is a grand year to give a "Tacky party" on Halloween night. Folks arriving in rags and tatters will give the right flip to this last Halloween of the depression, which we hope it will be, or a black domino masquerade party is a good idea.

YOUR CHILDREN

Sometimes I believe that mothers take a child's love too much for granted. Naturally, a little child loves its mother. A mother represents the whole world to him through the first years of his life.

THE FAIRIES

Children have something we lack. A sixth sense that can see outside the spectrum, and measure things by the fourth dimension. That sense lacks a name: Perhaps it is faith, perhaps something even spiritually finer than that.

X-RAY GHOST PICTURES

Pasadena, Cal.—X-ray photographs in three dimensions are now possible through the development of Dr. Jesse W. D. Dunsen and Archer Hoyt of the California Institute of Technology.

Daily Health Service

Warning Spurred by Baltimore Tragedy. By DR. MORRIS FISHEBIN, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

LEAD POISONING TRACED TO USE OF BATTERY CASINGS AS FUEL

An instance typical of the health hazards arising in industry and modern living conditions is afforded by the recent tragedy in Baltimore where 86 cases of lead poisoning were traced to the use of discarded storage battery casings as fuel.

HE WAS RIGHT

The idea worked, Ralph Bellamy, Frederic March, Lyle Talbot, George Brent, one by one deserted the repertoires and came to Hollywood. Victor Jory stayed on the stage—and I had more stock engagements than I could accept," he says.

NOW MANY BABIES?

Lambertville, N. J.—It would be interesting to know just how many babies the cradle owned by Mrs. Lida E. Piersch has rocked. She reports that the cradle was brought to this country by an ancestor, Lewis Evans, in 1751. The cradle was brought over from Scotland. It is still in fine condition.

TO RENT

Desirable 6 room tenement. Excellent condition. Near Center. Inquire Kemp's Store, 763 Main St.

THE TINY TINKLES

When Duncy and the flying horse dropped right into the tree, of course, they both were rather scared. Wee Duncy shouted, "Help me, quick!" "However, I am not so high. I'm going to drop. I'm sure that I will fall far enough to hurt myself. Wish luck to me!"

SENSE AND NONSENSE

LADY (former telephone operator to Pullman porter who had failed to call her as directed)—Porter, why didn't you call me at 7:30?
 PORTER—Ah did, ma'am. Ah said, 'seven-thirty, an' you'll said do line was busy, an' when Ah pushed, you'll said, 'So your old man. Git off de line, or I'll knock yo' fo' a goal! So Ah did.

Old Uncle Lorenzo from out near Yanceyville says: "Dere an one good thing 'bout a dog. Ef he is yo' friend, he shows it an' means it."

Sambo, carrying a crate of eggs, tripped and fell headlong, with dire consequences. His friend Rastus, happening along just then, threw his head back and shouted with laughter.

Rastus (gargling)—Ho-ho-ho-ho-ho! Dem yolks, dem whites, dem shells! Ho-ho-ho-ho-ho!
 Sambo (after watching him a moment)—Boy, shut yo' mouf 'n Ah kin see who yo' is.

Stuttering Mose—J-just t-think, t-t-that b-b-b-beautiful b-b-b-but-terly once c-c-c-came from a c-coon.
 Rastus—Goo! Lord, Ise guess we is de ancestors ob everything.

SIMILE: As elusive as a Negro full-back in a night football game when the lights fail.

It's just as well that some of us business men are not required to pass high school examinations in arithmetic.

Child—Mummy, is it lunch time yet?
 Mother—No, darling, not for another hour.
 Child—Well, then, my tummy must be fast.

A PUZZLE: "One and one are two, but if one and one should marry, how is it in a year or so, there's two and one to carry?"

He—Have you ever been kissed?
 She—Y-y-y, c-c-cause I n-never c-c-could s-say n-no fast enough.

Don't think that because one of the participants in a quarrel is wrong the other one is right.

A HOUSEHOLD HINT: Right handed tea cups can be converted into left handed cups by simply turning them around.

GARRULOUS OLD WOMAN—I really do not see what the Ten Commandments are for; they don't tell you what to do, and only put ideas into your head.

BROKER—What does that man want?
 SECRETARY—He says he must see you on a matter of life or death.
 BROKER—Let him wait. He's just another insurance agent.

Henderson—Were you one of the many fooling with the stock market?
 Anderson—Not me, I was serious, the market did the fooling.

Wife—I wonder why we are getting tired of each other?
 Husband—I haven't any idea.
 Wife—Yes, maybe that is the reason.

SHORTS AND PANTS...The fellow who said that the good die young, probably was not thinking of home brew...The truth of the matter is that the government is not only living beyond its income, but also beyond ours...Maybe marriages lasted longer in the old days because the bride looked just the same after washing her face...Man was once considered the noblest work of God—and then someone had to spoil it by inventing Congress...Some men have no desire to reach the top of the ladder as long as there are some women at the bottom of it...Very little that is of superior merit is permanently overlooked....

ABOUT TOWN

Joe McCluskey, Fordham college athlete, returned to his home on Foster street late yesterday afternoon for the week-end. This afternoon he will go to Boston to watch the Fordham football team play Boston College.

Loyal Circle of King's Daughters will hold a special meeting tomorrow after the morning service at the Center Congregational church.

The stockholders of Cheney Brothers will meet Monday afternoon to take action on completing the financial reorganization of the company. The meeting will be in the main office at 2:30.

The Ladies Missionary Society of Emanuel Lutheran church will hold a Swedish baking sale this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the basement of the J. W. Hale Company's store.

The Sewing Club of the Women of the Micoses will meet Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank A. Montie, 221 Hartford Road.

Mabel Manning, the well known Massachusetts evangelist, will come to the Church of the Nazarene next week for a series of three revival meetings. Formerly a resident of this town, she has many friends, and has appeared at the local Nazarene church on several previous occasions as a singer and evangelist. A change has been made in the evening on which she is to speak, so that Tuesday will be the first night, when she will take for her subject "Signs of the Times." Wednesday and Thursday following she will speak at 7:30 p. m. at the Nazarene church.

All members of Campbell Council, K. of C., are requested to assemble at the Council room at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. From there they will march in a body to St. James's church to attend the 8:30 mass and receive Holy Communion in honor of the deceased members.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart J. Wasley of 14 Summit street are attending the football game at West Point today between Army and William and Mary, as guests of their nephew, Cadet P. S. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. James Service, Jr., of South Willington, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary yesterday in a dinner party at The Brigham, 117 East Center street. Fifteen guests attended, all of them immediate members of the Service family. The occasion was also Mrs. Service's birthday.

Dr. E. G. Dolan will be one of the speakers at a Democratic rally to be held in Glastonbury tonight. On the stage with him at the same time and who will also make an address is Rocco D. Pallotti, who was an unsuccessful candidate for Senator from one of the three Hartford Senatorial Districts this month.

The Beethoven Glee Club will hold its annual Halloween social and masquerade at the Bolton Town Hall Monday evening, leaving the Emanuel Lutheran church at 7:30 o'clock. All who attend must be in costume. A "chamber of horrors" will be one of the features of the evening and there will also be games, dancing and refreshments. Carl Matson is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Herbert C. Johnson of 24 Clinton street has filed a certificate of trade name, his firm to be known as the Victor Manufacturing Company. Mr. Johnson will engage in the manufacture of oil burners for kitchen ranges, locating the business at his home for the present.

The regular monthly meeting of the staff of the Manchester Memorial hospital was held last evening with Dr. Joseph Vincent Meigs of Massachusetts General hospital of Boston as the guest speaker. Dr. Meigs is the week-end guest of Dr. and Mrs. George A. F. Lundberg at their home on East Center street. A dinner was given by the Medical Association in honor of Dr. Meigs last night.

RADIO-ENGINEERING
CLASS MEETS NOV. 2

Hillyer Institute Course To Be Conducted At Hartford Y By Yale Man.

Waldo Todd Pratt, Yale graduate, electrical engineer and specialist in radio service, will hold the first regular session of his class in Radio, given by the Engineering Institute of the Hillyer Y. M. C. A. Schools, in the Association building, Wednesday evening, November 2, at 7:30 o'clock. Instructor Pratt has made several changes in the Radio course this year and will emphasize this fall the actual testing and repairing of practices in soldering joints, reading meters, adjusting superstraps and making improvements in old sets. Opportunity will be given to make certain types of testing equipment, and a study of tone quality will also be included.

In addition to the practical work, sufficient theory will be taught and studies will be made in the present status of television and short wave equipment. Two trips will be made during the course, one to the WTC broadcasting station on Avon Mountain, and the other to the private laboratory of the instructor. Mr. Pratt's laboratory has been classified as one of the finest technical laboratories privately owned in the East.

Young men interested in this course may attend the class on Wednesday evening. The details of registration for the course may be obtained from Julius S. Augur, Director of the Hillyer Y. M. C. A. Schools.

LEGION'S ANNUAL MEETING MONDAY
Dilworth-Cornell Post To Elect Officers—To Consider New Home.

Dilworth-Cornell Post, No. 102, American Legion will hold its annual meeting in the armory rooms Monday night. Election of officers for the year and the consideration of a plan to build a Legion Home will come up at the annual meeting.

The post has contemplated the expenditure of $1,000 for a building site and action on the proposal will be taken Monday night. A good attendance is expected as there is divided opinion on the matter of securing a home at this time.

The officers to be elected Monday night are: Commander, John G. Mahoney; 1st. vice commander, Everett Kennedy; 2nd vice commander, Frank Cervini; Chaplain, Oscar G. Anderson; Adjutant, Victor W. Bronke; Sergeant at Arms, Edward Brogan; Welfare officer, Francis E. Bray; historian, Donald Hemmingway. Executive committee: William A. Allen, Arthur N. Potter, Peter Frey and William Barron.

Members of Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus, will receive communion in a body at the 8:30 mass in St. James's church tomorrow morning. The members of the council are to meet in the club rooms at 8 o'clock and march in a body to the church. A section of the church will be reserved for the members. As the attendance at the 8:30 mass is always large it is the desire of the officers of the council that all members report promptly so all can be seated well before the opening of the mass.

FINDS MANY RESIDENTS MOVING ONTO FARMS
Personal Tax Enumerator Reports Such Instances Numerous; Shifts of Population Is Noted.

David McCann, who is enrolling the town's personal tax payers, has completed the work in the outskirts and will start in the more thickly settled areas on Monday. Mr. McCann says he has found that a number of former residents of the center of the town have moved to farms in the outlying sections. There are many cases of removal from town but on the other hand a good many new comers have moved in. A list of these is regarded as important when checks are to be made on applicants for aid from the town, since some of them may be chargeable to other communities.

DR. JOHN M. PHILLIPS TO SPEAK IN HEBRON

"My electric range cooks everything successfully"

GEORGE'S MOTHER SAYS MY CAKES TURN OUT PERFECTLY. THAT'S BECAUSE MY ELECTRIC RANGE HAS AN OVEN WITH SCIENTIFICALLY CONTROLLED HEAT.

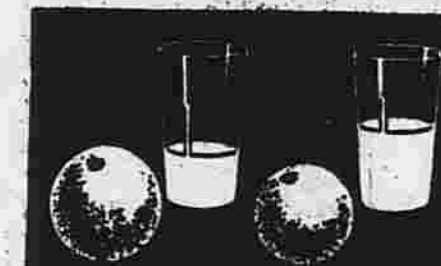

IN electric cookery you can regulate the heat with absolute accuracy. It's all so simple and easy. You set the automatic control. Without any further attention, the oven will stay at any temperature you want. No guesswork. No testing. No opening and closing of the oven door. No turning heat up or down. You don't have to wash things cook. Good results are certain. Cakes, breads, muffins, biscuits bake thoroughly to a rich, even brown... never fall in the middle. Meats are tender and tasty. Vegetables, deliciously flavorful. Electric cookery is not only accurate. It is economical, clean. Never makes your kitchen hot and stuffy. The automatic operation gives you extra hours of leisure.

WHEN BUSINESS MEN SAY WHAT THEY THINK

"Do we dodge the issue?"

"We talk these days about the need for inspired leadership. All right, but while we're waiting for some 'superman' to come along for us to lean on, why not practise some leadership on our own account!"

"Business collectively won't develop any faster than we business men individually develop self-leadership, self-direction, self-reliance."

"Leadership' dodges the issue."
