MCCARTHY FACTION
LOSES COURT FIGHT

Milford Democrats Squabble
Over Candidates Named
For the State Legislature.

New Haven, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Judge Edwin C. Dickenson today refused a motion for a mandamus asked by Frank McCarthy, chief of the warring Democratic faction in Milford who sought to have a slate of his supporters placed on the ballot as candidates for the State Legislature.

Judge Dickenson recognized Lawrence T. Gallagher, whom one faction has attempted to unseat as town chairman, as the rightful holder of that office, and reviewing evidence of meetings held September 23 and 26 said the nominees appointed by the caucus of October 17, called by Gallagher, were the rightful nominees.

The decision upheld Town Clerk Harold E. Thomas, who, making a decision on instructions from the secretary of state recognized the candidates of the Gallagher faction. McCarthy, rival claimant for the town chairmanship claimed the candidate nominated by his faction at a caucus October 5, should be listed on the ballot together with those of the Gallagher faction.

The conclusion is that the meeting of September 23 having been indefinitely adjourned by vote put to the proper chairman, the caucus later called for October 5 was the regular caucus and the candidates named are the regular nominees of the Democratic Party, the decision said.

"There appears to have followed some confusion in the meeting of Sept. 23. Some one moved an adjournment to September 26. Farad (chairman) put the motion and declared the meeting adjourned to that date, Gallagher, claiming that he had been elected chairman, received a motion for indefinite adjournment on vote declared the meeting indefinitely adjourned."

Gallagher later called a caucus for September 17 which he claims was the legal caucus. McCarthy called meetings for September 26, which he likewise claimed the legal caucus, and for October 3 when the rival slate was nominated.

CANDY STORE FIXTURES ARE AUCTIONED TODAY

A fairly large crowd gathered at Foley's Express office on Purnell place this afternoon for the auction of furniture and supplies of the former South Manchester Candy Kitchen located at Main and Birch streets. The auctioneers were Robert M. Reid and his son Raymond.

The first part of the sale was taken up with the disposal of numerous small dishes and tinware of all description. One of the biggest early bargains was the sale of a soda fountain for $7.50. A cash register went for $22.50. Bidding was fairly brisk and the auctioneer made so fast that George Graziano was kept busy with his bookkeeping job.

DOUBLE ACCIDENT

Greenwich, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Riding an automobile running on a bridge in an attempt to catch another machine which, he said, had forced his car to leave the Boston Post road and crash into a building, Frederick Brun, of Tokeneke, was injured today when he fell.

Brun, driving a large sedan, left the road a short distance east of here, his heavy car crashing through the wall of a small building operated as a real estate office. Brun leaped to the running-board of another car but fell four miles farther on at North Main.

ANOTHER GANG MURDER

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 3.—(AP)—A second gang "ride" murder was disclosed today by the finding of the body of an unidentified man about 35, in a patch of woods off Baptist Church road, town of Yorktown. He had been shot to death.

Three hunters found the body. No marks of identification were found in the clothing of the victim. The man's features had been rendered indistinguishable by the shot which killed him.

The circumstances of the finding of the body were similar to those surrounding the killing of Angelo Gardiello, whose body was tossed from an automobile after he had been shot in Greenburgh Saturday morning.

A writer says, "I can remember when the law was a profession." It sounds as if he might be holding something back.

GERMAN WARSHIP ARRIVES

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Visiting North America for the first time since the World War the German cruiser Karlsruhe, training ship for the German Navy, steamed up the Delaware river today for a week's visit to Philadelphia's port.

The 6,000-ton cruiser left Kiel with 531 officers and cadets aboard for a world-wide training cruise on November 30, 1932.

As the training ship berthed, its officers and crew were welcomed by city officials, and representatives of the United States and German diplomatic services.

Arno P. Mowitz, German counsel, has arranged an entertainment program for the visiting seafarers.

LOS TICKETS—$75,000! Los Angeles.—The big question in superior court is: "Are 20 teeth worth $75,000?" Mrs. Sarah Arnold sued L. A. Trust for $200,000, arguing that she lost 20 teeth in a collision between her car and that of Turk's. Mrs. Benzie L. Galbraith sued the Los Angeles Junction Railway at the same time for $65,000 for the loss of 16 teeth in a crash between her car and a locomotive.

STIONS TO DUTY

Knoxville, Tenn.—Although best bet by the crowd was a rather nearby fall from his horse, R. N. Hiddle, rural mail carrier, finished delivering mail and upheld the slogan of mail carriers, that the "mail must go through." He slipped from his horse at the end of his route and was taken to a hospital.

VICTOR BRONKE HEADS
GERMAN REPUBLICANS

Fifty Sign Roll and Pledge Two Additional Members—Several Addresses.

An enthusiastic meeting of the German-Republican Club was held in Tinker Hall last night and officers of the new organization were elected and the membership assured of immediate increase through a plan proposed by the newly elected officers.

Victor Bronke, leader in ex-service affairs was elected President of the German speaking group and Gustave Ulrich, treasurer, executive committee; Gustave Ulrich, Frank Schiebel, Peter Frey, Arthur Lashinske, Emil L. G. Hohenthal, Fred Muske, John Adams, Victor Bronke, Alfred Laug and William Custer.

Fifty men present signed the roll of the organization and agreed to make two members each to join. Paul Pfeiffer and Max Wilde of Hartford, organizers of the foreign language department of the Republican State Committee addressed the meeting and outlined the ideals of the organization.

The meeting was addressed by Thomas J. Rogers and William J. Thornton, candidates for Representatives; Judge Rosenthal of the City Court, Hartford; Col. Clarence W. "Cy" Seymour, and Ernest Carpenter, director of the Americanization Bureau of New Haven.

Director Carpenter said that the Democratic party had a faculty for "guessing wrong" throughout history and cited the proposals for states rights, slavery, secession, free trade and free silver as the outstanding "guesses."

TODAY'S RESULTS
IN STRAW VOTE

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Literary Digest today announced a presidential poll in the following cities as follows:

Table with 3 columns: City, Hoover, Roosevelt

Wall Street
Briefs

New York, Nov. 3.—The Guardian Life Insurance Co. of America will reduce dividends to policyholders 15 percent effective January 1, says Carl Heye, president. Directors approved the cut at their meeting last week. Surplus earnings are expected to be sufficient to allow the president dividend scale for 1932, but the board thought best to reduce the 1933 rate in consideration of prevailing conditions. Heye cited three factors affecting all mutual companies: Increased taxes, the need for larger cash balances and secondary cash reserves, and a generally decreasing number of investments suitable for life insurance companies.

Oscar Nelson, president of United Carbon Co., says that bank loans which stood at $500,000 on September 30 have since been reduced $100,000 and that further cuts are likely this year.

The National Coal Association estimates bituminous production in the United States for the week ended October 29 at 7,600,000 tons. In the same period last year output was 8,016,000 tons.

MIGHT TRY ONIONS

El Paso, Tex.—Dr. F. R. Outlaw, city health officer, had a rather peculiar problem recently. A middle-aged woman recently visited him and complained that she had been unable to shed tears for eight years. "I can't sleep well and I'm all up," she told him. "What I need is a good cry." All Dr. Outlaw could think of was to tear her...

ROOSEVELT SORRY
HE MISSED TOWN

Wires Dr. Dolan That Weather and Crowds Prevented Visit Here.

Dr. Edward G. Dolan, Democratic State Central Chairman received a telegram today from Franklin D. Roosevelt, explaining the action of the Democratic presidential candidate in curtailing the scheduled tour of the Hartford County towns Tuesday evening. The telegram received today from the State Capitol at Albany reads as follows:

"Regret exceedingly curtailment of my itinerary due to delay caused by weather conditions and crowd at every point. There was also some slight misunderstanding about the report. I wish you would convey through your press or any other channel my sincere regret for the disappointment caused to the people of your city."

(Signed) Franklin D. Roosevelt. Dr. Dolan stated today that it was his opinion that the Presidential candidate will remember the disappointment caused by his inability to make the schedule throughout Manchester and surrounding towns and when he is present will appear in Manchester at the first opportunity.

ADVERTISERS MEET

Toronto, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The 19th annual meeting of the Association of Canadian Advertisers opened here today. Advertising layouts and the work of the artists, printers, lithographers and engravers' arts were exhibited.

E. G. Smith of the Chronicle-Telegraph, Quebec, president of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, presented the case for the daily press. "Two and a quarter million copies of newspapers are sold every day in Canada," he said. "This means every accessible family in the Dominion is receiving its daily paper."

National advertising programs should not fail to include the papers which go into the home in the immediate vicinity of the dealers, declared Lorna Eedy of the St. Mary's, Ont., Journal-Argus. In an open session symposium on "Problems and Opportunities" speakers included E. M. Larson, E. H. Dickinson, G. E. Eastman and E. B. Milling.

G. M. Betram, Toronto, stressed the paramount importance of the consumer in all advertising and sales promotion work, presenting arguments for modernity in packaging and in show-card presentation.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Albert Palmer of 553 Parker street, was admitted to the hospital today for a tonsil operation.

Leo Brazauskas of 33 North street, injured in an automobile accident on Eye street, South Windsor last Sunday morning, is seriously sick at the hospital with pneumonia.

A well children's conference will be held at the hospital annex tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

CORWIN FOR ROOSEVELT

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Richard Washburn Child, chairman of the Republicans for Roosevelt League, announced today that Professor Edward S. Corwin, head of the Department of Politics of Princeton University, has declared himself in favor of Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidency. Dr. Corwin is an outstanding Republican.

Child made public a letter from the Princeton professor in which he said that Hoover "in his speech at Madison Square Garden is a magnificent and great defender of the American tradition, but his pretension was ridiculous."

The Republicans for Roosevelt League also announced that Mrs. George Christian Beale, 75 of New York and Boston, who was designated as a "lifelong Republican," would be present at the Roosevelt rally in the Metropolitan Opera House tonight. Mrs. Beale wrote: "Hoover's lack of action has inspired action within my soul."

Waterbury, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Henry Weyand, 97, president of the Luncheon Club Company, president of the closed Merchants Trust Company, and president of the Henry Weyand Company, sheet metal manufacturer, died at his home here today. He was born in Germany and lived here 46 years.

KILLS 'SONS, SELF'

Lapeer, Mich., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Gabriel Costas, a farmer living two miles east of Okford, Mich., in Lapeer county, today shot and killed his two sons, Steve, 16, and Tony, 14, and then shot himself to death following a family quarrel.

Sheriff Byron Courter said a housekeeper in the Kovas home informed him the father had been quarreling for several days with the sons over money obtained for produce. The quarrel was renewed today, she told the sheriff.

MANUFACTURER DIES

9,858 VOTERS ON LIST
HERE IN THIS ELECTION

Increases Over 1,000 Since 1925 Campaign—Women Number 3,788.

The Registrars of Voters have made a final check on the lists of voters for the coming election and have certified 5,668 men and 4,375 women for a total of 9,858 or 142 less than the number estimated from the early returns. The total number of voters for the presidential election is 1,308 less than the number of voters listed for the 1928 election.

The lists of 1928 showed 4,987 men and 3,788 women for a total of 8,755.

here when he returns election day to cast his ballot. News of the President's contemplated visit did not stir the townspeople greatly and they indicated no elaborate preparations for "Neighbor" Hoover's arrival are planned.

Since Mr. Hoover left his home on the side of Stanford University's San Juan Hill four years ago to occupy the White House, the community has been "up and doing."

Old red street cars that rattled between the depot and the university campus have been replaced by swift-moving motor buses. Many Palo Altoans also take pride in the new $700,000 hotel and in the fact it is called "The President" in honor of the town's distinguished citizen.

"Neighbor" Hoover's attention may be called to the new $450,000 hospital. And there is the $500,000 post office under construction.

Many improvements. On his arrival about midday Tuesday the President will have an opportunity to note improvements on the Stanford campus. A new entrance gate has been erected and the state highway in front of it has been greatly widened.

The Stanford football stadium, where nearly 90,000 persons gathered to hear Mr. Hoover accept the nomination for President four years ago, has been reconstructed and enlarged at a cost of $100,000.

The campus, which Mr. Hoover first knew as a student in mining engineering in the Nineties, has acquired a sunken baseball field since last visit. It is larger than most of the Major League parks and was completed in 1931 at a cost of $30,000.

There is a new eighteen-hole golf course, rated among the hardest in the state, a new women's gymnasium and social hall, and a men's swimming pool in which two world records already have been set.

Five miles to the south of the campus, lies the Navy's Sunnyvale air base, now nearing completion, at which the dirigible Akron "tied up" her recent visit to the Pacific coast.

But in spite of the many changes, the President's home on San Juan Hill, like the townfolk is much the same—except for a few chips knocked off corners here and there by souvenir hunters who evaded the eyes of guards.

SPAIN MUCH PLEASED
OVER HERRIOT'S VISIT

Madrid, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Luis Zulueta announced today the Spanish government was "very satisfied" by the visit of Premier Herriot of France and declared his personality "captured the country."

Salvador de Madariaga, Spanish ambassador to France, sent an expression of gratitude from M. Herriot for courtesies accorded him during his three-day visit here this week.

"Without including in secret negotiations, France and Spain were enabled to demonstrate their deep friendship," said Senor Zulueta. "We are happy over the laborer's agreements which will affect thousands of Spanish laborers in France who will now have guarantees in event of illness or unemployment."

"We hope the day will come soon when all the world will establish uniform labor guarantees," he added.

"Regarding discussions of peace measures," he pointed out, "Spain and France have mutual and similar problems and therefore must collaborate for world peace and co-operation."

NICHOLS' AIRPLANE

at 2:48 a. m., was due, she said, to a heavy load of gasoline.

"In taking off with a heavy load a plane is very hard to handle" she said. "I used every ounce of muscular energy to hold it down, but found it was impossible."

RUMORS OF A FLOT New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—A. B. Cornell, an employee in the speakers bureau of the Republican Eastern headquarters, expressed his opinion in a letter today that some one had "tampered" with the plane in which Miss Ruth Nichols ground-looped early today, but Republican officials said they took no stock in the charge, which they said Cornell made entirely on his own responsibility.

Miss Nichols herself said the only cause of her accident was that the plane ran off the concrete runway as she was attempting to take off on a flight to the West Coast in the interests of the Republican campaign.

Cornell, who higher Republican officials said was a "minor employee" made his charge in a letter to A. Gordon Nicholson of the Republican State Committee of California in San Francisco.

"Though an investigation is under way," he wrote, "the affair swears to me of being unclear. My opinion is the plane was tampered with to prevent the flight."

MURDERED IN AUTO New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Philip Schwieger, 28, of Glendale, Long Island, was shot to death by an unknown sniper today as he sat in an automobile in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn.

Two shots were fired into the car, a coupe, through an open window on the driver's side. The first struck Schwieger over the ear, passed through his head and out through the window on the right hand side. The second merely pierced the window.

Sol Rowanstein of Brooklyn, was seated at the car's controls. The two men had just eaten lunch in a restaurant and were about to drive away.

TOWN ARTISTS IN BENEFIT CONCERT

Beethoven Glee Club Heads Program To Be Presented On Monday Evening.

The Educational Club has completed its plans for the concert to be given by local artists on Monday, Nov. 7. The entire proceeds from the concert will be used by the club to carry on welfare work among the school children of Manchester.

The Hollywood Quartet who often broadcast from WDRG and WTIC is a group of local soloists who will be heard. They have appeared on the concert stages of both Hartford and Manchester.

Miss Arlyne Moriarty whose dramatic ability is well known will also appear. She is a vocal teacher of Manchester who has sung frequently in the theaters of Manchester and Hartford.

The World Famous Cornet Solo, will be played by Chester Shields, the boy cornetist of Manchester. Chester is a student of the late Charles P. Hatch, bandmaster of Hartford.

DETROIT FOR ROOSEVELT, SEN. COUZENS DECLARES

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Senator Couzens, (R., Mich.) today told newspapermen that Governor Roosevelt would carry Detroit by a majority of over 100,000 and that Michigan would repeal the prohibition amendment in the State Constitution and the Enforcement Act next Tuesday.

"The Republicans always have carried the state by tremendous majorities, around 500,000, and it is inconceivable that there could be a turn-over which would give the state to Governor Roosevelt. But, in my judgment, Wayne county, which is Detroit, will give Roosevelt this year a majority of 100,000 to 150,000. So far as the state is concerned, I think it will be very close."

Discussing the state prohibition law, Couzens said: "There is every evidence that the Michigan state prohibition amendment in the Constitution and the Enforcement Act will be repealed. The proposition before the voters will authorize the legislature to set up a liquor control commission. I think the repeal proposal and the liquor control proposition will be carried by a very substantial majority. The majority will be between 200,000 and 300,000."

ORGANIZERS RELEASED

Middletown, Nov. 3.—(AP)—George S. Hutchinson, 55, and Ralph E. Jacobs, 30, organizers of the Farmers' National Association of Norwich were freed of charges of obtaining money under false pretenses in Superior Court today.

They were arrested several weeks ago on complaints they had solicited memberships for their organization with the claim it had the support of Governor W. L. Cross. Cross had refused to endorse the concern.

After questioning three witnesses, State's Attorney B. E. Spencer told Judge John Richards Both their story was not the same as that which he originally understood, and that he had no objection to a nolle.

NOT FOR LONERGAN

New Haven, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Milton Conover, Independent Republican candidate for the Senate, issued a statement today that "certain Democratic leaders" were attempting to "secure independent support for Augustine Lonergan on the grounds that was the only sure way to defeat Bingham."

"Such action tends to undermine the Independent Party which has mission far beyond the defeat of Bingham," he said. "A vote for Lonergan would also tend to defeat the purposes of the party which are the overthrow of the combined forces of big trust and monopoly in Connecticut."

ARREST FOUR OFFICERS

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Four Illinois officers who came here today to return to Illinois Floyd Fulbright, wanted in connection with a series of bank robberies and kidnapings, were arrested by Federal prohibition agents who said they found liquor in the officers' automobile.

The officers gave their names as Lester Tiffany, sheriff of Lake county, Illinois; Thomas E. Kennedy, a deputy sheriff; Lincoln Tiffany, a deputy sheriff and police chief at Mundaeville, Ill., and Tom Dolin, a deputy sheriff.

Walter Myre and Walter Gess, Federal prohibition agents, said they found two quarts of whiskey and 28 bottles of beer in the automobile in custody from Waukegan. The automobile was searched while in Paducah. Pending word from Joseph Phillips, deputy prohibition administrator at Louisville, the four men were detained at police headquarters but were not placed in jail.

ANNUAL CHAMBER MEETING NOV. 15 Will Be Held At Country Club—Hope To Have Two Prominent Speakers.

The thirty-second annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held at the Country Club, Tuesday evening, November 15, at 6:30 o'clock, arrangements for the meeting having been completed last night. An attempt is being made to bring two prominent speakers here for the meeting.

Tickets for the affair were placed on sale at the Chamber office today, priced at 75 cents each, or half of the price asked last year. It will be a dinner meeting and Catano of the Coffee Shop will cater. He will serve a menu consisting of fruit salad, celery, cranberry sauce, oysters, health salad, roast chicken, nut dressing, mashed potatoes, mashed turkeys, rolls and butter, French cake and coffee.

A total of 150 reservations are available and members are asked to secure their tickets as soon as possible. Following the dinner, the annual meeting will be held, at which a slate of officers headed by E. J. Murphy as president, will be recommended by the nominating committee.

OLD AGE PROBLEM UP TO CHURCHES

Prof. Holt Says It Is An Important One and Churches Should Help.

Oak Park, Ill., Nov. 3.—(AP)—The old age problem in the United States is a growing one and it can not be shunted aside by the churches, Prof. Arthur E. Holt, of the 500 churches.

Prof. Holt appeared before the closing session of the joint home mission boards and the midwest regional committee of the commission on missions of the Congregational and Christian churches.

A three fold cause for old age distress was described by the speaker as: 1.—Reducing feeling of responsibility of Americans toward their families.

2.—Lack of security under the American industrial system in old age. 3.—An increase in the normal span of life from 40 years in 1865 to 68 years in 1932.

Prof. Holt said the church could offer a philosophy of life; sponsor fellowship among young and old; advocate old age security as a moral issue; encourage establishment of old age homes; appeal to employers to provide for the future of their workers.

He spoke in favor of old age pensions, declaring 14 states and territories, and 38 foreign countries had adopted some form. Four hundred firms employing 4,000,000 persons also provide for retirement of workers at advanced age, he said.

JUDGE LANDIS RAPS CAMPAIGN SPEAKERS

Hot Springs, Ark., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Kenshaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of organized baseball, has a word to say about the presidential campaign which he characterizes as "a bewildering avalanche of aimless oratory."

Addressing a civic club here yesterday, he said National politics had reached a level where "the man in the cabin cannot longer expect leadership and common sense from his government."

"What we need is to send men to National and State governments who will pluck by the roots the cumbersome and dead timber that has been accumulating on the tree of government for the past 40 years," he declared. "The hardest thing at this time for the people to accomplish is to pry an office-holder loose from his job once he gets thoroughly entrenched. Back of the sobering issues of depression in this present political campaign is a greater one, representing a crying need for decent, ordinary common sense and honesty. Bring this to government and two thirds of our task is done."

RIGHT OF WAY SPAT IS AIRED IN COURT

M. G. Kenyon Charged With Trespass—Fined $1 Without Costs.

A right-of-way argument involving two Hilltown families was aired before Judge Raymond A. Johnson in Manchester Police court this morning in a long drawn out session. The case concerned whether or not Milford G. Kenyon had the right to cross the property of Marshall and Pauline Korse. Deeds dated back many years introduced involving numerous changes in property ownership. The court finally decided in favor of the Korse family.

Kenyon was charged with trespassing and with tearing down a fence. Judge Johnson, however, found no indication that Kenyon had willfully broken the law and yet no deed was presented to prove that he had any right of way on the Korse land. It was apparent, the court ruled, that Kenyon thought he had such a legal right. A fine of $1 without cost was imposed for trespassing and judgment was suspended on the other count.

The Kenyon and Korse farms are adjoining and Kenyon testified that he had used the right of way for 22 years. His brother, Hiram, said the same. Korse, however, produced his deed from Archie Hayes which included no mention of any right of way. Kenyon was represented by Attorney William A. Arnold of Hartford. Arnold claimed that he felt sorry for Kenyon; that he was once a well to do man and now was in financial difficulties; that he had used the so-called right of way to reach his mail box and to carry on his farm work; and that Korse had not only put up a fence but set his dog on Kenyon.

The only other exit from the Kenyon farm to the public highway is a longer and roundabout way to Hilltown Road. He had been entering onto what is known as Woodside street through the Korse property. The only other cases in Police Court this morning involved George S. Markin and Walter Bayek of 31 Lincoln street, Hartford, charged with transporting liquor. They were arrested here a few days ago for passing a stop sign and the officer found two gallons of liquor in the car. The pair claimed they were on their way to a party at the home of Harold Hue. However, the latter said that he knew of no such plans.

It was brought out that Bayek had had a record dating back for seven years mostly for liquor violations. He has a wife and six children to support and formerly lived in Thompsonville. Markin is a baker and out of work and had not been associated in the liquor business before so far as any record is concerned at least.

Attorney Simon J. Belzer of Hartford entered a plea of nolo contendere for both men. Markin was fined $100 and costs and $25 of the fine was remitted. Bayek was fined $200 and costs with an additional sentence of ten days in jail but at the request of his attorney this sentence was changed to a straight jail sentence of sixty days because Bayek was without money.

OLD FIRMS MERGE

New York Nov. 3.—(AP)—Union of four of the country's oldest fishing tackle companies was consummated today when three companies, two of which are more than 100 years old and the other in its 86th year, announced the purchase of the G. H. Mansfield Co., of Canton, Mass., which started business 111 years ago.

The G. H. Mansfield Co., dating back to 1821, had been in receivership since last April. It manufactures rods, reels and flies.

The three purchasing companies were the Ashway Line & Twine Manufacturing Co., established in Ashway, Rhode Island in 1824; B. F. Oslawski & Co., established in South Scituate, N. Y. in 1816, and the Montague Rod & Reel Co., established in Montague City, Mass., in 1847.

W. Bruce Pirnie, president, and Sewell Dunton, treasurer, of the Montague and Philip Willard, of Boston, acted as the nominees. Boston banking interests in the sale of the Mansfield company.

TO ERECT MEMORIAL

Torrington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The John Brown Association of Torrington, which owns the site of the noted Abolitionist's birthplace here, has graded about an acre of the property, placed a large boulder which is to be marked with an appropriate tablet and plans to dedicate the tract as a permanent memorial. This fact was revealed today by ex-Senator John M. Wadhams who is an officer of the association. The house in which John Brown was born was destroyed by fire several years ago.

CHICKEN PIE SUPPER PROVES BIG SUCCESS

North-Methodist Women Serve Same High Quality Menu At A Reduced Price.

North-Methodist women workers scored another success last night with their perennial social and financial undertaking, the November chicken pie supper. Whether a depression or prosperous times prevail the traditional chicken pie supper at this church is served. Last night the same big meal was prepared and set before the regular and new patrons at a 25 per cent reduction.

Last year the Herbert S. Kenney family and its branches made the supper the occasion for a reunion and celebration of Mrs. Kenney's birthday, with the newest arrival in the family, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kenney's baby in a basket in the center of the table. The family gathered around one large table last night and the "center-piece" baby was much in evidence, grown beyond the confines of even a large clothes basket.

The tables were attractive in decorations of chrysanthemums and lilies and small sprays of the coveted orange-red berries were fastened to each napkin and used as boutonnières. An added interest was the display of artistic bedspreads, luncheon cloths, pillows and other goods for which orders were received.

PREDICT INCREASE IN HITLER'S VOTE

(Continued From Page One) ceded that Hitler's National Socialists would remain the strongest single party in the Reich. "When people talk about catastrophic losses for Hitler," said the spokesman "we do not agree with them. We believe that Hitler will lose not more than 1,500,000 of his former 14,000,000 votes."

"As Reichstag votes are apportioned on the basis of one for every 60,000 votes cast for a party, this means in our opinion, Hitler will lose only about 20 or 25 of his 230 seats."

LONDON'S IDLE ARMY NOW BEGS FOR FOOD

London, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Chastened by their experiences with the police, unemployed hunger marchers who last week stormed the very doors of Parliament, were reduced today to rattling tin cups for pennies in the streets.

Their leader, W. A. L. Hamington was still in jail. Some of their companions in the weary march on the city had gone home. In the House of Commons the home secretary announced that the government was preparing measures to prevent the recurrence of such disorders as occurred last week. The leaderless stragglers, knowing not what else to do, shuffled up and down the sidewalks in the neighborhood of the big halls where the County Council has provided sleeping quarters begging money for their food. The public seems to be contributing generously.

The county authorities have said that housing accommodations will be available only until the end of the week, but no one has said what will be done with the indigent army after that.

TIEDMANN WILL FILED

Greenwich, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Charitable bequests totaling $39,000 were made to institutions in and near New York in the will of the late Theodore Tiedmann, Brooklyn manufacturer, which was admitted to probate today. The estate was estimated at $150,000.

Bequests included $20,000 to the Warburg Orphan Farm School of the Evangelical Lutheran Church; $4,000 each to the Lenox Hill hospital, the Isabella Home, the New York Society for Ruptured and Crippled Children, and St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church, all of New York; $2,000 to the German Seamen's Home at Hoboken and $1,000 to the Tiedemann Home for Babies at Mt. Vernon.

The remainder of the estate, and his interests in Henry F. Tiedemann Sons, Inc., was divided among members of his family.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

The Wapping Uncle basketball team will be at the Y. M. C. A. building at 9 o'clock tonight for a game with Joe's Service Station team.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball league will get started on November 15th with the seniors playing and on the following day the junior league will start playing. The first teams have already been formed to enter the league and it is expected that there will be three more, to even up the number of teams to provide for an equal schedule each week.

Vincent Moriarty was in Hartford Tuesday evening representing the local Y. M. C. A. basketball interests at the County Y. conference of basketball league representatives. Manchester is expected to be represented in the county league.

CRASH LEADS TO STILL

Waterbury, Nov. 3.—(AP)—An automobile accident here led police today to a liquor still. Cars operated by Frank Bergamo, 22, and Harry Bradshaw collided at an intersection. In Bergamo's car police found 36 gallons of liquor. They arrested him on charge of reckless driving and transporting liquor. He then was taken to police headquarters and questioned. He divulged the address of the still and police went to a tenement house on Hamilton avenue and found a large still. They arrested Anotonio Silva, 44, who they said was operating it. Their cases were continued one day in City Court.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3.

A few days ago, the government rushed into print to deny a report that he intended to recommend,
 for such purpose, a graduated state income tax. He could not entertain such a thought as that. He finds the idea of a sales tax less objectionable to his economic and social philosophy. Which perhaps is not unnatural to one whose life has been spent in an environment of patronage
 at the hands of very rich men.

A general sales tax, with the basic necessities of life excluded from its operation, has considerable argument in its favor—as a federal revenue device. As a state measure, particularly for a state like Connecticut, with great trading centers surrounding it, it is about as impracticable a scheme as could be evolved.

To subject the commercial interests of Connecticut to the handicap of a sales tax when the states of New York, Massachusetts and Rhode Island impose no such imposts would be to hand over the retail trade of half the state, in all commodities except the barest necessaries, to the merchants of Manhattan, Springfield, Worcester, Boston and Providence. But perhaps the good governor, in his academic theorizing, never thought of that. It is to be anticipated, however, that the business men of Connecticut and their employes will think a good deal about it.

There is no doubt that the incoming General Assembly will have to do some stunts in the way of financial legislation. There is every indication that it will receive guidance
 in this direction not from Governor Cross, who demonstrates his capacity by proposing an isolated sales tax, but from Governor John H.
 Trumbull, whose state business theories have been tested and vindicated in the most successful fiscal administration ever experienced by a state of the American Union.

forgetful candidate for the electoral franchise.

So that the utmost that can be effected by this legal battle of the former champion pugilist, if he should win it, would be to upset a reasonable and orderly arrangement for getting voters qualified at a reasonable time, and to substitute for it some other system, conceivably more troublesome and expensive but quite as certain to displease some special privilege seeker sooner or later.

However, it all keeps Mr. Tunney's name in the papers and his picture before the public. Which, no doubt, is sufficient reason for all the bother.

THESE JOB BLOWS UP

Joblessness has suddenly become worse in London—to the extent that,
 the riots apparently being over,
 quite a number of thousands of rioters are deprived of their recently steady occupation of scavenging with the bobbies, tearing up paving stones and smashing windows. What these folks shall do with their time now must present quite a problem to themselves and particularly their wives.

The collapse of the riot industry marks the end of a period of pretty regular employment for a very considerable number of London's otherwise idle. They worked very industriously while the job lasted.
 Each day Tom and 'Arry reported for work, tackled the task of puffing the uniforms of cops or gran-ulating windshields and stuck to it, hour after hour, with the calm energy that, in happier times, might have been devoted to trucking freight into a steamer's hold or nailing slates on a roof.

To be sure, there wasn't anything much in it for them, either factually or in prospective; the dole remained the dole and apparently is to be neither increased nor diminished
 even in the case of those of the turbulent who landed in the boozegow.
 Nor has anything been said about
 there being any daily or hourly stip-pend, nor even one on a piece-work basis, for window smashers or uniform tearers, paid from any racketeers' treasury—as you would expect in this country.

No, the busy bees of Trafalgar Square seem to have been animated by sheer industry and love of their work. And now the job has blown up and there is nothing to do but go and spit in the Thames and mourn for the good old days when there was plenty of rioting to do.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

LaFollette's Bolt to Roosevelt Camp Seen as Boost for "Liberal" Group

Washington—Senator Bob LaFollette's declaration that he would support Roosevelt, the Democrat, for the presidency has done more than any other development in the campaign to emphasize and revive the integrity of the "Progressive" or "Liberal" cause, idea, movement or whatever you want to call it.

The obvious immediate effect insofar as the realities of the presidential campaign are concerned, is to accentuate the cleavage between the progressives of the country in their almost unanimous march to the Roosevelt banner and conservatives in their tendency to stick to Hoover. It is very like to produce a Roosevelt victory in Wisconsin.

A great deal might also be said
 as to the significance of the LaFollette decision in its relation to the long-anticipated realignment of political parties. But that goes into the field of conjecture, the domain of those political analysts who predicted the permanency of the Bull Moose movement of 1912 and the Progressive party of 1924, and who assured us after the 1928 election that the Democratic party was dead.

The importance of this development rests in the fact that the Lafollette withdrawal from the presidential campaign, after several years have been the active, successful, effective protagonists of American progressivism and have never before forsaken titular allegiance to the Republican party in order to support a Democratic candidate.

Senator George Norris of Nebraska, the greatest and most independent of the progressives, declared for Roosevelt early in the game. But that was discounted. Norris had never made pretense to political agility any case where he felt deep issues were involved; his support of Smith in 1928 and subsequent persistent opposition to Hoover made it fairly certain that he would back Roosevelt this year.

Senator LaFollette, despite his youth and his relatively brief service here, has been the only one among

MARVELOUS MANHATTAN
 by WILLIAM GAINES

New York—Mr. Earl Carroll observes the tenth anniversary of the birth of the "Vintages".

Two dinosaurian buses at the stage door of the Broadway theater gather up the beauties of the ensemble; the beauties who are to lend that essential touch to the observance party at a famous roadhouse.

As for the principals, they may go in private cars. But the girls look forward to the presence of the democratic Mr. Carroll in one of the buses. They are all awit'er.

The buses with their pulchritu-dous cargo stop before a swanky hotel on Central Park South. Mr.
 Carroll, an influential lawyer friend and several still more select beauties get in the front bus.

Mr. Carroll beams as he steps to kiss each pretty lass in the bus, in the paternal manner of a revue producer celebrating a tenth anniversary. The darlings also beam as Mr. Carroll kisses them.

Rolling northward, Mr. Carroll is in high good humor and the little girls are in high good humor. Mr.
 Carroll chants a bit of a song from the show and the girls join in.
 At last the inn is reached.

Whoopie! Such Thrills
 It is a thrilling moment for the other customers when Mr. Carroll and his bodyguard of beauties enter the dining room.

There is applause and Mr. Carroll beams. The girls beam. Soon or later, food and things are on the table.

Mr. Milton Berle, the chief American comic in Mr. Carroll's current show, takes the floor as master of ceremonies. He introduces several of the foreign comic imported by Mr. Carroll for his show. He introduces the giggling, gurgling Helen Jackson trope of precision dancers from England.

It is the first party they have attended since their arrival here.
 That is why they giggle even more than usual.

Mr. Berle goes on introducing and by this time the party is quite a snorter, with all the other customers getting their money's worth.
 About Mr. Carroll's party there are about ten girls for every one man, which is awfully nice for the men.

When the proper pace is picked up, Mr. Berle calls for quiet and grows very serious. He makes a pretty, touching speech and introduces Mr. Carroll. This is the signal for joy to go unrestrained, and all the little girls and all others present take any remaining restraint off of their joy.

Mr. Carroll says a few words and beams more than ever. Then Mr.
 Berle says he's just thought up a paraphrase on a popular song,
 while he was sitting there at table.
 He sings it, fitting in words of laudation for Mr. Carroll.

Meet Mrs. Carroll
 Mr. Carroll comes back to his table and has an idea that amuses him.

"Listen, girls," he says, "tell Berle to introduce Mrs. Carroll.
 Then all of you stand up and take a bow."

The girls beam at Mr. Carroll's little jest and readily call out to Milton Berle to ask for "Mrs. Carroll." They giggle when they think how it will surprise the other customers when they all stand up.
 But the simple-witted Berle is in the predicament.

"Mrs. Carroll!" he kids back at 'em. "I don't want to make all the Carroll girls stand up."

BOWERS' POSITION

If Selectman Sherwood Bowers can poll the full strength of the Democratic party in Manchester and in addition thereto receive the votes of a very considerable number of Republicans, he can be elected as one of this town's two representatives in the next General Assembly.
 If he should be elected it would be the result of a process as fantastic as some of Mr. Bowers' other proceedings since he appeared in the public life of this community.

The process would have been made possible by the curious irresponsibility and haphazard policy or lack of policy of the local Democratic organization which, ignoring the claims of veteran members of its own party, handed one of its two representative nominations to Mr. Bowers, rejected as a candidate by the Republicans; this action being taken by the Democratic town committee without the knowledge of the party at large. Mr. Bowers is in, in true sense, the choice of the Democratic party—why should he be? He has been a Republican all his life. He was put on the Democratic ticket by two or three party managers, one of whom took himself off the ticket in order to make room for this candidate who came disgruntled out of the opposing party after the primaries.

Now Mr. Bowers expects all the Democrats to vote for him. Also he expects numbers of Republicans to vote for him. Yet he has read himself out of the Republican party and still has not declared himself a Democrat. He is, clearly, a party-less man, seeking office not as a courageous independent but through the favor of two parties at once.

There may be voters in both groups who can stomach this sort of political scurrying and roundabouting, but there can hardly be many in either.

If Mr. Bowers felt so keen an urge to go to the Legislature and yet had so fine a contempt for party affection that he owed no loyalty to either, there was always a straightforward way open to him. He could have filed nomination papers
 as an independent and gone before the people of the town in that status.
 That would have been the respectable course. It would be the respectable course for any person similarly situated. There would be no sailing under false colors; no pretense of being what he was not. But Mr.
 Bowers appears to have believed that there was more chance for votes in the trick of shifting onto the tail of the Democratic wagon and then hollering for Republicans to throw him votes.

It remains to be seen how many of the voters of either party will stand for this sort of political shenanigan. Mr. Bowers may be a Republican or he may be a Democrat but he cannot be both. He might be an independent but he cannot be an independent and a Republican or an independent and a Democrat at the same time. He does not say what he is or what he thinks he is. But the voters' estimate of him, unless we are very much mistaken, will be that he is a young man with a suddenly acquired and passionate appetite for public office and the limelight who doesn't care at all how he gets either so long as he doesn't have to serve a political apprenticeship to earn it. And they will, in all probability, conclude that he has done nothing to earn the junking of party lines, by either Democrats or Republicans, in order to give him a political office for which he has no proven qualification.

HOUSING AID

As good an example as we are able to have of the difficulties surrounding R. F. C. financing of quality private enterprises is provided by the case of the Hillside Housing Corporation of New York. This is a project for the erection in a sparsely settled part of the Bronx of a very large apartment house plant, the plans for which are attractive. The buildings are spacious and beautifully grouped, there are courts and playgrounds and plenty of acreage
 all about the community. The properties are to be tax exempt, the rents restricted to a reasonable rate per room and life in the settlement would be, no doubt, in contrast to that of the ordinary city cliff dweller, very pleasant.

But announcement that the R. F. C. has approved a loan of $3,957,000
 to the Hillside Housing Corporation is greeted with a tremendous storm of protest. It comes from a Chamber of Commerce, two or three real estate boards and any number of individuals. The protestants point out that the part of New York City affected by this enterprise is already far overbuilt and full of half unoccupied apartment houses; that the tax-exempt feature makes the competition of the new project ruinous to other property owners; that this is not a slum replacement project at all, the location being miles distant from any slum, and that the tenement quarter. And so on.

Such conflicts as these are to be anticipated in the working out of any direct federal aid to enterprises which carry the potentiality of even restricted profit to private investors.
 It is difficult to see how that can be avoided. It is a very grave question whether there can ever be any government aid to housing development that will not excite just this type of resentment. And the worst of it is that one can't be at all sure that the resentment in many cases may not be justified.

IN NEW YORK

Again They Come
 New York, Nov. 3.—From the highways and byways of America
 the young hopefuls of music, with a bit of star dust in their hair, now come thronging to the big town. The dream of debuts in New York clings to each; the fever of hearing and seeing everything runs high.

There is a Hall and the smaller concert places of Carnegie Hall, in Mecca Temple and elsewhere are presented the efforts of these young folks who have been groping toward New York for years. In the upper Sticks and early Seventies, where studio apartments allow the tuning of fiddles and the running of scales and the do-re-mis of the con-traltos, sopranos and tenors, there is much rehearsing.

Debuts and Debuts
 Not so many years ago, there was more of a racket in the "musical" debut than exists today. Few now have the coin to stage the somewhat wistful premieres of yesteryear.

Whatever the depression prices may be, it used to cost $1250 to put on an act in Carnegie Hall. And some $600 to $700 was the price of doing a Chopin program in Town Hall. In Carnegie, with a sell-out at ordinary prices, one might expect a $5,500 return.

But those agents who preyed upon the young and somewhat afflicted youngsters would also get their share of advertising fees, publicity fees and all the rest.

Then a certain number of tickets would sometimes be attended by friends, fourth-string critics and a few lines would appear in the Musical Courier or the Sunday music sections of the New York papers.
 Now and then, by some accident,
 a sensation would arrive and wake everyone up. Such instances have been rare.

The game is not so simple this year, they tell you.

Excepting the famous artists, few expect to make any money out of New York appearances. Most of them use the big town as a display window and depend upon a Manhattan appearance for future advertising. Returning home, they cash in on the mention of an appearance at Carnegie or Town Hall.

Evening Drops on Frits
 And speaking of musicians, a secret agent of this department happened to be seated just behind Frits Kreisler at a recent presentation of "Ballyhoo." To the amazement of the visiting fireman, who expected Kreisler to get aesthetic pangs over the very earthy comedy of this piece, the great fiddler seemed to be having the time of his life. It so happened, however, that the conductor stood in the way of the Kreisler gyrations. When Kreis-ler's presence, apparently as a guest of George Jessel, was discovered, the orchestra stopped and the conductor went into their best behavior.

At which, Kreisler merely gave a sly wink.

THE TUNNEY CASE

Suppose that by some freak of legal happenstance Gene Tunney does get a court order ruling that the Stamford electors board must admit him to the voting list for next Tuesday. Suppose the court does, as Tunney's lawyer admonishes it to do, admit that the registration laws are unconstitutional and that the right to vote is inherent even if one hasn't complied with the preliminary regulations. What will be the result?

One result will be, of course, that Mr. Tunney will march to the polls and deposit one ballot for Roosevelt and Garner, for Governor Cross and possibly, for Augustine Lonergan for senator; and so on. But what of that?
 Promptly the Stamford Republican committee will be sure to dig up some delinquent-to-be-mader who like Mr. Tunney forgot to qualify, to go to the polls to vote for Hoover and Curtis, Trumbull and Bingham—without any maybe about it—thus offsetting the consequences of all the Tunney fuss. Because it is hardly to be expected that a court will establish, for the exclusive benefit of Mr. Tunney, a principle that will not apply equally to any other

Health and Diet Advice
 By Dr. Frank McCoy

CANNED FOODS ARE WHOLESOME

So many people write in to me and tell me that they cannot follow my menus because fresh vegetables are out of season or difficult to obtain. I always write back that canned foods are just as wholesome as fresh foods cooked on the stove at home and should be used whenever necessary. There is an almost endless variety of products which can be obtained in the canned form so that there need be no lack of variety to the menu regardless of season.

Modern canned goods have many points to recommend them. They offer a means of preserving perishable food for out of season use, of saving kitchen work in preparing meals and represent a safe emergency food supply. In many cases the flavor is fully as good as the food cooked at home and an added point is that the canners use scientific means of cooking which as far as possible save the vitamins, vitamin C especially, which is destroyed
 when you cook food in an open pot.

Many people overlook the fact that they can obtain an abundance of non-starchy vegetables during the winter months by using canned goods if they live in districts where the fresh product is not to be had.
 Canned vegetables afford bulk and variety and are certainly less expensive than doctor bills. The cost per can may usually cut down by buying a dozen or a case at a time. Canned tomatoes, asparagus, celery, carrots, beets, artichoke hearts, bean sprouts, olives, string beans, baby green lima, peas, spin-ach, corn and mixed vegetables are only a few of the great variety which can be obtained.

The latest thing in tin cans are biscuits cut out and ready for the oven. Another new canned product is orange juice which is sealed in cans lined with a thin layer of enamel. Canned tomato juice, grapefruit juice and pineapple juice offer further valuable additions to the diet. Of course, food combinations should be observed in preparing meals with canned goods just as though you use the fresh foods.

More good news is that canned fruits, put up without sweetening, are now being given national distribution due to the fact that so many people have been asking for fruits without sugar. Heretofore types of wholesome fruit have been available at health food stores.
 For a long time there was an un-sweetened fruit purchasable, but it was principally sold in large cans to bakers and consisted of broken or over-ripe fruit, but now the choicest fruits are available in ordinary-sized cans.

Those who are wishing for more variety in the meals should try canned fish occasionally since this supplies an excellent source of iodine, iron, calcium, sodium, codfish, shrimp, halibut, etc. Many are obtained in cans. Canned meats, such as chicken, ham, and roast beef, are also wholesome.

Mothers will find small cans of strained vegetables to help solve the problem of suitable vegetables for babies.

Do not hesitate to use canned foods in your diet for canning is now an exact science due to a tremendous amount of skilled research work performed and the strict standardization of products by the large canning companies.

VOTERS OF OHIO VIEW CAMPAIGN FROM RINGSIDE

Washington—Those who, busy in the presidential campaign, predicted that Ohio would be a mighty political battle ground before the elections of November 8 may not have realized just how true were their prophecies.

The Buckeye state has seen and continues to see the biggest and most colorful political drive to capture the state's 26 electoral votes.

Consider, for example, what patential faces Ohio voters ahead of Governor Roosevelt journeyed to Columbus to make the first real speech of his campaign. President Hoover, replied by journeying to Cleveland, where he made the second of his major campaign addresses. Later he spoke in several Ohio cities on his way to Detroit.
 And about the time that the President was making his plea in Cleveland, three men whose names are foremost in democratic ranks were in Ohio, bringing away at the G. O. P.—John W. Davis and James
 M. Cox, former nominees for the presidency and New Deal, the secretary of war in the Wilson administration.

All-Star Bill Few states or localities, even in a year such as this, can boast of having so much political talent within their borders at one time.

But it seemed evident months ago that Ohio was to be one of the main focal points in the campaign. Events preceding the campaign itself seemed to make it inevitable.

The election of Senator Bulley, an opponent of prohibition, back in 1930, started democratic talking about a presidential victory for their party in 1932. A democrat who could roll up more than a million votes, as he did in the home
 state of the main drive for constitutional prohibition—and in an off-year—gave cause for hope.

And Bulley's victory played no inconsiderable part in the adoption of the out-and-out repeal plank in the democratic platform at Chicago.

Pre-Campaign Strategy
 Some political prophets, at least,
 thought the appointment of Alton Roosevelt, an Ohio democrat, to a place on the reconstruction finance corporation, after General Dawes' resignation, meant that campaign strategists foresaw Ohio would be a very special battle ground in the months to come.

They too, perhaps the democratic "underlings" pulled down old record books and found that Ohio, although she has been the mother of many republican presidents, has also shown some affection toward democrats.

Ohio in the years of the last two democratic presidential victories, 1912 and 1916, was found to be the winning column both times.

NO ONE CAN SCARE AMERICAN PEOPLE

So Says Al Smith in Touching On Recent Speech Made By the President.

Troy, N. Y., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Alfred B. Smith turned back toward New York City today after a booming speech last night in which he pleaded again for the election of Roosevelt and Garner and attacked President Hoover for what he said was an attempt to "scare the people."

The Political Picture

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Albany—Gov. Roosevelt opened final phase of campaign tonight with automobile trip into New Jersey and an address at New York; Owen D. Young to speak at same rally.
Troy, N. Y.—Alfred B. Smith says President is "talking to scare the American people"; asserts administration "failed miserably and will not admit it."
Cincinnati—James M. Cox says "the only safe way out of our plight is to change — to throw out the management which has brought us to this pitiable pass."

FRANCE SUGGESTS NEW PEACE SCHEME

Would Create European Army From Trained Soldiers of Various Nations.

Paris, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Creation of a European general staff to function when the peace of Continental Europe is threatened is a part of the new French arm plan which Joseph Paul-Boncour, the minister of war, will present at Geneva on Friday, official French papers said today.
This staff would have a certain number of trained soldiers at its disposal. The soldiers would come from the various Continental countries.
U. S. Out of It
Concerning the United States, it was stated that America would not be asked to promise anything in advance but the French hope that the United States would not interfere in the functioning of the European peace machine and would collaborate in the maintenance of peace or at least refrain from helping an aggressor.

INSURANCE SWINDLER IS SOUGHT BY POLICE

Group of Landlords Wage Legal Battle Against United Cigar Stores.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 3.—(AP)—A man who feigned paralysis and defrauded a Rochester insurance company of $7,400, was sought today.
Police said a warrant had been issued for his arrest and that he had been sought all over the country for working the same scheme. They refused to reveal his name. District Attorney Ray Fowler and two detectives went to Brooklyn Friday but found he evidently had been warped and fled.
Police said he used an accomplice for the fake accident here and after a few weeks in a hospital was permitted to go to the home of a young couple, also in the "broader." He was able to feign paralysis of the lower limbs so well, insurance doctors doctors said, that red hot instruments or needles seemingly failed to produce any sensation. After he had been in bed two months the case was settled for $7,400.
Police said his cost in insurance companies all over the country thousands of dollars and that he was wanted in many cities for the same fraud.

STOCK LISTED LOW CREDITORS ASSERT

Group of Landlords Wage Legal Battle Against United Cigar Stores.

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Group today, before Referee Irwin Kurtz, strove to support a claim that the stock and bond holdings of the bankrupt United Cigar Stores Company of America and its Delaware subsidiary were greatly undervalued in the schedules.
Mortimer Hays, counsel for the landlord group, contended that securities which were carried in the schedules at $1,250,000 were actually worth upwards of $200,000.
In his questioning of A. C. Allen, vice president of the concern, Hays, as he read off the items from the schedules, met repeatedly with distinctions drawn between "book value," which was the way the securities were carried in sworn financial statements of the firm, and "realizable value," which was the way they were carried in the schedules.
Called "Guesses"
As the various items were checked, Allen said he did not know the value of the securities were carried to talk with individuals and that no effort was made to dispose of them through brokerage houses. Allen said that when his personal negotiations fell through he fixed the valuations as "guesses."
Allen said that the people to whom he tried to sell the stocks and bonds after the cigar firm went into bankruptcy in August were "not interested" because of their own financial condition.
In the case of shares of the North American Match Company and the Lion Match Company, valued jointly in the schedules at $50,000, Allen said he tried to sell them in the Diamond Match Company, but failed.
In response to questions by Hays, the witness said he did not know the value of the North American Company had $7,000,000 assets and no current liabilities, nor had he inquired deeply into the financial setup.
Asked if he knew that the book value of the North American shares was $400,000, based upon the firm's most recent financial statement, Allen replied he did not and that it wouldn't have made any difference if he had because nobody wanted the shares anyway.

SENATORS REPORT CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Campaign fund reports today by candidates for the Senate included one by Senator Wagner (D., N. Y.) listing contributions at $17,493 and expenditures of $11,055.
Representative Percy H. Stewart (D., N. J.), reported contributions, all given by himself of $10,063 with expenditures of $6,600.
Senator Smoot (R., Utah) reported contributions at $10,750, including $800 from Siles Strawn, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce; $5,000 from the Republican Senatorial committee and $500 from E. C. Alvord of Washington, D. C. Smoot's expenditures were listed at $5,500, including $7,750 turned over to the Utah State Senatorial committee.
Senator Watson (R., Ind.) listed contributions at $5,400, including $5,000 from the Republican Senatorial committee, and expenditures of $4,945.
Van Nuys, Democratic opponent of Senator Watson, listed contributions of $1,280 with expenditures of $1,285. In addition to $1,500 sent by the Democratic National committee to the Indiana State committee for him.
Senator Glenn (R., Ill.) listed contributions of $4,845 including $1,000 from Albert D. Lasker of Chicago and expenditures of $4,845. His opponent, Representative William H. Dieterich, Democrat, reported contributions of $1,000, all from the Democratic Senatorial campaign committee, and expenditures of $1,415.
Henry Field, Iowa Republican, who defeated Senator Brookhart in the primaries, reported contributions of $944, in addition to $900 from the Republican National committee. Expenditures of $1,760 were reported.
Senator Brookhart, running as an independent, reported contributions of $50 with no expenditures up to October 25. Louis Murphy, Iowa Democratic Senatorial nominee, reported contributions at $2,854, including $1,000 from the Democratic Senatorial committee with expenditures of $2,254.
Others included, Weller Walker, Democrat, Colorado, contributions of $300, expenditures $291; Homer T. Egan, Democrat, Washington, contributions $3,844, expenditures $3,588; John B. Chapple, Republican, Wisconsin; $5,000 from the Republican Senatorial committee, expenditures $1,825; Senator Dalg (R., Ill.), no contributions and no expenditures.
The reports were made to the secretary of the Senate.

MANY NEW FACES IN NEXT ASSEMBLY

Survey of State Shows Less Than Half of Old Members Have Been Named.

Hartford, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Less than half the members of the 1931 State Legislature will have a chance to serve in the next session, a survey of the Republican and Democratic nominees showed today.
Republicans renominated only four of their 15 members of the State Senate and 71 of their 182 members of the House. Democrats secured renomination to 10 of their 15 State Senators and 42 of their 80 Representatives. If all the Legislators seeking re-election should win, there still would be 21 new Senators and 154 new Representatives.
The Democrats, however, have been making a particular effort to win some of the Republican seats in the Upper Branch of the General Assembly in the hope of controlling it. During the last session the Republicans had 30 members to the Democrats 16.
The Republican Senators renominated are Jacob Caplan of New Haven, Wayne Robison of Meriden, John P. Lynch of West Haven and J. Lee of Shelton, majority leader. He was replaced on the Republican ticket by Speaker Howard W. Alcorn, of the House.
Senators Renominated
Democratic Senators renominated are John P. Conroy of Hartford, W. H. Hagarty of New Britain, W. H. Hackett, F. S. Bergin and R. J. Devlin of New Haven, J. H. Lawlor of Waterbury, J. T. Walsh of Ansonia, W. J. Fitzgerald of Norwich, Edward Goldstein of Bridgeport, and Edwin O. Wright of Goshen. Jergin was minority leader in the last session.
The Independent Republicans have entered nominees for ten of the Senate races and the majority of the House races and the new party fall to win any seats, it might change the complexion of the Senate. Democrats have expressed the hope that for these offices as well as for others, the Independent Republicans will reduce the Republican vote, resulting in Democratic victories.
The Independents also have brought forward several candidates for House seats.
12 Endorsed
The largest portion of Republican representatives renominated is 23 Fairfield county where 12 of 23 members of that party were endorsed for another term. The largest percentage of Democrats nominated is in Tolland county, in which four of six representatives were successful in caucus.
The following table shows the number of Republican and Democratic representatives in each county who were accorded renomination:

New Haven 8 6
New London 8 3

HEBRON

The Rev. Walter Vey preached on "Jesus, and the Christian Character," at the Sunday service at the Congregational church of Hebron and Gilead. Mrs. Mary E. Cummings and Herbert W. Porter sang an offertory duet, "Answer the Call."
Allan L. Carr, reader at St. Peter's church, took for his theme in his sermon Sunday at the morning service, "Christian Giving." Miss Marjorie Martini sang an offertory solo.
Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman of Willimantic are occupying the place on the Marlborough road formerly owned by Louis Lustig, and report is that they have bought the farm. This place has changed hands many times within the past few years. The place was last owned by Marcus Hurst of Bridgeport who took it over as payment for the mortgage which he held. Deeds have not been recorded at the town clerk's office for the sale above mentioned, but it is expected that they will be.

The legal voters of the town are warned to meet at a special town meeting at the town hall, Friday evening November 4, at 7 o'clock, to see what action the town will take concerning street lights. It was voted some two or three years ago that the town should have street lights maintained at the center but for some reason the matter has not been attended to as yet.
Allan L. Carr and several of his parishioners motored to Brooklyn, Conn. Tuesday forenoon, to attend a service of Holy Communion held at St. John's church, which was built in 1872, is the oldest Episcopal church in the state. It is in excellent repair, retaining its old fashioned atmosphere, with the narrow pews, with doors to open and shut, slays galleries, etc. The church is opened for service at least once a year, on All Saints Day. A newer church in the village is now used for weekly worship, but the old church is kept up in memory of former days. A congregation of about 150 still had church nearly as full as it could hold.

HALF MILLION SUIT

Danbury, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Trial began today before Judge John A. Cornell in the Superior Court here in a half million dollar damage suit in which six plaintiffs are suing their former employer to turn over fifty-one per cent of the stock of the Ball and Roller Bearing Company according to an alleged agreement between Lewis R. Helm, founder of the company and Howard E. Beard, Charles Walters, Adam Roth, William C. Barrett and George G. Rockwell of Danbury, and J. Gordon Bennett of Bethel.
Beard testified today that over a period of years the plaintiffs had paid Helm on account an aggregate amount in excess of $1,000 weekly to be applied to purchase of the shares of the company owned by Helm, who stated to his six associates that he wished to retire from the business and wished his associates to own it as they would not allow it to run down as an outsider might.

DIES ON STEAMER

Saint John, N. B., Nov. 3.—(AP)—William C. Sharkey, 74, Somerville, Mass., prominent contractor and builder in the Boston district, died suddenly last night in his stateroom on the S. S. Evangeline, arriving here today on the first trip of a winter schedule between Boston and Saint John.
Mr. Sharkey born at Saint Martins, N. B., had been afflicted with heart trouble. He was planning a vacation at his camp at Loch Lomond, near here.

HARVARD GRADUATE LEAPS TO DEATH

Registers At Albany Hotel and Then Jumps Out of Ninth Story Window.
Albany, N. Y., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Richard Waterman Thayer, 36, Harvard graduate and member of a prominent Boston family, jumped to his death from a ninth floor room of the Dewitt Clinton hotel today.
His leap was witnessed by a man who lives on the opposite side of Eagle street from the hotel.
This witness, Harry Smith, said he saw Thayer climb out of his room and cling to the window casing for a few seconds, long enough, Thayer was walking below. After they had passed, Thayer leaped.
He died a few minutes later in Memorial hospital.
Shortly before plunging to his death, Thayer telephoned to the manager of the hotel, John J. Hyland, and asked that the house physician be sent to his room. He complained of illness and dizziness.
Harvard Graduate
Thayer was the son of Mrs. Frank H. Thayer of 282 Beacon street, Boston. His father was a shoe manufacturer. The son was graduated in 1929 from Harvard, where he had attained some prominence in athletics. Last June he was graduated from the Harvard School of Business Administration. An identification card showed that he was employed by the Federal Reserve Bank, Cambridge, Mass.
He left Boston for Albany a few days ago. In his baggage was found a bill for accommodations at the Capital hotel, Albany, dated October 31. He left no written message in his room. Bank books and about $90 in cash were found in his effects.
An autopsy disclosed a fracture of the skull, both arms and legs broken, and internal injuries.

PRINCE MURAT DIES

Chambly, Oise, France, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Prince Joachim Napoleon Murat, in whose home President Woodrow Wilson lived for a time during the peace negotiations which ended the World War, died today at the age of 76.
He was the fifth Prince Murat. His father, also Prince Joachim, was born in 1834 at Bordentown, N. J., a descendant of Caroline Bonaparte, Napoleon's sister.
When President Wilson came to France in 1918, Prince Murat placed his town house in the Rue de Monceau at the disposal of the French government, which offered it to Mr. Wilson as a residence. In the mansion were various souvenirs of George Washington, whose niece married Prince Achille Murat.
Mr. Wilson lived there for a short time when transferred his quarters to a hotel closer to the headquarters of the American delegation. In 1924 the prince provided quarters for the American team competing in the Olympic rugby football competition.
GAR TESTS PLANES
Paris.—Not far from here, at St. Cyr, aviation experts are testing airplanes on a fast electric car. The car travels on rails and the planes or models of them, are mounted on it. The car whizzes down the tracks and automatic instruments register speed, wind pressure and strain on the craft undergoing the test. The electric car plays the same role as the wind tunnel.

LEGION POST PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY

Exercises To Be Held In Sykes Auditorium - Depl. Commander Treadwell To Speak.

Plans for Armistice Day were discussed at the meeting of Stanley Doboz Post, American Legion, held in G. A. R. Hall on Tuesday night. Roy Sanford, chairman of the Americanization committee which is in charge of the celebration, made a report on the progress made. Depl. Commander Joseph Treadwell will be the speaker of the evening at exercises to be held at the Sykes Auditorium on November 11. The Legion ritual will be given by the officers, and there will be special music. A dance will follow in the Town Hall, Memorial building.

Department Commander William C. Pfunder, chairman of the committee in charge of the Red Cross Roll Call which starts on November 11, reported that the committee would meet this week and select the various captains and workers for the drive. The quota for the local post for membership this year is 275 members, and up to date there are 85 paid members. The committee is out for the quota.

A large number of the members are planning to attend the meeting of the fourth district, American Legion, to be held in Wallingford on Sunday, November 8. District Commander William C. Pfunder will preside.

Skinner Auxiliary Installation. There will be a meeting of Alden Skinner Auxiliary, sons of Union Veterans, in G. A. R. Hall on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. There will be important business transacted, including plans for Veteran's Night to be held in the near future. A social hour will follow the meeting. The newly elected officers will be installed for the ensuing year and are as follows: President, Mrs. Laura Kreh; vice-president, Miss Ellen Usher; chaplain, Mrs. Annie Stepp; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Cora Helm; judge advocate, Alden Usher; secretary, Mrs. Annie Willeke; treasurer, Miss Lillian Greenwood; pianist, Mrs. Mae Pfunder. Trustees for three years, Mrs. Rose LaCrosse; guide, Mrs. Mattie Degenkolbe; assistant guide, Mrs. Lulu Binheimer; color bearers, Miss Rose LaCrosse, Miss Annie Willeke; inside guard, Mrs. Katherine Regan; outside guard, Mrs. Annie Grier; press correspondent, Mrs. Loriswatt Charter.

Friendly Class Social. One of the best entertainments of the season's meetings of the Friendly Class was presented last evening in the social rooms of Union Congregational church following the regular meeting. The New School Ma'am, a short sketch was presented by talent from Ellington Grange. Mrs. Carlton Pease, as the new School Ma'am was ideal in her part, and she made an excellent impression on the school committee. Raymond Bancroft and George Hathaway, winning her way into their hearts and pocketbooks. Another pleasing feature was the singing of French songs by Mrs. R. C. Ferguson, in costume. Carl Goehring, prominent in theatricals, gave a humorous political talk to the amusement of the large group present. A buffet lunch followed the program, with the following members in charge: Mrs. Mary Gregus, Luther H. Fuller, Dr. Earl C. Northrup, Mrs. John Alley, Mrs. Ellen Fiss, Mrs. Arthur Hincks and Miss Mary Drummond.

Funeral Of Alfred Morgan. There was a large number present at the funeral of Alfred Morgan, 68, which was held from the First African Baptist church on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. R. L. Walker, pastor, officiated. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. There was special vocal music by the church soloist and congregation. Burial was in Grove Hill cemetery. The bearers included: James Wright, Jacob Dunbar, James Johnson, Samuel Howard, Robert Reddy and Austin Griffin.

Word has been received in this city of the death of Mrs. Lena Bucker, for many years a resident of this city. She leaves a son, Harry Bucker of Brooklyn, N. Y., two daughters, Mrs. Fred Broll and Mrs. Arthur Garcia of Los Angeles, Cal., a sister, Mrs. Mary Schmeiske of this city. The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon from the White Funeral Parlors on Elm street. Burial will be in Grove Hill cemetery.

Hope Chapter Meeting. Hope Chapter, O. E. S., met in Masonic Hall on Tuesday night. Following the regular meeting members from Talcootville presented a most pleasing program consisting of vocal solos, banjo selections and a short comedy sketch. Luncheon was served later in the evening. Mrs. Claude Bilson is worthy Matron of the organization.

Degree Team at Plainville. The Ellington Grange third and fourth degree team exemplified the degree on a large class of candidates in Plainville on Tuesday night. Mrs. Clyde Cordsten was in charge of the work with Mr. Cordsten as assistant. Two buses filled with members accompanied the degree team to Plainville.

Firemen's Bowling League. The Fire Department Bowling League is in full swing and the first game was rolled-time on Tuesday night with the Hook and Ladder Company winning three games from the Tolland boys. There will be at least four games a week. On Thursday night Fire Commissioners will play the Hockanum Company. On Friday the Ellington Department will play the Fitton Company.

family have moved from Windemere avenue to 82 Village street, formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Burke. Mrs. Mary Cratty of Prospect street is enjoying a two weeks visit with relatives in Lee, Mass. Miss Helen Finney has returned from a visit with relatives in New York. Mrs. Katherine Regan of Winders avenue has returned home after spending several days in Yonkers, N. Y., where she attended the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dennis O'Neil.

LIONS GIVE UP BOOKLET AT URGE OF CHAMBER

Abandon Advertising Scheme In Connection With Play When Approval Is Withheld.

In accordance with the wishes of the Chamber of Commerce, the Lions Club has decided not to continue plans for an advertising booklet in connection with the comedy "Aren't We All?" to be presented for the benefit of the milk fund. Thomas Conran of the Lions Club notified E. J. McCabe, Chamber secretary, of the decision this afternoon. When the booklet was proposed, the solicitations approval committee of the Chamber refused to endorse it, claiming that such a program placed a burden on merchants sought for advertisements. As a result the booklet has been dropped and the show will be presented without financial aid from this source.

TRY TO KILL CANDIDATE

Detroit, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Quick thinking saved Duncan C. McCrea, former assistant prosecuting attorney and now candidate for Recorder's Court judge, from death in a traditional gangland fashion last night. Two men in a sedan fired at McCrea from the car after summing him from his home in Grandmont avenue. "Hello, Duncan, come on over," one of the men called from the car.

WHEAT PRICES DROP

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(AP)—After a one day rest from the recent daily task of setting a new all-time low, wheat resumed its downhill slide today on the board of trade. December wheat opened at 42 3/4 cents a bushel, 1-8 cent lower than the previous low record which was set Tuesday. The drop was ascribed by traders to the opening fall of 3 cents in British exchange and large offerings of Argentine wheat. Corn was also weak and with wheat, and both dropped further after the opening break.

Quaser Twists In Day's News

Los Angeles—Fourteen city jail prisoners who thought a meal in the hand was worth two in the bush refused last night to follow four others who tried to escape through a hole in the wall of a 15-foot fence and escape.

"We didn't want to go without our supper," chorused the steadfast. Chicago—All candidates for meat-eaters should stand to one side to make room for the man the Chicago police would like to arrest. He took the pneumatic tires, chromem day fittings, blankets and handle from the baby carriage of 8 months old Marlene Dubofsky.

Seward, Ill.—For at least 60 days no more all night church services in connection with Ennie Meyer will be necessary. The members of the congregation of the Rev. Charles A. Stroup's village church recently met and vowed they would remain in session until Meyers alleged speaksy was closed. One member went after a bottle of evidence and the place was raided. Yesterday a judge gave Meyers 60 days at a state farm.

Philadelphia—John Timm, 69, was the oldest in point of service of 17 employees who posed for a picture on the front steps of their company's office building. Congratulations were showered on Timm, who proudly started to climb the steps back to his office. At the top he faltered, groped for a doorknob and fell dead of a heart attack.

Monroe, Mich.—When Anthony Bello, 25, was told he was violating the law by carrying more than the legal limit of three tons on his truck, he paid a $35 fine with good grace. Then he began shifting his cargo, and the officers who had made the first charge against him discovered it contained two hundred cases of whiskey. From his cell Bello said he was hauling it from Albany, N. Y., to Detroit.

St. Clairsville, Ohio.—His cow and his chickens and several bushels of potatoes will be utilized by Bradford C. Hickbottom for alimony. "The judge," Hickbottom told the judge, explaining however that he could pay his former wife in livestock, and farm produce. The court agreed.

Uniontown, Pa.—Out hunting, former Constable Walter Brown spotted a bounding rabbit and fired. The rabbit continued to bound. Brown shot again, scoring a bullseye. As he picked the rabbit up he discovered another dead one near by. His first shot aimed at one rabbit, killed another one.

Butler, Pa.—A pig skidded from a shelf to Chris Makers' head as he drove his bakery truck down a hill. The pig broke and the juice ran into Makers' eye. He lost control of the truck. The truck crashed into a pole. Red juice from a cerry pie flowed from the wreckage and a sign went out that two men were killed. An ambulance sped to the scene. Makers suffered a minor cut.

CATHEDRAL'S REOPENING IS ATTENDED BY 4,000

Lincoln, England, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Duke and Duchess of York attended Thanksgiving services today for the reopening of Lincoln Cathedral which has been restored over the past ten years at a cost of $428,000, a substantial part of which came from the United States.

Albert Farwell Bemis, of Boston, who gave $65,500 towards preservation of the center tower, was among 4,000 who attended the services. A total of about $164,000 was contributed by Americans whose forbears belonged to Lincolnshire.

Many tributes were paid to American generosity and to the late Dean Fry who made three trips to the United States in interest of the Cathedral.

Lincoln Cathedral in many respects is unique among English cathedrals. The building possesses every architectural style known in the country, from Norman to the Renaissance work of Wren.

The earliest parts were built by Bishop Remigius who came over with William the Conqueror. The angel choir is considered one of the finest specimens of the entire range of Gothic architecture, and the great east window is deemed the finest example of its kind in the kingdom.

HOLD HARTFORD YOUTHS

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Four Hartford, Conn., youths, nabbed by Greenburgh police, two in an automobile and two in a chase through woods near here, early this morning admitted burglary of lunch wagon. Under arrest are John Sherman, 17, and Tony Sherman, of 82 Grand street, Edward King, 25, and Alfred Rhodes, 18, of 476 Park street, Hartford.

Police Sergeant Jerome Hagan saw the boys dash out of the lunch wagon and when several shots did not stop them he telephoned police headquarters for aid. Three policemen rounded up the four. A gun was found in the car they had been driving.

The youths admitted taking 75 cents in cash, some cigarettes and silverware from the lunch wagon, police say.

C. N. G. ORDERS

Hartford, Nov. 3.—(AP)—First Lieut. R. V. Westenberg, Veterans' Corps, has been ordered by the adjutant-general to appear before an examining board to determine his fitness for promotion to captain. The order was made upon the recommendation of the commanding officer, 118th Medical Regiment, Col. Charles W. Comford, Jr., Major William W. Conger and Major William S. Barnes will constitute the board.

FASHIONABLE FURNITURE NOT OF "MODERNE" TYPE

"Monstrosities" of Few Years Back Give Way To Refreshing New Designs.

Watkins Brothers is displaying the newest modern furniture in the form of a bedroom suite in one of their main street show windows this week. It will be remembered that a few years ago so-called "Moderne" furniture had a short life, but the modern furniture creations of today bear no relation to styles of three or four years ago. Then, a designer's thought was to make something entirely different from anything ever seen before, lavishing the use of curves and angles, and monstrosities were the result. Today designers of modern furniture are creating truly refreshing designs, as a close inspection of the Watkins bedroom window will verify. This particular group is made of solid maple in a straight, simple style with drawer guides outlined in black, wood drawers pulled in black with the low paneled bed striped to match. Such designs are sure to prove popular for unnecessary decorations have been omitted, each piece relying on its own silhouette, its grain and finish, for its beauty.

As shown in Watkins' window, the unusually low bed, with the raised platform. The dressing table, resembling a modern office desk with its single row of drawers to the floor on the right and kneehole on the left, has a round plate glass mirror held in a half-circle black frame.

As suggested room setting, Watkins Brothers has used black sateen on floor and raised platform to represent black broadloom carpeting. The back ground is tinted a plain delicate peach color and green is introduced in a chair and suggested draperies.

The window is a far cry from the Colonial reproductions which form a big part of the Watkins stock and which are always so popular, but to those looking for something different, this modern grouping will be found refreshingly attractive.

"DEMOCRATIC PLEDGES CANNOT BE FULFILLED"

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Secretary Ogden L. Mills says "The pledge given by the Democratic candidate in favor of unqualified repeal cannot be fulfilled because of a protracted delay that might last for a generation."

The Republican pledge, he adds, "meeting as it does the two conditions which both parties recognize as essential, promises prompt relief."

These two conditions, the Treasury head said in a campaign address last night, are that the saloon shall not return and that the dry states shall be protected.

The Republican Party, he said, "proposes to reserve in the Federal government the power to prevent the return of the saloon system and to protect those states electing to remain dry," while the Democratic Party makes no pledge to furnish effective means to fulfill these conditions.

He said it was the "settled conviction of the American people" that the saloon must not return and that dry states be protected and therefore "it is perfectly clear that the 18th Amendment will not be repealed until provision has been made for guaranteeing fulfillment of these two conditions."

TAX CHURCH BELLS

Caceres, Spain, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Casting about for new sources of revenue, the city council has agreed to include in the next budget a tax on the ringing of church bells.

Each church would pay $8 a year and each chapel 30 cents. Bells a mile and a quarter from the city would ring tax free.

Girl Scout News

Troop 1. Last Friday evening our troop committee gave us a Halloween party. All scouts came in costume and prizes were given to Meris Short and Ruth Martin for the cutest costumes and Clara Wray for the funniest. Prizes were awarded for the various games. Refreshments were furnished by the troop committee. We all had a lovely time. At our goodnight circle we sang "The Golden Sun" followed by "Taps."

Scribe, Evelyn Hess. Troop 4. The meeting of Friday, October 21, was taken up entirely with our Halloween masquerade party. Every scout attended in costume and they included tramps, old maids, fathers of our country, fortune tellers, girls of long ago and several clowns. Our captain and lieutenant were dressed as an old-fashioned girl with pantaloons and a sailor. After a grand march the winners were given their prizes. A compass was given to Bertha Kwash, as an old maid, and a game to Dorothy Mason as a colored man. For refreshments we served punch, ice-cream, cookies, apples, popcorn balls and nuts. We played several games that were not too noisy. Dorothy Turkington received another popcorn ball for pinning the pumpkin on the right spot on a poster while blindfolded. Our party was a fitting climax to a very busy Girl Scout week. We closed our meeting with a song and thanked our captain and lieutenant for the good time they gave us.

Scribe, Mary Miner. Troop 5. The regular meeting of Troop 5 was held Friday, October 28. All scouts met at the Highland Park school at 2:00 p. m. and hiked to the Highland Park clubhouse. Mrs. Fred Carpenter, who has charge of Red Cross stamps, was present with her stamps for us to fold. We were glad to be able to help. After this menh. Hypnotizing as one of the games was tried and proved successful. Prizes were told causing much enjoyment. Scribe, Faith Spillane. Troop 6. The troop meeting held at the Manchester Green School, October 31 was opened by getting ready for our tree planting, which took place later in the afternoon. After patrol corners, the girls worked on signaling and compass. Betty Goalen, Mary Smith and Helen Adams have passed first-class thrift and Frances Hawley passed second-class thrift. Then we went to the home of Louise Dewey, where we helped her plant the tree, won by her for selling the most tickets for the movie. We had the horseshoe formation and repeated the slogan, motto and promise. Each girl took a little soil and put around the tree. From there we went to Frances Hawley's home to have a little ceremony around the tree which she had won selling tickets. Here we repeated the laws, promise and sang the promise song. Mrs. Charles Oliver, our commissioner, told us about Juliette Low's birthday and what Girl Scout Week was for. She explained about the trees being the gift of Mr. Vanderbrook and were awarded to the four girls selling the most tickets for the movie. We closed our meeting by forming the good-night circle and singing "Golden Sun" and "Taps."

Last Friday we had our Halloween party with Captain Durke's group as our guests. Games were played and refreshments served. Prizes were won by Dorothy Risley for the prettiest costume and Clara Smith and Marie Colvert for the funniest costumes. Other prizes were given for the games. We joined in a circle to sing songs and closed our enjoyable party by singing "Shadows Creep" and "Taps." Scribe, Helen Adams. Troop 8. The regular meeting of Troop 8 was held Friday, October 28. All scouts met at the Highland Park school at 2:00 p. m. and hiked to the Highland Park clubhouse. Mrs. Fred Carpenter, who has charge of Red Cross stamps, was present with her stamps for us to fold. We were glad to be able to help. After this task was finished we went upstairs to decide about the Halloween party which will be held Saturday evening. After we danced the Virginia reel, we went outside and danced the goodnight circle, where we sang followed by tape. Scribe, Arline Nelson. Troop 9. The meeting on October 31 was opened with patrol corners, and dues were collected. Several items of business were discussed, after which we went to the Recreation Center and witnessed the various exhibitions. Scribe, Virginia V. Loomis. Troop 11. The Halloween party which Troop 11 had was a great success. The party started at 8:30 and Mrs. Anthony Tournau, our former lieutenant, was present with another visitor. The party opened with singing songs and playing games. Everyone was dressed in peculiar costumes. We played "Spin the Bottle," "Wink" and told many ghost stories. After the games were played, sandwiches, cake and punch were served. After dancing, the meeting closed with an enjoyable game. As it was too late the prizes were not given out that night. There was no meeting Halloween night. There will be one next week at the usual time. Scribe, Victoria M. Zalewitz.

THREE MISSIONARY SLAIN Hankow, China, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The belief that the Rev. Eric Nelson, American missionary held by bandits in Hupeh province for two years, had been slain, was strengthened today by further Chinese reports. These reports, from Sinyang, quoted Communist officers captured from groups affiliated with the one holding Nelson, as saying Mr. Nelson had been shot because he couldn't keep up with the fleeing forces.

The bandits were fleeing with the Communist armies into northern Hupeh in front of a Nationalist government drive to scatter them. The officers said a number of Chinese were also shot for the same reason. The bodies were abandoned, they said, leading to the belief Mr. Nelson's body may never be found.

CALL of the WEST

BEGIN HERE TODAY

STAN BALL accuses ASPER DELO, timber king, of having shot what he says is a marriage check. Delo says he will see personally that he does not. Upon leaving the office Ball rescues DONA, Delo's daughter, from kidnappers. He tells her his name is STANLEY BLACK and slips away.

DUDLEY WINTERS, in love with DONA, goes with her to Three Rivers to get her father to give up the fight with Ball. Dudley gets a marriage certificate filed out, which he hopes to use. Ball is accused of killing a ranger and later of wounding Delo from ambush. In order to get Delo to leave, DONA shows him the certificate and he thinks them married. DONA is captured by Ball while attempting to shoot him. She is taken to his cave hideout. SWERGIN, Delo's timber boss, rescues her and captures Ball by surprising him. Swergin takes Ball in and the way sends ASPER DELO back to Delo to attempt to lynch Ball, but DONA returns and frees him. She rides his horse into camp and he comes for it, promising to leave the country.

DONA rides to investigate queer workings across the ridge. Her discovery implicates Swergin. On her way back her horse is shot from under her. Swergin comes upon her and takes her in. Ball is blamed. MALLOY, Ball's friend, hears this and rides to Three Rivers. Ball returns and faces Delo alone. He says he came to kill Swergin and advises Delo to go and check-up on the boss. Delo does this and finds Swergin stealing timber. He has dressed as a cowboy. Ball, Asper is captured by Swergin. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIV

Asper sat on the stump Swergin had kicked over to him and a great many things righted themselves in his mind. The timber boss moved about the room but did not seem in any hurry to leave. Asper watched him and came to the realization that Swergin was acting strangely.

"Just what do you hope to gain by all this?" he demanded at last. Swergin seemed to have been waiting for the question. He stared across the floor and loosened Asper's rope enough to allow him to face about without twisting. His eyes were blazing with a queer light and he shook a puppy fist at his boss.

"You dropped it in just right," Swergin grinned. "The cabin will burn down and you'll be out of the way."

Asper pulled back in spite of himself. The cold-blooded idea struck him with terrific force. He was sure now that he was going to shoot it out with Swergin.

Had Asper known Stan Ball's plans for the day his heart would have been swept clean of every hope. For Stan had decided that morning to ride over and straighten up his affairs at Blind River before having it out with Swergin.

The old timber man decided to make one final attempt to break through the madness of his foreman. "You ought to think of my daughter and her husband. They are on their honeymoon. Asper spoke almost pleadingly.

Swergin faced about from the window and his face was twisted into a leer. "That puppy has been riding over to see a little Spanish girl every day. They'll be borrowing your gals car and hiking out any day now, if they ain't already gone." Seeing a look of disbelief spread over Asper's face Swergin went on, eager to tell everything.

"I trailed him the other day to make sure he was harmless and I got an earful," Swergin scowled as he remembered the scene.

Asper's mind groped back over the past week. He was sure, when he had checked all the little things that had happened, that the timber boss was telling the truth. He had been a fool not to do a little investigating himself.

Swergin pulled a huge silver watch from his pocket and looked at it. He seemed to be ready to finish his plan, and stamped outside hurriedly.

Asper could hear him breaking the limbs and tossing brush against the side of the cabin. He seemed to be going some distance for the materials to start the fire, and apparently wanted a larger supply.

Swergin finished his piling of wood and branches and re-entered the cabin. He did not look at Asper.

Asper raised up from his bench and his hands trembled under the ropes. "You wouldn't dare touch her," he fumed, afire with anger.

Asper bent forward and pulled himself together for a final attempt to talk to the man who towered over him. "You ought to consider some other things. I have a girl who will be badly broken up over this. Her husband is a wealthy man and will run you down if it takes all his money."

Swergin smiled. "That gal of yours was willing to spend a night up on the mountain with Ball. If I hadn't stepped in on them she'd have stayed longer. I'll take care of her for you, and for that snappy Winters, too."

Asper raised up from his bench and his hands trembled under the ropes. "You wouldn't dare touch her," he fumed, afire with anger.

What's New in Fur-Bearing Fashions

It is not what fur this winter, but how your new coats and frocks use it that makes fashions fascinating. Luxurious long furs and sleek, satiny short ones vie with each other in popularity. Smart and very 1934 is the daytime dress at left, of black Baccaal wool or erpe with galvak puff sleeves and a matching wide fur belt. The separate fur cape is very appealing when made of sable dyed kolkenny, as in the one shown center, worn in the new right-about-face manner and fastening down the back. Distinguished and flattering is the broadcloth coat, right, with its entire sleeve, yoke and square-front shawl collar of caracul. The sleeve puff and the collar stands up as a soft frame for your face.

"She'll know a real man, one who tried to save her old man from roasting in a log cabin," Swergin winked again.

Asper clenched his fists impotently and looked down in his chair. He was dealing with a man who had gone completely mad.

Swergin paced over to the window and looked out. He seemed to be expecting someone, or was waiting for a given time. Asper struggled to think calmly, to be steady and seek out a ray of hope, but there seemed no hope for him and he was sure Swergin would ride into camp with a wild story.

It seemed impossible now that he could have blamed all the killings and dirty work on Ball. DONA had shared much better judgment. If he had trusted her woman's instinct he would have saved them all from a lot of grief. Asper caught himself wondering where Ball was. There was a bare chance that the copboy would find the cabin. He had said that he was going to shoot it out with Swergin.

Had Asper known Stan Ball's plans for the day his heart would have been swept clean of every hope. For Stan had decided that morning to ride over and straighten up his affairs at Blind River before having it out with Swergin.

The old timber man decided to make one final attempt to break through the madness of his foreman. "You ought to think of my daughter and her husband. They are on their honeymoon. Asper spoke almost pleadingly.

Swergin faced about from the window and his face was twisted into a leer. "That puppy has been riding over to see a little Spanish girl every day. They'll be borrowing your gals car and hiking out any day now, if they ain't already gone."

Seeing a look of disbelief spread over Asper's face Swergin went on, eager to tell everything. "I trailed him the other day to make sure he was harmless and I got an earful," Swergin scowled as he remembered the scene.

Asper's mind groped back over the past week. He was sure, when he had checked all the little things that had happened, that the timber boss was telling the truth. He had been a fool not to do a little investigating himself.

Swergin pulled a huge silver watch from his pocket and looked at it. He seemed to be ready to finish his plan, and stamped outside hurriedly.

BEWARE THE COLD THAT FOLLOWS THE TOUCHDOWN PLAY!

Fall Weather Dangerous, Says Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

This is the season of the year when people sit out on open bleachers for several hours watching football games. It is the time when they expose themselves to rain, sleet, snow and hail, and everything that fall weather in the temperate zone can provide.

The persistent golfer bundles himself heavily in a leather vest and, blowing on his hands between shots, plows his way for three hours around a golf course.

It is not at all surprising that exposure of this type frequently results in subsequent infection, particularly with what is called the common cold. Chilling of any portions of the body and excessive fatigue, according to the experience of hundreds of years, lower resistance to infection and should be avoided. The crowding together of large numbers of people serves to facilitate the passing of germs from one to another, and epidemics of colds are not infrequent in the days following big games.

There are certain things that one should do just as soon as he has the slightest inkling of the beginning of the symptoms associated with colds or influenza: First, to get warm and keep warm; and, second, to be comfortable.

The best way to get warm and keep warm is to go to bed with sufficient covers. If the vast majority of people would go home just as soon as they feel the first symptoms of a cold, and follow the technique that has been outlined, there would be far fewer secondary serious complications.

The complications are far worse than the initial disease. The common cold or influenza are in themselves seldom fatal. The secondary bronchitis, pneumonia or serious infection elsewhere in the body may kill.

Dr. Harry Beckman advises the posting of a slogan in all offices and factories which he feels would bring about a great saving economically. This would merely be a poster saying "Go Home When You Feel It."

So many people stick to their posts because of the fear that they will be called "soft" that the advice is certainly needed.

Once the person with the beginning cold or influenza is warm in bed, the question of whether it is desirable for him to sweat. With a great deal of fluid on the surface of the body chilling is likely if there is exposure, hence the taking of anything that will cause a mild sweat should be accompanied with the certainty that the room is warm and that the patient is sufficiently covered.

There are a good many drug preparations that will produce perspiration. Hot drinks, particularly hot lemonade with sugar, early in the condition will also produce a mild sweat.

The patient can take a half tumbler every hour while awake, and if he doesn't like water as is, it can be mixed with orange juice, lemon juice, or small amounts of other substances if they are available.

The question as to whether or not the body should be thoroughly dressed at this time by taking castor oil and laxatives depends largely on whether or not the action of the bowels have been disturbed. If the patient's bowels have not been disturbed in any way there is no reason why he should disturb them by indulging in laxatives or cathartics at this time.

Smart Fall Scarf—Easily Made

Nothing is smarter than hand-made scarfs this fall. You can make your own with little effort and less cost. Here are directions for making one of the latest type, shown here, a choker that slips one end through the other, and buttons through the other end buttons it fast.

Get Columbia 2 fold Saxony, 2 balls main color and 1 ball trimming color. You'll want a No. 1 size crochet hook.

With black ch 60 sts, turn, work 50 a c on chain, work 4 rows black. Row 1: Work 3 a c of black, join white and work 10 a c, repeat from " three times, ending with 4 a c in black, repeat this row for 12 inches, working over strand of yarn. Then decrease 1 at in each white stripe, work 3 rows, 1 decrease in each white stripe, and continue decreasing 1 at in every white stripe every 4th row until there are 6 sts in every white stripe every 4th row until there are 6 sts in each white stripe. Work even for 12 inches. Break yarn and fasten.

Crochet a strip 8 inches long of 3 chs in width and fasten to each side of narrow end of scarf to form buttonhole.

Put scarf around neck and place button so that scarf fits snugly around neck.

There are two reasons for this direct action on the part of women according to Ruth Taunton, secretary of the National Woman's Party.

First, women must fight the present tendency which questions the right of women to work in the name of depression.

Second, since women normally have been in politics for 12 years, it is high time they were recognized by being given the power of office.

Job Attacks Resented "Women have learned, during this depression, that it is a farce to say women have political rights when they are being denied the right to paid government," Miss Taunton said.

"Attacks on married women holding jobs is an attack on all women. That is why so many women feel that they should run for office, for the sake of women in general."

Increased interest in politics on the part of women and increased knowledge of them has made women feel that it is time for a more equal distribution of office-holding between men and women. Ever since 1920 increasing numbers of women's clubs, college classes and even industrial adult classes have studied politics.

There are many women now ready and prepared actually to participate in running the country. Two Seeking Governorship "Two of the 102 women are running for governor, three for the U. S. Senate, 27 for the House and for lesser offices in various states."

Seventeen of the women running for office are on the Republican ticket, 18 on the Democratic, 23 on the Socialist and 22 on the Communist.

The only woman senator, Senator Hattie W. Caraway, Democrat, who first succeeded her husband and then was elected in her own right to fill out the term, is running again.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Carter

Toughen Up Your Child To Grim At Bumps

What happens when a little child is treated like a helpless baby through his early years, only to be told that he is a "big boy" and that he will have to play with—will have to play with—when he starts to school. Born takers and maulers most little fellows are.

Another type of wolf waiting for the little lamb is the small accident, the bump, bruise, or cut that seems to be part of a child's everyday life after he gets off the porch and away from his mother's watchful eye.

There are other kinds of things also in the dark woods of experience he will have to travel through that will be jumping out at him and frightening him, unless he has been prepared to deal with these bogies and stand his ground bravely.

Forgetting to be toughening. The best thing a mother or a father can do for a child, either a boy or a girl, but particularly for a boy, is to toughen him up a bit before he leaves home.

This toughening process is better coming from those he loves at first. And there should be a good deal of fun and laughing about it.

The father who plays rough games with his small son is doing a good job. These games should not be too rough, of course, but if the child gets bumped a bit, or pulled about, towed, hot and breathless, finds himself standing on his head in a corner, or in a boxing match gets a smart slap that stings, it is not going to hurt him a bit. In fact it is the best thing that could happen to train him to associate with other boys who will expect him to be a good sport and take a certain amount of mauling with a grin.

The father must smile good naturedly and teach his son to smile as they play. And he should not put any premium on tears or whines or complaints.

In slang it means "to take it on the chin." Training Pays Dividends Too many children are turned out to mix with their children in school, who are still nursery coddlings. It is better to have the sportsmanship in them developed at home than to have it thrust on them by ruthless little strangers who will soon discover if a new pupil is a "mama's boy" and therefore make his life miserable.

Another thing his parents certainly into him is not to fall and not to run to them with tales of abuse. Let him learn to take his own part and earn his respect of others.

Occasionally in a rough neighborhood a child is really mistreated and imposed upon by other children. These things should be noted and righted. I don't believe in that at all. But sportsmanship should be begun at home and the habit of keeping back tears and smiling a grin little smile when things go wrong, if encouraged, pays no dividends.

If the earth had no atmosphere we should be subjected to a constant bombardment of shooting stars.

How Modern Women Lose Pounds of Fat Swifly—Safely

Gain Physical Vigor—Youthfulness With Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle With Glorious Health.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water, before breakfast—out the fat on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—in 4 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts a week. If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the safest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorous—alive—your money gladly returned.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at J. H. Quinn & Co., South Manchester—or any drug store in the world.—A.D.T.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

THIS STORY IS BLOODY ENOUGH, BUT IS IT ART?

"The Egyptian 'Ross Mystery' is a Singularly Intricate Detective Yarn Well, it seems that someone took the West Virginia schoolmaster, out of his head, and crucified him on a roadside sign, post, and all on a Christmas Eve. And then a little later the same thing happened to a rich rug importer on Long Island, and after that another deacon-cruelty affair was discovered on a yacht, with the rug importer's brother as the victim.

A charming little story? Quite! I can say it has a very odd system. This Mr. Queen, for that matter, has an odd system, too. He can erect a more ingeniously complicated plot than any detective story writer I know of, and if he could only clothe his plots in the air of general credibility the lad would be a wow. Unfortunately, though, he can't.

The star detective of Mr. Queen's tales is the son of a New York police inspector. A singularly offensive creature who in real life would be tapped firmly on the head, this sleuth looks into the crucifixions, indulges in some very fruity deduction and, in the end, nabs his criminal; and while you don't believe any of it for a second, you may find your attention held by the sheer intricacy of the thing. All in all, though, "The Egyptian Cross Mystery" is not one of the season's high spots.

Published by Stokes, the book sells for 35c.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

If you feel your liver and bile are not working properly, don't worry. A lot of medicine is sold that will do you no good, but will make you feel worse. You need a medicine that will wake up your liver and bile, and get them working properly. This is the only medicine that does this. It is called 'WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE' and it is sold in every drug store. It is a pure vegetable compound, and it is safe for everyone to take. It will make you feel better, and it will help you to get on with your work. It is a real blessing for everyone who has a liver and bile problem.

CANZONERI IS FAVORED TO BEAT PETROLLE IN TITLE BOUT TOMORROW

Defends Lightweight Crown For First Time In 15-Round Go At Garden; Challenger Has Impressive Record.

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—An unostentatious young man who has the idea that the measure of a fighter is how he conducts himself in the ring and who has won considerable popularity by acting accordingly—Billy Petrolle, is making his bid for the lightweight championship of the world tomorrow night.

Petrolle isn't much of a showman until he starts flinging punches. Instead of the fancy trimmings he wears a ragged old blanket into the ring. He sits quietly in his corner until time to go to work and then he starts about it in a methodical fashion which sometimes brings tremendous results.

In his travels about the country he acts as his own porter and lugs his managers bag as well. But after the going rings it has been a different Billy ever since he started his "comeback" campaign two years ago at the expense of tomorrow's opponent, Canzoneri. In two years he has knocked out such redoubtable opponents as Justo Suarez, Eddie Ryan, Billy Townsend and Bat Battalino. He won the hearts of the New York fans with a flashy victory over Jimmy McLarnin and by knocking out two later decisions to the Vancouver Irishman, he remained a prime favorite.

Canzoneri has been installed as a big favorite. Petrolle scaled 135½ just a half pound over the limit, when he wound up his training yesterday.

Here's how they'll stack up:

Canzoneri	Petrolle
188	188

13½	11
13½	12½
20½	20

WEST POINT GOAL OF ROBERT GIBB, WESLEYAN'S HERO

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 3.—(AP)—If the United States Military Academy has a pair of shoes to fit a good student, soldier, leader and young man, at all-around athlete, Robert Gibb wants to try them on.

Especially if there are a pair of football-cleated shoes suitable for a lad 6 feet 1½ inches tall and weighing 195 lbs. Bob hopes to qualify, for it was by wearing 107 lbs. shoes in a Nebraska Wesleyan touchdown that he popped into the headlines in a big way.

His near-record dash, however, was by no means his first athletic feat. He has already won eight athletic letters at Wesleyan and by the end of the current school year should have acquired three more. He has, despite his heavy build, done 100 yards in 9.7 seconds.

Gibb, son of a Methodist minister at Waumata, Neb., has earned most of his college expenses, running the gamut from dish-washing to radio singing.

Rally In Last Five Minutes of Play Brings Victory As Kennedy Scores Twice.

Manchester High's soccer team continued its winning ways yesterday afternoon at Charter Oak field by defeating Kingswood 3 to 0 after a rally in the last five minutes of the game which netted Manchester both of its goals.

The game started off slow and ragged. Manchester missed many easy shots during the first half. Kingswood threatened a few times but could not score.

Manchester, a victim of over confidence, realized this in the last quarter and started a desperate rally during which Captain Kennedy scored both goals. Rene Corna played a strong game on the forward line until he was removed on account of an injury. Art Rooney played a good all around game, breaking up many Kingswood marches.

BROWN'S TITLE HOPES HINGE ON TUSSE WITH HOLY CROSS

Local Boy Awarded Decision Over Kid Cagle; Forces Fight From Start.

Two Manchestras a decision for the fight between Brown and Cagle. The fight was stopped within a minute after starting. The referee presented to the fans by the C. D. K. club of Rockville last night before another small gathering that set the promoters back into the red for the third time since they have transferred their address from Crystal Lake to Rockville.

Don Manser, 137, beat Ray Zavy, 130, in the first round of a bout that was too fast to last much longer. At the count of ten Zavy was counted out after 3 minutes and 10 seconds of fighting. Kid Cagle, 117, Hartford, was sent against Raymond Pagan, of Rockville, who weighed 115. Pagan forced the fighting from the start and was awarded the decision at the close of the bout.

Jackie Nelson, 133, Rockville was put away in thirty seconds of fast fighting by Jimmie Mayhew, 147, Windsor Locks, in the first round. The fight between Young Lockwood, 113, of Broad Brook, was stopped after 2 minutes and 50 seconds of a slugfest in the third round. A draw was awarded to the contestants, Wally Bonali of Hartford, who tangled for three rounds with Columbus Lowe, colored of New Britain.

Undefeated Elevens Meet In One of Two Big Games This Saturday; Pittsburgh Plays Penn In the Other Outstanding Contest.

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The suspense is growing among eastern football fans that the Brown Bears, hitherto rather neglected in the calculations are a team which must be reckoned with before the famous non-existent championship of the East can be handed out in the usual unofficial manner.

There also is the idea that this Saturday's game with Holy Cross may go a long way toward determining the real strength of the Bruins. Both teams are undefeated and their meeting is one of two on the big gridiron program which involves aspirants for the mythical title.

Brown's Fine Record

Brown won its first recognition for the season by defeating Yale 7-0, but the record of the Bruins rather disconcerted that triumph. The Bruins were not particularly impressive in their victory over Tufts when they were admittedly "coasting." Then came the Harvard contest and the Bruins stepped right up among the leaders with a surprising 14-0 victory outplaying the Crimson all the way.

Holy Cross has shown plenty of strength in winning six straight games but so far Detroit, beaten 6-7 has been the Crusaders' strongest opponents, while Rutgers and Catholic were beaten by low scores.

Brown Favored

Brown is distinctly the favorite although a year ago Holy Cross 6-7 has been the Crusaders' only victory in a series which dates back to 1898.

In the only other game involving two undefeated eastern teams Pittsburgh, generally rated as the sectional leader because of that week's unexpected triumph over Notre Dame, meets Penn.

Adding some interest, perhaps, to Brown's hopes Columbia and Colgate, who follow Holy Cross on the Bears' schedule also are undefeated and undefeated. Columbia tackles a rather difficult opponent this week, meeting Navy at Annapolis but Colgate's Red Raiders are not expected any severe test in an inter-sectional game with Mississippi college.

By WILLIAM BRADSHAW

NBA Service Sports Editor
New York, Nov. 3.—The frank spirit of the boys of Brown University is still there. Some years ago, during the administration of President Wayland at the Providence Institution of Learning, the boys of Brown uttered Prax's cow to the beifry of University Hall one dark night and tied the bovina's tail to the bell-rope.

Now the boys of Brown are preparing another game which is meant to be carried out at the expense of umbrellas. The game is scheduled for Saturday at 12 o'clock. Watch for the date—Thanksgiving Day.

Rating Brown off the Harvard game spells trouble for the Kerr clan at Colgate. Brown came into the game as the underdog, despite his 7 to 2 victory over Yale.

It was said that Coach DeOrmond "Tus" McLaughry's triple wing-back formation was too slow to get started against fast charging Harvard forwards.

It turned out that Brown out-passed, out-rushed and out-generaled Harvard. Led by Captain Gilbane, who had been nursing a leg injury all week, the Brown backfield, with Gammino, Buannano, Chase and Gilmartin, galloped rings around the outstomped Harvard defenders.

Brown tackled better, blocked better and played more aggressive football than John Harvard—and that's the story of Brown's 14 to 0 victory.

This isn't the first time that Brown has played a joke upon the bigwigs of eastern football. McLaughry, who hails from little Westchester College, at Fulton, Mo., came to Brown in 1926. The team, in 1925, had been beaten by Yale, Dartmouth, Harvard and Pennsylvania.

THAT'S A SUGGESTION: You think the land has gone wholly of feminine, and then you reflect happily that nobody yet serves whipped cream on hot dogs.

The farmer owned fields on each side of the golf course. It so happened that he was taking a short cut from one field to another when the golf club's worst member was addressing his ball. The worst member wagged his driver to and fro for several minutes, missed four swings, and finally hit the ball, knocking it about a dozen feet. Then he glanced up and saw the farmer watching him.

Worst Golfer:—I say, only golfers are allowed on this course, you know.

The Farmer (nodding):—I know it. But I won't say nuthin' if you don't.

The Best Thing That Can Be Said of November Is That It Has Only 30 Days, and One of These Is Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Henry Peck:—Let's see, what is the name of that place where so much was done towards promoting peace in the world?

Johanne:—I like 'em that way.

Father:—So you'd like to marry my daughter, eh? What do you make?

Suitor:—Nothing, sir. I don't even touch the stuff.

The turn was over and the orchestra was silent for awhile.

Conductor (leaning down to speak to his first violin player):—I say, whatever key was you playing in?

Violin Player (promptly):—Skeleton key.

Conductor:—Skeleton key? Whatever do you mean?

Violin Player:—Fits anything.

A golf professional, hired by a large department store to give golf lessons, was approached by two women.

Professional (to one of them):—Do you wish to learn to play golf?

Rider:—Just a hundred dollars.

Bystander:—I'll give you five dollars.

Rider (stopping short, scratching his head and dismounting):—Stranger, I ain't a going to let a little matter of $5 stand between me and a mule trade, the mule's yours.

Friend:—What became of that clerk you had here?

Bookstore Proprietor:—I had to fire him. A man came with his bride to buy a book for reading on his honeymoon and that stupid clerk offered her "Travels with a Donkey."

Adam (proposing):—Why do you keep me in suspense? Is there another man?

Eve:—That's what I'd like to know.

ABOUT TOWN

The Manchester Green Community club will hold a setback-dance at the Green school assembly hall tomorrow evening at 8:15. The men's committee, E. B. Inman, chairman, will be in charge. They have decided to award to the winners of first honors at tomorrow's sitting, turkey, and to the second prize winners, dollar bills. Dancing will follow refreshments and all players will be welcome to attend.

Rev. R. A. Colpitts has invited the members of the Manchester Mothers' club to attend the Good Will service Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the South Methodist church. The guest speaker will be Miss Mabel Mathews of the State Training School and Hospital of Mansfield. A question period and discussion will follow her talk.

A meeting of the executive board of the Manchester Green Community club will be held Friday evening at 7:30, preceding the regular Friday evening setback and dance. Matters of importance will be discussed and a large attendance is hoped for.

The Women's Missionary society of the North Methodist church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 with Miss Emma Colver of Woodbridge street.

The auxiliary to Dilworth-Cornell Post, American Legion, will assemble at the Army and Navy club-house Sunday morning at 10:15 and proceed to the South Methodist church for the special Armistice Day service.

There will be a regular meeting of the Anderson-Shea Post V. F. W., Auxiliary in the State Armory tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

The large stump of the tree recently broken off at the south end trolley terminus by a wind storm, was extracted by workmen from the Park Department this morning. Another tree has been taken down at the intersection of Spencer street and Hilltown Road.

Through the efforts of Mr. Heller of the Manchester Grain & Coal Co. of this town the service of three heating engineers from the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Co. have been secured. These men will be calling on the homes of Manchester people suggesting proper ways of firing of furnaces, correcting minor heating troubles and suggesting ways and means of lowering the coal cost where possible. These three men are under the supervision of John M. Vreeland of the New England district.

The Friendly Bridge club will have its first meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock with the president, Mrs. George W. House of Benton street.

The final revival service in the series by Evangelist Mabel Manning will be held this evening at 7:30 at the Church of the Nazarene. The general public is welcome.

MISS PLUMLEY GUEST OF COSMOPOLITAN CLUB
 Well Known Women's Club Executive To Address Meeting Tomorrow Afternoon.

The Cosmopolitan club will have a guest meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the ladies parlor of Center Congregational church. The principal speaker will be Miss Emily Louise Plumley of Glenbrook, Conn., and her subject "Government Control, What Does It Include?" Miss Plumley is no stranger to women's clubs of Manchester. She has addressed audiences here on several previous occasions and has made many friends. She is a past president of the Connecticut Federation of Women's Clubs and is at present chairman of the department of American citizenship of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Her subject is one in which a member of the club should be interested at the moment, regardless of party affiliations, and it is hoped they will attend and invite guests.

AMARANTH'S SESSION
TOMORROW NIGHT
 Grand Officers To Be Received and 49 Out of Town Guests Are Expected.

Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, will receive its grand officers at its regular session tomorrow evening at the Masonic Temple. It will be the final visitation for the year of the present grand officers. Mrs. Mabel G. Hallinger of New Haven is grand royal mistress and Jesse C. Stinson of New London, grand royal patron. Upwards of 40 persons prominent in the order are expected from the 17 courts in the state. Supper will be served at 6:30 in the banquet hall under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Verral. Mrs. Rose Street and Mrs. Elizabeth Smith will have charge of waitresses, Miss Olive Chapman and Mrs. Esther Poides, the decorations. Mrs. Elizabeth Moseley will be soloist for the evening and Mrs. Elsie Knight, hostess. Fast masters and patrons will receive the 40 or more guests from this and nearby states. During the meal there will be music by a radio installed through the courtesy of Ernest Benson of the General Electric agency.

REV. J. S. PORTER, AT 70,
TO REMAIN IN PRAGUE
 Former Resident Here Held To Mission Career By Devotion of Czech Followers.

Rev. John S. Porter of Prague, Czechoslovakia, formerly of this town and Glen, recently passed his 70th birthday and resigned active participation in mission work in that field, but will continue without salary from the American Board of Foreign Missions.

The work in Czechoslovakia was organized 60 years ago by the American Board by three missionaries from America, one of them being Rev. Edwin A. Adams, who was pastor of the Second Congregational church of this town from 1868 to 1872. After a number of years Rev. Mr. Porter was placed in charge of the entire field and for the past 14 years he has had charge of work in ten centers. The 60th anniversary of the founding of the missions there and Mr. Porter's 70th birthday were the occasion for a notable celebration. The Czechoslovakians offered to carry on the work without further assistance of the American Board if the latter would contribute $25,000 for the erection of several small chapels with living quarters for the ministers, the Czechs to raise a similar amount. Mr. Porter contributed $1,000 and another $1,000 of the American Board. These missions are now self-supporting and maintain orphanages, nurses and old people's homes.

ST. MARY'S CHORUS HAS HALLOWEEN PARTY
 Miss Lillian Reardon of West Center street, entertained the members of St. Mary's chorus at a Halloween party at her home Tuesday night. The house was appropriately decorated for the occasion and games, stunts and music helped to pass the time. The members of the chorus all appeared in various Halloween costumes, and prizes for the funniest and most original outfits went to Miss Helen Crawford and Rupert Lindsey. Refreshments were served by Miss Reardon's mother, assisted by Mrs. Bert Judd and the party broke up at a late hour with the singing of "Goodnight Ladies" and "Auld Lang Syne."

AUTOIST DIES AS HIS CAR CRASHES TRUCK
 Henry J. Farrell Victim As He Tries Passing; Woman Passenger Badly Hurt.

Henry J. Farrell, 42, of 42 Congress street, Hartford, a parking station proprietor, was instantly killed and Miss Mae Mattison, 28, of 16 Cedar street was seriously injured in a crash of two automobiles and one truck at 3:15 yesterday afternoon just east of Forbes street crossing on Silver Lane.

The accident occurred when Farrell attempted to pass a car driven by Mrs. Charles B. Miller of 59 Campfield Avenue, Hartford going in the same direction. As the Farrell car was about to pass, it crashed into the left side of a large truck driven by Napoleon J. Fetry of New Haven which was headed west. The force of the impact threw the passing car against the Miller car and the driver was thrown out against a guard rail post. The oncoming Miller car crushed Farrell's body against the fence.

Miss Mattison was thrown and wedged between the wheel and indented by the force of the impact and was extricated by a passing motorist and taken to the Hartford hospital. The car was demolished.

Mrs. May S. Miller, driver of the car which was thrown across the road by the crash and who was riding with her husband, Charles B. Miller, assistant cashier of the Connecticut River Bank, Hartford, suffered from shock. Miller was out on the right hand and both knees.

The scene of the accident was visited by a large number of Man-

NORTH END P. O. SHOWS A GAIN FOR OCTOBER
 Both Major Offices In Town Have Fallen Off In Receipts of More Than $13,000 In 1932.

With ten months of the 1932 year past, postal receipts at the Manchester and South Manchester offices show a decrease of more than $13,000, it was announced today. For the month of October alone, the north end office showed a gain of $44.37 while the south end met with a decrease of $900.95. The increase at the north end has been largely due to large shipments of Bon Ami.

The receipts at the north end for October were $4,591.87 as compared to $5,492.90 in 1931. The intake for the first ten months of the year has been $59,031.30 while in 1931 it was $45,519.02 or $13,512.28 greater. At the north end the receipts for October were $5,375.65 while in 1931 the business was $3,190.75.
