BELFAST CHEERS PRINCE OF WALES

No Trouble Reported As Heir To British Throne Passes Through Heavily Guarded Streets.

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales, who has travelled thousands of miles to boost the Empire, sailed across the rough Irish Sea in state today to set foot on Ulster soil for the first time.

The elaborate precautions were taken because of protests of Irish Nationalists against the visit and recent serious employe rioting in which several lives were lost.

Roaring bonfires made giant torches of the summits of the twenty-mile range of hills overlooking Belfast lough as the Prince's ship slipped in.

Nine bombing planes flew low overhead, sirens screamed, and dockside workmen waved flags and cheered. As the ship nosed up against the quay, two warships anchored in the harbor drowned out the cheers with a 21-gun salute.

On the deck of the motorship, "Ulster Prince" stood a trim and severely tailored man in the uniform of a colonel of the Irish Guards—smiling.

He was the Prince of Wales who was immediately welcomed by the Duke of Abercorn, the Ulster governor; Lord Craigavon, the prime minister, and Sir Dawson Bates.

A few minutes later, these ceremonies concluded, the heir to the throne stepped ashore amid wild cheering and the procession to Stormont, five miles away, was started.

JAPS SEND TROOPS INTO MANCHURIA

Determined To Break Up Revolt Of General Su Ping-Wen In The North.

Tokyo, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Strong Japanese reinforcements were en route to northwest Manchuria today and their movement emphasized unofficial reports that the Japanese were determined to carry out their threat to smash the insurgent General Su Ping-Wen unless he released 245 Japanese hostages held in Manchou on the Soviet border.

General Nobuyoshi Muto, Japan's supreme representative in Manchuria, was quoted as the authority for this threat, and it was added that the Chinese insurgents must also repel his loyalty to the new State of Manchukuo.

Official spokesmen in Tokyo and Changchun, the Manchurian capital, said that although they were still trying to negotiate a peaceful settlement with Su Ping-Wen, his recalcitrance has lessened the hope of this solution and it may be necessary for the Japanese army to start a drive on Manchuria this action might be taken though it meant death to Su Ping-Wen's Japanese captives.

Four trainloads of infantry, cavalry and artillery passed Mukden today en route to Tatsihar to join Japanese forces along the Kwantung river.

Simultaneously the Tokyo war office said "several hundred recruits" were leaving Japan tonight to enter service north and west of Tatsihar. Divisions there have been fighting for some time and their casualties.

Hear Proposal Britain Pay War Debt With Slice of Canada

The United States should at least purchase a strip of land south and east of the center line of the St. Lawrence River in order to derive a 50-50 benefit from the St. Lawrence waterways treaty, Peter G. Ten Eyck, president of the New York Waterways Association, told the Senate Foreign Relations Sub-Committee in Washington.

SHAPING BATTLE LINES FOR 1933 LEGISLATURE

Judge Larash Of Orange May Succeed Alcorn As Speaker In House; Baldwin As Majority Leader.

Shaping of battle lines for the 1933 Connecticut Legislature has been started this week before the last recessions of the general election have died.

TROTSKY GUARDED WHILE IN GREECE

Russian Exile Refuses to Leave Steamer Or See Any Of the Communists.

Athens, Greece, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Leon Trotsky was guarded by a cordon of Greek police when he arrived here today on the liner Praga en route to Copenhagen.

Walker's Effects Held For Unpaid Board Bill

New York, Nov. 16.—In an effort to collect something on the $485 judgment obtained by an interior decorating firm against former Mayor James J. Walker, Deputy Sheriff Lannan went to the Hotel Ambassador yesterday afternoon to levy on the former Mayor's property in his four-room suite there.

PRESIDENT BACK HOME TAKES UP WAR DEBTS

Amy Johnson Crosses Sahara Desert Safely

Dakar, Senegal, French West Africa, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Amy Johnson, Britain's daring woman flier who is trying to beat her husband's record from London to Cape Town, has successfully crossed the great Sahara Desert. She landed at Gao on the Upper Niger yesterday and took off for Douala, on the Gulf of Guinea.

Plunges Quickly Into Work As Soon As His Train Reaches Washington; Confers With Advisors—Report Has It That U. S. Will Insist On Some Sort Of Payments On Dec. 15.

Washington, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Confronted by the pressing war debt difficulties, President Hoover quickly went into the matter with his advisors on return to Washington.

GRAIN DEALERS OPPOSE ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT

Say It Will Not Benefit Western States and Will Just Be a Big Waste Of Money.

Washington, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Buffalo shippers and grain dealers appeared before a Senate foreign relations sub-committee today in opposition to the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with the argument that the proposed outlet from the Great Lakes to the sea would result in no material saving in the cost of transporting wheat.

NO GANGSTER AID SOUGHT BY BUREAU

Head Federal Official Gives The Facts In The Lindbergh Kidnaping.

Washington, Nov. 16.—(AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in a statement today denied his office had anything to do with Charles A. Lindbergh's decision to seek underworld aid in the search for his kidnaped son.

CROSS PROPOSES DRY LAW CHANGE

Says State Enforcement Law Should Not Be Repealed At This Time.

Hartford, Nov. 16.—(AP)—A modification of the state's prohibition enforcement law so as to enable the state's enforcement agencies to cope with any situation created by a possible modification of the National Enforcement Act, will probably be recommended to the next General Assembly by Governor W. L. Cross, the governor said today.

NATIONS COMBINE TO HELP EUROPE

France, Germany and Britain Arrange a Loan To Build Railways.

Paris, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The formation of a tripartite economic consortium among France, Germany and Great Britain designed to rehabilitate Europe, was announced today by Raymond Patenotre, the American-born under-secretary for National Economy.

L. C. CLIFFORD, JR., DEAD; LONG AILING

Dies Suddenly Just After Midnight; Worked Yesterday In Assessors' Office.

Loren Chester Clifford, Jr., 59, of 598 Center street, a member of the Manchester Board of Assessors, died suddenly at his home at 12:30 this morning following an illness of embolism extending over a period of nine years.

Former Exchange Manager The deceased had been a resident of this town for the past 13 years, moving to Manchester in 1919 from Willimantic, having been promoted

Reed stayed with the Chief Executive for an hour, and had no comment on their conversation on leaving.

In the Senate last July, Reed reiterated opposition to revision of the debts. He said: "The people owing us are paying many times over armaments what they are required to pay us."

Representative Parks (D., Ark.) today told newspapermen that "any attempt to repeal the Hoover moratorium or extend the war debts will meet in failure."

With the time flying near for his meeting with President Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt is recovering from a light case of flu and hastening to put his official business in order before he departs for his visit to the White House.

There were indications today Mr. Roosevelt will suggest next Tuesday or Wednesday as the date of the meeting at which he has agreed to talk over informally and personally with Mr. Hoover "the entire situation" pertaining to war debt matters and other national affairs.

He was a member of Manchester Lodge, A. F. & A. M. Delta Chapter

"I ached all over," he related, "even to the top of my head, although I feel all right now, although a little weak."

Got Pretty Wet The governor said he "got pretty wet" on his right side during the ride through New England.

He was cheerful and today was suitably recovered to leave his bedroom case notes for a conference in his study with Mark Graves, the state budget director. The budget is one matter he hopes to have virtually complete before his departure for the Hoover conference and a two weeks vacation at Warm Springs.

POLICE MOTORCYCLE DAMAGED BY TRUCK

Officer's Machine Parked At Curb—Truck Backs Into It Knocking It Down.

The motorcycle owned by Manchester Police Headquarters and operated by Raymond Griffin was damaged at the north end at 10 o'clock this morning when it was struck by a truck as the motorcycle was parked in front of Pagan's store while the officer was making his round of Depot Square. A gasoline truck owned by Earl Campbell and operated by Fred Emond of 17 Essex street knocked down the motorcycle while backing out of a driveway. Emond did not see the motorcycle. The left rear wheel of the truck struck the motorcycle denting the mudguard, twisting the handlebars, damaging the speedometer but it did not damage the wheels. Emond was not arrested, an agreement being made with Campbell to settle for the damage.

BOLTON

A notice was read Sunday morning at the Congregational church by the pastor from Mr. Wilcox, superintendent of the Center Church Sunday school, Manchester, asking that the pastor, superintendent of Sunday school and a teacher from the Bolton Sunday school attend a meeting at the Manchester church to talk over some future work. Churches from other nearby towns were invited.

Bills have been sent out by Tax Collector Anthony Manegga for personal taxes. They are due Nov. 15. Miss Mildred Stone of Hartford was a guest of her mother Sunday at the home of Judge Sumner. The selectmen and town treasurer met at the basement Monday evening and transacted the usual business. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Griswold have moved into Hartford for the winter. Charles Loomis of Pawtucket spent the week-end at his home here. The Ladies' Society will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Sumner. The following officers were elected at the last Grange meeting:

Master, Thomas Daly, Jr.; Overseer, Oswald Stephenson; Secretary, Catherine Ross; Treasurer, Lydia Young; Lecturer, Mrs. Hazel Hutchinson; Steward, Arthur Finney; Assistant Steward, Herbert Hutchinson; Lady Assistant, Margaret Manegga; Gate Keeper, Eugene Gasparione; Chaplain, Phoebe Manning; Ceres, Fannie Souder; Pomona, Nancy Glascock; Flora, Etha Massey; Executive Committee, Hazel Finney, Adella Loomis, Viva Massey, Insurance, Adolph Eroll. Mrs. B. L. McGurk and daughter Helen of Hartford visited friends in town Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Alvord have moved into Hartford for the winter. Mrs. David Toomey, Mrs. Herbert Hutchinson and Mrs. Kneeland Jones attended the Farm Bureau meeting at Vernon, Monday evening. A business meeting was held at 6 p. m. and supper at 7 p. m. Kenneth Hinchaw will speak on the subject, "Farming Needs No Alibi." Cost and dress robes under the direction of Mrs. Dimock and Miss Grover, a play, "And Thos" is to be presented by Ellington Grange. There will be games at 10:30 p. m. The committee on arrangements are Mrs. Bunce, chairman; Miss Grace Skiles, Wallace Thrall and Lucius W. Robinson. The program for future Farm Bureau work for Bolton and North Coventry is as follows: Christmas and bazaar suggestions, upholstery class, clothing renovation or making of new garments (two meetings); flower meeting and plans for contest, interior decoration and weaving on small loom, rag rug weaving.

DENIAL OF DUFFY PLEA DOESN'T CHANGE CASE

Not Released From Jail Bonds But He Will Continue to Have Same Freedom.

Habeas corpus proceedings by means of which Constable James Duffy sought escape from his nominal commitment to the Hartford County Jail limits as a consequence of a damage suit brought by Salvatore Reale were dismissed by Judge Booth in the Superior Court yesterday. Duffy's commitment was made after he had failed to satisfy a judgment obtained by Reale in a suit for injuries he alleged were sustained when Duffy arrested him here on a personal tax writ. The usual jail limits were extended so that Duffy might continue his employment as a bus driver and extend to several towns. The adverse decision on the habeas corpus proceedings does not affect the constable's freedom of movement within the extended limits.

WAPPING

David and Sherman Collins, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Asher A. Collins are both sick at their home. David had an abscess in his ear and also the mumps, and Monday they both developed pneumonia on one lung.

Frances Barber, second grade pupil in Union school at South Windsor, is seriously ill with brights disease at the Hartford hospital. The East Windsor Ladies' Aid will present the comedy "Peg O' My Heart," at the Scenic Park house on Thursday evening, Nov. 17, at 7:30 o'clock. The play is in three acts. The following persons comprise the cast: Theodore Ellsworth, Eunice Ellsworth, Harold Ellsworth, Ethel Woolam, Edward Woolam, Herbert Wells, Hayden Allen, S. Wolcott Bissell, and Mary Bartlett. A supper to be served at six o'clock will precede the play. Mrs. Harry F. Files has been spending the week-end weeks in Maine, with her son Harry F. Files, Jr., who is attending school there. Mrs. Frank E. Bidwell of South Windsor spent the week-end with friends in New Haven.

CHANGE MEETING HOUR OF LUTHER LEAGUE

Annual Session to Be Held At 8 Instead of 7 O'Clock—Visitors Not Coming.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Luther League of the Emanuel Lutheran church will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock, instead of 7 o'clock as previously announced, as the League of Portland and Cornwall today notified the local League that they would be unable to accept the invitation to visit here. It was planned to start the annual meeting at 7 o'clock, but postponement of the visit makes this move unnecessary and President Herbert Johnson announced today that the meeting would be held at 8 o'clock as usual. A program will probably be presented by the decorating committee in charge of the meeting.

DRYS READY TO FIGHT

Evanson, Ill. Nov. 16—(AP)—Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the National W. C. T. U., directed to the membership today her program for a militant attack on "beer first" and the alcohol traffic generally.

"We have lost a battle; that does not mean we have lost the war," she said. The program calls for an educational campaign for voluntary total abstinence, work among children, emphasis on state cooperation in law enforcement, increased efficiency in federal enforcement with "adequate" punishment in fines and imprisonment; study of the benefits of prohibition, study of the plans of distillers, wine producers and brewers of other countries to promote sales here, and a publicity campaign.

ST. MARY'S AUXILIARY TO MEET ON FRIDAY

Original Meeting Was Postponed; Chinese Student To Be the Speaker.

St. Mary's Women's auxiliary will hold its regular meeting which was postponed from last week, on Friday evening at 8 o'clock sharp in the parish house. The guest speaker will be Chan Ch'uan Liang, a young Chinese student who is at present at the Kennedy School of Missions, Hartford. He was graduated from Shantung College and has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in China. Since coming to this country his services as a speaker have been in great demand. Every member of the auxiliary, and others interested will be welcome to hear Mr. Liang talk about his native land. There will be no sewing or folding. Mrs. Allen Duckworth and Mrs. John Dougan will be hostesses.

KEEP THEIR MARRIAGE SECRET OVER A YEAR

Announcement Made Yesterday Of Hazel I. Ferrell to Earl C. Loveland.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Hazel I. Ferrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ferrell of Pearl street, to Earl C. Loveland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Loveland of 33 Lewis street. The ceremony took place September 5, 1931, at Addison, Maine. Mrs. Loveland has been employed by the Travelers Insurance Company and Mr. Loveland is one of the proprietors of the Oaklyn Filling station. The wedding has been kept secret by the couple.

GOV. ROOSEVELT POLLED 57 P. C. OF ALL VOTES

Washington, Nov. 16—(AP)—President-elect Roosevelt polled 57.9 percent of the 37,200,000 votes in the presidential election which had been compiled today by the Associated Press.

President-elect Roosevelt polled 57.9 percent of the 37,200,000 votes in the presidential election which had been compiled today by the Associated Press. President Hoover's percentage of the total vote is 40.1 percent. The other two percent was polled by minor party candidates. Roosevelt's percentage was said by Simon Michelet, president of the National Get-Out-the-Vote Club, to be the highest ever polled by a Democrat. Present Hoover's percentage, he said, was the lowest of any Republican candidate with the exception of 1912 when the Republican vote was split between Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft. The highest Republican percentage of the total vote was recorded for Harding in 1920 at 60.5 percent, Michelet said, and the highest Democratic percentage heretofore was 49.4 percent for Woodrow Wilson in 1916.

BLAST INJURES 30

Boston, Nov. 16—(AP)—More than 30 persons, many of them children, today bore superficial burns which they received they stood at the edges of vacant lot watching a burning gasoline drum.

They were caught in a shower of blazing gasoline last night as they stood around a vacant lot in the East Boston district, near the entrance to the East Boston tunnel. None of the victims were seriously burned. A crowd was attracted as firemen were called to extinguish the fire in a gasoline drum. As they pressed close the drum exploded, sending flames high in the air and setting alight the clothing of many of the victims. The explosion and rain of flame alarmed the section for a time.

ROOSEVELT'S PLURALITY

Washington, Nov. 16—(AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt's plurality in the presidential election stood today at 4,451,302 over President Hoover's vote.

The total vote for all candidates thus far compiled by the Associated Press is 37,200,000. Figures were complete today for only fourteen states. Tabulation showed Roosevelt had received 21,506,742 ballots and President Hoover 15,055,440. Until the official count in the various states has been completed, the standing of the various minor party candidates can not be computed. In the returns thus far received Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate has a total of 566,301 votes.

NEWSPAPER CIRCULATION CLAIMED TO BE PADDED

Youngstown, O., Nov. 16—(AP)—Mrs. former employee of the Youngstown Telegram, Scripps Howard newspaper were called upon today for the state today on charges that the newspaper's circulation "gures had been padded" to deceive advertisers.

The defendants are John T. Waters, Telegram business manager; James J. Morrissey, circulation manager; Joseph Finster, former circulation manager; and Thomas Dowling, circulation adviser for the Scripps-Howard newspapers. One of yesterday's witnesses for the state, Charles Egan, Jr., former district circulation manager, testified names taken from tombstones were listed on the paper's books as "newsboys," and that vacant houses were listed as addresses of "subscribers." Egan and five other former district managers testified they were required to take more papers than the boys in their districts could sell. Some of the excess copies, it was testified, were thrown in the river, others were hidden in garages and various storage places. Prosecutor Ray L. Thomas who is handling the state's case, has engaged in several previous battles with the Telegram, and has repeatedly been assailed by the newspaper's editorial column. Representatives of the Telegram have declared the circulation figures given in the paper's semi-annual statements were believed to have been true to the best knowledge of the officials who signed them.

CITIZENSHIP RESTORED

Rome, Nov. 16—(AP)—Citizenship was restored today to 17 anti-Fascists living abroad or in jail in Italy under a royal decree.

A decree on January 31, 1926, deprived these men of Italian citizenship and confiscated their goods among them were Gastone Salinas, the writer living in America, and Cesare Rossi, an early member of the Fascist Grand Council and close companion of Benito Mussolini. Rossi is now serving thirty years in prison for attempting to assassinate Mussolini.

COSTS OF EDUCATION

Richmond, Va., Nov. 16—(AP)—Costs of education were under consideration today by the National Association of State Auditors, comptrollers and treasurers in seventeenth annual convention here.

Chief among the speakers on the program were L. A. Carruthers of the Bureau of the Census; Charles C. Johnson, state treasurer of California; Solomon Levitan, state treasurer of Wisconsin; O. B. Fuller, auditor-general of Michigan; A. J. Beattie, comptroller-general of South Carolina, and Floyd E. Williams, state auditor of Indiana. This afternoon the visitors will be conducted on a tour of Virginia historic shrines at Williamsburg, Jamestown and Yorktown which will be followed by a dinner at the College of William and Mary. Highways will be discussed by the association tomorrow, and public health on Friday. The opening session yesterday, devoted to discussions of governmental costs, was featured by an address by General Edward Martin, state treasurer of Pennsylvania, and president of the association.

PROTEST KILLING DEER

Boston, Nov. 16—(AP)—A tremendous protest against the slaying of several deer and buffalo at the Franklin Park Zoo has earned a 30-day reprieve for the animals.

The slaughter, was ordered by the Boston park commission because of overcrowded conditions at the Zoo and was scheduled for yesterday. Twelve Sika or white deer, four red deer and four buffalo were listed for execution but as a result of a large number of telegrams and telephone calls, the park department reprieved the animals for 30 days. It was hoped that before the reprieve is up individuals or institutions will have come forward either to purchase the doomed animals outright or exchange them for animals of other species which would be of interest to Zoo visitors.

OKLAHOMA CELEBRATING

Oklahoma City, Nov. 16—(AP)—Oklahoma today celebrated the silver jubilee of statehood.

Just 25 years ago, President Theodore Roosevelt signed the document which made a state of the Oklahoma and Indian territories. Now, as then, a symbolic marriage ceremony was a part of the celebration. Gen. R. A. Sneed, secretary of state and Confederate veteran, will act as "Mr. Oklahoma." Mrs. Warren Butz, of Muskogee, who was "Miss Indian Territory," 25 years ago, again will play the role. Twenty-six pioneers were chosen by the Oklahoma Memorial Association for special recognition. They included, Will Rogers, humorist; Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war and "Mr. Oklahoma"; United States Senator, Governor W. H. (Alfalfa) Bill Murray, proclaiming the day a holiday, will lead the big parade through the capital city.

NO RUSH FOR MARKERS

Hartford, Nov. 16—(AP)—The advance registration of automobiles during which time motorists could obtain number plates used on cars the previous year, has fallen off materially this year due to the depression. Hard times has thrown sentiment into the discard so far as motor vehicles are concerned, and motorists with lean pocketbooks apparently decided the immediate use of cash is preferable to having their initials or some favored designation on their registration plates.

Figures released by the state motor vehicle department today disclose that for the period from October 1 to November 14, inclusive, but 25,838 reservations were made for 1933 markers, as against 82,334 in the same period last year, a decrease of 6,785. There was a corresponding falling off in receipts, the total this year being $101,153.45 as compared with $545,219.25, a decrease of $142,055.80.

KING'S DAUGHTERS ELECT

Norwalk, Nov. 16—(AP)—One hundred and eighty delegates were gathered in the South Norwalk Congregational church today for the business session of the two-day state convention of the Connecticut Branch of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons.

The following officers were unanimously re-elected this morning: President, Mrs. George H. Prior, Jewett City; First Vice President, Mrs. Frederick F. Tompkins, New Haven; Secretary, Mrs. Maude P. Wheeler of Norwalk; Treasurer, Miss Emma G. Keeney, New London; executive committee, Mrs. Ira E. Forbes of Waterbury; Mrs. E. Frank M. Crawford of New Haven and Mrs. Newton P. Clark of Hartford.

DRIVER DRUNK, CAR CRASHES 2 OTHERS

Maple Street Man Arrested Following Accident at McLean Hill Today.

Martin F. Mader, Jr., of 18 Maple street, was arrested this morning charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor as the result of an accident at the foot of McLean Hill at 10 o'clock this morning, involving a car driven by him and car driven by Reuben B. Kurland of 23 West Middle Turnpike and William H. Davis of 449 Main street.

A car following driven by William H. Davis with Mrs. Ellen M. Groves of Grand street, Niantic, as a passenger, crashed into the rear of the Kurland car, and injuring Mrs. Groves on the right leg.

at strategic centers, but the wild cheers from the thousands massed behind the police lines indicated they would not be needed.

Arriving at Stormont at the close of Belfast the cars swept up the impressive processional drive to the new building gleaming in its coat of white marble against the hillsides.

In his dedication speech, the Prince recalled Ulster's heroic part in the World War and Great Britain's promise to provide a building "worthy of the people of Northern Ireland."

"It is my father's earnest prayer," he said, "that you will meet all of those difficulties which confront the world as well as your own special problems with the courage, tenacity, loyalty and devotion which has always characterized the men of Northern Ireland and made them famous in the annals of the Empire."

The Prince brought a brief greeting from King George.

The Prince's speech was to have been broadcast but the plans were cancelled. It was carried to the crowd by loudspeakers.

The Ulster Nationalists took no part in the ceremonies as they previously had announced.

Four persons were seriously injured when the roof of a coal shed collapsed. The roof was overpowered by a group seeking a glimpse of the Prince as he passed.

have made it necessary to send replacements.

General Su Ping-Wen's troops are now confronting the Japanese at Khurkhura, a few miles west of the Nonni river and the insurgent has established contact with other irregulars in the Tsitsihar area.

It has been seven weeks since General Su revolted and seized control of all Manchukuo west of the Khingan mountains defying Japan to come and get him, since his numbers, confidence and territory have increased.

Although on October 29 General Su released 121 Japanese women and children held in Manchull on the Soviet border, he still holds 245 Japanese distributed at Manchull, Hallar, Dalainor and Irekute, including 42 women and ten children.

The Japanese military attempt to crush the revolt has been held back for three reasons, damage to their prestige in case they should fail, fear for the fate of the hostages, and the danger of friction with Russia.

Russia co-operated to free the hostages, but the Japanese command is confronted with General Su's defiant refusal to negotiate with a Japanese mission which recently arrived at Rauria, Siberia.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Bridgeport, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Dudley C. Hughes of Greenwich filed divorce petition in the Superior Court today against Norma Knight Beacham Hughes of Orlando, Fla. The marriage was August 6, 1917 and desertion is alleged as of January 7, 1928. The plaintiff asks in his complaint that the defendant's name be changed to her maiden name.

OBITUARY

DEATHS

J. Alfred Johnson

J. Alfred Johnson, of 55 Church street, died at his home late yesterday afternoon. He was 78 years old and had lived in Manchester for 48 years. He was employed in the machine shop at Cheney Brothers for many years and retired several years ago.

He was a member of the Swedish Benevolent Society Segar and King David Lodge, I. O. O. F.

He leaves his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Charlotte J. Gould, of East Hartford, four grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Albert Swanson of Manchester and Mrs. Agda Lind of Sweden.

Mr. Johnson was severely injured two years ago, when watching workmen remove a tree near his home. A rope broke and the block and tackle struck him on the head, fracturing his skull.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home, Rev. K. E. Erickson of the Emanuel Lutheran church will officiate. Burial will be in East cemetery. Friends who desire to view the remains may do so after 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home.

Mrs. John Humphries

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Humphries, wife of John Humphries of 10 Lilley street, died early this morning at her home following a lingering illness. She had been a resident here for the past 27 years.

Mrs. Humphries leaves besides her husband, one son, Thomas R. Humphries of 39 1/2 Garden street; two daughters, Miss Hannah J. and Miss Edith M., both of whom live at home; three grandchildren, also two brothers, John McComb of Lilley street and Robert McComb of Napier, New Zealand.

She was a member of the South Methodist church. The funeral will be held at the home on Lilley street

20-LAWYERS APPEAR IN LIGGETT CO. SUIT

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—(AP)—With more than 20 lawyers taking part in the proceedings, Judge George A. Walsh, in the U. S. District Court, today heard arguments in a suit to stop the Louis K. Liggett Co. chain drug store owners, from going into voluntary bankruptcy.

A series of other legal motions affecting the company's affairs also were argued.

The complainant, the 1524-42 Market Street Realty Co., charged Liggett company is planning bankruptcy as a means of voiding high rental leases on many of its 483 retail stores throughout the country. Twenty-seven of the stores are in Philadelphia and vicinity.

The Liggett company has assets of $30,000,000 over its liabilities, plaintiff lawyers said.

The hearing today was on motions to the court for the issuance of a preliminary injunction against bankruptcy, until there can be a final hearing on all the merits of the case, and a counter-motion by counsel for the Liggett company for a dismissal of the case on the ground the court has no jurisdiction in the matter.

J. Howard Reber, attorney for the Liggett company, characterized the charges made against the concern and its allied companies as "outrageous and untruthful," and declared that the effect of these charges had been so detrimental that "I cannot see how a wreck can be averted."

Threatened Torture With the victims unable to move, the burglars lighted matches and threatened to burn Mr. and Mrs. Frazier's feet unless they told where their valuables were concealed.

They also threatened to burn the maid, and finally learning the location of the jewelry and money, they started a systematic clearing out of clothing and other articles.

Frazier is the son of G. Harrison Frazier, identified for years with the sugar industry, and a great grandson of George L. Harrison, founder of one of the great family fortunes of America.

Mrs. Frazier is the former Marys Bernon Clark, daughter of Herbert Lincoln Clark. The Fraziers were married in 1920.

Frazier told police he arrived home sometime after midnight and as he turned on a living room light, two men seized him from behind, threw him to the floor and then tied him to a divan.

Mrs. Frazier, who was on the second floor, heard the noise and ran down stairs to investigate. As she

WOMEN VOTERS' LEAGUE HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

Mrs. Warren Keith Named President Of Local Branch At Meeting Yesterday.

Mrs. Warren Keith was elected president of the Manchester League of Women Voters at its annual meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Walter Gorman of Hopkissfield street.

Mrs. L. Y. Pond is the first vice president; Mrs. Samuel Kemp, second vice president; Mrs. John Barry, secretary and Mrs. Carl Noren, treasurer.

It was announced that the Connecticut branch cooperated with the National League in securing more than 400 answers to the questionnaire sent out previous to the recent election. More than 10,000 answers from all over the country will be analyzed by Professor Edwin S. Robinson, psychologist of Yale University, in a survey to obtain a cross section of public opinion as to why people voted as they did in last week's election.

No less than 1,300 members of the league workings in 38 states obtained these answers, each of which was sealed and unopened until it reached Professor Robinson's laboratory.

FOOTBALL STAR DIES

Colorado Springs, Colo., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Ralph McClure, 21-year-old Colorado College football star, died today of injuries received in last Saturday's game with the University of Colorado.

McClure suffered a fracture of the cervical vertebrae when he tackled George Grosvenor, University half-back.

He leaves a widow and a six-month-old baby.

WILROSE DRESS SHOP OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY

The Wilrose Dress Shop located in the Hotel Sheridan building is observing its third anniversary in business this week by holding a Third Anniversary Sale.

The announcement of this sale appears in today's issue of The Herald. Through the personal efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Kronick this shop during the comparatively short time it has been in business has built an enviable clientele and the reputation as "the shop of individuality."

Weekly trips to New York where Mrs. Kronick personally selects the latest creations for stock or for special orders is one of the many items of service that has found favor with the many shoppers at the Wilrose. Expert seamstresses in their employ are ready at all times to make whatever alterations may be required to make the frock purchased a perfect fit.

The present sale is a real value event that is awaited anxiously by their customers each year because they realize a Wilrose sale is always an excellent opportunity to purchase the season's newest styles at lower prices.

CITY BUDGET IS CUT $17,000 BY THE COUNCIL

Public Works Slashed to Bring Down Tax Levy a Full Mill; Total Budget Is $99,119.85.

A reduction of $17,298.65 was made at the final meeting of the Board of Common Council for the fiscal year held on Tuesday evening when the budget for 1932-33 was adopted.

The new budget amounts to $99,119.85 whereas a year ago it was $116,417.50. The reduction means that it will be possible to levy a tax rate one mill less than last year's.

The greatest cut in the budget comes in the Public Works Department, where the accounts were reduced $14,300. The miscellaneous reduction was $1,480 while the Health and Sewer Department made a reduction of $1,000.

The only other cut was in the Police Department where the estimates were reduced $518.65.

In the Public Works Department many reductions were made "but the one of unusual interest is that of the salary of Superintendent of Public Works George B. Milne, who took a voluntary reduction of $150, amounting to ten per cent of his salary.

Alderman George Scheetz, brought up the matter of the money to be received from the town of Vernon for public roads. He stated that in place of the $9,006 which the city received a year ago the committee was only able to get $3,700.

Cardalco Case
Several local men were among those called before the federal grand jury at New Haven on Monday and questioned in connection with the famous Rockville still case.

Cardalco and his son Louis, is scheduled to come before the local police court again next Monday. If the federal authorities return indictments the cases in the local court may be dropped.

There was a hearing on the case Monday morning in the Rockville court, and the continuance until next week was asked. Prosecuting attorney John B. Thomas told the court that the Federal Grand Jury at New Haven will start an investigation shortly into the matter.

CRUISER INDIANAPOLIS PUT INTO COMMISSION

Philadelphia, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Uncle Sam's latest addition to his fleet, the cruiser Indianapolis, was commissioned at the Philadelphia Navy Yard today.

While its crew of 49 officers and 553 men snapped to attention, Rear Admiral Lucius A. Bostwick, commander of the Fourth Naval District, turned the speedily 10,000-ton cruiser over to the command of Captain M. Smealle, who completed the ceremonies by setting the first watch.

Congratulatory messages from Secretary of the Navy Adams; Senator Frederick Hale, chairman of the naval affairs committee; Mayor R. H. Sullivan, of Indianapolis, and others were read at the exercises.

In a few weeks the Indianapolis will leave for the west coast to become a part of the Pacific fleet's cruiser force.

One of the fastest warships afloat, the Indianapolis was built at a cost of $10,500,000 and is one of seven 10,000-ton cruisers authorized by an Act of Congress in 1923. The cruiser was launched in the New York Shipbuilding Company's yards at Camden last November and in recent trials off Rockland, Maine, attained a speed of 33 knots an hour.

Commander Paul H. Bastedo is executive officer of the new cruiser and Commander Francis S. Craven, of Pittsford, N. Y., is navigator. A Marine guard of 40 men is included in its crew.

MILLIONAIRE WAITER AGAIN OUT OF WORK

Hollywood, Calif., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Albert J. Bacon, nee Guggenheim, Hollywood's aristocratic waiter, is out of a job again and announces he will sell his services for the next 6 1/2 years until he inherits a million dollars.

Bacon, grandson of Bernhard Baron, English tobacco king, who was discovered several days ago lugging trays in a fashionable Hollywood cafe to earn a living after the trustee of his London estate cut off an income of approximately $1,000 a month because they decided he was wasting his money, quit his job at the time because of attendant publicity.

The cafe hired him over again as a food checker. Last night he said he had left that job, and taken his wages to get a $160 suit of clothes out of "hook."

The 23-year-old heir was born the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Guggenheim, of the famous New York family, but dropped his last name when he came here. His married name is Mary Elizabeth Ussell. His marriage prevented him from entering the Naval Academy at Annapolis. He tried films but with little success.

Bacon says he can be a social secretary, horse trainer, swimming instructor or club manager. He will not be a gigolo because he wants to keep in the good graces of his wife.

40 BELOW IN ALASKA
San Francisco, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Forty below zero in the Yukon and a promise of gales off the Pacific northwest coast was the Weather Bureau offering for the Pacific area today.

The lowest temperature this season on the coast was the 40 below zero weather recorded early this morning at Eagle, Y. T.

Storm warnings were posted for the Oregon-Washington coast. The forecast of heavy rains threatened to aggravate flood conditions in southwest Washington.

NOW! EASE A SORE THROAT INSTANTLY

Feel Rawness, Irritation, Go At Once

These Pictures Tell You What To Do

Remember Only Medicine Helps A Sore Throat

Modern medical science now throws an entirely new light on sore throat. A way that eases the pain, rawness and irritation in as little as two or three minutes.

Results are among the most extraordinary in medical science. On doctors' advice, millions are following this way... discarding old-time "washes" and "antiseptics." For it has been found that only medicine can help a sore throat.

Simple To Do. All you do is crush and dissolve three BAYER Aspirin Tablets in half a glass of water. Gargle with it twice—as pictured above. If you have any indication of a cold—before gargling take 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets with a full glass of water. This is to combat any signs of cold that have gone into your system. Keep on taking if cold has a "hold." For Genuine Bayer Aspirin will not harm you. Your doctor will tell you, it does not depress the heart. Get a box of 12 or a bottle of 100 at any drug store.

Reduces Infection; Eases Pain Instantly. Gargling with Bayer Aspirin will do three things: Relieve soreness at once. Alleviate inflammation. AND—reduce infection, which is the important thing in fighting a sore throat.

It requires medicine—like BAYER ASPIRIN—to do these things! That is why throat specialists throughout America are prescribing this BAYER gargle in place of old-time ways. Results are quick and amazing.

Be careful, however, that you get real BAYER Aspirin Tablets for this purpose. For they dissolve completely enough to gargle without leaving irritating particles. Watch this when you buy.

It Foams Up to Engulf Congress In a Bitter Battle on Our Dry Laws

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of six stories dealing with the present movement for the return of beer, a movement intensified by the recent elections.

WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Writer

(Copyright 1932, By NEA Service)
The speaker's gavel which falls on Dec. 5 to open Congress will be a bung-starter.

But how great a flow of what kind of beer can issue from that bung in dry United States is a big question.

The last "Lame Duck" Congress will assemble with an unmistakable cry from the entire country ringing in its ears and demanding that something be done about prohibition.

Something will be done. Just what, is less certain than some enthusiasts believe. They think it is all over but the shouting.

The first move will be for legal beer, immediately, before the 18th amendment is touched. Assume, that by adding together the wets and such former dries as accept the mandate of the people, such a bill can be passed. What will it be?

If the beer provided is really intoxicating in fact, it clearly violates the Constitution, and the courts will have no choice but to throw it out. If it is really non-intoxicating, will it satisfy the thirsty?

Somewhere between sub-zero near-beer now permitted and a beer with an unquestioned kick, lies a compromise that will make the brew palatable, with maybe just the least bit of a lift to it, and yet not intoxicating beyond any reasonable doubt. In the range between 2.75 per cent and 4 per cent lies that compromise beer that the thirsty would be glad to get, and yet which leaves enough doubt as to its intoxicating properties to get the benefit of court approval and avoid a possible veto by President Hoover who is at heart a dry.

And How Soon?

Any alcoholic content up to 4 per cent is debatable, with equally reputable authority on both sides. Much of the light lager beer sold before the war was only around 3 per cent, and nearly all beer was under 4 per cent.

The O'Connor-Hull bill, defeated 228 to 189 last session, but certain to come up early in this one, provided 2.75 per cent by weight, a 3 cents a pint tax, and sale in bottles only. Between the extreme wets, fighting for the limit at 4 per cent, and the dries, such a compromise seems likely.

But suppose such a bill is passed? Can you get your beer immediately? Maybe. Has your state a prohibition enforcement act like the Volstead act, prohibiting drinks of more than 1-2 of 1 per cent alcohol? The chances are two to one it has, for only 15 states are at this moment legally prepared to receive beer even if Congress legalizes it. Before the past election there were six: Maryland, New York, Massachusetts, Nevada, Montana, Wisconsin. Nine states repealed their enforcement laws in the last election: Michigan, Louisiana, Washington, New Jersey, California, Oregon, Arizona, North Dakota, Colorado.

That makes 14 states which have repealed enforcement acts since national prohibition (Maryland never had any), and makes more than 40,000,000 people eligible to receive whatever Congress offers them. But in the other 33 states, even if the national law is repealed, the state law remains.

Furious fights are certain in the legislatures of many of these states to repeal state laws and get them in shape to profit by any national modification. The A. F. of L. and the Crusaders for the wets, and the W. C. T. U. and Anti-Saloon League for the dries are already active here.

What of the States?

Bear in mind that so far as Congress has power to legalize beer at all, it must do it on the theory that it is non-intoxicating. That brings up the next problem. If Congress declares 4 per cent beer, non-intoxicating, it is possible that practically all the state laws (which set a 1-2 of 1 per cent limit) will become unconstitutional, being in conflict with a law of Congress. And then all restrictions on this revived beer are off.

Beer will get a big stimulus, in addition to the definite prod of the electorate, from the fact that the government needs money, and needs it badly. Any aid beer would bring to unemployment or the grain surplus would be a help, too. Those factors are going to be important to fence-sitters in Congress.

There will be literally scores of beer bills thrown into the hopper as soon as the gavel falls. In fact there are scores left over from last session. The Judiciary Committee will have to hold hearings, weed out those with very high or unlimited alcoholic content, and pick one which seems likely to get court approval. This will be fought bitterly both in committee and on the floor, for the dries are going to battle every inch of the way.

231 Dries Vanish

If modification should be blocked in the "Lame Duck" session, it is certain to go through in some form when the newly-elected Congress meets in response to an expected call from President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt after his inauguration March 4.

For the astounding overturn in the recent election completely changed the complexion of Congress. The "Lame Duck" Congress lines up: House, wet 188, dry 247; Senate, wet 31, dry 65. But the new Congress will line up: House, wet 323, dry 26, undeclared 86; Senate, wet 61, dry 30, undeclared 5. Thus the dries lose 221 seats in the next House and 35 in the Senate, almost a complete reversal.

It is thus clear that in the next session House and Senate will both be Democratic and wet by good majorities.

The platform on which it was so overwhelmingly given power promised: 1. Repeal of the 18th amendment by proposing a repealer to the states called to act solely on that proposal; 2. Pending repeal, immediate modification of the Volstead act to legalize beer and other beverages "of which alcoholic content as is permissible under the Constitution."

With such a tremendous majority, the new Congress is certain to modify in some way, even if the "Lame Duck" Congress does not.

How To Repeal

But at the root of the matter lies the 18th amendment. The Democratic position is clear. It implies complete repeal, turning back the whole matter to the states, and clearing the Federal Constitution of any specific mention of liquor. Its demand that the Federal government use its power to "enable the states to protect themselves" against outside liquor traffic, does not imply any substitute amendment to take the place of the 18th.

Attorney-General Mitchell, however, believes that if a substitute amendment seemed to Congress

Wrote Law

Andrew J. Volstead who wrote the most cussed and discussed law of this century, and whose work of 15 years ago now faces a tempest in Congress that may overwhelm it.

necessary to give the Federal government power to protect dry states, such a substitute could be either written in one piece with the repealer or submitted at the same time. In that case the states could accept or reject either or both. Thus the form in which repeal is submitted is most important. It could be submitted in such form as to make adoption almost impossible.

While undoubtedly a drive for repeal will be made in the "Lame Duck" Congress, it has less chance than in the new one. Then there is almost certain to be a repealer, either with or without a substitute, submitted to the states.

However, the "bone dries" do not concede ever this. Mrs. Ella Boole, president of the W. C. T. U., says she does not believe even the new Congress will achieve the two-thirds majority needed to submit repeal to the states. Varying degrees of wets seem assured of 223 in the next House, the dries 26, with 86 undeclared. That is plenty more than two-thirds. The Senate will be closer. The best estimate is 61 wet, 30 dry, 5 undeclared. Thus the wets need at least three of those undeclared Senators to have their two-thirds.

36 States Needed

It is in the states, after the preliminary battle of submission is won in Congress, that the bitterest fights will be fought.

For of course the adverse vote of 18 states can block any amendment to the Constitution, 36 states being necessary to ratify.

The dry strategy will be to put up as bitter a fight as possible against superior numbers in Congress, and then if beaten, to fall back to their entrenched position in the states.

NEXT: What may be expected if beer returns, in taxes, in employment, in the grain situation, in the realm of the racketeer?

QUOTATIONS

The depression has thrown a lot of jobless men on the road—"depression stiffs," we call them. They don't understand the ethics of our profession, which incidentally requires you to have no profession. They're destroying the reputation of hobnobism. Why, they don't even understand the ABC's of our order.

We are tired of constitutional methods. We prefer direct action.

—W. A. L. Hannington, Communist organizer of the jobless "hunger march" on London.

Every worker has a right to a home that measures up to modern standards. Since it does not pay private business to provide it for him, the responsibility must be shouldered by the state and the community.

EUROPE'S POLITICS NOT FOR AMERICA

Roosevelt, Before Election, Gave This As His Opinion Of Nation's League.

Rome, Nov. 16.—(AP)—President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt was quoted in the records of the Volta Institute convention today as declaring before his election that the United States should co-operate with the League of Nations but should not enter European politics.

The statement was read before the 200 scientists, statesmen and other intellectuals attending the Institute, which was called to make a scientific study of Europe's problems.

Viscount Louis de Fontenay, former French ambassador to the Vatican, and one of the founders of the International Diplomatic Academy said the Roosevelt opinion was one of several the Academy had solicited before the Volta meeting and before the American elections.

"We Democrats," the President-elect was quoted, "do not believe possible, nor do we desire an isolated National existence. We are highly jealous of our sovereignty and consequently are equally respectful of such sentiments in other nations."

Should Co-operate Mr. Roosevelt was further quoted as saying America should co-operate with Europe and the League of Nations, terming "the latter the present existing organization for the conservation of peace and the solution of problems formerly unknown to civilization."

"Without entering European politics," the letter was quoted, "America should take an active, serious and official part in all procedures undertaken in the interest of humanity's general welfare."

Regarding the problems of the American countries, the President-elect was quoted as saying when help was needed by a country in difficulty that it was the duty of the United States to associate herself with other American republics to study the problem together and if conditions demand it "offer aid in the name of America."

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16.

OPEN MOUTHS, CLOSED MINDS

This is distinctly no time for politicians to come pouring into the spotlight, heaping their base drums and trying to outdo each other in shouts that there must be no war debt revision. The country doesn't need that sort of thing. Even the political parties do not need it—either of them. Nobody needs it but the individual tub thumpers—and perhaps, if they were wise, they wouldn't imagine they saw any need of it for themselves.

England and France have asked for a suspension of current payments pending a requested conference on the possibility of revision. There is scarcely a chance that the United States government will deny a request, courteously made, that could quite properly be submitted to any creditor anywhere by any debtor. The granting of the conference need commit this country to nothing—in fact it could not commit it to anything. Then whom are these political inferiorities, including Mr. McAdoo, bawling at? If at Mr. Hoover then certainly at Mr. Roosevelt as well, because the latter by accepting Mr. Hoover's invitation for a parley on the question, admits readily enough that there is something in this debt matter to confer about. They cannot, surely, expect to bully Britain and France into withdrawing their request already made. Why, then, all the shouting? There is only one answer—the noise makers are simply dying for the sound of their own voices and a place in the headlines.

We should be all through and done with the closed mind. There has been a thousand times too much of it since the war. We ought to have learned in the last three years, collectively as a nation and individually, that we don't know everything; that we don't even know, yet, what it was that hit us in 1929.

It is only just now, for example, that we have found out that never a nickel of war debt was ever paid to us by anybody that we didn't lend to somebody to pay us with, directly or indirectly. We don't even know whether it is mathematically or scientifically possible to collect a cent of war debt that it will not cost us two cents to gather into our treasury. We have all been so cocksure and so set in our various conflicting views about these debts, and have been, on the whole, so thunderingly wrong about them, that it takes a marvellously self-opinionated individual to try to shout down a proposal to examine the situation and find out what's what.

WITHOUT PRECEDENT

A new spirit of official economy is abroad in the land. If you don't believe it, weigh this:

Mr. Rachelson was a fence, living in Brooklyn. Mr. Pittam was shipping clerk in a Bridgeport lace factory. Mr. Pittam shipped to Mr. Rachelson, over an extended period, some $10,000 worth of pilfered lace. Mr. Pittam fell under suspicion, was arrested. So were a couple of truck drivers. Mr. Pittam talked. Mr. Rachelson was wanted.

Now who, until now, ever heard of such a thing as a police department holding out, on some couple of deserving detective officers, a trip to New York? The main part of this story is mere routine—the sacrificed trip to the Metropolis is a news smash.

Even in hard times, when municipal budgets are clean shaved, the opportunity to go somewhere to get somebody is one of the high spots in a cop's life, not to be denied. From anywhere within a couple of hundred miles such a job, in New York, could always be made good for a two or three days vacation even if the wanted individual were a portal guard at the Grand Central and all the cop had to do was to pick him, like a ripe apple, off a low bough.

trouble at all about explaining a forty-eight hour delay in capturing a guy who had "gone out of town" or had may be "moved" or had "changed his haunts," so long as Mr. Cop brings him back in the end. Meantime there are lots of good shows in New York. Interesting speaks, and perhaps a friend or two to be looked up and visited with.

Yet what did the Bridgeport police do? Why, they introduced Mr. Pittam to a telephone, told him what to do if he knew what was good for himself and stood over him while he called Mr. Rachelson on the phone and told him there was a hot bargain in lace waiting—and would he come up to Bridgeport on such and such a train? Rachelson eagerly would; and did; and the cops met him. Mr. Rachelson, not the city of Bridgeport, footed the bill for that pinch.

Whether what this betoken is a tidal wave of economic reform or an attack of official conscience, or whatever, we don't know. But we feel that it is something worth making quite a lot of fuss about.

AGONY FOR N. E. COUNCIL

One of the problems to be considered at the annual meeting of the New England Council at Boston tomorrow is the relationship between New England's interests and the proposed St. Lawrence Canal project. Portland, Me., is fearful that the realization of this adventure would be destructive to its shipping business and there is liable to be more than a little reflection of this feeling throughout the New England area.

Yet, supposing it should be incontrovertibly demonstrated that the proposed canal would be to the economic advantage of the country as a whole, would it still be the duty of the New England Council to try to obstruct its development in case it would also show that the canal would work great harm to the area's interests and consequently to its general business? That is a question that is hardly to be answered off-hand. If it is answered in the affirmative the answer is a frank declaration of utter sectionalism and the respondent must be prepared to justify his sectional attitude.

He might be able to do it.

And yet, is it possible to be sectional and patriotic in sentiment at the same time? The Civil War was a bloody reply in the negative. Perhaps it is an answer that would hardly apply to an effort by New Englanders to defeat a national benefit that threatened to injure New England. It is difficult to say, though on the face of it these six states would appear to be blindly self-centered if they took such an attitude. Perhaps the New England Council will do what most individuals would do in corresponding cases—convince itself that the St. Lawrence waterway would be not a benefit but a detriment to the welfare of the nation. Then it could go ahead and fight the project with a clear conscience and with enthusiasm.

If it can't convince itself of that the Council will surely be in for a rather torturing conflict between love and duty—self love.

A HARD LOT

Probably nothing serious will result from the British warning sent to Emperor Haile Selassie of Abyssinia concerning slave raids by some of the emperor's subject tribesmen on British territory in Africa. It is to be hoped not, for trouble between European nations and the Abyssinians is always liable to prove very serious indeed.

Something more than a generation ago the Italians had occasion to warn the late King Menelik. The warning was followed up by "action" just as Britain is promising "action" now. The consequences of that action have never been forgotten in Italy. Many thousands of Italian soldiers were destroyed in that war and, after all, Italy gained very little from it. The Abyssinians are a hard lot. They are not to be frightened, they are very hard to kill and there are a lot of them. As so there is a general impression that they know a lot about modern warfare and modern equipment.

This would be a terribly poor time for Britain to get into a "punitive" war that possibly might turn out more than a little like the Boer war in its expense in blood and money. But she probably knows that better than anyone else.

LOW MORAL PLANE

If Norman Thomas wants to know why only a little more than half a million voters in the United States gave their ballots to the Socialist party on November 8 we commend to him a study of the municipal relief store situation in Hartford. The theories advocated by Mr. Thomas and the Socialists are attractive to many thinking people. But when it comes to be impossible for a city of the size and grade of Connecticut's capital to operate a single enterprise of an essentially sacred character as the distribution of food to the hungry, without its being made the opportunity of petty grafts and a peculiarly despicable variety of thievery, it takes a sanguine and trusting soul to believe that the people of this country are anywhere near ready, morally, for co-operative effort under governmental control.

Still, it is highly probable that if the people of the Capital City were to really make up their minds that they were going to have a system of physical relief distribution, honestly administered, they could somehow manage to attain that objective. There really are some towns and cities in the United States which find it possible to buy food supplies and deliver them to the needy without having either provisions or purchase money disappear into the possession of ghoul-like thieves.

AMONG THE RABBLE

When a little public schoolboy in New York died in convulsions after eating only a small portion of the lunch supplied to him at the school there was a report that he had been poisoned by the food. As he was the only one of 350 children partaking of the same lunch, however, interest in that aspect of the case quickly died.

But one newspaper reporter discovered something else. He found that the little boy, his jobless father, his mother and a brother had been living for eight months as the guests of friends in a small apartment. The host family consisted of nine persons and the only money that for many weeks had come into the apartment for the support of thirteen persons, was $10 a week carried by the father's friend.

And yet there are those who believe that the names we oftentimes see in print are the names of the truly great!

IN NEW YORK

Hand on the Spigots
 New York, Nov. 16.—When the word "beer" is shouted out loud again, Broadway will be prepared to shell out thousands of steins in three seconds flat. At that, not quite so flat as the current product.

Preparations for serving up shells and schoopers represent a gambling outlay greater than all the theatrical productions put together. One centrally located hotel can lose for a few hours' notice a bar and fixtures which will cost more than $50,000. Practically every saloon, cafe and club has temporary or permanent bars ready to lose together at a moment's notice. Many already have them installed.

That's Gold in Them Logs

But it's the saw-dust boys who are riding high. Time was when saw-dust was a symbol of the saloon, bar or what-have-you. But during the current prohibition years, what had been saw-dust became identified under the high-hat moniker of "bar-dust" and was sold at figures which would have shocked even the face of the bar-room floor.

A couple of smart young New Yorkers thought of the "bar-dust" notion. It was to be sure, nothing more or less than saw dust. Some saw it in the cellophane of a couple of packages of sawdust which they had purchased a week's supply. All over town, carpenters and lumber mill found a sudden demand for a forgotten product.

A couple of concerns have actually found it more profitable to turn out sawdust than to cut up lumber.

For instance, the advertisements inform us that a necklace "with a cabochon emerald, over 37 carats, 2 small cabochon emeralds, 2 triangular diamonds and 23 marquise, 15 baguette and 494 round diamonds" formerly held at $97,000, now can be procured for a mere $33,500.

An emerald and diamond bracelet to go with the necklace would have cost us $28,500 before the sale. Now it is only $14,250. Twenty thousand dollar emerald earrings also are halved in price, and the finger ring is down from $14,000 to $7,000.

All of this represents a saving of $64,750 on the set, and we're so happy. Now we can get these little trinkets for the laundress.

Chorus Call

Chorus calls are heartbreaking experiences for hundreds of poor girls with more hope than beauty or ability.

Sometimes a couple of thousand girls have tried to crowd onto a stage for inspection by a producer and his lieutenants, and this crowd must be waded down to a half-hundred or less without loss of time.

There are girls on Broadway who have been responding to these calls for years without so far as anybody can remember, ever having stood up with the finalists. The faces and figures of some of the girls are so familiar to producers and dance directors that they never give the ma second look any more.

Naturally, every producer has a few girls on his list whom he knows ahead of time he will want to develop his stage. And some of the producer's influential friends and the angel of the show may have an interest in some beauties starting

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

"GAST POOR" PLAY WAS "WOUND" IN CRITICISM OF 1932 CAMPAIGN AS A DRAMA

Washington—If political writers perturbed the function of dramatic critics they would now be reporting the close of perhaps the sourest season which it had ever been their misfortune to cover.

Those in the audience are likely to agree. There are always dissenters, of course, but most of the voters who think the 1932 campaign was perfectly well are either friends and relatives of the actors or become ecstatic on the ground that the villain got it in the neck as the last curtain fell.

Briefly—More than one of the four principal characters could be described even as "adequate" by any imaginative stretch. The supporting cast was weak. The setting was so built as to endorse the whole opera with a dramatic finale aspect.

The lines, for the most part, were dull and uninspiring. And an unprecedented number of spectators became so suspicious of the present tendency to this form of art that they wanted to tear down the theater and build a new one on different lines.

Perhaps no two presidential candidates ever entered a campaign with such a low sum total of personal popularity. Anyone who saw the theater for their parts at Chicago early last summer will recall the very low ebb of enthusiasm which prevailed.

And it can hardly be said that either ever did much to correct the general impression.

The last days of the campaign found one candidate weaving about the stage rather desparately, mumbling dire threats that the roof would fall in if the audience didn't stop giving the other man all the applause. And the other candidate was playing the part of the handsome, smiling hero, just highlighting the other candidate and displaying no other special prowess.

As for the vice-presidential candidates, no campaign ever produced a more pathetic pair.

Charlie Curtis went campaigning and apparently he never got his name in print except in the local newspapers of the town in which he happened to be appearing.

Jack Garra, the smarter of the two, got much more publicity because so many folks thought he was even more of a liability to his party than Curtis and because Jack carefully laid his plans so that there might be a wide and furious discussion as to just what the merits of him. True, Jack made one speech and issued a statement now and then, but the Democrats were forced to answer the attacks upon him with the defiant query: "Well, what about Curtis?"

Posterity, fortunately, will have a higher opinion of this campaign than it really deserves.

Posterity, fortunately, will have a higher opinion of this campaign than it really deserves. Posterity will be spared the experience of listening to and seeing the two candidates realize just how bad they really were.

Posterity, living in a more enlightened age, probably will refuse to believe that any group of candidates and supporting speakers had the nerve to assail 120,000,000 people with the type of campaign to which we have listened this fall.

But despite the hopes of those who decided to help swell the "protest vote," the same type of show may be repeated in years to come.

The old-fashioned politicians of both major parties, it seems, are like the Bourbons—who never seemed to be able to learn anything, or to forget anything.

New York—Yes, sir, it certainly is reasonable to know how much further the dog will grow each day. If one happens to have a dollar.

RICKETS INJURIES MOST DURING WINTER

Rickets causes a large proportion of the slight deformities of the human frame including most cases of bow-legs, knock-knees, pigeon-breast, small face and chin, spinal curvature and deformed pelvis, the latter condition being the most serious in women because it leads to many of the severe complications of childbirth. As a rule, the disease makes its first appearance at about the first year of life, at which time a baby may develop head sweating, digestive disorders and a gradual loss of weight. The baby is generally restless and complains on being moved. The bony deformities gradually become noticeable due to the lack of normal calcification. As the child grows up, the disease usually terminates in recovery with more or less deformity remaining.

It is generally believed that a lack of vitamin D (the sunshine vitamin) in food is responsible for the development of rickets. Indeed, rickets has been experimentally produced in rats by depriving them of this vitamin, and babies have been cured of rickets by supplying them with foods containing it. There is, however, a question in the minds of some investigators as to whether rickets is caused by a lack of vitamin D or whether it is due to the presence of some other undetermined substance which is eliminated or neutralized by vitamin D. For instance, it is known that one frequent predisposing factor is the giving of starchy foods to babies before they are sufficiently old to digest them. Also the children of natives of the arctic regions do not show a tendency to rickets when, using their normal diet, yet they often show rickets when civilized foods are introduced.

The problem of the exact way in which rickets is caused is not, however, of great importance since the disease is readily prevented and cured through using a properly balanced diet with either the addition of vitamin D or the exposure to sunlight or the artificial ultra-violet light.

Answer: The toughness and stickiness of the enamel of the teeth is largely determined during childhood, and there is not much which one can do in adulthood which will cause any damage, although one may properly care for the teeth and preserve the enamel as much as possible through cleaning the teeth regularly and using a tooth paste containing vitamin C and vitamin D.

DECENCY IN PRISONS DECREASES RIOTING

Warden Reed Guest Of Chamber; Duffy Speaks On Civic Responsibility.

"Prison life is a tragedy," declared Warden Charles S. Reed of the state prison at Wethersfield, at the thirty-second annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Country Club last night, and then went on to point out that "prison is a blessing to many." The other speaker was Ward Duffy, managing editor of the Hartford Times, who spoke on "Community Responsibility" and advocated zoning restrictions and city planning, more easily visible house numbers, tree planting, development of parks and membership in the Chamber of Commerce.

Trouble With Guards "Discipline is the most human thing in prison life, or anywhere else," said Warden Reed. "It is a deterrent. I do not believe in many rules and regulations, but in the creation of a few fundamental rules. Seventy-five per cent of our trouble is not with the prisoners, but with the guards and officers. The prisoners will respond to human treatment."

"We insist on decency and obtain it with little trouble. All the prisoners work, who are able, for hard labor is a blessing.

"Where riots occur, you will find that non-employment of prisoners, poor food and unsanitary conditions are responsible." The speaker told of the rigid inspection which is made of food at Wethersfield. It is well prepared, he said, and the bill of fare is changed each week.

Medical Care In pointing out the blessings of prison to many, he said, that the best in medical care is accorded the inmates, and cited the case of a cripple who was treated by the prison surgeon and is now able to stand and walk like other human beings. "No family in the state has better medical care than the prisoners," he said.

In citing the tragedy of prison life, Warden Reed told of a lifer who had served about 14 years of his sentence and had begun to grow bitter, writing to friends that he would never leave the institution alive. Warden Reed had a heart-to-heart talk with the man, which resulted in a changed viewpoint. "Such cases occur practically every day," said the speaker.

Warden Reed said that it was perfectly natural for prisoners to attempt to escape, alluding to the attempt by "Lefty" MacDonald, one of the men convicted of the murder of a local policeman. "We would probably do the same thing ourselves," he said. "It is up to us to outguess him."

Prison Farm One of the outstanding achievements of the State prison board, said the warden, was the purchase of the "Shakers" property at Enfield, which was converted into a prison farm. It has been in operation about a year and a half, and not a single attempt to escape has been made, he said. Ninety-five inmates are at the farm now, all working and apparently happy. They are given five earned days a month for meritorious conduct. "The psychology of the farm is the best thing in the world," said Mr. Reed.

"There is no prison atmosphere and it is run like a well organized farm. The wire fence around the property is to keep the public out and not to keep the prisoners in." Warden Reed praised the prison administration for its cooperation. "I have never had better or more cordial support," he said. He also took occasion to praise the people of Connecticut, "for being so wonderful in giving employment to paroled men."

"Parole is the greatest salvation," he said. "It has saved many from coming back." He said that the parole board meets once a month and that paroled prisoners must be given work before they are released. He said that despite present conditions, the prison has been highly fortunate in placing men at work.

Education Warden Reed also described the system of education at the prison, school being compulsory for the illiterate. Music is also taught and an orchestra of prisoners must be given work before they are released. He said that despite present conditions, the prison has been highly fortunate in placing men at work.

Talking pictures are shown, lectures are presented and religious services are held every Sunday. Warden Reed stressed the fact that all who are able to work draw wages, as high as $18 a month, which is sent home to the prisoner's family.

"If we can get a man out of prison and back into society a better man than when he entered, our work has not been in vain," he said, concluding with an invitation to the gathering to visit and inspect the prison.

Warden Reed was introduced by Colonel William C. Cheney, Chamber director and chairman of the State prison board, who related the wide experience of Warden Reed, as chief of police at Seattle, Wash., during Klondike gold rush and as superintendent of reformatories and prison warden throughout the country.

Praises Citizens In his address on "Community Responsibility," Mr. Duffy said that Manchester is about the last town in the world to ask a man to talk on that subject. He picked out the number of men in the audience, whom he said, were the embodiment of community responsibility. He said that the ability to put imagination into work is the factor that leads to success and those able to do so can "thump their heads" at the depression. He cited several instances, where imagination in business was bringing success despite economic conditions.

"Mass production," he said, "struck a death blow to quality of many things. But mass production has also been struck a blow by this depression, and business is turning to quality now. Craftsmanship is coming back and this plus imagination will succeed in any economic era."

"We've gone so fast before that we didn't know and didn't care where we were going. The depression has brought us leisure and it has its good points. We were developing labor that did not fit men for their leisure time and developing leisure time that did not fit us for labor."

Slowing Up "We have slowed the tempo of life, we have time to face community responsibility." He cited Hoover's offer to cooperate with President-elect Roosevelt as a manifestation of community responsibility. Personal sacrifice is necessary, he said, and asked his audience to look about for some man doing good and see if they could take some of the burden from his shoulders.

THANKSGIVING DINNER BY ELECTRIC COOKERY

Mrs. Marion E. Rowe of Manchester Electric Co. to Demonstrate Possibilities.

A unique demonstration of a Thanksgiving dinner with all the "fixins" will be presented to the women of Manchester by Mrs. Marion E. Rowe, Home Economist of the Manchester Electric Company in the Whiton Memorial Library Hall, Thursday, Nov. 17 at 2 p. m. The women of Manchester are invited to attend.

The demonstration will show the possibilities of cooking the annual New-England dinner on the Universal electric range, without attendant discomforts or excessive labor. The table will be set for six.

An opportunity will be given to ask questions concerning the operation of the new electric range, which embodies the latest features of even control and other time-saving devices during the preparation of the complete dinner. The menu to be prepared by Mrs. Rowe is as follows: Tomato juice cocktail, cream of corn soup, hearts of celery, spiced cranberries, roast turkey, bread stuffing, giblet gravy, buttered onions, sweet potato balls, broccoli with Hollandaise sauce, pumpkin pie, nuts, coffee and raisins.

FAILS TO GIVE RIGHT OF WAY; IS FINED

Birch Street Man Cuts Into Main Street Traffic and Crashes Other Machine.

Joseph Brozowski of 99 Birch street was fined $25 and costs in Manchester police court this morning when convicted of not giving the right of way and causing an automobile accident at Main and Birch streets early last night.

The Brozowski car headed south on Main street struck an automobile driven by Sherwood Atkinson of East Hartford which was coming north on Main street. The accident resulted when Brozowski turned into Birch street. The impact overthrew the Atkinson car but no one was injured. Patrolman Winfield Martin investigated and arrested Brozowski who is married and has two children. He is 27 years old. Atkinson's car was badly damaged.

ATHLETIC ASSEMBLY AT TRADE SCHOOL

Members of Teams to Receive Prizes For Inter-Departmental Competitions.

The next assembly of students at the Manchester State Trade school will be an athletic gathering in charge of Walter E. Bohober and Frank J. Crowley, basketball and baseball coaches respectively. Members of the school baseball team will receive their school letters and prizes will be awarded the carpentry department team which won the inter-departmental baseball league.

There will be no school the balance of the week, Thanksgiving coming on Thursday and the students being given the balance of the week for a holiday. Director J. G. Echmalian said that in the near future he hopes to have Warden Charles S. Reed of Wethersfield States Prison address the students. Mr. Echmalian said that Warden Reed promised him last night at the Chamber of Commerce meeting that he would be glad to come here to speak to the trade school pupils.

Tonight Director Echmalian will address a group of Trinity College students on textile work in general in Hartford.

MURPHY ELECTED HEAD OF CHAMBER

Succeeds W. B. Halstead; 75 Attend Annual Meeting Last Night.

Edward J. Murphy was unanimously elected president of the Chamber of Commerce by written ballot at the thirty-second annual meeting at the Country Club last night.

Edw. J. Holl was elected first vice president, Jay E. Rand was elected second vice president, and Russell B. Hathaway was elected treasurer.

Mr. Holl, one of Manchester's most prominent citizens and widely known real estate dealer, has been a member of the Chamber for thirty years.

Mr. Murphy was born in Manchester and is proprietor of the oldest drug store in town at Depot Square. He has been a member of the Board of Education for 17 years, served as its chairman for seven years and is now secretary.

Six directors were elected for terms of two years, as follows: Ernest Bantley, Howell Cheney, Dr. Amos E. Friend, Walter Gorman, William B. Halstead and James Turnbull.

President Halstead submitted a report on Chamber activities, embracing ten and one-half months of the current year. His report was as follows:

a.—Annual Report The Annual Report of the Chamber of Commerce cannot be submitted at this time as our fiscal year will not close until December 31. We will endeavor to furnish you with a complete report for the year 1932 soon after the close of our fiscal year.

b.—Statistical Report Without attempting to mention the numerous activities and accomplishments of this Chamber during the year thus far, will take a few minutes of your time to give you some statistics showing the volume of work that goes through the Chamber office which will give you some idea of the valuable place your Chamber is filling in the community.

c.—Membership Figures At the first of January of this year when your present officers were installed, this Chamber had a membership of 299. This has been a most trying year. Business concerns, whether small or large, have felt the reaction of the times and it is to be expected that this organization as well as others, would suffer to some extent. It is certainly gratifying to me as your President, to be able to report that we have at the present time, 258 members which is only 41 less than we had at the beginning of the year.

This is a subject that has caused every business man considerable thought and worry during the past year, but I am glad to say that during the 10 1/2 months of this year which has already expired, we have been able to pay our bills although our treasury is exhausted at the present time. We have nearly $2,000.00 in unpaid dues and if those Members who have not yet paid this year's dues, will do so, the Chamber will be able to close the year, one month and one-half from now, in fairly good shape, and as your President, I want to make this earnest appeal at this time.

Although I have just mentioned that the Chamber budget was set at the very lowest possible figure for this year, I want to take this opportunity as your President, and one who has been closer to the organiza-

TORCH BEARERS' PLAY UNUSUALLY WELL CAST

Sock and Buskins Rehearsal Show Great Improvement; Largely Seniors in Cast.

Those who have attended rehearsals of "The Torchbearers," the Sock and Buskin play which is to be presented at the high school hall on Friday of this week, and watched the developments of the play feel that it is particularly well cast.

The play is an hilarious farce presenting a nightmare of what could happen in any amateur play. Much of the action centers around the leading character Mrs. Pampinelli, a part which is to be taken by Betty Quimby '33.

John Sullivan '33 as Mr. Hosselcross is another of Mrs. Pampinelli's prizes, being chosen as one of the leading figures in the production which is to put her town "on the map" at least as far as the "Little Theater Movement" is concerned.

He is one of the "red-looking" persons of age, but of a florid complexion, and with an effusiveness of manner that is probably only saved from being blotted out by his very great dignity. He speaks in a deep tone being very well pleased with himself and apt at all husbands argument "in a nut shell!" Another part which is to afford much interest is that of Mr. Spindler, taken by C. Victor Davies '33. The character is that of a peppy person, thin and stilled with sleek hair and goggle glasses. He is of the distressing student-order and for this reason Mrs. Pampinelli chose him for her right-hand man. He becomes a kind of lead-pencil-bearer to her ladyship and she tolerates him as he reminds her of things, or "brings them to her attention," as she puts it. For Mr. Spindler is one of those—fortunately few—people who remember things—word and—and he quotes incessantly. As Mrs. Pampinelli has already observed of him, "he is one of those rare persons who never forgets one in the hour of quotation." Mr. Spindler was in the army—draped ten weeks before the Armistice. The Military gave a profound impression on him for he is full of salutes.

INSANITY CAUSED BY TOXIC POISON

Dr. Cotton By Operating Has Cured Thousands of Dementia Cases.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Dr. Henry A. Cotton, internationally known for his work with the insane, reported a new conclusion to the board of managers of the Trenton State hospital today as he completed 25 years of service there.

The 56-year-old physician, who has long held functional mental disorders resulted from toxic poisoning of the brain, announced he "was convinced" no patient should undergo a serious abdominal operation, or any operation, without all infected teeth having been extracted.

From his experience as medical director of the institution for 23 years and as medical director emeritus of the Trenton State hospital, Dr. Cotton concluded:

"1.—A laparotomy (incision into the abdominal cavity) for any purpose is dangerous and liable to result fatally if the patient has infected teeth.

"2.—A recognition of this fact has reduced my mortality rate for operations for release of adhesions (of the colon) from 19 per cent to 3.7 per cent.

"3.—Eighty per cent of the so-called functional group suffer from pathological conditions in the colon which must be surgically corrected before they will recover their mental condition.

"4.—As the mortality has materially reduced, I do not see how any criticism from the standpoint of the public as to these surgical procedures is justified.

Dr. Cotton, one of whose first acts on assuming the directorship in 1907 was to release patients from strait-jackets, announced in 1918, after 11 years of experimenting, he believed functional mental disorders were the result of toxic poisoning of the brain from infections in the teeth, tonsils, and the gastro-intestinal tract.

Many Recoveries
On that theory he treated patients until 1930, and actual recoveries during the 12 years totalled 2,000, twice as many, he said as would have recovered spontaneously.

Because of many discharges and reduction of average time of hospitalization from 10 months to three, it has been estimated the financial saving to the state in maintenance has been nearly $1,000 a day, or $3,000,000 in 32 years.

Dr. Cotton, in treating patients suffering from mental disease has made many operations on the colon, for he asserts most patients are victims of chronic constipation.

Since 1923, rather than operate for total removal of the colon he adopted the method of releasing adhesions found around it, and the mortality rate dropped from 33 per cent to 19 per cent, and, more recently, by extracting teeth also, to 3.7 per cent.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Vincennes, Ind.—Fireman James Freeman was being congratulated as a hero today as he lay in a hospital.

Freeman leaps from a train to throw a switch. He fell, broke two ribs and dislocated his shoulder. Although suffering great pain, he crawled to the switch and threw it in time to permit a fast passenger train to pass on a clear track, thus averting possible disaster.

Then he fainted beside the switch only a few inches from the speeding wheels of the express.

Benson, Ill.—There was money in the old wooden table Charles Laussenstein used to use.

He died a year ago but his fortune was not found until the other day when a carpenter going over the table that had been sold at auction, found $60,000 in negotiable securities secreted inside.

Pittsburgh—Councilmen of suburban West View, incensed upon learning that a $5.50 long distance telephone charge was assessed against the borough, were about to call in the police when Paul Muszko, manager of the West View football team interrupted.

"I was trying to arrange games at Sharon, Glenahaw, Beaver Falls and a few other places," he explained. "I hope it's O. K."

The town fathers replied it would be "Okay" if Muszko paid the bill. He agreed.

Boise, Idaho—When bigger jobs are available, Senator-elect James P. Pope will be asked for them. He told of a bewhiskered citizen coming to him since the election to get a job. He was a graduate of Cornell and he told the Senator-elect, "I'm qualified for a Cabinet post," he said seriously, "but it will be all right if I am made head of a department in Washington."

Oklahoma City—For the benefit of Mrs. R. Blanchard of Lake Helen, Florida, and any others who may share her fears, the State Chamber of Commerce would like to have it known that there's virtually no danger of anybody's being scalped by Indians in Oklahoma nowadays.

Mrs. Blanchard wrote to the Chamber:
"Is it safe for a woman to drive her car alone through Oklahoma? How far is it between villages and are there white men along the way?"

Elcampo, Texas—Mayor A. L. Lincetum, Elcampo, solved the question of music for a charity ball. A dance orchestra was brought into court for traffic violation. Filsoner found all guilty and sentenced them to three hours at hard labor. They are to be dressed as convicts and the chief of police has been instructed to see that a guard is placed over them.

MARK LEAVES FORTUNE TO IMMEDIATE FAMILY

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Moe Mark, millionaire theatrical man, pioneer moving picture developer and one of the leading stockholders in Warner brothers, left all of his estate, estimated at from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 to his immediate family, his will disclosed today.

The will, dated July 11, 1929, was filed with Surrogate Slater today. Mr. Mark died on a train at Utica two weeks ago, while en route from Clifton Springs to his White Plains home.

The bulk of the estate goes to his widow, Elsie Ruth Mark, who gets all household and personal property, automobiles and other articles, as well as three-fifths of the residuary estate. The remaining two-fifths are to be held in trust in equal shares for two children, Thelma Ray Mark and Cortland R. Mark.

A sliding scale of payments of the principal to the children is specified in the will, after each reaches the age of 25. The son will get the whole bequest when he is 35 years ### old, and the daughter will get her total bequest when she is 40.

A codicil, dated July 25, 1929, added but bequests in the will. They were to a sister, Rose Rosenthal, Buffalo, of $30,000 and $2,000 each to two nephews, Robert Rosenthal and Lionel Edel, both of Buffalo.

The will provides that $10,000 shall go to Mr. Mark's mother, Mrs. Amalie Marcus, of Cleveland and that a sum up to $15,000 shall be expended by his executors on a family plot and mausoleum.

The executors are the widow, Eugene L. Falk, Buffalo and Maurice Silver and Henry F. Wolf, both of New York.

RAINEY AS SPEAKER

Washington, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Representative Henry T. Rainey, white-haired veteran of 28 years in the House and Democratic floor leader is "perfectly willing" to assume the speakership when John N. Garner becomes vice-president March 4.

That was his reply when asked if he might succeed Garner. The Illinois member has the support of many Democratic colleagues but has made no formal announcement of his intentions.

HORSE TRAINER SLAIN

Baltimore, Nov. 16.—(AP)—William R. Midgeley, 45, suspended trainer of thoroughbreds and owner of a small racing stable, was found shot to death in his home here today.

His wife told police she heard the report of a gun and she ran to the bathroom where her husband had been bathing a short time before to discover him with a bullet through his heart.

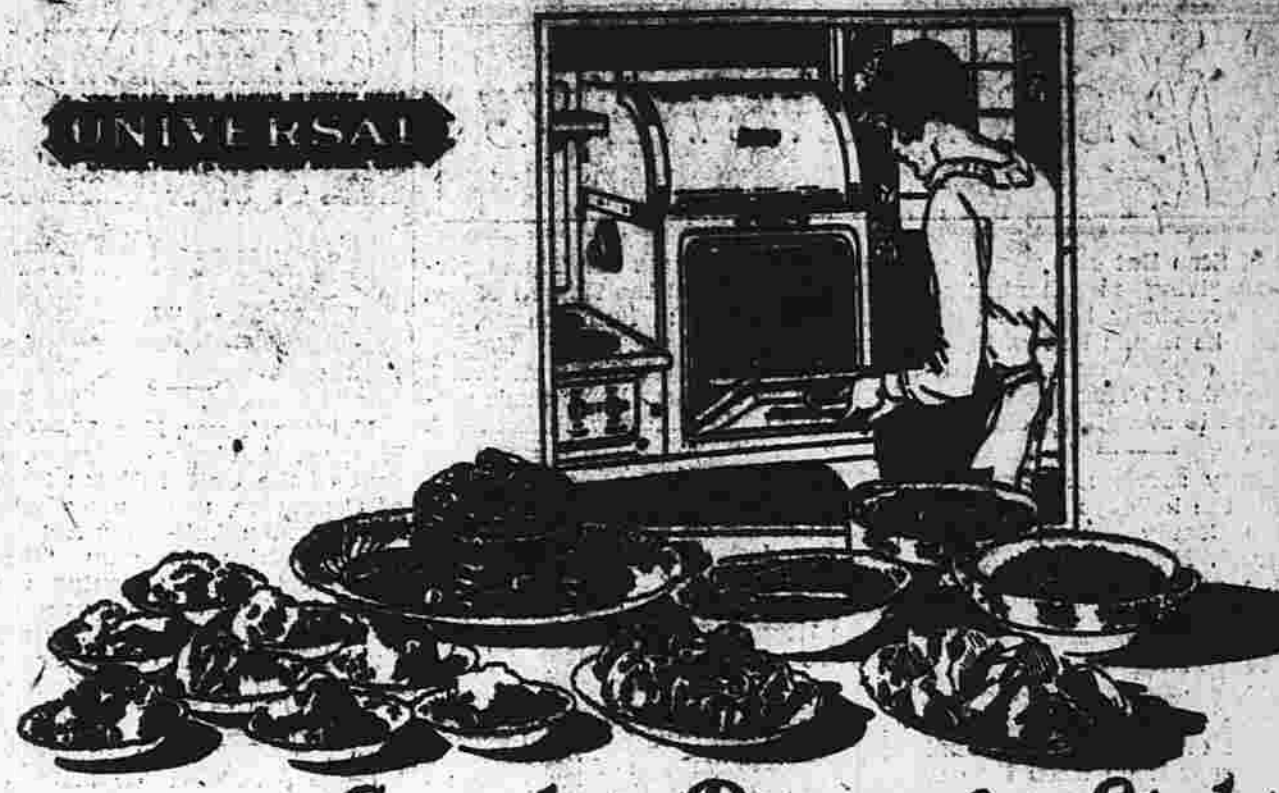

Just before the report of the shooting reached police, two men were arrested on charges of robbing him, and investigators were attempting to link the loss with his death. He is known to have lost a stop watch, valued at $175.

Midgeley formerly managed the stable of Dr. J. Fred Adams, of Catonsville, Md., and last summer was at the New York tracks training for C. J. Eisenhardt, of Baltimore.

His license was revoked after a race in which Fortnum, an Eisenhardt entry, was sent to the post at Empire City in what was said to be an unfit racing condition.

Malaria is said to cause 2,000,000 deaths over the world every year.

HARRISON IS OPPOSED TO DEBT CANCELLATION

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Declaring himself "unalterably opposed" to any modification or cancellation of foreign war debts due the United States, Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat, today said in a statement that "Congress will not be bound by any commitments of the President, nor, in my opinion, will it modify its position in regard to these debt payments."

"If our foreign debtors feel that they must take another year on these interest and principal payments, then so far as I am concerned, they must take it on their own initiative with whatever discredit goes to a nation which fails to comply with its national obligations," he said.

Rapping the impending conference between President Hoover and President-Elect Roosevelt, Harrison asserted he was "opposed to the President and Congressional leaders binding the country through informal conferences," but said of Governor Roosevelt's acceptance of Mr. Hoover's invitation: "There was nothing else for the President-elect to do."

Asserting that Congress would not be bound by informal conferences, the senior Mississippi Senator declared that "if President Hoover feels that this government should take some affirmative action in view of the foreign debtors' request, then he should call into extraordinary session at once the Congress, to consider the question."

"There is nothing in this new situation that ought to alarm anyone. It has been inevitable for some time that foreign debtors would ask for an extension in interest and principle payments under terms of the debt agreement."

U. S. LIQUOR ON HAND

Washington, Nov. 16.—(AP)—On hand in the United States at present are 5,695,000 gallons of aged whiskey plus nearly five millions gallons of newly produced whiskey which will be available for bottling between the fall of 1933 and the spring of 1936.

Much of this represents whiskey being produced for medicinal purposes.

Brandy in bond in September of this year amounted to slightly more than one million gallons and wines in bonded wineries and store rooms last June 30 totalled 18,698,000 gallons.

Government officials said today that beer, produced for the cereal beverage trade but as yet unalcoholized, amounts to 25,000,000 barrels.

"Say! even if you never hit 50 you need an oil that can do 100!"

WHAT! you may say, "Me—a 30-mile-an-hour driver—need Gulf Supreme, that 100-mile-an-hour oil?"
Yes! Think a minute and you'll see why...
The faster an oil travels, the more punishment it gets. And the oil that is good at 100-miles-an-hour, is a better, safer oil at ANY speed!
It gives extra protection against wear. Extra protection against heat. Extra protection against costly lubrication troubles.
Gulf Supreme can take super-punishment! That is not just a claim. In two of the stiffest tests an oil could get, Gulf Supreme proved itself a "fighting oil"...

SHOPPING NEWS

All Out of Step But Jim. Thanksgiving is Thanksgiving for everybody but the turkey, and he thinks he has little cause for celebration.

All beauty services are specially priced for the holidays at only 50c at Anne's Beauty Parlor, 22 Williams street.

Unbeatable. Chocolates desserts are popular with almost everybody. The family usually whoops it up when they see a chocolate dessert coming.

Linens are always an acceptable gift for anyone. Steiger's in Hartford have a complete assortment of linens offered at really attractive prices.

Guests. Thanksgiving always means so much work for the hostess that we are hereby dropping a hint to those who sometimes forget that they might offer to set the table or even better, wash the dishes.

Fleats. New are sport skirts with a row of six inch pleats around the bottom of the skirt. Very fetching, they are.

An automatic heat control installed on your furnace by the W. G. Clancy Co. will give untold interest and will save coal—no waste from overheating or discomfort from uneven heat.

Centerpiece. For the dinner table centerpiece on Thanksgiving day, why not treat the family to real flowers? Many kinds are so inexpensive now, and last so long.

LIFTING 125 LB. BAG IS ONE P. O. JOB TEST. None of the Applicants Has Been Successful Thus Far; Job Includes Lifting Mail Bags.

Examination of applicants for the position as janitor of the new post office building at the Center has begun at the north end post office, and there is no requirement that is proving an obstacle to those interested in obtaining the job.

CATHOLIC CONFERENCE. Washington, Nov. 16—(AP)—Presided over by Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, dean of the American Catholic hierarchy, the first session of archbishops and bishops opened here today at Catholic University.

COUNTERFEIT BILLS. Bristol, Nov. 16—(AP)—Police today said several counterfeit $5 bills have been passed in Bristol, since this week. The bills, bearing a picture of Lincoln on one side and the Lincoln Memorial on the other, are imitations of notes of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Note these prices for Thanksgiving pastries from the Home Bakery, 34 Church street: Pumpkin pie, 25c and 35c; mince pie, 25c; English fruit cake, 40c and 75c; fruit bread, 15c and 25c.

Sooner, The Better. Did you know that silk stockings should never be left for the weekly laundry, but should be rinsed each day if possible?

The Cranberry. The cranberry, which has come to be an essential part of the Thanksgiving dinner, can be served in the form of a salad, if one wants a change from the usual cranberry sauce.

Can Speed Recovery. Given a declaration that public policy as to business and business practices includes their welfare, they can speed the recovery of the country.

"Somewhere someone wants your picture." Don't disappoint those who would like to have your picture at Christmas time.

Making It Popular. Even if the family isn't fond of the inevitable Friday fish, they'll like it lots better if it's served with Tartar sauce made this way.

Who can help but smack their lips over the prospect of a Crosse & Blackwell plum pudding at Thanksgiving dinner?

Frozen Honey. A nutritious refrigerator dessert is Frozen Honey Custard, as delicious as it sounds.

Who should be in charge of government authority for an agency of government to examine and approve or reject programs of trade procedure submitted to it by an industry seeking, by self-regulation, to set its house in order to assure the public that its intra-industry competition is 'on the level'?

URGES AMENDMENT OF ANTI-TRUST ACT

Head Of U. S. Chamber Of Commerce In Favor Of Legitimate Mergers.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Henry I. Harriman of Boston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, urged amendment of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act to permit industries to gain "through agreement those advantages they might lawfully obtain by the device of merger."

"That the public interest should include everyone but those who engage in industry is unthinkable. The country lives by its industries. x x x With reasonable opportunity to work together, they might have mitigated the depression. Denied that opportunity for the future, that may have no recourse to renew the era of mergers and combinations that followed earlier depression and gave rise to problems which the country, in public interest, should be spared.

Given a declaration that public policy as to business and business practices includes their welfare, they can speed the recovery of the country— and give us a strength with which we may aid other countries in rehabilitation.

"To set this situation to rights nothing elaborate is needed. The form is simple. It is this: Amend the Sherman Act to treat as enterprises in competition in interstate commerce a right to obtain through agreement those advantages in dealing with their production, their markets and their prices which might lawfully obtain by the device of merger.

"Provision to these ends could and should be simple. And party to such an agreement should be permitted to file with an agency of the government, after giving notice to the attorney general. If the attorney general found fault with it, he could begin immediate proceedings before the Federal agency: everybody in interest could be heard, and a decision reached, say, within 60 days, as to its legality.

Mr. Harriman went on to say competition, at present, "connotes a survival of the fittest."

"Indeed," he added, "I believe I should add to the proposals I have already outlined suggestions for more protection against restrictive influences, whether exercised intentionally or unintentionally. It appears that legislation should be enacted defining as unfair and illegitimate, and therefore illegal competition, all acts and practices, which, if adopted in an industry as a whole, or a major part thereof, would demoralize markets, interrupt continuity of operation and thereby seriously imperil employment.

She was assisted by Mrs. Ida Woodhouse, Mrs. Agnes Hoss, Mrs. Gertrude Baunell, Mrs. Anna Anderson, Mrs. Edna Keyling, Mrs. Ethel Quinn and Mrs. Lillian Foster.

GRAIN DEALERS OPPOSE ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT

An expensive project of doubtful value.

The first spokesman was Nesbit Grammer, president of the Eastern Grain Elevator Corporation and several steamship lines, who said promoters of the St. Lawrence project had misrepresented the possible saving in freight costs. "The water project," Grammer said, "is a costly and speculative proposition. It is impossible to see how it could result in any material saving in the total cost of transportation from the head of the lakes to the seaboard by the construction of the St. Lawrence shipway," Grammer said.

"The sole effect will be to permit entrance in the ports on the Great Lakes of moderate sized foreign tramp ships which can only create competition with the lake ships and the present transportation system."

Grammer contended that only a small part of United States wheat would be available for export. The surplus of the Great Lakes while 300,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat would be able to use the waterway. A brief prepared by Samuel D. Botzford, executive vice-president of the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce, said the treaty would "lead to the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars upon a project the economic value of which is wholly speculative and conjectural."

The Chamber contended that the project would cost $99,000,000, and that there is no present market for the power which would be produced.

MINERS FIGHT

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A mine engineer was shot through the shoulder and a number of others were reported beaten in a clash between miners reporting for work at the Cora mine of the Peabody Coal Company today and pickets of Progressive miners.

State highway police under Chief Walter L. Chamberlain and sheriff's deputies restored order. The man shot was Christ Roberts of Springfield. He was taken to St. John's hospital where attaches said the wound was not serious.

The Cora mine was opened yesterday, the first to attempt to operate in the Springfield area with miners of the United Mine Workers Union since the start of hostilities in the Illinois coal field war. About 200 Progressive pickets were reported to have escorted the diggers.

ANNUAL BOOK WEEK IS OBSERVED HERE

Annual Book Week is being observed this week for the fourteenth consecutive year at the Manchester public libraries. The week is a permanent place for itself on the educational calendar.

Throughout the country parents, teachers and children recognize in book week an opportunity to discover new pleasures and new rewards which come from reading and owning books. Boys and girls today are fortunate in the wide variety and fine quality of books offered them. Some of the best writing, illustrating and book-making is now directed to the production of juvenile books. New titles reflect the wide range of interests of modern children, and old favorites are reappearing in attractive new editions. Present day educators realize the great importance of cultivating in young people the habit of reading as a definite contribution to happiness as they grow up.

BROKER'S BODY FOUND

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A. J. Arrowmuth, missing East Orange stock broker, was found shot to death today in a patch of heavy underbrush a little over a mile from the spot where he disappeared Sunday.

Behind his body a 28-caliber revolver was found. Only one shell had been fired. State police reported that the broker had apparently committed suicide, firing the gun into his mouth.

Richard Loe, a volunteer in the search found the body in the timber brook section of the Newark watershed area, which is in Passaic County.

Arrowmuth, who was 45 years old, was president of the R. J. Arrowmuth, Inc. brokerage firm, of East Orange. His residence was in Glen Ridge.

Prior to the stock market collapse in 1929, Arrowmuth was rated as one of the most active brokers in suburban Essex county. Following the crash, however, Arrowmuth had been in court frequently in litigations arising out of financial difficulties.

His brokerage firm was placed in receivership November 29, 1932. Receivership was later dissolved, but a long series of suits against the broker followed. He was married and is survived by his wife and three young sons.

GRANTED NEW TRIAL

New Haven, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Charles Engle, who was granted a new trial by the Supreme Court of Errors yesterday after being convicted of assault and attempt to kill his brother-in-law, will be brought into Superior Court at the January term. State Attorney Samuel E. Hoyt said today.

Engle was convicted last January of having shot Detective James F. Currier and John J. Hoyle 18 years earlier, when they sought to arrest him for Chicago authorities. He escaped at that time but was found later in San Quentin prison in California.

Engle contended by though the pair intended to rob him and said they did not identify themselves. The high court held there was error in the judge's instructions in Superior Court in that the detectives had a warrant for his arrest. He was sentenced to from 14 to 40 years.

Denver, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Stan C. Schuyler, Republican, had a lead of 807 over Walter Walker, Democrat, today in the compilation of absentee votes and revision of unofficial returns in the race for the congressional seat in the late Wyoming election. Charles W. Waterman, another Republican, had been reported from 11 of the 69 counties in Colorado.

LEWIS N. HEEBNER DIES; ILL 3 MONTHS

General Manager of Manchester Electric Co. Passes Away This Afternoon.

Lewis N. Heebner, general manager of the Manchester Electric Co., died at 3:30 this afternoon after a long illness with heart disease. He has not been active with the Manchester Electric Company for the past three months. He visited at the local offices three weeks ago, but has been confined to his bed since that time.

Lewis N. Heebner, whose name is synonymous with the electrification of Manchester was born in Lee, Mass.

While in school, the science of electricity and its uses was much of a novelty, but the Lee schoolboy visioned an extensive development in the future years. He left his home town and entered the employ of White & Barlett in New York City.

In 1897 Mr. Heebner was appointed one of five men who organized the first Morse and Ladder Company No. 1, and laid out a telegraph alarm system and personally supervised the installation of the General alarm system, one of the 36-hole mid-south open pole lines. He was the first foreman of Morse and Ladder Company No. 1 when organized in 1897 and was advanced to captain and superintendent of the Fire Alarm Telegraph System of the South Manchester Fire District. He has held these offices ever since.

Mr. Heebner was married in September 1889 to Elizabeth R. McCaw of this town. One daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Heebner, Mrs. E. L. Sunkin of Newton Highlands, Mass., who survives. The deceased was Fast Noble Grand of King David Lodge, No. 31, I. O. O. F., a member of Shepherd Encampment, the Eastern Star, Sunset Lodge of Rebekahs, Modern Woodmen of America and is a member of Manchester Lodge No. 71, A. F. & M. He was also a member of the Western New England Association of Electrical Inspectors and served one term as its president and a term on the board of directors.

Few men have devoted themselves so wholeheartedly to the interests of his friends and associates. Always of a sunny disposition, ever willing to listen to the story of those in trouble, he never missed an opportunity to befriend those whom he knew to be deserving of assistance. Manchester has lost one of its greatest friends and benefactors in the passing of Lewis N. Heebner.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow at the funeral home of Robert J. Conroy, 105 North Main street.

Interment will be in the Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

The deceased was a member of the Manchester Electric Co. since its organization in 1888.

He was a member of the First Plant Here.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING TO BE RAISED 33 P. C.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 6.—(AP)—More than $300,000,000 an increase of about 33 per cent is expected to be spent in advertising during 1933, according to a study of business conditions released through Lee H. Bristol, of New York, president of the Association of National Advertisers at the opening session of its 33rd annual meeting here today.

The results of the business survey released by Mr. Bristol showed that over one-half the reporting companies of the association have increased total sales volumes in 1932 during the past three months: 44 per cent reported a decrease and about 10 per cent that the sales volume had remained the same. The median of the increase in sales was approximately 25 per cent.

At the comparison was between the three months of August, September and October against the three months of May, June and July, it is noted that about one-half of the companies reporting an increase attributed it to seasonal influence and about 20 per cent of the other half of those reporting an increase, stated it was due to improved conditions in their particular trade.

The survey also showed that 30 per cent of the reporting companies plan to increase their appropriations over those of 1932; 25 per cent expect to spend the same amount and 25 per cent plan to decrease. Member manufacturers of drug and toilet articles plan a large increase in appropriations in 1933 as in 1932. In the food and grocery classification, about 55 per cent plan to increase; 20 per cent to decrease, and 20 per cent to repeat the same appropriation.

PINEBURST TOURNAMENT

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—With virtually the entire field reported, Henry Picard, young Charleston pro, and Denny Sauts, the Columbus, Ohio, crack, were setting the pace at the halfway mark of the 36-hole mid-south open golf tournament today with 18-hole scores of 6 each, two under par.

Eric Ball, youthful Atlanta, was one stroke behind the leaders. Mike Turnesa, the defending champion, had a 79 at the midway mark.

The first electrical plant was constructed in 1888 at a mill engine room on Forest street and Mr. Heebner, alone at first took care of the entire system and attended to all trouble in the lighting system in the mills. Later, as the system was enlarged, his work increased.

In 1897 Mr. Heebner was appointed one of five men who organized the first Morse and Ladder Company No. 1, and laid out a telegraph alarm system and personally supervised the installation of the General alarm system, one of the 36-hole mid-south open pole lines. ### TO COMMAND MACON

Washington, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Commander Alger E. Dressel, now in charge of the Airship Akron, today was ordered by the Navy Department to command the Airship Macdonald, now under construction at Akron, Ohio.

At the same time, the department assigned Commander Frank C. McCord, now attached to the Akron, to take charge of her when Dressel relinquishes the post next January 1.

The Macdonald is expected to be ready for her trials about March 1.

Dressel was born in Annapolis 45 years ago and was awarded a Navy Cross during the World War.

McCord, 49 years old, is a native of Vincennes, Indiana. He has been attached to the Akron since June, 1932.

DRIVER EXONERATED

New Haven, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Thomas J. Kallisher driver of the car which turned over October 15 with fatal injuries to John J. Gibney of Hamden was absolved of criminal responsibility today by Coroner Cortigan. Kallisher said he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car.

The accident happened on the Short Beach road in East Haven, where it was reported that the car was struck by a truck.

OPEN FORUM

Editor The Herald: It is with profound regret that we witness the passing of our beloved friend and associate, Lewis N. Heebner. Having had the pleasure of association with him, we have learned to appreciate his sterling character and to admire his fortitude with which he endured his great affliction. No here his soul as only those who were acquainted with him at some time will be restored to complete health.

Few reasons beyond our humble power to perceive. God, in his infinite wisdom, has removed a noble soul from among us. We deeply mourn his passing.

"God asked him back to his home. Where love is clear as his eyes. And hope is strong and honest true. And courage never dies."

So far away from us now He lives and laughs and is free In the hope that we'll go on to live Our lives as he'd like them to be.

SEN. BINGHAM WOULD TAX ALL RECEIPTED BILLS

Washington, Nov. 16.—(AP)—A tax on all receipted bills was suggested today by Senator Bingham (R., Conn.) as a means of raising additional revenue and preventing avoidance of the levy on bank checks.

Bingham said a receipt tax would more than double present revenues from the check law and permit exemption of food and clothing from a sales tax, if one is passed.

"The use of receipts by banks has caused a tremendous loss in expected revenue from the check law," he said. "At the present time the tax on checks is bringing in less than $4,000,000 a month compared with an estimated $10,000,000."

A two cent tax on receipts in England and France, he added has proved an effective means of raising revenue.

He said he would retain the check tax to prevent avoidance of the receipts levy and since the courts have held a cancelled check is equivalent to a receipt, double taxation would not occur on such transactions.

SENT TO REFORMATORY

CAPONE PETITION HEARD BY COURT

Federal Judge Takes Under Adjudication Motion Made By Attorneys.

Atlanta, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Federal Judge H. Clayton Underwood today took under adjudication the motion of government counsel to direct Mrs. A. J. Capone's writ of habeas corpus to obtain his release from the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary.

Judge Underwood gave attorneys for both sides two weeks in which to file briefs setting forth their contentions.

Throughout the morning and into the afternoon, counsel for the Chicago gangster and the Federal government argued technical points in a court room and in the corridors, including the claim that he illegally imprisoned under the statute of limitations.

After the judge announced his action, the spectators in the small court room remained seated while Capone was removed to a witness room across the corridor. He remained there until the court room and corridors were cleared.

He was then taken to an automobile for the trip back to the penitentiary which he left almost two hours before the hearing started in order to avoid crowds.

Capone was sealed between two of his attorneys throughout the lengthy arguments with Warden A. C. Derholt of the penitentiary seat directly behind him. A number of deputy marshals were in the court room and in others outside to keep the corridors cleared.

Hai Lindsay, assistant district attorney, attached to the Federal Court here, presenting the government's contention, said the Capone case was not one for habeas

Week-End MURDER

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

YOUR CHILDREN

BEGIN HERE TODAY The story opens with a prologue in which a murder is committed by a household maid. Later she boards a train for Long Island, thinking of the pleasant week-end he is to have there. The name of the murderer is not disclosed.

Linda's face went white under her tan. She said, "How terrible! I forgot all this afternoon that it was one of those men!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Driving to the Country Club that afternoon, Tom reflected that there had been no trouble for at least three hours. The dip had done them all good—cooled them off and relaxed the tension. It was evident that Cousin Amos had been unaware of any cause for his existence. Statlander had appeared just as luncheon was announced, having changed to a business suit and apparently shed his temper with his golf clothes.

cooling punch with dangerous and illegal intoxicants. "The Belgian laughed lightly. "To the ladies—to the ladies!" Cousin Amos grew beet red, and Linda started forward anxiously. But there were others between her and the angry old man, balancing pompously on his toes, and before she could reach him he spoke.

"You will not, sir, while I am present, presume to suggest that my hostess would supply or that Mrs. Averill and her guests would accept the type of beverage with which you—and perhaps the ladies of your acquaintance—are probably all too familiar. The suggestion is, I repeat, an insult and your apology is called for at once. Your remark was unworthy of a gentleman."

Hushed surprise fairly quivered in the air. No one had any idea of the depths of Cousin Amos' innocence. As Linda tried desperately to think of some way to smooth over his deliberate affront to the Belgian, Tom stepped forward, hastily starting to speak. But the words never came for Cousin Amos suddenly bethought himself of an even stronger climax and added with dogmatic finality:

"Even one who is a foreigner and indifferent to the pollution of body and mind which indulgence in alcoholic drink inevitably brings! Yes, I repeat, you have insulted the ladies of the party and I am waiting for your apology—and your withdrawal."

Instantly Tom had stepped between the two men, facing and close to the Belgian. Linda, he felt, could suspect that the state of affairs, helped him to a fourth glass with a jovial reference to Bacchus and the vine.

"Your remarks are ill-chosen, sir. I take them very much amiss!" Cousin Amos drew himself up with sudden and intense dignity. "Never in my life—and I am an older man, sir, than you might suppose—have I indulged in spirituous liquor. It is an insult to the ladies present to class this Hand-kissing is back in style again; this winter's costumes and customs growing more Victorian every minute. Are your hands lovely enough for you to have only pride and lift them to kiss cheeks?

There are many little tricks you can use to help make your hands more beautiful. If your hands are rangy, watch your sleeve line. Never, never buy any dress that has those three-quarter sleeves that let your wrists dangle.

I must, regretfully, refuse your further hospitality and leave your delightful home—at once. You will understand my position. I cannot remain.

"Oh, come, Mr. DeVos!" It was Pratt's rather heavy-headedness that interrupted—and Tom felt the other voice under the jovial boom. "You can't let Mrs. Averill down that way. She has planned to entertain us all. After all, I understand that Mr. Peabody came unexpectedly and was not of the original party—just that right, Averill!"

"Quite so," Tom made his decision. Older man, relative though he was, the one to leave must be the elderly trouble-maker, not this invited guest. "Mr. Pratt is quite right, Mr. Peabody, being a relative, dropped in on the chance that we could put him up. After what has happened he will not want to stay. We were delighted to have you as our guest and I also feel responsibility to the firm. We've both wanted you to enjoy your stay especially and we'll feel we've failed completely if you leave us because of this unpleasant incident. Please reconsider, DeVos. I can assure you that you need have no further contact with Mr. Peabody."

"I'm dining home with the decidedly subdued party (Linda had gone ahead with the still dazed Cousin Amos) Tom wondered in agonized uncertainty what she would say, whether he had done the right thing, and how they would manage to get rid of the older man.

Waiting in their room for Linda—Rose had given him her message that he couldn't help it. He can't either, in his way, poor old man. But you're responsible for this party and after that scene there's nothing else to do. But not tonight—no, honestly! He won't come down to dinner. He's feeling quite wretched, poor thing! She smiled a little.

"I suppose he exaggerates his misery just as he does his good health." "Exactly. Feels he can have proper care and attention only where his difficult case is understood. Frankly, I think his case is out of joint, even aside from the quarrel. He's used to being an oracle and the center of every family group and we just haven't had time to let him know properly. It was partly that feeling that made him assert himself so violently. But he says he can't help it."

"Well, if he keeps to his room and gets easy enough—" "He will, darling. I promise! He won't appear this evening at all and tomorrow morning every one else will be sleeping late after the dance tonight. We can get him off without his seeing anyone—poor old thing!"

"Yes, I have to bundle him off that way. But, she suggested it herself it certainly makes it easier for you. You are a speech, Binks." "Poor darling!" She kissed his hot forehead. "Don't worry so, lamb! It'll be a lovely party; just as we planned after he's gone." "You forgot Binky!"

"Linda's face went white under her tan—partly because in the savagery of her tone, partly because in her desire to cheer his depression she actually had forgotten this, unexplained curative." "Tom—did I say terrible! And I forgot—I forgot all this afternoon that it was one of those men! Their eyes met."

"Have you decided which one?" she asked.

A BOOK A DAY

TELLS OF CRIME AND CRIMINALS IN THE OLD DAYS

"The Newgate Calendar," Believed to be Mine of Material for Mystery Writers Maybe there's something a trifle ghoulish about the current eagerness to read of old-time murders, executions and criminal trials; but a lot of people (including this reviewer) seem to like that sort of thing, and you're one of that number who can't hardly do better than get the new edition of "The Newgate Calendar," which Putnam's is issuing at $2.50.

Several things are apt to occur to you as you read the book. First, you will be struck by the enormous mine of material that lies here ready for the writer of modern mystery stories. There are many ways of committing murder, but practically all of them seem to be covered in this book.

Secondly, you can't help being impressed by the seeming callousness, not to say downright blood-thirstiness, of our ancestors. Hangings, drawing-and-quarterings, burnings, whippings—any one of these were commonplace not so long ago; and the criminals of the old days, in some cases, make a Chicago gorilla look meek and mild by comparison.

Best of all, perhaps, is the lofty moral tone in which the book is written. In an age that takes its crimes straight, it is refreshing to find a writer to whom all crimes are "horrid" and all criminals "infamous."

New Jersey Stars Enter Thanksgiving Day Race

Irish-American Team Has Host of Champions In Lineup; Thrilling Battle Expected In Local Run.

With the sixth annual Thanksgiving Day cross country race, sponsored by the Recreation Center, little more than a week away, entries are beginning to arrive for the event, the latest being that of the Irish-American A. C. of Newark, N. J. This team should prove one of the outstanding favorites to capture the team trophy, as its lineup includes many running stars. Team of Stars
The team is headed by John Noch, who only last week captured the New Jersey junior cross country championship, winning in 21:46, over a field of fifty barriers. A teammate, Bob Campbell, placed second, two seconds behind Noch. The Irish-Americans took the team honors with a score of 35. Larry Coo of the club placed fifth, and James D'Allesio, another member, placed sixth. The team will also include Dick Ench, junior three mile champ, and Mel Porter, senior national six mile champion, and New Jersey 10-mile and senior cross country title holder.
The Irish-Americans are coached by Dick Hudson. D'Allesio captured the annual five mile handicap in New Jersey on Armistice Day, from a field that included Paul DeBruyn, German marathon champion.
McCuskey entered the Irish-American Wednesday night, Frank Busch, Recreation Center director, has made arrangements to take care of the team overnight. Other entries are expected from the Hope A. C. of Westbury, L. I., the "DeWitt" A. C. of Norwich, and many others.
The Irish-American runners will undoubtedly give Joe McCuskey, Olympic steeplechaser, who has won the local event for two consecutive years, a hard battle to retain his honors.

Recreation Center Items of Interest

The Rec team held a drill last night from 7 to 8 and they are rounding into wonderful condition and teamwork. It can be said that this squad shapes up as one of the best that has ever been out of the team. Another practice will be held tomorrow night from 7 to 8 o'clock.

The apparatus class will hold its session from 8:00 to 9:30 tomorrow night and will be assisted by such capable instructors as Harold Hefron, and Frank Hollister anyone who is interested whether they are new or old at such work has a wonderful opportunity of advancing under their tutelage.

It has been necessary to change the schedule of the Recreation Centers Volley-Ball and Basketball leagues. Officials of the league have decided on a plan which appears to be satisfactory to all concerned. The Basketball League which originally was to start Thursday evening has been changed to Monday evening.

The Volley Ball league which has been operated on Monday evenings has been changed to Wednesday and Friday evenings. There will be one game on Thursday night and one on Friday night with play starting promptly at 6 o'clock. There will be no games this week and next week on account of Thanksgiving the games will be played on Wednesday.

Next Wednesday at 6 p. m. the Wildcats will meet the Lions and Friday night at 8 p. m. the Tigers meet the Leopards. There will be no basketball games this week but Monday night will bring the Emeralds and Kaceys together at 7 p. m. with the Endees and Dixies meeting in the second game.
Any further information concerning the leagues or the changes may be had by dialing 8421 Thursday evening.

The Saturday night league for the East Side which will start either Saturday, Nov. 26, or Dec. 3, with the closing of the list for teams to enter this week or Nov. 19. Three teams have already entered. It may only be possible to have four teams in this league, so if you are planning to get into this Basketball league do so now. The following teams have entered, Heights Basketball Team, Herald Newsboy Fire and the Celtics. The Junior league that will be played on the west side will get under way Nov. 26, or Dec. 3.

Girls basketball practice will be held tonight at the East Side Recreation Building, all players are requested to be present at 8 o'clock. The second game of the inter-church girls basketball league will be played this evening at the west side Recreation Building.

Last Night's Fights

Emid, Okla.—Dude McCook, Emid, knocked out Terry Riley, Omaha, 2.
Los Angeles—Spesky Dodo, Philippines, outpointed Babyface Casanova, Mexico City, 10.
Milwaukee, Wis.—Johnny Datto, Manila, stopped Francisco Chast, Milwaukee, 4.

RED MEN HOPE TO END TOWN SERIES WITH WIN SUNDAY

Eagles Will Make Determined Stand At Hickey's Grove; Game To Start At 2:15 O'Clock.

The Red Men A. C. will enter the second game of the town title series next Sunday determined to capture the town championship with two successive victories. The 7 to 0 victory last week has made the Red Men favorites to accomplish this feat when they tackle the Eagles on the latter's home field, Hickey's Grove, at 2:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Both teams will start practically the same lineups which they used in the opener, with probably only one or two changes. The starting eleven seemed to contain the strongest players of both teams and the closeness of the first game indicates that the Eagles have a good chance of stretching the series into at least three games.

The Eagles lineup Sunday will probably be as follows: McCarthy, Vince, ends; Tuminski, Kovin, tackles; Krupits and J. Mitchell, guards; Olaszavag, center; Bolton, quarterback; Mosko and Copeland, halfbacks; and Slaga, fullback. Lippincott may replace Mitchell in the line.

The Red Men will start Squattro and Salmons at ends; Harrison and Spencer, tackles; Conroy and Purdy, guards; Pantore, center; Groman, Hanson, quarterback; Mantell and Farr, halfbacks; and Driand, fullback. The officials will be the same as last week.

PRO ELEVEN SEEKS GAME AT FORDHAM

Desires To Prove Difference Between Types Of Football.

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Tim Mara is ready to give Hiker Joy, assistant coach at Fordham, a chance to prove his assertion college football is superior to the professional brand.
Mara, owner of the New York Giants of the National Professional League, has offered to match his team against Fordham on any suitable date, the entire proceeds of the game to be turned over to the Mayor's fund for the relief of the unemployed.
Joy, who played pro football for some years after his graduation from Holy Cross, was quoted as saying a good college eleven would "run those pros ragged."

It may be open to debate just how much of it has been fostered by the new rules, but I have not known a football season since 1925 in which more and longer forward passing has been so conspicuous.
Passing offenses such as Southern California, Michigan, Colgate, Pittsburgh, Auburn, Columbia, Purdue and other powerful teams have generated this year surpass anything since that colorful season when Princeton and Dartmouth, with Swede Oberlander starring for the Indians, filled the air with footballs and the enemy with consternation.
Possibly coaches have concentrated more upon the development of aerial attacks because of the ease of the new dead ball rule upon running attacks. Ground no longer can be gained through the line or around the wings by the type of ball-carrier who would still be moving forward after being knocked off his feet or temporarily tripped under the new rules, the runner is stopped, whether he is tackled, knocked down or stumbled.

Consequently the percentage of possible gain, with a pass, is increased in proportion to the loss in potential running advance.
The big gamble is still there, in any kind of an aerial offense, but an increasing number of big teams have shown ability to pull a "touch-down pass" out of the bag.
Taking, for example, just the few engagements I have happened to witness since the world series:
1. Chicago tied Yale with a spectacular 46-yard pass, Zimmer to Sahlin.
2. Pittsburgh whipped Army with the aid of two 40-yard heaves by Heller to Skidaway.
3. Colgate started New York University's downfall with a 56-yard passing play, Ask to Fritta.
4. Columbia's 27-yard touchdown against Cornell was on a 46-yard toss from Montgomery to Matul.
Meanwhile, of course, Southern California's passes upset Stanford, Michigan's aerial attack has raised havoc and Captain Jimmy Hitchcock of Auburn has been pitching pass ones for touchdowns in Dixie. A Hitchcock-Rogers passing play, covering something like 76 yards altogether, not only saved Auburn from being stopped by Ole Miss but took rank as one of the longest scoring plays of its kind registered this season.

According to Statistician Parkes H. Davis, there were eight scoring runs of 35 yards or better from kickoff during October football campaigning on the college gridiron. The runner, his college and the distance are noted herewith:
Gibb, Nebraska Wesleyan, 107; Brozman, Loyola of Los Angeles, 102; Casey, Virginia Poly, 98; McClure, Colorado College, 96; Pescosolido, Harvard, 88; Hosok, Pennsylvania State, 83; Jones, Gettysburg, 85; Clem, Boston University, 84.

The late Knute Rockne, immortal coach of Notre Dame, had an uncanny ability of instilling confidence into his men by allowing them to work their way out of a tight spot without his advice.
But if it seemed that nothing short of advice from the coach's bench could save a game, Rockne could be depended upon to send in a substitute with the desired information.
This last predicament faced the Ramblers in their 1925 Rose Bowl game against Stanford as the great Ernie Nevers, All-American fullback, ploughed through the Ramblers' line for gain after gain.
Jim Crowley, now coach at Michigan State College, was then one of the Four Horsemen.
"We couldn't stop Nevers that day," Crowley said. "A word crack through one side for five yards and then hit the other side for six more. We would pick ourselves off the ground and look over at the sidelines, hoping Rock would send in somebody to tell us what was wrong with our defense."
"Finally Nevers brought the ball down to the three yard line. Then our prayers were answered. Out from the sidelines dashed a big sophomore named McMullen, so excited that he forgot to breathe. He was taken and simply told the referee, 'I'm for Notre Dame.'"
"But we knew he was bringing in formation from Rock that would break up that one-man drive if it were possible to break it up."
"We held Nevers on the first play, called time out and huddled around McMullen to hear the news that would strengthen our defense."
"Stammering and stuttering, he finally gulped forth: 'B-boys, R-R-R-Rock said th-the trouble was—'
"Yes, go on, we yelled."
"He said th-the trouble was that you're no-no-not stopping th-th-that Nevers."
"And the funny part," Crowley ended, "good old McMullen threw Nevers for a loss on the next three yards and Stanford lost the ball on downs."

WHOOOPS, MY DEAR! Football Trend Toward Tights

Bob Dunlap, University of Oklahoma quarterback, and aren't those cute panties?

New York, Nov. 16.—They say that bustles are coming back, but the present trend of football costumes seems to run toward tights. Probably the classiest mode of the current grid fashions has been adopted by the University of Oklahoma. Out there where men are men they play their football in shorts, and the wide open spaces are between the knees and the ankles.
The Oklahoma uniform weighs only 7 1/2 pounds, which is about half as heavy as the average gridiron costume.
And it's not only cute but, according to its designer, Lewis Hardage, who coaches at Oklahoma, it gives the player an added advantage of freedom in movement. Oklahoma has been getting away with an unusually large number of forward passes this year.

Farther out in the direction where men are men, those Marauding Moragans of St. Mary's, offer one of the newest ideas in snappy wigs. Tackles, guards, center, halfbacks and full backs wear scarlet pants. The ends have blue pants and the quarterback goes to work all togged out in white silk plus fours.
It is a beautiful thing to watch, but eastern observers received an unfavorable impression of the scoring value of the pretty suits when St. Mary's was knocked off by Fordham.
Probably the most gorgeous of the eastern ensembles is presented by the Colgate team, with very nifty red jeans.

SUTHERLAND BELIEVES UNDEFEATED PITT AND AUBURN FACE BIG TEST

By DR. J. B. "JOCK" SUTHERLAND
Football Coach University of Pittsburgh.

Two unbeaten teams face formidable tests in their games of Nov. 19. Pitt on that day meets Carnegie Tech, and Auburn goes up against a determined Georgia eleven.
The big test of two other unbeaten teams, Brown and Colgate, will come on Thanksgiving Day at Providence, R. I.
Pitt goes into the Carnegie Tech game after a hard road trip and a hard game at Lincoln. Tech have rested three weeks for this game, having been idle Nov. 5 and having had an easy time of it against St. Xavier's last Saturday. This game is often an upset, and while I expect Pitt to win, the score probably will be close.
Other predictions:
AUBURN vs. GEORGIA: I think undefeated Auburn has the edge.
SYRACUSE vs. COLUMBIA: The one-point defeat at the hands of Brown will give Columbia an impetus in this game that Syracuse will not be able to overcome.
OREGON STATE vs. FORDHAM: This should be a close game, but I like Oregon State.
HARVARD vs. YALE: Based largely on the growing each team against Army, it is my guess that Yale will win.
NOTRE DAME vs. NAVY: Do you pick Navy?

CALIFORNIA vs. STANFORD: Stanford probably will come up for this game in good form and should win.
MONTANA vs. U. C. L. A.: It looks like a fairly easy game for U. C. L. A.
FLORIDA vs. GEORGIA TECH: Though Tech has been spotty this year, I expect Bill Alexander's team to score a victory over Florida.
TULANE vs. SEWANEEN: Tulane ought to have this game pretty well in hand throughout.
DUKE vs. NORTH CAROLINA: Duke has given indications this year of becoming a rising power under Wallace Wade's coaching. I pick Duke.

ARKANSAS vs. TEXAS: Texas has too much power for the Razorbacks.
TEXAS CHRISTIAN vs. RICE: This is likely to be a hard game, with Texas Christian coming out ahead after receiving a bye week.
TEXAS TECH vs. NEW MEXICO: Texas Tech seems to have enough to win.
ARIZONA vs. SAN DIEGO: Arizona.
NEBRASKA vs. OKLAHOMA: You saw what Nebraska did to us last week? Then you must know how I would guess this one.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—The winning toe of Johnny Baker kicked the field goal that gave Notre Dame its first defeat, making the score 16 for Southern California in the last minute of play, to 14 for the Irish. Albie Booth kicked a field goal, and Yale won from Harvard 3-0.

Five Years Ago Today—Albie Booth, U. S. basketball-winner, and Robert Kella of Belgium laughed at superstition, and signed for a 13-round bout to be held in Paris.
Ten Years Ago Today—Charley Faddock, sensational Los Angeles sprinter, was forced to submit his records to the scrutiny of the Amateur Athletic Union before that organization would recognize them as official.

SWITZERLAND
"What did you give for that auto?"
"Nothing. I took it for a debt—a fellow owed me $300."
"How do you stand much chance of getting the other $100?"—Answer.

M. H. S. BOOTERS END SEASON WITH VICTORY OVER WEAVER

How Tide Has Changed In Fortune Of Football

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—There may be unseater heads than those which wear the football crowns but at the moment none readily comes to mind. With the season now approaching a climatic stage, four of last year's sectional titleholders already have been beaten off and two others which shared the 1933 championship in their own backyards also have been eliminated.
The following table of 1931 champions and the 1932 leaders on the basis of results so far will show how the tide of fortune has changed.

1931 Champion	1932 Leader
District	Fitz-Bucknell
East (best record)	Michigan-Northwestern-Purdue

COMPANY G FORMS BASKETBALL TEAM

Runner-Up For State National Guard Title Expects Good Season.

Company G of the local National Guard, which last year was runner-up for the state National Guard basketball championship, will have another fast quietest this season, according to latest reports. Five veterans of last year's team are on the roster again this season.
They are: "Whitey" Byncholsky, Tony Salmons, "Gop" Keas, Terry McGann, Sully Salmons. The new members are Pat Stora, formerly with the Connecticut Aggies; Sasieta, Getsevich and Willie Vince. Teams desiring games should get in touch with Arthur McGann at the State Armory.

BUSH NEEDS WARMING UP TO MAKE POINTS

Amherst, Mass., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Lou Bush, Massachusetts State halfback and the nation's leading scorer, needs plenty of warming up to get to the touchdown point.
Here is what he goes through before donning his mole skins on Saturday. A one-hour ride on horse back, followed immediately by a two-hour walk. The riding is a part of State's military training program and his geology field class makes the walking compulsory.
The little brilliant halfback now leads the field with a grand total of 114 points. The result of 19 touchdowns in eight games. He has hopes of boosting this impressive total in Saturday's fray against Tufts at Medford. A year ago Bush was edged out of the scoring honors by Campiglio of West Liberty.

NOTRE DAME MEETS NAVY ON SATURDAY

Fordham Plays Oregon State In Other Intersectional Game In East.

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Eastern fans who like their football flavored with the spice of intersectional combat will divide their interest this week between the Cleveland stadium and New York's Polo Grounds. At Cleveland an up and coming Navy eleven will face the Notre Dame Ramblers. In the Polo Grounds, Paul Schissler's Oregon State outfit faces Fordham.
Navy, despite the vast improvement it has shown in its last two games will be conceded little chance against Notre Dame. Fordham has come back nicely since suffering successive defeats by Michigan State and Boston College. Fordham already holds one decision over the far west this season, whipping St. Mary's highly touted Gals in decisive fashion. On the basis of that victory they should win fairly easily from Oregon State which has suffered four defeats so far, by Stanford, Southern Calif., and Oregon.

BOWLING

K. of P. League
The Knights of Pythias bowling league opened at Murphy's alleys last night, with a practice match between Team No. 1 and Team No. 2. The league will have four teams in all and will start officially next Tuesday night.
John Wennengren and C. Hultgren hit 633 and 836 respectively for Team No. 1, while Ed Berggren hit 317 for Team No. 2. "Pop" Johnson, anchor man for Team No. 2 was off form, hitting but 297.

YALE WILL RESORT TO AERIAL ATTACK

Forward Passes Stressed In Workouts For Harvard Tilt Saturday.

New Haven, Nov. 16.—(AP)—A secret workout was scheduled today for the Yale football squad as it neared the end of its training for Harvard, it's final foe of the season. With the squad at top strength, Coach Mal Stevens was expected to refrain from scrimmaging his charges in order that the chances for injury might be minimized.
The workout during the week the Elis will resort frequently to forward passes. Stevens went into the backfield yesterday during an aerial drill to show the Elis backs new passes should be tossed. The Elis have some time for perfecting their defense against Harvard formations. Andy Callan replaced Joe Crowley at right halfback during the workout.

MANCHESTER HIGH SOCCER TEAM CLOSED A MOST SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Victory Over Hartford At Charter Oak Street Field, 2 to 1, Thus Averaging The Only Defeat The Local Eleven Has Suffered This Year In Twelve Starts. Weaver Toured Manchester Earlier In The Season, 4 to 0.

Manchester High's soccer team closed a most successful season yesterday afternoon in an auspicious manner, by defeating Weaver High of Hartford at the Charter Oak street field, 2 to 1, thus averaging the only defeat the local eleven has suffered this year in twelve starts. Weaver toured Manchester earlier in the season, 4 to 0.
Hard Fought Game
The game was close throughout and was bitterly contested. Both teams pressed hard from start to finish and made numerous threats to score. However, tight defensive work offset this, until Manchester drew first blood in the waning minutes of the first period when Joe Desimone lofted a beautiful kick into the goal.
Weaver came back fighting and their efforts netted them a goal in the second quarter to tie the score. Kaplan centered the ball to the front of the goal. Emrico, local goalie, went out to clear but miss kicked and Goldenblatt drove home the goal.
Locals Take Lead
Both teams entered the second half bent on victory, and for a while Weaver had the best of it, pressing the attack to Manchester territory. But good work by Hillman and Donahue rendered the visitors helpless. Manchester took up the attack and carried it into Weaver's territory, where, after a scrimmage, they were awarded a corner kick. Billy Gray lofted the ball to the front of the goal, Kennedy headed it over to Scott and Scott sent the fans to cheering with a nice kick into the corner of the goal.
In the last quarter, Weaver made desperate attempts to tie the score, but all went for naught as they could not penetrate Manchester's defense. The game ended with the ball at midfield.
Given Free Try
In the first quarter, Weaver was given a chance to score, when they were awarded a penalty kick, but Goelle "Galop" Emrico made a nice save. The victory gave Manchester a record of ten wins, 1 defeat and one tie for the season. The tie was with Gladstoneburg and was later avenged when the Red and Whites hung up a decisive triumph. The team also captured the C. C. I. L. title, with victories over Middletown, Bristol and East Hartford. Manchester (3) Weaver (1) Emrico (1) Goal
Donahue (1) Right Forward
Hillman (1) Left Forward
Weir (1) Right Half
Rooney (1) Center
Gray (1) Outside Right
J. Desimone (1) Verengia

BACK TO NATURE

Conlsborough, Eng.—In search of a simple life, Elsie May Marriott, an attractive 17-year-old girl and Jesse Dunning, 20, are thought to be living at Conlsborough Crags, a rough and rocky place near the village. The girl has been seen washing in a spring and the remains of a fire have been discovered in an old lime kiln.

Punts—Passes

New Haven—The Yale-Harvard game may not be a sellout this year but it is certain to draw one of the season's largest football crowds. Already 35,000 tickets have been allocated and the remaining 10,000 seats in the bowl have been placed on public sale.
Hanover—To Philip J. Glaser of Memphis, Tennessee, goes the honor of being the first southerner ever to captain a Dartmouth football team. Glaser who plays tackle, was elected yesterday to guide the 1933 eleven.
Cambridge—If Harvard doesn't beat Yale Saturday the cause may be attributed to injuries. Every member of the squad was in uniform yesterday and Charlie Nevlin, halfback who was hurt in the Army game was regarded as the only doubtful starter.

HOBART HAILS STAR

Geneva, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Now and then a bright star stands out on the roster of a football team with an otherwise drab background. Such a person is Captain Samuel Bader of the Hobart College team, who holds more records in Hobart football than any living person.
One of few juniors ever to captain an Orange and Purple team, he is the only one to be at the head two years in succession. As to versatility, he has played end, tackle, guard and back on the eleven; attack on the lacrosse twelve, and has been outstanding in track.
Bader was elected captain of the eleven in the middle of the season last year, being unanimously re-elected this year. Since the Rochester contest of November, 1931, when he scored all the points for Hobart in the 19-7 upset, he has played fullback. Defensively, he backs up the line in his style. His 190 pounds of bone and muscle was used to decided advantage against N. Y. U. and Kenyon. His loss, due to injury, in the Union game, was evident by the score.

Hobart's captain, Samuel Bader.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Don't Quit
When things go wrong, as they sometimes will; When the road you're trudging seems all uphill; When the funds are low and the debts are high, And you want to smile-but you have to sigh; When care is pressing you down a bit, Rest, if you must, but DON'T YOU QUIT!

Minister's Daughter-Prayers were offered up for your husband last Sunday, Mrs. Harrison. I hope he is much better.
Mrs. Harrison-Well, I'll say he don't seem none the worse for them.

We can't understand why some papers keep on making news items about wages being cut. . . Heck, that ain't news.

Rotarian-Short stories seem to be very popular now.
Klwanian-Yes, everybody tries to tell a story of how short he is.

Do you remember the good old days when the worst we had to worry about was the bobbed-hair bandits?

Teacher-Tommy, why does your father put screens on the windows and doors every spring?
Tommy-Well, Mother keeps at him until he finally gives in.

Never forget that this is a government of the people, by the people, and for the people. . . at their own expense.

He-They tell me you stutter when you're about to be kissed?
She-Y-y-y-y-yes, t-t-t-hat's r-r-right.

The largest piece of ivory in the world has been found in Alaska, and is on its way to Washington without being elected.

Harriette-When I am your wife, I shall share all your joys and sorrows.
Ferdie-I have no sorrows.
Harriette-No, but when you are married. . .

If you pay your debts now you will be helping prosperity. So the amount ever so small, it will help someone else pay what he owes. It's people holding on to their money that is making times hard now.

Mr. Dill Was in a Pickle (Item in the Moran, Tennessee, Times)
Mrs. George Earl, who gave birth to a 19-year-old daughter is reported as getting along fine. A. J. Dill, of Farley, who also suffered a broken leg in the same accident, is recovering.

It is the hardest thing in the world to be a good thinker without being a SELF-EXAMINER.

Two Swedes were walking on a railroad track, when a train came along behind them. One of them was lucky enough to jump off the track in time; the other not being so fortunate. The survivor told about it later:
"After I jump," he said, "I run a little way, and then I go back to see 'bout Ole. Putty soon I come cross an arm on the track, an' soon I see one of Ole's legs. Nex' ting I see Ole's head. Den I say, 'My God, somet'ing mus 'a happened to Ole!'"

It is only heresy, but we have been told that $1,000 bills bear the portrait of a Salmon F. Chase.

There are still a lot of people who will drink any amount of given liquor and think it all right.

ALL-SIX-Why do you leave that ancient car of yours parked in front of the house?
MIS-FIRE-Well, if I leave it in the alley, somebody might dump ashes into it.

ABOUT TOWN

The Junior church school club, Junior Epworth League and preparatory membership class of the North Methodist church will meet tonight at 7 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A., instead of at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Holmes as previously announced.

Members of the American Legion auxiliary unit are requested to make returns on tickets sold for the Thanksgiving turkey, before the next meeting, which will be on Monday evening at the State Armory. Drawings will take place at that time. The proceeds will be used for Christmas work at the hospital and for the children of ex-service men in the various institutions in Hartford County.
