

SCHLEICHER ASKED TO FORM CABINET

"Mystery Man" In German Politics Summoned By President—If Successful He Will Be Made Chancellor.

Berlin, Dec. 2.—(AP)—President von Hindenburg today asked General Kurt von Schleicher, "mystery man" in German politics and at present the defense minister, to form a Cabinet for the Republic.

General von Schleicher has been regarded as the almost certain choice for the chancellorship ever since Chancellor Franz von Papen's Junker government stepped out after last month's election.

The general was summoned to the President's study this morning, and after a conference there walked out with a mandate to form a government.

If successful, he was commissioned to occupy the chancellorship himself, instead of the defense ministry he held during von Papen's tenure of government by decree.

In the von Papen Cabinet, however, General von Schleicher was looked upon by the power behind the government in his "key" ministry.

The choice of the army leader for the difficult task of the domestic crisis with winter approaching came after several weeks of effort on the part of the veteran president to solve a well-nigh impossible deadlock.

The November 6 election demonstrated clearly that Chancellor von Papen did not have popular backing after he had twice dissolved the Reichstag to avoid being unseated.

Gatherers Leaders The President then took the party leaders in turn, finally giving Adolf Hitler, militant Fascist leader, commission to form a Parliamentary government. The Reichstag was hopelessly deadlocked, no party there having a majority, although the National Socialists were the most powerful single party with nearly 30 per cent of the seats at their command.

SMITH PROPOSES SWEEPING REFORM

Former Governor Shocks Tammany By Suggesting Discharge of 100 Officials

New York, Dec. 2.—Alfred E. Smith came forward yesterday with a plan for civic reform which left the unsuspecting chieftains of Tammany Hall speechless. He suggested a subway program which would result in increased fare, and he proposed a sweeping reorganization of the city government that would toss nearly 100 elected officials out of job.

Characteristically direct and terse, Mr. Smith, whose many years of public service have made him the city's most powerful political figure, laid before the Hofstadter legislative committee at the invitation of Samuel Seabury, its counsel, his plan for reorganization which would make the city government an almost exact parallel to that of the State.

Using charts to clarify a detailed and comprehensive exposition of his ideas, he urged the abolition of the county lines and almost all elective county offices, replacements of the Board of Estimate and Board of Aldermen with a City Senate and a much smaller City Assembly, and the complete divorce of the Mayor and the Controller from legislative functions. Besides these he presented measures of "immediate economy" starting with his views on transit.

Fare a Myth "I would like," he told the committee, "to devote a little time to what I call the adoption of immediate economies. The first and most important is the present subway problem. Theoretically we have a five-cent fare on the subway, but in fact it is a dollar and a half cents is the fellow who don't lift his feet."

Police Bring Up Year Old Charge And Waterbury Woman Is Found Guilty and Fined Cost of Court.

Monroe, Conn., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Arraigned here last night before Justice Eugene R. Blake on three charges that were a year old, Mrs. Frances Hunt, 43 of 27 Judd street, Waterbury, was found guilty of reckless driving and not guilty of driving an auto while intoxicated and evading responsibility.

Justice Blake imposed a fine of $25 and costs on the charge of reckless driving and then remitted the fine, so that the woman had only to pay the costs of the case.

As she was unable to furnish bond she spent Monday night in jail. When arraigned here last night, she said her apparent reckless driving of a car in Monroe a year ago was due to sleepiness.

Watch as Gas Executes Killer

Officials of other western states watched through a window as John Hall, murderer, was executed in Nevada's lethal gas chamber. The arrow points to Hall's head, which slumped in death four minutes after poison gas flooded the air-tight chamber. Other states are considering adoption of the gas execution method.

CATTLE RUSTLING IN FASHION AGAIN

Wyoming Ranch Owners Say Thefts Are Increasing At Alarming Rate.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The livestock industry in this range summary said today that cattle rustlers long since returned to them, and with losses mounting into large sums, Wyoming ranchers today are joining in a solid front with the operation of their industry to end of lawless organized cattle rustling.

Not in many years, say the reports from all sections of the state, have depredations been so severe.

Russell Thorp, secretary of the Wyoming Stock Growers' Association, in his report to civil authorities, said the losses particularly had mounted within the last 60 days and that while some of the thefts were undoubtedly inspired by want, others were for personal gain.

The Wyoming association, the oldest of its character in the nation, is assisting the ranchers and has extended the campaign against the rustlers into the far corners of the state.

"Swinging Parties" were in vogue, as a deterrent, and distances were covered on horseback instead of in "hot" trucks, the situation was not entirely "distant."

CAPITAL SENTIMENT AGAINST DEFERRING DEBT PAYMENTS

Here Are Main Points In British Debt Note

Washington, Dec. 2.—The major points in the British note delivered to Secretary Stimson are: 1. A resumption of war-debt payments as they existed before the Hoover moratorium would deepen the world depression and lead to further declines in commodity prices with all serious consequences from which "no nation can be exempt."

CONGRESS NOT TO ACT TO HELP WAR DEBTORS

Speaker Garner Makes Flat Prediction That Congress Will Not Change Situation, May Not Answer Notes.

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A flat prediction that Congress will not act to relieve America's war debtors was made today by Speaker Garner.

At about the same time, Secretary Stimson at the White House told newspapermen "it may not be necessary to reply" to the latest notes from Great Britain and France asking suspension respectively of payments of $95,500,000 and $20,000,000 due in less than two weeks.

"Congress is not going to change the situation," the Democratic vice-president-elect told reporters.

"I said to Mr. Hoover, when I was down at the White House, a week or so ago, that the sooner the European nations realized the United States expects to be paid the better off the whole world will be, Garner still think that.

"They (the debtor nations) may continue to talk about it all they please, but Congress won't do anything about it. We have the right."

PRESIDENT STUDIES NOTE FROM FRANCE

Follows Lengthy Message From Great Britain Which Asked That Installment Due This Month Be Deferred; Britain Says Increased Tariffs Against American Goods Would Result and Whole World Would Suffer — Congressional Leaders Firm to Stand That Payments Must Be Made.

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Strong sentiment against further deferment of European war debts was expressed on Capitol Hill today as Legislators read the lengthy British note of yesterday urging relief from this month's payments and President Hoover studied a similar communication just received from France.

Senators Smoot, of Utah, Republican chairman, and Harrison of Mississippi, ranking Democrat, on the Senate finance committee, were warmly critical of the British statement that increased tariffs and restrictions against American goods would be necessary if payments were resumed.

"Others who read the British note inclined to the rather general belief that the United States would again deny the requests for leniency at this time."

"Great Britain desires to carry out the plan suggested," said Smoot, "she has a perfect right to do it, but in my opinion she will be the sufferer instead of the United States."

Senator Harrison said the British note "is the sign of a special plea for the United States to consider the possibility of disaster and actually exaggerates those possibilities."

"Every suggestion and alleged fact or prediction made in the note," the Mississippian added, "has been repeatedly made to us in other forms and through other channels."

"It is inconceivable" that the statement of Great Britain would permit those things to be done if in their power to prevent it. Such measures would give greater shock to their economic and financial structure and carry the depression to a fuller point than ever they have heretofore experienced.

ECONOMIST SCORES GENERAL SALES TAX

Says It Merely Subtracts From the Purchasing Power of Public.

Urbana, Ill., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Any general sales tax would prove a boon to the purchasing power of the people, purchasing power, this tax specialist said today. "In these times people cannot buy goods from merchants and manufacturers and at the same time turn their money over to the government."

CANDIDATE DENIES ELECTION CHARGES

Bearing in Bridgeport's Record Legal Action To Be Held Later Today.

Bridgeport, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A general denial to alleged charges of discrepancy was entered today in Superior Court by counsel for William A. Conley in the mandamus action brought by Frederick W. Harrison, who seeks a reconvening of the vote in the 21st District (Bridgeport). The latter, the Republican candidate for Senator, was defeated by 25 votes by Conley, Democrat.

Homers E. Cummings, counsel for Conley, filed the return to Harrison's petition for a writ of mandamus. Trial of the action was scheduled to begin later in the day.

Harrison's petition charged discrepancy between the moderator report and the official check list in the district.

Meanwhile the state board of canvassers has been ordered to appear before Judge Frank P. McEvoy next Tuesday to show cause why Conley's election should not be certified.

SALARY SLASHES IN MASSACHUSETTS

Sweeping Reductions Proposed Which Will Affect Every State Employee.

Boston, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Sweeping salary reductions affecting every state employee were recommended today by the joint legislative special committee on public expenditures, which also suggested the abolition of several important state departments and the merger of others.

The proposed salary reduction was divided into two classes. Employees in the classified list, including those holding civil service positions would be reduced on a step-rate basis, each employee dropping back to the salary he or she was receiving before his or her last salary increase.

Other Proposals Statutory officers of the state receiving salaries up to $5,250 would be reduced six per cent and those above that figure eight per cent; Legislators, 10 per cent.

Invisible Rays of Sun Govern Growth of Plants

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—An invisible ray that lurks unseen in the bright sunlight was identified by scientists at the Smithsonian Institution today as wielding a great but unexplained power over growth of crops and other plants.

The ray consists of light, like other rays from the sun, but unlike them it is not visible to the human eye. Actually it includes many rays, classed as the "infra-red," whose wave-length is longer than red light, the longest light waves to which the eye is sensitive.

MONSIGNOR BYRNE IS MADE BISHOP

Hartford Clergyman Is Appointed By Pope To Vicarage in Africa.

Vatican City, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI has appointed Monsignor Joseph Byrne, of the Congregation of the Holy Ghost Fathers, at Hartford, Conn., vicar of Kilmasnjarra in Tanganyika territory, Africa, with the rank of Bishop.

Norwalk, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Monsignor Joseph Byrne, who was appointed Bishop, today was stationed at the Holy Ghost Fathers here, from 1910 to 1921, first as an instructor in geology and director of scholarship, and later as father superior. He was born in Ireland and studied at Rome, where he received the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1904. He then served as a missionary in Sierra Leone, West Africa, before coming to Hartford, where he was named vicar of the Holy Ghost Fathers in 1921.

REVISE CHENEY BENEFIT BY LAWS Trustees Considering Proposal To Cut Death Benefit In Half

Under present plans dealing with a revision of the Cheney Association of Cheney Brothers, a reduction of fifty per cent is to be made in the death benefit of active full members other than pensioners but the sickness benefit of full members will remain as heretofore. The proposal for changing the plans of the association are now before the trustees and are being informally discussed by them. The changes must be received within thirty days which must receive the approval of the state insurance commissioner. It is hoped that the changes will become effective by January 1.

The changes deal chiefly with the death benefit. The only exception is the term of sick benefits of limited members in the case of men. This will be reduced from 52 weeks of full benefits to 26 weeks of half benefits. Other changes are as follows: A reduction in the death benefit of those who are already retired from the plan to which they belonged to a maximum of $390.00 to be paid for at the rate of $35 per $100 per month, but that in addition present pensioners be permitted to differ their death benefit of $390 and that of the class to which they were contributing by paying at the rate of $75 per month per $100 in the case of those under 70 years of age and at the rate of $100 per month per $100 in the case of those 70 years of age or over.

Section 1. A full member retiring from active service on a pension may retain a death benefit of not to exceed that of the class to which they belong to a death benefit of not to exceed $390 to be paid for not to exceed $35 per $100 per month. That the term of sick benefits of limited members in the case of men be reduced from 52 weeks of full benefits to 26 weeks of half benefits. Following are the changes as they appear in the proposed amendments to the articles of the association: ARTICLE VI—DEATH BENEFITS CONTINUED AFTER LEAVING ACTIVE SERVICE.

made to both full and limited members for the first fifty-two weeks of allowed disability and one-half benefit for the second fifty-two weeks allowed disability. In the case of men whose membership commenced after April 1, 1919; Payment of full benefits of the class to which the member is contributing, shall be made to full members for the first fifty-two weeks of allowed disability, and one-half benefits for the second fifty-two weeks of such disability, and payments of full benefits of the class to which the member is contributing, shall be made to limited members for the first fifty-two weeks only of allowed disability.

In the case of women whose membership commenced after April 1, 1919; Payment of full benefits of the class to which the member is contributing, shall be made to full members for the first twenty-six weeks of allowed disability, and one-half benefits for the second twenty-six weeks of such disability, and payments of full benefits of the class to which the member is contributing, shall be made to limited members for the first twenty-six weeks only of allowed disability.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO ARTICLES V—SICK BENEFITS AND DEATH CLAIMS RESULTING FROM SICKNESS. New Form Section 2. In the case of men; payment of full benefits of the class to which the member is contributing, shall be made to full members for the first fifty-two weeks of allowed disability, and one-half benefits for the second fifty-two weeks of such disability, and payments of full benefits of the class to which the member is contributing, shall be made to limited members for the first twenty-six weeks of allowed disability and one-half benefits for the second twenty-six weeks of such disability. In the case of women; payment of full benefits of the class to which the member is contributing, shall be made to full members for the first twenty-six weeks of allowed disability and one-half benefits for the second twenty-six weeks of such disability and payments of full benefits of the class to which the member is contributing, shall be made to limited members for the first thirteen weeks only of allowed disability.

WATERWAY PROJECT AIDS MIDDEWEST Former Governor of Minnesota Gives His Views To Senate Committee.

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Former Governor Christianson, of Minnesota, told a Senate foreign relations subcommittee today that lower transportation costs resulting from a St. Lawrence waterway would "help restore the economic balance within the United States."

Christianson, Representative-elect at Large from Minnesota, appeared before the committee to urge ratification of the treaty with Canada for construction of the St. Lawrence project for a deep waterway from the lakes to the sea.

Asserting that he did not want to base his petition for the development of the project on the fact that the St. Lawrence waterway would help to restore the nation's economic balance. "Our principal concern in Minnesota," he said, "is the plight of agriculture. I am not here to urge the seaway as a cure for all our ills, for there is no one agricultural problem and therefore no one solution."

PROMINENT WOMEN WOULD SEE HOOVER Want To Protest Plans For Handling The Expected Hunger Marchers.

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Indication was given at the White House today that a group of socially prominent New York women who have requested an audience with President Hoover to protest against present plans for handling demonstrators en route to the National Capitol, will not be received by the Chief Executive, but will talk to one of his secretaries.

WAPPING A birthday surprise party was held at the home of Mrs. Hattie F. Spencer of Avery street in honor of Miss Kate M. Withral. There were fourteen guests.

DIVORCE GRANTED Bridgeport, Dec. 2.—(AP)—After testifying that her husband had a "nasty disposition," had broken her nose and choked her into unconsciousness, Mrs. Gladys Mc Donald Paigh of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., was granted a divorce from Daniel Francis Paigh of Stamford, by Judge Ernest C. Simpson in the Superior Court here today.

EXAMINER APPOINTED Seymour, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Dr. Edward Harvey has been appointed medical examiner for Seymour by Governor James J. Corrigan. He succeeds Dr. E. W. Davis.

CROSS UNDECEAS ABOUT NEWINGTON Graduates of Home Position Governor To Start Investigation.

Hartford, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Governor Cross said today he had come to no new decision relative to a petition, filed at his office yesterday, of about sixty graduates of the Newington Home for Crippled Children expressing dissatisfaction with the home management and asking the governor to name a commission for investigation. Dr. Cross refrained from any comment at this time.

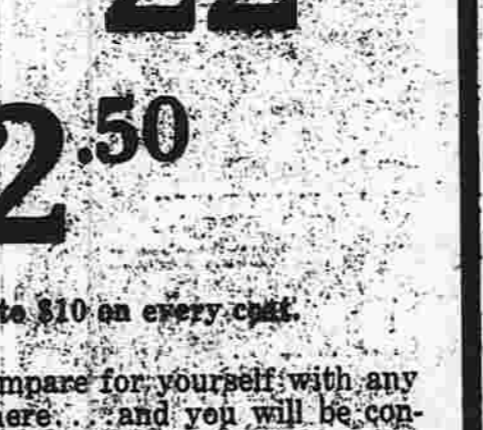

In reply to a question, he said he is undecided whether he will request a conference with those officially representing the home in Newington. Officers and directors of the home have expressed complete surprise at the petition, declaring they have no idea as to what can be the basis for criticism of the management and of Miss Constance Leigh, superintendent named in the petition.

It is expected that the power lines will be erected by the Manchester Electric company this week. The work of installing the lights will be started early next week, labor to be done by unemployed whose names are on file at the office of the Manchester Emergency Employment Association.

EDUCATION

A Series of Articles Discussing Modern Methods of Training the Youth of Our Country.

THE HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMA
Years ago the high school diploma was something very precious, to be exhibited to friends and proudly flaunted before the world. Very few boys and fewer girls compared with the numbers enrolled at present. The diploma was held in much the same regard as a college degree is revered today and it was of a similar value. In the days before us most high school pupils were very much alike because they all came from the same type of home, spent equal sums and all went to school for the same purpose. The school offered the college preparatory subjects (if others were offered they were scorned) and was planning to go to college and enter the professions for big money. As a consequence a diploma was a standard label that told a definite story of the bearer.

Differences in Diplomas
The outstanding circumstances in the present high school which breaks down the universal value of a diploma is the division of the program of studies into curriculums. Many schools give a common diploma to all graduates, others specify in the document the curriculum in which it was granted. More and more by diagnostic tests does the school try to steer freshmen into certain curriculums appropriate to their ability. One may judge from this the ultimate goal of those who graduate from the general curriculum. Yet many bright pupils do end up in it, and very dull boys and girls drag along in some other group. Until the school discovers more effective methods of selecting and measuring pupils' ability and until it can receive more cooperation from parents there will be large numbers of misfits.

Because of tradition and a vague reverence for Latin, algebra, and ancient history are still held high by many. As a consequence it frequently happens that the most able pupils enter these subjects. The general curriculum is for those who either cannot or will not take the subjects required by any special diploma. This division contains several subjects which act as a catch-basin for those who have failed this or that other subject. These subjects offer dull and indolent pupils a chance to collect a point or two toward the diploma. Such subjects are so broad and general, so flexible that every pupil enrolled can manage to do something without much effort and the teacher can find some excuse for giving a passing grade toward the diploma. The primary purpose of the curriculum plan is to offer a group of subjects which are suitable for the interest and ability of varied groups of pupils but there is always likely to be an intellectual cleavage.

Majority Want General Course.
Dr. Butterfield, the state commissioner of education, has made a study which indicates that over fifty per cent of all pupils in the secondary school should be given only the very general training which will parallel their later life. They have no interest for specific and prolonged training and should not be annoyed or have effort expended beyond a common treatment.

Some people claim that with all persons paying taxes all pupils should have something suitable provided for them in the school. But this is impossible for we should have to consider maroons and imbeciles to achieve an absolute all. At present the school standards are just too hard for the lowest ten per cent who end and that explains why pupils fail.

There is a strong argument in favor of the general curriculum and its typical subjects. A fundamental aim of the school is to train children for becoming better neighbors and citizens, and many will never desire or appreciate prolonged and specific training. So, a dull pupil spending four or five years in the high school with the company of normal boys and girls and sympathetic teachers is better off than though he were in amusement halls or perched on the street corner. And many of our pupils must be provided with very easy and attractive subjects or else they will be forced, because of marks outside the school. It is a trying question to meet a proper balance: we do not wish to lower the intellectual standards of the school so much as to encourage indolence neither do we wish to raise the standards so high as to crowd out those who cannot do very efficient work. Many thoughtful people believe that the association with wholesome boys and girls alone, regardless of intellectual training, is of sufficient value to warrant providing something easy enough to hold pupils in school.

College System
If it were possible to reduce the diploma to a mere listing of subjects studied with the marks received, such a list to be issued a pupil at any time, we would experience less point gathering and there would be less of the stick-to-itiveness demanded by four years work in an indication of a pupil's character. Apparently there is more and more attention being paid to the individual record and accomplishment of graduates than to the formality of graduation.

day afternoon. Refreshments of coffee and sandwiches were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Simler and family attended a birthday party of Mrs. Simler's mother, Mrs. Magdalena Newshier, at the home of her sister in Glastonbury last Sunday. There were relatives present from New York, also there were 21 relatives and friends present.

RECEIVER APPOINTED

ROCKVILLE

RETURNS HOME FROM A LONG SEA VOYAGE

Rockville Man, Member of Big Tanker's Crew, Sees Many South American Ports.

John Mantak of North Park street has returned to his home from a sea voyage of many thousand miles. For a number of months the young man has been employed by the Standard Oil Company on oil carrying ships. His latest voyage took him to many of the principal coastal cities in South America. He was attached to the S. S. Worthington, one of the largest tankers of the company, which carries a crew of forty men.

Wed Fifty Years
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Denzer of Ward street were surprised Tuesday by a number of friends in honor of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Although they tried to keep the occasion secret the pastor of the First Lutheran church and a few friends heard the news and planned to call.

Mr. and Mrs. Denzer were married at the First Lutheran church here and have been active in church work since that time. They have one son, Edward Denzer of New Haven, a chemist well known in Rockville.

To Conduct Nursing Class
Rockville Chapter, American Red Cross, is to start a home nursing class. Miss Miranda Bradley, supervising nurse of the Rockville Visiting Nurses association, will act as instructor. The last class conducted here by the Red Cross was held three years ago, and it was necessary at that time to divide it into two sections. The course will continue for ten weeks. Those interested should hand in their names at the visiting nurses' rooms before December 11.

Junior Basketball League
The Junior Y. M. C. A. Basketball League will begin its activities Saturday morning at 9. The league is composed of boys under 17 years of age. Ten teams have signed up as follows: Clark Juniors, St. John's, Nathan Hale, Comrades, Maple Street, Junior Foresters, St. Joseph's, Vampires, Pastimes, Vernon Center Cubs. Five games will have to be played each Saturday morning, so it will be necessary for captains and managers to have their men on hand ready to play at the scheduled time. Two rounds will be played, the winner of the first round playing off the winner of the second for the city junior championship.

Saturday's games are as follows: at 9 a. m., Maple Street vs. St. Joseph's; 9:45, Nathan Hale vs. St. John's; 10:30, Comrades vs. Vernon Center Cubs; 11:15, Pastimes vs. Vernon Center Cubs; 12 m. Junior Foresters vs. Vampires.

HEBRON

Word was received Tuesday evening that Miss Grace Rathbun has been selected to represent the six New England states in a song service in connection with the National A. S. M. Club congress and style revue at Chicago. The next day still better tidings were received by Miss Rathbun's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Rathbun of Hebron, Center, that their daughter had captured second prize at the style revue, with her hand made brown, semi-tailored silk dress outfit. She receives a prize of a fifteen jeweled wrist watch. The revue closes December 3. The Connecticut Club girls are distinguished by wooden nutmegs worn hanging from the wrist.

The Ladies' Afternoon Bridge Club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Phillip Motz. Two tables were in play. Mrs. Mary E. Cummings won first prize and Mrs. Alphonse Wright consolation prizes. Refreshments of cake, coffee, and home made candies were served.

William Weise has moved his household goods to the home of Mrs. George Weir in Buckingham, where he will make his future home.

Miss Clarissa L. Pendleton spent a few days this week with her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Sellers in New London.

Mrs. T. D. Martin reports that her food tray filled with suet and other good things for hungry birds have attracted a good many kinds of the feathered tribes lately. She has had both the hairy and downy woodpeckers, the nut hatches, both male and female, chickadees, and several varieties of sparrows without number. Chickadees have been induced to eat from her hand.

When Clarence White was digging near his home recently he found an old coin, a large old-fashioned cent, bearing the date 1803. The words "One Cent" are enclosed in a wreath, with the figure one underneath, on one side. On the other side is the head of Liberty. The coin is in good condition, looking as if it had never been circulated a great deal. A hatter's shop was once kept at the White place a hundred years or so ago, and it may have been that the coin was dropped when change was made.

Grinton I. Will gave an organ recital at the Wesleyan College chapel, Middletown, Sunday evening, which was attended by a number of his friends.

St. Peter's choir rehearsal will be held Saturday evening this week, at the home of Miss Clarissa L. Pendleton. Through the winter months the rehearsals will be held at the homes of the members instead of at the church.

By some curious mistake in this column it was made to appear that the Rev. Walter Vey preached at St. Peter's church last Sunday. The Rev. George Almon Alcott of Norwich instead officiated at that church with the text as given, Mr.

TOLLAND

Miss Minnie Helen Hicks and Miss Elizabeth Hicks have returned to New York City after several months spent at their summer home on Tolland street.

Mrs. Zoe Beckley has closed her summer home "Cubby House" and returned Wednesday to New York City for the winter months.

Charles Broadbent is able to be out after several days illness. Albert Deakin has returned to New York after a visit in town with relatives.

Emil Von Deck has been recognized as the chief of the Tolland Fire Department by the Connecticut's Firemen's Association according to word received from Secretary Hartford of that association. The decision was made at a meeting of the executive committee of the state organization.

Mrs. Margaret Aborn and family entertained about twenty of their friends last Saturday evening to a delicious clam chowder supper. Cards, musical selections and games were enjoyed during the evening. Friends were present from Rockville, Flushing, L. I., and Tolland.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert West with their four sons spent Thanksgiving day with Mrs. West's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Wilcox at Merrow, Conn.

Wilfred Young has been substituting on the Willington mail route several days for the regular carrier, Charles Lyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ludwig and family were Thanksgiving guests at a large family party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ludwig at Crystal Lake.

Several members of Tolland Grange are anticipating listening to Charles M. Gardner, High Priest of Demeter, one of the leading Grange officers of the nation, who will speak next Sunday evening, Dec. 4.

Miss Harriet Fuller entertained Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Angie Clark, Mrs. Frank Davell, and Mrs. Bernard Latham of Liberty Hill, in honor of Mrs. Clark's 81st birthday. Mrs. Frederick Verplanck of South Manchester called on Miss Fuller the same afternoon.

The officers of Columbia Grange met at the hall Wednesday evening to make preparations and rehearsal for the giving of the 1st and 2nd degree of the other to a class of 22 next Wednesday evening.

WAPPING
Next Sunday evening, it is expected there will be about one thousand members of the Grange from Hartford and Tolland counties, when Charles M. Gardner, High Priest of Demeter, will give an interesting address on "Grange Night" at the Union Congregational church, Rockville, at 7 o'clock. Rev. George S. Brookes, pastor of the church, has received word that in addition to the members of the subordinate Granges there are expected State officers of the Connecticut and Massachusetts State Granges. The following Granges have been especially invited: Sunfield, Wapping, Manchester, East Hartford, Ellington, Ed-ton, Tolland, Vernon, Stafford Springs, Coventry, Andover, Hills-town, East Windsor, Hebron, Good Will, Columbia, Enfield, Granby and Windsor. Many of these Granges have responded, stating a large percentage of their membership will attend.

THE NOTE AND A CHOICE

The new British note may look like a threat and sound like a threat but it is, nevertheless a mere statement of fact. When the note says that payment of the December installment in gold would necessitate "measures which would further restrict British purchases of American goods" it utters no hint at reprisal; it only sets forth an inescapable consequence of the added unsettlement of the exchange situation that would follow, as night follows day. When it points out that further depreciation of sterling—which after all is the commercial basis of more than half the world—would bring about a new depression of commodity gold values and consequently deepen the sea of troubles in which business is foundering it only recites what every person with any real economic understanding has already foreseen.

There is hardly a line of the note which has not been anticipated by thoughtful publicists on this side of the water, so that there is nothing particularly startling in the British presentation of the case in detail. The note is of the utmost importance, however, in the fact that the circumstances are assembled into a single document which not only bears the official signature of the British government but the substantial endorsement of the entire British Commonwealth plus general opinion throughout Europe. It constitutes a service of notice.

It must be becoming obvious to many who heretofore have given little thought to such things that the United States of America is rapidly approaching a point where it must make the most important decision in its history, more important than the one we made in 1861 or the one we made in 1917. We must decide whether we shall continue to strive to live with the rest of the world or withdraw from all association with foreign countries and organize and maintain a separate civilization exclusively our own. To some minds, perhaps to many, the latter course possesses a powerful appeal. We could probably constitute ourselves into a hermit nation absolutely self contained and completely prosperous—perhaps also completely happy. It would, however, be a stupendous experiment and conceivably it might involve risk of catastrophic failure.

If we are not prepared to undertake such a stupendous revolution in our relationships with all the rest of the world and become an Ishmaelite nation with our hand against every man and every man's hand against us, then it is up to us to play the game of a world wide civilization—and play it fairly.

The time for making our choice is narrowing.

ROGERS AND THE SNOBS

The very loveliest people in the East read the New York Times. That newspaper shares with the Boston Transcript the distinction of being the only one permitted to enter a great many of the homes of the super-nice and the exclusive. Of course the Times is bought and read by any number of mill-run citizens. Even the Transcript has a few readers who cannot quite match the diligence of the bartender at Foley's hotel who could "Walk out in the rain and he never gets wet."

No newspaper as big as the Times could pay its expenses if it were not bought by comparatively vulgar persons as well as by the exquisite, the highbrow and the snob. But all the snobs read the Times.

The Times subscribes to the service which puts out what might be called a collymet emanating from that queer hodge-podge of canny philosophy, hard boiled gall and occasional infantile error, the brain of Will Rogers. And how those deeply numerous, leonoclastic jabs of the cow-boy nonpariel do get the snobs goat!

Nothing but the quivering indignation of a salaried dry booster at a repeal editorial can approach the fevered wrath of the ladies and gentlemen who have been writing letters to the Times lately protesting against the contamination of its columns with the low, boorish yodel snortings of the ungrammatical Rogers. It adds nothing of equanimity to their souls that, if they quit the Times, they have nowhere to go for their news. But at least they can, and in chorus do, tell the newspaper how profoundly it is insulting their stretched intelligences.

The only thing in the Times funnier than Will Rogers' cracks is the series of complaints thrown by its dullest readers in response to his sly rowling:

KEEP RECORD CLEAN

The Newark Star evidently thinks it has discovered a racket in the State Police Department, or rather among the troopers of the department, in connection with the towing away of immobile cars after automobile accidents. The Star appears to have encountered numerous incidents where state police officers job and the Democrats know it. He voted for the bonus at the last session and his party is afraid he might get it into trouble. Yet if Rainey should go to the speakership Dough-ton, at head of Ways and Means, becomes inevitable, and as he is about 70 he is too old to be string-led.

To further complicate matters, the next most successful Northern bidder for support for the speakership, after Rainey, is Representative O'Connor of New York. He is a Tammanyite; and there will be plenty of Democrats in the next Congress who would have cold shivers at the thought of facing their constituents in 1934 if they should consent to the elevation of a Tammany man to the sacred speakership.

It's not so easy, after all.

GOOD PLACE TO START

President-elect Roosevelt's declared intention of cutting down Navy expenditures by $100,000,000 a year is deserving of hearty approval on more than one ground. In the first place it is quite as necessary to put an end to unnecessary expenditures in the navy as it is everywhere else and the Navy is notoriously wasteful anyhow—probably the worst example in our entire government set-up of an inscapable and improvident spender.

In addition to this is the fact that, even if there were no economic crisis, this would be the poorest of all times for the expenditure of large sums of money on naval construction. The whole subject of naval offense and defence is in a state of bewildering flux owing to the intrusion of that still unknown quantity, serial warfare. It is to be suspected that even within the Navy itself, could the private arguments of officers be brought into public hearing, it would be discovered that there are the most violent conflicts of opinion as to the usefulness or absolute vulnerability and uselessness of surface ships of any kind. At all events the warship of any class whose keel is laid today may turn out to be as obsolete as Noah's ark before half her ribs are riveted.

All the big-navy crowd will of course join in a wild chorus of protest at the mere notion of making a real cut in the burden imposed on the people by naval expenditures. They have begun it already. But it is fortunate that Mr. Roosevelt happens to know all about that crowd, and perhaps as much as any of them about Naval affairs since he was assistant-secretary of its department in the days of its very greatest activity. In this one particular, anyhow, it probably won't be easy to put anything over on the incoming President.

NEXT SPEAKERSHIP

The speakership problem confronting the Democratic majority in the next Congress is not as simple as it might appear. These two things are obvious: The majority party owes it to itself and to the country to keep the speakership out of the hands of the South; there is so Democrat of the seventy-third Congress better qualified for the job than Representative Rainey of Illinois, the leading Northern candidate.

have dictated the assignment of such jobs to certain service stations and garages contrary to the expressed preference of the car owners for the service of some other towing concern. The Norwalk paper almost directly charges that some troopers, in such cases, collect commissions from the favored garage owners and talks about such commissions sometimes amounting to half the charge made to the car owner. Obviously, garages paying such commissions must charge exorbitantly for the service—and so, according to the Star, if there is any such racket in operation, it is a racket.

We have never heard of its penetrating to this part of the state, nor any hint that racketeering of any sort has ever gained footing among the troopers of the State Police. The charge is a very serious one and one which Commissioner Sundersland cannot well afford to ignore. We should think, too, that the officers and troopers of the Westport and Ridgefield barracks particularly, as they are the closest to the New Britain territory, would have on a thorough investigation of the accusation.

The Connecticut State Police have been busy with the investigation of a picion of dishonesty. If there is a single chiseler in the outfit, it would seem to be a natural desire of the entire department to expose him and get rid of him.

How Manchester Aids Its Unemployed

(Note—This is the fifth of a series of articles written by E. J. McCabe, Secretary of the Emergency Employment Association, for the purpose of informing the people of Manchester more thoroughly as to the purposes, policies and aims of the Emergency Employment Association.)

In the previous four articles we have attempted to tell our readers how the Manchester Emergency Employment Association came into existence, its organization structure and how each committee or department handles the various parts of the system all the way from the registration of an unemployed person up through the investigation, classification, work creation, job assignment and all the other things which are done efficiently and to the credit of the town of Manchester through the Emergency Employment Association's program.

All the system and splendid organization set up by the Emergency Employment Committee has created, would be of little avail and could do very little in bringing relief and comfort to the hundreds of unemployed in Manchester, if it were not for the kindness and sympathetic support the Association has received from you and the general public. It is very necessary for the organization to be properly organized and to adopt reasonable and fair policies, but it is equally important and necessary that the Association has funds to carry on its program.

It might be well to make it clear to our readers, just what is meant by funds to carry on the Association's program. We do not mean funds to pay overhead or for the operation of the Association. In fact there is very little overhead, only the wages of one or two unemployed persons, who are given employment in the office of the Association in the Municipal Building. Even these few administration expenses were paid for by a certain few individuals last year, which made it possible to put 10c of every dollar donated to the fund, into giving employment and paying wages to the worthy unemployed friends of Manchester.

It is not our intention to use the space which the Manchester Evening Herald has been kind enough to give, for the publishing of these articles, to make a direct appeal for support for this very much needed work that the Association is doing, but it is our intention to merely outline a plan which will be put into operation in connection with the Campaign that will be launched on Monday of next week. We feel this plan is going to be of interest to you and the people of Manchester, as it is a matter of convenience to those who want to support the work of this Association.

First we will tell you briefly how you are going to be given an opportunity to do your part in helping to care for the needy unemployed of Manchester and then of the plan we have set up for your convenience. Commencing next Monday evening, 500 volunteer workers will commence a week's work, making personal calls on every person for whom there has been a card made out and who it is thought might be sympathetic to this important work to the degree that they will want to pledge financial support. These 500 volunteer workers will give a total of 5,000 or more hours of their time, as well as their own financial support to this cause. This represents on the basis of an eight hour day, 625 days or the equivalent of nearly two years if the total number of hours work that will be done by the volunteers would be done all done by one individual. These volunteers or campaign workers will only call on those for whom they have been given a card and the town's people may rest assured that only one person, that being the person who is given your card, will call on you.

The Solicitor, in this Campaign will be expected or permitted to receive cash or checks. The purpose of their call on you will be merely to have you sign a pledge for the amount you will contribute per week for the next 20 weeks. This is the plan we feel will be of great assistance to the Association. For most people to give $1.00 a week that it would be to give a check or cash for $10.00 and at the same time by paying $1.00 per week you are going to support this work to double the amount you would if you were to take on the hardship of giving $10.00 in one lump sum. All you will be asked to do during the week of the Campaign when the Solicitor calls on you, will be to sign the pledge card with the amount per week that you will contribute. You will not be expected and in fact the Association really insists that you refrain from paying any part of your contribution to the Worker. The Finance Committee have set up a plan which we feel will bring about the least complication and we hope to standardize the plan 100 per cent. It is going to make the work of the Campaigner much easier. The Campaign is based entirely on a 20 week payment plan. Everyone approached by a worker will be asked to sign a pledge card, merely pledging to pay a certain amount each week for the next 20 weeks.

The Finance Committee have arranged with the Manchester Trust Company to receive all payments on pledges. When you sign your pledge card during the Campaign, you will be given an acknowledgment card by the Solicitor acknowledging on behalf of the Association that you have made a pledge. You are instructed through this card to present it at the bank when making your first payment, which will be due on December 12 or during that week, which is the week immediately following the Campaign. When you present this acknowledgment card with your first payment at the bank, you will be given a 20 week payment book, which is similar to the Christmas Club book. This will prove a convenience to you when making your future weekly payments. If you are not familiar with the coupon weekly payment book, the Clerk at the bank will explain it to you when the book is issued at the time of your first payment. Although you will be asked to pledge on the weekly payment book, and it is sincerely hoped by the Finance Committee that you will take advantage of this convenient arrangement, nevertheless if you would prefer going to the bank once a month instead of once a week to make your payment, this is perfectly permissible. You simply make your payment in advance or at the end of 4 weeks you will make payment of those amounts that have fallen due during the 4 previous weeks. On the other hand there is nothing to prevent a contributor from paying his whole amount in advance or in two equal payments if he prefers. However, it is the plan of the Campaign to set up all contributions on a 20 week payment basis. For example, if $10 is the highest amount a person can pledge, it should be signed up on the card as 50c per week and although you are prepared to pay the full amount, you are respectfully requested by the Finance Committee to either take it into the bank or send it in on or after Monday, December 12, rather than pay it to the Campaign Worker who calls on you.

As a guide, the Finance Committee, after a long and careful study of a plan that might help those who question what their reasonable share in this Campaign would be, suggests that everyone consider one week's income in 20 weekly payments as your share in the Campaign. This seems to be as fair and equitable a basis as it is possible to devise and in this way everyone would give their proportionate share. The man who earns $50.00 should appreciate the fact that he is employed and should sympathize with his neighbor who unfortunately has no employment and although it will be a sacrifice to those who give in many cases, it is the solemn duty of those of us who are employed to share to the greatest possible degree with those in need. If a man, who earns $50.00 a week pledges one week's income in 20 equal payments, it would amount to $2.50 a week and he is only doing his reasonable share in the same degree that the school teacher or the office secretary who earns $20.00 a week, will be doing if she gives one week's salary which would be on the basis of $1.00 a week for 20 weeks. This is merely a suggestion of the Finance Committee, although it is hoped it will be accepted as a sound and fair plan and if sufficient funds are going to be raised to meet this situation, it is the opinion of the Finance Committee that every person in Manchester who is working will need to give, and give until it hurts. There has been no definite quota set for the coming campaign but the Board of Directors of the Association acknowledge that it is their opinion that at least as much money as was available last year will be needed, and possibly more, if the Association is going to be in a position to handle the problem of the unemployed this winter. It will be remembered that $92,000.00 was spent in giving employment to the needy last winter and it is stated by the Board of Directors that at least this amount or more is needed for this year. It is also recognized that if the Emergency Employment Association is not in a position to relieve the situation to the greatest possible degree, the only alternative is that the needy be taken care of through the Charity Department and naturally that means a greater charity expenditure which will result in the increase of taxes next year.

It is the thought of the Association that the town's people would much prefer giving voluntarily in this coming Campaign, in return for which contributions the contributor can secure labor which makes his contribution more of an investment than a gift, whereas on the other hand, if the needy are taken care of through the Charity Department the taxpayers must eventually pay the bills in return for which they are not able or permitted to secure workmen.

Another important angle in the opinion of the Board of Directors is that through the plan of the Emergency Employment Association, a person in need through unemployment, is able to maintain his self respect as he merely applies for work and earns every dollar he gets. This is much more desirable than merely seek charity which the unemployed will have to do if the Association cannot give them employment.

The Manchester Emergency Employment Association hopes our five articles have been of interest and enlightenment to our readers and we deeply appreciate the courtesy and cooperation of the Manchester Evening Herald in publishing these articles. They have been published in the hope that the town's people would better understand the workings and procedure of the Association which is an Association set up for one purpose only and that is to help our fellow citizens who are worthy of our help through these unusual, dark times. Any appeal we have made or will make is being made by a group of citizens who have shouldered the responsibility and burden of this great task on behalf of those who are in need and we feel confident that the people of Manchester will, as they have in the past, answer the call in a creditable and reasonable manner.

Uncle Sam Is Called World's Poorest Epicure

Chicago, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Uncle Sam is the world's poorest epicure among civilized races.

Yet his "Adam and Eve on a raft," "wreck 'em," his hot-dogs, his hot roast beef sandwiches with mashed potatoes are changing the menu of nations where fine cooking has been an art for centuries.

That, said Joseph D. Veihing, of Chicago, is the situation, as professional chefs the globe over see it. Veihing as food editor of "The Nation's Chef" is active in the second National Culinary Art Salon held this week by the Chef-Cuisine-Association of Chicago.

"America don't know nor appreciate good cooking as a fine art—they never have," said Veihing. "The nearest they came to it was in the years around 1850," and to the Puritans, who decried eating for the palate's sake, was attributed much of the blame.

In addition, he said, prohibition, with the resulting fad of hard liquor cocktails and highballs, has further blunted America's palate.

America sits down to a meal that really taxes the cook's skill on the average of three or four times a year—Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's and special celebrations. The rest of the time, he said, it is merely a process of three meals a day.

No nation in the world, he added, has the range of foods that America has—tropical, semi-tropical, temperate, some foods.

"Yet America does less with the preparation of her food as a fine art than the other major nations," he continued.

But despite all these deficiencies, the rest of the world is beginning to eat a-la-United States.

The custom of "break" or "breakfast" unknown in Europe, is now to be had on that continent. And because American tourists demand their special American foods, the menu of the hotels in Europe is being changed to include as a compulsory menu item a copy of the American menu.

Three Local Basketball Teams In Action Tonight

NEA ANNOUNCES ITS ALL-AMERICA TEAMS

Attempts To Pick Eleven Are Ludicrous, Says Brancher; Too Many Good Football Players Is Reason; The Selections.

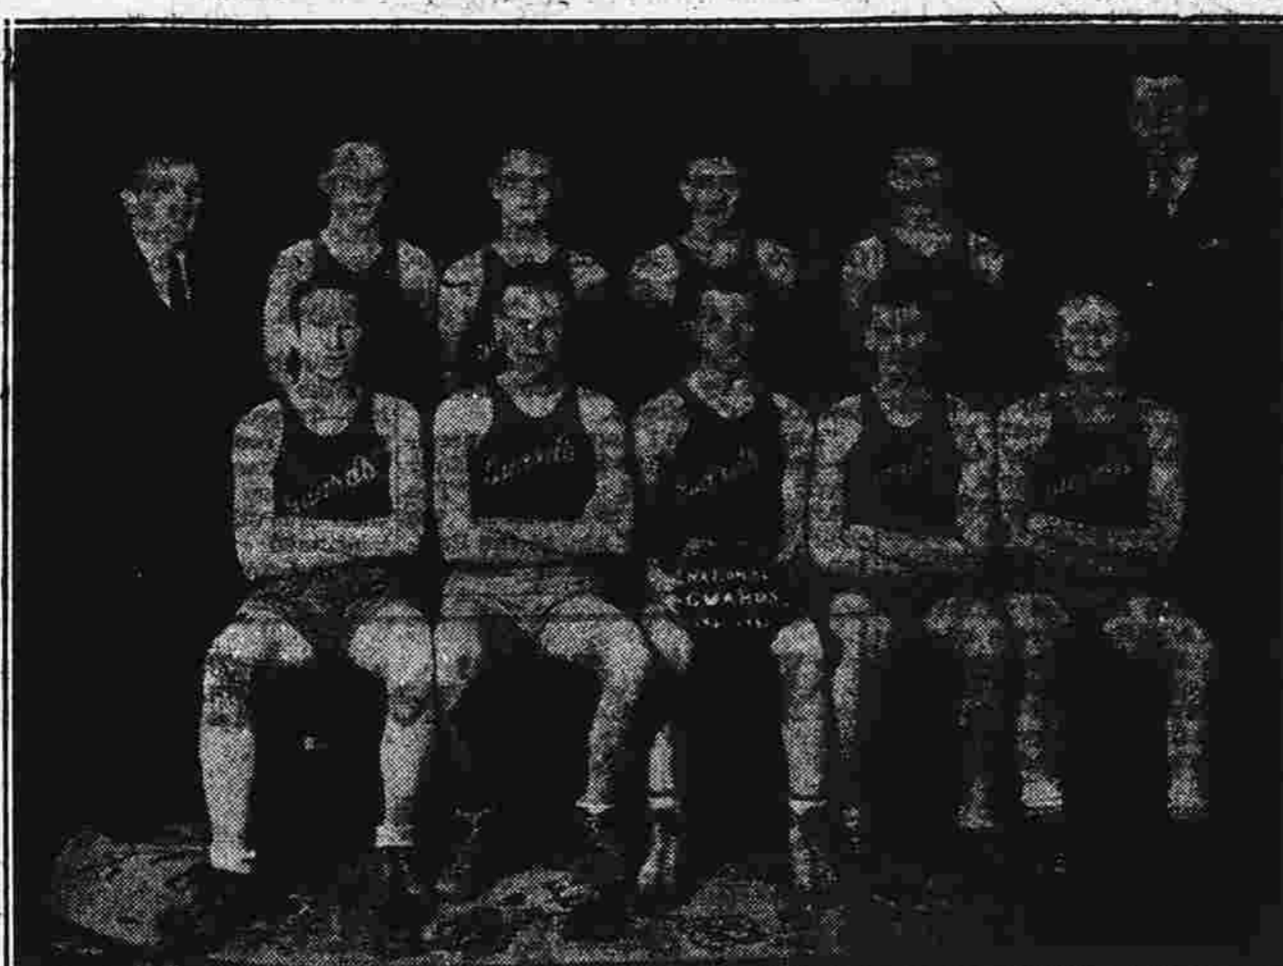

By BILL BRANCHER
NEA Service Sports Editor
(Copyright 1932, By NEA Service)
New York, Dec. 2.—There are too many good football players to pick eleven for the All-American team, says Brancher, who is in charge of the selections. He says that the country is so full of good football players that it is impossible to pick a team that will represent the best of the country. He says that the selections are based on the players who are the best in their respective positions, and that the team will be made up of the best of these players.

EMERALDS, DIXIES WIN 1ST GAMES IN WEST SIDE LEAGUE

Kaceys and Endees Are Losers In Hard Fought Battles Last Night; Hewitt Sprains Ankle.

The Emeralds defeated the Kaceys last night in the opening game of the West Side Rec basketball league by the score of 43-27. Although the Emeralds were the favorites, the final score gives one the impression that the game probably was all Kaceys and no Emeralds. This was not the case. The Kaceys received a severe blow soon after the opening whistle when Jack Hewitt, their star center, sprained an ankle and was forced to leave the game. This injury coupled with "Cuplet" Waddell's absence probably made the difference in the score. However, credit must be given where credit is due and that is where the Emeralds take home the well known laurels.

MEET PITTSFIELD EAGLES TONIGHT

Above is a photograph of the town basketball champions, the National Guards, who thus far this season have kept their slate free of defeat, winning from St. Mary's and the Mayos. Tonight the Guards play the Pittsfield Eagles in what should be a thrilling battle all the way.

ALUMNI DEMOLAY OF NEW BRITAIN MEETS REC FIVE TUESDAY

Play At School Street Rec; Visitors Defeated Locals, 26-23, Last Saturday In Hardware City.

The Rec Five will oppose the Alumni Demolay five of New Britain in a return game at the School Street Rec next Tuesday night. It was announced today by Ben Clune, manager and coach of the Recs, prior to the team's trip to Holyoke, Mass., for a game with the Alpacas. The Demolays handed the Recs a 26 to 23 defeat in New Britain last Saturday night and Coach Clune is determined to drive his team to the limit in order to gain a victory. The visitors will have in their lineup Hewitt and Berglund, who starred in the first game, and also Kavllick, Stahl, Morey, Carroll, Carlson and Schmar. Last Saturday's game was refereed by Hill of New Britain and not by Al Boggiol of this town, as previously stated. The local quintet will leave the School Street Rec at 6:45 o'clock tonight. Others who will make the trip besides those mentioned in another section of this page, will be Opizzi and Kovis.

M. H. S. AT ROCKVILLE; REC FIVE AT HOLYOKE; NATIONAL GUARDS HERE

Red and White Open Season In Windy City; Recs To Play Farr's Alpacas In Return Game; Soldiers Oppose Pittsfield Eagles

Three of Manchester's basketball quintets will be in action tonight, the list being headed by the only home game scheduled, the National Guards against the Pittsfield Eagles at the State Armory. Manchester High School opens its season in Rockville against Rockville High, while the Rec Five travels to Holyoke, Mass., for a return game with Farr's Alpacas. The Pittsfield Eagles will have virtually the same lineup that handed the Rec Five two defeats last year by scores of 34 to 29 and 36 to 34. The forwards will be Stack and Bruno, with Donald at center and Boyd, Barzolina or Wise at the guard positions. The local team is confident of turning in another victory, having already beaten the St. Mary's of East Hartford and the Mayos of Hartford. The Guards starting lineup will be chosen from Holland, McCann, Turkington, Mattson, Farr, Gustafson, Chapman and Dowd. Coach Wilfred Clarke will base his season's prospects on the result of the opening game at Rockville tonight. He has only a few veterans on the squad but is hopeful of rounding up a winning combination into shape before the opening of the season.

PITTSBURGH GIVEN BID TO ROSE BOWL

Announcement Comes As Surprise As Michigan Was Believed To Be Favored.

Los Angeles, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Pittsburgh's great football team has its chance for revenge. Announcement came yesterday that the Panthers, unbeaten in 10 games but twice tied, has accepted the University of Southern California's invitation to play in the eighteenth annual Rose Tournament game at Pasadena, Jan. 1. It was an opportunity for Coach Jock Sutherland's eleven to atone for the most decisive defeat ever suffered in grid war of the Roses, when the Trojans team trounced Pitt, 47 to 14 in 1930. The announcement came late yesterday afternoon at a moment when the hopes of Michigan receiving the bid were at high tide. The football fans of the far west felt the Big Ten Conference was about to amend its unplayed football ban and give the unbeaten and untied Wolverines a chance to accept the invitation Southern California was willing to tender. As champions of the Pacific Coast Conference, the Trojans officially were invited three days ago. Pittsburgh was given the invitation after undefeated and unscored Colgate on the basis of its showing through a rugged schedule which saw the Panthers play outstanding teams from coast to coast. In a statement following a meeting of the Southern California Athletic Board of Control, Willis O. Hunter, the athletic director said: "Recognizing that there were several outstanding teams to be considered, the Trojan officials were motivated in their choice by the difficult and representative schedule that the Pittsburgh team has completed this season."

To Charge Fox Hunters $500 Each for the Sport

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The cry of "ally-ho" and the gallop after baying hounds across the Connecticut countryside may cost society sportsmen from $250 to $500, instead of the present $3.35, if the State Fish and Game Association has its way. After Fish and Game Commissioner Thomas H. Beck explained mounted huntersmen scatter wild life before them, the Association voted yesterday to support such an increase in license fee in an effort to check the practice. Beck said it was useless to stock with game territory that horsemen dashed across after packs of hounds. Beck, declaring he was interested only as a game commissioner added he heard that a Weston dairy farmer was unable to find his herd for two days after a party of hunters had galloped across his land.

Wisconsin's Hero Is Little Irish-Hawaiian

Madison, Wis., Dec. 2.—For three years Mickey McGuire (Christened Walter F. in Honolulu 22 years ago) was, more or less, just another halfback at Wisconsin. For two years under Glenn Thistlethwaite's coaching, the half-Irish, half-Hawaiian boy had played football barefoot in the sandlots of Honolulu, was one of those steady, dependable cog in the Wisconsin backfield who played a hard, clean game but rarely set the stands into any uproar. But since the Wisconsin-Minnesota battle that packed about all the thrill of football barefoot in the sandlots of Honolulu, was one of those steady, dependable cog in the Wisconsin backfield who played a hard, clean game but rarely set the stands into any uproar. As a starter he ran back the first kickoff 90 yards for a touchdown. He jumped the 2-man center and away from two Minnesota men for a second touchdown in the first quarter. Then, with less than a minute to play he snared another pass out of the arms of two Minnesota men and steamed over the goal to break a tie and give Wisconsin a victory. If that was not enough Mickey called signals, Mickey was the backbone of Wisconsin's pass defense, and on blocking and tackling was the equal to any man on the field. They say cheer leaders never win any football games, but an old Wisconsin cheer leader ought to share some of the credit for Wisconsin's and McGuire's victory. Ezra Crane, Honolulu's cheer leader, went to Madison to work on a newspaper after he graduated. He saw young McGuire playing football on the Padouah high school team, and persuaded him to go to Wisconsin. Mickey was just one of five children of an Irish whaling boat captain. When it came his turn to go to high school there wasn't enough in the family purse to pay the tuition, but on the strength of the record of his older brothers and sisters he was awarded a scholarship. After graduation he went to sea for awhile to earn enough money to pay his fare to America. When he landed in Madison he went out for football, half afraid that his brown skin would get him from any real attention. He tried out for track, but had to drop out because his football and his studies and his hours in a restaurant.

ARMY-NAVY TO PLAY ON FAMILIAR FIELD

Have Met In Penn Metropolis 14 Times; Cadets Are Heavy Favorites.

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Not on the seven seas but in seven cities and towns have Army and Navy fought out their football feud in the last forty years, but they'll be on familiar ground when they tangle at Philadelphia tomorrow. As a matter of fact, the service academies have played oftener in the Penn Metropolis than anywhere else—14 times to be exact. New York ranks second, playing host to eleven Army-Navy contests. The other seven games in the series which started in 1890 have been split among five cities or towns, two apiece at West Point and Annapolis and one each at Baltimore, Chicago and Princeton. The choice of Philadelphia as the battleground this year might be construed as a "break" for the Navy for six of the 12 victories over the Army have been achieved there. But whatever psychological advantage the Tars might derive from that seems to be more than outweighed by the physical edge Army will enjoy. Navy will have to contend with age and experience in the cadets and most experts have been unwilling to give the Tars better than an outside chance of victory. Both teams left their home bases for Philadelphia yesterday after a final practice whirl.

GLENNEY'S

LOCAL SOCCER CLUB JOINS JUNIOR LEAGUE

The Manchester Junior Soccer club joined the Northern Junior League at Hartford last night and will play its first league game here Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock against East Glastonbury. The local team has played several practice games to date and has shown considerable promise. The lineup has not been decided upon but the squad includes many members of the high school soccer team that closed a rigorous season with only one defeat. The squad also has other local talent and will be coached by members of the Manchester Soccer Club. Further details on Sunday's game will be announced tomorrow.

ABANDON CHARITY GAME

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Plans for a charity football game at the Harvard Stadium on Dec. 10 have been definitely abandoned by Mayor Richard M. Russell of Cambridge. The project was discarded because the public failed to exhibit interest in a late season contest.

McNAMARA AND HILL LEAD BIKE RIDERS

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The team of McNamara and Hill maintained a record of one lap over the Hill-and-Grimm combination at 8 a. m. today in the six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden. Two laps behind the leaders were Latourner-Debaets, Winter-Groley, L'Esart-Severgnic and Binda-Georgetti. The veteran Reggie McNamara and Hill had covered 1,828 miles and nine laps. A total of 839 laps have been stolen at this stage of the grind. There was a thirty-minute intermission this morning when McNamara skidded down an embankment after being caught in a jam. After receiving medical treatment he resumed riding.

SO. METHODISTS LOSE TO ST. JAMES'S, 57-34

The St. James's church basketball team defeated the South Methodist church five in the inter-church league Wednesday night at the School Street Rec by the score of 57 to 34. LEHMAN TO CALL AN EXTRA SESSION

New York Governor To Summon Legislature To Discuss Finances.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 2.—(AP)—With New York City, second largest in the world, facing what he called a financial crisis, acting Governor Herbert H. Lehman announced early this morning that he will call upon the State Legislature to convene in extraordinary session next Friday and pave the way for an estimated saving of $20,000,000 by enabling the city to reduce employees' salaries, now fixed by law.

The announcement was made after a conference between Mr. Lehman, acting governor and governor-elect, the heads of two of the world's largest banking institutions, and Mayor Joseph V. McKee and Comptroller Charles W. Berry of New York.

New York is now making up its new budget, and the regular session of the Legislature will not begin until January 4.

"Unless immediate steps are taken by the city to effect substantial economies in the cost of municipal government," the acting governor said, "a critical situation will develop."

The bankers, Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the First National, and Winthrop W. Aldrich, president of the Chase National, both of New York, had assured Governor Lehman that reduction in the city's expenditures is imperative if the city is to retain its borrowing power.

"Under the circumstances," said Mr. Lehman, "in compliance with the petition of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, I shall call an extraordinary session of the Legislature to convene one week from today." The board had asked for the special session.

The proposed legislation will restore to the city the right to fix salaries of school teachers, firemen, policemen and others. These salaries cannot be reduced under present law. The saving will be $20,000,000.

Discussed Before Mr. Lehman was understood not to have any telephone conversation during the night or early morning with Governor and President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, who is at Warm Springs, Ga. He had discussed the proposed extraordinary session with Mr. Roosevelt previously, however.

Mr. Lehman, who was internationally known as a member of the Lehman brothers banking firm before he left his lucrative banking post to enter public life, talked with Mitchell, Winthrop and the New York officials for six and one half hours.

Reporters were half asleep, sitting and lying on the floor in the corridor outside the improvised conference room—the Lehman hotel suite—when Mr. Lehman's secretary, Joseph J. Canavan, opened a door and announced that the acting governor had a statement to make. Inside, everyone looked a little tired, but Mr. Lehman, stocky and pleasant faced, was smiling broadly as he handed out typewritten copies of his announcement.

Last Extra Session The last extraordinary session of the legislature was in the late summer of 1931. It was called to enact legislation to broaden the powers of the Hofstadter committee investigating New York City. As the session progressed, however, the principal business became the appropriation of $20,000,000 for unemployment relief.

Under the law, the Legislature can take up in the extraordinary session only such matters as are mentioned in the call.

The extraordinary session, it has been estimated unofficially, will cost between $30,000 and $50,000.

While Mr. Lehman was discussing the extraordinary session prospect with the bankers, for the purpose of bringing about reduction of salaries, he had on his desk a petition from New York firemen asking that their salaries be kept at the existing level because they had been fixed by referendum vote of the people of New York City.

The petition was left there yesterday by a firemen's delegation. Similarly, petitions from police and school teachers were pouring in by letter and telegram, asking that the present salary scale be maintained.

CHICAGO WORLD'S FAIR MAKING GOOD PROGRESS Chicago, Dec. 2.—(AP)—On the man made sands of "exposition land," the Chicago World's Fair of this generation, will open six months from today.

SON IS FORGIVEN

Columbus, Miss., Dec. 2.—(AP)—F. Ostick of Ansonia, Conn., met his fifteen-year-old son, Henry Ostick, in jail here yesterday, embraced and wept with him and blamed himself for the boy's troubles.

"It was all my fault," sobbed the father, and soon father and son along with John J. Mahoney, chief of police of Ansonia, left for home.

The boy, police said, admitted taking $2,000 from his father's home in Connecticut for a trip South and was detained in Columbus on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

The charges were waived.

CARTOONIST TELLS ABOUT NOTABLES

Veteran Artist Says President Chuckles When He Makes Fun of Them.

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—More than forty years of cartooning in the Nation's capital have taught Clifford K. Berryman, of the Washington Evening Star, that men like to chuckle at themselves.

Far from taking umbrage at the exaggerated physiognomies that come from the cartoonists' pen, Presidents, Vice-Presidents, Speakers and Senators vie in collecting their own caricatures, the veteran cartoonist said.

Take Charles Curtis and "Cactus" Jack Garner for instance. Curtis has thirty-eight of Berryman's cartoons of him in a framed frieze in his vice presidential office.

During the recent campaign, Berryman turned the full barrage of his hit upon Vice Presidential Candidate Garner, principally poking fun at his lack of verbiage.

As fast as the "Sphinx Series" Garner cartoons were published, Speaker Garner sent to Berryman for the originals.

"I'm going to make Charles Curtis look like a piker," said Garner, chuckling. "He was the late Senator Payne, of Payne-Aldrich tariff bill fame. But while he was saying he didn't want to be my subject, his wife came in with an arm load of his photos to guide me, and helped me pick the best!"

True, Berryman conceded, a few men, including President Hoover, had picked slight flaws in their limning. The President, who derives great enjoyment from an odd collection of portraits of himself, told cartoonist Berryman his penman had not paid proper attention to the results of medicine ball.

Made Too Fat "You are making me too fat," pointed out the President, at the same time selecting the fishing ones to hang at Camp Rapidan.

Appreciative indeed was Calvin Coolidge, cartooned in cowboy put-fift, Indian garb, and scores of other laugh-producing guises.

"At the close of the administration, the Coolidges were selling book plates for one of Mrs. Coolidge's charities, and I sent in a check," narrated Berryman. "The White House called me over, and I went in to see the President. 'Here, take back your ten dollars,' Coolidge said. 'You've given me so much pleasure while I've been in Washington, the book plates are yours.'"

Greatest stimulator and appreciator of all the presidents, Berryman said, was Theodore Roosevelt, who had a "bully" for every cartoon that "clicked" and whose good-bye to the newsmen was: "Bill Taft is a fine fellow—but how you are going to miss me as a copy-maker!"

Garner, Senator Borah, and Senator Norris are pronounced by Berryman his best subjects now—"and I'm going to have more fun than a box of monkeys after March 4!" he added. "Roosevelt's going to be a great subject—and he'll bring a lot of others in."

FORD DENIES REPORT HE WILL RETIRE Detroit, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Henry Ford has let it be known that he has no intention of withdrawing from personal direction of his industrial empire.

The automobile magnate, whose rapid recovery from a major operation has amazed even the most optimistic, received newspapermen yesterday in his suite in the Henry Ford hospital.

GIANT PLANE PLAN LONG A SECRET

Americans Have Been Arranging Matters For Several Years, It Is Disclosed.

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Announcement that an American company has solved the problem of building super-planes capable of passenger service between the hemispheres has brought into the open a long-smouldering international struggle for world supremacy in the kingdom of the air.

Incidents to the announcement of the proposed monsters of the ocean air lanes, it was learned today that the preliminary ground work was carried on with every safeguard of mystery, and yet all the cautious mystery has not prevented happenings suggestive of sinister international intrigue.

For years the struggle to determine which nation would eventually rule the realm above the clouds has gone steadily forward.

The British have extended airlines to Karachi and to Cape Town, the French to India, the Dutch to Batavia, the Russians to Kamchatka, Germany, the pioneer in South America, has in operation the nucleus of a service across China. Pan American Airways has perfected a service linking the three Americas.

Every one of these great air services has in effect been but a determined step toward an eventual linking of the hemispheres. And now America, ahead of all the others, has first gone beyond that step.

Long Preparation Juan T. Tripps, president of Pan American, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, head of that company's technical staff, have announced the letting of contracts for the engineering work on two types of giant planes capable of flying the ocean air lanes between America and Europe and America and Asia.

Back of this announcement lies the story of secrecy and intrigue. Some 18 months ago Pan American sent to six manufacturers specifications for what Col. Lindbergh and his associates considered the ideal plane for trans-oceanic flight with passengers and freight. The manufacturers took one astonished look and came in to make lugubrious reports.

"It can't be done," they said. "Why not?" asked the Lindbergh staff. "Well, it never has been done."

"Now, how about this," the Lindbergh staff suggested. "Why couldn't you do this, and this, and this? Then wouldn't the result be this, and this?"

Four Days Out There were many conferences. Slide rules flashed and tempers wore thin. Four of the original six manufacturers dropped out of the running. Two held on, and at last the theoretical planes, the dream planes of Lindbergh and his aides, were an engineering actuality.

All designs were kept carefully locked away in the offices of Pan American, of the Sikorsky company at Bridgeport, and of the Martin company at Baltimore. Strict secrecy was maintained and all concerned worked through the long days with nervous eyes turned toward the nations of Europe which at most only suspected that America was forging to the front.

Not all the work was on paper. In one factory a "mark-up," a full size wood and paper model, was constructed. Part of one keel was laid. One day an aeronautical official of a foreign country was discovered casually standing in the mark-up, apparently taking mental notes.

An officer of another country arrived blandly at another factory with American credentials which apparently gave him access to every part of the plant.

Intrigue? Espionage? Pan American voices no opinion. But though the bald announcement of the proposed planes has now been made, the secrecy as to all details of construction is strictly maintained and no chances are being taken on America's opportunity to don the crown of the kingdom of the air.

WOULD CHECK CHILDREN Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Santa Claus will have much help checking on the children this December if a suggestion made today by Miss Aldis C. Bowler, of the Children's Bureau, is followed.

"If you want to make an interesting study in your local parent-teacher unit, I would suggest that you have each parent keep an accurate account of the actual time spent by his children, in the home for one month," said Miss Bowler.

"Such a study would be even more interesting if each parent kept the account on a sheet with sub-headings carefully planned to show just where the time was spent.

"It might be an eye-opener for some parents to see how many periods had to go into the household to make up the actual time spent."

Stressing the need for wholesome community influences, Miss Bowler said it had been estimated that the average young person 18 years of age has spent about 40 percent of his time outside his home and school.

BRIDGEPORT'S FINANCES Bridgeport, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Needy persons here will be cared for this winter without a municipal special tax, President Levery of the board of apportionment told the Taxpayer League last night. He said Bridgeport's finances are better than those in many other cities.

GYPSIES' POSTMISTRESS IS DEAD IN ARKANSAS

Fort Smith, Ark., Dec. 2.—(AP)—There's no mail today for the gypsies, for little Mrs. Marie Cole, their only official postmistress, is dead.

For 20 years Mrs. Cole had received and delivered letters for the gypsy tribes of the world, letters that reached her "postoffice" from the hands of the wanderers who make Fort Smith a port of call, letters she sorted and handed out when other tribes came to town.

Mrs. Cole, who became the first registered woman pharmacist in Arkansas and the eleventh in the United States soon after she came here with her husband and started a little drug store back in '84, died at a hospital last night. She had been ill for several months.

She was selected as postmistress by King Steve Costello, of the Spanish gypsies, two decades ago. King Steve, it is said, wanted someone not gypsy for the job, because a gypsy wouldn't remain in the same place.

Although not a gypsy herself, Mrs. Cole adhered to their custom of declining to reveal her age. Friends said she was about 78 years old.

MANY DRY ARRESTS Hartford, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The best months in the history of the office," declared Robert L. Sengle, deputy prohibition administrator, today in describing the activity of the Federal enforcement agencies in the state during November.

Mr. Sengle stated that more arrests had been made by the dry agents in the past month than at any other time since prohibition became effective. He would not, however, divulge the number of arrests made nor the amount of beer, wine, liquor and distilling machinery seized by the agents in the past month.

The success of the enforcement agencies came in face of a possible repeal or modification of the dry law.

ODD SITUATION New Haven, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Once more the question has come before the city board of finance why it costs more to hospitalize charity patients than private patients pay. The city has been paying $28 a week for indigent patients in the hospitals. Private patients in wards pay $21.

SAFE TO PLAN FOR FUTURE NOW

Worst of Depression Behind Us, Says Head of Westinghouse Company.

Boston, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, said today: "It is now safe to plan for the future, the worst of the depression is behind us and better times are slowly and steadily coming."

Speaking before the Boston Chamber of Commerce on the industrial rehabilitation movement, Robertson said this conclusion was based on the fact that the "financial panic, which caused the most serious of our troubles in May, June and July of this year, is past."

"Gold is flowing into the country," he said. "Our central banks have hundreds of millions of excess reserves, so that money is cheap although not plentiful so far as business is concerned. Banks are no longer falling in large numbers and some closed banks have reopened. Hoarding is on the decrease."

Feeling Effects "In the past such a condition has always been the beginning of a business improvement, and we are already beginning to feel a beneficial effect."

"The advocates of industrial rehabilitation are saying," he continued, "it is safe to expect improved business conditions soon. Time soon then it is to your interests to go ahead with the work of modernizing, improving or repairing your property, now, if it needs it."

"Naturally we have asked the question, 'What effect will the election have on these activities?' Our answer before the election was 'noisier before.' Now that the election is over we have had time to survey business conditions and we are glad to say that the election had very little, if any effect on business conditions. We have been at pains to check this fact and it is significant to note that business improved in the teeth of the election campaign."

Favorable Signs "The more favorable signs to which I refer are the improvement in the price of securities in the textile industries, increase in payroll and production, the drop in commercial failures and the increase in electric power production."

When our normal habits are resumed and our normal optimistic frame of mind is restored, the plan of industrial rehabilitation is such a normal activity, it will bring employment in the capital goods industry where unemployment is most severe."

SUES FOR INSURANCE New Haven, Dec. 2.—(AP)—An ambulance cot was used to carry Raymond Tracy of Meriden, war veteran, into U. S. Court today, where before Judge C. C. Hincks, was resumed his suit against the government for payment of a war risk insurance policy. A nurse and besides Tracy and two orderlies from Newington Veterans Hospital were handy to assist him when recesses were called. Two of these were given so Tracy might rest.

The veteran seeks $10,000 damages under his policy. He alleges exposure while under canvas at Camp McClelland brought an ailment which first treated as rheumatism, is now chronic arthritis. He testified he had spent the greater part of five years in bed.

This case opened yesterday after a jury had awarded O. Clyde Fowler of Groton a sum close to $10,000 in a damage suit of somewhat like character.

WAGES REDUCED New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A reduction of ten per cent in wages of members of Typographical Union No. 6 employed in newspaper plants, effective next Sunday at 7 a. m., was announced today after a meeting of the board of arbitration in the offices of Louis Wiley, business manager of the New York Times, and one of the arbitrators.

Because of a shift in the working hours of the men also stipulated in the new agreement, the two union representatives on the board of arbitration declined to sign the agreement.

BANDITS GET $8,000 Southampton, Pa., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Four men, masked and carrying shotguns and pistols, today held up the Southampton State bank, forced several persons to stretch themselves on the floor and escaped with about $8,000. The robbers fled in a green auto bearing New Jersey license plates. Southampton is about 19 miles from Philadelphia.

CHILDREN NOT TO SHARE IN NORDLINGER FORTUNE

Philadelphia, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The small children of the late Fred S. Nordlinger and his third wife, the former Miss Charlotte Mann, of St. Louis, do not share directly in the several million dollar estate of their grandfather, Samuel F. Nordlinger, Chesterfield magnate, as reported last night in the Orphan Court.

The children are Frederick G. and Charlotte Louise Nordlinger. They are provided for in the will of their father, who was shot and killed by Mrs. Nordlinger's uncle in Nice, France, March 11, 1921.

Philip Starting, appointed by the court to audit the second accounting by the trustees of the estate, reported late yesterday the balance of principal to be $3,804,883 and income of $801,639 since 1920.

The elder Nordlinger died in 1918. Most of the income from the trust fund was distributed to his son, the latter's divorced wife, Theresa Burke Nordlinger, adopted daughter of the testator, and to her two sons, Samuel F. C. and John F. Z. Nordlinger. The children of Nordlinger-Nordlinger by his last marriage will not participate in their grandfather's estate unless their two half-brothers die without issue.

MAN BURNED TO DEATH Hammonston, N. J., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Vincent Facchiano, 50, former Philadelphia grocer, was found dead in the kitchen of his home after four of his children, led by Elsie Facchiano, 17, a daughter, had discovered that their dwelling was on fire and fled, shouting the alarm.

Alfred Mottola, of Hammonston, a fireman, was hurt when a chimney toppled on him.

Facchiano and four of nine children moved here six weeks ago and were preparing the house for Mrs. Facchiano and the other five children who still are in Philadelphia. They were all asleep downstairs when the fire started and the father is believed to have lost his life searching for the children.

Firemen estimated the loss at $4,000. In Philadelphia the Facchianos lived at 482 Umbria street.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The Stock Market quietly receded today, giving up much of yesterday's advance.

It was one of the duller sessions of the year, however, and few losses were much in excess of a point. With such economic uncertainties impending as the war debt situation and other problems confronting the Congress session, the tendency among professional traders, was to let the market drift. The list stiffened a little toward midday, but price movements were of a decidedly indecisive character.

Case, after losing as much as 2 points, recovered a fraction. American Telephone reacted nearly 2 points, and likewise came back fractionally. Among issues off a point or so were U. S. Steel, American Tobacco, Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, United Aircraft, New York Central, Union Pacific, and a few others.

Brokerage quarters expressed the hope that some decisive action might be taken by Congress early in the session which would stimulate business and in consequence, the securities markets. It was recalled that tendency in the market in recent December, with a New Year's recovery getting under way toward the end of the month, but the market appeared so completely sold out that bullish inclined quarters were hopeful that a rally might get under way earlier in December than that it has in the past three years. The uncertainties were so plentiful, however, that Wall street was inclined to extreme caution.

A fresh factor appeared in international financial affairs, with the recommendation of the advisory committee of the Argentine government that negotiations be started to obtain a reduction in the service payments on the country's debt. That country's predicament is largely attributed to the extremely low prices prevailing for wheat and livestock.

The reaction in commodity prices since early September, which has been even more abrupt than that of securities, has brought considerable discouragement. The movement has evidently been hastened by the weakness of the pound sterling. Bar silver in the New York market today sagged 1-4 of a cent to 25 cents an ounce, the lowest in history. Commodity price indices now show that but a tiny fraction remains of the recovery in prices from June to September.

The weekly mercantile reviews were somewhat mixed in tenor. Dun's felt that the pre-holiday retail trade was starting under circumstances more auspicious than a year ago. Bradstreet's, however, stressed the declining tendency in a number of lines of business.

STUDENTS ARRESTED

New Haven, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Three Yale students including Victor Mallin, 23, of Brooklyn, N. Y., varsity football center, were arraigned in City Court today on charges of injury to public property, breach of the peace and intoxication, following a disturbance in the New Haven business center.

Edward King, 21, of New York and Walter Kelly, 19, of Scarsdale, N. Y., were arrested at one o'clock with Mallin. Their cases were continued until next Thursday and each was released in $100 bond.

Police said the trio was in a group of about 20 students who made disturbances through the city. Traffic posts were broken or toppled over during the demonstration.

NUTMEG-TRAIL MEETS IN EAST HARTFORD

Quarterly Session of Epworth League To Be Held Tonight; To Try To Win Banner.

The Nutmeg Trail of Epworth League will meet at the East Hartford Methodist church at 8 o'clock tonight. A business meeting will be held, followed by a social hour. Thomas Conner of the South Methodist church here is president of the Trail and will preside at the business session, at which plans will be announced for the mid-winter institute.

At each meeting of the Trail, held quarterly, a banner is awarded the League with the largest attendance. South Manchester won the banner at Rockville in September and the local League is hopeful of winning it again tonight. Members will meet at the South Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock. Transportation will be furnished to East Hartford.

CARRIES ALL-BRAN ON EVERY VOYAGE

Seaman Finds This Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Here is an unsolicited letter from Mr. Darragh:

"I have been going to sea for the past fourteen years. Every trip, I underwent severe headaches, nervousness, and sleeplessness. Tried all sorts of remedies, and received only temporary relief.

"So hearing about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN thought I would get a box, which I did. That was six months ago, haven't been without it yet home, and when I get to sea a box of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is always with me."—George D. Darragh, 1914 82nd Avenue, Oakland, California.

Tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things for common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

How much pleasanter this is than taking pills and drugs is often harmful. Two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily will correct most types of constipation. It not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve at 8 a.m. or use in cooking. Get the red-and-green packages at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

YOUNG MAN CONFESSES WRITING RANSOM NOTES

Marblehead, Mass., Dec. 2.—(AP)—A series of kidnaping threats that had stirred the north shore town of Marblehead were believed to have been ended today as police and postal inspectors debated as to what action they would take against the local youth who, they said, confessed he was responsible. Authorities refused to disclose the name of the youth who was trapped by his inability to spell the words "pavilion" and "restaurant" correctly. The words were misspelled in the threatening letters and police said the accused youth made the same mistakes when asked to write the words at police headquarters. The writer also used a brand of paper that has not been manufactured for some years and this also aided the authorities in their investigation. The youth was not immediately charged with any offense, after breaking down before questioning, but officials hinted that he might be subjected to a mental test. State Senator Malcolm Bell was among those who received letters demanding money. He had been notified by $80,000 at a cemetery or his two children would be kidnaped. The note added that if the money was not forthcoming, "there will be a funeral some day." Traps were laid at two cemeteries where packages were deposited but no one appeared. Howard Lillibridge, chairman of the Board of Selectmen and two business men also received threatening notes.

United States is looked upon as a sort of "slay" game in South Africa. Lou Stuppel, right halfback on the University of Pennsylvania's championship soccer team, has disclosed that only girls play basketball in the land of the Boers and the gold mines and he scoffs at the idea that he should take up the game here. In Jeppe high school at Johannesburg Stuppel was a five-letter athlete, playing on the varsity teams in cricket, rugby, tennis, track and soccer. He is studying dentistry at Pennsylvania.

BETSY ROSS FLIERS ARE NOW ORGANIZED

Kansas City, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The farmerettes and conductorettes who replaced American man power during the World War have a group of new sisters in the Betty Ross Corp., a fleet of ladybirds ready to take over the duties of men, aviators in times of national emergency. Their numbers are small—now—about 200. But that is no barometer of the growing esprit de corps among these licensed fliers with their natty military coats, brown berets, and jodhpurs. The roster lists nurses, dieticians, business women, teachers and club women. Miss Dorothy A. Lyon, the National commander, is office manager of a Kansas City bakery firm and took up flying for fun. Leaving her busy desk for a few minutes she made it known that the corps was not formed to satisfy the spectacular whims of those adept in barrel rolling and looping-the-loop. Under their pledge the women are ready to carry out missions of mercy and duty, either in time of peace or war. They may be called on to fly over stricken areas, devastated by floods, hurricanes, or forest fires, with food and medical supplies. In war they could report for duty as commercial pilots, aerial ambulance aviators or mail pilots.

GIVE VERNON TEACHERS ANOTHER SALARY CUT

Save $1,000 Off Budget To Meet Appropriation Made At Annual Town Meeting.

(Special to The Herald) Rockville, Dec. 2.—(AP)—An aggregate cut in salaries of approximately $1,000 was handed to the teachers of the city of Rockville and the town of Vernon yesterday by the Town School Committee in reducing their budget from $112,300 to $110,000, which amount was allotted for schools at the annual town meeting.

NOT ALL DOLL HOUSES BOUGHT FOR KIDDIES

Mothers and Even Grandmothers Furnish Them As a Hobby.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Not all those who play with doll houses are little girls. They are just as likely to be mothers—even grandmothers—and their grownup friends. For years toy salespeople have smiled knowingly when daddy bought an elaborate electric train for junior whose head didn't touch the counter top.

SECRET SERVICE READY TO GUARD ROOSEVELT

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—When Franklin D. Roosevelt starts his ride to the White House March 4 after the inauguration ceremonies at the capitol, he will find himself surrounded quietly by half a dozen well dressed men from the most efficient president-protecting organization in the world—the United States Secret Service.

POLISH STUDENTS RIOT

Warsaw, Poland, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Police used their clubs and fire hose on Polish student demonstrators today, an aftermath of previous rioting this week which resulted fatally for two Polish students.

LABOR CONVENTION NEARS ADJOURNMENT

Cincinnati, Dec. 2.—(AP)—With a battle cry from President William Green ringing in their ears, delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention moved today toward adjournment.

ABOUT TOWN

The Forget-me-not Junior Circle of King's Daughters will meet at the home of the leader, Miss Beatrice L. Lydall of 22 Hudson street tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Miss Geraldine Risley and Miss Faith Stevenson will have charge of the program.

Mrs. Winfield M. Chase of North Main street has returned after a visit with the family of her daughter in Otis, Mass.

The Manchester Kiwanis club will meet at the Hotel Sheridan Monday noon. The guest speaker will be Charles E. Caulkins of the Travelers Insurance Company. He comes here on the invitation of E. J. Holl.

Luther Leaguers of Emanuel Lutheran church will entertain the members of the New Britain Lutheran League at the meeting at 8 o'clock this evening at the church. Miss Eva Johnson, chairman, will be assisted by L. Burdette Hawley, Herbert Benson, Ruth Rudeen, Clarence O. Anderson, Helen Gustafson, Mildred Gustafson, Fred Lavey, Elna Dahlman and Lillian Dahlman.

Sunset Rebekah lodge members and the drill teams will be guests at Lucy Hayes Lodge of Springfield this evening. The local Rebekah drill team will put on an exhibition drill. It is expected that two bus loads of members and private cars will make the trip.

The Nutmeg Trail Epworth League will hold its quarterly meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the East Hartford Methodist church. At the business session plans will be made for the annual midwinter institute. A program of entertainment and refreshments will follow.

The first December meeting of the American Legion auxiliary will take place Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the State Armory. At this time Mrs. Agnes Welles, department rehabilitation chairman, will be a guest and will speak on rehabilitation work. Members are reminded of the grocery shower on that evening for the Christmas baskets.

Another of the popular low-priced dances will be held tonight at the School street Recreation Center, with music by Art McKay's Troubadors. If the support continues it is proposed to run these dances every week during the winter season.

Group No. 1 of the Memorial Hospital Linen auxiliary, Mrs. James M. Shearer, leader, will meet for work Monday afternoon at the Center church house.

In addition to Highland Park, children have been skating on Rickety Pond just off Oak Grove street. Both of these small ponds are well sheltered which accounts for their being frozen while the larger lakes still contain much open water.

The Women's Federation of the Center Congregational church are making plans for a Christmas party to be held in the parlors, Wednesday evening of next week at 8 o'clock. There will be Christmas carols, Christmas readings, refreshments and a general social time, in charge of the following hostesses: Mrs. G. W. Findlay, Mrs. Edna Case Parker, Mrs. Eva White, Mrs. Leiland Wood, Mrs. Herbert House, Mrs. C. P. Quimby will arrange for the music.

Rev. Oliver W. Bell of Hazardville will be the speaker at the Manchester Young People's Federation meeting at the Second Congregational church, Friday evening, December 9.

Mrs. William Humphrey and John Anderson won first prizes last night at the setback given by the Women of the Moose and the L. O. O. M. Mrs. Giglio and Paul Cervini, second prizes and Mrs. Leon Clark and James McFarland, third. The fourth and final sitting of the present series will take place Thursday evening of next week at the Home Clubhouse on Brainard Place. On this evening grand prizes will be awarded and six regular prizes. Sandwiches and coffee followed the games last night.

People of the South Methodist church will be privileged to hear two of their favorite speakers on Sunday. Rev. Dr. Robert F. Moore of Providence will preach in the morning at 10:40 and Rev. W. H. Bath, a former pastor and now superintendent of the Providence district, will speak at the 7 o'clock evening service.

The Manchester Green Community club will run the usual setback and dance this evening at the school assembly hall in that section. Players will have the opportunity of trying to win Christmas turkeys for first prizes and dollar bills for second. A brief business meeting of the Community club will precede the social.

The regular monthly meeting of the Young People's Society of the Concordia Lutheran church will be held this evening in the church parlors. Officers for the current year will be elected. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Katherine A. Jones of 13 Northfield street will leave tomorrow for a short stay in New York City.

The usual semi-annual inspection and examination of the locks and mechanism of the vault and safe at the Manchester Trust Company is being made today by a representative of the York Safe and Lock Company of York, Pa. This company visits banks twice a year and makes a thorough examination of the working apparatus to be sure that it functions properly. The inspection usually takes about one day.

Alfred Greal has installed a "Quiet May" oil burner at the Maple Maternity Home, operated by Miss Margery Squatrito.

Mary C. Keeney Tent, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, held its regular meeting last evening at the State Armory and chose its elective officers for the coming year. Miss Beatrice Dart, the president, following the meeting entertained her associate officers and the other members at her home on Flower street. A social time with refreshments was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Wilson have taken up their residence at 93 Cambridge street. Mrs. Wilson prior to her marriage was Miss Catherine Murphy of Vernon. Mr. Wilson is well known locally as an employee of the Southern New England Telephone company, and a member of Manchester Lodge A. F. & A. M.
