

TO PASS BEER BILL EARLY THIS WEEK

Chairman Collier Predicts Measure Will Be Passed By House On Wednesday, May Raise Tax.

Washington, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Chairman Collier of the House ways and means committee today predicted to newspapermen that the Democratic 3.3 beer bill would be passed by the House Wednesday.

"It may be that we can get a vote late tomorrow," said the chairman, after recurring to the parliamentary procedure to be followed.

He and Representative Hawley of Oregon, ranking Republican on the committee, who is opposed to the bill, both said they had not been informed as to who would offer amendments.

Representative Michener of Michigan, assistant Republican leader, in the absence of Representative Snell of New York, minority chairman, said the measure "will not be a party matter."

Michener also said he did not know who would offer an amendment to reduce the alcoholic content from 3.2 per cent by weight to 2.75 per cent, but added, "I feel sure one will be offered."

Meanwhile, Representative O'Connor (D., N. Y.), co-author of the O'Connor-Hull beer bill defeated in the last session 228 to 169, indicated he would propose the tax on beer be increased from $5 to $7.50 a barrel of 31 gallons.

Representative LaGuardia of New York, one of the anti-prohibitionists, is giving study to the measure's provision on distribution. He indicated he would propose an amendment to place further restrictions on the method of distribution.

REACH NO ACCORD ON A WAGE SCALE

Labor and Railroads Fail To Come To Understanding At Parley.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Labor and the railroads resumed their exchange of letters on the subject of wages today, the Brotherhood noting that apparently the two groups were in a state of "irreconcilable disagreement" on the right of the railroads to serve notice of intention to change the basic rate of pay.

Nevertheless, the employes suggested that the present temporary 10 per cent cut be extended for exactly one year with all the terms of the "Willard agreement" of last Jan. 31 in force.

This amended proposal of the labor delegates to the joint wage conference was set forth in a letter from Alexander F. Whitney, Brotherhood chairman, to W. P. Flaherty, Burlington general manager and conference chairman.

The employes have contended that the "Willard agreement" forbids the railroads to give notice of any basic wage change.

They affirmed their stand on that point in the letter, but they withdrew their proposal that the carriers occur in their view. The letter said it would be "understood that each side reserve every right and accept every obligation which they had under the original agreement and during the period of it."

The unions said they did not wish to settle at this conference the question of whether the carriers could propose at any time a reduction of basic rates.

CLAIMS MILLIONS LENT TO INSOLVENT COMPANY

Witness Says He Made No Inquiry About the Financial Standing of the Insull Corporation.

New York, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Louis F. Jacobson of Chicago, counsel for Insull creditors, continued at today's session of the bankruptcy hearing of the Insull Utility Investment Corp. to claim that this millions of dollars they lent to the company.

The first witness today was William Gray, a vice-president of the Central Hanover bank, which lent approximately $26,000,000 to companies controlled by Insull. He described a conference between himself, Insull and George W. Davidson, president of the Central Hanover, which was the kind of a "kick the can" he said, but warned "it was necessary for everyone to leave us alone at our work."

Streets, squares and buildings soon will spring into being in this city, now only a huge field half way between the sea and Serraneta mountains.

Facist Program The premier announced a facist program for agricultural development to be completed by 1935. It includes the building of three large agricultural centers, at Pontina, Pontinia and Musconine. The site of the latter has been selected in Sardinia.

The city of Latoria was mapped out after years of labor sponsored by the Fascist party. The association had completed a wide stretch of swampy land "habitable only by the land and come to Latoria for marketing, diversion and study. Insull will have a great central square, known as the Forum, which will be twice the size of Rome's Piazza Colonna.

PRESIDENT DISCUSSES WAR DEBTS IN NOTE

High School Student Flunking Deliberately

New Britain, Dec. 19.—(AP)—A high school student who flunked college credits here today when the school board received a petition signed by 118 pupils at the senior high school declaring that many members of the class which will be graduated in February are "deliberately flunking" to outwit the board which has placed a ban on post graduate courses. The ban was adopted for economic reasons although special exceptions may be made by the superintendent of schools if a pupil wishes to return as a post-graduate to complete college credits.

The petitioners admit that some pupils take post-graduate courses for "horse play" but declare this type is in the minority. They claim that in many instances pupils who intended to enter college are prevented from doing so because of the depression which has affected their parents and that these should be permitted to take post-graduate courses instead of walking the streets in idleness.

THREE CONTESTS IN NEW ENGLAND

One in Maine and Two in This State Have Followed the Election.

Washington, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The November election is gone but not forgotten in some New England Congressional districts.

The occupant of one Maine seat has not been officially determined. A contest has been filed in one Connecticut district and according to reports reaching here, another is imminent.

State officials have reached a deadlock in their efforts to determine whether John G. Utterback, Democrat, or former Governor Ralph G. Sawyer, Republican, shall be declared elected.

Under normal procedure it will take four or five months for the collection of evidence and the filing of briefs. Meanwhile Goez will continue to serve.

Reports have been heard here that William C. Fox, Democrat, is considering bringing a contest against the election of Secretary William L. Higgins to one Connecticut seat. A "wet party" ticket in the district complicated the election, Fox contending that many voters were cast for the "wet party" candidates in the belief that a poll of the prohibition question in the state was being registered.

If Fox does file a contest it will not come to the attention of House officials until testimony has been taken and the case complete.

Would Cooperate With President-Elect Roosevelt To Insure Continuity of America's Foreign Policy Especially Relating To War Debts—Talks of Appointing a Debt Commission.

Washington, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Cooperation with President-Elect Roosevelt to insure continuity of American foreign policy, particularly as to war debts, the world economic conference, and disarmament was proposed today by President Hoover in a message to Congress.

Lacking congressional approval for revival of the war debt commission, the President declared it necessary for him to proceed independent of Congress to set up machinery for further debt discussions with those nations who have not defaulted.

He suggested an interlocking of the debt, economic, and disarmament questions and indicated that a commission on debts would be appointed soon by him, some of the members of which would also be delegates to the world economic conference set for next year, while others would have a liaison with the present disarmament negotiations.

It is the assumption here that Mr. Hoover already has made some overtures toward Mr. Roosevelt, and that the President will soon issue a message which is to handle the debt discussions will be submitted to the President-elect for his approval before appointment.

With respect to the economic conference, in particular, the President was said to feel that Hoover was the man who are to sit at the conference table are appointed and given an opportunity to prepare before March 10 the conference might lead to a post-war international summit.

The message, it is believed, is to the world economic conference reached must remain at national matters between individual governments. The suggestion was, however, that inasmuch as these debts could not be entirely divorced from the general economic situation, a close coordination of American viewpoint on the whole subject was necessary.

"The situation is one of such urgency," the message concluded, "that we require national solidarity and national cooperation in the service of the welfare of the American people and indeed if we are to conquer the forces which today threaten the very foundations of civilization."

As soon as the message was received in the Senate, Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), asked for a quorum call to bring the Senate membership to chamber for the reading.

The document was read by a clerk to a silent and attentive gathering within a few minutes, but in the House of Representatives it was put aside temporarily before reading.

The only mention of this subject in the message to the Congress, however, was as follows: "Discussions in respect to both debt questions and the world economic conference can not be completed during my administration, yet the economic situation in the world necessitates the preliminary work essential to its success. The undertaking of these preliminary questions should not be delayed until after March 4th."

It proposes, therefore, to seek the cooperation of President-Elect Roosevelt in the organization of machinery for advancement of consideration of these problems.

A year ago I requested that the Congress should authorize the creation of a debt commission to deal with situations which were being brought about by the war debts. The Congress did not take any action. In the situation as it has developed it appears necessary for the executive to proceed.

"Obviously any conclusions would be subject to approval by the Congress."

Against Commission The President reiterated his views against cancellation or reduction without adequate compensation and said it would "meet my hearty approval" if Congress should decline to reestablish the debt commission. Congressional opposition to such steps is so strong, however, that the Chief Executive stated he thought that previous recommendations of his were being fulfilled.

Mr. Hoover only negatively excluded from the proposed commission those nations including Germany and Russia, which have not defaulted on their war debts.

BURNS' PAL TELLS CHAIN GANG STORY

Says Burns Bribed a Guard To Escape; Held Up Baker and Got $800.

Seattle, Dec. 19.—(AP)—A seaman who voyaged in the engine rooms of ships but whose home is in Seattle, claims he was a hold-up partner of Robert Elliott Burns, fugitive from Georgia justice, in misdeeds preceding their arrests in 1921.

The man, Sidney George Flagg, said he was pardoned in 1928 after having served more than seven years on a chain gang. Meantime, he says, Burns bribed a guard and escaped.

"I am not a fugitive from a chain gang," he said in a copyrighted story published today by the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. "I am free."

"Unlike Robert Elliott Burns, I stayed to pay."

PERSIA DEFENDS ITS OIL RIGHTS

Russian Newspaper Says It Will Use Force Against Britain If Necessary.

Moscow, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The Tass (Russian) News Agency correspondent at Teheran, Persia, reports today that the newspaper Shefa E Serkh, in an article attacking officials of the Anglo-Persian oil company for failing to revise its government concession contract as allegedly promised, warned that the Persian government is prepared to defend its rights by force if necessary.

"The company tried by means of different flattering promises and deceptions practiced on members of the Persian government to make the world believe, the concession had been sanctioned," he quoted the newspaper as saying.

"Proof of this was found in the fact that the company's manager, Mr. Cadman, was in Teheran in the spring of 1926 for the coronation of the Shah, at which time he

PACKERS PROTEST TAX ON PRODUCTS

Say They Cannot Pass It On To Public In Shape of Increased Prices.

Washington, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Representatives of the packing industry told the House agricultural committee today that processing taxes imposed by the Federal allotment farm relief plan would mean lower prices to the hog producer.

Frank A. Hunter, president of the Hunter Packing Company of East St. Louis, Ill., and George E. Putnam, chairman for Swift & Co., of Chicago, were the witnesses.

"Both testified the processing levy of $2 a hundred pounds could not be passed on to the buyer of pork products. They said also that packers could not absorb this tax."

"You're asking the hog industry to bring the country out of depression," Hunter said. "We have a big job. Under the public purchasing power, you can't increase prices."

SAYS PRISON HEAD DUPED COMMITTEE

Congressman Claims Convicts Are Competing With Private Manufacturers.

Washington, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Representative Rich (R., Pa.), charged today at a House committee hearing that Sanford Bates, director of the bureau of prisons, had misled the members of the committee of Representatives investigating government competition with private business by insisting that the manufacture of furniture at the Federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa.

was a "private" industry. He testified that the steel furniture equipment in the Lewisburg prison, "would enable the manufacture of more steel furniture than all other private makers in the United States combined."

A member of the committee headed by Representative Shannon (D., Mo.), Rich said "I understood him correctly, and I think I did. Bates came here and told us that he would try to stop the placing of high speed machinery in that Lewisburg prison."

Here's the Way to Control Those Miserable Colds So Prevalent Here Now

With Flu Spreading From the West, Authorities Urge Extra Precaution Against Colds

THE so-called Flu, or epidemic of colds, which started on the West Coast a month ago, is spreading rapidly over the country. However, there appears no immediate cause for alarm.

But take no chances! Colds pull down body resistance and often pave the way for pneumonia and other serious complications. For greatest safety and protection, follow Vicks Plan for better Control of Colds.

TO BUILD RESISTANCE: Live normally—don't worry. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Eliminate regularly. Drink lots of water. Eat light, wholesome food.

TO PREVENT MANY COLDS: At that first feeling of stuffiness or nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze—Nature's usual warning that a cold is coming on—use Vicks Nose & Throat Drops, the new aid in preventing colds.

TO END A COLD SOONER: If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, vigorous measures are necessary. Rest as much as possible, preferably in bed. Take a mild laxative, if needed.

Follow Vicks Plan for Better CONTROL of Colds (See Full Details in Each Vicks Package.)

SHOPPING NEWS

Last Lap Today starts the last lap of the shopping race before Christmas. Of course, everybody should have their shopping all done long before Christmas Eve...

Getting money for Christmas? To spend as you wish? It will assume permanent value if you put it into the home by having necessary painting, papering, and furniture refinishing done.

Christmas Candy Something else to stock up with for the holiday is Christmas candy. We mean one special kind when we say "Christmas candy."

While Shopping In the midst of your shopping, drop into the Arthur Drug Store, Rubino Building, sit down and rest yourself, warm up with a delicious cup of hot chocolate or a light lunch, and then you'll be prepared to continue the strain of gift hunting, feeling very much refreshed and rested.

Her Choice We have just seen a swatch of "Eleanor Blue" velvet, a cool orchid-y shade, which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt recently chose for a gown. She is very fond of velvet.

The Beauty Nook The special rate of three 50c services for $1.00 will be in effect today, Tuesday and Wednesday only of this week at Mary Elizabeth's Beauty Nook, Rubino Building. So you will benefit by having an appointment early in the week. Phone 8011.

Good Two Ways A colorful, "showy" salad as named "Apple Ring Salad." Slice rings of bright red, tender apples. Dip them into lemon juice or French Dressing, to flavor and to prevent darkening. Spread each ring with cream cheese. Between each ring, place a date, stuffed with celery and mayonnaise. The bright red apple skin, the green of the lettuce and the white cheese are effective to look at, as well as good to eat.

Ribbonz and Tinsel Braid for wrapping gifts come in unusually long lengths in 5c, 10c, and 15c spools and packages, all colors, at Cheney Hall Salesroom.

Timely Atmosphere There are lovely Christmas linens this year, some damask pieces with holly designs, just for such occasions. And the stores have innumerable paper gadgets with which you can fix your table. From Christmas dinner down to the smallest bit of entertaining, the occasion can be made memorable by timely decorations.

We had a sample taste this morning of the "peel-in-your-mouth" Christmas candy made and sold at The Tea Room, Main street. It's stretched thin, made in delicious flavors, and boxed at 2 lbs. for 29c. We recommend it.

A Thoughtful Idea A number of bridge clubs and other groups have hit upon the idea of buying food for a needy family with the money they ordinarily spend to buy small gifts for each other at their Christmas meeting. The ten-cent or quarter gifts which they exchange means very little to those who receive them, except the fun involved. We noticed in the New York Times list of contributions to the Hundred Neediest yesterday that a "Thursday Club" had donated the money "that changed hands at bridge."

Won't Stock Up We learn that since the three cent stamp became effective, people just refuse to stock up on stamps. They buy fewer at a time, and consequently they make more requests for stamps at the stores.

Effective Wrappings A sprig of real greens tucked under the ribbon gives the Christmas-y smell of pine to a gift package. Another effective idea which produces a dazzling package is to use the tinsel rope that goes onto Christmas trees, instead of the regular ribbons or twine. Big rosettes of red ribbon are most attractive. These are not made right on the box. You'll get into difficulties if you try that. Make the rosette separately by folding the ribbon back and forth in the hands. Tie it around the center. And then tie it onto the package.

Special Christmas packages of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco of all leading brands are featured at attractive prices at Magnell's Drug Store. Be sure the smokers get their Christmas supply!

DISTRICT LEADER IN LOCAL PULPIT Rev. G. G. Scrivener, Norwich Supt., Substitutes For Rev. Colpitts.

Rev. George G. Scrivener, superintendent of the Norwich district, preached the morning service at the South Methodist Episcopal church yesterday in the absence of the regular pastor, Rev. Robert A. Colpitts, who has been ill since the first of November. Rev. Scrivener will preach again next Sunday and Rev. Colpitts will return to his pulpit the first Sunday in January, but on a somewhat limited work program.

Rev. Scrivener, who was pastor at the local church for six years about 15 years ago, took his text from Romans, eighth chapter, 38th and 39th verses, which read: "For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

The subject of his sermon was "I Am Persuaded." "Science and religion are continually conflicting," said Rev. Scrivener. "People are saying that science will outdo religion and that this will happen before very long. But what I want to prove is that this assertion is wrong. The scientist is very sure of his facts and theories and we should also be equally sure of our religion."

"Very few people say that there is no God. What most people say is, 'We do not know—we are not sure.' The Apostle Paul believed in the following three truths: God is faithful; God is able; God is love." Rev. Scrivener brought out the point that we too must be sure of these three truths in order to be sure of our religion.

Rev. Scrivener was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Keith at dinner following the morning sermon. He attended a special meeting of the church board. A committee was raised at this meeting to take care of the needy in the parish.

NEW CHINESE ENVOY

Hongkong, China, Dec. 19.—(AP)—As a result of resumption of diplomatic relations between China and Soviet Russia, unofficial reports were received here that Dr. Chao-Chu' Wu, former Chinese foreign minister, may return to Washington as minister to the United States.

Reports from Nanking yesterday said Dr. W. W. Yen, who had been minister at Washington, would be the new ambassador to Soviet Russia. Dr. Alfred Sze was selected acting minister to the United States when Dr. Yen went to Geneva as head of Chinese delegation at the League of Nations.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Indianapolis, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Given a "fighting chance" to recover, Powers Hagood, 32-year-old Indiana Socialist leader was in a hospital today with an abdominal wound suffered Saturday when a pistol carried by a friend was discharged accidentally.

Hagood, state chairman of the Socialist Party, its candidate for governor in the November election and secretary of the Socco-Vanetti defense committee in 1927, was shot at his suburban home where he and William L. Hines, his life-long friend, were engaging in target practice.

LONERGAN STUDIES TRAFFIC

Washington, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Representative Lonergan of Hartford wants better traffic laws in the District of Columbia. He has been conferring with W. A. Vanduser, director of vehicles and traffic here, about improving driving regulations.

When he has completed his survey, Lonergan said, he plans to submit recommendations to the House committee on the district.

BISHOP APPOINTED AT S. A. CITADEL

Vatican City, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Father Daniel Desmond of Somerville, Mass., was appointed bishop of Alexandria, La., by Pope Pius today.

Somerville, Mass., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Pope Pius selected a war chaplain and a hero today when he named the Rev. Daniel Desmond of Somerville, as bishop of Alexandria, La.

During the war Father Desmond served with the army and he also gained prominence while at Medford in 1922 when he ran into a burning house and rescued Mrs. Mary Domiano. Father Desmond is a native of Haverhill and a graduate of Holy Cross college.

CALLS BEER BILL POPULAR MEASURE

Congressman Condon Says Only Disapproval of President Can Stop Passage.

Washington, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Representative Condon (D, R. I.), in a statement today said passage of the Collier beer bill would be "the most popular act that this Lame Duck Congress can perform."

"I shall vote for the bill," said Condon, "because it is a fulfillment of the solemn pledge made by the Democratic Party at its National convention that it would favor a modification of the Volstead Act to permit the sale of beer to supply a much-needed revenue for the support of the government."

"I believe that this bill is constitutional and will not be held violative of the 18th Amendment if questioned in the Supreme Court." "The prompt action of the ways and means committee, under the direction of the Democratic leaders of the House, is further proof of the intention of the Democratic Party to remain the pledges which it made to the people in the last campaign. It is my opinion that this bill will be passed by the House by a substantial majority, and after the holidays will be promptly considered by the Senate."

"It has been estimated by those not so conservative in their estimates as the secretary of the Treasury that after its first year of operation this bill will yield at least $250,000,000 in Federal taxes."

"To eliminate entirely the unlawful manufacture and sale of all bootlegged liquor is one of the primary objects of this legislation. If the tax was made too high this worthy object would fail of accomplishment and there would be little value in passing the bill." "Fortunately the committee acted with wisdom and moderation in considering this important phase of the bill. Only the disapproval of the President, in my opinion, can now prevent legalized manufacture and sale of beer this winter."

TO HELP NEEDY

Washington, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Arrangements were made today for the house to set on the Jones bill to give 250,000 bales of Free Board cotton to the Red Cross to alleviate cold among the unemployed, and on the McReynolds measure to pay the Mexican government $30,000 on the death of two of its nationals.

TO CONTINUE BUSINESS

Bridgeport, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Judge Frank P. McEvoy granted permission today to Thomas J. Bowen, receiver for the Danbury News Company, to continue the company's business for one month or until a further order is issued by the Superior Court.

AVIATOR IS KILLED; CRASHES IN MOUNTAIN

Denville, Calif., Dec. 19.—(AP)—His last flight ended in a flaming crash near here, Claire Kinsey Vance, fifth ranking aviator pilot in the United States, rode today in the Valhalla of pilots who have died "taking the mail through."

The 35-year-old World War veteran drove his straining plane into the side of Rocky Ridge, four miles west of this town. The burned wreck was reached by a foot party last night after being located from the air by a fellow pilot.

The ridge, the last between Oakland and the level Sacramento valley, is about 2,000 feet high. The plane struck about 100 feet from the top, apparently flying at normal speed, officials of the air lines said. They expressed the opinion Vance, caught by a heavy fog, was depending on the instrument board alone to direct his course and elevation.

LINDBERGH SUSPECT RELEASED BY POLICE

Proves That He Was In New York City On the Night of the Kidnaping.

New York, Dec. 19.—(AP)—William Leonard Stoltz, an unemployed laborer, was back at his free lodging house today after having spent yesterday at police headquarters answering questions as to his whereabouts on the night last spring when Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's first son was kidnaped from the nursery of his home near Hopewell, N. J.

The 35-year-old man was picked up at the request of Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey state police, who said he had received a letter from the sheriff of a town near Akron, Ohio, stating that Stoltz passed through there about a month ago.

Brigadier Albert Bates said that the new pulpit should be an inspiration to the younger people in the army to continue on, doing the good work in as happy and helpful a manner as the founders, many of whom had gone on to their reward.

LEVETTINE WINS SUIT

Bridgeport, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Jacob Levettine of New York won his suit against his uncle, Jacob Levy of Westport for the control of stock of the New England Brewing Company, owners of a large brewing plant in Hartford, under a ruling made today by Judge Frank P. McEvoy of the Superior Court, who dismissed the complaint brought by Edward K. Nicholson as trustee, against Jacob Levettine. He also dissolved the injunction against Levettine, which enjoined him from disposing of his stock and voting on it. Judge McEvoy made no written statement on it. Levettine will remain in possession of the brewery stock.

DEDICATE PULPIT AT S. A. CITADEL

Gift of Perrett Family Honors Well Known Worker in Army's Cause.

A beautiful golden oak pulpit, the gift of the Perrett family of Manchester, was dedicated yesterday afternoon in the Salvation Army hall, honoring Lucy A. Perrett, a faithful and beloved worker in the ranks of the local corps twenty years ago.

Brigadier and Mrs. Albert E. Bates conducted the dedication ceremony and Miss Beatrice Perrett unveiled the new pulpit representing a loving gift in memory of the deceased, William A. Perrett, husband of the Salvationist. It was invited by Brigadier to speak from the pulpit for the first time. He said that it had been the desire of the family for some time to honor the memory of their wife and mother through the medium of a gift of a beautiful and permanent fixture in the Salvation Army hall which the deceased loved so dearly.

EXTRA INSTRUCTIONS

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Commander George L. Weyler, aide to the superintendent of the United States Naval Academy, today said a number of midshipmen will be kept at the school over the holidays for "extra instruction."

He said it was impossible to say how many would remain at the Academy because the examinations would not be completed until Wednesday. None, he added, would be kept here for disciplinary action. The Christmas and New Year vacation will begin Friday afternoon and end on the evening of January 2.

ENGLAND EXPERIENCES WARM WEATHER SPELL

Warmest in Seven Years—Rains Cause Floods in Northern Part of Island.

London, Dec. 19.—(AP)—While cables tell of severe weather in the United States, this country was experiencing the warmest December in seven years today, especially in the south where an average temperature was 57 degrees.

In the north, however, rains and gales on a big scale caused disastrous floods. The lakes of Derwentwater, Bassenthwaite and Thirlmere, familiar to tourists, overflowed following six hours of rain and many miles were flooded and hundreds of persons driven from their homes.

Streams became rushing rivers and part of the town of Maryport, a watering place 25 miles southwest of Carlisle, was flooded by four or five feet of water. People were rescued from upper windows. Serious flooding also was reported in wide areas of Scotland with roads impassable and bridges damaged. Two deaths were reported.

MARY TYLER DEAD

Washington, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Miss Mary A. Tyler, 90, a descendant of President Tyler and former preceptress at Dan Academy in Massachusetts, died last night after having been an invalid five years. Miss Tyler was born in Warren, Mass., where her ashes will be buried following cremation. She was a member of the Massachusetts Society of the D. A. B.

NEW AIR SERVICE

New York, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Clyde took off from Floyd Bennett Airport last night on the inaugural flight of a 17-hour, coast to coast air express. Another plane left the west coast at the same time. Fanghorn, flying a plane with a 225-horsepower motor, carried 771 pounds of freight.

Mrs. Curtis Dall, daughter of President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, will dedicate the new daily service when the second westward plane takes off tonight. The service was instituted by the Air Express Corporation. The planes will carry no passengers or mail. Packages are limited in weight to 200 pounds.

The westward planes will make five stops enroute to Burbank, Calif., and will change pilots at Wichita, Kans.

HIGHWAYS FLOODED

Caratunk, Maine, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Another rush of water and ice from the Kennebec river today had again flooded the highway to Jackman and Quebec, and the water was so high that efforts to open the road were temporarily abandoned.

Approximately one and one-half miles of the arterial highway to Canada were flooded and the ice rush last midnight—the third in 24 hours—placed six feet of water in one of the dugouts on higher ground which previously had been clear. Andrew Holden, a state highway commission employe, estimated that stretches of the road were under 10 or 12 feet of rushing water and anchor ice.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 19
UNEMPLOYMENT REPORT
 While the Connecticut Unemployment Commission created by the 1931 session of the General Assembly has handed, at the outset, a completely impossible task, its report, of which an abbreviated synopsis appears in this issue of The Herald, is one of the finest pieces of work ever done by any kind of a special commission in this state.

We speak of the Commission's task as an impossible one because it was asked not only to "investigate unemployment in order to discover means of alleviating the same," but to embody in its report "recommendations for remedial legislation." Inasmuch as this carries with it the unexpressed implication that the commission's recommendations must not only provide a remedy but stand a reasonable chance of being enacted into law the difficulty of its duties is obvious. Nothing can possibly remedy unemployment without involving stupendous social and economic changes for which no mere three years of depression would ever suffice to prepare the mass mind of the Connecticut General Assembly.

Realizing this, of course, the commission has confined its recommendations to three proposed measures, one to encourage the setting aside of reserves by corporations in connection with a scheme for the establishment of unemployment insurance, one creating a State Board of Industry and one charging the State Board of Finance and Control with the development of a six year plan for public works.

Yet if the Commission's medicines strike a good many persons as bread pills a little expensive at the price of $25,000—the sum appropriated for the Commission's work—the vast amount of research accomplished and the highly intelligible form in which it is presented may very well be worth the money and more. The Commission's report is a veritable text book on the subject and if members of the Legislature will take the not inconsiderable time necessary for its perusal their preparation for the consideration of unemployment measures of any sort will be greatly enhanced.

The pamphlet embracing the report contains an array of facts and carefully worked out statistics which, together with a scholarly if somewhat conservative analysis of the unemployment problem, forms an admirable starting point from which the General Assembly may, if it should suddenly develop the needed leadership and energy, start an attack on involuntary joblessness.

NOT UP TO PRESIDENT
 Debate on the Collier bear bill is due to begin in the House of Representatives tomorrow and on the eve of that interesting if not all-important event we are informed by the Washington correspondent of a Connecticut contemporary that President Hoover will indubitably veto the bill if it passes. This might stir up considerable feeling if it were not for two things. The first thing is that though the Collier bill in some form or other is likely to be adopted by the House it is far from being assured of success in the Senate and is only remotely likely to be sent to President Hoover at all.

In the next place the correspondent in question may not be as good a prophet as he evidently considers himself. This reflection is stimulated by his further pronouncement that Mr. Hoover "would not approve an outright repeal measure. He would affix his signature to a repeal statute protecting dry states and endeavoring to outlaw the saloon."

way, or repealing or amending any other Constitutional provision, would not go to the President at all. Nor would it be within his powers to either extend or withhold an approval any more effective than that of any other citizen to an "outright repeal" measure.

Changes in the Constitution do not come under the purview of the President. He has no veto or other authority in such cases. That authority is reserved to the states. Since it requires a two-thirds vote of both houses to propose a Constitutional change to the states and since a two-thirds vote overrides a veto anyhow, the reason for this is obvious. The President's veto power is already anticipated and neutralized in the very passage of the resolution.

There may be someone who knows Mr. Hoover's innermost mind sufficiently to be able to tell what he would do about a bear bill if it should be passed in the present term. Our own guess is that he would not veto it. Volstead law amendment is very certain to be adopted by the next Congress if not by this one. We very much doubt that Mr. Hoover for any technical reason of adherence to some personal belief or other with respect to prohibition, would kill a measure involving so much income to the treasury of the United States in such times as these.

However, the contingency is a remote one.

JIMMY'S WIFE'S SHOES
 Exactly what Mrs. Walker's shoes have to do with the way affairs have been administered in New York City in recent years isn't altogether clear, but that there must be some connection between the two subjects will be, no doubt, a very general if vague impression.

Mrs. Walker, it appears, has very small feet, wearing a No. 1 shoe. Forty years ago that would have almost given her social promiscuity. Today it is more likely to inspire inquiry whether Mrs. Walker is, by any chance, Chinese. However, the size of the lady's feet appears to have led them into paths not exactly those of thrift. On one day, it appears, she bought from a very exclusive and expensive bootmaker no fewer than eighteen pairs of shoes and two pairs of mules—custom made—at a cost of $790.

A good many people wondered why Jimmy Walker couldn't manage to get along on the salary of the mayor of New York plus all those liberal allowances, plus the numerous opportunities to make money, all of them fairly honest, that fall to a person so placed and so endowed as he. Whether Mrs. Walker's shoe bill is in any degree an answer to that puzzle, even after considering that Jimmy is a pretty lavish sort of bird himself, is for the individual to determine.

Perhaps the answer can be supplied by some other man whose wife has a No. 1 foot and a No. 1 pocket and who orders eighteen pairs of shoes at one time to cost $790. If there is, in the world, such a person.

BOTH SIDES OF THE POST
 It is to be hoped that if President-elect Roosevelt follows, in his administration, the general policy now being attributed to him by his close friends of steering "to the left of the center" he will not make an exception in favor of what is probably the most injurious principle of the extreme right—immovable and implacable adherence to the theory of the gold standard in the face of all developments, all circumstances. According to those same authorities that is Mr. Roosevelt's present intention. The impression receives some support from the almost settled belief that he intends to make Carter Glass his secretary of the treasury. Mr. Glass is a very able expert on banking and finance but his mind operates wholly within the zone of a gold currency basis.

It takes very much less courage than some folks appear to imagine for a president-elect at this stage of proceedings to declare himself a liberal and to challenge the conservatives within his own party. There are not many real conservatives left in any party. This is an era of liberalism. So that Mr. Roosevelt, in letting it be known that the country need not be surprised if he advocates some pretty radical measures, is making no bid for martyrdom; he is not meeting a challenge; he is making a pretty ghastly blunder if he tries to block up such schemes as the domestic allotment plan with a definite commitment in favor of the existing money situation. To legislate for higher prices by statute and to retain, at the same time, in spite of bull and high water, what is possibly the real cause of price deflation, would probably result in crashing the team on both sides of the fence post. At all events it is a lively possibility.

as the domestic allotment plan with a definite commitment in favor of the existing money situation. To legislate for higher prices by statute and to retain, at the same time, in spite of bull and high water, what is possibly the real cause of price deflation, would probably result in crashing the team on both sides of the fence post. At all events it is a lively possibility.

During the recent Presidential campaign the iniquities of the Hawley-Smoot tariff were frequently referred to by Democratic speakers who dwelt on the presumptive evils of that measure as a contributing cause of the depression but refrained from too close analyses of the votes by which it had been enacted. There would have been too many Democratic names in evidence.

New Congress is in the process of formulating some more legislation stamped with the same brand of official self interest that converted the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill from a reasonable piece of protective legislation into a grab bag. We find numerous Democrats active in seeking local advantage and some Republicans.

The Senate took the Philippines independence bill from the House as a measure of fairly good intentions and has changed it into a ruthless piece of profiteering in which the welfare of the Filipinos is sacrificed utterly to particular business interests in this country that happen to have a pull in the Senate.

The Filipinos and the Philippines are quite callously forgotten in the intentions of the Senate "independence" bill, but the interests of American sugar growers and other special class in this country are carefully conserved.

However, the measure must go back to conference and then survive, if it can, a Presidential veto. In these circumstances the major importance of the bill lies in the fact that it demonstrates once more how willing some of our law makers are to abide by purely local self interest in the handling of great problems of national or international effect.

Last Night's Fights
 Shoppe Talk
 New York, Dec. 19.—Manhattan's odds and ends, but chiefly odds; Division Street, down by the Brooklyn bridge and the old "Five Corners," witnesses a return of the old-fashioned milliner. . . . Way, way back, when New York was younger and gayer, this was the very heart of the fashionable hat and dress-making belt. . . . Paris styles, which now blossom in Fifth Avenue or in 57th Street, were then copied in little lots by hand-workers. . . . But they went when the swanky uptown shoppe flourished. . . . Now that a long lull has thrown dozens out of work, they are back, competing with the shops that still try to collar saltors as they pass and sell a cheap suit—willy-nilly. . . .

Incidentally, several of the smartest places in the uptown zone were flustered by graduates of the East Side. . . . Only the other day, I noted that Hattie Carnegie's exclusive place was suing the wife of the recent mayor, Jimmy Walker, for a large bill. . . . This place, I am told, was one of the transplanted shops which now boasts a swank trade.

The most active visiting author to arrive in Manhattan for many a month is Leon Fuhtwanger, author of "Power," and—more recently—"Josephus."

One of Germany's most brilliant and thorough penmen, he can't get used to the indiscriminate manner in which strangers call him on the phone, asking to come up and see him or to get his autograph or to invite him to a tea. Nor has he learned yet how to dodge them. With the result that he has made an astounding number of public appearances. Asked the other day how he kept it up he replied: "Didn't I go through a war and a revolution? . . . So what is this?"

Health and Diet Advice
 By Dr. Frank McCoy

GAINERS OF "HEAVY FEELINGS"
 Many people who are always tired out feel that they need a lot more rest. Usually such patients are suffering from too much rest and would find that more would lead to greater weariness. Chronic tiredness often results from something else being rest if it is to be completely overgrown.

Ordinary fatigue is a natural process and cannot be considered a form of sickness; however, to be tired at all times is not normal and such a state is often the last stage before sickness develops. One who is chronically tired is being poisoned by waste products which have not been eliminated as fast as they should have been. When these toxic substances are gotten rid of, the tired feeling will vanish, leaving one feeling stronger and more vigorous.

Another powerful cause of fatigue lies in the wrong kind of a diet. For example, over-eating, wrong food combination, or an excess of heavy, starchy foods may cause a listless, heavy feeling. One who does not get enough vitamins C may feel sluggish but quickly loses his dull sensation if he will take a large glass of orange juice or tomato juice early in the morning. Evertstrain, foot-strain, and mild indigestion frequently appear as a general tiredness.

Quite often one who is tired is not getting enough sleep. Perhaps he is getting to bed early enough, but his rest is broken by coughing, dreams, or distress due to gas on the stomach. One who works or sleeps surrounded by many noises will often complain of persistent fatigue.

There is also a tired feeling which comes from actual overwork. Industrial leaders have found that the best way to avoid it is to allow the workers short rest periods. When the patient is always tired and yet does not perform good and hard labor, it is often found he is suffering from what might be called psychological fatigue. For example, one forced to do work which he does not like will become very tired. He suffers from lack of enjoyment of his work. Other causes of this type of tiredness are: discouragement, monotony, disappointment, ambitions which remained bottled within one; unhappy environment, etc. This kind of tiredness does not prevent the patient from getting through with the day's work and during any kind of rush or excitement it is likely to disappear.

A further cause of tiredness is lack of exercise. An office worker who comes home tired will find that if he will take some physical exercise he will be rested and refreshed. One of the reasons for this is that exercise speeds the blood through the muscles and helps wash them clean of waste products; another reason is that it draws a better supply of oxygen into the body, oxygen being needed for the neutralization of fatigue products. Also exercise helps burn up an excess of food and reduces the danger of poisoning from waste food. One who is always tired will get over it faster if he will secure extra exercise rather than extra rest.

The symptoms of "that tired feeling" are common and familiar. A tired person has sagging muscles in his shoulders, his stomach sticks out, his whole body appears wilted; his skin is dull; he hates to get up and go after anything; he would rather stay in bed than get up; he has a hard time sticking to one job until it is done; he feels only half alive and wonders why other people do not get as tired as he does.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 (Softening Drinking Water)
 Question: Mr. Alan R. writes: "In our city the water is very hard. Can you tell me what would soften it for drinking purposes?"
 Answer: If the water is very hard, the best plan is to use distilled water for drinking and cooking. This water can be obtained in five-gallon bottles in any large city. It contains none of the inorganic mineral matter which causes the hardness of water and which, according to my knowledge, cannot be satisfactorily removed through any method other than distillation. Filtering is not satisfactory and the use of chemicals is not advisable. If you wish to soften the water for washing purposes, the addition of a small amount of borax usually proves satisfactory.

(Herald)
 Question: Roger C. G. writes: "I have a lump in the right flank that came there this week—about the size of a hen's egg. Goes back in the abdomen and then comes out. Can you tell me what it is and what to do to get rid of it?"
 Answer: You are probably developing a hernia and, if so, you should be wearing the proper kind of support to keep the lump in place while you develop your abdominal muscles through exercising. As soon as the muscles are strong enough to hold the peritoneum in place, the trouble will be cured. Cut down on the quantity of food you are using so the abdomen does not protrude, and avoid all heavy foods.

HAS BABY JOB
 Washington, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Representatives-elect, who are harassed by hundreds of job seekers are casting covetous glances at one of the nation's most prominent editors of New Haven, Conn.
 Bakewell's patronage problems in the new Congress will be few, in the first place he is a Republican so that he will have little to do with recommendations in the Roosevelt administration.
 Furthermore, since he was elected Congress at large he will have none of the district's patronage considerations most representatives.

STORIES FROM UNDER THE CAPITOL'S DOME
 Garner DID Shoot That Deer, But It May Have Been a Little Closer Than He First Thought! Such is Truthful When Frenzied!
 By RODNEY BURCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington—Jack Garner, speaker of the House, vice-president-elect, congressman-elect from Texas and a darned good fellow in spite of all that, is always truthful when pressed.

The photographers were taking some pictures of Jack with Governor Roosevelt and he had just asked the president-elect if he knew what day it was and Roosevelt had said: "No, I'm sure," and Jack had said: "It's my sixty-fourth," meaning birthday, whereupon the newsman shook heads with him all over again.

"Key, Jack," called a photographer who had just seen a newspaper photograph of the speaker in a hunting hat and standing over a deer's corpse, "Wasn't about that deer?"

"Well," said the vice-president-elect, "that was a real deer. I shot it myself. I was out hunting and I shot it from my hunting breeches. I had a gun and I was out hunting, and I shot it from my hunting breeches."

how F. Trues Davison, the beefy little assistant secretary of war for ammunition, first realized his strength. He was playing football at Yale at the time and had to have a tooth pulled. He took gas. When he emerged from the gas he was appalled to find both dentist and the tooth lying flat on the floor—impaled on cold.

And the only credible explanation yet offered as to why Pennsylvania went strong for Roosevelt in the Literary Digest straw vote and yet for Hoover in the election is that whereas many voters didn't have to pay a poll tax, actual voters were required to have paid one. It is suggested that so many otherwise eligible voters hadn't felt able to afford the tax that Pennsylvania thereupon became the most conspicuous error in the poll.

TRUSTING SOUL
 Knoxville, Tenn.—One would hardly think there was such a thing as a depression, the way some people handle money. One day Miss Lola Morrow, 18, of Knoxville, was sitting at a bus station for a hitch home. A young man approached her and asked her to help him with her books and luggage. "I gave him all the books I had," she told police officers Hatcher and Humphrey, "and he never came back."

By agreement with officials of Universal studios, Mix's contract will be a free agent with no obligation on his present picture. He will be a circus performer and he'll be a cowboy again. I'll be a cowboy again. I'll be a cowboy again.

ANDOVER

Wallace De Mott and Kenneth Schatz of East Hartford are spending the week with their grandfathers, Frank Schatz.

LABORATORY GREAT PUBLIC HEALTH AID

Is Important Cog In State Machinery For Guarding Against Diseases.

(Note: This is the third of a series of articles explaining the functions and work of the State Department of Health and its various bureaus.)

No single agency in the State of Connecticut is more closely connected with the welfare of the people of the state than is the Bureau of Laboratories of the State Department of Health, since upon its examinations, made at the rate of 160,000 or more a year, rests the decisions of doctors and health officials on many matters of vital importance in the preservation of health.

The work of the laboratory in its early years when it required less than half a dozen men to operate was meagre indeed in comparison with the vast scope of the work today, handled under the supervision of Director Fred Lee Mads.

The Bureau cooperates to a large degree with other state departments, enabling them to make use of its experience and equipment in matters requiring laboratory assistance.

Today, the Bureau of Laboratories is organized into seven different divisions which conduct its many functions. These functions, as briefly outlined, furnish just a vague idea of the tremendous amount of work which the bureau accomplishes.

The seven divisions are: Administration, Chemistry, Microbiology, Investigation, Serology, Records and Service.

Functions of the Division of Chemistry and Physics are chemical examinations of samples of water, sewage, trade wastes, milk, cream and occasionally samples of ice cream. Tests of spinal fluid and physical testing of clinical thermometers are also carried out.

WARD'S LOCAL STORE REPLETE WITH GIFTS

With Christmas only a few days away—Montgomery Ward & Company has received thousands of dollars' worth of new, wanted Christmas merchandise and the entire store symbolizes the cheerful, sparkling spirit of Yuletide.

The Division of Serology is the routine performance of the Wassermann and Kahn tests on all specimens of blood, blood serum and spinal fluid received for the sero-diagnosis of syphilis.

The Division of Records is responsible for the clerical accuracy of reports and correspondence. All specimens are received in this division and are given a serial number, after which they are delivered to the proper scientific divisions.

The work of the Division of Service consists of the making of media, the preparing and sending out of all laboratory outfits and shipping containers, the cleaning and sterilizing of laboratory apparatus and supplies, the care of laboratory animals, the opening and numbering of all specimens received for examination, and the painting and repairing of laboratory equipment.

Not so smart. "Your methods of cultivation are hopelessly out of date," said the old farmer to a young man who had just returned from the city.

BOARD AGAINST STATE LAW ON JOB INSURANCE

President the Geometric Tool Company, New Haven; Howell Cheney, Cheney Brothers, South Manchester; Clive Day, Professor of Political Economy, Yale University, New Haven; Harry C. Knight, President of the Southern New England Telephone Company, New Haven; John W. Murphy, Mayor, New Haven, and Vice-President of the Connecticut Federation of Labor.

Other recommendations, some a twenty in number, deal with exemptions for tax purposes of reserves set up for unemployment relief; the collection of man hour and payroll statistics; the establishment of a procedure for securing machinery to a plant in emergency after which special forces to alleviate unemployment would go into effect; and the creation of state and local planning boards. These recommendations are intended to provide machinery to show currently the facts regarding unemployment in the State so that an emergency may be foretold, and to deal promptly with an emergency when it does arrive.

The report is divided into five parts—Facts and Findings, Remedial Measures, Recommendations, Proposed Legislation and Appendix. Part One includes a survey made by the staff of the Commission, and a large group of volunteers, of the employment conditions existing in all establishments in the State employing five or more persons. 7,062 such establishments were called upon and reports obtained from them upon:

(a)—Number of employees in early 1932, and during the corresponding period in 1929, divided male and female, shop and office; also what means were used to spread work, etc.

(b)—Reasons for changes in employment between 1929 and 1932; that is, was it decreased business, improved management and equipment, or other special reasons.

The extent of the survey may be realized when it is noted that 7,062 establishments furnishing data actually employed 67 per cent of the gainfully employed persons in the State as compared with the federal census of 1930.

Some Employing More Another extraordinary fact brought out by this study was the number of establishments that were employing as many, or even more, persons in 1932 than in 1929. Of the 7,052 reporting, 2,546 or 36.1 per cent, employing 104,048, either showed no decrease or actually increased the number of their employees during that period. Analysis of these especially favored firms showed that 318, with 8,707 employees in 1929, were organized since 1929 and that 337, with 26,378 employees in 1932, were in the governmental, social or educational groups, leaving 1,891, with 59,963 employees in 1932, representing all other industry groups. In 1929 the last named were employing 57,510 persons, showing that between the two periods the number on the 1,891 payrolls increased by 2,453.

These figures were arrived at after carefully weighing the hours worked by the employees. Whenever hours and employees reported by a single establishment showed an increase in one place and a decrease in another they were converted into a weekly man hour figure for each year and the two compared. Where the figure in 1929 was lower than in 1932, concern was considered to have experienced an increase in employment between the two years.

Suggested Remedies Part two of the report deals with remedial measures. The unemployed are divided into three groups; the unemployable, the casual and non-adapted worker and the stable employee of industry. Each is dealt with separately and measures to alleviate suffering during unemployment are suggested. Co-operation between public and private charity is the general relief approach for the first group; work provided through the medium of forwardly planned public projects for the second; and reserves voluntarily provided in advance represents the principal recommendations for the third group.

The simple dismissal wage proposal is a new contribution to unemployment reserve thought. It would require equal contributions from employers and employees to two separate funds. The employer contribution would provide funds from which dismissal and supplementary wage payments would be made. The employee contributions would provide a termination savings fund for each employee that could be drawn upon when his employment was terminated.

Rate of Pay The proposal provides that an employee dismissed after 40 weeks of continuous employment would be paid half his wages for 9 weeks or $90.00, whichever is lower, payable over a period of 9 weeks. If he is dismissed in the 42nd or 43rd week he would be paid half his wages for 9 1/2 weeks or $95.00, whichever is lower, over a period of 9 1/2 weeks, and so on up to the 52nd week when he would be paid half his wages for 12 weeks or $120.00, whichever is lower, paid over a period of 12 weeks.

If, after 40 weeks of employment, an employee is retained at less than half pay or $10.00 per week, whichever is lower, he would be paid the difference in a supplemental wage for 42 out of any consecutive 52 weeks, the employer to elect the 10 weeks during which no supplemental wage would be given. The amount paid in supplemental wages would be deducted from any dismissal wage which may be paid the employee during the next 52 weeks. The maximum of payments for such period of 52 weeks would not exceed $150 to any single employee. An employee having completed 13 weeks of employment, but not having reached the fortieth week of employment, would be entitled to one week's notice before being dropped, or if notice had not been given, would be

HAND INJURY PREVENTS DRIGGS' ORGAN CONCERTS

Helping Friend Crank Automobile and Lignament in His Hand is Torn.

Collins H. Driggs, widely known young Manchester organist, lost the use of his right hand temporarily when he gave helping hand to a friend and as a result he is now unable to give his usual daily radio and theater programs in Hartford. Driggs expects to be back at work next week, but he is unable to play again by Thursday. The accident happened a week ago today when he tried to crank a friend's automobile which wouldn't start. The motor backfired and the jolt tore a ligament in the back of the musician's hand. At first Driggs did not realize that he had been incapacitated but Wednesday morning when he began practicing for his radio program, the fingers refused to respond.

Walter Dawley, another Hartford organist, has been substituting for Driggs in his WTIC programs but the latter's theater work has continued its daily shows without the usual organ programs. The hand injury was also attributed partially to an old injury when a horse stepped on his hand. Collins was riding a horse that threw him against a tree and stepped on him.

Driggs is to be changed shortly. His hand is to be changed shortly. He has been playing Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings from 7 to 7:30 as well as Wednesday nights from 12:00 to 12:30 but after Christmas the program time will be changed starting with a period between 8 and 9 in the morning the first of the new year.

CLAIMS MILLIONS LENT TO INSOLVENT COMPANY

to Davidson and he did not know about the application himself until Davidson told him about it. He said he was aware that there was a prior loan to the corporation securities company for a similar amount.

"Didn't you express surprise at this new loan?" Jacobson asked. "No," Gray replied. "Didn't you say 'who is this Insull Utility Investments Inc.?' " "I did not."

"You just took Mr. Davidson's instructions and accepted the terms as O. K.?" "Yes."

Gray said that three months after that loan was made Insull called at the bank and said he would like to pay off $1,000,000 and renew the balance of the loan, which was arranged.

In response to questions by Jacobson he said Davidson did not ask that the whole loan be paid, did not ask for a payment on the corporation securities loan, and did not inquire into the condition of Insull's business.

"I didn't see any papers," Gray said. "I wasn't there," said Jacobson, "wasn't that a remarkable transaction?"

Gray made no answer and Jacobson continued his interrogation concerning later conferences.

declared he was ready to revise the contract. Six years have passed since then and despite the insistent requests of the Persian government to revise the contract, the company thus far has refrained from doing it under different pretexts.

Silence Compulsory Declaring that the silence of the former Shah with respect to the contract was "compulsory," the newspaper said, "but at present the government has sufficient force to defend its own rights. Each Persian soldier is ready with his own blood to defend the interests of the country."

The newspaper Sherag E Serik, commenting on published reports from Geneva saying Persia had requested the League of Nations to postpone examination of the contract, said, "We don't think the Persian government has appealed to the League. This would be done only in case the English government should have recourse to an illegal interference."

Several weeks ago the Persian government cancelled a concession under which the Anglo-Persian Oil Company had operated for many years. Great Britain filed a protest, then referred the dispute to the League of Nations. Council which will consider it this week.

with Burns, from the time he said they met outside the Piedmont hotel in Atlanta in 1921, until they served together in the same chain gang. Burns asked to be transferred to another cell, Flag said.

"He said he was afraid of me. It's true I told the other men in the gang how he had made me take the fall. But I wouldn't touch him."

The chain gang sentence was imposed after his conviction, Flag said, by Judge Thomas, whose first name he did not recall. He said District Attorney John Boykin was the prosecutor.

He described Warden Harold Hardy, who is now in New Jersey representing his state in the Burns extradition proceeding as a "square shooter."

Among the names of men with whom Flag said he had dealings during his Georgia experiences were Supt. B. H. Donaway, of Milledgeville, and Warden Ben Johnson. His last chain gang was in the State of New York, he said, was at Americus, Ga.

SUICIDE VERDICT

Ondak's head was virtually severed from the body. A shotgun was found close to him.

CALLED LIES

Newark, N. J., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Robert Elliott Burns, fighting a return to a Georgia chain gang, flung the word "lies" today at Sidney George Flagg of Seattle.

He said Flagg told untruths in saying Burns planned two holdups and got Flagg to take part in them. He also denied bribing his way to freedom from a Georgia chain gang.

Burns, author of "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang," issued this statement when he read Flagg's story:

"I'm absolutely untrue. Every word is a lie. Flagg did not go to the same gang I went to."

Burns' mother and brother appealed to the public last night against Burns' extradition to Georgia from New Jersey. Meanwhile in New York City, detectives said they conferred with the district attorney to see whether New York would try to extradite Burns. It is alleged that Burns jumped bond after being arrested in New York in 1932 on a charge of forging a $200 check.

The Rev. Vincent G. Burns of Palisade, N. J., brother of the fugitive, denied there was any charge pending in New York state.

WOMAN ON SIDEWALK FELL AS CAR SKIDS

Mrs. Martha Anderson May Have Broken Ribs As Consequence of Unusual Accident.

Mrs. Martha Anderson of 140 Center street was struck down late yesterday forenoon by an automobile, out of control, driven by Alvin Willis of Andover, near the intersection of Trotter and Main street. Willis, driving west, had turned around a parked car when his wheels slipped on the trolley tracks, causing the automobile to skid across the curbing. Mrs. Anderson was knocked down as she was walking east on the north sidewalk.

Willis took Mrs. Anderson to Dr. Sloan's office on Park street where examination disclosed possible fractures of ribs.

In his report to the police Willis said the car started to skid as soon as he passed the parked car and when he saw that an accident was inevitable, he turned the ignition off and did not use the brakes.

William Finnegan of 10 1-2 Church street was a witness of the accident.

ALIENISTS TO EXAMINE MAN WHO STOLE $400,000

His Lawyer Believes Paymaster Is Insane—Invested Money In Fur and Poultry Farms.

New York, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Council for William C. Head, who is alleged to have stolen about $400,000 from the Standard-Vacuum Transportation Company while acting as an assistant paymaster and invested it in fur and poultry farms in Maine, today entered a plea of not guilty for the Brooklyn man and asked the appointment of a commission to inquire into his sanity.

Judge Cornelius F. Collins, before whom Head was arraigned in General Sessions Court, remanded the 48-year-old man back to jail and said he would name three alienists to make the examination.

Head was indicted on two counts of theft about ten days ago. One charged he stole $31,877.22 on July 1, last, and that he took $6,278.60 on October 7.

The charges against Head were made public early this year when attorneys for the company announced they had come into possession of the Twin Brooks fur and poultry farms near Bangor, and a muskrat and beaver farm at Hudson through the efforts of the former employee to make restitution of sums he had taken over a period of years.

At that time it was said Head had estimated his theft at $400,000 and that he had signed a confession saying no other employee was involved.

Wilfred E. He soon returned and engaged Lisk in conversation, asking the latter if he was alone. Lisk replied that he was but that he expected a company supervisor in about five minutes.

The man started to leave but on reaching the door turned about and ordered Lisk to "put what you got on the table." Lisk noticed the barrel of a revolver protruding from the man's pocket and emptied his pockets of $25 in bills and a considerable amount of change besides.

Lah Vlasia, born at Poles, according to her sister, met the Maharajah of Bikaner, Sir Godig Mohammed Khan, aboard the steamer Victoria a few months ago on a voyage to India, and soon they will be married in the Mussulman rite at Bikaner.
The bride-to-be, having obtained her father's consent, is returning to Bombay for her wedding. The Maharajah has arranged that her sister should replace her as the ship's stenographer.

Recreation Center Items of Interest

The winners of the whist held Saturday evening at the West Side Rec were: Tied for the first prize with 67 for a score, Mrs. Mary Donahue and Miss Flora Nelson; third prize went to Frank McClelland, score 62, and A. Carlson with 60 won fourth. Consolation was won by Muriel Lathrop who had 35 for a low score.
Modern and Old Fashioned Dance
The first attempt to establish modern and old fashioned dances at the West Side on Saturday evenings was not a success or a failure as the unfortunate weather condition of that particular night was very bad for pedestrians and vehicle travelers. There were about 12 who braved the bad conditions and enjoyed themselves for the evening.
Even with such a small attendance the dances will be attempted and the maintaining of them will be up to the patrons who can make this program a success or failure. Another dance will be scheduled for this Saturday evening from 8 until 12 p. m.
Community Dance
Even with adverse weather conditions the attendance at the community dance held Saturday night was about 250. A varied program was presented during the evening with Tommy and His Band making a hit with the dancers. The Curtis Boys made a hit with their singing and guitar playing, between dances and also during intermission and responded to many encores. Elmer Osterling, the banjo player of the band, made quite an impression with everyone in his rendition of "Mama the Mocher," as well as Tommy, the band leader, who gave an exhibition of tap dancing. The first attempt to give the patrons a varied program for an evening's entertainment was spoken of so well by the above that Director Frank C. Busch is preparing a surprise entertainment for the next dance.
SHOT BY BANDIT

ROCKVILLE

BOY SERIOUSLY HURT IN COASTING ACCIDENT

Cedric Deere in Critical Condition—Runs Into Automobile; Has Concussion.
Cedric Deere, son of Mrs. Belle Deere of 6 McLean street, is still in a critical condition at the Rockville City hospital, where he was brought on Saturday noon following an accident while sliding. The youngster, who is five years old, was sliding down the hill when he was struck by the rear wheel of an automobile driven by Charles Lans of Lang's Corner which was going down Vernon avenue. The driver of the car took the child immediately to the Rockville City hospital where he was placed under the care of Dr. E. H. Metcalf, and treated for several lacerations of the scalp and concussion of the brain.

The real seriousness of his condition has not as yet been determined, but every effort is being made to save the boy's life. He is on the danger list at the hospital.
Mr. Lans told police Captain Richard Shea that he did not see the boy sliding until too late to stop the car. This hill is one of the steepest in the city, and it is impossible for a driver going down Vernon avenue to see an object coming down the hill until he arrives at the street.
The hill is one of the many in the city on which sliding is prohibited, and children have been warned not to slide there. The youngster's father, a World War veteran, died about two years ago.

Winners in Bowling League
The Fitch Company of the Rockville Fire Department, won the first round of bowling in the Department Bowling League, and a celebration was held by the league and firemen at the Fitch Fire House on Prospect street on Saturday night. Eighteen games were played and sixteen of these were won by the Fitch boys.
George Herzog of the Hook & Ladder Company was high man and won first prize, with Charles Felstel of the same company winning second. A luncheon was served on Saturday night, followed by bowling and cards. The bowling teams from Tolland and Ellington and members of the Rockville Fire Department were present. The second round of the league will commence sometime in January.

ST. MARY'S CHILDREN IN CAROL SERVICE

Church Crowded For Last Night's Program—Largest Attendance in History of Church.
St. Mary's church was taxed to the utmost capacity last night, the occasion being the special Christmas carol service for the Sunday school children, which was also attended by members of the congregation. Gifts were received at all of the services and this proved very successful. Rev. James S. Neill said, "The gifts included clothing, food, preserves and a large number of money gifts. These will be later distributed among the needy members of the parish."
Rev. Neill said that the attendance last night was the largest he has ever seen in his church. People stood in both the Guild Room and the Parish Room. The carols were sung by the Junior choir of the church. A special trio consisting of Rev. Neill, David Stratton and Edwin McCullagh, took part. During the service the annual distribution of pins for perfect attendance at Sunday school, took place and awards included several children who have not missed a single session in ten or fifteen years.

Rev. Neill's Christmas story was entitled, "The Shepherds and Singing Angels." At the conclusion of the service candy and oranges were distributed among the children. A week from Wednesday, which will be December 28, is the date set for the annual Christmas entertainment of the Sunday school to be held in the Circle Theater at 7 o'clock in the evening. The motion picture will be "Booth Tarkington's famous 'Penrod and Sam.'"
Fythian Sisters Meeting
Damon Temple, Fythian Sisters, will meet this evening in Foresters Hall. The annual Christmas party will be held and each member is asked to bring a gift for exchange. This meeting takes the place of one to have been held on December 28.

STORY OF WISE MEN GIVEN IN PAGEANT

"The Fulfillment," Religious Drama Presented By Cecilia Club.
"The Fulfillment," a religious drama in five acts, was presented by the Cecilia Club of the South Methodist Church last night to a large attendance of members and friends. The play, written and directed by Thomas Maxwell, told the story of the Three Wise Men in an unusual way, and the presentation was augmented by special scenic effects and lighting which added to the beauty of the bible drama.

The first scene showed the first meeting in the desert of the three Wise Men, "Balthasar," the Egyptian; "Gaspar," the Greek and "Melchior," the Hindoo. Balthasar, played by Miss H. Driggs awaited at his tent door the coming of the desert night as the Greek traveler, Miss M. Kissman and Melchior, the Hindoo, Miss R. Helwig, met for the first time and confessed to each other the age-old mission of the Nativity at Bethlehem.
The second act is laid at the Pool of Siloam, where the Jewish women talk over the rumor heard recently in the Temple, that "the Messiah is soon to come." While doing their washing at the famous pool, they are told by strangers that happen along that the Christ-child is to be born at Bethlehem of Judea.
The scene in Herod's palace shows the wise men searching the scriptures to learn if possible where the so-called King of the Jews is to be born. The Wise Men tell Herod that He is to be born in a manger in Bethlehem. The next scene of the play showed the babe in the manger in Bethlehem.

The final act was a tableau. Several months of work was necessary to complete the scenes in the bible play, one of the most difficult to costume and illustrate. In the second act at the Pool of Siloam, Director Maxwell had constructed a real waterfall, with water running down over the rocks into the pool below. The richly costumed guards of Herod and the beauty of the palace and trappings of the Roman court were featured in the third act and the ever-beautiful simplicity of the manger scene in Bethlehem with the vari-colored robes of the Wise Men, the white costumes of the angels and the drab of the shepherds and peasants of the lowly

WATER MAIN BREAKS

Hartford, Dec. 19.—(AP)—A break in the 42-inch water main, the largest running into the city, on Fern street just west of Prospect avenue, shortly after 7:30 a. m. today, lowered water pressure throughout the entire area supplied by the Metropolitan district, causing Farmington avenue into a raging river for several blocks, delayed west bound trolleys for half an hour and was probably the most spectacular accident of its kind in the history of the city.
Water pressure of such force that it lifted the thick asphalt paving on Fern street seven or eight inches, spurted forth at least half an hour along the curbing on both sides of the street, flooded down Fern to Prospect, through which most of it ran to Farmington avenue and in a large torrent around the home of Robert R. Whitbeck at Prospect and Fern. Mr. Whitbeck's cellar was flooded to a depth of four feet.

The cry from overseas for a clean ship on war debts reminds us there's been a lot of sponging in that regard already.

TUG IS ICE LOCKED ON HUDSON RIVER

Foughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Locked by ice in the Hudson river, a tugboat and its crew early today awaited the efforts of a Coast Guard cutter to break away through it and the barges it was belted to be towing.
The tug was seen late yesterday making slow headway in the Hudson, frozen over in the sub-zero cold wave that had gripped New York state for three days. About dusk the boat abandoned the struggle altogether and before it could be identified by the Coast Guard, which was watching.
If, as Coast Guards believed, the tug was towing other boats, officers said there probably would be several families as well as the crew of the stranded tug and the tracks of the large Albany-New York night boats which were reported making slow progress on their scheduled run early in the day.

Week-end MURDER

BEGIN HERE TODAY
LINDA AVERILL, believes her elderly cousin, AMOS FEABODY, was murdered when he fell from the second story balcony of the Averill's Long Island home because of a few words he gasped before his death. Linda rushes upstairs. Someone tries to strangle her and she faints.

There are four guests in the house—all suspects of the crime. They are: MR. STATLANDER, business associate of TOM AVERILL; CAPTAIN DE VOS, handsome Belgian; MARVIN FRATE, former master of Linda's; and LIAN SHAUGHNESSY, Irish worker. Since there is no evidence on which to base an arrest, Linda and Tom, her husband, agree they must keep the four men in the house until they have discovered who is guilty. They pretend to believe the death was an accident. They are added in their plan when DR. BOYLE, medical examiner, sends word that everyone must remain until he has questioned them. Boyle is on a fishing trip and can not return for several hours.

Linda finds the towel with which the attempt was made to strangle her—identified by a smear of sunburn ointment. She learns that ROSIE, the maid, has promised to launder a shirt for Shaughnessy. Tom believes the shirt may be an important clue and goes to have a look at it. Shaughnessy discards his quarters have been searched. To set matters right Linda tells him the whole story and asks him to help untangle the mystery of her cousin's death. Tom, Linda, and Shaughnessy have a long talk, discussing all the clues. They come to the towel, smeared with ointment and Tom says, "The question is—who took the towel away?"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXV
Shaughnessy nodded sagely. "That," he said, "is the crux of the whole matter. Who was it tried to strangle Mrs. Averill and then took the towel away?"
"Did the murderer absent-mindedly hang on to it," Tom continued, "when he stepped over Linda and went out through the nursery?"
"What makes you so strong for that means of escape?" the Irishman demanded.
Linda answered promptly. "Because he'd have heard Mr. DeVos heard Marvin leave his room. Even if one of them is lying and did it, the other would have no reason to conceal that he'd heard someone come out of the room—or even met him."
"Possibly—stepping quietly, though—"

"I doubt it," Tom put in. "I think Linda's idea is the right one. The doors of those three rooms at that end are very close together. Anyone might well fear being heard by an occupant of the other two."
"But," objected Shaughnessy, "after throwing the old man over the railing—which I gather you think was done in a fit of temper—"

"Yes, I figure that early this morning Cousin Amos must have made himself objectionable in some way that just finished with both of them—the murderer went back into the room. That looks as though he intended to leave by the regular door."
"Then you see," said Linda, "he heard me coming. I just flew through the hall downstairs and up the steps."
"And he realized you'd been there on the terrace or at the casement windows and seen the body come over—"

"And that I was coming straight for the room—at least, that I might come in. So he stepped back out of sight and then when I did go through the room—"

"He sprang out and tried to silence you before you could turn and see him and give the alarm."
"Um-hm!" Shaughnessy nodded in agreement. "Mr. Statlander's door is right across the hall from the nursery, isn't it? With you two away, no one would notice which door he came from. He could step out quickly and join the others without anyone knowing or caring which room he'd been in. How were the different men dressed?" he added suddenly.

Tom was ready with that information.
"Statlander, for one, had actually gone to bed. He wore pyjamas and a terrycloth bathrobe."
Shaughnessy nodded.
"Frate—he got there first—was in underwear and trousers. Partly dressed, in other words. I didn't notice his feet."
"De Vos—" Averill wrinkled his forehead in an effort to remember.

"You see, Shaughnessy, I was all up at the time. I'd just seen Amos—and Linda unconscious. Of course, I never thought of murder. All I remember about DeVos, who arrived last and stayed in the background, was that he had on a dark, very long robe. He was calm and poised, but then he always is."
"Not much to go on there. Is that all you'll be telling me of it—nothing left out?"

"One thing." Again Tom's voice was troubled. "I spoke of this to Linda, but it keeps coming back to my mind. Just as I saw her fall—and the man behind her—and dove I had a queer impression of something wrong—not quite normal, somehow—about that man's appearance. I've tried to locate it but it seems always just over the edge of my mind and I can't drag it back. Something tells me I must remember—that it's awfully important."

"Hmp! Those fugitive impressions are the devil and all to capture. Best not try too hard. 'Twill pop back some time in this dead of night. And now for my small contribution—if it is a clue."
They sat forward eagerly as Shaughnessy took several endless seconds to light his pipe.

"I was downstairs through all this, you know, standing by the body and feeling very much at sea. I didn't know what to do—and consequently did nothing. But after seeing the poor old man was dead I did move up and down the terrace a little. That was the only way I could work off my restlessness. On one trip I heard a slight sound overhead and, being turned toward the lawn, I kept going quietly, thinking you had come out there, Mrs. Averill. I looked up, as anyone would, from curiosity."

"Our friend, Mr. Statlander, was there and for the life of me I couldn't figure out when he was doing. He moved very quietly and furtively, you might say, and he was in the queer rig you describe. First he crouched down and pulled the upright railings into place, but when he did, he turned his head away as if he didn't want to see what he was doing. Then he stood across the top bar. And then he laid, laying it in place all neat and tidy-like on the top so you could hardly see where the break had been. Then he dusted off his hands, very carefully, with something he had in his hand—a handkerchief—and then smoothed the towel on the top bar. And then he went quietly back to the other case door—that would be the nursery?—and never looked down to the lawn all the time he was there."

Linda was quivering with excitement and Tom was as tense, though he contrived not to show it.
"He rubbed—oh, do you think he was rubbing off finger prints?" Linda cried excitedly.
"That's what's had me wondering, then and now. It was a queer thing to do at all, at all, and what was he had in his hand but that towel you mention?"
Linda broke in again.
"That ties up with what he said," she exclaimed. "I talked with him while Tom was getting the bridge game under way and I led up to it so that he told me he had been out on the balcony twice—once apparently just sort of exploring the house. The other time he said: 'I was just looking about a little.' He admitted he was curious about the 'scene of the accident' and I suppose he might well have been."
"He's very inquisitive, in his self-important way," mused Tom. "That's just what I would do. But why did he rub the railings?"
"I asked him if he did. First he wouldn't admit to knowing anything about it. Then he said he might have done it, 'absent-mindedly.' Oh—and Tom—just remember—"

"What, honey? Take your time!"
"Well, I asked him if he saw anything else that was interesting. I acted quite casual but I noticed he flushed right up, and he said 'nothing' in the curtest, quickest way—as if he were all ready and waiting for me to ask that."

"He wouldn't be a very good liar. Too much of an egotist," murmured the Irishman. "But that 'nothing'—that was all he said?"
"Yes. Shut up like a clam."
"It probably meant 'something.'"
"The towel?"
"I'm thinking perhaps he went back just to find it."
"Dropped on the balcony?" Tom nodded. "He had his nerve!"
The Irishman suggestively drained the last drop from the depths of an apparently empty glass.

"Is my contribution," he repeated. "I thought it queer at the time, but now it fits the picture like one of those—whatever is it?—jigsaw puzzles."
Tom took the hint and poured the last few inches from the pitcher. "There's more in the icebox," he said.
The other shook his head. "This is enough, Mr. Averill. And what, may I ask, is the next move?"
"For me," said Linda, "the duties of a hostess. I'm dead for sleep. It's late and it's been a terrible day, but I must at least speak to my guests before I go upstairs."

"She went to the nursery and extracted herself from the depths of her chair. How long do you suppose those people will want to play, Tom?"
"There's no telling." His discouraging answer was prompt as he helped her to her feet. "I could see from the way they went at it that they're regular hands, every one of them."
Shaughnessy also had risen. "I'm in favor of retiring myself," he announced. "The work I planned has gone by the board but, this is far and away more exciting. I'm in and sorry I acted so bombastical over my rights. 'Tis all the kings of Ireland I think I am at times. We'll meet in the morning and exchange the results of our hours of thoughts. Goodnight to the both of you—"

As they passed through the open, doorway and living room Shaughnessy stopped at the screen door on the side toward the garage. "I'm needing no escort this time," he said, and rather sheepishly hurried off across the gravelled road.

El Paso, Tex. — Alfredo Uribe found himself arrested by six men who weren't even policemen. YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Many Movies Are Suitable For Young

I don't know how much harm certain movies do children, if any. By one thing we must cease fooling ourselves about it: the old gag about most of "it" going over their heads.
Very little goes over their heads. Look back four years. How "green" were you at 10 or 12? Certainly all things were not clear, but if you had read a French novel the chances were that you would have understood a good nine-tenths of it.
I have seen several films lately that are broken down enormously, and they also entertained several dozen children in the theater.
One was a "mistress" story, the most touchingly beautiful thing I have seen for years. It was handled so carefully and acted so superbly. The love and sacrifice of a wonderful woman left even the most rigid of the audience, and I shall add, the hardboiled, with tears in their hearts if not in their eyes.
Did I really understand and understand the circumstances, the love stronger than will and life itself, certainly could not reach the children. The up and down of the picture were there, a man practically had two wives, and there it was.
The three young girls next to me knew it was a great picture. That was why they came. Did they understand that such a drama is fact and one in a book would be looked on by the world with different eyes? Then I saw a jolly farce where a thief, who thought nothing of helping himself to about all the gems above ground, happened to be a boy's idol. Flourishing shiny automobiles and helping himself to "rocks" of ladies' hands were all in a day's work. Such a gentleman! And such a lover! Oh, he was the last word, that fellow.
He always tricked the police. Bold and what courage! Handsome, dare-devilish, a pirate in evening clothes, and at the end a wife stealer, too. There was just no end to what he wouldn't steal. It was a farce, but not again the nuances of the farce are so subtle as to elude children. It was a shade truer than the truth, the way it was presented.
So there it is. Will those two shows or the other two hundred hurt children?
I don't know, but I guess yes.

Recommended Movies
I go back to my old argument. You should not let the children read every book in the library. So why let them see every show? The Federation of Women's Clubs sends out monthly lists of shows for "family" viewing. There are so many good ones. Why not keep in touch with these shows?
Jesse James was a hero. Boys still adore him. But some way that was different. Pirates were and are the backbone of adventure stories. But some way that is different, too.
There is just something a bit too sophisticated about some shows for children. They were not intended for children even by the producers. They put out thousands of good ones safe for them to see.
I believe it is up to 'he parents. And I do think it matters enough to be given care and thought.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF
A supple back means grace. The only way to achieve lissiteness and poise and rhythmic movement is to put your back into it.
The first back exercises you should take should be directed towards pulling your body out of your hips. Here are some simple exercises which must be done day after day, in routine manner, to get results.
Slowly stretch your arms upward, pushing your right arm up first, then your left. When they are well over your head, imagine that the heavens are falling down and you must push up the earth with your right arm, then your left, then both, stretching from the waist line upward, until you are throwing your palms higher and higher.
Now raise your shoulders high, elbows bent, and grip one hand with the other. Then exercise consists in moving the arms from right to left, as if you are trying to pull your hands apart. This stretches out those muscles of the back through the shoulder section.
Let your body slump forward. Then slowly raise your arms sideways, even with your shoulders level and try to stretch your back from the waist up. Now drop your head back, letting your mouth fall open. If you do manage to stretch your back, without raising your shoulders, this will give you a tremendous pull through the top of the back. Hold this position a few seconds, then suddenly slump down again, letting your chin sink onto your chest. Repeat 10 times.

TONGUE PARALYSIS.
Complete Loss of Muscle Control Rare; Complications Always Dangerous
By DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

When anything is swallowed, action begins when the food that has been chewed is caught on the tongue and pressed upward against the hard plate. This forces the food backwards into the throat. From that time on the mass is beyond control.
Contact of the food with the base of the tongue and the back wall of the throat stimulates certain nerves which then cause the muscles to contract. As a result the soft palate is pushed up, the pillars which guard the entrance to the throat close together, the nose is shut off from the mouth, thus keeping the food from passing upward into the nose, and down it goes.
At the same time, also, ordinarily, the windpipe is closed so that the food cannot get into the lungs. The contraction of the nose is shut off from the mouth, thus keeping the food from passing upward into the nose, and down it goes.
If an X-ray examination shows that particles of material, made opaque to the X-ray, are getting into the windpipe and lungs, prompt action must be taken to prevent this complication.

particular in some forms of infantile paralysis and diphtheritic paralysis. In such cases swallowing may be so difficult that it becomes necessary to feed the patient through the nose.
Sometimes the paralysis is so severe that there is interference also with vomiting. This is most unfortunate because food under such circumstances tends to get into the windpipe and to produce coughing or it may actually get down into the lungs and give rise to pneumonia.
If an X-ray examination shows that particles of material, made opaque to the X-ray, are getting into the windpipe and lungs, prompt action must be taken to prevent this complication.

SANIA SUGGESTS
Obviously, there are many factors involved in swallowing. One of the parts combining together. Once the food starts to move, the action is so rapid that it can hardly be seen with the eye in X-ray pictures, but has to be followed by motion pictures.
Fluids go down much more rapidly than solid food. Liquids reach the stomach in from one to two seconds, whereas solid foods may require seven to eight seconds. If any one gets the facts involved in the swallowing mechanism in disturbed, the whole process may be disturbed.
In paralysis of the tongue, which means paralysis of the muscles involved, swallowing is disturbed and also speech. In other words, the whole tongue is paralyzed, and lies at the bottom of the mouth covered with saliva. Such complete paralysis, however, is quite rare. In most cases only one portion of the tongue is involved.
If both parts of the tongue are paralyzed speech is usually unintelligible. If, however, only one-half of the tongue is paralyzed speech may be fairly good, but certainly, particularly L. S. E. and W. do not come out satisfactorily.

Stockton, Cal. — The depression uncovers a multitude of sins. Joseph Corraie confessed to Captain of Detectives James C. Dewey that he had helped four other boys hold up and rob a truck carrying $400,000 in gold bullion. That was two years ago, near Killbuck, Conn. It was lack of work and scarcity of meals that caused Corraie to give himself up.

TALCOTTVILLE
A three-act comedy entitled "The Three Pegs" which was to be presented by the Wagon Club of Wapping in Talcott Hall on Friday, Dec. 16, was postponed until after the Christmas holidays because of the extreme cold weather.
The Pioneer Boys lost a close basketball game to the Pioneer's of Wapping on Saturday, Dec. 17 in Talcott Hall. After getting off to a poor start Talcottville fell 3 points short of overcoming the lead piled up by Wapping in the early stages of the game. The final score was 32-29. The playing of the Lotus boys was the outstanding feature of the game.
The Pioneer Boys will hold a meeting and practice on Wednesday evening at 7:30 in Talcott Hall. These boys were unable to attend the State Younger Boys Conclave at Y. M. C. A. in New Haven on Saturday as they had planned because of weather conditions.
The Talcottville Christian Endeavor Society members were guests of the Vernon Center Society on Sunday evening. A social time with refreshments preceded the meeting in order that the members of both Societies might become better acquainted. At 8:30 p. m. a spiritual meeting was held which was very pleasing and profitable to everyone.
On Thursday evening December 22 in Talcott Hall, the school and church will cooperate in a Christmas tree with gifts for each member of the Day School, Church School and Cradle Roll. The exercises will be in charge of the Day School with Miss Anne Herring as teacher. These exercises will commence at 8 p. m. and are usually well attended.
On next Sunday afternoon Dec. 25, at 5:30 p. m. a Christmas Concert will be given in the Church Auditorium by members of the Church School.

WOMEN IN INDUSTRY
Women's dresses manufactured and delivered in New York, all finished and pressed for $2.80 a dozen! Men's shirts at $1.35 a dozen! Shirts made to sell at chain stores at 20 cents each—32 operations on a shirt—and girls right here in Connecticut receive a cent a shirt for making them! Working 55 hours a week, the most they could possibly make would be $3 a week! These were some of the statements made before the Federated Women's clubs at the session held Friday at the local Y. M. C. A. by Miss Helen Wood of the State Labor Commission who has made a special survey of sweat shops in Connecticut.
Miss Wood stated that the number of girls employed in the sewing trades in the state has increased 49.8 per cent in the past 10 years while seamstresses and dressmakers working at home, and the higher priced shops have decreased 51 per cent. People in buying these ready made dresses are throwing out of work hand sewers, and many of the better shops have had to close entirely because they could not compete with the sweat shops. Many of the men who take these low-

HARTFORD COUNTY CLUB WOMEN IN SESSION HERE
The writer had the privilege of attending the afternoon meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Friday where upwards of 100 earnest, interested members of the Federated Women's clubs in this section had assembled, and of listening to the addresses of several of the guest speakers.
John F. Rolfe, publisher of the Hartford Times, said as a mass the women have not used the franchise. They had used it in spots effectively but should get to work on the rest of their sex. Their knowledge of political affairs, in his opinion, was as good as the average man's. Mr. Rolfe was invited to discuss "War Debts," and explained that very few people in the world were objecting to the subject intelligently, and doubted if he could. He, however, gave the women a comprehensive, understandable idea of the situation, but made the significant remark: "As far as War Debts are concerned, we have kissed the good-bye."

Restaurants
Any number of girls working in restaurants for tips only have inquired if there was not a law requiring proprietors to pay some sort of wage. One manager pooled the tips and took 33 1-3 per cent as his commission. Restaurants in hotels are exempt from any regulation by law and can work employees until 8 and 4 o'clock in the morning. Miss Wood and Miss Adelaide Noble, also of Hartford, appealed to the clubwomen to attend legislative hearings and to bring their influence to bear on legislators.

A Plea For More Music
Mrs. Robert F. Gadd, president of the State Federation of clubs, lauded the work the members of the different clubs were doing and made a plea not only for continued interest in political and civic affairs but for more music. Where there is harmony there is less discord, people who are singing together have less hatred and more good will for their fellow men. Friday the theme song was "New England," printed below, sung to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne" at both the morning and afternoon sessions, and the Friendly Song. The guest soloist was Mrs. Arthur Lashinsky of this town who was heard in a delightful group of contralto solos.

DIZZY DAYS IN ENGLAND
Record of Recent History Overseas
An Exciting Book.
By BRUCE CATTON
The post-war years are already a fabulous time. That sprightly book, "Only Yesterday," which persuaded us to glance back at the last dozen years, was like a glimpse into a forgotten history book. It fantastically things recorded there happened to us.
Now we have "Just the Other Day," by John Collier and Linn Lang, in which England's post-war career is similarly recalled; and American readers will be struck by the fact that England had an even drier time than we did.
The era began with the sinking of the interned German fleet at Scapa Flow and ended with the mutiny of the British fleet at Invergordon. It included the hideous black-and-tan general in Ireland and the general strike. It brought England its first socialist government and it wound up with an English pound that had departed from its golden base. It saw the decline of English industry, the rise of the dole and the rebellion in India.
In some ways the English pendulum didn't swing as wildly as did ours. England had no Florida boom, no stock market orgy in 1929, no Scopes case, no Chicago gang wars. Still, England had her moments. It broke a lot of legs

ROOT MAY SUCCEED STEVENS AS COACH OF YALE FOOTBALL

Appointment Would Be In Line With Tradition of Placing Alumnus In Charge; Has Had Much Experience In Grid Game.

New Haven, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Well informed followers of Yale athletics were almost unanimous today in the belief Yale would appoint one of her own former grid-iron warriors to the post as head football coach vacated by Dr. Marvin A. Stevens.

Officially the Yale Athletic Association was silent, except to announce that the personnel of next year's coaching staff would be announced "later." The names of several outstanding stars from other teams have been mentioned as possibilities but the unbroken tradition of placing a Yale alumnus in charge of the team was expected to prevail.

Reginald D. Root, freshman, discussed through, was mentioned as the next coach. Root has been a member of the coaching staff under Stevens for the last two years. In addition, the 25-year-old former line player coaching experience includes work at the University of Mexico and at Roxbury school and Yale school. He played tackle at Yale in 1924 and 1925.

His appointment, moreover, would conform to the new administrative proposals of placing coaching in the hands of faculty members inasmuch as he is an instructor in the economy department. The New Haven Journal-Opinion also mentions Tad Jones, former coach, as a possibility. Jones, now in business in New Haven, ran for Congress on the Republican ticket in November but was defeated.

"I am in contact with Yale and have been and is decidedly pleasant. I could to continue as head coach, but my superior desire was to reach a goal in the medical field. This time came for me to turn to Yale and the other side of the coin." Stevens, in a statement, said "my contact with Yale has been and is decidedly pleasant. I could to continue as head coach, but my superior desire was to reach a goal in the medical field. This time came for me to turn to Yale and the other side of the coin."

ALUMNI ANNOUNCES LINEUP FOR ANNUAL HIGH SCHOOL TILT

Team That Reached Finals of Yale Tourney Will Take Floor Friday Night At State Armory.

Manchester High's famous basketball quintet of 1930-31—the squad that reached the finals of the Yale tournament—will take the floor against the 1932-33 team of the high school at the State Armory Friday night in the annual Alumni-Manchester High School encounter.

The Alumni lineup will consist of eleven players, the starting five to be the same team that played at New Haven, with the exception of the late Donnie Skutumpah.

In reserve, the Alumni will have Chick Frazier, "Buddie" Kerr, "Huck" McHale, Al Smith, Richard McCormick and Eddie Warner. With this array of talent the Alumni expect to give the high school a hard time.

The starting line-up of the Alumni is the same five that defeated New Haven Hillhouse in the Yale tournament, 23 to 21, then went on to eliminate Bristol, 31 to 29. In the finals, Manchester will be the Naugatuck, 37 to 18, the local players being exhausted after two tough games, while Naughty had a comparatively easy time in reaching the finals.

The players mentioned are requested to make arrangements to play with John Lerch, as soon as possible.

The Boston Cubs have held the lead all season, today forcing their margin out to a half-game as a result of last night's 2-2 deadlock between the second-place Philadelphia Arrows and the New Haven Eagles.

Alex Cook, Boston center, took the scoring lead away from his teammate, Ted Saunders, during the past week. Cook, with 15 points, has scored but four goals while Saunders, with 14 points, has turned on the red light 13 times.

BROTHER ACTS ARE A FEATURE OF REC SR. COURT LEAGUE

Heights, Independents and Sons of Italy Win At Expense of Dills, Newsboys and Celtics.

The brother act is very noticeable in the Rec Senior Basketball League which plays every Saturday night at the School Street gym. Records indicate that in only two cases do brothers oppose each other and that is when the Independents and Dills clash, in which we find Johnnie Tierny former High School star playing with the Dills while his older brother Jimmie pastimes with the Independents.

The Celtics have two sets of brothers in Clarence and Stuart Vennart, also Fred and Ertle Bissell, whom are brothers of Sherwood Bissell local basketball official.

The Sons of Italy boast of Salvatore and Tony Salmond, William and Patay Vince, the latter brother played and for the local Eagles Football team the past season. Though he has not played with the Sons of Italy to date "Ding" Farr is included on the slightly list of the Sons of Italy, while his brother Louis is trying to keep up the good work where his brother "Ding" left off.

Not to be outdone the Heights come forth with "Sting" and John Sturgeon, the former brother also plays with the "Rec Five". Donald Vennart who plays with the Herald Newsboys is looking forward to January 14 when he hopes to play against one of his brothers while Tom opposes the Celtics at that time.

In the first game of the evening last Saturday the fast Heights A, walloped the Dills by the score of 48 to 24. The Dills were entirely outclassed and the score could have been much larger had the Heights tried to score the last half, but content to passing the ball around the last quarter.

In the second and best game of the evening the Independents nosed out the Herald Newsboys after a five minute overtime period when the Independents scored nine point. After playing good ball for forty minutes the paper carriers went to pieces and were overwhelmed in the overtime session. Seelert and Kerr did the bulk of scoring for the team, while Schmitt and Sullivan played best for the Herald.

In the final game of the evening the Sons of Italy won over the Celtics after a close and hard fought game. The Celtics furnished plenty of opposition to the Sons of Italy during the overtime period, but minutes of play that the winners looked superior. The playing of the Bissell brothers stood out for the losers, while T. Salmond and P. Vince excelled for the Italians.

The schedule for January 7 brings together the two undefeated teams in the league, the Heights and the Sons of Italy and both teams possess very good material, with indications of being a bitterly fought contest to gain possession of first place in the Rec Senior League which operates every Saturday night.

Tarzan of the Renaissance

Above is a cartoon of Charles "Tarzan" Cooper, a member of the famous Renaissance colored basketball team, hailed as one of the greatest aggregations in the world. Cooper measures six feet four inches in his stonking feet and is regarded as one of the best center men in the game today. He is the pivot of all Renaissance players and is instrumental in the perfection of many plays. He is most dangerous under the basket because of his great stature. The Rec Five will have a hard time stopping this boy tomorrow night at the School Street Rec.

But we have a few lines out and if they pull in any promising youngsters, you can bet we'll be there swinging among the leaders at the end of next season's campaign."

HARPSTER TO COACH AT CARNEGIE TECH

Pittsburgh, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Returning to Carnegie Tech, where he sparkled as a quarterback on the Steelers' great team of 1928, Howard Harpster will take over the coaching portfolio at his alma mater next spring.

Announcement of the appointment of Harpster to succeed Bob Waddell, who resigned a few days ago, was made last night by Clarence Ober, athletic director, after a session of the Tech athletic board.

The athletic council made a complete "new deal" in Tech's coaching faculty, removing Judge Walter F. Steffen, Chicago jurist, from the active role of advisory coach. The judge was named to the council's football committee.

Harpster, who is expected to adhere to Carnegie's traditional style of play—a hedge-podge of the Notre Dame and Chicago systems—will bring his entire coaching staff with him from Geneva.

ALEXANDER GAINS BATTING TITLE IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Boston First Sacker Leads Hitters With .367 Average But Jimmy Fox Captures Bulk of Honors.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The 1932 American League batting championship today belonged officially to David Dale Alexander, Boston's first baseman, but the bulk of honors accumulated by the slugger went to Jimmy Fox of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Alexander, who graded the Detroit bench until traded with Roy Johnson to the Red Sox for Earl Webb, amassed an average of .367, to outstrip Fox, who had the season's batting average lead by three points, Alexander's average led 28 points shy of the winning mark of Al Simmons of the Athletics, the 1931 winner.

The big Boston slugger made his mark in 124 games, while Fox played every one of the A's 154 contests. Fox, however, grabbed off three individual leaderships. After crowding Babe Ruth's home run race for the year, in which the Yankee hero set the major league record of 60, Fox slipped just a little and finished with 58. He led the league in scoring with 151 runs, and his total base collection of 438, was much the better.

Just to make it unanimous among first basemen for the choice positions, Lou Gehrig, the Yankee's former backer, finished third with an average of .328. Gehrig's further walk was Heinie Manush of Washington, and Babe Ruth landed fifth with .341, although he had been handicapped by illness.

No batting records were established, but two noteworthy performances were noted. On June 3 Gehrig smashed Philadelphia pitching for home runs in four consecutive times at bat, and on June 20, Roger Cramer, who was unable to finish the season because of injuries, hit another mark in combining White Sox pitching for six hits in as many times at bat during a nine-inning game.

Joe Sewell, the world champion Yankee's third baseman, in his thirteenth season as an American League regular, fanned only three times while Carey Smith, Chicago infielder, went 85 games without striking out. The best hitting streak was produced by Manush who connected safely in 22 consecutive games. Three members of the St. Louis Browns, landed in a tie for the runnup position by hitting in 20 games in a row. They were Rick Ferrell, Debs Garms and Irving Burns.

Joe Cronin, who will manage the Washington club next season, led in base hits with 148, and Eric McNair, young Philadelphia infielder, won the honors in doubles with 47. Simmons, although he finished eighth among the regulars produced the most hits, 216.

In team efforts, the Athletics had the most pugilistic history in that the Yankees and Cleveland followed respectively with 284 and 285. The Yanks did the most scoring, making 1,002 runs, with Washington holding its opposition to the lowest total, 716.

The Manchester Herald Newsboys decisively avenged their defeat by the Uncas at the Army a week ago when they defeated them in return game at the Y. M. C. A. gym Saturday night to the tune of 37-11. Unleashing a fast passing attack that broke through the Uncas zone defense, they had proven so impracticable to them the week before, they caged 18 baskets during the game.

The Uncas passing attack that had given them a 28-7 lead at the half on the Army floor was entirely broken up by the strong defensive play of the Newsboys. The Uncas scored only three field goals during the game and those swishers were from some distance from the basket.

ANSWER TO "SOCIALISM"

Editor, The Herald: If my article, "Youth and Democracy" was not explicit, I am sorry. Miss Britton stated that I classified Aethelism with Socialism. If that was the way it was comprehended, it was misunderstood. In that sentence, I did not classify; but I enumerated that the Socialists in addition to the athletes were tolerated to teach in our schools.

There was not another word in my article that had any other relation to Socialism. Yet, Miss Britton manages to make remarks concerning the aims and effects and the results of Socialism. These assertions of my estimation were unnecessary. Also, the remarks concerning the growth of Socialism in relation to the Catholic Religion were unnecessary. I would not endeavor to discuss Socialism, for theoretically it is almost unquestionable.

I have to some degree attended socialistic meetings in Los Angeles, California; Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Manchester, Connecticut. Practically all the Socialists leaders I have heard profess that Socialism is the only logical solution to our present and future depressions. Yet, if they are such Jeremiahs, why did they not forewarn us of our present crisis? According to Miss Britton's statements concerning children under Socialism, one would get the idea that they would become the "Emiles" of Rousseau. By the way, Rousseau and his wife sold their own child to an orphanage.

I happened to attend one of the Socialistic meetings in Manchester, where, at the close of the speeches, I asked a few questions. Well, to my surprise upon my departure, I was encircled by a few Socialists, both men and women, asking me to sign a card for membership into the organization. Moreover, I was the only one of the many prospects that was not accepted. And according to Miss Britton's remarks, I lack judgment. Is that the kind of comrades they desire? Also, I would refer Miss Britton to read my letter entitled "Children and Crime" in last Tuesday's Herald, as to my lack of judgment. Jan Zapadka.

FINANCIAL NEWS

By AARON COOK

Questions may be submitted to this column. Those questions deemed of group interest will be treated in articles; those deemed otherwise, will be treated individually with answers being forwarded to the persons requesting information.

THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

made little headway on Saturday, prices were slightly on the downward. United States Steel preferred has been weak, due possibly to dividend uncertainty. The opinion is offered that there is a goodly sized short position in the stock. U. S. Steel preferred has a cumulative feature; which fact, connected with a concern of the size and scope of U. S. Steel is worthy of particular notice.

In case, preferred dividends are not declared there is every reason to believe that when steel operations are more profitable the arrears will be cleared up.

The Curb Market showed strength at the close on Saturday, although the turnover was small. Utilities and industrials made the best come-back in the late rally.

The New York Bank stocks market showed strength during the past week. Reports from New York say that very good investment buying has been taking place. The usual dividends have been declared.

The Hartford Insurance market has been strong the past week with regular dividend announcements reassuring investors of the stability of the insurance business.

Aetna Casualty and Surety Co. directors have declared their regular dividend of 40 cents and an extra dividend of 20 cents payable January 3, 1933, to stockholders of record Dec. 17, 1932.

Automobile Insurance Co. directors have declared their regular dividend of 25 cents payable January 3, 1933, to stock of record Dec. 15, 1932.

Brokers still seem to feel that the market is in a strong position. Selling does not follow the market down when there are reactionary tendencies. Good news would most likely provide the impetus to push representative issues through upper resistance levels.

According to the National Underwriter: "There are indications in some quarters that the peak in surpluses and lapses was reached early this fall and that terminations from these causes have begun to taper off. The trend, however, is nowhere as definite as in the case of policy loans, in which there has been a steady recession since last June's peak.

There has been a trend in connection with New York banks to divert themselves of their security assets. One that has fallen in line recently is Chemical Bank and Trust Company. It is claimed that the book value of the bank will be raised from $35 per share to $34 by winding up the affiliate's business. The affiliate owned a substantial block of the banks stock and by taking these shares back and cancelling them the bank will raise its book value per share.

An interesting analysis of Hartford Fire Insurance Co., as regards its records to stockholders from 1910 to 1932 shows that 5 shares (100 par) purchased in 1910 at $70 per share would represent at the present time 300 shares of $10 par. This would necessitate subscribing to all rights and would take into consideration the split-up from $100 par to $10 par. The 300 shares would have a cost of $6,900—or an average cost of $23 per share, representing the original cost of the five shares plus the cost of the valuable rights purchased.

Odd-Lot dealing on the New York Stock Exchange and the New York Curb Exchange is described briefly as follows: "The unit of trading is amount from 1 to 99 is an 'Odd-Lot.' An odd-lot dealer trades these fractional parts of 100 share lots on the floor of the exchange for a service charge or a differential rate of 1-8 of a point in most cases on the New York Stock Exchange and 1-4 of a point in most cases on the New York Curb Exchange. In the case of the customer sells, the differential is deducted from the sales price; on the other hand, if he buys, the differential is added on to the purchase price.

Drivers of Chicago funeral cars have gone on a strike. And it will be hard in that town to find volunteer strikebreakers willing to go just for the ride.

FEW CHEMISTS IDLE

New York, Dec. 13-(AP)—A pickup in chemistry often rated as the nation's second largest industry, is seen in a review of 1932 by Harrison E. Howe, Ph.D., editor of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

"Unemployment among chemically trained workers," he said, "has shown a small but gratifying decline during the closing months of the year.

"A few bold souls have had the forethought necessary training to add to their payrolls men of special qualifications to assist in developing new processes and new materials to be ready for circumstances justify it."

Achievements of chemical discovery have not halted during 1932, he said.

SNOW REMOVAL

New York, Dec. 13-(AP)—

SENSE AND NONSENSE

"We need to stop, look and listen and estimate life's values ahead," according to Dr. S. Parkes Cadman. We need to "stop, look and listen" every time we cross a busy street, if we value life.

You could dodge traffic by starting early in the morning if people didn't start early in the morning to dodge traffic.

Mother—What made you stay so late? Have a flat tire?
Daughter (dreamily)—No, mother, I'd hardly call him flat.

Beware of deadly carbon monoxide. If repairs are to be made to a car with engine running, the only place to make such repairs is outdoors.

Running out of gas half mile from a filling station is carrying things entirely to far.

Two fair hitch hikers were overtaken by darkness and stopped. An officer to inquire as to the nearest farm house that would provide a night's lodging.

Officer—Just take the road to your right, and you can't go wrong.
Girls (in chorus)—Are there any other roads?

There are two things the young man of today seems to think were made, to be broken—HEARTS and TRAFFIC RULES.

Herbert—Arthur hasn't been out one night for three weeks.
Judith—Has he turned over a new leaf?

Herbert—No; he's turned over a new car.

Science again shows great progress. The cigarette lighter has almost entirely replaced the flivver joke material.

Manchester folks who can't afford to buy gasoline at the present time, find they can yet enjoy many walks in life.

Exhausts: The best cure for that important feeling is to go touring and meet a lot of truck drivers—There was a lot more horse sense in the highways in the old days, but it belonged to the horse—Gas is no longer the stuff you light. It's the stuff you step on—Nowadays a man has only to walk three blocks to qualify as a pedestrian—Any motorist will tell you that all the wooden headed drivers are not on the golf course—Many of the automobiles we see are not signs of poverty or depression—Bandits practice on the filling stations and graduate in the bank—Doctors who recommend walking for the health have to hire a taxi when their car breaks down—Drive slowly and see the world, or drive rapidly and see the next—One might think that the tramp is contented to spend his time wandering the country begging, but many a time he wishes he had a car.

Office Boy—May I go home, sir? I've got a bilious attack and feel faint.

Boss—Certainly, my boy. But if you will wait a minute I'll give you a lift in my car—I'm going to the football game myself.

An automobile load of tourists always makes us feel glad that we didn't have to pack the luggage.

Twenty-five years ago he used to hitch the old nag at the post in front of the house and walk in for his sweets. Nowadays he sits out in front and honks and honks for her.

Wife—Honestly, that husband of mine is so exasperating! He asked me to meet him her with the car and I've been waiting ever since six o'clock; it's seven now.
Friend—What time were you supposed to meet him?
Wife—At five o'clock.

Crews of men are repairing the great breaks in our cement highways made by the huge trucks that rumble day and night over the highways. It must be pleasing to the wealthy truck owners to know that folks are willing to dig down in their pockets to build and keep the roads in condition for them to use free and are also willing to take to the roadsides when their oversize trucks hog the road as if they own it.

A FINE LAD
"My son came out today. He got four months taken off his prison sentence for good conduct."
"There you are. I always said you would be proud of that boy."—Hummel, Hamburg.

THE ONE HORN
"So your sister is married. Is she happy?"
"Yes, very. The only thing that annoys her is her husband."—The Humorist.

THE CAR, OR THE WORD?
AUTO SALESMAN: Yes, sir, this car is absolutely the very last word.
CUSTOMER: Good! I'll buy it! My wife loves it!—The Humorist.
