

Courts Girl With Pebbles, Court Warns Him Not To

Noisy Wooing Disturbs Neighbors Around Chestnut Lodge - But Romeo Hasn't Other Way of Calling His Friend.

A Romeo who resorted to pebbles have been so hard on the young instead of song disturbed residents in the neighborhood of Chestnut Lodge last night and his stony southerly was abruptly halted by a top's nightstick. Henry Franks, of Summer street, Bristol, is courting a young woman employed as a maid at the Cheney boarding house on Chestnut street.

What with phantoms stabbers roaming the streets the police decided to give the fellow a lesson and held him for about this morning. Unfazed by the disturbance and the fact that he today he found that among those who had disturbed through his noisy wooing was Prosecutor Hathaway. The prosecutor knew first hand about the disturbance and recommended that the young man be fined. But Franks was frank with the judge and told a pretty logical story.

It seems that the young man from Bristol does some prize fighting now and then. He has a bout on Saturday night and he has forgotten to tell her about the boxing engagement. The girl friend expected him to return again tonight and he didn't want to disappoint her. It was too late to telephone so he resorted to the pebbles. Judge Johnson thought the young man punishes enough by staying in court over night and suspended sentence. He warned him not to be so noisy when he calls upon his girl again.

The Young People's society of the Concordia Lutheran church will have a social this evening at seven o'clock at the church. The teaching staff of the Second Congregational church school had a business meeting and New Year's party last evening with Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Williams of Tolland Turnpike. Superintendent J. C. Owens presided and outlined plans for the year 1935. When it came time for the distribution of the gifts from the tree, Mrs. Williams pressed into service the newest member of the household, a German police dog she had given her husband for Christmas. Everybody went into peals of laughter when the dog made trip after trip back to the tree and to the guests, leaving at the feet of each one a New Year's gift.

WOMEN NOW CARRYING THEIR OWN PROTECTORS

Manchester women who are out late at night unaccompanied by male escorts are going armed, it is understood. With hardly a night passing, but what a rumor of a mysterious attack on a child, woman or boy is started, local women have gone back to the old days when every woman had a good weapon handy at all times—the old reliable hatpin. Picture hats are gone, but women still have a blank weapon in the form of the large bladed safety pins, red pepper, acid, ammonia guns and in extreme cases—a knife. There has been a noticeable reduction in the number of women accompanied by male escorts. With a reduction in the number of cars licensed, many women are using the trolleys more than last month. Police are watching closely for any recurrence of the attacks.

HOOVER STRIKES BACK AT HIS POLITICAL FOES

Tells Congress To Keep Its Hands Off His Regrouping Scheme To Help Cut Down Expenses.

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—President Hoover today hit out at Congressional opposition to his plans for regrouping governmental agencies, saying in a statement that unless Congress "keeps its hands off now" or gives larger powers to President-elect Roosevelt, any reorganization will be "merely make believe."

Calling in newspapermen for his first press conference since September 13, Mr. Hoover said he considered "the opposition of Democratic leaders in Congress to stop the reorganization" to be "a backward step." The Chief Executive added that he believed proposals on Capitol Hill "to transfer the job of reorganization to my successor" were simply "a device by which his plans could be defeated."

The President recently sent a special message to Congress proposing regrouping of more than 60 Federal agencies and commissions into nine divisions, along with the abolition of some. He advocated a central division of public works, consolidation of merchant marine activities, a reorganized public health division and other changes. Some Opposition "The same opposition has now arisen," he said today, "which has defeated every effort at reorganization for 25 years. The chairman of one House committee discloses: 'Many members of the administration itself opposed Mr. Hoover's plan,' but that he had not called them to testify because 'he saw no reason to embarrass them.'"

"He could add that outside groups, Congressional committees and members of Congress fear a reduction of influence in the administration of these functions." The Statement "The text of the President's statement follows: 'The proposals of Democratic leaders in Congress to stop the reorganization of government functions which I have made is a backward step. The same opposition has now arisen which has defeated every effort at reorganization for 25 years. The chairman of one House committee discloses: 'Many members of the administration itself opposed Mr. Hoover's plan,' but that he had not called them to testify because 'he saw no reason to embarrass them.'"

HERE ARE LIGHTS TO BE REMOVED Electric Company Starts Taking Out Bulbs As Part of New Program.

The Manchester Electric Company began yesterday to remove the 558 lights in Manchester in accordance with the plan to reduce the cost of street lighting approximately $5,300 as voted at the October town meeting.

The committee following the appointment of the committees of the Board of Selectmen, the Public Safety committee composed of the chairman of the Board, Wells A. Strickland, ex-officio; Sherwood G. Bowers and John L. Jenney were appointed to the first year.

Under the plan offered to the town last year which was accepted for the period named in the agreement, the Manchester Electric Company agreed to furnish 14 miles of experimental lighting on selected streets, the company to assume the cost of the project for the first year.

When the town meeting voted a $20,000 appropriation instead of the $25,350 as recommended by the Board of Selectmen for the current fiscal year, a conference with K. P. Applegate, vice president and engineer, respectively of the Manchester Electric Company was held in an effort to learn what was possible under the reduced appropriation.

The Board of Selectmen and the officials of the Manchester Electric Company came to no agreement in the matter, and it was left with the Public Safety committee of the Board of Selectmen to mark for removal such lights in the town as seemed best to be removed in the interests of economy.

The committee has stated that they have tried to retain lights at the most dangerous street intersections, at or near fire alarm boxes, police alarm boxes and similar areas deemed most essential.

The town may, at a special town meeting, vote the extra $3,900 needed for continuation of the demonstrative program which involves the expense, to the town, of maintenance of about 60 miles of candlepower lamps, and the additional cost of the 4.7 miles of 235 candlepower for the ensuing year.

The ultimate expense of street lighting in 1935, if the town should continue the plan as advocated by the Manchester Electric Company would be approximately $31,000 yearly.

BOWERS EXPLAINS LIGHTS PROBLEM

Selectman Asks Townspeople Not To Complain; Blames Company.

The following letter was received today from Selectman S. G. Bowers relative to the elimination of street lights here:

For the second time in a year or so, Manchester is about to experience the removal of a considerable number of its street lights.

Whose fault is it? Indirectly, I suppose it is my own, because I made the motion for the reduced appropriation in the town meeting.

There are probably several thousand folks in Manchester who are a bit sore and disgruntled because a light or lights on their particular streets have been turned out.

1. Arrange with the Manchester Electric Co., to have your light put back and pay for it yourself.

2. Circulate a petition with twenty signers for a special town meeting to get back the $5,300 from the Manchester Electric Co.

3. Accept things "as is" and do the best you can in the dark.

The Public Safety Committee had little choice in the manner in which lights were turned out. We could take consecutive 60 cp. lights on streets at a saving this year of $20.80 per light, or scattered lights at a saving of $10.80 per light.

was called foolish and eccentric last year for not swallowing the bait of a little temporary free lighting, but as things have turned out, I think that this program of demonstration lighting with all the strings tied to it has proved to be the biggest lemon the Town of Manchester has had handed to it in a long time.

In my opinion, the only ultimate solution to the problem of electric service in Manchester is a municipally owned system. I have investigated a dozen or more municipally owned electric outfits during the course of this controversy, and from their figures, most of which run consistently low, I am convinced that we ought to be getting our streets lighted in Manchester at the present intensities or better for not more than the present line charge of the local company.

The Manchester Electric Company is in no mood or position to make any sizeable rate concessions here. Mr. Samuel Ferguson's Connecticut Power Co., paid the Cheney interests about $1,500,000 for the Manchester Electric Company in 1928, or fully twice its real worth.

I regret very much that the Public Safety Committee of the Board of Selectmen has had to recommend about 850 lights for removal. However, if we are to stay within the appropriation, that is the only way the company allows us to do it.

only reply was that it could not be done. They chose to spend $50,000 in a fight rather than helping us on our street lights to the extent of $6,000 last year. I do not believe in picking a fight, necessarily, but I also do not like to give up anything that I think is right without a battle, if it comes to that.

Well, the lights are going out. I hope that people will drive more carefully, walk more carefully, and try to get along in the best manner possible under the circumstances.

JAP TROOPS CAPTURE WALLED CHINESE CITY

Shiuse Tsuda, commanding Japanese forces in North China waters, was aboard the flagship, the cruiser Hiram, enroute to Shanhai-kwan from Tientsin.

A war office spokesman said the Japanese army was desirous of localizing the Shanhai-kwan conflict and had ordered the field commander to prevent the spread of hostilities. Much depends, however, upon whether the Chinese leaders "co-operate sincerely in the efforts to restore peace," said the spokesman.

seen by our side and was in howie connected with the intentions of the Japanese army ultimately to make Jehol unmistakably a part of Manchukuo.

The spokesman said his official reports indicated that up to now only the Ninth Brigade of Chinese and five companies of Japanese were involved in the fighting.

Dispatches from Tientsin to the Rango (Japanese) News Agency, however, reported that Major General Sunuki was on the way from Suiching and had established headquarters at the Shanhai-kwan railway station, assuming command of operations in which a considerable portion of his brigade was participating.

The war office spokesman said the conflict at Shanhai-kwan was an outgrowth of belligerent resolutions adopted recently at Nanking by the Kuomintang convention, "resulting in Chang Hsiao-Liang's warlike preparations and the dispatch of three Chinese brigades into Jehol."

CHINESE WARNED. Peiping, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Gen. Chang Hsiao-Liang was warned today by ranking Japanese military and naval officials in North China that he would be held responsible for developments arising from the Shanhai-kwan incident of the night of Jan. 1 when Chinese and Japanese troops clashed with casualties on both sides.

The warning was conveyed in two separate letters, one in the name of General Nakamura, commanding the Japanese troops in North China, with headquarters at Tientsin and the other from Japanese military and naval attaches here.

At noon today the Japanese legation lacked confirmation of reports that the Japanese had occupied Shanhai-kwan. The latest Chinese official reports said the city still was in the hands of the Chinese, who had "repulsed the Japanese attack."

Future developments remained today subject to keen speculation here. Manchurian headquarters of the Japanese take the view that the clash was merely "an unfortunate frontier incident which was easily settled."

Gen. Chang Hsiao-Liang has instructed his troops to do nothing to aggravate the situation, it was stated. The Japanese military leaders, however, are obviously incensed at what they regard as a breach of faith on the part of the Chinese and independent observers are closely studying the possibility that the Japanese may seize the opportunity to bring both Shanhai-kwan and Jehol into the Manchukuo fold.

An official spokesman for the Japanese legation here denied today that any ultimatum had as yet been delivered to Chang. He stated also that there was no information that Shanhai-kwan had as yet been occupied by the Japanese.

HELPLESS IN JAIL, FAMILY STARVING

Duhah's pigs, which were the main dependence of the family so their living have died, the 5,000 head of cabbage and 5,400 tomato plants which he had set out on his usual farm rotted in the ground because there was no one to care for them.

Duhah was permitted a few weeks ago to take the poor debtor's oath before Justice Arthur E. Taylor in Bethel but his creditor appealed from the decision of the justice permitting him to take the oath and Duhah, who had expected to be free before Christmas to try to keep his family together during the winter, was returned to jail. The case was reviewed by Judge Frederick W. Huxford of the Court of Common Pleas and his decision, which may be the effect of freeing Duhah is being awaited.

SEEMS A PENSION. Washington, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Representative Freeman (R., Conn.), introduced a bill in the House today to provide for a pension for Mrs. Elizabeth W. Perkins of Groton, Connecticut. She is the widow of Edwin F. Perkins of the Tenth Regiment, Connecticut Volunteer Infantry Regiment.

NEW ZEALAND STORM. Wellington, New Zealand, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Wireless reports from Apia, Samoa, today told of a strong gale with heavy rain and wild seas which has been raging in that vicinity for the past 24 hours. The water supply was temporarily cut off and some fear was felt that the banana crop would be considerably damaged.

SPOTLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY
SHELLA SHANE, 18, whose parents were well known vaudeville actors, is in New York looking for work. Shella is a dancer. She has spent almost her entire life on the stage, first traveling with her parents, now dead, and later in vaudeville and road shows.

With Trevor Lane was young Dick Stanley, his cousin several times removed, not so wealthy and a trifle more ambitious. Dick was in New York ostensibly to learn to write plays. Trevor's theatrical connections were supposed to be of valuable assistance.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

The scrappy bit of paper meant a job and a pay check!
It wasn't much, of course. Filling in for Daisy Gleason was rather a blow to Shella's pride.

CHAPTER II

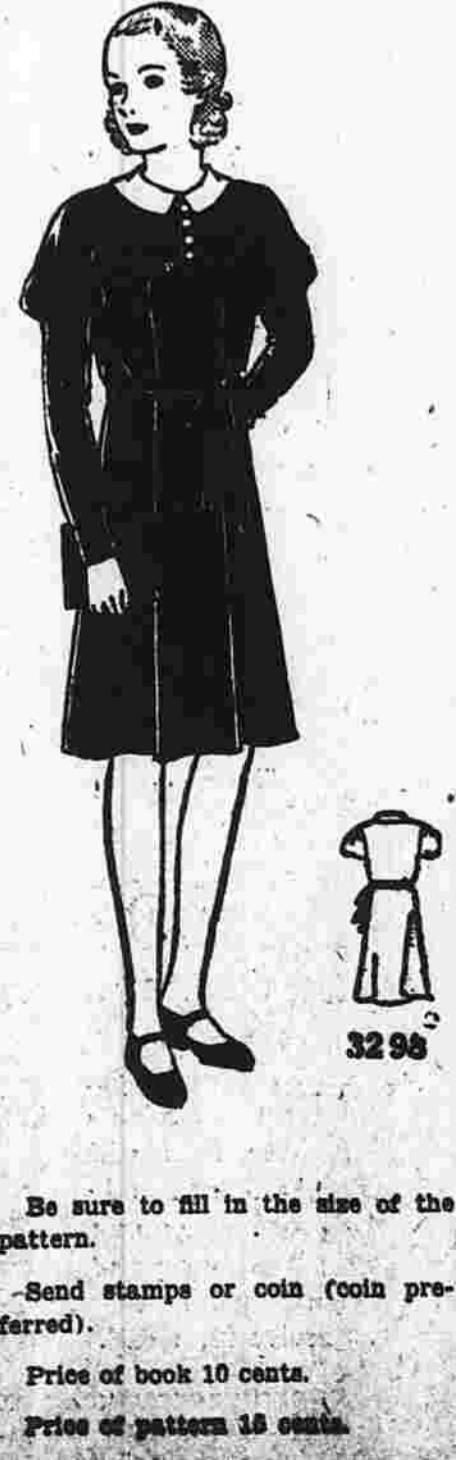

Myrt, a vaudeville performer also out of work, lives there, too. Over the breakfast table one morning Shella confided to Myrt that her great ambition is to marry and have a home like those she has seen in small towns in which she has played.

A TOAST!

Here's to the man who plans things—
Builds things—makes things; Who prattles not of wonders of old, Nor boasts of ancestral gold, But takes off his coat and takes hold.

And DOES THINGS!
You may have plenty of good sound sense and much valuable experience, but if you lack an enthusiastic interest in your work, you're destined to the dull drudgery of the day. Enthusiasm is the dynamo of your personality, driving all other advantages in your favor.

Mother—What was the idea in kissing a man you'd never seen before?
Pretty Daughter—Well, it was so dark I couldn't tell who it was.

France is changing its laws to make divorce harder. The thing that makes divorce so hard in the United States is alimony.

Traveling Salesman—Why is the sag at halfmast?
Merchant—The place is dead.

Some men lift their hats as an evidence of courtesy, and some merely touch the brim as an evidence of baldness.

DOTTIE—You needn't be afraid. It's not catching, teacher.

THREE AGES OF MAN:

Farmer—There was a certain prominent physician who had a serious operation to perform on one of his patients. During the operation the physician became rather nervous and excited, and instead of removing the membrane he was after accidentally took out the man's conscience.
Lawyer—Well, what became of the patient? Did he get well?
Farmer—Oh yes, but having his conscience taken out he was not fit for anything else, so he studied law.

Man—How's business?
Merchant—Take your hat off when talking of the deceased.

Georgia—So he says, "Will yuh be faithful to me?"
Clarice—Yeah?
Georgia—Then I says: "Well, I'm faithful to four others, I guess I can make it five!"

"I want to make a compact," said the timid youth, but his Sweet Patootie interrupted him by saying: "Gosh, I wouldn't try to make one when you can get them at the ten cent store."

STERILE SOIL
WIFE (breaking the news of good-for-nothing brother's arrival): Hector has come to stay for a few days. Poor boy, he's looking very seedy.

HUSBAND: Seedy, is he? Well, he isn't going to plant himself here! —The Humorist.
