

SENATOR TO FIGHT FOR SOLDIERS' BILL

Cramer Says He Will Resist To Limit Any Move To Reduce Proposed Two Million Appropriation.

Hartford, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Early indications are expected from the General Assembly as to what policy it will pursue relative to capital expenditures for the next biennium.

Already a bill seeking $2,250,000 for the new soldiers' home at Rocky Hill has been introduced. Legislators have indicated, however, that in view of warnings from the state officials including Governor Cross, that Capitol expenditures must be kept at a minimum, the proposed appropriation will be cut drastically, if granted at all.

Senator Kenneth F. Cramer, sponsor of the bill, has asserted he will resist to the limit any effort to reduce the appropriation. He also expressed confidence his bill will be passed.

Senator Cramer, member of the commission named two years ago to select a new site for the soldiers' home now located at Noroton, said he based his confidence on the expectation his measure and possibly a second would be the only bills carrying appropriation for improvements to come before the Legislature.

He said an appropriation would probably be sought for completion of the Fairfield state hospital at Newtown.

The $2,250,000 appropriation is sought, Cramer said, to provide dormitory and hospital facilities for about 1,000 veterans. He expressed the opinion that the proposed construction would take care of the overflow now at Noroton.

Caring for Veterans

The commission of which Cramer is a member is already caring for veterans in buildings which were on the Rocky Hill site when the property was sold to the state.

Most of the program recommended by the commission has already been embodied in bills introduced in the Democratic controlled Senate. Among them are measures creating a commission to study existing public utility laws and to recommend remedial laws, authorizing a public utility commission to initiate rate hearings and establishing a district court system.

Unpaid Taxes

Bent on relieving property owners of some of their burdens, many legislators also introduced during the week proposed legislation reducing the interest rate on unpaid taxes. The search for means of increasing the state's revenue brought a bill into the House proposing a tax on cigarettes and tobacco.

The three day legislative week saw the introduction of a record breaking number of bills, resolutions and petitions. At the close of Thursday's session 464 measures had already been filed. This number represented an increase of about 25 per cent over the number offered during the same period two years ago.

With four days left for the filing of new business many leaders predicted the total number of measures will far exceed the 1,725 of two years ago.

While most of next week will be devoted to receiving new business, the House has committed itself to act on the proposed amendment to the Federal constitution which would abolish the "lame duck" session of Congress. The amendment has been made the order of the day in the House for 11:30 a. m. Thursday.

FINANCIER SPRINGS ANOTHER SURPRISE

Montague Norman Marries a Few Hours After Announcing His Engagement.

London, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Great Britain's chancellor of mystery, picturesque Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, sprang his latest surprise this morning when his marriage to Miss Priscilla Worthorne followed within a few hours the announcement of their engagement.

Just 17 minutes after the marriage could legally occur today he arrived at the dingy Chelsea district registry office for the ceremony. Only Mr. Norman rolled up quite openly in a saloon car, his bride's disappearance of the bride and bridegroom after they were married. They slipped quietly out of a back door and vanished.

The newspapers of London were still reworking with news of the engagement of the 61 year old

CHICAGO PREDICTS PROSPERITY AHEAD

Expects 50 Million Visitors At World's Fair — Hotel Men Make Preparations.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—(AP)—From the newsway on the corner to the corporation president, Chicago looked ahead through 1933 today and predicted business would be good, if not booming.

The reason for the optimism rested in the century of progress Exposition and the forecasts, in most instances, were based on actual facts and figures.

Of all the business men expecting dollars and dimes from the pockets of the 50,000,000 expected World's Fair visitors, hotel and restaurant men were the most optimistic.

"We're sure of doing the best business in the history of Chicago," said Frank Bering, spokesman for the Hotel Owners' Association, "and we can promise definitely that every visitor to the fair will be able to get a room."

No Price Boosting

"Incidentally, the rates in every hotel will remain the same. There'll be no price boosting or profiteering."

The hotel owners explained that the majority of their guests will be delegates to conventions held during the five months of the exposition.

Neither do the restaurant men contemplate increasing their rates. They have agreed to cooperate to make possible that visitors can live well for $5 a day, amusement costs excluded.

Legion Convention

The busiest time of all for the hotels and restaurants will be the last week of October when the American Legion holds its annual convention.

State street department stores expect their share of the World's Fair prosperity to come indirectly. Visitors to Chicago, they have found, are apt to "shop" a lot but reserve their shopping for home town.

But if the people of Chicago make money, the store executives agreed, they will spend it here, and many of the dollars spent at the exposition ultimately must find their way to retailers.

GLASS BILL STILL FACES OPPOSITION

Senate Held Up Just As Bad As When Long Was Filibustering.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The Glass banking bill today had confronting it just as great opposition as when Huey Long capriciously hurled filibustering obstacles in the Senate's path.

It was Thomas of Oklahoma, a leader with Long in the racking fight on the measure, who asserted he would use his every power to prevent a vote and President-elect Roosevelt to invoke the cloture rule.

Again cutting deeply into the open wounds made in Democratic ranks by the filibuster, Long, the self-styled Louisiana "Kingfish," kept up his end of the dilator tactics, but denied he was filibustering.

He tried to gain time by asking a recess until Monday. He failed, and from Senator Glass (D., Va.), author of the bill, came an announcement that he would insist on night sessions next week.

AMERICAN LINER IN DRAMATIC BATTLE TO SAVE CREW OF SINKING FREIGHTER

To the rescue of the British freighter went the American Merchant (above) when the little Exeter City British vessel signaled she was in distress after being lashed by an Atlantic storm. Four members of the Exeter City's crew, including Captain E. D. Lake, were killed and the American Merchant shot life lines across the sinking vessel in attempts to save lives of the other members of the freighter's crew.

TWENTY-TWO MEN SAVED FROM SINKING STEAMER

American Ship Reaches British Steamer In the Nick of Time—Four Men Were Drowned.

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The steamer American Merchant knifed through evil, green seas today, bearing toward this port a hero and 22 sailors he saved from one of the North Atlantic's maddest fits.

Capt. Giles Stedman, rugged seagoer from Quincy, Mass., expected to get his ship here by Tuesday with the survivors of the crew of the tiny British freighter Exeter City, crushed to a sinking mass in a terrifying storm yesterday.

The skipper of the Exeter City, believed to be Capt. E. D. Legg, was swept to death with his third officer and two men.

New glory for the United States Merchant Marine rebounded from the feat of Captain Stedman, who in 1925 saved 28 men from the Italian steamship Ignazio Florio. Then he was chief officer of the liner President Harding.

Off Cape Race the Exeter City, out of Fowey, England, carrying China clay for Portland, Me., was about 600 miles east of Cape Race, Newfoundland, at dawn yesterday when her crew saw she was losing her death struggle with the elements. About 15 miles away the American Merchant plowing the westbound with passengers and freight, caught the spine-chilling "S O S."

It was no small task even to turn a ship to these gigantic waves but turn her Stedman did, and wallowed toward the scene. Three hours later the helpless Exeter City was seen. Bridge, chartroom and part of the stion gone, her Number 2 hatch bashed, she even then was settling. Sleet drove like shrapnel under lowering clouds.

As the American Merchant shuttled up to the Exeter City, she saw the ship was listing to starboard. "I have not the slightest doubt in my own mind, regardless of what the future has in store for the National prohibition system, that we ought to maintain our efforts unrelaxed, and that such changes as are to be made ought to be made in the substantive law before they are made by gutting or nullifying the present law."

The report added: "In this expression the majority

MONSIGNOR O'SHEA IS MADE BISHOP

Waterbury Clergyman, Who Is Now in China, Goes To Seattle, Wash.

Vatican City, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Pope Pius today nominated Monsignor John O'Shea, 46, of Kanchow, China, as bishop of Seattle, Wash.

At present, Monsignor O'Shea is apostolic vicar at Kanchow in China with the titular title of Bishop of Midia, Numidia.

Waterbury, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Monsignor John A. O'Shea, 46, of Kanchow, Province of Kiangsi, China, who has been nominated by Pope Pius as bishop of Seattle, Wash., has two brothers who are priests here. They are Rev. Francis M. O'Shea, acting pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, and Rev. W. J. O'Shea, pastor of St. Michael's.

Bishop O'Shea has been in China since 1921 and his name figured in World news recently when Chinese bandits besieged the city he was located in. His fate was unknown for some time.

He is a native of Deep River, Conn., and is a graduate of Niagara University. He is the youngest son of Henry the Eighth and Edward the Fourth of England, and several legal documents dating back to the fifteenth century. One volume, hitherto unrecorded, contains the statutes for the 14th and 15th years in the reign of King Henry the Eighth.

The latter volume, presented to the library by Guy F. Cary of New York, was printed by Richard Fynson, probably about 1524, and has previously been unknown to collectors and bibliographers.

One of the most prized additions to the library is a treatise by Ludovico Fontana, printed in Venice in 1471, which is among the oldest printed treatises on the civil law and the earliest dated law book in the law school library. The volume was presented by a group of lawyers known as "friends of the Harvard Law School Library," together with a unique copy of the constitution of the State of Georgia, printed at Savannah in 1755.

PLANS SET IN MOTION FOR WAR DEBTS TALK

Thirty Persons Killed As Gasoline Explodes

Mexico City, Jan. 21.—(AP)—quickly spread to a nearby storehouse containing 60 boxes of dynamite. The building and all machinery housed in it were destroyed. Fire spread to nearby houses, and many occupants were trapped.

Military and civil authorities were attempting to control a situation unparalleled in the history of the city. The governor of the state, high officials and residents in the foreign colony witnessed the tragedy. They participated in relief activities.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Diplomatic machinery was set in full motion on both sides of the Atlantic today to bring the United States and Great Britain together early in March for a new examination of war debts.

CHINA PREPARING DEFENSE PROGRAM

Reports From Shanghai Say Troops Are Pouring Into the North Country.

Shanghai, Jan. 21.—(AP)—China, as represented by the Nationalist Party government leaders at Nanking, appeared becoming increasingly apprehensive today regarding possible future developments in the Sino-Japanese dispute.

Officials launched various "defense moves" such as the alleged strengthening of military garrisons on the Yellow Sea coast, and the Yangtze valley—the river is traversed 150 miles by ocean vessels to such large cities as Nanking and Hankow.

Thousands of troops were reported being sent into the North China "war area." Reports said the Nationalist government was moving northward from Honan, South Chihli and Shantung provinces huge numbers of troops estimated at one quarter of a million men.

The movements continued, but conservative opinion considered the reported quarter million to be an exaggeration.

Purchase Airplanes

The recent weeks witnessed a stressing of aviation development in China and great enthusiasm swept "the public as a movement began, under official direction, for the purchase of airplanes. Gifts of planes also have been offered for the National Air Force.

The Nationalist government announced that next week, beginning Monday, will be National Aviation Week during which the government will seek to "further stir public interest in the necessity of strengthening the nation's air forces."

Change the Law
Woodcock replied in the negative, taking the view previously expressed by Attorney General Mitchell before the committee that "the thing to do in the interest of decency and law" was to change the liquor laws and then cut the appropriation.

The discussion in committee ranged from wire tapping in prohibition cases and the uses of informers to the cash cost of the average case and the number of dry agents killed in the line of duty.

In this connection, Representative Blanton (D., Tex.), asked Woodcock whether the occupation of a prohibition agent had not become so dangerous that insurance companies would no longer write policies on their lives.

Six Men Killed
The director answered he did not know about that but did know that six of his men had been killed in 1932. "Since the agitation about prohibition became more or less acute."

He said nine dry agents had been fatally shot.

The hat, three sizes smaller than that usually worn by Brown lay only a few feet from the victim's hat. At first, the smaller hat was identified by Ellis Parker, chief of Burlington county detectives as having been purchased by "own" by make. His wife, however, said she never had seen it before.

"I went into that garage every day," Julia Bell, negro maid in the Brown home, said, "and on Monday, the day Mr. Brown was killed, I went in three times. That hat was not there then and I never saw it before."

Similar Statement
A similar statement came from Andrew Gale, handyman around the place.

Chief Beck insists Brown was killed by "hired assassins" but Parker has clung to the suicide theory. Three physicians have agreed the wounds could not have been self-inflicted.

CHESTER CAMPBELL DEAD IN QUINCY

Known In DeMolay Circles Throughout New England; Was To Open Auto Show.

Quincy, Mass., Jan. 21.—(AP)—Chester I. Campbell is dead on the even of the opening of his annual automobile show at Mechanic's building.

He died last night in Belmont after making a speech before a group of young men of the Belmont Chapter of De Molay and his body was brought here to the home of his daughter, with whom he lived.

Death was due to heart trouble, brought on, friends believed, by the fatigue of making the many preparations necessary to the opening of the annual auto show. He had just finished a speech urging the parents of young men to be "pals" of the children, when he collapsed on the platform of a hall in the Masonic apartment building.

Campbell was 63 and was born in Providence, R. I. He was a member of the Governor's Council in Massachusetts from 1927 until last year and was mayor of Quincy in 1928.

DEMOCRATS BACK NEW RELIEF MOVE

Propose To Cut Down Debts Owed By Nation's Farmers—May Become Law.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Congressional approval of a bold Democratic plan for easing the debt burden of the farmers was predicted in some quarters today, despite a stir of opposition to its sweeping character.

Companion to the revolutionary "domestic allotment" measure to raise farm prices, the mortgage plan calls for a nation-wide system of "conciliation commissioners" to scale down, by agreements between creditor and debtor, the billions of dollars the farmers owe.

The proposal, sprung on Congress yesterday by the Democratic leader of the Senate, Robinson, of Arkansas, is the second major phase of the farm relief program advanced by the big agricultural organizations and backed by President-elect Roosevelt.

Many were quick to say the debt adjustment legislation would have a much better chance for enactment this session than the domestic allotment bill which, frequent reports have it, would face a veto by President Hoover.

Hoover's Message
Mr. Hoover himself in a special message to Congress asked for the emergency legislation to liberalize the bankruptcy laws so that individual, corporations and railroads could better work out their difficulties and continue in business.

Only yesterday the judicial committee reported favorably on legislation along this general line. The Robinson proposal was presented by him as an amendment to be proposed in the Senate to this legislation when it comes over from the House, assuming it passes in the latter branch.

While it was too early to gauge Congressional sentiment accurately it appeared today that the proposal would encounter some opposition because of the size of the machinery which the plan would involve.

Under the plan, committees would be employed to prevent friction between farmers and creditors with a view to preserving the best interests of both either by adjusting downward the farmers' indebtedness or extending it over a period of years.

ENFORCEMENT FUND IS CUT BY HOUSE

But It Still Takes Over Nine Million Dollars To Enforce Dry Laws.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Nine million, one hundred twenty thousand dollars, the smallest sum in the 13 years of National Prohibition, was ear-marked for the enforcement of the dry laws in the fiscal year 1934 by the four department appropriation bill reported today to the House.

The budget recommended $9,599,948, but the House appropriations committee applied the average cut of five per cent on the measure as a whole to the amount for the Prohibition Bureau.

Lengthy hearings before an appropriations sub-committee again showed the marked difference of opinion that has prevailed since the Volstead Act went on the statute books.

A long time foe of the dry laws, Representative Tinkham (R., Mass.), questioned Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition, at length, telling him that he averaged the cost of the enforcement of prohibition merely as a gesture. Tinkham asked if the amount should not be sharp reduced.

Change the Law
Woodcock replied in the negative, taking the view previously expressed by Attorney General Mitchell before the committee that "the thing to do in the interest of decency and law" was to change the liquor laws and then cut the appropriation.

The discussion in committee ranged from wire tapping in prohibition cases and the uses of informers to the cash cost of the average case and the number of dry agents killed in the line of duty.

EAST-HARTFORD CONCERN FILES I. C. C. COMPLAINT

Sullivan-Hayes Coal Co. Says It Must Pay Too High Freight Rates.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The Sullivan-Hayes Coal Company, Inc. of East Hartford, Conn., filed a brief with the Interstate Commerce Commission today protesting against the division of East Hartford into different rate zones of the New Haven railroad.

This assignment, the company said, was uncared rate-making practice that produced unlawful rates. "The tariff compiler drew an imaginary line through a small community, East Hartford," said the brief, "and thereby assigned certain industries therein to a lower rate zone, the Hartford-Springfield zone, and at least one of the industries, the complainant's coal yard, to a higher rate zone, the Burnside-Providence, R. I., zone."

The physical conditions do not afford foundation for any differences in rates or switching charges for the substantially similar service performed in moving cars to or from the coal plants of the several dealers in East Hartford.

HOW SINS ARE FORGIVEN

BY GEORGE HENRY DOLE

International Sunday School Lesson Text, Jan. 22nd: "The Son of Man hath power to forgive sins."

Surely the Son of Man had power to forgive sins. The vital question is, How can that power become operative in us and remove our sins?

There is a condition essential to forgiveness. In many forms the law is stated. John came preaching repentance for the remission of sin.

your trespasses. Why this condition? Because the forgiving of our sins is through the reception of the Lord's forgiving Spirit...

Threats and Counters of Interest to Local Soldiers

The battalion commander Major Irving B. Partridge, Jr., visited the Company Monday evening. It was his official monthly visit and he expressed himself as being well pleased with the Company after his inspection.

After the drill a special meeting of the Company was held. There was business but other than the annual meeting last Monday which had to be postponed, it was voted to employ one of the Company members to look after the cleaning of the social room.

The social room Private Flynn was selected for the job. He was also voted to award the sum of $200.00 to the basketball uniforms.

Six men applied for enlistment on Monday but only four met the requirements for membership in the Company. The four who were accepted were Joseph F. Rieder, 15 St. Lawrence street, Thomas Stevens, 284 South Main street, Samuel Walker, 101 Clinton street and Raymond Cannon, Torrington, Conn.

Private Michael Rishler and Private Albert Lema had been honorably discharged from the service. Private Rishler is leaving town and will locate in Denver, Colorado.

Private Lengel has entered a college in Boston, Mass.

The lockers in the private room have been re-arranged and after receiving a new coat of enamel will present a much better appearance.

The lockers in the non-com's quarters have also been re-arranged and will also be painted. It is planned to install two more benches in the private locker room.

The Company will attend the ceremony next Wednesday at which the Purple Heart Medal will be awarded to Manchester men who were wounded in the World War.

HOCKEY AMATEURS FAIL TO SUCCEED IN MAJOR LEAGUE

Minor Circuits Have Proved Importance of Training Players For Big Time Competition.

By HUGH PELLETTON (Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Hockey's minor leagues have had some tough sledding this season and last as they faced the bogaboo of decreased gate receipts, but they have firmly established themselves as important factors in the development of players for the National league, the one major ice circuit.

Only a few years ago—as recently as when Toronto's now famous "kid" line made his first appearance in 1926—hockey recruits stepped often as not from the amateur ranks straight to big league teams.

A survey of this year's National league rosters shows that only three players were signed without the benefit of minor league training, and that none of that trio survived more than a couple of months of major league competition.

The Montreal Maroons tried Mickey Blake, amateur defenseman player from Kingston, Ont., and sent him to their International league farm at Windsor before the season started.

Rugby Flinton, veteran of the Montreal amateur ranks, followed to Windsor in December.

International Canadians kept young Paul Marcel Raymond around for a while, but finally recalled Art Giroux, who had had several seasons with Providence in the Canadian-American league when illness kept Raymond out of action.

Three clubs drew Prizes. The Detroit Red Wings, New York Rangers and New York Americans have had outstanding success with this year's crop of minor league recruits.

Two high scoring rookies who have "clicked" together, with one veteran, now form Detroit's first line of offense. Carl Veas, lead defenseman of the Red Wings, led the Rangers and promptly hitched up with Eddie Wiseman, who led the American league in scoring with the Chicago Blackhawks last year.

The Rangers' prize exhibit is Andy Aikens, a goalie who is smart as well as skillful and who has taken his place among the league's stars.

But their third line of forwards boasts two speedy youngsters who played with the Bronx Tigers a year ago, Ossie Amundson and Gordon Pettinger. They are rated as a pair of the league's best "winging" Americans.

A lot of credit for the good showing the Americans have made in the past few weeks is due to two new forwards, Walter "Red" Jackson from their New Haven farm, and Willie "Twinkle" Starr, from the defunct Springfield club.

Chicago—One of the important things a young man has to decide is what he intends to do when he grows up.

After riding around on a street car until rather late at night during which time his mother grew frantic, seven year old Robert White walked calmly into maternal arms and announced his life ambition is to be a conductor.

Chicago—It's the urge that counts. If you go home each night, kiss your wife, help with the dishes, and tuck the children in bed your social urge is well developed.

But if you are a confirmed bachelor, talk back to the mother-in-law, or are a racketeer, it's the destructive urge that counts. Anyways, that's what Lion Feuchtwanger, the author, told newspaper reporters.

Chicago—A trail of smoke followed Attorney J. J. McCarthy as he ran from Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward's court.

When he returned he said: "I apologize. I had several boxes of matches in my coat and when I brushed against the witness chair they caught fire."

Chicago—The bloodhounds appeared a few minutes later just as the convict predicted. They were practicing all right, but professionally. Guards said the negro, Ellis Wright, had just escaped from the city stockade.

WOODCOCK TELLS OF SEARCH FOR ROBINS

Says Family Reported That He Was Held By Gang of Bootleggers.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The explanation by Andy W. Woodcock, director of prohibition, of the search by his men for Raymond Robins, prominent prohibitionist who was that Robins' family had complained "that he had been kidnaped by bootleggers and was being held by bootleggers."

Robins disappeared last September after making an appointment to see President Hoover at the White House. He was found many weeks later living in the North Carolina mountains, apparently suffering from loss of memory.

Woodcock told a House subcommittee holding hearings on the Justice Department appropriation bill that the "complaint apparently gave the authority to find those bootleggers."

"Suppose Robins should disappear," questioned Representative Tinkham (R., Mass.), long an opponent of the prohibition laws, "would you feel that you could spend public funds to find him?"

"Oh, no, not at all," Woodcock replied. "I believe you missed the point that this was a complaint by a citizen definitely stating that his husband had been kidnaped by violators of the National Prohibition Act."

It seems to me that it stretches your authority pretty far, because any one could make such a report and you might become, instead of a Bureau of Prohibition, a bureau for the discovery of missing prohibitionists," Tinkham rejoined.

The prohibition director answered that there apparently was some basis for the complaint and that "I do not know that we spent very much money" in finding Robins.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Minneapolis—Psychology can't always be relied upon to catch burglars because stimuli-reflexes and muscular and mental contractions are sometimes experienced by the burglar as well as his victim.

Therefore Starks R. Hathaway, instructor in psychology at the University of Minnesota, lost $2 and acquired a good wrist watch.

Returning home late at night he noted a light in his bedroom. Stimulus—then muscular reflex. The psychologist pulled a door shut and roused for police. Neighbors also roared, but the roars produced so many reflexes for the burglar that he leaped from a second story window and escaped.

In his jump his watch snapped off. Miami, Fla.—A negro convict, breathless and perspiring, plunged past a group of farm workers and as they moved to stop him shouted: "I'm helping train the dogs—they'll be here in a minute."

It seemed logical and the farm workers let him pass. Wednesday morning a bloodhound appeared a few minutes later just as the convict predicted. They were practicing all right, but professionally. Guards said the negro, Ellis Wright, had just escaped from the city stockade.

The Question of Beauty
Real beauty lurks in simple things—A harvest moon with mellow light, The music of a violin, Heard sweetly clear across the night.

Yes, beauty lurks in simple things—A baby's face upturned to smile, The handclasp of a faithful friend, The woods arrayed in autumn style.

All beauty lurks in simple things, As melody in summer rains, No searcher for true loveliness Has ever looked for it in vain.

Given by the SAXOPHONE BAND of Hartford Saturday Night, January 21, Polkah Hall, North Street, Altamont 35c.

ABOUT TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Trotter of 58 Holl street have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Prentice in Washington, D. C.

All members of the Purple Hearts committee and sub-committee members are requested to meet with Colonel Blaisdell at the Armory this afternoon at 2 o'clock. All city veterans interested and willing to assist in this connection are invited to be present.

Lewis Nimrow who came to Manchester a year and a half ago to engage in the grocery and meat business at 161 Center street, is retiring from business. He has not been in good health for some time and only recently returned from a Hartford hospital where he has undergone an operation. His doctors advised his retirement from active business and he is planning to close his store before the first of the month.

Manchester Assembly, Order of Rainbow, will hold a semi-public installation Monday evening at the Masonic Temple. Worthy Advisor Phyllis Kratschmar will be the installing officer, and Past Mother Advisor Burdick of New Britain will install the members of the advisory board. Every Rainbow officer and member is urged to be present at 8:45. The regular meeting will take place at 7:30 and the installation at 8:15.

Members of the Coventry Fragment society are soliciting the patronage of their Manchester friends at their pancake and sausage supper, to be served in the Chapel hall on Wednesday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock. The committee, Mrs. J. E. Kingsbury, Mrs. Arthur Porter and Mrs. Irving Loomis, with their assistants will do the work themselves. The business of the supper has been brought from New York state, the maple syrup from Vermont, and the sausages made in Coventry from home raised porkers. The meal will be served old-fashioned style, guests may have all they want of the various specialties.

The Salvation Army band will go to Hartford this evening to give a concert for the Swedish corps at the Broad street auditorium. The band will leave at the citadel at 7 o'clock tonight by bus.

Brigadier and Mrs. Albert E. Bates will be in charge of the memorial service for the late Colonel L. M. Simonson tomorrow night in the Salvation Army Citadel here. Mrs. Simonson and members of the family will be present. Many local Salvationists who were intimately acquainted with the late Salvation Army officer will take part in the service. The Salvation Army band, songsters, and quartet will render selections at the service.

The Old Timers choir of the Emanuel Lutheran church will hold a rehearsal after the evening service on Sunday. It is hoped all members will try to attend this rehearsal.

The newly appointed committees of Washington L. O. L., No. 117, are requested to meet this afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at the clubrooms. Important business will be discussed at this meeting.

Another sitting of the Masonic setback tournament will be held tonight at 8:15 o'clock at the Masonic Temple. Arthur Olson won first prize last week and Thomas Smith won second. B. H. Spencer won the consolation and door prize.

Anderson-Shea Auxiliary, No. 2046, will hold its regular meeting next Tuesday evening at the Armory. Mary C. Keeney Tent, Daughters of Union Veterans, will present the Auxiliary with a patriotic instructors flag at this meeting and will later be guests at a social hour. Refreshments will be served.

The usual jolly crowd attended the Manchester Green Community club's setback and dance last night. First prizes were won by Mrs. Mamie Dickinson and Irving Taylor. Mrs. Anderson won the ladies' second prize, and Harold Ross and David Hadden were tied and the money was equally divided between them.

The annual meeting and installation of officers of the Christopher Columbus society will take place tomorrow at 10 a. m., at the Italian clubhouse on Norman street. A program of entertainment will be given and all members are urged to be present.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Florence Varasconi of 172 Elbridge street, Celia Apel of 111 Elbridge street and Tilda Gamba of 81 Lake street were admitted and Mrs. Elsie Mulholland of East Hartford was discharged yesterday. A son was born at the hospital this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Goldsmider of 20 Summer street.

I. O. O. F. BIRTHDAY PARTY TONIGHT

Representative T. J. Rogers To Be Master of Ceremonies.

Representative Thomas J. Rogers, P. G. of King David Lodge No. 81, I. O. O. F. will act as master of ceremonies at the joint celebration of the 43d anniversary of the lodge this evening at Odd Fellows Hall. Among the notables to appear at the affair this evening will be Grand Master Frederick L. Phelps of Middletown who will present the emblems to the members eligible to receive them for thirty-five years continuous membership in the lodge.

Thomas J. Rogers

Representative Rogers will not take over the meeting until after the supper and following the address of welcome by Nobel Grand Harry F. Sweet. Practically all the supper details were completed this morning under the direction of Mrs. Florence Montie.

The newly elected Noble Grand Harry F. Sweet will welcome the guests officially after the supper. He succeeded P. G. Thomas Brown as the head of King David lodge for the next six months.

Harry F. Sweet

Mr. Sweet will welcome the guests preceding the evening's program after supper. He is engaged in the forestry business in Manchester having come here from Hartford about two years ago and is rapidly becoming well known in this section.

The feature of the evening's entertainment by the noted radio artist Clayton F. Young promises to be well worth the small admission fee. Walter B. Joyner of Hamlin street will lead the orchestra for the dancing after the presentation by the Grand Master of the emblems.

The committee especially requests that all those planning to attend the affair be at the lodge rooms before 6:15 o'clock. This will insure proper eating arrangements for the supper and entertainment. Charles R. Hathaway, prosecuting attorney of the Town Court of Manchester, the oldest living past noble grand of King David Lodge has promised that he will attend tonight. Acceptances of all the other Grand officers of the jurisdiction of Connecticut have signified their intentions of being present. Mr. Hathaway is also Past Grand Master of the State of Connecticut. The official reception committee was named late yesterday afternoon, August H. Simonson, Wilbur D. Loveland and Willard E. Horton. This committee will handle the reception of the guests officially preceding the meeting.

PICK HOLYOKE BAND FOR MASONIC BALL

Huntley's Orchestra To Play For Notable Annual Event; Decorations Contract Let.

The music for dancing at the Masonic ball on February 17 will be provided by Huntley's orchestra of ten pieces from Holyoke, Mass. It was decided last night at a meeting of the general committee, Chairman Leroy Norris of the music committee suggested this orchestra and the committee approved. After James McCaw of the decorating committee had made his report, the job of decorating the state armory was assigned to G. O. Simons, Inc. of Hartford. The matter of refreshments was postponed until the next meeting which will be Feb. 10. The committee will make special parking arrangements for the benefit of those who attend the ball.

CHURCH SUPPER LIKE THANKSGIVING SPREAD

Mrs. Jessie Sweet, president of the New Methodist Ladies Aid society and the members who assisted in preparing and serving the turkey supper last night, were much gratified at the attendance of people from all parts of the town. Considerably over 100 enjoyed a spread like those usual in New England on Thanksgiving day or Christmas.

Four long tables were placed in the large vestry and decorated to represent the four seasons. Miss Emma Colver's table represented spring. In the center she had arranged a Maypole, with streamers of crepe paper in pastel colors extending from the pole to the sides of the table. The centerpiece proper was of downy yellow chicks on artificial grass. Mrs. C. I. Balch's table was decorated in the nation's colors, with tiny flags and other objects significant of Independence day, July 4th. Mrs. John J. Flavell decorated her autumn table with baskets of wild and cultivated bitternweet, colorful artificial autumn leaves and napkins to match, while Mrs. Nellie Marks chose Christmas decorations for her winter table. The centerpiece was a small evergreen tree, and tall red candles were placed in holly candlesticks.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

Sixty-five members of the Nutmeg Trail Epworth League attended the second session of the Mid-Winter Institute at East Hartford last night. In the absence of Rev. Stanley Helps of Thompsonville, Rev. John E. Merrill, president of Aleppo College in North Syria, conducted the class in Christian Travel.

Rev. Hollis M. French of Warehouse Point spoke on the duties of the first vice president under the subject of Epworth League methods. Rev. Marvin Stocking spoke on the purpose of the bible, and Rev. L. Theron French, dean, led the devotional period.

Roberta Burr, recreational leader, had as the topic of this period "The Singing Class", supper was served by the ladies of the East Hartford church. The next meeting of the Institute will be held at Hockanum, Friday, January 27.

WILCOX IS ADDED TO H. S. FACULTY

Business College Principal To Teach Commercial Subjects in Local School.

George H. Wilcox, principal of the Connecticut Business College at the Center and secretary of the Kiwanis club, has been added to the faculty of Manchester High school as a teacher of commercial subjects. His duties, along with those of Miss Dorothy E. Brown of Keene, N. H., who was also appointed last night by the Board of Education on the recommendation of Supt. Fred A. Verplanck, will begin on Monday morning January 30 when the second semester opens. Mr. Wilcox is a graduate of the Rochester, N. Y. Business Institute and has been conducting a business college for almost thirty years. He first started in 1908 operating a school in Hartford. When the business branched out to include many students from Manchester and Rockville, Mr. Wilcox opened a college in Odd Fellows Hall in 1917. In addition to this work, Mr. Wilcox has done substitute teaching in Hartford, Middletown and Manchester. This, however, will be his first regular high school position. Mr. Wilcox will teach typewriting ing, bookkeeping, and general advice. What changes, if any, will be necessary in his own school when Mr. Wilcox takes over his newly acquired duties at the high school, he was not prepared to say today. The other new teacher at the High school, Miss Brown, is a graduate of Smith College and has taught in High schools at Greensboro, N. C., and Barre, Vt. She will be assigned to teach Freshman English and French. The incoming Freshmen class is expected to number about 100 pupils. The mid-year promotions started several years ago in the lower grades and has now reached the Junior class. The first mid-year graduation will be in February of 1938.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS AT AMARANTH AFFAIR

When Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, held its regular meeting last night at the Masonic Temple the program included the annual roll-call of members, and while many are ill with severe colds and grip, there was a gratifying response. Everybody seemed to be in a happy frame of mind and many amusing stories were given by members and honorary members as their names were called. All past grand royal matrons and patrons are placed on the honorary list. Distinguished guests who were present included the supreme conductress, Mrs. Nettie C. Miller of Milford; Grand Royal Matron, Mrs. Mabel G. Halsinger of New Haven and Grand Royal Patron Jesse E. Stinson of New London. Guests were also present from Bridgeport, New Britain and Windsor. Adjournment was made to the banquet hall where Mrs. Ethel Carter and her committee served coffee and glorified doughnuts to all. The latter were split, a slice of pineapple placed between the halves and topped with whipped cream and a cherry.
