

ROOSEVELT STATES WAR DEBTS STAND

President-Elect Prefers To Discuss Problems With British Individuals Rather Than With a Commission.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—In the debt negotiations with Great Britain, scheduled for early in March President-elect Roosevelt has made clear to the present administration that he prefers to have the discussions take individual rather than commission form.

It was disclosed in authoritative sources today that the President-elect, while not insisting upon drastic limitation of the British debt delegation, has indicated that he desired to negotiate directly with the British chief delegate or delegates and thereby assume direct responsibility for any recommendation to Congress.

Simultaneously, administration quarters denied published reports (not carried by the Associated Press) that in the White House discussion last week Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt, this question had become such a point of difference that the conference threatened to collapse.

In the joint communique issued at the White House after the Hoover-Roosevelt meeting, however, a point was made that the incoming administration would be "glad" to discuss debts with a British "representative" but that the economic discussions also agreed upon would be carried on by British "representatives."

Efforts to establish at the State Department whether the President-elect desired two separate British delegations for the discussion of debts and the economic situation today with a statement by Secretary Stimson that the original announcement at the White House had been that the government was somewhat firm on this point, since the White House communique, after dealing with willingness to receive a "representative" on war debts, said that "representatives should also be sent to discuss ways and means for improving the world situation."

Some persons in a position to know what happened at the White House say that Mr. Roosevelt's objection was against a debts commission, but insisted that he had not moved to dictate the size or personnel of the British commission, whether one man or two or three be placed upon it.

Indication was given today that President Hoover is continuing to interest himself in the debt situation, although agreed that no move should be made by his administration other than the sending of a machinery for the discussion of administration.

Secretary Mills called on the President early this morning for what he termed a discussion of "fiscal affairs and other matters," but when asked if war debts had been talked over he replied that he would rather not answer.

AGAINST RETURN TO GOLD STANDARD

London Newspapers Devote Their Editorials To the Coming Debt Conference.

London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Opposition to Great Britain returning to the gold standard was featured strongly in today's editorials after the week-end's digestion of the proposed Anglo-American debt negotiations. Commentators based on Washington dispatches suggesting the United States may use the British debt as a bargaining weapon to force this country back on a gold basis.

The United States government's offer to welcome a British debt mission shortly after March 4 was the chief business before today's Cabinet meeting—the first to consider the invitation. A formal acceptance may not be forthcoming for several days.

The London Times very cordially welcomed the American action but nevertheless it shied at the idea of restoring the gold standard.

"The hope of thereby providing a remedy for the evil of fluctuating currency exchanges to the relief of international trade," said the Times editorially, "is to confuse cause and effect. Gold, being only a counter, cannot be freely exchanged in international finance unless there is a freedom of exchange in international trade."

10,000 TEACHERS UNPAID IN OHIO

All Schools Operating On Good Faith—Fear Schools May Have To Close.

Columbus, O., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Financially embarrassed Ohio schools were described by the State Education Association today as operating on "good faith" with 10,000 teachers unpaid to date and 58 per cent of all school districts showing deficits.

One official termed the situation "pessimistic." It is worse, he said, in non-state aid school districts than in those given financial assistance by the state.

"All the schools," he said, "are operating on good faith—how much faith we don't know."

"We do know, however, that creditors of teachers have reached the point where they are commencing to tighten up. Even the landlady frowns on her. When the credit of the teacher finally is strangled, it can mean but one thing—the closing of schools."

The State Department of Education has a list of school districts which past-due bills, both for salaries and operating expenses approximate $3,500,000.

Debt Piling Up The Education Association, asserted that "the debt piles up so fast that no amount of statistics presents the true picture. Before we can compile them for a single month, they are out of date."

Efforts to establish at the State Department whether the President-elect desired two separate British delegations for the discussion of debts and the economic situation today with a statement by Secretary Stimson that the original announcement at the White House had been that the government was somewhat firm on this point, since the White House communique, after dealing with willingness to receive a "representative" on war debts, said that "representatives should also be sent to discuss ways and means for improving the world situation."

5 VIOLENT DEATHS OVER THE WEEKEND

Two Suicides Reported In State—One Man Shot Following Card Game.

One man was shot and killed, a boy was fatally injured by a truck, two men committed suicide, and another died from the effects of falling down a flight of stairs causing five deaths in Connecticut over the week-end.

Joseph Lopardo, 49 of Torrington was shot and killed shortly after, police were told, he left a card game to take a companion home in his car. Joseph Colandriello, the man whom Lopardo sought to aid, and who, police said, was intoxicated, is now in the hospital.

Lopardo's body was found in the rear of the home of Michael Gallitello. Gallitello told police Lopardo and Colandriello had been watching a card game in his home, and left at Colandriello's request. Police believe Lopardo was shot in front of the house and ran about to the rear before collapsing.

Lopardo, a city employe and former proprietor of a grocery store, had twice been convicted on liquor charges.

Automobile Victim Four year old William Nelson of Bridgeport was the only automobile victim. He was struck by the rear wheel of a truck driven by Louis Kosty, 33, when, police said, he suddenly darted out from the side of the street. He died at St. Vincent's hospital of a compound skull fracture. Kosty was held in $1,000 bonds.

William Levine, 57, widely known Bridgeport poultry dealer, shot himself through the heart in a garage in the rear of one of his stores. The body was found by his son, Samuel, who rushed for him at the request of his mother.

Levine had left his home at 5:30 a. m. Medical Examiner H. Lebaron Peters gave a verdict of suicide.

Vesuvius Spouts Through Her New Cone

TORRINGTON MAN SLAIN; SUSPECT LEAVES THE CITY

Police Can Find No Motive For Murder Except That Men Had a Quarrel About a Year Ago.

Torrington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Police today were seeking the slayer of Joseph Lopardo, 49, who was killed shortly after he left his Oak street home in this city last night with Joseph Colandriello, apparently intending to drive the latter to his home.

After the two departed, six shots were fired and a man, saying "good-bye my dear family," was heard running around the side of the house.

None of the occupants investigated at the time and claim they knew nothing of the slaying until Joseph Colandriello, father of Joseph, called at the house an hour later and told them a man was lying on the ground near the rear porch.

Fired At Close Range Two bullets took effect, one lodging under Lopardo's left arm, apparently piercing the lung and heart, and the other entering his back in the vicinity of the liver. They evidently were fired from close range as powder burns were found on the victim's clothing.

Police were not notified of the slaying until two hours after it occurred.

MOTHER SUSPECTED IN INFANT'S DEATH

Police Believe Other Children Were Also Slain—Think Woman Is Insane.

Clowa, Colo., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Despite an alleged confession she smothered her 13-month-old daughter to death and slashed the neck of a 4-year-old son, officials today had not determined whether to prosecute Mrs. Hazel Howe Spicer for murder or seek her commitment to an insane asylum.

J. Nelson Truitt, deputy district attorney who Sunday said the 48-year-old woman had confessed the slaying to him and Sheriff G. R. Brown, expressed the opinion Mrs. Spicer was deranged. She was held in jail.

The district attorney said Mrs. Spicer, in her signed statement related how she smothered little Doris on the squallid Spicer homestead and then rammed a piece of apple down her throat to muffle her cries.

Reason for Crime She did it, Truitt said she told him, because she feared her husband was going to drive her from home and she would never see the children again.

Deaths of two other children are under investigation, Truitt said. A baby daughter, Ruby Morrison, was smothered, supposedly accidentally, in Los Angeles, in 1928, and a son, 31 months old, Theodore Spicer, was drowned in a well near Boulder, Colo., several years ago.

LAME DUCK SESSIONS OF CONGRESS ENDED

Coast Guard Seizes Valuable Rum Cargo

New London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Coast Guard struck hard at the rum interests in the area over the week-end, a drive extending from Saturday night until today resulting in the seizure of two vessels with combined cargoes valued at $75,000.

The fast boat Barbara, of Providence, a 38-footer, equipped with three powerful engines was taken into custody yesterday morning at 1 o'clock two miles to the westward of Gardiner's Island. The vessel had 200 sacks of liquor aboard. The three men making up her crew were arrested.

La Mascotte, IV, of New York, a former yacht successfully run by the Coast Guard off shore and second line gulet force in the heavy fog of last night, but went ashore in the fog on Chocomaunt Beach, Fishers Island with 1,800 sacks of liquor was taken into custody by men of the Fishers Island life saving station this morning. Four men, found walking along a highway at Fishers Island were arrested as the crew of La Mascotte.

Both vessels and their cargoes will be taken there for arraignment.

The members of the crew of the Barbara gave their names as follows: Henry Reiter of Greenport, Bill Thompson of Fall River and Lester Johnson of San Francisco.

The four men who were picked up at Fishers Island by Coast Guard men and said by his letter to have been aboard La Mascotte when it grounded, declared their names were Theodore Kay of Greenport, Chester Kahn of 53 Avenue B, Brooklyn; John Bailey of Greenport and Frank Wilson of Greenport.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Twentieth Amendment, eliminating defeated legislators from participation in the government henceforth and hastening inauguration of President and meeting time of each new Congress, became today a part of the Constitution of the United States.

Submitted to the states by Congress on March 8 of last year, it was ratified in near-record time, the state of Missouri winning the distinction of being the thirty-sixth and last needed state to approve this modernization of the Federal machinery.

The amendment will become operative October 15 next.

After that each regular session of Congress will begin on January 3, every year, with no fixed adjournment date, and each new President will be inaugurated January 20.

Now In White House Had it been in some how, Franklin D. Roosevelt would have been President at the last Friday. The new, overwhelming Democratic Congress would have been in session since January 3, instead of the filibuster-ridden and high-legislated present short session which adjourns March 4 and can not possibly dispose of its big tasks in that time.

Victory For Norris The ratification was victory after many years of patient effort for the voters' independent, Senator Norris of Missouri. He had long ago secured the necessary two-thirds majority in that state.

The enactment of this amendment is a great step toward placing the control of our government in the hands of the chosen representatives of the people. It has secured the confidence that it will do away with filibustering such as has paralyzed the Senate for the last two weeks, pointing out that with no set adjournment date the tactics of delay can not finally succeed.

In ratifying as 36th, Missouri had to lead Massachusetts and Nevada, both ready to act today. The Missouri Senate having already acted, the House managed to meet ahead of the scheduled two o'clock convening hour so as to overcome the time obstacle that held by Massachusetts. The measure succeeded.

Honor of being first to ratify goes to Virginia which acted last March 4, before even a copy of the resolution proposing the amendment had been laid before it.

OF STAGE COACH ERA Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—American politics shook off today the grip of the stage coach era with a twentieth amendment to the constitution which will take effect on October 15, controlling the terms of Congress and the President from then on.

This is the first fundamental modernization in the Federal government since 1913, when the 17th amendment took the date of election from the Legislatures and placed it directly in the hands of the people. Like that amendment, the 36th is intended to make Congress, and the executive branch of government as well, more quickly responsive to public opinion.

What it does is this: The Congress elected in November of any year will meet January 3 of the next year. The President elected in November will take office the following January.

FAMOUS HISTORIAN, EBEN PUTNAM, DEAD

National Historian of the American Legion Was 64 Years of Age.

Wellesley, Mass., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Eben Putnam, national historian of the American Legion since 1920, died after an illness of several months.

He died yesterday at his home in Wellesley, Mass., where he has lived for 30 years. The widely known genealogist and historian was 64 years old.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Unitarian church, Wellesley Hills. Interment will be at Woodlawn cemetery, Wellesley.

Besides his widow, who was Florence Tucker of Bath, Me., he leaves one daughter, Adelaide, who is a member of the staff of the State Hospital at Northampton; two sons, Eben F. Putnam of Greenwich, Conn., and Frederic Putnam of Wellesley, and a sister, Miss Alice E. Putnam of Cambridge.

Putnam was born in Salem, the son of Professor Frederic Ward Putnam. His ancestor, John Putnam, settled in Salem in 1640.

He was educated in the schools of Salem and Cambridge and attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Father a Scientist His father, who was on the faculty of Harvard and the University of California, was an eminent anthropologist and the son was associated with him in scientific and archaeological explorations. While working with his father he became interested in genealogical investigations.

He took over the management of the family business in 1910.

JAPANESE FLIERS CONTINUE BOMBING

Cavalry Also Active On Southeast Jehol Border; Chinese Massing Troops.

Changchun, Manchuria, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Renewed Japanese air bombings of Chinese military concentrations in the Kailu district in northeast Jehol province on Saturday and Sunday and continued Japanese cavalry activities in the Chinese region on the southeast Jehol border, were reported today from the Sino-Japanese front.

Japanese general headquarters reported more Chinese troops were entering the disputed provinces of Jehol (under Chinese administration for centuries but now claimed by Japan to be "an integral part" of the new state of Manchukuo). Military chiefs expressed the opinion that major Japanese operations in Jehol were still weeks distant.

HARTFORD'S COSTS FOR SCHOOLS HIGH

State Board of Education Releases Figures Showing Expenses in Many Cities.

Hartford, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Hartford's elementary school cost per pupil in average daily attendance, at $121.88, is higher by $25 than that of any of the large cities of the state, according to statistics compiled by the State Board of Education for the year ended July 31, and given out today.

Only eight towns, all relatively small, have higher per pupil costs for elementary schools: Barkhamsted, Greenfield, Hartford, Marlborough, Old Lyme, Redding, Roxbury and Union. Among cities of comparative size, Bridgeport has the lowest cost, $84.43; New Haven, $94.43.

MRS. PEARL OAKES IS GIVEN PAROLE

Sentence Reduced, She Is To Start Life Anew In Small Maine Town.

New London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Pearl Oakes, formerly of Hartford, who in 1920 began a minimum sentence of 29 years, will leave the Connecticut state prison for women, at East Lyme, this week with a chance to start life anew in a small Maine village. She will be a paroled prisoner.

Mrs. Oakes was sentenced to prison on statutory charge and after Attorney James Floyd of this city appeared at the last meeting of the State Board of Pardons at Hartford, pleading for a reduction of the 29 year minimum sentence it was reduced almost 20 years. She has served more than seven years, and although by the decision of the board of pardons she still faces two years in prison, the board of directors of the state prison for women decided to release her on parole as a reward for good conduct.

When Mrs. Oakes entered state's prison her attitude was of seeming resentment because of the long prison term she faced and later she apparently resigned herself to spending the rest of her life in prison and apparently had little interest in life.

Mrs. Oakes was superintendent of the women's prison, has been a patient worker to bring about a change in Mrs. Oakes' attitude since she was transferred to East Lyme in a transfer of the women's prison from Waterbury.

When the board of pardons reduced the minimum sentence and Mrs. Oakes was informed she became brighter and began to look forward to the time when she would have served the full minimum term with the possibility of release.

Mrs. Oakes declined to reveal the exact date that Mrs. Oakes will be released and requested the name of the place where Mrs. Oakes will reside but she said she was enabled to better obtain a new start in life.

SENATORS HEAR MILLS TESTIFY

Secretary of Treasury Tells Committee How National Budget Can Be Balanced.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The search for ways to economic betterment progressed on both sides of the Capital today, with the Senate contemplating studies to aid the new administration and the House ways and means committee getting suggestions from Secretary Mills.

Two proposals approved by the Senate finance committee would allow it to make broad research, and call upon the tariff commission and other Federal agencies to indicate how the tariff might be used to bargain with foreign countries for trade concessions. Senate approval is predicted.

Secretary Mills told the House committee economic rehabilitation should begin with a balanced budget and include a vigorous Federal Reserve policy toward earning credits and lending American assistance to the stabilization of foreign currencies.

The two Senate investigations were expected by their Democratic sponsors—Harmon of Mississippi and Cogan of Colorado—to supply the material for the incoming administration's budget.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for January 20 were $4,535,532.33; expenditures $2,447,855.16; balance $2,087,677.17. Customs receipts for the day of January were $1,122,447.17.

administration to work out a plan for all round relief. Glass-Steagall Act Mills gave his testimony in speaking in behalf of continuing for another year the Glass-Steagall Act which permits the use of government securities as collateral for Federal Reserve notes.

"To stop at this time would bring about a contraction." Goldborough, Maryland Democrat, said the House in passing his price stabilization bill last session had the intention of setting a definite policy of expansion and stabilization which the board must follow.

"If I may give my individual view," Mills said, "no matter what may be the inclination of the central bank to keep money easy through the purchase of government securities, you first must have a cornerstone of a balanced budget to operate successfully."

BATTLE IS RAGING

Buenos Aires, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The fall of the Paraguayan stronghold Fort Nanawa in the Gran Chaco, recently renamed for President Ayala, to the Bolivians appeared a matter of hours today as a battle which has been raging since Friday over a muddy battlefield gathered intensity.

COMMITTEE APPROVES EMERGENCY PROJECT

Brookfield Street Job To Be Completed As Part of Bureau's Jobless Relief Campaign.

The highway committee of the Board of Selectmen has approved the expenditure of the $5,000 appropriation for emergency work on Brookfield street after an inspection of the site this morning. The action was taken following an appeal made by the Works Creation committee of the Manchester Emergency Employment Association at the last meeting of the Board of Selectmen.

The Brookfield street project was selected by the Selectmen as being the most feasible project for winter work. The job will furnish almost all hand labor, necessitating very little trucking or teaming.

A payroll amounting to $2,678.25 will be distributed to 279 employees of the Manchester Emergency Employment association next Friday afternoon it was reported today.

Edward Quinn, a three-year old lad of Orchard street was missing from his home for three hours today and the police were notified of his absence. The youngster was found walking on Main street at 2 o'clock.

London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—John Galsworthy, Nobel prizewinner is ill at his home in Hampstead of anemia which followed a heavy cold.

Personal Notices

CARD OF THANKS We wish to thank our many friends for their acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy during our recent bereavement.

IN MEMORIAM In loving memory of our beloved son and brother, Matthew Smith, Jr. who passed away Jan. 11, 1935.

THE CALL was sudden, the shock severe. We never thought his death so near. He must have suffered, he murmured not.

H. B. CHENEY SEES RECOVERY SIGNS

Believes Bottom Reached; Fears European Conditions May Delay Pick-Up.

In the opinion of Horace Cheney who is a director of the firm of Cheney Brothers and a recognized authority on textile tariffs, the general feeling is that this country has "got in beyond the bottom" of the depression and is on gradual up-grade. "There are no very visible signs," he said, "but indications point in that direction."

Mr. Cheney was one of several members of the local firm to address the large crowd at the Silk Association of America held at the Waldorf-Astoria at New York City last week. Over a thousand persons attended, representing every brand of the silk industry. Mr. Cheney said that there were almost 1,000 silk manufacturing concerns in the United States at the present time.

MISSOURI THE LAST

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Virginia was the first state to ratify the Twentieth or "lame duck" amendment, and Missouri, the 36th, completed the job. Proclamation of the ratification will not take place until all the 36 states approve resolutions are deposited at the State Department here.

After Virginia's action on March 4, 1932, the day after the amendment was proposed, the states acted in the following order: March, 1932: New York, Mississippi, Arkansas, Kentucky, New Jersey, South Carolina and Michigan.

April, 1932: Maine, Rhode and Illinois. June, 1932: Louisiana. July, 1932: West Virginia. August, 1932: Pennsylvania and Indiana.

September, 1932: Texas and Alabama. January 4, 1933: North Carolina and California.

OBITUARY DEATHS

MRS. J. S. CHENEY DIES; ILL 8 YEARS Heart Attack Fatal This Morning—Funeral On Wednesday.

Mrs. Ellen Coates Cheney, widow of John S. Cheney, died at her home, 63 Forest street, today after an eight years illness. She would have been 94 years old next month.

Mrs. Cheney, a native of England, came to the United States from Australia shortly after the close of the Civil War. Two sons and two daughters survive, her husband having died March 12, 1910.

Long an invalid, Mrs. Cheney, who had long been bedridden, suffered a heart attack Friday and her condition became so critical that her son, Col. Sherwood A. Cheney living near Denver, Colo., was notified. He arrived last night, Mrs. Cheney died at 8:15 this morning, the end being peaceful.

In addition to Col. Sherwood A. Cheney who is the commanding officer at Fort Logan, an army engineer post near Denver, Mrs. Cheney leaves another son, William C. Cheney, a member of the board of directors of Cheney Brothers and president of the State Prison Board; also two daughters, Mrs. Clifford D. (Elizabeth) Cheney and Miss Emily C. Cheney, all of this town; and one granddaughter, Matilda Delano Cheney.

Born in London, Mrs. Cheney was born in London on Feb. 17, 1839, the daughter of George Silas Coates and Caroline Frances Cooper. At the age of 22 she went to Australia, colony of Victoria, in Australia, to her father's home.

Incidentally, both of the Cheney brothers married English girls while in Australia and came back to South Manchester in the early sixties. One was Mrs. Sarah Grace (Moyle) Cheney who died only a few days ago. Mrs. Cheney, whose death came today, was a member of St. Mary's Episcopal church. She came to Manchester in 1864 and had been closely associated with all of the town's interests and history since that early period.

Rev. James Stuart Neil, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church, will officiate at the funeral service to be held at the late home of Mrs. Cheney at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon. Burial will be in the East cemetery. Friends are asked to omit flowers.

JOBLESS, DESPONDENT, LOCAL MAN A SUICIDE

J. Alfred Anderson Takes Own Life Yesterday—Had Lived Here 26 Years.

Dependancy over failure to obtain work, caused J. Alfred Anderson of 51 Eldridge street to end his life yesterday afternoon at his home here by inhaling gas. He was 55 years old and leaves a wife and four children. For 23 years Mr. Anderson worked in Cheney Brothers as a shoemaker. He had not been employed for the past year and this fact had preyed on his mind to such an extent that it had been planned to take him to a hospital for observation.

Mr. Anderson was born in Terryville and had lived here for 26 years. He was a member of the Swedish Lutheran church in Portland, Conn., and also a member of the Loyal Order of Moose. Besides his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, he leaves three daughters, the Misses Alice E., Elizabeth and Agnes, all of this town and one son, Walter. It was the latter who discovered the father dead when he returned home last night. The family had been away all day. Occupants of the other half of the house said they smelled gas during the afternoon and tried their own range to see if it was leaking.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home, Rev. K. E. Erickson of the Emanuel Lutheran church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Swedish cemetery in Portland.

William J. Burke, 74 School street died suddenly Saturday before midnight. He was attending a social of the Bon Ami club at the Wapping school hall when he was taken ill. He made light of the attack and after a few minutes in the street, he returned to his home and a physician was called to treat him for acute indigestion. When he left, Mr. Burke's pulse was normal and he apparently was responding to treatment. Mrs. Burke, returning after a few minutes to administer more medicine, found him dead.

Mr. Burke was born in Willimantic 56 years ago, near 20 of which he spent in Manchester. He first came to live in this town early in 1900 when he discovered a mine in the town. He later returned to his family in the Third City and served

$200,000 BLAZE

Burlington, N. J., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Accompanied by an explosive-like detonation, a fire destroyed a high pressure steam turbine in the Public Service Electric generating plant, and considerably damaged a portion of the site-area plant. No one was injured.

Fire apparatus fought the flames for an hour before bringing it under control. The oil around the turbine gave off dense bluffs of black smoke which blazed the city, and the heat twisted the steel girders in the building housing the turbine. Chief Ralph McKinley of the fire department estimated the damage at not less than $200,000.

The report of the plant superintendent, made to the Public Service Electric and Gas Co., stated that the fire broke out first and was followed almost immediately by the loud detonation which gave rise to initial reports an explosion had caused the fire. Burlington firemen who fought the flames said an explosion had occurred.

ONE KILLED IN HOPE Middletown, Jan. 23.—(AP)—One man was killed and 19 were wounded when police clashed today with Communists in the village of Middletown.

Born in London, Mrs. Cheney was born in London on Feb. 17, 1839, the daughter of George Silas Coates and Caroline Frances Cooper. At the age of 22 she went to Australia, colony of Victoria, in Australia, to her father's home.

Incidentally, both of the Cheney brothers married English girls while in Australia and came back to South Manchester in the early sixties. One was Mrs. Sarah Grace (Moyle) Cheney who died only a few days ago. Mrs. Cheney, whose death came today, was a member of St. Mary's Episcopal church. She came to Manchester in 1864 and had been closely associated with all of the town's interests and history since that early period.

Rev. James Stuart Neil, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church, will officiate at the funeral service to be held at the late home of Mrs. Cheney at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon. Burial will be in the East cemetery. Friends are asked to omit flowers.

JOBLESS, DESPONDENT, LOCAL MAN A SUICIDE

J. Alfred Anderson Takes Own Life Yesterday—Had Lived Here 26 Years.

Dependancy over failure to obtain work, caused J. Alfred Anderson of 51 Eldridge street to end his life yesterday afternoon at his home here by inhaling gas. He was 55 years old and leaves a wife and four children. For 23 years Mr. Anderson worked in Cheney Brothers as a shoemaker. He had not been employed for the past year and this fact had preyed on his mind to such an extent that it had been planned to take him to a hospital for observation.

Mr. Anderson was born in Terryville and had lived here for 26 years. He was a member of the Swedish Lutheran church in Portland, Conn., and also a member of the Loyal Order of Moose. Besides his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, he leaves three daughters, the Misses Alice E., Elizabeth and Agnes, all of this town and one son, Walter. It was the latter who discovered the father dead when he returned home last night. The family had been away all day. Occupants of the other half of the house said they smelled gas during the afternoon and tried their own range to see if it was leaking.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home, Rev. K. E. Erickson of the Emanuel Lutheran church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Swedish cemetery in Portland.

William J. Burke, 74 School street died suddenly Saturday before midnight. He was attending a social of the Bon Ami club at the Wapping school hall when he was taken ill. He made light of the attack and after a few minutes in the street, he returned to his home and a physician was called to treat him for acute indigestion. When he left, Mr. Burke's pulse was normal and he apparently was responding to treatment. Mrs. Burke, returning after a few minutes to administer more medicine, found him dead.

Mr. Burke was born in Willimantic 56 years ago, near 20 of which he spent in Manchester. He first came to live in this town early in 1900 when he discovered a mine in the town. He later returned to his family in the Third City and served

General control, $3.17; instruction, $35.55; operation, $14.99; maintenance, $8.01; auxiliary agencies, $8.16.

Figures for other towns and cities are: Bristol, $81.00; Danbury, $102.92; East Hartford, $79.42; Farmington, $65.85; Glastonbury, $72.97; Meriden, $94.16; New Britain, $80.36; Newington, $82.89; New London, $82.42; Norwalk, $77.67; Stamford, $117.48; West Hartford, $106.11.

Hartford is also high on the list in per pupil cost for high school current expenses, the $126.75 being surpassed by only five towns among those maintaining high schools: East Haddam, Madison, Morris, Roxbury and Sharon.

Cities of comparative size show the following costs: Bridgeport, $120.90; New Haven, $99.20; Waterbury, $127.50. The average for the state is $127.50 and the median $117.31.

Hartford's cost, however, has been going steadily downward for the last five years, the tables show. In 1928 it was $229.15; in 1929, $212.90; in 1930, $201.05; in 1931, $198.42; and in 1932, $135.70.

The city's expenditures on high schools are distributed as follows: General control, $18.73; maintenance, $89.13; auxiliary agencies, $19.50.

Manchester $114.99. Other towns and cities show the following high school costs: Bristol, $127.47; Danbury, $144.84; East Hartford, $111; Farmington, $133.94; Glastonbury, $106.74; Meriden, $114.68; Meriden, $115.00; New Britain, $139.27; Norwalk, $116.94; Stamford, $166.56; West Hartford, $107.18; Waterbury, $110.14.

The average cost per pupil for each pupil in its public schools was $158.51 as compared to an average for the state of $104.81, and a median of $101.43.

In the 91 towns which do not maintain high schools, the cost per pupil for high school facilities, according to the tables, averaged $196.70.

SCHOOL IN ROCKVILLE AGAIN BROKEN INTO

The Maple street school in Rockville was again entered by burglars last night but police who are investigating have as yet been unable to find what the burglars took or were seeking. Entrance was made by removing a pane of glass and also a door panel. The desk of Principal John McClellan was opened but nothing is missing. This is the third such break in the past three months.

TECHNOLOGICAL BUNK

As sheep follow one another through a gap in the wall without being in the least aware of either wall or gap, as water flows over a dam in unhesitating obedience to the urge of gravity, so does mass public opinion all too frequently follow unquestioningly the direction of accidental leadership. The sheep will follow one another over a precipice and the water will flow through a breach in the river bank as readily as through wall or over dam. So with opinion.

Some one—probably some one who had visited an automobile factory and watched the finished product coming "off the line"—became impressed with the notion that machinery was destroying the opportunity of the worker, and so evolved the theory of "technological unemployment." Straightway that theory was swallowed, hook, line and sinker, by thousands upon thousands of persons, more than a few of whom pretend to the vague but imposing title of "economist." Yet it is most probable that never before was a theory of economics subjected to so little serious examination; never one generally accepted on such slight evidence of its validity.

There is, for example, no volume of information, not even any source from which such information may be obtained in collated form, as to the proportionate extent to which automatic machinery now figures in American industry; to what extent the "mass production" methods of a few special branches of fabrication extend to the whole process of industrial production. Nor yet as to the degree in which such mass production methods are an innovation upon the industrial methods of thirty or forty years ago.

We hear of individual instances where a single machine has displaced ten or fifty or a hundred men. But none of us has even a glimmering of an idea as to the extent to which such displacement enters, or has failed to enter, into the whole industrial effort of the nation. The "economist" simply take it for granted that the so-called mass production methods are something suddenly new, something revolutionary and something that has entered into a major proportion of industry if not into all industry. They have been making their theories on that sheer assumption. They have never verified their premises. It is extremely doubtful that they could. And we say all this in deliberate defiance of the flagrantly manufactured data of "technocracy."

The famous magic "line" of the automobile industry was not born in an automobile factory. It came into existence in the lumber mills thirty-five or forty years ago; yet we heard nothing of technological unemployment in the mills and camps of the forest areas. The system only contributed to making lumber cheaper and to the building of more homes.

What fundamental effect has automatic machinery had on the textile trades during the last half century? There have been, of course, many changes, some savings of labor, considerable increase in the productivity of the individual. But the human equation has never been displaced by any mechanical robot. To what extent has the craftsman of the building trades been displaced by the machine—even allowing for the important effect of excavating engines? Is machine shop practice essentially different from that of 1800—or that of 1776, for that matter? Does machinery do the work of human hands in the iron and brass foundries? Isn't the highly mechanized boot and shoe industry one of the most consistent and important employers of labor and isn't its machinery, after all, merely a set of tools requiring skilled handling by only men who and women have earned their living in the shoe factories of 1800? Where is the economically operated railroad that needs no army of employees? Where is the myriad of jobless as a result of "line production" of clothing? And where is the orchard that raises and sprays and picks and packs its apples by the process of pushing a button?

There are literally thousands of industries which, if they are suffering now, are certainly suffering from something besides technological over-development.

It is high time that some of those people who are diverting the attention of the public from these economic problems by convincing them that their woes are due to machinery were called on to prove their premises before being permitted to proceed to deductions and remedies. This country hasn't been flooded. Its workers have not been thrown on the scrap heap in favor of automatic production. It is doubtful if, during this century, there has been, in the combined industries, a seven per cent displacement of men by machines. And whatever is the matter with us it is patently more than a seven per cent ill—or a fifteen per cent one.

This persistent chatter about "technological employment" being a major cause of the economic collapse is rubbish. One must go elsewhere, and deeper, to find the seat of the disorder. He must seek the causes among the fundamentals, not the mere incidentals, of our economic and social being.

ANCIENT INSTITUTION

There's one Connecticut institution that isn't half appreciated—it might be truer to say that outside a relatively restricted area it isn't appreciated at all. That is "The New England Almanac and Farmers' Friend," which has been published annually at New London for one hundred and sixty-one consecutive years. We are under the impression that it has been calculated during all that time by successive members of one family; at all events there are any number of people in Southeastern Connecticut who would be likely to tell you off-hand, if asked, that they had never heard of "The New England Almanac and Farmers' Friend" but that of course they knew Daboll's Almanac—and always had a copy of it in the house. The present compiler and publisher is Ernest C. Daboll and if it constitutes free advertising to say that his address is 154 State Street, New London, we don't mind being guilty of bad newspaper ethics to that extent, for the Dabolls have been, in a way, public benefactors for generations—and extremely modest about it.

All the astronomical and tidal data in Daboll's Almanac is figured for the meridian of New London and the tables are elaborate. You can find out lots of things from them. For example we learn from the January calendar table that on the 10th it is high tide or "full sea" at New London at 19 minutes after noon. From another table we discover that to ascertain the exact moment of high tide at Saybrook we must add 55 minutes, which brings full sea at that point at 14 minutes after 1; and that high tide is due to reach Hartford 5 hours and 50 minutes later than the New London time, or 9 minutes after 6 in the evening—by which time it will be almost low water at the mouth of the Thames. And that it takes the peak of the flood tide an hour and three-quarters to reach Hartford from Middletown. Perhaps Hartford may not get all stirred up over a matter of tide tables, but it takes a deal of savvy and plenty of mathematical labor to fix these matters accurately; and down on the shore, at all events, they are important.

If you want to know why for eight days in January the sun rises at practically the same time—within less than 60 seconds of 7:14, Daboll's will tell you, if you take the trouble to hunt up the article on "Time." What is the evening star at this time—and why? Daboll's will tell you—and a hundred other things that you might have quite a job finding anywhere else.

We're quite strongly for any Connecticut institution that has survived for a century and nearly two-thirds—and is still going strong. Daboll's ought to be incorporated—perhaps endowed by the state—to insure its permanency through a few more centuries.

OUR DUTY TOWARD CUBA

It is not likely that this nation is going to feel an overwhelming urge to follow the advice offered by Congressman Hamilton Fish and take a hand in the tangled Cuban political situation. While Congressman Fish's resolution merely calls on the President to "assert his influence" to create amity between the different factions, action of that kind could easily bring about a situation in which outright intervention and annexation; and we have had enough intervention in Latin-American lands to last us for a while. Nevertheless, Mr. Fish is quite right in pointing out that we have a definite responsibility toward Cuba. We gave the islanders their freedom; we limited it, via the Tamm amendment, in such a way that we are obliged to draw cards in any "new deal" that the Cubans suffer. We ought to be indifferent to what is happening in Cuba, and Mr. Fish is justified in demanding that we maintain developments there very closely.

AMONG THE GREAT

Dr. Einstein has let himself in for a bit of trouble. There aren't as many days, for some time, when he won't find plenty of reporters camped on his trail. The good doctor dropped the dish when he announced that there was a plan on foot to organize a group of the "twenty-five greatest minds in the world" to "function in the best interests of mankind."

This, to be sure, is a trifle general, not to say vague; but coming from Einstein of course it is big stuff. And it goes without saying that the newspapers won't be able to take their rest until they find out who Dr. Einstein's "twenty-five greatest minds" belong to.

All we have to go on so far is that they must be powerful personalities of international renown; that they must be intellectuals of the very highest order, and that they must be known for their liberal views.

Well, we want to be loyal to Connecticut—we nominate Governor Cross.

IN NEW YORK

Broadway Success Story

New York, Jan. 28.—The "break of the week" club nominates Dillard Long! There were times in his life when he thought it should have been Dillard Long, no doubt. At any rate, Dillard Long arrives on Broadway with his first play, "A Good Woman—Poor Thing!" And when, upon its premiere in Philadelphia, someone stopped him on a corner and said he thought Long had a bit, Long asked for a time table for out-going trains. He was afraid the play would run long enough for his friends to see it; and seeing it, would recognize themselves. And then what?

Long Long Ambitious Variations on the Broadway theme are, thank heaven, endless! Long had long longed to be a playwright. He went to school. And, after trying this and that, found himself in East St. Louis in a stock-yard. He counted cows, heifers and whatever came into the yard and kept track of various new shipments until the war came along to save him.

When that was over, he decided to write a play. In order to get in shape he grew a poetic mustache. A friend of two laughed and said: "He looks like a guy with a mustache and a hangover." To keep from looking like both, he shaved off his mustache.

Couldn't Be "Cured" One day, with a play or two in his system, he sat down and wrote a note to Charles Dillingham, the producer. The letter "confessed all." Long told of his playwrighting yen. Dillingham, reputed to be a kindly soul, wrote back: "I've heard of worse cases being cured." Or words to that effect.

Thus encouraged, Long came to New York. And became Dillingham's secretary. Between productions, which gave him plenty of time, Long finished his play. Now the natural impulse would have been to show his script to the boss, a producer of no small importance. Long, however, was fearful or timid. He shoved his script into the hands of Jack Potter, a fellow in the same office. Potter read it and said: "I think this can be produced."

Which will explain the peculiar wording of the advertisement for Long's show, which read: "John H. Potter, by arrangement with Charles Dillingham." If the play had not been at least kindly received, there would be little reason for penning these lines.

Speaking of plays reminds me of The New Yorker gag, which says that Eugene O'Neill will be particularly hit if technocracy catches on. None of his plays could be done in a four-hour working day.

GILBERT SWAN.

SPECTACULAR BLAZE AS BIG BARN BURNS

Tobacco Shed On Zarkie Place On West Street Destroyed—Loss Set At $8,000.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed one of the largest tobacco barns in this section, owned by Mr. Stephen Zarkie of West street on Saturday night shortly after midnight. The barn is located in the rear of the Zarkie home, better known as the Stanley Redens place, and the fire was well underway before an alarm was sent in. Many people in the center of the city misjudged the distance, thinking it was in the center of Vernon. Members of the Zarkie family were asleep, and were awakened by William Goldie, a fireman, who sent others to ring in the alarm. In the barn was about 6 tons of tobacco, all baled tools and other farming implements. Three horses were taken from another barn nearby which was threatened by the fire.

When the firemen arrived it was found impossible to save the barn and attention was given to nearby buildings. The damage is estimated at about $8,000. The blaze attracted attention for miles around, and hundreds of people went to the scene of the fire. It was at first believed by many to be the large oil tanks of the Standard Oil Company located on the same street.

Local Boy's First Pastorale

Rev. Milton Liebe, one of Rockville's most popular young men, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liebe of Prospect street, has accepted a call to become pastor of the Killingworth Baptist church.

Mr. Liebe has preached as substitute in several churches and has had a previous call to the Somersville Congregational church, this is his first pastorate, and his many friends wish him every success.

Milton Liebe was born in Rockville, graduated from the West District and Rockville High schools. He is a graduate from Crozier Seminary, Chester, Pa., and two years ago graduated from Bangor Theological Seminary, and has received his M. A. degree from Hartford Seminary Foundation. He is the first Union church boy to enter the ministry.

Rev. George E. Brooks, pastor of Union church, has taken much interest in Mr. Liebe and through his efforts the young man took up his studies for the ministry and graduated from Bangor Seminary the same college from which the Union church pastor graduated. Two other young men of Union church are now studying for the ministry through the suggestion of Mr. Brooks.

Want Postmastership

At the present time there is an active contest in this city for the Rockville postmastership, and it is reported that there are five Democrats being mentioned for the position. They are former Mayor Frederick G. Hartenstein, former Postmaster George Forster, Maurice Spurling, insurance agent for the Metropolitan Insurance Company, George Dunn, Superior Court messenger and John McKenna, employee of the Connecticut Company. Postmaster George Dickinson, Republican for eight years master at the local Post Office was renominated by Congress for the third term, but Congress held up the appointment in the present session with other Republican postmastership appointments.

Although those mentioned for the postmastership are active Democratic workers, it is believed that former Mayor Frederick G. Hartenstein, superintendent of the T. F. Rody Printing Company, is being highly favored among the prominent people of the city. He has long been an active worker in Democratic circles, and has friends in both parties. The appointment of this office is being awaited here with considerable interest.

Carlson Fined In Court

Russell E. Carlson, 30, of 1326 Stanley street, New Britain, was before Judge John E. Flisk in the Rockville Police Court on Saturday morning. Several witnesses were heard and the case was not closed until 12 o'clock noon. Carlson was charged with the violation of the rules of the road, and was presented in court by Captain Richard Shear as the result of an accident near Lyman's switch about two months ago, when he parked a car on the side of the road and visited at a house nearby. An automobile driven by Albert Wilson of the Southern New England Telephone Company of Manchester collided with the machine in the darkness. It was claimed by Wilson that there were no lights on the Carlson car. The Manchester man was injured and was treated at the Manchester Memorial hospital.

Judge Flisk found Carlson guilty and fined him $40.01, including costs.

JAMES MCGOWAN

James McGowan of West street was discharged by Judge John E. Flisk in the city court Saturday on charges of violating the city ordinance which forbids all night parking.

Joint Installation

A joint installation of Division No. 1, A. O. H., and its auxiliary was held in Knights of Columbus hall on Sunday afternoon. County Presidents Michael O'Connell and Mrs. Margaret McCarlin of this city were the installing officers.

There were several members present, including visitors from surrounding towns. Several national state and county officers were also present.

The local degree teams, which are among the best in the state, put on the degree work and drills, received the praise of all visiting officers. There was a program of music, led by Ernie Rock and his orchestra.

Following are the officers of Division No. 1: President, Thomas Kerman; vice president, James Marley; treasurer, Roger J. Murphy; financial secretary, Edward Roman; recording secretary, Stanley Egan; sergeant-at-arms, Patrick Fagan; sentinel, Martin Kearney; chaplain, Rev. George T. Sinnott.

Auxiliary officers: President, Mrs. Hannah Praeler; vice president, Mrs. Margaret Kerman; recording secretary, Miss Mary Phillips; secretary, Mrs. Rose Schuey; treasurer, Miss Margaret Roman; mistress-at-arms, Mrs. Mary Brennan; sentinel, Miss Della Martin; chairman of Irish dances, Mrs. Catherine Frusse; chairman standing committee, Mrs. Mary Meyers; sick committee, Mrs. John Schlipback; chairman, Mrs. Nora Minor and Mrs. Walter Burke.

Following the installation exercises there were refreshments in C. L. of C. room adjoining the C. hall. The following committee was in charge: Mrs. Mary Meyers, chairman; Mrs. Annie O'Loughlin, Mrs. Nora Minor, Mrs. Hannah Praeler, Misses Mary Phillips, Mary Brennan, Lillian F. Scheit, Mrs. Catherine Frusse, Mrs. Margaret McCarlin, Mrs. Catherine Valley, Mrs. Esther Reardon, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Margaret Marley, Harry Pinney, Jr., Michael O'Connell, Thomas Kerman, Arthur Kerman, James Marley and Jerry McCarthy.

Auto Accident

Several telephones were out of order in the Grove street section on Sunday, due to a telephone pole being damaged in an auto accident early Sunday morning. The pole was struck by a car driven by Cedric Ott of this city at the corner of Grove and Hale street extension. Considerable damage was also done to Mr. Ott's car.

Charles Phillips

Charles Phillips, 53, died at his home at 118 Prospect street on Saturday, about midnight, following two days illness. Death was due to pneumonia. He was born in Thompsonville, and resided in Rockville practically all his life, and was employed as a plumber for Frank Mann and Company. He was a member of St. Bernard's Catholic church and Division No. 1, A. O. H.

Mr. Phillips leaves two daughters, Misses Mary and Catherine Phillips, two brothers, John Phillips of this city and George Phillips of Feeding Hills, Mass., a sister, Mrs. John J. Kane of Rensselaer, N. Y.

Presented Concert

The Colchester Ukrainian chorus presented a program of old Slavonic music including folk songs and religious selections last evening at Union Congregational church. The group appeared in costume. This was a union service of the Union Congregational and Methodist churches.

Edwin Oik

Edwin Oik, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Oik of 94 West Main street, died on Saturday at his home following a short illness. Besides his parents, the child is survived by several brothers and sisters. The funeral was held this morning at 9 o'clock from St. Joseph's Polish Catholic church. Rev. Sigismund Woronecki, pastor, officiated. Burial was in St. Bernard's cemetery.

Notes

The flowers on the Communion table at Union church on Sunday morning, were in loving memory of Miss Sara Wicks, for many years librarian at the Maxwell Free Reading rooms.

Fred Schindler of Prospect street is recovering from his recent illness.

Frank Orcutt of New London was the week-end guest of his parents in this city.

Several new cases of scarlet fever have been reported in Rockville the past week.

JUDGE BROWN ILL

New York Jan. 22.—(AP)—Superior Court Judge Allyn L. Brown, of Connecticut, a patient in the Presbyterian hospital where he is receiving treatment for eye trouble, was reported today resting comfortably.

Dr. John Wheeler, who is attending Judge Brown, said the patient's condition is "fairly satisfactory." Judge Brown is believed to have had a severe eye ailment.

WOULD RAISE TARIFF TO EQUAL CURRENCY

Congressman Shell Tells President That Despite Tariff Nation Is Flooded With Cheap Goods.

Washington, Jan. 22.—(AP) At a conference today with President Hoover, Representative Shell, Republican leader, said he had proposed a resolution to empower the secretary of the treasury to raise tariffs in proportion to depreciation of the currency of the exporting country.

Small told newspapermen the question would be placed before a caucus of House Republicans next Wednesday.

"I have had more letters on this subject than any other," Shell said, "everybody wants to know why Congress refuses to act to make tariffs on the books already effective. Some countries, with currency depreciated by 60 percent, are flooding this country with goods despite the tariff."

The New Yorker said he believed Mr. Hoover was in entire sympathy with the move.

BLIZZARD KILLS THREE

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Winter whipped the far west with new fury today as the toll of last week's blizzards mounted to three dead and three missing.

Searchers last night recovered the body of Charles E. Smith, 62-year-old prospector, from the ruins of his cabin in the Sierra Madre mountains of Southern California.

The rescuers were led to the cabin by Henry Mercer, 26, Smith's partner, who fled as he heard an avalanche coming down the mountain. Clad only in his underwear, Mercer wrapped himself in sacks about his body, and fought his way through snows to a forest ranger station.

Deaths Last Night

New York—Elisabeth Marbury, 78, theatrical producer and first Democratic national committee woman for New York.

New York—Oliver Hazzard Perry, 49, great grandson of the American naval hero.

Wellesley, Mass.—Eben Putnam, 65, national historian of the American Legion.

London—Sir Percy Sargent, 60, British surgeon and a commander of St. Michael and St. George.

New York—Edwin Gruhl, 46, president of the North American Company and director of many public utility companies.

Hartford, Conn.—Clarence F. Whitney, 63, prominent in the automotive industry.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Verona, Italy.—When a tailor forgot to remove his needle from an overcoat he made for a customer he nearly signed the death sentence of Carlo Pollorini.

Coming around a corner, Pollorini and the wearer of the overcoat collided and the needle was forced between two of Pollorini's ribs, near the heart.

At a hospital surgical aid saved Pollorini's life. The tailor got an official reprimand. He got into the books already effective. Some countries, with currency depreciated by 60 percent, are flooding this country with goods despite the tariff.

Dr. Corvin F. Stine, a dentist, reported to police that a man telephoned him, asking description of "Wilkie," a five-month-old puppy belonging to Dr. Stine's children which wandered away recently. Dr. Stine had inserted a lost ad in a paper.

Dr. Stine described "Wilkie" as "That's the dog," said the voice on the telephone. "I got him. But you won't get him back. Just checking up—thanks."

The man hung up. Alliance, Neb.—Harry Gants lays claim to the original jig saw puzzle hound.

The Gants family spent the other evening working on a jig saw puzzle. They completed it except for one piece. They searched the house, high and low, while Topper, their fox terrier watched with interest, but the missing pasteboard could not be found.

Two days later Topper appeared slightly ill. He choked a time or two and then coughed up the missing piece.

Beigrade, Jugoslavina—Radomir Yankovich and Joseph Florianatz, two former gendarmes who killed the Brestoviko town clerk with eight shots and dozens of bayonet thrusts while on duty at the village fair there, have been sentenced to serve two and three years respectively.

Their defense was that in their rounds of the fair they had drunk at least 21 free beers apiece and, meeting this man, didn't like his face.

Baltimore—James Dixon, 35-year-old negro was in the city jail today because he wanted his $3 to go far—but he got his theories of inflation and deflation mixed up.

In attempting to make his bills out of little ones, police said, Dixon had added a zero to the

"1" in the upper right corner, but in the upper left corner he put the zero before the "1."

Chicago—Mayor A. J. Cermak's drive against crime probably will be intensified tomorrow. As his motor departed from a city shop a clerk screamed and attempted to hold up the place. A clerk was enclosing some of the mayor's personal cards in several packages for delivery to out-of-town friends when the man drew his gun. The clerk screamed and the would-be thief departed. The mayor's friends will receive the candy.

St. Paul—St. Paul is to have a heap big Indian. Cast of solid glass, and 95 feet high, the Indian will stand in a concourse of the new St. Paul City Hall and County Court House. Designed as a war memorial, the statue will portray an Indian along modernistic lines, smoking a pipe of peace.

Around the base of the main figure are smaller figures of Indians, also in the peace motif. The cost is estimated between $45,000 and $60,000.

Chicago—It appeared strange the police said, that John Griggs had 48 suitcases and five trunks in his home.

"Why all the trunks," they asked. "Do you travel much?" "Not at all," they quoted Griggs as replying, "I keep things in them."

When asked why he had 14 skeleton keys in his possession, Griggs also had a reason.

"I use them to open locks," he said. "Still officials were not satisfied and they arrested him for questioning concerning his action in putting into his car a trunk they said belonged to another."

Mexico, Mo.—Dave C. Owen, 32-year-old sexton, wants to attend Sunday school 50 years without an absence. He has made a good start, having attended every Sunday for 39 years.

Oakland, Calif.—Attendance at a moving picture show cost Robert Evans, 26-year-old gardener $2,500. He reported to police. His wallet, containing his life's savings, which he reported missing after leaving the theater, was found on the floor by the manager but it was empty.

Evans told police he drew the money in 12 $200 bills, from a bank three weeks ago and had been carrying it with him.

Indianapolis—Music to aid hungry school children is planned by the Indianapolis Federation of Community Civil Clubs. The proceeds from a series of concerts will be used to buy milk and lunches for 8,000 needy youngsters.

Overnight A. P. News

Boston—Nineteen persons killed in automobile accidents in Massachusetts last week.

Boston—Charles S. Rackemann, president of the Constitutional Liberty League, charges that the delay of Congress in passing a beer bill and repealing the 18th Amendment is theoretically costing the country $5,000,000 a day.

Burlington, Vt.—Rensselaer W. Goodrich, 55, widely known retired horseman and merchant, dies.

Boston—Boston emergency relief campaign for $5,000,000 goes into its second week with $750,810.63 already in the coffers.

Burlington, Vt.—University of Vermont seismograph records an earthquake lasting nearly three hours. It occurred at some point distant from Vermont.

Lynn, Mass.—Assistant District Attorney Wilson, investigating the death of Edward Conrad, Jr., 14, who died after he had been removed from the Lynn Isolation hospital, says he has uncovered nothing to substantiate that the boy had been whipped at the institution. He says statements of the boy concerning whippings apparently were attributable to delirium.

Boston—Mayor Curley says vice is rampant in certain sections of Boston and he asks Police Commissioner Hultman to personally lead a crusade to clear up conditions.

Boston—Five men, whom police say they suspect of planning to rob several large milk company plants, are arrested in an automobile which had been reported stolen. Police say one of the men attempted to hide a loaded pistol in the rear seat.

Winsted, Conn.—William C. Kemp, 38, a Selectman of the town of Winsted since 1921 and mayor of Winsted for the last two years, dies.

New Britain, Conn.—Thomas F. Jackson, 44, business manager of the New Britain Herald and a World War veteran died.

Lewistown, Me.—Scores skate on streets and sidewalks as rapidly freezing rain leaves the city a glare of ice.

Woonsocket, R. I.—Former Police Commissioner Letendre, recently named chairman of the Republican city committee, says Woonsocket is "morally the worst city in New England" and attacks the present police administration. He says he will take steps to have the state police "take up the city."

Hartford, Conn.—Grove St. Whitney, 63, one of Connecticut's most prominent manufacturers, dies.

Pawtucket, R. I.—Police raid a dance marathon which has been in progress since November 30, evict 300 patrons and six couples who were dancing and arrest a man said to be in charge of the exhibition.

Torrington, Conn.—Joseph Lopardo, 42, is shot and killed shortly after police were told, he came from a card game to take a companion home.

COLD IN ENGLAND

London, Jan. 22.—(AP)—England experienced the sharpest weather of the winter today, with temperatures lower than since 1928. Even in the south the thermometer registered 15 degrees, which is unusually cold for those regions.

For the first time in years it looked as though there might be skating on some of the lakes and ponds near London, for the cold spell was expected to last several days. Medical authorities offered some encouragement by announcing that the cold weather is likely to put an end to the prevalent widespread influenza.

Other speakers on the program included the Rev. James Myers, industrial secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America; Miss Helen Wood, industrial investigator in the state department of labor; Prof. Philip Bradley of Amherst, and Dr. S. Ralph Harlow of Emory college.

The Rev. Theodore A. Green of the First Church of Christ of New Britain will be toastmaster at a banquet tonight.

With Congress and state legislatures going full blast, it's pretty hard to hold out hopes for a Happy New Year.

A New Oral Antiseptic By Makers Of Vicks VapoRub Introduces New Economy

A quality antiseptic mouth-wash and gargle—at less than half the usual price—is doubly welcome now. Especially to the millions who find such a product a daily necessity—for halitosis (bad breath), oral hygiene, and other antiseptic uses.

The New Vicks Vaseline Antiseptic—by the makers of Vicks VapoRub—brings this unique advantage. Born in a depression year, it is priced accordingly. Aided by record low prices on raw materials—and Vicks facilities for mass production—Vicks Chemists have produced a large 10-ounce bottle—a usual 75c value—that is priced regularly at only 35c.

The name, of course, guarantees high quality. It is simply the best oral antiseptic Vicks Chemists could produce... and they were aided by bacteriologists and pharmacologists of their 16 allied organizations, here and abroad. Mild enough to use daily with perfect safety, Vicks Antiseptic is strong enough to do everything an oral antiseptic can and should do.

Unusual Trial Offer.

Of course, the only real proof of its quality—and its economy—is in actual use. To furnish this proof, five million bottles of a special trial size are being supplied drugists everywhere at less than cost of manufacture. A 25c value, these trial packages are priced at only 10c—while the supply lasts.

ETHERIZED GIRL floats in air

ILLUSION: The very old illusion was invented by Indian fakirs. The secret was unearthed in 1929 by the great magician, Robert Houdin. At that time, ether had just been discovered, and little was known about it. Houdin claimed that he had discovered that this new anesthetic could make people light as air. To prove it, he chose the subject to rise into the air and float apparently suspended. He passed a hoop around the body to show there were no wires or supports.

EXPLANATION: There are many, many explanations for this old trick. One is that the girl wears a concealed harness, which ends in a socket between her shoulder blades. This is attached to a piston below the stage. The piston is pushed up from below, causing her to rise in the air. The piston is invisible, because it is covered with mirrors which reflect surrounding draperies, similar to the background. The magician can pass the hoop over her body because it is cut in one place. It can be pulled apart for a second when it passes the piston.

Source: "Modern Magic" by Professor Hoffmann, George Routledge & Sons.

Another "magic show" is cigarette advertising. One of its greatest tricks is the illusion that cigarettes can be made miraculously "MILD" through manufacturing methods.

THE EXPLANATION: All popular cigarettes today are made in modern sanitary factories with up-to-date machinery. All are heat treated—some more intensively than others, because raw, interior tobaccos require more intensive treatment than choice, ripe tobaccos.

The real difference comes in the tobaccos that are used. The better the tobacco, the milder it is.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

This is why Camels are so mild. This is why Camels have given more pleasure to more people than any other cigarette ever made. It's the secret of Camels' rich, "haughty"... their cool flavor... their unsurpassing mildness.

All the natural, ripe goodness of Camels' tobacco is kept fresh for you by the famous air-tight, metal tins. Don't remove it!

Deep-Dish Peach Pie
Although the recipe for this Deep-Dish Peach Pie calls for fresh peaches, canned ones may be substituted.

3-4 cups fresh peaches, sliced
1-2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1-2 tablespoon tapioca
1 pie crust
1 tablespoon butter

Combine peaches, sugar, lemon juice and tapioca and let stand while crust is rolled. Line sides only of deep baking dish with a strip of pastry rolled 1-8 inch thick, adjusting it so that pastry comes within 1-2 inch of bottom. Allow upper edges to extend over rim of dish and turn peaches into dish and dot with butter. Cover with pie crust, rolled to 1-8 inch thickness, with a few slits in center to allow escape of steam. Press edges together with fork, dipped in flour. Bake in hot oven (350 degrees F.) 15 minutes, and decrease heat (300 degrees F.) and bake 30 minutes longer, or until peaches are tender.

OVER 100 HURT IN IRISH RIOTS

Fear Further Trouble At Final Political Rallies In Dublin Tonight.

Dublin, Irish Free State, Jan. 23. (AP)—More than 100 Irishmen were nursing cracked heads and other injuries suffered in lively political riots Sunday as the De Valera and Cosgrave parties mustered forces for tonight's final and biggest campaign rallies. Tomorrow the Free State elects a new Dail Eirann.

President Eamon de Valera, who will head a torchlight procession in Dublin, was a scrap between Cosgrave, former President William T. Cosgrave, closing his campaign in Cork, was equally sure of regaining the post he lost a year ago. The Dail will choose the president.

Cosgrave's Sunday invasion of County Kerry, where de Valera's Fianna Fail is especially strong, led to the worst rioting of the campaign. Many of the injured, however, were only slightly hurt. About fifty previously were injured during the campaign, including seven in Dublin Saturday night.

The first row yesterday occurred at Listowel, where a scrap between "White Guard" army comrades and De Valera supporters caused civil guards to use their clubs in dispersing the rioters. One guard was seriously cut by a thrown stone but other injuries were few.

Worse trouble occurred at Tralee and Killarney, with at least fifty persons reported injured in each place. Sticks, stones and fists were soon flying when Fianna Fail members started a meeting close to one held by Cosgrave. Civic guards charged the crowd. The rioters stoned the guards and threatened to disarm them. The guards, who were accompanying Cosgrave, were ordered to draw their revolvers upon orders from a sergeant.

Stoned the Guards
This caused the disturbers to seek refuge behind walls, from where they continued stoning the guards. The latter, however, retreated from firing. Guards swung their clubs freely when they contacted the rioters.

At Tralee, Cosgrave just started to speak when a group began throwing stones, closing in on army comrades and police nearby. Cosgrave escaped in an automobile in a hail of stones which smashed windows of half a dozen other machines.

Police had to use their sticks to quiet a disturbance at Mooncoin, in Kilkenny. In County Clare, the Laborite Patrick Hogan tried in vain to get a hearing. Cosgrave and de Valera each conducted their meetings yesterday.

Cosgrave's Views
Cosgrave declared "the Fianna Fail told the electors they will not let us in-hand to the British, but

The latest entertainment which was presented under the auspices of the "Blue Bird" of the members of Wapping Grange, proved to be a very enjoyable evening's entertainment. The hall was very prettily decorated, and the following program was presented: A vocal solo, by Mrs. Dorothy Wells, a sketch by the Misses Dorothy and Elizabeth Frank, entitled "The New Baby," a recitation by Miss Margaret Yeltes, "Learning to Drive," a solo by Clinton Webb, a sketch, entitled "Coca-Cola Courtesy," by A. Monaghan and A. Rivenburg, which was followed by an intermission for refreshments. A short comedy play, "Just a Little Mistake," by the Windsorville members; another intermission. A dance by Miss Harriett Spaulding; music and songs by The Old Timers; a sketch by Dorothy and Helen Frank, "A Night of Photographs"; instrumental music, piano and harp, another dance by Miss Spaulding; selection by the orchestra. Dancing was enjoyed by all after the tables were cleared away.

This evening the Young People's society of Christian Endeavor of the First Congregational church, South Windsor, will serve a banquet in the basement of the church to the South Windsor Athletic club.

Print and Plain
The dress of the hour is a "print and plain." Usually print is used for the sleeves and part of the blouse while the rest of the dress is plain color. These dresses have just enough gaiety to supply relief from the plain colors worn so much the past season, and yet they are not too gay for winter. And by the way, you'll recognize the new prints by their geometric look. So far we've seen few flower prints, only occasional polka, although these promise to be popular towards spring. Right now, the geometric type is smartest.

A few cans of paint, floor finish and furniture polish applied every now and then will keep your house in wonderful condition at negligible cost, especially if you buy at Olson's Paint Shop, Main street.

Troop No. 6
Troop 6 of the South Methodist church, held its regular meeting Tuesday night. Fourteen scouts and leaders were present. Assistant Scoutmaster McGuire had charge of the opening exercises, which consisted of the flag ceremony, the repeating of the Scout Oath, and the reading of the patrol leaders. A callistic drill was led by Scoutmaster Mercer, and then the troop was turned over to the assistant scoutmasters for an instructive period. A song fest was held, and following this a game period. Assistant Scoutmaster Moriarty closed the meeting with the repeating of the Scout Laws and prayer. Visitors to our meeting Troop, Committeemen Tedford and Robert Burr, former assistant scoutmaster and present outmaster of Pack 2.

Cub Pack No. 2
Pack 2 met Tuesday evening. We played two games of basketball and then went into the scout room where the Cub flag was presented by Cubmaster Burr. We went into the gym and played "Ball in the Ring" and another game of basketball. The rest of the evening we spent passing tests.

STATE FARM REPORT

Hartford, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A tendency among Connecticut farmers in 1933 to counterbalance low prices by increasing production was reported today by S. McLean Buckingham, state commissioner of agriculture.

Virtually every agricultural product except tobacco showed an acreage increase, a department bulletin said, and the intended average for 1933, especially of potatoes, is expected to be even higher than in 1932.

Vegetable acreage on 1213 farms increased 10.6 per cent in 1932, bearing apple trees on 324 farms showed a gain of 6.9 per cent and pear trees on 150 farms showed a gain of 20.2 per cent.

The number of milking cows on 1903 farms estimated at 16,000 represented a 1.9 per cent increase while the number of laying birds on 2775 farms showed a gain of 6.8 per cent.

A decrease of 25.9 per cent in tobacco acreage of 183 farms was reported.

PASSED BAD CHECKS

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Leon Morrell of Darien, Conn., was sentenced today to an indeterminate term not to exceed three years for passing a worthless check.

Morrell last week pleaded guilty to the charge, which alleged that he issued or cashed checks against worthless checks for $400 which he had deposited on Jan. 10 in the Bank of Manhattan Company.

The prisoner is 43 years old and described himself as a salesman. Police records list him as having been given suspended sentence on a petty larceny charge here in 1924.

SEEK MISSING MAN

New London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—State police of the Groton barracks today issued an appeal to other police authorities in the state and Rhode Island to assist in the search for William F. Adams, 45, of Groton, who disappeared last night after leaving a check at his home in Norwich.

Ruth Chatterton in "Frisco Jenny" will continue to lead the program at the State tonight and Tuesday. Miss Chatterton's role as her latest picture is a departure from that in which she has been seen in her last few pictures. While Miss Chatterton is quite at home in the drawing room type of role, it is refreshing to see her once more depicting a character of the type which brought her fame on the screen. Not since Miss Chatterton's memorable work in "Madame X" has the screen seen a dramatic story with such a terrific punch.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SHEILA SHAYNE, dancer, is charged with a new play by MARION RANDOLPH, the star, is jealous of her. Sheila searches for work and finally secures a part in a musical show soon to go on tour. DICK STANLEY, rich and socially prominent, asks her to give up this job and marry him but Sheila refuses her idea of marriage in a home in some little town far from Broadway.

Sheila is friendly with JIM BLAINE, another actor in the company from which she was discharged. When Jim sees her one day that he has unintentionally offended Miss Randolph, Sheila warns him he may lose his job as she did.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

The gentleman whose money was backing the play in which Marion Randolph was starred was Craig Abbott. As it happened, Abbott was feeling weary. He was weary of family responsibilities, bringing practically no returns. He was weary, too, of Miss Randolph's pouting and petty tyrannies. When things went wrong—and they did frequently—Marion was quick to let everyone know it. Craig Abbott had begun to think of sailing dates ocean liners. A long leisurely cruise, alone and unhampered, to parts unknown. For an indefinite period. That would be delightful!

He was rather new to this business of "angeling" plays. He was rather young. He was unfamiliar with the tempestuous whims of leading ladies but during the past weeks he had been learning rapidly.

What he had learned had considerably changed his viewpoint. Abbott realized now that he had been making mistakes. There was that girl he had seen the other evening! Clever youngster. Talented. And he had allowed Mandrake to put her out of the show simply because Miss Randolph so desired. Yes, dropping "Lights Are Low" when "Lights Are Low" had been a serious mistake.

All this was in Abbott's mind as Marion Randolph spoke. He sat on a divan in the living room of her apartment. Marion, nearby, was standing because the line of her tea-time regalia was better when she stood. Marion might take little thought for the morrow but she took thought constantly for her appearance.

"Blaine's no good in that part," she repeated. "Get rid of him, Craig, and find someone else."

Abbott looked up from the book he had been reading. He said, "Well, if you want him fired, fire him. Why not?"

She pouted. "I can't do it, Craig. You know that. But I'm warning you right now that if you show in town big enough for both of us!"

The man eyed her. "Then why not fire yourself for a change? You've already gotten rid of a good comedian, a cute little dancer and half the chorus. He counted them off on his fingers. 'You ruined two expensive costumes for no reason at all. Spike heels,' he paused to allow his change of tone to sink in, 'aren't awfully good for velvet frocks, are they?'"

"But I want Blaine fired!"

"Darling, why didn't you say that before? I'll go and see him right away. Where does he live? It would be too bad to drag him way down to the theater tonight when he won't be needed."

He rose and was half-way to the door before Marion stopped him with a hand on his arm.

"Go back and sit down," she begged, trying to laugh. "The venom had run from her eyes and at that moment she looked innocuous. Her skin, as she well knew and frequently announced, was flawless. Her hair, without that last gold rinse, would have been lovely. Its curl was fairly natural. And the tilt of her head was superb. Even at that moment Abbott would have agreed to all this.

None of these facts, however, interested him. He was thoroughly tired of Marion and Marion's petty whims.

"What is the chap's number? We'll get the business over," Abbott went on.

Marion named Blaine's hotel. She was looking worried. Somehow she didn't like this mood of Craig's. She had never seen him quite like this before.

"I'll call him," the man was saying, "and take him out to dinner."

"But I thought you were having dinner with me?"

"For answer Abbott gave the operator the number. He wanted to more and he was asking for Jim Blaine. There was a pause and then he said, "Blaine? This is Craig Abbott speaking. You don't know me but I'm interested in 'When Lights Are Low.' Wonder if you'd dine with me this evening? I'd like to suggest a few changes."

He winked at Marion who quickly recovered her composure. This was going to be all right. Now Blaine would write! Still—hadn't he a contract? She wrinkled her forehead a moment, then decided that he was probably too new to the show business to think of a detail such as that. In that case everything could be fixed.

It settled. Craig returned as he wished. He did not return to his seat. Instead he closed the book he had been holding and replaced it on the table.

"I'll leave this—or have you a book?" he asked dryly.

"Do you know any more old jokes?" Marion retorted. But she liked red geraniums. Let's see—when was it I saw her—?"

Four hours later they were seated at a dinner table. There were places for three at the table but Jim Blaine had had to leave early to reach the theater. Abbott leaned forward, looking directly into Sheila Shayne's eyes.

"To think," he was saying, "that Jim and I have been friends all these years and I didn't recognize him in the show!"

"It was nice of you to let him bring me," Sheila said. "I'm afraid you and Jim had a great deal to talk about." She hadn't been told that Craig Abbott was interested in "When Lights Are Low."

"So have you and I?"

"But we're to meet Jim after the show. And—"

"Just a minute! How would you like to drive around the park until Jim can join us?"

"In one of those funny old carriages?"

"In anything you say—an airplane or a wheelbarrow. Make your choice, Madame. I am at your service."

They strolled up Fifth Avenue together. Craig said, "Remember when I told you that I was sure you liked red geraniums? What's your address? I'll send you a truck load of them tomorrow."

She told him the house number and he nodded briefly. "Aren't you going to put it down?" Sheila asked, disappointed.

"As if I could forget it!"

They drove through the park until 10:30 and then returned to the hotel where they had dined. There Abbott sent a bellboy to Jim's theater with a taxi cab. He didn't care to risk meeting Marion Randolph that evening.

Jim met them promptly at 11. "Now," Craig suggested, "let's go to Harlem. It's my treat."

They set out for Harlem in a cab. "Do you know another girl we could add to the party at this highly impossible hour?" Abbott asked.

Sheila shook her head doubtfully. "There are the Samper sisters," she said finally. "There are five of them and they all look alike. When one is busy you can always ask another."

Two of the five Samper sisters were at home. One of them would have to remain with Mama but the other would be glad to join them.

"Toss a coin and see who stays and who comes," Sheila advised.

The Sampers lived on Washington Heights and the cab detoured up Fort Washington avenue. Tessie, radiant, met them at the door. She was petite and blond. The other four sisters were dark, so on the stage Tessie wore a wig. Their mother didn't approve of dyed hair but with a wig Tessie looked exactly like the others. In street clothes she was the only one Sheila could distinguish from her sisters.

The four "did" Harlem. Tessie had never been there before, she confided, but Mama was willing to let her go with Sheila. They found a supper club where the music was gay and the entertainers skilful. Abbott's party was a complete success.

Sheila slept late next morning. She was not needed at rehearsal until late afternoon. She stirred in bed, hearing a commotion outside the door. Frontsteps, as a voice, something bumping against the wall. Someone knocked and Sheila opened the door.

It was Myrtle who came bounding in. "A ton of geraniums!" she exclaimed. "With your name on them! Your young man isn't out of his head, is he, Sheila?"

YOUR CHILDREN

CHILDREN MUST GO TO BED EARLY

It is best for very little children to go to bed early—before dinner unless you are so situated that noon dinner suits best, and the lighter evening meal is at 5 or 5:30, as happens in many country districts.

But right here arises a big problem. When is daddy to see his children if not after he comes home from work? He goes away in the morning usually without time to do more than kiss them a hurried good-bye. If he lives near his work he may be home for a few minutes at noon, of course, but most fathers, especially in large cities, never see their children's large lot evening.

The older children, he may see, and even have time for a story or a romp with them before bedtime. It is the child under 5 that he may be a stranger to if the proper routine of sleep is adhered to. And to put a child of this age to bed at 8 o'clock is proper. After he is 5, a little boy or girl should be in bed at seven or not later than 7:30.

Many Fathers Object

I believe it is, due to this problem about fathers that so many mothers do not approve of the early bed time. And who can blame them? They want their little children to know and love their daddies.

Besides if dad comes home night after night and finds the baby in bed he is likely to raise a rumpus and declare that this idea of putting kids to sleep at such an hour is all tomfoolery and nonsense.

It is right and human that a man should know his children when they are little. He loves them as much as their mother does. But there is one thing to remember. The things that are best for a child (and close to 13 hours sleep at night is one of them) seem almost invariably to call for sacrifice on the part of one parent or the other, or both.

Moreover, a child's memory when he is older usually does not cover this early period. When he is old enough to stay up a little later, this is the time when real memory begins. His father has plenty of time to become his beloved here and there. Besides, there are Sundays, too, and perhaps Saturday afternoons if he is not working. These hard times, like all other ill-winds, have their good points. Men are seeing more of their families, even if the hours so spent are full of worry and heartaches.

Table Temptations

If the family arises late, of course, a young child being thus assured of his full quota of sleep, can be put to bed a little later.

But this brings complications. He wants to be at the table with the family where he sees pork and beans or potatoes cooked with cheese, rich gravies, perhaps pie or cake. This is only guessing, but we all know that adult food is not baby food. And to deprive him causes trouble. If meals are simple and the kind he can eat, then there is no argument. But fathers do not enjoy such meals as a rule. The evening meal should be a light meal for very little people, and "deed" for all children.

Each mother must adjust her work and her schedule to suit her particular child, but it is becoming more and more the custom to tuck the little one into bed early, after their own light little supper at 4 and gradually men of family are becoming adjusted to the new rule and are making the best of it.

If later verities can be made popular and in the end, the nutritional benefits now revealed in many rural districts will be demonstrated to the urban masses.

CLEANLINESS IN BEAUTY IMPLEMENTS

If your eagle eyes spies a blackhead or two on your chin, or around your nose, pause, before you do anything, to see what caused them. Is your powder puff meticulously clean? Or is the little puff that fits into your compact more than slightly soiled? It is absolutely astounding how many women keep right on using a powder puff on their faces after it is positively dirty. What's the use in cleansing your face, feeding it good cream, and making up carefully, at home, if you are going to dab powder on it from time to time with a soiled powder puff?

The answer is, "None whatsoever!"

Almost any compact can have its puff renewed. Don't buy just one. Buy a half dozen. For it is hard to wash them and have them come out perfectly new looking.

One more precaution about treating your face right. When you come in from the street and want to cleanse your face, do your best first. Scrub them with a mild brush and warm water and good soap and make sure they are spotless as a surgeon's hands before you begin operations. Otherwise you merely smear your face with your brushes, dirt when you put cleansing cream on next in line of neglect. Few women keep their brushes clean. You should have two, really, and wash one each day. Do you know any woman who does? Well, I know a very few who do this well groomed. Keep your beauty bar clean and shining. Keep your powder air tight. Keep the puff that you use in your powder box very, very clean. These big ones, and particularly the ostrich ones, do wash readily and well.

But important, don't keep around a lot of odds and ends if this or that cream, face lotion, muscle oil, skin tonic and so forth. Cull what isn't good for your skin, what you do not use or need, what you never did like. Keep just what you use and keep them in some order, so you build up a mechanical regime for yourself. You should be able to dream a bit about last night's party, and go through all the motions of getting ready for today's work, at one and the same time.

How long has it been since you tested the shade of the face powder that you use?

You know colors in powder change as well as clothes.

The most important fact about face powder right now is the new peach bloom shades that are being used by women who care.

There is delicate flesh pink in this powder, plus an apricot tinge that is far more than the dark, dead tones of old suntan powders.

This new color does wonders for you. It gives your skin a fresh appearance and a healthy glow. And in some miraculous way, it has a way of making you seem younger when you use it.

Of course you must use a cream powder base or a liquid powder base to anchor your powder properly. A cream base does more than just that. It gives the illusion of vibrant, glowing, young skin by adding just the amount of moisture that many older skins lack.

Moreover, if you don't use an eye shadow cream of any kind, or do not make up your eyes in any way, you must use a bit of cream on your lids, just to keep them from looking dry and wrinkled. If the little secret isn't yours, learn it now. For dry eyelids are an indication of age, and one that you can stall off indefinitely.

When you use this new peach-bloom tone of powder, be sure to give your neck proper treatment with it, too. And of course you must use the cream powder base on your throat.

MARVELOUS MANHATTAN

By WILLIAM GAINES

New York—Grading a few metropolitan types (A means excellent; B, good; C, fair; D, poor; E, very poor; F, failure).

Rental agent who insists any flat opening onto a bare roof with a plant on it is a "terrace apartment."

Columbia collegian who doesn't try to act collegiate when he comes down-town, C.

Blow-hard who saw Ay Smith in a parade, or Ed Wynn from the balcony, and speaks glibly of "my friend, Al," or "my pal, Ed," E.

Actor who manages to make himself heard in the rear rows without raising B-plus.

Cop who jams up traffic for three blocks to show what a bawling out he can give an unintentional trespasser, E.

Show-off who talks right through the performance at opening nights, X-minus.

Delicatessen man who invariably sends the wrong kind of ginger ale, D.

Barber who wants to sell you some sort of hair oil because one of his well-known actor-patrons always calls for it, B.

Night-life neo-celebrity who raises a rumpus because he can't get a fireplace-table in a club when all of the tables are occupied, E.

Janitor who never can be found when the apartment is running refrigerator temperatures, F.

Taxi driver who always manages to be shy of enough change, B.

Christie who goes craine coat in her first show, B (but maybe she won't be a failure).

Nominations for A grade are in order.

What to Do to Keep Well by World-Famous Authority

FALSE TEETH NEED NOT SACRIFICE YOUR APPEARANCE

Modern Dentistry Makes It Possible to Improve Lower Facial Features; X-Ray is Urged to Insure the Proper Retention.

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

The patient who is compelled to wear any form of removable appliance in the mouth to replace natural teeth has special problems to which dentists have been giving concrete. False teeth, artificial teeth, removable bridges and plates are included in this category.

The dental society of Portland, Ore., recently has issued a bulletin on the considerations involved. The society points out first of all that the person who is going to lose his natural teeth by extraction because of infection or due to any other cause should have a thorough study by the use of the X-ray before any natural teeth are removed.

The dentist who is going to make the artificial denture can then advise intelligently which teeth may be saved and which should be extracted. This is particularly important because he wants to restore the patient's natural appearance and he wants to retain everything possible to permit the making of the most suitable denture.

To do this he takes impressions of the mouth, makes a record of the patient's profile and facial contour, studies the natural color of the teeth and similar factors. It is sometimes possible in making an artificial denture to correct deformities or abnormalities of the lower portion of the face.

When a person is fitted with an artificial denture his experience is like being fitted with a suit or a dress. It may not be exactly right the first time and some adjustments may be necessary.

When the work is completed the patient should not assume that it is permanent. The human body is a growing and changing organism which differs from year to year. This means that dentures should be studied from time to time if they are to become comfortable so that old ones may be refitted or new ones substituted.

If this is not done, there actually may be changes in the appearance of the face, deep lines and wrinkles being associated in some instances with the constant wearing of unsuitable dentures.

Artificial plates and teeth must be given even more care than natural teeth. They should be brushed carefully and thoroughly after each meal and on going to bed at night. In this cleaning, cold or lukewarm water should be used—never hot water. It is just as important to be careful about handling dentures as handling expensive eyeglasses.

The dentists suggest that when removing the dentures from the mouth the wearer should lean over a washbowl filled two-thirds full of water and hold the plates close to the water when brushing them. Then the water will break the fall if he happens to drop the artificial plate.

It is not advisable to try to crack nuts with artificial teeth. Biting threads, eating hard candy and chewing on bones are sometimes responsible for ruining expensive dentures.

Owen Davis, one of the Pulitzer prize playwrights, offered his first script to the Charles Frohman office. The Frohman playwright was Charles Klein, who wrote "The Lion and the Mouse."

Summoned for the report, the ambitious young Davis trembled under the critical gaze of the reader.

"You appear to be a strong young man," Klein commented.

"I am," was the puzzled admission.

"Then take this thing and throw it as far as you can," Klein advised, "and never write another."

Every duty we omit obscures some truth we should have known.—Ruskin.

A WISH

By HELEN WELSHIMER

ISN'T it strange
That now and then
Words you told me
Come back again?

MAYBE it's queer
But I wonder why
Footstep echoes
Still make me cry.

NOW when I walk
Oh anywhere,
Old paths, new ones
Are oddly bare.

I'm not afraid
If hills are high,
If there aren't stars
For each night's sky.

I WOULDN'T care
What day's end brings,
If you were near
To laugh at things!

Local Cagers In 12 Games This Week

REC FIVE TO PRY LID OFF HEAVIEST SCHEDULE OF YEAR

Meet Coast Guard Bears At New London Tonight; Old Timers' Tilt Saturday Rounds Out List.

The lid will be pried off one of the most extensive basketball schedules of the local court season tonight, when the Rec Five travels to New London to meet the Coast Guard Bears in the first of twelve games to be played by Manchester quintets this week. It is possible that a few more games may be added to this list before the end of the week, as the National Guards are seeking road bookings.

The schedule for the week is as follows:

Tonight

The Rec Five meets the Coast Guard Bears of New London, a team that was defeated by the National Guards here, 44-37. This will be the 20th game of the season for the Recs, who will attempt to break a three-game losing streak.

Tomorrow Night

The Rec Five meets the Rosary A. A. of Springfield at the School street Rec in a return game. The Recs were defeated at Springfield, 56-37, but are hopeful of turning the tables on the all-star array from the Bay State.

The Rec Girls will play the Rosary A. A. Girls in the preliminary and also have a previous defeat to avenge.

The State Trade school goes to West Hartford to tackle the American School for the Deaf at 7:30 o'clock. Coach Walter Schober's charges have trounced Torrington and Meriden in succession and expect to continue their winning streak.

Thursday Night

The National Guards play the St. Mary's of East Hartford at the State Armory in the third game of a series that is deadlocked at one-all. The Guards defeated the East Hartford team at the Armory, 47-32, but lost a return game at St. Mary's, 46-37.

The Rec Five, after a one-night layoff, resumes its stiff schedule at Willimantic against the Blue Ribbons of that city.

Friday Night

Manchester High school faces Meriden High at the State Armory here in a C. C. I. L. battle that should definitely decide the winner of runner-up honors in the League. Meriden is now in second place and Manchester is tied for third place with Middletown and East Hartford. The Red and White defeated Meriden in the last round, 37-33, but since that time Manchester has won three League encounters, while Meriden has topped all opponents except Bristol.

Manchester Trade School opposes Enfield Hall at Thompsonville in its 12th game of the season.

Saturday Night

The Rec Five concludes its activities for the week at Middletown against the Cubeta Brothers Five. In the preliminary to the Old Timers game, the National Guards oppose the Phantoms of New Britain, City League champions, who defeated the Guards last Saturday night, 36-26.

Manchester High invades Willimantic for a non-league tussle with one of its most bitter rivals, Willimantic High.

The Old Timers of Manchester play the Old Timers of New Britain at the Armory in a game for the benefit of the Manchester Emergency Employment Association. Sherwood "Cap" Bissell and Al Boggini have both consented to officiate at this game, in which the double system of umpire and referee will be used. The Old Timers game will consist of six five minute periods that will give each player at least ten minutes of actual playing time.

Fay in Charge

Jerry Fay will have charge of the players on the local squad and Ben Clune will handle the schedule of the program. The preliminary game will start at 7:30 o'clock and the main game at 9:15 o'clock to allow those employed in stores a chance to see the game. A practice session will be held tonight at the East Side Rec at 8 o'clock.

Arrangements for five outstanding amateur acts and a large number of comedy sidelines are in progress. The entire affair is going to work in a schedule, with each act being limited to a certain time. There won't be a dull moment for those who attend. Bleachers from the Hartford Armory will be installed to accommodate a crowd expected to surpass last year's attendance.

HEIGHTS NOSE OUT HERALD NEWSBOYS

Retain League Lead By Winning 22-19; Dills, Sons Victors.

The Rec Senior League turned out three very well played and interesting games at the East Side Rec Saturday night when the Heights, Sons of Italy and Dills Five were returned winners. In a free scoring game the Sons of Italy turned back the Independents 58-44. Superior team play proved too much for the Independents who fought hard all the way. P. Vince, Boggini and Rossi played best for the Sons, while Nelson, Tierney and Seelert kept the Independents in the running.

Last Half Rally

In the second and the best game of the evening the Heights nosed out the Herald Newsboys 22-19, trailing at half time the Heights overcame the lead held by the Newsboys. The final quarter had the many fans on edge with both teams battling hard to gain possession of the ball, with only a difference of one basket. In the closing minutes the league leaders kept possession of the ball with two foul shots by "Bingo" Sturgeon about settled the issue. Viot and Sturgeon upheld the Heights, while the defensive play of Schuets was outstanding. Sullivan also played well.

Dills Best Celtics

The Dills gained their first victory of the league downing the Celtics 30-24. The play throughout was very close with the Dills holding the upper hand. The team play of the west siders was very ragged while the winners showed a big improvement in team play. In the last two minutes the Celtics had only four men on the floor as S. Vennart was ejected via personal foul route, with no substitutes a replacement could not be made. The playing of Cubberly and Bendall aided the team in its first victory while Brown was outstanding for the Celtics.

Gains Impressive Victory In 8:38.8 But Fails To Equal Nurmi's Mark By 12 2-5 Seconds; On All-American Twice.

Although his attempt to shatter Faavo Nurmi's record failed, Joe McCluskey, Fordham's famed Olympic steeplechaser, raced to an impressive triumph in the 3,000 meter run at the Jefferson Club indoor track and field games at Brooklyn Saturday night. McCluskey gave away handicaps of as high as 190 yards but finished ahead of the field in the brilliant time of eight minutes, 38 and 4-5 seconds.

The tall Ram runner, holder of the national cross country and steeplechase championships and the two mile intercollegiate title, was handicapped by an unbanked track and an unwieldy field of runners but traveled the distance only 12 2-5 seconds over the mark of eight minutes, 26 and 3-5 seconds established by Nurmi on the last, banked track at Madison Square Garden, March 12, 1925.

ON ALL-AMERICAN TWICE

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The East in the weight events and distance runs; the Midwest in the shorter track events, particularly the sprints; and the South and Far West giving a strong argument to all the champions but producing few. That is the lineup of the nation's track and field stars as shown by the All-America team selected by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Sexton in Three Places

Of this list, 14 eastern athletes occupied 17 places; the mid-west had eight performers for ten events; the south had three men and the far west five, all in single events. Sexton, being picked for the shot put and the 35 and 56-pound weight throws, gave the east a big edge in the weight events while stars from the Atlantic seaboard were chosen for all the distance runs from the 800-yard dash to the marathon with the exception of the 5,000 meter race, which went to Ralph Hill of San Francisco, and the 10,000 meters, which was given to Tom Otty of Michigan State.

Two mid-westerners divided the sprint places, Ralph Metcalfe being the fourth and three men and the far west five, all in single events. Sexton, being picked for the shot put and the 35 and 56-pound weight throws, gave the east a big edge in the weight events while stars from the Atlantic seaboard were chosen for all the distance runs from the 800-yard dash to the marathon with the exception of the 5,000 meter race, which went to Ralph Hill of San Francisco, and the 10,000 meters, which was given to Tom Otty of Michigan State.

JUNIOR LEAGUE RESULTS

The Collegians, West Side Buddies and Herald Newsboys emerged the winners in the Recreation Center Junior Basketball League games Saturday night. The Collegians defeated the East Side, 17-11, Oubouchowski and Carpenter starting. The unorthodox play of the East Side was noticeable at times. Vince and Deyorio starred for the losers.

The Buddies easily trounced the Orioles, 43-21. Honors were evenly distributed among the winners while Borelio and Cooks were best for the losers. The Herald had little trouble in beating Gwa Hicks by the score of 37-18. Sheldon and Sears were outstanding for The Herald and Brownowski and Robinson for the losers.

Man. H. S. Loses Close Battle To Hartford

Manchester High school went down to its fifth defeat in nine starts this season Saturday night against Hartford Public High school at the State Armory but, in so doing, displayed the finest brand of basketball since the Red and White suffered its first setback from the Alumni, after three consecutive victories. The final score was 32-22 and the outcome remained in doubt until the final period.

Coach Wilfred Clarke gave his regulars another chance to prove their ability and the quintet came through splendidly in the first half, gaining an 8 to 6 margin in the first quarter which was stretched to 17 by halftime. Every member of the team played heads up basketball but in the final half Hartford rallied desperately and held the locals to a single field goal while scoring six themselves. At the end of the third quarter Hartford held a 22 to 10 lead, but Manchester got the lead in the second and led 18-10 at halftime. At the end of the third quarter the score was deadlocked at 14-all and Manchester outscored Hartford in the fourth-period 5-4 to win by a hair's breadth.

TOMMY TUCKER TO BOX IN ROCKVILLE TUESDAY

Features C. D. K. Club Show—First Card At Town Hall In Many Months.

After an idleness of several months the C. D. K. club will swing into action at the Town Hall in Rockville Tuesday night presenting a card of ten all-star bouts. George Groch, the club's matchmaker has lined up a fine array of amateur talent to compete on Tuesday night's card, and has only chosen names known for their fighting ability.

Topping the list of simon purrs selected to do battle is none other than Tommy Tucker local welterweight who packs a wallop in either hand and is always in there giving the fan plenty to howl about. Tommy who has been campaigning for the past few months in New York rings namely Madison Square Garden and the Coney Island club has made quite a name for himself during his time showing an decisive wins.

Returning to the old home town Tommy should have something new for the fan when he squares off after his prolog in the big city. Much interest will be centered on Tommy's showing and to secure an opponent able to give the local welterweight an acid test in his return to local rings.

The one odd only Mike Murphy from East Hampton will lead an able team of boys from that town, and all fans are aware that when ever Mike is down to do battle a battle it will be. Kid Lockwood, Broad Brook's up and coming young flyweight has entered the lineup and the matchmaker selects for him. Jimmy Britt local flyweight champion and Al Satyrb are also billed on this card.

From Hartford Matchmaker Groch will bring Kingfish Belsano boy local fans have never seen in action but one bound to please with his punching and fighting tactics. Along with the Kingfish will come Joe Suiots, Freddy Form, Johnny Pal, Claude King, Butch Nicholas and the colored ace, middleweight Jackie Brown. All these boys are topnotch amateur performers and crowd pleasers. Eddie Shapiro, Worcester's team leader and a man who handles a fine team of boxers will be on hand with Bobby Nichols, Pepper Martin, Tony Burke, Tommy Lynn and Billy Makil. Thompsonville will send Jerry and Joe Reals, two fighting brothers well able to give any fan just the sort of entertainment looked for in amateur contests.

To date Matchmaker Groch has made no matches and will not until the night of the show. Claiming to give the fan a sort of a surprise we see that he can do just this with the boxers he has selected and it is surly that no fan who is inclined towards sports and boxing will care to miss an amateur boxing show such as this one. The C. D. K. club has arranged for a large seating and the prices of admission are within the reach of all.

MAYOR MAKES PLEA

Minola, N. Y., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Mayor Frank Fankel of Long Beach pleaded not guilty today to an indictment charging him with illegal handling of city funds in transferring city money from another bank to the Long Beach Trust Company shortly before the latter institution closed.

Counsel for Frankel was given permission to inspect the minutes of the Grand Jury which returned the indictment and was given a week to prepare other motions.

PENN TOPS CAGERS IN COURT LEAGUE

Has One-Game Lead Over Princeton and Columbia in College Circuit.

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Penn's pace-setting Quakers return to Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League action this week well aware that they can afford few slips if they hope to dethrone the champion Princeton Tigers. While the Quakers were occupying themselves with non-league competition, Princeton returned to form and swamped both Columbia and Dartmouth to gain a tie for second place. The Tigers, beating Columbia, 48-23, and Dartmouth, 40-25, seemed to have recovered completely from the slump that cost them their first league game with Penn.

Columbia came back from its trouncing at Princeton's hands to notch out Cornell, 37-30 on Saturday night, and thus tied the Tigers for second place. Each has won two games and lost one.

Penn, victor over Princeton and Dartmouth in its first two tests, invades New Haven to battle Yale Tuesday night and expects to win comfortably. The Quakers' clever passing attack and accurate shooting has overcome seven opponents in a row this season and Yale, in view of its 29-23 beating by Dartmouth a week ago, does not seem to pack the stuff to stop them.

The only other game on this week's schedule sends Yale against Cornell at Ithaca Saturday night. Cornell has lost three successive league games but will be conceded at least an even chance of halting the Elis.

The standing, to date:

Table with columns: Team, W., L. Penn: 2, 0. Princeton: 2, 1. Columbia: 2, 2. Dartmouth: 0, 1. Yale: 0, 3. Cornell: 0, 3.

There will be an almost complete lull in activities in the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball conference where the Pitt Panthers are showing the way to four rivals. The only game of the week will give Pitt an opportunity to hang up its fourth consecutive victory at West Virginia's expense on Saturday night.

This game, to be played in Pittsburgh, will find the Panthers heavy favorites for West Virginia shares the cellar position with Georgetown with two defeats in as many games. Georgetown dropped a 31-19 decision to Temple Saturday night.

The standings, to date:

Table with columns: Team, W., L. Pittsburgh: 3, 0. Carnegie Tech: 2, 1. Temple: 2, 1. West Virginia: 0, 2. Georgetown: 0, 2.

GANDHI EDITS PAPER

Poona, India, Jan. 23.—(AP)—From his prison cell at Yeroda, Mahatma Gandhi will direct the policy of a new weekly newspaper to be published here, devoted exclusively to the removal of the stigma of untouchability.

He is not to be the editor for he realizes his limitations as a political prisoner. He has not applied for permission in connection with his plan as this would not be necessary for the course he contemplates.

A Civil War veteran of Minneapolis has a bottle of beer given him at a G. A. R. convention in Milwaukee, 36 years ago. Now there, at last, is one fellow who "can take it or leave it alone."

Baseball or Medicine—Andy Spognardi Must Pick One

Boston, Jan. 23.—One of the fastest infielders ever to come up with the Boston Red Sox is confronted with the problem of either taking a chance on becoming one of baseball's greats or finishing a medical course and becoming a great physician.

He is Andy Spognardi, former Boston College star and captain, who played a bit for the Sox last season. During his short time in action the kid lit 294 and felled nearly flawlessly.

But Andy wants to be a doctor and a ball player at the same time. He had a plan recently which he revealed to Bob Quinn, Sox pressy. Instead of making the training trip south with his team, "Spog" wanted to remain in Boston, continue his medical course, and do his baseball training on a diamond near his home. After school is out in June, Andy would then join the team.

Quinn, however, wouldn't agree to the plan. "I would want Spognardi to do whatever he thinks will be best for him, but I told him that he could not be of any use to us if he waited until June, although I would get him a job at that time if he decided to stay with his studies," he said.

DETROIT SETS PACE IN HOCKEY LEAGUE

Red Wings Hand Rangers First Shutout in 77 Games; Other Results.

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The biggest bunch of excitement the Hockey League has seen this season struck all in a bunch last week as all the pace setters except Detroit took sudden setbacks while the teams that had been trailing showed distinct signs of a change for the better.

In the course of extending their string to twelve games without a defeat, the Detroit Red Wings accomplished the week's outstanding feat Tuesday night when they gave the New York Rangers their first shutout in a season and a half, blanking them 2-0 after the Blue Stars had gone through 77 consecutive games without having a naught recorded in their scoring column.

Detroit continued the good work by shutting out the New York Americans by the same score last night to finish the week at the top of the American division and make it nine victories and three ties in their last 12 games.

For the Rangers it was just the opposite, they came back from their first blanking to take a 3-1 decision from a rather lively Montreal Canadiens team than ran into their second shutout of the week as the Montreal Maroons came to New York last night with a speedy team that showed a brand of back checking that apparently was unknown to the Maroons before and handed out a 5-0 shelling.

After dropping into fourth place in the International division by losing 6-2 to Boston while Ottawa turned back the Canadiens 3-2, the Maroons came back with some of their early season scoring power and walloped those same Ottawa Senators 7-3, then went into third place with their victory over the Rangers last night while the Senators lost a 2-1 decision to Chicago on Art Coulter's last minute goal.

The Canadians, who played well against the Rangers, did even better

SENSE AND NONSENSE

A man can knock and keep on knocking, but when an auto engine starts knocking something has to be done about it right away.

The bus came to a grinding stop and eleven noisy, whooping children piled on board, followed by a large, red-faced, perspiring woman.

Bus Driver—Excuse me, all these young children, Madam, or is this a picnic?
The Woman (puffing)—They're all mine, and let me tell you young man, it's no picnic.

The gasoline age proved to fast for an old-fashioned buggy the other day. The buggy, being pulled by an automobile, turned over when the auto turned a corner at a fast clip. The poor buggy shook itself and seemed to say: "Never again! I'm going back to the farm." And probably found its place taken by a couple of flivvers.

Harry is an experienced tourist, isn't he?
Neighbor—I should say so. Why, he can name every town where he's had a puncture or got stuck for sandwiches.

A party of tourists were enjoying the wonders of the Grand Canyon. A native passing by was asked by the driver of the car:

Tourist—I say, neighbor, can you tell us what caused this terrible gorge?

Native (gazing fondly at the wonderful sight)—Wal, they say a Scotchman once owned a ranch near here, and one day he lost a golf ball down a gopher hole on his private course.

Small Son—Grandpa, when are you going to play football?
Grandpa—Football—I don't play football.

Small Son—But Daddy Dear said we'd get a new car as soon as you kicked off.

Motor vehicles, a recent survey reveals, consume 85 per cent of all gasoline produced. The other 15 per cent, we presume, is what the filling station attendants spill on the ground when filling your tank.

Eventually every married man learns to look at the gasoline register before he backs the car out of the garage.

A certain famous motor car manufacturer advertised that he had put a car together in seven minutes. The next evening he was called on the phone at dinner and asked if it were so.

Motor-Car Manufacturer—Yes, Why?
Caller—Oh, nothing. But I believe I've got the car.

Harper—What's your business?
Carter—Serving the I. W. W.
Harper—What?
Carter—Sure! The motorist who is seeking information, wind and water.

The world can't take to the air too soon to suite the pedestrian.

Girl (to handsome suitor at 1 a. m.)—I think I'll name my car after you.

Suitor—Thanks for the compliment: it's a swell-looking car.

Girl—Yes, but it's so difficult to get going in the morning.

Jerry—What became of that portable garage of yours?
Ralph—I tied our German police dog to it the other day and a cat came along.

Some men run with their tongues in high and their brains in neutral.

Man—At times my wife seems to be trying to be an angel.

Neighbor—You mean when she wants something from you?

Man—No, when she drives the car.

Home from shopping the other day, a woman flashed her husband a straight-eight smile and gave out this information:

She—Dear, I saw the sweetest, cleverest little motoring hat downtown today!

He—Put it on. Let's see how you look in it.

BLAMED FOR STRIKING MAN IN SUFFIELD

Local Autoist Accused of Being Driver of Accident Car—Says He Is Blameless.

John McCann of 232 Middle Turnpike East is to appear before the Town Court of Suffield on Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock to answer to a charge of evading responsibility for driving through Suffield last Friday evening.

Deputy Sheriff George Greer of Suffield had a warrant issued for McCann's arrest and came to Manchester Saturday morning but found the McCann family away. A notice to appear in the Suffield court was left under the door.

McCann denies that he was responsible for the accident, claiming that the man was lying on the side of the road and seemed to be intoxicated.

McCann pulled his car over to the side of the road to avoid hitting the man and as after was stopped by a man who asked McCann if he had struck the person lying in the road.

Charles Slocum of Springfield picked up the number of the car and trailed it to Suffield village, later in the evening reporting the number of the license plate to the Suffield police.

ATTEMPT AT CAR THEFT FOILED BY NEIGHBOR

Man Tries to Take Miss Jessie Reynolds' Auto But Is Detected By Robert Grimsom.

An attempt to steal a Dodge coupe owned by Miss Jessie Reynolds, local social service worker, was foiled shortly before midnight Saturday night by the outcries of an occupant of the other half of the house at 37 Delmont street.

Robert Grimsom, who lives in the other part of the house, heard the churning of the starter and noticed Miss Reynolds, who immediately called the police.

Francis Fitzpatrick of 147 North Main street was fined $10 and costs on a charge of intoxication.

Francis Fitzpatrick was picked up by Officer Michael Fitzgerald last night in the vicinity of the north end school grounds.

PICTURES "HEAVEN" AS PREPARED PLACE

Earthly Associations To Influence Type of Life After Death Says Pastor.

"Heaven" will be that place for which we have been preparing ourselves while on earth; by our associations, our contacts and habits.

The church has been asking for many years the question: "What is Heaven?" The speaker said that while the Bible tells that Heaven is a place of "unbounded delight" and the Bible tells that Heaven is the "dwelling place of the ransomed of God" and that "Jesus is there," still, many inquire what sort of enjoyment and what kind of life will be there eternally.

Heaven is a matter of daily living, he said, the work we do here and the way it is done, is to be likened to the existence we desire in Heaven. Personal habits cultivated here, he averred, would be the ones cultivated and continued eternally.

"If we cannot get along with our neighbors, our neighbors children or their sickness, we will surely find that the same associations will be continued on the same plane in Heaven. We must learn to appreciate the things of Heaven on earth, for after all Heaven is the place for which the human heart secretly longs.

BOSTON V.F.W. HEAD CEREMONY GUEST

Commander Peter W. Pate To Be Here For Awarding of Purple Heart Medals.

Commander Peter W. Pate, Commander of the Massachusetts Department, Veterans of Foreign Wars of Boston and his official staff will represent Admiral Robert E. Coontz, National Commander at the Purple Heart ceremony to be held in the State armory, Wednesday evening.

Commander Pate will give the principal address following the military ceremony of decoration at 8:30 p. m.

Able Speaker Commander Pate is recognized as one of the ablest speakers in V. F. W. circles in New England, and the local post is fortunate in securing him to represent the National Department in the absence of National Senior Vice Commander-in-Chief, James P. Van Zandt of Altoona, Pa., who will be in Des Moines, Iowa, that evening.

The ceremony of decoration will be open to the general public without cost, and chairs have been secured from Cheney Hall so that relatives and friends of the men to be decorated will be able to view the ceremony in comfort. The bleacher seats, used for the basketball games, will be moved outside of the armory for the occasion.

A testimonial dinner will be given the Manchester recipients of the War Department decorations at the Masonic Temple at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday evening. This event which will be a get-together of officers and friends of the honored guests may make application for tickets to the banquet not later than this evening. Clarence Wetherell, 123 Wells street is chairman of the dinner arrangements.

Guard of Honor Company G and the Howitzer Company in command of Major Allan L. Dexter will form the guard of honor for the decoration ceremony at the armory. The men to be decorated will march from the veterans room in the armory to their position in rear of the guard of honor. At the given command, the Manchester veterans will take their place in line in front of the companies, to be decorated by Brigadier General James A. Haggerty of New Haven, former commander of Company G overseas. Assisting General Haggerty will be other war-time officers of the Connecticut troops.

Following the ceremony of decoration, dancing will be enjoyed until midnight. Emily Munsie's orchestra will play during the evening.
