CHINA IS UNITED FOR WARFARE NOW

For First Time Since Trouble With Japan Started, Fight Is On a National Scale.

Peking, China, March 11.—(AP)—For the first time in the 18 months of Sino-Japanese fighting in the north, the Chinese Nationalist government actively took over responsibility and leadership today of the Chinese campaign.

Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek, virtual dictator of the Nationalist regime since its establishment in 1928, has taken over direct command of the Army of the North.

Fears in this international treaty zone, that the Japanese are poised at the Great Wall of China points to attack here next were current as the veteran war chief took over leadership, heretofore in the hands of the young Marshal Chang Hsiang-

While no troops south of Peking had entered in the struggle heretofore and most of the fighting depended on volunteer bands in Manchuria and Jehol, Marshal Chiang's first important order was to send one of his own divisions to Kuptokow, only 65 miles northeast of here, where a hard fought battle was waged the past two days.

Meanwhile, the youthful Chang, who had little more than the good wishes of the Nationalist government to aid him, was reported to have left by plane today for Shanghai, possibly enroute to Europe.

The 45-year-old Marshal Chiang controls a vast army, takes an active part in forming China's foreign as well as internal policies and keeps an eagle eye on the finance ministry, headed by his brother-in-law, T. V. Soong.

Learning the art of war watching Trotsky's Red army, he conquered China in a brilliant two-year military drive from Canton to Peking to establish the Nationalist movement.

Although his resources in the south are great, an important question now is whether he can gain the loyalty of the huge army of about 1,000,000 poorly paid and poorly equipped Manchurians who fought after a fashion for young Chang.

PREPARING TO REOPEN SOUND BANKS MONDAY

Treasury Speeds Up Work As 12 Federal Reserve Banks Begin Functioning Today.

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—Preparations for a gradual reopening of all sound banks next week went ahead today under a presidential order directing the 12 Federal Reserve institutions to perform the necessary functions.

The immediate objective of the twelve banks was to supply enough money to meet payrolls and provide funds for necessities of life over the week-end.

From the Mexican border to Santa Barbara, and from the seacoast to the mountains, all Southern California was involved.

More than two million people have settled in this region since the last major earthquake of an apparent series that visits Southern California in Mother Nature's continent building every 25 years or so, as seismological records reveal.

MOVES IN DANZIG ALARMING GERMANS

Berlin Newspaper Reports That Troops Are Being Concentrated On Border.

Berlin, March 11.—(AP)—While the Polish government denied troop concentrations in the vicinity of Gdynia and the Free City of Danzig, the Tageliche Rundschau, organ of former Chancellor Kurt von Schleicher, claimed today it was reliably informed that not only were Polish troops being concentrated at various German border points, but that unusual military activity was manifest throughout the Polish Corridor.

Under the alarming headline—"Danzig in Danger"—the newspaper said: "Nearly 300 military planes have been assembled at one military flying field in the Corridor. At Poznan, a tank regiment has been increased from 35 to 85."

The Polish government made public a denial of troop concentrations with a statement that the reports undoubtedly originated in connection with the stopover of a group of border patrol officers visiting

LONG BEACH WORST SUFFERER AMONG MANY TOWNS STRICKEN

Dodges Falling Bricks As He Rushes From Building; Sees Piece of Dress and Finds a Dead Woman.

Long Beach, Cal., March 11.—(AP)—A story of how he dodged falling brick and ran for his life was told today by C. A. Williams, janitor of the Ideal laundry on Anaheim Boulevard, the section of Long Beach hardest hit by the earthquake.

"I was in the boiler room," said Williams "when it struck. A table and several bags of laundry rushed at me as I dashed for the exit. They probably helped me get out. Then I dodged falling brick as I went to the street."

Mrs. Naomi Eilers, bookkeeper for the laundry, was killed when she ran from the office of the building. She was crushed under an avalanche of brick. Had she remained in her office, she would have lived, for the office was the only room in the building which remained intact.

Williams said had the quake struck half an hour earlier it would have caught 20 women at work.

"Only the fact that the banking holiday had slowed business almost to a standstill limited the number in the laundry," he stated.

Governor Rolph, with the aid of state officials, assumes personal charge of relief work today. Four thousand marines and sailors from the United States fleet, stationed at San Pedro, were on guard.

Although earth shocks were frequent during the night sport events and entertainments went forward almost as usual. A light at the Hollywood arena was held as scheduled, Speedy Darr, meeting baby Pauline in a heavyweight bout. Theaters in Los Angeles and Hollywood remained open.

A meeting of many motion picture featured players was halted only momentarily. The stars, who were considering a prospective 50 per cent pay cut, headed for the door when the first shock was felt, but they laughingly marched back to their chairs when Reginald Barlow, chairman, reminded them the "safest place to be is where you are."

Wire and telephone communications from the east to Southern California were disrupted. Telephone wires from Los Angeles to the southern end of the city and to Long Beach, on the coast were broken.

The telephone company was flooded with long distance calls from eastern relatives of Los Angeles residents and was more than four hours behind in putting through calls to Los Angeles.

The earthquakes shook part of the richest section of California, an area, two hundred miles long and some thirty miles wide. More than two million persons live in this area, which includes the heart of the motion picture industry, the great citrus belt and the home of the wealthy in Beverly Hills, Pasadena, Hollywood, San Marino and other places.

Long Beach is one of the most densely populated cities in the country, operating under semi-martial law. Occasional quakes after midnight did not increase the damage and the weary people, grown accustomed to the continued tremors, took them as they came, without retreating excitement.

For the most part the streets were abandoned in the early morning hours, thousands huddling under blankets on their lawns, in vacant

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MINISTRATIONS OF JESUS

Text: Mark: 6:32-44. The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 12.

By WM. E. GILBOY, D. D. Editor of the Congregationalist.

From the miracles of healing and restoration to life, we turn now to the miracle of feeding the multitudes. Here again it is useless to seek either to explain the miracle or to explain it away. If we could explain it, it would be no miracle, and it stands in the record as a part of the marvelous story of the wonderful life of Jesus.

Its spiritual interpretation is the story of the miracle of the feeding of the five thousand becomes very plain and significant. What is described as happening in connection with the few loaves and fishes is exactly what happens in the realm of spiritual food. The more we give, the more we have, and the more we share, the more it increases. We do not always appreciate that fact, but it is the miracle of grace.

The economy of the Kingdom of Heaven is an economy of abundance. It is in service that men find mastery over their own souls and over the souls of their fellow men. It is in sacrifice that they find strength and new resources.

It is in passing on to others all that God has given them that they find an increase in their own heritage of spiritual worth and truth.

This was the supreme greatness of Jesus. Above all others he had discovered the power to give, and through this consecration to the Father's will God gave "not the spirit by measure unto him." A significant phrase concerning Jesus is that he "emptied himself," and in this emptying himself of all that earth might have valued, he revealed to the world the fullness of the divine character and grace.

Thus it is that Jesus taught his disciples, and teaches us, the way to life through ministering. It is not by a selfish attitude in which we expect to receive that we grow strong and partake of the character of God; it is not by having others minister to us; but it is by ministering to others that we attain the true life.

"The son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister and to give his life a ransom for many." The deepest note in Jesus was not looked out upon his fellow men, was the note of compassion. How can one view the world of modern men with sincerity and truth without feeling deeper than everything else that same compassion? We are still in a world that is full of sin, and want, and suffering, and misery.

View it through the rosier spectacles that we may use, and unless our vision is very limited, or we are color blind, we cannot fail to see how deep is the need of humanity nor can our ears be deafened to the wail of want and woe that ascends from our fellow men.

There were those in the day of Jesus who were blind and deaf, who had never learned to share the life of the humanity of which they were a part. Jesus lived in a large and complete world because his compassion related him to every human being. He has given us the privilege of making our lives as broad and as deep as we choose through following his example of compassion and ministering.

THE SERVICE OF THE LORD

BY GEORGE HENRY DOLE

International Sunday School Lesson Text, March 12. "The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many." Matt. 20:28. The character of the Lord will be greatly exalted if it is perceived that He does not want or need the service of man for Himself. What can finite man add to Him who is infinite and omnipotent? Who could be His counselor? Whom did He need when He created the universe? How inadequate is the old idea that the Lord created man to be His servant, and that He delights in commanding and in being waited upon! He came not to be ministered unto, but to minister. For Himself the Lord needs neither the service of man nor angel. He assures us that in the other life the faithful will sit at the table, and He will come forth and serve. The Lord created man and the heavens that He might bestow upon them the unspeakable blessings inherent in His life and love. The Lord is no more a receiver from man than the sun is a recipient of things from the earth. Yet the Lord wants our service and yearns and pleads for it, because only by serving Him can He serve us with the precious and sacred things in His life. He wants us to serve Him not for His good, but for our sake. What one wills or another comes back to himself. As one gives, so shall he receive. The Lord is served by our serving others. "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me," said Jesus.

Adjutant George D. Williams, commanding officer of the local corps, will conduct the meetings in the Citadel this week-end. The special subject for the Sunday evening service will be "Calamity Jane, Our Best Friend." This will be a special message on the present times in the light of prophetic truth.

The afternoon meeting will be in the nature of the style that Colonel Morehen conducted the past two weeks. There will be a song service of Colonel Morehen's choruses and a few of the old songs. "Why Jesus cannot fulfill His promises in the lives of so many believers" will be the title of the message to be given in the Holiness meeting which commences at eleven o'clock.

All handmen and soldiers are strongly urged to be present at the week-end meetings. The regular service for prayer will be observed Saturday night at 8 o'clock and the regular service will be conducted at the corner of Birch and Main streets at seven thirty p. m.

THEATERS

AT THE STATE. May West Film Tomorrow. Enough energy for at least four people was expended daily by a light 119-pound Mae West, spectacular Broadway stage star and writer, during the time she sojourned in Hollywood, starring in "She Done Him Wrong," a film written by herself, which comes to the State theater tomorrow for a three day run. "The Mystery of the Wax Museum" and "Luxury Liner" together with another thrilling chapter of the "Lost Special," weekly serial, will be shown at the State for the last time tonight.

Ten-Shun Buddies. The Bulletin Board of Ex-Service Organizations.

Anderson-Shea Post, V. F. W. The regular meeting of the Hartford District County Council will meet in Manchester tomorrow in Tinker Hall. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock and it is hoped that all of the members of the Anderson-Shea Post will take the opportunity of attending this meeting of the council.

Comrade Clarence Wetherell returned home today from Washington where he has been confined for several weeks at the Mt. Alto hospital. Comrade James Bowler was the door prize donated at the meeting Tuesday night by Comrade Harry Roth.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Plainfield post will be installed next Saturday night, March 18 and it is hoped that a good delegation from Manchester will be on hand to welcome them.

Do not forget the installation of the Rocky Hill Post, March 25. Comrade Holtzheiser asks that every member who can possibly attend this time, kindly do so, as he will need the help of both the Anderson-Shea Post and Auxiliary at the installation.

Our bowling team didn't do so good Thursday night when they met the Guards at Murphy's Alleys and were defeated by 47 pins, but then Cap Peterson maintains that all of the Guards Bowlers were not members of Co. G but were in reality the pick of the town so the boys don't seem to feel so bad over the defeat, in fact they have agreed to bowl another match next week and feel sure that next time they will come out ahead.

Two new members were admitted at the last meeting Tuesday night, they were Comrades William Fortin and Lue Dubeay.

A large number of post members journeyed to Plainville last Saturday night to witness the installation of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Plainville post and every one had a fine time.

Comrade Edward Frazier, chairman of the Poppy committee, is busy making plans for the poppy drive to be held the last of May and Ed. says that his committee will do as well this year as they have in years past (and we believe they will).

The annual V. F. W. ball sponsored by the Caldwell Colt Robinson Post No. 254 of Hartford will be held Friday evening, April 28 in the V. F. W. event of the season and State Armory. This is the outside is largely attended each year by veterans from all parts of the state. One of the most impressive ceremonies of the evening is the passing of the colors of all the service organizations represented.

The "On To Bridgeport" fund got under way at the last meeting and the spirit shown by the members present indicates that it certainly be a success and that when the June convention rolls around the Anderson-Shea Post will be on hand to take part in the activities. Comrade John Glenney is chairman of this committee.

Anderson-Shea Auxiliary. Our next regular meeting will be held Tuesday evening, March 14. Mrs. Mary Keish, Mrs. Alice Virginia and Mrs. Anna Barron are on the relief committee for the next three months.

The Hartford District Council meeting will be held in Tinker Hall, Sunday, March 11. The social committee chairman, Mrs. Minnie Black, Miss Loretta Shea, Mrs. Mary Lamprecht, Miss Helen Gustafson, Mrs. Maxine Leggett and Mrs. Edith Massey are working hard to make this meeting a success. All auxiliary members who can so should attend.

A number of the auxiliary attended the institution of Madley-Roberts Post auxiliary last Saturday night in Plainville. Dept. Vice Pres. Blanche Stanwood of Bristol installed the Auxiliary and Dept. Pres. Alice Ryan of Ansonia, installed the new officers. Several National, Post, National Officers and Post Department officers were present. President and representatives of several other Plainville organizations attended. Refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Legion Post. Of special interest to all Legionnaires is the announcement that legislative hearings on State Fund Bill and Soldiers' Home Construction Bill will be held on Tuesday afternoon, March 14, at the State Capitol, Hartford.

Senate Bill No. 634 proposes to remove the present administration of the Connecticut State Fund from the American Legion and set up a special commission to administer it. Consistent with its policy the Department and its members oppose this change, and will appear in opposition.

Senate Bill No. 57 proposes the erection of a new Soldiers' Home on the Rocky Hill tract at a cost of $2,225,000. The Military Affairs Committee of the General Assembly has already approved this measure, and also consistent with its policy the Department and its members favor the proposal to care for our disabled and needy comrades. The hearing on the State Fund Bill will be before the Military Affairs Committee in the Senate Chamber at 2:00 p. m. The Soldiers' Home Bill before the Appropriations Committee in Room 21. Delegations are requested to appear at the former hearing first. With the approval of National Commander Johnson the magazine "Plain Talk" has undertaken to cooperate with the American Legion in its membership efforts. This magazine has already carried on an extensive campaign in favor of the retention of present veteran benefits. In order that the Legion Post that desire may use this magazine to promote their membership campaigns, the publisher, Morris A. Beale, has arranged to supply the membership with a quantity of these magazines.

Attention has been called to the fact that additional supplies of cigarettes and matches are needed for the patients at the Newtonington Hospital. Any post member or friend desiring to send a supply should forward them to Mrs. Mary Simpson, The American Legion, U. S. Veterans Hospital, Newtonington, Conn.

On Sunday, March 12, the birthday of Jane A. Delano, for whom the Hartford Women's Post No. 7 is named, a radio program has been arranged over Station WDRS at 12 noon, following the history of women in the military forces of the United States, up to and including the World War. A history of the Army Nurse Corps, Navy Nurse and the Marine Corps Reserve (F) will be given. Special tribute will be paid to the memory of Jane A. Delano, and attention called to the existence of four strictly women's Legion Posts in the state, any one of which former service women will be invited to join. On the same date the Hartford Courant in its special feature section, will carry the story of Jane A. Delano and a brief history of the Post No. 7 by the same name.

American Legion Auxiliary. The food sale which was held in Hale's store last Thursday afternoon was a great success and we wish to thank the committee who worked to make it so. The "Traveling" basket has been returned after making the rounds among the members, and this also brought in a nice little sum of money.

It was noted at the meeting held on Monday night to sponsor a Poppy Poster Contest among the grade and High School pupils in connection with the sale of the Poppies which will be held in May.

The Wives and Mothers Committee of the Post and Auxiliary will hold a meeting next Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Armory. The card parties which had been previously planned for this month have been postponed, but it is expected now that a party will be held later in the month.

Chicago—The Rev. Ray Harrison of the Fourth Presbyterian church told police that thieves stole a Bible from his car. As a reward for its return he offered a new Bible.

St. Paul—Minnesota's Legislature has shown the door to Sheriff E. W. Haverland of Fairbault county. It took only a few minutes and he was grateful.

The law says that legal notices must be posted on the courthouse door. But Fairbault county doesn't have a courthouse, since a recent fire.

So the Legislature said it would be all right to use the jail door. Joliet, Ill.—It's about 200 miles to St. Louis, a short two-day trip for a good man on a good bicycle, says 66-year-old Bert Myers.

Bert made the trip in a day and a half, proving he is Florida's leading bike voyager and that autos are to be scorned.

"Paved roads are nice and smooth" he said, "but I'd rather fall on those good old dirt tracks we use to have."

Fontainebleau, France—Two girls came to the rescue of an automobilist who ran out of gas in the forest. They produced a spare can from the rumble of their smart little roadster.

As they refused any payment, he asked them at least to tell him whom he owed the timely help. "Two minutes out of work," laughed the elder as she slipped in the clutch, and sped off to Fontainebleau, where their mother, the former Queen of Spain, awaited them.

Media, Pa.—Allimony orders apparently recognize no banking holidays. Haled before Judge John B. Broomall for failure to pay his wife $300 on a court order, J. Leonard Miller said all his money was tied up in the banks. "Too bad you didn't hear," said Judge Broomall. "Because you're on your way to jail."

PLAYER APPROVES WORK. Los Angeles, March 11.—(AP)—Bill Terry's plan of giving the New York Giants plenty of work on the fundamentals of baseball not only seems to be bearing fruit but it has won the unqualified approval of at least one player. Fred Fitzsimmons who said he had learned more baseball in two weeks this season than ever before.

By this time we ought to realize we won't have to bank the curves on the road to prosperity.

Comrades Bill Davis, Charles Garrow and William Bristol.

The members of Mons-Ypres Post extend their heartfelt sympathy to Comrade Jimmy Wells who received news of the death of his mother and niece in Ireland. We trust God will comfort all who are suffering; through these sad bereavements.

The Edith Cavell Command of Hartford will hold a get-together in their clubrooms on Heath street, Hartford, next Saturday night, March 18. A supper will be served and a good time is promised for all who care to attend. A hearty invitation is extended to all members of the Mons-Ypres Post. Any member desiring to attend is requested to get in touch with Commander Fred Baker or Comrade Bill Davis.

The funeral of Robert W. Hampton was held from his home 245 Wetherell street yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Robert served overseas with the Canadians. Six members of the Mons-Ypres acted as bearers at the funeral. We extend our sympathy to his wife and family.

Comrade Billy Moore is still progressing very satisfactorily.

Queer Twists In Day's News. New York—Alla Nazimova, a Russian actress, entertained at a tea with a recitation in her native language. Her select audience was thrilled. She was inundated with congratulations.

"Gorgeous! Marvellous! Intense feeling!" they exclaimed. "What was it?" "The alphabet," said Nazimova. Bombay—An old man, accustomed to bargaining for all his purchases in the Oriental manner, wanted to come from his native village to Bombay by railway.

So he sat on the station four days and nights, and bargained with the station-master for a cheap fare. The old man went back to his village, rideless.

A message to my good neighbors. Bon Ami. "As most of you know, I am manufactured right here in Manchester. You and I have been good neighbors for years. But may Mar. 14, Mar. 15 be you're too close to know all about me. Of course, I clean windows and mirrors. But I'm also mighty good on bathtubs, sinks, tile, white woodwork, kitchen utensils and even on automobiles. I haven't scratched yet... and I won't rdden or roughen your hands, either."

if they did not follow the old rule of the road and "keep to the right" they would be surrendering what-over rights they might have and might be held blame-worthy in case of accidents.

And while legislatures are about this matter why should they make this rule apply only to pedestrians? One of the most prolific causes of automobile accidents is the bicyclist who pedals along on the right side of the road with his back to a stream of traffic that is continually passing him and is carefully avoiding whom so many automobile drivers get into collisions with other cars.

Bicyclists and pedestrians alike belong on the left side of the road. Their duty to stay there ought to be plainly established by law.

BEFORE THE NEXT ONE. Of course, when this depression is over, that will be an end of such things. We shall have learned, in curing the disease, how to prevent it.

There are more ways of killing a cat than choking it to death with butter. There are more ways of bringing on hard times than by insane speculation in stocks or doing business with a crazy banking and currency system.

When people again have jobs and get their debts paid and are able to begin saving they are pretty likely to think a good deal about putting their savings, when they have accumulated some, into some form of possession which will contribute most surely to their security in case of a breakdown in their regular way of life.

We are not thinking about the pleasure to be gotten out of a shack beside a lake or at a cheap beach resort, for week-ending, but of a place that, if anything happens, can be resorted to as a home—and on which a man or a family could, at a pinch, sustain life for a considerable period—and wait for the clouds to roll by.

There are thousands upon thousands of city workers who have been beaten like a rug on a clothesline by this depression, who have lived for months or years in a state of harassment and deprivation under the cruel torments of anxiety and fear—who could have owned such places as well as not—paid for them out of their weekly wastage—and who long ago could have moved out to them and have lived independently, wholesomely and happily at least until industry and trade got back to normal.

Modern urban life is precarious and filled with terrors to the thinking men and women who live it, unless they are far more than ordinarily endowed with this world's goods. Against those terrors there is nothing quite so reassuring as the knowledge that "if anything happens" there is always the little place in the country to fall back on—a sanctuary.

It wouldn't be surprising if, in the better days which we all now expect, there would be a marked turning to this kind of safeguarding of the future by people whose economic position in the cities can never be very fully assured but who nevertheless would be out of any real danger if they owned a tiny farm to which they could turn at will.

COMFORT. Anyhow, this is the first week in years in which there has not been a single bank failure in the United States.

against the death penalty remain sealed. There is no outcry against the doing to death of the man who killed Carmak.

Under the circumstances it may be something less than fair to taunt the ants with lacking the courage of their conviction. It would take a person of much more than ordinary thickness of skin to risk the indignant criticism certain to be poured on the head of him who might come to the defense of this particular killer.

Yet it is clear that Zangara's is not a balanced mentality. He is not what most of us mean when we speak of a normal person. He is a warped and perverted creature. He is fanatical and at least half mad. His crime was not the act of a sensible person.

Why is he not a perfect subject for the compassion that so many of our tender hearted citizens are so ready to extend to the "mentally sick"? Surely the reformers will not contend that the nature of the punishment for murder should depend on whether the murdered individual was a personage or a mere person.

Zangara shot at the President-elect because he was a kind of human wild beast. That's why most murderers are murderers. In ten thousand years mankind has found no better way to dispose of such creatures than to kill them. Zangara is no worse and no better than nine deliberate killers out of ten. They are all tarred with the same stick. Society must protect itself against them in the only known way.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington. VETERAN MEMBERS WILL CONTROL NEW CONGRESS. BY RODNEY DUTCHER.

Washington—The new Congress will be full of new faces, some of them shielding heavy brain power and others falling to indicate the vacuum that lies behind them, but the old-timers will be running the show.

While the happy new arrivals are getting into their offices and waiting for the reporters to come and be told what will be done for their congressional districts now that their friends in office, the old Democrats—nearly all southern—whose home folks have been sent them here year after year, will be deciding what committee jobs to give them and how to use their votes during the coming session.

For seniority is still the chief ruler in both the Senate and the House. Some of the men who will be mazing the wheels go around played rather important roles when the democrats were in power during the administrations of Woodrow Wilson.

The House leadership wouldn't be changing at all if Speaker Jack Garner hadn't been prevailed upon to accept his party's vice presidential nomination last summer. The only man lost in the election was Chairman William Collier of the Ways and Means Committee, who became triching dead.

But Henry T. Rainey of Illinois won the speakership, moving up from the next highest step on the leadership. That meant that various other men would each move up a peg. The way voters in the various congressional districts can get their representatives into the most powerful positions is to keep on electing them over long periods of years. Rainey's constituents first sent him to Washington in 1902, and the fact that Rainey was the one northern Democrat who had been favored to anything like such an extent resulted in his advancement.

The Problem of Squaring the Circle

nothing more than the lowest man on the list of the Bankers, and currency in Appropriations and Committee if he happens to land on one of them. There is much chance for individualism in the Senate—witness Huey Long—but the Democratic majority will be so strong that the leaders are expected to exert more control than the Senate has experienced for some time.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas becomes majority leader instead of minority leader and Senator Harrison will become chairman of the Finance Committee because he ranks the job. Carter Glass has been the big shot on the Banking and Currency Committee, but Fletcher of Florida outranks him there and so will become chairman. Appropriations, where he ranks highest, Pittman of Nevada comes in line for the foreign relations chairmanship because Senator Swanson of Virginia has been taken into the cabinet.

Health and Diet Advice. BY DR. FRANK McCOY. DISEASE OF THE NAILS. Sometimes the matrix or nail base becomes inflamed and we have a condition called onychia. A popular name for this is a "run-around."

The House leadership wouldn't be changing at all if Speaker Jack Garner hadn't been prevailed upon to accept his party's vice presidential nomination last summer. The only man lost in the election was Chairman William Collier of the Ways and Means Committee, who became triching dead.

But Henry T. Rainey of Illinois won the speakership, moving up from the next highest step on the leadership. That meant that various other men would each move up a peg. The way voters in the various congressional districts can get their representatives into the most powerful positions is to keep on electing them over long periods of years. Rainey's constituents first sent him to Washington in 1902, and the fact that Rainey was the one northern Democrat who had been favored to anything like such an extent resulted in his advancement.

He happened to be a good man, too, but length of service was his chief talking point for the speakership this year just as service, plus geography and the desire to avoid an all-southern cast, made him floor leader two years ago. He had been more or less obscure during the years of Republican ascendancy, though one of the leaders in his own party continuing. The fact that he had been regarded as a "radical" didn't count against him.

Joe Byrns of Tennessee has served consecutively since 1909. Thus he became chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee and one of the chief House Democrats in the last Congress. Now he gets to be majority leader, succeeding Rainey, while other Democrats not heretofore so conspicuous move into bigger chairmanships.

In the Senate, which hasn't been Democratic for years until just now, the minority leadership simply becomes the majority leadership and the presiding officer, Garner, is a Democrat instead of a Republican.

comes on later in life. Sometimes in a disease called onychia the nail of a finger or toe may be completely absent at birth.

Deformity of the nail may also occur in disease of the lungs and heart. Sometimes in these cases the nail becomes very much enlarged or it may curve under the end of the finger.

The most severe change of the nail may occur in leprosy and ichthiosis. Neuritis often causes nails to whitens, usually with streaks showing longitudinally. In both diseases the nails to be brittle and dry.

From the foregoing you can undoubtedly see how closely related is the health of the nail to the health of the body and shows that it is often more important to pay attention to the general health than to special parts.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Question: Mrs. Dora Z. inquires: "Is boiling water poured over grapefruit rind out and allowed to stand twelve hours a good drink to take to raise blood pressure? What are its qualities?"

Answer: Grapefruit contains organic quinine. A large proportion of this is in the skin and may be extracted easily by cutting a medium-sized grapefruit into small pieces, skin and all, putting it in an enameled pan or crock and pouring over it one quart of boiling water, and allowing to stand for at least thirty minutes. This juice would not have any specially beneficial effect in low blood pressure, but it is helpful in stimulating a sluggish liver and is particularly indicated in the treatment of all kinds of colds. The bitter taste arises from the organic quinine, which will have a quicker effect than the inorganic form of quinine used in tablet form, without any of the bad consequences.

(Dry Oatmeal). Question: Mrs. T. H. writes: "My son is fond of the so-called pre-cooked oatmeal just as it comes from the box, without further cooking. Is it harmful in this state?"

Answer: The dry oatmeal is a little harder to digest than if cooked again in the form of porridge, but it may be that your son's digestion is good and he will not be injured by using it as he is doing. The invisible larvae of the clothes moth, and not the moths themselves, do the damage to clothing.

IN NEW YORK

Just Nothing Things. New York, March 11.—Notes from a convenient cuf: Having become something of a celebrity because of his fabulous and widely reported adventures as an importer, "Prince Michael Romanoff" (Harry Gerguson, to the police) is now in demand for smart informal parties. Guests always find him amusing, and marvel at the grand manner he so calmly maintains. He never is paid outright, as a professional entertainer, but is diplomatically subsidized by the granting of small loans.

Bands everywhere are playing the music of William Woodin, attorney expert and new Treasury Secretary. Some of his more melodious compositions even are being orchestrated into dance melodies. With more consideration than would be expected of so many people, the crowd attending Eva Le Gallien's "Alice in Wonderland" the other night refrained from gawking at the Lindberghs as they sat quietly through the show.

The new Postmaster General, James Farley, is six feet, two and half inches tall, weighs 210 pounds, and ordinarily dines on inordinately big steaks. A young Oxford graduate who came here several months ago with a letter of introduction from the Prince of Wales, no less, now is working as a copy boy in a daily newspaper office. And says he won't quit and go home. . . . Katharine Cornell confounds autograph-hunting nuns by billing them 50 cents for her signature; then gives the money to the actors' fund.

There's dissention in the ranks of the speakery operators. Some of them are beginning to employ pretty barmaids, and find the feminine touch a profitable new attraction. Others, more old-fashioned, question the ethics of the practice and are grumbling that there ought to be a law. Practically from the beginning women have had a place in the speakie industry, but never before on the far side of the mahogany. Hat-check girls attend iron-grilled doors of many of the smaller places, and have developed phenomenal memories of the "right" faces, as well as remarkable intuitions about the "wrong" ones.

Down in the financial district, which looks like the anti-room of an ordinary business office. An austere and bespectacled young fellow pounds a typewriter, operating a switchboard and asks callers whether or they have an appointment to see "Mr. Brown." Anyone rude enough to look over her shoulder would be surprised to find her writing one sentence over and over: "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party. Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party. Investigating further, one would discover that what appears to be Mr. Brown's private office is really a big room containing a shifty, semi-circular bar.

There also are a number of women who own speakies. One man of the East Fifths came into possession of such a place through the death of a distant male relative two years ago, and decided to carry on the business. Now she has a chain of three of them, all quietly prospering. Operators of all such establishments seem to be confidently anticipating the near day when they may operate legitimate restaurants and help to dispense the 6,000,000 barrels of beer that brewers believe can be sold in New York annually. And speculators already are scurrying about the city, buying leases and options on likely locations, to the great encouragement of real estate brokers.

The speakers at the first session will be Marianne King of Yassar, Lillian Kuester of Mount Holyoke, Ellen Duval of Goucher and Lula Swagard of the School of Education, New York University.

On Saturday the speakers will be Katherine Walls of Wellesley, Josephine L. Rathbone of Columbia, Teachers College, Leah Thomas of Smith and Dr. Lloyd T. Brown of Boston.

Why did you buy this NEWSPAPER?

SUPPOSING that, beginning tomorrow, all the newspapers are discontinued. What a furore the public would make. "News! News! We must have news or we will be no better off than the ancients." All right, suppose we give them news but cut out the advertisements.

Then you would discover that politics, the doings of society, notices of fires, accidents, deaths, scandals, sports, the activities of the police and criminals add little or nothing to the real comfort and happiness of this greatest age in the world's history.

Advertising is the NEWS of all the looms, of all the furnaces, of all the laboratories, of all the shops, of all the stores, of all the world, and all working for you.

Because of advertising, luxuries and necessities that once cost a king's ransom are yours at little prices. Advertising pits merchant against merchant, artisan against artisan, producer against producer, for your benefit, forcing out the best there is in everything and telling the world about it.

Read advertising. Keep abreast of today. Advertising furnishes you with facts and opportunities that otherwise you would never know.

Yanks Must Fortify Key Spots

MANAGER MCCARTHY ISN'T SO CERTAIN HE'S STANDING PAT

Looks On His Pennant Winners With Troubled Eyes; Has Five Doubtful Positions To Bolster.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Are the Yankees as strong as they were last year? This article, the first of a series studying the problems that each of the 16 major league managers faces in 1933, is an attempt to answer that question.

By BILL BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Editor.

New York, March 11.—When the Yankees crushed the Cubs in four straight games last fall, it did not appear that Manager Joe McCarthy faced any serious problems in the 1933 campaign.

Yet McCarthy looks upon his pennant-winners with a troubled eye. There are key positions where the Yankee machine is dangerously near the point of decay. Key players being perishable commodities. McCarthy must find important replacements and find them right now.

There are five uncertain spots. They are second base, short, third base, left field and center field. Most of the doubts have been raised by that old spoiler of champions, Father Time.

The success of the Yankees last year can be attributed to the comeback of the veteran who went out definitely slipping two or three years ago. One of these is the venerable Joe Sewell, at third. Another is Tony Lazzeri, the sick man of second base. A third is Earle Combs, who no longer can be figured to play most of the season in center field.

Babe Ruth often has fooled those who from time to time have written his obituary. But I believe this year, as never before, the value of Babe will be felt by his absence. The human frame, after 39 years of service (and some abuse), can take just so much and no more. It is doubtful if the Bambino will be able to play in more than 100 games. Without Ruth the Yankees can be beaten.

McCarthy has stated that he was going to stand pat this year. The positions he was thinking about when he said that probably were first base, covered by Lou Gehrig, who must be conceded the greatest player in the game, and behind the bat, where Dickey squats.

But there is a very good chance that Crossett will be shifted from short to third base; that Red Rolfe and Lynn Lary will fight it out for short; that Jack Saltzgaver will replace Tony Lazzeri at second base, and that Hoag and Byrd will play more games in center and right field than do Combs and Ruth.

Outfielder Fred Walker, son of the old pitcher, "Dixie" Walker, hit .351 for Newark last year, and figures to be a reserve this season. Crossett seems to be destined for a regular job. He does not add a great deal of punch to the team at bat, and at 22 years of age cannot be counted upon to steady an infield that easily could go to pieces without one of the veterans.

The Yankees are especially fortunate this year in the pitching department, with such regulars as Allen, Gomez, Ruffing, Pilgras, MacFayden, Moore and Pennock. As recruits the Yanks are bringing up the three best pitchers in the three A leagues—Don Brennan, from the International League; Russell Van Atta from the American Association, and Jimmy DeShong from the Pacific Coast League. In addition there is Pete Jablonowski, the former Indian, who won 11 and lost one at Newark last year.

The team's success depends largely upon the showing of the old men make. If several of the veterans fold at the same time, Marce Joe is in for some unhappy summer days.

NEXT: The Cubs.

FAVOR WHITE CLOVER IN CUBAN HANDICAP

Havana, March 11.—(AP)—The sixth running of the Cuban Grand National Handicap, $50,000 added, will bring Oriental Park's 51-day race meeting to a smashing climax here tomorrow.

A field of 11 thoroughbreds, out of an original entry list of 86, probably will face the starter with $38,000 awaiting the owner of the winner. The rich handicap will be decided over the mile and one-quarter route.

White Clover II, star of the Foxcatcher Farms owned by William Dupont of Wilmington, Del., was the favorite although there was plenty of support for the Anell stable's Larrance, the Greenlee stable's St. Eriscian, and C. Leroy King's Parli-Mutuel.

NEW YORK AMERKS SEEK THIRD PLACE IN NATIONAL LOOP

Play Doubleheader Over Weekend; Leaders In American Division Carry On Struggle For Positions.

New York, March 11.—(AP)—The New York Americans cast their hopes for a place in the National Hockey League playoffs on the laps of the hockey gods this weekend. Two points behind the Montreal Canadiens with five games to go in their race for third place in the international division, the Amerks tackle one of the toughest double programs ever allotted a team.

Tonight the Americans play the last place Ottawa Senators in Ottawa. Then they hurry back home for their final clash of the regular season with the Rangers. Despite the low place Ottawa holds in the standings, neither game will be a soft one. The A's and Senators are all square for their five previous games and the Rangers have won four out of five in New York's city series and tied the other contest.

One of the two other games on the program carries on the still close struggle for places in the American Division as the Boston Bruins, second among the Americans, play the Toronto Maple Leafs, leader of the Canadians. The other sees the Montreal Maroons entertain the Chicago Blackhawks in a contest which has little bearing upon the standings.

Boston, with three victories to Toronto's one and tie, can tie Detroit for the American division in the event that the Bruins win and the Wings lose. The third place Rangers are only a point behind Boston. Chicago is fourth in the American division and the Maroons second in the international but the Hawks have won two games to Montreal's one with two tied.

PROTEST PLAYOFFS

New York, March 11.—(AP)—While a busy week-end is scheduled for international hockey league teams, the playing of the remaining games appears to have become a mere formality. Detroit for fifth place in the season and the principal source of excitement today lay in London's protest over the playoff schedule.

Possibilities remained for a few teams to tie the ones above them in the standings, but the Windsor Bulldogs last night took away the last chance of a big chance among the leading clubs by defeating the second place Buffalo Bisons, 1-0. Eddie Rodden's one goal settled the game and practically assured the London Tecumsehs of the extra "cut" in the players' pool of the playoff receipts.

Buffalo, four points behind and with only two games to go, faces London tonight in a game which may settle things with complete finality while Windsor winds up its campaign at Cleveland against the Indians, who still have an outside chance to beat Detroit for fifth place. The London protest mentioned unofficially several times since the playoff program was announced, took concrete form last night when Manager Clem Loughlin forwarded a proposal to revise the schedule to league-president C. S. King at Windsor. The official schedule calls for the Tecumsehs to complete their six playoff games in 12 days while other clubs have as long as 17 days. London's new slate gives London 17 days.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—The capitulation of Lou Gehrig leaves Col. Jacob Ruppert free to devote all his energies toward persuading Babe Ruth, last of the New York Yankee holdouts, to sign a contract for 1933.

Ruppert will arrive here Sunday afternoon, ostensibly for a vacation but chiefly to begin the annual salary discussions with Ruth.

TRADE SCHOOL BOWS TO BRIDGEPORT, 43 TO 35, IN FINAL GAME OF SEASON

Close Schedule With Eleven Wins, Seven Losses; Kovis Stars For Locals, Scoring All Points In First Half, When Home Team Led 24-13.

Manchester Trade School closed its season yesterday afternoon, bowing in defeat to Bridgeport Trade on the latter's court, 43 to 35. It was one of the best games on the local Mechanics schedule and only a whirlwind rally on the part of the home team in the final quarter kept Manchester from gaining its twelfth victory.

The season's finale gave Coach Walter Schober's charges a record of eleven victories and seven defeats. It is possible that a post-season game may be arranged with Manchester High but nothing definite has been done as yet.

Edward "Red" Kovis, playing at right forward, center and right guard, was the outstanding performer in yesterday's encounter, scoring all of Manchester's points in the first half, the end of which found Bridgeport leading 24 to 13. Just before the end of the third quarter, Manchester led by 25 to 24 but Bridgeport dropped in two baskets that again gave them the lead. In the final period the locals were outscored 15 to 10.

Rosal also featured for Manchester, while Grinage, Falick and Scott starred for Bridgeport.

Baseball Briefs

Pasadena, Calif., March 11.—(AP)—Milt Gaston, Hoe Heving and Johnny Murray were the Chicago White Sox pitching nominees today for the first act of a contest of the training season—a contest with a Pasadena semi-professional club.

Bloxi, Miss., March 11.—President Clark Crossett took his Washington Senators over to Mobile today to see how they showed up in their first game—with Atlanta—under the management of youthful Joe Cronin.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics today travel to Miami, Fla., for their venture into the outside baseball world this season.

Condie Mack, veteran manager, back after a week's absence in to lead the squad into the stronghold of the Brooklyn Dodgers for the opening of the exhibition series.

Los Angeles, March 11.—(AP)—It looks like another big year for the National League's leading pitcher of 1932, Lonnie Warneke, for he's off to a shaky start.

Last year Warneke was far from impressive in spring exhibition games, but when the season opened, he changed almost overnight into a champion pitcher. Yesterday, the New York Giants batted him for nine hits in five innings, and for four runs and five hits in the second inning. He didn't give a base on balls, however.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—The capitulation of Lou Gehrig leaves Col. Jacob Ruppert free to devote all his energies toward persuading Babe Ruth, last of the New York Yankee holdouts, to sign a contract for 1933.

Ruppert will arrive here Sunday afternoon, ostensibly for a vacation but chiefly to begin the annual salary discussions with Ruth.

TIGERS MUST WIN TONIGHT TO MEET YALE IN PLAYOFF

Victory Over Penn Would Cause Tie For First Place In Eastern Collegiate Court League.

New York, March 11.—(AP)—Princeton's tall Tigers, needing victory to tie Yale and force a championship playoff, face Pennsylvania at Philadelphia tonight in the last regularly scheduled game of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League. Princeton ruled the favorite. A Tiger triumph would leave Yale and Princeton tied for first place in the final standing each with eight victories and two defeats. A single playoff game, on a neutral court, then would decide the title, now held by Princeton.

Princeton dropped two of its first four league contests but since then the Tigers have won five games in a row, most of them by decisive margins. They have by far the heaviest scoring punch in the league with four top sharpshooters in Lenk Seibert and Ken Fairman, forwards, Karl Larsen, center, and Johnny Grebasukas, guard. Pete Fortune, a great defensive guard, rounds out the first team.

Against Princeton, Penn, winner of five out of nine games, probably will show a combination consisting of Klemmer and O'Donnell at forward, Freeman at center, and Walters and Hasagen, at guard.

Whatever the result of tonight's game, Yale and Princeton have clinched the first two positions. Penn must win to dislodge Princeton's undisputed possession of third place or share it with Dartmouth, which ended its campaign with an even break in five games. Columbia, which lost in a playoff to Princeton for the 1932 title, wound up this campaign in sixth place with three victories and seven defeats. Cornell was tied for first place with 22 points apiece.

An interesting side-issue of the closing game will be the duel between Fairman and Seibert for the league's individual scoring championship. They now are tied for first place with 92 points apiece.

The Eastern Intercollegiate Conference enters its closing phases tonight with Pitt meeting West Virginia at Morgantown and Carnegie again playing Georgetown at Washington. After these games are written into the records only two others will remain on the slate, Carnegie figuring in both. The Tartans will meet West Virginia next Tuesday and then wind up the campaign against Pitt tomorrow night.

If Pitt whallops tail-end West Virginia tonight the Panthers will be assured of no worse than a tie for first place. They have won five of six league encounters and another victory automatically will eliminate all other contenders except Carnegie.

LOCAL BOY BREAKS SWIMMING RECORDS

Francis Burr, Wesleyan Captain, in Finals of N. E. Meet Tonight.

Francis Burr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis St. Clair Burr of West Center street, who is captain of the swimming team at Wesleyan University in Middletown, reached the finals of the New England Intercollegiate championship at Deerfield, Mass., last night by winning the 440 yard swim in 5:29.9. He will compete in the finals tonight for the chance of swimming in the national meet at New York.

Last Tuesday night Francis swam to a new Wesleyan record in the 230 yard swim and a New England record in the 440 yard swim. His time in the 230 was 2:28. In the 440 he clipped 2 1/5 seconds from his previous record. His time was 2:30.4, several seconds under his time last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Burr will go to Deerfield this afternoon to witness the finals.

Deerfield, Mass., March 11.—(AP)—Brown's well-balanced swimming team, which qualified 15 men for the duals, was a top-heavy favorite to gain the New England Intercollegiate championship in tonight's competition in the Deerfield Academic pool.

Springfield placed 15 of its naturals in a little event but most of them were out-clasped by the Bruins in yesterday's opening events, when three meet records were bettered and another was equalled. The other 32 finalists were composed of representatives of Amherst, Williams, Wesleyan, Bowdoin, M. I. T. and Worcester Tech.

HE'S HAVING HIS TROUBLES

Bristol, Hillhouse Enter Finals Of Yale Tourney

Monahanites Easily Eliminate Central, 37-18; New Haven Edges Meriden, 35-31; Last Game Scheduled For 3:30 O'Clock This Afternoon.

TOURNEY RESULTS:
Bristol 37, Central 18.
Hillhouse 35, Meriden 31.
New Haven, March 11.—(AP)—For the second time in as many years, Bristol and Hillhouse of New Haven held the spotlight today as finalists in the Yale intercollegiate basketball tournament. Although vanquished by the Elm City quintet last year for the championship, Bristol entered today's final a favorite to turn the scales.

Ranked first among the eight tournament starters by the Connecticut interscholastic athletic conference and defeated only once this season in 19 starts, Bristol advanced to the finals last night by overwhelming Central of Bridgeport 37 to 18.

Hillhouse found the going rough, however, managing to squeeze out a 35 to 31 victory over a hard fighting Meriden quintet only after the hardest kind of a battle. The arena was filled, over 5,000 being present.

Captain Andy Palau of Bristol went on a scoring spree which accounted for 21 of his team's points. The final game today was scheduled for 3:30 p. m.

FINALS AT STORRS.
Storrs, Conn., March 11.—(AP)—Close victories over their semi-final opponents left Thomaston and New Canaan today to battle it out for the C-D championship in the state college basketball tournament.

Thomaston eliminated Litchfield 30 to 28 last night in one semifinal contest, while New Canaan downed Bloomfield 48 to 44 in the other. The winners were scheduled to meet at 3 p. m. today.

Pennington of New Canaan scored 21 points in the game against Bloomfield. Thomaston retained a closing rush in defeating Litchfield.

Local Sport Chatter

Manchester High's swimming team travels to Waterbury this afternoon to meet Crosby High. New Haven's Cosmopolitan High's tankers come here next Wednesday for a meet at the School Street Rec pool, the first athletic contest between the two schools.

The local junior and senior soccer clubs are scheduled to play tomorrow afternoon at the Charter Oak field, meeting the Germania teams, if weather permits.

LARGE ATTENDANCE EXPECTED AT GAME WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Rec Five Hopes To Duplicate Surprising 45-40 Victory Over Guards In Opening Encounter.

A large increase in attendance is expected at the second game of the town title series next Wednesday night at the State Armory, when the Rec Five will seek to duplicate its surprising victory of last Tuesday night over the National Guards, defending champions. Although a number of fans have been crying that the game was "in the bag," the majority have accepted the outcome as further proof of the old saying that "you never can tell," least of all in a basketball contest.

Well Deserved Victory
The Rec Five's 45 to 40 triumph was hard earned and well deserved. Possessed of a fighting determination to win the championship of a small playing surface and you have the most likely and truthful reasons for the upset.

Arrangements for a preliminary between Manchester High school and the Trade school are still incomplete, although officials of both schools have expressed themselves in favor of the proposed encounter. Last year the high school defeated the mechanics easily but on the basis of this season's records a game this year would be much closer and interesting.

Guards Have Edge
The Guards are striving to reach their top form for Wednesday's game as a victory would give them a decided advantage in view of the fact that the third and deciding game will be played on the Armory floor. It all slimmers down to whether or not the Recs will prove as effective on the Armory's large surface as at the School Street Rec.

Playing on a floor with which they are thoroughly familiar the Guards should give the Recs a hard time. Their usual high calibre team work, while b'sst inelastic in its nature, the Recs should find it difficult to maintain their speed. It is expected that the ten second rule will be enforced throughout the game as the large floor area is easy to stall in the back court in an armory, while stalling in one's own court would slow the game almost to a standstill.

Phil Casman of New Haven, who suffered a broken nose early this week, was forced to cancel his engagement as referee of the first final, but he will handle the second tilt if he has recovered sufficiently from his injury. Otherwise it is possible that Billy Coyle, who handled the first game, will get the call.

The first game will start at 7:30 o'clock and the manner of attraction about nine, followed by dancing.

With the visitors will be Miss Alice D'Lugo.

INDOOR NET PLAY DRAWS 64 PLAYERS

Sutner and Mangin Are Favored To Reach Finals of National Tourney.

New York, March 11.—(AP)—Clifford Sutner of New Orleans and Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J., seem to be the biggest of the "big guns" in the National Indoor Tennis Championships, which begin today in the seventh Regiment Armory with a field of 64 strictly home-bred players.

Lacking the international flavor of former years when French teams came over to carry off a flock of titles, the honors of the tournament lie among Mangin, Sutner and a half dozen other outstanding American players including Sidney B. Wood, Jr., and Frank Shields of New York, both ranked in the nation's "first ten."

Mangin, the defending champion, tops the list of eight seeded players with Sutner second. Sutner defeated Mangin in Bermuda but Mangin usually plays his best game in the board courts. Shields and Wood are placed third and fourth in the seeding, followed by George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago, runner-up last year; Berkeley Hall of New York, finalist with Jean Borotra two seasons ago; J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J.; and Dr. Eugene McCaullist of Tonawanda, Pa.

The rest of the field is composed largely of local players, including a large college delegation. Out of town entries include Richard C. Covington of Asheville, N. C.; Samuel F. Harrison of Pittsburgh; John F. Ball of Newark; and J. Magnien of Philadelphia, and St. Louis. The University of Pennsylvania.

Today's play will be devoted largely to a "wrestling out" process with the various "big guns" and "big guns" of the tourney. A very old man. —Answers

SENSE AND NONSENSE

The automobile is perhaps subject to more taxes than any other item of personal possession. On the theory that the automobile is a luxury (which it isn't) these taxes may all be just. Certainly the car owner pays his just share of governmental expense.

I live in a house by the side of the road, where the rattling cars go by—the cars that are good and the cars that are bad—and some that won't run in high. I would not sit in the driver's seat of lots of cars I've seen go plunging along the thoroughfare with looks both hungry and lean.

I've seen from my house by the side of the road, where cars go by on one lung and cars that leap out with a step on the gas, and cars that ought to be hung but I turn not away from their rattle and bang—both heard from early till late—for I sit in my house by the side of the road, watching with jealous hate.

I know if I left they'd steal even the leaves from the tree that stands by the way so I leave not a minute the watch I maintain, and stay there both night and day, they stop by the gate and ask me for food, or maybe a tube and a tire, or a gallon of gas, or a bolt, or a nut, or even a piece of wire.

I have lived in my house by the side of the road where the ceaseless race goes by, a few may be good, but mostly they're bad, and will be till they die. So why shouldn't I sit in my seat of hate, where I see each rattling car? Let me live in my house by the side of the road and curse my fellow man.

Many people are attempting to lift a mortgage while riding around in it.

Motor Cop—I've a good notion to give you a ticket.
Sweet Young Thing—Oh, do. And give me one for a real good show.

Nowadays when a person goes away by auto for the week—and we feel like hanging a gold-star flag in the window or ordering the crepe for the door.

FAIRY TALE: Once upon a time, a man and his wife went for a ride in their car. Suddenly there came a loud noise, as of an explosion. "It's a blowout!" exclaimed the husband, as he stopped the machine. "Now, John," said the wife, "you just sit still. As I do the driving from the back seat, it's no more than right for me also to get out and change this tire."

EXHAUSTS—The hard part isn't to make the car last, but to reconcile yourself to keeping it when it looks like that. Only a question of time when the city parks will have to be used for parking. . . . If it needs washing, it's his second car. . . . Still, if you slow down to enjoy the scenery, passing cars will make you eat it. In the old days unskilled laborers worked out-of-doors, instead of in a garage. . . . The old man who got orn on his hands from holding plow handles now has a son who gets his by holding a steering wheel. . . . The less a man's time is worth the faster he drives his car. . . . Another danger is that of being trampled to death in the rush of pedestrians trying to cross the street on the signal.

Two men approached the car, and one, with a guttural laugh, opened the door of the coupe. Uttering a scream she moved quickly to the other side in a vain effort to escape. But he was too quick for her and clutched her by the ankles. He drew her rudely forth, screaming in protest and fighting with every muscle of her beautiful young body. By sheer force he held her head downward, until the blood rushing to her head nearly silenced her screams. Then bringing her about he snatched her by her fair white throat and thrusting his fingers into it, strangled her into submission. Then with a mighty heave he tossed her into the waiting car exclaiming as he did so: "Well, Jim, there goes the last of those white leghorns."

A North Carolina officer tried to arrest a careless driver and now is recovering in a hospital. He bears the mark of a diamond tread and a vacuum tread tire on his leg.

"Why I Like a Living Trust"

Gives me more TIME for BUSINESS

"The job of trying to run my business with one hand and, with the other, keep my personal capital properly invested is a thing of the past. I'm making the bank responsible for investing every cent. Then pay me a regular quarterly income. This leaves me free to concentrate fully on business."

"I can revoke the trust arrangement whenever I wish. But if the plan continues to work out well I am going to have it continued for Ethel and the children after I've passed out of the picture. Eventually it should save them a lot of money."

Does the idea of a Living Trust appeal to you? Let us tell you more about it.
