PRESIDENT SIGNS BEER BILL; TO BE ON SALE APRIL 6

3.2 Per Cent Beer Put Into Law—Brew To Be Allowed In Fifteen States As Clock Strikes Midnight April 6—Other States As Soon As State Laws Are Passed.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt signed the 3.2 per cent beer and wines bill into law today immediately on receiving it from the Capitol.

It legalizes the beverages to be sold where not otherwise prohibited as soon as the clock strikes midnight, April 6. Fifteen states allow the beer, which must be held to 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight, or four per cent by volume.

Waiting no time on the act to which he looks for at least a $125,000,000 tax contribution toward balancing the budget, Mr. Roosevelt—as soon as the bill reached the White House—crossed over to his cabinet room to affix his signature, along with that of Vice-President Garner that had been put on two minutes after the Senate met. The President went to the Cabinet room by prearrangement to enable photographers to record the scene.

The President signed the bill at 2 p. m., Eastern Time.

From Congressional halls it had been taken to him, come up neatly in red ribbon, by Representatives Cullen and McCormick of Massachusetts, and Parsons and Sabath of Illinois, all Democrats.

Cullen sponsored the law on the legislative course.

U. S. MAY PROTEST HITLERITES' ACTIONS American Envoy In Berlin Asked To Check Up On Mistreatment of Jews.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—Ready to make a formal diplomatic protest if necessary, the American government today sought to learn officially if Jews in Germany are being mistreated by the new Hitler government.

Following a protest from prominent American Jews headed by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, the State Department immediately informed Ambassador Sackett at Berlin of the concern felt here on the basis of press reports and asked him to check officially their accuracy.

This move, preliminary to possible diplomatic representations, was taken on the very day of the opening of the Reichstag which is expected to inaugurate a four-year dictatorship for the Fascist chancellor, Hitler.

Under Control

Germany's new leader at once moved to get his followers under iron control by proclaiming the most stringent of regulations including prison sentences and even the death penalty for unauthorized wearing of the brown uniform of his National Socialist or "Nazi" party and for committing terrorist acts in his name.

Whether this move will curb the anti-Jewish feeling which has reportedly swept over Germany since Hitler rose to supreme power, was a question to which American statesmen and others awaited an answer.

Several days ago the United States found it necessary to protest to the Hitler government against the mistreatment of several American Jews in Berlin, when the brown-shirted Nazis launched their campaign.

Expressed Regret

Prompt and full expressions of regret were given, the matter was called to the personal attention of Hitler and his Cabinet, and the State Department announced shortly afterward that no new cases involving Americans had been reported.

A formal protest, lodged yesterday with Undersecretary Phillips at the State Department by Rabbi CLAIMS CONGRESS IS PASSING BUCK Ex-Senator Bingham Says It Is Placing All the Responsibility On the President.

Hartford, March 22.—(AP)—Hiram Bingham, former U. S. Senator told the members of the House today that it was with mingled feelings that he watched the Congress of the United States admit its inability to handle its own affairs and place all the responsibility upon the President.

Senator Bingham visited both Houses of the Legislature, but did not address the Senate.

"In these days of emergency we must not be carried away with the necessity of speedy enactment of legislation that we make mistakes which will be hard to remedy," he said.

"Hasty enactment of emergency measures may cause us further trouble and we must proceed slowly at this time. It appears to be that we are going through a period similar to that of Greece, when we had the people of that birthplace of Democracy becoming tired of hearing the truth from the lips of their ancient leaders and putting them to death. Then going through successive stages until a dictatorship was reached.

Primary System

"So we in this country," he continued, "have discovered that the primary system, which means direct rule by the people, will not work because members of Congress have not the courage all too willing to pass the buck along and let someone else shoulder the responsibility.

"So now we find the Congress giving the President greater powers than any peace time President has ever possessed. Fortunately our President is a kindly, benevolent and wise man who will not abuse these powers. But it is with mingled feelings that we on the outside watch the Congress of the United States admitting its inability to act for itself and its willingness even eagerness, to place all the responsibility on the President.

"We can only hope that liberty will not suffer. We must be careful to see that the individual does not lose his rights."

At this point, Senator Bingham stopped, saying that he was finding himself making a speech, when he had no such intention. He was roundly applauded by both sides of the House.

LOSS OF $100,000 IN GREENWICH FIRE Charles N. Mead Department Store Badly Damaged In Early Morning Blaze.

Greenwich, March 22.—(AP)—Fire, the origin of which was undetermined swept through the Charles N. Mead department store early this morning with a loss to building and tenants estimated at about $100,000.

The first floor of the building was burned. Upper stories were damaged to some extent by smoke and water.

The building, as well as the store, is owned by Warren Higgins. It is at the east Elm-Greenwich avenue corner. Patrolman Stephen Monahan on his rounds saw smoke coming from a window. While he summoned fire apparatus Officer John Grisler aroused upper floor tenants of whom there were about 25. All made prompt exit to the street except Miss May P. Card, a nurse, on the fourth floor, who was assisted to the ground by way of an extension ladder.

Mrs. Robert Barnes who had been assisted in leaving her apartment by Sergeant James Cullen went to the hospital where later in the day she gave birth to a son.

The fire starting in the south side of the building spread by way of partitions to all parts of the department store and also broke into another tenant store. The stock of the larger store was largely burned and Higgins said his loss on this building was about $75,000, with $25,000 additional on the building. Other tenants had individually small losses.

LaFollettes' White House Visit Stirs Speculation in the Capital

ARREST C. E. MITCHELL FOR NOT PAYING TAXES

Noted New York Banker Accused of Wilfully Evading Income Tax of Over $657,000 For 1929.

New York, March 22.—(AP)—The hand of the law that reached out of Washington and seized Charles E. Mitchell, signaled today for quick prosecution of the charge that he wilfully evaded an income tax of $657,152 for 1929. One of the memorable legal fights of American history is foreseen.

Mitchell, who was one of the world's most potent bankers until he resigned last month as chairman of the vast National City Bank, was arrested today.

Police said the youth attempted to shoot his mother when Lambert tried to choke her. Dr. Lambert absolved his son of blame, saying he "shot in self-defense."

Young Lambert, grief-stricken over the incident, said he would submit to a blood transfusion if necessary to save his father's life.

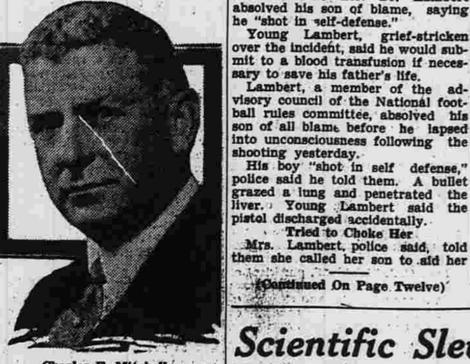

Lambert, a member of the advisory council of the National football rules committee, absolved his son of all blame before he lapsed into unconsciousness following the shooting yesterday.

His boy "shot in self defense," police said he told them. A bullet grazed a lung and penetrated the liver.

Young Lambert said the pistol discharged accidentally.

Mrs. Lambert, police said, told them she called her son to aid her.

The marshal bore a warrant accusing Mitchell of trying to defeat the tax laws by converting a $2,824,405 net income into a paper loss of nearly $2,800,000. He did this, the government charged, by selling National City Bank stock to his wife, later buying it back at the same price.

Quietly the ex-banker—a granite-jawed man with bristly white hair—put on his hat and coat and rode with the marshal in a taxicab to the federal building. Robert Thayer, Mitchell's attorney, arrived in a hurry. Bail was fixed at $10,000, a hearing set for March 29, and the banker left, grim-lipped and silent.

Cummings' Orders

General S. Cummings, attorney general in the Roosevelt cabinet, had ordered the arrest, with the approval of President Roosevelt.

Cummings, who had a lengthy conference yesterday with the President, said last night that George Z. Medalle, Federal attorney here, "will proceed forthwith to present the case to a Grand Jury with a view to pressing for an early trial."

PRUSSIA'S DIET DEMANDS UNION WITH AUSTRIA

Controlled By Hitler's Nazi Party It Jams Through the Election of Its Own Officers and Committees.

Berlin, March 22.—(AP)—Prussia's new Diet acclaimed the policy of political union with Austria at its first meeting this afternoon.

Controlled by Chancellor Hitler's Nazi Party, it jammed through the election of officers and committees, cheered keynote speeches by the aged General Karl Litzmann, speaker pro tem, and Hans Kerrl, who was re-elected Speaker.

The House discarded the old order of business, organized in less than three quarters of an hour, and declined amid jeers, to liberate several Socialist members detained in prison for political offenses.

The meeting place was draped with the flag of the new order. The galleries were crowded and Prince August Wilhelm occupied a seat in the royal box.

"It is one of the greatest honors which ever has come to me," General Litzmann said, "to open this Diet in the spirit of the Hitler spring."

But it was Wilhelm Kube, the Nazi floor leader, who aroused the greatest enthusiasm.

Salutes Austrians

Saluting eight Austrian Nazis who sat in the gallery, he cried:

"As the leader of the Nazis in this House and on the order of Chancellor Hitler, I as a Prussian, say that we Prussians are Pan-Germans, that we shall continue to be so, and that we shall have all-helmets, our goal only when all Germany, including German Austria, is united with our fatherland in one great state which can then serve Germany's mission in the world."

Prussians are especially qualified to express our feeling of affinity with our German brothers severed from us in Austria."

Cheers and stamping of feet almost drowned his voice as he exclaimed:

"We shall definitely and finally erase the rest of Marxism from German history. Prussianism and Nazism are identical."

The party in control, he said, offers the Centrist Party the opportunity of participating in the reuniting of Germany, but he stated frankly that the Centrists can only approve what the Nazis and the Nationalists decide to do.

Silicon

An amendment was proposed during the session as the senior member gave the first intimation that the Nazis are fully conscious of their absolute control.

To the evident chagrin of Alfred Hugenberg's Nationalists and Steelhelmets, it said: "Every honest German must oppose the false claim that this National overture is due to any other men or movement than Chancellor Hitler and the Nazis. We recognize no other leader of the German nation than Hitler."

Apparently this was a jibe at the Columbus, O., March 22.—(AP)—Dr. Fones A. Lambert, nationally known football authority, died at 6:15 a. m., today of wounds received when shot by his son Samuel, 17, during a family quarrel.

Scientific Sleuth Learns Composition of 9 Meteors

Cambridge, Mass., March 22.—(AP)—The chemical elements in nine meteors which never touched the earth were announced today at Harvard Astronomical Observatory.

The momentary flash of light of these shooting stars, 50 to 70 miles overhead, alone was used to reveal exactly what the meteors were made of. The method is an unsurpassed piece of scientific detective work.

It makes possible a study of the streams of dust, stones and minerals which fly incessantly through space, always dark and invisible, except for the instant when one of them strikes the earth's atmosphere and ends its existence in a bright flash of light. About 100,000,000 of them strike the atmosphere every 24 hours.

The nine meteors revealed their makeup through study of their spectra by means of photographs of their light taken through prisms. The studies were made by Dr. P. M. Millman.

They showed that six and possibly seven of the meteors were irony stone. All contained some iron. Four had in addition some calcium, the main element in bones and teeth. Three carried magnesium, the silver-white metal used formerly for photographers' flash-lights.

Four had manganese, an important element in certain industrial steels, and the stuff which sometimes turns red the smoke of great steel mills. Two had aluminum and there was chromium in one, possibly two.

Silicon, one of the earth's most abundant elements, was barely identified as a strong probability.

Millman's study noted that the meteors of greenish hue contained considerable magnesium.

The photographs indicated that the iron in the meteors was heated to vapors at temperatures ranging from 2,600 to 4,600 degrees Fahrenheit and possibly higher.

This first study is only a beginning. The investigation will be carried forward with special apparatus for photography to get not only more spectra but clearer definition, which is expected to show the nature of the meteoric elements in much greater detail and help solve problems of the atmosphere at altitudes of 25 to 100 miles.

RE-OPENING OF TRUST COMPANY IS CERTAIN

THE SUN COMES UP

Manchester can rest tonight without being trampled on by the nightmare of impending woe. The town has come through the troubles of its one commercial bank, with all their threats of loss and crippling of the community's business interests, triumphant over its difficulties and rejuvenated in fiscal health. And, let it not be forgotten, almost entirely through its own striving efforts. Manchester, despite years of buffeting and bruises, has stood valiantly on its own feet, has taken it on the chin in this crisis, and has saved its own skin and rescued its financial reservoir at the same time by sturdy courage and the making of common sacrifices.

The sun is up; the clouds dispelled. We have had a hell of a fortnight, but the turmoil is past. And it cannot recur.

What has been done in meeting the unlucky situation that confronted the town two weeks or more ago will make a chapter in the history of this community, to which its people can point with pride for many a day. The way in which individuals, harrassed and financially afflicted by years of deflation, diminished income and accumulated obligations, came to the front with subscriptions to the new banking funds was nothing less than heroic. The manner in which some of the people unhesitatingly parted with the last of their small savings to help meet the grim exactions of the government was the kind of thing that makes this country unbeatable by adversity.

Manchester got back into the "war spirit." For sober courage she did her bit—and a grueling bit it was. Now she is to have her reward. No more worry about the financial heart of the community. No more wondering. No more guessing.

We're out of the woods. Now, along with the rest of America, we can press on to better, brighter days.

HOUSE VOTES BILL FOR REPEAL ACTION

Provides For a Convention of 50 Delegates To Act On Ratification.

Hartford, March 22.—(AP)—While the cries of the self-styled "hunger marchers" filtered through the windows, the House today unanimously passed a bill providing for a convention of 50 delegates to act on ratification of the amendment repealing prohibition.

The measure provides for a constitutional convention to consist of 35 delegates to be elected from the Senatorial districts and 15 delegates at large. The convention is to be called by the governor for a date not more than sixty days following adjournment of the Assembly and will be held in the House.

The bill was explained as a compromise between the demands of the drys for representation by all the towns of the state and the opposite view of the wets, asking for 15 delegates at large.

An amendment was added to the original report of the judiciary committee clarifying the qualifications of voters. It provides that all those voting on the delegates must have been electors in the last election.

Only Opposition

The only opposition to the bill was voiced by William C. Hungerford, Watertown Republican, and Joe Garner Estill, Democrat of Salisbury.

Hungerford, said that he did not understand the bill and wondered where the money for the special elections was coming from and felt that it would deprive the small towns of their rights. He expressed the belief that each of the state's 169 towns should have a voice in the convention.

Estill favored a convention of 10 delegates at large and moved recommitment of the report. His motion was defeated and after Representatives Raymond B. Baldwin and E. Peck of Bristol and J. Mortimer Bell had further explained provisions of the bill, it was unanimously passed.

Bell said that while he was usually a defender of the rights of the small towns, he felt that in this instance the sentiment of all the people should prevail over town lines.

MINERS IN POLAND ON HUNGER STRIKE

Over 700 Say They Will Remain Underground Rather Than Starve Without Jobs.

Warsaw, Poland, March 22.—(AP)—Declaring they would rather die of hunger underground than starve to death while without jobs, more than 700 coal miners at Kilmontow have refused to come to the surface after completing Saturday's shift.

They remained underground on hunger strike in protest of a plan of mine operators to flood two shafts in which they work.

The Polish government recently declined to permit a 15 percent wage cut, and also reduced the price of domestic coal 17 percent. Following this action, the operators decided to flood the shafts most expensive to operate.

The hunger strikers cut telephone wires and declined to accept food sent them by their families.

A number of fellow-miners who went down in the mine Monday to visit them remained below.

Meanwhile wives and children of the hunger strikers said they would remain at the pit heads night and day until the government, finally promised to guarantee work to the hunger strikers.

Townpeople Rally To Aid of Institution With Display of Spirit That Rivals War Days—Hope To Be Ready To Do Business Tuesday; "Red Tape" Causes Delays In Full Opening.

Assurance that the Manchester Trust Company can be definitely opened for business within a few days was given this afternoon when it was announced that $207,200 in new capital stock had been sold. This meets with the condition for a new license made by State Bank Commissioner George J. Bassett.

The campaign for fresh cash went "over the top" this afternoon in a burst of enthusiasm that has not been equaled here since war days when Manchester made record after record in raising funds for every patriotic cause. Bank officials were visibly affected by the way the townspeople rallied to the support of the institution. Every faction in the town that had cash immediately available, or could get it, came to the aid of the Trust Company in its trial and as a result the town will have a commercial bank of great strength equipped to withstand the most trying shock that can be expected in the period of reconstruction.

Meeting This Afternoon

The special Citizens' committee headed by Jay E. Rand was called together at 1 o'clock this afternoon to report on the success of today's solicitation for new capital. Bank officers, directors and leading depositors were confident the goal would be reached. As today's meeting opened the committee members and other officials present gave a rousing cheer as Chairman Rand announced the total subscribed as having reached $207,200.

Treasurer Harold C. Alvord arose to thank the committee and all who had done such a fine job in raising the capital. R. LaMotte Russell, president of the institution, was so affected by the demonstration that he could scarcely speak. Later he expressed personal thanks to the assemblage for its hearty support.

Whole Town Rallies

Credit for the success of the Trust Company's new capital stock campaign cannot be directed to any particular source. The whole town rallied in this financial crisis. It was as though a great enemy had threatened the town's very being. Almost to a man the townspeople showed their loyalty and warded off disaster. In the background, as has always been their preference, were the members of the Cheney family, who produced the greatest amount of necessary new money to keep the bank from foundering. Individually they purchased the new stock in such quantities as to assure the campaign's success.

The town's larger commercial enterprises were found ready and willing to do all in their power to help keep the bank not only alive but to make it stronger and healthier than ever before, better, perhaps, for the experience of feeling impending ruin. As has been previously announced, the Manchester Electric Company purchased $10,000 worth of shares put the Southern New England Telephone Company invested $5,000. Today it was announced that the Manchester Gas Company had invested $10,000 in the new issue. Such demonstrations of faith in the institution by firms controlled by such a-tion capital was heartening and spurred the committee on to 60-100 per cent job.

Organizations Help

Many of the town's clubs and organizations were under the wire with investment funds when needed at this morning. The British-American club in a great burst of enthusiastic loyalty last night

RIVER STATIONARY AT CINCINNATI NOW But Further South Danger of Flood Grows More Serious—Towns Inundated.

Cincinnati, March 22.—(AP)—Relief for the flood stricken Ohio river valley was in sight today, but down where the big stream joins the Mississippi the populace viewed the approaching water with apprehension. The rise of the water slackened almost to a standstill along the route from Portsmouth, O., to Cincinnati where for four days thousands of acres in city and country have been inundated. Ten lives have been lost and property damage is estimated in the millions.

Fed by overloaded tributaries in southern Indiana, however, the water still is sweeping fast out of the river banks below here. Five hundred families were driven from their homes at Louisville, Ky. New Stationary The river remained stationary at Cincinnati.

Government experts said it probably would remain stationary at the present 63.7 foot level for from 24 to 36 hours and then begin the gradual fall that should bring it down to the 52-foot flood stage in four or five days. At Portsmouth, it held at 60.2 feet after hundreds of workmen had subverted a 62-foot wall that threatened to collapse and endanger the entire city.

Within sight of 5,000 distressed persons, who turned to the Red Cross for food here, owners of canoes paddled sightseeing parties in and out the doors and windows of stores and warehouses. Their tactics brought a reprimand from Federal Navigation officials.

Three large buildings along the waterfront, undermined by subsurface currents, collapsed. At Newport, Ky., across the river from Cincinnati, relief workers fed and housed thousands after having turned down Gov. Ruby Laffoon's offer of assistance. Fifty Newport block are under water.

STATES DELEGATES IN HOUSE DIVIDED

Democrats To Vote For Farm Bill But Republicans Will Oppose the Measure.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—Connecticut's two Democratic representatives, Maloney and Koppelman, said today they would vote for the administration's farm relief bill, but as the hour for the roll call approached it appeared that the four Republican members of the delegation would oppose the measure.

"Any personal feeling I may have," said Maloney, "is submerged by a desire and a determination to follow the leadership of the President. He has inspired the confidence of the people, and he should be given a full measure of opportunity. His message makes provision for a retreat if this offensive should fail."

Aside from the apparent importance to the farmer this measure provides a protection to the millions of holders of insurance policies and all those others directly or indirectly interested in farm paper. It goes along with the new deal which is the hope of its effectiveness. The radical of this day is the man who stands still."

Koppelman said he would endeavor to have the Senate agricultural committee include in the bill his proposal for placing an embargo on foreign farm products raised by forced labor.

TAMMANY IS SOLIDLY BEHIND THE PRESIDENT

Leader Wishes To Deny That New York Delegation Split Over Economy Bill.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—The big Tammany delegation in the House today declared solidly loyal to the Roosevelt administration today by Representative Cullen of Brooklyn, its leader.

Cullen said at a press conference that inferences that Tammany or Brooklyn Democratic organizations were not "solidly behind the President are erroneous."

The interpretations placed on the split vote of the House delegation on the Economy Act, he said, also were erroneous, and "neither the Tammany nor Brooklyn organizations have had anything else in mind except to stand solidly back of the President's program."

"Not the slightest suggestion was received by me from anyone with regard to the vote on the economy bill and every man was left to vote his own conscience," Cullen said.

The New Yorker said the Tammany delegation would support the administration's farm bill and all other proposals emanating from the White House.

HOSPITAL DRIVE WILL BE FOR $15,000 FUND

Annual Drive To Be Held In May—Sum Sought Is $5,000 Below Last Year.

The Board of Trustees of the Manchester Memorial hospital meeting late yesterday afternoon decided upon a goal of $15,000 for their annual drive for funds to be held sometime during the month of May. This is $5,000 less than a year ago.

The date for the drive was not fixed, but the campaign will probably take place during the annual hospital week observed throughout the country. In setting this goal at $15,000, the board felt that this was the minimum upon which they could operate. It is well known, of course, that the hospital is not able to support itself solely upon the money it receives for treating patients.

The board also heard the report of the hospital superintendent for the month of February during which 55 was the highest number of patients during any one day. The low mark was 41 and the average about 50. There were 14 births, five boys and nine girls; also eight deaths. The census at the hospital is lower than usual, this being due to several reasons, among which are the fact that many people who need hospital attention decided against it owing to a lack of money. Then there is the work of the three district nurses to be taken into consideration.

HUNGER MARCHERS AT STATE CAPITOL

Demand Enactment of Unemployment Insurance; No Disorders Reported.

Hartford, March 22.—(AP)—A column of self-styled "hunger marchers" heading banners demanding relief, formed in front of the main entrance of the Capitol as the Legislature closed, its session today to demand the enactment of the unemployment insurance bill proposed by a similar column of 27 cities and towns were present. They were to attend the hearing on the unemployment insurance petition presented by a similar column which appealed to Governor Cross the opening day of the legislature.

Maintaining rigid discipline under the watchful eyes of their leader, and state police they formed a solid mass across the driveway in front of the Capitol and joined in a series of songs. They carried banners demanding "free hot lunches and milk for school children," "No strikes and lockouts," and "Roosevelt's forgotten man is still hungry."

The entire hearing before the judicial committee this afternoon was devoted to the marchers' bill. Other unemployment insurance proposals, which had been scheduled for today, have been postponed until March 31.

NOMINATION AFFIRMED

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—Senator Bradley, (D., Ky.), told newspapermen today the foreign relations committee had unanimously affirmed the nomination of Robert W. Bingham, of Louisville, to be ambassador to England.

Barkley made a statement as he and his colleague, Logan, left a meeting of the committee, after appearing in behalf of Bingham, whose nomination had been held up a week by the committee.

Action on the nomination had been delayed last week at the request of Senator Robinson, (R., Ind.), who wanted speeches made in Scotland by Bingham some years ago looked into, to see they did not indicate a strong pro-British leaning.

PREMIER DALADIER MAY VISIT ITALY

French Executive Is Working On a Four Power Peace Club For Europe.

Paris, March 22.—(AP)—Premier Daladier of France, it was believed today, may go to Italy to meet Premier Mussolini of that nation as the next step in efforts to organize a four-power peace club.

It was thought the two may meet in northern Italy, as Mr. Duce is still unwilling to leave Italy. No plans, it was said semi-officially, had yet been made for the meeting, which was still only a possibility dependent on Signor Mussolini's reaction to conversations in Paris between Premier Daladier and Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, and French officials.

French government circles were increasingly optimistic over the possibility of an eventual accord. "We see a ray of sunshine," said a government official. France's efforts to widen the scope of the accord is allaying fears of Poland and the Little Entente, it was said, but it remained to be seen on what basis they would participate, particularly in the revision of existing problems because of Premier Mussolini's desire that the peace club be a strong independent group unhindered by unwieldiness of the League of Nations.

The French are anxious to bring about a pact within the League, but they would be able to muster votes and influence there to counteract a possible Italo-German bloc against them.

EXPERIMENT STATION TO CUT EXPENSES

State Director Says It Will Be Possible To Reduce Them By 16 Per Cent.

Hartford, March 22.—(AP)—A voluntary reduction of 16 per cent in its budget for the next biennium has been proposed by the Connecticut Agriculture experiment station in a hearing before the appropriations committee of the General Assembly.

Director W. L. State told the committee that the budget is the result of the station's careful study of all activities. "This large reduction" said the director, "is possible partly because of lower costs of all supplies and partly because of the curtailment of certain work and the deferring of normal repairs and purchase of equipment. Some work such as control of the mosquito, gipsy moth and the white pine blister rust will be somewhat reduced and fewer men employed. Patrol of roads for the European corn borer and Japanese beetle has been discontinued."

2d CHURCH WOMEN WORK FOR VESTMENTS

Friday evening the Women's League of the Second Congregational church will serve a Lenten supper, the proceeds of which will be used toward the purchase of vestments for the volunteer choir. The music committee, Mrs. J. M. Shearer, Mrs. William A. Knoda and Miss Mildred Mark are in charge, assisted by the members of the league.

Music during the supper hour will be furnished by the Boys band from the County Home at Warehouse Point, under the leadership of Jack Crawford of this town. The youthful musicians will wear their new uniforms, the gift of an interested friend in Hartford.

The band will be served with supper at an early hour so that they can give their program of solo and ensemble numbers while the other guests are enjoying the six o'clock meal. As far as is known this will be the first public appearance of a band in Manchester since its organization.

Mrs. C. J. Strickland, president of the league, is general chairman; Mrs. Joseph Wright is in charge of tickets. The meal will consist of scalloped salmon, carrots and peas, pickles, rolls, gingerbread with whipped cream and coffee. The Rev. and Mrs. Chapman has offered to donate a generous supply of milk for the boys. The supper is advertised elsewhere today.

DAVIS KEEPS SILENT

New York, March 22.—(AP)—Norman H. Davis, special ambassador of the United States on disarmament and world economics today declined to discuss his new mission abroad as he prepared to sail at midnight on the liner Manhattan for London.

GIVES GARDEN LECTURE FOR GRAMMAR PUPILS

Giles Vickerman of Pearl street gave the boys and girls of the Barnard school who are members of the school garden club an illustrated garden and travel yesterday afternoon at the close of the regular session. Mr. Vickerman is a member of the Manchester Garden club.

He was born and spent his boyhood in England and two years ago made a trip to his native land, visiting many places of interest there and in Scotland and Wales. He has a fine collection of colored pictures and photographs of places of interest, historic castles and other buildings throughout the British Isles, many of which he showed to the children, while he gave a description of the high spots and the historical data connected with them, enlivening his talk with humorous stories.

There were several views of Liverpool, at which many enter England, London, Westminster Abbey, the Lords and Tower bridges; homes of the royal family, Hampden Court, Palace and Windsor Castle, with their magnificent formal gardens, also the humble English cottages with their straw-thatched roofs which abound in rural England. Lovely pastoral views were shown of Surrey, Cornwall and Devonshire; fields of primroses, violets and daffodils in a naturalized state, brightening the English springtime. Pictures of Kew gardens and rock gardens in Wales were interspersed by English windmills, the old Roman crosses, the dropping old at Knaresboro, Clonely, interesting village whose streets are steps and punier-donkeys are necessary to convey commodities from one place to another. At the close of his talk, Miss Elizabeth Clark, teacher and the clubs gave Mr. Vickerman a hearty round of thanks.

BABE RUTH SIGNS CONTRACT AT LAST

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 22.—(AP)—Babe Ruth came to terms with Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, here this afternoon and will sign a one-year contract for $52,000.

Should a change be made, J. R. Ruppert and stenographers in Connecticut also might be affected. The position of director does not require confirmation by the Senate.

Study Situation Representatives, Maloney and Koppelman have been holding up the disposition of the four key positions in Connecticut, pending some word from the President or Postmaster General Farley on the relative authority of Senator Loneragan and National Committeeman McNeil.

RE-OPENING OF TRUST COMPANY IS CERTAIN

But the larger subscriptions to the stock series would not alone have sufficed. A small array of the smaller investors pushed the total to the $300,000 mark. It was amazing to the solicitors the way funds came from unexpected quarters. "East Side, West Side, All Around the Town" aptly describes the sources of the needed capital. As Frank Cheney, Jr., expressed it when the $300,000 was in sight, "Manchester is just Manchester after all."

Still Some Delay The job is not entirely completed with the pledging of the necessary subscriptions. The cash that these pledges represents must be brought to the President who was just completing lunch at his desk with Postmaster General Farley.

The President immediately walked over to the Cabinet room and signed. Representative Cullen asked if he might have one of the pens used in the signing. "Sure," the President replied. He chatted amiably with the delegation around him while he posed for photographers. There was a call from one of the group for another smile like "that other one," and the Chief Executive chuckled.

The President directed that the four pens be given to the American Federation of Labor, the American Legion, Cullen and Senator Harrison of Mississippi, who as chairman of the finance committee, was in charge of the legislation in the Senate.

Mr. Hall recalled that the first half of the 1879 session was held in the old State House. F. T. Barnum, world famous showman, was a member of that session and Mr. Hall told of one debate during which the circus man sat down on the floor and ordered: "I believe, Mr. Speaker, that I have the floor."

FEDERAL POSITIONS FOR STATE DELAYED

Such progress has been noted in the disposition of the four key positions in Connecticut, pending some word from the President or Postmaster General Farley on the relative authority of Senator Loneragan and National Committeeman McNeil.

Major Position One of these major positions, director of the Federal State Employment Bureau, may be affected by the announcement of Secretary Perkins of the Labor Department that she intends to reorganize the employment service. The office which pays $3,500 a year, has been held by Harry Mackenzie.

Should a change be made, J. R. Ruppert and stenographers in Connecticut also might be affected. The position of director does not require confirmation by the Senate.

PRESIDENT SIGNS BEER BILL; TO BE ON SALE APRIL 6

"Stephen T. Early, a secretary, was at his side. The delegation of House members which carried the bill to the White House stood just outside the Cabinet room during the signing and later were received by Mr. Roosevelt.

Looking up after he had signed, the President remarked to photographers that he hoped they "got the smile" at the end. When the bill was received from Congress, early took the measure to the President who was just completing lunch at his desk with Postmaster General Farley.

The President immediately walked over to the Cabinet room and signed. Representative Cullen asked if he might have one of the pens used in the signing. "Sure," the President replied. He chatted amiably with the delegation around him while he posed for photographers. There was a call from one of the group for another smile like "that other one," and the Chief Executive chuckled.

STATE'S OLD GUARD CIRCULATES APPEAL

Petition To Roosevelt Asks That Loneragan Have Final Say On Federal Jobs.

Hartford, March 22.—(AP)—A petition to President Roosevelt and National Chairman James A. Farley, recommending that Senator Augustine Lonergan have the final say on Federal appointments in Connecticut is being circulated among members of the Democratic state central committee, it was reliably reported today.

The four officers of the state committee have signed the petition. It was stated and about forty others, or more than a majority of the seventeen members have also either signed or have promised their signatures. The origin of the petition was undisclosed. However, John M. Early, a secretary to Mayor Rankin and "Old Guard" judge appointee here, is said to have circulated the petition among Hartford county members.

"Not Be Necessary." Doubt was expressed by one party official that the petition would ever reach the White House or the National chairman because, he said "it would not be necessary." The author of this statement signed the petition.

The petition is understood to be a bold effort on the part of factions in the party to prevent control of Federal patronage by National Committeeman Archibald McNeil and Dr. Edward G. Dolan "New Guard" leaders, who are supposed to be "on the inside" with Attorney General Cummings, Mr. Farley and the President. State Chairman David A. Wilson whom Senator Lonergan is supporting for U. S. Attorney in Connecticut, was one of the signers as was the other officers of the state committee, Mrs. Nora Harris of New Haven, vice chairman; J. Francis Smith of Waterbury, Secretary and Fred P. Holt of Hartford, treasurer.

It was said the petition was started by some members of the state committee and was not sponsored by the officers of the committee.

One of the entertaining features was a meal provided by Mrs. Thomas Hooley, the bride, Mrs. Charles Dangler, the bridegroom and Mrs. Albert Cowles, the minister. Mrs. Charles Dangler played the wedding march. Vocal solos were given by Mr. Tedford and Thomas Hooley. A buffet lunch was served.

TRADING IN FOODSTUFF LEADS MERCHANDISING

Public Has Become "Food-Conscious"; Latest Developments Emphasized in Hale's Manufacturers' and Packers' Sale.

It has been said that the buying and selling of foodstuff, fruits and vegetables and the like has become one of the major retail lines of merchandising endeavor today and as time passes the truth of this statement is to be found at every turn. American people, Manchester, people are buying more food products today than ever before despite the depression. They are learning more about the great varieties of canned food products and fresh as well. They are interested—they want to know what they are buying—they want quality and dependability. They are more "food-conscious" and they may use the term, than even five years ago. There is history behind this significant situation that is worth delving into for a bit. To begin with, the canners have changed their picture in recent years and have concentrated their packing plants in the centers of the areas where various articles are grown. Freshly harvested fruits and vegetables are quickly packed by new and modern methods devised in the laboratories of these packers that retain the natural goodness of the original product and bring them to your table in a manner that makes them taste so much more like the freshly picked fruits and vegetables that there has been a perfectly natural increased demand.

Great Change
Secondly, there has been an almost revolutionary change in the fresh fruit and vegetable market. In the short span of less than half a decade we have come to the point where there is practically no such thing as fruit and vegetables being "out of season." This does not mean either that oranges are high in green peas, for example, in March when native peas will not even be planted here for two months to come. This has all come about through the cooperation of market gardeners from Mexico to New Jersey. In the rough here is the plan. At about the time when our local produce is leaving the market fresh vegetables are beginning to be picked as far away as Mexico and being shipped here by fast trains. In turn when that produce is beginning to end there more is available in Texas and the Gulf States. As the winter passes the crop line advances northward until we again reach the local produce again. It is a great system that is being more carefully perfected every season.

Citrus fruits have also been improved and with the widespread knowledge of their great dietetic value the demand has likewise increased many fold and they too are on the market the year round through the same crop rotation process from the various countries where they are grown.

Big Event
With these thoughts in mind one can readily see what an important event Hale's eighth annual Manufacturers and Packers Sale means to the thousands of customers who patronize The Self-Serve, Manchester's original and unique food service store. Gordon Thornton, manager of the Self-Serve, says that it is an event that more than rivals their anniversary sale for volume and he has arranged for some of the best values that have yet been offered. Over 900 customers passed through the checking aisles of the Self-Serve at their last Anniversary and it is expected that this figure will be topped at this event.

Recent physical changes in the layout of the checking aisles, as shown in the accompanying picture, make it possible to accommodate five lanes of customers instead of four as in the past which of course means that customers can be checked through in greater numbers and with greater speed. This change has also included a rearranging of the shelving along the west side of the Self-Serve so that one gets a very attractive view of the store from the basement that had hitherto been shut off.

Cooperating Packers
The following packers are extending their cooperation for this big event in various ways:
The Columbia Soup Co. will demonstrate tomato, chicken and vegetable soups. This company is unique in the fact that it is operated by the employees on a cooperative basis. A resume of their plan of operation is given on every can of their products.
The Beechnut Packing Co., will feature candy samples, peanut butter, crackers, spaghetti and their recently introduced line of baby foods.
The Washburn Crosby Co. will feature Wheaties, Bisquick, Pastry flour and "Softasilk" cake flour.
The My-T-Fine people will give a bottle of vanilla with every purchase of three packages of desserts or pie filling.

The Underwood Packing Co., will demonstrate their delicious Clam Chowder and Deviled Ham. This company will present a full size jar of their new Clam Bouillion to the wife of every doctor in Manchester who comes to the Self-Serve during this event.
The Silver Lane Pickle Co., will have a large display and will give away three, one gallon jars of pickles on Saturday night. Every customer who purchases a quart of pickles will receive a ticket entitling them to a chance on the drawing for the three jars of pickles.
Borden's Inc., will feature a complete line of cheese.
Best Foods Inc., will feature Hellmann's Blue Ribbon Mayonnaise.

Williams & Carleton will feature spices and extracts.
Four hundred pounds of Sunshine Lunch, Crispy and Graham crackers have been purchased for this event.
The Ward Baking Co., will introduce their new milk chocolate layer cake for the first time in Manchester.

The Country Club Soda Co., will be prepared to give you generous samples of their new beverage. Lime and Lithia which is making such a big hit in New England.
Other items of interest include the facts that 250 cases of Burt Olney's products have been received for this sale and orders have been placed for 2500 dozen oranges. Full 19 oz. loaves of Hale's Milk Bread will be given away Thursday with every purchase of 50 cents and over. This applies to the first 500 customers.

The Self-Serve has been specially decorated for the event. Extra clerks will be on hand to facilitate the handling of customers and rendering all possible service and all purchases amounting to $2 and over will be delivered free of charge in town.

LABOR HEAD RAPS CONSERVATION PLAN

Green Maintains Jobless Men Should Get More Than Army Pay.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—The House labor committee today took up President Roosevelt's plan to employ 250,000 men on forest and food control projects with a view to quick action.
Prompt consideration in the House was assured despite the opposition developing in some quarters. The plan will be pressed for passage as soon as the farm relief bill, due to be passed today, is out of the way.

In addition to setting a quarter of a million men to work in the forests, Mr. Roosevelt intends soon to send to Congress proposals for a bond issue for direct relief grants to states and for a broad public works program.
The Senate today took up an amended House bill to allow state non-member banks to borrow from the Federal Reserve system in the banking emergency, with passage forecast by nightfall, while members of the House foreign affairs committee studied further a resolution to give Mr. Roosevelt the authority he wants to declare arms embargoes as a war preventive.
In a statement last night, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, attacked the plan to enlist the "Civilian Conservation Corps" through the War Department for work in the forests. The men would be maintained in camps and paid $30 a month plus food and housing.
Green asked that the bill be changed to pay standard rates of pay, with the element of "forced labor and military service" eliminated.

TO RE-ENACT GAS TAX

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—Representative Byrns of Tennessee, House Democratic leader, today told newspapermen that the present gasoline tax would be re-enacted at the special session of Congress.
The House will act on the measure as soon as it is reported by the ways and means committee.
The present gasoline tax, which has been the most profitable of the levies imposed in the billion dollar tax bill of last year, expires July 1. Byrns said repeal of the tax and the lowering of the postage rate would have to be studied before any action follows on those proposals.
The Tennesseean indicated that approval of either might interfere with President Roosevelt's plan to balance the budget.

MAJOR ASSIGNMENT FOR CALIFORNIAN

Mrs. Florence Kahn Named On Vitaly Important Appropriations Committee.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—First woman ever to be appointed to the vitaly important House appropriations committee is Representative Florence P. Kahn, of California.

Vested with the power to pass on every dollar appropriated by the Federal government, this committee is one of the hardest-working on Capitol Hill. That's why Mrs. Kahn, a grandmother who radiates vigor, is frankly delighted with her new job. "I've gone into that committee determined to take any subcommittee appointment they give me, and to work harder at the least-working man on the committee," said Mrs. Kahn.

"I feel since this is the first time a woman has ever been put on appropriations, the reputation of the women of the country to be qualified such a place is at stake, and I'm not going to fall down!"

Has Ability
A member of Congress since March, 1925, keen-witted Mrs. Kahn, has won compliments from her fellow members for her ability to "play the game according to the rules" and, not infrequently, beat her masculine colleagues to a high score.

For three years after she took the seat left vacant by the death of her husband, the late Julius Kahn, she might be found any working day, grubbing away at the necessary but inglorious tasks to which new members of Congress, somewhat like college freshmen, are put. Then the late Speaker, Nicholas Longworth, stopped her one day in passing, and said to her: "You've served a fine apprenticeship, and we haven't heard a complaint out of you. I believe there'll be a place for you on the military affairs committee."

That was a rich reward for Mrs. Kahn. For the military affairs committee was the one through which her husband served illustriously through the World War.

ANDOVER

Mrs. A. E. Frink returned to her home Saturday after being discharged from the Manchester Memorial hospital where she had been ill for two weeks.

Mrs. Joseph Walton was discharged from the Willimantic hospital Saturday and returned to her home here.

The play, "Looking Lovely" will be presented in the Town hall this evening by members of the Wapping Grange.

The Andover Grange, No. 76, met in the Town hall Monday evening. The subject for the evening's meeting was the "Grange." Wallace Hilliard gave a talk on "What the Grange Is." A paper, "What We Could Do To Make Our Grange More Attractive" was read by Mrs. Eleanor Tuttle; a sketch, "Since We Joined the Grange" was put on by a number of members. There were 28 in attendance at the meeting. After the program popcorn and apples were passed around and a social time enjoyed. The Deputy, Ellsworth Stoughton was unable to be present.

E. H. Frink of Hartford spent Sunday with his parents. Eugene Thompson, who has been ill with a severe cold, is now able to be out.

There were 28 in attendance at the Sunday school session Sunday morning. Mrs. Herbert A. Thompson, Sr., acted as organist. During the absence of Mrs. Woodin, who is ill, Mrs. Thompson will conduct not only her class, but the girls of Mrs. Woodin's class, known as the "Friendly Girls."

Mrs. Ellen Jones of Coventry, and her son, William Jones, of Stamford, visited in town Sunday.

The Ladies Benevolent society will hold an all-day meeting in the Conference House, Thursday.

The Senior Choir will meet at the home of Nathan Gatchel Thursday evening. Mr. Gatchel is church organist.

Deaths Last Night

Newton, Kas.—Col. Perry Milo Holmington, 75, officer of the Kansas National Guard and Newton banker.

San Francisco—George Tournay, 71, president of one of the largest of San Francisco banks.

Rochester, Minn.—Mrs. Roger Welles, widow of Admiral Welles, former commander of the United States naval forces in European waters.

Indianapolis—George A. Ryan, 66, editor of The Horse and Fair World.

Denver—Walter A. Dixon, 68, former vice president and general manager of the Great Western Sugar Company.

STAVE MAKERS BUSY

Fayetteville, Ark., March 22.—(AP)—A demand for staves for beer kegs has caused a boom in the timber business in the northwest Arkansas Ozarks and given employment to farmers and mill workers in communities where stave mills are virtually the only active industry.

Stave manufacturers, operating about 70 mills within a radius of six counties in this area, estimate that more than $13,000,000 is going into the work of preparing for the spring of 1933.

Queer Twists In Day's News

New York, March 22.—(AP)—What the "down-and-outers" think about high salaries?

The Gold Dust Lodge of the Salvation Army, caring for destitute, deserving men, conducted a poll asking: "What in your opinion deserve the highest salaries American business is capable of paying?" Here is the tabulation of 260 votes: President Roosevelt, 185; Babe Ruth, 140; Al Smith, 12; Jack Dempsey and former Mayor McKee of New York, 5 each; Herbert Hoover, 4; Charles M. Schwab, Henry Ford and Joe E. Brown, 3 each.

Detroit.—When the banks closed, members of the Palace Bowling League were downcast. They thought their $585 in prize money was tied up in a bank.

But Harry G. Thompson, their treasurer, let them in on a secret; the money wasn't in a bank. It was safe in a strong box in his attic. Cheers greeted his announcement. The cheers subsided when Thompson announced thieves had made off with the prize money.

Marchfield, Ore.—Postmaster Duncan Douglas received a letter from a young woman in Indiana asking confirmation of a story that whales come into Coos Bay, Ore. and milked, and the milk made into cheese. Douglas said before anything like that happens they'd have to train dogs to herd the whales.

Louisville, Ky.—Workers evacuating families from districts threatened by floods met delays here. Five men were held up by a five-year old girl until she found a penny she had lost in a chair. A woman refused to be moved until she had finished roning.

"What would the neighbors think?" she asked.

Chicago.—The installment plan has invaded the tax collectors' office. In order to stimulate payment of overdue back taxes Cook County Treasurer McDonough has announced taxpayers would be permitted to bring in sums as low as $5 weekly. They will be given cards like those of Christmas savings clubs to keep records of their payments.

LORING AT BAGDAD
Madrid, March 22.—(AP)—Fernando Rein Loring, who is flying from Madrid to Manila, capital of the Philippines, arrived today at Bagdad, wireless reports reaching here said.

Strong winds forced the Spanish aviator to land at Maan, near the River Jordan. Later he flew on to Bagdad.

NUMEROUS CALLERS AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Old Doorkeeper Says It Reminds Him of Days of Theodore Roosevelt.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—The swarm of visitors at the White House executive offices nowadays reminds Patrick McKenna who probably has met more celebrities than any other man in the country, of the days of Theodore Roosevelt.

McKenna should know. He has been at the White House since 1903 and since the days of Taft he has greeted virtually every caller at the executive offices.

Some of these McKenna ushers in to the President; some to the White House secretaries; some are given credentials enabling them to inspect the White House proper. Quite a few are sent gently but firmly on their way.

Lulls have been few and far between since March 4.

"Haven't seen so many people since Theodore Roosevelt's time," McKenna commented today just after leading a couple of Senators to the President's office.

"You are always kept busy during the first days of any administration. Visitors dwindle down then, but there is another rush before the conventions and during the campaigns. If a President is re-elected, they flock thick and fast again. But if he is beaten—"

Called Doorkeeper
McKenna, stolidly built, grey-haired, has the title of doorkeeper, but that is deceptive. His desk is in the corridor just in front of the President's door and all callers are sent back to him.

Long experience has given him the knack of handling men. Many who feel their own importance keenly quietly accept his verdict that they are to wait. Now and then a crank gets back to McKenna. He listens scoldingly, sympathetically and then gives one of the Secret Service men a meaningful look.

"You learn to know the nuts almost instinctively," he said. "The curious thing is that many of them think they have a plan for saving the country and mankind in general."

"Yes, I suppose I have met most of the well-known persons in America at one time or another, and a good many from abroad—premiers, princes and queens. It's all in the day's work. I hope to meet a good many more before I am through."

WAPPING

Clarence J. Rose of Fairview street, Willimantic, was seriously hurt in a head-on crash of automobiles last Saturday night about seven o'clock. Mr. Rose, who has been a resident of Wapping all his life until very recently had been working for Wellman Burnham of Wapping as a tobacco sorter and was on his way home. He had gotten as far as Andover when the accident occurred.

DETROIT'S TROUBLES NEARING AN END

New 25 Million Dollar National Bank To Take Care of Finances.

Detroit, March 22.—(AP)—Relief for Detroit's financial ills, and those of most of Michigan as well, was in sight today through formation of a new $25,000,000 National bank, backed half and half by the Reconstruction Corp., and the General Motors Corp.

The new National bank of Detroit is taking over the "more liquid" assets of the First National Bank, Detroit and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, both in the hands of Federal conservators.

By Monday at the latest, an announcement said, at least 40 per cent of accounts—more than $200,000,000—will be released to the 300,000 depositors. Ten per cent already had been made available under the restricted withdrawal plan.

The disbursement will bring relief to major business centers throughout Michigan, for reserves of numerous outstate banks have been held in the two banks, on the same basis as the smallest deposit.

Not to Remain
In announcing that General Motors had agreed to subscribe to $12,500,000 of common stock, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., its president, explained that General Motors had no desire to enter the bank business and hoped to withdraw as soon as possible.

Definite plans for the new bank left unsettled persistent reports that the Ford interests might back another new bank. Several weeks ago, Henry and Edsel Ford agreed to put up $3,250,000 toward organization of a bank to take over liquid assets of the old National bank, but that plan failed.

As another step in final untangling of the city's financial affairs, the Union Guardian Trust Co. petitioned state banking commissioner Rudolph E. Ralston last night for a conservator. It was that trust company whose situation was cited last month as necessitating a state-wide bank holiday.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22.

He pays liberal interest for the use of the money. The lender deems the security ample or he would not take the mortgage. Substantially the contract amounts to an agreement on the part of the borrower to either pay back the money or surrender the home. There is complete understanding that the loan is less than the value of the house. The money involved would not buy such a house.

Enures a period of deflation. Values of everything but money fall. The value of money rises. The mortgagor cannot get the cash to pay his debt. Under foreclosure he surrenders the house to the lender through the medium of a forced sale. The house, its value deflated, brings just half the face of the mortgage. The mortgage holder gets the house. Then he takes out a deficiency judgment against the home owner for the other half of the face of the mortgage; in other words the mortgagor, for that old debt, surrenders the house and still owes to the mortgagee the equivalent of another house just like it. If ever again he gets a fresh start and comes into possession of another house the creditor can descend on him and take that away too.

In other words the deficiency judgment enables the creditor to hold the debtor in his debt after the latter has actually complied with the spirit of their contract in yielding up the ample security the debtor originally demanded.

The deficiency judgment is an iniquitous institution. It should never have been permitted to exist. It must be gotten rid of if there is to be any such thing as justice for the debtor in this state.

are now opposing it—and that includes this newspaper—will rejoice that they were mistaken.

In all of which there is merely such measure of reassurance as lies in the fact that the Roosevelt farm relief plan will not be, if passed, an irreparable blunder. It is far from certain as yet, however, that the Senate will subscribe to the making of that kind of a blunder. We do not, actually, expect to see the measure become a law at all. If it does it cannot very well be a really ruinous one.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

CONGRESS FRESHMEN BALK AT "NEW DEAL"

Washington, March 22.—Some senators and congressmen are already grating to be dealt out of the New Deal.

More may follow.

For instance, Majority Leader Joe Robinson, sponsored an amendment to the Banking Bill to let state banks borrow funds from the Federal Reserve system. Senator Huey P. "Kingfish" Long danced a triumphant dance in the Senate lobbies when this happened. He claims responsibility for it.

On the Economics Bill, something of the same kind occurred. A fledgling senator from the Silver State of Nevada, Pat McCarran, aimed his untried sword at the venerable Pat Harrison and the even more venerable Carter Glass over this.

Vote is Forced.

Pat McCarran was worried about the constitutionality of the measure, and wanted it sent to the Judiciary Committee.

The Senate had to take a vote. It was dignified with the title of "test vote." McCarran took the beating he expected—but 19 senators have refused to surrender their independence, even to a Roosevelt, even to a national emergency which has been likened to war.

Opposition to the presidential banking and economy measures is based on several grounds: On con-

THAT WORK ARMY

Whatever may be thought of President Roosevelt's farm relief program, his plan for the enlistment of a great army of a quarter of a million men for employment on public works is sure to capture the imagination of the country and to meet with the widest commendation. Heroic in its scope the conception is scarcely less heroic in its spirit. It is the kind of thing for which the man on the street corner has been waiting for a long time—action in the line of direct and immediate assistance to the jobless; and not in the line of a dole.

Employment of a mere quarter of a million men out of the unknown number of millions who are without substantial employment is not going to solve the whole problem—not by a very long way. But it can be of very important assistance. And it would prove to the country that there is a genuine determination on the part of the government to utilize its powers through direct contact with the distressed individual. There has been altogether too little realization of the importance of that assurance to the man on the corner. It would be the first time that any measure of relief had been set up between him and his national government into which there had not been injected some go-between relationship of banks, railroads, financial magnates or other agencies—toward whose complete good faith the jobless man is prone to be more than a little skeptical.

There is something dramatically appealing in the idea of the practical enlistment of an army of two hundred and fifty thousand men; necessarily along lines of discipline and order and control essential to any army; but devoted, instead of to the wretched business of killing, to the achievement of great triumphs of human labor—to the doing of deeds of hand and arm that will leave their mark of beneficence on the face of America for a thousand years.

There is something in this that cannot fail to call out to tens of thousands of those footloose wanderers who have been made homeless by the depression and whose most profound deprivation lies in their feeling of uselessness.

There is no valid reason why this great undertaking cannot be made tremendously successful. The success must depend, of course, on the earnestness of the spirit in which the plan, if adopted, is carried out. It could, of course, be converted into a wretched farce. We have no right whatever to assume that it would be. The President asks not only for power but responsibility. He could, like the commander-in-chief of any army, rule this one with an iron hand. The results would be up to him. There is no reason at all to believe that they would not be excellent.

Such opposition as arises to the proposal appears to come from the trades unions. That opposition can be disregarded. If the trades unions fail to enlarge their vision and if they attempt to become obstructionists to such heroic measures as this they will merely destroy themselves—they will be overwhelmed and trodden underfoot by the millions of a nation marching toward the goal of rehabilitation.

IN A FIX

Charles E. Mitchell, former head of the National City bank of New York, who sold a huge block of his bank stock to his wife at such a low price as to establish a paper loss of $2,800,000, which he deducted from his income return in order to avoid paying $687,000 tax to the government, is in no pleasant fix. It is very doubtful if he thinks it funny himself. This country has passed through the period when it was to be taken for granted that if you had money enough you could get away with it, no matter what it was. That time lies in the past—along with the selling of job printing office bonds.

Mr. Mitchell has come to a point where about a hundred and twenty million people put him in the category of public enemies. Americans no longer admire a man who has stolen $687,000 from them. The charge against him is not something that can be laughed off.

IN NEW YORK

Hoover, Enjoying Life, Indulges Liking for Steaks, Rare Cheeses, Onion Soup, and 60-Cent Cigars.

A New Panorama.

New York, March 23.—Mr. Hoover opened one eye and squinted at the watch that was propped, engineer fashion, on the stand by his bed. Barely seven o'clock. Funny how hard it is to break a habit of early awakening, even when a fellow can lie abed as long as he likes....

Mr. Hoover opened his eyes and surveyed the paneling of his eighteenth-century English bedroom. Nice—the White House... Good view, too. Not like waking up to see gaunt elms outside one's window, standing there like tired sentinels after an all-night vigil.... This was New York, and the sun already was turning skyscrapers into shafts of gold.... Gold! Well, gold was not his special worry any longer.... Wraithlike vapors curled over the Hudson, to the west. And the down-town financial district was obscured by the harbor mist.... That new building nearby must be part of Radio City. To the south towered the Chrysler spire and Al Smith's Empire State, mostly chromium.... The visitor couldn't identify any other big buildings. The skyline changed so rapidly in New York that he was sure that four years had been able to move leisurely about the city. His visits had all been a dither of crowds and conferences, sirens and escorts and photographers' flashlights.... Well, that was over, too. And now, since it was going to be a nice day, Herbert Hoover, private citizen, would take a walk.

Quickly Recognized.

He roused out Lawrence Rich-ey. As they dressed, he told Boris, the valet, that they wouldn't wait for breakfast, but to have some orange juice and a big omelet and plenty of coffee in about half an hour.... They left Allan Hoover undisturbed in the third bedroom of the big suite and took the tower elevator down to the Park Avenue level of the Waldorf-Astoria.

It was not yet eight o'clock, but the few people who were abroad in that district recognized the big man with the high collar and the hat that looked too small for him.... He and his secretary strolled west on Fifth street, to St. Patrick's Cathedral, and turned north on Fifth avenue.... The regular window-shopped and stood for a few moments before a window full of California etchings.

Mr. Hoover smiled and nodded to people who greeted him. Some said "Good morning, Mr. Hoover"; others just bowed, the men touching their hats.... Once he stopped, he turned half around and bowed to an old lady who had impulsively waved to him. Cars slowed and drew closer to the curb as they passed. Riders atop Fifth avenue buses waved cheerily. Mr. Hoover was pleased.

At Fifty-ninth street, where the Fountain of Abundance stands in the plaza, the strollers turned over to Sixth avenue, then south again. Past Radio City's two theaters—"Now Showing: Roosevelt's Inauguration!"—and past Rockefeller Center, where work is going forward on John D. Jr.'s $250,000,000 expressway of a city.... And back to the Waldorf-Astoria again.

Dodge's Crowd

The president's suite, on the 33rd story of one of the hotel's towers, was the scene of nearly all his business conferences. The living room is 30 by 25 feet, and there is a den and a dining room, three master's bedrooms and dressing rooms, two servants' rooms, and three baths.

Nearly all meals were served in the apartment, too—simple food, and plenty of it. When he went to one of the hotel dining rooms, it was either early or late, to dodge the crowds.... Chefs discovered that Mr. Hoover likes onion soup, especially for lunch, and steaks and roast beef (medium) always potatoes, and lots of fruits. For dessert he always had cheese, and liked to pore over cheese cards, choosing various kinds, from Camembert and Gruyere and Roquefort to the more exotic types.

Mr. Hoover still smokes a lot of cigars, emptying whole boxes of them in various drawers and offering them to guests by the handful. The cigars are long, especially-made coronas, light in shade at 1 mild, and cost 60 cents. The Waldorf Astoria doesn't know it yet, but Mr. Hoover buys his smokes from another hotel, the Ritz-Carlton. He has been ordering them there for years, in lots of a thousand.

EENIE, MEENIE

Neighbor Foote, in his "Lighter Side" column in the Hartford Courant, proposes the crying need of a thorough study of the incantations used by children in "counting out" for "sides" or "it's" in their games. He cites some of these doggerel rhymes that have survived through unnumbered generations of children and some which are of comparatively modern invention. Among the former is the utterly familiar "Eenie, meenie, minie, moe," among the latter this one, which we are too ancient to have heard before, though it probably has served many successive sets of New England kids:

Lizzie Borden with an axe
 Hit her mammy twenty weeks;
 When she sees what she had done
 She hit her pappy twenty-one.

There can be no great mystery as to the origin of that jingle, nor of the older but still relatively modern:

Engine, engine number nine
 Running on Chicago line.
 One goes east and one goes west,
 You're the one that goes the best.

But one may well wonder whence come those wierd, unmeaning words of such caprices as the eenie, meenie one. Or another which Neighbor Foote apparently forgot:

Very very icky Ann,
 Pillsy, follisy, Nicholas John,
 Queever, quaver, English navor,
 Strigulim, strangulim, co-buck.

These queer sounding whimsies are ages old. Where did they come from? Probably our neighbor is all primed up with erudition and nicely set to show up any adventurer into explanation whose little knowledge may be a dangerous thing. All right, we'll fall for it. The English kids of two or three or four hundred years ago got the jingles from the Gypsies.

Cadenced incantation accompanied many of the rites of the Romany folk and was freely employed in their fortune telling. Many English children had opportunity to hear this lingo. Imitative, they made such verbal copies of the cadenced Romany as they could, probably missing an exact rendering of the actual Gypsy words by a long way in most cases, but coming near enough to satisfy the youngsters—at all events they were talking something what wam't English, save in spots; and even the Romanys used some English words, along with words from a dozen languages besides their own.

There will be no charge.

NOT IRREMEDIAL

The best thing about the President's farm relief bill is that it provides for its own extinction in the event of the President's becoming convinced that it is a mistake. The executive is given the power to wipe out the machinery provided for the law's operation, lock, stock and barrel, at any time when such a course might prove advisable. This is a most wise provision. It may come into use even before the machinery is fully set up. Such an occurrence would be far from surprising. On the other hand, since this is a thing founded on an untried principle, it may be that there will be no occasion for abandoning it—it may work better than most of us in the industrial regions expect it will. If it should prove to operate for the benefit of the whole country those who

HEALTH-DIET ADVICE

Questions in regard to Health and Diet will be Answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this Paper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed Envelope for Reply.

PERMANENT CURE OF FLATULENCY TAKES TIME

In overcoming the tendency to flatulency the best plan is to use some form of the fasting cure, in order to completely cleanse the alimentary canal of the accumulation of toxins and waste matter. Most cases of flatulency can be either cured or greatly benefited by following by Cleansing Diet Course which appeared in this column some time ago. If you did not save the articles on fasting and dieting, I will be glad to send a copy to you if you will write to me in care of The Herald and enclose a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

After the initial fruit juice diet it is advisable to adopt a new dietetic regimen. One should avoid all foods that have a gas-forming tendency, such as dried beans, cabbage, radishes, peppers, turnips, melons, onions and garlic. You are to be rigidly careful to use only good food combinations and you will be pleased to find that, when flatulency is due to the use of improper combinations, you will overcome it quite easily by combining foods in the right way.

You will get the best results if you will get without starches for one month. Avoid fats and especially greasy or fried foods. Sweets, pastries, cakes and all forms of concentrated sugar should be omitted, together with tea, coffee, gravy and condiments. If there has been any stomach inflammation present, you will do well after the fast to use a straight milk diet for a period until the inflamed surfaces have healed.

While on the fast and the curative diet you are to take one ounce per day which will have the desirable effect of keeping the intestines cleansed and will help to get rid of many poisonous wastes which would otherwise be retained. The usual effect of preventing the excessive fermentation and putrefaction usually present with constipation. After one month on the above plan, some starchy foods may be used if combined according to the rules of good food combinations. If liquids or pouches are present in the intestines, they should be corrected. Often hand manipulations, treatments with the sinusoidal electric currents, or special exercises prove helpful. In fact, the regular enjoyment of physical culture exercises and long walks cannot be too highly recommended. Great benefit will be derived from using special exercises called "Slanting Board Exercises" for developing the muscles of the abdomen. In some cases all that is needed to reduce the gas to normal is to completely overcome constipation.

Once you get the entire digestive tract in good working order with the right kind of food, and daily elimination of waste, and are successful in building up the tone of the abdominal muscles, you will find that digestion proceeds so smoothly that you will not know you have any internal organs.

In overcoming flatulency you obtain two beneficial results. The first one is that you avoid the mechanical effects of the gas pressure against the vital organs. The second one is that you avoid those diseases which are the result of the continual irritation from food fermentation. If you suffer from excessive gas, do not be satisfied until you are entirely free from any tendency to this uncomfortable symptom.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Inexpensive Means)

Question: "Wishing to be of service to others" writes: "I wish that you would publish a menu suitable for a family of five or six people, two adults and three or four children, that would be nourishing, but very inexpensive. With your knowledge of food combinations and food values you would be of great service to people in these days of hard times and unemployment. Many people do not realize that the inexpensive foods sometimes are the most nourishing."

Answer: You are quite right in what you say about nourishment being derived from inexpensive foods, and I have prepared an article on this subject which is too long to be printed in the Question and Answer Department of this column; however, if you will write to me again, giving me your name and address on a large, stamped envelope, and ask for Inexpensive Menu, I will be glad to forward the information to you.

(Sore Spot Between Shoulders)

Question: Mrs. M. G. C. writes: "For sometime I have had a sore spot between the shoulders and feel like something was creeping under the flesh. What do you think causes this and advise me?"

Answer: The spot between your shoulders might be a reflex sensation from the irritation of some internal organ or it might be due to some nerve pressure or irritation in the back itself. It might be a good plan for you to get the opinion of a competent osteopath or chiropractor who could examine your back.

(Whites of Eyes Are Yellow)

Question: Mr. Knox J. writes: "Why are the whites of my eyes yellow and what would you suggest doing?"

Answer: A distinct yellowing of the whites of the eyes, if not accompanied by a local condition, may denote trouble with the liver or gall bladder. It would be necessary for you to have an examination by a reliable physician to determine the cause.

A Stockton, Calif., man writes: "I have a sore spot between the shoulders and feel like something was creeping under the flesh. What do you think causes this and advise me?"

Mrs. Crabtree Answers Special Recipe Requests

Lecturer at Herald Cooking School to Give Some of Her Favorite Recipes for Use of Manchester Women.

Dear Friends in Manchester:

How I wish I could fill this whole page with the recipes you ask me for! But each week I shall give a few, and hope that these will serve you till next week, when you may be sure there will be additional ones. Many times the recipes requested, appear in one of the special articles. I am giving the recipe for waffles here, and promise to have a longer article on fancy waffles later:

Waffles

To make plain waffles use three cups flour, five and one half teaspoons baking powder, two eggs, one teaspoon salt, two teaspoons granulated sugar, three cups milk, three tablespoons melted shortening. Sift the dry ingredients together. Beat the egg yolks thoroughly and add to them the melted shortening and about half of the milk, mix and then stir well into the dry ingredients. Add the rest of the milk and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Beat well. The batter should be smooth and about the consistency of thick cream.

If an aluminum iron is used, be sure to "try it out" first, by heating and rubbing with shortening until the iron smokes. Let it cool wipe off any excess fat, re-heat, rub with shortening and let smoke again. Repeat till the iron is thoroughly impregnated with the shortening. Then re-heat, do not rub shortening on, and drop a little batter on; bake by closing the iron for one and a half minutes, the waffle should be a pale golden brown by this time; turn, (if that kind of iron is used), close and bake for one and a half minutes. If they are not brown, the iron is not hot enough; if they are unevenly browned, the iron is too hot.

The aluminum waffle iron is never washed; simply wipe the baking surface with a clean, damp cloth, to remove any streaks of batter. Close and keep in a clean place until used the next time.

If the iron is the kind which is heated over the gas burner the preliminary heating requires about five minutes, and the baking of each side (with an iron which turns) one and one half minutes. Follow directions for heating and use of an electrical iron, the printed direction given with the iron. Shortening must be rubbed on an iron griddle each time it is used; only on the first "trying out" with the aluminum iron. But waffles baked on aluminum ought to have from one tablespoon to two additional of shortening added to the recipe, to insure a crisp, rich waffle.

Caramel Frosting
One and one-half cups brown sugar; one third cup hot water; whites of two eggs beaten stiff; one teaspoon vanilla. Boil the sugar and water until it spins a thread from the tip of the spoon. Then pour, while beating, onto the stiff egg whites. Flavor, and add one teaspoon of butter and beat until thick enough to spread.

Custard Pie

Make a rich pie pastry, enough to line a baking pan. Make a custard from the following: four eggs, slightly beaten; one half cup sugar; one fourth teaspoon salt; one quart scalding hot milk; one teaspoon vanilla flavoring. Mix the sugar and salt into the slightly beaten eggs. Pour over this the scalding milk, slowly, stirring until the sugar is fully dissolved. Add the flavoring. (Half this rule will make a large pie). Pour into the unbaked pie crust, bake in a moderate oven for twenty-five minutes. Serve cold. Use brown sugar instead of white for an unusually good custard.

Boston Brown Bread

This bread is steamed, not baked. Large (pound size) baking powder tins are excellent for the steaming if regular Boston tins cannot be had. Use three cups of graham flour; one half cup white flour; one teaspoon salt; two-thirds cup baking molasses; two and one-half cups of buttermilk or sour milk; two teaspoons soda; one half teaspoon baking powder if the milk is not very sour. Mix the ingredients and add the molasses and the milk, both mixed with the soda to foaming. The baking powder, when used, is first sifted with the flour. Steam three hours or more in round cans rubbed with shortening. It should be moist, but not sticky, of firm, bread texture. Let cool by slipping out of the tin onto a cooling rack or inverted sieve.

Gingerbread

One cup sugar; one cup shortening; one cup baking molasses; one cup sour milk; one half teaspoon salt; two eggs; two teaspoons soda; one tablespoon powdered ginger; four cups flour measured after sifting. Dissolve the soda in three tablespoons of warm, but not hot, water, and beat into the molasses. Mix all other ingredients together, creaming the shortening and sugar, beating in the eggs and ginger and sour. Beat all lightly together. Pour into a baking tin rubbed with shortening, and sprinkle the top with granulated sugar. Bake in a hot oven. Use a square or round tin with a large tube in the center, turn out the bread when baked, and all the center with whipped cream into which maple sugar has been shaved, or with a sauce made of whipped cream and maple syrup, or with custard flavored with orange. Serve hot.

SPRING CURTAINING SHOULD BE SIMPLE

Washable Fabrics of Cotton and Linen Best Suited To Hot Weather Uses.

Labor saving housecleaning tools like the efficient vacuum cleaner and its many handy attachments have almost banished the old fashioned annual Spring housecleaning. We clean house every week now for simple furniture, easily handled rugs, the electrically operated housecleaning devices make our weekly cleaning a thing of pleasure. But Spring nevertheless brings a desire on the part of most housekeepers to refresh their homes.

This freshening takes the form of new wallpaper and paint, although for the furniture and lighter curtains for the windows. This year when re-papering may have to be postponed, and other major improvements delayed, we can still have new summer curtains. For the new ones shown for the Spring and Summer seasons this year are both inexpensive and practical.

Good Cotton

The function of most windows in the warm weather is to admit light and air. To do this successfully the curtaining must be of the most simple, and it should be of washable fabrics. There is no better summer curtaining fabric than cotton which is offered nowadays in a great variety of interesting weaves. For bedrooms and certain types of downstairs rooms the sheer organdy, voiles and serims are admirable. They look crisp and cool, are easily laundered, and their cost is among the lowest for curtaining. If the room seems bare after the use of heavier curtains and draperies in the winter, a double set of organdy or voile summer curtains may be used.

Among the newer treatments shown in some of the New York shops are windows hung with white ruffled organdy curtains and a second pair of organdy curtains in a dark color, hung on the inside, as draperies. Brown and white, blue and white, peach and white are favorite combinations.

Gingham Revived

Gingham as a curtaining material is revived in popularity due to the growing interest here in French Provincial furniture. For the French people of the smaller cities and the rural districts dearly loved the modestly checked gingham as a drapery fabric for windows, and a covering for beds, chairs and sofas. Checked, plaid, and many cross-bar effects as well as solid color ginghams are especially well suited to simple curtains in rooms furnished with this French furniture and with American early pine and maple styles.

The gingham may be treated like more expensive fabrics, that is finished with pleated ruffles, bound with contrasting color, looped back over knobs, or held in cuffs and tie-backs. Lovely new colors are to be had in gingham as well as old-fashioned plaids and checks. It is washable and in the better qualities is sun-fast and non-fading no matter how many times laundered. Old-fashioned calico, now called chintz, is widely popular in either glazed or plain weaves, with large and small patterns. The glazed variety is not washable, or at least when washed loses its glazed dressing. But these glazed chintz does not readily show dirt and may be hung an entire summer without laundering. The colors and patterns are innumerable, in such variety that any room color scheme may be matched, and any new color scheme planned with this low cost cotton.

Other fabrics, such as well as other linens, cretonnes, and striped cottons of heavier weaves are also desirable as summer curtaining textiles. Some of these are made up in curtains which retail at less than a dollar a pair, or

Soup and Salad for Luncheon

Soup and salad with a sweet bread and a beverage make a satisfying Spring luncheon. Serve it buffet style for variety, bringing all dishes and supplies to the table on a tray, and let family or guests help themselves.

slightly more than a dollar. The price not only depends on the quality of fabric but whether the merchant has brought quantities and can therefore sell at less than a small shop. This price scaling is also true of cottons and linens by the yard. But a little shopping about will quickly show the housekeeper whether she wants to buy curtains ready made and to be hung without further work; or the goods by the yard.

In either case curtains for Spring and Summer use should be washable, of simple design, and cool looking, and not too expensive, for next Spring may bring a change in taste, and the old ones will want to be abandoned.

When selecting new curtain fabrics also look at the fine new arrays of braids, edgings and various other cotton and linen trims which are being offered. They are designed for summer draperies. Besides these, there are new types of rods, rings, cords and drapery attachments which make the home decorating problem easier than ever before. Bias tapes, snaps, fasteners of various types, strips of small weights, cords covered with various kinds of chintz for trimming and cording, are all to be found in the well equipped drapery department.

COSTLY MOVIES ARE ON DECLINE

Hollywood, March 16.—The picture of a wild, mad and extravagant Hollywood is not a reality. Despite the big salaries paid to a small group of individuals—vastly in the minority in the celluloid colony—pictures today are being produced on an extremely conservative scale.

This was revealed by recent statistics showing that only 12 1/2 cents of every dollar paid into theater box offices ever reaches Hollywood. On that small sum pictures are made.

NEW GAS RANGE LAUDED HIGHLY

Many New Prospects Developed By Herald Cooking School Demonstration.

Officials of the Manchester Gas Co. report that a check-up of their efforts in connection with the recent Herald Cooking School show that the new "Quality" gas range which was publicly demonstrated for the first time in Manchester at the school has met with the approval of many interested prospects and more and more inquiries are being received at the office of the company regarding this new range. This new range certainly has received a noted introduction to the public of Manchester, and Hartford too, for that matter, for it was also featured at the Home Progress Exposition the same week in Hartford. In view of the significance of the Herald Cooking School it is safe to say that this new range could not have been introduced to Manchester people in a more striking and forceful manner and especially by a lecturer of Mrs. Crabtree's ability. In commenting on the range Mrs. Crabtree said that in her opinion "it certainly met all her expectations and did an excellent job on every item she cooked on it or in the oven."

The "Quality" gas range is standard size in every detail and is large enough for any average family. It is well constructed, carefully designed and is finished in a gray and white combination enamel that looks well, wears well and fits into the color scheme of any average kitchen. The oven is large enough for a roasting pan that will handle a fifteen-pound turkey.

Among other features found on this new gas range is the automatic lighting system for the burners. One simply turns on the gas in the burner which they desire to light and the pressure operates an automatic lighter which in turn ignites the flame on that particular burner. This last word innovation does away with the pilot light, so familiar on the average gas stove, and which we thought was really quite the thing.

This stove is on display at the office of the Manchester Gas Co. and the G. E. Keith Furniture Co. In addition to the fact that this stove can be bought at a very low price the Gas Company is stressing the fact that it can be bought on their five-year purchase plan for as little as 35 cents per week, payable with your gas bill. This certainly is a very attractive offer and should mean that there is really no need for anyone cooking on antiquated stoves or using other methods, when one of these up-to-the-minute ranges is available at such a moderate cost.

Mr. Carlson and Mr. Custer of the Hartford Gas Co. and Mr. Fitchner, local manager of the Manchester Gas Co., are agreed that this new "Quality" range is going far to make a mark for itself and will be found in the kitchens of hundreds of Hartford and Manchester homes. Mrs. Arns Sutton, local home economist for the Hartford Gas Co. has been using one of these ranges in her model kitchen in Hartford and is so enthusiastic over it that she doesn't want to use any other model.

HERE ARE SUGGESTIONS FOR THE SALAD PLATE

Fruit Juices, Lemon Or Grapefruit, May Be Substituted For Vinegar in Dressings.

Substitute in your best French dressing recipe, the use of lemon juice for the vinegar; to vary it, especially when the dressing is to be used on fruit, use grapefruit juice. Add paprika, celery salt and pepper for seasoning as well as the usual salt. Occasionally add a very little curry powder when the salad contains fish, or chicken, cooked meat such as veal or ham. Occasionally add a little catsup, if cooked, heavy vegetables such as Brussels sprouts are in the salad bowl.

With Cooked vegetables A teaspoon in the middle of a curved lettuce leaf was filled with mayonnaise. This is really a whole luncheon in itself, with a cheese sandwich and beverage.

JURY TRIAL UPHELD

Bridgeport, March 22.—(AP)—The right of trial by jury was upheld in a decision by Judge Patrick E. O'Sullivan of the Superior Court today in denying a motion offered by Warren P. Cressy of Stamford, that 19 damage suits against the Stamford Gas and Electric Company be tried by a jury list and heard by the court. The motion was made on the suit of Teresa Hoba who asks damages of $5,000 and that the defendant company be enjoined from maintaining a nuisance.

FRIGIDAIRE MEN BACK ROOSEVELT

The opinion pointed out that an individual cannot maintain a bill to enjoin a professional or semi-professional ball; for repairing shop road equipment, gasoline tanks and engines; and for a dog pound. The Supreme Court orders the injunction modified that athletic sports be not banned. The trial court had held the first and third uses mentioned were not nuisances but were improper purposes under the deed of gift of the late Robert M. Bruce.

The injunction was obtained by the Frigidaires in April, 1932, and their grievances were based on a game in the park in which a Greenwich team with a professional battery played the New York Giants. No admission was charged but contributions to the expenses were collected from spectators. Score cards and popcorn were sold.

A Come-Back
The possibility of the return of the foaming sardine and the mowing stein may be responsible for the renewed popularity of the pretzel, the consumption of which has greatly increased. Pretzels are produced in our own country now, and Americans have taken to both the straight and the curly variety. Pending the return of the traditional companion of the pretzel, housewives serve pretzels with salads and soups.

Butterscotch Fruit
We don't think anyone could turn up their nose at this tapioca dessert made interesting by pineapple and nut meats, and its butterscotch flavor.

- 1-3 cup quick-cooking tapioca
- 4 tablespoons sugar
- 1-4 teaspoon salt
- 1 quart milk, scalded
- 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
- 1-2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 6 tablespoons butter, melted
- 1 cup crushed pineapple
- 1-3 cup nut meats, finely cut
- 1 egg white, stiffly beaten.

Add tapioca, sugar, and salt to milk, and cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Four small amount of tapioca mixture over egg yolk, stirring vigorously. Return to double boiler and cook until thickened. Cool. Add sugar to butter and stir constantly until melted. Add pineapple and nuts. Add to tapioca mixture. Fold in egg white. Chill. Garnish with whipped cream. Serves eight.

For Spring Shoppers
Have you had a good look at the spring suits yet? And the new coats? Both are especially decorative this year, and if fur trimmed, the softest, most flattering types of fur are used, such as squirrel and blue fox. The many detachable capes, some fur bordered, the scarf collar, the slenderizing straight lines, and the "big-top" sleeves are all features that tend to flatter the wearer. And there's no doubt about it—the quality of the fabrics and furs is marvelous for the prices asked.

No Cracks
It's so easy to crack eggs when putting them into water to boil that somebody has thought of the clever trick of putting them in a corn popper. Just lower it into the water, eggs all in, and when the eggs are done, you can take them out all at once, run the cold water over them, and they'll peel easily.

Spring Fever
Everybody's people are already planning their gardens, choosing varieties, pondering over seeds. There's one thing about planting: no matter how hopelessly last year's garden turned out, whether the hail spoiled it or the neighbor's hens, yolk, stirring amateur gardener is ready to start again.

ROCKVILLE

PATRONAGE INTEREST GROWS IN ROCKVILLE

Both Republicans and Democrats Getting Anxious About Various Government Jobs.

The question of political patronage in Rockville is becoming a serious question to both Republicans and Democrats with neither side being able to secure any direct information from either Hartford or Washington. Interest centers principally on the postmasterhip and the judgeship in the Rockville City Court.

Notwithstanding the fact that the number of candidates for the postmasterhip has diminished down fifty per cent until there are practically only three candidates in the field, absolutely nothing has been done relative to picking the candidate whose name will be submitted for approval. Petitions have been signed by scores of people within the city and the different candidates and these petitions have been forwarded to U. S. Senator Augustine Lonergan at Washington who it is understood will have the awarding of patronage in Connecticut. Rockville is but one of the twenty or more vacancies which will occur in the postmasterhip this year.

The term of office of Postmaster George E. Dickinson, who has held the office for eight years, has expired and due to the deadlock in selecting a successor, Mr. Dickinson states that he has made no plans for the future. Rumors have been current that he will seek re-appointment in the post office service so that he may retire on a pension as he served many years in the post office department. Mr. Dickinson refuses to comment on this suggestion as it would mean the elimination of some employee in the post office. Rockville at the present time has more employees than the population ordinarily would require.

Dr. Edward G. Dolan of Manchester, recognized leader of the Roosevelt administration in delving out patronage in this section of Connecticut, who only recently returned from Washington, when asked the question of the appointment of the matter stated that he had "absolutely nothing to say." It has been reported that he made recommendations while in Washington last week.

The three candidates for the postmasterhip, recognized as having a possible chance of appointment from the list of six applicants, are as follows: Former Postmaster George Forster, former Mayor Frederick G. Hartenstein and Maurice L. Spurling.

The question of the appointment of Judge of the City Court of Rockville also a question which has excited much inquisitiveness during the past few weeks. For the first time in thirty years, Judge John E. Fisk, who has held the office continuously, has met with any opposition and this year it is very serious. Many of the political leaders in the Legislature admit the appointment is being held up because of the "possibility of securing a candidate acceptable to the present administration. Four candidates are now in the field, namely, Judge John E. Fisk, Associate Judge Edgar E. Dawkins, Dr. Thomas F. O'Loughlin, Francis McCarlin and John McKinstry. The latter three are newcomers and Associate Judge Dawkins has been nominated for re-appointment.

One of the strong political leaders who has been active in selecting candidates in the State Senate, admitted that the Democratic ranks lacked a satisfactory candidate so far.

Work On Roads Ready
The work of constructing the "dirt roads" in the town of Vernon under the state appropriation of $17,500 will be under way within ten days if the weather permits. Announcement has been received from John A. MacDonald, Highway Commissioner of the State of Connecticut, that the funds will be available on April 1st, whereas in the past they have not been available until late in June or July 1st. The work this year will be undertaken by the town of Vernon who has bid in the contract and will employ the men of Rockville and vicinity in need of employment.

PARK BOARD CORRECTS DANGEROUS CONDITION
The Board of Park Commissioners met this morning in the Park Superintendent's office to consider a dangerous condition that exists in Center Springs Park bordering Main street. It has been reported to the Board that children have been walking along the top of the park wall on which there is no guard rail. There is a drop of about 25 feet over the wall on the west side of Main street into the park and the Park Board decided to construct temporary barriers at this point to protect against possible injury to children.

The members of the Board made an inspection tour of the park and viewed the work done during the past several months by the workmen from the M. E. A. bureau under the park department approval.

BELIEVE FORECAST ERRORS CORRECTED

N. E. Weather Reports To Be More Accurate Following Information Changes.

Hartford, March 22.—For the first time since it was established more than fifty years ago, the Boston office of the U. S. Weather Bureau will this year receive reports covering "Laboratory high" and "all probability" take the New England weather forecasts out of the joke column. Information to this effect was received by the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce through its Committee on Weather Service, which has been in existence more than a year to secure for Connecticut and New England, forecasts comparable in accuracy to those furnished other parts of the country.

Considering the nation-wide drive for economy, the results thus far represent genuine achievement.

Painstaking investigation by the above mentioned committee developed the fact that New England was receiving admirable forecasts for nine months of every year. But the good work of those nine months was largely nullified in the public mind by inaccurate forecasts during April, May and June, when many people were spending their leisure time out of doors. These inaccurate forecasts were finally traced to the excessive temperature differential of those months, between the sun warmed air moving from west to east across the continent, and the ice chilled water moving from north to south down the Atlantic coast.

The effect of this temperature differential was found to be the greatest when a polar-continental mass of cold, dry, heavy air comes down across Labrador and reaches the New England coast. There it seems to linger and finally move on toward the east with less than normal speed. If meanwhile a barometric low had been coming steadily across the country, its progress would be abruptly checked by the presence of the "Laboratory high." Consequently predicted rain for New England might be 24 hours late in arriving and departing, when actual weather was checked against the forecast.

In order that these conditions, peculiar to New England, might receive more consideration by the authorities in Washington, the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce appealed last summer to the Secretary of Agriculture, and asked him to call for a special verification of New England forecasts for the months of April, May and June. Such verification has apparently borne fruit, since the Boston office of the Weather Bureau is henceforth to receive daily the weather observations from Belle Isle and Harrington Harbor, Labrador; Cape Race, Newfoundland; Dolau, Quebec; and Hattleybury, Ontario. Such observations will disclose the approach of a "Laboratory high" to the Boston office at least 24 hours earlier than heretofore.

In view of the improvement expected in New England forecasts, the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce is now directing attention to the special day-after-tomorrow probability, prepared by the Boston office and given out at 12:15 p. m. week days over radio station WBE. This service was started in April 1931, under a special dispensation by the Weather Bureau in Washington, secured through Director B. W. Ellis of the Extension Service at Stone, the particular benefit of farmers in New England is the only sec-

One I Love

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When JANET HILL learns BOLE CARLYLE has been breaking engagements with her to meet BETTY KENDALL, a society girl, she tells him their marriage is off. Janet is 23, pretty and secretary to BRUCE HAMILTON, advertising manager of Every Home Magazine.

She still loves Bole and cannot forget him. JEFF GRANT, young engineer who lives at the same rooming house as Janet, appears one night just in time to save her from a holdup man. Janet becomes interested in the SILVANI family, almost destitute. Jeff helps provide food and clothing for them and later they find a job for PAT SILVANI, the father.

Jeff and Janet become close friends. He helps her to help him select a gift for a girl and they buy a purse. When Janet sees in newspaper headlines that Bole has eloped with Betty Kendall she tells Jeff about her broken engagement and says she will never care for anyone else as long as she has Jeff.

A few days later Bruce Hamilton tells Janet he is leaving the magazine. The staff is to be reduced and her job will be gone. Hamilton says his sister, MISS CURTIS, needs a social secretary and that he has recommended Janet. She goes to see Mrs. Curtis.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIV

The maid in the smart gray uniform who opened the door said, "Yes, Mrs. Curtis is expecting you. Won't you come in?"

Janet was ushered into a sunlit living room and then the maid disappeared. It was a large room with green walls hung with a great many pictures. The heavy, wine-colored curtains at the windows had dropped to the floor and the sunlight, falling on the carpet, gave it a pattern of light and darkness. There seemed to be a good deal of furniture and yet somehow the room was not crowded. There were bookshelves between the windows and there was a fireplace with a mirror above the mantel. It was a pleasant room. Cheerful. Colorful. Comfortable.

Janet sank into a chair to wait. She had never seen a room like this before. She had never been either. Janet sat up very straight, feeling a trifle self-conscious.

Then she heard footsteps and a woman with gray hair appeared in the doorway.

"I am Mrs. Curtis," she said. "And you are Miss Hill? How do you do?"

Mrs. Curtis moved forward. She was slightly less than medium height, a stout little woman with the pink and white complexion that often goes with stoutness. She had a head that was double chin. Impossible to imagine anyone more in contrast to Bruce Hamilton's spare, rangy figure and yet there was something that was alike about them.

Janet arose. "Yes, I'm Miss Hill," she said. "I'm Hamilton told me you're looking for a secretary."

The woman motioned Janet back into her chair and sank into one facing it.

"Yes," she said, nodding. "It's my brother's secretary. He never had a secretary but since my daughter was married I've been alone here. Perhaps too much alone! My brother tells me you're very efficient."

It was the dark eyes, Janet decided, that made Mrs. Curtis and Mr. Hamilton look alike. Only Mrs. Curtis was little and plump and ineffectual while Bruce Hamilton was big and brusque and dictatorial. Janet found herself quite suddenly agreeing with Hamilton that his sister did need someone to manage her affairs.

She smiled. "I've been at the Every Home office for over two years," she said. "The work would be different, I imagine, but I'd try to do it just as you wanted me to."

That seemed to be all there was to it. Janet sat for 10 or 15 minutes longer and listened while Mrs. Curtis talked rather vaguely about the duties she wanted her secretary to take over. She didn't ask questions about Janet's past experience. She didn't even say definitely that Janet was hired for the position but seemed to assume that was understood.

"When would you want me to come to work?" the girl asked.

"Is next Monday too soon?"

No, Janet said, it wasn't too soon. Hamilton had arranged that she was to be free at the end of the week.

"About the salary—" Janet began hesitantly.

Mrs. Curtis gave a little exclamation. "I'd forgotten all about that!" she said. "Dear me! Dear me! Well, of course, you're to live here in the house and there'll be no expenses of any sort. Would $30 a week be satisfactory to begin with?"

Janet computed rapidly. Thirty dollars a week with no living expenses was considerably more than she had been earning at the Every Home office. Why, it was almost equal to $50!

"That will be satisfactory," she said. "And I'll be ready to go to work Monday morning."

There was a light sound beside her and Janet turned. A huge yellow Persian cat wearing a blue ribbon about its neck stood eyeing her. The cat arched its neck indignantly.

"Oh, there's Buster!" Mrs. Cur-

THERE'S NO BREAK HERE

Irate wives now can throw plates at their husbands, with no harm done either husband or dishes, for rubber plates, cups, saucers, bowls and other dishes are now being manufactured.

Made from a new rubber-base material called plicoform, the dinner tableware comes in attractive mottled and opalescent effects, in lovely colors that are highly decorative and attractive. Dishes made of plicoform are unbreakable, are tasteless and odorless and resistant to scratches.

He exclaimed. "He always comes to see who's here. Buster, come say how-do-you-do to Miss Hill!"

The cat, instead of showing any signs of friendliness, remained planted where it was.

"It's a beautiful creature," Janet said admiringly. This was the animal, of course, of which Hamilton had spoken. It was plain to be seen that Buster was a favored member of the household.

"I've had him since he was a kitten," Mrs. Curtis explained. "He's three years old now and such an intelligent cat."

All at once Buster interrupted this conversation. Slowly he stroled forward and brushed against Janet's knee. He said, "Me-ow!" and then, lightly, gracefully, leaped into her lap.

"Why, Buster!" Mrs. Curtis cried. "Why did you ever see anything like that? Imagine, getting right into your lap. Buster never makes friends with strangers so quickly. Well, now, isn't that wonderful?"

It didn't seem particularly wonderful to Janet but it did seem to settle one thing. Since Buster had accepted her there was no doubt but that Janet was hired as Mrs. Curtis' social secretary. When she left the house a few minutes later it was with the understanding that on the following Monday she would return.

Hamilton seemed pleased when she reported this to him. The other girls at the office asked questions curiously. They wanted to know what a social secretary did. Would it mean going to parties and meeting a lot of swell society people? Janet laughed and said no, she was quite sure it didn't. Pauline Hayden urged Janet to call her up occasionally and she promised that she would.

It was a busy week and the days flew by. At the office Hamilton was trying to wind up outstanding accounts, to get work done that would make it easier for his successor to take the reins. He had innumerable conferences with the business manager. He would let correspondence wait or sandwich it in between appointments and then Janet would have to work until nearly six transcribing her notes.

Mrs. Snyder regretted losing a steady roomer, "one who was always ready with the rent money and no trouble at all," but she took the news of Janet's departure philosophically. She had never, she said, been one to tell others how to manage their own affairs. "And if some day Janet wanted to come back she'd be more than welcome."

Mollie Lambert was more outspoken. Mollie was frankly envious when Janet told her about the beautiful home in which she was to live. "Good, what a break!" she exclaimed. "But I guess you deserve it. Maybe you'll invite me out some time, will you?"

"Why, of course I will!" Mollie eyed the other girl. "That'll be sweet. You know what

PARENTAL REMORSE MAY SPOIL A CHILD

"Oh, Doctor, if she only lives I'll do anything—anything on earth for her. She must live!"

The doctor patted Helen's shoulder encouragingly. "I think we'll pull her through," he said, taking one more glance at the feverish little patient on the bed. "Keep up now, that's a good girl! But you have already done everything on earth for her. You have been a fine mother. Everyone knows that."

Helen went off to try to get some sleep under his orders. But it was useless. She had been a good mother, the doctor said. But had she?

Thoughts crowded through her brain. The Saturday Polly had wanted to go to see "Beauty and the Beast" with the other little girls of her crowd. The tickets were a dollar and a half, and she, Helen, had had an economical spell. Polly cried all the afternoon. Then the day she had coaxed to wear her new dress to school and she had been refused again.

Harrassed by Memories

And the day she, Helen, had a headache and Polly had turned on the radio, only to be called upstairs and hysterically upbraided by her mother. Days, days, days! Days she would give her right arm for each of both arms, if only she could call them back and live them over again.

If Polly should die these maddening memories would kill her. She had been a good mother, as she said, reading books and trying to discipline the child so as to build up character. Sometimes, too often, she had been impatient, but in the main she had kept her head.

I bet, Janet? I bet you'll meet some rich fellow out there and he'll fall in love with you. That's what'll happen. He'll fall in love with you and you'll get married."

"Mollie!" Janet exclaimed. "Don't be silly! Why how could anything like that happen?"

"Why couldn't it, I'd like to know?"

"Just because it couldn't. I'm going to Mrs. Curtis' to work! I'm not going to marry any young man, rich or otherwise."

"Well, if you don't you're a terrible dumbbell. That's all I've got to say. Boy—don't I wish I was in your shoes! Social secretary, huh? I've read about 'em in books. Always times I saw a picture with a girl like that in it. Key Francis played the part. Say—did she have a swell time?"

Janet laughed. "But this isn't the movies, Mollie. Listen, would you like to have my cooking dish-bob going to market or many work at the office and busy evenings at home there was one person to whom she forgot to tell the news. She remembered Thursday evening as she stepped off the car and saw a familiar figure ahead. Janet stood forward. "Hello, Jeff," she called.

The figure turned. "Oh—Janet! I was thinking about you. What do you say we hunt up a movie tonight? Would you like to?"

The girl's voice was regretful. "I'm sorry, Janet, but I'm afraid I can't. I'm going away—"

Jeff Grant stood still. "Going away?" he repeated. "What do you mean?"

VELVET FOR SPRING EVENINGS

Scarf-Like Wraps Are Fascinating

One of Lelong's most popular evening wraps is of the scarf variety made of bottle green velvet, over a crepe chiffon dress with a dark green ground and pinkish floral design.

By ROSEBET HARGROVE

Paris, March 22.—When Paris has understood perfectly the necessity, in these strenuous times, for practical, reasonable and altogether matter-of-fact day clothes, she strongly believes in setting aside all worries and cares when evening comes and urges women to go forth dressed in the most glamorous of fabrics.

And to meet changed conditions, meaning restricted dress allowances, the couturiers seem to have concentrated on producing clothes that are beautiful and formal without the aid of expensive furs or other trimmings, thereby considerably reducing the cost.

The popularity of velvet for evening wear is comprehensible. It is by far the most luscious of all fabrics, both to the eye and to the touch. In the cool summer weaves, velvet is the staple fabric for evening wraps for the coming summer and of these there is a variety of styles that almost defy description.

Knee-Length in Style

The knee-length type of garment, swinging loose from the shoulders, finished off with an intricate bow scarf at the neck and with sleeves fur-trimmed or not strikes a new note.

Augustabernard sponsors this style and does it most effectively. She showed several in her spring collection, the most attractive being fashioned in the new "velours d'ete" in a curious shade of smoke grey with a distinctly yellow glow to it. This was worn over a pale amber yellow flat crepe frock. Two bands of sable outlined the loose seven-eighths sleeves, but many of her other models were without any trimming at all.

Short Wraps in Variety

In the short wraps category, there are a number of new ideas to be gleaned, which clever women can vary easily profit by.

Lucien Lelong has a number of these bolero-wrap wraps, each more fascinating than the other. Some are merely long scarf-like arrange-

EYE INFECTIONS MAY BE SOURCE OF DANGER

Conjunctivitis Most Common Infection; Other Troubles Require Constant Care To Save Eyesight; Styes Often Serious.

This is the fourth of a series of articles on disease of the eye by Dr. Fishbein.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

The most common form of infection of the eye is conjunctivitis, which means an inflammation of the conjunctiva, the covering which lines the eyelids and runs on to the eyeball. This may become infected by any one of several different germs. Generally there is burning and smarting of the eyelids, formation of pus, intense reddened appearance of the lids which may spread to the eyeball, and, usually associated with this, sensitivity to light and the pouring out of tears.

The treatment given by the physician varies according to the character of the germ that produces the infection and according to the extent of the infection. One germ produces the condition called "pink eye." Shortly after this germ gets into the eyes they become reddened, the lids will be found glued together in the morning, and there will also be swelling and puffiness. Sometimes this disease is transmitted by the use of a common towel, and in other cases by soiled hands.

In treating such infections the doctor usually advises hot fomentations which are put on the eyes for five minutes at a time; sometimes recommending that boric acid or which has been added to the hot water. It is not well, however, to take such infections lightly. It is safer to be certain of the exact nature of the condition.

For instance, trachoma is a very serious infection also affecting the eyelids and there are infections of the same organism which produce venereal diseases. These infections are so serious that they may spread to the cornea, causing large ulcers, with partial or complete loss of eyesight.

In the case of such infections of the eye, it may be necessary to use treatment that is practically constant day and night, in order to save the eyesight. Indeed, most physicians recommend, under such circumstances, that the patient be put in the hospital.

There are also numerous small glands in the eyelids which secrete oily material so that the eyeball is lubricated when the eyelids pass over it. When one of these glands becomes infected, it is filled with pus. This is the common condition called stye, also known scientifically as hordeolum. In a few days the stye, like any ordinary pimple, comes to head and breaks, then the pus escapes.

If the stye is not properly treated and the source of the infection eliminated, one stye will follow another and they persist for a long time. If the stye does not open itself and if it is not opened, it will tend to be cleared up from within, in which case a hard lump may be left which is filled with scar tissue. This tends to enlarge, and it is best under such circumstances to have the lump, called chalazion, removed by a physician.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON
A FINE TALE OF THE SEA

It may be that "Grain Race," by Alan Villiers, isn't really nearly as good a book as it seems to me to be. Just at this moment it impresses me as being one of the finest stories of the sea in existence.

In it Mr. Villiers describes the last days of sail. The mighty windjammers of his book are the last of the square-riggers. There are only about a score of them on all the seas they are vanishing fast and when they go they are not replaced. Within a few years they will all be gone, and there probably will never be any more.

Last year Mr. Villiers became half-owner of the Parma, an old square-rigger which was one of 18 such vessels engaged in the grain trade from Australia to England. His book tells of the voyage—a voyage which developed into a sort of unofficial race with each trying to out-sail its rivals. The Parma won—but not without a tussle.

Off Cape Horn she met a hurricane in which she nearly foundered; and Mr. Villiers' description of this storm is as exciting as anything in the great literature of the sea.

His crew was young—most of the sailors were under 20; and he could have shipped a thousand youths, if he had had room, so great was the number of young men anxious to sail on a square-rigger. He had a great voyage and he has made a great book out of it. "Grain Race" rates a place on the shelf beside Dana and Conrad.

Published by Scribner's, it sells for $3.

The maximum temperature on Mars is around freezing; and the nights are far below zero, says Dr. Edison Pettit, California astronomer. And, one might add, pretty much the same conditions obtain in some apartment buildings.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

Spring is the time to start walking to work.

If you live so far you can't walk all the way, start at least 15 minutes early and get your lungs full of good, fresh air before boarding a street car, subway or bus.

If you live near enough to really walk all the way, why not do it? What if you do have to rise earlier and start a half hour before your usual time?

There is so much of interest along the way, of a spring morning, that you'll find your mind forgetting your own worries and picking up by little incidents that amuse you or perhaps you'll find flowers that catch your eye and make such a pretty picture that you will think of them afterwards.

The good effects of a walk early mornings, when you are fresh, is more than mental, however. English people understand the value of walking. Americans have always been too hurried. Walking, without rushing, gives all your body a chance to relax and exercise. Circulation improves. So do digestion and appetite. And the good, fresh air you get into your lungs is a reservoir of strength against the day's work and worry.

If you can form the daily habit of both a morning and a night's "burn" around a few blocks, you are building up an escape from all kinds of trouble for yourself. You'll find you can "walk out" your perplexing problems. Even a broken heart is better for a long walk. Try it!

BOSTON, TORONTO TAKE HOCKEY LEAGUE HONORS AS SEASON NEARS END

Brains and Maple Leafs Are Winners in Respective Divisions of National Loop; Announce Playoff Pairings and Dates for Stanley Cup.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
New York, March 22.—(AP)—Just two days before the end of the 1932-33 National Hockey League season, all the places in the standings of the two divisions finally have been settled. The season ends tomorrow. The deciding games were played last night at the Boston Bruins' home, the New York Rangers 3-2 and the lowly Ottawa Senators blanking the Montreal Maroons 3-0.

The Bruins victory gave Boston first place in the American division by the slimmest of possible margins and definitely settled the Rangers in third place. Although Toronto took an unexpected 4-3 setback from the New York Americans, who are out of the playoffs, the Leafs were assured of first place in the international group by Montreal's defeat.

Boston concluded its season tied in games won, lost and tied with the Detroit Red Wings, who played their last game Saturday, but the Bruins scored and defense record gave them first place. The league decides such ties on the basis of goal averages and the Bruins are up 12.7 tallies against 83 for their opponents while the Wings scored 111 and had 83 scored against them despite Johnny Roach's sensational goal tending.

The Pairings
Thus the lineup for the playoffs, which start over the coming weekend, is Boston against Toronto in three out of five games for the league championship and a place in the Stanley Cup finals. The Maroons against Detroit and the Rangers against the Montreal Canadiens in two-game total-goal series between the second and third place teams. The winners of these two playoffs will meet in a similar semi-final to decide the second finalist.

Alex Smith, veteran defenseman who came to the Bruins in February expected to help Shore and Hiltzman over a rough spot, won himself a first string berth, played the leading role in Boston's final victory. He scored two goals, including the winning tally, with his smashing southpaw shots at the end of "power" attacks. Young Chaz Hestmer netted the other Bruin counter.

Ottawa, fixed firmly in last place, handed Toronto the international division lead with one big period, the second. Little Cooney, Wendell set the pace, passing to Allan Shields for one goal and scoring another unassisted in less than three minutes of play. The Maroons failed to get going until the final period and they couldn't connect.

The Americans, who can tie the Canadiens on points but have too many ties and too few victories to win third place, left their defense out to Goals Roy Worters and went out to score. The results were surprising as Worters was unbeatible in the last two periods and the A's came from behind to win.

Detroit, its season over, got in a little practice by beating an all-star amateur team 10-4.
Dates of Playoffs
Montreal, Que., March 22.—(AP)—Here are the dates for the National Hockey League's annual playoff series for the Stanley Cup:
First place series, best three out of five games, Boston Bruins vs. Toronto Maple Leafs: First and second games at Boston, Saturday, March 25, and Tuesday, March 28; third game, at Toronto, Thursday, March 30; fourth and fifth games, if necessary, at Toronto, Saturday, April 1, and Tuesday, April 4.

Second place series, two games, total goals to count, Detroit Red Wings vs. Montreal Maroons: First game at Montreal, Saturday, March 25; second game, at Detroit, Tuesday, March 28.

The two-game, total-goal series between the winners of the Detroit-Maroon and Canadiens-Rangers series, will be held on Thursday, March 30, and Saturday, April 1, or Sunday, April 2.

No definite dates were set for the Stanley Cup finals in which the ultimate survivor of the second and third place series faces the winner of the first place series but it will be held shortly after the Boston-Toronto series has been completed.

METCALFE AVENGES HIS SOLE DEFEAT

Beats Toppino To Win Canadian Indoor Sprint Crown in 60-Yard Dash.

Toronto, March 22.—(AP)—Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette University's great dash man, has added the Canadian indoor sprint crown to his championship trophies and avenges, at the same time, his sole defeat of the board track season.

Metcalfe set up a new Canadian record of 6.2 seconds in winning the 60-yard title of the Canadian championships here last night, nosing out Bert Pearson, Hamilton schoolboy, and Emmett Toppino of New Orleans in a blanket finish. It was Toppino who handed Metcalfe his only defeat of the indoor season. The Southerner had to content with third place last night, trailing both Metcalfe and Pearson to the tape.

Glen Cunningham, university of Kansas miller, George Spitz of New York University, and Milton Sander of the German-American A. C., New York, also turned in impressive victories.

Cunningham, abandoning his specialty for the time being, easily won the two-mile title, beating Lloyd Longman of Toronto by a wide margin in the comparatively slow time of 9:39.6.

Spitz, world's indoor record holder in the high jump at six feet 8 1/2 inches, cleared six feet seven inches to win his specialty. Sandier came fast in the last 150 yards to win the 500 yard title by a yard from Arthur Mullish of Toronto in 1:17.4.

Phil Edwards, Canadian Olympic runner, staged a comeback and defeated Ned Turner of the University of Michigan in the 1,000 yards event in 2:17.4.

JERSEY CITY CLUB IS GIVEN BACKING

Will Function Again As Part of International Baseball League.

New York, March 22.—(AP)—Assured financial and player assistance, Sam Colacurcio was going ahead today with plans to continue operation of the Jersey City Club of the International Baseball League. All efforts to sell the franchise having failed, the league directors closed a special session here yesterday by agreeing to let Colacurcio operate the club again this season.

Although he failed to raise the $10,000 asked of the league on Monday as evidence that he could successfully operate the franchise as a business, the league approved by the board of directors.

He has been promised financial assistance, as well, by the league, and the preference of any players other club in the circuit put up for sale. Several major league outfits, notably the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, also have promised him playing material.

Clarence Rowland, manager of the Reading-Albany club last year, was understood to have the inside track for the Jersey City managerial job, although Ed Holley, former manager of the Montreal Royals, also was said to be under consideration.

Thus has been settled a knotty problem created Nov. 1 when the Brooklyn Dodgers, operators of the club last year, declined to take up an option to purchase the franchise. That forced the club back into Colacurcio's hands with heavy debts and only eight players.

The club's debts, about $100,000, have been reduced to about $40,000, the league cancelling its notes while the Yankees, St. Louis Cardinals and several minor league clubs agreed to settle their claims for 25 cents on the dollar.

THREE TEAMS FROM TEXAS IN QUARTER FINALS CAGE PLAY

Defending Champs Still in Running in National A. A. U. Women's Tourney; Beauty Prize Awarded.

Wichita, Kas., March 22.—(AP)—Texas teams continued to dominate the National A. A. U. women's basketball tournament today as a trio of sextets from the Lone Star State prepared for play in the quarter-finals.

The Golden Cyclones of Dallas, former champions, and Fort Worth advanced by decisive victories. Houston enjoyed a day of rest, having entered the quarter-finals by default.

The fourth Texas entry, the Crazy Cardinals of Canadian, were eliminated. Other representatives still in the running were the defending champions, the Cardinals from the Oklahoma Presbyterian College for Women at Durant; the Wichita, Kas., Thurston's, former titleholders; the Shreveport, Louisiana Cigarettes, featuring the two stars, Irene Hamann and Little "Jackey" Haupa; the Steuben Club of Kansas City and El Dorado, Ark. The Arkansasans 29 to 25 victory over Tulsa, Okla., Business College was the only upset of the tournament to date.

The Louisiana sextet, rated as dangerous contender because of the possible addition of Quinnee Hamm Toler, sister of Irene, swamped the Jacksonville, Fla., Shamrocks, 42-16. The Floridians, however, carried away one of the major honors of the tournament in that one of its members, Mybil Stumph, statuesque brunette, was acclaimed the beauty queen.

Tonight, in one of the lower brackets games, the Shreveport team meets the Wichita Thurston's, who encountered 'tilt trouble in defeating Cleveland, Tenn., 81-14. The other contenders in the bracket are the Golden Cyclones who gained a top-heavy 46-19 decision over the Chandler-Cement, Okla., team, and El Dorado, Ark.

The Durant candidates never were threatened in eliminating Lenora, Kas., 52 to 11, and tonight meet the Fort Worth entry, which ran up the largest score of the meet in beating Ashdown, Ark., 60 to 20. Babe Haden, Fort Worth forward, scored eight field goals and free throws to set a new high individual mark for the present tournament.

In moving into a quarter round berth in which they meet Houston, the Steuben Club never was challenged and won 47-17 from the Canadian, Texas team.

Harris Changes Tigers To Put Power In Bats

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the ninth of a series in which the chances of the big league teams in training camp are carefully surveyed.

By BILL BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Editor

New York, March 22.—With better pitching, catching, infield and outfield prospects than Buckey Harris has had in his four years as Detroit manager, the Tigers this spring appear to be a first division ball club. What's needed is hitting.

Harris depends upon three important changes to improve materially the Tigers' batting average. These changes are center field, third base and shortstop. In center will be Ervin "Pete" Fox, who hit .357 at Beaumont last year and was voted the most valuable player in the Texas League. At short will be Marvin Owen, who hit .317 for Toronto and Newark in 1933 and was voted the most valuable player in the International League. Greenberg, at third, is expected to hit close to .300.

Other improvements in hitting are expected from Gehrig, who fell away last year from his normal stride of about .325, and Harris Davis, a new man last year who showed toward the end of the season that he was beginning to find out what big league pitching was all about.

The Tigers were in second place in July last year, but suffered a disastrous slump when the hitting missed and the pitching wilted. This year Detroit has added the best relief pitcher since Fred Marberry, who was retained in a trade with Washington—and Fred should bolster this department substantially. The Tigers would have taken six more games from the Yankees than they won last year if there had been a pitcher of Marberry's class around to protect leads run up in the first six innings.

Bridges, whose great fault last year was wildness, appears to be ready for stardom. A great deal is expected from Hogsett, who was one of the few hitters who beat the Yanks three times last season. Southpaw Carl Fischer has added needed weight and should pitch better for Detroit than he did for Washington and St. Louis because he works best on cool days. Righthander Ivey Goetzstein was unbeatible after Detroit tamed him to Beaumont last summer, and will figure strongly in this year's plans.

Lyndon "Schoolboy" Rowe, a young giant who won 19 games for Beaumont in 1932, his first year in organized baseball, is the most promising of the recruit pitchers. The staff, with Sorrell and Uhle to round it out, is definitely an improvement over last year's.

Harris is confident that the team will do better than last year, when any kind of breaks would have landed the Tigers in the first division ahead of Cleveland.

Outfielder Stone, in a slump last year, hit .297. If he regains his normal batting stride, if Fox comes through, and if Gerald Walker maintains his .333 clout-ting average of last year, the Tigers can't miss a first division outfit, even though there are no high hopes for a pennant this year.

HARD GAMES AHEAD FOR BUFFALO TEAM

Bisons Must Defeat Syracuse To Clinch International Honors.

New York, March 22.—(AP)—The Buffalo Bisons have concluded the first half of their International Hockey League playoff program with a record of unbroken triumph but the toughest part, as it looks now, still is to come.

The Bisons whipped the Windsor Bulldogs by a 1-1 count on Wednesday, and the Bisons can't be sure of winning the title until these are disposed of. Windsor, with three straight defeats, is practically out of the running and the London Tecumsehans, with only one point, are not much better off.

So far Buffalo has beaten Windsor twice and taken a 2-0 overtime decision from London, which was first in the regular season standing.

Roter Roth, Bison center, set a burning pace in the first two periods to put the game away. He passed to Lorne Carr for the first-period goal, and rang up two more on unassisted efforts in the second while Roger Cormier was setting the only Windsor tally, a three-minute burst late in the third frame completed the rout as Schulz, Godin and Lederman tallied in quick succession.

The next game of the playoff series is scheduled for tomorrow with Syracuse invading London.

Getzewich Bows to Champ; Meets Strangler Tonight

Al Getzewich, young local wrestler who gained fame in the matted circle as the "Red Devil," lasted thirty-six minutes and thirty seconds against Jim Browning, claimant of the world's wrestling championship, in a one-fall title bout at the New Haven Arena last night. Getzewich made a remarkable showing against his older, heavier and more experienced opponent but finally succumbed to Browning's

FINAL SERIES BATTLE MAY CROWN NEW TOWN CHAMP

MILLER IS WINNER OVER SPEEDY DADO

Retains Featherweight Title By Winning Eight Out of Ten Rounds.

Los Angeles, March 22.—(AP)—Freddie Miller, National Boxing Association featherweight champion, scanned the western horizon today for another challenger.

The clever Cincinnati southpaw last night pushed his third opponent in California into the discard in his many weeks when he won eight of 10 rounds from Speedy Dado, fast Filipino. Baby Arismendi and Little Dempsey were the other victims.

Miller was more impressive in his triumph over Dado than against the little Mexico City boy in his first appearance here February 28. He knocked the Filipino to the floor for a six count in the second round, with a sweeping high right to the head less than ten seconds before the end of the session.

Dado made a brave comeback in the third, the only round he won, by crossing a strong right to the chin early and following up the advantage as Miller became panicky for a brief period. From that point on it was very much the champion's fight.

He rocked Dado with sturdy lefts to the head in the fourth, and had his opponent in a bad way through the last three rounds, but couldn't quite finish him off. The seventh was even.

While Miller's victory was expected, Dado fought in better form than in any of his recent engagements. His willingness to bore in, although hard hit, kept the 4,700 spectators, who didn't hail all the Olympic Auditorium, in a state of frenzy.

FILLERS TRIP BUCKLAND

The Fillers took a confident shooting circus outfit from Buckland into camp last night, 36-34, with a rally in the last quarter that netted them 14 points and the right to play the North Ends for the 2 championship. The game started out to be a low scoring walkaway for the Fillers but Kasalaskus and Daigle tossed in short shots that made the game close until they ran up a substantial lead in the third period.

Going into the last period Korch Novak and Katskevick heaped buckets to put the Fillers back into the running again. Korch's shot put the Fillers ahead with about a minute to play and Buckland could not get the ball in time for another hoop. Katskevick scored on the Fillers' points in the first period.

Rec Five Has Shown Astonishing Reversal of Form and May Come Through in Deciding Game Friday Night; Guards Will Have To Be In Best Form To Retain Cage Title.

The town title basketball series to date has been a series of contradictions and these same contradictions will probably play an important part in the outcome of the third and deciding game between the Rec Five and the National Guards at the State Armory Friday night. On the basic title workout, neither team is given better than a 50-50 chance to come through with a victory and all indications point to a hard fought close battle from start to finish.

Rec Spring Surprise
The Rec Five was conceded little chance of extending its town championship in the series. But the Recs displayed an astonishing reversal of their season's form in the opening game and played the Guards off their feet to gain a well earned 45 to 40 triumph. Doppers shook their heads and claimed the Recs were off form because of the small floor, etc. and more etc, including the statement that the game was "in the bag."

In the second game at the Armory the Guards were expected to have a nice little workout. Against the old Recs bucket received a run even when the Recs again flashed remarkable form only to lose in the closing minutes of play, when the Guards pulled ahead by sinking several shots from the complimentary clinic. In both games, the Rec Five had the edge as far as basketball ability was concerned.

The Guards, on the other hand, have failed to show the amazing form which they demonstrated in many of the season's games. They have not been off to any extent, at least not enough to detract from the Recs splendid showing. But in both games the Guards have been just another good basketball team, without once displaying the brilliance that brought eighteen victories in twenty-six starts.

The outcome of Friday night's game seems to rest on whether or not the Rec Five can continue to play in top notch form, or whether or not the Guards can reach their peak. It is entirely possible that their will be a let down on both teams, which would result in a regulated, mediocre game. If both teams are clicking perfectly the Guards should have the edge, but actual results have a way of disproving all theories that look good on paper and the forthcoming encounter will undoubtedly not prove an exception to the rule.

As it stands now, both teams have a equal chance of winning. This department claps calloused hands in the direction of the Rec Five but again picks the Guards to retain the title. The Guards will have to accomplish something sensational and spectacular in division if they are to glory. The Recs have so completely demonstrated their superiority in the first two games that the town title, if it goes to the Guards, will certainly be nothing but an empty honor. It will be a moral victory for the Rec Five.

TO RUN IN MARATHON
Boston, March 22.—(AP)—The famous Boston A. A. Marathon today seemed assured of its usual international coloring for Shooro Johanson of Stockholm, Sweden, who has been in this country about 10 days, has started training for that April 19 event.

Johanson is no stranger to American competition for he first came to this country in 1920 and located in Fontana, where he was disappointed in several 10-mile races. His best performance was made last year when he finished third in the continental long-distance race at Toronto, Italy. The distance of this race was 83 kilometers, 500 meters, about 500 meters longer than the regulation marathon distance. It was won by Mihail Panelli of Italy, who finished 19th in the Olympic marathon at Los Angeles last summer.

ARREST C. E. MITCHELL FOR NOT PAYING TAXES

(Continued From Page One) Mass., who worked himself up from a clerkship to the front ranks of finance, resigned as head of the National City Bank and its securities affiliate, the National City Company, as the result of reaction to his testimony before a Senate committee Feb. 21.

"I am not willing," he wrote, "that the criticism which has been directed at me as the result of public misunderstanding of my testimony shall in any part be a part of my account."

He had testified, among other things, that in 1929, he sold 18,000 shares of his family stock to a member of his family "frankly for the purpose" of deducting his income tax.

The government charges that he purported to sell it for $212 a share, and purported to buy it back at the same price, although the stock then was selling at about $40. It is alleged that no money passed, and that the purported sales were made by exchange of letters between the banker and his wife.

At the Senate committee hearing, Senator Brookhart demanded: "That sale was just really a sale of convenience to reduce your income tax?"

Admits It "Yes," the banker replied. "It was a sale frankly for that purpose, where you hoped the buyer would be able to make a profit. And it was bought with the idea of making a profit. But the accumulator's loss was so great that I offered and did buy the stock back this year at what had been paid for it. And I hold today that stock."

The complaint on which the warrant was based said that Mitchell had a gross income for 1929 totaling $3,006,705 and including: Salaries, wages, etc., $1,206,180. Interest on bank deposits and bonds, $140,105.

Profits of sales of stock and bonds, $1,388,237. Dividends, $262,874. Taxable interest on liberty bonds, $4,789.

Director's fees, $4,503. Mitchell's arrest followed by a few hours the indictment of Horace C. Sylvester, Jr., a vice president of the National City Company. Sylvester was accused of forging in the third degree in ordering a false entry in the company's books.

This case also grew out of testimony before the Senate committee. The testimony was that Sylvester lent John R. Ramsey, general man-

His statements drew a quick response from the Nationalist Party leader, who asserted that the followers of Hugenberg always had stood for a Nationalist Germany.

That the Nazis introduced a Nazi benches when he said: "Some day, I hope, we shall see a Hohenzollern back on the throne of Germany."

The House accepted the Nazi state or official without a record vote.

Then the Nazis introduced a sweeping change in the House rules, insisting upon acceptance without debate. The new rules give the speaker power to decline to recognize or to choke off any "obstructionist" in debate, to prevent any appeal from the decision of the chair.

To forestall the possibility of obstruction by an opposition boycott of the Diet meetings, which might be a Speaker's prerogative to strike from the payroll any uncooperative member, to withdraw his free railway pass and to exclude him from Diet meetings for ninety days.

Then the Diet adjourned subject to the call of the chairman of the Emergency Decees.

This afternoon President von Hindenburg signed two emergency decrees prepared by the government. They provide for imprisonment at hard labor for malicious dissemination of reports damaging to the prestige of the nation, the government, or the political parties supporting the government.

Imprisonment at hard labor, and in extreme cases death, is provided for the malicious possession of uniforms or insignia of the government parties without proper qualification, or for the commission of illegal acts with the intention of terrorizing the people or of causing difficulties with foreign governments.

One of the decrees grants amnesty to persons imprisoned for past offenses committed in the heat of the battle for national resurgence, but warns that no further clemency will be extended.

OPEN FORUM

MILK PRICES Editor, Manchester Evening Herald:

I feel that your editorial entitled "Milk Prices" is not quite fair to the dairy farmers in this section, so I would like to say a few words in their defense, hoping that you may see the situation in a different light.

You say that the producers are trying to force an increase in the price of milk. I believe it would be more correct to say that the farmers are trying to get the dealers to share half of the burden of the March first price drop of two cents.

The farmers feel that they are entitled to a larger share of the price paid by the consumer and are fighting for their share to an increase in the price to the consumer. Today the retail price of average milk is ten cents and the family farmer only gets about two or three cents, some claiming to get less than two cents. The average farmer is not complaining because the state is about 30 per cent but he is demanding that he be paid somewhere near the cost of production so that he will not go too far into the hole.

The small milk dealers in Manchester have, I believe, always tried to give their product at a price, but the large dealers have always squeezed the farmer down and the smaller dealers simply have to follow along to keep their business. Of course the surplus milk is the real trouble in the trouble but the large dealers always want a lions share of the consumer's dollar.

Regarding the surplus milk problem in Connecticut the only workable plan yet presented to me is the surplus was presented last Friday by the Litchfield County Farm Bureau Dairy Committee headed by Mr. Woodward which is as follows:

It was found that the actual surplus in the state is about 30 per cent of the entire cow population, approximately. Therefore, if these cows could be kept out of the surplus milk would be decreased about ten per cent. This will be done by requiring all animals brought into the state to be accredited. Another ten per cent of the surplus could be taken care of by getting the Legislature to increase the T. B. tests to remove twice as many cows as the department is now doing in its eradication work.

These plans would cover the surplus about twenty per cent leaving to which most dealers feel is required to carry on business. The price of milk to the consumer would not be increased but the farmers would receive considerable more and the market for cattle under the state would be benefited greatly. Dairying is Connecticut's largest agricultural industry and it will not be very long after dairy farmers get on their feet that it will be reflected in the amount of business done by the merchants in lower prices.

PERIOD FURNITURE EXHIBITED AT "Y"

Second in Series of Lectures On Interior Decorating Is Given Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon at the Home-makers' Group Miss Adeline Grier of "The Gateway Shop" gave the second in a series of four lectures on "Interior Decoration." The first talk was on "Art in Everyday Life" and yesterday's talk was on "Period Furniture." Miss Grier showed the different periods in history reflected on the different periods of furniture. Beautiful pieces of furniture and drapery materials from Watkins Brothers were used to show the different periods in furniture development. These talks give the women an excellent opportunity to learn of these things from an expert in her field. Over thirty women attended the lecture in spite of the bad weather and were well repaid for their effort. Next Tuesday Miss Grier will give a talk on Pottery and Accessories.

This afternoon the Public Health Nurse held a clinic at the Y. M. C. A. to afford an opportunity for the mothers who live near the building to confer with the nurses and receive advice and suggestions on matters where they need help. This is the first of these clinics and it is hoped that the women will take advantage of them.

New Haven, March 22.—(AP)—A bankruptcy schedule filed by John Anderson Kimber of Westport, gave debts of $25,011 and assets of $9,883.

PRESIDENT PLANS FARM RELIEF NEXT

Passage of Bill Assured As Both Parties Are Strongly For the Measure.

Washington, March 22.—(AP) Congress completed the job on beer legislation today, a flourish of Vice-President Garner's pen sending the bill to the White House for President Roosevelt to sign into law.

Next item of the Roosevelt program, meanwhile advanced to a vote in the House with passage of the bill assured by strong support in both parties. The bill was destined then for the Senate where difficulties were believed to lie in its path.

Delay interrupted the course of the newest presidential recommendation, that for establishing a civilian "conservation corps" employing a quarter million men in reforestation work. The House labor probably will be called as well as William Green, president of the Federation of Labor, who opposes the plan.

Confidence Report The Senate by adopting a conference report sent to the White House a bill of $5,000,000 of Reconstruction loans to the earthquake sufferers of California. It delayed action on the nomination of Judge Robert W. Bingham, Louisville publisher, to be ambassador to London, and then turned its attention to the state bank bill, under which Federal Reserve credit would be made available to non-member state banks in need of aid.

This measure was not immediately ready so a recess was taken until later in the afternoon so the bill could be printed.

House floor leader Byrnes forecast approval by this session of a bill to continue the present one cent a gallon Federal gas tax.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, March 22.—(AP)—The Stock Market developed a better tone today, after yesterday's shakeout.

A little further selling was absorbed during the morning, but losses of fractions to 2 points had mostly been regained by early afternoon, when many leaders showed net gains of fractions to more than a point the list turned extremely dull, however. U. S. government after an early setback.

The utilities, particularly, were inclined to recover, after yesterday's rather sharp recession. American Telephone and North American reduced extreme losses of around a point to fractions, and Consolidated Gas rallied more than a point above the previous close, while Public Service of New Jersey, and United Gas Improvement advanced fractionally. Rails were fairly active. Union Pacific recovered most of a 2-point loss, and Santa Fe, after losing more than a point, rebounded to show a slight gain. Pennsylvania, New York Central and Chesapeake and Ohio were up fractionally. Gains of a point or so appeared in such issues as Case, American Sugar, Allied Chemical, International Harvester, American Can and American Tobacco B. Motors were steady to firm. The "wet" group showed mostly negligible changes, although Liquid Carbonic was bid up more than a point.

Unrest among holders of utility shares, after proposed legislation to tighten up regulation in New York state and elsewhere, appeared to be quieted somewhat when Floyd L. Carlisle, chairman of Consolidated Gas and of Niagara Hudson, the two largest electric power public utilities, and generating companies respectively, wired Governor Lehman of New York endorsing his proposals for regulation of hold companies.

Agitation over rates and regulations was made more effect upon the market for utility shares when figures on power production, evidently, for today's weekly figures showed a further decline, making the comparison with the like period of last year the least favorable in some time.

In the wet group, the most in Liquid Carbonic was inspired by indications that the Beer bill was to be signed today, for this company makes bottling equipment. Security analysts, however, are having difficulty in trying to decide to what extent various companies will be benefited by the beer business. In fact, executives of the companies themselves find analysis difficult. President Broesevan of Mack Truck told stockholders at their meeting today that he was hopeful of increased business, although the possible extent could not be gauged until beer was actually in distribution.

With business statistics still showing the effects upon business of the recent banking holiday, sentiment remained extremely cautious in Wall Street. Estimates placing steel ingot production under last week's level was somewhat disappointing, after the more hopeful trade reports at the start of the week. In corporate news, international telephone's report showed a loss of $3,881,171 for 1932, the bulk of the deficit resulting from operations of land lines of the postal system. The report appeared about as expected, for the stock held fairly steady.

IN BANKRUPTCY

New Haven, March 22.—(AP)—A petition in voluntary bankruptcy was filed for the Pacific City Hospital, Bridgeport, by Michael Shalmon, secretary, today, with schedules showing liabilities of $71,498, and assets which include accounts receivable of $76,753.

ABOUT TOWN

Chief Edward Coleman of the Manchester Fire department urges all firemen of Companies 1 and 2 to plan to attend the get-together of firemen Friday evening at the Nathan Hale school, when Detective E. J. Hickey of Hartford will speak on finger-printing. He will cite cases where this system has been the means of solving cases of crime. Chief Albert Foy of the S. M. F. D. is chairman of the committee of arrangements. Those who desire transportation are advised to meet at the home house, Main and Hilliard streets at 7:30 Friday evening.

The Tuesday evening setback by hose companies 1 and 2 of the north end are becoming more and more popular. At last night's sitting Luther Hutson made the highest score and A. L. Brown and James Baker were tied for second place with scores of 136. David Hadden made 131, Thomas Harrison, 128; E. P. Stein, 127.

A rehearsal of all parts in the Beethoven Glee club will be held at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Emanuel Lutheran church. A combined rehearsal with the Mendelssohn Singers of Worcester, Mass., will be held at the church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It is important that every member be present at these rehearsals.

Stuart Dillon, a student at Williston Academy, Easthampton, Mass., is expected home this evening for the spring vacation.

The Professional Girls' club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Center church house.

The Young Married Couples club of the Second Congregational church will omit its regular monthly meeting this month. The next meeting will be the last Wednesday in April.

The Ladies' Sewing Circle of the Concordia Lutheran church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Linne Lodge, No. 72, Knights of Pythias, will hold its regular meeting at Orange hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

Miss Ariene Cummings of South Main street is visiting Mrs. Everett L. Bunker of Newton Highlands, Mass.

A call and delivery service has been added to the facilities of the State Shoe Repairing Shop in the State Theater building. New machinery has been installed recently which will do work rapidly and efficiently. The cobblers engaged at the shop are men of much experience. A telephone call will bring a representative of the shop to local homes.

Mrs. Lulu Fairbanks, widow of Theodore P. Fairbanks, moved today from 230 Woodbridge street to Derby, to make her home with her sons, George A. and Earl T. Fairbanks, who have lived in that place for some time. Mrs. Fairbanks has lived practically all her life in Manchester. She has taken a prominent part in the activities of the North Methodist church and her many friends regret her departure. Mr. Fairbanks died in June of 1931.

More than 12 of the members of the Manchester League of Women Voters are planning to attend the institute of public welfare and government Friday of this week, from 10 a. m. to 1:45 p. m., at the Hartford Golf Club. A discussion of work, child welfare, education, living costs and women in industry will be conducted by Miss Edith Rockwood, the national secretary of public welfare for the league. Others planning to go should confer with the local president.

Mrs. Clifford D. Cheney of Hartford Road is attending the spring flower show at the Grand Central Palace, New York.

Edward Comber of Oakland street is the owner of a dead owl which he is going to have mounted as a remembrance of an incident that took place last night. He was driving from Springfield, Mass., to Manchester last night and when in South Windsor he felt a jar on the bumper and then an owl flapped against the windshield. The car was brought to a stop and going back he found that the owl was dead. It appeared to be little ruffled or injured by the shock which will not prevent it from being a good subject to mount.

Members of the Manchester Soccer club are requested to make return of tickets sold for the St. Patrick's dance last week, at the meeting at the West Side Recreation Center Friday evening.

William F. Ramdell of 35 Main street reached his 74th birthday today. His friends among the firemen at the headquarters across the street from Mr. Ramdell's home, discovered the fact and gave him a pleasant surprise when he dropped in at the hose house this afternoon.

Willard Waddell of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Adam Schaefer of Flower street.

Vending machines that delivered a package of cigarettes when a dime and a nickel were fed into them appeared to be out of luck when the price of cigarettes was reduced to thirteen cents. They have met the situation, however, by learning how to make change. Machines are in operation here which, when you deposit your nickel and dime, hand you the usual package of cigarettes with two pennies neatly tucked half way into the outer wrapper.

Hose Company No. 3 of the S. M. F. D., responded to a still alarm at 10:30 this morning for a chimney fire at the home of William A. Foster on Horan street.

The world wide movement to convert old gold into money has been only dimly reflected in Manchester, but one jeweler reported today that a resident came to him yesterday to have a small lot of scrap gold, old pins and rings, valued. The jeweler does not deal in precious metals and referred the customer to the Treasury department in Washington. He said another man had brought him a silver trade dollar, to ascertain its worth. These so-called dollars were minted by the United States but never were legal tender money, being merely minted bullion. They passed current for some years but were intended for trade with silver standard countries like China. The owner of this one, dated 1877, was surprised to learn that it was worth just its weight in silver, somewhere around 30 cents.

PLACE ORDERS HERE FOR THE NEW BEER

Most Local People Are Awaiting Assembly's Action On Control In Conn.

Orders have already been placed in Manchester for the new 3.2 per cent beer, which is expected to go on the market for public sale about April 7, it was learned today from a local agent. These orders of course will be governed by whatever action the state legislature takes in the near future. So far no definite step has been taken except to appoint a special commission of seven members to study the regulation and sale of intoxicating liquors. Commission at Work The commission is due to report to the General Assembly on April 4 but due to the haste with which Congress has disposed of the beer bill, there is a strong possibility that the commission will present its findings earlier. While no announcement has been made by the commission regarding its study of the beer question, it is understood from reliable sources that the commission will report against the sale of beer in every store and will favor limiting the sale to hotels, restaurants or the like.

The 3.2 brew has been given a federal rating as non-intoxicating which means that Connecticut, according to its own laws, must consider it the same. The state, however, must decide as to what method of distribution will be permitted. The new Federal enactment which is due to be signed by President Roosevelt today provides for the protection of dry states and gives each the right to control the sale of beers and wines.

Has Three Orders One local agent says he has already received orders for beer from two restaurants and one store to place with his brewer in New York.

It was this agent's personal opinion that the amount of malt and hops now being used in the home manufacture of beer will gradually decrease with the public sale of the beverage. "It will die a natural death," he said.

Asked regarding the alcoholic content of home-made brew, the agent said most of it averaged about twice that of the law legal beer. However, in most cases, he said he would not call such a concoction beer. "It's nothing more or less than plain hooch," he said, "and it is far from satisfying because it leaves a bad taste and often a splitting headache."

The opinion of the man-along-the-street seemed almost unanimously in favor of limiting the sale to beer gardens or restaurants rather than to stores. "We want a place where we can go in, sit down and have a good drink with a collar on it and not be subjected to public gaze," one man said.

May Continue Making It There were others who said they would like to be able to purchase crates of beer at stores and take it home for private consumption. Some people will undoubtedly continue to manufacture their own beer but with the expected increase in the tax of malt, it is expected that this practice will gradually go out of existence.

A well known Manchester grocery and meat store proprietor said he thought the new beer should be sold in restaurants, beer gardens or some such place and not in stores the same as soft drinks are at present. He believes it would be far better to have beer kept apart from stores (dealing in other articles). It was also his opinion that a higher tax should be imposed on malt or any other ingredient used in the making of "home-brew." Asked how the home-made brew compares with the new 3.2 beer, he said that the various makes vary greatly, some being as high as 8 and 9 per cent alcohol, depending on what is used in the manufacture and how long it is left to stand.

Inasmuch and Shining Light circles of Junior King's Daughters will hold their regular meetings this evening in different rooms of Center church house.

MILK DEALERS UNDECIDED ON INCREASE BUT LOCAL GROUP WILL TAKE ACTION FRIDAY NIGHT

Manchester milk dealers are still undecided upon what course they will pursue regarding an increase in the price of milk. The Connecticut Milk Dealers' Association voted two days ago to increase the price a quart. Of this total 3-4 of a cent will go to the farmer and 1-4 of a cent to the distributor.

Manchester dealers may get together for a discussion of the subject tonight preceding another meeting in Hartford Friday afternoon. That another meeting is tentatively planned for Friday night here in an attempt to reach some common agreement.

A pre-natal clinic will take place tomorrow at 9:30 at the Health Center on Haynes street.
