Reorganization and Reopening of Manchester Trust Company Assured By Acts Passed Today—Hope To Be Ready By Friday.

Reorganization and reopening of the Manchester Trust Company was given legislative authorization today when two bills making a new Trust Company possible were passed by both the House of Representatives and the State Senate...

With the signature of Governor Wilbur L. Cross certifying these acts the only step necessary for the reopening of the institution is the organization meeting called for tomorrow afternoon at 5:15 at which time directors will be chosen who will later name the officers of the new company...

Organizers The incorporators of organizers of the new Trust Company are: Frank Cheney, Jr., Harold C. Alford, R. LaMotte Russell, Clifford R. Burr, W. George Glenney, Edward J. Holl, Ernest T. Bantley, Thomas Ferguson, William C. Cheney and William J. Shattuck.

Under the second bill, the Senator said, the new bank, on reorganization will be in a position to take over fifty per cent of the commercial deposits of the present Manchester Trust Company.

Making Payments Payment for new capital stock is being made at the bank and it must be collected 100 per cent before the institution closes tonight.

There were some questions being asked today about straightening out of accounts in the Trust Company when the opening is effected.

The act incorporating the new Trust Company as passed by the General Assembly today follows: AN ACT INCORPORATING THE MANCHESTER TRUST COMPANY...

LABOR LEADER IS OPPOSED TO FOREST CAMPS

Despite Green's Opposition Leaders Say Bill Will Become Law Before Nightfall—Passed By Senate.

Washington, March 29.—(AP)—The House was told today that William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had changed his mind and was now opposed to President Roosevelt's forest conservation measure in spite of law changes made by the Senate.

Chairman Conroy of the House labor committee, a leading opponent of the bill on the ground that it would allow too low wage scales, said he was authorized to announce Green's opposition. Green wrote a letter a few days ago saying that in view of the Senate changes he felt it best that the bill be accepted by labor.

Conroy led the opposition debate as the House pushed toward a vote which leaders predicted would mean passage before nightfall. Beedy (R. Me.), joined him in opposition.

Radicals Protest the Appointment of Josephus Daniels As Ambassador There.

Mexico City, March 29.—(AP)—The stoning of the American Embassy last Friday night as a protest to the appointment of Josephus Daniels as the United States Ambassador to Mexico has been broken. Several windows were broken.

Police had not made the incident public and it was not known why it arrests resulted. Arthur Bliss Lane, charge d'affaires, who just returned from Washington, reported the matter to the foreign office and police.

Others called him "The Murderer of Auzeta and Uribe," Mexicans killed when United States forces landed in Vera Cruz in 1914 while Daniels was Secretary of the Navy.

Nazis Celebrate Rise to Power

While world protests grow over reported persecution of Hitlerites' foes in Germany, jubilant Nazis (as pictured above) celebrated their rise to power. Here the "Brown Shirts" of Munich raise their right hands in the Fascist salute as their party banners—confiscated by the Bavarian government during the unsuccessful uprising of 1923—are formally restored to them.

DARKENS HOUSE FOR 30 YEARS

Rochester, N. H., March 29.—(AP)—Frank Gould lay dead today in his closely shuttered home while neighbors wondered "the shutters which have concealed every window in the house for 30 years would be thrown back for his funeral.

He died at the age of 70, was to be buried today. He and his wife moved into the homestead 42 years ago and 12 years later decided to improve the house by adding shutters. Since they were hung 30 years ago, the shutters have been drawn tight at every window.

HITLERITES SILENT; BOYCOTT CONTINUES

Berlin, March 29.—(AP)—The Hitler government was silent today as the dominant National Socialist Party went ahead organizing committees throughout the country to stop all Jewish business and professional activity by Saturday morning.

Even school attendance by Jewish children is to be reduced. Two Berlin newspapers not dominated by the Nazi Party warned the government of the possible effects.

Senator Blackall protested the Republican leader had not answered his question and said "I object to the influence the public utilities have had in the political life in this state. x x x It is not enough to say the courts are open for an investigation of rates when the public utilities companies can come in with their expert testimony and expenses that the ordinary complainant cannot meet."

SPLIT IN OWN RANKS

Its immediate attention in the meanwhile was taken up by the strained relations in its own ranks caused by the reported counter-revolt movement in Brunswick involving the Steel Helmet (war veterans) organization. Only 150 men remained in custody there after the release last night of 1,200 who had been held prisoners 24 hours in the Steel Helmet headquarters.

Washington, March 29.—(AP)—Following is the full text of the President's message:

SCIENTISTS HONOR DOCTOR THOMSON

Famous Inventor 80 Years Old Today—Is Last of America's "Big Four."

Cambridge, Mass., March 29.—(AP)—Leaders in science, engineering and industry gathered at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology today to honor Dr. Elihu Thomson—one of America's "Big Four" of electricity—on his 80th birthday.

The climax of the celebration is a dinner, planned for tonight at Technology, where Dr. Thomson served as acting president from 1920 to 1922. He is now a life member of the corporation of the institute.

His many inventions are milestones in the progress of American industry and he has been often characterized as the "last of America's 'Big Four' of electricity"—Thomas A. Edison, Charles F. Brush and James J. Wood.

President Karl T. Compton of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology recently summed up his estimate of Dr. Thomson as follows: "More than any other man now living, or in fact, more than any man in history, Professor Thomson has combined in a most remarkable way the constructive powers of the inventor, the thoroughness and soundness of the man of science and the kindly balance of the ideal philosopher, teacher and friend."

Born in England, the elderly scientist's estate in Swampscott is known to many as the country seat of science. He was born in Manchester, England, and was brought to this country when about five years old. He received his early education in the public schools of Philadelphia and inherited his ability in the mechanical arts from his father, who was an engineer and an unusually skilled mechanic.

As early as the age of 11 he was delving into the mysteries of electricity and was dabbling in magic, photography and astronomy. The last study has been his hobby through life and today he is personally supervising the careful technical process by which a disc of Seeks Enactment To Provide Federal Supervision of Securities—Would Apply Interstate Commerce Control—President Forecasts Further Action On Stock Exchange Operations; Would Put Restraint On Trustees Acting For Others.

"This proposal adds to the ancient doctrine 'let the seller also beware.' "It puts the burden of telling the whole truth on the seller. "It should give impetus to honest dealing in securities and thereby bring back public confidence. "The purpose of the legislation I suggest is to protect the public with the least possible interference to honest business. "This is but one step in our broad purpose of protecting investors and depositors. "It should be followed by legislation relating to the better supervision of the purchase and sale of all property dealt in on exchanges, and by legislation to correct unethical and unsafe practices on the part of officers and directors of banks and other corporations. "We seek a return to a clearer understanding of the ancient truth that those who manage banks, corporations and other agencies handling or using other people's money are trustees acting for others. Senator Cooney said he thought it "poetic justice" that most of these from the small towns protesting the light company rates were Republicans.

A long list of bills dealing with the care of children in county homes supported by the child welfare bureau, were rejected without discussion.

A large number of House bills were adopted on the calendar. They included: Authorizing the board of accountancy to suspend the licenses of a public accountant after a hearing; authorizing Manchester to purchase the franchises and property of the South Manchester Water Company and the South Manchester Sanitary sewer district; establishing the Ethan Allen highway and the "governor's road"; and providing for the publication of a popular edition of the public acts.

Bills providing for state aid to towns on railroad debts and increasing the penalty for obstructing factory inspectors were reported favorably.

SENATE COMMITTEE DEBATES FARM BILL

Start Task of Rewriting Roosevelt's Sweeping Relief Measure.

Washington, March 29.—(AP)—In strict privacy, the Senate agriculture committee today set about re-writing the administration's sweeping farm relief bill, with all indications the committee would seek to include in the measure provisions for insuring to the farmer the cost of production on that portion of his crop going into the domestic market.

This would be a version of the domestic allotment plan and coincide with the views of John A. Simpson, president of the National Farmers Union, who consumed several hours of the committee's hearing time in presenting them.

The majority of committee members privately expressed to newspapermen the opinion that the cost of production ought to be guaranteed in the bill, and that it should include a fair return on the farmer's investment.

BRIDGEPORT BILL STILL DEADLOCKED

Assembly Reaches No Accord On Measure To Provide Refunding Bonds.

Hartford, March 29.—(AP)—With a deadlock existing between the two Houses of the Legislature over the provisions of a bill which would give Bridgeport the right to issue refunding bonds to the amount of $1,680,000, members of the finance committee refused today to discuss the probable outcome of the situation.

The House passed the committee's report authorizing the bond issue with the proviso that the handling of the money derived shall be in the hands of the board of estimate and taxation after the Senate had passed it with an amendment nullifying the section dealing with the distribution of the money.

Unable to Agree A committee on conference on disagreeing action was named and it has thus far been unable to reach any agreement on the matter.

Committee members upon being questioned today concerning impending action on the bill, refused to be quoted, saying "don't be in a hurry. There's plenty of time."

Senator David Goldstein of Bridgeport, Senator Condes, also refused to issue any statement on the legality of Bridgeport's action in setting a tax rate which anticipates the granting of the right to issue bonds.

2,000 DAIRY FARMERS GATHER IN HARTFORD

So Overcrowd Hotel Bond That Meeting Is Transferred To the State Armory.

Hartford, March 29.—(AP)—About two thousand dairy farmers from every part of the state so overcrowded the Hotel Bond ballroom this morning that it was necessary to transfer to the state armory a special meeting of the State Milk Producers Association.

Hundreds of farmers, many of them hoping for a showdown on the milk situation and perhaps a solution of their problems, were crowding into the hotel at 10:30 when the meeting was scheduled to begin.

Half an hour after the meeting was scheduled to begin, the hotel ballroom was so full that it was impossible to bring farmers still crowding in the lobby up in the elevators and President Robert C. Mitchell, pounding on the table, called for a vote as to whether the meeting should adjourn to a larger hall. The vote was unanimous.

Commissioner of Agriculture S. McLean Buckingham then communicated with Governor Cross who issued an order permitting the meeting to go to the state armory.

Share His Opinion Ann Harding and Alice Brady, screen actresses, probably share O'Connor's opinion.

To Miss Harding, who had proudly told Shaw she had played the part of Lady Cecily in "Captain Brassbound's Conversion," he dramatist had bluntly told her "it must have been a practical performance."

"Indeed, it was not," the actress told him. "We had permission in writing from your own agent."

The actress then hurriedly left the dramatist, entered a dressing room, closed the door—and wept.

No one told Shaw he had driven her to tears.

On meeting Miss Brady, the dramatist said bluntly: "Why does a girl with a pretty face wear a hat like that?"

No one recorded Miss Brady's reply.

Just before the Empress of Britain sailed from the Harbor, Shaw was asked: "What did you see down here?"

"Nothing," he replied, "but rocks, grass, vegetables and Americans."

LEGISLATURE TO COST STATE ABOUT $5,000

Present Session Will Not Adjourn Until Early in June, Leaders Believe.

Hartford, March 29.—(AP)—With the increasing possibility that the 1933 session of the Legislature will not adjourn until early in June, and may even continue to June 6, when adjournment is required by constitutional provision, the certainty of an increased cost to the state of Connecticut is daily becoming more apparent.

It was today estimated that the current session may cost the state about $50,000 to $60,000 above the costs of what is considered a normal session.

The pay of Legislators, $300 for the session, is a definite sum paid out each biennium, and while it is considered by the state as salary for two years service, unless a special session is called it is in reality compensation for six months work. At that, Connecticut pays its Legislators less than any other state in the union, it was reported today, but this is in a measure compensated by allowance for transportation which by statute is fixed at ten cents a mile.

It costs the state of Connecticut approximately $2,000 a day for transportation of the members. The average number of legislative days in a session is from 88 to 70 which would require an expenditure of approximately $140,000 for transportation.

THOMPSON QUILTS POST

Washington, March 29.—(AP)—Sam H. Thompson today announced his resignation as a member of the Federal Farm Board, effective April 1.

Thompson disclosed today that he transmitted his resignation to President Roosevelt on March 13 and that it has been accepted.

He was appointed to the board in March, 1931, to complete the unexpired term of Alexander Legge, the first chairman. Thompson, whose home is at Quincy, Ill., resigned as president of the American Farm Bureau Federation to accept the post.

Under the executive order issued two days ago by President Roosevelt establishing the new Farm Credit Administration, Thompson's position will be abolished on May 31 unless the order is vetoed by Congress.

MILK INDUSTRY SEEKS DICTATOR

Boston District Calls Upon
Reginald W. Bird To Assume the Position.

"Reginald W. Bird, one of the leading business men of New England and well known authority on the milk industry, who frequently has been called upon to assume leadership in leading the industry through varied emergencies, has been asked by dealers in Metropolitan Boston and producers, respectively these dealers, to become milk administrator to stabilize the industry," says Dr. Arthur W. Gilbert, state commissioner of agriculture.

"The move to have him named administrator is the result of the perilous situation in which the industry of New England now finds itself.

Seeks Sound Basis
"Mr. Bird has stated," he says, "that as yet he would not be willing to say definitely that he will accept the position of milk administrator, unless the entire matter may be adjusted in a manner that will place the industry on a permanent sound basis, which will be favorable to farmers, to dealers, and also, which is of vital importance, to the consuming public. If the accomplished, he will be willing to accept the position, he said.

"Those closely in touch with the milk situation know that the appointment of Mr. Bird would be an ideal one, as he has already won commendation many times in the past for his efficiency and effectiveness in bringing about stabilization in former emergencies.

"While his own business is manufacturing he has for years made an intensive study of the milk question, even to the extent of conducting a large dairy farm himself. As a result of his studies he has formulated many practical ideas, which have been hailed as the solution of stabilization of the milk industry.

"Of broad business experience, he began with the old firm of J. A. and W. Bird & Company, in which he has worked his way to a partnership. Then he organized the Flintkote Company, which from a small beginning with an original investment of $30,000 has grown to be one of the leading corporations of New England today, with a capitalization of $20,000,000. The concern is one of the largest strictly roofing businesses in the world.

"In addition to his connection with this company he is also treasurer of the Deskor Chair Sales Corporation, as well as a director in a number of other corporations.

A Hobby
"Milk became a hobby with him and as a result he began a study of this industry many years ago. With his natural business acumen he began a series of practical experiments, as to the best method of regulating this business to a fair and proper advantage to producer, dealer and consumer.

"He made his practical studies on a farm, which he owns in Framingham, from which he was able to make a study of every aspect from production to delivery of milk to the consumer. Thus he has acquired a very intimate knowledge of the difficulties and problems of producer, as well as distributor.

"His knowledge of the subject brought him early recognition as an authority and in 1912 he was made chairman of the Committee of Agriculture of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. Immediately he instigated the first actual survey of the whole milk situation, in cooperation with the agricultural colleges of all the New England States, to find a formula for obtaining a reasonably accurate cost of milk production and the basis upon which this cost could be changed from time to time by simply changing the prices on the basic articles, which constituted the major items of cost.

"Later, during the World War, he was made Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Federal Milk Commission. He served on this committee for three years and used this basic system of cost during this period.

Headed Commission
"Through his efforts this was the only one of five Regional Milk Commissions, appointed by the then Secretary of Commerce Hoover, later president, which remained in existence more than one year and operated for the benefit of the industry as a whole, as well as for the consumers, in the most satisfactory manner, that has ever existed in the history of the nation.

"Again at the time of the Vermont flood he was again pressed into service, by Acting-Governor Allen, to act as chairman of the Emergency Milk Commission to assist the farmers in Vermont, as well as the consumers in Boston and assure the City of Boston an adequate milk supply during the emergency.

"Later he became chairman of the Fact Finding Commission, appointed to determine the troubles in the milk industry and suggest a remedy.

"During the past year he has been acting as chairman of the Board of Arbitration, which has been settling points of disagreement between the producers and the dealers."

REORGANIZE AIR FORCE

The air force would maintain a liaison with the Army and Navy, and would put units under the command of each, especially in case of mobilization. Air groups would be distributed strategically in France and the Colonies.

MISS CHENEY ATTACKS COUNTY HOME SYSTEM

Favors State Control At Hearing Before Judiciary Committee—Cites Fire Hazards.

Former Representative Miss Marjory Cheney of Manchester led the attack in favor of state control of the present county homes for children yesterday before the Judiciary committee of the General Assembly in Hartford.

It was Miss Cheney's contention that children could be better cared for and at a lower cost under a state-wide foster home placement plan than in the existing county homes, many of which she said present serious fire hazards. Miss Cheney quoted a statement from the state fire marshal that only two of the seven county homes for children are not fire hazards and added that four of them are nothing short of "fire-traps."

Miss Cheney is a member of the State Child Welfare Commission. Several other members of the commission supported Miss Cheney in her claims. Among the opponents were John S. Thornhill, a Fairfield County commissioner, and Hubert C. Hodge, a Middlesex County commissioner. They claimed that such a change would destroy county units and create a large and expensive state bureau. Mrs. Clarissa Nevius, member of the House, also opposed the bill.

MRS. LISK'S DAMAGES SUIT COST CITY $650

Bill Approved By Council Meeting Last Night—Plan To Combine Treasury Jobs.

The $10,000 law suit of Mrs. Emma Lisk against the city of Rockville was settled for a "nominal sum" in the Hartford County Superior Court three weeks ago, and the nominal sum proved to be $650 according to the bills presented at the regular meeting of the common council last evening. Mrs. Lisk, however, only received a judgment of $400 which was by an agreement and the remaining portion was for the costs in the case.

This case resulted from a fall on the sidewalk in front of the Prescott block nearly a year and a half ago and was assigned for trial in the Hartford County Superior Court on Tuesday, March 7. The city of Rockville was represented by the law firm of Butler, Howard and Campbell, of Hartford, with Attorney Robert P. Butler appearing as counsel. Judge John E. Fisk, as corporation counsel for the city of Rockville, assisted Mr. Butler. There were twelve witnesses summoned for the trial of the case which was called off at the last minute by an agreement on a settlement for the $400.

The bills presented by Judge Fisk and passed upon by the council last evening were as follows: Attorneys fees, Butler, Howard and Campbell, $150; witness fees, 12 witnesses, $27.40; lunches for 13 witnesses, $8.60; total $265.00; Captain Richard E. Shea, $1.00; Sundry expenses, $84.00; total expense $100.00 plus judgment of $400; net cost to city of Rockville, $850.00.

No argument was offered in the common council against payment of the claims and attorneys fees as they were approved by the claims committee headed by Alderman George Scheets. A similar claim was brought against the owner of the Prescott block but this claim was reported as being settled by an insurance company for a figure slightly above the $400 paid by the city of Rockville for the same accident.

Plans to Combine Jobs
Notwithstanding the fact that the position as treasurer of the sinking fund of the city of Rockville pays no salary, a motion was made at the regular meeting of the common council last evening to transfer the job from Representative Sherwood C. Cummings to City Treasurer Parley B. Leonard. The motion was made by Alderman George Scheets who stated that while he held no grievance against Mr. Cummings and knowing that no salary was attached to the position, there was a fee of $100, assumed to be salary, which was actually used for a $10,000 bond for the treasurer of the sinking fund.

The question arose whether City Treasurer Parley B. Leonard would assume the work of this office for no additional salary and also the responsibility. The argument of Alderman Scheets was that there would be a saving of $100 as the bond of the city treasurer could be assumed to hold in the work as treasurer of the sinking fund. Due to the lack of a clear understanding as to whether Mr. Leonard would assume the work and that the city treasurer's bond could be used for both positions, the matter was laid on the table temporarily. It will be taken up at the next meeting of the common council on Tuesday, April 11.

New Tax Collector
The appointment of City Tax Collector came up for action last evening at the meeting of the common council with the result that William F. Partridge, assistant treasurer of the Rockville National Bank, was elected for the term of one year from April 1. Frederick H. Holt, cashier of the Rockville National Bank, who has held this office for several years, addressed a letter to the council stating that if they wanted the facilities of the bank in the collecting of taxes, he would suggest the election of William F. Partridge as his successor.

Plans were underway for the re-appointment of Mr. Holt, who has been ill for about a year. The appointment of rate maker, went to City Clerk Raymond E. Hunt, who has held the office for several years.

New Garbage Collector
For the first time in the history of the city of Rockville garbage will be collected under a written contract and a bond posted to guarantee the fulfillment of the duties of the contractor. Upon motion of Alderman Kerwin Little, chairman of the Health and Sewers committee, a motion was passed to enter into a contract with Oliver E. Peck for the term of one year for the sum of $1,700. Twelve bids were received ranging from $4,721 for high bid to $1,040 for the low bid. The facilities of the bidders for the collection and disposal of the garbage were considered in granting the contract. Mr. Peck will use part of the garbage for swine and the remainder will be plowed into farm land.

Charged for Printing
One of the interesting features of the meeting of the common council last evening was the presentation of a bill from Case, Lockwood and Brainard, printers of Hartford, amounting to $20 for printing of two bills for the General Assembly. The bill was presented by Representative Sherwood C. Cummings, who paid the printers and turned the bill over to the city for reimbursement. The common council had two resolutions presented by Corporation Council John E. Fisk for presentation in the Assembly, one to permit the common council to lay the tax rate and the second to legalize an appointment of a sergeant on the Rockville police department. Mr. Cummings presented both bills. Payment of $10 for copies of each bill was deferred by the council pending more complete information as no fees have been charged for the other bills presented by Rockville residents.

The first action towards the consolidation of the city's business resulting in an actual saving, was evident last evening. The finance committee recommended the placing of all compensation insurance of all city departments under one policy. The policy was furnished by William V. Sadiak for a sum of $831.36. Previously the expenditure was over one thousand dollars.

The weekly reports of Dr. J. Ralph Morin, as inspector of stores, for the month of February were presented last evening as follows: February 4, 14 very good, 2 good, 2 fair, 3 orders to clean up back room; February 11, 15 very good, 4 good and one ordered to clean up; February 18, 15 very good, 5 good; February 25, 15 very good, 5 good.

Cummings On Committee
Representative Sherwood C. Cummings of Rockville as a member of the finance committee in the General Assembly, attended the hearing yesterday afternoon relative to the taxing of chain stores. This hearing was one of the most interesting of the present session with scores of witnesses eager to be heard and thousands of names on petitions.

Representative Henry Schmidt of Rockville presented a petition from the Rockville merchants, signed by 49 merchants, supporting the bills to tax chain stores. None of the local merchants appeared in person.

Fined in Court
Frederick Baiser, of Tolland, was presented in the Rockville City Court yesterday morning before Judge John E. Fisk on the charge of violation of the city ordinance relative to the parking in a restricted area. Baiser was arrested on Tuesday evening, March 21, for parking his automobile in front of the Henry building when a section has been restricted close to the intersection of Park Place and Park street.

He admitted that he had to go to the Town Hall in a hurry and also wanted to secure a newspaper. The case was nolle prosequi on payment of six dollars of the costs amounting to $8.93. Baiser was also reprimanded for parking too far away from the curb.

She is survived by her husband, Edgar E. ## BISHOP CANNON'S BROKER RELEASED FROM PRISON

Harry L. Goldhurst Served Five Years For Using the Mails To Defraud.

Fort Eustis, Va., March 29.—(AP)—Almost five years of prison confinement behind him, Harry L. Goldhurst, market adviser for Bishop James Cannon, Jr., today had served out his penitentiary term for using the mails to defraud.

His time up yesterday, Goldhurst whose case attracted national attention, boarded a train and apparently was headed back to New York. A parole had been granted him in July, 1931, but vigorous protest from Senator Carter Glass of Virginia and others, led the Federal Prison Board to rescind it. In revoking the parole, the board said a second indictment against Goldhurst on a similar charge, had not been called to its attention.

Glass, who had openly charged that Goldhurst entered a plea of guilty to the indictment to avoid the necessity of calling Bishop Cannon as a witness, asserted that the parole had been granted at the request of friends of the churchman. This was denied by the board.

Goldhurst, indicted in May, 1928, was sentenced in October of the following year. Charles Kable, supposed head of the firm with which Goldhurst was connected, testified that he was not active in the firm's operation and was given a suspended sentence.

Goldhurst was sent to the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta but later was transferred to Fort Eustis.

FEAR KIDNAPING
New Haven, March 29.—(AP)—Steven Norkus, 23, is missing from his home. The police are looking for him and three men in a New York car who last night took him away.

The trio drove up to a street corner and asked two friends of Norkus where the latter lived. The friends went in the car to the house. Norkus told his wife Lillian, he would be back in a few minutes. The friends were left at their street corner but Norkus was in the car when it disappeared.

ADD TWO STATIONS ON EXCURSION TRIP

Thompsonville and Windsor Locks Included in Stops For New York Specials.

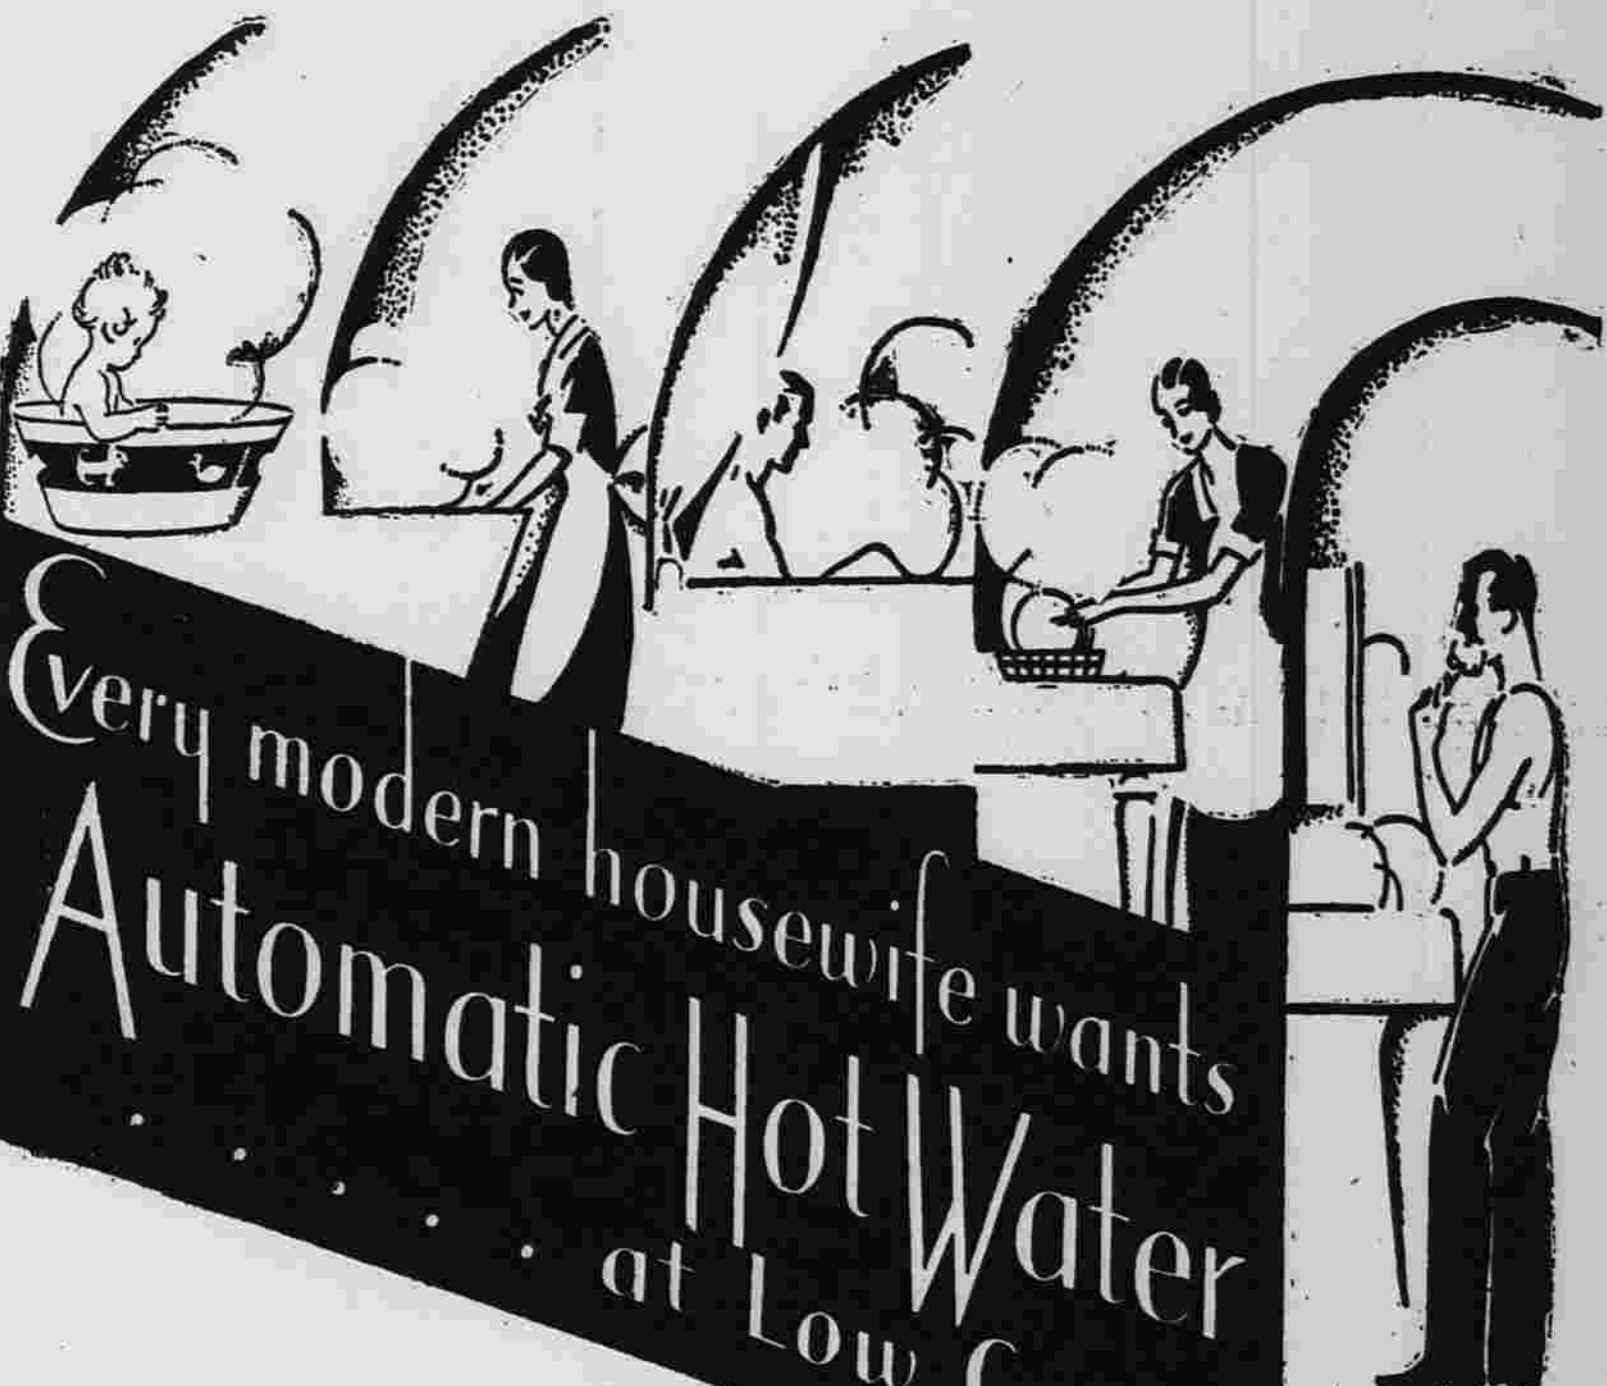

Thompsonville and Windsor Locks have been added as stopping places for the Sunday excursions of the New Haven Railroad to New York during the month of April, according to announcement by the New Haven Railroad. Heretofore it has been necessary for residents of these towns to go either to Springfield or Hartford to take the excursions, for which the extremely low rate of $2.00 the round trip is in effect.

The train will stop at Thompsonville at 8:15 a. m., and Windsor Locks at 8:24, and on the return trip will be due at Windsor Locks at 10:22 p. m., and at Thompsonville at 10:31 p. m. The excursion train arrives at New York at 11:25 a. m., and leaves for the return journey at 7:30, allowing eight hours in the metropolis. Mirages in South Africa have been so distinct at times as to cause animals to hurry to drink from the visionary pools.

WARN THAT SHELLFISH COME FROM SAFE AREA

State Department of Health Says Dealers Must Have Licenses to Sell Product.

It recently came to the attention of the state department of health that a dealer in clams which were shipped into Connecticut from a neighboring state was not operating under a permit from the outside state agency having jurisdiction so that no information was available as to the source of his product.

In order to safeguard the health of Connecticut citizens, the state sanitary code regulations require that oysters and clams sold in the state of Connecticut for food must be secured from clean waters. The state department of health issues licenses to the various Connecticut wholesale dealers, which are based on the cleanliness of shellfish handling methods and records of the sources of shellfish handled.

NO SUMMER WHITE HOUSE FOR ROOSEVELT FAMILY

President and First Lady Arrive Used to the Heat of Washington.

Washington, March 29.—(AP)—Unless the summer psychology of the Roosevelt clan changes, those who seek summer White House sites in their communities are wasting time and effort.

The Roosevelts' really "do-it-yourself" nest and humidity. When the subject was brought up recently, Mrs. Roosevelt recalled that her husband was a summer worker in Washington, in war times and was very off-hand about it.

She remembered further that he had made, and announced his choice of recreation spots—if there is time for recreation—his home on the Hudson. And there will always be his twice-a-year visits to Warm Springs, Georgia.

As for Mrs. Roosevelt, she once weathered July in the capital, doing war canteen work in a humid spot—in a corrugated iron shack made more torrid by an army kitchen.

After that experience, summer Washington holds no terrors for her.

HEBRON

The Rev. Walter Vey preached at the Hebron and Gilead Congregational churches Sunday on what the model church ought to be. Miss Helen Nourse, of the Congregational Religious Education, Hartford, spoke to the young people, her subject being "The Indian Princess."

Local Christian Endeavor services were omitted Sunday evening to allow the members to attend the Ty-County Union meeting at the Colchester Congregational church. Daniel A. Hastings, a Negro of British birth, spoke on the life of African natives of West Africa.

Hastings is a co-worker with the Rev. Duane Wain, a former pastor of the Columbia Congregational church. Negro singers from Hartford gave a program of music. Endeavorers from Hebron, Gilead, Colchester, Westchester, Columbia and Marlborough were present.

Sunday was a day of snow and rain. The day, up to about 2:30 p. m., saw about as severe a snow storm as we have had, the snow making rapidly. Rain and snow alternately filled in the rest of the day. The sun came out on Monday and the snow disappeared rapidly.

Wednesday it was raining again. A service was held at St. Peter's church Sunday evening, Allan L. Carr in charge.

Mrs. Clarinda Brown and her daughter, Mrs. Daisy Humphreys of Hartford motored here Saturday, spending the day at their country place.

Elder John Hinkley of South Windham, pastor of the Seventh Day Advent church, was a caller at St. Peter's rectory Saturday afternoon, to see Edward Hastings, his former ward. Edward now makes his home with Mr. Carr. He is attending the Willimantic Trade school. The elder was accompanied by Mrs. Hinkley.

Members of the junior vested choir of St. Peter's church met at the rectory Sunday afternoon to make covers for the new hymn books, presented to the church recently by Alpheus Gilbert of Norwich.

Rover said Sykes had been obtaining money from Representative Andrews at various times during the past year. His alleged blackmailing threats, it was said, usually were made by letter.

PLOT TO ASSASSINATE MUSSOLINI FRUSTRATED

Man Armed With Revolver Arrested Outside Premier's Palace—Makes Confession.

Rome, March 29.—(AP)—Police sought today to determine whether a man charged with seeking to assassinate Premier Mussolini had an accomplice.

The name of the prisoner was not disclosed. Officers said, however, he was from Northern Italy, and had a wife and family.

One of the statements in an alleged confession, police said, indicated he had a foreigner for an accomplice. He was alone when arrested March 20 near the premier's palace with a revolver in his possession.

Police, who announced his arrest yesterday, said the man admitted he intended to shoot Mussolini when the premier left his office.

There have been many attempts on Mussolini, who, though he has never seemed to flinch, had a special tribunal set up for such cases. The tribunal has ordered a number of these who sought to kill him shot in the back.

For over a year, a famous biologist has been putting in days and nights of scientific testing on the digestibility of shortenings and cooking fats. He wouldn't make a statement until he had completed literally thousands of tests. And, when he was absolutely sure, he told us:

"Crisco really does digest quicker—more easily."

Think this unbiased statement over. Then make delicious Jelly Tapioca Pie in a delicate Crisco pie-crust. Or use this digestible Crisco pastry

CRISCO digests quicker. Sold in sealed cans—to protect your health. When you buy, look for the vacuum-sealed can with the familiar blue-and-white Crisco label. It's your health-protection against dust and contamination.

Comic strip panels showing a conversation about Crisco. Mabel, you just take Auntie's word for it and change to Crisco. It's so pure and wholesome. It doesn't over-tax the stomach. I'm going to invite Henry to dinner right now! Gee, Mabel, I thought you couldn't cook! You've got to make pie for me every week when we're married. I sure will! And I'm always going to use Crisco now I know it's better for your digestion!

At the Herald Cooking School, Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree used and recommended CRISCO, the modern, quicker-digesting shortening.

Did you hear what Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree said about Bond Bread's tooth-protecting vitamin at the Manchester Herald Cooking School REAL BEAUTY lies in good, sound teeth and well-formed features. Good teeth depend upon what you eat. This is not theory, but proved fact. Science has discovered that teeth must be nourished—just as muscles, ligaments and vital organs must be nourished. Tooth nourishment comes from three food elements. Two of these—calcium and phosphorus—are found in many foods. But the third is so scarce you must look for it. That's the sunshine-vitamin-D—now so richly provided by Bond Bread. Don't neglect this protection of your teeth. Don't risk cavities when, by eating plenty of sunshine vitamin-D Bond Bread, they can so much more certainly be prevented. Start fortifying your diet today with Bond Bread—fresh twice daily at your grocer's.

COUNTY CHILDREN

Whatever the report of the General Assembly's Judiciary Committee may be on the bill to put the county homes and their inmates under the control of the State Bureau of Child Welfare, Miss Marjory Cheney of this town, devoted and energetic advocate of such a move, achieved one triumph yesterday at the hearing on the bill. She won, by her eloquence and her skill, the enthusiastic support of that powerful ally the Hartford Courant. With something that in a less dignified journal might be classified as a warwhoop the esteemed Courant leaps into the fray in behalf of Miss Cheney, the counties' child charges and the Bureau of Child Welfare.

Accepting whole the claims of Miss Cheney and the Welfare Department that the little wards would be better cared for and more safely housed and that economy would be fostered, all at the same time, by the proposed change, the Courant is for it with a rush. "Yet," it says, "it cannot be denied that constructive adjustment of the system of child care to meet present needs and to save money will be obstructed by those who are interested in preserving the county perquisites, even to the disadvantage of the taxpayer and the children. This obstruction has long been known to be powerful, but it has never been made so clear before as the report of the Commission on Child Welfare has now made it, that the time has come for it to yield to the need of change. Children cannot be deprived of foster homes and cared for under risks of fire, contagion and mal-adjustment to normal wage earning and home making to favor any group. We, too, would like to see all these county wards more safely housed. We would like to see them all freed from every risk of contagion. We would like to see them freed from the handicap of institutional care. We should like to see every one of them assured of health and happiness and an independent and happy life.

We should like to see all children including those who are not county wards assured of these things. But until the world is made over we don't expect to. And we haven't, unhappily, the slightest expectation of seeing the state of each child improved by removing it from the care of the county and converting it into a subject of state bureaucracy. Nor would we have the remotest expectancy of seeing the administration of the service of child protection by the state save a nickel in a century by transferring it from the counties to the state.

So far as we have been able to observe, the various boards of county commissioners in this state administer the business of the county homes intelligently and honestly. The commissioners, being normal human beings, very generally develop a lively interest in the welfare of the inmates of the homes. We seriously doubt whether the Courant has much fact on which to predicate its inferential charges about "perquisites."

Above all we have never been able to work up any enthusiasm for a system of "foster-homes" for the state's dependent children under which the authorities would confess to such a slender faith in their own selection of guardians that they must keep a cloud of salaried snoots hovering around those children forever to see that the paid "foster-parents" didn't somehow or other bedevil them. It isn't necessarily obstructionism to entertain doubt as to the perfection of the idea of abandoning a system that works pretty well for another about whose desirability there is more than a little room for doubt. Anyhow, if House Bill 745 should be adopted we will bet the Courant a cookie that the cost of maintaining each of these dependent children will be, within five years, at least three times what it is today.

DIRT "COMEDIES"

Vulgarity no longer pays at motion picture box-offices, says Deacon Will H. Hays, sanctimoniously pretending that the movies have cleaned themselves.

Vulgarity, as such, probably never did pay at the box office. But the public for many years has stood for a sickening amount of vulgarity in the movies in order to get at the genuine entertainment upon which the dirt was superposed. Recently we sat through—because our hide is tough—an alleged film comedy so unspicably foul that it might have driven a case hardened burlesque audience into the street. It was the nastiest, stupidest thing we ever saw. The production and exhibition of such films constitute a shrieking demand for official censorship. It was a new picture and it was made in America.

Deacon Hays knows well enough that the comedy lots of filmdom reek with smut. In his position as so-called "censor" of the picture industry it would seem that he ought to take his vulgarity-no-longer-pays sermons, not to the newspapers, but to the private ear of those remaining comedy producers who are so incredibly thick of skull that they think people pay at the box office to see rot. The probabilities are that such pictures as the one in question, instead of adding their due proportion to the intake of the movie business, contribute much more than their proportion to putting it in the red.

Why doesn't the make-believe mentor take these purveyors of dirt by the collar and make them understand what they are doing to the moving picture industry?

GETTING A JOB DONE

A pretty good idea of what can be accomplished in the way of simplifying and making more efficient the machinery of government, under the recently adopted so-called Economy Act, is to be gained from the President's order unifying half a dozen different agencies set up in recent times for the support of agricultural credit. The Farm Board; the Farm Loan Board with its Land Banks, its Intermediate Credit Banks and its Joint Stock Land Banks; the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; the special farm loan emergency functions of the Treasury and Agricultural Departments; the crop production loan and office and seed loan office of the Department of Agriculture—all these are to be combined into the Farm Credit Administration, under a single official to be designated as its governor. Incidentally the Farm Loan Board is practically abolished and the Joint Stock Land Banks are scheduled to walk the plank—which long ago should have been their fate.

A tremendous amount of confusion, cross purposes and duplication of effort may be expected to be done away with by this consolidation. It is in the class of obviously needed reforms. The administration has found time to accomplish the merger in less than a month, even while there were other matters of extraordinary importance to be attended to. Yet if Congress had attempted to do this job itself it could easily have spent a year at it—and then failed to do it thoroughly. We have never had a better example of the rightness of leaving an executive task to the executive branch of the government.

FEDERAL PAY CUTS

Federal employes who under the President's proclamation are called on to take a cut bringing the total reduction in their pay up to 15 per cent, and who feel aggrieved thereto, are invited to compare their lot with that of their neighbors. In the industrial and commercial world there is probably not one person in twenty whose income has not diminished by a greater percentage than that in the last four years.

Everyone knows that the individual who receives $2,000 in 1933 is getting a good deal more purchasing power in exchange for his services or time than $2,000 represented in 1929. To that extent he has profited by the depression. So very well is this fact understood that the small profanity heard very little complaint from the federal job holders. Those who do complain will be merely those who are not willing to carry their share of the log.

WHIZ-BANG SPENDING

Some idea of the way in which some of the states of the Union blew in money during the whiz-bang period and how they got it to spend may be obtained from the following: New York banking houses since 1927 have marketed $54,000,000 worth of Arkansas highway bonds. As drawn, the bonds constituted a lien on the state's motor vehicle registration and gasoline tax. Now the state has adopted a measure refunding these bonds together with other issues to a total of $148,000,000. The bankers who handled the highway bonds are now nervous over their security, since the service of the refunded issues would probably considerably exceed the vehicular and gas taxes.

It is interesting that in view of these proceedings the state of Connecticut may possibly become party to a very unusual legal proceeding. A sovereign state cannot be sued by an individual without the state's consent but it can be sued by another sovereign state. It is reported that action to prevent the refunding operations may be entered by the states of Pennsylvania, Nevada and Connecticut—the former two because they hold Arkansas bonds in their state treasuries and the latter because some of the big Connecticut insurance companies are holders to some extent of Arkansas securities.

And this, if you please, is Arkansas, the state that the Red Cross practically fed not so long ago. A hundred and forty-six millions in debt for roads, bridges and dew-dads!

SUCH TIMES!

The old idea that any extraordinary legal enforcement must always be for the other fellow and never for you, if you happen to be an important person and on the same political side as the administration, is getting a jolt. Owen D. Young is a big enough Democrat to have been seriously proposed for the Presidency, but evidently he might as well be a goat so far as Attorney-General Cummings is concerned.

Under a decree of the federal court at Wilmington Mr. Young was ordered to retire either from the board of the Radio Corporation of America or that of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, whose interlocking directorates the government has been trying to unscramble. Mr. Young didn't want to give up either job. With a friendly administration in office and a good fellow like Homer Cummings at the head of the Justice Department it ought to be pretty easy. So Mr. Young's corporation attorneys put in a formal plea asking for an exception in his case. Monday Mr. Young was notified that as a special consideration he would be given two weeks beyond the time limit set by the court, April 21, to get out of either one job or the other—and no more. Such times! Such ways!

Health and Diet Advice
By Dr. Frank McCoy

PARING CORNS AND CALLOUSES IS DANGEROUS

It is said that a large part of the quality of a famous radio crooner's singing comes from the fact that he has corns on his vocal cords; others who sing a great deal, such as Caruso did, are said to have likewise developed callosities on the vocal cords due to the excessive friction of the cords and the friction of the air passing between them. Unfortunately, most people have not been able to use their corns and callosities as an asset but find them very troublesome, especially on the feet when they are pressed upon by tightly binding shoes.

The greatest number of corns are found on the toes and are caused by the shoe continually rubbing some certain spot. The skin tries to protect itself from the pressure by means of thick horny layers. Sometimes these layers become so thick that they form a growth or lump, and, if it is pressed on, a sudden excruciating pain occurs. Corns located by the side of the foot are likely to be soft but, if the corn is on the outside of the toe, it is more likely to be hard. A hard corn has a tough core which feels like a piece of horn; in fact, it is composed of much the same material as a hoof or a fingernail. When this hard core is removed, all pain from pressure temporarily ceases as the core no longer presses upon the nerve endings under the skin.

An odd fact about corns is that some people may use them to forecast the weather, believing that, if their corns ache, rain is indicated. However valuable corns may be as weather guides, they disfigure the feet and cause a great deal of discomfort and anyone who suffers from them would gladly get along without the ability of forecasting rain.

Callosities on the bottom of the feet may cause a burning sensation. They are usually due to the skin irritation from standing long hours or from foot defects which may force the weight of the body to be borne on a part of the foot unsuited for it. A thickening of the skin is the method the body uses as a partial protection. At first callosities on the feet may be similar to the hardening of the skin on the palm of the hand and cause little trouble, but later they cause discomfort. Occasionally warts appear on the soles of the feet and aid in callous formation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Sulphur and Molasses)

Question: Mr. O. Oliver T. writes: "I would appreciate your advising me whether or not the old-fashioned remedy of sulphur and molasses is good for constipation and purifying the blood and if it is injurious in any way."

Answer: The mixture of sulphur and molasses is a sort of laxative but cannot be considered particularly beneficial. The fruit fast is far superior for cleansing the blood stream and can be considered a good natural tonic.

(Cramps in Calf of Leg)

Question: H. S. E. asks: "What is good for cramps in the calf of my leg? I am a paralytic in my entire right side. The cramp comes on in the right calf when I stretch and leaves it as sore as if someone had been beating it with a broomstick."

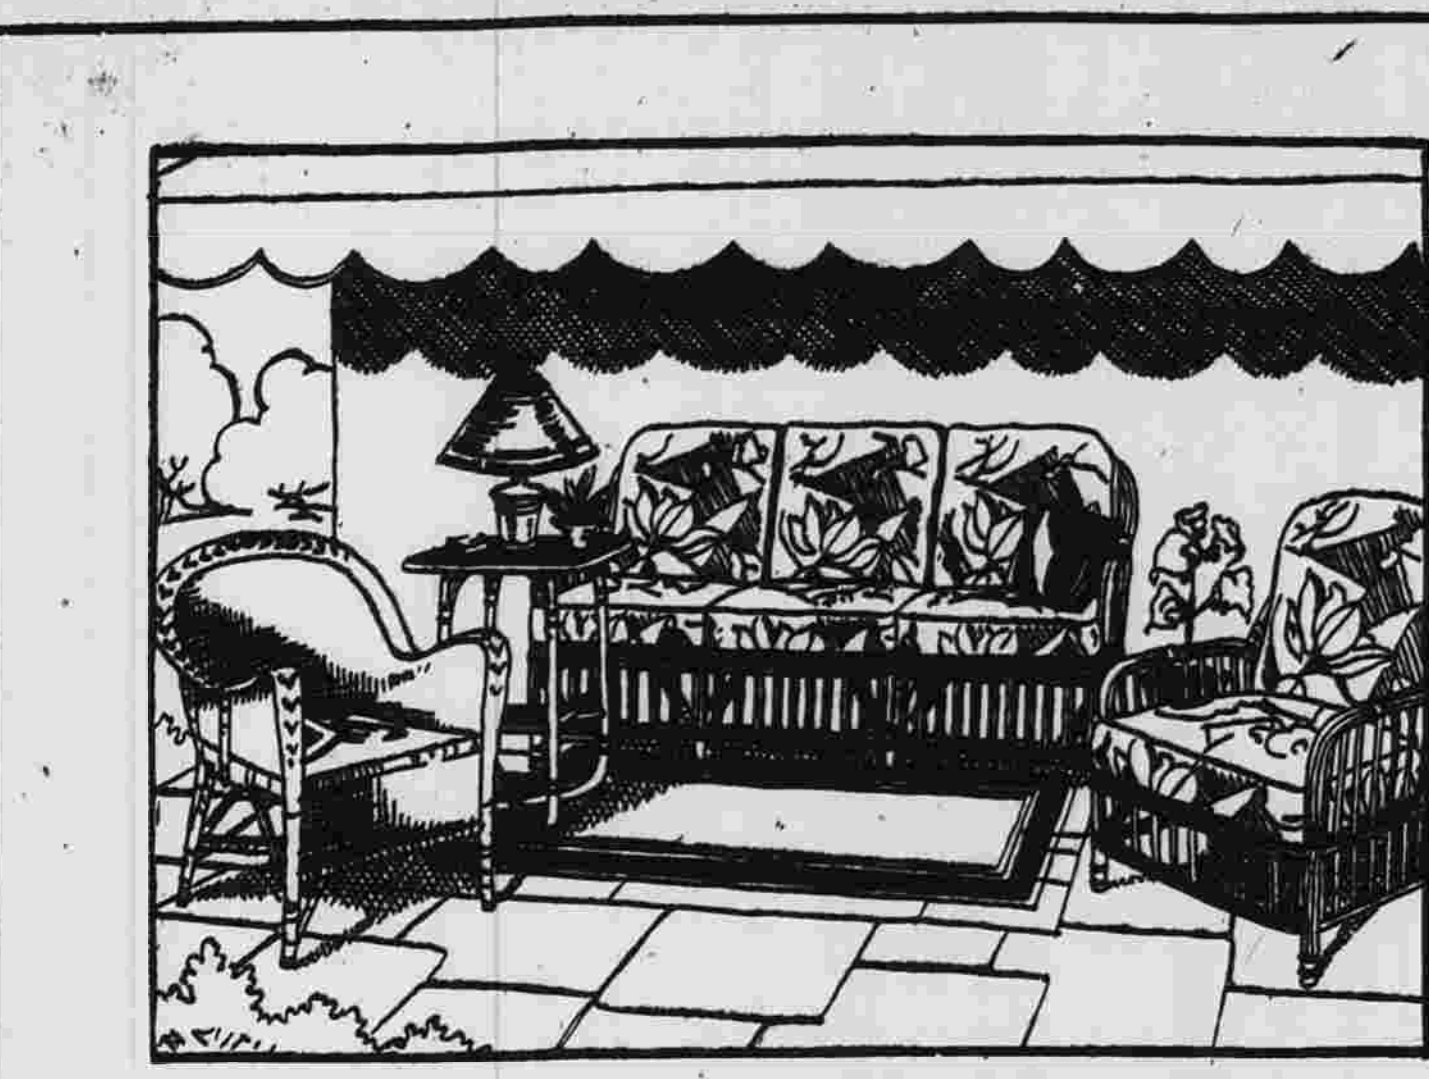

Answer: The cramps in your leg are probably produced by a poor circulation as a result of the paralysis. Daily massage should be beneficial and also alternate hot and cold applications applied for fifteen or twenty minutes morning and evening.

(Egg and Tomato Diet)

Question: Mrs. H. asks: "Will you kindly tell me whether or not the combination of eggs and tomatoes in the proportion of one egg to one-quarter of a large tomato form a chemical reaction which reduces fat?"

Answer: There is nothing about the chemical combination of eggs and tomatoes which will tend to reduce weight. If this diet is used exclusively, it will cause reduction because it does not contain much caloric value.

New methods of knitting produce stockings that will not get runs. That's fine, but what we need is a bank that won't get 'em.

So we say, "Pay us an extra visit tomorrow!" The newest things for Spring and Summer are right out front. All the model rooms throughout the store have been redecorated. Come and see the new styles while the displays are complete. Tomorrow is the day... from 9 in the morning until 9 at night.

WATKINS BROTHERS FURNITURE-INTERIOR DECORATORS

Heat and Humidity
 New York, March 30.—Somehow or other, the speakeasy gentry have decided to take with a grain of salt (and a dash of bitterness) the announcement by Colonel Woodcock that his Federal agents would direct their major efforts against liquor sources rather than retail dispensaries. Also they're inclined to be skeptical about the disbanding of the local padlock squad, as declared by Administrator McCampbell.

In other words, the obsequious Louisiana and Toms and Toms of Manhattan's gray spots are just a bunch of old cynics. "It may be true," they say. "And then again it may not. Didn't the Federal take sledgehammers to the door of the Carousal the first night after the lay-off story came out?"

"Well, anyway, we're bein' careful, see! We won't put up any electric signs outside our joints yet a while. And we're gonna be sure that everybody's 'right' before we let 'em in, too. With times like they are, and the steady drinkers soberin' up so they may never come back at all, a pinch right now would put almost any of us out of business permanently."

The "Brighter" Side
 And so, while the speakeasies themselves continue to take precautions, other places are just beginning to take advantage of the lessening enforcement. The other night a mid-town hotel served cocktails with the compliments of the management to some of its trust patrons. "Cordial shops," always the most darling solitators of the prohibition law, are distributing handbills and folders through office buildings and apartment houses which contain liquor lists, prices, telephone numbers and addresses. Some of these shops have pasted on their windows newspaper clippings with headlines announcing the relaxation of enforcement. There is one subtlety about them now. Any one can walk in and buy their notoriously synthetic wet-goods.

Night-clubs — almost a majority of them — have put in or are hurriedly installing bars. One of the very swankiest clubs of last season found itself approaching failure a few weeks ago, so it put a costly and glistening drink stand smack in the middle of its dance floor. Business picked up at once. Another club, reopened after similar alterations, is bargaining for the services of a certain pretty entertainer who has a repertoire of drinking songs.

Better-dress hotels and restaurants doubtless will await repeal before going into the hard-drink business. But many of the smaller, poorer ones, especially those round-and-about the rialto, admit frankly that the time has come when they must sell liquor or go bankrupt. Some establishments sell bootlegging concessions to certain agents, and exercise supervision over methods of solicitation and the quantity of goods sold. A manufacturer of fixtures and equipment confides that seven restaurants and two hotels in the Times Square district alone have asked estimates on the installation of bars.

New Things to look for--

Hairwood. A light colored wood resembling maple in color but mahogany in grain. This fine old wood is being used again in reproductions of 18th century dining and bedroom groups.

Period Sofas. Numerous period sofas are again in evidence. You will notice Duncan Phyfe sofas in a number of models, as well as Queen Anne, Chippendale and French Louis XV reproductions.

Monticello. A whole group of furniture has been copied from Thomas Jefferson's home, Monticello, by authority of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation. Each piece bears a metal label signed by the president of the foundation. Tables, a chair, chest, magazine carrier and other occasional pieces are included.

Large Refrigerator. Always first, the 1933 Norge Electric Refrigerator boasts the most up-to-the-minute cabinet we have seen yet. Glistening white with all corners rounded, and a dash of black in its bracket foot base. Truly 20th century.

Maple. If you like maple you'll enthuse about a new pegged maple grouping on display. In the group are two Walsh cupboards, a corner cabinet, buffet, butterfly, draw-out and sawbuck tables, and a half dozen different chairs... all modestly priced.

Dining Tables. Notice how dining tables in 18th century Colonial groups are showing a trend toward six or more legs... in Sheraton manner. In many groups you may now choose either a Duncan Phyfe pedestal table or one of the six legged type.

Guild Furniture. Throughout the store you'll see this fine furniture, made at Grand Rapids and guaranteed and certified by the Grand Rapids Furniture Makers Guild. Only a few stores in the country show this Guild furniture.

The Cottage. Spring is in evidence in The Cottage with the living room featuring a chintz covered sofa, the dining room and bedroom furnished in new Hairwood groups and the study in maple.

Model Kitchen. The Model Kitchen and adjoining breakfast rooms have been completely refurbished for the Spring Opening. Be sure to see these interesting rooms, in the basement.

20th Century... Not modernistic, mind you, but 20th century. This new name designates the smart, new ideas in cabinet and upholstering work as compared with the atrocious "modernistic" of a few years ago. Even though you like Colonial designs best, you'll have to agree that the new bedroom and living room groups in 20th Century style have a charm of their own.

TWO SIDES TO SUIT STORY THIS SPRING

Masculine Mode Vies With Feminine—Difficult For Woman To Choose.

It looks as if the battle were on! Masculinity versus femininity in a brilliant spring season. And it looks as if the outcome is bound to be a draw. The tailored type of woman will choose the mannish suit; the feminine type will naturally lean toward the softer type of suit. The important thing is that this is one spring when every woman can be happily and properly suited.

Four Types
In the spring suit story, there are four chapters—the mannish suit, the big sleeve suit, the cape suit and the swagger suit. And there are many versions of each of these types.

The Mannish Mode
Let's look first at the mannish suit, the joy of the tailored woman. Man tailored, so they are bound to fit the sleek way that women have always envied in men's clothes. Fashioned of men's suitings and of excellent twills. Sometimes they are seen in compose fabrics: the jacket of solid color, the skirt in harmonizing stripe effect. The double breasted style is just as smart as the single breasted, and in many of them, shoulders are padded to give that broad look that makes waists look slimmer and gives the figure a definite chic. The acceptance of the man-tailored suit is already in evidence wherever smart women gather.

New Puff Sleeves
Then there is the big sleeve suit which presents a fashion paradox. It is mannish as to cut and tailoring, but the sleeves are as far removed from masculinity as night from day! Puffed sleeves on a tailored suit! Restrained, of course, but nevertheless, puffed! Sometimes the sleeves are set on in cartridge pleats which accentuate their bigness. It's a delightful fashion, decidedly youthful in both double and single breasted styles.

Capes Important
Women have taken the cape so much into their wardrobe that there can be no question about the acceptance of the cape suit. It is seen in many versions and goes to many lengths. There are sports dresses with separate three-quarter length capes; there are suits consisting of skirt, jacket, and separate cape, in long, three-quarter or hip length. Then there is the skirt with its own cape in either of the three accepted lengths. One of the grand things about the cape suit is that you can wear the cape separately with other dresses or skirts, and so just about double your wardrobe.

New Swagger Length
And then the new short swaggar suit, a follow-up of last year's favorite suit fashion. But this length is so distinctly new, it is decidedly 1933.

Of the importance of the suit for spring, there can be no doubt. The appearance of suits have marked the opening of spring for many seasons, and 1933 will be no exception. But there is distinct newness in every 1933 suit. And one of the most important features is their wearability.

Many of the suits are fashioned to do double duty. In suits of compose fabrics where the jacket is of solid color and the skirt is a harmonizing stripe, many shops will also include a skirt of the same color as the jacket in your purchase. In reality this gives you two suits. Then there is the topcoat suit that serves so admirably on the first days of spring when a sharp wind is blowing. The topcoat with the two-piece suit makes a perfect ensemble, and it can also be worn separately as a coat with any other garments. Likewise, the two-piece suit will be tremendously smart on warmer days when the topcoat is doffed.

BALI INFLUENCES NEW BEACH TOYS

They're Scantier and More
Daring Than Ever—Plaids,
Stripes and Batiks Favored.

The romantic little isle of Bali is showing its influence on the 1933

The wide diagonal weave is a conspicuous feature in the bathing suit mode.

Devotees of the sea and sand will wear scantier bathing suits and more colorful and daring lounging clothes than they have ever worn before.

Bathing Suits Gay
Plaids, stripes and gay batik effects will be favored on the beach this summer by those fortunate young things of sufficiently small girth to wear them. The brassiere effect is an important new feature, and daringly low cut backs continue to hold first place in the fashion swim. In sharp contrast to the colorful note in bathing suits, is the fashion for gray on the beach. It is brand new and decidedly smart with bright beach accessories.

Beach Dresses vs. Slacks
Which you will wear while sunning is entirely up to you for both have fashion's sponsorship. There are many versions of the beach dress, but most of them have the prime idea of pleasing the sun worshiper by being backless. But if you are one of those who want just so much sun tan and no more, there are beach dresses that have separate capes to protect your shoulders. The batik and the paisley beach frock, inspired by the beauties of Bali, present an interesting departure in beach togs.

Huge Beach Hats
"The bigger the better" seems to be the motto for beach hats. They are great floppy things, the smartest of them with squarish crowns. Other beach accessories are going in for color in the Bali manner: glorious reds and flaming orange tones.

UNDERSEA MOVIES

New London, March 29.—(AP)—The motorship Elizabeth Ann, a former Navy submarine chaser, of this port will leave here about April 10, for the Bahamas Islands carrying a group of persons who will make motion pictures of undersea life. Frank Critley, noted diver will be in the party. The Elizabeth Ann is owned by the Interstate Navigation Company.

Queer Twists
In Day's News

Baltimore—For choking a Baltimore woman after he lost an argument with her, Patrolman Earl Cosden received commendation from his superiors.

The woman was trying to poison herself when Cosden arrived. While he was arguing she tossed two tablets into her mouth and swallowed. The patrolman seized her by the throat and choked until they came up.

Chicago—When Alfred Serv's wife died nine years ago he and his two sons locked up the house and moved away. The years passed and he went back to clean the place up. When he did, he found his wife's will. "I have jewelry in my shoe in the bathroom," it read.

The shoe contained $9,000 worth of jewels and the record of a $4,000 bank deposit.

Philadelphia—George D. Mallon's big game hunting experience at last has been of real practical value to him. Hearing a noise at the rear of his home, Mallon procured a double-barrelled shotgun which he had used in many distant lands, and captured Fred Simon, whom he accused of trying to break into a shed.

Spottsville, Ky.—Wyatt Edwards left the front door open when his family was driven from its home by floods. After the waters receded, Edwards returned to find a 27-pound catfish stranded on the hearth in the living room. "Catfish is good eating, too," said Edwards.

Chicago—The two men who held up and robbed John J. Hallin, a locomotive engineer, didn't believe in fair play.

Madison, Wis.—Gomes make the woman as well as the man, Dr. H. D. Denniston, professor of physical education at the University of Wisconsin, says.

What with bow legs, prominent knees, crooked necks, flat backs and round shoulders, there is scarcely a perfect female physical specimen among the co-eds, but modern clothes are so admirably adapted that the worst faults are completely out of sight.

Sioux City—A handkerchief with "Franklin Delano Roosevelt" embroidered on a corner, arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Poupirt as a gift from President Roosevelt to their infant son, Franklin Roosevelt Poupirt.

The child will never use it. The gift arrived at the wake for his funeral.

Tomah, Wis.—Not having funds for a veterinarian to attend his sick chicken, Arthur Kress and his friend, Morton Robertson, slit open the fowl with a knife, extracted a wad of hair that was causing the trouble and sewed the incision with silk thread. That was more than two weeks ago.

Elkhart, Kas.—Jack Nordlund, 15, is telling his friends how he battled an eagle. Nordlund said the eagle swooped down and snatched his hat as he was riding on a pony. Then, he relates, he stunned the bird with a blow and choked the eagle to death.

Uniontown, Pa.—Fram Yumonsky had his nose deep in a wild west thriller. His family heard his yell and a few minutes later they were smearing lotions on Fram's face.

He had dozed, and his face hit the hot cook stove.

Los Angeles, March 29.—(AP)—The body of Mrs. Florence Kimball Kearns, 58, of Boston, was found early today in her automobile which was tightly closed with the engine running. The car was in the garage of her temporary residence in the Pacific Palisades district. Death was due to carbon monoxide gas from the car's exhaust. Police said it appeared to be suicide.

You Must Direct And Supervise It, But It Will Do This Work For You Much More Efficiently Than You Can Do It By Antiquated Methods—And Do It More Cheaply!

Are you still washing clothes with the aid of an ordinary tub and washboard, wringing them out with a hand wringer, hanging them out on the line to dry, and then ironing them with a hand iron but little better than the old-fashioned sad iron? If so now is the time to change to a modern electric washing machine.

Do you believe that house-cleaning can only be done with a broom and an inexhaustible supply of elbow grease? If so, it's time you learned about the modern way of cleaning with an up-to-date vacuum cleaner. Don't chase dirt around — collect it with a vacuum cleaner.

MEN'S APPAREL PERKS UP AGAIN

Getting Away From Sedate Trend of Past Seasons; Plaids Prominent.

As in all else that has been designed to perk up man's appearance this Spring the haberdashery reflects more colorful and characteristic effects than have been in vogue for several seasons. This is a marked relief from the suppressed expression of apparel that men have leaned toward for more than a year. In shirts, in neckwear, in hosiery, in sweaters, in fact in all but pajamas and underwear the tendency has been toward sedateness and moderation.

Now the fashion stage shifts its scenery and more pronounced design is the keynote of the vogue. Not only is the trend toward more patterns but patterns of a decidedly outdoors nature. Shirts run to plaids and the more distinctive geometrics. Ties also have taken up the plaid motifs and for men to whom these do not appeal there is offered bold stripings in regimentals and contrasty figured and interval effects. And so on throughout man's dress and sport apparel details color and character mark the fashion edicts.

Patterns Are Prominent
In shirts the whites and soft pastel colors that practically eclipsed all other effects last summer while they may still hold an appeal to the more conservative dresser they will be completely overshadowed this season by the pronounced pattern treatments. Foremost in the shirt decrees, although they may not be foremost in adoption, are the shirts of glen plaid patternings.

These have already won favoritism among college men and that influence has already created a modicum of acceptance with the younger business men. The stores are featuring them, the windows reflect their attractions and style leaders are wearing them in the hope that the venture will develop into a popular vogue.

These are shown in both the starched collar-to-match shirts and in the collar-attached styles, mostly with the tab collar in the latter variety. They come in grays, tans, gray-blues, and other of the lighter tones for foundation treatments with the overlaid contrasts usually in darker or related tones of the same color. Other shirt styles for the men who insist on more moderate effects are in neat clip patterns and geometrics usually in contrast designs or in self patterns and jacquards. Collars on these shirts are a bit shorter and less pointed than heretofore.

Neckwear Leans To Novelty
Ties, too, are manifesting a great leaning toward the glen plaid influence. This was evident to slight degree late last fall and mostly in the wool ties. For spring this is carried on to the silk varieties and also in some knit weaves and also wool ties are highly regarded as a favorable fabric for these ties of glen plaid patternings.

Men, however, are myriad minded when it comes to neckwear and no definite novelty style can entirely cover the range of men's preference. Accordingly the smart shops are well provided and with fashion's sanction, too, with other pattern treatments. Among these are bold, colorful regimental and interval stripes, neat polka dots and small floral designs. Solid pastel shades also will retain their strong following.

Knit Wear Stresses Patterns
Knit goods, too, have fallen for the lure of pronounced patterning. This is noticeable in the hosiery and sweater styles of the season. Hosiery is being shown in many glen plaid effects, overlaid and cross-bar treatments. These are especially prominent in light weight wools, French lises and such soft fabrics as merinos and cashmeres. Polka dots are being shown with some prominence and for balanced variety there are still many vertical treatments to be seen almost invariably with contrast clocks.

Golf hose, which for a season or two like their accompanying sweaters have been largely in solid tones, now blossom forth with more pattern designing. Large block, check and over-all patterns lead in this item there are few glen plaid effects shown as this pattern phase does not lend itself to golf hosiery styling.

There are quite a few of the smartest sweaters shown now in glen plaid treatments but these can hardly be said to be dominant in the sweater styles. Small checks and Fair Isle mixtures are more prominent in sweaters than the overlaid treatment as these latter may still be classed as speculative novelties. V neck models take a decided lead over the crew neck and turtle neck varieties for Spring. A big item of increasing popularity is the sleeveless sweater in V neck style.

Sweater weaves are being precisely combined with the zipper blouses. In these the body is of leather, chamois or moleskin with sweater knit sleeves. The new idea in these is to have two lower pockets, one lined with oiled cloth, act as a tobacco pouch. Others have a compartment for a pipe and many have special recesses for golf tees. Most of these blouses whether entirely leather or with combination sweater sleeves are made on the Cosack jacket models with side fasteners. There is also a considerable vogue for sweaters of the pull-over and sweat shirt models, these in very closely knit effects.

Glen Plaids Run Rampant
It seems the glen plaid vogue will not be restrained in any article of men's attire. Pajamas are variously shown in glen plaid effects. So are shorts. Novelty handkerchiefs show neat glen plaid borders and hank cloth mufflers for sport wear and for suggestive lounging wear are shown with glen plaid borders. This scheme is even carried forward to sport belts where the material is of a texture webbing instead of leather.

FREE STATE TO PAY OFF REPUBLIC'S BONDS

To Give $1.25 For Every $1 Subscribed In America In 1930.

Washington, March 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today received Joseph Connolly, representative of the Irish Free State in this country to arrange for paying off the Republican bonds issued in 1920.

"While there is no legal obligation to do this," Connolly told newspapermen, "we feel it is a debt of honor that must be met."

On the outstanding balance of the $10,000,000 in bonds originally issued, Connolly said $1.25 would be paid for each $1 of value of the bonds. He estimated it would be two or three months before legal arrangements could be completed.

Michael MacWhite, minister of the Free State, accompanied Connolly on his call.

COLUMBIA

Albert Lyman, who has been a patient at St. Joseph's hospital, in Willimantic for several weeks with injuries received when a tree he was chopping fell on him, returned to his home Saturday.

Mrs. Robert Hall and daughter, Mrs. Mildred Hughes of West Hampton, called Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jennie Hunt. Mr. and Mrs. Lucine Hennequin and three children of Willimantic were week-end guests at the home of Mrs. Hennequin's mother, Mrs. Bessie Trythall.

Miss Hattie Strickland and Miss Edith Maxwell of Manchester were week-end guests of Mrs. Jennie Hunt.

The pleasant spring-like weather of Saturday tempted some of our summer population to open their cottages for the week-end, only to find a small blizzard when they arose Sunday morning.

At the morning services of the local church Mrs. Edith Isam and Miss Flora Wheeler sang a duet. "Will there be any stars in my crown?"

There was no C. E. meeting here Sunday evening, it being the evening of the Tri-County meeting held this month at Colchester. The speaker of the evening was Daniel Hastings, an English negro on furlough from the Mission field of Angola, Portuguese West Africa, where Rev. Duane Wain, a former Columbia pastor, is stationed. Several from Columbia attended the meeting. Music was furnished by a colored male quartet from East Hartford. At the close of the meeting a social hour with refreshments was held.

Mrs. Howard Smith and infant son came home Sunday from St. Joseph's hospital.

The annual installation of the officers of the local lodge of Ancient Order of United Workmen was held Monday evening, presided by a supper in the lower hall, to which were invited the families of the members of Columbia Lodge, as well as delegations from neighboring lodges including Willimantic and Manchester, and leaders of the Grand Lodge. The supper was served by the Columbia Young Women's Club and consisted of fruit cup, salads, hot dishes, cold ham, rolls, coffee and pie. About 55 were served. The installation was open and was in charge of Past Grand Master Workman Herbert L. Tenney, assisted by his degree team of Past Grand Master Workman Karl Keller, Arthur Gallant and Raymond Belcher. The Columbia officers installed were: Past Master Workman, Henry B. Hutchins; Master Workman, George Champ-ling; Foreman, Lester J. Hutchins; Overseer, Howard A. Rice; Guide, Raymond E. Clarke; Outside Watchman, Rowland Cobb.

The Inside Watchman, Clayton E. Hunt, was unable to be present to be installed. Among visiting Workmen were noted Roger Dickinson, Past Grand Recorder and Past Grand Master Workman John C. Trant and Chester Triesschman.

FRENCH, CUSTOM LASTS MEN'S SHOE FAVORITES

Favor Divided Between Two This Spring—For General Wear Custom Is Popular.

That there is plenty of opportunity to gratify individual preference in the selection of shoes for Spring is evidenced in the interest and variety of the styles, newly launched. The colors as well, are comprehensive in scope, stressing, as they do, the importance of brown, in an inclusive range of shades with black of minor importance but still a factor to be reckoned with.

For general wear the custom last with its pointed toe vies in importance with shoes built on the French last. Because of the broader toe that typifies this type of shoe, many men will choose them for their unfettered ease and comfort.

Some of the shoes are extremely simple, depending upon perfection of line for their appeal, while others employ a liberal use of decorative perforations for ornament.

Sports Shoe Prominent
As Spring advances to Summer the sports shoe comes into its own. And every indication points to greater popularity for this type of shoe than ever before. Light weight suits in both wool and cotton are certain to be of major importance, and the sports shoe is the logical choice to wear with this type of apparel for general service as well as for active sports.

White stands out as a particular favorite and there are a selection of models in wing tip or plain styles. Many are heavily trimmed with perforated designs. These shoes are developed in buckskin.

While the black and white shoe is still featured it has more or less taken second place in favor of the combination of brown and white. The advancing season will find sports shoes of white buckskin with wing tip and heel foxing in brown calf of greater and greater importance. And it is logical that this should be so as brown is always a favorite Spring and Summer shoe color and it is never more effective than when used in combination with white.

A number of shoes in lighter weight are presented — they will appeal especially to men who stress

GAY TRIFLES AID TO ANY OUTFIT

Individuality and Charm Emphasized By Many Smart Accessories.

It's the little things that count for so much in fashion; that give just the right touch to the costume. From head to toe there are dozens of smart accessories that do big things in a little way. They offer your costume individuality and charm, and complete the spring picture for you. There are those that are practical and those that are frivolous, following in the footsteps of the gay Lily Langtry.

The Blouse Status There can be no question about the place that blouses occupy in the fashion picture. They are indispensable. With suits scheduled for such importance, the blouse promises to have its biggest season in years. There are countless versions, and the suit lends the way for the type blouse to be chosen. Smart women will wear the shirtwaist the bright note into many an otherwise neutral costume. Frivolity is most smartly expressed in the little mouseline and organdy boas. They are perfectly delightful, and young girls who have never worn them will pledge themselves to them for gay spring evenings. When the bow is not used you may see a bit of ruching used in dainty manner, or flowers of organdy circled round the neckline. These bits of feminine neckwear make the most of frivolity.

Skirts in Fashion Because of the popularity of the suit featuring the dark jacket with checked or striped skirt, there is bound to be interest in separate skirts. Many women who are buying suits with matching jacket and skirt are buying little separate skirts to make an extra costume. This is indeed a smart way to enlarge your wardrobe, and the new skirts are something to talk about. Gray, the high shades, tweeds, checks, and fine pin stripes are being featured. Seamed details introduced in various ways at the hips and waistline are an important feature.

Pleats are most important, for they keep the slim silhouette, at the same time giving the freedom that is demanded. Side pleats, kick pleats, wide box pleats, all are important. One interesting skirt was fashioned with sharp creases down both sides of the front to give the effect of trousers. This is another example of the mannish mode that has crept into 1933 fashions. The "cowboy skirt" is another new departure with youthful appeal. It has a side pleated border that forms a deep pouce. Many skirts shown the cross-cross bands at front that button in the back. Back buttoned belts are also new. In sharp contrast are those skirts that show buttons all the way down the front, a decided Spring 1933 feature.

O'CONNOR WILL FILED
Milford, March 29.—(AP)—The will of Miss Jane M. O'Connor who died last week at the age of 92, was offered for probate today. In it were provisions for distribution of an estate which is estimated in value to be more than $100,000. There are a number of small public bequests including $1,000 to St. Mary's church, Milford, $500 to the Little Sisters of the Poor, New Haven; $500 to the Society for Propagation of the faith, New York, and $100 to the Milford Chapter, D. A. R.

type blouse with their tailored suits. With softer suits, they will wear washable crepes in the Gibson girl manner, or a crisp new organdy or taffeta. Short sleeves are more popular than long, and most often they show a tiny puff that makes them delightfully feminine.

Spring Sweaters In choosing spring sweaters, it's smartest to select one with colorful accents, whether it is to be worn with a suit or with separate skirts. There are so many types that any woman can find just what she wants. There are dozens of soft rabbit's hair knits, and then the weaves that simulate hand knitting or crocheting. They all show some little trick in sleeves or neckline.

In the practical class come those easy-to-laundry blouses and the dozens of smart sweaters that can be worn with so many costumes. Handbags that have space for cigarettes are voted in the practical class by smart young moderns. Washable gloves, light handbags that can be cleaned by soap and water, all these have many virtues that make them most desirable. But even these practical accessories haven't forgotten to keep gay. They offer tone and color, they put

NECKLINES AND SLEEVES FEATURE COAT NEWS

Fur Trimmed Types Share Importance With Those Not Having Furs.

Whether you wear your coat fur trimmed or furless this spring rests entirely with you. For both are smart, both have Paris sponsorship, and both are to be found in infinite variety. Most interesting of all are the coats that may be worn both ways.

Detachable Furs Happily, fashion has begun to see things through thrifty eyes, and many of spring's smartest coats are shown with a lot of fur, or a capelet, or a jabot, but always that fur trimming is detachable, showing a perfect type of furless coat when the trimming is removed.

Peter Pan Necklines One of the important new necklines is the Peter Pan collar developed in fat or fluffy fur. It is delightfully refreshing and youthful and has the sponsorship of the smartest Paris designers.

Sleeves are not to be slighted. In many cases where necklines are simple and furless, the smartness of the coat lies in the sleeves. They show quaint puffs, always restrained to make them wearable, and sometimes set on in cartridge pleats.

Capes Are News Capes are creating a bit of good news where coats are concerned. They go to many lengths from the tiny pelleline to the cape that extends to the elbows. Many of them are bordered with rich fox, or sleek galyak, and most of them are detachable leaving a simple sports coat for your more informal hours. The coat with fur cuffs is back again for spring, looking smarter than ever in fox or wolf. It is casual enough for sports, while its fur lends enough grandeur to make it a suitable companion to dressy afternoon frocks.

ANDOVER

A Lenten supper was served to about 40 young people, those between the ages of 12 and 20, who are all interested in the local church and Sunday school, Friday at 6:30 in the Town hall. After the supper a half hour of singing was enjoyed, after which the Rev. Porter Bower, of Hartford, talked on "Life's Choices." Those in charge of the supper and the serving of the supper were Miss Dorothy Raymond, Miss Wylie Brown, Mrs. Rachel Stanley and Mrs. George Nelson.

The topic of the sermon preached by the Rev. Wallace I. Woodin at the Congregational church on Sunday morning was "The Joy of the Abundant Life."

There were 32 in attendance at the Sunday school session on Sunday morning. Henry Hilliard acted as organist. August Lindholm celebrated his birthday Sunday with a family party. Besides his daughters and sons there were Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Johnson, of Hartford; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson and daughter, Alice, also of Hartford; August Johnson and daughter, Della, of Manchester. On Monday Mr. Lindholm had as his guests Mr. and Mrs. G. Carlson and son, of Hartford, and the Rev. and Mrs. S. C. Franzen, of Manchester, with their son and daughter.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Hasbrouck at the Manchester Memorial hospital Saturday. Clarence Rose, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident near the home of Erskine Hyde last week, is still in St. Joseph's hospital in Willimantic in a serious condition. Mrs. Mildred Goodale entertained Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goodale and Mrs. Goodale's sister, Florence, from Glastonbury, Sunday. School children are selling tickets

SNAP BRIMS SNAP BACK INTO STYLE

More Dashing Trend Noted in Men's Hats—Dark Brown Prominent.

During the past fall season the snap brim felts that have featured the vogue in men's hats for several seasons retired a bit in favor of the off-the-face bomburges and semi-bomburges, but the more dashing trend for the Spring and sports seasons promises a strong revival of the snap-brim vogue.

During the early dress-up period around Easter the semi-bomburges hats with the turned up brims will no doubt look like a leader but this is only because this type of hat seems related to English drapes, styling, but as the season progresses and sport attire becomes more the dress scheme the snap brim is sure to assert itself as the hat most expressive of dash, nonchalance and negligence appropriateness. Dark brown is a very prominent color for the early spring days to co-ordinate with a spring showing of brown effects in suits. Pearls, light tans, gray-blues and pastel tinges of greens, lavins, beige and the

The Federated Sunday School Junior and Intermediate classes are to have a social on Friday evening, March 31 at the Primary rooms.

Miss Ellen J. Foster will have charge of the games and Mrs. Paul Sheldick's class will provide for the refreshments. A public meeting was held at the Nye street schoolhouse on Wednesday evening, March 22. Mrs. Speers, a demonstrator, gave an illustrated talk on vitamins and proper food diet. Mrs. Speers came under the auspices of the "Lave Wires" and they also furnished refreshments. Wells Dewey has been confined to his home for several days by illness. Charles J. Dewey and Mrs. Rosa

MONKEYS SEARCH THROUGH THEIR PORES, NOT FOR FEARS

Monkeys search through their fur for a salt which exudes from their pores, not for fears.

Summer Hat Style For the sports season and particularly for golf and riding the soft felt or crusher hat is making inroads into the cap business. The vogue for soft felts for sport has been given momentum by the number of golfers who prefer slacks to knickers, as this type of hat always presents a better effect with the long trousers. Horsemen also are taking strongly to the soft felt with a back-cloth as a smart riding outfit. The caps that are shown are largely of the one-piece style and many of these follow the glen plaid trend seconded by small check of the shepherd or houndstooth patterns.

In straw hats the flat set promises to be the leader but panamas will run these a very close second. Leghorns, milans, bangtorks and bakus are waning in popularity. The vogue for fancy bands is coming back strong. Many sanitis will carry glen plaid bands this summer.

Recipe Requests Answered By Mrs. Edna R. Crabtree

Dear Friends in Manchester: I always want to scold you when I read through the recipe requests handed in at the Cooking School, for so many of you ask for French Dressing. Asking for French and essential recipe means that you have no cook book. For the most elementary cook book contains at least one recipe for this important dressing. Please save pennies and buy a good cook book; not because I do not want to give you recipes but because a cook book is absolutely necessary to good cookery, variation of the menu, and adequate meal planning.

Here is the French Dressing recipe, with variations:

French Dressing
Use the best olive oil for delicate flavor and texture, or one of the vegetable or nut salad oils which you may have tried and prefer, or which for economy's sake you must use. The recipe makes one half cup, enough to dress salad for at least six people, or more, if the family does not care for much dressing. Use six tablespoons oil, two tablespoons mild vinegar, paprika, one teaspoon salt, one fourth teaspoon pepper. Mix the dry ingredients, stir in the vinegar and oil, pour into a bottle, being careful to scrape every bit of the seasonings and oil into the bottle. Cork tightly and shake vigorously. Keep tightly corked, and in the refrigerator, using as needed. It will keep indefinitely this way. Always shake thoroughly before using. Mix your salad, dress with the shaken French dressing just before serving.

To vary the flavor, add one fourth teaspoon celery salt; or the same amount of curry powder or a little more curry powder if that flavor is liked; many substitute lemon juice for the vinegar, and especially delicious are fruit salad mixtures; or use wine or tarragon vinegars in place of cider vinegar; add a few drops of Worcestershire sauce if the dressing is to be used on fish, meat or chicken salads; use grapefruit juice or orange juice, and a little less oil if the salad is all fruit.

Cinnamon Toast
For six slices of toast, use two tablespoons butter, one or two teaspoons cinnamon, two tablespoons brown sugar, one fourth cup sugar, one fourth cup raisins, work the cinnamon and continue to cream until smooth and evenly mixed (use a small wooden spoon for this for best results). Spread on buttered toast, lay the toast on a baking sheet, and run under the broiler flame until the mixture bubbles. This is about one minute. Substitute maple sugar for the brown, or use granulated sugar; add finely chopped dates or raisins; for tea, cut the toast in fancy shapes or narrow strips.

Sour Cream Pie
One cup sour cream, one cup sugar, one half cup chopped raisins, two level tablespoons flour, yolks two eggs well beaten, nutmeg, cloves, one half teaspoon cinnamon. Beat the eggs then add to the cream, blend with sugar and flour mixed, add raisins and cinnamon and a small sprinkling of the cloves and nutmeg. Bake in a lower crust (unbaked), and when done (moderate oven twenty-five to thirty minutes) spread on the stiffly whipped whites of the eggs, then put back in the hot oven until the meringue is delicately browned on its highest points.

Butterscotch Pie
Mix two and one half cups milk, one and one half cups brown sugar, three tablespoons shortening, yolks of three eggs well beaten, three tablespoons flour stirred smooth with a little milk, one fourth teaspoon salt. Cook this in the double boiler, stirring constantly until thick. Then add two teaspoons vanilla. Let cool, and pour into a baked pastry shell. Cover with meringue made from the whites of the three eggs and a little powdered sugar. Brown a minute or two in the oven.

Date Fudding
One cup chopped nut meats, three-fourths cup stoned dates, one fourth cup flour, one fourth cup sugar, one half teaspoon baking powder, two eggs, one eighth teaspoon salt. Sift the dry ingredients together, add the nuts and dates, then add the beaten egg yolks. Beat egg whites stiffly and mix with the other ingredients, thoroughly blending. Bake in a low oven, in a pan rubbed with shortening, about one hour, or until cake test shows it is done. Serve with whipped cream, or orange sauce. Serves five or six.

Chicken Pie
This is a chicken pie recipe not usually to be found in cook books. For it, use one boiling chicken, two tablespoons shortening, one large onion, one large tomato, a few ripe olives, raisins and almonds all finely shredded, and salt and pepper. Boil the chicken until tender, drain and remove the meat from the bones. Put the shortening in a frying pan and brown the onion sliced very fine, and the tomatoes cut in small pieces in it. Add about one fourth cup of the mixed olives, nuts and raisins, measured after shredding. Cook the mixture ten minutes. Add the chicken and seasoning and cook ten more minutes.

Make a rich pie paste and line the bottom and sides of a deep baking dish with it. Pour in the mixture, and cover with paste. Bake forty minutes until the paste is nicely browned. The top cover should be perforated with a fork, as for any pie, before it is pinched into place on the dish. Serves six.

SERVE VARIED COOKIES WITH CUP OF TEA

Two Or More Kinds Should Be On Table—Here Are Some Choice Recipes.

Two or more kinds of small, delectable cookies should be on the tea table. The following recipes are quickly followed, and they are unusually good.

Rolls Cookies
One half pound walnut meats (one level measuring cup); one cup brown sugar; two eggs; two tablespoons flour; one fourth teaspoon salt; one-fourth teaspoon baking powder. Mix and sift the salt, flour and baking powder, stir sugar and nuts together, mix with the flour then stir in the eggs beaten thoroughly. Drop the dough from a teaspoon onto a tin baking sheet rubbed very lightly with shortening. Bake in a hot oven. Leave at least one half inch between the cookies when dropped on the tin. The oven should be hot, moderate, and the baking not longer than six to eight minutes. Watch the oven closely, remove when firm and when they look done. Roll up into a little cylinder or cone shape, while hot. Serve cold.

Peanut Cookies
One fourth cup shortening, one half cup sugar, one egg, two tablespoons milk, one cup flour, three fourths cup of peanuts, put through the meat chopper, one fourth teaspoon salt, one level teaspoon cream of tartar, one half teaspoon soda. Cream the butter and work in the sugar, then the beaten egg and milk. Mix soda, cream of tartar salt and flour, and sift. Work nuts and flour into first mixture, thoroughly beating. Drop from teaspoon on baking tin, as for rolled cookies. Bake in moderate oven, about eight minutes.

Chocolate Cookies
One fourth pound sweet chocolate, grated; one cup shortening; two eggs; one half teaspoon salt; three cups flour; three cups sugar; one teaspoon soda; one half teaspoon baking powder; one level teaspoon cinnamon; one half cup milk. Mix all the dry ingredients and sift together twice. Then cream shortening and sugar, work in beaten eggs, and gradually add milk and flour alternately. And only enough flour to make the dough stiff enough to roll. Some flours take up more moisture than others.

Roll thin on a lightly floured board. Cut in any preferred shape, and bake in a moderate oven on a tin lightly dusted with flour. About eight to ten minutes should be long enough.

Bread Crumbs Cookies
For the crumbs in this recipe either dry bread or dry cake crumbs may be used. Use one cup brown sugar; one half cup shortening; two and one half cups crumbs; one half cup baking molasses; one half cup strong black coffee; two eggs, beaten; one teaspoon soda; one teaspoon cinnamon; one half teaspoon ground cloves; two and one half cups sifted flour; one half cup chopped seeded raisins. Cream the sugar and shortening together, add the crumbs, the molasses in which the soda is mixed, then the coffee, beaten eggs, cinnamon and cloves. Work in the flour and raisins mixed together. Mix thoroughly, drop from spoon on tin rubbed with shortening, and bake in moderate oven about fifteen minutes.

YELLOW CORN MEAL RECIPES FOR SPRING

Nourishing, Economical, This Cereal Adds Variety To Late Spring Menus.

Many requests have come to the Cooking School lecturer for corn meal recipes, especially corn bread. The following bread is simple but nourishing, and economical. The bread may be served hot with syrup as a breakfast cereal, or hot with honey and butter for luncheon, or cold, as bread for any meal.

Corn Bread
Use three fourths cup yellow corn meal, adding enough sifted white flour to fill the cup level; two teaspoons baking powder; one saltspoon salt; one cup sweet milk; two tablespoons melted shortening; one egg; one third cup sugar. Sift the baking powder with the flour, add salt, milk, egg and melted shortening and the sugar. Beat briskly. Pour into a pan rubbed with shortening. And bake in hot oven for twenty-five minutes. This same batter may be poured into muffin tins (rubbed with shortening) and baked the same length of time.

Corn Meal Crisps
Use seven eighths cup of yellow corn meal, one cup boiling water, two and one half tablespoons shortening and one level teaspoon salt. Mix and beat into a smooth batter. If you have no baking sheet, invert

The Tea Table Should Be Colorful

Small cakes, open face sandwiches, bread and butter or cinnamon toast are the favorite American accessories for afternoon tea. Beautiful silver, fine china, the best cloth and fresh flowers add to the color and appeal of this function.

a square baking pan, rub the bottom with shortening, and spread the batter on this evenly and smoothly. Bake in a hot oven. If the edges brown before the center is firm, cut the browned parts away in squares or long strips, and return the pan to the oven until all is browned. Serve in narrow strips, as soon as baked, with salad, or as a luncheon or breakfast bread.

Corn Sticks
For these a bread stick iron is needed. Such irons are to be found in all well equipped house furnishing departments. The recipe calls for one cup yellow corn meal; three fourths cup white flour; one half cup shortening; one cup sweet milk; one half teaspoon salt; three teaspoons baking powder; one egg. Beat the egg; mix with the milk, then add to the shortening, mixing thoroughly. Work into the sifted, dry ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Heat the bread stick iron, rub with shortening, pour in the batter, and bake in a hot oven. The sticks are done when delicately browned all over, with crisp edges. Serve as luncheon bread, or with soup, salad, or to tempt the child who "does not like bread." The novel form may appeal to his appetite.

Ohio Cobbler
Make a rich pie pastry using three fourths cup meal and one fourth white flour in a recipe for one pie crust. In a deep baking dish, rubbed with shortening, put three cups of thinly sliced apples, one tablespoon butter cut into small dabs, three tablespoons table molasses, one cup brown sugar, one tablespoon flour sprinkled lightly over the apples, one eighth teaspoon salt, and the same amount of ground cloves. Pour in one third cup hot water. Over the top spread the cornmeal pastry. Bake one hour in a moderate oven. Serve as dessert, with or without cream.

No Right Way
There are several hundred words in the English language that nobody apparently knows how to pronounce—even the dictionaries don't agree. Take two dictionaries such as you will find in Webster's and you will find countless differences. Now along come the sponsors of a purely "American" language. They claim that common everyday usage should be regarded as correct. "Go slowly," says the scholar. "Go slow," says the traffic warning. And the shorter form has won.

Forced Blooms
Now that the time is approaching when some of the blooming bushes and trees will show their blossoms, we are reminded that the twigs may be forced into early bloom if broken off, carried indoors and kept in water. Branches broken from a magnolia tree during a snow storm were brought indoors and ten days produced exquisite pink blossoms. Apple trees, forsythia and pussy-willows can be forced too.

You'll enjoy spring days more if you rid yourself of the laundry problem by sending everything to the New Model Laundry. The cost for this weekly service is so small that you will wonder why you ever did heavy washing at home. Just phone 8072.

Two-in-One
The economical vogue for two-in-one clothes that serve sometimes half a dozen purposes now brings forth the coat and dress combination. This is made in practical fashion to be used as either a dress or a coat. It can be buttoned together like a dress, or transformed into a coat by a detachable cape or separate fur piece.

When Spring shopping tomorrow, drop into Packard's Pharmacy for the lovely new powder, "Spring Blossom", regularly $1.00, but priced 69c tomorrow. They are also featuring Coty's Perfume, the perfume every woman wants to have.

"Section 7 provides for judicial review in the event of an order of revocation by the commission, to the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia.
"Section 8 prohibits the interstate advertisement either written or spoken of domestic and foreign securities subject to this act unless the communication contains certain information concerning the securities offered as required by the commission and the act. Copies of all such advertising material must be filed with the commission and the statement so filed shall be available for public inspection.

Liability for Damages
"Section 9 assumes that all purchasers rely upon the representation contained in the statement and makes all the signers of such statement jointly and severally liable to the purchasers for damages in the event of any material misrepresentation contained therein. Misrepresentations in the statement or advertising when made with the knowledge of their falsity will subject the signers to the Federal fraud and perjury laws.

Aerate Canned Foods
One of the first and most important rules is that canned foods should be properly aerated. Practically all the air was expelled from the can during the canning process. This naturally results in a "flat" taste not uncommon to canned goods. As soon as a can of vegetables is opened, it should be turned into a shallow bowl and allowed to stand uncovered for 10 to 15 minutes. In this way the vegetables come in contact with the air and regain what they lost during the canning.
The second rule is that vegetables should be reheated in the water in which they were canned.

Another In Interior Decorating Series Is Given—Final Talk Next Tuesday.

Miss Adeline Grenier, of The Gateway Shop, gave the third talk in a series of four at the Manchester Y yesterday afternoon. The subject of the talk was "Pottery." She gave the history of pottery in the eastern countries, Italy, France, and England. She had with her pieces of pottery illustrating the pottery and china of the different countries. These talks are most instructive and give a splendid foundation with which further study can be made.

The interest she is creating in the different phases of Interior Decorating is most helpful. There is a goodly number of women attending these meetings but there is plenty of room for more women to avail themselves of this splendid opportunity. Miss Grenier announced that there would be an exhibition of Spode China in the Hall Galleries this next week in Springfield. The final talk of the series will be given next Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. WINTER'S DYING GASP BRINGS SNOW BLANKET
Heavy Fall Early This Morning But It Quickly Disappears As Temperature Moderates.

Manchester saw today what may prove to be the last blanket of snow until next fall. It fell during the night but quickly melted this morning under the prevailing moderate temperature. The snow started falling shortly before 11 o'clock last night, subsided for a few hours and then fell again from 2:30 to 4:30. The snowfall was light, however, and yet it was enough to cover the ground.

During the storm, the wet snow clung to windshields making it necessary for many drivers to stop and wipe the windshields by hand. Many trucks which pass through the town in the middle of the night were behind schedule.

ENSEMBLE IDEA
FASHION RULE

All Accessories Should Be Based On It—Monograms Are Smart Again.

Fashion believes, this spring, that if a fabric, or a mark of details, or a trend, is smart in one of the family of accessories, it is smart on all of them. So this is one season when you can ensemble the little things in life. Choose shoes in relation to bags, let your gloves match something in your wardrobe; flaunt your initials wherever you go. If there's a shine on your hat, wear a shine on your bag by choosing patent leather.

Wear your initials wherever you can. This is strictly a Lily Langtry influence. It is said that she monogrammed her lingerie, her frocks, her household linens, and to the letter in chic. Especially smart with the new tailored suits. The little crisp ruching capelet gives the broad shoulder time at the same time that it leads soft femininity.

Flower necklines in both large and small flowers are important. Besides the flower type, there is the organdy ruffled collar that gives a flower-like appearance and is decidedly smart.

Bibs are smart again, in lace, in pique, in organdy and in net. They are simplified and are a smart fashion for giving dark frocks the necessary light touch. Many of these little bibs have their own cuffs to match.

There are many variations of such bib-like neckwear so that it is a simple matter to choose a type that

This gray ring lizard tie is a perfect choice for gray street costumes. It is smartest to carry a lizard bag when you wear lizard shoes.

Furthermore, Fashion doesn't go to that length, but it does sponsor monograms to a great extent.

If you want any afternoon or evening frock to be as dainty and as feminine as Lily Langtry herself would have worn, just add a bit of ruching, or a boat of organdy. This fashion is so smart and quaint, it looks as though it might have stepped right out of the mauve decade.

Cording is Revived
It has been a long time since cording has been used to give fashions smartness. This year it is one of the most popular ways used to achieve chic in accessories. Where actual cording is not used, often tiny tufts are taken to simulate this effect.

Compacts, in large flap jack, or square shape, wear initials in metal or enamel.

Initials are being shown on so many handbags, on the dressy types as well as the tailored.

The blouse with your initial is up will be completely becoming. If the rounded line followed by the bib sketched above does not appeal you may select those with pointed or square lines.

The School Board meeting which was held Wednesday evening was adjourned to April 12.

A meeting was held by members of the Marlborough Congregational church, Friday afternoon at the church. The object of the meeting being to accept or reject the boundaries the State Highway Department has made on the church property. It was voted to put an injunction on the property and the business was left with Judge Grant of Hartford.

STOCKHOLDERS MEETING.

New Haven, March 29.—(AP)—Notices of the annual meeting of stockholders of the New Haven road April 19, were sent out today. It will be at noon in the Garden Hotel.

The business is election of directors, approval of the annual statement and to act on the usual proposition under which the directors would do any necessary financing.

COMMITTS SUICIDE

Fitchburg, Mass., March 29.—(AP)—Charles Henry Ellis, 70, former superintendent of the Richardson Piano Co., factory in Leominster, shot himself to death today. He had been out of work and acquaintances said he had been despondent.

NEW BLOUSES DEPEND UPON TYPE OF SUIT

Smart Tailoring Can Be Ruined If Wrong Kind of Blouse Is Chosen.

It is a wise woman who chooses her blouse just as carefully as she chooses her suit. For a perfectly smart tailored suit can be utterly ruined if the wrong kind of blouse is worn.

Tailored Blouses
The striped shirtwaist type is slated for great popularity to be worn with tailors. They are smart in style, becoming to everyone, and easy to launder which is a big point in their favor.

While the shirtwaist is smart, its severity is not acceptable with the softer dressmaker types of suits, and the little silk suits that are entering the afternoon mode. It is here that ruffles sound the proper note that brings perfect harmony. Dainty, fluffy blouses in sheer silks, Lily Langtry pastels, bits of net and lace. The kind of blouses that belies the early 1900's wore and loved, and that modern Miss 1933 will adore.

The Softer Type
Besides the fluffy blouse, there is the crisp blouse that will be the joy of femininity. Perky Taffeta in checks and plaids, as gray as youth; organdy and organdy pique, new and fresh and breathing spring in every thread.

With so many different kinds of blouses, the clever woman will want an entire blouse wardrobe. The life of your suit can be prolonged with enough blouses, for each time you change your blouse, your suit is new and different.

OUTS MORTGAGE RATES
Providence, March 29.—(AP)—The Rhode Island Trust Co. of this city, today announced that effective May 1, interest rates on all Rhode Island mortgages in good standing held by the bank will be reduced to five per cent. Rates on loans have ranged up to six per cent and the bulk of mortgages carrying the six per cent charge.

C. C. I. L. To Remain Intact Rest of School Year

ALL SIX MEMBERS VOTE TO CONTINUE SPORTS SCHEDULES

Economy Is Keynote of Meeting Held Last Night To Discuss Athletic Future of State High Schools.

The six high schools comprising the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League, met last evening at West Hartford high school and voted unanimously to continue all sports for the remainder of this school year. Reports had previously gone out that East Hartford and Middletown might abandon baseball and track but Principals Ross and Shearer of the respective schools agreed last night that they would make every effort to keep the sports going. Students at each school are out trying to raise funds by solicitations of various kinds and it is believed that enough will be secured to assure the teams financial backing.

At the meeting last evening there was a serious note of economy and every effort will be made to keep the expenses of the sports down and at the same time provide proper equipment and protection for the students who participate. A special attack was made on the amount paid officials and a committee consisting of Principals Ross of East Hartford, Cottle of Bristol and Shearer of Middletown and Coaches Norfolk of West Hartford and Barnikow of Meriden, was appointed by President of the League Ray W. Hartman to meet with the officers of the Connecticut Central Association of Football Officials. Coach Thomas Kelley of Manchester is now president of the officials' association and expressed approval of the action taken by the principals and coaches in effecting the informal "arbitration board."

Tennis And Golf

All but one school, East Hartford, will have tennis teams this spring while Manchester, Meriden, West Hartford and Middletown plan to have golf teams. In tennis a rule was passed last month that a player might not participate in both singles and doubles in the same tournament. The rule was amended last night to provide that this may not apply to dual tournaments if a school wished to economize in the matter of transportation, etc. The rule will be a help to Manchester with Bobby Smith and Meriden with its league champion, Lewis, who may now play in both singles and doubles when these schools meet in May. The date for the fall C. C. I. L. tournament has been set for Sept. 22, with the finals to be played on Saturday, Sept. 23. Preliminary matches will be played on the Hartford Country Club courts if arrangements can be made with the club management similar to those of last fall. The state tennis tournament for boys will be held at Bridgeport on June 2 and 3 while the girls will play on the Arnold College courts on May 27 and June 3.

The four schools which will support golf teams this spring will begin their dual matches early in May. The state tournament in this sport will be held in Fairfield on the same course as last year, Friday, June 9. Manchester is fortunate in having all of the members of last year's team still in high school. Reardon, Hultine, O. and H. Clevello. The team finished sixth in last year's Connecticut state tournament.

Track Is Discussed

Track came in for its share of attention. The League meet this year will again be held on Trinity field where the college men have so successfully conducted the affair for the past four years. June 10 is the date chosen for the meet and all six schools promise to enter teams. East Hartford will have a strong track team this year but will be handicapped in that they will not be allowed to go out of town for competition since they have no money for traveling expenses. Several schools have agreed to waive the two-year arrangements which are ordinarily in force and give East Hartford the courtesy of dual meets on their own home field this season.

The league meet for 1933 are exactly the same as last year with the addition of a medley relay race of 1,320 yards. In this race the first runner will run 220 yards, the second and third will run 440 yards, while the last contestant will run the 420 yard stretch. This event, like the freshmen relay, will not count for points and entrants will not be permitted to go into any other running event. Ribbons will be awarded each runner on the winning quartet.

Other Sport Schedules

Soccer, football and basketball schedules for next fall and winter were ordered prepared by the secretary, using the same schedules as in 1932 but with the home dates reversed. Some of the coaches wished to have a rotating schedule so that the team which opens the season in 1933 will play the second date in 1934, etc. Such a schedule will also be prepared by Secretary Towle of Bristol and will be acted upon at the next meeting of the league which is booked for Monday, May 8, in West Hartford.

Tourney Rules Remain

After considerable discussion, the members went on record unanimously in favor of keeping the same method of picking the teams for the annual Yale tournament which has been used for the past four years. Principal Cottle explained to a member of the Conference Committee which picks the eight leading schools that some schools felt that weak teams were and in previous years have been picked when stronger teams were excluded on account of the point system used.

Some coaches present felt that the record of team toward the end of the season should count more than in the opening games of the late fall and early winter. Some good teams are slow in developing and lose so many games before the season is half through that they eliminate themselves from the tournament yet are winning consistently from teams which are picked. A case in point might have been Manchester, which defeated Windham twice, New Britain and Meriden once each, yet these three teams were picked while M. H. S., on the basis of a mid-season slump, was overlooked.

The Naugatuck alley league petitioned the State Conference to pick sixteen teams for 1933 instead of the customary eight. Mr. Cottle suggested that the C. C. I. L. might like to favor picking the four outstanding teams for the finals and then picking the next eight best for a preliminary tournament, the four winners to be bracketed with the higher four to make up the slate for the Yale tussle. Dates for the 1934 tournament in New Haven were given as March 8, 9 and 10 and the games may be played in the Yale gymnasium.

Six From M. H. S.

Coach Thomas Monahan of Bristol entertained with a short report of the Newport tournament which Bristol captured. He said that the games were to go to Tufts for 1934 if the New England Council decided to sponsor them again. Coaches Clarke, Wigren, Kelley, Greer, Faculty Manager Perry and Principal Quimby represented Manchester at the League meeting.

Wallace Wade, head football coach at Duke university, continues to show improvement in his golf. He now shoots in the 70's.

HOLY CROSS NAMES HEAD GRID COACH

Dr. Edward Anderson of Chicago Appointed To Post At Worcester, Mass.

Worcester, Mass., March 28.—(AP)—Dr. Edward Anderson of Chicago, Captain of Notre Dame's 1921 football team, has been appointed head football coach at Holy Cross. Rev. T. J. Phelan, S. J., Faculty director of athletics at Holy Cross, announced the appointment last night and characterized Anderson as "nationally known as an All-American end."

Dr. Anderson succeeds Captain John J. McEwan, who was suspended as coach during the 1932 season. Captain McEwan was serving out the second year of a three-year contract when the suspension order was issued. He brought action in court to recover and the college and McEwan later settled their difficulties. Dr. Anderson was graduated from Notre Dame in 1922 and played football there under the late Knute Rockne. He coached football and basketball for three years at Columbia College, Dubuque, Iowa, and his teams won the Iowa Conference football championship in 1922 and 1924. He later coached at DePaul University, Chicago, while attending Rush Medical School, University of Chicago.

Red Sox Change For the Better

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles surveying the chances of the big league teams as they prepare to leave the spring training camps.

By BILL BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Editor

New York, March 29.—The Boston Red Sox have changed for the better. The team no longer is the American League's door-mat. The change in the team became apparent even before Tom Yawkey bought the club, installed Eddie Collins as general manager, and brightened up things as only a fresh bankroll can.

During dog days last season, the Red Sox did not play like the Red Sox at all. The Bostonese suddenly became one of the toughest teams in the league. Hopelessly in the cellar, they fought as though a pennant depended upon their efforts.

Inspired by the hustling spirit of Marty McManus, the Baseman Boys turned upon their oppressors and knocked every club in the circuit for a row of tough afternoons. This year, if that spirit continues, the Red Sox will be the team that tightens the American League race to a scramble down the home stretch.

Boston, though there is no immediate prospect of escape from the cellar, has become the team the champions must learn to beat.

A sometimes clownish defense is what keeps the club down. Boston's Murderer's Row with Alexander, Jolley, Fothergill, Johnson and Hodapp—enough to give any American League pitcher fits. But the very same lads will punt runs right over the goal.

Big Alex led the league in hitting last year, but his shortcomings at first base have been the subject of a jovial song and story. Hodapp, slated for second, is a better fielder than Alex, and a deadly hitter, but has erratic moments. Mulleavy, obtained from the White Sox, probably will play short this year, and while he hits he also is frequently guilty of outside kicks. McManus, back at third after a season of shining his pants on the bench, will improve the defense.

Fillers Beat North Ends In Y Cage Series, 33-23

Win Opening Battle With Spurt In Third Period, After Leading 12-11 At Halftime; Katchaveck and Korch Feature For Winners.

In a close, hard fought battle at the Y last night the Mers Filler team got the jump on the North Ends by taking the first game of the series, 33-23. The Red Raiders from Oakland street led the lead only in the first period. In the third period (the Fillers used big period) they were held to but four points.

The Fillers used a some defense in the first half but the North Ends solved it too easily. In the beginning of the second half the North Ends were checked close under their own basket. Their guards could not bring the ball up very far and their attack was momentarily stopped. The Fillers missed the services of their center, Walt Wright, who would have surely gotten the jump. Even though

RUTGERS TO MEET PRINCETON AGAIN

Resume Grid Relations For First Time Since 1915; Play On Nov. 25.

Princeton, March 28.—(AP)—Princeton and Rutgers, oldest intercollegiate football rivals will meet again on the gridiron next November 25 for the first time since 1915. Announcement of the game was made by Thurston J. Davies, acting chairman of the Princeton board of athletic control. It will be played at Palmer Stadium.

On Nov. 6, 1889 Princeton and Rutgers met in the first intercollegiate football game ever played with the scarlet winning six goals to four. They have met 23 times since with the Tigers victorious in every one. The inclusion of the Rutgers game gives Princeton its first nine-game schedule since 1912.

The revised schedule: Oct. 7, Amherst; 14, Williams; 21, Columbia; 28, Washington and Lee; Nov. 6, Brown at Providence; 11, Dartmouth; 18, Navy; 25, Rutgers; Dec. 2, Yale at New Haven.

A form of football had been played at Princeton for 30 years before the meeting with Rutgers in 1889, the students kicking an inflated bladder in an open space between the east and west colleges. A goal was scored when the bladder was kicked against one of the buildings. Sometimes the whole student body participated.

The late William S. Gummer, 70, late chief justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court organized and led the first football team against Rutgers. After that 4-6 defeat the teams met again the following Saturday with Princeton the victor in a match limited to 15 goals.

Three of the players on that first Princeton team are still alive. They are Homer D. Boughter '71, of Denver; Alexander Van Rensselaer '71, of Philadelphia, who was captain of the 1870 team and William P. Lane, '73 of Hagerstown, Md.

INDEPENDENTS TO MEET ENDEES FOR REC COURT TITLE

First Game To Be Played Saturday Night At East Side Rec Between East and West Champs.

At a meeting held at the West Side Rec last night between officials of the Independents, winners of the Saturday night league sponsored by the Recreation Centers and the Endees, champions of the West Side Rec League, arrangements were completed for a three-game series to decide the championship of the Recreation Centers. The opening game will take place at the East Side Rec next Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

The Independents won the East Side title last Saturday by virtue of a five point victory over the Original Tuffey team, finishing one game ahead of the Sons of Italy. The West Side League was just as hotly contested and the Endees managed to finish up just one game ahead of the Kaceys to win the league.

Saturday night games should prove interesting to watch as there is some good basketball players in the lineups of the two teams. The Independents sport the most noted players, being composed of fellows, some of whom have seen service with some fast teams in this vicinity, namely "Tommy" Faulkner, star forward on the "Rec Five" for a number of years; "Mitt" Nelson, who pastimed with the Kevin Barry team of Hartford the greater part of the season; Jim Barney and Dave Kerr, players who have vast experience in the art of basketball tossing.

The Endees, although made up of some of the younger element, are capable of giving the Independents a very tough forty minutes of basketball. The West Side representatives pin their hopes on the veterans, "Cupie" Waddell and "Pete" Anderson. The former is now working in Darien but will make a special trip to his home town Saturday night to be with his team. The remainder of the Endee outfit is composed of the elusive "Scorchy" Smith, star High school player; Freddy Bissell, a member of the State Trade school, and Johnnie House team. The afore-mentioned players will probably compose the starting lineup but there is a possibility of a change before the opening whistle. The services of "Ty" Holland and "Johnnie" Falkoski have been secured to officiate at the games.

The Independents were represented at the meeting by "Pete" Larson, captain of the team, and Frank Busch, while Sherwood Anderson and Bert McConkey looked after the interests of the Endees.

BLODGETT PLANS

STATE BEER TAX

Commissioner Would Impose 5 Per Cent On Gross Incomes, He Tells Board.

Hartford, March 29.—(AP)—State Tax Commissioner Blodgett has recommended the imposition of a five per cent tax on gross income from the sale of beer in Connecticut with an additional tax of 1.4 per cent to be paid by the manufacturer and wholesalers of beer in Connecticut.

The recommendation of the state tax commissioner has been given by the so-called liquor commission which is charged with the preparation of proposed legislation regulating the sale of intoxicating liquor in the state, if and when the National prohibition amendment is repealed. The committee at today's meeting considered Commissioner Blodgett's suggestions.

The proposed tax, as suggested by the commissioner, is expected to yield approximately $1 a barrel on beer sold in Connecticut, but according to the commissioner's plan, it will be collected in the form of a tax on the gross revenue rather than on the output of the breweries of the state for it will then provide a tax on beer shipped into Connecticut as well as on that manufactured in this state.

The order disbarring the Steel Helmsmen in that state and removing them as auxiliary police will be rescinded Saturday, it was announced. This was decided after a conference between Dietrich Klages, Nazi minister of interior in Brunswick, and Franz Zeltz, the National German League of the Steel Helmsmen and minister in the Hitler Cabinet.

Means Economic Ruin The Jewish Voicezeitung commenting on the boycott said if it "is carried out to a finish it would mean the economic ruin of hundreds of thousands of German Jews" in respect of age or sex, and the ejection of German Jews from German communities.

A long manifesto issued by the Nazi Party last night announced the boycott of Jewish shops and businesses on a Saturday night. It added the boycott was formulated for defense of the Nazi party against the atrocity propaganda abroad.

The long standing Nazi resentment against the Jews in Germany during the World War because of hostilities in Jewish population centers on the eastern front, and after the war, as a result of persecutions of Jews in other eastern European countries, was evidenced in the statement.

Nazi Statement "What would America do if Germany in America turned against that country as do the Jews in Germany?" it asked. "For decades Germany has admitted every foreigner and Jew to her borders. One hundred thirty-five persons live on a square kilometer in Germany and in America hardly 15 to the square kilometer. Despite this, America has restricted immigration, even excluding completely certain nationalities."

Twenty-four Jewish shop windows were smashed overnight in Emden by persons who have not been traced. In Goettingen virtually all Jewish shop windows were smashed. Auxiliary police were guarding the premises today.

At Gielwitz, Beuthen and Hindenburg, Jewish stores reopened today as anti-Jewish propaganda ceased after representations by the Silesian Chamber of Commerce, which pointed out the in expediency of such a campaign.

At Goerlitz, on the other hand, a crowd numbering 1,000 assembled before the court house shouting demands for the removal of Jewish judges and lawyers. Nazi storm troopers then occupied the building and took several Jews into protective custody.

At Werzigrode storm troops closed Jewish stores and arrested some owners, who later were released.

Warning Issued Wolf's Telegraph Bureau today issued a "warning against damage to German National wealth" which read:

"During the past days there have been repeated excesses, in the course of which shop windows in numerous Jewish business have been smashed.

"From a special source it is pointed out that the real sufferers from such actions are not the Jewish firms concerned, but German insurance companies, and hence that thereby, in the last analysis, German National wealth is being deliberately destroyed."

Police at Zittau closed a chain store and a Jewish drapery store "for public safety."

Nazi delegations at Eberswalde appeared at all Jewish stores and demanded immediate closing, as well as dismissal of all employees. During the night show windows of all Jewish shops were smeared with tar and glass stones in the town's two Jewish-owned moving picture houses were smashed. Nazi headquarters expressed disapproval of these acts of vandalism.

Storm troopers at Bad Freienwalde stood before Jewish shops warning against buying there. Only half of the usual number of tradesmen appeared at the annual Jahrmakkt, since the Jews remained away.

On order of the storm troops, pickets were withdrawn from Jewish shops in Schwedt after negotiations with the police.

Officials in Wuppertal issued orders prohibiting the purchase from Jews of supplies for municipal undertakings or offices.

MRS. CHENEY DESCRIBES

GARDENS OF ORIENT

Delights Children of Barnard School Yesterday Afternoon With Interesting Talk.

Mrs. William C. Cheney of Park street delighted the children who are members of the garden club at the Barnard school yesterday afternoon with a talk on her travels through China and Japan, and the interesting gardens she visited.

Mrs. Cheney, her husband and others engaged in the silk industry, have made several trips to the Orient, combining business with pleasure. Mrs. Cheney brought back with her many curios and specimens of art, needlework and painting. Some of these she exhibited for the entertainment of the boys and girls yesterday. They included rare fabrics and kimono and other garments distinctive of Japan and China. She showed them the kerchiefs used to carry parcels in, in lieu of bags, and told them many interesting facts about the orientals.

Mrs. Cheney explained that the Japanese gardens were noted more for the beauty of their arrangement than for color or quantity of flowers. China is sometimes called "The Mother of Gardens," or the "Kingdom of Flowers." The Chinese have for centuries been making gardens, but the Japanese have carried the art of gardening to a higher state. However, many of the so-called Japanese plants are only cultivated forms of plants originally native to China.

The orientals make of their gardens a picture or landscape with the use of bridges, winding paths, rocks and stepping stones, with Japanese firs or yews forming enchanting backgrounds for the same flowers that we have here, the rhododendron, anemone, peonies, iris, asters, chrysanthemums, lilies and roses; cherry blossoms, plum or wisteria. Whether they have rods or arcs to lay out in a garden the picture idea is dominant.

Miss Elizabeth Clark, leader of the garden club, introduced Mrs. Cheney, who is the third member of the Manchester Garden club to speak before the school club. Mrs. Cheney is also president of the "The Garden Club of America."

Dorothy Benson, president of the school club, called for an expression of thanks to Mrs. Cheney for her kindness, which was given with a will.

LOCAL "INDEPENDENTS" AT "CHAINS" HEARING

Take No Part In Discussions, However—Hearing Room Is Taxed By Crowd.

Manchester stores were well represented at the chain store tax hearing before the finance committee of the state legislature in Hartford yesterday. The committee is making a study of three bills which propose a special state tax against chain stores. It is the claim of the independent merchants that the chain stores are injurious to a community, a statement disputed by chain store representatives.

One of the three bills provides a license fee of $10 for one chain store, $20 each for two, and an additional $10 for each store owned by a single company with a maximum tax of $500. Another provides for a license fee of $1 for each store of three or less owned by the same person or firm, $5 each for groups of four or five stores and $100 each for chains of more than five. The third would provide a blanket high license for chain store systems.

Boos and applause mingled as various persons came forward to speak in behalf of chain stores. The gallery was filled with the biggest gathering that has heard a discussion in the Senate chamber this session. The independent stores said they were fighting against extermination and declared that during the banking holiday independent merchants extended credit to their customers while chain stores demanded cash. The chain store cause was led by First National representatives who argued that such stores have given better service to low salaried customers, paid taxes equal to independent merchants, contributed their share to community welfare and give a needed service to the person who cannot save money.

One local store proprietor who attended said that it was impossible to tell just how many were present from here due to the fact that the gallery was crowded and every inch of standing room was taken. It was not even possible to close the door, he said. The local store manager or representative from Manchester took part in the discussion but that Representative W. J. Thornton of Manchester presented a long list of sponsors of the bill to impose a tax on chain stores.

A veteran baseball umpire declares it is his ambition to die on the field of play. All right, just let him give a couple of bum decisions against the home town team this summer.

LABOR LEADER

IS OPPOSED TO FOREST CAMPS

within two weeks after the legislation is enacted. He wants to get a big start before summer begins.

The President will rely on the Labor Department to enroll the workers who probably will be put in camps for several days for outfitting and medical treatment. He will rely on the Army for transporting the men. As far as the actual work is concerned, existing agencies of the Agriculture and Interior Departments probably will be used for administration.

Someone in the Federal government will be put in charge of the whole program.

Prepare For Fight At the Capitol, Chairman Conroy of the House labor committee made ready this forenoon for what party leaders said would be an unsuccessful fight to amend the Senate bill by stipulating that single men employed under the measure be paid $50 a month and married men $80 in addition to food, clothing and medical attendance.

"There won't be any amendment of consequence except those offered by Conroy," Byrns said, "and we will bowl him over without trouble. The House won't vote to increase the cost of the plan."

As amended by the Senate, the bill sets no maximum or minimum wage for reforestation, soil erosion, flood control or workers on other jobs, leaving that to the administration.

LOCAL YOUNG MAN GETS LICENSE AS PHYSICIAN

Morton H. Chapnick, of Birch Street, Passes Examinations Successfully, It Is Stated.

Murdock of Meriden. Dr. Chapnick is at present serving as an interne in the New Britain General hospital. He is a graduate of Manchester High school and attained his medical education in Philadelphia where he majored in anatomy.

YOUNG SHIELDS GIVEN ORCHESTRA HONORS

Given First Chair As Cornet In New Symphony Orchestra Now Being Organized.

Chester Shields of School street, Manchester's well known young cornet, won the honor of first chair soloist in the new symphony orchestra which is being organized in Hartford by Jack Olson, former leader of the Trinity College glee club and orchestra as well as one of Hartford's leading composers.

Young Shields who will be 15 years old in June, won the place against a field of 14 contestants in a contest at the Hebrew Women's School in Hartford last night. The new symphony is to be composed of about 65 of the leading musicians in and around Hartford. Most of them are instructors in music.

BRADY TO APPEAR AT MOONEY TRIAL

state's evidence. The prosecutor indicated this would be done on the basis of a new motion before Superior Judge Louis H. Ward to dismiss a murder indictment which has remained on file since it was returned a few weeks after the Preparedness Day parade bombing of July 22, 1916.

Mooney was convicted and sentenced to hang but President Wilson commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

Attorneys for Mooney today were studying the request of Phoenix, Ariz., attorneys for Winnie Ruth Judd, under death sentence for the murder of Agnes Anne Lerol, for a list of legal authorities on which they might base a motion for a new trial in the Judd case.

An indictment charging Mrs. Judd with the murder of Miss Hedvig Samuelson is still pending against her and it would be on this charge a new trial would be sought. But counsel for the convicted "trunk murderer" said any new trial efforts probably would be held up until the Arizona Board of Pardons and Paroles had given its decision on the blonde slayer's plea for clemency.

HEART BALM SUIT

Bridgeport, March 29.—(AP)—Willard Conlin of Stamford was sued for $10,000 damages by Michael T. Donahue of that city today for alienating the affections of his wife Helen L. Donahue. In the suit filed in the Superior Court Donahue says that for a number of years and up to Jan. 1933, he lived happily with his wife. At that time Mr. Conlin, by his arts and blandishments, alienated her love for him and destroyed the happiness of his home.
