FIRST QUOTAS OFF TOMORROW FOR NEW JOBS

25,000 Men From 17 Cities
Will Be Sent To Military Camps—Most Needy In First Contingents.

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—The first 25,000 men who will form part of the Conservation Corps, will be sent to military camps for conditioning beginning tomorrow.

Quotas from which this first detachment will be drawn have been fixed for 17 cities.

President Roosevelt by executive order today made available $10,000,000 to finance the beginning of work. His order took the money from unexpended construction funds.

The first group will be selected from among men most in need of help and whose circumstances are fully and accurately known.

The Labor Department decided today that the camps will be operated on a five-day working basis with a maximum of 40 hours a week. Pay will be at the rate of $30 a month, payable twice a month.

The first group will be selected as follows:
New York City, 7,500; Buffalo, 900; Chicago, 4,000; Philadelphia, 3,000; Pittsburgh, 900; Detroit, 2,100; Cleveland, 1,000; Cincinnati, 500; St. Louis, 900; Kansas City, 400; Baltimore, 300; Boston, 200; Milwaukee, 600; Washington, 500;

DAVIS ARRANGING FOR DEBT PARLEY

France Joins Britain In Agreeing To Send Envoys
To the American Capital.

Paris, April 5.—(AP)—An initial world economic conference will be held in Washington under arrangements being made during the present tour of European capitals by Norman H. Davis, U. S. ambassador-at-large.

France has joined Britain in agreeing to send representatives to the American capital for the meeting, at which all countries could be represented. The purpose would be to make final preparations for the general world economic conference which is being planned for London within a few months.

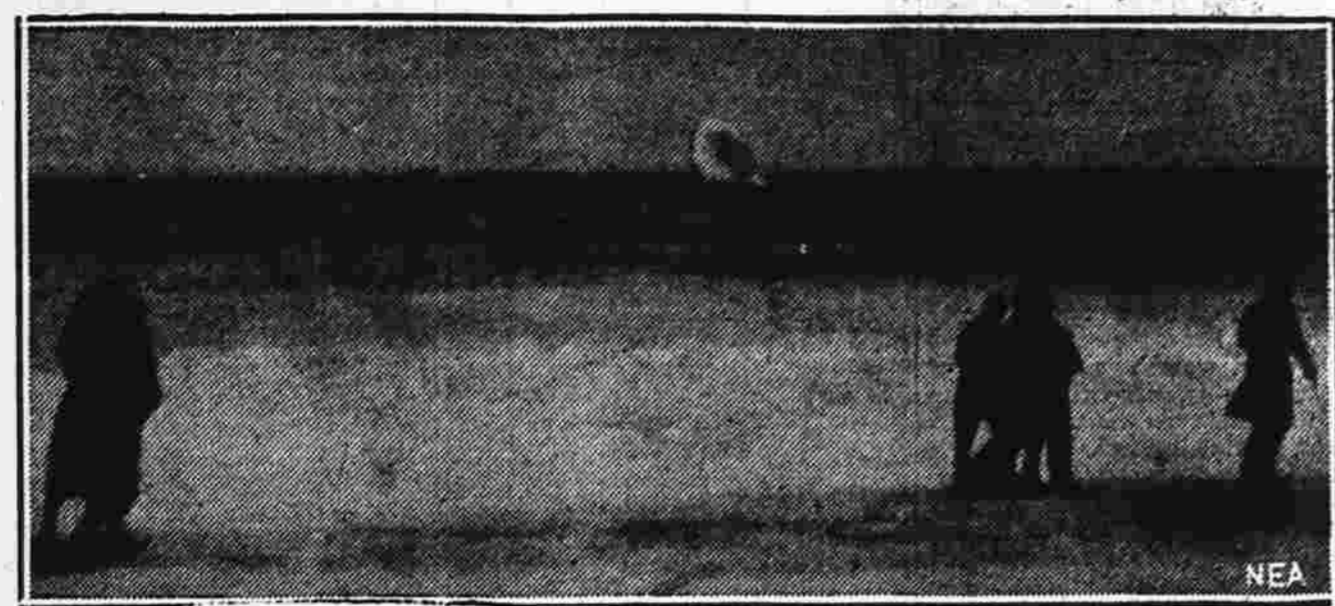

(In accepting an invitation to send a war debt mission to the United States, Britain officially stated more than two months ago that she would be "glad to exchange views on other world economic problems," at the same time, but that "decisions on those matters naturally cannot be reached" before the world conference takes place.

The London Daily Mail said that Prime Minister MacDonald who is to preside at the London conference is likely to visit Roosevelt at an early date. It said steps were being taken to send a mission of experts to discuss the war debts problem.

President Roosevelt declared in favor of a discussion of the whole range of world problems and not only of the war debts. The discussion of debts was limited to countries which paid installments last December, which did not include France.

Foreign Minister Paul-Boncour told Davis last night that he would be glad to send representatives to Washington to make plans for the world economic conference in London.

Blimp's Rescue Effort Ends in Tragedy

An errand of mercy turned into tragedy when the Navy blimp J-3, flying from Lakehurst, N. J., to search for survivors of the Akron, crashed into the sea a mile off shore at Beach Haven, N. J., killing two of its crew and injuring five. The photo shows the stricken blimp as Coast Guard craft dashed to the rescue.

ASSEMBLY BILL FORBIDS BEER UNTIL APRIL 25

Unless Regulatory Legislation Shall Take Effect Before That Date — Democrats Hold Caucus.

Hartford, April 5.—(AP)—A bill forbidding sale of beer in the state until April 25, unless regulatory legislation shall take effect prior to that time, was adopted in both Houses of the Legislature today under suspension of the rules.

The bill had been adopted in the House yesterday with provisions definitely banning the sale of the beverage until such time as regulatory legislation shall have passed. The amendment making it effective only until April 25, was introduced in the Senate by Senator Joseph P. Cooney who had the original bill tabled in the Upper House yesterday.

The amendment was adopted in the House with little comment. Representative Dabrowski of Bridgeport, introduced the "body" for approving an amendment on the lines he suggested yesterday.

The amendment was brought into the Senate after a long Democratic caucus which held up the regular proceedings for nearly an hour. Several Democratic Senators said they bowed to party mandate, as expressed in the Senate caucus reluctantly, knowing their constituents wished beer by Friday, when it becomes legal under Federal enactment.

IN THE SENATE
Hartford, April 5.—(AP)—With Senator Cooney, Democrat, voting with the Republicans and all other Senators adhering to party lines, the Senate adopted the wage cut today without the amendment providing salaries for the tuberculosis commission.

The bill was enacted only after long steps of involved Parliamentary procedure during which Senator Goldstein twice voted with the Republicans with the announced intention of "rescinding" the measure later. Senator Alcorn, minority leader, blocked that step, however, by himself moving reconsideration of the measure after it was adopted, but expressing hope his amendment would not prevail.

Senator Alcorn's motion was defeated. Under the rules a motion to reconsider cannot be made twice. Senator Cooney although voting with the Republicans, said he would support an amendment eliminating salary cuts of those receiving less than $4,000 per year. Senator Blackwell, Hartford Democrat, said he hoped a later amendment eliminating cuts in the brackets below $1,000 would be brought in by the committee.

The bill was brought into the Senate on a report by Senator Alcorn who suggested that the Senate reverse its former action and eliminate the amendment voted by the tuberculosis commissioners. Disagreeing action with the House which had adopted the bill without the amendment, providing salaries for the commission's members had resulted in the conference.

Senator Goldstein moved that the bill be tabled. Senator Cooney asked if the motion was made in order to bring in an amendment eliminating salary cuts of those receiving less than $1,000. "To prepare that and some other things," the Bridgeport Senator replied.

Votes With Republicans
With Cooney voting with the Republicans in accordance with his announced policy on this measure, and with Goldstein voting for the purpose he said of his later moving reconsideration a motion to adopt the majority conference report was made.

TREASURY BALANCE
Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for April 3 were $2,862,861.13; expenditures, $18,624,135.38; balance, $478,586,232.42. Customs duties for 3 days of April were $1,791,815.42.

TWO MORE FIGHTS AHEAD FOR WETS

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Charles H. Sabin today told the fourth annual conference of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform that with "the first big, decisive battle for repeal won" her followers had ahead just two more battles, "ratification and regulation."

Then, said Mrs. Sabin in opening the convention, "we may disband and go home to our knitting." She prophesied that disbanding would "free for intelligent political action the largest body of instructed, knowledgeable women ever let loose in a Democracy."

The membership of the women's organization was given as 1,907,703. They have been trained, she said, in "practical politics," having learned "to question candidates, to get them on record, to see the doings of Legislators with lynx-like eyes."

Her group, she said, had "helped in the defeat of six head-dry Senators, among them some who seemed as permanent fixtures in the Capitol as the very walls."

Mrs. Sabin claimed part credit too "in the replacement of 31 dry members of the House with 31 wet, and in electing 18 other wet first time candidates."

Summarizing the annual achievement, she said, was difficult because the repeal cause "refused to stand still long enough to have its picture taken, though looking as pleasant as any photograph could ask."

She said if she had prophesied a year ago straight repeal passed by both Houses and legalized beer within the twelve-month, she would have been considered demented.

IN SIGHT OF GOAL
"Today we stand here, with what seems a miraculous suddenness, in sight of our goal," she said. "It is conceivable that within a year we will overthrow this insane experiment."

"For four years we have been in the limelight. When the declaration of principle upon which this organization was founded is achieved."

MRS. CUSTER DIES; GENERAL'S WIDOW

Was 92 Years of Age; Wrote Several Books Describing Her Life.

New York, April 5.—(AP)—Mrs. George A. Custer, widow of the "Boy General" whose last stand at the battle of the Little Big Horn wrote a tragic page in American history, will be buried at West Point beside her husband. The little old lady in black, who had spent 57 years of widowhood in serving the memory of the famous Indian fighter, died yesterday in her 92nd year.

She was born in Monroe, Mich., the daughter of Judge Daniel S. Bacon.

Billings, Mont., April 5.—(AP)—The west lost one of its last links with pioneer days when Mrs. Elizabeth Bacon Custer died yesterday in New York. She was the widow of General George A. Custer, Indian fighter.

For 66 years after Custer and his entire command of more than 200 men went to their deaths on the banks of the Little Big Horn, near Crow Agency, Mont., in 1876, Mrs. Custer vigorously defended her husband's actions and motives in precipitating the last major Indian battle.

Long Controversy
A controversy raged for years after the battle. "Whether additional revelations at this late date will be of value is doubted by students of Custer's last campaign. Old soldiers and pioneers who were in contact with Custer and his famous Seventh Cavalry when it took the field to subdue the Sioux and Cheyennes always have maintained the "full truth" of the battle would never be told while the white-haired, gentle-voiced widow lived.

At the time of the fight Mrs. Custer, with the wives of other officers and soldiers of the regiment, was at Fort Abraham Lincoln, near Bismarck, N. D. It was there they learned the heart-breaking news.

Mrs. Custer returned east and for years lived in New York, where she wrote several books describing her life and adventures.

ROOSEVELT HAS PLAN TO LIFT GOLD EMBARGO

President To Issue Orders In Near Future—To Arrange
Conference Also With
Prime Minister MacDonald

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's program for action, domestic and international, forged ahead today on varied fronts.

While Congress kept its pace on legislation he has put before it, farm relief, unemployment and security regulation, it developed that the Chief Executive intended in the immediate future to lift the Federal embargo on gold.

Also the Chief Executive, who held his semi-weekly conference with newspapermen this morning, issued a statement expressing hope that Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain could visit him here to confer on the economic and arms questions which the administration is anxious to push to world agreement.

Hines' Report
The President received from Frank F. Hines, veterans' administrator a report that $1,203,000,000 is going to be saved the government eventually from one feature alone of the new economy program—curtailed expenditures for hospitals and veterans' care.

On top of that it developed that by Friday the Chief Executive hopes to try one more big task before Congress—restoration of the big Muscle Shoals power and nitrate plant, together with the rounded development of the Tennessee river basin.

Rail Reorganization
Mr. Roosevelt also pushed his railroad reorganization proposals, expected to be drawn up by Friday so legislation may be offered in Congress by next week.

This plan centers on control of all rail transportation by Federal co-ordinator and the President intends to have it tied into the existing Interstate Commerce Commission, with its regulatory functions.

Mr. Roosevelt also pushed his railroad reorganization proposals, expected to be drawn up by Friday so legislation may be offered in Congress by next week.

CONGRESS STARTS PROBE ON CRASH
Determined To Find Real
Cause of Akron's Accident.

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Mounting determination to end naval airship construction spread through a Congress intent on finding the real causes of "the Akron's plunge into the Atlantic."

In the Senate, King, Dem., Utah, prepared a resolution calling for an investigation of the Akron disaster and for consideration of the advisability of spending more than the $20,000,000 plus that the Navy already has invested in lighter than air craft. Chairman Trammell of the Senate naval committee also was considering a study of the accident.

In the House, as he made ready for a separate probe, Chairman Vinson of the naval committee remained silent in his decision that "there won't be any more airships built."

Others rapidly joined in the rising chorus, demanding that the United States do as Britain did after the 23-day cruise in France in October, 1930—suspend construction of airships. Among the recruits was Rep. McClintock, Dem., Oklahoma, an investigator of the House naval committee investigation a year ago that finally found the Akron free of faulty materials or poor workmanship.

To Use the Macon
Many members were undecided how far they wanted to go in their ban on airships. Vinson said he thought nothing should be done to prevent operation of the Macon, which is to take the air toward the end of the month. Nor did he think that the new dirigible base at Sunnyvale, Calif., where about $4,000,000 has been expended, should be shut down.

There were some indications that the Los Angeles, now out of commission, might be placed back in service after a time, instead of being sold, and stationed at Sunnyvale with the Macon taking the Akron's place at Lakehurst. But with Vinson's determination to halt the construction of any new airships, eventual abandonment of both Akron and Sunnyvale would follow when the two remaining ships went out of service, for age or other reasons.

SURVIVORS OF CRASH ORDERED TO CAPITAL

Keeps Nerve Through Akron's Plunge
Lt.-Commander Wiley and
Two Members of Akron
Crew To Give Testimony
At Probe To Be Held To See What Caused Crash;
No More Bodies Recovered
and Only One Small Piece of Wreckage Found.

Miraculously alive after plunging 1800 feet with the ill-fated Akron into the stormy Atlantic and clinging, with three other men, to an air mattress until rescued, Lieutenant Commander Herbert V. Wiley, the craft's executive officer, showed no sign of the ordeal as he greeted photographers in the Naval Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y., as shown here.

New York, April 5.—(AP)—The troubled waters off the Jersey Coast today held most of the evidence which might lead to determination of the cause of the airship Akron's crash at sea with a loss of 71 men.

But official forces moved swiftly to use what little evidence and direct testimony was still available toward solution of the secret of history's greatest tragedy of the air.

Lt. Commander Herbert V. Wiley and the only other survivors, M. E. Erwin and Richard Deal, were ordered to proceed at once by air to Washington to report to Rear Admiral Pratt, chief of naval operations. After being rescued from the sea they were brought here yesterday and spent the night in the naval hospital.

The only physical evidence for investigators to study was held by the Navy here, a section of bent aluminum ventilating tube which was the only piece of wreckage from the great ship recovered.

May Find More
But there was still hope that more wreckage might be found off the Jersey shore to serve as mute testimony of the tense moments when Wiley stood calm in the Akron's control room and realized that a crash was inevitable.

Ships and planes combed back and forth across the stormy waters "to search for anything which might give some clue as to exactly what caused the Akron, caught in a fierce electric storm, to descend so rapidly that there was only an interlude of 30 seconds between the moment when Wiley gave the order to stand by for a crash and the time when the Akron struck the water.

Another object of the search was to recover bodies of the missing airman but this part of the search was no longer spurred on by any hope that more survivors would be found.

Navy Blimp Sinks
As the search went on this morning the report came in from the scene of the disaster that the Akron's Navy blimp J-3, which also crashed in the waves while on rescue duty, had sunk during salvage operations. Two men were lost with the J-3 and five were saved.

Wiley made a brief official report by wireless while on his way to the hospital yesterday and later gave an interview in which he painted a dramatic picture of the crash and expressed the opinion that the Akron had not been struck by lightning. At that interview, however, he declined to discuss technical possibilities concerning the crash and it was assumed that the headquarters here that it was a "detailed statement along this line that the survivors were called to rush to Washington today.

One voluntary witness presented himself at headquarters this morning to tell of passing the Akron at sea 23 minutes before the crash. He was Second Officer Mulke of the liner Algonquin and he said that at 12:10 a. m. yesterday the Akron was about 1,000 feet up, proceeding steadily, and apparently in no trouble despite severe lightning, thunder and rain. No wireless message was received from the Akron and the Algonquin continued to New York not learning of the crash until hours after it happened.

EYEWITNESS STORY
New York, April 5.—(AP)—Richard E. Deal, one of the three survivors, told a friend in the Brooklyn Naval hospital today that the crew of the Akron died calling out obscenity to each other as, one by one, they gave up their fight against the rough sea and drowned after the crash.

"Well, goodbye!" he said he heard them say. And:
"Good luck to You... wherever you're going."
"At first, Deal said, "the water was full of men, swimming around. When the lightning flashed, I could see their heads."
"But then they began to go down, one by one, and I could hear them calling to each other as they gave up."
Deal told his story early today, before he left for Washington, to George Small, a fellow-patient. Small, a former Marine, and Deal were on the same ship, several years ago.

Was On Outwalk
Deal said he was standing on a crosswalk, near the center of the huge bag when the Akron crashed.

"She hit on her starboard side," he said, "and, as the water came in, I was washed out through a big hole in the bag on the port side."
"I swam around for 10 or 15 minutes before I was rescued."

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—All but eight of every 100 foreign born white residents of Connecticut over ten years old have learned to speak English.

Census figures just made public, however, give a lower rating to only four states—Florida, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Pennsylvania.

One third of the 31,036 Connecticut spin, women and youths in this classification are able to read some other language; the others are classed by the census department as illiterate.

The men make twice as good showing as the women in the acquisition of the tongue of the adopted land. All but five of every 100 men have learned English, compared with 11 of every 100 women.

Connecticut's record in teaching the foreign born to converse in a new language has improved materially during the last twenty years. The 1910 census showed that one fifth of the group could not speak English. A decade later the figure had been cut in half.

Future Decreases
Prospects for decreasing the number still further are indicated by the fact that only four of every 100 boys and girls between 10 and 24 years do not speak English, while 12 of every 100 men and women over 65 are in that classification.

In the 25 to 44 year old class, seven per cent are unable to speak the language, and in the 45 to 64 year old class the figure is nine per cent.

These residents who still use a foreign tongue in the family circle at work, and in the stores, are not concentrated in the cities but are scattered throughout the state. Urban districts show only a slightly higher figure than the villages and the farming areas.

Nordic Races
Natives of the Nordic countries show a far greater acquisition of the English language than their southern neighbors. Less than two of every 100 persons in Connecticut who have immigrated from Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Switzerland and Germany have not learned the language.

On the other hand, as many as 23 of every 100 Portuguese and 20 of every 100 Spaniards have not qualified. Figures for Italians, the greatest single foreign element in the state, show all but 18 of every 100 have learned English. Only 18 of every 100 persons in Connecticut are in that classification.

salaries for the commissioners. With Goldstein this time voting with his own party, a 17 to 17 tie was broken in favor of the motion by Lt. Gov. Wilcox, a Republican. The Bridgeport Senator again voted in favor of the motion for the purpose of reconsidering when a motion to reject the amendment was taken. Another roll call resulted in adoption 18 to 16. Senator Alcorn's motion that the wage cut bill be adopted without the amendment was adopted on an oral vote. The minority leader's unusual Parliamentary action in moving reconsideration and expressing "hope the motion will not prevail," was rejected after a 17 to 17 vote, by the vote of Lieut. Governor Wilcox breaking the tie. During the debate on the latter motion, Senator Bergin charged the minority leader with delaying the enactment of the wage cut bill by carrying the majority conference report in his pocket for an extended period of time. He prepared three weeks or a month ago," he said. "The opposing party have indicated that the Democrats have been slow in reporting. The delay in the report of the committee of conference can be laid at one door only, and that is the majority of the conferees."

FIRST QUOTAS OFF TOMORROW FOR NEW JOBS

Minneapolis and St. Paul 600, and Newark, 500.

W. Frank Parsons, whose services have been given the Labor Department by the American Public Welfare Association, to direct the enrollment, said only unmarried men from 18 to 25 years of age who have dependent relatives for whom benefit they voluntarily desire to allot a substantial part of their cash allowance will be eligible in the selection of the first group. The President's executive order established a government agency to co-ordinate the work of our departments in carrying out the forest conservation - unemployment program with Robert Fechner of Massachusetts, in charge. Funds allotted were drawn from previous appropriations for public construction and road building.

In Camp Two Weeks Fechner said as men are enrolled, they will be kept in military camps near the points from which they will come, for approximately two weeks.

Persons explained how the Forest Service and other government agencies will have selected projects to which they will be assigned. Fechner explained how the men will be chosen in this statement: "The selection will be made under authority of the Labor Department by officials established state or city relief administrations which are actively assisting those known to be the most in need of employment and who have records of their names, addresses and circumstances.

"There will be no registration of applications at public places unless or until this class of eligible young men (those who are unmarried, from 18 to 25, who have dependent relatives for whom benefit they voluntarily allot a substantial part of their cash allowance) has been fully provided for.

"The enrollment will be so governed that ultimately from each state a fair quota will be selected. These quotas will be selected on the basis of the population of the state as related to the population of the whole country."

"Enrollment" will be maintained in advance of the actual employment requirements in such measure that a sufficient time, perhaps ten days or more, will be possible in the conditioning camps, where preliminary instructions in camp life and suitable physical training may be carried out to best fit the men to competent, self-sustaining work units.

"Enrollment can not begin in every state simultaneously but it will be established in every state as rapidly as administrative organizations can be established for the purpose and as determined by the geographical locations of the work sites. It is intended, of course, to employ men as near as possible to the place of employment."

First in the South The first work camps, it is expected, will be established in southern states because of advantages in climate. At a conference tomorrow of representatives of state governments with the forest service, a master-plan of all potential forest work projects will be drawn and an effort made to include forest fire prevention projects located on private as well as state and Federally owned lands.

The work camps will have a personnel ranging from 20 men to 100. Many of the camps will move frequently, as often as every five days, in order that the camps can be as close as possible to the work, some of which will be scattered over a large area.

Persons explained that through the program the Labor Department hopes to cut down migration of unemployed youngsters.

Military camps where the men will be conditioned are to be selected by corps area commanders, it was explained at the War Department.

The Labor Department will arrange transportation to these camps, after which transportation to the work camps will be under the War Department.

As soon as the men are at work, they will be under the Forest Service of other government agencies having work projects to be undertaken, including jobs in the National parks, under the interior department.

Names of the agencies to enroll the men at the various cities were not available today.

A survey of those best fitted to meet the requirements of the program has been undertaken. In the case of New York and Buffalo, the State Labor Department is expected to handle much of this work as it has records of unemployed who have registered at its branch offices.

In some cases, city unemployment groups have the most adequate records and will cooperate with the War Department.

It is planned to notify the men personally that they have the opportunity of entering a camp.

Thousands of letters, telephone calls and personal visits have kept Federal agencies busy since President Roosevelt signed the bill, showing how the men available will greatly exceed those for whom work can be had.

The Labor Department hopes to have tens of thousands at work on the forest projects by July 1, but is hopeful that other portions of the President's relief program will be completed soon to aid in relieving the jobless.

One of the President's proposals is for the distribution of $500,000,000 to states for relief and the other a program of public works. The latter is slated to afford relief particularly to artisans—masons, carpenters, general construction workers.

Later the program was transmitted to President Roosevelt and announced at the White House.

MENTALLY DERANGED, GIVES DOCTORS BATTLE

Burnham Street Man Takes Fit When Admitted To Hospital; Taken To Retreat.

Charles Chaponis, 41, of 257 Burnham street, suffered a violent fit of mental derangement shortly after 9 o'clock this morning while awaiting admission to the Manchester Memorial hospital, and was taken to the Hartford Retreat by Officer Rudolph Wirtalla in Quish's ambulance. While sitting in a chair near the supervisor's desk on the third floor, Chaponis suddenly became violent and the nurses on the floor called Dr. J. W. Kinley, who was in the laboratory nearby. In a short time the entire staff of doctors and attendants arrived. Chaponis is a large man weighing over 200 pounds and fortunately he did not grapple with any of the doctors or nurses in his deranged mental condition.

During the period of time until the arrival of the police and ambulance the hospital attendants were thrown into a state of furor.

FARMERS TO CUT TOBACCO ACREAGE

Big Decrease in Amount To Be Grown This Year—To Raise Potatoes.

This summer will see a big decrease in the amount of tobacco grown in this section of the state and probably elsewhere as well. The Herald learned today through a canvass of farmers. Some farmers are not going to raise any tobacco and the majority will either raise much less or will turn their attention to other crops, especially potatoes.

It is estimated that the decrease in tobacco crops for this section will figure close to 50 per cent over last year and that the potato acreage will increase from 10 to 20 per cent. In this section the only major instance of an increase in tobacco will be at the Hartmann plantation in Buckland which will grow about 125 acres of shade and 100 of broadleaf, an increase of 10 per cent on shade and 80 per cent on broadleaf.

Many farmers have not yet disposed of last year's crop and some have two crops on their hands with little immediate chance of selling. Even if they do sell the crops, the probability is that they will have to take a loss. One farmer said today that there is no crop of any kind that gives promise of netting a profit during the coming summer unless it is potatoes and even then the prospects are none too encouraging. John H. Hackett still has two crops on hand and will not grow any this summer. Cullen Brothers of New York will raise about 150 acres near Ogden's Switch.

Tobacco growers who are fortunate enough to sell the crops on hand cannot hope to fare better than "changing old dollars for new," one man said. Just how many tobacco men will remain in the business this summer it is impossible to say. It will depend entirely upon the financial condition of each farmer and on any change in the market condition. The situation is anything but encouraging according to the viewpoint of the grower.

ANNUAL SPRING MOVING IS UNDER WAY HERE

"Back To the Farm" Movement Noticeable—73 Chance Vought Workers Here.

The annual spring exodus is under way. Moving day in this town, as in many towns in the state this year calls for a venture "back to the farm" when and if a farm can be secured. Local real estate agents report a brisk demand for farms with few offerings. Within two weeks a large number of "renters" will be on the move to another and different location.

During the past two years a large number of employees of Hartford and East Hartford manufacturing concerns have taken up residence in this town, reducing the number of desirable rents offered by local agencies. The Chance-Vought Company recently conducted a poll of its employees and found 73 of the latter residing in this town, it was reported.

FIRST NO-MARRIAGE MONTH RECORDED

Not a Wedding During March in Town—First Time It's Happened.

No marriages were recorded in the town clerk's office for the month of March. This is the first time in the recent history of the town of Manchester that a marriage has not been recorded in the town during any single month. Only ten marriages were recorded for the first three months of the current year. There were also 20 deaths and 10 births recorded for the month of March.

The largest number of marriages ever recorded in any single month during the past eight years was in November, 1927, when there was an average of one marriage per day or a total of 30 for that month. June, 1927, was the next high with 27 marriages and October, 1927, next in line with 26. The monthly average of marriages for the three years, 1928-30-31, was 13.

Swanson that the money expended in recent years on strips might well go to other naval forces.

"We don't want to put our eggs all in one basket, and we don't want any of the baskets to be straws," he told newspapermen. "We should maintain a well rounded fleet with its airplanes and ships."

McClellan was just as outright in his opposition, saying "I am thoroughly convinced that there will be no more ships of this type constructed."

"They are too large and powerful to be handled in a satisfactory manner and being of frail construction the ultimate end will in practically every case be some kind of disaster," he said.

Mrs. Crabtree Gives Good Recipes for Lent

Dear Friends in Manchester:

Among the requests for new recipes was a plea for "a good way to prepare shrimps." I am giving three shrimps recipes below, for they are excellent for Lenten meals and may be made with either fresh or canned shrimp.

When fresh shrimps are used (these may be alive, or freshly boiled) they must be cleaned of the dark vein. To do this, plunge into boiling salted water (two teaspoons of salt to one quart of water), boil until the shells turn pink, which is usually about ten minutes. Let cool in the water. Shell by squeezing each shrimp from the soft shell, clean each of the vein and measure for use. If shrimps are bought freshly boiled, squeeze the shells off, clean and measure.

Shrimp Salad
Use one third as much chopped, crisp celery as shrimps, and a little sliced, sweet pickle. Chill all ingredients, marinate (or dress and let stand) the shrimp and celery in French dressing. When ready to serve, arrange crisp lettuce leaves on the salad plates, pile shrimp and celery mixed with the pickle on the plate and dress lightly with mayonnaise. Capers also make a good addition to this salad.

Shrimp and Cheese California
One half pound shrimps (about one cup); six thin slices buttered bread; one-fourth pound American cheese; three eggs; three cups milk; salt, pepper and paprika. Cut the bread slices into inch squares and place one half of it in a deep baking dish which has been rubbed with shortening. Spread over this one half of the shrimps and sprinkle with half of the cheese which has been grated, then season with a little salt, pepper and paprika. Repeat with another layer of bread, shrimps and cheese. Then pour on the three eggs beaten and mixed with the milk. Bake one hour in a slow oven, speeded up a little for the last ten minutes of baking. Serves five or six.

Southern Rice and Shrimp
Two cups boiled rice; one can tomatoes; one large can shrimp (or one cup); two tablespoons shortening; one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg; a sprinkle of mace; three sprigs parsley; one half stalk of celery; one half teaspoon onion salt. Cook the tomatoes, shortening, seasoning, parsley, celery together in the double boiler until thoroughly heated and mixed. Rub a baking dish with shortening, lay in a layer of the cooked rice then a layer of shrimp, alternating until the dish is full. Pour the tomato mixture over all, cover the top thickly with buttered crumbs and bake until brown, in a hot oven. About twenty to thirty minutes is long enough. Serve five or six.

To make buttered crumbs which are a delicious addition to almost any casserole combination, use one cup dry bread crumbs and toss lightly in one or two tablespoons hot butter. Stir until delicately browned.

Salmon and Macaroni
One half cup macaroni broken in small pieces, and cooked for twenty minutes in salted water. One can pink or red salmon, freed of bones and skin. Lay the cooked macaroni in a baking dish rubbed with shortening, with a layer of salmon on top; make two layers of each if the size of the baking dish permits. Pour over each layer cream sauce made from the following ingredients: one cup milk, two tablespoons flour, one tablespoon butter. Melt butter, stir in the flour, gradually add the milk, stirring all the time. Season with one half teaspoon salt, sprinkle of pepper and one tablespoon lemon juice. Cover the top layer of the baking dish with buttered crumbs. Bake about twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

Salmon Omelet
This is a delightful dish for company breakfast on Sunday, or any luncheon. Use one tablespoon of minced onion, and the same amount of chopped green pepper; two tablespoons shortening; one and one half cups cooked or (canned) tomatoes; one half cup milk; one half cup egg whites; one can red salmon, flaked and freed of bones and skin; one tablespoon flour; one half cup milk; four eggs. Cook the onion and pepper in the shortening until delicately browned. Add the tomatoes, salt and pepper and salmon to this skillet or saucepan, and simmer for ten minutes. Add the flour and milk, mixing thoroughly and cook one minute longer.

Beat the egg yolks and whip into the first mixture, then pour into a skillet or omelet pan, well rubbed with shortening or butter. When partly cooked, spread on one half of the stiffly beaten egg whites. Fold the other half of the omelet over the whites. Put skillet and contents in a moderately hot oven for ten to twelve minutes. Serve at once on a hot plate, lifting out with a broad pancake turner.

Waffles Around the Clock From Breakfast to Supper

Before waffles may be baked, the waffle iron must be acquired. And when shopping for this piece of kitchen equipment there will be three general types of iron shown. The iron made for use on a gas flame, one for use on an oil stove, the type made for electrical cooking with its own heating unit and cord and plug.

This is the same as for the iron waffle baker, and once thoroughly oiled it requires no further rubbing to insure non-sticking waffles. But the waffles baked on the aluminum iron should have from one to two additional spoonfuls of shortening added to the recipe to insure crisp, non-sticking, delicious results.

The Perfect Waffle is Golden

Crisp, delicious waffles may start the day at the breakfast table, appear as a luncheon entrée, or preside at the afternoon tea table. They are also excellent for supper when dressed with creamed chicken or fish, or smoked beef.

teaspoons sugar; three cups milk; three tablespoons melted shortening; four ounces sweet cooking chocolate.

Ground Nuts Added
Half a cup of finely ground nuts may be added to either chocolate or plain waffle mixture, and a delicious dessert waffle is the result. It will not be as crisp as the plain mixture, however, and it will not brown as evenly.

Cocoanut Waffles
Add one cup grated cocoanut to the plain waffle batter. A favorite combination of cocoanut waffles with crushed strawberries, powdered sugar and strawberry juice, makes a fine dessert.

Lemon and Orange Waffles
Grate the rinds of two large lemons or oranges into the plain waffle batter. The juice of one lemon or of one orange may be substituted for an equal quantity of the milk in the recipe. ## AKRON NOT YET TWO YEARS OLD

Description of Gigantic U.S. Dirigible Which Was Destroyed By Storm.

Lakehurst, N. J., April 5.—(AP)—The Akron had not yet reached her second birthday in the service of the Navy.

Last summer, two of her ground crew lost their lives at San Diego, Calif., when they were lifted into the air at the end of towropes. They fell off in midair.

The power plant comprised eight gasoline engines, each carrying a sea-level rating of 350 horse power. The engines were mounted side-by-side and each drove its own propeller.

The normal gasoline supply of about 124,000 pounds was stored in a total of 110 aluminum tanks, located alongside the two-side-corridors convenient to the engine rooms.

An electrical plant and system which is substantially a miniature reproduction of similar systems used on destroyers, submarines and other vessels also was included in the Akron equipment. Power was used for radio, lighting, telephones, a portion of the cooking and for certain pumps and the like.

The control car was located near the forward part of the ship and the forward third of the control room is the location for rudder and elevator controls, gas and ballast controls, instruments and other apparatus.

Emergency Station
An emergency control station is located in the lower fin. Above the control room were the radio and aerological rooms, quarters for the captain and a part of the officers and an office space and photographic laboratory.

For several months before the Pacific coast journey, the Akron—to be supplanted as "Queen of the Skies" by the U. S. Macon—underwent extensive repairs and a complete overhaul in its hangar here.

The airworthiness of the ship had been under attack in Congress, and a committee of Congressmen came to the station to board here for a trial cruise. As the ship was being taken from its hangar, a gust of wind bounced the tall 40 feet in the air. No one was injured but the dirigible was damaged.

First Trial Flight
The Akron took its first trial flight on September 29, 1931. She was constructed on the multi-layer principle. The basic hull structure was a wire braced system composed of transverse frames connected by longitudinal girders.

The engine rooms were located along the lower corridors and the gas cells, 12 in number, are placed inside of this hull structure.

Living accommodations were concentrated nearer amidships, abreast the airplane hangar compartment.

Writing of the Akron in the National Aeronautic Magazine in January, 1932, Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics who was aboard the dirigible last night, said "the Navy has built the Akron not only to demonstrate her usefulness for Naval purposes but for a new and more rapid means of international communication and commerce."

"I firmly believe," he said, "that the Akron will so fully demonstrate the great value of rigid airships for commercial purposes that by the time the second ship, the ZRS-5, is completed, the first great commercial airship, probably of some nine million cubic feet, will be begun, the forerunner of a fleet of airships flying the American flag, which will indeed make us first in this Merchant Marine of the air."

Queer Twists In Day's News

Williamsport, Md.—The old saw about chickens coming home to roost was given a practical demonstration here.

Mrs. Ross Downs saw a hen in a poultry dealer's crate. She said it had been stolen from her. The dealer said he paid 35 cents for it and demanded proof.

"Turn her loose," Mrs. Downs suggested to a policeman. He did and with the interested parties trailing, the hen went straight way to the rear of the Downs home where she resumed her duties on a nest of setting eggs.

Chicago—Charles Witt, 23, was married to Marie Sheehan, 21, a petite blonde, then started for the penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas to begin serving a 25 years term for being involved in a postal stationery holdup. The bride hopes he'll be able to win probatio in ten years.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Prospects of beer do not awaken in John McCormack's heart the desire to warble, but champagne—ah!

"Foaming suds," the famous tenor observed "has made no contribution to music, even to barbershop quartets—but some fine singing goes with a bottle of champagne."

Milwaukee—This beer manufacturing city's beer "ship", an airplane loaded with two cases of beer for presentation to President Roosevelt, is ready to zoom away to Washington, D. C., at midnight, April 6.

Mary Ellen Glavin, the great granddaughter of the founder of a brewery christened the plane with a bottle of beer.

Zagreb, Yugo-Slavia—On New Year's day Otto Berger, merchant, lost a silver headed cane which he said had "brought him luck." Then his business went in the red for use first time in his history. So Berger, unable to find his cane, committed suicide.

CURB MARKET PROBE

New York, April 5.—(AP)—A state investigation of the listing practices of the New York Curb Exchange was ordered to begin today.

John J. Bennett, state attorney general, announced Howard C. Sykes, president of the exchange, would appear for examination at the bureau of securities.

Bennett said the object was the elimination of the practice of admitting stocks and bonds to unlisted trading privileges. The many rules of the Exchange, a state official said, do not apply to the corporations which issued such unlisted securities.

FOUR MEN ARRESTED FOR TEN HOLDUPS

Bound Over For Higher Court In Hartford—Quartet Also Robbed Many Residences.

Hartford, April 5.—(AP)—Ten holdups and an undetermined number of residences and store burglaries were cleaned up by the police yesterday in the arrest of four young men. Three of the accused were arraigned in the Hartford Police Court today, while the fourth, who operated only in East Hartford, was turned over to the authorities of that town. It is planned, however, to bind all of them over to the Superior Court as soon as the investigators have fully completed the cases against the individual accused.

The trio presented in the local court this morning by Prosecuting Attorney Daniel C. Flynn included Alexander May, 19; John Dutka, 18; and Chester Kulas, 22, of 31 Grove street, Glastonbury. Judge William M. Harney continued the cases to April 8. May and Dutka are held in bonds of $10,000 each and Kulas was also locked up in default of $7,500 bail. The last named is said to have participated in four "stickups" while the other two took part in ten.

John Litwakes was bound over to the higher court when presented in the East Hartford Police Court today.

SENATE MAY WITHDRAW WAGNER'S RELIEF BILL

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Speaker Rainey today said at his press conference that the Senate should withdraw its Wagner $500,000 relief bill because it was an appropriation bill and should originate in the House.

Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader, blocked a move by the Democratic leadership yesterday to refer the bill to the ways and means committee on constitutional grounds.

Rainey said today that under the constitution all appropriations and revenue measures had to originate in the House and that the Wagner relief bill "plainly came within" that provision.

"The question has never been decided, but the Senate ought to withdraw the bill," the Illinois Democrat said. "Heretofore the same question has been decided in favor of the Senate."

At a conference today Rainey said the Republican bill to the House judiciary committee for study.

This move would delay final action in either branch on the relief plan.

Spanish Vessel Aground Off Coast of Florida—About 100 Passengers Are Aboard.

Miami, Fla., April 5.—(AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Unalga was dispatched from Fort Lauderdale today to the assistance of the Spanish liner Marques de Camillas, aground off Cary's Fort Reef, south of here with about 100 passengers aboard. The vessel was reported in need of assistance today, after declining proffered help when it first ran aground last night. The Unalga was prepared to take off the passengers if the Marques de Camillas cannot be floated. A tug also was enroute to the stranded vessel from Key West. First word of the Marques grounding was received last night in a message from the tanker Algonquin, which reported the Marques had refused aid offered. Messages written in Spanish received from the Marques' master today sent the relief expedition on its way.

DENMARK WINS SUIT OVER GREENLAND TITLE

The Hague, April 5.—(AP)—Denmark's title to Eastern Greenland was confirmed today by a decision of the permanent court of international justice in her favor in a dispute with Norway over its ownership.

The Norwegians conceded Danish sovereignty over the remainder of Greenland but contended that Norway was entitled to a portion of Eastern Greenland. A Norwegian expedition had landed there in 1931 and it was claimed Denmark never confirmed her ownership by colonizing the territory.

The court found that Norway's declaration of occupation and any steps which have been taken in pursuance of that declaration constitute a violation of an existing legal situation and are accordingly unlawful and invalid. The court's decision was reached by a vote of 12 to 2. Norway's claim was to the "Eric the Red" land, a strip of territory about 850 miles in length on the coast between the parallels, 71.30 degrees north and 76.40 degrees north.

The historical basis of this claim goes back to the almost pre-historic time of Eric the Red, for which the territory was named. Denmark, however, disputed the claim, declaring Norway broke the continuity of occupation in the 13th century when Norwegian ships failed to call with food and the budding colony starved.

SENATORS DISCUSS THIRTY HOUR WEEK

Seek To Make Some Changes In Bill To Exclude Some Perishable Products.

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Modification of the 30-hour week bill to exclude certain perishable products was agreed to by sponsors of the legislation today as the Senate resumed debate on the measure.

Senator Black (D., Ala.), author of the bill, said he hoped to obtain a vote today, but Senate leaders were not confident the decision could be reached so soon. At the outset of the debate, Senator Borah (R., Idaho), announced he would move to strike out the two-year limitation in the bill. Modification of the bill to exclude canneries was asked by Senator Goldsborough (R., Md.), who told the Senate application of the 30-hour week to canneries would "be almost a death blow to one of the biggest industries in Maryland."

Perishable products must be used at once, Goldsborough pointed out, or there is a tremendous loss. He contended with canneries running three or four months a year at the most there was not sufficient labor available to operate on short shifts. Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), who proposed a similar change yesterday, replied that he and Black and Senator Dill (T., Wash.), had agreed on a modification to exclude producers of seafood products and fruits and vegetables of a perishable nature.

Has Broad Language The bill as reported to the Senate by the judiciary committee contains the following broad language: "That no article or commodity shall be shipped, transported, or delivered in interstate or foreign commerce, which was produced or manufactured in any mine, quarry, mill, cannery, workshop, factory, or manufacturing establishment situated in the United States, in which any person was employed or permitted to work more than five days in any week or more than six hours in any day."

Borah argued that the Constitution could not be changed "even for one hour" to meet an emergency, without the consent of the people, and therefore wanted the two-year limitation stricken out to remove any implication of an emergency. Borah said the bill presented the question of how far the Supreme Court may go in excluding commodities from interstate commerce. "I presume it will be conceded that if we may exclude from interstate commerce products produced by more than 30-hour labor we may exclude commodities produced by labor paid wages presumed to be below a living wage," he said.

FARMHOUSE BURNED

Colchester, April 5.—(AP)—The farmhouse of Joseph Romano, on the old Middletown turnpike, was burned early today with an estimated loss of $2,500. The Hayward fire company succeeded in saving part of the house, some of the furniture and nearby barns. The origin of the fire was undetermined. All persons in the house escaped safely.

beer and the enactment of some better liquor law than that proposed by the Commission on Liquor Control. The completely unrestricted sale of beer is at least contrary to the judgment of a majority of the people of the state. And the passage of the hurriedly gotten up commission law would be a bad mistake.

Admission by opponents of prohibition that the sale of beer is a proper matter for regulation is seized upon by prohibitionists as involving in contradiction those who favored the federal beer bill. The drys gleefully contend that if beer is non-intoxicating, as the federal law holds, then there is nothing to warrant its treatment in any different way from milk or soft drinks.

So far as the technical determination of this conundrum is concerned, we shall probably have an answer one of these days from the Supreme Court. It certainly is not our responsibility.

Connecticut's course in the matter, however, is up to the people and the government of Connecticut. As among the people, The Herald wishes to state its position.

It is our belief that in adopting a Constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture, transportation and sale of "intoxicating" liquors the country did something indeterminate. It used a term for which there was not and could not be any adequate definition that would square with the purpose aimed at.

SYMPTOMS AND TREATMENT OF DIABETES MELLITUS. The symptoms of diabetes mellitus are slow in developing in the middle-aged person. One of the first alarming symptoms is the passage of exceedingly great amounts of liquid waste. The amount voided may be as much as a gallon in twenty-four hours and cause the patient to get up several times during the night.

Washington, April 5.—Nearly two years of beer and then repeal. That seems to be the most reasonable guess now being made by the wets who are working to get states to ratify the repeal amendment recently passed by Congress.

SCARLET FEVER CASES CLOSE ROCKVILLE HIGH

Epidemic Hits City—57 Pupils Ill, 18 of Them Definitely Scarlet Fever.

The Rockville High school is closed today because of sickness and will be closed until Monday, April 17, because of a scarlet fever epidemic in the community. Extra precaution was taken yesterday by the school authorities inasmuch as seven communities in addition to Rockville are concerned due to over three hundred tuition pupils who attend the school from Vernon, Rockville, Tolland, Somers, East Windsor, South Windsor, Ellington and Broad Brook.

A total of 57 pupils were listed on the sick list yesterday of which thirteen were definite cases of scarlet fever. Two teachers were also ill with scarlet fever. Principal Philip M. Howe conferred with Superintendent of Schools Herbert O. Clough and as a result the high school was ordered closed until April 17 or later, if necessary.

Miss Mary Whittier, teacher of mathematics at the school, was taken ill last Thursday. Her class has been taught by substitutes until yesterday.

Miss Verne Hall, teacher of history, was taken sick yesterday afternoon and the doctors decided it was scarlet fever.

Many other cases are considered doubtful cases and the doctors will not know for a day or two whether or not it is scarlet fever.

The epidemic is not wholly confined to the schools as over 100 cases have been reported in Rockville, Vernon and surrounding communities within the last few months. The fact that it has been confined to the high school as far as schools are concerned seems to be a relief to the parents of the junior pupils in the graded schools.

Supt. of Schools Herbert O. Clough stated last evening that the graded schools would not be closed immediately as there were very few cases of scarlet fever in the lower grades.

Dr. E. H. Metcalf, city health officer, has offered the opinion that the worst of the epidemic has passed as far as the schools are concerned. A strict quarantine is to be kept during the remainder of the month. Several people who have been suffering with scarlet fever have been reported walking the streets of Rockville as if not suffering from the disease. The authorities are to check all quarantine cases so that it will not spread.

SHOPPING NEWS

Now Is Best
This week is the best time to shop for Easter. The wise ones will remember that there are always "last minute" people who rush from store to store on the last shopping days before Easter. It is only reasonable that the stores can do alterations more carefully, give you better service, now.

We women are naturally interested in improving our figure conditions. Kathryn Boulaye, Hotel Sheridan, Springfield, Conn., says she represents a superior service and can give you better buys than you can find elsewhere for any amount of money. She will select the garment most suited to your individual needs and guarantee your satisfaction in a Corset, Circle, Corsette, Brassiere, Belt, Sacro-Iliac or Maternity garment.

Informal Formality
The newest evening coat is a voluminous duster of linen or pique cut on swaggar lines. It is knee length and especially smart with cotton evening frocks. Its nearest relative is the cover-all duster once worn by lady automobilists.

The Beauty Nook
Make your Easter appointments early for permanents and other services at Mary Elizabeth's Beauty Nook, Rubimow Building. They will have plenty of operators, but in order to avoid unnecessary delays, be sure to make your appointment early. Phone 8011.

Springtime Dessert
One-half pound marshmallows
1 cup whipping cream
1-4 cup candied cherries
1-4 cup candied pineapple
1-2 cup pecan nut meats
4 tablespoons powdered sugar
1-4 teaspoon vanilla
Few grains salt.
Cut fruit in small pieces. Cut marshmallows in quarters. Whip cream until firm, add sugar and vanilla and fold in prepared marshmallows, fruit and nuts. Turn into a mold and let stand on ice several hours to chill and become firm.

Nearest news from the stocking world is Runless Sheer hose, featured at Hale's at $1.15. Gorgeously sheer and dull, the weave is not a net, looks like the inside of ordinary silk hose. In Gun Metal, Padlock, Rose Dijon, Stroller, other shades.

Spring for the Table
A lovely centerpiece for a spring table consists of mottled pink carnations interspersed with a few lilies of the valley. Yellow roses mixed with a few taller purple flowers are also charmingly spring-like.

If the housewife is not looking forward this year to a vacation away from home, let her take a "home vacation" every Monday by sending the laundry to the New Model Laundry. It will cost so little, save her so much work. Phone 8072.

Substitute
Fruit juices make delicious substitutes for one half the water called for in gelatin recipes.

As good a spring tonic as any is a lot of pure, rich milk, such as the Bryant & Chapman Dairy delivers to your door. As a health safeguard, doctors often advise both children and adults to drink more milk from a reliable dairy such as the Bryant & Chapman. Bryant & Chapman milk and other dairy products are handled scientifically in an up-to-date sanitary dairy. Bryant & Chapman milk has a large portion of cream at the top of every bottle. To have their Silent Delivery leave milk and other dairy products daily, phone Manchester 7897.

Three for One
A spring suit can use as many as three types of blouses. A blouse of lame or some other formal material makes the suit suitable for tea or even dinner. A silk blouse of less formal design makes the suit complete for street wear. If the suit is somewhat tailored, without fur, a pullover sweater or cotton blouse transforms the suit into a sport outfit.

BIG ROAD MACHINES PASS THROUGH TOWN

Balf Company To Start Work In Eastern Part of State Immediately.

The Edward F. Balf Company of Hartford this morning sent three different kinds of road building machines through Manchester for work in the eastern part of the state. On reaching Center and Pine streets they detoured through Pine street to Hartford road and then up to Main street where they again turned towards Bolton. Each of the machines were loaded and ready to start work and the derrick and steam shovel were both so high above the street level that they could not pass under the railroad cut on Center street. Edward McGurk, who has charge of the general construction of the company met the men at the Center. He has made soundings in the sections in which they are to work and has found that the frost has not entered the ground to such a depth as to cause any trouble in getting the work started at once and that the mud is not as bad at this time as in past years.

minutes. It was terrible going—rain, thunder and lightning, rough sea. All round me, at first, I could see heads when the lightning flashed.
"But they kept disappearing, and pretty soon there weren't any more. And I could hear the men calling out to each other, 'Well, goodbye,' and 'Good luck to you, wherever you're going.'"
"I was just about to go down myself when an empty gas tank came along. I grabbed hold of that and about an hour later I was picked up."
Deal said he had been doing some routine tightening up on the framework of the ship, standing on a catwalk near the center.

"The only inkling I had that anything was wrong," he said, "was when I heard the order to drop ballast."
"I stopped for a minute and then went on about my business. The next thing I knew I was in the water, being washed out of the bag. Somehow, I never got the order to stand by for the crash, probably because I was away up inside the bag and alone."
Small, who is in the Naval hospital with a fractured jaw, said he had a long talk with Deal early this morning.

CONGRESSIONAL PROBE
Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Chairman Vinson today designated a House Naval sub-committee to begin an investigation early next week into the Akron tragedy. The committee will decide Friday when to begin the study, what witnesses to hear and whether to hold hearings at Lakehurst, from which the Akron started its last flight.
As chairman of the sub-committee, Vinson named Delaney, New York.

After being selected to head the sub-committee, Delaney said to newspapermen:
"All statements given out previously in the last 24 hours, saying this accident is the death knell of the dirigible in my opinion are a little hysterical. It is too early to decide. I believe the dirigible is not a dead issue. One accident doesn't mean we should discontinue or condemn the dirigible at all."
McGrath, Dem., Calif., another member of the sub-committee said he agreed with Delaney and thought "airships will continue to be of most useful service to the Navy."

Other members of the sub-committee, which also will consider the fall of the J-3, are: McFarlane of Texas, and Burke of California.

PASSED BELOW AKRON

New York, April 5.—(AP)—Joseph H. Mulke, second officer of the Clyde-Mallory liner Algonquin, appeared at Naval headquarters here today to give an official account of passing below the Navy airship a few minutes before she crashed at sea yesterday morning.
At 12:10 o'clock yesterday morning, 23 minutes before the Akron crashed, Mulke said he was on the bridge and heard the Akron's motors and saw her lights.
"She was headed southeast," Mulke said. "I should judge she was about 1,000 feet up. I couldn't see the ship except for her lights because of fog. The engines sounded steady and perfectly all right. We watched her three or four minutes. We were then about nine miles south southeast of Barnegat Lightship."
"The lightning was very bad and there was lots of it, and thunder and rain and fog."
Mulke said that the Akron did not seem to be losing altitude but because of the weather he asked the Algonquin's wireless operator if any message had been picked up from the airship. The operator had received nothing and the Algonquin continued toward New York, not picking up word of the crash until four o'clock in the morning.
Immediately after making his normal written report at Naval headquarters Mulke returned to his ship to sail at once for the south. It was indicated that he might be called as a witness at the official investigation of the crash.

PLANS NOT CHANGED
Akron, Ohio, April 5.—(AP)—Members of the U. S. S. Akron crew today were going ahead with preparations for the first flight early next week.
"We have received no orders changing these plans," Captain Alger H. Dreesel, skipper of the ship, said. Asked to comment on Lieutenant Commander H. V. Wylie's description of the U. S. S. Akron crash, Captain Dreesel termed it "perfectly logical."
He said the giving way of the rudder control wires was a "very major failure." He was reluctant to comment further on the basis of the incomplete story.
The big point in the story in the opinion of Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle, chief of the Naval Inspection Bureau at the Goodyear-Zepplin Corporation, who supervised construction of the ship, was that there was no structural failure until the ship hit the water. "The conclusion from this accident that airships are not safe and should not be constructed in the future is absurd," Settle said. "It is like deciding not to construct ships because the Titanic sank."

NAVAL STATION QUIET
Lakehurst, N. J., April 5.—(AP)—"Eight-tipped men, accustomed to the rigors of Navy life, moved silently about the naval air station today with an attitude which seemed to defer realization that the U. S. S. Akron, fallen queen of the skies, never will return to her home port."
There was an unusual quietness about the air station and the town of Lakehurst. Few knew just what to expect. All plans awaited developments in the search for the 71 unrecovered bodies of the men lost with the ship.

The usual bright spots in Lakehurst which catered to trade of the men at the air station were quiet and there was little talking among the enlisted men and officers.
Occasionally, however, there was a remark such as "the went down at sea like a Navy ship," said with a touch of pride. Several officers and men, usually aboard the Akron on its air journeys, expressed feelings of thankfulness that they had escaped death, attributing it to their "luck."
Although no airship was due, the lights atop the Akron's hangar glowed throughout the night.

CONTINUE PATROL
New York, April 5.—(AP)—Five Navy hell divers took off from the aviation base at Floyd Bennett Field this morning to continue patrol of the region where the airship Akron was lost yesterday.
The formation of five planes was in command of Capt. Benjamin Reisweber of the Marine Corps and was to report at Atlantic City to Lieut. Frederic Priestman, commandant of the air base here who remained in New Jersey overnight.
The six planes from Floyd Bennett Field to continue the patrol today were the same which engaged in the search for wreckage and bodies yesterday.

FIND BITS OF WRECKAGE
New York, April 5.—(AP)—One of the principal exhibits at the investigation into the Akron disaster will be a curious piece of wreckage somewhat resembling a stove pipe. This bit—only about sixteen

Sarah Schuyler Butler, daughter of the president of Columbia University, sounded a warning that "in their interest in the return of beer the American people may forget the far more important problem of repeal."

"Betty," for Lord's sake, what are you trying to do? Haven't I a right to speak to Janet?"

She said, "Mrs. Carlyle, you surely don't think..."
"Never mind what I think," Betty retorted. She snatched a lighter that did not work and rose in annoyance...

Suddenly Betty's mood seemed to change. She said, "Oh, come along, Rolf. We were due at the Jameasons' half an hour ago."

As though to get away from it Janet fled up the stairs to her bedroom. She closed the door behind her and sank into the big chair.

When a puppy is born it is ready to walk; at least a very few of us find it staggering about on its wobbly legs...

Why is it then that babies on a diet of mother's milk will occasionally develop legs curved either out or in? If nature takes care of some of her children in this respect, why not all?

Wait For Nature
In the third place nature provides different schedules of development for her children. But this much is true also—if either babies or animals wait until nature says "no go ahead!" there will be no trouble whether it be a week or a year...

DIES IN NEW HAVEN

jects as the chief field engineer and manager in manifold undertakings of the concern of C. W. Blakeslee and Sons. Under his eye and by his directing skill the concern built structures, aqueducts, tunnels, dams and carried through other engineering tasks.

In politics and civic life Major Blakeslee had an unusually active part. His family for more than half a century had been foremost in New Haven affairs. As a Republican he had a part in conventions and conferences and was recognized as a party member of the greatest influence. He had served on the City Council and in various appointive offices here. He was president of the commission which supervised the building of the bridge at Old Lyme over the Connecticut river. He also was a member of the commission which built the New Haven County Court House in this city. He had held directorates in a number of corporations.

Major Blakeslee was born in this city March 11, 1856 the son of Charles W. and Martha (Waters) Blakeslee. After his schooling he took up engineering under his father and as a young man became a member of the concern, which his father headed.

He was married in 1878 to Lizzie F. Law. Their family was of six children, Martha, Albert D., Harold L., Miller, Grant and Dorothy.

FINANCIAL NEWS

By AARON COOK

Questions may be submitted to this column. Those questions deemed of group interest shall be treated in articles; those deemed otherwise will be treated individually. Dial 8661 with questions.

The markets for the past two days for all practical purposes show no change. A dull drift in bonds has been recorded. Stocks have been up till some influence arises which will furnish them with an incentive for action. Commodities have been slightly better the past week although wheat reacted fractionally yesterday. Wholesale prices in many lines have been moderately higher which means either diminishing of goods available for sale or a reluctance to part with goods at such sacrifice prices.

There are two or three fundamental factors which must be taken in consideration in analyzing the market at present. One is the fact that Washington has the machinery set up for inflation. It has not been used as yet but it is there nevertheless, when they desire to employ it. We also have the possibility of a spring improvement in business which would help security prices. After a decline in prices downward over an extended period of time technical strength presents itself. Through this factor the market of itself turns around for a rise. Selling can continue for just so long and those sellers start covering and losses are retraced. We have been having a declining market for three weeks, since the banks reopened.

The Glass Banking Bill is shortly to come from committee in the Senate and it is expected that Congress will pass it as permanent legislation.

1. The Bill provides for a greater power to be given to Federal Reserve Banks to engage in branch banking.

2. Divorcement of investment affiliations from banks within a two year period. It may cut down to a one year period.

3. Reduction in number of directors of banks so that a board may be closer to the situation existing in individual banks.

4. Strict limitation of interlocking directorates between banks and industrial corporations.

SUSPICIOUS DEATH

New London, April 5.—(AP)—Four persons are under arrest by the local police pending an investigation of the death yesterday of Richard Thielbar of New Haven from acute alcoholism.

Thielbar was a World War veteran and an inmate of the State Home for Veterans at Groton. He died in a lodging house at 207 North Bank street yesterday morning but no report of his death was made to the police until last night.

Those under arrest are Henry Eino, proprietor, Josephine Mahoney, a lodger at the place; J. R. Holmes, another inmate of the State Home, and Ernest Coe, a local truck driver.

NEW LONDON FIRE

New London, April 5.—(AP)—A two-alarm fire early this morning caused damage estimated at $11,000 to the Hollanderky building at 159 Bank street. The flames burned the entire third floor which is used by the Boys' Club as a dance hall.

NO BEER PARTIES

THURSDAY MIDNIGHT

Legitimate Breweries Will Not Deliver Beer Until Friday Morning.

New York, April 5.—(AP)—That craving for 3.2 beer will have to wait for its "quencher" until 6 a. m., Friday, despite the fact that sale of the beverage becomes legal at 12:01 a. m., that day.

The United States Brewers' Association has so decreed in agreeing not to begin distribution of beer until the later hour Friday morning.

Col. Jacob Ruppert, president of the association, announced today in urging that "there be no carnival or untoward celebration at the time the change in the Volstead Act takes effect legally."

About 90 per cent of the brewers of New York City are members of the association, Ruppert said. Their arrangement also will extend to New York state, as he announced that a similar stand had been taken by the members of the New York State Brewers' Association.

Summa Warning

Pointing out that "many friends of real temperance—hosts of men and women who believe in the supremacy of law and order"—are watching the advent of beer as a non-intoxicating beverage, Col. Ruppert issued this statement:

"At this time, I want to sound a note of warning. The legitimate brewers—those who, since the passage of the 18th Amendment, have observed the law requirements strictly—are anxious that there be no carnival or untoward celebration at the time the change in the Volstead Act takes effect legally.

"It is the purpose of the legitimate brewers to keep their product in strict accordance with the law. In most instances, beer has been delivered just as soon as the regulation of the death yesterday of Richard Thielbar of New Haven from acute alcoholism.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

The most popular person is not likely to be the most brilliant person, but the most dependable performer.

We may talk about old times but if we're going to eat and keep a roof over our heads, we must give most of our attention to the present.

Porter—Miss, your train is—
Precise Passenger—My man, why do you say "your train," when you know it belongs to the railroad company?
Porter—Dunno, Miss. Why do you say, "my man," when you know I belong to my old woman?

Heaven won't be heaven to some girls unless they can get their wings direct from Paris.

Carrots.
Let us sing a little ballad now of carrots in the salad.
And of carrots sliced and carrots diced and carrots mixed with cheese.
Sing of carrots slick as varnish frizzed and scalloped as a garnish.
Buttered carrots with the ham and carrots with the peas.
Once I had a fearful nightmare, dreamed of being drowned in creamed carrots.
With carrots stuffed with mayonnaise all tangled round my feet;
If you see a carrot grab it and go feed it to a rabbit.
For a rabbit, being brainless, thinks a carrot's good to eat.

Customer—What, ten cents for a coat hanger? Too much! Haven't you got something cheaper?
Clerk—How about a nail, sir?

"When I hear a man singing his own praises too much I am tempted to drown his vocal music by blowing my own horn awhile.

Box Office Attendant—Can I give you one in the third row?
Patron—No, I want one in the first row.
Box Office Attendant—Very Well, here's an extra fiddle. Tell the director of the orchestra to give you a seat in the orchestra pit.

Ask any man the question: "What is the spiral stairway?" If he doesn't fall you with his hands, the treats are on us.

Jasper—Were you one of the many fooling with the stock market?
Casper—Not me, I was serious, the market did the fooling.

Customer—I'd like a loaf of bread.
Baker—White or graham.
Customer—It doesn't matter its for a blind man.

Jimmy—What do you think of this new airline to the coast?
Hiram—Aw, its just another fly-by-night scheme.

A lot of fellows who complain about their boss being dumb would be out of jobs if the boss were any smarter.

It seems that many of the captains of industry we heard so much about a few years ago have turned out to be only corporals.

PALM SUNDAY PROGRAM AT NORTH M. E. CHURCH

Soloist To Render Local Woman's Anthem — Organist Arranges Special Features.

Miss Grayce Tourtelotte, of Vernon, soprano soloist of the North Methodist church choir, will sing at the morning service, Palm Sunday, "Thou Art My God," an unpublished but popular soprano solo by Mrs. Cuthbert W. Birch of "The Gables", 118 Main street. This work has been sung by many of the leading church soloists in New York and Boston, and is in constant demand by them for concert programs. Before coming to Manchester less than five years ago, Mrs. Birch had established for herself in New York City and the Middle West considerable of a reputation as composer, critic and for her symphonic arrangements of many well known compositions. Organist S. W. McAlpine has arranged for several other interesting numbers for the Palm Sunday services, namely: the anthem, "Fling Wide the Gates" by Strainer, and "The Palms," bass solo by Ralph Persson, also in the morning, and in the evening under his direction the choir will present the beautiful Lenten cantata, "Penitence, Pardon and Peace" by Maunder. The words were taken from the holy writ by the Vicar of Leytonstone, Rev. Betison. Maunder's compositions hold a place in all church music that is peculiarly their own. A careful blending of harmonies plus a deep religious feeling mark his work as colorful and churchly as a contrast to the somewhat flashy composition of modern writers. Soprano solos will be sung by Miss Tourtelotte and bass solos by Mr. Persson. Many people of the town will no doubt be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing this beautiful cantata.

The three leading players in last night's sitting of the Army and Navy club pinochle tournament are Edward Quish, 1046; Teddy England, 994, and Louis Chagnot, 973.
