

H. S. CHORUSES SING ORATORIO FOR STUDENTS

Voices of 110 in Glee Clubs Give Advance Rendition of "Creation" - Public Presentation Tomorrow.

The High School auditorium was filled to capacity this afternoon when the boys' and girls' glee clubs presented the initial rendition of Haydn's "Creation" for the benefit of high school and grammar school students. A scattering of adults were also present at the opening performance and every available seat was taken.

Mrs. Elsie Gustafson

110 Voices The glee clubs with a combined strength of 110 voices, under the direction of G. Albert Pearson, gave a truly remarkable rendition of the difficult oratorio. They sang with finish and perfection and the freshness of their voices, coupled with enthusiasm for their work had a wonderful effect on the audience of school pupils, so much so that many will probably aspire to sing in future concerts.

Mrs. Gustafson's Work Mrs. Elsie (Berggren) Gustafson found the role of Gabriel well suited for her soprano voice and she took her part, even to the highest notes, with evident ease. Mrs. Gustafson is widely known as a soloist, having appeared in numerous concerts with the Beethoven and G. C. Glee clubs and many other musical organizations.

Wallen in Pine Voice It is regretted that Haydn failed to include a few more tenor solos in this oratorio. Maurice Wallen would amply have been able to sing them to great advantage. He was in fine voice this afternoon and his wonderful range and splendid quality added much to the perfection of the performance. Jarle Johnson acquitted himself well and added further to an already enviable reputation as a bass soloist. His tones are deep and clear and he did himself justice in his part.

Accompanist's Work Adding much to the success of the "Creation" was the accompaniment of Miss Mildred Sutherland, a high school student. An artist in every sense she seems destined for a great future in the field of music. Heigle E. Pearson, who needs no introduction, also added much to the accompaniment in the chorus numbers.

The orchestra, under the direction of Harold Turkington, showed that much intense work has been done to perfect the "Chorus" and the two chorus numbers which it accompanies. It is expected that another capacity audience will fill the high school tomorrow night to hear the glee clubs in their outstanding musical achievement of the year.

HIS FAITH VIOLATED: BISHOP'S HOME ROBBED

Salt Lake City, April 10.—Bishop H. Beckstead's faith in his fellow men has been violated. TWO AUTO DEATHS OVER THE WEEK-END

One Drowning and One Suicide Reported in State—Many Cars on Highways.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS Two automobile fatalities and one drowning were reported in Connecticut during the week end as ideal spring weather lured an increasing number of motorists to the highways and found the Connecticut river more than three feet above flood stage.

In addition to these deaths, one person committed suicide while a Danbury farmer died from injuries suffered a week ago. Russell H. Northam, 31, son of the late Russell C. Northam, Hartford broker and sportsman who committed suicide a year ago, was killed when his car overturned in Killingworth on the Durham-Middletown road. Miss Katherine Murphy of Hartford, his companion, suffered minor injuries.

Boy Drowned Robert Lavigne, 10, of East Hartford, lost his life in the swollen Pewter brook when he either fell or jumped from a log he was riding on. He drowned while the Connecticut river was dragged for the body of Edward G. Ledwith, 24, who lost his life last week when the Connecticut river began its rise as a result of days of rain and spring thaws.

Two hunters found the body of Henry A. Alexander, 43, gardener of Easton, at the foot of a thirty foot cliff in Ridgefield. His death was termed a suicide by Dr. R. W. Lowe, medical examiner. Alexander either fell or jumped off a cliff after slitting his throat with a safety razor blade. Police were told he had been in ill health. Dr. Lowe said Alexander had been dead about 48 hours.

Farmer Killed in Accident A 64-year-old farmer, died in Danbury hospital of injuries suffered a week ago when he was thrown from his horse drawn carriage beneath the wheels of a truck.

GERARD MENTIONED FOR FEDERAL POST

Former Envoy to Germany to Be Next Ambassador to Argentina.

Washington, April 10.—(AP)—James W. Gerard of New York is regarded in authoritative circles as likely to be the next ambassador to Argentina.

James M. Curley, mayor of Boston, is viewed as the probable ambassador to Poland, although he is understood to prefer the Rome assignment.

It also was said that Breckenridge Long, former assistant secretary of state, probably will be named ambassador to Italy.

J. F. O'Connor of Los Angeles, under present indications, will be the controller of the currency. He is a former law partner of Senator McClellan (D-Cal.) who was secretary of the treasury during the Wilson administration.

T. A. Walters, Idaho Democratic state chairman, is considered certain to be assistant secretary of interior.

Envoy to Cuba John Cudahy of Milwaukee has been recommended by leading Democrats for ambassador to Cuba. A decision is now up to Secretary Hull and President Roosevelt. Cudahy will be here shortly for a conference.

JAP FORCES REPULSED AT CHINA'S GREAT WALL

But Tokyo Reports Its Manchurian Army is Again Advancing—Plan Offensives All Along the Line.

Close upon foreign reports from Tientsin, China, that a Manchukuo army advancing into North China proper had been thrown back from Chinwangtao came Japanese claims that it was advancing again on that city today.

A general drive to end Chinese counter-offensives on Japanese positions along the Great Wall of China was announced at the Japanese military headquarters in Manchuria.

Japanese forces attacked from all the main passes along the 200-mile stretch of the wall forming the southern border of Jehol.

Despite a Japanese War Office disclaimer of responsibility for the Manchukuo invasion of unoccupied Chinese territory in the Chinwangtao area, a Shanhaiwan dispatch said Japanese soldiers were sent to aid the Manchurians.

On that front, the Chinese claimed they had recaptured Shanhaiwan and Tientsin. There are about 3,000 Americans, including 1,300 Marines and soldiers in the Peking-Tientsin area.

The army headquarters, however, announced it was impossible to predict what the end of the offensive would be.

TRIAL OF BRITONS STARTS WEDNESDAY

Russians Warn Them Not to Talk of Case to Their Countrymen.

Moscow, April 10.—(AP)—British engineers, five of them at present on trial, have been warned not to talk about their cases to countrymen who are here or arriving from England for their trial, which begins at noon Wednesday.

Details of the charges of espionage, sabotage and bribery, which face the men, have not been made public and may not be until after the opening of the trial.

The men have been told they may discuss the case only with their appointed Russian counsel. The British government is expected to have observers at the trial and yesterday a representative of the Metropolitan "Vickers" Electrical equipment company, which employed the accused men, arrived from London.

Russians in "Plot." About 16 Russians, who also worked for the company, were named in a new 77 page indictment which has been served on the entire group. They also face an extreme penalty of death. (In a similar trial a few years ago of German engineers and their Russian associates, the former were acquitted but several of the Russians were executed.)

A further indication that the authorities regard W. H. MacDonell, the only Englishman for whom bail was refused, as the main culprit was seen in reports that the other five probably will remain at liberty during the trial.

MOFFETT'S BODY RECOVERED OFF JERSEY'S COAST

Rear Admiral and Chief of Navy's Air Bureau Was on Akron When It Crashed During Storm.

U. S. S. Portland at Sea Off the Jersey Coast, April 10.—(AP)—The body of Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics, who sailed on the ill-fated last voyage of the airship Akron, was recovered from the sea today.

The admiral's body was recovered at 9:07 a. m. about three miles off Beach Haven, N. J., and about ten miles from the place where the Akron crashed last Tuesday with a loss of 73 men.

The discovery was made while 30 Coast Guard and Navy boats and 19 planes from three naval districts were engaged in the search. The area covered by the planes extends as far south as Cape May and 100 miles to sea.

On a message issued from the Portland, four Navy tugs which had been using grappling hooks began today using wire sweeps because of danger of interfering with commercial cables from New York to Haiti which lie along the bottom in this area.

WIFE RECEIVES NEWS Washington, April 10.—(AP)—As courageously as she met the first news of the crash of the Akron, Mrs. William A. Moffett today faced a Navy message telling of the recovery of the body of her husband.

A few minutes after the message arrived, a member of the household said Mrs. Moffett had taken with her the message which definitely told of the fate of her husband.

When the Akron had fallen, true to the traditions of Navy wives, Mrs. Moffett kept her own mouth high and gave a message of encouragement to other wives who were waiting to hear from their husbands.

The attitude she took was that she would not be upset until every possibility of rescue was exhausted.

At the Moffett home it was said that officers of the Navy were taking charge of funeral arrangements.

The Navy was informed that the Coast Guard boat Daphne was proceeding to Atlantic City with the body of Rear Admiral Moffett.

HIGH CLASS MEN IN ARMY CAMPS

Over 2,000 in Camps Sunday With Thousands Scheduled to Move Today.

Washington, April 10.—(AP)—"They have great appetites." This was the word that came today from army camps where the first recruits of the Civilian Conservation Corps have been sent for two weeks of condition preparatory to moving into forest work camps.

One of the chief objects of the conditioning camps, Robert Fechner, director of the conservation-employment program said, is to "feed 'em up" and overcome any cases of malnutrition found to exist among the jobless youths who are being enrolled.

More Moved Today. More than 2,000 of the first contingent of 25,000 were in camp Sunday, with additional thousands scheduled to move in today. Army officers reported that the recruits were "high class, with good morals and eager to get started."

Combining a liberal diet with exercises and recreation, Fechner hopes to have the men in good physical condition before they actually begin work in the forests after two weeks in the army centers.

Each state will have a quota of men in proportion to its population. Fechner hopes to get the corps full strength picked by May 15.

ENROLLMENT HERE Hartford, April 10.—(AP)—Though plans are being pushed rapidly at Washington, it will be several days and possibly a week before enrollment under the Federal reforestation plan will start, according to State Forester Austin F. Hawes, who returned from Washington, D. C., last evening after conferring with officials there.

Scores of eager applicants for jobs in the forest work camps which are being planned by President Roosevelt as part of his rehabilitation program, meantime were lined up both at the Army recruiting station in the Federal building and the office of Harry E. Mackenzie, head of the Federal labor employment agency for Connecticut in the State Capitol this morning.

PRESIDENT PLACES BIG POWER PLANS BEFORE CONGRESS

Loses Fight For Scottsboro Negro

Worn by his vigorous but fruitless fight to save Heywood Patterson from the electric chair in the famous Scottsboro attack trial, Samuel Leibowitz, chief defense attorney, is shown as he rested after his final four-hour plea to the jury.

Washington, April 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt put his Tennessee valley program before Congress today in a message asking rehabilitation of the Muscle Shoals, Alabama, power and nitrate plant.

He asked creation of a Tennessee valley authority to supervise the development of power, flood control, forest conservation and improvement of agriculture.

"It is time," the President wrote, "to extend planning to a wider field. In this instance, comprehending in one great project many states directly concerned with the basin of one of our greatest rivers."

"If we are successful here we can march on, step by step, in a like development of other great natural territorial units within our borders."

Text of Message "The text follows: 'To the Congress: "The continued idleness of a great national investment in the Tennessee valley leads me to ask Congress for legislation necessary to carry this project in the service of the people."

"It is clear that the Muscle Shoals development is but a small part of our entire public usefulness of the nation's resources."

"Such use as I envisioned in its entirety transcends mere power development."

"It enters the wide field of flood control, soil erosion, a foresting, elimination of agricultural use of marginal lands, and distribution and diversification of industry."

National Planning "In short, this power development of the valley leads logically to national planning for a common river watershed involving many states and the future lives and welfare of millions."

"It touches and gives life to all forms of human concern."

"I, therefore, suggest to the Congress legislation to create a Tennessee valley authority—a corporation clothed with the power of government but possessed of the flexibility and initiative of a private enterprise."

"It should be charged with the broadest duty of planning for the proper use, conservation and development of the natural resources of the basin of the river on a basis and its adjoining territory for the general social and economic welfare of the nation."

Needs Authority "This authority should also be clothed with the necessary power to carry these plans into effect. Its duty should be the rehabilitation of the Muscle Shoals development and the co-ordination of it with the wider plans suggested to me by the human waste that results from lack of planning. Here and there a few wise cities and counties have looked ahead and planned. But our nation has not planned."

"It is time to extend planning to a wider field, in this instance comprehending in one great project many states directly concerned with the basin of one of our greatest rivers."

"This in a true sense is a return to the spirit and vision of the pioneer. If we are successful here we can march on, step by step, in a like development of other great natural territorial units within our borders."

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT." April 10, 1933. Senator Norris (R-Nebr.) told reporters he would introduce a bill to carry out the presidential recommendations either late today or tomorrow.

Informing inquiries that the bill reach the House also tomorrow, Chairman McSwain of the military committee there said the measure would not be the same as to be presented to the Senate.

Members of the House applauded at the conclusion of the reading of the message there.

Speaker Rainey referred the message to the military committee.

McSwain obtained consent of the House to permit his committee to set continuously, beginning tomorrow.

Norris would not comment on the provisions of his measure, pending introduction, but it is expected to follow closely the general outline of the legislation he has sponsored for several years.

This calls for government operation and sale of power from the Alabama project and allowing the President a year in which to lease the nitrate plant.

Dr. McSwain also said that the bill would not be introduced until May 1.

AKRON'S OFFICERS KNEW OF DANGERS

Were Informed Before Start of Flight That the Weather Would Be Unfavorable.

Lakehurst, N. J., April 10.—(AP)—Rear Admiral William A. Moffett and Commander Frank C. McCord both were informed a few hours before the Akron took off on her last flight that weather conditions were likely to be unfavorable for the object of the flight, Lieut.-Commander Herbert V. Wiley, sole surviving officer, testified at the Navy inquiry into the crash opened today.

There was no indication, however, Wiley said, that weather conditions would place the Akron in any peril.

Admiral Moffett telephoned the station from Washington at 11 a. m., April 3, a week ago today, asking what time the Akron was taking off and saying he wished to make the flight, Wiley said.

The grey-haired executive officer who at his own request was made an interested party, corresponding to a defendant in a civil court, at the hearing, then testified that

DOCTOR DESCRIBES ODD CULT'S RITES

Called "The Tongue People" and Have Congregations of But Ten Persons.

Nesky, Kentucky, April 10.—(AP)—"The Tongue People" from whose ranks John H. Mills formed his own small cult shortly before the slaying of his 67-year-old mother, Mrs. Lucinda Mills, last February in an alleged human sacrifice are found today in nearly a dozen counties on each side of the Kentucky-West Virginia border. No offering of any kind of sacrifice was ever known among the regular members of the sect.

Dr. J. R. Fairchild, a Commonwealth witness in the trial of Mills and six relatives on murder and conspiracy charges, which was resumed here today, said the teaching that "prayer is the unknown tongue" is "the highest religious expression was brought into the Kentucky-West Virginia hill country twenty years ago by an evangelist from Akron, Ohio."

The praying in "the unknown tongue" which members of the sect themselves admit they can't understand, is preceded by dancing and jerking of the shoulders up and down, Dr. Fairchild said.

"The Unknown Tongue" Members of the congregations often dance and then sit down, he said. The muscles of their jaws become rigid and they start straight shuffling. Next their shoulders begin to twitch and finally jerk up and down. Then comes the unintelligible muttering they call "the unknown tongue."

Dr. Fairchild, a native of the Kentucky hills and a graduate of the old Louisville Medical College, is both a physician and a preacher. For 42

CANNON IS LOSER IN LEGAL BATTLE

Supreme Court Rules Against Him in Case Involving Campaign Expenses.

Washington, April 10.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., and his secretary Miss Ada L. Burroughs, lost in the Supreme Court today their fight against an indictment charging them with violating Federal election laws in connection with the 1928 presidential campaign against Alfred E. Smith.

The District of Columbia Supreme Court quashed the indictment against the Southern Methodist church leader and also one against Miss Burroughs, who was his secretary.

The trial court said the indictment was insufficient because it failed to charge that the contributions had been reported to and accounted for by Miss Burroughs.

Government Appeals The government appealed from that ruling. It took the case to the District of Columbia Court of Appeals and the jurisdiction of that body was challenged by Bishop Cannon.

The ruling, adverse to him, followed today, although it has nothing to do with the election case.

Spanish University Invites Him to Become a Member of Faculty—He Accepts.

Madrid, April 10.—(AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein, who renounced his German citizenship because of anti-Semitism in Germany, today accepted an invitation to become a member of the faculty of the University of Madrid.

Fernando de Los Rios, minister of public instruction, said in announcing his invitation that the presence of the eminent physicist will be of inestimable value to Spanish culture.

"I am extremely happy that he is coming," said the minister, "I shall create a group of professors to assist him and we shall do everything possible to make his stay in Spain profitable to the world."

It has not been decided when Prof. Einstein will come here but he is expected as soon as he has finished other engagements.

MICHIGAN TO VOTE FOR REPEAL TODAY

But One Dry Delegate Out of 100 So There is No Doubt of Outcome.

Lansing, Mich., April 10.—(AP)—Just 52 days after the proposed amendment for repeal of National prohibition was submitted by Congress, Michigan today becomes the first state to hold its constitutional convention for ratification.

There is no doubt about the outcome, for 99 delegates pledged to repeal of the 18th amendment and a lone defender of prohibition were chosen in the election a week ago. There will not even be any debate for the legislature in authorizing the convention clothed it with no deliberative powers.

Simple Ceremony Organizing in a morning session in which Chief Justice John S. McDonald administers the oath, the convention was to recess this afternoon for the ratification ceremony.

Although his cause is hopeless, the lone dry delegate, Dr. Eugene Davenport, former dean of agriculture, is in his own words "carrying the prohibition banner" to the convention.

Among the repeal delegates are two clergymen, Rev. Albert M. Ewart of Eaton county, and Rev. H. F. R. Franks of Monroe county.

Although Michigan has voted "wet" overwhelmingly in the last two elections, the state still is dry so far as legal beer is concerned. Legislative leaders, struggling with regulatory measures expected to pass, did not later than May 1.

Scores of eager applicants for jobs in the forest work camps which are being planned by President Roosevelt as part of his rehabilitation program, meantime were lined up both at the Army recruiting station in the Federal building and the office of Harry E. Mackenzie, head of the Federal labor employment agency for Connecticut in the State Capitol this morning. Officials at both offices, having no

Loses Fight For Scottsboro Negro

Worn by his vigorous but fruitless fight to save Heywood Patterson from the electric chair in the famous Scottsboro attack trial, Samuel Leibowitz, chief defense attorney, is shown as he rested after his final four-hour plea to the jury.

Asks That Authority Be Given to Create Big Power Plant—"If Successful Here" He Writes "We Can March on Step by Step, in a Like Development of Other Great National Projects."

Washington, April 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt put his Tennessee valley program before Congress today in a message asking rehabilitation of the Muscle Shoals, Alabama, power and nitrate plant. He asked creation of a Tennessee valley authority to supervise the development of power, flood control, forest conservation and improvement of agriculture. "It is this," the President wrote, "to extend planning to a wider field, in one instance comprehending in one great project many states directly concerned with the basin of one of our greatest rivers. "If we are successful here we can march on step by step, in a like development of other great national territorial units within our borders."

Text of Message The text follows: "To the Congress: "The continued idleness of a great national investment in the Tennessee valley leads me to ask Congress for legislation necessary to enlist this project in the service of the people. "It is clear that the Muscle Shoals development is but a small part of our potential public usefulness of the entire Tennessee river. "Such use, if envisioned in its entirety, transcends mere power development: "It enters the wide field of flood control, soil erosion, a forestation, elimination from agricultural use of marginal lands, and distribution and diversification of industry."

MICHIGAN TO VOTE FOR REPEAL TODAY

But One Dry Delegate Out of 100 So There is No Doubt of Outcome.

Lansing, Mich., April 10.—(AP)—Just 82 days after the proposed amendment for repeal of National prohibition was submitted by Congress, Michigan today becomes the first state to hold its constitutional convention for ratification. There is no doubt about the outcome, for 99 delegates pledged to repeal of the 18th amendment and a lone defender of prohibition were chosen in the election a week ago. There will not even be any debate, for the legislature in authorizing the convention clothed it with no deliberative powers.

Simple Ceremony Organizing in a morning session in which Chief Justice John S. Mc Donald administered the oath, the afternoon for the ratification ceremony.

Although his cause is hopeless, the lone dry delegate, Dr. Eugene Davenport, former dean of agricultural college, in his own words "carrying the prohibition banner" to the convention. Tonight he will be the honored guest at a dinner tendered him by the state dry forces. Among the repeat delegates are two clergymen, Rev. Albert M. Ewart, of Eaton county and Rev. H. P. Fritsch, of Monroe county. Although Michigan has voted "wet" overwhelmingly in the last two elections the state still is dry so far as legal beer is concerned. Legislative leaders, struggling with regulatory measures, expect to re-consider the bill. (Continued On Page Three)

Lakehurst, N. J., April 10.—(AP)—Rear Admiral William A. Moffett and Commander Frank C. McCord both were informed a few hours before the Akron took off on her last flight that weather conditions were likely to be unfavorable for the object of the flight, Lieut.-Commander Herbert V. Wiley, who supervising officer testified at the Navy inquiry into the crash on Monday. There was no indication, however, Wiley said, that weather conditions would place the Akron in any peril. Admiral Moffett, telephoned the station from Washington at 11 a. m., April 8, a week ago today, asking what time the Akron was taking off and saying he wished to make the flight, Wiley said. The grey-haired executive officer who at his own request was made an interested party, corresponding to a defendant in a civil court, at the hearing, then testified that (Continued On Page Three)

Washington, April 10.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., and his secretary Miss Ada L. Burroughs, lost in the Supreme Court today their fight against an indictment charging them with violating Federal election laws in connection with the 1928 presidential campaign against Alfred E. Smith. The District of Columbia Supreme Court quashed the indictment against the Southern Methodist church leader, and also one against Miss Burroughs, who was his secretary. The trial court said the indictment was insufficient because it failed to charge that the contributions had been reported to and accounted for by Miss Burroughs. Government Appeals. The government appealed from that ruling. It took the case to the District of Columbia Court of Appeals and the jurisdiction of that body was challenged by Bishop Cannon. The ruling, adverse to him, followed today, although it has nothing to do with the election case. (Continued On Page Three) ration was expected to closely approximate a shoals bill he introduced in March. Its principal provisions:

Creates a Tennessee valley authority empowered to borrow $100,000,000 through 40-year 4 per cent bonds.

The authority shall be exercised by three trustees appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate for 15-year terms at salaries of $6,000.

The authority is given complete control over the government's Muscle Shoals property and is directed to manufacture fertilizer or lease the nitrate plants, with surplus power at the switchboard or build transmission lines if increased revenue would result.

The authority also would manage all forestation projects within 25 miles of the Tennessee river. It would construct a dam at Cove Creek on the Clinch river in Tennessee, paying for it out of the bond issue. (Past estimates have placed the cost of this dam at $34,000,000.)

There were fewer than 100 persons in the courtroom as the verdict was read yesterday and it was received without demonstration.

Fatterson was convicted of attacking just one of the two white girls in the case, Mrs. Victoria Price. She testified during the trial, holding to her original story that she and Ruby Bates were attacked by nine negroes aboard a freight train in March, 1931.

The Bates girl who originally testified an attack had taken place, repudiated her early story. She said she told the first story because she was excited and because Mrs. Price told her what to say. She appeared in court wearing new clothing and said she had been in New York.

aerological officer at Lakehurst informed both Moffett and McCord he doubted whether the weather would be favorable to take radio compass dimensions of the New England coast, which according to information given out by the Navy after the crash was the purpose of the flight.

Fliers' Lives Saved
Indications that visibility would be poor at sunset the night of the take-off, probably saved the lives of six airplane pilots attached to the Akron. Wiley's testimony indicated. Study of a weather map in the late afternoon led Commander McCord, Wiley said, to order cancelled a scheduled drill of the Akron's six fighting planes, to have ended with their being taken aboard.

The airplanes and their pilots were left behind when the Akron took off. At the time of the take-off, Wiley said, there was a fog, with a 300-foot ceiling.

Studied Weather Map
Commander Wiley said he and Commander McCord studied the weather map shortly before noon, the day of the take-off and again in the late afternoon. The morning map, he said, indicated that had weather conditions prevailed over Michigan and were moving north-eastward.

"This, however, was outside our area," he said, "and we did not consider it a threat."

He said that in the Middle Atlantic states the pressure was "flat"—indicating fairly settled weather. "I remember the forecast was for light wind and fog along the coast, probably continuing in the Newport area until noon the next day."

The Akron's objective when she took off was to be over Newport, R. I., the following morning an hour before sunrise, ready to start work on calibrating the compass.

ria, said Japanese forces along the Great Wall of China launched an offensive today designed to terminate Chinese counter-attacks at the wall passes.

The headquarters said "the persistently hostile attitude of Chinese forces" necessitated the drive. Japanese airplanes, co-operating with infantry, were reported bombing the Chinese.

The Tokyo War Office said the offensive was a local operation designed for tactical improvement of the Great Wall lines and that it was absurd to believe the Japanese were going to continue to Peiping and Tientsin, the main cities in the International Treaty Zone south of the wall.

a wall pass directly north of Kaichangying, where one regiment of Maj. Gen. Yoshiaki Takata's and a portion of Maj. Gen. Heijiro Hatoyama's infantry brigades were attacking, it was learned here.

50,000 Chinese Troops

The Japanese admitted Lenkwohitherto has been in Chinese hands. About 50,000 Chinese troops were concentrated in that region along the central section of the southern Jehol border.

Simultaneously Japanese units at Hsifenkow and Chiehlingkow attacked in order to prevent Chinese troops reinforcing Lenkwo. Hsifenkow is about 80 miles inland and Chiehlingkow is the most important pass between that point and the coast.

From Kupetkow, only 65 miles northeast of Peiping, Maj. Gen. Tadaaki Kawahara's regiment attacked the Chinese at Nantienmen, along the Peiping road.

In announcing the offensive, the Army headquarters stressed the month the Japanese have spent along the wall, declaring they remained there patiently despite increasing Chinese provocations. "How far the situation will develop, depends entirely on the Chinese. It is impossible to predict," the Changchun dispatch said.

HERRIOT READY TO TALK WAR DEBTS AT PARLEY

Former Premier to Leave France on April 19 for Washington Conferences.

Paris, April 10.—(AP)—Former Premier Edouard Herriot will be particularly interested in seeking information concerning the status of the debt question involving the United States and France when he reaches Washington in about two weeks.
Semi-official reports said he even hopes to discuss the question of intergovernmental debts first hand with President Roosevelt although the international economic problems were announced at the Washington conference. (The American government has offered to discuss debts only with nations which met their December obligations, which France defaulted. M. Herriot was overthrown as premier because he demanded the payment be made.)
M. Herriot will leave April 19 on the steamship Ile de France, under present plans. He will be a free agent and more an informant than negotiator. He will be accompanied by two experts, probably Jacques Bizot, of the finance ministry, and Robert Coulongre, commercial expert of the foreign office.
The government expects the Washington conversation will be of a general nature to chart the course for the London world economic conference.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Oak Park, Ill.—The strange case Miss Patricia Maguire has been in for 14 months because of an attack of sleeping sickness, is a beauty sleep for her.

Chicago—John W. Finner, Federal chemist, who tested the new legalized beer from seven different breweries in Chicago regarded that the average kick was 2.8 per cent of alcohol by weight. This is four-tenths of one per cent under the legal maximum.
The lowest alcoholic content he found was 2.48 and the highest 3.18.

WATCHMAN IS KILLED BY HIS OWN PISTOL

Police Report He Was Shot by Woman After He Had Struck Her.

Philadelphia, April 10.—(AP)—Horace Asher, 42 year old night watchman, was shot to death with his own pistol as he was leaving his home to make his rounds today and police held Mrs. Mary Carson, 41, an unemployed telephone operator, for the shooting.
Detectives said Mrs. Carson told them she had known Asher for about three years and that they had quarreled while she was visiting him.
"Who quarreled and he struck me in the mouth," they quoted her.
Asher apparently forgot his pistol as he left to make the rounds of buildings he guarded near his home. Police said Mrs. Carson told them she picked up the weapon and fired one shot at Asher.
The bullet hit him in the back. He died before reaching a hospital.
Two policemen passing Asher's home as Mrs. Carson left noticed her agitation and said on questioning her that they were told "there's a mad shot."

Dial Twisters
By W. J. DALTON

- Not so long ago it was quite an event to hear a foreign program broadcast over networks in the United States. The success of such an endeavor depended upon many things; weather conditions, fading, and the ability of the transmitter and receiver were not so important. Today the rebroadcast of features such as the opening of Holy Year, as sent from Vatican City in Italy, are taken as a matter of course.
Weather conditions are known a week or so in advance, the proper short wave length for these conditions is picked and the program goes on as scheduled. At NBC headquarters in New York there are several directional antennae and an ultra modern receiver for each day's work. The best antenna for that particular day is automatically selected; nothing is left to chance to spoil a foreign feature. The receiver is designed to reproduce the highest quality of speech or music and automatic, as well as manual, devices are used to maintain the right level of volume.
Fourteen cents per day is about the maximum cost of owning a good radio. Somebody has figured that on this basis—$25 a year for depreciation, $8 for repairs and tubes and 5c per day for electricity. It seems cheap enough but I think these figures run higher than the average. The usual radio would have to be run from morning till late at night to consume that nickel's worth of electricity and that 8c repair bill seems out of proportion. The depreciation depends upon the initial cost of the machine—that is whether it was bought three years ago or last month. The radios of today are so much more efficient and the price so much lower that an average is hard to strike. Your guess is good as any one's so long it is under fourteen cents.

They are now attempting to show that some of the studios are in a position to return to full salaries.
While denying the motion picture producers and distributors plan a new wage cut, Will Hays, president, said "our problem is to balance up between the outgo in all branches and the current income from the box office." He added that there are "imperative requirements of economy in all branches."

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JANET HILL breaks her engagement to ROLF CARLYLE when she learns he had been paying attentions to BETTY KENDALL, wealthy society girl, Janet, 23, is secretary to BRUCE HAMILTON, advertising manager of Every Home Magazine. She still loves Rolf.

JEFF GRANT, young engineer, saves her purse from a holdup man and she and Jeff become friends. When she learns Rolf has eloped with Betty she tells Jeff about her broken engagement and says she can never care for anyone else. Hamilton leaves the magazine and secures a job for Janet as a social secretary to his sister, MRS. CURTIS. It is several days before Janet learns Mrs. Curtis is Betty Kendall's mother. Then she feels she should go away but circumstances prevent.

Rolf and Betty return from their honeymoon and move to their own apartment. Mrs. Curtis goes to Silver Bay, a lake resort, taking Janet with her. They stay a month.

One evening shortly after their return Janet goes for a drive with Jeff. They see a man and girl beside a wrecked car. Jeff stops, thinking there has been an accident. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL
In the roadster's headlights the two figures stood out boldly. The girl was in white and the man in evening clothes. Behind them a little way down the road Janet could make out the outlines of an automobile.

"Need any help?" Jeff called. The man hurried forward. "Would you be willing to take us to the nearest farm house?" he asked. "There must be one down the road a little way. Something's wrong with my car and I'll have to call a garage. If you could give us a lift—"

"Sure!" Jeff agreed. "We can do that. Only there's not much room. Do you think you can crowd in?" The girl had stepped out of the light and the car turned toward her. "They'll take us," he said. "Come on!"

She stumbled a little as she came forward. The spike heels of her evening slippers had not been made for country roads. "You get in," the man said, taking her arm. "I'll stand on the running board."

There was room in the seat of the roadster for three. Jeff opened the door and the girl in white stepped inside. As she did so her escort drew out a package of cigarettes. "Smoke?" he asked, offering them to Jeff.

"Yes, thanks." Janet declined and so did the girl in white. There was a moment of silence. The girl who had caught Janet's ear. She looked at her curiously. Jeff struck a match and in the light of the tiny flame the faces of both strangers were clearly visible. Betty Carlyle and Van Bannister.

There was no need to ask if Betty had recognized her. Each girl eyed the other in amazement. The moment was too brief for anything else. Then the flame from the match died away and they were in darkness.

Bannister, puffing his cigarette, had closed the door of the car. "I'm all right out here if you don't hit any bumps," he said. If he had glanced at Janet he had not recognized her. "Rotten road to have a break-down on!"

He talked as they drove but Betty was silent. She drew her brief wrap about her more closely, looked straight ahead and did not speak.

BRIM FULL OF STYLE—THESE EASTER BONNETS!

Topping the mode, Easter hats take gloves in their own fabric likeness. Brown and white polka dotted silk organdy fashion the high styled sailor hat, neck ruff a nd double cuffed gloves at the left. Brown cre ribbon bands the hat and fastens the ruff. All done up in brown, to top a chiffon dress, the high-hat chapeau in the center has a peaked crown and a horsehair brim that shadows the eyes. Proudly crushed and immaculate, the white pique hat at the right has matching white pique gloves with organ pleating ruffles. Black patent leather, with white braid imposed on it, bands the hat.

even when the lights of a farm house appeared. A few minutes later they reached the house and Jeff stopped the car. Van Bannister was profuse in his thanks and offered a bill. Jeff told him to "forget it," wished them luck and drove away. "God bless those two that we came along," he told Janet. "They'd have had quite a walk if we hadn't."

Janet agreed. "Seems to me I've seen that fellow some where," Jeff went on, "but I can't place him. Petty girl, too. Well, this old car may not be so much for looks but it always takes us home!"

Janet thought of Van Bannister's big, slate-colored car. What was it he had told her it could do? Eighty miles an hour? Perhaps that was why it was lying out at the side of the road now. She thought of Betty and Van Bannister hurtling along the dark country road at break-neck speed. That was the sort of thing that gave Betty a "thrill."

It wasn't right though and it didn't look right. Why wasn't Rolf with them? Janet remembered the day Betty came to the station to see her mother off for Silver Bay. She had talked about meeting Rolf for lunch but instead it was Bannister whom she had met. Was Betty, besides being strong-willed and self-fish, a cheat?

She decided to put the whole thing out of her mind. She said suddenly, "It's funny, Jeff, but I'm hungry."

He laughed. "That's certainly a coincidence! I was thinking the same thing myself. Well, we'll stop at the next barbecue."

Fifteen minutes later he halted the car before a brightly lighted frame building. A boy in a white coat and cap brought them sandwiches and steaming cups of coffee.

"Such food!" Janet exclaimed. "I don't know when I've tasted anything so good."

Over the rim of the cup of coffee Jeff looked at her. "Still sure your mind's made up to leave Lancaster?"

She nodded. "It's the best way all around. Better for me and everyone else."

"I'll miss you." "That's nice of you. I'll miss you too, Jeff. But we'll write to each other. In a year or so you'll be running that office. Fat chance! Sometimes I think about pulling out of this town myself."

"Oh, but you mustn't! You mustn't even think about it. Why, you're getting on so well that."

"I don't know about that." "He was glancing off into the darkness. She could not see his eyes. There was a pause and then Janet said quietly, "she—hasn't changed her mind?"

"Apparently not."

After a moment he asked, "How about another sandwich?"

"No thanks. Listen, Jeff, I guess

By JULIA BLANSHARD
New York, April 9.—Hats are the highlight of the Easter mode. With the wide shoulders, your taste either goes high-hat, or else your interest centers in some kind of a printed silk, starched chiffon pique or novelty straw sailor.

The high fies the Schiaparelli circus hat and the pert new pique or taffeta versions of little forward tilting berets that look a bit like Norwegian skiing caps are to be seen everywhere. Felts, in the coachman's mode, are exceedingly good with tailored suits.

Variety is key-note, and because the glare of coming summer must be considered, many Easter hats will sport jaunty brims.

Crowns go in for more originality and novelty than they have ever known. And the materials that make Easter hats comprise everything from organdy, chiffon and horsehair braid to patent leather.

Little velvet flowers make entire dressy turbans. Satins, crepe braid, taffeta and a wide variety of silks are to be seen. And exquisitely fine felt and velvet make some charming new pieces of headgear.

One of the newest notes in hats is the way they command respect for the accessories that go with them. These gloves, scarfs, purses follow the hat's lead, in color and fabric, and make the newest accessory ensembles that will appear in the Easter parade.

Particularly chic and new is the silk organdy hat, in the new high sailor type, with gloves and a ruff to match. The organdy is brown, with white polka dots striping it. The high sailor has a brown-faced brim, and brown-stitched circ satin and stitched ribbon band it twice, emphasizing the high-crown theme, and making a bow.

The cute little fluffy ruff has brown ribbon through its center which pulls the ruff closely about the neck, in chic manner. The gloves are the newest double-cuff gauntlets, with flaring cuffs and white stitching.

Crowns Go Peaked
If you are wearing a warm-weather Easter costume, perhaps a brown chiffer which has one of the new velvet Alpine flower bouquets trimming its front neckline, there is an elegant, peaked-crown, horsehair brimmed brown crepe satin hat for you.

Its built up crown is the latest thing, its brown horsehair brim has the new wide front that dwindles to nothing in the back. It sits charmingly atop the head, rising in the back, in high-hat manner, lifting upward until the transparent brim shadows the eyes.

White Pique Smart
Should you choose a black crepe dress, with a white crepe shoulder collar, there is the last word in chic awaiting you. It is: snappy little white pique hat, with a novelty crown, little all-around brim—altogether as crisp and smart looking as the best nurses' cap.

There are white pique gloves to match, with graduated organ pleating ruffles up from the cuff to form a double ruffle on the top of the gauntlets.

Black patent leather, with white braid imposed upon it, bands the hat, making that sharp "shiny-black-and-dead-white" contrast that which there is nothing smarter this season.

I know as well as anybody how hard things are but they'll get better. I'm sure they will. Everybody gets over things that hurt them after a while.

"I suppose they do."

Suddenly Janet stirred. "Here we're supposed to be celebrating your new job!" she exclaimed, "and we're as cheerful as a pair of owls. Let's think of something lively. Start the car and I'll sing a song for you."

She did, too. As the roadster covered the road ahead she sang a verse and the chorus of a song she had learned as a little girl. It was about an Irishman who took his pig to market. Jeff laughed at it and then joined in the chorus.

"That's a good song," he said. "Did you ever hear the one about The Horse Named Bill?"

"No. How does it go?"

"Well, I'll see if I can remember—"

It was nearly midnight when she told him good night and let herself into the house. As far as Janet was concerned the episode of the broken-down car had come to an end. There was more to it, however.

Two days later Betty Carlyle arrived at her mother's home late in the morning. Betty wore a brown suit and a small brown hat with a vivid orange bow on it. She was due at a luncheon at the club at one o'clock, she said.

Betty had scarcely seated herself when she discovered that she had forgotten a book she had promised to take to Peggy Jamieson.

"I wouldn't mind," she said, "only I forgot it once before. Could Janet get it for me? I'd telephone to Marie but she isn't there. It's her afternoon off and I let her go early."

"Why not?" Mrs. Curtis agreed. "Janet can go."

Five minutes later Janet departed with a key to the apartment and instructions where to find the book. It was lying, Betty said, on a table in her bedroom. She couldn't possibly miss it.

No sooner was she out of the house than Betty snatched shut the vanity case in her hand. She slipped toward her mother. "There's something," she said. "I think I should tell you."

"What is it?"

"Well, it's about the girl Janet.

YOUR CHILDREN

SHALL THE COMING BABY BE KEPT A SECRET FROM OLDER CHILDREN

"What are you doing, Bobby?" The two ladies stopped and watched the six-year-old boy digging crooked little holes in the rose bed. "Making pansy holes. I've got pansies to plant. They're in the cellar."

"How nice! Isn't it early?" "Oh, no! I must have them all planted soon. I want flowers for my little sister, or maybe he'll be a brother."

The two ladies looked at each other. "So you're going to have a little sister or brother?" said Mrs. Brown. "How nice!"

"Mommy said she would let me do her planting. I'm helping all I can."

"Isn't she well?" "No, you see the baby presses against her heart and she can't do much but sew. I have to help lots. We all have to do what we can to help our baby."

What a Shock! The strollers gasped. This out of the mouth of a mere baby himself was too astonishing! What was his mother thinking about? But then you might know. She was one of those new young people who believed in almost brutal truth about everything. Heaven knows what all she had told this child! They changed the subject and then walked on.

They had to stop and tell the news to Mrs. Miller who was also "expecting." Mrs. Miller was on the porch swing.

"Do come up and sit down a minute," she begged. "I ought to be knitting but it's time for Johnny to be home and that's the time to put things away. He's so curious about everything. Some of these days he is going to be surprised, isn't he?"

A Different View This was something like, according to their notions. There was a long and confidential conference and much head shaking. "Mind you, he said 'our baby,'" declared one visiting lady. "You'd think that poor little tyke had to go out and earn the family bread and butter. I'll bet you he'll trot his poor little legs off from now till kingdom come. She'll see to that."

"I don't approve of it," said Mrs. Miller firmly. "My Johnny will never be made to feel that he's less important than the baby."

The days after the two arrivals unfolded the truth of the two situations. Johnny was surprised all right. He hid behind the sofa when his grandpa came downstairs and told him he had a new baby brother and didn't he want to go up now and see it. "Is that thing going to stay here?" he shouted desperately from the depths of his retreat. "I don't want it. I hate babies. I won't have it around here."

Joy or Resentment? But Bobby beheld the little helpless figure of his new brother with an emotion too deep and wonderful to express. "Gee, we'll have to take good care of him, won't we?" he said. "Look at his teeny weeny fingers! Can I hold him? Gee, ain't he cute! Is Mom's heart any better now?"

Just the difference! The attitude of older children to babies at birth often lasts through life. It is better to take them into our confidence as far as their understanding will permit. This brotherly or sisterly love finds a balance in the hero worship of the younger for those few extra years above them. At any rate the prepared child is the happiest.

EMOTIONS AFFECT TONGUE; CONDITION A HEALTH INDEX

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

The tongue is an organ which has always aroused the interest of the medical profession. Doctors of an earlier day used to pay a great deal of attention to the appearance of the tongue because of the relationship of such appearance to disturbances of the rest of the digestive tract.

Occasionally the tongue is abnormal in its construction at birth so that the condition of tongue-tie is produced. There are other cases in which that portion of the tissue holding the tongue is abnormally long permitting actual swallowing of the tongue with occasional asphyxiation.

The tongue may be suddenly inflamed from a number of different causes, such as injuries, burns, insect bites, and occasionally association with such serious infectious diseases as scarlet fever, typhoid fever or smallpox. Whenever the tongue is infected the lymph glands in the region also become infected and swollen. In serious cases death may result from such inflammation, but in most cases mild treatment tends to lead to recovery.

There are many nervous disorders or conditions in which there is pain in the tongue or burning of the tongue without any visible evidence in the neighborhood of the tongue itself. This condition sometimes occurs in locomotor ataxia, hysteria or in all sorts of nervous upsets of one type or another.

The tongue is primarily responsible for the sense of taste which is, at the same time, a composite of the sense of smell and the feel of food on the tongue. Loss of the sense of taste may result from inflammation or swelling of the tongue; it may be associated with hysteria. In the same way there may be exceeding sensitivity to tastes so that a person is constantly tasting sweet, sour, salt or bitter; and in other instances foods taste different from what they should.

In every such case it is necessary to make a most careful study of the entire patient, his surroundings and environment, and particularly his emotional condition.

LOCAL BOOTERS SPLIT EVEN IN DOUBLEHEADER

Senior Eleven Turns Back Hartford Soccer, 2-1, and Olympics Bow to North Ends, 4-2; Both Teams Give Fine Exhibit Before Good Crowd.

RESULTS

Manchester 2, Hartford 1.
North Ends 4, Olympics 2.

By OBSERVER
A fair-sized crowd assembled at Charter Oak street grounds and watched the North Ends of Hartford top the Olympics by the score of 4 to 2 and later saw the senior team reverse the position and defeat the Hartford soccer team by a 2-1 score.

Goals Are Gifts
Starting with a substitute in goal for Simmons who was late, the juniors were two goals behind inside of 25 minutes. Both of them were presents to the North Ends. The first came when the goalie advanced out of goal to pick up the ball but for some reason he stopped halfway leaving both the ball and an undefended goal to an opponent who promptly scored the opportunity.

Next Play Scores
The one goal of the game which was worked for was a beauty. Gray worked the ball along the wing beating both the halfback and fullback before crossing it for Kennedy to take the ball on the half-turn and crash it through at the corner of the upright. Previous to this the same player scored from a penalty kick and had another well-taken 12-yard shot which was splendidly saved by Threlfall who threw himself across the goal to turn the ball around the post. Threlfall performed the same feat later when Gray shot into the corner of the goal from six yards out. Both were splendid saves.

There was little combination in the North End team. Most of their play was of the kick and rush type and would have achieved little or nothing had the Olympics goalie not as well as the remainder of the team. On the Olympic side the outstanding players were Johnston, Kennedy, Austin and Gray, though the remainder were very little behind. The first named easily took the honors for the day.

Need Some Coaching
The junior backs kicked well and powerfully, especially Samuelson who can easily lift the ball over half field though the surprise in this department is Nichols who makes excellent anticipation and makes a difficult job look easy. A little more coaching in tactics and the fullbacks should not cause any more grey hairs to the management. So much for the juniors.

Local senior team players issued a special invitation to the "Observer" to come and watch them beat the soccer team. Well they accomplished what they said they would by the odd goal in three. This just about represented the difference in the teams. Hartford were superior during the first part of the first half but for the last hour of the game the locals held a slight advantage especially forward.

Hutton Scores Twice
Two goals by Hutton enhanced this player's reputation for shooting swiftly and deadly from difficult angles. His second goal was a replica of the goal scored by Kennedy in the first game with the exception that it was more powerful. It is exhilarating to see a center forward take a pass and shoot without hesitation. Not all of them reach the mark but to see the ball travel with the speed of a bullet past the upright or over the bar draws a gasp of excitement from the crowd.

Considering the game itself there was little in it to raise the crowd to any pitch of excitement. Several clever saves by Thompson in the Hartford goal and Pratt in the local goal served to imper some color to it. Combination was conspicuous by its absence. Long kicking was more or less the order of the day.

On the Hartford side Thompson was the only player who could be set apart. The remainder were a set of plodders who seemed that they could do things if they wanted but lacked the proper incentive. Hutton is one of the best center halfbacks in the state but loses his effectiveness when played as a wing halfback. Pratt, Lindsay and Fleming were outstanding on the local side. The first named is a class keeper when in the mood. The writer feels that perhaps his exhibition yesterday was in the nature of a demonstration to the junior keepers in the art of tending goal. The latter two have improved almost beyond recognition.

Meet Tomorrow Night
The local left wing usually so dangerous was in a very subdued mood yesterday. O'Neill attempted many things but he did not do them right with him and McConkey was just a little too eager. The remainder of the team performed as expected.

Both senior and junior teams will hold meetings on Tuesday night at 8:30 p. m. at the West Side grounds.

Gene Sarazen Believes Big Mistake Was Made by the Golf Committee.

New York, April 10.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen thinks the Professional Golfers Association made a big mistake when it failed to name Bill Burke to the Ryder Cup team, which closed in Hartford Saturday night. The Hartford Golf Club was entered in the tourney and hit some good scores but failed to place in the final standing.

"We couldn't ignore the others who had a far better winter season than Burke did," Sarazen added. "The team, as selected for the invasion of England this summer consists of Captain Walter Hagen, Sarazen, Ed Dudley, Danenour, Slueta, Olin Dutra, Paul Runyan, Craig Wood, Horton Smith and Leo Diegel.

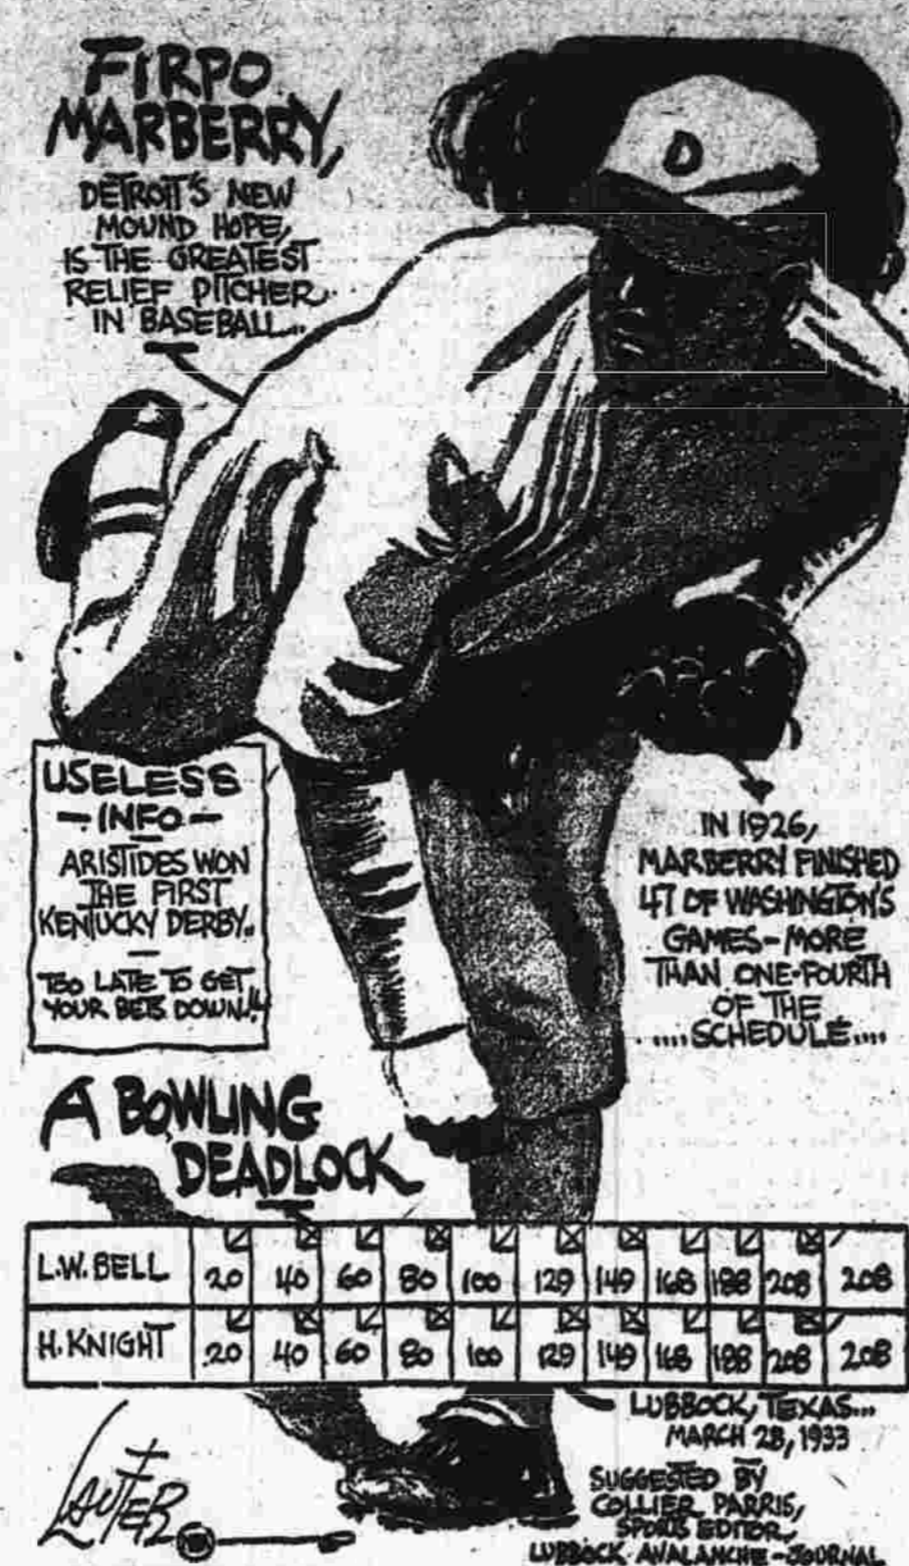

The winner of the 1933 American open, assuming he is not one of those already named, will be added to the squad so that Burke still has an outside chance of making the trip abroad.

GETZEWICH FACES BOSTON GRAPPLER

Meets Jack Washburn in Star Match on New Haven Card Wednesday.

New Haven, April 10.—Al Getzewich, Manchester mangle, and Jack Washburn, Boston bully and New Haven's Public Enemy No. 1, are slated to fight it out in the star finale match of promoter Jim Downing's mat card at the Arena here on Wednesday night, April 12. Champion Jim Browning has promised to defend his title against the winner of this bout in the arena ring in the near future.

Washburn, one of the most feared burping bullies in the game today, refused absolutely to meet the former Red Devil, now campaigning for the title under the management of Bill Lewis, still Champion Browning agreed to meet the winner of the match.

For his semi-final finish fray, Downing has had "Building" Cox of California, and Sid Westrich, Chicago Hungarian star, line up for him. Cox and Westrich seem the fans wild on the last card here with a rough-and-tumble, half-hour draw-out. Now they will battle to a finish.

Dr. Fred Meyers of Chicago will meet Jerry McEneaney, fighting Irishman from the coast, in the special, 30-minute match. The good doctor took the house by storm on the last card by extending the Red Devil to the limit.

A pair of time limit matches are on the psychology program. In one, Casey Kazanjian, arduous Armenian, collides with Mike Masurid, pleasing Pole from New York, while Ed Heivig, Canadian newcomer, faces Frank Spence of Georgia, former All-American grid star, in the other. Tickets, at a reduced, popular price, are on sale at the Arena box office. For reservation call New Haven 5-3123 or 5-3124.

BLUEFIELDS NINE MAY ENTER LEAGUE

Whether or not Manchester will be represented in the State Semi-Pro League now being formed in Hartford, will probably depend on the decision reached by the Bluefields A. C., as to the advisability of seeking membership in the league.

The Bluefields will hold a meeting tonight and the question will probably be discussed at that time.

Tommy Sipples has shown an active interest in the formation of a local team but the Savit Gens will be on the field again this year and unable to devote time to a local nine. The Recreation Centers has also decided not to sponsor a team.

One of the requirements for admission in the league is the posting of a $100 guarantee, to be paid in two installments. This requirement may prove the obstacle toward the forming of a team to represent Manchester. The Bluefields are one of the most active young teams in town and had a most successful season last year.

Whether or not Manchester will be represented in the State Semi-Pro League now being formed in Hartford, will probably depend on the decision reached by the Bluefields A. C., as to the advisability of seeking membership in the league.

SEVEN MANAGERS FIGURE THEY HAVE REAL CHANCE TO BRING HOME PENNANT

Four in National and Three in American Are Optimistic as Start of Race for Flag Approaches; What the Pilots Say.

New York, April 10.—(AP)—The enthusiasm with which league pilots approach the start of the 1939 pennant races was reflected by the fact that no less than seven managers, including four in the National and three in the American, figure they have a real chance to bring the flag winner home in front.

It's a long and rocky drive for most of the clubs, from the battle of the first base hits this Wednesday until the October struggle for the National and three in the American, figure they have a real chance to bring the flag winner home in front.

Bill Keller, sagacious leader of the St. Louis Browns is the only one willing to name the winner. He picks the Yanks to repeat in the American League. Here's the way the rival managers size up the races in statements given to the Associated Press today:

Joe McCarthy, Yankees: "We have a strong club and face the season with plenty of confidence. I think our toughest opposition will be the Senators."
Joe Cronin, Senators: "Washington is preparing to go into a more interesting race than we have had in years."
Connie Mack, Athletics: "We have a good chance to win the pennant. I like this ball club and would not trade for any other in the league."
Billy Egan, Indians: "I think Cleveland is the most improved club in the league."
Bucky Harris, Tigers: "The Tigers are stronger than at any time I have been with the club, perhaps ten or 12 games better than last year."
Bill Keller, Browns: "I am confident I have a better club and that it will finish higher but the Yanks have the best chance for the pennant."
Low Fonseca, White Sox: "If our pitching comes through, Chicago will be a first division club."
Marty McManis, Red Sox: "We will start with stronger pitching and much greater batting strength."
National League:
Charley Grimm, Cubs: "We'll repeat. The Pirates are 'too but not good enough to take the play away from the Cubs."
George Gibson, Pirates: "I dislike pennant talk but I am well satisfied. I think we will go places."
Burt Shotton, Phillies: "My team has improved sufficiently to win the pennant."
Cabby Street, Cardinals: "We do not consider any team in the league a better chance to win the pennant."
Max Carey, Dodgers: "Brooklyn finished third last year and has improved."
Bill Terry, Giants: "I still figure the Giants a first division club. We will surprise with our batting power, and if the pitching holds up, count us in the scramble."
Bill McKechnie, Braves: "The Braves have a much stronger club."
Donk Bush, Reds: "Everybody seems to think Chicago and Pittsburgh have an edge but they are not so far away and I just look about the same. It should be a good race better than last year."

Harvard faces its first league baseball campaign since 1889 with a great deal more than an outside chance to bring the championship to Cambridge. Columbia and Yale remain favorites to fight it out for the eastern intercollegiate league title but the Crimson must be counted in the running only slightly behind the two leaders as a result of the fine pitching which young Eddie Loughlin flashed at Franklin Field Saturday to turn back Penn by 3 to 1.

The Harvard schedule is such that Loughlin can pitch most of the Crimson's games, and despite his slight build, he has something on the ball. His major varsity chance prior to last Saturday was in the first Yale game last year when he lost to the Elis by 4 to 2 only because one of the blue's few hits was a homer by Albie Booth, with the bases filled.

Harvard is not yet "officially" in the league, but is expected to be by tonight. The league is the province of a $100 guarantee, to be paid in two installments. This requirement may prove the obstacle toward the forming of a team to represent Manchester. The Bluefields are one of the most active young teams in town and had a most successful season last year.

Whether or not Manchester will be represented in the State Semi-Pro League now being formed in Hartford, will probably depend on the decision reached by the Bluefields A. C., as to the advisability of seeking membership in the league.

The Bluefields will hold a meeting tonight and the question will probably be discussed at that time.

Tommy Sipples has shown an active interest in the formation of a local team but the Savit Gens will be on the field again this year and unable to devote time to a local nine. The Recreation Centers has also decided not to sponsor a team.

ENDEES TO OPPOSE ALL-STAR QUINTET

Thayer Brothers Included in Lineup of Team to Play Here Tomorrow.

The Endees, winners of the Recreation Centers cage championship, will tackle an all-star team at the School Street Rec. tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock. The game was booked because of Captain Pete Anderson's desire to learn how his team will fare in fast company.

The all-stars will include the well-known sharp-shooting Thayer Brothers of the All-Stars; Frank Strangle of the St. Mary's Lacrosse and Anderson. The Endees will have their regular lineup.

Former Champion Scholastic Miler Leads Vol Track Team

Knoxville, Tenn., April 10.—(AP)—Coach W. H. Britton of the University of Tennessee is optimistic as he watches his track team work out. It will be the best presented by the miler in many years, he says.

Three flashy runners form the nucleus of the university's varsity squad, with Chauncey Stout, a speedster, leading the pack. Stout's specialty is the mile, an event he won on a muddy track last year in 4:28 at the Southern conference meet at Atlanta. Under similar circumstances he took five places in the same event at the southeastern A. A. U. meet at Tusculum, Ala., two days ago.

His best time for the run is 4:21. Made as a high school boy over a sub-junior circuit at Madisonville, Tenn. He formerly was national high school champion in the mile event.

Then there's blonde-haired Bruce Clark, smart and well built, a sprinter and captain of the team. He covers the 100-yard dash in 16 flat and the 200 in 21.6.

Whether or not Manchester will be represented in the State Semi-Pro League now being formed in Hartford, will probably depend on the decision reached by the Bluefields A. C., as to the advisability of seeking membership in the league.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Mrs. Pennington—There! Broke my looking-glass! Now I suppose I shall have seven years' bad luck!
 Mrs. Randolph—Don't you believe it, Mrs. Pennington! A friend of mine broke hers, and she didn't have seven years' bad luck. She was killed in an automobile accident the next day.

THE COUNTERFEITER NO DOUBT FEELS THE URGE OF INFLATING THE CURRENCY, ALONG WITH THE REST OF US.

Jerry—I told my wife that I would shoot any man that had flirted with her at the seaside.

Ferry—What did she say?
 Jerry—She told me to bring a machine gun.

Having found a way to escape from a submarine, inventors may yet devise a safe means of exit from a subway.

Teacher—Are there any more questions you would like to ask about whales?

Small Northside Girl—Teacher, what has the price got to do with them?

Some people's brains are like an emergency brake. They never think to use them.

Motorist's Wife—It's scandalous to charge us $10 for towing our car only three or four miles.

Hubby—Never mind, dear, he's earning it; I've got my brakes on.

THE HEN IS THE ONLY LIVING CREATURE THAT CAN SET STILL AND PRODUCE DIVIDENDS.

Man—Does your wife play contract bridge?
 Neighbor—No—judging from the coat I think it must be toll bridge.

THE MAN WHO DOESN'T STEP OUT, IS STEPPED ON.

It used to be the custom to tie a string around your finger to remember. Now the habit seems to be to tie a rope around your neck to forget.

It is claimed that worry kills some people, but the people who ought to be killed refuse to worry.

 She—Oh, no, darling. But sometimes you DO sound so plausible.

Unsympathetic Listener—Aw, that's nothing. Do you know the Dead Sea? Well, my grandfather killed it.

The average one—
 Dresses as if she were twenty. Talks as if she were thirty. Looks as if she were forty. Hears't any more sense than if she were ten.

An English bishop received the following note from the vicar of a village in his diocese: "My Lord; I regret to inform you of the death of my wife. Can you possibly send me a substitute for the week-end?"

Wife—I notice by this article that men become bald much more than women because of the intense activity of their brains.

Hubby—Yes, and I notice that women don't raise beards because of the intense activity of their chins!

America's prime interests are faithfully represented in the Rotogravure section. Here one sees a three-inch portrait of a great intellectual and a half page illustration of a woman in silk underwear.

Mrs. Crabber (angrily)—And I hope to be able to dance on your grave some day!

Mr. Crabber—Yeah, that's fine. I'll be buried at sea!

There is nothing which will develop concentration and will power like chasing a short story through the advertising pages of a modern magazine.

BEETHOVENS GIVEN APPLAUSE, NO PRIZE

Local Singers Disappointed at Failure to Place, But Win Audience Acclaim.

With mingled emotions of disappointment and satisfaction, the Beethoven Glee Club, Manchester's outstanding singing organization, returned home early yesterday morning from Boston, where they competed in the annual contest of the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs.

The Beethovens competed in the third class, for glee clubs of over forty members. The club was the last to be heard in the contest, singing the required "Mariner's Hymn" and an optional number, Schubert's "Sanctus."

Before the contest began it was requested that the audience, composed mainly of competing clubs, refrain from applause. But when the Beethovens finished their second number the audience burst into a round of handclapping that continued for several moments.

SERMON AND SONG OPEN HOLY WEEK

Beautiful Church Services Here Palm Sunday - Cantata is Feature.

The sanctity of Palm Sunday was expressed yesterday in Manchester churches in sermon and song. The beautiful yet simple story of the advent of the Master into the Holy City through the multitude singing Hosannas and spreading palm branches and clothing in his victorious pathway, was exemplified in music and verse, at the beginning of Holy Week.

A masterful presentation of Maunder's "Olivet to Calvary" by the Emanuel Lutheran Church choir under the direction of Helge Pearson, director and organist, was one of the outstanding musical gems of the Holy Day.

The solists last evening were Samuel Smith, tenor; G. Albert Pearson and Mrs. Elsie Gustafson, soprano. Mr. Smith in his first major solo part, contributed an excellent expression to the theme of the production.

In the Catholic churches all masses were well attended. At the end of the 10:30 mass the Blessing of the Palms and distribution to the congregation took place.

In the South Methodist church a baptismal and service for reception of new members was held in the morning followed by a brief sermon by the pastor.

At Center Church special music by the Choir and a Holy Week sermon was given in the evening.
