

TRIAL OF BRITONS IN RUSSIA STARTS

Woman Accuses Six Englishmen of Being Spies—One of Them Pleads Guilty—Prisoners Guarded.

Moscow, April 12.—(AP)—W. H. MacDonald, brought out of a Russian prison where he spent five weeks in solitary confinement, pleaded guilty today when he and five other Englishmen were placed on trial charged with sabotage, bribery and espionage.

The others pleaded not guilty to an indictment whose details are based upon the testimony of a woman named Kutuzova. She said they all were spies, that they had bribed Russians for information which they sent to England, and that they had systematically damaged important Russian industrial plants.

Mac Donald, a tall, pale man with a goatee, said not a word to his colleagues, all employees of the British Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical Company, when the guards brought him into a courtroom in the big room in the Trades Union headquarters packed to capacity and guarded by soldiers with fixed bayonets.

They led him to a seat in the front row of the prisoners dock. Audrey Vishinsky, the prosecutor, called the court order and a clerk read the indictment.

The other defendants—Allan Monkhouse, Charles Nordwell, L. C. Thornton, A. W. Gregory and John Cusbury—pleaded not guilty after Mac Donald's plea was received.

Eleven Russian employees of the Metropolitan-Vickers Company, among them a woman, also are on trial.

Moscow, April 12.—(AP)—W. H. MacDonald, British employee of the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical Co. and 11 Russian employees of the company, today pleaded guilty to charges of espionage, sabotage and bribery.

Five other British employees of the company pleaded not guilty. The five other Englishmen are Allan Monkhouse, Moscow director for the Metropolitan-Vickers Company, Charles Nordwell, L. C. Thornton, A. W. Gregory and John Cusbury.

The eleven Russian employees of the company pleaded not guilty. Their trial began this morning in "October Hall," the house of the Trades Union, which was guarded closely by uniformed and bayoneted soldiers stationed inside and outside the courtroom.

"October Hall" was crowded to its capacity of approximately 500. Spectators were admitted only by card.

Four judges, one of whom is an alternate, were seated on a red-draped table on an elevated dais, back of which stood a squad of uniformed soldiers.

Closely Guarded. The prisoners were seated in a dock to the right and behind the judges, with two soldiers, with bayonets fixed, standing immediately in front of them.

Nine defense attorneys were in court, five of them representing the Englishmen.

DIRT ROADS FUND FOR REPAIRS HERE

Many Highways Here in Bad Condition—Appropriate for Home Gardens.

The Board of Selectmen at the regular meeting last night accepted the 1933 State aid "dirt roads" fund amounting to $17,000 which will be used to repair the town's roads during the next few months.

A portion of last year's fund unexpended will be used to supplement this year's outlay for patching and oiling. The condition of several of the town's roads were reported badly in need of immediate repair.

Hills Street Hearing. Tuesday, April 25 at 4 o'clock was the date set for a formal hearing on the acceptance of the layout of Hill street from Hilltown road to the East Hartford line.

The Selectmen discussed a new system of signing checks in payment for town debts each month. At least four of the Selectmen were required to sign their names on an average of 300 times each meeting night.

Home Gardens. The sum of 400 was appropriated last night by the Selectmen for home gardens this summer. The Manchester Emergency Employment Association will match the town's appropriation with a like sum, making a total of $800 to be spent for fertilizer, seeds and ploughing.

Brookfield Street Job. The monthly report of the Town Engineer J. Frank Bowen on work done on Brookfield street was given the Board. During the past month $1,384.84 was spent for the removal of 1,990 cubic yards of grading material by employees of the M. E. E. A. The total spent to date from the $5,000 appropriation allotted to the job is $2,217.04.

Due to the fact that the town ceased to supply fuel to needy families as of April 1, the matter of securing seasoned wood for use by those on the charity lists was referred to the charity committee for action.

Felling of Halls. The matter of police protection at various halls was discussed by the Board.

SON OF SENATOR KILLED BY FALL

Body of Captain Paul B. King, World War Flier, Found Below Window.

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—Captain Paul B. King, 38, a World War aviator and son of Senator William H. King of Utah, was killed instantly last night in a plunge from a window of his seventh-floor hotel room.

A Magruder MacDonald, acting coroner, withheld a certificate of death until it could be determined whether King fell or jumped to his death.

The body was found in a paved alleyway by passers-by. It was clad in pajamas.

In Good Spirits. Senator King said he was certain death was accidental. He said he had talked with his son recently and that he was in good spirits.

King was a test pilot at Langley Field, Va., until six months ago when he suffered a nervous trouble and was admitted to a sanatorium in New York. Senator King said his son was discharged two weeks ago and came here to make his home.

King was married, but his wife and 17-year old daughter were living in New York for Shaw's address at an apartment house here. Hotel attendants said King registered a week ago, but that he had been out of his room only twice since.

Shaw "Risks" Appearance In "Dread" New York

Here's George Bernard Shaw in New York—of all places! And granting interviews—of all things! With characteristic bluntness, the Irish dramatist had firmly forewarned both "ordealers" when he embarked on his world cruise. But ship news reporters enticed him on deck when he touched at Manhattan for one lecture.

U. S. MAY SAVE WORLD SAYS BERNARD SHAW

Irish Author Also Calls Our Financiers Lunatics;— Terms Our Constitution a "Charter of Anarchy."

New York, April 12.—(AP)—America, long accustomed to hear George Bernard Shaw call it a land of boobies, was a bit astonished today to find a large Shavian bouquet in its lap.

Lecturing an American audience face to face for the first time, the Irish author said last night that the United States may possibly take the lead in saving civilization from tottering into the abyss as did Babylon, Rome and other civilizations of the past.

A rain of verbal cabbages accompanied the complimentary roses which Americans are busily engaged all over this country in presenting largely on the grounds it would seek to overthrow the American government through propaganda.

"At the present time, representatives of the Moscow masters are creating dissension and dissatisfaction among our people," Robinson said, adding:

"They are violently opposed to our philosophy, and day and night are working industriously to overthrow our government.

Present Conditions. "That is the situation under present conditions. What would it be if they were officially recognized? What would recognition mean?"

"Well, in the first place they would have an elaborate Embassy located in Washington, fully staffed, entitled to many immunities, and this machinery would unquestionably be used as the central point for carrying on their admitted efforts to destroy the American republic.

"In the Soviet Embassy here, the Russian consul is a Soviet agent, and from this Embassy would emanate to all points of the United States, the vicious propaganda calculated to poison American public opinion against our own institutions.

Giving Them a Gun. "Dangerous as their activities are to our peace and welfare under present conditions, they would be infinitely worse if conducted under the official cloak of American recognition. In other words, we would be simply placing a gun in their hands with which to shoot us."

"I refuse to go into official partnership with any such concern, and I am not a little surprised that it would be seriously proposed."

Robinson contended recognition would be a "death feast" of Chief Lyon's property among three grandchildren and two brothers.

Called Jigsaw Puzzle. New York, April 12.—(AP)—George Bernard Shaw was described today "as the jigsaw puzzle of the age" by his confidant and biographer, Dr. Archibald Henderson of the University of North Carolina.

"He is such a fast worker that he never gives us a chance to fit the curious looking pieces together," said the author of "Bernard Shaw, Playboy and Prophet," who came to New York for Shaw's address at the Metropolitan. He gets the jump on us at the very start;

EXISTING WARS IN SO. AMERICA ARE DEPLORED

President Tells Pan-American Union That Present Conflicts Constitute a "Backward Step."

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—Existing wars in South America were condemned today by President Roosevelt as a "backward step," in a speech commemorating Pan American Day.

The President took the occasion to propose that the American government initiate individual steps promptly to "abolish all unnecessary and artificial barriers and restrictions which now hamper the healthy flow of trade between the peoples of the American republics."

Addressing a special session of the governing board of the Pan American Union assembled in its beautiful building a few blocks from the White House, Mr. Roosevelt extolled the spirit of unity among the American republics.

"In this spirit of mutual understanding and of co-operation on this continent," he said, "you and I can not fail to be disturbed by any armed strife between neighbors."

"A Backward Step." "I do not hesitate to say to you, the distinguished members of the governing board of the Pan American Union, that I regard existing conflicts between four of our sister republics as a backward step."

Although he did not mention specifically the countries now engaged in hostilities, the Latin American diplomats understood he referred to the undeclared war in the Canal zone between Haiti and Paragway, which has taken an appalling toll of life, and hostilities between Peru and Colombia over possession of the Amazon port of Leticia.

The latter amounts to an undeclared war, both countries having severed relations.

Peace Plans Fail. The United States has attempted vainly, along with the League of Nations, and the other American Republics, to find acceptable peace formulae in both instances.

"Our Americanism and mine must be a structure built of confidence, cemented by a sympathy and fraternal feeling."

"It finds its source and being in the hearts of men and dwells in the temple of the intellect.

"We all of us have peculiar problems of our own, but the interest of our citizens must, in each instance, come first.

"But it is equally true that it is of vital importance to every nation of this continent that the American government individually, take without further delay, such action as may be possible to abolish all unnecessary and artificial barriers and restrictions which now hamper the healthy flow of trade between the peoples of the American republics."

The President also joined in tribute to Francisco de Miranda whose bust was presented today to the Pan-American Union by Venezuela.

This is one of the first speeches made by the President since inauguration day and the first to deal directly with Pan-American relations.

Text of Speech. His text follows: I rejoice in this opportunity to participate in the celebration of "Pan-American Day" and to extend on behalf of the people of the United States a fraternal greeting to our sister American republics.

The celebration of "Pan-American Day" in this building, dedicated to good will and co-operation exemplifies a unity of thought and purpose among the peoples of this hemisphere. It is a manifestation of the common bond of mutual helpfulness, sympathetic understanding.

There is inspiration in the thought that on this day the attention of the citizens of the 21 republics of America is focused on the common ties—historical, cultural, economic and social—which bind them to one another.

Common Ideals. Common ideals and a community of interest, together with a spirit of co-operation have led to the realization that the well being of one nation depends in large measure upon the well being of its neighbors. It is upon these foundations that we build.

LIQUOR CONTROL PLAN IN STATE IS UNDECIDED

U. S. Army Top Heavy Says Major Hagood

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—Major General Johnson Hagood told the House military committee today the War Department was so "top heavy" that "the shock of war would destroy it" and then submitted a reorganization plan he said was designed to save $50,000,000 annually.

"The War Department has always collapsed at the outbreak of every war and the present organization will collapse at the outbreak of the next war because it is too top-heavy, contains too many conflicting agencies, has too much divided responsibility," Hagood said.

"It has become so complicated that an archangel right out of Heaven could not operate it."

He presented a detailed plan for reorganizing the department, and abolishing many offices. Hagood said it was similar to a plan he presented to President Hoover at the President's request and about which "nothing was done."

Hagood commands the Seventh Corps Area with headquarters at Omaha, Neb. He came in response to a committee subpoena and opened his testimony by stating he was "in an embarrassing position."

"I am a member of the executive branch of the government and I owe my loyalty to that branch," Hagood said. "I came here with the understanding that I was to speak to an agency appointed by the President for that purpose. I now find that such is not the case."

Chairman McSwain said it was not intended to get anybody's approval for the committee's action and that Secretary Dern himself would be a witness later.

Hagood said he was willing to testify "as a drafted man" and McSwain assured him "we'll have the understanding that you are not rocking the boat."

"What have you to fear from testifying?" asked Thomason (D. Texas).

"Nothing at all," Hagood replied.

Hartford, April 12.—(AP)—With less than two weeks left before the sale of 3.2 per cent beer and wine in Connecticut becomes automatic, legal, the judiciary committee of the Legislature was still undecided today as to what liquor control plan it will recommend for the state.

Under an emergency act passed last week, sal. of beer and wine recently legalized by Congress will become legal April 25 irrespective of whether or not regulatory legislation is enacted by that time.

Members of the judiciary committee would not predict when a report on a control measure would be ready for presentation to the General Assembly. The committee spent much time yesterday afternoon on a consideration of the problem and at the conclusion of a long executive session indicated no decision had been reached.

Separate Control. A bill for separate control of beer and wine has been drawn up by a sub-committee, but it is understood this measure was laid aside temporarily during yesterday's session. Instead the committee concentrated its attention on the matter of the Buckley commission bill calling for a state control commission of three men which would be appointed by the governor.

Meanwhile Governor Cross received a delegation of women representing parent teachers associations and clubs of the state and reiterated his stand for direct state control over liquor traffic as against return to the county commission control system which prevailed before prohibition.

Governor's Charge. The governor charged the Republican Party was in control of persons not elected to public office and asserted three Democratic Senators were guided by the wishes of the Buckley commission bill calling for a state control commission of three men which would be appointed by the governor.

While uncertainty surrounded the question of legislation for a state commission to act on the proposed amendment repealing the 18th Amendment. This bill was signed by the governor yesterday. Under the measure, the convention of 1933 consist of fifty delegates, 15 elected from each of the 35 senatorial districts.

The governor is empowered to call a special election not less than 30 nor more than 60 days after the adjournment of the present General Assembly. The governor will also set the date for the convention.

Governor's Criticism. Hartford, April 12.—(AP)—A statement sharply criticized a plan to put the control of liquor in local city and town hands, which, it was reported, has been considered by the judiciary committee, was issued today by Governor Wilbur L. Cross.

The sub-committee has revealed that a bill for the control of beer and wine as separate from the consideration of harder liquor was recommended. It was further reported yesterday that an although the new bill of the sub-committee denied that involved placing the licensing power in the hands of local officials.

The governor taking cognizance today of reports of a plan in which he said, "the mayor, the warden, or the selectman who will have the authority to issue or control the issuance of permits," described the plan as "the worst possible solution of the problem."

The governor also said he would demand a public hearing if the judiciary committee recommended a separate beer bill.

Senator Bergin, majority leader of the Senate and chairman of the judiciary committee, said the minority on the committee would likewise demand a public hearing on a separate bill if reported, but asked the probable date of such a hearing, adding that "we don't even know yet if such a bill will be drawn up."

"Both parties," he said, "should take a big view of this matter. Any bill should be given a public hearing."

Bishop's Opinion. Bishop John J. Nilan of the Hartford diocese added his voice today to those raised in protest at the possible substitution of county commission control for state control of the liquor traffic. His stand was announced by Mgr. William J. Flynn.

Bishop Nilan has expressed his unqualified approval of the principle of state control of the liquor traffic. Mgr. Flynn said, "He views this whole matter as a matter of principle."

HARTFORD COUNTY JAIL FOUND ORDERLY, CLEAN

Herald Reporter Making Close Inspection Discovers No Basis for Attack by a Hartford Minister.

By ARCHIE KELPATRICK. For the first time in the history of the Hartford County Jail, at least within the memory of Sheriff Edward Dewey of Hartford County, a representative of the press of Hartford County inspected the jail's street institution yesterday.

The visit was induced in a measure by the statement attributed to Rev. John Milton Phillips, pastor of the Center church, Hartford, who branded the jail as a "misérable" and a "disgraceful place where we lock up men and women."

Rev. Mr. Phillips further stated at a meeting of the church women's association last Friday afternoon that he wished there was something that compelled the Christian people to see the institution they set up. It is a place of misery to go down to the Seams street jail and talk religion to those men," he said, "when everything I am trying to teach is denied by the surroundings." He was further quoted as saying that more of these men would come out with their manhood regained.

First Press Inspection. Standing on the premises that conditions in the Hartford County jail must be in a "terrible state to warrant as harsh a branding from such an intellectual of the Christian church as Rev. Phillips, the Herald sought the tour in order to ascertain the facts in the case. Much to our surprise, we were informed by Sheriff Dewey that we were the first of the press to exhibit interest enough in the matter to seek an insight into the workings of the County institution from within.

Permission was granted by County Sheriff Edward Dewey who graciously conducted the writer through the institution. It was a gray afternoon; the air was cool, yet the warmth of the reception promised something not akin to felonies, criminal acts or the like. Opening into the cell block from the prison office, a view of the entire main cell-block could be seen extending down the wide corridor. Above the block of cells, light streamed through the ceiling windows, casting elongated shadows on the clean, painted, concrete floor.

Sheriff's Wife Matron. The first visit on the tour was made to the women's ward. Here Mrs. Dewey, matron of the women's section of the jail, showed the clean, neat cells where the women prisoners spend their not-too-busy days while waiting for higher court action or for their sentences. There were thirteen women busily engaged in light tasks along the end of the corridor at the time, all of whom were neatly dressed. In each cell was a spotlessly clean cot, small stool, and personal belongings arranged on a small table in the corner of the cell.

The thirteen women sat in the sunlight and worked at a light task as the Herald reporter inspected the cells, the store-rooms filled with linen and clothing, the toilet, the bath room, all without finding any "miserable conditions" of which the Center church pastor spoke. True, the women's section, (Continued on Page Two)

Mrs. Percy Robinson, Passenger in Taxi, Injured in Right of Way Accident.

Two persons were admitted to the Memorial hospital, one seriously injured, at noon today as the result of an accident on Center street, involving two automobiles and a truck. Those admitted were Mrs. Percy Robinson of 9 Griswold street and Richard Gates of 138 North Elm street, the former suffering from a crushed chest, possible fracture of ribs and injury to her back. Gates has a strained back and possible fracture of bones in his back.

How It Happened. The accident occurred shortly before 12 o'clock, opposite the home of Holger Bach, local builder, about 50 yards from the bottom of Pine street. A truck driven by Ernest Morin of Clinton street was proceeding east on Center street and was about to turn into a private driveway on the north side. As Morin signaled for the turn, he stopped his truck to allow a Locomobile sedan driven by Julian Burke of West Hartford to pass by. Burke, traveling west and evidently thinking the truck would not swing far to the south side of the road and struck

HOUSE REFUSES BRIDGEPORT PLEA

Rejects Plan to Abolish Position of One Prosecutor by 139-64 Vote.

Hartford, April 12.—(AP)—The House today refused to abolish the position of one of Bridgeport's three prosecutors in its City Court, rejecting the plea of the city's representatives that the move was one designated for economy. On a rising vote the bill was rejected 139 to 64, with many Republicans voting with the Democrats or refusing to vote either way.

Rep. O. A. H. Dannenberg moved that the unfavorable committee report on the bill be tabled but the motion was defeated. Minority Leader John Markham then pleaded for rejection of the report, urging the need of curtailment in Bridgeport's payroll.

Majority Leader Raymond E. Baldwin replied that one judgeship that in the Juvenile Court, had already been abolished and that another was not needed. The defeat of the bill followed.

Bills Favored. The claims committee reported favorably on two bills granting nearly $40,000 to Hadden and East Haven for money spent in transportation of high school pupils. The bills were suspended and both bills passed. Hadden is granted $28,784

ONLY FEW SERVICES HERE GOOD FRIDAY

Observance in Manchester Not to Be Extensive— Stores to Remain Open.

Good Friday—a day of fasting and prayer on the anniversary of the crucifixion of Christ—will be only partly observed in Manchester, with services in virtually all local churches, and the closing of schools, libraries, banks, municipal offices and a scattering of business offices. Although Good Friday is a legal holiday in Connecticut, stores, as usual, will remain open all day.

Two religious services are scheduled for Good Friday, the annual Sunrise service of the Epworth League of the South Methodist church at Sunset Hill at 5 o'clock in the morning, to which the Young People's Federation of Manchester has been invited, and the three-hour service of the Seven Last Words of Christ, to be held at St. Mary's Episcopal church at 12 o'clock, in which several local churches will participate. Tomorrow night—Maundy Thursday—many of the churches have been holding almost daily services since Palm Sunday which will be climaxed with Easter services next Sunday.

Schools to Close
All local schools will be closed Friday, as will libraries, banks and offices at the town hall. Stores will remain open all day. The State Trade School will close all day Friday and also Saturday, reopening Monday morning.

Only one sports attraction is slated—a soccer game between the local Olympic eleven and Bloomfield at the Charter Oak street field at 2:45 o'clock.

Last year more than 125 young people attended the Sunrise service and more are expected this year. Those planning to attend should meet at the church at 7:45 o'clock. Refreshments will be served by the Epworth League, the committee consisting of Ethel Lyttle, Marjorie Crockett, Thomas Cordner and Robert Burr.

The devotional program will be as follows: prelude by Salvation Army quartet "Doxology" followed by singing of "Doxology" in unison, and a hymn "Fairest Lord Jesus." Responsive reading and prayer by Herman Johnson, scripture reading and hymn "The Old Rugged Cross." Gladys Harrison will be the speaker, after which a hymn will be sung "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" followed by the benediction.

Services Speakers
The speakers at the three-hour service will be as follows: Rev. J. Stuart Neill, St. Mary's; Rev. Watson Woodruff, Center Congregational; Rev. Marvin S. Stocking, North Methodist; Rev. K. E. Erickson, Emanuel Lutheran; Rev. L. Theron French, North Methodist; and Rev. Neill. An offering will be lifted for the Memorial hospital. ### AMPLIFYING SYSTEM FOR HOSPITAL DANCE

Loud Speakers to Aid in Calling Old Fashioned Dance Numbers at Armory.

Potterton and Krahe have volunteered to install their public address system at the Hospital "bam" dance to be held at the State Armory, Wednesday evening, April 19. This amplifying system contributed much to the success of the Old Timers' Basketball dance early in the season and more recently to the spring opening of the Manchester merchants. In a large hall like that at the Armory it is sometimes difficult to hear dance calls, and as the program will include a number of the old-time dance sets, the loud speaker will make the affair more enjoyable and prevent confusion.

The committee in charge of the hospital frolic is made up of nurses and friends. They are much grati-

Charles Burke's orchestra will play for the old-fashioned dances and Al Behrend's Country club orchestra for the modern numbers. Carl Wigand will be the singing announcer. Tickets are for sale at the hospital and by members of both committees.

BUCKINGHAM IMPROVES ITS SCHOOL GROUNDS

Parent-Teacher Association Told of Work Done at Meeting Last Night.

The Buckingham Parent-Teacher association held its monthly meeting last night at the school. During the business session a brief report was made of the work of improving the school grounds, under the direction of the Glastonbury Unemployment Bureau. About one acre of ground has been graded, necessitating the removal of 3,000 tons of rock. A new driveway has been laid out, parking space provided for and grass seed is being sown.

The guest speaker for the evening, Russell Lund of Glastonbury chose for his subject "Improving the School Grounds." He commented on the great improvement made on the grounds at the Buckingham school and suggested various other ways of beautifying the site still further, with ornamental trees and shrubs.

Francis P. Knox, superintendent of the Glastonbury public schools upon request discussed the question of a possible transfer of seventh and eighth grade pupils from the school in Buckingham to the Glastonbury academy.

Two piano numbers played by Doris Tryon and tap dances by Grace and Elmer Larsen furnished the entertainment of the evening. During the social hour which fol-

END LECTURE SERIES ON INTERIOR DECORATING

Talks Given at Y. M. C. A. by Miss Grenier Prove Interesting and Educational.

Miss Adeline Grenier of the Gateway Shop gave the last of a series of talks on Interior Decoration yesterday afternoon at the "Y." The former talks have been on "Art in Everyday Life," "Period Furniture," "Pottery," and this talk was on "Glass and Decorative Accessories." Miss Grenier stressed the point that pictures should be chosen for their artistic value and for the purpose for which you wish to use them.

She spoke of the history of glass, starting with the Venetian and glassing of the stories which have come down to us about the making of this beautiful glass. After that she mentioned the Bohemian glass, English, and then the glass made in this country. A description of a glass factory completed the story of glass before Miss Grenier went on to show the samples which she had brought with her of the various types of glass which she had mentioned in her talk. She showed that beautiful glass in an art and that beautiful things are being reproduced in the more inexpensive glass which is still beautiful in design if not in quality.

These talks which Miss Grenier has given to the women at the meetings of the Homemakers' Group have been educational and inspiring. Miss Grenier's hope was that her talks might open up new fields in which the women would find an interest and go on to read and study in these fields.

The Women's Division is very grateful to Miss Grenier for coming to the local "Y" and giving these talks, and it is hoped that they will be able to have her come back for a series of talks next year.

MODERN HOME NEWS

Conducted for this newspaper in the interest of its women readers by recognized authorities on all phases of home making

Edited by—FLORENCE BROBECK

Mrs. Crabtree Answers Weekly Recipe Requests

Dear Friends in Manchester:

To the bride who asked for a recipe for soda biscuits, my first reply is "Get a good cook book!" I'm glad to print any recipe here, but the soda biscuit is such a simple variation of the baking powder biscuit recipe that I grudge the space to print it; but here it is. In your best baking powder biscuit recipe, use sour milk or buttermilk for the liquid, and instead of all baking powder use one-half teaspoon of soda. Add one-half teaspoon of baking powder. Mix according to your directions, and bake as for any biscuit.

Russian Beet Soup

This recipe comes from a famous Russian cookbook and is the authentic procedure for the genuine sour beet soup. Grind three cups cooked beetroot through the finest knives of the meat chopper, to extract the juice; one cup "soufflet" (explained below); two pounds of beef; one roasting or boiling chicken; one pound rib of mutton; four large cooked beetroot; three carrots; three stalks celery; one small head cabbage; four large potatoes; two tomatoes; one fourth pound salt pork; one tablespoon flour; one egg yolk; one onion; one-half cup sour cream.

The delicious sour flavor comes mostly from the soufflet, which the Russian housewife makes in large quantities and keeps on hand, usually in a wooden keg, in the cellar. For our American kitchens and the simplified version of Borstch make a small quantity as follows: One pound and a half of dry hickory, with one pound of brown sugar, with one pound of molasses poured over it; one cup of water and one fourth cup of vinegar previously softened in water.

Keep the bowl in the kitchen or any warm place until fermentation begins. When fermented (and sour) use. After fermentation begins, keep in a cool place, adding cold water for any removed; it will keep for several months.

From the list of ingredients above, mix the three cups beet root juice and one cup of soufflet and mix with three quarts water, adding four teaspoons salt; put into this same saucepan the beef and chicken and cover cooking slowly until the chicken is tender. Remove the scum and the chicken, leaving the beef in the pan. Add one whole beetroot, and three chopped beetroots, the chopped carrots, celery and three sprigs of parsley. Continue cooking, and when the vegetables are almost tender, add the cabbage cut into six or eight pieces, the four potatoes peeled and cut into pieces. Continue cooking.

Cut the salt pork into small pieces, add the flour, onion and parsley leaves chopped fine, run through the finest knives of the meat grinder, then mash in the wooden chopping bowl until smooth. Put into the cooking soup, stirring and mixing, and continue boiling. When the cabbage and potatoes are tender add the two fresh tomatoes cut into small pieces. Continue simmering.

When ready to serve, put into a large soup tureen one egg yolk and one half cup sour cream beaten a little together. Add the hot Borstch gradually, stirring constantly. Cut the fowl and mutton quickly and add to the tureen. Serve from the tureen into soup plates, with a spoonful of sour cream on each. The Russians do not add the beef to the tureen, only the mutton and chicken, using the beef for "the servants' table." This of course, in the day when there were rich Russians and servants' tables!

Italian Spaghetti

While we're discussing foreign cookery I shall give you a genuine Italian spaghetti recipe, for which a number of requests came in during the Cooking School.

If your grocer or an Italian food merchant in the community carries Tomato Paste, be sure to buy some for this recipe. If the Paste is not available, make a tomato sauce by this recipe: chop fine one quarter of an onion; a piece of celery; a small bunch of parsley; slice seven or eight tomatoes, fresh or canned; add salt, pepper and a little celery salt. Put all of these together in a saucepan with four tablespoons of good olive-oil. Stir occasionally, and when it becomes as thick as cream, strain.

Cook three-fourths of a pound of spaghetti in two quarts of salted water, for fifteen minutes of lively boiling. Drain, rinse quickly under cold water faucet. Then dress with the following meat sauce, in a hot frying pan, stirring a few minutes, then sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese, mix again, and serve.

The meat sauce: chop very fine a strip of ham fat, put into a frying pan with a few slices of onion, one celery stalk chopped and some chopped parsley. Cook a few minutes until the fat is dark. Add two tablespoons of the above tomato sauce, boil together for fifteen minutes.

Italian cooks often use the tomato sauce alone, heating the spaghetti in it in the frying pan, and adding the Parmesan cheese to it. Others make both sauces, the meat and tomato, using the meat sauce with the small amount of tomato sauce or tomato paste to give color and flavor.

These sauces are delicious on rice, macaroni and noodles as well. If dry Parmesan cheese is not available, use any strong, dry cheese.

Butterscotch Rolls

Two yeast cakes; one cup milk; one fourth cup sugar; one fourth cup shortening; two eggs; one teaspoon salt; four and one half cups sifted flour. Scald the milk and when almost cool, add the yeast cakes and dissolve them in it; add the melted shortening, sugar, salt and eggs well beaten together. Then stir in the flour and mix well to a dough. Turn out on a lightly oiled board and knead well.

Set to rise and when light, at least double in bulk, turn it down in its bowl; let rise again and work down again. Turn out again on lightly floured board. Shape in small rolls, lay on baking sheet rubbed with shortening. Let rise two hours or until very light. Bake in a hot oven till delicately brown. This is about fifteen minutes as a rule.

Mayo Ryan Dead

Port Chester, N. Y., April 12 — (AP)—Mayor John W. Ryan died today of a blood infection which set in after an operation last week for a cyst on his neck. He was 41 years old.

Ryan was elected mayor by an overwhelming vote in 1931. Because of his illness the village board appointed William Bamister as acting mayor two days ago and he will continue in that capacity until an election is held.

HERE ARE DESSERTS FOR YOUNG CHILD

Youngster's Meal Sometimes Spoiled By Sight of Rich Desserts On Table.

With candy and heavy sweets absolutely forbidden by the strict dietician, there remain only the simple desserts, which may be offered to the very young child. His first meals at the family table are sometimes made more difficult by the presence of rich dishes and especially the heavy dessert planned for the grown-ups. But his luncheon, which may be taken at his own small table, or alone with his mother, is more peaceful, for at this occasion the menu is planned for him, and he should be made to realize this. The same simple desserts included in his luncheon should be offered at the family dinner table, occasionally serving them to the grown-ups as well.

Among the favorites which are nourishing, and can be attractive as well is:

Apple Tapioca.

Use three fourths cup pear or minute tapioca; two and one half cups boiling water; one half teaspoon salt; seven sour apples; one half cup sugar. Soak the tapioca one hour in cold water to cover, then drain. Add the boiling water and salt, cook in a double boiler until transparent. Arrange cored and pared apples in a buttered baking dish. Pour the sugar on the apples, pour over this the tapioca, and bake in a moderate oven until the apples are soft. Serve with vanilla sauce. Minute tapioca requires no soaking. This amount will serve five or six. The child's serving should be in an attractive, bright colored bowl.

Baked Bananas.

This is another recommended dessert for young children. Remove the skins from six bananas and cut in halves lengthwise, and lay in a baking dish rubbed with shortening. Mix two tablespoons melted butter, one third cup sugar and two tablespoons lemon juice. Baste the bananas with one half the mixture. Bake twenty minutes in a slow oven, basting during the baking with the remainder of the mixture. Serve from the baking dish.

Creamed Rice With Dates.

Four cups milk, one half cup rice, one half teaspoon salt, one third cup sugar, one cup dates, stoned and chopped. Wash the rice, mix ingredients and pour into a pudding dish rubbed with shortening. Bake three hours in a slow oven, stirring three or four times during the first half hour to prevent the rice from settling. Raisins can be used in place of the dates. One beaten egg may be added to the milk if desired. This gives a good yellow color.

Lemon Gelatine.

Two tablespoons granulated gelatine; one half cup cold water; two and one half cups boiling water; one cup sugar; one half cup lemon juice. Soak gelatine in the cold water five minutes, add this to the boiling water (off the flame) and stir until dissolved, add sugar, still until dissolved, add lemon juice and strain into a mold or individual molds. These should be dipped into cold water and shaken, or rubbed inside with salad oil. Metal molds are usually best, and most cooks prefer water to the oil.

Small pieces of skinned and seeded oranges, or halves of grapes, or other fruit may be placed in the mold before the gelatine is poured in. Let cool, then chill in refrigerator. Unmold, and serve on pretty little plates for the children, giving them ginger cookies in addition. Adult servings of this gelatine may be dressed with orange sauce. The amount makes enough for six small molds, or one large mold of six servings.

Orange Jelly.

Two tablespoon granulated gelatine; one fourth cup cold water; one and three fourths cups boiling water; one cup sugar; one and three-fourths cup of orange juice; one fourth cup lemon juice. Follow directions for lemon jelly. Use small sections of skinned and seeded oranges to decorate the mold before pouring the jelly. Serve with plain chocolate cookies.

Other Dessert Suggestions.

Plain sponge cake with vanilla ice cream is a popular combination with most children, and one which is nourishing as well. Also all forms of custard and floating island, and small cup cakes having raisins or currants in them, make another good combination. The sherbets, especially orange and pineapple are approved desserts for young children; prune whip and apricot whip; stewed fruit if attractively served in small and colorful dishes will be welcome as a rule; ginger-bread with fruit sauce; baked fruit; fresh fruit.

All of the above are nutritious. Their popularity with the child depends on how attractively they are served, and this calls for special dessert dishes in bright colored glass or china dishes especially designed for the young child and having neither tall, awkward stems or fragile handles. These dishes should be served in at the family table as well as when he lunches alone at his own small table.

EIGHT DIE IN CRASHES

Bordeaux, France, April 12. — (AP)—Eight persons were killed today in two airplane accidents.

Five Naval petty officers died when a Navy seaplane fell into a lake near Berre during a night flight. Three civilians were killed when a plane crashed and burned in the forest near Seignosse. The pilot landed safely with a parachute.

JAPANESE REPORT CHINESE FLEEING

Air Scouts Say Troops Are in Panicky Retreat in the Lwan Valley.

Changchun, Manchuria, April 12. — (AP)—Japanese air scouts reported Chinese troops were in widespread panicky retreat throughout the Lwan river valley after being driven today from Lengkiow, their last Great Wall stronghold on the South Jehol border.

Maj. Gen. Yoshiaki Takata's troops were pursuing remnants of General Chang Chen's army in the direction of Kienchanying in North China proper. The Chinese were said to have left several hundred dead on Lengkiow hills in addition to many guns, machine guns and quantities of munitions.

Air scouts also reported that Chinese troops in the Taitowying and Haiyang districts were retreating confusedly southwestward, some of the Chinese groups apparently fighting compartments. An American mission is at Taitowying, and Haiyang, farther eastward, is only a few miles north of Chinwangtao, the Yellow Sea port.

Japanese reports from Shanhai-kwan said Gen. Ting Chiang's Manchukuo volunteer army was advancing around Chinwangtao again today.

Japanese dispatches which were denied by Chinese said General Takata had captured the town of Kienchanying after bitter fighting and that General Hattori had raised the Japanese flag over Sahochiao. Chinese troops were reported to have fallen back from the town of Taitawling in a general retreat east of the Lwan.

There were sixteen of the officers and members of Wapping Grange who motored to Storrs College last Monday evening where they attended a regular meeting of Mansfield Grange. The officers of Wapping Grange initiated a class of eleven new members in the first degree and the ladies degree team of Good Will Grange did the work in the second degree. There were nearly 100 Patrons present. Refreshments were served by Mansfield Grange.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hills and family of Willimantic spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hills, and Wilbur Hills who has been staying with his grandparents for several weeks returned to his home where he will spend the school vacation.

In response to an invitation of Columbia Grange to visit them this evening for Neighbors Night, Wapping Grange is planning to go in Raymond W. Belcher's school bus.

Everett A. Buckland who has been in the Manchester Memorial hospital about six weeks, returned to his home here on Monday afternoon.

Wapping Federated church has been invited to unite with the First Congregational church of South Windsor for a Communion service next Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. There is to be special music.

Mrs. Mary V. Ackley, widow of Rev. Joseph E. Ackley, underwent a major operation at a hospital in Boston, Mass., last Friday.

The musical which was held at the First Congregational church Sunday evening, was well attended, and it was one of the finest evenings South Windsor has ever enjoyed. Much credit is due to Mrs. Robert Risley, Mrs. Clifford Klaus, Louis Main and Mr. Case, who so efficiently rendered a very classical program which was appreciated and enjoyed by all present.

JUNIOR TRAFFIC SQUAD CAUSES MUCH COMMENT

Would Form High School Group Provided With Uniforms for School Traffic.

The advisability of the proposed "Junior Traffic Squad" to regulate the crossing of streets by the school children, was seriously questioned last evening by many of the prominent citizens of the community. Alderman Francis B. Cratty, chairman of the police committee, came forward with the statement that it was on his initiative and not the local police that brought this plan up for consideration.

Several points are not yet decided and many people were first considering it just another fad but after serious consideration last evening the merits of the proposed plan were brought forward. The fear that school children would be injured in crossing Park street or about the center of the city was the prime motive of Alderman Francis B. Cratty for considering the plan. It is being sponsored by the American Legion throughout the country. The most serious point to be yet decided is the necessity of a Juvenile Court for violation of the traffic regulations by the school children. This is considered just as necessary as the uniformed junior traffic officers.

Mayor Albert E. Waite, Alderman Francis Cratty and Superintendent of Schools Herbert O. Clough have been studying the matter. At the present time the plans thus far formulated will require a group of Rockville High School students, selected for their exceptional qualifications by Principal Philip M. Howe of the Rockville High School. The Rockville High School is the school with over 600 students that has necessitated the traffic crossing regulations. Practically all the other schools are located on side streets safe from traffic.

The matter is being studied by a committee from Stanley Loboz Post No. 14, American Legion, consisting of First Selectman Francis J. Frichard, Roy Sanford and George N. Brigham. A plan to put the proposed "Junior Traffic Squad" into operation is now being formulated with the hope of having everything ready by the first of the cross walks adjoining the schools have been marked off and it is to be requested that all school children use the new crosswalks.

The matter of purchasing uniforms and giving the members of the "Junior Traffic Squad" special instruction on traffic duty is expected to come up before the next meeting of the Common Council.

Whether the suggestion of having a Hartford traffic officer come to Rockville for a few times to train the squad has not been definitely decided. The Rockville police are very eager to help the traffic situation and when appropriations are again made it is the hope of many that a special fund may be secured for training the local police or at least sending them to the Hartford Police School for at least a month. This would mean but a small expense.

Common Council Session

One of the shortest meetings of the year was held last evening by the Board of Common Council with Mayor Albert E. Waite absent due to his health. Alderman Roger J. Murphy, president of the council, presided, and nothing but routine matters came up for action during the meeting which lasted less than half an hour.

The proposed plan for the "Clean Up" of the city, presented by Alderman Kerwin E. Little, chairman of the Public Works Committee, was the important matter of the evening. Plans were presented for a thorough clean-up of the tin cans and rubbish on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 18 and 19, at which time the city will furnish trucks to pick up the rubbish if placed on the curb.

The question of asking parties, living in other communities and owning Rockville property, to assist in the clean-up was brought up for discussion. The chairman went so far as suggesting that they might be forced to clean up if necessary. One of the parties mentioned was the Connecticut Company which owned land in the eastern part of the city where the trolley lines formerly operated. The land adjoins city streets and has since grown up with rubbish. The matter is to be taken up with General Manager E. J. Bennett at New Haven immediately.

The following petitions were granted during the meeting: M. J. Webster for permission to erect a one and one-half story residence on King street, 28 by 39 feet; Frank Klecak granted permission to erect an addition 4 by 6 feet at the rear of 117 Grand street; Emil R. J. Royal, permission granted to erect an outside stairway at 47 Hammeid street; Raymond E. Hunt, permission granted to erect a garage 20 by 24 feet on Webster street.

School Nurse Makes Report

Miss Margaret E. Dornheim, school nurse of the city of Rockville and town of Vernon presented an interesting report last evening of her activities during the month of March, which was read at the council meeting as follows:

"During March a total of 950 children were inspected, forty-nine were given first aid, 37 health talks were given and thirty children were excluded from school for various reasons. Twenty-two children have had their teeth cared for by their dentists and eighteen others are under treatment at the present time. Dental clinics have been held in some of the outside schools. They are sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association of Vernon. Children were accompanied to the dentists and doctors on several occasions. Milk was continued as usual and over 2,000 bottles of fresh milk was given during the month.

Margaret E. Dornheim, School Nurse."

Await New Chimes at Church

The residents of Rockville are awaiting the installation of the chimes which are to be installed at the Union Congregational Church in place of the bell which has been a landmark for many years. The hope of having the new chimes in operation by Easter has been abandoned due to the fact that considerable structural steel work is necessary.

The old church bell which is close to 100 years old has been removed by the Roger Sherman Transfer Company of Hartford. The bell was removed by the same crane and trucks which removed the big $100,000 distillery in Rockville last November. With the same workmen in charge unusual interest was shown by the residents who witnessed the work at both places.

On April 3, 1888, the building of the Second Church was destroyed by fire. About the same time the town of Vernon acquired the site of the First Church for a town hall, where the Memorial Building now stands. The First and Second Societies finally united and the Union Congregational Church was formed. The Ecclesiastical Society after much consideration selected the present site on July 24, 1888, and on September 5, 1890, the present building was erected. The bell was taken from the old First Church and placed in the belfry and it remained there for a period of 42 years, or until this week. Considering the time it remained in the First Church, the historic bell's history can be traced close to 100 years.

A fund of $13,000 has been made available by Ellen O'Neill for the chimes as a perpetual memorial to James F. and Eliza S. Fitton. The new chimes will be electric and automatically operated.

CONGREGATIONAL WOMEN TO GATHER IN NORWICH

Plans are completed for the Annual meeting of the Council of Congregational Women of Connecticut. The United Church in Norwich will welcome the delegates and friends from the women's groups of the more than three hundred Congregational churches in the state. Two sessions of unusual interest will occupy the day with a fellowship luncheon at noon. Some of the high lights of the sessions will be the address by President Barbour of Brown University, who was a member of the Laymen's Inquiry Commission, by Professor Ralph Harlow of Smith College, a speaker of unusual clarity of vision and forcefulness of presentation, whose subject will be "One Increasing Purpose", and by Miss Helen Frances Smith of New York, Project Secretary of the Congregational Home Boards. The devotional periods, always of great inspirational value in unifying the theme and experiences of the Council meetings, will be led by Dr.

Oscar Maurer of Center church, New Haven. A large attendance at this meeting is anticipated. Its date is April 26th.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12.

hour and a half. We saw every-thing. It is a good jail. It is an unusually well ordered jail. It is very clean. It is uncommonly well ventilated. It is wholly free from institutional odors. It is adequately heated. It is far from crowded. We have not the slightest hesitation in affirming that the conditions of life in the Seym's street jail are not only more healthful but quite as comfortable as those in the homes from which three-quarters of its inmates come. They are far more healthful and comfortable conditions than those under which American soldiers lived in France during the Great War. They are luxury compared to the conditions under which any number of laboring jobless men are living in the United States today.

They are not, we take it, anywhere near as comfortable as the conditions under which Rev. Dr. Phillips lives, though we are not so sure about their being, in some ways, any less healthy. They at least bring the inmates face to face with hard facts.

ers came after the impact, not before. Deal and Erwin, perhaps because they think less of their jobs, adhere to their original testimony. Meantime through the influence of the pro-dignified Navy bureaucrats every effort is being made to get the newest of these death traps into the air at the earliest possible moment. This unseemly haste is all too obviously for the purpose of heading off a possible report to Congress that might result in putting an end to dirgible flights.

President Roosevelt would earn the gratitude of the nation if he were to issue orders forbidding the test planned for tomorrow morning.

A SLANDERED JAIL.
 Last Friday Dr. John Milton Phillips, pastor of the Center Church at Hartford, in a public address describing the Hartford County Jail as a "miserable and disgraceful pen," said he wished there was "something that compelled the Christian people to see the institutions they set up."

It could be as fervently wished, in the interest of simple honesty, that there might be something that would compel Dr. Phillips to see the institution he has seen fit to attack. Particularly in view of the fact that in his criticism of the jail he assumes the pose of one familiar with the jail through having visited it for the purpose of preaching to the inmates.

"It fills my soul with misery to go down to the Seym's street jail," Dr. Phillips was reported on Saturday as having said in his Friday address, "and talk religion to these men, when everything I am trying to teach is denied by the surroundings."

The average citizen of Hartford county may well be pardoned if he accepts this verdict, apparently the fruit of first hand observation by a genuine humanitarian deeply interested in submerged unfortunates and earnest enough to find out for himself the circumstances under which jail inmates lived. It is not surprising that there should have appeared in the Hartford Courant of yesterday a letter applauding Dr. Phillips for "having the courage to utter the truth where so many others to whom society looks as leaders have remained silent." There must be thousands of others who, like the Mr. Monnier who signs that letter, have taken Dr. Phillips' strictures on the jail at their face value.

Yet the actual facts are that Dr. Phillips has never inspected the Hartford County Jail. He has never been in any part of it aside from the direct route from the reception room to the chapel. He has never visited its kitchen, its laundries, its various cell blocks, its workshops. He has never inquired about its technique. He wouldn't be able to tell his parishioners whether the establishment has a delousing plant or not. He does not know how, when or on what the prisoners are fed. He has no first hand knowledge whatever of the institution. His comments on the jail are those of an irresponsible gossip.

Perhaps this statement will shock Dr. Phillips. We mean that it should. He has slandered Hartford County in slandering the jail and its management. He has shocked, without compunction, officials and public servants who have been doing their duty toward the county and the county's charges, and doing it well. He has been "talking turkey." Now it is time somebody talked turkey to him.

Manchester is as deeply interested in the respectability and humanity of its county prison as any other community. Aroused by these assaults on the character of the jail administration we went through the Seym's street institution yesterday—from cellar to attic. It is a job that cannot be done in less than an

TWO CENT "DROP" LETTERS.
 Proposal to reduce the postage on "drop letters" from three to two cents will, it is to be expected, be met by popular approval. It is not so long ago that all of us have forgotten the time when, with a three cent general postage rate in effect, it was still possible to mail a first class letter to a correspondent in one's own town, or at least within his own post office area, for two cents. This arrangement has been in effect twice within our memory; was a stable one, in fact, for many years.

It is a reasonable arrangement, too; because it is rather ridiculous for the government to impose the same charge for delivering a letter mailed here to a person living within a stone's throw of the Manchester Post Office and for delivering one to a person living in Los Angeles. More important than that, from the government's point of view, is the belief that it would increase the receipts of the postal service to re-establish the two-cent local rate.

The failure of the increased general letter rate of three cents to produce the expected revenue is attributed, by the Post Office Department, to a very heavy falling off in the use of the postal service in local communication.

It seems to be believed in Washington that the two-cent local rate will be speedily authorized by Congress and go into effect very soon.

IMPORTANT?
 George Bernard Shaw spoke at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York last night? Well, what of it?

LAZY 14 PER CENT.
 Out of 1,791 recruits to the Forest Army mobilized at Fort Slocum, N. Y., the other day, 257 were promptly sent away because they plainly were not in earnest about wanting to go to work. A few of them were lads who quickly developed homesickness, a few others were those whose parents interfered, the majority were bums who sought only free beds and free meals and obviously had no intention of employing their muscles in any such degrading and tiring enterprise as mere work.

The percentage of the no-goods thus developed is about 14. Probably something like this percentage will hold good throughout the country; perhaps on the whole the proportion of the lazy and useless will turn out to be somewhat smaller because these Fort Slocum recruits were a big-city levy and big cities contain more than their share of "smart guys" who pride themselves on their ability to beat the world out of a living. But at best something over ten per cent of the applicants for these forest jobs, likely enough, will turn out to be good-for-nothings.

Even if the percentage should indeed hold up to fourteen or fifteen there would be nothing discouraging about that. If as many as eighty-five unemployed men out of a hundred in this country are honestly and eagerly willing to tackle a job to which they are unused, in order to regain their self respect and be of some assistance to their kin, it can hardly be said that hard times have gone far in demoralizing American manhood. There were probably a good deal more than ten per cent of the population, even in the best of times, that never had gotten their feet onto a very high plane of social responsibility.

CHANGES HIS MIND.
 The pro-dignified faction in the Navy apparently has been arguing with Lieutenant-Commander Wiley, surviving Akron officer. Wiley was the first person to make known that the Akron began to go to pieces in the air by transmitting the report of Boatswain Deal and Metalsmith Erwin that they had seen girders buckle while the ship was still aloft. He also gave it as his own opinion that the Akron was collapsing before she struck the sea.

Now Wiley has changed his mind. He thinks the buckling of the gir-

LABOR MAY BE MISSED UNDER MISS PERKINS
 By RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington, April 12—The American labor movement may be rehabilitated in spite of itself.

Labor (by which one means the American Federation of Labor as well as the labor groups such as the railroad brotherhoods and the Amalgamated Clothing Workers) has long preached the theory that there can be no recovery until the purchasing power of the vast mass of wage earners is restored.

But labor has been unable to sell that idea to the gentlemen in power. Mr. Hoover stuck to the not uncommon idea that if you sprinkle enough water on top of the economic bush little drops of prosperity would "dribble down to the masses."

Now comes the "New Deal," and there is some reason to believe that President Roosevelt is impressed by the argument that he can't put the country back on its feet unless he does something toward the re-employment of some 12,000,000 persons who have no jobs.

Certainly most of the economists among his advisers are convinced of that. And so, as has just been well demonstrated, is Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins. It is at least faintly amusing to realize that little Miss Perkins, after all the snorts and belows of protest against her appointment from the American Federation of Labor—which considers itself the spokesman and backbone of labor, may become the Joan of Arc of the American labor movement.

A Fruitful Conference
 Since the conference of all leading labor organizations met at the call of Miss Perkins, the more intelligent labor leaders have been imbued with the hope that at last they have an administration which feels that a country's standard of living is always based on the earnings of the great mass of its people and that the relationship between labor and the rest of society is at least as important as any other factor in the economic picture. If this is true, it becomes as necessary to stabilize the labor situation as to handle the problems of banking, industry and agriculture.

The conference was quite unprecedented and it may even become a landmark in American history. Labor itself had never been able to assemble such a united front. Miss Perkins, who regards herself as the official advocate of the wage earners, rounded them up and made them demonstrate the increasing solidarity of the labor movement.

Although the conference and its attendant circumstances may have accentuated the commonly admitted economic impotence of labor, leaders of the unions came away

HEALTH--DIET ADVICE
 BY DR. FRANK MCCOY

Questions in regard to Health and Diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, for reply.

COLITIS MAY BE OF SEVERAL TYPES
 The digestive tract, including the stomach and intestines, is all one long tube and, when there is trouble in any part of it, the other parts are likely to be disturbed. Thus, when we find inflammation in the colon, we are also likely to find irritation in the stomach and small intestine. This is what happens in colitis in which digestive disturbances are prominent. These may be so severe as to interfere with assimilation and cause the colitis patient to lose weight. There may be other vague symptoms such as a poor appetite leading to chilliness, numbness of the extremities, heartburn, rapid beating of the heart, shaking, trembling, cold chills, nervous sweats and feelings of anxiety. Attacks of diarrhea may alternate with extreme constipation. This is more likely to happen from the excessive elimination and then from extreme costiveness. Piles or hemorrhoids are often found. In the ordinary case the patient may notice several acute attacks which cleared up from time to time before the chronic form developed.

An acute attack of colitis may be brought on by several exciting factors. Some of these are meals containing wrong food combinations, indigestible foods, food which lack roughage, the taking of strong laxatives and the use of such drugs as arsenic or mercury. The swallowing of sharp objects is responsible in a few cases. As a result of any of these factors the mucous membrane becomes irritated and throws out an unusual amount of mucus, the same as happens when the nose is irritated during a acute cold; in fact, mucous colitis should be considered a catarrhal disorder.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 (Write to "Ask Through Hair")
 Question: Mrs. Theda V. writes: "I have a son eleven years old who seems to be in good health, eats and sleeps well, and is very good in his studies, yet across his temple and in several places on one side of his head the hair has turned perfectly white. It doesn't seem to get any worse but doesn't go away. What could cause this?"

Answer: I doubt if there is very much that can be done to restore the natural color to the streak of white in your son's hair. For some reason the cells which build the hair shafts at that particular area simply do not furnish the pigment for coloring. Such a condition occurs every once in a while but there is little that can be done except to dye the hair to match the rest of the strands.

Spastic Colitis
 A spastic colitis refers to a contraction of some of the muscles of the colon due to continued irritation by toxic contents. The contraction or muscular spasm may be present at all times, in which case it is called a tonic contraction, or it may be present only a short time, in which case it is called a clonic contraction. In spastic colitis the normal functioning is more disturbed than with plain colitis. Generally speaking, when one part of the intestines is contracted, other parts will be found to lack a normal tone and are, therefore, flabby. In spastic colitis the nerves which control the normal squeezing by being irritated cause tightening of the muscles in the wall of the intestine. There are two sets of nerves which carry messages to the bowels, one set to squeeze tighter while the others carry a message to relax. These alternating messages set in motion a series of waves which contract the muscles for the purpose of moving the intestinal contents along. With spastic

(Erythema)
 Question: Mr. William D. L. inquires: "Will you kindly advise the meaning of the medical term 'erythema multiforme'? Is its cause known and can it be cured?"

Answer: Erythema simply means an inflammation of the skin. The multiforme is accompanied with papules and tubercles which last for several days, usually accompanied by headaches and pains. The usual cause is a gouty or rheumatic tendency. The use of a cleansing regimen, using a fast for the first two weeks, should prove helpful.

(Orange Juice for Baby)
 Question: Mrs. Helen M. writes: "My baby is very constipated, and she refuses to take orange juice. Am giving her cow's milk. Have tried prune juice, but it has no effect."

Answer: If the baby will not take orange juice separately, you might be able to add a small amount to milk or prune juice so she will overcome the dislike of its flavor. Tomato juice may be used in place of the orange juice.

convicted that it had been much more important and fruitful than they had supposed it could be.

After all these years, they had devised the first national labor program aimed simultaneously to take care of both the employed and the unemployed and to bring about an economic revival without subsidizing the unemployed. The program was the thought that the government must do whatever it could to put people back to work and to restore purchasing power. Labor buys goods, labor pays taxes. Cut its payroll totals two-thirds and then what? That's old stuff, but the conference saw its first translation into a co-ordinated program of labor and the administration.

Getting Together
 The big things the labor boys got together on were the proposals for a new public works program and legislation on the principle of a 30-hour week. President Roosevelt's serious consideration of a $5,000,000,000 public works program and the progress of the Black 30-hour week bill in the Senate show that these proposals are not visionary. Labor argues that the bond issue would be a sound national investment, and offers figures to show that the federal project would be sure to be doubled by an automatic stimulation of private construction and rehabilitation. Union chiefs promised that millions of union funds would be invested in the bonds and that they would urge their purchase by members still employed.

President Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers perhaps best epitomized the thought of the conference when he pointed out that a bottom must be found for the deflation and insisted that although perhaps capital structures and mortgage and bond burdens must be reduced, the only real deflation bottom would be the purchasing power of the majority, which must be pegged somewhere.

That was the basis of Hillman's somewhat controversial proposal for a system of boards which would enforce legal hours and minimum wages in industry. Assuming a federal 30-hour week principle, the boards would have the power to apply it equitably to the various industries and establish or administer measures in the interest of stability of employment or of the incomes of wage earners.

GROCERIES AS PRIZES
AT CHEERIO BALLROOM
 The feature of this week's dance program at Cheerio Ballroom, Rockville, now under the management of Ned's Old Sawmill Gang of Tolland will be a "Country Store Nite" in which groceries will be given away as door prizes. There will be four, potatoes, eggs sugar, etc given away.

The management has arranged a special program for the older folks, also one that will please the younger generation as well. Ben Irish, the singing promoter from East Hampton, will call the old-fashioned dances in a real oldtime way that is pleasing to all. A large crowd from the surrounding towns is expected as usual as well as locally.

SCREEN STAR DIVORCED
 Los Angeles, April 12—(AP) — Eleanor Boardman, motion picture actress, has divorced Frank Vidor, director, because of his alleged attentions to another woman.

Miss Boardman testified yesterday she had found Vidor, clad in pajamas and a dressing gown in an apartment with the girl. The court in granting her a divorce, allowed her $500 a month for support of her children, Antonia, 5, and Belinda, 2, and approved a property settlement whereby she received stock and bonds valued at more than $200,000 and the use of their Beverly Hills home until it is sold or she remarries.

PROBE CONTINUED ON P. O. RENTALS

Deficit in Postal Service in 1932 Amounted to 152 Million Dollars.

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—The House today authorized its post office committee to continue its investigation into the subsidies and rentals under the Post Office Department.

Before voting to continue the investigation, the House was told by Representative Kelly (R-Penn.) that the deficit in the postal service in 1932 amounted to $152,000,000 and was due partly to the increased first class and air mail rates.

"As a result of the increase from two to three cents in the first class postage rate," said Kelly, a member of the post office committee, "revenue from this source dropped to $310,000,000 representing a $32,000,000 loss."

He said the volume of first class mail had decreased by five million letters and the air mail volume had fallen off forty per cent due to the higher rates.

Other Disclosures
Discussing other disclosures of the investigation begun in the last congress, Kelly said that it was found "the government is paying $7,500,000 annually in rent for post office facilities" at rates equal to about a fourth of the value of the property annually.

He said the air mail service had developed a little too fast and it was possible to wipe out all the subsidy for this service within five years and maintain the same service.

Kelly said the investigation had disclosed that about $14,000,000 of the annual $51,000,000 in subsidies for ocean mail could be saved.

"You can never wipe out the postal deficit through increased rates, but through reduction in subsidies, rentals and through economies," Kelly said.

Chairman Mead of the post office committee said the group was preparing to propose a new air mail policy that "will save five million dollars a year" in subsidies.

HERRIOT TO START FOR U. S. ON MONDAY

Sailing Date Advanced Two Days in Order to Join Ramsay MacDonald.

Paris, April 12.—(AP)—Former Premier Edouard Herriot will sail for the United States next Monday, two days earlier than planned, in order to be able to join Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in the conversations on world problems with President Roosevelt.

The steamship Ile de France, which Herriot will take, was being redecorated, but its departure was advanced two days at the government's request.

The man who has been thrice premier of France and still is the dominant figure in his party despite his overthrow on the debt issue, hopes the Washington invitation to France will create sentiment in the Chamber of Deputies for payment of the defaulted installment.

He feels no embarrassment in going to America without a pledge to make the overdue payment because the debts are not officially on the program for the talks and United States government leaders have said the debt question has become small in comparison with the larger problem of world recovery.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 12.—(AP)—Running wild down a mountainside early today, a truck loaded with beer upset and burst into flames, killing the driver and seriously injuring his brother, Norman Adams, 32, of Norristown, Pa., was trapped in the cab as the truck crashed into a bridge abutment at the foot of Ashley mountain and overturned.

The brothers were taking a load of 500 cases of beer from a Norristown brewery to Pittston.

CURTIS STARTS PRACTICE

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—Former Vice President Charles Curtis today was admitted to practice before the interstate commerce commission.

His admission was announced by the commission along with 30 other attorneys.

ASKS FOR RULING ON WORKING WOMEN

Elsie Hill Wants to Know
If Man and Wife Can Work for Government.

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—Miss Elsie Hill of Redding, Conn., has asked Budget Director Douglas to seek a decision from Attorney General Cummings on whether both a man and his wife may work for the government.

The Economy Act passed a year ago provided that in cases where two members of a family were employed by the government, one should be dismissed before other economy dismissals were made.

The new measure passed last month carried no such provision.

Opinion here is divided as to which Miss Hill is a leader, taking the lead in favor of the retention of married women.

Asks For New Deal
"We ask that the new administration offer a new deal to women, guaranteeing the right of the working woman to marry, and the married woman to work," Miss Hill told Douglas at a hearing sponsored by her organization.

She explained the party's complaint was not solely against the dismissal of married women, because one of the largest groups to suffer was composed of 45 men in the Navy Yard whose wives were in government departments.

"Dismissals should be controlled wholly by the efficiency or the non-efficiency of the individual," she said.

Douglas is expected to lay the matter before Attorney General Cummings for a ruling.

MILLION DOLLAR FIRE

Mexico City, April 12.—(AP)—A dispatch from the city of Durango early today said loss of approximately one million dollars was caused by fire in a sawmill camp at El Salto yesterday. Eighteen million board feet of lumber was destroyed along with many houses and considerable machinery. The company is owned by American interests. It was feared there might

PAPERS LAUD ROOSEVELT

London, April 12.—(AP)—London newspapers bestowed warm praise on President Roosevelt today for the vigor and directness with which he is handling preliminaries for the London world economic conference.

The Times said: "He has shown courage, decision and capacity for firm action."

The Post said: "Roosevelt deserves all credit for having boldly assumed the initiative."

SAYS SON REJOICED WHEN MOTHER DIED

Officers Describe Scene
They Witnessed During Cult's Weird Ceremonies.

Inez, Ky., April 12.—(AP)—Testimony that John H. Mills struggled and fought when deputies pulled him from his kneeling position on the body of his mother, Mrs. Lucinda Mills, 67, was given today by B. J. Wells, one of those deputized to go to the home of Tommie Boyd when officers heard of the slaying last February.

Mrs. Mills, authorities claim, was slain during a religious ceremony conducted by a mountain cult headed by John H. Mills, 33, her son. Six other relatives have been indicted on charges of murder and conspiracy. The defense has contended John H. Mills was insane at the time and introduced alienists to support this theory. Prosecution alienists testified Mills is sane.

Were Rejoicing
Wells said that when he and the other officers arrived, they found them rejoicing" and Mrs. Mills dead.

He said John hung to chains around his mother's wrists until he pulled her body off the "altar," as Wells and Deputies Harrison Hinkle and Buck Neely struggled with him.

Neely added briefly to the description of the scene by saying that John, when officers found him kneeling on the body of his mother, was repeating over and over "I've your way, Lord, have your way," and that when they tried to pull him off he began talking "the unknown tongue."

Other defendants were talking in the same fashion, Neely testified.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Racine, Wis.—Fate played a strange trick on Peter George, once a bartender in one of those old time saloons and dance halls.

There was a fight there 38 years ago. A patron "shot up" the place. One of the bullets struck George in the chest.

Yesterday they buried him. He died shortly after complaining of a pain from that 38 year old bullet.

Cranton, Wis.—A Cranton grocer, has found out how to end egg wars.

He engaged in competition price cutting with a rival who finally put up a sign offering his eggs to customers at one cent a dozen. Not to be outdone the other grocer hung up a poster reading:

"Fresh eggs—free—come and get them."

The customers did, but an armistice was reached the next day.

Green Bay, Wis.—Two years ago Ben Yaelaer, Green Bay restaurant owner told a newsboy:

"When you can sell me a paper that says good beer is back, I'll buy you a new suit of clothes."

The newsboy remembered. He will have his new suit for Easter.

Cincinnati—Greeley Hahn, dry crusader provided a special bequest for each of his five children who does not "drink intoxicants as beverages, smoke tobaccos or cigars or dance," before the age of 21. His will disposes of an estate valued at $40,000.

Lorin Greeley, a son said one sister already had forfeited her $500 "because she likes to dance."

Cleveland—William Vance "kiss robber" smiled pleasantly when a jury of five women and five men acquitted him. Some of the women jurors smiled back.

"I don't blame you for smiling," Judge Alva Corlett said. "We're through with you here — you can go and kiss some of the jury now if you want to and kiss your attorney too."

PAROLES RUM SELLERS
Lansing, Mich., April 12.—(AP)—All liquor law violators without other crime records have been paroled from state prisons, Governor William A. Comstock said today.

Many persons convicted of violating the prohibition statutes remain in penal institutions, he said, solely because they have records of other crimes. The governor said he has no intention of releasing them until their terms have expired. More than 200 paroles have been granted those serving terms solely for liquor law offenses and without bad records.

"Find me an inmate who is purely a liquor law violator and I will parole him," the governor said. "They are all out."

WATCHMAN A POET
New Britain, April 12.—(AP)—The Connecticut division of the International Writers League has for its new president a night watchman in a local factory.

He is George Dallas Murray who "covers a beat" nightly in the Stanley Works. He has accepted the post temporarily.

"A night watchman has little or no time for the duties of state president which would deprive me of my leisure time," he explained today.

Mr. Murray has written a large collection of poems.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

The monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Board of Directors will be held this evening at 7:30. All of the directors are urged to be present if it is at all possible.

The volley ball groups are scheduled to play at 8 this afternoon. The first game will be at 8 between the Oxforas and Tigers. The North Ends and Mers and then the Ramblers and the Wildcats. These games will take about 40 minutes each. All players on these groups should be on hand.

Tomorrow night the Endees, champions of the South side will be here to compete in the All Manchester title for this group in basketball.

The weekly entertainment for the young members last night was well attended. The program consisted of three educational films on the "Story of Anthracite," the "Making of Aluminum" and a "Trip to China with the Boys of the Navy." That was followed by a trip to our Y. M. C. Camp, Woodstock via the movie route and a comic showing a farm on the fifteenth story of a Broadway building that surely brought down the house. Parents and older members are also welcome to these Monday night programs.

Your attention is called to the fact that we will have two or three more films this evening at 8:45. These will be travels through Canada with the fishermen and Quebec, the Gibraltar of Canada. All fishermen of Manchester should see this film on fishing.

This exhibit valued at over a thousand dollars, illustrates various classical techniques employed by artists, etchings, lithographs and woodcuts. Every picture is a choice museum piece.

This exhibit will be officially opened today at Nathan Hale Auditorium at which time Joseph Wiseltier, state art director will address the teachers of the town.

During this week the upper grade pupils of the south end schools will have an opportunity to see the pictures and have them explained by a teacher. In the following weeks the exhibit will be moved to Hollister street school where the north end children will study it. The high school students will have an opportunity to study it more closely in the studio there.

Among the many interesting prints in this collection is a wood-

Charley O May Duplicate Black Gold's Fine Record

Florida Derby Winner Given Chance to Repeat in Kentucky Classic on May 6; Here is First of Series on Derby Hopes.

By MAX RIDDLE
(Copyright 1933 by NEA)
Those who believe that a winter sensation can go on to win the Kentucky Derby, can make quite a case for Charley O., winner of the Florida Derby. Mrs. Robert M. Eastman and her trainer, Tommy Taylor, are full of optimism regarding the chances of their colt on May 6. Each year better horses seem to be sent to the winter racing. Black Gold happens to be the only "winter" that has won the Kentucky Derby, but Spanish Play, Prince D'Amour, Catnip and other winter stars have been mighty nice stakes horses.

Until he astounded everybody by winning the Florida Derby with ease, Charley O.'s greatest claim to fame was the fact that he is a full brother to the once mighty Mike Hall.

The story of Mike Hall is a saga in itself: how he started among the lowliest of claimers; how he started the world by setting two world records; how he defeated Sun Beau in the Agua Caliente Handicap. He went from the lowest rung on the ladder to the heights. Charley O. did not start so far down but it remains to be seen how far up he will go.

The brown, almost black, son of Hourless and Clonakilly won but two races as a juvenile. In the Florida Derby he defeated the best of the season for a given race. It was he who prepared Victor for his Agua Caliente Handicap a few years ago, Tommy had Charley O. in great shape for the Florida Derby by though Jungle King was a hot favorite.

The brother to Mike Hall was not particularly favored with racing luck in the Florida Derby, and the pace was exceedingly fast. Yet Charley O. won in the decisive time of 1:49 2-5 seconds for the mile and an eighth—one and one-fifth seconds faster than the brilliant Evening's time last year.

Charley O. demonstrated that he is the improving type of horse by his Florida racing. He is in shape now and Taylor will have little trouble getting him fit for the big race. In fact, the six or seven weeks lay-off should do him a lot of good.

Several conservative horsemen predict that this colt will be about the hardest nut to crack in the Derby.

EXPECT CLOSE RACE IN INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE OPENS GOLDEN JUBILEE YEAR TODAY; NEWARK PRESENT CHAMP.

New York, April 12.—(AP)—Anticipating a closer race and added interest through the operation of a "Hockey playoff" system, the International Baseball League prepared to open its golden jubilee year today.

With the help of the weather man, the opening battles were to send the Toronto Maple Leafs against the Orioles at Baltimore and the Rochester Redwings against the Senators at Albany. The other two inaugurals, at Newark and Jersey City, were postponed a day so as to avoid conflict with the major league opening at New York. On Thursday the champion Newark Bears will face Montreal while Jersey City plays Buffalo.

The Bears won the pennant by a margin of 15 1/2 games last season but a much closer, and more interesting race is in prospect this time. Under the new playoff system, the regular season will close Sept. 10 after which the two leading teams and the two second-place teams in the northern and southern sections will meet in a three-out-of-five series. The winners then will battle over the four-out-of-seven route, the ultimate survivor earning the right to play the American Association champions in the little world series.

HOLY CROSS TO OPPOSE COLGATE ELEVEN IN '34

Other Major Dates Are Also Closed for Next Year; Coach Anderson to Have All-Notre Dame Staff—Other College Sports.

Worcester, Mass., April 12.—(AP)—Colgate, a new rival, has been given a place on Holy Cross' 1934 football schedule, it was announced today. The Red Raiders from Hamilton will visit Worcester on October 27 a year from next fall. Three other 1934 dates, all of the major variety, have also been closed, Harvard at Cambridge on Oct. 30, Brown at Providence on Nov. 17 and Boston College at Boston on Nov. 24.

Indications that Dr. Edward N. Anderson, new head coach, would have an all-Notre Dame staff were given when he announced that Joe Shekestski, Notre Dame back last year, would act as backfield coach and Joe Locke, formerly a Notre Dame guard, would serve as line coach. The latter coached at Wichita University after leaving Notre Dame.

M. I. T. CREW SCHEDULE
Cambridge, Mass., April 12.—(AP)—The cancellation of the Poughkeepsie regatta, which has closed the M. I. T. rowing season for several years past, has enabled the Engineers to accept an invitation to send its varsity and junior varsity crews to race Marietta on the Ohio river on May 13.

The midwestern trip will end the M. I. T. rowing schedule of these races. The Engineers will open their season against the Navy at Annapolis on April 22 and will race against Harvard and Princeton in the Compton Cup regatta here on the Charles on April 29.

POLO CHAMPIONSHIPS
New York, April 12.—(AP)—The National Interscholastic indoor polo championship, which has drawn only three entries, opens tonight at Squadron A armory as the eastern championships continue with the final games in two classes.

The New Jersey neighbors, Lawrenceville and the Elm school of Princeton clash in the first interscholastic game. The winner is to meet Culver Military Academy of Indiana in the final Saturday for the George C. Sherman challenge cup. Lawrenceville is defending champion.

WAGNER AND COBB BOTH CHOKED BAT

Famous Players Were Two Great Examples of How Not to Handle Stick.

Cincinnati, O., April 12.—(AP)—The two great examples of how not to bat, said Honus Wagner today, are Honus Wagner and Ty Cobb. The books on baseball, said the famous shortstop of 35 years ago, say "to choke the bat is the thing the batter must not do."

"Ty Cobb always choked his bat," he went on, "and so did I. We managed to get away with it, and I guess we were what you might call guess hitters. Somehow or other we always managed to knock the pill where the other fellows weren't."

NEWSIES DEFEAT EAST SIDE SENIORS 37-12
Herald Team Wins 35th Game in 65 Starts This Season; Play Tomorrow.

The Herald Newsies defeated the East Side Seniors, 37-12 at the School street rec last night. This made the seventh straight win for the Herald. The Newsies, counting last night's game, have played 65 games this year winning 58 of them.

CUBS STOP ARROWS
Boston, April 12.—(AP)—Having stopped the Philadelphia Arrows' rushing surge for the Canadian-American Hockey League championship, the Boston Cubs today had high hopes of evening the playoff series here Thursday and forcing it to go the five game limit.

Sport Briefs

EXPECT NEARLY 200,000 FANS TO SEE INAUGURAL GAMES IN EIGHT CITIES

Rain Threatens in East But Other Clubs Anticipate Fair Weather; Race Promises to Be Close in Both Loops; Ruth to Play in Opener; Other Stars Out.

New York, April 12.—(AP)—In to the forefront of the sports picture today, ready to combat the tide of depression with a flood of base hits and the tightest pennant fight in years.

The annual opening day gamble with the weather man looked, in the overnight forecasts, like a victory on points for "base ball." There was a forecast of rain in Philadelphia, Boston and New York, but the other five cities where inaugurals were scheduled—Detroit, Washington, St. Louis, Chicago and Cincinnati—anticipated reasonably clear, if coolish, weather.

All Teams in Action
With the eight-game program intact, an aggregate attendance in the neighborhood of 200,000 was in prospect. The largest throngs, 40,000 people were indicated at New York where the New York Yankees open their bid for another American League pennant against the reorganized Red Sox and at Chicago where the Chicago Cubs, National League champions, entertained the St. Louis Cards.

Babe Ruth to Play
Babe Ruth, sore throat and all, was ready to take his usual post in right field for the Yankees and demonstrate to all the "doubtful Thomases" that he has far from through, but injuries were to keep a number of veterans, including Kiki Cuyler of the Cubs, Travis Jackson of the Giants, and Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals, out of the opening day lineup.

A REMARKABLE RECORD
New York, April 12.—(AP)—The New York Yankees faced the opening of the major league season with one remarkable record intact. When the world champions played their first game last year, they completed a string of 211 games without a shutout. The streak began August 2, 1931.

Basketball
ST. JAMES'S WINS
The St. James' quintet turned back the Center church five in a church league game last night and thereby earned a tie for first place in the league. The final score was 41 to 21. It was the second defeat of the season for the Center church. St. James' led all the way, sporting a 25 to 9 margin at halftime.
