BRITONS REPEAT INNOCENCE PLEAS

All But MacDonald Who Says He Is Guilty of Spying in Russia — Expect Verdict Tonight.

BULLETIN:
Moscow, April 18.—(AP)—Verdicts by the court in the trial of six British engineers and 11 Russians, concluded today, are not expected to be returned until late tonight.
According to a Russian custom Judge Vassili Ulrich must write his entire last speech, together with the verdicts in his own handwriting, which is expected to take considerable time.
Moscow, April 18.—(AP)—Just before the court retired today to consider its verdict in the Metropolitan-Vickers sabotage case, William L. MacDonald reiterated his guilt, all the other British prisoners stoutly affirmed their innocence, and all the Russian defendants abjectly threw themselves on the mercy of the court.
The Russians admitted all the charges against them.
These varying statements were made individually to the court by each of the defendants just before the judges retired to make their decision.
Limping to the microphone in front of the judges stand, his speech free unusually pale, MacDonald—the first of the British defendants called on—stood with his hands in his trouser pockets, looked at Judge Vassili Ulrich squarely in the eye, and in Russian declared:
"I confessed and I have nothing to add."
Speaks in English
John Chisley, the first Englishman to speak in English as did the remainder of his British colleagues. He stood with his hands clasped before him.

POSTAGE IS DUE ON-FARLEY BIDS INVITATIONS FOR BANQUET SENT OUT WITHOUT SUFFICIENT STAMPS ON THEM.

New York, April 18.—(AP)—The preliminary to a dinner of honor to Postmaster General Farley to be held here May 13, have demonstrated the great scientific principle that a wet day is not as good a day to mail a letter as a dry day.
This meteorological phenomenon, or whatever it is, has come to the attention of the Postoffice Department in the matter of invitations mailed to some of the 3,000 persons who are to be given the privilege of buying a $5 ticket to the dinner of honor.
The committee had elaborate invitations printed on choice linen paper, enclosed in the envelope was a subscription card mentioning the $5, and a return envelope.
Having some misgivings about the weight of the invitation, the committee took a sample to the postoffice and had it weighed. It came within the three-cent stamp requirements. So the invitations were mailed.
The great scientific principle which the committee overlooked, however, was that the sample invitation was weighed on a dry day, and the actual mailing was done on a wet day.
Becomes Overweight
So what? The linen paper, in accordance with a well-known scientific principle concerning linen paper, began absorbing moisture. It added weight. It became overweight.
The postoffice clerks tried a few on the scales and found they put "a couple of extra cents on them."
Considering that the dinner is for the good of the Postoffice Department, the committee was chastened. It confessed it had overlooked the great scientific principle of "humidity" in the paper, but there were some expressions to the effect that there ought to be special rules by which, perhaps, the moist mail could be put in an oven and dried out. The committee felt that had mailed a dry invitation and it was being asked to "sign a blank check" to pay for the postage.
One of those to whom invitations have been mailed is President Roosevelt. The president, however, will not have to pay three cents postage for the invitation. The Postoffice Department to deliver a dry invitation.
For most of the others, however, the dinner will cost six dollars and three cents.

Connecticut Democrats Honor Cummings

INSURGENT DEMOCRATS HOLD A RUMP CAUCUS

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—The House rules committee today approved a change in the discharge rule increasing from 145 to 218 the number of petitioners necessary to force a bill out of committee for a House vote.
Chaimson Fox said after an executive meeting that the rules committee would bring the proposed change up for House action tomorrow.

PRESIDENT EYES CUBAN SITUATION Holds Hour's Conference With Ambassador Cintas on Troubles of the Island.

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt personally took up the Cuban situation today in an hour's conference with Ambassador Cintas from the island republic.
Leaving the conference, Ambassador Cintas told newspapers that internal economic and political affairs of Cuba were barely discussed with the president.
He said it was "very essential" to obtain a revision of the commercial treaties between the countries.
He told the reporters he considered recent slottings in Cuba "very unfortunate" and he attributed them to the unrest resulting from unemployment.
Roosevelt Watching
Obviously closely watching developments on the neighboring island, Mr. Roosevelt has given no indication of whether he contemplates any action by this government.
He is informing himself thoroughly of the situation and regards Cuban stability as a vital factor in Latin American affairs.
Meanwhile he is withholding the appointment of an ambassador to Havana although it has been believed that John Cudahy of Milwaukee would be appointed shortly.
Cintas said the question of an ambassador to Cuba was not discussed today.
Wishes to Help
"The President is very anxious to be of help," said Cintas. "I find he knows much more about Cuba than I do. Cuba is having a very difficult time. In great measure this is responsible to the economic and political troubles. Cuba has enormous unemployment and suffering and this causes dissatisfaction. Mr. Roosevelt is very kind in his attitude about Cuba."
Cintas said the proposed sugar alignment plan for Cuba did not come up at today's meeting. The President also had at the White House today at a different time Charles W. Tamm, an authority on Cuban affairs.

CLARK DENOUNCES FARM RELIEF BILL Missouri Senator Assails Roosevelt Measure—Calls It a "Hodge-Podge."

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—In a general attack on the administration's farm relief program, Senator Clark (D-Mo.) today told the Senate the bill is a "hodge-podge" and assailed it as "dictatorial power" in a "mere statutory official."
Denouncing the Roosevelt bill in his first long speech, Clark, son of Champ Clark, one-time speaker of the House, called it a "hodge-podge" and assailed it as "dictatorial power" in a "mere statutory official."
He approved of the first part of the measure, the section on pool proposals, and favored the mortgage refinancing section, but contended the provisions for lifting agricultural prices to 1909-1914 levels were unconstitutional and that relief would be inadequate.
"It is really our purpose to restore the buying power of the farmer," Clark said, "then restoration to the farm price of the period 1909-1914 levels were unconstitutional and that relief would be inadequate."

Wreck of the Akron Is Believed Located

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—The Navy today received a message from Captain Herbert F. Leary, commander of the cruiser Portland, saying: "Believe Akron located." The message came shortly after noon, a little after reports from the Naval tug Sagamore had reported that grappling operations at the scene of the airship's fall had located a large wreckage object.
Meanwhile, a Navy Court of Inquiry was proceeding here with its investigation into the Akron disaster.

REPRIEVE GRANTED WINNIE RUTH JUDD

Florence, Ariz., April 18.—(AP)—A reprieve until April 28 was granted Winnie Ruth Judd today as counsel for the condemned "trunk" slayer presented expert testimony at a lunacy hearing that she is insane.
Sentenced to die on the gallows at dawn next Friday, Mrs. Judd was given a stay of one week by the State Board of Pardons and Pardon pending a verdict by the lunacy jury which will decide whether she is to be hanged or committed to an asylum for life. Her attorneys had asked for a three-week reprieve.
Dr. George F. Huffman of Florence testified today for the defense that the blonde slayer of Agass Anne Leavelle and Hedwig Samuelson is insane in his opinion, adding "I know she is not malingering."
Prior to the slayer's today's court session, Dr. Joseph Coston of San Francisco and Dr. Paul H. Los Angeles, psychiatrists for the state, examined Mrs. Judd at the state penitentiary and reported she refused to cooperate with them. Neither would express an opinion on her mental condition.
Not Shamming
Asked by Howard G. Richardson, Los Angeles, how he knew that she was not feigning insanity, Dr. Huffman said:
"A person who is not versed in insanity, as a rule, it they malingering, will appear to become suddenly insane. In other words they try to simulate last stages of insanity, not the first."
He described Mrs. Judd as unable to follow a conversation intelligently.
"Do you think she understands all the facts of the crime for which she was convicted?" asked Richardson.
"No, I don't think she does," Dr. Huffman replied.
"Do you believe she comprehends her present situation?"
"I don't think so."
"Do you believe she understands this purpose for which she is being punished?"
"Well, I would say she knows the purpose for which she is being punished, but she is not understanding it," Dr. Huffman said.
"Did you place your signature on an application for a commutation for Ruth Judd?" asked Assistant County Attorney Charles Reed, once examining Dr. Huffman.
"Yes, I did," said the witness.
"Why," asked Richardson on cross-examination, "did you do that?"
"Because I did not believe Ruth Judd is sane."
Dr. Harry E. Pinkert, of Coolidge, Ariz., testified he had examined the condemned woman three times, and had gone into seclusion on the second floor of the little house by the occupant of the alley was roped off by police to all traffic and no one was allowed to pass through it who did not have business there.

House Galleries Jammed During Debate Over Beer Control in State—Amendment Offered Which Would Virtually Nullify Judiciary Committee's Measure.

Hartford, April 18.—(AP)—Before jammed galleries, the House plunged into the highly controversial issue of beer control today by taking up an amendment virtually nullifying the judiciary committee beer bill and substituting for it the Buckley study commission measure in a modified form.
The amendment was offered by Rep. Richard J. Goodman of West Hartford, a member of the study commission. It provides for direct state control over liquor traffic by original Baldwin-Alcorn bill, provides for local licensing.
Before the introduction of the amendment, Rep. Baldwin, majority leader, offered an amendment making several changes in the original beer bill. Baldwin's amendment was passed unanimously after Goodman said he had no objection to it.
Present Petitions
At the outset of the debate, Representatives presented petitions from their constituents supporting the stand of Governor Cross for direct state control. At the suggestion of Representative C. Hungerford of Waterbury, and Majority Leader Baldwin, however, presentation of these petitions was halted.
The vote of the Goodman amendment was expected to provide the first real test of the strength between supporters of local control and those favoring centralized control.
A decided rift in the Republican ranks became apparent as the debate proceeded. The majority leader, Rep. Peck of Bristol, Frank J. Sparks of West Hartford and J. Mortimer Bell of Salisbury, joined with Goodman and others later fell in line.
The Democratic whip of the House, preparing to vote solidly for the amendment, left the debating floor to the Republicans and they awaited the roll call vote, voted on Sparks' motion.

Wreck of the Akron Is Believed Located

Hartford, April 18.—(AP)—With the possibility that the flood may equal the record of October, 1927, when scores of families in the East Hartford meadow districts were carried from the district by enterprise of individuals and organizations, East Hartford today took the first step in preparing for emergency relief work when Commander Everett E. Pilling of Brown-landers Post, American Legion, issued a call for a public mass meeting at Legion Hall at 8 o'clock this evening.
Commander Pilling urged that organizations of all kinds—fraternal, service and social—be represented at the meeting when plans will be formulated to care for those whose homes are surrounded by water and to whom there is a possibility that they may remain at their homes.
It will be necessary to get army cot blankets, places in which to house the people, supplies with which to feed them and accommodations for cooking meals. Committees will be named to carry out the different lines of work.
Present Warden, superintendent of the East Hartford Charitable Department said today that there are many families in the affected district who are on low rations. In addition there are many other families who have no other places to which to go. Mr. Warden said that with an army kitchen unit he can provide meals for 1,000 people if necessary. Supply stores and tenements must be obtained to house people.
The high water mark in 1927 was 26 feet. At noon today it was 20.5 feet.

PLANS TO CHANGE SHORTER WEEK BILL

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—Secretary Perkins told newspaper men today that among the changes she had suggested to the 30-hour week bill was a "measure of control of production to eliminate unfair competition."
The secretary of labor said, however, that the changes she had recommended to the House labor committee, did not contemplate any "action upon system of production control."
She explained it was intended only to supplement the shorter week bill which has already passed the Senate. The principle of the measure her administration approved and the suggestions she had made to the House committee are also being considered by the Senate.
In the case of particular plants which are violating the "fair competition" clause suggested, the secretary of labor would be authorized to order a plant to stop production of the offending article.

Island a Peaceful Place Until Government Came

Annapolis, Md., April 18.—(AP)—The residents of Cobb Island, in the Potomac river some 50 miles below Washington, do not want any local government.
This was told Governor Ritchie at a hearing on a bill which would incorporate the town of Cobb Island. The incorporation of politics in the community in 1929 was alleged to have changed a peaceful and neighborly group of people into one in which "strife" was being waged.
Explaining the condition of the once "quiet little island," Edwin P. Pitts, president of the Citizens Association, said: "In 1929 we were living on the island in a peaceful manner, friendly with one another."
But after 1929, when the "incorporation" bill was passed, people were harassed for carrying conceal and weapons.
"When there was no town government on the island we all got along well together, but as soon as politics entered, then it was not safe to go out alone."
Asked why they did not want the new incorporation bill providing for a new election of town commissioners, he said, "The present commissioners hold their own election and they'll stay there. Mr. Campbell takes them away."
Kitchen said the people did not want to be incorporated, adding, "The governor will sign this bill. The Charles county court in which a suit is pending to test its constitutionality, will declare the old one unconstitutional."

WALKER MARRIES AMERICAN ACTRESS Ex-New York Mayor and Betty Compton Wed in Cannes Today.

Cannes, France, April 18.—(AP)—Former Mayor James J. Walker and Betty Compton, American actress, were married today.
At the conclusion of the ceremony Mayor Gasparde made a brief speech in French, saying the city of Cannes was grateful to have both the bride and groom living here.
Addressing Walker, the mayor said:
"I hope when you are recalled to America to take another official position, probably as mayor of New York, you will remember Cannes pleasantly."
Walker, for whom the speech was translated, did not reply.
Friends expect the couple to live at the bride's villa, Beau Geste, perched on a hill near Cannes, among flowers and mimosa trees, looking over one of the most beautiful spots on the Riviera.
The bride recently expressed a hope that Walker would buy some land since the villa does not belong to her. She said she hoped, too, that they would have children.
From the City hall, the Walker party went to the former New York (Continued on Page Eight) and prohibiting Sunday sale of beer or wine and those of his 21.

He then explained the details of his bill, urging the Representatives to remember that it deals with a non-intoxicating beverage. He also stressed the fact that it is a revenue producing bill.

Baldwin said that the bill provides an easily collectible tax method. He said that the penalty clauses would secure the cooperation and support of the legal sister of the beverage.

He emphasized his belief that "more results can be obtained from your own selection than from a commission in Hartford, appointed by the governor."

Rep. Richard J. Goodman of East Hartford, a member of the commission which prepared the commission bill, said that he had no objection to the passage of the amendment and it was unanimously adopted.

Goodman then introduced the commission's amendment to the Baldwin Alcorn bill. This amendment strikes out all the town control bill after the enacting clause and substitutes the commission bill with a number of changes.

These changes provide that permit fees shall go to the towns, clarifies the tax provisions and changes the 500 feet from churches and public buildings ban to 200 feet. He asked that copies of a memorandum be had prepared on the subject be passed to all members of the House and while this was being done started his argument in support of the amendment.

Goodman said that the commission in preparing the bill had turned down the dispensary system because it provided too much opportunity for graft. He declared that the commission was endeavoring to affect uniform control of the liquor throughout the state, instead of a different form of control in each town.

Objects of Bill "We tried," he said, "to do two things. One was to remove control of liquor as far as possible way from graft and the other was to remove it as far as possible from political control."

The tall West Hartford man analyzing in detail the beer bill, asserted that it provided no discretion to town clerks as to whom they shall issue licenses. He contended that the bill made it possible for non-residents of Connecticut and persons convicted of liquor law violations during prohibition to obtain permits for the sale of beer.

Goodman also asserted that under the measure it would be possible for manufacturers and wholesalers to retail beer and wine, a condition which he termed as "undesirable."

"In the Buckley bill," he said, "we have tried very carefully to make that situation impossible, before prohibition."

Before prohibition, he said, liquor manufacturers often controlled saloons.

This combination, he said, resulted in the formation of "powerful political organizations" which frequently controlled elections.

"Under the Buckley bill that can't be done," he said.

Goodman also contended that under the measure, establishments for the sale of beer could be located virtually anywhere.

Replying to the contention of supporters of the bill that the proposed bill would place control of beer out of politics he asked:

"I wonder how we can get beer out of politics by putting it in the hands of county commissioners?"

Goodman spoke for more than an hour. Meanwhile, crowds continued to pour into the State Capitol. Scores of law men were forced to remain outside of the jammed public chamber. Many of those inside sat on the floor between the aisles.

Peck said that while he had heard from more than 1,000 people who are opposed to the town control bill in the face of the leading people of the state.

Peck said that while the judiciary committee bill and its sponsors insist that beer and wine of 3.2 content are not intoxicating they provide greater penalties for violation of the 18th Amendment.

Saying that the new beer will be just as intoxicating as that of the past, Sparks asked the rejection of the town control bill and moved for a roll call vote. His motion was passed by a vote of 100 to 10.

Bell said that the subject is the "most stupendous" to be considered during the present session. He pounded his desk as he appealed to the representatives from the small towns and the women members to back the amendment.

"It is simply a question of whether you favor state control of the situation or control by the county commissioners or towns," he said. "I have been accused of standing by Governor Cross. That is not strictly true. I feel rather that the governor is standing by me. I feel that the people of Connecticut and that he favors a system that is for the best interests of the state."

Lions of Norwalk, who last week said that the only reason he had voted for many bills which he felt should not pass was because he had been told by fellow Republicans that it was the thing to do, spoke against the amendment and favored the town control bill.

The House laughed as he referred to Judge Peck's statement that in the old days the back door, side doors and upstairs of saloons were kept busy and asked "Was you der Judge?"

Mrs. Helen B. Kitchel, of Greenwich, spoke for the amendment and suggested that politics could be kept out of the liquor question by removing private profit.

Stanley E. Mead of New Canaan, spoke against the town control bill declaring that the provision that control of beer selling by local ordinance is "just a joke."

Mrs. Mead, describing himself as a loyal Republican, provoked considerable applause when he said he supported Governor Cross in the latter's insistence on centralized control.

Asserting there was a right way and a wrong way for controlling liquor traffic he declared: "If Governor Cross takes the right way I am with him."

He warned that "Connecticut will never repeal the 18th Amendment" if the Alcorn Baldwin bill is passed. Rep. E. O. Smith of Mansfield, Republican also spoke against return of liquor control to local authorities.

Two other Republicans, Hitchings of Hartington and Thornhill of Brookfield, said they resented criticism of the county commissioners voiced by supporters of centralized control.

Called Biddisnope "Since the year 1909-1914 the farmers' cost of production have greatly increased. Therefore, it seems to me to be farcial to assert that the pending bill will restore the farmers' buying power."

Past chief daughters of Helen Davidson Lodge, Daughters of Scotia, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock with Mrs. Jack Porter at the home of her mother, Mrs. Margaret Brown, of Arch street.

Mary Bushnell Cheney auxiliary, U. S. W. V., will hold its meeting tomorrow evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Converse, Main street at Armory. The change is made because of the nurses' bazaar at the State Armory.

The annual muster party will be postponed until May 3. Election of delegates and alternates will take place at the meeting tomorrow night for the June convention.

A rehearsal of the Moose minstrel will be held at the Home Club on Brainard Place tonight at 7 o'clock. The show will be given a week from tonight in New Britain.

A rehearsal of the Children of Mary and members of the K. of C. who are taking part in the coming minstrel, is called for tonight at 7:30 at St. James's school hall.

Weddings Cowles-Owens Miss Beatrice Elizabeth Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter R. Haugan, of Girard avenue, Hartford, was married yesterday at Christ Church cathedral, Hartford, to Harry Howard Cowles, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Erastus F. Cowles, of this town. The church was beautifully decorated with Easter lilies, tulips and palms. The pastor, Rev. C. G. Lund, performed the ceremony. The bridal music was played by William Melville, son of the matron of honor, Mrs. Leonard O. Melville. The best man was George A. Cowles, and the ushers Peter Haugan, Dan and Alton Cowles and William Waldron. The bride who was given in marriage by her stepfather, wore a gown of white satin trimmed with soft pearls. She wore a veil of tulle and carried a superb bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Following the ceremony a luncheon for the immediate relatives was served at the home of the bridegroom, 209 Hilltown road.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowles are absent on a wedding trip. The bride's traveling costume was of blue with gray trim and gray accessories. The bride is a graduate of the Long Island College Training School for Nurses. The bridegroom is a tobacco grower.

SEEK FUNDS TO KEEP COUNTY "Y" ACTIVE

Present Organization Doing Wonderful Job in Finding Occupation for Idle Hands—What Has Been Accomplished Here.

The annual canvass for funds to finance the work of the Hartford County Y. M. C. A. got under way last night at a meeting of the local members of the County Board of Directors and others interested in the organization. Clarence S. Quimby, vice president and general chairman of the drive and will be assisted by the following: F. A. Verplanck, Ray Pillsbury, A. N. Potter, C. W. Holman, James O. Mower, Charles Burr, and Thomas M. Quimby, William Strickland and Lawrence Case.

A meeting of the canvassers will be held Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the High school. The local members of the Board of Directors will be: Mr. Holman, Mr. Burr, Mr. Quimby, Wells Strickland and Lawrence Case.

Letter to Contributors A letter signed by Ralph M. Grant, president of the County Y, has been mailed to present and future contributors and reads as follows: "Never was there a time when the growing generation needed assistance in the development of character more than now. So many boys who would normally be at work or otherwise profitably engaged are now idle. The old adage—'Satan finds mischief for idle hands to do' is peculiarly applicable to the time."

The County Y at present has neither occupancy nor money. The County Y cannot supply the latter. It must and is supplying the former.

"This work is maintained entirely through the annual gifts of Hartford county people. The fact that the giver of more than $100 has been largely eliminated through economic circumstances makes it incumbent upon our present givers to recognize the claim of the coming generation has on us and impels us to give what we are concerned about youth."

"We have reduced our budget to the bone, having decreased it 40 per cent the last two years—while we have greatly multiplied the activities. We appeal to you to keep this necessary work functioning for the coming year."

Local Y Activities The County Y has contributed eight organized County Y groups to Manchester and vicinity with a membership of 220 boys and young men and extensive co-operative work with the Manchester Y including a local membership of over 400.

CHAMBER TO SEEK FUNDS FOR BUDGET

To Launch Campaign to Raise Needed Money—Hall is Chairman.

An effort will be made during the week beginning April 24 to raise funds to meet the 1933 budget of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

This was decided Monday evening at a meeting of the finance committee which was recently empowered by the Board of Directors to proceed with plans as they saw best. The meeting yesterday was also attended by the three presidents and the unanimous opinion of the gathering was that a campaign should be launched immediately to raise the necessary funds to continue Chamber activities. Edward J. Holl is to be campaign chairman.

No Pressure Used Earlier in the year the Board of Control approved a reduced budget which was prepared and recommended by the executive committee, but up to the present time no pressure has been brought upon its members to make payment of dues or to secure new members for the organization. The present plans call for a campaign consisting of the present finance committee and five other campaign units acting as teams with eleven men in each group. These five groups will be known as "The Present Directors", "The Past Presidents", "The Future Presidents", "The Dependables" and "The Membership Committee."

This plan of a campaign is being brought into effect as a good business move rather than continue through the greater portion of the year on anticipated income which will normally be at the end of the year. This year's Board of Directors has taken a firm stand that the Chamber will not run on borrowed money or incur a deficit, but will keep within its income. The officers at the meeting last night, expressed the hope that all members would respond promptly and generously to the request that will be made next week, as the Chamber is being called upon to a much greater degree during these times of unsettled business than ever was the case in normal times and, therefore, need the support and assistance of all present members as well as the backing of business firms and individuals who are not at present members of the Chamber.

Thriftful Campaign The coming campaign will be threefold in purpose, namely, first, to renew the supporting memberships known as sustaining members and which consists of the firms with membership of from $100 and upward; secondly, to canvass all regular members for payment of their fiscal year's dues or as great a part of it as possible and the third phase of the program to be the securing of several new members.

Seek $5,000 The Chamber hopes to have $5,000 underwritten through this program, which will enable it to continue to render its services to Manchester.

REBEKAH'S PROGRAM IS WELL RECEIVED Nets Good Sum for Benefit of Odd Fellows Home in Groton—The Entertainment.

Sunset Rebekah lodge's annual spring entertainment last night for the benefit of the Odd Fellows home in Groton was a success from every point of view. The program opened with a group of numbers played by an orchestra trio; and was followed by duets by the Dalmarstro brothers of East Glastonbury, Daniel and Eddie, Jr., in "Mountaineer" songs. The little lad was only about 12 months old. He has an unusually strong voice for a child, and showed himself adept in yodeling. This number was unusual and was loudly applauded.

Miss Susan Black, a pupil of Miss Alice Morgan Black, delighted with two numbers, "Out of the Dusk" by Lee and "Danny Boy." She has a pleasing soprano voice, and at the close of her second number was obliged to respond to an insistent request to sing "A Dream," by Bartlett. Miss Lylian Rutt accompanied Miss Black.

At the close of the performance Mrs. Jessie Wallace, the coach, was presented with a beautiful corsage of friends, gardenias and roses from the chairman of the entertainment, Mrs. Bedrick Straghan, Noble Grand Mrs. Emma Dowd and the cast. Mrs. Straghan received from Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Dowd and the cast a beautiful bouquet of snapdragons, roses, jonquils and other spring flowers.

"REACH FOR THE MOON" UNUSUALLY WELL CAST

Miss Betty Walworth Handles Leading Role Easily—Fred Milder in Good Part.

Those who have attended rehearsals of "Reach for the Moon," the three-act comedy, which is to be presented at High school hall on Friday, April 21, and watched the developments of the play feel that it is particularly well cast. Inasmuch as "The Torch Bearers," the last production called for a large cast, many of which were seniors, several juniors have been chosen to take part in this last play of the year. Many of these students have previously taken part in either one-act plays or Sophomore-Freshmen presentations.

Much of the action of "Reach for the Moon" centers around the leading character Jennifer Lee, a part which is to be taken by Betty Walworth. Miss Walworth has been a member of the Stock and Buskin club for the past two years and has taken part in several productions including the Christmas pageant as well as one-act plays. Her part as Jennifer Lee calls for a young lady poised and charming in manner for, as it happens, she is an heiress scheduled to marry an Earl, falls to appear in the wedding procession, and escaping to a dude ranch obtains a position as secretary to the wealthy Mrs. Larrimore. Things are topsy-turvy from then on for the Earl unexpectedly arrives at the very ranch on which she is staying and causes complications of all sorts.

The role of John Cameron, taken by Fred Milder '33, is also a conspicuous one. His part is one in which there is something of a mystery and he tries to disguise it by appearing dignified, distinguished, and easy in manner. He is one of the owners of the ranch and has had an eventual career. As the younger son of the Earl of Sherbourne—Eric, for reasons of his own, makes his way to America

TOWN'S FINE CREDIT HELPS BONDS SALE

Treasurer Waddell Confident New Issue Will Be Taken; Tax Collections.

The credit of the Town of Manchester based on tax receipts over the past five years is comparable to any town in the county and state, according to the list of uncollected taxes reported by Town Treasurer Waddell today.

During the five year period from 1927 to date when less than an average of six per cent of the town tax was reported uncollected, the cost of charity and unemployment has been heavy.

Debt Refunded. Town Treasurer Waddell reported today that the current tax payments have been very good, indicating that a large per cent of the year's tax has been planned for by the taxpayers.

ROCKVILLE

HOLD UP JURY TRIALS UNTIL NEXT WEEK

Some Settlements Reached in Superior Court So Opening Will Be on April 25.

Jury trials, the first in several years to be heard in Rockville, were postponed from today until April 25 when it was reported to the court this morning that some had been settled and others were not ready.

The case of Mary Rankin vs. Thomas V. Holden, administrator was settled by agreement before court opened. The case of Carl Miller vs. the Consolidated Motor Lines was not ready and was continued to another case due to be heard today and previous to April 25 were eliminated by the judge after the court heard motions made to that effect.

The following jury panel has been drawn: Arthur W. Savage of Andover; Northrup Loomis of Boston; William Green of Columbia; James L. Brandon of Coventry; Charles A. Thompson and John De Carl of Ellington; R. H. Tennant of Hebron; Willis P. Wildest and Charles A. Wheeler of Mansfield; Walter Whitlock and Raymond Eugene of Souers; Harold B. Pinney and Howard W. Schofield of Stafford; William Ott and George Cook of Tolland; George Kastur of Union; Alfred Market of Vernon and Raymond Amidon of Willington.

The matter has held five since Thursday evening, April 10, when the alleged assault took place at the Brooklyn street home of the girl who was alone at the time.

More than a dozen young men have been questioned by the local police as to their whereabouts at the time of the alleged assault. Practically all of them cleared themselves. The fact that the girl returned home on the 9 o'clock bus from Manchester on the night in question has been a point of interest. She claims to have been alone.

Rising Star Lodge, Improved Order of Odd Fellows, will celebrate its golden anniversary in Odd Fellows hall on Friday evening of this week. This is to be one of the big social events of the season with guests present from all parts of Connecticut.

Following the dinner there will be dancing. High School Resumes. The Rockville high school resumed its work yesterday after being closed for two weeks because of a scarlet fever epidemic.

The various towns sending pupils to the Rockville high school have practically recovered from the scarlet fever epidemic. The attendance yesterday suffered a large number of absent but this is believed to be due to colds and slight illness. A check up on the attendance will be made today.

Fined in Police Court. Two cases were before Judge John E. Fisk in the Rockville city court yesterday morning as the result of violation of motor vehicle code presented for failing to stop at a sign. Sam Carr of Ellington was presented for failing to stop at a traffic signal at the intersection of East Main and Prospect streets. He was found guilty and fined one dollar and $5 of the costs.

Clean-up Underway. The annual spring clean-up of old tin cans and rubbish but not ashes is on. The trucks of the Public Works Department started the work yesterday morning and continued until dark. They will resume the work today in hope of finishing it.

The tennis club of the Union Congregational church will hold a meeting in the church social room at 7 o'clock. Officers will be elected and a business meeting will be conducted.

The April showers of the past few days have made the streets very slippery and proved a handicap to the automobile traffic. The trout season is at its height in Tolland County with several scores of fishermen securing catches in Rockville. Several of the "largest"

Climbed Many Obstacles To Attain School Honors

Miss Lucy Barrera Named As Valedictorian of 1933 Class Worked At Other Tasks Outside of Studies.

The achievement of Miss Lucy Barrera, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Barrera of 54 School street, in earning the coveted honor of giving the Valedictory at the graduation exercises of Manchester High school in June is all the more remarkable when it is taken into consideration that Miss Barrera attained her high scholastic standing in spite of difficulty.

Miss Barrera achieved the unusual record of making the A honor roll every term for four years, a feature that has been accomplished only twice before in the last decade. This, in itself, requires hard and earnest application to studies, especially so, when the subjects taken include four years of Latin, three years of French, two years of algebra, chemistry, geometry and extra studies from the commercial curriculum.

Lucy hasn't been able to devote her spare time outside of school entirely to studies, much as she may have desired to do so. Instead, she has been employed as kitchen maid at the home of the Misses Annie and Louise and Robert Cheney at 80 Hartford road, where her mother is employed as cook.

Miss Barrera arises at 6 o'clock in the morning and before starting for school assists her mother in the kitchen, doing the millon and one little things that are familiar to all who do housework, setting a table, washing dishes, cleaning up here and there and so forth.

The work of the new home of Morton J. Webster, local contractor, who was granted a permit for a dwelling 28 by 39 at King street, has been started. This is in the Grove street section of the city where there has been much building activity during the past few years. This is the first permit for a dwelling granted in Rockville in 1933.

MANY SEE EXHIBIT OF SCHOOL WORK

Barnard and Nathan Hale Pupils' Prowess Shown for Admiring Parents.

An unusually large number of townspeople attended the annual exhibition of work done by pupils at the Barnard school last night. Many admiring comments were heard on the remarkable work of the students in constructing and illustrating the various subjects which are taught in grammar schools.

The work will be on exhibit this afternoon, tomorrow and Thursday afternoon from 3:30 to 4:30 o'clock for those unable to attend last night. The subjects covered in the exhibit include literature, English composition, grammar, arithmetic, spelling, penmanship, manual training, history, geography, civics, hygiene, guidance, sewing, cooking, art and music. Most of the work is done by the individual pupils, but some exhibits will be on display, covering similar subjects, tomorrow night from 7 to 8:30 o'clock and also this afternoon, tomorrow and Thursday afternoon.

DON'T LET COMMON CONSTIPATION DULL THE JOY OF LIVING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief

Constipation takes the sunshine out of your days. It may bring headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, sallow skins, pimples. If neglected, it can seriously impair health.

Fortunately, you can avoid this condition by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than dosing yourself with patent medicines. Two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ZION LUTHERANS IN BIBLICAL DRAMA

Walther League to Present "Ruth"—20 Young People to Take Part.

"Ruth," the Biblical drama, will be presented at the Zion Lutheran church on Cooper street, Friday evening at 8 o'clock by a cast of 20 young people from the Walther League society of the church, under the direction of Miss Emily Kismann. The drama is in three acts. Miss Wilma M. Hess will be the organist for the evening and music between the acts will be furnished by the Joyner trio. Home made candy will be sold. Tickets are on sale by the members of the society, and an especially low rate will be made for children.

TUESDAY, APRIL 18.

thousand dollar bonds to swap for currency not quite so valid?

The task before our government for the next five years is the lifting of commodity prices, the restoration of the value of farms and homes so that their owners will have some equity in them, but, first of all, the vitalizing of industry and the providing of job, jobs and more jobs; not, in the very least, the provision of income-producing investments for people with money who do not want to risk it in the channels of production and distribution.

In this same connection there are six billions of Liberty bonds callable within the next six months. It has been announced that the Treasury doesn't propose to do anything about them. That is, we shall go on paying the 4-1/2 per cent interest on these bonds after they might have been retired.

Well, why not retire them—with those same Treasury notes? Or, for that matter, with straight flat greenbacks endowed with unlimited legal tender quality?

That would save another $270,000,000 a year and turn loose a vast amount of money that would have to be put to work if it were to earn its owners anything. Is that, or is it not, just what is needed?

It is things like this that must be done to stop this terrific loss of twenty-five billion a year to the workers of the nation, to put the country to work and to start the wheels of business turning at something like normal speed.

Is it any wonder that an especially well informed Washington correspondent should write, on Saturday, that leaders in both branches of Congress are privately saying that "if necessary Congress will jam inflation down the throat of the administration"?

Mr. Roosevelt's 1932 theories—some of them—are all right as far as they go. We are deep enough into 1933 to realize that they don't go more than about quarter way far enough. Now it's up to him to lead or be led. The American people's days of standing still and taking it on the chin are very nearly over.

A JUDGE'S ADMISSION.

While a certain measure of respect is yielded to Judge James E. Horton of Alabama by most newspaper readers who have followed the Scottsboro case, he obviously does not hold firmly to the faith in his own Alabama neighbors which he outwardly professes. Judge Horton's indefinite postponement of the trial of the eight remaining Negro defendants in the outrage case is placed on the ground that they could not at this time receive a fair trial; and his reason for this belief, according to his statement, lies in the resentment stirred up in Morgan county by certain strictures on the intelligence of the jury that convicted one of the defendants made by Samuel S. Leibowitz, the convicted man's counsel.

This, if Judge Horton only realized it, is a confession of exactly what Leibowitz charges, that a Morgan County jury is incapable of viewing evidence as such and as something apart from its own passions, likes and dislikes. To admit that there are not, in an Alabama county, enough citizens to form a jury who would not send an innocent man to the gallows because they had been insulted by his lawyer is to confess to precisely what the law-yer-alleges and what a great many other people have all along suspected. Even according to Judge Horton, who evidently wants to be fair but whose vision is dim, a Morgan County jury is unfit to hold in its hands the decision of life or death over any human creature because it cannot rise above its own undisciplined angers and prejudices.

USEFUL TO ANYONE.

"Big Eddie" Horstman, racketeer radio expert for rum runners, never was a Boy Scout. If he had been he might have still been continuing his career of lawlessness instead of having suddenly been converted into a pale and lifeless form. Which is not intended to convey the impression that Boy Scout training is logically to be associated with successful existence as a crook.

Big Eddie had a visit from the cops. He wished to avoid the interview. So he tied a sheet to the radiator of his hotel room in Manhattan, tied another sheet to that one and let himself out of the window, expecting to swing himself over to a closely adjoining roof two floors below. One of the knots slipped and Big Eddie fell six floors between the buildings, landing on skylight and becoming instantly quite dead.

If Big Eddie had been a Boy Scout he would have learned, very early, not to tie a "granny" when you are trying to tie a square knot. And he must have tied a "granny". A square knot wouldn't have slipped.

So there is one more bit of evidence that Boy Scout training would do no harm to anybody—not even to a bootlegging radio man who finds occasion to skip out of a hotel window.

FREE SILVER.

News dispatches which today talked about the "crushing in defeat" of the advocates of monetary inflation, in connection with the vote on the Wheeler amendment to the farm relief bill yesterday, painted the situation in deceptive colors.

As a matter of fact the vote in favor of the Wheeler measure for the free coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1 was an astonishing one. All forecasts for several days had been to the effect that the amendment would receive little support for the reason that not only the President but a number of influential senators disapproved of attaching the free silver proposal to the farm bill, believing that it should be separately considered on its merits. Instead, however, the vote was only 48 to 83 against the amendment, so that the change of half a dozen votes would have incorporated the provision in the relief bill.

There could hardly be better proof of the tremendously rapid growth in Congress of inflationist sentiment and if there have been doubters that this session would see the passage of highly important currency expansion they now have reason to call their doubts into question.

Of all conceivable inflationist projects bimetallic free coinage is the safest, for it cannot be carried beyond a certain definite limit. It is also a sure device for the reasonable raising of prices because it is a genuine, not a synthetic inflation—an increase in the redemption money and not a blowing up of credit and debt.

When it comes it will very quickly open up to American industry great markets now practically closed to us—the Orient and South America. And the prospects, judging from yesterday's Senate vote, are that it may come speedily.

ANDOVER

Mrs. Helen Fitzgerald and Mrs. Lewis Phelps spent Tuesday in Hartford.

Mrs. Helen Fitzgerald left Wednesday to spend the Easter season with her son, the Rev. John H. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Fitzgerald of Bayridge, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Keamey of South Manchester were callers of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Platt Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Armour and Ronald Platt of Wapping and Ernest Rosengrin of Bridgeport, spent Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Frink.

There were 38 in attendance at the Lenten service Thursday evening. The Rev. Wallace I. Woodin took as his subject "Facing the Issue" presenting the chief events which took place from the Sabbath before Good Friday up to the time of the betrayal of Christ. Communion was served. Nathan Gatchell added further beauty to the simple but impressive service by his splendid work at the organ.

The combined Glee clubs of Connecticut State College will give a concert in the Andover Town Hall Friday evening. The combined clubs are composed of seventy voices. There will be music by the Women's Glee club as a unit, and by the Men's Glee club as a unit, besides those pieces rendered by the combined choruses. There will be no admission charge but a collection will be taken. This is an unusual chance to enjoy the splendid musical program and it is hoped a large audience will be present to welcome the glee clubs appearance. This is being sponsored by the Christian Endeavor Society.

The Ladies Benevolent Society will meet at the conference house Thursday afternoon.

Fifteen members of the junior choir and twenty-one members of the senior choir took part in the Easter service at the Congregational church on Sunday morning. A duet was sung by the Misses Lois and Louise Helmer, the "Resurrection Hymn" was sung by the combined choirs and an anthem, "Grave, Where Is Thy Victor" was rendered by the senior choir, singing from the gallery. A children's spring story was told by the Rev. Wallace I. Woodin before the regular sermon. Three young ladies were taken into the church, Mary Marguerite Merrill, who was first baptized, Miliana Samuels and Elaine Durston. The church was beautifully decorated with Easter lilies, scarlet geraniums and pink white and lavender hyacinths.

A reading, "The Quest of the Grail" was given by Miss Amy Randall at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society Sunday evening. The musical setting and descriptions were played on the electric organ by Nathan Gatchell, and the lighting of the altar candles, and the illumination of the Grail was in charge of Malcolm Thompson. It was a beautiful service. Miss Randall is a trained singer and reader, and the background for her work furnished by the music and lighting effects as well as the stage setting of the altar itself, added further inspiration to the natural talent with which she is gifted. The story was that of a knight, who about to be knighted, by the king on the day following, spent a night's vigil in a lonely out of the way chapel in the woods. The figure of "Anne-of-the-Woods" an old woman who kept the altar dusted, the candles renewed and the fount supplied with holy water was a splendid character study. The night was full

HEALTH-DIET ADVICE

TREATMENT OF HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE.

It may interest you to learn how high blood pressure is developed. At first the increased tension in the muscles of the arterial walls lasts for short periods and may result from irritation through wrong diet, as through eating too much starch or using too many condiments. The irritation may arise from a mental state such as fear, excitement, worry or anger. The second stage is reached when this constriction of the arterial walls is present nearly all the time. You can see that if the walls are tensed, they will not "give" or stretch as easily as they should when the blood pulses through them. To overcome the increased resistance the heart must pump under greater pressure to force the blood through. In the third stage, the walls of the arteries become tired from continued irritation, and to prop up the exhausted arteries the heart is forced to pump every long-standing case of the organ shows the result of the strain. About half of the deaths where disease of the arteries have been present are due to heart disease. The arteries and the heart are parts of the same system and that which damages one damages the other.

Generally, high blood pressure is present for many years with no symptoms which are: headache, dizziness, flushing of the face; and sometimes there is pain through the chest in the region of the heart, or difficult breathing, or ringing of the ears or a noise in the head. The blood pressure patient may be easily irritated, he may fret and fume, get up feeling tired and may be restless. The head may feel full and the veins of the forehead may bulge. One of the first definite symptoms is the high blood pressure which may soar up to 220 or over, when it ought to be below 140. Nosebleed or ringing in the ears may be present and over-weighing is common.

The pressure is quickly reduced by fasting and dieting, and I have seen many cases completely cured by right diet. The modern treatment is diuretic and doctors call little or no value in lowering high blood pressure.

The first thing for the patient to do is to take at least a five day fast. The only food that is good to use and I have never had a case under my observation and control where the pressure was not reduced to more nearly normal

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Eyelids Are Swollen
 Question: Edward Vana, writes: "What is the cause of the upper and lower eyelids being swollen all the time; also, what causes a person to see his nose when reading?"
 Answer: Inflammation of the eyelids is caused by the same bad habits which produce gastritis, enteritis, colitis, or any inflammation of the digestive organs. When the stomach or intestines are inflamed, it is liable to affect any of the mucous membranes of the body. If you are bothered by seeing your nose when you read, it may be because your eyes do not focus properly. Go to a good optometrist and see if properly fitted glasses will not correct this trouble.

Diet For Two-Year-Old
 Question: Mrs. Gordon J. writes: "Will you suggest the proper diet for a child two and a half years? He does not seem to be ill but has rough red spots on his cheeks at times and is unusually cross and irritable after waking from his afternoon nap."
 Answer: Try giving him four feedings of milk a day, using eight or ten ounces of milk at each feeding. At the second, third and fourth feedings give him a good sized dish of minced spinach, carrots, string beans, summer squash or celery. It is a good plan to use also one of the vegetables raw along with the cooked one.

INJURED BY BOLT
Bridgeport, April 18.—(AP)—Struck in the head by a six inch bolt which was snapped, fifty feet through the air, two year old Alice Fallo of Norwalk was reported resting comfortably today at St. Vincent's hospital.

EDUCATOR DIES
New York, April 18.—(AP)—Prof. Ashley Horace Thorndike of Columbia, noted as an author of text books on English is dead. The veteran teacher, who was 63, collapsed in the street from a heart attack last night and died on the way to hospital. He was born in Houlton, Maine, and was graduated from Wesleyan and Harvard universities.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Altoona, Pa.—Audrey and Irene Hugar four and six years old, are the legally adopted daughters of their own father.

Four months ago, the children were adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Latchford. Mr. Latchford died. A court ruled it was Hugar's duty to take back his children, and that the only way he could do was to adopt them. Hugar complied.

Indianapolis—Alva C. Wheeler was given thirty days in jail for administering 14 lashes to his 11 year old son Arthur, who spilled sugar while preparing dinner.

Chicago—Mrs. Caroline La Plante, 37, has learned her breathing lessons so well physicians say she is well on the road to complete recovery.

Stricken March 31 with a brain inflammation, she forgot how to breathe naturally and was placed in an artificial breathing machine.

Milwaukee—When a man spends two hours in a dentist's chair having his teeth yanked out, he can hardly be expected to worry about whether his automobile is parked overtime.

A judge ruled to this effect in passing on the case of Peter Wilmer.

Tiffin, Ohio—Emmett Kelbey, farmer near here, has a baby pig with four ears.

At the Federated church last Sunday there were seven young men, who united with the church by confession of faith. They were: Wells Dewey, Walter Foster, Jr., Phillip Pierce, Harvey Buckland, Harold Porcheron, James Williams and Jack Heritage. There was extra music by the choir and a junior chorus of girls also sang an anthem. There was a large audience for Easter, and the flowers were very beautiful.

Harry P. Files, Sr. of Boston, Mass., spent the week-end at his home here returning to his work on Sunday afternoon.

The Wagiau Girls club will hold their regular meeting next Tuesday evening, with Mrs. Evelyn Carter, their leader, at the parsonage.

Mrs. Dorothy Donahue of New York, spent Easter at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Files returning to New York on Sunday evening.

Calvin C. Boles and Robert F. Valentine of Pleasant Valley, and both of the Capital National Bank and Trust Company, will attend the annual meeting of the Connecticut Safe Deposit Association at the Sunset Ridge Country Club, East Hartford on Wednesday.

A setback party will be held Friday evening, April 21 at the Rye Street School. The receipts will be used for graduation expenses.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Valentine of Pleasant Valley, motored to Springfield, Mass., last Friday, where they spent the day visiting the different banks.

WOULD PAY VETERANS WITH WESTERN LANDS

Congress Presents Bill That Would Be Used Instead of a Cash Bonus Plan.

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—Issuance of land to veterans, with a dual purpose of immediate payment of their bonus and to expand development of the western states was asked today in a bill by Senator Carey (R-Wyo.).

Under the measure modeled after the law enacted to give a bonus in acres to Civil War soldiers—the secretary of interior would be authorized to issue land warrants to former soldiers to the face value of bonus certificates.

The warrants would be based on 40 acres of the public domain for each $50 of the certificate's value.

Veterans, Carey explained to newspapermen, would be allowed to sell their warrants on the land, which would enable them to obtain cash for their certificates without the Federal government having to spend any money from the Treasury.

The bill would have the dual object of paying off the bonus and permitting development in the western states of a large block of the remaining 190,000,000 acres of public domain, which would be subject to state taxation if title passed from the government.

A patent in fee would be issued to the former soldiers in exchange for the warrants, for any land now open to entry under homestead laws.

SEN. COPELAND SCORES ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT

Demands That An Economic Survey Be Made to Gauge Extent of Traffic.

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—Strenuous opposition to the St. Lawrence waterway treaty was evidenced in the Senate today when Senator Copeland (D., N. Y.) demanded that an economic study be made of its desirability.

Discounting the benefits which would flow from the waterway as proposed in the treaty with Canada, he demanded an investigation to determine how much traffic would be diverted from American to Canadian ports.

In order to obtain an economic survey, he insisted that a resolution proposing to turn the United States share of power from the project to New York state be referred to the Senate commerce committee instead of the foreign relations committee.

Members of the foreign relations committee insisted that it, which considered the treaty, should also handle the power resolution introduced Saturday by Chairman Pittman.

The first Senate debate on the treaty was precipitated by a move by Senator La Follette (R., Wis.) to have the power resolution referred to the foreign relations committee.

His move drew an immediate attack on the part from Senator Long (D., La.) who said it was a proposal to have the United States build "an all-British canal with our money to take away our commerce."

COUNTRY CLUB BANKRUPT

Middletown, April 18.—(AP)—The first hearing in the voluntary bankruptcy of the Highland Country Club of Meriden was held today before Referee Thomas C. Flood.

Wayne S. Robinson of Meriden is trustee and George Hunter, Harold Hall and Francis Danaher were made appraisers. The debts are $28,000 and the assets, mostly accounts receivable, about $8,500. The bond holders were represented at the hearing.

Three M. H. S. Teams Open Sports Season This Week

Golfers Meet Lewis High Thursday; Baseball Nine Faces Middletown Here Friday; Track Squad Opposes Hartford Saturday.

Three of Manchester High school's athletic teams swing into action this week as the baseball, outdoor track and golf seasons get underway. In all three cases the teams will be hampered by lack of extensive practice, due to the continued inclement weather that has prevailed for the past few weeks.

Thursday afternoon the Red and White golf team is scheduled to meet Lewis High at Southington. The team consists of H. Civello, captain; D. Civello, E. Eubank and M. Reardon. The quartet has been practicing whenever possible at the local Country club and the team expects to enjoy a successful season.

FIREMEN TO OPPOSE TRADE SCHOOL NINE

Mechanics Play Pre-Season Tilt at Charter Oak Field Thursday Afternoon.

As a warm-up encounter before the opening of the season next week, the State Trade School baseball nine will oppose Home Company No. 3 of the South Manchester Fire Department, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Charter Oak Street field. The Mechanics meet Windsor Locks next Wednesday here.

Coch Frank Crowley has not selected his first string line-up but expects to do so after the game Thursday when he discovers how the candidates perform "under fire." The Mechanics have already played two games this season, beating Manchester Green, 10-2 and Bolton All-Stars, 2-1.

Coach Crowley will probably start either Farrell or Ashland, both former high school pitchers. The remainder of the lineup remains in doubt. Inclement weather has forced postponement of several practice sessions during the past week and it is hoped that the team can get in a few seasons this week before opening the regular season.

MID-WEST'S FINEST TALENT TO COMPETE IN KANSAS RELAYS

Trio of Stars Make Outdoor Debut and Are Expected to Shine in Annual Events This Friday.

By CHARLES GRUMICH (Associated Press Sports Writer) Lawrence, Kas., April 18.—(AP)—An army of record seekers, including some who already have beaten the marks they hope to surpass in competition, will undergo the first big time tests of the outdoor track and field season at the eleventh annual Kansas Relays in Memorial Stadium here April 21-22.

At least a dozen of the hundreds of athletes representing mid-western and southwestern colleges and universities are rated as dangerous threats to the records in the 12 relay races programmed, seven of them for universities, four for colleges and one for junior collegians; and the ten special events.

A feature of the carnival is the 1500-meter race, which was made an open event in order to give Glenn Cunningham of the University of Kansas a serious challenge in defense of his title.

Among the Kansas opponents will be Glenn Dawson of the Tulsa Athletic Association, national A. A. U. indoor 1,000-meter champion, who recently beat Cunningham in a slow indoor mile on an improvised track, and Harold Manning, who won the national collegiate 2-mile title while representing the University of Wichita.

Jim Busch, the Olympic decathlon champion and world record-holder, who won the Kansas relays decathlon title with new record point totals in 1931 and 1932, will not defend because of staging arrangements which preclude practice.

Among those in the scramble to succeed him will be Buster Charles, the Onida Indian brave, formerly of the Haskell Institute here, former relay decathlon champion and winner of the national A. A. U. all-around title in 1930. Charles finished fourth in the last Olympic decathlon.

The universities of Indiana and Iowa and Kansas State Teachers College of Pittsburg, which have taken away most of the prizes in former years, are sending delegations with the same ideas this year. The Pittsburg Tigers won all four college class relay titles last year.

The Hawkeyes will essay protection of their title and joint record in the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay, the half-mile relay championship and the mile relay. Indiana won the 4-mile and distance relay relays and the pole-vault last year.

Four in Sprint Duel The 100-yard dash may be a four-way struggle between Ed Hall of Kansas, Heye Lambertus of Nebraska, Whitey Cox of Oklahoma and Peyton Glass of Oklahoma A. & M. Lambertus, also a first class hurdler, recently ran the 60-yard dash indoors in 6.1, equalling the new world record registered by Ralph Metcalfe. The same day he ran the 90-yard low hurdles in 6.4, also bettering a world mark.

Cox equalled Joe Loomis' world record of 5.2 for the 50-yard sprint indoors. Hall has been doing the 100-yard dash, and 'lass is capable of about the same time.

Captain Earl Lennington of Illinois, holder of the Big Ten indoor pole-vault record at 13 feet 5 1/2 inches, is one of the outstanding vaulters entered.

CHARTER OAK DOUBLES In the Charter Oak Doubles last night Dickson and Sherman took two out of three games from L. Cervini and Giorgetti.

Sherman 173 220 300 Dickson 122 108 87 Giorgetti 94 123 92

TROUT PREFERS FLIES THAT LIVE CLOSE TO HOME

By JIMMY DONAHUE NEA Service Sports Writer When late spring arrives and flies start to hatch, make a visit to your pet trout stream or pool and notice what kind of flies predominate. Pick your fly book with patterns of these flies and you'll enjoy a good season.

Trout accept flies native to their localities more readily than they do strange flies, but there are times when they won't accept any at all.

If you've tried everything in your book and failed, consult some old fisherman. They generally have one or two favorite flies, either standard make or their own design, which take trout when no other fly does.

In fishing streams, let the current take your fly with it in r overhanging banks, around rocks, and alongside sunken stumps. Trout tarry near where the current flows, ready to dart out at food brought down by the water.

In fast water trout generally are stronger and better fighters than those frequenting pools.

Any trout, feeling the sting of the hook, leaps out of the water, shakes his head and tries to loosen the painful morsel. Failing in this he'll cut for a rock or stump in an effort to cut your leader.

If you want trout, let them run and leap, but make them work for every inch of line.

You'll probably find these two flies in any fly fisherman's book. The Royal Coachman and the Professor are old standbys.

IN THE DERBY PADDOCK

By MAX HIDDLE (Copyright 1933 by NEA) As a two-year-old Good Advice finished out of the money only four times in ten starts. And, though he won only $225, he was well-named son of Wise Counsellor-Wise Mother showed splendid courage and speed in every race.

The Catwaba farm colt, entered in the Derby by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. West, showed promise of stake class in the Baldwin handicap at Jamaica last fall when he showed the way to a good end including Kerry Park, Garden Message, Quel Jeu and Baloo. Good Advice led all the way, but such a hot pace was set by his pursuers that he was struggling desperately to hold his own at the end of the 5 1-2 furlongs.

Good Advice was not raced until he had fully matured, being introduced at the Belmont meeting last fall. He ran fifth and ninth in his first two starts, but finished second to Sarada in his third try. A week later he beat Sam Rampion and others by four lengths, leaving maiden ranks.

In his last race, at Bowie, Good Advice gave the promise that his owners hope to realize in the Derby. In a mile and 70 yards, Good Advice, ridden badly, finished second to Hippine, which had the advantage of a "rail sneak" at the turn for home.

Good Advice has staying qualities on both sides of his family. One of his maternal great-grandfathers was Ben Brush, winner of the Derby in 1896.

Nebraska, Noted for Power Plays, Plans Fancy Offensive Next Season

Lincoln, Neb., April 18.—(AP)—There'll be no "hayfoot, strawfoot" for University of Nebraska football players next fall, but they will have a snappy, military-like shift if spring practice plans of Coach Dana K. Bibb materialize.

The famous Cornhusker power-house, missing last year, may be back again—accompanied by last season's speed, an improved passing attack and a new shift.

This military shift made the Huskers a different team in spring practice. Their short, snappy steps from huddle to position were executed with speed and precision. The shift was designed to add color to the play and to aid deception.

Bibb expects to have four St. Louis 4, Cleveland 2. Only games scheduled.

TRACK MUST PAY PARI-MUTUEL TAX

Management Forget All About New Law—Bettors Should Have Paid.

Havre De Grace, Md., April 18.—(AP)—The management of the Havre De Grace race track today had to "make good" the state tax on pari-mutuel bets which should have been paid by the wagers Saturday.

Racing fans went to the mutual windows on the opening day and placed their money "on the nose" of their favorite horses in the custom of many years. They had no thought of the law, passed by the State Legislature, placing a one-per cent tax on all bets.

The law was believed by the racing commission to have been effective June 1, after the spring season closed, until Attorney General William Preston Lane, Jr., revealed a last-minute amendment which made the bill an emergency measure.

A total of $41,482 passed through the mutual machines on Saturday and now the management must pay the tax of $3,414.82. But the racing commission was notified before race time yesterday and the levy was charged against the bettors.

The law also alters the track's "breakage"—that portion allowed by law from the bets for the operator's plan. The old rule was the track got all the odd pennies up to five cents in paying off the wagers. The new law "breakage" permits up to ten cents.

BASEBALL BALL HAWKS WIN TWICE

The Ball Hawks opened their season by taking two games from the season's favorite, the Kyronees, Whitey Michelson and Karl Koski, the New York Finns, Hans Olday, the Olympic marathoner from Buffalo, Leslie Pawson of Pawtucket, R. I., and Johnny McLeod, the New Waterford, N. S., boy who raced for 28 miles last year before falling and being passed by 26 other competitors.

Although the entry list will probably be smaller than last year, when this race was an Olympic tryout, it has attracted the largest Canadian delegation in history. A total of 31 runners from over the border were on the list and several more were expected to make post entries. Twenty-five of the wearers of the Maple Leaf hat hail from Toronto, most of them representing the Monarch A. C.

A social register touch has been given this year's field by John C. Rice, Jr., Harvard senior and roommate of Mal Bancroft, the Crimson crew captain. Rice, who finished his college course last month, although he will not be graduated until June, fled a late entry. He is a cross-country runner who, for want of something better to do, has turned to marathoning.

Jesting with his father, a partner in a prominent Boston v firm and a former Harvard runner, he said he was tempted to run in the famous Boston grind. "You'd never finish," the parent taunted. The result was a family wager on young Rice's staying powers. In a recent tryout, Rice ran 19 miles under two hours, a performance that will not be equalled by many during tomorrow's race.

Racing officials have announced that a new starting policy will be used this year. Road repairing in Walesey has caused a 1,184-yard detour and the pack will assemble that distance this side of Lucky Manor farm, the old getaway mark.

If Golf Dims Batting Eye Sluggers Don't Know It

By ART KRENZ NEA Service Sports Writer Ty Cobb, when manager of the Tigers, warned on golf, declaring the game spoiled many a good batter's eye. Yet Ty, one of the greatest batters of all time, has been a fine golfer for years.

Lefty O'Doul, who runs to a golf course whenever he has a chance, is a refutation of the theory that a man can't play both golf and baseball. O'Doul led the National League last year in batting. He is at the top of the list of life-time .300 hitters in the major leagues with an average of .361.

Babe Ruth, O'Doul and Cobb—all left-handed hitters and golfers—can win from the average golfer nine times out of ten. Golf doesn't seem to have interfered with the old Bambino's batting eye. Connie Mack never has objected to his players' golfing. Mack is president of the Mount Pleasant club, near Orlando, Fla., and though past 70, he shoots in the 80's. Lefty Grove and Mickey Cochrane—forming baseball's best battery—play golf. Big George Earshaw was a starter in the winter Agua Caliente Open, and turned in an 82 for his first round. Jimmy Foss, leading home run hitter last year, also plays golf.

BOSTON RED SOX SHINE IN FIRST FOUR CONTESTS

De Mar, Seven Times Winner, an Outstanding Entry; Other Famous Runners Entered; Crowe to Run.

Boston, April 18.—(AP)—With four former winners and 18 of last year's first 20 finishers entered, the Boston A. A. marathon will have one of the best fields in its 37 years' history starting in tomorrow's marathon race from Hopkinton to Boston.

As usual, Clarence Demar, 44-year-old Keene, N. H., school teacher and seven-time winner, is the outstanding entry despite the presence of Paul DeBruyn, the New York German who won last year's Jimmy "Smiler" Henigan of Madford, 1931 winner and second last year, and the veteran Bill Kennedy of Port Chester, N. Y., who led the pack back in 1917 and has been trying to repeat ever since.

Among the other favorites are the season's favorite, Willie Kyronees, Whitey Michelson and Karl Koski, the New York Finns, Hans Olday, the Olympic marathoner from Buffalo, Leslie Pawson of Pawtucket, R. I., and Johnny McLeod, the New Waterford, N. S., boy who raced for 28 miles last year before falling and being passed by 26 other competitors.

Although the entry list will probably be smaller than last year, when this race was an Olympic tryout, it has attracted the largest Canadian delegation in history. A total of 31 runners from over the border were on the list and several more were expected to make post entries. Twenty-five of the wearers of the Maple Leaf hat hail from Toronto, most of them representing the Monarch A. C.

A social register touch has been given this year's field by John C. Rice, Jr., Harvard senior and roommate of Mal Bancroft, the Crimson crew captain. Rice, who finished his college course last month, although he will not be graduated until June, fled a late entry. He is a cross-country runner who, for want of something better to do, has turned to marathoning.

Jesting with his father, a partner in a prominent Boston v firm and a former Harvard runner, he said he was tempted to run in the famous Boston grind. "You'd never finish," the parent taunted. The result was a family wager on young Rice's staying powers. In a recent tryout, Rice ran 19 miles under two hours, a performance that will not be equalled by many during tomorrow's race.

Racing officials have announced that a new starting policy will be used this year. Road repairing in Walesey has caused a 1,184-yard detour and the pack will assemble that distance this side of Lucky Manor farm, the old getaway mark.

CHECKERS CHALLENGE Frank D'Amico who has just returned from the south and lays claim to the checker championship of the Army and Navy club has issued a challenge to the Big Four of the Charter Oak alleys. Manager D'Amico at the present time has refused to mention the players to represent his team for this event during the past few months he expects to give good account of himself.

Jimmie Crowe of Buckland, well known local marathoner, will run in the Boston marathon tomorrow. Crowe has been practicing steadily for this event during the past few months he expects to give good account of himself.

SEVEN OPEN CHAMPS MUST QUALIFY THIS YEAR

By ART KRENZ NEA Service Golf Writer Seven former National Open champions, the array of Macdonald-Walker, Barney Evans, Outimet and Travers, and one Ryder Cup nominee, Horton Smith, must play in the district qualifying rounds of 36 holes May 10 to prove their right to compete in the 1933 Open at the North Shore Golf club, Glen View, Ill., June 8 to 10.

In the list of other stars that failed to get into the select group of the leading 54 of last year's Open are John Golde, the Emporia brothers, Jack Hutchison, Bill Melhorn, Tony Manero, Willie Klein and Mike Brady.

Twenty-one districts will stage the qualifying round. They are: Boston; Woodbury; New York; Cherry Valley; Philadelphia; Old York Road; Washington, Manor club; Atlanta, Atlanta Athletic club; Dallas, Brook Hollow; Pittsburgh, Oakmont; Cleveland, Canterbury; Detroit, The Country club; Chicago, Madinah; St. Paul, Midland Hills; St. Louis, Normandale; Kansas City, Blue Hills; Denver, Lakewood; Los Angeles, Hillcrest; San Francisco, California; Buffalo, Oak; Wichita, Okla. Okla. Okla. Field club; Dayton, Miami; Portland, Niagara Falls Country club; Nashville, Belle Meade.

All golfers must enter, regardless of exemption, and pay a fee of $5. Entrants must be in the district they intend to qualify. Only entrants who are members of the committee will be permitted. The number of qualifiers from each district will be determined after the qualifying round. There will be 150 places open for qualification. 54 golfers are exempt, and 10 places are reserved for foreign entrants.

Pitchers Have Allowed Less Than Six Hits a Game But Won Only Once; Spill Senators, 4 to 2; Other Results Yesterday.

Nothing so far this major league season has been quite so startling as the magnificent showing of the Boston Red Sox, for years the doormat of the American League. The standings, coldly mathematical show the Sox have won only one game in four, but with a little luck it might just as well have been four victories and no defeats.

Maybe it won't last but Manager Marty McManus has been getting just about the best pitching in either league. His moundmen, called on to face the clubs picked to finish one, two, three, four, five, six and Washington Senators, have allowed precisely 23 hits in four games, less than six a game.

Much fl fortune couldn't continue indefinitely and Tom Wakeley's club finally broke into the winning column yesterday, spilling the Senators 4 to 2. Henry Johnson, aided and abetted by Kline and Welch, held Washington to four hits. And in the process the Sox cracked Alvin Crowder's two year winning streak of 16 games in succession.

The weatherman permitted playing of only two other games, both in the American league. The Chicago White Sox assailed Herring for five runs in the first inning but Detroit's Tigers came back to tie the count in the eighth and won the tenth, 9-5 when the young, cooie outfielder Ervin Fox struck a home run with two on.

The Browns won their first victory of the season, humbling five hits off Willis Judin and Oral Eddebrand for four runs in the sixth and a 4-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians. It was Cleveland's first defeat. Irvine Hadley went the route for the Browns and gave up only six hits.

Fox's Answers Query. New York, April 18.—(AP)—One of the questions that was waived in and out of the hot stove league last winter—the possible effect of Al Simmons' sale to the White Sox on the hitting of Jimmie Foss—was answered today, and by none other than the most interested party, James Foss, himself.

"Sure," he said, "I've heard about that. It's a nice point to consider. But the answer is 'No'."

"I always hit behind Al when he was with us and folks figured that perhaps he softened up the pitchers for me."

Simmons is a great ball player. One of the greatest in the game today, but one man can't ruin the control and confidence of a big league pitcher. If he could, then the fellow isn't a big league pitcher.

"If anything I got fewer chances to hit because Simmons was such a powerful batter. They gave me plenty of intentional passes last season because Al belted one ahead of me and was in position to score on another hit. When Babe Ruth was in the game, I had plenty of intentional passes because Al belted one ahead of me and was in position to score on another hit. When Babe Ruth was in the game, I had plenty of intentional passes because Al belted one ahead of me and was in position to score on another hit."

Babe Passed 1818 Times. New York, April 18.—(AP)—The demon baseball statisticians are at it again. When Babe Ruth was walked three times by the New York Yankees-Athletics game Sunday, alert figures bunched announced he had been given a total of 1818 passes in regular season games during his long career. They went even further back in the past, passes represented almost 31 miles of walking for the Babe.

SENSE and NONSENSE

OUR WORLD.
Although folks are lamenting the ugly things that be, the world is full of beauty. For those with eyes to see. Although folks are complaining that life is sadly drab, the days are sweet with music. For those with ears to hear. Although folks are deploring the deeds that sin has planned, God wanders through the twilight with those who understand.
—Edgar D. Kramer.

Love is a form of mental intoxication which makes the wisest man act foolish and a foolish person appear simple-minded. It makes him wear a facious smile, the wrong tie and odd gloves, and it makes him clanking in his evasions of his mother, to the boys at the office and to his clubmates, yet he forgets to rub the face powder off his coat lapel.

AN OUNCE OF LOYALTY IS WORTH ONE POUND OF CLEVERNESS.

One citizen has been making a study of President Roosevelt's cabinet, and makes the following observation: "The Bull-Damn bunch looks Farley good. I Woodin be surprised if this Cunnamin' summer business is Perkin' up."

Lady—All my boarders are gentlemen in the city.
Prospective Maid—And what are they like here?

IF YOU BELONG TO A CIRCLE OR SET THAT REALLY HAS A GOOD TIME IT IS PAINFUL THAT YOU ARE NOT SOCIALLY PROMINENT.

"If I could get a job for six full days a week, the other fellows could play with topocracy as long as they cared to."

Keeper—You can't fish here without a permit, my good man.
Fisher—I am managing very well with a worm, thank you.

THEN THERE IS THE AMBITIOUS YOUNG MAN WHO STARTED ON A SHOE STRING AND GOT SLAPPED.

Visitor—Well, Jasper, how do you like your new little sister?
Jasper—Oh, she's all right, I guess, but there are lots of things we need worse.

A local man says he is not as old as some people, but that he can remember when times were so hard that even pole cats didn't have a scent.

SOME PEOPLE WOULD BE DUMB IF THEY COULDN'T TALK ABOUT THEMSELVES.

A SUGAR DADDY IS A WHOLE LOT LIKE A GUY ON A ROLLER COASTER—HE PAYS EVERY TIME HE GOES AROUND THE CURVES.

The wild life in the country is nearly all shot and much of the life in the city is half-shot.

She—Darling, will you love me when I grow old and ugly.
He—Dearest, you may grow older, but you will never grow uglier.

A girl may be able to read a boy like a book but its too bad she can't look at the last chapter to see if she'll live happily ever after with him.

She—I wonder why we can't save money.
He—The neighbors are always doing something we can't afford.

RANDOM REMARKS—A clerk without a suggestion is as valuable as a ship without a rudder. It's easier to find fault in a boarding house than it is to find a square meal. . . . Either think for yourself or do as you are told. . . . Some men marry for money and others are merely careless. . . . The fellow who thinks a woman's place is in the home, isn't very well acquainted with her. . . . Easy Street isn't so attractive. People who live there seldom spend the winter or summer at home. All tools are not dead yet. Many of them are not even sick. . . . Be sure your wife is right, then go ahead. . . . Many a charity fund owes its success to the competition of vanity.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Meyer of Fremont Center, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. Elizabeth Fuller of 14 West Middle Turnpike. Mrs. Meyer is Mrs. Fuller's sister.

'The Path Across the Hill' the three-act play recently presented by the young people of the Christian Endeavor society of the Second Congregational church at the Whiton Memorial, will be repeated tomorrow evening at Gilead. David Williams of Buckland has been coaching the cast. The play was also given with success at the Highland Park Community clubhouse.

The Highland Lassies will give the final setback in the series tonight at the Highland Park Community clubhouse. Grand prizes will also be awarded and the refreshments will consist of home made gingerbread with whipped cream.

Mrs. Thomas Hackett, of North Main street, Buckland, who has been in the earthquake zone in California, and her niece, Mary, daughter of Police Commissioner, and Mrs. John Hackett are due to dock in New York this afternoon on the S. Santa Paula on their return trip. They will be met by Mr. and Mrs. John Hackett who will drive them to Manchester. They have spent the winter in California.

There is an improvement noted on the number of passengers that use the trains going through Manchester. Instead of having the east bound morning train composed of a locomotive, a combination baggage, express and mail car and one combination passenger coach, the train this morning was made up of two baggage cars and two passenger coaches, with more passengers noticed aboard than in the past.

A rummage sale is being conducted in the Fuller building on North Main street by the Women's League of the Second Congregational church.

Tonight at the assembly hall of the Hollister street school, a committee of teachers from the Buckland, Union and Hollister street schools will conduct a card party for the benefit of the Educational club, which raises funds for dental hygiene, milk and other necessities for under-privileged children. Setback, pivot and progressive bridge and whist will be played, with prizes and refreshments.
