General Assembly Flooded With Appeals Concerning Liquor Control Act — No Decision on Selling Date.

Hartford, April 25. — (AP)—While Governor Cross conferred with the State Board of Finance and Control on the alarities to be paid the state liquor commission the General Assembly was flooded today with proposals for changes in the liquor control act.

After a long session, the finance board announced it had reached no agreement on a salary question and that it would meet again tomorrow afternoon to consider it further.

About the same time indications came from the governor's office that the liquor commission of three members probably would not be appointed until the latter part of the week.

Changes Proposed

All of the proposals for changes came to the House and Senate in the form of petitions and were referred to the judiciary committee. Most of these were suggested last week during the long debates in both houses.

They included: Allowing hotels to serve wine and beer to registered guests, prohibiting the granting of permits in towns which were "dry" prior to 1918 until such towns have voted on the question at the next election, permitting clubs to serve beer and wine to members and their guests with or without meals, restricting to three the number of permits which may be issued to any person or firm, liberalizing the restrictions placed on pharmacists in limiting the powers of agents of the liquor commission to inspect premises of permittees.

Not Closed Up

Despite the discussion of last week as to whether the liquor act was now operative, no attempt was made today to clarify the disputed provision. Most legislators assumed with Governor Cross that the act was not operative and that the sale of beer and wine will remain illegal until a proclamation is issued by the governor. Most of the police departments in the state also indicated they would regard the sale of beer and wine illegal pending a gubernatorial proclamation.

Salaries Discussed

Hartford, April 25. — (AP)—Governor Wilbur Cross met today with the State Board of Finance and Control to discuss what salaries are to be paid to the state liquor control commission.

Meanwhile, indications came from his office that the commission of three members created by the liquor control law enacted last week probably would not be appointed today.

NO SALE OF BEER IN STATE TODAY

All But New Britain to Prosecute Any Person Dispensing the Brew.

(By Associated Press)

Legal 3.2 beer did not flow today in Connecticut.

Police and prosecuting attorneys in nearly every city and town asserted they would not allow the sale of 3.2 beer until Governor Cross proclaims it legal.

The controversy over whether or not 3.2 beer, permitted by Federal authorities, are legal in this state, came to a head today as the emergency beer law expired.

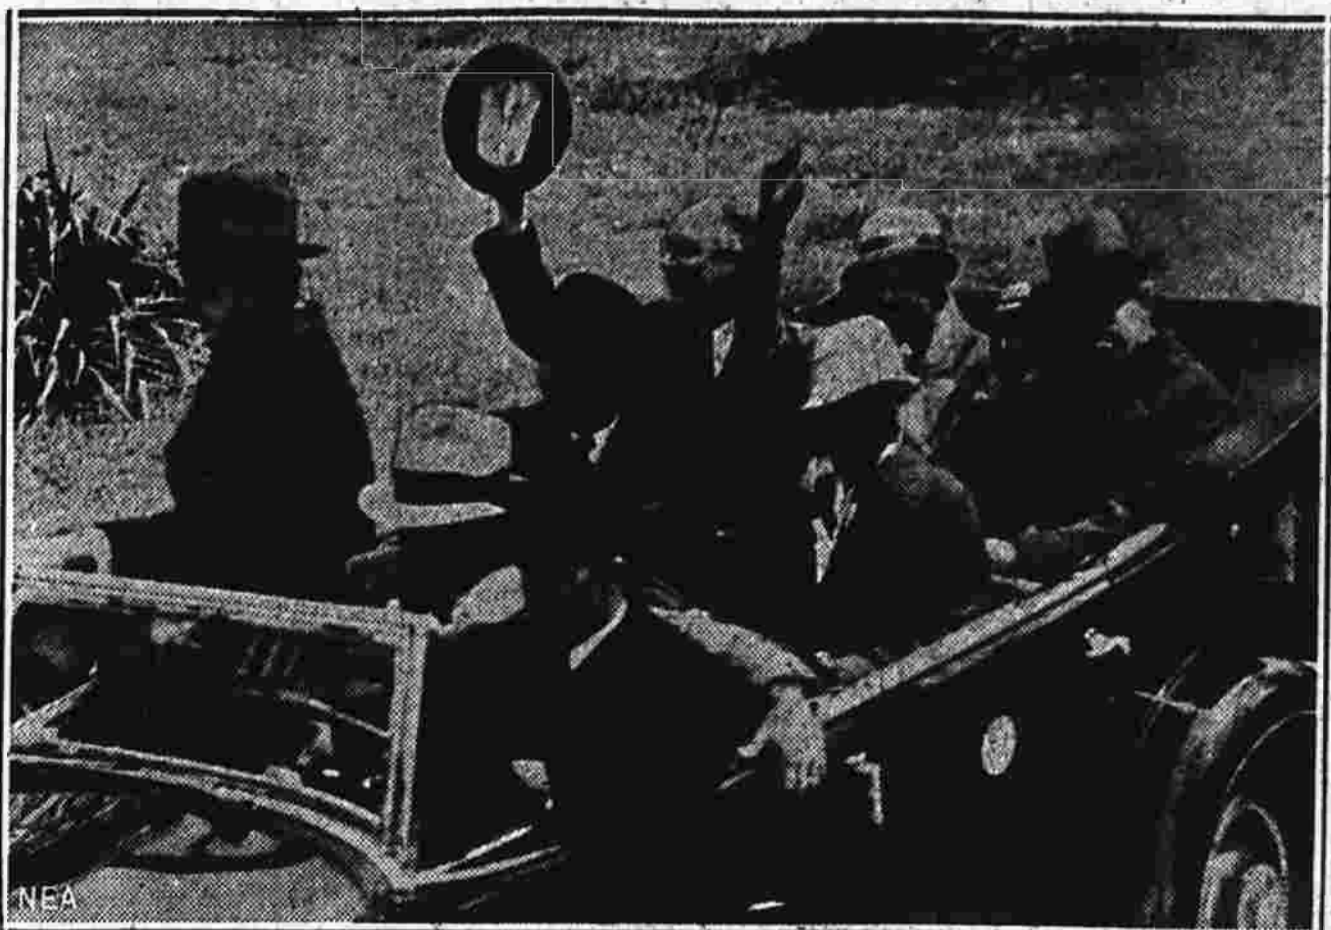

Local authorities were almost unanimous in the belief, which they put into practice that 3.2 beer may not be sold legally until Governor Cross issues the proper authorization.

The Exception

The exception was in New Britain where Police Chief William C. Hart said his force was talking no action to prevent the sale of 3.2 beer. He said he believed, a test case would be tried and that he would wait its outcome.

In other communities, however, chiefs of police of New Haven, Ansonia, Derby, Shelton, New London, Middletown, Manchester and other cities and towns took the position that sale of beer above one-half of regular strength is illegal.

Steering Toward International Accord

The Roosevelts and their distinguished British guests were in holiday mood as they motored from the White House as shown here, prior to a six-hour cruise down the Potomac. The President, Mrs. Roosevelt and Prime Minister MacDonald are seated in the rear, with James Roosevelt and Isabel MacDonald, the Premier's daughter, in front.

NO PROVISIONS MADE FOR PAYMENT TO U. S.

Nor Does Great Britain Figure on Payments from Foreign Debtors in Arranging Budget.

London, April 25. — (AP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain announced in presenting his budget to the House of Commons today that no provision will be made this year for war debt payments to the United States or for receipts from foreign debtors.

This is the same policy Britain followed in last year's budget. Special provision was necessary for the debt installment paid to the United States last December.

"The past year has been one of substantial financial achievement which was a necessary preliminary to the revival of activity," Chamberlain said.

The chancellor told the House: "It is going that America's action in raising off gold is in no sense related to relations or conversations with other countries but is prompted by internal conditions.

"We are happy," Mr. Chamberlain continued, "to think that our desire for international cooperation is shared by the United States and while we cannot disguise from ourselves that the situation that has developed in recent days has involved some anxiety and has required most careful consideration, we hope that further measures which Mr. Roosevelt has no doubt in mind will promote the establishment of renewed confidence."

SHOOTS POLICEMAN WITH OFFICER'S GUN

Suspect Being Led to Cell When He Grabs Sergeant's Pistol.

Chicago, April 25. — (AP)—A policeman was shot in the right ankle by a bullet from his own pistol when a 20-year-old prisoner grabbed the weapon from the officer and attempted to shoot his way to freedom after witnesses had identified him as a bank robber.

The shooting took place in the Detective Bureau last night as John Schock was being led to a cell by Sgt. George Tucker, who became the victim. Before Schock could fire again other officers overpowered him.

Previously Schock and a companion, Carl Grundhofer, 20, had been identified by witnesses as participants in the holdup of the National Bank of Niles Center in the suburb on April 7. Luring the hold-up Harry Mueller, cashier of the bank, was fatally shot.

While Schock maintained a bold defiant attitude police said Grundhofer confessed and admitted being the one who shot Mueller, maintaining, however, that it was accidental.

The robbery was staged, he told police, with the aid of two police youths and the loot amounted to $4,800.

"But when we divided up the dough at Schock's home he said there was only $3,000," Grundhofer said. "We took $700 apiece and John held out the other $300. That's why I'm squeaking."

COL. LEVIN STRICHEN

New Haven, April 25. — (AP)—Colonel Benjamin Levin, commanding officer of the First Light Infantry, Providence, R. I., who was stricken with a heart attack during observance of Foot Guard Day here yesterday was reported recovering today at Grace hospital. Col. Levin collapsed during memorial services in Center church. Hospital attendants said he was allowed to return to his home late today.

MUSCLE SHOALS BILL APPROVED BY HOUSE

Roosevelt Program of Building Vast Power Project in Tennessee Valley Now Goes to the Senate.

Washington, April 25. — (AP)—The Roosevelt program for building a vast development of the Tennessee valley around the government's Muscle Shoals properties was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate.

The final ballot ended several days of debate during which all amendments were barred.

Chief provisions of the bill: Create the Tennessee valley authority, a government corporation with three directors, to operate the Muscle Shoals investment in the interest of National defense, agricultural and industrial development, navigation and flood control.

Directs the corporation to build the Coye Creek dam on the Clinch river and Dam Number Three at Muscle Shoals.

Authorizes it to build other dams on the Tennessee river, a "reasonable market" demand for power that would amortize costs within 60 years.

Directs the corporation to lease or operate the nitrate plants, requiring a minimum output of 20,000 tons of fixed nitrogen, the first two years.

Surplus Power

Authorizes the corporation to sell surplus power, giving preference to states, counties and municipalities. Also empowers it to build transmission lines if leasing, purchasing or condemnation is not feasible.

Authorizes a $50,000,000 bond

MUSSOLINI STUDIES PEACE CLUB PLANS

Expect Some Action to Be Taken by Il Duce Before End of Week.

Rome, April 25. — (AP)—Italian study of the French memorandum in reply to Premier Mussolini's four-power peace pact plan is nearing completion and officials said today that some action was expected before the end of the week.

It was reliably learned that Premier Mussolini has practically agreed to the French suggestion, and the only thing holding up the Italian decision is the fact that the Germans have just interposed some suggestion of their own.

The principal difference between the Mussolini plan and the French memorandum, it is said here, concerns revision of the peace treaties. The French memorandum asserts that the sanctity of treaties should be reaffirmed simultaneously with the principle that they require revision.

Rome Central Point

Rome now is the central point for an exchange of views on the Mussolini plan. The French memorandum was communicated by Rome to Berlin before Paris' reply was communicated. In Berlin the German suggestions were forwarded by Rome to Paris before Berlin sent them to Paris.

The Mussolini pact would safeguard peace in Europe through a "peace club" composed of Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany. When it was first suggested about a month ago the French expressed fears that it would mean domination of Europe by the great powers. This attitude also was held on by smaller nations of Central Europe.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, April 25. — (AP)—Treasury receipts for April 25 were $1,684,000, according to the Treasury Department. The balance at the end of the day was $1,232,955,551. Current receipts for 25 days of April were $1,684,000.

American May Agree to Consult With Signers of the Paris Peace Pact in Event of a Threat of War —Geneva Awaits Instructions from Washington.

Washington, April 25. — (AP)—The possibility of American agreement to consult with fellow signatories of the Paris Peace Pact in event of a threat of war increased today in the light of developments centering around the conference between President Roosevelt and foreign statesmen.

Through another day of serious discussion on international commitments and armaments, the President, Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and former Premier Herriot of France worked toward assuring success for the London conference aimed to rehabilitate world trade and the market already under way for armaments reduction.

Following a visit to the White House, where Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. MacDonald had been together, Secretary Hull pointed out in a press conference that the platforms of both political parties declared in principle in favor of such consultation to strengthen the Kellogg-Briand pact. He had been asked especially about the chances for this country joining in such an agreement.

May Break Deadlock

The projected American adherence to a consultative agreement appeared to have a distinct bearing on the deadlocked efforts for reduction and limitation of land, sea and air armaments in the conference which reopened today at Geneva.

Judging from the advisors called into the White House Anglo-American meeting, armaments and related problems were among the uppermost there.

At the State Department, meanwhile, French experts allied with Mr. Herriot participated in their first extended exchange of views preparatory to their leader conferring with the President later in the day.

Secretary Hull refrained from detailed comment, explaining that he was devoting himself almost exclusively to the economic phases of the conversations and is leaving armaments to President Roosevelt.

Progress Delayed

Progress has been prevented in part at Geneva by French insistence upon guarantees of security against attack in return for any reduction in their armed forces.

This demand has been reemphasized with the rise of Hitler's strongly Nationalistic party to power in Germany with accompanying French fears that her old enemy would rearm.

The task, as officials here see it, is to get these four as an essential preliminary to the actual reduction of armaments. The present discussions between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Herriot, as well as Mr. MacDonald, are looked to for definite indications of whether American agreement to a consultative pact would fill the French security fund.

Just such a consultative proposal has been made by MacDonald in his recent disarmament plan to which the Geneva conference devoted its attention today.

PROF. FISHER DIES IN WESTERLOO, N. Y.

Once Mayor of Middletown, This State—Once Taught at Wesleyan.

Middletown, April 25. — (AP)—Prof. Willard Clark Fisher, 68, long a member of the Wesleyan University, prior to 1913, died at his home in Westerloo, N. Y., Sunday, the university has been advised.

Fisher's death was a history and political economy had an active part in state politics for a period following his experience as mayor of this city. He was figuratively a "stormy petrel" to both Republicans and Democrats from 1910 to 1913 because of his independence in thought and platform utterances. His resignation from Wesleyan was requested by the late President William Arnold Shanklin, because of controversial matters which were then gaining attention. The letter of resignation was preceded by exchange of correspondence between President Shanklin and Prof. Fisher. The latter had expressed views in public addresses and communications to the press at variance with the policy of the university.

The disagreement was brought to a head when Fisher made an address before the Get-To-Gether Club of Hartford. There had been a discussion of Sunday observance. The professor had been reported as saying he favored throwing Sunday "wide open." He informed that he had been misquoted but did favor "very great freedom" in Sunday observances. In his letter to Shanklin he said: "I would allow a man pretty near anything that did not disturb the religious or other uses of the day by others. I did say that I saw no religious inconsistency in a man's having an uproarious good time on Sunday, but I added that there should be no disturbance of the religious or other duties of the day by others."

Yale Scientist Is Happy; Sees Scaphiopus Holbrookii

New Haven, Conn., April 25. — (AP)—When the hermit spadefoot, the elusive toad with eyes like gold and a call like the wail of a siren, suddenly appeared in Ansonia, it was a source of woe to everyone in the neighborhood.

"Why, the noise was like the blast of a steam whistle," said one citizen. "The noise was like the wail of a siren. Another said it was a deafening agonizing roar, hoarse and wailing."

But for Yale scientists, the visitation was a cause for celebration. "The plain fact," said Dr. Stanley C. Ball, curator of Reptiles at Peabody Museum, "is that here to a head I have been seeking for 15 years and I never saw one before.

"Where it will turn up next is a mystery. The only ones were seen in the south. They have been seen and heard in all the Atlantic states from Massachusetts to Florida, in the Gulf states and north Arkansas. They were first roared by the glasses in Holbrook's pond a fortnight ago, for a week they endured it. Finally, in desperation, they called in the scientists.

The elusive creature vanished after the scientist's visit, but not before several had been captured and some of their eggs discovered.

"This episode is particularly interesting," Dr. Ball said. "Scadefoot appeared in great numbers in a city where he had never appeared before. How he got there, and where he disappeared, remains a mystery.

"It is when they are laying their eggs in the spring usually after a long warm rain, that they are heard. And after their eggs are laid they disappear, leaving no trace of their hiding places. It is not even known whether they burrow into the ground or get into the highlands."

The toad is known as the spadefoot because of its flattened, black, foot-like toes. It is a member of the genus Scaphiopus and is named in honor of the late Dr. J. S. Holbrook, a black hunter who was the first to see it and to send him a specimen.

TODAY'S CONFERENCE

Washington, April 25. — (AP)—President Roosevelt and representatives of Britain, France and Canada this morning conferred with their own experts in preparation for further parleys looking to solution of international economic problems at the world economic conference in London.

Failure of the British budget proposal sent to the House of Commons today to provide for the June installment on the war debts occasioned no shock here. It was recalled that neither did last year's budget make such provisions, but when the December payment fell due it was made.

Before the June date is reached, the Roosevelt administration hopes for the accomplishment of much toward bringing world economies into simpler and more beneficial relationships; and it does not overlook the part that international debts have in the difficulties now subject of conference.

Preliminary conferences with the French over, both American and British officials were awaiting the results of more intensive parleys at the White House with the delegation headed by Edouard Herriot.

The French representative, said the chief executive mansion at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue, last night President Roosevelt outlined to him and his staff the broad scope of problems, including debts, which are to be discussed.

Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain remained at the White House this morning and talked with his economic advisors, said an administration official.

President Roosevelt was expected to open the program of his budget today, that will be from about 10 to 15 percent above the 1932 level.

NO BIDS RECEIVED FOR TOWN'S BONDS

Town Chairman and Treasurer to Seek Other Means of Marketing Securities.

No bids were received by the Board of Selectmen for the $300,000 bond issue at a meeting held this afternoon to negotiate for the sale of the town's paper. A motion was passed after a short discussion, empowering Chairman Strickland and Treasurer George H. Waddell to consider ways and means of selling the bonds.

REDFERN'S UNCLE BELIEVED SUICIDE

Kim of Missing Aviator Missing—His Auto Found Parked on Bridge.

Rochester, N. Y., April 25.—(AP)—Police disclosed today they were hunting for Richard S. Redfern, uncle of Paul Redfern, the aviator who disappeared on a non-stop flight to Brazil in 1927, in connection with their investigation of a bridge suicide here.

An unidentified man leaped from Veterans Memorial bridge 200 feet into the Genesee river yesterday. Several hours later Redfern's automobile was found parked near the bridge and his family disclosed he had been absent all day. He had not returned early this morning.

A revolver found in the car was turned over to the police property clerk with the memorandum "this probably the property of the man who committed suicide from Veterans Memorial bridge April 24."

Redfern has been active in efforts to locate his missing nephew who from time to time has been reported a captive of Indian tribes in the Brazil jungles. An American, Tom Roche, is reported under arrest at Para, Brazil, in connection with a proposed Redfern expedition.

Sunday, the day before he disappeared, Redfern would not comment on a report from South America that Roche was detained on charges preferred by him.

Veterans Memorial bridge gained international notoriety shortly before it was opened two years ago, when a suicide lottery was uncovered, in which prizes were based on the sex of the first suicide from the bridge. The first suicide, a man, occurred a year ago.

MYSTERY SHROUDS DEATH OF VETERAN

Nurse and Doctor Resign from Soldiers' Home—Rumors About Poisoning.

Chelsea, Mass., April 25.—(AP)—Dr. George Burgess Magrath, noted medical examiner, today sought to determine the cause of the death of Wladislav B. Barovitch of Worcester, who died at the Chelsea Soldiers' Home yesterday.

Dr. Missag G. Odian of Boston, and Miss Mary McDonald, 38, a nurse, have resigned from the staff of the home hospital as a result of Barovitch's death. Meanwhile, Michael J. Madden, 50, was in jail charged with assaulting Barovitch with an iron pipe.

Dr. Magrath will try to determine whether the Worcester war veteran died of a fractured skull as the result of a blow inflicted by Madden, or pneumonia or of poison given him by error by Miss McDonald with the sanction of Dr. Odian.

Ruth Basiga The resignations of the doctor and nurse were asked by Dr. William H. Blandhard, chief surgeon at the hospital, after they had told him of the events preceding Barovitch's death. Dr. Blandhard said, "Barovitch had a badly compounded fracture. He was unconscious two days and on the third day was restless. He had to be quieted.

RUSSIA.
 It is rather an unhappy thing that the only voices loudly raised at this particular juncture in connection with the idea of recognizing the government of Russia are those of groups which are determined, for reasons almost entirely sentimental, to keep the most populous nation in Europe in a closet. There should be, not for any sentimental reason at all but for the good of the world and particularly for the good of the United States, a much louder chorus in favor of recognition.

RAND WAGON RIDERS.
 What is this inflation, anyhow? For many years we thought currency expansion was a fiscal policy—and labored under the delusion that we had a glimmering of a notion of what it was all about. Now, however, we discover that inflation is something tall and ornate that goes on wheels, is brilliantly decorated and is drawn by many horses with white plumes in their headstalls. In other words that it is a band wagon.

EGGS ARE AN EXCELLENT PROTEIN FOOD.
 The other day I heard of a family of three who went to the country and bought twenty dozen eggs. A person in good health should use about ten eggs a week at this rate. These folks had enough eggs to last for eight weeks! Of course, they keep the eggs cool and this helps preserve the flavor, but I believe that they might enjoy their eggs more if they bought a dozen at a time and then went back and got a dozen fresh ones.

CHILD DEATH RATE IS SLOWLY REDUCED
 Urging state-wide observance of Child Health Day, established by presidential proclamation and gubernatorial edict on May 1, the State Department of Health in today's weekly bulletin quotes infant mortality rates to show that, while the world has been made a much safer place for babies than it used to be, there is still much to be accomplished in protecting the health of young children.

THE CHAMBER QUEST.
 Today a number of Manchester's citizens are setting forth on a quest that in ordinary times would be no quest at all after money enough to keep the Chamber of Commerce going. We don't know how they are going to make out, but we feel sure that they are going to have a pretty hard time. There are a terrible lot of demands on terribly strained purses these days, and a Chamber of Commerce, it must be confessed, is among those intangibles which it seems easier to get along without than a tangible like, say, the hospital.

BEYOND THE HORIZON.
 There is spread in the land these days a peculiar kind of excitement. It is an excitement that arises from expectation more than from actual accomplishment. Many things have been done in Washington recently, but even more remains to be done. Unemployment, low commodity prices, frozen bank assets—these things are still to be remedied, and the job of setting them right is going to be one of almost incalculable difficulty.

RUSSIA.
 It is rather an unhappy thing that the only voices loudly raised at this particular juncture in connection with the idea of recognizing the government of Russia are those of groups which are determined, for reasons almost entirely sentimental, to keep the most populous nation in Europe in a closet. There should be, not for any sentimental reason at all but for the good of the world and particularly for the good of the United States, a much louder chorus in favor of recognition.

RAND WAGON RIDERS.
 What is this inflation, anyhow? For many years we thought currency expansion was a fiscal policy—and labored under the delusion that we had a glimmering of a notion of what it was all about. Now, however, we discover that inflation is something tall and ornate that goes on wheels, is brilliantly decorated and is drawn by many horses with white plumes in their headstalls. In other words that it is a band wagon.

EGGS ARE AN EXCELLENT PROTEIN FOOD.
 The other day I heard of a family of three who went to the country and bought twenty dozen eggs. A person in good health should use about ten eggs a week at this rate. These folks had enough eggs to last for eight weeks! Of course, they keep the eggs cool and this helps preserve the flavor, but I believe that they might enjoy their eggs more if they bought a dozen at a time and then went back and got a dozen fresh ones.

and it is worth noting that a survey made by the U. S. Forest Service shows that public agencies should in the near future acquire 234,000,000 acres of additional forest land. Whatever may be the comparative merits of public and private ownership in other fields, it is fairly clear that to put through an intelligent, large-scale forest conservation program the government must own a vast acreage of forest land. In the very nature of things, the long-range and all-inclusive plans necessary for such a program cannot be evolved when ownership of the land involved is split up among a great number of individuals.

IN NEW YORK

By JULIA BLANCHARD
 New York, April 25.—It's a silent, glum group of reporters and photographers that gathers at South Ferry on mornings when celebrities are arriving in the U. S. A. The little revenue cutters, Raritan and Wiscasset, leave the dock at seven sharp. No waiting for anyone. And no excuses are accepted by editors when they miss the boat; only old-timers realize that breakfast is all-important for the cold ride down the gray bay. Only old-timers know the value of woolen mittens which one daily reporter always wears. Wee too went women reporters who don new spring suits. Even in summer, it's a cold rough ride.

Elaine "Biggest Draw"
 Elaine drew the biggest crowd any visiting celebrity ever got at her home last Thursday afternoon. Over 100 reporters and photographers gathered for the Prince and Wales' arrival. But even in reception was nothing to the glamorous greetings that were extended to the Gertrude and Charles Lindberghs in the gala Walker administration days. Then the city's Madison used to stream down the harbor in escort celebrities, and as many reporters as could crowd on, to port. Bands played and Grover Whalen stood apart, faultlessly attired in morning clothes, top hat, and in buttonhole, his right hand figuratively speaking, always extended in welcome.

DARLING FOOL

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHAPTER VII
Monnie was writing down a prescription number for old Mrs. Beadle when she heard his voice. Her heart began to hammer against her ribs and she felt the warm color surging into her cheeks. Angily she took herself in hand. When she turned around, after serving her customer, she was quite composed. "Hello, Dan!" "Lo, Monnie!" He was in one of his best moods today, she could see that. He looked splendid in his riding clothes, sure to make the loafers on High street nudge each other and stare. Gabardine breeches, sleeveless tan sweater, carelessly knotted brown tie with a gold pin in the shape of a crop. "Haven't seen you in ages," he told her lightly. Monnie said, "No, Dan."

"I've been out of town," Dan went on with importance. "Dad had some business in Chicago I had to tend to." He lowered his voice and it took on the interesting note Monnie knew. "Missed you, sugar," he said. "It wasn't much, but from Dan this meant a lot. She tried not to be elated but she was. Dan had missed her—he was telling her so. Why, it made everything different, made the whole town, suddenly alive. She straightened a case of powder boxes with capable fingers and smiled at him. "Nice of you to say that, Danny. I've been frightfully busy."

Just so he wouldn't think she'd been sitting at home waiting for him, that was well, it was true too. She had been busy. He ordered some cigarettes and paid for them. Somehow during the transaction he managed to get possession of one of her hands. "Monnie, honestly, didn't you even know I'd been away?" She glanced around nervously glad there was no one in the store except Mr. Vernon himself, busy at the soda fountain. "I've been washed, Dan. Didn't you see my hair grew serious—didn't you hear about that difficulty of Bill's?"

There, it was out. She had brazenly dragged it into the open, giving Dan no opportunity to object. He frowned and muttered uneasily, "I did hear some gab about it 'round town last night." "Bill is back at work," Monnie said coolly. "Mr. Harnett was glad to have him. It all blew over."

"Well, that's all right," Dan said heartily. "I'm mighty glad." He was still pronouncing her fingers determinedly in his. "Monnie, I just wanted to tell you—" His voice was low and confidential and in spite of all her pride and resentment her traitorous heart responded to it. "Eh, she was what Dan wanted to say to her because at that moment an imperious young person in the coolest and freshest of summer white bore down upon them."

"Dan, don't you know Mother's waiting?" said Dan. "You're not only a moment." His sister, Geraldine. Geraldine's bright eyes flicked Monnie's face for a moment. She was cool, distant, self-possessed. "Oh, how d'ye do."

Monnie acknowledged the salute with a slight bow. "You never would have suspected that before the days of the O'Dares changed fortunes these two had linked arms together at juvenile dancing classes. Geraldine chose to ignore Monica O'Dare nowadays because Monnie clerked in a drug store and had only one new dress a year. "Sandra will be waiting," Dan's sister continued. "She said to be there at one and you're not even dressed—"

Dan slipped into his old deviously and followed her out of the store. Not before he had said, very low, "I'll be seeing you soon, Monnie." She raged in her heart. So that was the way of it! He hadn't the courage to face his family with the fact that he loved her. He expected her to be content with scraps of comfort, with whispered words now and then. Well, he was mistaken! There was a pain in her chest just the same, a stricken sense of having been cheated. Sandra would see him at lunch. They would laugh and chat about nothing at all. And Sandra didn't care in the least about him—or did she? This was a thought Monnie had been pushing into the back of her mind for weeks now. Oh, it was folly—it was utter madness! Sandra knew men in every quarter of the globe. Why should she fix her attention on Dan Cardigan? Just because she, Monnie, thought him the handsomest, most devastating male in the United States was no reason every other woman should regard him in the same way. Several customers came in after that and she had to hurry, smile and be agreeable. It helped, she thought, to be what people knew as "a poor working girl." You couldn't sit around with your chin on your hand, and she was really the mainstay of the family. She got $18 a week. That, with the tiny income left by her father and with what Bill contributed, kept them going. It only—she thought for the thousandth time—if only Mark were older. It would be five years at least until he could fend for himself. And Kay, so pretty, so alluring—Monnie would have to see that things went right for Kay.

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famed Authority
BIRTHMARKS USUALLY ARE BEST LEFT ALONE.
No Reason for Alarm in Most Instances as Deformities Will Disappear; Numerous Ways Devised for Treatment if Needed.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.
Not infrequently children, when born, have on their skins stains or marks which seem to the parents distinctly unsightly and from which they are anxious to secure prompt relief. Such developmental defects include strawberry marks which are slight raised, irregular in shape and have a bright red surface; or else flat patches known as port wine stains, in which the depth of color depends on the amount of blood vessels included.

Sometimes the growths represent collections of larger blood vessels which may be pressed upon, causing the blood to disappear from the vessels and the color to disappear simultaneously. In the first place, there is no reason to be alarmed relative to a birthmark of this character. Usually these birthmarks are found in the young child immediately after birth and, for a time, seem to grow even more rapidly than the child itself. In many instances they gradually disappear, leaving no trace of their former presence. Not infrequently these marks appear as the result of defects of birth. Unless such marks are growing rapidly or happen to be present in an awkward place, such as on the eye, the ear or the lip around the external ear, they are probably best left alone. Physicians have developed a considerable number of methods for taking care of such marks. They may be frozen with carbon dioxide, causing enough inflammation and irritation to bring about healing with obliteration of the blood vessels. In other instances boiling water may be injected into the vessels causing them to heal together or some of the substances used for the injection method of treating varicose veins may be injected into these birthmarks and cause them to disappear. Sometimes it is possible, by use of ultraviolet rays, to bring about a sufficient amount of burning or irritation to aid disappearance. In very severe cases in adults and depending on the location of the growth, surgeons may decide to cut away the tissue involved. This is seldom done, however, because of the possibility of scarring. Radium is also used and has been followed in many instances by quite satisfactory results. Radium should never be used, however, except by a person expert in its employment because of the possibility of doing harm.

Presently she was free to leave for her own mid-day meal. She washed her hands at the little basin hidden by a screen in the back of the bank. Mr. Vernon had already snatched a bite at the counter, during the lull. She glanced at herself in the cracked mirror over the bowl. She looked, she thought, pale and dragged. No wonder Dan preferred Sandra's company to hers. Sandra was always gay and witty and well dressed with sun-tan gained on the links and the tennis court. A sort of spiritual nausea swept over Monnie with this wave of self-pity. "I hate all this," she cried rebelliously in her soul. "I must find a way out."

"Bill is back at work," Monnie said coolly. "Mr. Harnett was glad to have him. It all blew over." "Well, that's all right," Dan said heartily. "I'm mighty glad." ## TOP COATS for TOTS

Is she really abnormal, this unhappy young person who cannot seem to find unadorned joy in anything she does? On the contrary, if the truth were known, I believe she is more common than the dark. Deep impressions are caused by repetition. This is why I think it important that early childhood be happy. Happy, simple, quiet, normal, uncomplicated and free of excitement. We never know what Frankenstein is being formed in embryo in small hearts to rise and haunt them later. The capacity for happiness in later life depends on a contented childhood.

ITALIAN JEWS PROTEST
Rome, April 25.—(AP)—The Italian Hebrew Union presented Premier Mussolini today with a resolution which virtually asks him to intervene with Chancellor Hitler of Germany to mitigate the Nazi anti-Jewish movement. Stefano, the Italian News Agency, quoted Premier Mussolini as expressing the hope to Chief Rabbi Angelo Sacrodoti that the situation would return to normal.

Books of Childhood
I cannot think so. Weariness and sudden alarm cannot be classed with this utter terror of living. They are different things altogether. Again it may be caused by extreme ego, where introspection is daily habit and the world rotates around self. Usually the introvert is not happy. The sensitive soul can never enjoy himself and ever imagines trouble—he really jumps ahead to seize it and bring it to his heart. But I cannot believe this is the answer either. I believe it lies outside of either personality or heredity. I believe it is the result of a succession of shocks in early childhood. It is fear in its most terrible form. Books tell us that we are born with certain indescribable fears, including that of death. Don't Frighten Children. It proves no point particularly concerning these terror-ridden people. It is hardly conceivable that some would have it in such an exaggerated sense while others never know what it means at all. A little child, frightened of his father may develop a perpetual terror, or too frequently frightened by

YOUR FLOWER GARDEN

THREE FUNDAMENTAL RULES FOR ART OF TRANSPLANTING.
By DR. WM. A. TAYLOR
Chief, Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture

The garden artist uses a trowel brush. By transplanting and rearranging, the garden material from year to year the gardener achieves his color harmonies and contrasts. From the time the frost goes out of the ground in the spring until freezing weather in the fall there is always more or less transplanting under way in the gardens. Many of the perennials are best divided and transplanted in the fall, early enough to allow them to make root growth before freezing weather. Others, hardy chrysanthemums, for example, are best divided soon after growth starts in the spring. Garden iris usually are divided and replanted in midsummer, as are the hardy perennial Oriental poppies which are multiplied by root cuttings taken when the plant is nearly dormant after flowering. Some of the hardiest of the biennials such as hollyhocks, Sweet William, hardy pink, violas and pansies, may be transplanted to flowering positions in the fall but many of the less robust biennials such as the bellflowers and foxgloves are more likely to flourish if the nursery bed where they can have some protection and are transplanted in the spring.

Transplanting Tips
There are three fundamental principles to remember in transplanting. First: Preserve as much of the root system as possible. This is one of the reasons for recommending a fertile light soil in seed-beds. Second: Provide surplus water in transplanting. The plant is sure to lose some of its roots, and while it is re-establishing itself the roots should have plenty of water readily available. In transplanting it pays to have at hand a supply of humus material—leafmold, well-rotted compost, fibrous loam, peat, or completely rotted manure. Drop a handful of this where you plan to place the plant and work it into the soil. The humus will absorb water like a sponge and give it up to the plant on demand. Setting the Plant With trowel or dibble make a hole large enough to accommodate the roots of the plant without crowding or doubling. Pack soil and humus firmly about the roots, then fill the hole with water. After transplanting a few plants go back and scatter dry dirt over the wet surface around each plant to prevent the formation of a crust. Third: Balance evaporation and absorption. If a large plant has lost much of its root growth the top should be cut back accordingly. If the plant is too small to cut back, then check evaporation by shielding it from sun and wind. A shingle-stuck in the ground to shade the plant from the sun may be protection enough. Berry boxes, baskets, burlap or paper shades are useful both for shade and to break the wind.

VEGETABLE GARDENING

Fertilizers—Their Application and Value to Soil and Growing Plants.
By W. R. SHATTUCK
Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture

Manure is undoubtedly the best fertilizer for the vegetable garden where it can be obtained at reasonable cost, but under most conditions around cities and the larger towns, it is now practically impossible to get manure in sufficient quantities for use on gardens. As a substitute for stable or barnyard manure the gardener can use smaller quantities of the specially prepared manures in bags containing 100 pounds each, which are sold by fertilizer dealers. These special manures should be supplemented by commercial fertilizers, and by working the remains of crops and all available organic matter into the soil to keep up the supply of humus. Humus is the soil ingredient that holds moisture during dry weather. It is also the part that furnishes most of the nitrogen for the growing plants. Without humus the soil is acid and likely to be hard and lumpy. Easily Available in Manure A large number of elements are required in the soil to build plants, some of them in very small quantities, but nature supplies most of these in sufficient quantities, except nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, and sometimes calcium and lime. Manure contains these latter elements in varying quantities, but in a readily available form, due to the fact that they are in combination

GLORIFYING YOURSELF
By Alicia Hart
Our grandmothers used to take sulphur and molasses for a spring tonic. Modern women find facials, new coiffures and a manicure do the trick very nicely and are much easier to take. Spring should make every woman look into her mirror. If your face isn't shining and handsome to greet life during this hopeful season, do something about it. The most hopeless face can be spruced up. The stringiest and drabbiest hair can take on new life, new sheen and be done becomingly. If you are too fat, then you'll have to reduce, there's nothing else that can raise your ego to the pitch spring intends it to be. Otherwise, your work in getting your spring tonics is infinitesimal. First of all, either take the plunge and get your face done for you or give yourself a facial that's worthy of the name. You can get very inexpensive half-facials, or business-facials or whatever name your local beauty shops call their half-price facials this spring. And the luxury of lying back in state, with someone else worrying about your face for a change, has a marvelous effect on your spirits. Your hair probably needs reconditioning. That means much brushing, massage, a bit of tonic every night. Nothing sets a woman up more than a permanent wave, re-

Purdue's Pistol Experts Rank With Nation's Best

Lafayette, Ind., April 25—(AP)—When it comes to strong wrists and steady eyes, members of Purdue university's pistol team are hard to beat.

Shooting for new marks at which to shoot after an unexcelled record in nearly a score of dual collegiate meets this year, the Bollemakers have accomplished the unusual for college teams by tying the famous Olympic Club of San Francisco for high point honors in the National Rifle Association's gallery championships.

A. C. Dapprich of Edgewood, Pa., sophomore member of the Purdue pistol team, made a perfect score 100 with a .45 calibre pistol in the Indiana state meet.

This is the open championship of the pistol world, with competitors including city and club teams, police marksmen and national guest teams. Firing was with .22 calibre pistols.

No Flash in Pan Although both the Olympic Club, an organization of veterans, and the Purdue team had scores of 1,358, the Bollemakers received second place medal because of a riling which, in case of a tie, awards first honors to the team with the best rapid fire score.

WOMAN IS MANAGER OF A GYM FOR PUGS

Los Angeles, April 25—When friends warned her it was one of the toughest business rackets in the world, and that she would never succeed, Mrs. Barney Dempsey, a slight, sweet-faced woman, smiled.

Joe McCluskey, Fordham's great steeplechase and distance runner, will be here; Jack Keller, Ohio State's hurdler who holds the carnival's 120-yard high hurdle record, will defend his mark.

Philadelphia, April 25—If there's any depression in track and field activities this season, due to the falling off of football gate receipts last year, the Penn Relays show no indication of it.

Meanwhile the Yanks were suffering their second successive defeat at the hands of the Washington Senators, 11-10. Successive doubles by Goslin, Cronin and Schulte in the eighth gave the Senators the two runs they needed to win.

With full sympathy of the Nazi press, which commented that the boxers did all the work anyway while managers, trainers and doctors or lawyers "got all the money" the master minds of the boxers union issued the following charges: "All Jews, including those baptised, are ruled off the lists of members; all honorary members of Jewish blood are asked to hand in their cards; every German boxer is ordered to tear up any contracts with Jewish managers; Jews are barred from the clubrooms; Jewish capital is barred from participation in the financing of boxing shows; union members are forbidden to engage Jewish doctors, dentists or lawyers; all foreigners are hereby suspended until further notice; all club officials, not in harmony with the new Germany should resign; all members out of harmony with the new movement should also quit; men in the confidence of the government are to sit in at all club meetings.

OPEN FORUM

PARENT-TEACHER MOVEMENT

Editor of the Herald: On Friday evening of this week the Taxpayers' League will hold its monthly meeting. The specially important subject of the evening will be an address on unemployment by Rev. Fletcher D. Parker of Hartford.

Members of the Taxpayers' League appreciate what has been done in Manchester for the unemployed through the welfare department, the M. E. A., the American Legion and other organizations, and hope that members of those bodies may be present at the meeting this Friday evening.

Another very important question will be raised at the Taxpayers' League meeting on Friday evening, the time given to it will necessarily be very brief. But it is important to broach the subject before another month passes.

A certain prejudice has arisen against the Taxpayers' League because of certain of its members' advocated decreased appropriations for school budgets.

So, I earnestly urge members of the League, the women particularly, and wives of members, parents generally and teachers to come to the meeting Friday evening.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Omaha, Neb.—All her life, Mrs. Carrie Starnes, 73, a widow, tolled and saved her pennies.

To conserve expenses she lived in a remodeled barn, where she was strangled to death yesterday when a scarf she was wearing caught in the wringer of a washing machine.

Aberdeen, S. D.—Bob Devaney, Northern Normal school student, accomplished the unparalleled feat of shooting two birds at the same time in the Municipal links here.

Geneva, Ohio—Willie the Goat fell into a rainbarrel. Chaplain Howard, North Geneva farmer, revived him by artificial respiration.

Waterbury, N. Y.—D. J. Prudhomme's knowledge of traffic lights is just about complete.

Two years ago he sold the city of Waterbury its traffic lights system. Yesterday he was brought before Justice John H. McMahon on a charge of passing a red light.

The light was defective, your honor," he protested. Judgment was withheld pending examination of the light.

QUAKE KILLS 74

Kos, Dodecanese Islands, April 25.—(AP)—The known death toll in the earthquake which shook the islands and the Asia Minor coast Sunday was raised to 74 in this city alone.

The bodies were recovered from ruins in the old quarter of Kos. More than 400 persons were injured here. Workers were still searching the ruins.

The newer section of the town was only slightly damaged. Many of the injured were taken to hospitals on the islands of Leros and Rhodes.

BUSINESS IMPROVES

Beloit, Wis., April 25.—(AP)—The Freeman Shoe Corporation, manufacturers of men's shoes has increased its production schedule from a 30 to 40-hour a week basis, it was announced by H. C. Freeman, vice president.

All during the bank moratorium and a period following, we did not curtail our factory operations which were then on a 30-hour-a-week basis," Freeman said. "All of our 850 former employees are now working full time and we expect to continue on this basis indefinitely."

DANIELS STARTS WORK

Mexico City, April 25.—(AP)—Joseph Daniels, deeply moved by the warmth of his official reception by President Abelardo Rodriguez, plunged today into his task as U. S. ambassador.

A colorful ceremony last yesterday marked Daniels' presentation of his credentials to the president. Seventy detectives guarded Daniels during the presentation ceremony.

THEATERS

AT THE STATE

First View Features Coming. Following tonight's showings of "Today We Live" starring Joan Crawford and Gary Cooper, the State theater will present in consecutive order a group of outstanding pictures that have not as yet been shown in Hartford or for that matter in New England.

On Wednesday, "Central Airport," with Richard Barthelmess and Sally Eilers comes to Manchester at least two weeks before its Hartford run. On Friday and Saturday the State will offer Joe E. Brown in "Elmer the Great," taken from the play by George M. Cohan and Ring Lardner and as a co-feature "Strictly Personal," with Marjorie Rambeau and Eddie Quilian.

On Thursday, "Central Airport," with Richard Barthelmess comes tomorrow it will be his seventeenth straight picture for First National.

All advance reports indicate that "Central Airport" will be another triumph for the great transcendent art lines of today.

SCHOONER IN DISTRESS

Yarmouth, N. S., April 25.—(AP)—With motor craft standing by and pumps going to keep her afloat the Essex, Mass., tern schooner Adams lay at anchor in the beach channel of Yarmouth harbor today as preparations went forward to put her on the marine slip for repairs.

The Adams, inbound from New York, took a heavy pounding in the Bay of Fundy, sustained strains and seams, and then nearly grounded on Cat Rock yesterday.

The Adams narrowly escaped foundering twice. Water was seeping through her seams long before she made the entrance to Yarmouth harbor. Then, apparently mistaking False harbor for the entrance, she was swinging toward Cat Rock when the motor vessel Betty and Ida got a line aboard and pulled her clear. The line parted, but Captain Kennedy was able to bring his vessel into the channel under her own power.

AMATEUR-PRO TOURNEY HELD HERE ON MAY 21

Hartford, April 25.—(AP)—First list of a series of golf matches given out by State Organization.

Hartford, April 25.—(AP)—First list of a series of pro-amateur golf tournaments under sponsorship of the Connecticut section of the New England Professional Golfers' Organization was drawn up last night. It provides for one tournament in May, three each in June, July and August and two each in September and October.

As all courses available for tournaments have not been reported on, the schedule was not completed. The dates arranged definitely were as follows:

The difference in playing conditions is that in a pro-amateur competition the visiting professional has a home advantage as his partner while in the amateur-pro contest the amateur may be taken from any club.

Other tournaments will be at Watertown, Middletown, Indian Hill, Farmington, Sunset Ridge, Wallingford and Wethersfield. If opportunity comes others will be added, including one for women pro golfers.

THE ANYMITES Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARRO. A cartoon illustration of a man and a dog playing a game of hide-and-seek. The man is holding a sign that says 'THE ANYMITES'. The dog is holding a sign that says 'I HIDE'. The man says: 'The animal hand played tunes galore and Duncy yelled, "Oh, play some more! I think I'll do a little dance. I'm simply full of pep." Into a jig the band then broke. "Course Duncy's dancing is a joke. "You'd better stop," yelled Scooty. "You are always out of step." "Let him alone." Another cried. "He's awful but at least he's tried. The animals think it's a treat, so we can stand it, too." However, Duncy grew tired out and Scooty promptly heard him shout, "I hope that you are satisfied! With dancing I am through." The Midget Man said, "Come come, boys! You're only making lots of noise. Nobody is made happy when you have small scraps like this. "If you will all have patience, I will have a fine parade march by in front of you with a right hand. All right, all right, all right. All right, all right, all right." The animal hand played tunes galore and Duncy yelled, "Oh, play some more! I think I'll do a little dance. I'm simply full of pep." Into a jig the band then broke. "Course Duncy's dancing is a joke. "You'd better stop," yelled Scooty. "You are always out of step." "Let him alone." Another cried. "He's awful but at least he's tried. The animals think it's a treat, so we can stand it, too." However, Duncy grew tired out and Scooty promptly heard him shout, "I hope that you are satisfied! With dancing I am through." The Midget Man said, "Come come, boys! You're only making lots of noise. Nobody is made happy when you have small scraps like this. "If you will all have patience, I will have a fine parade march by in front of you with a right hand. All right, all right, all right. All right, all right, all right."

SENSE and NONSENSE

STIMULANTS—Cows don't give milk, you have to take it from them. Quitters never win—winners never quit. Use your head to get on your feet. There are times that try men's souls. Time killed stays dead. There never will be enough happiness to supply the demand. The optimist laughs to forget. The pessimist forgets to laugh. Making good saves making good excuses. The man with the biggest mind can make it up the most quickly. Headaches may be acquired by over-eating, but not often by overthinking. Spilled milk of human kindness is the only kind worth crying over. Fools make feasts, and wise men eat them. Easy-going men generally find the going hard. If a man empties his purse in his hand, no one can take it from him. Maybe cat-love is caused by the skirts the girls wear now-a-days. All play and no work makes no jack. Puppy love is the beginning of a dog's life. Energy and persistence conquer all things.

Here's a hint to the ladies. All of those give their age in Roman numerals, for example XLVI, and who knows what that means? An XLVI lady would be perfectly safe in so stating her age.

Facts Not Worth Remembering: We went to war to end all wars. We have been turning the corner to prosperity for two years. J. P. Morgan never has written a testimonial for a hair restorer.

Dear Column: What are the principal causes of divorce?—Anxious. Dear Anxious: Men and women.—Column Conductor.

Never tell a man what you would do if you were in his place, for he might tell you what he would do were you in his place. Then there would be two liars.

Roy—The doctor ordered me to stay as far away from cigarettes as possible.

A PARROT REPEATS THE THINGS IT IS TOLD, GIVING NO THOUGHT TO THE TRUTH OF WHAT IT HEARS. SO DOES A GOSSIP.

When the savage Red Man lived in a wigwam he paid no rent or taxes. What was it, then, that made him savage?

A confession by a man: "I believe I have about overcome the habit of talking lies about my neighbors, but it is still mighty hard to keep from talking lies about myself."

Billing and Coaling
He met a fair maiden and soon was wooing.
He told her he loved her, the words softly cooing.
He suggested they marry, she fell for the plan.
On the first of the month the billing began.

THE MAN WHO IS SO BUSY ATTENDING TO CIVIC DUTIES THAT HE CAN'T TAKE HIS FAMILY OUT RIDING OCCASIONALLY ISN'T MUCH OF A CITIZEN.

Porter—Turn to the left and you will be right.
Old Lady—Don't be impertinent, or I'll report you.

Teacher—How is it that your name is Johnny Thompson while your mother's name is Perkinson?
Johnny—Well, teacher, you see she married again, and I didn't.

Wild life is rapidly disappearing. There are very few ducks, geese and quail and only, at rare intervals, is a stork seen anymore.

Teacher—Why, Fred, surely you know what the word mirror means. What do you look at after you've washed, to see if your face is clean?
Fred—The towel, Ma'am.

"Keep away from that loud speaker thing, Alfred," said grandma, sternly, "that fellow what's speaking has got a nasty cough."

Emanuel Luther Leaguers will be guests of the Hartford League this evening. The program will include the presentation of "The Life of Christ" in word, picture and song. Manchester Lodge, A. F. & A. M. will hold its regular meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Masonic Temple. The Master Mason's degree will be conferred.

EMERGENCY DOCTORS.

Physicians who will respond to emergency calls tomorrow afternoon are Dr. Moriarty, 5445, and Dr. Weldon, 5740.

Mrs. Grace Moore and Mrs. Nellie Marks, representing the April group of the North Methodist Ladies Aid society, will be in charge of a food sale to be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the store on North Main street formerly occupied by Mark Holmes.

Manchester Grange will hold its regular meeting tomorrow evening in Odd Fellows hall, when the third degree will be conferred by the women's degree team, and the fourth degree by the regular officers. A class of 35 candidates is expected.

Chester Joyce of the Orford building reported to the police shortly after 7 o'clock last evening that his motorcycle had been stolen from its parking place. Patrolmen were notified to be on the lookout for the machine. Shortly after 9 o'clock Joyce appeared at the police station to call off the hunt. The motorcycle had been located in Hartford, having been taken by one of his friends.

The heavy penalty promised by President Roosevelt for those keeping gold coin or gold certificates out of circulation resulted in one $10 gold certificate of the old large issue showing up in the receipts of Postal Station A yesterday. The certificate was in a good condition and a purchase of a 3 cent stamp brought the money back to Uncle Sam through the postal department.

Young people of the Nazarene church will hold their business meeting tonight at 7:30.

The Women of the Moose will postpone their regular business meeting scheduled for tomorrow night until further notice.

The Hi-Y club will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Center Congregational church.

St. Margaret's Circle, Daughters of Isabella will tonight observe the ninth anniversary of their institution. The affair will be held at the home of Mrs. Alice Hunter, 37 Chambridge street. There will be a short business meeting at 8:30, followed by a chicken dinner. After the dinner, cards. The Circle was instituted by Mrs. Margaret Hanna of New Britain and Mrs. Catherine Williams was the first regent. She was succeeded by Mrs. Catherine O. Carney. Mrs. Julia Sheridan was the next regent, her successor being Mrs. Sarah Healy. The present regent is Mrs. Mae McVey. The committee in charge of tonight's occasion is composed of Mrs. Mae McVey, Mrs. Lillian Carney, Mrs. Maude Foley and Mrs. Alice Hunter.

Saturday evening the Colonial Club Dance Orchestra will come to town for its initial engagement of the summer social season, furnishing the music for the annual spring semi-formal dance sponsored by the church before the Order of DeMolay. This West Hartford band, well-known to Manchester dance enthusiasts, has been reorganized and represents an even higher standard of modern dance rhythm and entertainment than before. Dance music lovers will be glad to know that the "Colonials" have promised to feature the latest rhythms.

The Hustlers and Afternoon groups of the Wesleyan Circle of the South Methodist church have set the date of May 13 for a food sale at the J. W. Hale Company's store.

A meeting of the Welfare Sewing Circle of the American Legion auxiliary will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. John Bausolis, 31 Ford street.

TWELVE TO GET LETTERS AT THE TRADE SCHOOL.

Thursday Assembly Will Be Athletic Event, With Music and Addresses.

The regular Thursday afternoon assembly at State Trade School this week will be of an athletic nature, the high light being the presentation of letters to twelve members of the basketball team by Coach Walter Schober. The speaker will be Albert Keane, sports editor of the Hartford Courant.

The program will open with selections by the Trade School orchestra, followed by introductory remarks by Director John Echnallian. Coach Schober will then award letters to Captain E. Kova, assistant captain E. Koss, S. Schibek, F. Bissell, J. Metcalf, A. Reedy, W. Ketch, E. Ashland, C. Magnuson, E. McAdams, J. Adams and A. Rubens, manager.

After another selection by the orchestra, Mr. Keane will make his address and the orchestra will play the finale.

REPORTS GOOD PROGRESS IN $2,500 Y DRIVE

Clarence F. Quimby, chairman of the Local Y. M. C. A. campaign to raise $2,500 to conduct Y activities in Manchester during the coming year, reported today that contributions are coming in steadily and that he expects the drive to reach the quota by the end of the week.

Mr. Quimby said that more contributions are being made this year than last year, although some are for smaller amounts than formerly. He was unable to give an actual figure on the amount received as donations are being sent in many cases directly to the Hartford headquarters of the Y. Last year a quota of $2,800 was raised and it is hoped to reach this figure this year although the quota for 1933 was set at $300 less.

Mrs. George Betts of this town is chairman of a public bridge to be given by the Emblem club at the Elks Home in Rockville tomorrow afternoon. She will be assisted by Mrs. Frank Balkner and Mrs. Frank Valuzzi of Manchester. Play will begin at 2:30. There will be prizes and refreshments and all bridge players will be welcome.

GIRLS' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

Following the regular devotional service at St. Mary's parish house last night, the Girls Friendly society listened to a religious talk by the Rev. John J. Hawkins of Christ Church Cathedral, Hartford.

At the business session the members discussed plans for a G. F. S. poster contest which is open to all. Further details may be secured from Miss Hannah Jensen.

Delegates to the spring meeting Saturday at South Norwalk will be Miss Evelyn Tedford who is state treasurer; Miss Hannah Jensen, chairman; younger members and Miss Margaret Stratton, past branch president.

The G. F. S. meeting next Monday evening will be conducted by the candidates' group and each one attending is to bring a Maybasket for her "mystery" friend. The baskets will be hidden and a hunt for them will be held during the evening.

The Senior Club which is sponsoring the second annual Irish Tea Party and Entertainment for Friday evening at 8 o'clock, reported tickets selling well, also that a feature of the program will be the play, "Oh Helpless Man" under the direction of Miss Lillian Reardon. The club is soliciting the loan of teapots, creamers, sugar bowls and forsythia blossoms which they hope friends will bring to the church before 7:45 Friday evening. Last night's meeting closed with a social and refreshments.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Werner of 11 Cross street celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage Saturday evening at their home. Upward of 40 of their friends from this town and Hartford were present and remembered them with gifts, including 25 silver dollars and other articles in silver. Fred E. Werner, a nephew, played for dancing. A buffet supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Werner have spent all their married life in Manchester. Mrs. Werner was Miss Eva Dillon. They have two children, Edward and Doris.
