

U. S. AND BRITAIN OUTLINE PROGRAM

Roosevelt and MacDonald End Conversations After Which Statement is Issued—Highlights of Program.

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—The United States and Great Britain lined up today for a seven point world economic recovery program, embracing tariff reductions and higher silver prices.

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister MacDonald ended their conversations with a declaration of understanding on agreements to be sought at the June world economic conference.

As they said goodbye, the American and French economic experts attacked the problems.

Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. MacDonald declared for the following, in a statement distributed at the White House:

An increase in the general level of commodity prices.

Re-orientation of commercial policies.

Reduction of tariffs, quotas and exchange restrictions.

World expansion of credit.

Capital expenditures by governments to stimulate business.

Re-establishment of an international monetary standard.

Improvement of the status of silver.

Their conversations "showed that our two governments were looking with a like purpose and a close similarity of method" at these objectives.

Granting that "between the cup and the lip are many slips," Mr. MacDonald told newspapermen as he left the White House for London that his conversations had been "fruitful and a way had been believed possible when I came."

The same enthusiasm over the results of the Anglo-American negotiations was expressed by those close to President Roosevelt.

Meanwhile, he prepared to sit down again this afternoon with Premier Herriot of France to discuss the same questions.

Mr. MacDonald emphasized upon leaving that he and Mr. Roosevelt were just as far apart as before they entered their conversations.

"There are no illusions or entanglements," he said.

"You are not in the maelstrom of Europe. But can you imagine what would happen if America and Great Britain can't march side by side?"

"I am not only convinced of a hope to come to an agreement, I am going away with the determination we have got to come to an agreement because it is our moral duty."

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—The following joint statement was issued:

The doors of the trust company were barricaded, so the teachers sallied about in the street before continuing their march.

The teachers explained their demonstration was prompted by a report that considerable property controlled by the trust company was delinquent in taxes.

School officials have declared they would prompt payment of taxes would yield enough cash to pay the delinquent part of the tax.

HITLER PLANS A SHAKEUP IN CABINET SOON

Hugenberg and Von Neurath to Fade from Political Picture in Germany—Other Changes Planned.

Berlin, April 26.—(AP)—A Cabinet shakedown in the course of which both Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, minister of economics and agriculture, and Baron Konstantin von Neurath, foreign minister, would fade from the political scene seemed today only a question of time.

This was indicated by numerous reports in government and political circles and by what is reflected in the press.

Labor Minister Franz Seldte as leader of the Steel Helmet war veterans, was expected to remain in the Cabinet, however, despite differences between his organization and the Nazi storm-troopers.

This would mean that the Cabinet, without reservation, will support Chancellor Hitler's policies.

Ministers von Blomberg, von Schwering-Kroeging and von Ruenow, while not Nazi Party members, are thoroughly in accord with the new course.

Guertner's Case Guertner, minister of justice, also a non-Nazi, Chancellor Hitler took action today. He appointed Hans Frank, Bavarian minister of justice, as a federal commissioner to work alongside Guertner in unifying the entire German system of justice, so that Nazi control of justice is assured.

Concerning Vice-Chancellor von Pappen it is known he recently stated that the Germany of the future would be 99 per cent Nazi and therefore it is the duty of every patriot to rally behind Hitler.

Von Pappen, who is slated for the foreign ministry, independently will inaugurate the foreign office with the spirit of the new Germany.

The chancellor and von Pappen became even closer friends as they worked together during recent months, and Hitler, whose loyalty to those who stood by him is one of his most outstanding traits, may be counted upon not to forget that it was von Pappen who won over President von Hindenburg to his appointment as chancellor.

Seldte, too, has been growing more and more of a local fighter between his Steel Helmet followers

CONFIDENCE FEATURES FOREIGN TRADE PARLEY

Farrell Tells Delegates Tariff Not Major Issue Today—Sound Currency is Needed, He Says.

Pittsburgh, April 26.—(AP)—The 20th annual convention of the National Foreign Trade Council opens in an atmosphere of more confident assurance regarding the future than has prevailed at any time during the past three years.

Chairman James A. Farrell today told 1,000 delegates and visitors.

"We are in a transition stage that promises substantial progress toward international understanding and settlement of major questions bearing up the world economic situation," he declared.

"Our manufacturers have not lost their skill, or their capacity to produce on a competitive cost basis. With the revival of buying abroad, our exports of finished manufactures will again be in demand and constitute a chief item of our export commerce."

"The most pressing need at present is the establishment of sound currencies in all countries."

As "father" of the convention, which he helped found while president of the United States Steel Corporation, Mr. Farrell's annual speech, gathered with much care and revised to conform with kaleidoscopic events of the past week, was the highlight of the opening of the three day convention.

Farrell laid much of America's trade plight to failure of Great Britain and other European countries "to adapt mechanics of industry to the new industrial order," and to "adoption of various artificial devices for resuscitation of their commerce."

"These devices have proved to be secondary exciting causes that now constitute the chief problems with

Escaping Prison THIS MAN'S FORTUNE

Southern Prisoner Has Fled Jails Once Each Year for Past Eight Years.

Atlanta, April 26.—(AP)—Leland Harvey has kept intact his record of one prison break a year ever since Georgia put him in "str" nine years ago for banditry.

Leland executed the slickest escape of his career yesterday. Two Atlanta deputies went to the state penitentiary at Milledgeville with a condemned negro and decided to spend the night in the death house to guard their prisoner until he was committed officially. Leland was in a nearby cell. The deputies fell asleep. Leland unlocked the door, slipped through his cell window. He had a bar on which he had been sawing five months.

Once outside, he dressed and slipped in where the guards were asleep and robbed them of their money, keys and guns. He locked them in and stroled away, stealing their car to add insult to injury.

Quickly Recaptured Prison authorities who know Leland's weakness for bright lights telephoned Macon that the fellow was on the loose again. He was picked up there and sent back to the penitentiary.

Leland's first break was in 1924. In a shower of bullets, bloodhounds found him the next day. In 1925, he escaped again, but the dogs got him within a few hours. He was picked up there and sent back to the penitentiary.

EXPECT TO SELL BONDS OF TOWN IN OPEN MARKET

Financing Operations Not Likely to Be Balked by Lack of Bids—New Tax Levy is Remote Possibility

The failure of the Town of Manchester to float the $300,000 bond issue through regular channels, was reported today not to be as discouraging as at first indicated in the new turn of events. Town Treasurer George H. Waddell and members of the Board of Selectmen remain optimistic, feeling that the sale of the bonds through private sources will eventually be consummated within the time limit set for the financing operation.

Waterbury in Same Boat The uncertain conditions throughout the country with respect to the financing are depressive to the bond market. Other cities in this state are in the same situation as Manchester, notably Waterbury, which last night failed to receive a bid on its $500,000 bond issue. New London recently had a similar experience and sold its securities over the counter.

With May 15 the limit for payment of the first installment of the town tax, the issuance of temporary notes to retire the extraordinary indebtedness of the town incurred through excessive charity and unemployment expenditures and last year's tax deficit, is permissible under the act passed by the General Assembly for the bond issue. There are no restrictions on the amount of notes to be issued, and should term notes be issued, should be at an interest rate not to exceed five per cent.

Seek Higher Interest It was learned today that a Hartford party yesterday afternoon agreed to make the whole Manchester issue and dispose of it at an interest rate half of 1 per cent in excess of the rate permitted under the act. Negotiations are already under way with private parties for the sale of the bonds and it is expected that the connection is expected.

Manchester reports to the contrary notwithstanding, is in a good condition as regards its financial affairs. Through the past five years the budget of the town has been balanced and no deficits have been equal to and in some instances better than many other towns in the state of like size. The current period of tax payment has been satisfactory under the two-payment tax plan, with the prospects, not earlier anticipated, of an equally large percentage of the tax receipts being paid.

Note Issue Unlikely In the event that the bond issue is not sold by May

SENATORS DEBATE HOSPITAL PROBE

State Body Refuses to Accept Unfavorable Report on Fairfield Project.

Hartford, April 26.—(AP)—The Senate refused today to accept an unfavorable report on the bill creating a commission to investigate the construction of the Fairfield State hospital at Newtown.

After a brief debate, the report of the judiciary committee was rejected and the measure, already voted down by the House, was tabled for the calendar.

Rejection of the measure was urged by Senator Howard W. Alcorn, minority leader, while Senators Frank S. Bergin, majority leader, and John C. Blackall, Hartford, Democrat, spoke in favor of the bill.

Four resolutions were sent in by Governor Cross as follows: George C. F. Williams of Hartford, Louise D. Duffy, of West Hartford, and Ethel C. Dunham of New Haven to the Department of Public Welfare; and William F. London of Fairfield to the shell commission. All of the appointments are for four years, beginning July 1, 1933. They were referred to the committee on executive nominations.

Williams is the only incumbent. Several bills were passed under suspension of the rules. One measure amends the $900,000 Bridgeport welfare bond law to permit this city to pay interest not exceeding six per cent on these bonds. The original bill set the interest limit at five per cent.

Another measure passed under suspension of the rules requires the payment of taxes even though an appeal from an assessment is pending. Under the bill, if the appeal is adjudicated in favor of the taxpayer, a refund would be made to the person appealing.

Emergency Bank Bill. The Senate also suspended the rules to pass an emergency bank bill which conforms with the requirements of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the purchase of preferred stock.

The measure, amending the previous emergency act on the issue of preferred stock by state banks, provides for first and second classes of preferred stock. It gives first class stock preference on dividends in the event of liquidation and representation on the board of directors to holders of this stock. The second class has no preference.

The Senate concurred with the House in adopting a resolution authorizing the printing of 100,000 copies of the liquor control act. The measure was approved in the House yesterday.

The committee on education reported favorably a bill authorizing the state board of education to investigate the need for a trade school in Derby. Its findings would be reported to the next General Assembly.

Without debate, the Senate rejected a bill authorizing Donald Geddes, a former state policeman, to sue the state for salary which he contends is due him.

During the debate on the Fairfield hospital bill, Senator Alcorn contended that while the proposed investigation would "dispel many rumors," the committee felt it should not be undertaken in the interest of economy.

Senators Bergin and Blackall said they did not know whether there was any merit to the reports circulated in connection with the project, but expressed the opinion that something should be done to clear the atmosphere.

Should Be Cleared. "Since there is so much smoke," Bergin asserted, "it should be cleared once and for all."

Persons connected with the project, the majority leader said, should be given the "exoneration they deserve or otherwise."

"I don't know whether there was anything wrong," Blackall said, "but the state should find out if any error was made."

Asserting that the project has cost the state "a tremendous amount of money," Blackall continued: "It would be a good investment for the state to find out what is wrong and who is responsible, so that it can be guided in the future."

The Senate confirmed the following nominations sent in by the governor yesterday: James H. Naylor of Hartford, William O'Connor of Norfolk and Nathan D. Prince of Hartford to be members of the board of trustees of the Mansfield State Training School and Hospital.

Naylor's appointment will be for four years from July 1, 1933, while the others are for four years from July 1, 1934.

The bill changing the interest rate on the Bridgeport welfare bonds was passed by the House shortly after that body received it from the Senate.

Sauces Add Zest To The Vegetarian Dinner

Cheese, Spices, Herbs and Condiments Bring Good Flavor and Color To Otherwise Bland, Unsatisfactory Dishes

The vegetarian dinners must look appetizing, taste delicious and leave no lingering hunger for something more solid and zestful. To meet these demands means that the housekeeper must not only know her "vegetables"—both in the can and on the grocery stands, but she must season and dress the vegetables with exceptional care. And she must cook them in a casserole or other oven dish for variety. With such consideration the vegetarian meal may be satisfying and appealing to the eye as well.

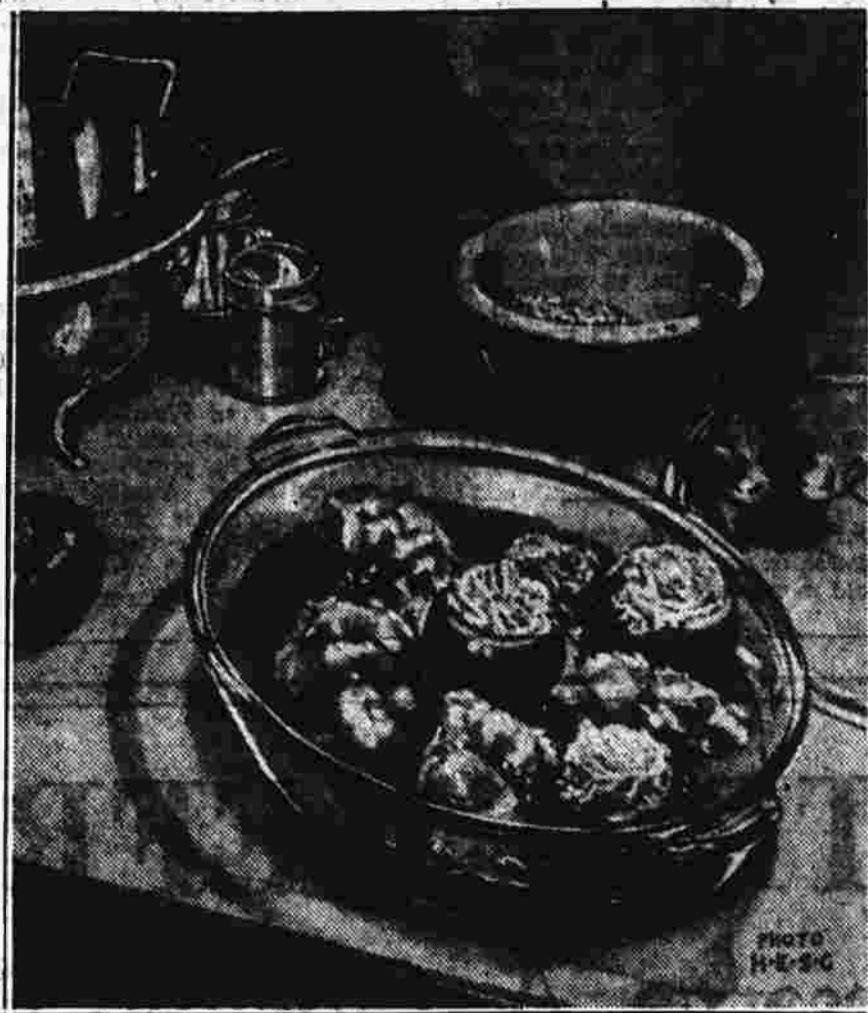

One of the most satisfactory additions to such a menu is with cheese, for this food supplies the protein which otherwise is probably missing when meat is not on the menu. A cheese sauce improves almost any vegetable. Make it with your best white sauce recipe (which has been given at the Cooking School and previously on this page). Add to a medium thick white sauce, one half to three-fourths cup grated Old English cheese or one cup grated American cheese. Stir smoothly. Serve hot, pouring it over a whole cauliflower, cooked as a head instead of broken up. This makes a pretty dish and a delicious one. Some cooks sprinkle such cauliflower with buttered crumbs well.

This same cheese sauce makes an excellent dressing for a casserole of cauliflower and tomatoes (illustrated). Rub the casserole with shortening. Then lay in it four tomatoes which have been hollowed out and filled with boiled rice and chopped, left-over vegetables.

Around the tomatoes arrange flowerlets of cooked cauliflower. Four cheese sauce over all, to cover. Brown in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes.

Tomatoes and cauliflower, with cheese make a savory main dish for the vegetarian meal.

GOOD FLAVORS IN STUFFED ROASTS

A leg or shoulder cut of lamb may be boned for the following recipe; or the bone left in, a deep vent cut in the most fleshy part, the stuffing put in the vent, fastened with skewers or sewed, then roasted. If the butcher bones the cut, buy one half pound round steak, use one slice bacon and a small onion with these, and grind fine in the food chopper.

Beat two eggs, season with one half teaspoon salt, and sprinkle of pepper. Mix the chopped meat with the eggs, stuff into the roast, roll and place in a casserole. Two or three strings should be tied around the roll to hold it together, then flour it lightly, season the outside, and place in the baking dish. Small potatoes and whole carrots, covered with bouillon, placed around the roast, give added good flavor. The strings are removed before taking to the table. Carve as for any roast. Use half the stuffing amounts if bone is left in and vent is cut.

Stuffed Shoulder of Veal
Have the butcher remove the bone. Buy in addition one quarter pound smoked ham. Have an herb bouquet if possible, or at least parsley, sage and celery salt, for the seasoning; one carrot; one onion; one bay leaf; one hard cooked egg; one tablespoon shortening; one cup dry bread crumbs one tablespoon flour. Wipe the veal with a damp cloth, then dredge with flour, salt and pepper. Chop the ham, mix with the bread crumbs, season with salt and pepper, add one sliced carrot, the minced onion, bayleaf, chopped hard cooked egg and minced parsley, three or four sprigs of the latter. Add one tablespoon of shortening and place in a hot frying pan, with another tablespoon of shortening. Cook ten minutes, stirring and mixing, then add three-fourths to one cup of water and cook five minutes. Stuff this mixture into the shoulder, skewer or tie together. Dredge with flour, and two strips of bacon. Roast in moderate oven for about two hours.

When done, make a gravy in the pan by adding the juice of one lemon, a tablespoon of butter, enough flour and broth and cream to thicken sufficiently. Chopped or ground orange peel is sometimes added to the gravy.

Using Chicken Stuffing
Use any favorite stuffing intended for chicken, such as oyster dressing, or bread, olive and chopped meat stuffing, for the lamb and veal. Left over meat and vegetables, ground up and mixed with the bread and seasonings, moistened with bouillon, make delicious stuffings for any roast.

A California railroad runs across the tops of trees over a deep ravine near the coast. A bridge of stone or iron was too costly to build, so the trees were utilized: The top branches were sawed off and the timbers for the line were laid on the stumps. The bridge is quite safe.

PUBLIC INTERESTED IN NEWSPAPER WORK

Dean of Journalism School Tells Editors Their Readers Should Be Told of Activities.

New York, April 25 — (AP) — The activity of newspapers and newspapermen is news in what the public is interested, Carl W. Ackerman, dean of the School of Journalism, Columbia University, told the Associated Press managing editors' association today.

"If this was a gathering of physicians, lawyers or educators, you would cover the proceedings for your newspapers, and I believe there is just as much interest in what you as newspapermen are doing."

"It is far better that the public learn of our activities through your newspapers than through the movies, the stage and the magazine."

Mutual problems of managing editors representing more than one hundred newspapers throughout the Nation were discussed and a committee was chosen to arrange a program for next year's session. Those named were Roy Roberts of the Kansas City Star, Oliver Rubin of the Washington Star, Edwin L. James of the New York Times, Roy J. Dunlap of the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press, and J. P. Miller of the Savannah Press.

NAZIS TAKE OVER RUSSIAN CONCERN

Berlin Headquarters Raided; Action May Mean Another Trade War.

Berlin, April 26 — (AP) — The Soviet Embassy lost no time today in pursuing negotiations regarding the occupation by Nazi police of the National headquarters of the German-Russian Petroleum Company Monday, when the offices were searched and 20 German employees of the firm were arrested as Communists.

It became known that the Nazi commissaire appointed by Captain Hermann Goering, Nazi minister without portfolio and premier of Prussia, intends not only to weed out Communists working for the company but also to manage the firm's business.

The fact that the company's shares are controlled in the Soviet Union creates an unprecedented situation, and members of the Russian trade delegation are pressing Bernard W. von Buelow, under-secretary for foreign affairs, for his official attitude on the situation.

Its Best Market
Soviet circles insist that should the situation demand any retaliatory measures, Germany would be infinitely harder hit than Russia by the recently invoked British boycott of Russian goods, since the Soviet Union is Germany's greatest import market.

The Nazi commissioner told the German-Russian employees that they must execute his orders or take the consequences. He also issued a statement saying that the old management of the firm was debarred from issuing instructions.

The statement closed with the slogan, "Heil, Hitler!" Police today continued to occupy the oil company buildings.

Police said that their search clearly proved "the company under the pretext of economic interests carried on far-reaching subversive and Communist activities."

A Letter from Mrs. Crabtree

Dear Friends in Manchester: Here are some more of the requested recipes. Others are so important that we are making special articles about them. Watch for articles dealing with your special request, and be patient when other recipes asked for do not appear. Eventually they will all be on this page.

Cinnamon Buns
One cup milk; four tablespoons shortening; one-half cup sugar; one teaspoon salt; one-half cake compressed yeast; six cups flour; one cup brown sugar; two teaspoons cinnamon; one and one-half cups currants; extra shortening is also needed for the bowl.

Scald the milk, then mix the four tablespoons of shortening with the one-half cup of granulated sugar and the salt. Mix, pour the milk on this, stir and let cool to lukewarm. Dissolve the half yeast cake in one-half cup lukewarm water, then stir into the cooled milk, mix, and gradually stir in the flour. Mix thoroughly to a smooth dough.

Rub a mixing bowl well, with shortening, leaving a good bit of shortening on the sides of the bowl. Put the dough in this bowl turning the dough round and round in the bowl to thoroughly coat it with the shortening. Cover, and let rise at room temperature, for three hours. Then push the sides of the dough to the center and push down, turning the dough over. Let rise again for an hour.

Turn on to a lightly floured bread board and pull the dough into halves. Knead each piece into a ball. Cover and let rise for ten minutes. Then roll to one-quarter inch thickness. Brush with melted shortening and sprinkle thickly with brown sugar, using about one cup for the whole batch of dough. Dust with cinnamon, and spread over the dough the currants. Begin at the edge and roll up like a jelly roll. Cut in thick slices (at least one and a half inches thick), place in prepared pans, let rise for an hour, then bake in a moderate oven for forty minutes.

The baking pans must be prepared by first rubbing well with shortening. Then spread one cup of brown sugar and one-half cup of currants evenly on the bottom of the pan. Place the buns on top of this layer. When they are baked, turn them upside down on a hot plate, and brush the glazed, sticky bottoms with a mixture of two tablespoons of brown sugar and one of water which has been boiled a minute or two. Use this syrup and a little pastry brush, on the hot buns; the syrup prevents the "candy" from hardening. Let cool, and serve.

Mashed Potato Crullers
Almost any good cruller recipe may substitute half of the flour with mashed potato. The following is an old fashioned one: two eggs; one cup sugar; one cup milk; two cups flour; two cups mashed potatoes (mashed down in the measuring cup); four teaspoons baking powder; one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg; one teaspoon salt; one-half cup melted shortening. Beat the yolks of the eggs, mix with sugar and melted shortening. Then add sifted flour, adding molasses mixed with the spices. Alternate flour and apple sauce until all is used. Mix smoothly, adding nuts just before last bit of flour. Rub a loaf cake pan with shortening and bake in a medium oven for forty-five minutes.

SEE SENATE APPROVAL OF BIG-RELIEF BILL

Measure Sets Up 500 Million Fund for Direct Unemployment Relief.

Washington, April 23—(AP)—The administration bill set up a $500,000,000 fund for direct unemployment relief passed final congressional approval today when the Senate banking committee approved the measure virtually as it was passed by the House.

Prompt Senate approval of the legislation, introduced by Senators Wagner (D., N. Y.), Coughlin (D., Colo.) and Follette (R., Wis.) is expected by leaders because a similar bill was speedily approved earlier in the session.

The House refused to consider the Senate bill, contending that as it was an appropriation measure it should have originated in the House. The House bill approved by the same, however, as the measure which the Senate passed. The only major change is that the first $250,000,000 would be allocated to the states on the basis of previous relief expenditures instead of the first $200,000,000.

The Senate committee agreed to this modification and reported the bill unanimously, with one or two minor amendments of its own.

A Federal relief administrator would have charge of administering the gigantic fund, distributing the first $250,000,000 to the states on the basis of public expenditures by the states and their subsidiary divisions during the preceding three-month period. The maximum each state could obtain under this portion of the fund would be one-third of the expenditures during the three-month period.

STATE POLICE REPORT.

Hartford, April 23—(AP)—Stolen property valued at $18,980 was recovered and liquor and equipment valued at $8,707 was seized by the state police during March according to the monthly report of Commissioner Sunderland submitted to Governor Cross today.

The officers traveled 188,266 miles and made 620 arrests, inspected 117 motion picture theaters, 1,248 weights and measures and spent $38,929.75. The department earned $5,117.27.

SECOND INDICTMENT AGAINST MITCHELL

New York, April 23—(AP)—A second superseding indictment was returned today by a Federal Grand Jury against Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City Bank, charging him with evading payment of Federal income taxes for the year 1929 and 1930.

Mitchell pleaded not guilty and the case was placed on the trial calendar for May 8.

The banker attended court with his counsel, Max D. Steuer. Steuer said his client had been indicted four times and that he had not pleaded to the first superseding and consolidated indictment that was returned last week.

U. S. Attorney George Z. Medaie explained that the indictment returned today is the one under which the banker will be brought to trial. "Some additional facts were ascertained in the investigation before the Grand Jury by my assistant, Thomas E. Dewey," Medaie said, "and these are embodied in the latest indictments."

The consolidated indictment returned today, the four "true bill" returned against Mitchell covers 1929 and 1930 and differs from the other consolidated indictment, returned last week, in that additional income of $668,666.67 is charged for 1929.

BIG BEER DEMAND

Chicago, April 23—(AP)—There must be a lot of dry whistles yet—in this third week of legal beer—the Chicago Association of Commerce decided today.

"We get daily requests from all over the country for beer for immediate shipment averaging around twenty carloads," said P. W. Kunning, domestic trade secretary for the association.

Bar equipment, brewery machinery, pretzels and brewmasters are sought daily in letters and telegrams.

"We have an opening for a good brewmaster," a Rochester, N. Y., company urged. Waterbury, Conn., has one too.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26.

HAD THEIR CHANCE.

It is nearly two years since Gerard Swope told an industrial audience of a far-reaching plan he had devised by which industry might try to stabilize employment and production and remove the fear of destitution from the workers' horizon.

When he made that speech, Mr. Swope was introduced by Owen D. Young; and Mr. Young warned his hearers that unless business found a way to solve the problems arising from over-production and unemployment, it could expect to see the federal government tackling the job.

Mr. Young's warning was widely praised and Mr. Swope's plan was extensively commented on; but nothing very definite in the way of results was obtained by either man. And today Mr. Young's prophecy is coming true, while Mr. Swope's notion that unrestrained competition blights a highly developed society has been abundantly justified.

The parallels between Mr. Swope's plan and the program now being devised by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins are striking.

Mr. Swope demanded the stabilization of production and of employment, the co-ordination of production and consumption on a broad basis, the establishment of a series of trade associations to make such steps possible and a widespread system of unemployment and old-age insurance.

Miss Perkins calls for very much the same thing, except that her plan lays more emphasis on hours of labor and rates of pay and—so far, at least—pays little attention to the insurance feature. But her plan in the main is similar to Mr. Swope's.

The chief difference between the two arises from the fact that Mr. Swope's program was to be initiated voluntarily by industry, while Miss Perkins' is to be forced on industry by the government.

And to those industrialists who are objecting to Miss Perkins' plan, it need only be said that they let Mr. Swope's plan collect dust for a year and a half without making the slightest effort to give it a trial. They were warned at the time that something of that kind was inevitable, but the warning went unheeded. They refused to take Mr. Swope as a leader; now they can take Miss Perkins—and like her.

QUEER WORLD'S FAIR.

Perhaps the queerest of all the now numerous list of "world's fairs" is the one scheduled to be opened in Chicago's very little more than a month hence. To be held in a city that cannot pay its school teachers, where human life and property are notoriously unsafe and which has gained throughout the world a reputation for lawlessness surpassing that of any large capital in civilization, it is slated to have its inception at a moment when the whole world's fortunes are dragging in the dust.

How the Chicago fair can possibly be anything but a terrible flop is almost impossible to see. And yet, since it is the unexpected that happens oftener than the expected, perhaps it will turn out to be precisely the opposite and prove to be the most successful as well as the most interesting of all the great international expositions. Anyhow, let us hope so.

The Chicago fair is queer especially in the fact that the big fellows among the nations are to have no official representation at all while some of the smaller ones are coming, so to speak, in full dress. Neither Great Britain nor France nor Germany, nor Russia, nor India, nor Canada, is to be officially represented, while among those that will be so represented are Egypt, the Dominican Republic, Morocco, the Irish Free State, Czechoslovakia,

Sweden, besides Italy, China and Japan.

Some of the officially unrepresented countries will, to be sure, have exhibits, some of them large ones, but they will not be under direct governmental sponsorship. Belgium, for example, are building a village of the Renaissance period, with reproductions of famous structures. China is to have a walled village with a great garden with lotus pond and a seven story jade temple, presumably sent here "knocked down," which is said to have taken eighteen years to build. Norway is to send a three masted sailing vessel direct to the fairground lake front. Mexico, if you please, will feature in her exhibit three super-luxurious railroad coaches. Mexico! Seventeen nations, officially and unofficially, are rushing to completion all sorts of buildings, pavilions, villages, and exhibits.

From this distance it looks as though the exposition were going to be a most oddly scratched-together hodge-podge. And it is just possible that for that very reason it will capture the imagination of peoples and become a thing that one will feel he has just got to see.

The very gall of the Windy City in keeping on with its World Fair plans in the face of bankruptcy, demoralization and joblessness—its supreme gall—is intriguing. There is something gallant and vagabond and gloriously devil-may-care about this World's Fair that none other has ever known.

Who knows? It may be a wow.

BAYONETS IN THE ROAD.

While from Washington come the glintings of high hopes for something of real worth to emerge from the disarmament and economic conferences, reflections of a new spirit of international amity that seems to hold promise of better understanding, it is pretty difficult to see how these newly born expectations are to be realized in anything like their entirety for a long time to come. Not, at least, so long as the situation in Germany remains what it is.

Frederick T. Birchall, correspondent of the New York Times at Berlin, has just sent to his newspaper a picture of the mental and temperamental state of that country starkly shocking to those who have been letting themselves dream of early international accords.

Contrasting the recent pious professions of Adolf Hitler that Germany yearns only for sweet peace with those of his chief lieutenant Goering, who is whooping about the need of Germans to "redeem with blood the pledge written in blood" in the "defensive" World War, the Times man says it is indicated that Goering's voice is not only the louder but the more widely heard. Which, he asks, is the true voice of Nazism? Perhaps, he goes on to say, the true interpretation is that both voices really utter the same sentiment. In all Germany's war wounds are healed, if the "dictate" of Versailles is revised, if Germany receives a clean bill of health for her part in the last war, if she gets back the Polish Corridor, Upper Silesia and her other territories, if her colonies are restored, if she is encouraged to sell her goods in the world's markets if, she having escaped the greater part of reparations, an all-round settlement of the war debts will leave the United States paying what is left, thus enhancing the buying capacity of Germany's neighbors for German goods, and if she is permitted to put her armaments back to a level with those of the others so that she will be in a position to demand anything else she needs—then all will be peace in this best of all possible German worlds unless Germany should discover new and hitherto unsuspected wounds that also need healing.

Thus the Nazi leaders would be in a position to show the German people what a pure Teutonic movement fearless of world criticism has done for them and would be firmly in the saddle. It is all very naive, but then the Nazi leaders have not been thinking internationally very long.

A Germany convinced that until the Polish Corridor is restored to her, until Upper Silesia is again within the Reich, until all her colonies have been returned, her army again the most powerful in Europe and her navy rightfully as great as any in the world, or greater, and finally until she has been formally absolved from all responsibility for the debacle of 1914, she is an aggrieved and wronged and put-upon nation, cannot be counted on to conform to the system of mutual friendships now evolving at Washington.

Nazi Germany stands squarely in the path of expectations of wholesale disarmament.

Perhaps there is actually more ground for real hope of peace—more than in anything that can be done by arms parlays—in the news that France, Poland and the Little Entente have definitely formed an alliance which cannot but be more military than political or economic—and that between that alliance and Russia there is coming to be a mutual understanding.

That is, of course, going back to the old bad system of "balances of power"—but there may be worse things when powers are unbalanced and in the possession of nations that glory in blood and war.

Such an alliance as that now reported to be actually formed in Europe may be the best possible guarantee against the much dreaded new war. When that dread is actually disposed of we may hopefully talk disarmament.

A THIEF'S MISTAKE.

There is always something funny about the errors of a law-breaker; and in these days of weighty problems it is rather refreshing to read of the lamentable mistake made by a thief in Mineola, Long Island.

This chap was out to swipe some young cedar trees from a roadside nursery. He was to grab them, a friend was to drive up in his car, he was to jump in with the trees and they were to speed away.

It worked out—so the robber thought—just fine. He grabbed the trees and ran to the curb. A car slowed up, he flagged it, jumped in, dumped the trees in the back seat, barked "Step on it, Joe!"—and then discovered that he had by mistake climbed right into a police squad car. The gentleman is now in jail, meditating on his mistake.

and last December urged to Congress a drastic reduction in public works appropriation.

Of course, when the Black bill came to a vote, Walcott wouldn't vote for it, even though it did provide "mandatory establishment" of a 30-hour week in industry.

He said the bill was unconstitutional.

But the fact remains that if Walcott had been making such "bolshie" speeches a couple of months ago he would have been kicked from the White House steps and probably from three or four conservative clubs.

Health and Diet Advice

DR. MCCOY OUTLINES WHOLE-SOME EGG RECIPES

When cooking eggs, the best plan is to cook them under a low flame, as they are more easily digested when partially cooked, and are hard to digest when cooked with a great deal of heat. Eggs are wholesome and protein in a manner except by frying. They are more difficult to digest when fried in any kind of grease.

COOLED EGGS are prepared by placing the unbroken eggs in a deep pan which is not standing over a fire, and holding them in boiling water and allowing to stand five to ten minutes. If one quart of boiling hot water is used to each egg, eight minutes will be about the proper length of time. Use the eggs at once.

FRENCH OMELET is prepared by beating together one egg with two ounces of milk and cooking slowly in a dry pan, to which grease has not been added. The mixture of milk and eggs must be stirred constantly so that it will not stick to the pan. It will gradually assume a jelly-like consistency and should be taken from the pan at that time. Serve in egg cups or by pouring over Melba toast.

POACHED EGGS may be prepared by cooking in plain water or milk. Use about four ounces of milk to each egg. After the cooking has continued for the fire for two or three minutes, put the pan under the broiler so that the heat from the broiler will cook the eggs and milk on top. Serve by pouring over Melba toast, adding butter and salt as desired.

EGG SALAD is made by thoroughly washing a bunch of celery and cutting the stalks into half inch lengths. Cook in a small amount of water for about 15 minutes. Remove from fire and add a cup of milk, 4 tablespoonful of Melba toast crumbs and two whole beaten eggs. Place a mixture of Melba toast crumbs in the bottom of a baking dish, add celery mixture and cover with the toast crumbs. Bake for 20 minutes and serve with butter.

SALAD WITH EGG: Chop one cup of celery, add one cucumber cut in small pieces, enough parsley to flavor and then add one minced hard-boiled egg.

CUP CUSTARD: Beat three whole eggs and add a cup and a half of sweet milk, a cup and a half of seedless raisins and a teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Pour into custard cups, being careful to distribute the raisins evenly. Place the cups in a shallow pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven until custards are slightly brown on top. You will find that the raisins make the custard sweet enough without the addition of sugar or honey. Serve with a little plain or whipped cream if desired.

HARD BOILED EGGS are difficult to digest if prepared in the usual manner of boiling several minutes, but an excellent kind of hard egg may be prepared by using the cooked method and allowing the egg to remain in the water from twenty to thirty minutes. Eggs prepared in this manner will not be leathery and are suitable for lunches or for a garnish for salads.

THE NEW YORK
 By PAUL HARRISON

New York, April 26.—Few theater-goers, arriving well-fortified from favorite dinners, ever give a thought to the distasteful stuff actors are obliged to consume on the stage. For even if the stage food happens to be well-prepared—which is seldom, because property men are not inclined to worry about cuisine—it becomes distasteful after a few hundred helpings.

About the biggest eating-and-drinking show on Broadway now is "Design for Living," and the cast of it seems to be getting a little pale around the gills. Every night and matinee, for example, Alfred Lunt and Noel Coward must stimulate a "pleasant" wilderness after consuming a quart of water, colored with caramel, which is supposed to be brandy. Then there always has to be a fresh rice pudding, sent from "Dinty Moore's" around the corner. Lunt doesn't like it, and he had a pretty bad time of it for several days before Dinty's was persuaded to send plain puddings.

Coffee, fresh from the property man's own percolator, is the only thing that doesn't pall. After that, "sherry," which is more water colored with more caramel. They smoke a lot of cigars, too, a couple of cartons a week, but never yet have been supplied with their three favorite brands on stage.

Another current dining-table play is "Three-Cornered Moon," which has coffee and milk in the first act, string beans and coffee in the second act, and more coffee in the third. The beans are canned and cold, and the glasses of milk are real, but the coffee is represented by plain water in cups that have been painted black inside. The director insisted on the water, so that Cecilia D'Amico, Ruth Gordon and the rest would have to handle the cups convincingly.

The first act of "Another Language," which recently closed, was full of synthetic potato salad concocted by the property man from slices of paraf apples. A lot of olives also were supposed to be consumed, but since these were real olives most of them were switched by the cast before the curtain went up. They dreaded having to eat olives before an audience anyway, because the heads usually smothered their aversion. Every actor has nightmares about being caught with a mouthful of food when his cue comes. He also lives in terror of choking on something, or getting the microphone.

Speaking of theater fare, there's a picnic dinner served backstage at the Lyric after every matinee of "Run, Little Chihuahua." When Hall Johnson's all-Negro drama Harlemites couldn't afford restaurant meals, or even subway fare to their homes, so the producers had big pots of mulligan cooked up, brought in heaps of sandwiches, and milk for the pickaninies, and fed them all right there. Now that the singers and actors' faith in the play has been justified, they could take separate taxis to Harlem if they wanted to. But the mulligan custom is still maintained, as a sort of thanksgiving feast.

Success Stories: A party backstage at the Casino Theater the other night celebrated the fiftieth performance of George White's "Melody," and proved it the fiftieth successive hit he has produced since his first "Scandale," in 1910. . . . Years ago a young playwright named James Hagan was spurred by producers and movie companies when he offered them a play called "One Sunday Afternoon." He only asked $500, but one frame agent told him it wouldn't bring a dime. Recently he dug it out of a trunk, landed it with the firm of Peters and Spiller, and saw it become an overnight hit on Broadway. The other day a film company forked over $28,000 for the movie rights.

Sweden, besides Italy, China and Japan.

Some of the officially unrepresented countries will, to be sure, have exhibits, some of them large ones, but they will not be under direct governmental sponsorship. Belgium, for example, are building a village of the Renaissance period, with reproductions of famous structures. BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

HOOVERITES IN CONGRESS SUDDENLY GO PROGRESSIVE IN SPEECHES
 By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

Washington, April 26.—Either a lot of people here were dumb a couple of months ago or they're crazy now.

It has become fashionable to believe in and support all sorts of legislation which a majority would have considered dangerously radical just before Mr. Roosevelt took Mr. Hoover's place in the White House.

This applies with especial force to the conservative Democrats who used to see eye to eye with Hoover on social and economic issues, but occasionally one is startled to observe even a conservative Republican who has seen a large light. Hardly anyone, unless it be Senator David Reed of Pennsylvania, parrots any of the old Hooverian about the dangers of the "dole," the glories of "rugged individualism" or the encroachment of "socialistic" theories.

There has been no more astonishing jump from the good old Hoover principles than that of Senator Frederic Collin Walcott of Connecticut, who until rather recently was Hoover's right-hand man in the Senate, and one of his most intimate friends.

Turn-About Senator Walcott now talks just as the progressives used to when they were voting for direct federal relief and other measures which Hoover and Walcott were opposing. He hasn't quite come around to voting with the progressives yet, but he made an eloquent speech in favor of the 30-hour-week bill before finally deciding to vote against it.

Only a few months ago Hoover conservatives would shout, "dole!" and point to the horrible effects of unemployment insurance in England and other countries. But now Walcott says:

"Our wage earners must today look to England, to Germany, to lesser countries, where the misery of unemployment can at least be borne without loss of self-dignity, without the fear of starvation, without the humiliation of rationed food and uncertain charity doles, without the loss of homes, without the fear of starvation, with an assured if still inadequate income, and with the assurance that a well-organized system of employment exchanges will bring instant notice of any jobs suited to their peculiar skills."

And Wealth

The fine pride that Hoover's friends had in his steadfast adherence to ancient principles of non-interference by government in business is to be found no more in the Connecticut senator.

"Voluntary action is not to be depended upon," he says. "We have, with high slogan-chanting, fled indignantly from phrases such as 'government interference' and 'dole' when it came to feeding the nation's hungry, and have insisted that pauper care for pauper, taxed with local taxes property that earns its ability to pay from local sources, ignored the concentrated pools of intangible wealth gathered from the nation in corporate profit and so sought to destroy all wealth by sucking dry its very foundation, low-income consumers' capacity to pay."

Walcott seems to make a large personal confession as well as a wholesale repudiation of Hoover. Walcott was one of those who voted last Congress against restoring high war-time tax rates on big incomes.

But He Votes "No"

"The first move to be taken toward reaching national and individual security, which is the goal," says Walcott, "is the mandatory establishment of a 30-hour or 36-hour week in industry. . . . The second move is the projection of an intelligently planned public works campaign."

Hoover would have cut off his right arm before urging a mandatory shorter day or shorter week.

Pour into custard cups, being careful to distribute the raisins evenly. Place the cups in a shallow pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven until custards are slightly brown on top. You will find that the raisins make the custard sweet enough without the addition of sugar or honey. Serve with a little plain or whipped cream if desired.

HARD BOILED EGGS are difficult to digest if prepared in the usual manner of boiling several minutes, but an excellent kind of hard egg may be prepared by using the cooked method and allowing the egg to remain in the water from twenty to thirty minutes. Eggs prepared in this manner will not be leathery and are suitable for lunches or for a garnish for salads.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Fingers Feel Cold and Swell)
 Question: Miss Sally U. asks: "Could you tell me a remedy for my fingers? They get extremely cold, then they start swelling and in the winter, when working up to the fingertips. The soreness starts by small lumps forming under the skin, then becoming real red. By touching anything cold my fingers get blue and numb. Would like to find a cure, as I have to work for a living."
 Answer:—Possibly you are having some kind of functional heart trouble. Your physician should be able to tell you whether my guess is correct. Send for special articles on heart derangements and poor circulation, being sure to enclose your large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Bran and Clabber Laxative)
 Question: Mrs. T. I. writes: "I use two tablespoonfuls of bran along with Clabber every morning for my breakfast. This acts as a laxative. Is this combination all right?"
 Answer: The combination of bran and clabbered milk is all right for you if you are getting results with it. I suggest that you use pulverized bran and only the curd of the clabber, discarding the whey.

(Needs Mental Help)
 Question: Mrs. Pearl Dub. writes: "Though I have no pain no ache and am in good health, I can't control the mind and am afraid it will lead to something serious. Try to 'throw it off' but can only do so for a short time and am much worried."
 Answer: You require the advice of a good psychoanalyst. Until you find one, try to get interested in something and am afraid it will lead to something serious. Try to 'throw it off' but can only do so for a short time and am much worried."

HIGH COURT RULES AGAINST McCARTHY

Ex-Congressman Tierney Entitled to $60,000 Paid Him for Services.

Hartford, April 26—(AP)—The Supreme Court of Errors in an opinion by Justice George E. Hinman, today, held that former Congressman William L. Tierney of Greenwich is entitled to the $60,000 paid him by Dr. James S. McCarthy of New Haven, for personal services in a contest which had developed over admission to probate of the will of the latter's wife, Mrs. Margaret Huntington McCarthy.

The opinion held the money was paid in accordance with an oral agreement and that Tierney is under no duty to account for it to McCarthy.

The plaintiff and defendant in the action are executors under Mrs. McCarthy's will. The opinion pointed out that all counsel and guardians ad litem are paid out of the estate.

McCarthy had charged in the trial court that he paid Tierney the $60,000 as a counsel fee for assistance in settling the $7,000,000 estate, that as the issue was amicably settled the payment of a fee was unnecessary and that the money should be returned.

Judge Frank P. McEvoy found in favor of Tierney and McCarthy took an appeal.

Second Opinion

In the second opinion by Justice Hinman no error was found in the suit of McCarthy, trustee, against Tierney, trustee, in which advice of the court had been asked as to what investments of trust funds should be made by the trustees out of the McCarthy estate. Judge McEvoy sustained a demurrer to the complaint and Judge John Richards Booth gave a verdict for Tierney from which McCarthy appealed.

The question had been raised to the legality of deposit of $600,000 of trust funds in savings departments of trust companies in the state. Tierney insisted the funds for the greater part should be put into real estate mortgages. The plaintiff was for U. S. Government bonds. They could not agree. The plaintiff asked the court for advice. The defendant demurred on the ground there was no cause for action within jurisdiction of the Superior Court that there was an allegation of bad faith or abuse of power nor any construction of the will asked for, and that legality of deposits or investments was illegal unless bad faith on the part of Tierney was alleged. The demurrer was upheld.

The Finding

The opinion said in part x x x courts of Equity possess broad general powers to respond to requests by fiduciaries for advice for their protection and guidance as to doubtful questions touching their power and duties under the law and the instrument creating the trust, including construction of the trust instrument. x x x They will not, however, interfere with the exercise of discretionary powers of trustees, in the absence of a showing of fraud, bad faith, or abuse of discretion. x x x Courts have no occasion for interference with investments, made by trustees within the discretionary powers vested in them by the trust instrument unless it appears that they have not acted in good faith or that they have abused the discretion invested in them. x x x To determine the choice between opposing opinions of co-trustees as to questions pertaining merely to comparative advantages of different investments x x x would be manifestly impracticable as well as outside the bounds of judicial functions. x x x The demurrer was properly sustained. The other opinions handed down were as follows:

Katherine Polo et al vs. Elwood I. Rogers and the City of Stamford, action by mortgagee to recover damages resulting from setting of a building line and street line upon property subject to a mortgage, error in form of judgment only; remanded for correction. Tried by Judge Baldwin in Fairfield county with judgment for plaintiff; opinion by Justice Banks. The plaintiff had a mortgage on Rogers property. She was given $20,457.12 damages because she was not notified of a change in the building line.

Helen M. Washburn, administratrix, (estate of Jennie M. Washburn) vs. Lyman La May et al, action to recover death damages alleged due to defendants negligence; no error. Tried at Hartford before Judge O'Sullivan with verdict for defendants; opinion by Chief Justice Mattheis.

Wonalancet Company vs. F. E. Banfield et al, action to recover damages for alleged breach of contract to buy certain cotton material, no error. A Bristol case tried at Hartford by Judge John Rufus Booth with judgment for defendant; opinion by Justice Beach.

Aida Lovell vs. City of Bridgeport, action to recover damages for personal injuries due alleged to defective sidewalk, tried before Judge McEvoy, with judgment for plaintiff; error found and new trial ordered. Opinion by Chief Justice Mattheis.

Carmela Caviote, administratrix, vs. Patrick F. Shea et al, action to recover death damages resulting from an automobile collision tried before Judge John Rufus Booth at New Haven, with verdict for plaintiff against defendant Valenta and for defendant Shea; appeal by plaintiff and Valenta; no error on latter's appeal but error on plaintiff's appeal and new trial ordered.

against Shea. Opinion by Justice Avery.

Harry Kayser vs. Martin J. O'Meara, action for breach of warranty of an automobile truck, tried by Judge John Rufus Booth with judgment for defendants; no error. Opinion by Justice Hatnes.

Broadway Bank and Trust Company vs. Frank D. Longley, et al, action by payee of promissory note against guarantors of the note, tried by Judge Peaseley at New Haven, with judgment for plaintiffs; appeal by Longley; error and judgment directed for Longley. The note was executed in 1923. Opinion by Chief Justice Mattheis was that the statute of limitations was a good defense.

Edith Goldstein of Ansonia vs. Harry Kaplan of Derby, action for damages for personal injuries resulting from an auto collision. Tried before Judge Jennings at New Haven with verdict of $2,000 for plaintiff. No error, opinion by Justice Banks.

This suit arose out of a collision of machines at a street intersection at which was a traffic sign "Through traffic—Stop."

The defendant asserted the plaintiff did not stop; she maintained she did. The appeal came from the trial court's charge as to the exact point at which the plaintiff stopped her machine. The defendant claimed an error because the court said the woman's duty was to stop at the sign and not at the property lines as set down in the law. The opinion held the spirit of the law was for a full stop to be made before proceeding into the intersection. It held the woman made this stop.

BIG STRIKE IN SPAIN

Barcelona, Spain, April 26—(AP)—This second largest city of Spain was completely tied up today by a transportation strike. The usually bustling streets presented a lifeless appearance.

Taxi stands were empty; trolleys, subways and buses and other forms of transportation were suspended. Other workers strikes continued and it was reported in labor circles that they may expand into a complete tieup throughout the Catalonia region.

TO DEPORT REDS

Berlin, April 26—(AP)—After examination of material seized Monday in a raid on the national headquarters of the German Russian Petroleum Company, police announced today there was no doubt that the company constituted "a Communist danger zone" as 75 per cent of the employees were Communist functionaries.

Police said the company would remain intact as a commercial organization and only Communist agitators would be removed.

Police asserted they had evidence indicating many Communists wanted by them were shifted about the company's service stations, thereby escaping arrest, and also were placed secretly aboard Russian tank steamers. Action taken against the company by the German authorities has the object of preventing further Communist activities.

Dublin, April 26—(AP)—The Communist national day of mourning throughout the Free State staged a one day strike today in protest against salary cuts imposed by the government.

ROCKVILLE

CITY MAY BE FORMALLY WITHOUT TAX COLLECTOR

Refusal of Companies to Provide Bonds Under Present Law Seems to Create Vacancy.

Through a technicality Rockville is apparently without a tax collector at the moment through the operation of the laws of the state. Announcement to this effect was made last evening by Alderman George Scheets, chairman of the finance committee, at the regular meeting of the Common Council.

William F. Partridge, trust officer of the Rockville National Bank, was recently appointed tax collector of the city of Rockville. As all surety companies in the state refused to go bond for a tax collector while the state law makes the collector responsible for all uncollected taxes, the office is technically vacant due to a phrase of the city charter.

Under the city charter a bond of $10,000 is required and the same charter provides that in default of its being filed the office becomes vacant.

It was voted to refer the matter to Judge John E. Flak, corporation counsel, for a written opinion. City Treasurer Parley B. Leonard was elected treasurer of the Sinking Fund of the city replacing Sherwood C. Cummings. This is an honorary position and required a bond of $10,000. As the city treasurer is bonded for this amount, the bond will suffice for both jobs as there is no salary to the office of treasurer of the Sinking Fund. The office of treasurer of the Sinking Fund requires about ten minutes time a year—this signing of two checks and depositing them in the local savings banks.

Named Deputy Coroner Attorney Joel Reed of Stafford Springs has been appointed Deputy Coroner for Tolland County by Coroner John H. Yeomans of Andover.

Announcement was made today by Coroner Yeomans of the appointment of the grandson of Judge Joel Reed of Stafford Springs as Deputy Coroner.

Coroner Yeomans is the son of the late Judge John H. Yeomans who for many years was a judge of the Superior Court of the state of Connecticut.

Spread in Appraisals A difference of approximately $30,000 in appraisal values of the Rosenberg property on Union street was shown in the foreclosure action in the Tolland County Superior Court yesterday before Judge John Rufus Booth of New Haven.

This is a centrally located property and the value of $65,423 was placed on the property by Louis St. Clair Burr, of Manchester and Hartford, who presented an appraisal for the Progressive Finance and Realty Company of New Haven, which concern brought action against Alfred Rosenberg.

Attorney William J. Mulligan, appearing for the defense, presented Patrick G. Hayes, of Hartford, who appraised the property on a "rental basis" for $90,350.

While no opposition was offered in defense of the foreclosure action the defense appraisal was offered as a matter of record.

Appraiser Burr offered his appraisal on the basis of present-day value and the condition of the buildings located on Union street adjoining the Union Congregational church. The main building, a three-story brick structure, is about 45 years old.

The appraisal of Patrick Hayes was based on a rental of approximately $8,000 for the eleven stores.

The property has a first mortgage of $85,000 now held by the Savings Bank of Rockville and a second mortgage of $10,000 held by the Progressive Finance and Realty Company of New Haven, with back taxes of approximately $1,800.

The law day was set as October 30, 1933 with a judgment of $11,082.75 with attorneys fees of $50 being allowed making a net judgment of $11,132.75. This is the largest foreclosure ever taken in Rockville.

Foreclose Somers Property The Savings Bank of Tolland was granted a foreclosure in the case against Charles A. Bridge, trustee of the Joseph Pease farm in Somers. George B. Hathaway, of Ellington, appraised the property, located in Somers, at $5,000 and described it as consisting of a ten-room house, tobacco sheds and other small buildings with 100 acres of land.

The judgment was in foreclosure of the first mortgage of $6,000 with back taxes of $685.33 and interest of $475, making a net judgment of $7,150.32. The law day was set as May 28.

Crystal Lake Property Foreclosed The Savings Bank of Tolland was granted a foreclosure in the action of Mabel A. Dimock and others of the property at Dimock's Corner at Crystal Lake. William J. Bowler, of Crystal Lake, appraised the property, consisting of a lot 100 by 200 with a five-room house and two chicken coops and a garage at $1,800.

A judgment of $1,858.54 was granted in this action with the law day set as June 5. The incumbrances totaled $3,876.81 which included the following: First mortgage of $1,750; interest of $138.54; taxes of $49.25; interest premium in arrears of $20.75; costs of $82.11; mortgages of $1,875.

Two Divorces Granted Two divorces were granted by Judge Booth yesterday. Leonard Clark of Gurleyville, near Williamantic, was granted a decree from Bertha Blana Clark on the grounds of wilful desertion during February 1925.

Leonard Clark testified to being married May 24, 1923. Sixteen months later his wife left for parts unknown. On November 20, 1924, she returned to her husband and remained to February, 1925, when she left again.

In 1925, Mrs. Clark brought a divorce action which was dismissed. Mrs. Clark wrote numerous letters about wanting to come back to her husband, one of which was presented in court, being the one written after the divorce action was instituted. Clark secured a truck and went to Mount Vernon, N. Y., in 1927, and brought his wife back to Gurleyville at 2 o'clock in the morning. Within five minutes after entering the home Mrs. Clark grabbed her bag and left. The only reason Mrs. Clark ever gave was that she was "homesome for her mother" and that it was "too dead a town."

Husband Broke Jaw Mrs. Kejoky Sajdak was granted a divorce from Yedrym Sajdak on the grounds of intolerable cruelty with the custody of two minor children. It was brought out in court that Sajdak was arrested eight times for striking his wife and for choosing her. One time he broke her jaw with a blow.

Rockville Notes Dr. Ernest A. Butterfield, State Commissioner of Education, was the speaker at the meeting of the Ellington Parent-Teachers Association held last evening in the Ellington Town Hall. A large number of Rockville residents attended.

The regular meeting of the Board of Selectmen was held last evening at which time town aid was discussed. Selectman Francis J. Prichard presided.

The engagement of Miss Irene Rosinski to Dominick Mroczkowski has been announced by the former's mother, Mrs. Stanley Lipka.

The annual ball of the Polish American Citizens club will be held at Pulaak Hall, Village street, on Saturday evening. The music will be furnished by Max Kabrick and his orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard P. Hayden of 135 Middle street, Bristol, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mildred E. Hayden, to Raymond L. Dickinson, son of Postmaster and Mrs. George E. Dickinson of Rockville. Mr. Dickinson is an engineer with the New York Telephone Company.

The regular meeting of the auxiliary of the American Legion will be held tonight in the G. A. R. hall.

The Cornelia Circle held a meeting yesterday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Frank M. Marble of North Park street. An interesting talk was given by Mrs. Spencer S. Fitch on the topic "Flower Gardens." Mrs. John C. Whittlesey discussed the current events of the day.

The Home Economics committee of the Vernon Grange will hold a public whist on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Albert Newmarker at Ogden's Corner.

Fistic Flareup Marks Yankee-Washington Contest

COAST LAYS CLAIM TO FUTURE TENNIS CHAMPION IN CO-ED

Gracyn Wheeler, 18, Bids Far to Follow in Footsteps of Famous Stars; Has Won Over Fifty Titles.

Santa Monica, Cal., April 26.—Between them, Santa Monica and Berkeley have developed some of the greatest tennis players in annals of American netdom. Berkeley produced Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Miss Helen Jacobs as its foremost exponents of the net game, while this city has sent such stars as May Sutton, Bundy, Johnny Drog, Tom Bundy and Jay Cohn to the tennis wars.

Now these two California cities have co-operated in producing a young woman who bids far to follow in the foot steps of her illustrious predecessors. She is Gracyn Wheeler, 18-year-old University of California at Los Angeles co-ed, who has rapidly forged to the front in the past two years as a junior, and who, on January 1, entered women's competition.

Miss Wheeler was born in Berkeley in 1914, but moved here with her parents while very young and "grew up" on Santa Monica's tennis courts.

More Than 50 Titles. Although she competed in her first tournament in 1929, she has won more than 50 titles, including three national championships, several California crowns and a host of Coast, state and city tournaments.

Her first major victory was in the 1930 Pacific Coast girls' singles championship. Next year she won, among others, the Southern California, Pacific Northwest, Southern California junior girls' singles and the national hardcourt girls' doubles crown with Katherine Wood of Los Angeles.

Continuing her sensational play, the tall high school "coquet" soared to new heights last year when she captured 29 championships in various parts of the United States and Canada.

The high spot of her Northwest campaign was the Washington state tournament, in which she won five championships—girls' singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles.

Plays Spectacular Game. After a brief rest she entrained for Philadelphia, where she nabbed the Eastern grass court girls' singles throne and a second doubles championship with Katherine Wintthrop.

Her game is spectacular. No soft lob for her. From start to finish she takes chances with swiftness and drives to the corners, placements and winning shots that leave her opponents bewildered.

Although very slender, she is wiry and as tireless as a cow pony. Here is a perfect temperamental. Nothing ruffles her, whether an impatient gallery or a tense crucial match with much at stake.

A SOCK IN SOCCER

THIS unusual action picture taken during the recent final championship game between St. Louis and New York teams indicates there's a healthy sock in soccer now and then. Two St. Louis players are colliding. St. Louis won two straight and the National Challenge cup.

Endees Win Cage Title, Taking Crucial Contest

Rec Champs Drub Joe's Service Station, 30-20, to Clinch "Little Town Series"; Lead 19-11 at Half-time; Team Play Factor in Victory.

Over 500 fans saw the Endees win the "little" town basketball championship at the School Street Rec last night, 40-30. The Endees, winners of the Rec and now the town series, were without the services of their regular center "Cupie" Waddell and entered the fray at a disadvantage. Hence the victory last night is all the more credit to the Endees team.

Joe's Service Station while they battled stubbornly only once threatened seriously. Joe's boys, either because they were handicapped by the smaller floor or merely playing in tough luck, did not function as smoothly as usual. Welles, Spencer and Ferguson bore the brunt of the Endees' offense and defensive play. The Endees players functioned as a team throughout the game and so evenly divided honors that picking any individual player would not be possible.

STUDENTS TO CONTROL TRADE SCHOOL SPORTS

Control of athletics by the student body of the State Trade School is being planned here, Director John Bohmian announced today. It is planned to elect the officers for the athletic association in the near future, each department of the school naming its own candidates, after which the students will vote by ballot on the candidates.

It is hoped to place responsible students in executive capacities to handle the athletic activities of the school. This move follows closely on the heels of the creation of the Connecticut Trade School Association of Athletic Directors and Coaches, which has set up an inter-scholastic Athletic Code to govern sports in vocational schools throughout the state.

PITCHER RETIRES AFTER 23 YEARS; ARM STILL STRONG

Ray Caldwell, Former Yankee Star, Voluntarily Ends Hurling Career; Plans Tour of Country.

Birmingham, Ala., April 26.—(AP)—"Voluntarily retired" has been written after the name of Ray Caldwell after a baseball pitching career of 23 years.

The former Yankee star, 37, ace of the Cleveland world champions in 1920 and the dean of Southern association hurlers has obtained his release from the Birmingham Barons.

His tenure in organized baseball is completed, but he's not through with the game. At 45 Caldwell has joined a band of old-timers in a barnstorming tour that will carry him over the nation.

Ray insists his sturdy right arm is as good as ever—or almost as good. But a bad knee, together with a salary offer better than the Southern association limit, caused him to ask for his release. His knee was hurt early last season and forced him out for the year. He's an insurance man in Birmingham, and only at his request did the Barons let him go.

Best Year In 1920. Good condition, fine control, something on the ball and a little upstart story are the reasons Caldwell gives for his ability to remain in the game for 23 years.

Reminiscing over his trail, Caldwell looks upon 1920 as his best year. Pitching for Cleveland the year the Indians won the world championship, Ray won 20 games and lost 10.

Ray belongs to the no-hit, no-run class. His perfect game came in September, 1919, against his old club, the Yankees, at New York. He had just gone with Cleveland, and despite the fact he was struck and knocked out by lightning in the third inning, he won.

Pinch Hit For Yanks. He's had some funny breaks. In 1926 with Little Rock, Ray pitched 199 innings—a record for that year—and won but 12 games. And again he pitched 45 innings before his team mates scored a single run for him. While with the Yankees Caldwell entered games on two consecutive days as a pinch hitter and blasted home runs.

Ray was with a semi-pro team in Arkansas in 1929 when Johnny Dobbs, the Birmingham manager, brought him back to organized baseball. He won two games in the Dixie series and the next year he won 19 and lost seven. He was off to a good start in 1932 when he hurt his knee.

Manchester High's track team will make its 1933 outdoor debut tomorrow afternoon in a dual meet against Meriden High at the West Side field at 3:30 o'clock. A list of eleven events will be run off and Coach Pete Wigren has selected the Red and White entries for each, after tryouts held over a period of the last two weeks.

Although eleven veterans were lost through graduation last summer, Coach Wigren has high hopes of another successful season for his team. Eight lettermen form the nucleus of this year's squad which will seek to capture its fifth consecutive C. C. I. L. title this season in the League meet at Trinity Field in Hartford on June 10.

The eleven events for tomorrow's meet, subject to the approval of Meriden officials, and the time at which they will be run are as follows: 100-yard dash and shot put, 8:30; 100-yard dash and discus, 4:00; mile run, 4:10; 440-yard run and broad jump, 4:20; 220-yard run and javelin throw, 4:30; 880-yard run, 4:40; and relay, 5:00.

Probable Entries. The probable Manchester entries will be as follows: 100-yard dash: Fraser, Judd, Cude or Rowell. 200-yard dash: Fraser, Judd, Cude. 440-yard run: Rowsell, Stoutnar, Mosser, Carpenter. BASEBALL

ALL-STARS TRIUMPH

The All-Stars defeated the Shamrocks at the Mill Lota Monday night by a score of 5 to 2. Coleman was the big gun for the winners, getting three out of three, while McPartland was best for the Shamrocks. McCann pitched superior ball throughout, allowing only two hits.

George Watkins, Cards—Hit homer and single scored three runs, batted in two and stole one base against Pirates. Frank Fytkiel, Indians—Clouted homer with two on to beat Browns. Hal Schumacher, Giants—Held Dodgers to five hits. Johnny Hodapp, Red Sox—Attacked Athletics with five hits, collected four singles and scored three runs. Jim Bottomley, Reds—Walked off homer with two on to provide winning margin against Cubs.

Pat Tracy, nephew of the famous Rosencorn champion, Jim Coffey, will make his American fistic debut April 21 at New York. He's a heavyweight but will over six feet and weighing 200 pounds.

O'NEIL CONFIDENT OF WINNING BOUTS

Meets Two Opponents in Diamond Gloves Finals at New Haven Tomorrow.

Thomas O'Neil of Bissell street fights in New Haven tomorrow night in the novice class of the diamond glove state championship in the 135 pound class.

O'Neil, who has no particular trainer, is a natural born scrapper and can and does use both hands. Early this winter he clambered through the ropes in Rockville for his first public appearance. It was a two round affair.

It also marked the opening of the elimination of the contenders in the different sections of the state. O'Neil started the fight with undue caution, but opened up with both right and left before the round ended. He proved a good fighter and there was no question when he was awarded the decision.

A week following he met two men of his class in East Hartford and won both bouts, having but little time for rest between bouts. This left the outstanding 135 pounders in the Hartford section.

Win, loss or draw tomorrow means jail for O'Neil, as he is employed in the furniture department of the county jail. He says he is in good condition and is much more confident than on the night of his first scrap.

ALLOW SCHMELING TO KEEP MANAGER

But He Is Not Allowed to Have Jacobs If He Boxes in Germany.

Berlin, April 26.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, former heavyweight boxing champion, outside the borders of Germany, will be allowed to remain in Germany, Wolfgang Matthes, secretary of the German boxing commission said today.

Matthes issued the ruling on Jacobs to clarify the German ban on Jews in sports following the action yesterday of the Union of German Professional boxers in promulgating a set of rules barring Jews from membership and any activities.

Schmeling, now training in the United States, was with Max in New York in June, has engaged in no bouts in Germany for several years. His whole fistic success has been in the United States under Jacob's management. He won the heavyweight boxing title in a bout with Jack Sharkey in 1930 and lost the title to the Boston sailor in a bout last summer.

Hold Marathon Race at Norwich, May 30. Norwich, April 26.—(AP)—Entry blanks were mailed today to about 700 athletes in the country for the National A. A. U. 16 kilometer run which will be held here May 30 under the auspices of the A. A. U. The entries will close May 29.

GOLF

The golf shot with wooden clubs is a sweep rather than a hit. The iron is more like a blow. For any shot, however, rhythm is essential. Rhythm is the essence of "timing" which is co-ordinating the motion of the club with the movements of the muscles of the body. Correct timing is evident when the clubhead hits the ball with a resounding smack.

A golf stroke may seem to be rapidly made, yet the beginning of the downswing is comparatively slow to the finish of the swing. The clubhead should gain momentum as it travels toward the ball, attaining its maximum speed at impact.

Hot Springs, Va., April 26.—(AP)—All the favorites were in the group that moved today into the quarter-final of the annual Hot Springs tennis tournament.

Francis X. Shields of New York, the tournament favorite, moved along with a 6-0, 6-1 decision over Robert Van Lant, while Lester Hildebrand of Los Angeles and Marcel Rivallina of the Canadian Davis Cup team won their matches in impressive style.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Belly-Ache
It's hard to make a profit now. Customers with dough are few. The world is on the rocks—and how! Competition's awful, too.

There's no use cutting prices more. Other fellows out there's deeper. If this keeps up I'll swap my store for a padded cell and keeper!

People say that they often find it hard to tell the difference between weeds and young plants. The sure way, of course, is to pull them all out. If they come up again they are weeds.

Southern Colonel (in pre-Valstead days in the dining room of a big hotel)—Waiter, bring me a Kentucky breakfast.

Waiter—Yes, sir, what is that?
Southern Colonel—Bring me a big steak, a bulldog, and a quart of bourbon whiskey.

Waiter—But why the bulldog?
Southern Colonel—To eat the steak, suh.

PEOPLE NEED DIVERSION, BUT SOME OF THEM SEEM TO THINK THEY OUGHT TO HAVE NOTHING ELSE.

Minister (to non-attendant)—Why don't you attend church?
Non-Attendant—Well, I'll tell you, sir. The first time I went to church they poured water in my face; the second time they tied me to a woman, I've had to keep her alone.

Minister—Yes, and the next time you go they'll throw dirt on you.

One can respect gray hairs only so far as they cover wisdom. . . . A mule may turn gray, but he'll still be hard-headed.

She—Oh, John, I've just discovered that the woman next door has a hat exactly like mine.
He—Now I suppose, you'll want me to pay for a new one.

She—Well, dear, that would be cheaper than moving.

LUNATICS ARE THE ONLY PERSONS WHO NEVER DO OR SAY ANYTHING OF WHICH THEY ARE NOT ASHAMED.

Sandy and Jock were walking near the river when they spied a sign—"FIVE DOLLARS FOR RESCUING A DROWNING PERSON."
They looked at each other, no words being needed. Sandy jumped in and then gave a loud cry for help. To his surprise Jock did not come to his rescue. "Mon, I'm drowning, why do ye not come?" he shouted.

Calmly Jock replied: "Dinna ye see the other sign? 'TEN DOLLARS FOR RECOVERING A DEAD BODY.'"

When turned down for a job because he was too old, a certain man snorted: "What do you mean, old? Noah was 600 years old before he built the ark."

Many a girl who is an eye-fall as a date becomes a hand-ful as a wife.

Drug Store Customers!
"Good morning, Miss Johnson. What can I do for you?"
Postage Stamps! Yes indeed. That'll be all!"
"Ah, Mrs. Swanson. Nickels? Here's two for you. There's nothing more you need? Just a phone call?"

Agnes—Just as soon as Alfred recovers from the injury to his head he came around and proposed.
Janet—I understand he's acted queerly since he got well.

Two philosophers made a vow of silence. At the end of 25 years the first one said: "Isn't this silence beautiful?" There was again for 25 years, then the other said: "Yes, don't spoil it with your chatter."

NO GIRL NEED REMAIN SINGLE, IF SHE HAS A PRETTY FACE, NICE ANKLES AND A GOOD JOB.

Bloodhounds, instead of being ferocious, bloodthirsty beasts, are docile and affectionate.

You can sleep better if you rearrange your bedroom furniture, according to scientists.

Salt is used in freezing ice cream because salt, when added to the ice, gives a temperature of 21 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit.

Radium will lose half its value in about 1800 years.
