

TREASURY GIVES OUT GOLD REGULATIONS

Industries Having Legitimate Use for It Will Be Supplied But No One Else, Statement Says.

Washington, May 1.—(AP)—Regulations governing the distribution of gold to industries having legitimate uses for it were issued today by the Treasury a few hours before the expiration of the law for all gold other than small individual sums to be turned in to the government.

The regulations outlined the method by which persons legitimately needing gold may obtain it and provided that no collector of customs might permit the export of gold unless the person sending it abroad turns over to him a license issued by the Secretary of the Treasury to permit the transaction.

Persons needing gold for legitimate purposes may file an application to purchase such quantities as are required.

The application must be filed with a Federal Reserve Bank in duplicate, executed under oath and verified before an officer authorized to administer oaths. It must contain the name and address of the applicant, his business, the amount of gold required usually over a period of 90 days, the amount sold or used during the preceding calendar year, the amount and description of all gold on hand, the amount applied for and a statement that the applicant will use such gold as he may be permitted to purchase only for legitimate and customary requirements of his business.

The Federal Reserve Bank if satisfied that the gold is necessary to the applicant's business may permit him to purchase on payment of an equivalent amount of coin or currency issued by the United States.

Strict Record Kept
The records of persons and dealers using gold shall be open to inspection by the Treasury and the gold so purchased shall be accounted for only as permitted in the regulations and the executive order of President Roosevelt issued on April 5.

The regulations revoke the previous regulations issued by Secretary Woodin permitting the normal use of gold in industrial arts.

They require that a license must be obtained before gold coin, gold bullion or gold certificates may be exported from the United States, and that such licenses for export of gold earmarked or held in trust for foreign central banks or the Bank for International Settlements, gold imported for re-export, gold required for fulfillment of any contract entered into prior to April 20 by an applicant.

VOTING ON REPEAL IN RHODE ISLAND

Wets Not Predicting Sweeping Victory—Claim Every Wet Vote is Needed.

Providence, May 1.—(AP)—The question of repeal of the 18th Amendment came before voters today. The voters were also called upon to decide the fate of a proposed $3,000,000 bond issue for funding unemployment relief costs.

Anti-prohibition leaders were a bit optimistic about predicting the sweeping a victory for repeal. They said they feared over confidence and looked askance for the moment on the boat that Rhode Island is the wettest state in the country.

Others high up in repeal ranks were not so confident. They expressed confidence that tonight would find repealists in possession of a good majority of the 31 seats in the convention to be held May 8. They urged anti-prohibitionists, however, to go out and vote and not stay away from the polls to the belief their votes were not needed.

Dry's Campaign
Leaders of the prohibition group have been conducting an unusually intensive campaign, especially in the churches. Their major point of attack has been that the recently enacted beer and liquor control law permits saloons for the sale of beer. They said the repealists had long declared they would not permit the return of the saloon.

An unusually heavy prohibition vote was expected in view of the saloon issue.

SEEK SITE HERE FOR WHOLESALE FARM MARKETS

Farmers Would Merge Bolton and Glastonbury Auction Marts—Space at Municipal Building Favored.

The possibility of bringing the Bolton and Glastonbury Farmers Auction Markets to Manchester this year seemed to become assurance today as representatives of both the Bolton and Glastonbury factions agreed upon Manchester as a compromise site. Markets were held last summer in South Bolton and at Buckingham Four Corners. With the majority of the farmers in both areas agreeing to a joint market on a main highway a committee was named to secure a site.

Two possible sites are being investigated by the committee—one on South Main street and the other on Charter Oak street. The farmers are desirous of obtaining a place rent free since they have no fund upon which to draw. That such a market would be profitable for the town that provides a site is without doubt since buyers would be coming to make purchases daily from many distant points. These out of town buyers would naturally be making purchases in town especially cigars, cigars and cigarettes and incidentals.

Town Property Considered
A suggestion has been made that the town could well afford to offer the farmers the use of the Municipal building, the site of the former trolley barns. Should the committee find that this site is practical for their purposes they, no doubt, will ask the selectmen to grant them the privilege of using the property. Since the market would

BOMBS IN CHICAGO CAUSE $50,000 LOSS

No One Killed or Hurt—Police Believe It the Work of Reds.

Chicago, May 1.—(AP)—The heart of Chicago's business district reverberated with detonations of bombs tossed with well timed precision early this May Day, causing property damage unofficially estimated at many thousands of dollars. One estimate was $50,000. No one was killed or injured.

Attributed by police to Communists celebrating May Day, five bombs in all apparently were thrown from moving motor cars at the same time, damaging the establishments at which they were aimed, as well as smashing windows and shattering structures within a radius of one block in each case. All known Communists were ordered arrested.

The plants attacked were the Marshall Field and Co., uniform division; the Illinois Bell Telephone Co.; the Sprague Warner and Co., wholesale grocery; the Hibbard, Spencer and Bartlett Wholesale Hardware Co.; and the Howard Property Tanning Co. Early reports of a bomb at a Commonwealth Edison station was unfounded.

Suspects Arrested
Four men police said they found loitering around the scene of the blast at the Marshall Field branch, were arrested for questioning. Their names were not immediately made public.

So powerful was the force of the Return of Beer Boom to Maryland's Crab Industry

New "Army" Threatens Cash Bonus March

With four thousand veterans already reported in Washington as an advance guard of 500,000, the Capital faces a new threat of a cash bonus army. Above is a delegation of ex-soldiers as they presented their demands to Congressmen. At the right is Harold Foulkrod, legislative representative of the 1932 B. E. F. In an interview with Louis McHenry Howe, White House secretary, he promised to withhold for two weeks a call for a new march on Washington.

SOVIET RUSSIA STAGES BIG MAY DAY PARADE

Over a Million Persons Participate in Demonstration in Moscow—Hold Military Review.

Moscow, May 1.—(AP)—While a bright sun beat down on Red Square, the proletariat and the military power of the Soviet Union passed in review today before the highest officials of the government and the Communist Party in the annual May Day demonstration.

From the time a 101-gun salute boomed out from the Kremlin battlements, signaling the beginning of the celebration, until the last section of shouting and cheering workers passed through the square late in the evening, Joseph V. Stalin, head of the Communist Party, stood with his colleagues on the reviewing stand on top of the tomb of Lenin.

At least a million persons, including between 35,000 and 50,000 troops of the Moscow garrison, participated in the parade, causing the streets to vibrate with the sound of marching.

Conspicuous by their absence from the diplomatic section of the reviewing stand were the official British representatives in Moscow, none of whom attended because of the present strained relations between the two countries resulting from the Metropolitan-Vickers sabotage case.

Clemente Voroshilov, commissar for war, first received the oath of fidelity from the troops massed in the square. Then infantry, cavalry, armored cars, artillery, tanks and anti-aircraft guns swept past in a procession lasting two hours and forty minutes.

After the mile procession the workers and peasants poured into the square from three streets, forming a solid, seething mass of humanity filling the whole square as they marched slowly, waving banners, effigies, and signs chronicling the progress of Socialist construction.

In a brief speech to the military, Voroshilov extended greetings to "the workers of the world."

"In our country, only," he said, "we are the masters, while in the western countries demonstrations today will be met by police rifles and machine guns."

STOCK PRICES GO UP AGAIN; DOLLAR DROPS

At Opening Leading Issues Surge Up $1 to $3 a Share—Ticker Falls Behind Sales.

New York, May 1.—(AP)—Speculative markets opened with a new stampede of buying today, and the dollar dropped to new low levels in relation to European gold currencies.

The Stock Market surged up $1 to $3 a share in the first half hour, as leading issues were traded in blocks of 1,000 to 20,000 shares, and the ticker fell nearly a quarter of an hour in arrears. The upsurge attracted profit taking, however, and several issues soon slid off from the best.

The French franc rose to 4.66 cents in the early foreign exchange dealings, in contrast to a gold parity of approximately 3.92 cents, indicating a theoretical depreciation of the dollar of a little more than 75 per cent, and several other leading foreign currencies were correspondingly buoyant in terms of dollars.

Buying swept through the commodity markets as well, with cotton rising about $2 a bale to the best levels since last September, wheat at Chicago opening up a cent and more a bushel, and such staples as rubber, hides, sugar and others making substantial gains.

MUCH WORK AHEAD FOR THE ASSEMBLY

Instead of Having a Vacation Legislators Will Have a Longer Week.

Hartford, May 1.—(AP)—May Day brought very little joy to members of the General Assembly today, for unlike other years the prospects of the much looked for vacation before final adjournment appeared gloomy.

To make matters worse, not only were legislators threatened with the loss of the pre-adjournment week's respite from their Capitol duties, but there were indications that the legislative week may be made longer.

At least 500 measures stand between the General Assembly and adjournment. Many of these are considered of major importance and are expected to produce hours of debate in both Houses.

Definite indications are looked for during the month as to whether Connecticut will abandon its pay as you go policy and resort to bond issues under the stress of economic conditions.

Governor's Proposal
State leaders, among them Governor Cross have urged a balanced state budget without increased taxation. They have pointed out, however, that to make this possible all requests for capital appropriations will have to be turned down.

The appropriations committee has been working for weeks on the budget. It has before it, also, bills seeking millions for various projects. Approval of any of these projects, most legislative leaders believe will mean abandonment of the pay as you go policy or the creation of new sources of taxation.

Pending a report from the appropriations committee on what its financial policy will be, the finance committee is withholding action on several revenue bills, including property tax.

HOUSE DEMOCRATS TO START VOTE ON THE INFLATION BILL

SIX ARE KILLED IN AUTO CRASHES

Leaders Unable to Obtain Unanimous Consent for a Ballot to Make Rule Making a Decision Tomorrow.

Washington, May 1.—(AP)—Democratic leaders abandoned their efforts to force a vote today in the House on the inflation amendment to the farm relief bill after failing to obtain unanimous consent for a ballot.

Their original plans upset by objections by Representative Snell, of New York, the Republican leader, they turned to preparation of a rule to force a vote tomorrow.

They had expected to instruct the committee of Senators and Representatives that will be named to harmonize differences between the measures passed by the two Houses to approve the currency expansion measure and leave only the other amendments to be agreed upon in conference.

Snell demanded that two days of debate be granted on the bill and that the House consider it under the five-minute rule, which would permit amendments.

"I can't grant unanimous consent to this far-reaching proposal that changes the fundamental financial structure of the country," Snell said.

Could Force Vote
Representative Byrns of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, reminded Snell that a vote on the inflation amendment could be forced tomorrow under a rule.

"Go get your rule and jam it down my throat," Snell replied. Byrns said that the House members were informed as to the Senate debate on the inflation proposal.

"Yes, but there is a certain responsibility on every member of this House," Snell said.

Byrns then sought permission of the House for the rules committee to have until 12 o'clock tonight to file a report on a resolution under which the Democrats plan to compel the inflation vote and send the bill to conference.

After several minutes of debate over Byrns' request, but finally agreeing to a controlled expansion of the currency.

The Texas Democrat issued the statement before House leaders met to formulate their final plan to force a vote on the inflation proposal to instruct the conferees to accept it.

Republicans, headed by Representative Snell of New York, the floor leader, are planning to fight the inflation provision, but Democratic leaders are confident that the House would approve the currency expansion proposal.

Jones said that while the administration was not favorable to all of the Senate amendments to the relief section that he felt the conferees would be able to compromise differences satisfactory to the House and Senate and to Secretary Wallace.

Final Action Soon
"While the Senate has added a number of amendments to the pending measure," Jones said, "I feel that we will be able to iron out these differences. We hope to secure final action this week."

"I favor the amendment which authorizes a controlled expansion of the currency."

"It would increase the commodity price level and enable people to pay debts which have been burdening the entire country."

Speaker Rainey plans to appoint Jones, Fulmer of South Carolina and Doney of Mississippi, Democrats, and a Republican, to the conferees. Wallace instructed his aides to attend the conferees and to advise the House of any amendments to the bill. Wallace's delegation includes Lee, a Washington attorney, prominent in discussion with the conferees, and the House member of the same name.

CURLEY MAY ENTER U. S. SENATE RACE

Reports in Washington Say Boston Mayor Seeks Sen. Walsh's Seat.

Washington, May 1.—(AP)—Political rumblings from Massachusetts drew the attention of Bay State Democrats in Washington today, with reports that James H. Curley, of Boston, seriously contemplated entering next year's senatorial contest arousing waves of conjecture.

Since Mayor Curley rejected the ambassadorship to Poland a few weeks ago, the politically curious have pondered long and deeply upon the causes and possible effects of his refusal, and at that time rumors, accepted as nothing more than such, had him planning to seek the governorship, or the Senate seat now held by David I. Walsh.

During the past few days, however, astute observers here have been watching the word along that Curley was giving consideration that he is anything but casual to the idea of entering the fray against Senator Walsh in the 1936 campaign.

Recalling the Smith-Roosevelt pre-campaign a year ago, Bay State Democrats in the capital look with anything but pleasure at the prospect of a Walsh-Curley battle royal next fall.

Leak Candidates
Meanwhile, no Republican has stepped out as a willing candidate to oppose Walsh, and already there is some talk of drafting some one from the Republican unit.

DAVIS PREPARES ECONOMIC TRUCE

American Ambassador at Large Today Seeks Reactions in Europe's Capitals.

London, May 1.—(AP)—Norman H. Davis, American ambassador-at-large, sought today for reactions to the American proposal for an economic truce which he presented at last Saturday's meeting of the organizing committee of the world economic conference.

The illness of Sir John Simon, the foreign secretary, made it necessary for one of Mr. Davis's engagements to be broken. In Sir John's place he conferred with P. Stoppani, director of the financial section of the League of Nations.

Stoppani is in close touch with the ambassadors in London who referred the American proposal to their governments after Saturday's meeting.

Mr. Davis awaited official confirmation of word from the League of Nations, on which former Premier Raymond Harriot is returning from the United States to France, that Mr. Harriot had been informed that France completely approves the truce.

CANDLE LIGHTING ENDS CONFERENCE

Fifteenth Gathering of Y. M. C. A. Older Boys Concluded on Saturday.

"So make we all one company. Love's golden cord out tether. And come what may, We'll climb the way Together, eye, together."

On this theme, a poem by Oxenham, the 15th annual Older Boys Conference of the Hartford County Y came to an end Saturday-afternoon at the Second Congregational church, with an impressive candle light ceremony in charge of Porter Bower of Hartford.

The same candle that has lighted the candles at this ceremony for the past ten years was used and from it the various leaders lit their candles then in turn the boys all received a light from the candles of the leaders. This is symbolic of the light that is going out through the hands of the youth of the county and the hope was expressed that such light of truth and vision and useful service would go out from that service to the ends of the earth.

The conference theme was also taken from a poem by Oxenham: "To every man there openeth a way, and ways, and a way; and the high soul climbs the high way, and the low soul gropes the low, and in between, on the misty flats, the rest drift to and fro. But to every man there openeth a high way and a low; and every man decideth the way his soul shall go."

Rev. T. E. Frank of Windsor addressed the delegates on the first part of this poem Friday night, taking as his subject "There openeth a high way and a low." He spoke of the way in which many young men are seeking thrills at the present time and gave the solution of these problems such as peace and war, crime and the many challenges to youth.

At the finest and most practical talk was given by Tracy Redding of the New Haven Y Saturday morning. He spoke on "The Beauty of Leisure to Life," stressing how important it was to develop a hobby while young. The boy who has learned how to do things and is interested in crafts, rabbits, bees, and other similar things, and studies and learns to use his leisure in a good way will never be inclined to waste his time and wonder what he could do if he should ever retire and find plenty of leisure time on his hands.

The things that school boys as a rule are doing, he said, are things that many grown ups are hoping to have the time to do when they grow older and the importance of the various group conferences in the morning and afternoon attracted a great deal of interest and were led by exceedingly capable speakers. Airplanes that would actually period, copper, woodwork, leather and metal work were also demonstrated. Miss Helen Estes had a fine group in dramatics, A. H. Rapp of Berlin led the group in reading, Ralph Baldwin of Hartford had a good group in music, and Mr. Redding led a group in the art of leadership.

In the afternoon Lewis Fox gave an address on "The Vocations in the light of today and tomorrow," after which vocational groups were held that discussed various subjects, "Going to College," agriculture, manual arts, the professions, and opportunities and group for the boy who did not know what he wanted.

More than 150 leaders and boys were in attendance from different parts of the county during the two-day session of the conference. The committee in charge of the Older Boys conference wishes to take this opportunity to thank all of the good friends of Manchester for their help in entertaining the boys who were here for the conference. Also the ladies of the Second Congregational church for the banquet they served and the ladies of the North Methodist church for the luncheon they provided on Saturday noon.

Walter Wright the local registrar handled the work under his charge like a veteran and certainly deserves a lot of credit.

Buckingham Farmer is Victim of Gypsy but Gets Money Back Again.

Thursday morning April 27 is a date to be remembered by Henry A. Chapman who lives south of the Buckingham church and is the owner of a farm. He was ploughing near the highway when an auto came to a stop and the driver hailed him.

"Where does Mr. Johnson live? The man with a long beard," Mr. Chapman stopped his team and walked the short distance to the auto and gave them the information. She took his handkerchief out of his pocket and tied a knot in one corner remarking "Leave this knot tied for three days and it will bring you good luck." The Gypsy woman got off quite a bit of her talk and then the auto went away. Mr. Chapman thought of her remark after she was gone, "You have $35 in your pocket, Mr. Chapman felt in his pocket and found out that the woman had picked his pocket.

He went home immediately and told his story. Mrs. Dutton, a neighbor was at his home and she used the telephone several farmers on John Tom Hill got their trucks across the road and the Gypsies turned back. Chief of Police Muccio of Glastonbury captured them in front of James Horvath's grocery store. The woman Gypsy was searched by Mrs. Horvath under supervision of the chief of police. The search revealed a number of hooks of different lengths hanging to her girdle or belt concealed from view inside her skirt.

The Gypsy band was before the Glastonbury town court Thursday evening. The $35.00 was returned to Mr. Chapman and the Gypsies were ordered out of town or go to jail. They had out-of-state markers.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ON PLACES OF BEAUTY

Summer R. Vinton, of Roselle, N. J., last night concluded a series of three lectures here, with a repetition by request of the illustrated talk given at Manchester High school in April on "The Beauty of the Connecticut." The lecture was given at the parish hall of the Center Congregational church last night under auspices of the Cyp club of the church, the Y. M. C. A. and Manchester Garden club. The hall was filled.

The club had a brief meeting with hymn singing, responsive reading and a brief message by the president, Miss Edith McComb. Mrs. Sidney French played MacDowell's compositions. Several of the pictures and music were synchronized. Mrs. Vinton, who colors exquisitely her husband's "Pictures of commonplace things, but not commonplace pictures," was also present. They are great lovers of nature and in the program last night, the results of years of keen observation and serious study were apparent. By use of a dissolving stereoscope more than 150 pictures were skillfully projected in all their beauty, while the lecturer vividly described how and where he had obtained them throughout the world. An added treat was a group of pictures showing the traveler and his auto stalled in the mid-April snowstorm while going through New Hampshire. Fortunately he had a good book with him and he made the best of a bad situation.

His talk yesterday morning at the North Methodist church was much enjoyed, and on Saturday evening he gave his "Roads Land" at the Y. M. C. A. and showed a collection of marvellously colored photographs of the pagodas that everywhere are found in Burma. Mr. Vinton's 20 years of study in Burma, and the part of India for upwards of 20 years. He was born in Burma and educated in this country. In his lecture he described the rice production, in which Burma excels the world, and showed numerous views of the planting process, harvesting and storing.

RAPS NATIONALISM AS NARROWING VIEW

Rev. R. A. Colpitts Pleads for All Humanity in Stirring Sermon.

Criticizing the type of patriotism, or nationalism, that places one's country above all others without regard for humanity, Rev. R. A. Colpitts, in a stirring sermon yesterday prayed for the help of God in attaining results at international conferences.

Text: Galatians 3:28—"There is neither Jew nor Greek; there is neither bond nor free; there is neither male nor female; for ye are all one in Christ."

During the World War one of the most prominent metropolitan dailies displayed at the head of its editorial page a picture of the American flag. Underneath the flag in heavy type were carried the following words: "American loyalty, American lives, American money, for America and America only."

At the same time an international society in South America adopting the name "Cordex Frateres" bearing its motto, "Above all nations, humanity." One would be likely to hastily conclude that the South American motto was superior to the North American editorial heading.

Two Forces But a hasty conclusion is not warranted in such significant matters. Before reaching any conclusion one should explore this matter a bit further. In doing so there are found two sets of forces that are likely to be mutually contradictory and exclusive. The one represents a chauvinistic, self-centered, assertive nationalism and that is always the geography of narrow nationalism—my country, my country can be happy and prosperous, well. But what do I care about them so long as ours is prosperous.

"Let them stew in their own juices." This is the narrow nationalism that has too frequently characterized every country under the sun. The other words of the South American motto are not at all necessarily indifferent to national well-being or to a wholesome nationalistic spirit, but they register on an infinitely higher plane; they carry the spirit of the Man of Galilee who regarded all men as brothers. Here then is joined the issue between a narrow nationalism and Christ's wish for all humanity.

Let us pursue this matter of nationalism a bit further. Of course everyone is aware that the World War brought a tremendous recrudescence of nationalism, and everyone equally recognizes that in most cases it was bellicose and belligerent and became to most of us almost, if not entirely, a religion. But the post-war days have come. They have left an inheritance, an inheritance of disillusionment, growing burdens of taxation, and mounting miseries. The result is that not a few are coming to the conclusion that all nationalism is one of the greatest foes of human progress, standing in the way of any near approach to the fulfillment of the Kingdom of God on earth.

Broad and Unselfish But is it necessary to adopt either position—the one hand a narrow and arrogant and selfish nationalism, or on the other the attitude that all nationalism has the spirit of anti-Christ? My answer most emphatically is "no."

But with that I would couple another proposition; that unless the narrow nationalism which has been altogether too common in the past is speedily reborn, is transmuted by the spirit of Jesus, into a nobler attitude to all humanity, tragedy is inevitable. One of the ablest metropolitan papers of last Wednesday devoted almost a column of an excellent position of words spoken by Premier Bennett of Canada in his first public address upon arrival in Washington. The entire editorial expressed absolute agreement with Bennett. These were Mr. Bennett's words: "Bold action on broad and unselfish lines must be taken to prevent the collapse of civilization."

Surely there is a type of nationalism noble and unselfish of which no one need be ashamed. There are many reasons why one may love his own nation. As the American soldier in France wrote about America: "Just this is what it means to me—the little home among the elms where I was born." Others, immigrants like myself, love our nation for the opportunities and down which it has so kindly opened to us. Others love it for the contribution it has made to human well-being in the field of art, science, literature, or of invention. But still Lincoln belongs not to America; he belongs to the world. Shakespeare belongs not to England; he too belongs to the world. Dante is not an Italian possession; the world owns him. Roosevelt's Fair Now lifting this all out of the tangled maze of party and politics into the field of the large humanity it appears to me that it is precisely this thing that our distinguished president, Mr. Roosevelt, together with these men now in Washington must be active in helping us to do. They have seen the curse which a narrow nationalism has put across every nation that has lived out such selfish philosophy. They are opposing themselves to the transmuting of narrow nationalism into terms of the larger humanity.

The withering effect of the insane and un-Christian spirit of narrow nationalism has manifested itself in two ways; and this morning my illustrations are from American life it is not at all that America is a sinner above all other nations for certainly she is not, but simply because we best know our American life. It is first manifested in a greed and hardness and selfishness which puts its blighting hand upon our own inner national life and manifests itself chiefly in the exploitation of the weak. It is illustrated not from the tragic history we have made in the past three and a half years but from three or four events that have come to the surface during the past few days.

First, within our own state a few days ago the New Haven Railroad had its stockholders' annual meeting in New Haven. Let it be clearly understood that this railroad has paid no dividends to stockholders, many of whom are needy widows and orphans. Let it further be remembered that the employees of this railroad, with the exception of two or three of the best organized groups, to the bleeding line. And yet when a stockholder whose money was put into the road in absolute good faith asked about the salary of the president, Mr. Pelly, who because of absence in Florida was not presiding, the information was refused. There seems to be little doubt that it now totals close to $1,000,000. The chairman of the board is the editor of the "Bristol Press" and a few other stockholders pressed the matter to the gates and began a movement which unless I am greatly mistaken will result in the resignation of the president. Some of the high-salaried "nabobs" in American life who have come to think of themselves as supermen to be supported in luxury, while those who have contributed the funds for the maintenance of the road, are being treated as if they were common. Chief interest centered around the "Litaney" because of the fact that this was so far as is known, the first time this work has been presented in this vicinity. In the number, "Hear my supplication" the socialist was Miss Eleanor Willard, and her interpretation was charming. The final chorus "Sing to Jehovah" is of a triumphal character, and the choir handled it well.

8 MILLIONS SPENT FOR STATE'S NEEDY

Several Million More Spent by Private Funds, Recent Survey Shows.

Hartford, May 1.—(AP)—More than eight million dollars was expended by the town and cities in Connecticut from public funds for the support of the poor in 1937 and the total cost of relief was increased some millions more from private and state funds, according to a survey by William T. Squire, secretary of the state department of public welfare.

The department has today succeeded in compiling complete returns from all the towns in the state which total a disbursement of $8,015,858.50 for support of the poor from local public funds for the fiscal year 1937. The total for the year 1937 was $4,998,653.61 and for 1936 $2,857,240.72.

The figures released by the department show the cost of outside poor not in institutions during the fiscal year 1937 to have been $5,742,897.89, the cost of poor in hospitals $1,444,749.54, the cost of almshouse inmates $681.15 and the number of outside poor not in institutions $10,882, the number in hospitals and homes 18,337, the number of almshouse inmates 1,493 and the average cost per almshouse inmate was $7.83.

"This evidence of greater dependency upon public funds seems to indicate a general tendency to abandon the idea that the individual alone can conquer the existing depression," said Mr. Squire.

be of the wholesale type, therefore not interfering with local stores in any way, and since a considerable amount of transient business might be attracted to local stores it favored the town authorities would favor extending any help they can to the farmers.

This year's market would experiment first with strawberries. It is estimated that 2,000 crates of berries would be auctioned in the market during the height of the berry season. All sales would be to the highest bidder and would be sold in lots or truckloads only. If the sale of strawberries in this manner proved successful it would be applied to other farm products.

The farmers who are now members of the association are desirous of handling all business matters pertaining to the market themselves. They point out that one of the disagreeable features about the Hartford market is that it is municipally controlled and oftentimes its affairs are in the hands of a person or persons who do not understand the farmer's point of view. They would not locate their market in Manchester under any other conditions, they point out.

MOTHER COLLAPSES IN BRIDGEPORT COURT

Bridgeport, May 1.—(AP)—A mother, weighed down with grief over the arrest of her son with two other men and a young woman charged with assault and attempted robbery of Dr. E. H. Hennessey, of Stratford, collapsed in front of Judge Raymond E. Baldwin in Stratford court today, a few minutes before Judge Baldwin bound all four over to the Superior Court.

The mother of George Brousseau, 17, Bridgeport, one of the four held, was called to the bench by Judge Baldwin. Weeping, she approached only to slump to the floor. She was later revived.

Brousseau, James B. Betts, 18, Bridgeport, William Kovats, 22, and his wife, Mrs. Mary Fabian Kovats, a bride of a few days, were taken to the Superior Court. Unable to furnish bail they were taken to the Fairfield county jail.

Just before the court session Kovats is reported by police to have informed Chief of Police William B. Nichols that he did plan the attack upon Dr. Hennessey, by whom his wife was formerly employed as a domestic, but he is taking any part in the assault upon the physician.

Di Fazio was taken to New Britain hospital where, it is said, his condition is fair. At the institution last night he nodded his head affirmatively when he was asked whether he knew the identity of his assailant but refused to divulge his name. Di Fazio has been arrested three times since 1926 for violation of the

BRUSH FIRES KEEP DEPARTMENT BUSY

Usual Early Summer Run of Grass Losses—Chicken Brooder Lost in One Fire.

"The annual 'run' of woods and brush fires started this afternoon with two fires in the east side and southwest part of town. At 1:10 p. m. an alarm was rung in from box 721 located on the corner of Glenwood and Lyndale streets, for a brush fire in the scrub growth south of Glenwood street. At 1:45 p. m. an alarm was sent in from box 351, Westside street, and Hose No. 1 for a wood fire north of Horace Road near Case's Pond. The fire had eaten up through the woods from the right and was gaining headway when first from Rose and Ladder Company No. 1 and 4 arrived. For a time it looked like the fire was going to spread in the fresh breeze, but water tanks were filled at the nearby pond and the area surrounded by firemen and the stubborn blaze extinguished.

Somewhat tardily, we have read Edna Ferber's "American Beauty," of especial interest here in Connecticut, the locale of the book. Tobacco growing, and mingling of Yankees and immigrants, are some of the familiar angles of Connecticut life. We learned that Connecticut, from the Lidian, means "Long Tide River."

Afternoon Siesta.

DE MOLAY DANCE GREAT SUCCESS

Over 75 Couples Celebrate Walpurgis Eve at Temple on Saturday.

A well satisfied and jubilant group of Manchester's younger set celebrated Walpurgis Eve Saturday at the DeMolay Spring Dance, sponsored by John Mathew Chapman, Order of DeMolay, at the Masonic Temple. The evening proved a huge success as over 75 couples danced to the smooth rhythms of the Colonial Club Orchestra. Festivities began at 8 o'clock and continued in ever increasing crescendo until 12 o'clock. Many complimentary remarks were heard regarding the excellent manner in which the "Colonials" rendered the popular tunes of the day. Early in the evening the "Grand March" was held in which all present participated.

This well-established function was led this year by Master Councilor Carl Cumberly and Miss Lucille Murphey, followed by the other officers of the Chapter and their respective partners. During a short intermission novel refreshments were served. Throughout the evening punch, donated by Packard's Pharmacy, was available. Much of the credit for this affair is due to the efficient chairmanship of William Haden. He was ably assisted by Leonard Bjorkman and William Fox. Many suggestions were given by William Brown and Robert Boyce of the Advisory Board.

Leather Furniture
Leather covered furniture requires quite a bit of care if it is to resist wear and keep from cracking. Indoor heat dries the natural oil of the leather. This oil must be replaced by rubbing in—about once a month—an oil such as paraffin oil, lemon oil, neatfoot or linseed oil. These are all light oils, which will have least darkening effect on the leather.

Tubable Silks
The day will come, we believe, when all kinds of silks will be as easily washable as cotton or linen. Washability is something to look for when you buy the lighter colored prints for spring and hot weather wear.

One of the grandest hobbies is taking pictures. It's so easy to forget good times, remembering only unpleasant ones, that it's nice to be able to rattle through a pile of snapshots and relive vacations, beach trips and even stunts right at home in your own back yard. Pictures don't even have to be good to be valued. But if you can acquire a little technique—the knack of composition, the use of shadow, etc.—then trips with a camera become a real thrill.

GUARDS TO TRY OUT NEW DRILL

"Squads Right" Order Disappears — All Soldiers Are Recruits Again.

The new drill regulations, revolutionary in character, will be tried out this evening by Company G at the regular company drill at the Armory. Orders to that effect were given the commanding officers of Company G and the Howitzer Company, the latter using the new drill regulations for the first time tomorrow night.

No More Squads
For the benefit of the large number of ex-service men in Manchester who drilled under the old "squads right" regulation, it is stated that the old time drills by squads is no more. The squad was formed in single file, in line, instead of double rank as under the old regulations. The company is formed in platoons, two sections comprising a platoon. Each section is composed of three squads with 40 inches between squads.

The command "squads right" has been superseded by right face—march, the column of squads in line forming the company in column of three, instead of squad column. It is estimated that a recruit can be taught the new drill in 15 minutes. According to reliable sources the new drill has been adopted in order to devote more time to instructions in combat formations and the use of automatic rifles.

Revolutionary
The new drill is so revolutionary that the men of the local National Guard companies will be asked to forget all about the former drill regulations, and to conduct themselves on the Armory floor as if they were the rawest of recruits—as far as drill regulations go.

Many new formations will be tried out in due time, before the companies go to camp. One of the significant changes making for a more efficient company in attack, is the new skirmish line, the usual formation for attack. Under the old regulations, the squad was deployed in line. Under the new regulations, the squad forms in a V formation, the automatic rifleman forming the apex of the triangle, permitting all others of the squad to fire in all directions in the immediate front. It is expected that in the future all infantry combat troops will be equipped with the new automatic rifle, which permits fire 40 shots per minute. The new drill regulations are simple and easy to learn and were taken, in the main, from football tactics.

Howitzers Different
The Howitzer Company will take up the new drill regulations tomorrow night. The new drill for Howitzer and light gun companies is somewhat different than for infantry companies, but the tactics are based on the same plan. The new drill has been in course of trial but National Guard companies in the state have tried it during the past winter.

ROCKVILLE

"ALL STARS" DEFEAT FORT TRUMBULL NINE

Rockville's Semi-Pro Team Plays First Home Game—Big Squad Available.

The semi-professional baseball team, sponsored by the Clerks A. C. of Rockville and popularly known as the "Rockville All-Stars" opened their home season yesterday afternoon at Henry Park at which time they defeated the Fort Trumbull "Stars." The New London team played a strong defensive game but the Rockville team seemed to have the better of the game in scoring in all but the first and the fourth innings.

The final score was 11 to 4 with twelve hits credit to the Rockville team while only seven were credited to the visitors. The visiting team suffered from five errors while the localists only had two errors. The batteries for the day were as follows: Rockville "All Stars" pitchers, Weber and Spitzer; catcher, Weber; first base, Spitzer; second base, Fetchark; catcher, Buonano. This was the fourth game for the Rockville team although their first home game. Previously they have played at the State Prison at Wethersfield and Wesleyan University at Middletown. The Rockville team this season has the choice of nearly a score of players with eighteen appearing on the field yesterday for the first home game. Due to the large playing squad and the fact that many of the players are young, the suggestion has been made to organize a junior team so that they may receive practice. Should this suggestion be adopted, the team could permit one team to play at home and the other team could play out of town each Sunday, when the home games are played.

"Religious Education Meeting" was observed in all of the Protestant churches of Tolland County on Sunday with visiting preachers in the pulpits of several of the churches at the morning service. During the afternoon three conferences throughout the county were held. The members more than a score of church being represented. The day's observance was brought to a close with public conferences being held in three of the churches of the county in the evening.

OPEN FORUM

A GLOOMY MOMENT

Mr. Editor:—For the benefit and possible encouragement of some of your readers who may think that this is the worst depression which ever struck our country, I will kindly print an article published in 1857 by "Harper's Weekly":

W. D. Woodward. "A Gloomy Moment in History. It is a gloomy moment in history. Not for many years—not in the lifetime of most men who read this paper—has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never has the future seemed so incalculable as at this time. In our own country there is individual commercial prostration and panic, and thousands of our poorest fellow-citizens are turned out against the approaching winter without employment, and without the prospect of it."

In France, the political cauldron seethes and bubbles with untold taint; Russia hangs as usual, like a cloud, dark and silent upon the horizon of Europe; while all the energies, resources and influences of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried more sorely, in coping with the vast and deadly Indian insurrection, and with its disturbed relations in China.

It is a solemn moment, and no man can feel an indifference (which, happily, no man pretends to feel) in the issue of events.

"Of our own troubles, no man can see the end. They are, fortunately, as yet mainly commercial; and if we only to lose money, and by painful poverty to be taught wisdom—the wisdom of honor, of faith, of sympathy and of charity—no man need seriously despair. And yet, the very basis to be rich, which is the occasion of this wide-spread calamity, has also tended to destroy the moral forces with which we are to resist and subdue the calamity."

Good friends—let our conduct prove that the call comes to men who have large hearts, however narrowed their homes may be, who have open hands, however empty their purses. In time of peril we have nothing but manhood, strong in its faith in God, to rely upon; and whoever shows himself truly a God-fearing man now, by helping whenever and however he can, will be as blessed and beloved as a great light in darkness."

(The above article is reprinted from Harper's Weekly—Vol. I, Page 642—of the issue dated October 10, 1857, 74 years ago.)

OLD TIME PLAYERS MEET PHILLY TEAM IN CONTEST TODAY

Celebrate Club's 50 Years of Uninterrupted Membership in National League; Lost First Game in 1883.

Philadelphia, May 1.—(AP)—Diamond stars of yesterday don mitts and gloves again to play a five-inning game against the Phillies regulars in a gala celebration of the club's 50 years of uninterrupted membership in the National League.

The old-timers, one of them the sole survivor of the original team, are going to do the thing up brown—ride to the ball park in an ancient rickshaw, headed by a band and everything. The "sole survivor" is George (Ed) Andrews, 76, and he drove his own car all the way from Florida to be here and don a uniform.

On May 1, 1883, the original Phillies played their first game, a team from Providence, R. I., providing the opposition. A four-line paid advertisement in the newspapers was the only advance notice it got. That contest must have been ill-starred for the Phillies lost, 4 to 3, and since that day, they've won only a single pennant—that of 1915 when the great Grover Cleveland Alexander hurled them to victory.

On the mound for the old-timers today will be Harry (Giant Killer) Coveleski, who literally pitched the New York Giants out of the pennant in 1908 by defeating them three times in one week. Coveleski, former manager of the Phils, is to be his catcher.

Other former stars slated to start in today's game, will be played before the regular feature with the Pittsburgh Pirates, are "Silent John" Titus, Roy Thomas, a teammate of the 1908 club, helped knock the New York Giants out of the pennant race; and Dick Harley in the outfield; "Kitty" Bransford or "Runt" Walsh at first; Otto Knabe at second; Mike Doohan at short and Hans Lobert, third.

In their first game that long ago May day the batteries for the Phils were Jack Coleman, pitcher, and C. Runt, first baseman. Coleman, one Sid Farrar, a shining light in the old days, whose daughter later kept the family name in the public eye. She is Geraldine Farrar of operatic fame.

HIT SPREE IN 7TH WINS FOR PIRATES

The Manchester Pirates defeated the Wethersfield A. C. Saturday afternoon by the score of 10 to 5. "Red" Kovis twirled and although he was nicked for eight hits, kept them pretty well scattered. He was given poor support at times which accounted for five runs. The Pirates scored in all but three innings.

In the seventh they scored four runs on three hits and three singles. In the eighth they chalked up two more on four singles and an error. Wethersfield scored in the second, seventh and ninth. The Pirates connected for thirteen bingles off Taylor and they were pretty well bunched together. Wogman led with the willow, getting four on, off Taylor for the visitors, connecting for two out of four. Kovis outpitched his rival, fanning four. The team will practice Tuesday night at the Old Golf links at 6:30.

KID CHOCOLATE RISKS LESSER TITLE TONIGHT

Defends His Junior Lightweight Crown in Ten Round Go Against Johnny Farr; Other Headliners Scheduled for Fistic Action During Week.

New York, May 1.—(AP)—Kid Chocolate risks the lesser of his two championships tonight as the nation's astute fighters settle down to an active week.

The Cuban negro will defend his penma-recognized junior lightweight championship in a ten round bout against Johnny Farr of Cleveland at Philadelphia. Chocolate recognized in New York State as world's featherweight champion will defend the 126 pound title against Seaman Tom Watson of England in Madison Square Garden here May 12.

Other head liners on the week's schedule include Maxey Rosenberg world's light heavyweight champion; King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight; Jackie Fields, former welter champion and Barney Ross, Philadelphia middleweight sensation.

Fields, recently beaten by Young Corbett in a title match opens a comeback campaign against young Peter Jackson of Wilmington, Calif., in Los Angeles tomorrow night. Levinsky tackles Charley Retzlaff of Duluth in the main bout of a Chicago stadium card on Wednesday night and the same evening Ross, soon to meet Tony Cannoneri with the lightweight championship at stake, battles Joe Glimouly at St. Louis.

Rosenbloom meets Charley Belanger, Winnipeg light heavyweight, at Jeffersonville, Ind., over the 12 round route, but his crown will not be at stake. Dave Shade of New York and Henry Firpo of Louisville, clash in a middleweight bout at Louisville the same night.

BIG ROWING EVENT DUE ON SATURDAY

Columbia, Pennsylvania and Yale Crews to Meet at Derby.

New York, May 1.—(AP)—The first of the east's big rowing fixtures, the Blackwell Cup regatta, will bring together oarsmen of Columbia, Pennsylvania and Yale at Derby, Conn., Saturday.

Of these only Columbia has raced this season, losing to Navy's powerful varsity by a length and a quarter on the Harlem last week.

The only other regatta on this week's program is a dual affair involving Navy and Cornell at Annapolis, also on Saturday. Navy, beaten by Princeton in its first engagement, has come along fast since then to trounce Massachusetts Tech and Columbia. Little is known of Cornell's strength although the big Red rowed an excellent race in losing by a bare half length to Syracuse Saturday.

On the basis of results thus far, Princeton deserves top ranking. The "tiger boatload, the heaviest in recent Princeton history, beat Navy by inches two weeks ago and then defeated Harvard by two and three-quarters lengths and Massachusetts Tech by nearly nine on the Charles at Cambridge last week.

Princeton will race every eastern crew except Syracuse before the season is over.

HOOKS SLIDES

Saying Nice Things The importance of Mule Haas in White Sox rejuvenation this year has been marked, the former White Sox outfielder pulls down lies that used to go for triples last year... and makes the job-look easy.

Whatever else may be said about Rogers Hornsby, he must be graded the nice sporting tributes of game. And he would fight Grimm and Hartnett together in a two-foot ring... even though he can't fight a lick.

50 Cents Nicer Tickets for the final day's events of the Big Ten track and field meet at Chicago May 19 and 20 will sell at $1 tops... a reduction in price is a nice thing to say about a great many things.

J. Francis Hogan is doing a neat comeback job with the Boston Braves... and the followers of the Giants who were not saying nice things about Shanty last year are now saying things that do not nice about the management for letting him get away.

OLYMPICS DROP LEAGUE TUSSLE AT NEW BRITAIN AS SENIORS ALSO LOSE

Juniors Beaten, 2-1, in Loosely Played Game at Hardware City; Recs Fall Before German Sports Club in Northern Loop Contest, 3-2.

German Sports Club 3, Manchester 2, New Britain 2, Olympics 1.

The local junior soccer team failed to improve its league standing yesterday afternoon. Playing on foreign soil they were defeated at New Britain by the old juniors of that city by the score of two goals to one.

At Glastonbury, the Manchester Recs bowed to the German Sports Club after the teams battled on even terms through the first half. The final score was 3 to 2. Entering the last half with the count one-all, Griffin scored for the home club, while Copeland duplicated the feat. Manchester's final goal was kicked by Hewitt on a penalty.

While New Britain had height, weight and experience on their side they enjoyed very little advantage from either. Both teams played loose, rugged football with most of the play being confined to mid-field. New Britain had a bristled wing which at times took scores watching but generally they attempted to take too much out of the ball and were crowded out. None of the forwards had a shot in either foot and had to thank benevolent Olympic defense for both goals.

The Olympics were the most dangerous around goal though the number of dangerous shots which the goalie had to save could be counted on one hand.

Lack Confidence Facing the sun and wind in the first half the Olympic defense, Rooney excepted, early exhibited evidence of shakiness, lack of confidence and hesitancy to advance to a tackle. The last was their undoing and led to both the New Britain goals. On the first goal Simmons started out of goal to pick up a loose ball, stopped, started again, hesitated and finally headed to return to his goal.

Two late, Vels got the ball, crossed it in front of the uncoccupied goal for Nelson to walk it through unopposed. Nichols had a chance to clear but he hesitated and let it roll past. Gift number one.

At the other end of the field McConkey displayed some nice footwork and worked cleverly to get the other forwards going. From one of his crosses Gray cut in and drove in a low, hard shot which was cleverly saved. Another pass from McConkey let Leslie away who stumbled but managed to recover and cross for Austin to score with a perfect left foot shot from 12 yards range. On level terms again but for less than a minute.

New Britain centered the ball. There were a few exchanges in mid-field and then the ball was sent along the left wing to Vels. Again he hesitated and with two defenders close to him and neither making an effort to tackle, Vels set the ball to his liking and delivered a perfect center. Simmons made no effort to come out and save away, two other forwards appeared as though rooted to the ground and again Nelson had no opposition in walking the ball through for the second and what proved to be the winning goal.

Just before the first half ended Gray ran down the wing and centered squarely for Hillman to shoot strongly with his left foot but a very clever save deprived him of a goal.

Play in Midfield Play during the second half was confined mostly to mid-field. Playing with the sun and wind plus a few words of advice at the interval the Olympic defenders displayed more energy and easily held the New Britain forwards so that Simmons did not have a shot to attend to. At the other end the New Britain backs defended well and allowed but a few shots to reach the goalie.

There was one exciting moment to relieve the monotony of the play and only good fortune on the part of New Britain prevented the Olympics from equalizing. Why the ball refused to go through will remain a mystery. During a raid by the Olympics the ball was shot in from close range. It hit the inside of the upright and was deflected across the goal to McConkey who drove in a fast rising shot from two yards range which hit the underside of the bar and bounded almost vertically onto the goal line. This time the goalie palmed it out for it went again to hit a defender and then the goalie fell on it. Eager to score several Olympic forwards crowded around him and the referee blew for unlawful interference.

On the Olympic side, McConkey, Rooney, Austin, Gray, and in the last half-hour, Thorne, gave the best display. For New Britain, Vels and Villa formed a clever left wing in the first half were well held in

WASH SENATORS STAYS ON LEADER'S HEELS IN AMERICAN LOOP

Giants Drop to Second Place in National as Braves Win Doubleheader; Feringo on Top; Other Game Results.

If the western clubs of the American League can do their bit toward helping out the Washington Senators this month, it looks as if there might be some tough sledding ahead for the New York Yankees. Largely at the expense of the Yankees, the Senators have climbed into the contending position which was predicted for them. In their recent series they took four out of five games from New York, the only case the Yankees have lost in 15 starts.

Then, perhaps just to show how tough sledding can be, the Senators beat the Philadelphia Athletics and Lefty Grove 5 to 4 in 12 innings yesterday to make it four triumphs in a row and seven in their last eight games. Twice the Senators overcame two run leads by the A's, first against Rube Walcott who started the game, then against Grove.

The Yankees protected their hold on first place by fanning up their big guns and clamping up the Boston Red Sox in a doubleheader 11 to 3 and 8 to 3. Lou Gehrig and Tony Lauer hit two homers apiece and Babe Ruth one.

Chicago's White Sox clung to their second place tie with Washington when Paul Gregory hit Cleveland to six hits to win 3-1. The Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns slugged it out all the way through a twelfth inning. The Browns won the game 11 to 8 and Detroit took the second 5-1.

Giants Lose Lead The Boston Braves, climbing a ladder since they left Washington, fell to the first division, above the N. Y. Giants right out of first place. Combining some excellent pitching by Ed Fallenstein, and a fine home run by Wally Berger, the Braves beat the Giants twice 3-0 and 5-4. Fallenstein pitched three hit balls in the opening end with Carl Hubbell.

Pittsburgh regained the lead by winning readily over the Washington Senators 3 to 1. The Brooklyn Dodgers also had a big inning and gave the Phils their fifth straight licking 6-3.

Rogers Hornsby's coming back to Chicago for the first time since he was ousted by Cub manager, last August, played an important part in gaining an even break for the St. Louis Cardinals in a long doubleheader. The Cubs produced a 7-5 victory in the opener, but the Rajah evened it by pasting a homer with one in the third inning of the eight cap and saving the way for a 5-3 Cardinal victory.

By Associated Press Ed Fallenstein and Rabbit Maravalle, Braves-Fallenstein hit Giants to three hits in opener; Maravalle fielded brilliantly in both games, handling 17 chances without error.

Paul Gregory, White Sox, held Cleveland to six hits. Frank DeMarco, Cubs and Rogers Hornsby, Cards, former hit triple home run in first game; latter provided winning runs in second with home run.

Bob Borko, Senators singled in 12th to drive in winning run against A's. Watson Clark, Dodgers-Believed Carroll with bases full and one out in ninth and retired Phils with one run.

Johnstone, Tigers-Clouted three doubles in first game and two homers and one double in second against St. Louis. Walke Hoyt, Pirates-Held Cincinnati to five singles. Lou Gehrig and Tony Lauer, Yankees-Clouted two homers apiece in double victory over Red Sox.

Carl Hubbell, the Giants' great outpunch, once was advised by Ty Cobb to give up the "screw ball," the delivery that has stood National League batters on their heads this spring.

TEDFORDS ARE GIVEN ANNIVERSARY PARTY
Fern Street Couple Honored by Relatives and Friends on Saturday Night.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tedford of 243 Fern street, who were married 56 years on April 27, were tendered a golden anniversary party Saturday evening in Odd Fellows hall by members of their family. Close to 100 men, women and children, representing Tedford families, for the bride of 50 years ago was Miss Rachel J. Tedford, gathered for the celebration. Sixteen of the relatives came from Paterson, N. J. Both the lodge and banquet halls were artistically decorated in colors of yellow and gold, forsythia blossoms predominating.
Mr. and Mrs. Tedford received in the main hall, and after they had received the congratulations of all, adjournment was made to the banquet hall where a delicious turkey supper, prepared by the women of the family, was served under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin. A large wedding cake was a feature of the feast. The grandchildren, both boys and girls, waited on the table, and took part in the program which followed the meal. Old-time and modern dancing followed to music by Packard's orchestra.
The gifts were numerous and appropriate to the occasion, one of them being $50 in gold from the immediate families. Mr. and Mrs. Tedford are both enjoying good health. Their marriage was the first to take place in St. Mary's Episcopal church and was performed by Rev. Beverley C. Warner, first rector of the church.
Mr. Tedford was employed for more than a quarter of a century by Cheney Brothers, since which time he has worked on his farm on Fern street. They have raised a family of five sons and three daughters. There are 20 grandchildren.

TOWN BALL NINE TO OPEN SUNDAY
Recreation Center to Sponsor Team—Play Willimantic Here Sunday.
Further attempts to organize a baseball team in Manchester are now being made and it was announced today that the Recreation Centers would sponsor the appearance of a local nine at Mt. Nebo next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The local nine has not been announced as yet but will be later this week.
Willimantic, where attempts to form a team are also being made, will be Manchester's opponent. The "Thread City" team being organized by Sam Hyman and A. G. Kamm. It is expected that several former Eastern League players will be in the lineup Sunday. If the game is a success in point of attendance it is possible the team will be continued through the summer.
Frank Busch and Bill Brennan will have charge of the local team and the admission charge will be low.

here in the House. Of the House Republicans Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Attleboro, unofficial first assistant to Minority Leader Ewell, and A. Platt Andrew of Gloucester, a former assistant secretary of treasury, stand out as likely prospects, but it is doubtful either could be induced to leave the House. Both come from "safe" Republican districts and Martin, within striking distance of high honor as representative, would have much to lose if he aspired to the Senate. Robert Luce of Wallingford, is another often mentioned as a possibility for the Senate.
The Governorship.
So far as the governorship is concerned, there are many here who see in William Grandold of Longmeadow an ideal candidate to succeed Governor Ely. Those anxious to see him enter the picture say he is located strategically in western Massachusetts, with good Boston connections and entirely acceptable to Senator Walsh as a running mate.
The Republicans here are predicting a contest between Attorney General Warner and Leverett Saltonstall, now Speaker of the Massachusetts House, for the nomination as Lieutenant-governor, should Saltonstall seek the office. They doubt, however, if Saltonstall will attempt to obtain a place on the same ticket with Gaspar Bacon, now Lieutenant-governor and already apparently assured of the party's endorsement for the governorship.

TREASURY ISSUES GOLD REGULATIONS
cant who in obedience to the executive order of April 5 had delivered his gold to the Treasury and with the approval of the President gold certificates for the amount and description of the gold, the port of shipment will be made, the name and address of the consignee, the nature of the transaction, and facts making necessary the export.
The applicant must state the amount of gold coin, gold bullion or gold certificates he has already delivered to the government and the amount of coin or bullion actually required.
The application must be filed with a Federal Reserve bank and the bank after making an investigation into the character of the applicant, secretary of the treasury together with whatever supplemental information it may deem appropriate and recommendation as to whether the application shall be granted or denied.
The secretary may authorize the Federal Reserve Bank on his behalf to issue a license for the export of the gold. If a license is not granted the bank will notify the applicant.
Each license is required to be numbered serially, bear the date of issue, the name and address of the licensee, the name and address of the transferee of the gold, the description of the gold, the port of export and a statement that the license expires in fifteen days.
At the time the license is issued the Federal Reserve Bank is required to transmit a copy of the license to the collector of customs at the port of export and no director shall permit the export of gold except upon surrender of a license of export, a copy of which has already been received by him.
Upon the formal entry into the United States of gold bearing ore, or any other gold bearing materials for smelting or refining under an agreement providing for the export of the gold bullion the exporter is required to notify the collector of customs at the port where the ore or material is formally entered that the importation is made under such license. The collector is required to forward a copy of the entry to the United States assay office in New York or United States mint at San Francisco.
As soon as the imported gold bearing ore or material is received at the plant where it is to be treated it must be weighed, sampled and assayed for gold content.
A sample must be retained for at least one year and the importer is required to keep an exact record showing the gross weight of the importation, the net weight, the percentage and weight of moisture, the dry weight, the gold content shown by the assay, the amount and value of the gold bullion to be exported under the agreement.

DR. DOOLING AWARD Called Most Valuable Man on Fordham Track Team—Has Lost But One Race.
Joseph P. McCluskey, holder of numerous national and intercollegiate long distance running titles, received the Dr. Andrew P. Dooling, '17, award at the most valuable player of the 1932 track team at Fordham University at a dinner held to honor Fordham's outstanding athletes.
McCluskey, who will graduate in June, was captain of the team this year. He has enjoyed sweeping success on the indoor tracks this season, losing only one race, and he opened his outdoor campaign last Friday with an easy victory in the 3,000-meter steeplechase event at the Penn Relays, the third consecutive year he has been victorious. McCluskey also received his letter in track.

TO HEAR BUS PARKING OPINIONS TONIGHT
Police Commissioners Want to Get Ideas of All Interested in Situation at Center.
The Board of Police Commissioners will hold a public hearing at police headquarters tonight regarding parking of buses in front of the Odd Fellows building. The commissioners are anxious to get an expression of opinion from all interested and therefore ask that those who wish to state their beliefs on the matter present themselves at the hearing tonight. The commissioners will be in session at 7:30 after holding the usual inspection of the department.

posals for a state income tax and for a sales tax.
With most of their public hearings over, committees are holding executive sessions almost daily to be reported to the General Assembly.
As the number of committee reports increase, legislative leaders believe, it may be necessary to hold Monday sessions or adopt a longer "work day."
Until action on gubernatorial nominations is completed, it is expected that proposed legislation will play a secondary role in legislative activity, especially in the Senate. That body has before it nominations of Colonel Michael A. Connor as motor vehicle commissioner, Charles Welles Gross as a member of the board of finance and control, and Frederick A. Scott as statute revision commissioner. It has still to receive a nomination for the tax commissioner now held by William H. Rodger.
There is considerable public interest also in numerous changes which have been proposed for the liquor control act. All of these have been referred to the judicial committee and will probably be reported...

FLIER HITS CONNECTICUT, THINKS IT'S NEW JERSEY
Student Airmen, Forced to Land, Makes Columbia Way Station of Jersey Flight.
A student flier who started Saturday afternoon from Atlantic City to fly to Roosevelt Field, New York, got off his course and landed on Henry B. Hutchins' farm on Chestnut Hill, Columbia, just before dusk Saturday evening. The young man said that shortly after leaving Atlantic City he encountered a severe thunder storm and tried to pass to the east of it. He then tried to return to his course but a stiff wind blew him back. He became completely confused as to his whereabouts, and discovering he had only gas enough left for eight minutes more was obliged to make a forced landing. He showed Mr. Hutchins a map of New Jersey and asked to be shown where he was. It was greatly to his surprise that he learned he was in the eastern part of Connecticut. The young man telephoned his whereabouts to Roosevelt Field and spent the night as a guest of the Hutchins family. Sunday morning an instructor from the field with another student flier also landed at the Hutchins' farm and then both planes started back for New York. Over a year ago an army plane with two officers got caught in the fog and landed on the same field. Just as they hit the ground they also hit a stone wall, turning the plane upside down and slightly injuring one of the men. The field, though level, is not any too big to land a plane and take off again, and the instructor upon his arrival Sunday morning complimented the young flier on his skill in landing on so small a field.

DEVALUED DOLLAR WILL HELP NATION
make more plentiful the monetary gold stock of the world.
"It would not have the effect of raising prices immediately by an amount substantially equivalent to the devaluation, he continues, "but would on the other hand, provide support for a larger credit and currency superstructure through the world. Any resulting price rise would likely be spread over a period of years.
In addition, skillful devaluation would provide for automatic redistribution of the world's gold stock and thus relieve many of the monetary difficulties from which the world has so severely suffered in the past few years. This could be accomplished by allowing a slightly greater devaluation to countries with inadequate gold supplies.

THE TWINKLES
Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBOROUGH
(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)
The circus stunts in Monkey Land, kind Scouty said, "have been just grand." And then he thanked the Midget Man for all that he had done.
"Say, he's tickled we came here. It's been a pleasure never fear," The Midget Man replied. "I'm glad that you lads have had fun.
"And now, although it makes me grieve, I guess you lads would like to leave and seek some new adventure." "You are right," was Duncy cried.
"Say, what do you really like to do?" "I do not care for walking, and there is no way to ride."
"Och, yes there is," the old man said. "A plan has popped into my head. I'll run right over to my home and get a great big horn. A big surprise, lads, is in store for you. I'll be back in a few minutes. Right through the air you'll see flying here and there."
"Helped him drag the horn out. It was big as it could be.
"Wow," said the Lads. "I'll start to blow, and into the air some music does, as you will surely see."
"The next thing that the lads knew, the very thing he said, some great big noise came from the horn and Scouty near the ground.
"Grab hold of one," the old man cried, "and it will take you to a safe place, where you'll be safe. I'll be back in a few minutes. Right through the air you'll see flying here and there."

SENSE and NONSENSE

The girls will soon be returning from college—all cut-up over some gay young blade.

Mother—Bobbie, what on earth are you doing, gazing down Fido's throat?
Bobbie—Looking for the seat of his pants.

To be college bred means a four-year loaf, requiring a great deal of dough, as well as plenty of crust.

Bulldozer—Look here, Charlie Lee, didn't I tell you not to put any starch in that suit collar?
Charlie—(trembling)—Velly sorry, mister, it must've got scared stiff.

Vera—I see where a man married a woman for her money. You wouldn't marry me for money, would you?
Victor—Why, certainly not, my dear; I wouldn't marry you for all the money in the world.

Keep your courage—it may pay you dividends just when you expect it least.

This columnist was recently in the home of an advertising man when his little daughter came back from Sunday school with an illustrated text card in her hand.
Advertising Man—What's that you have there, little one?
Little Child—Oh, just an ad about Heaven.

Before marriage, most young men "yearn" for the companionship of a girl. After marriage, the "y" is silent, as in "work."

The penguin is a bird that flies backward—because he doesn't care where he is going; he just wants to know where he has been. There are a lot of men who act just like the penguin.

Jinks—Will you settle a bet for me?
Binks—Sure, what's the bet?
Jinks—I made a bet with Winks and lost $5.00. Mail him a check for the amount, will you?

If the joke is on you, the joke is an insult. . . . If the joke is on the other fellow, you expect him to laugh heartily and exclaim: "That sure was a good one on me."

Rastus—What am de name of yo' new wife, Big Boy?
Big Boy—Ah, calls her Shasta. Every time she goes shoppin', shasta have this, shasta have dat!

Fair Client—(knowing that it's his brother I'm marrying!)

A pleasant thing about a man who is really smart is he doesn't have to show off to prove it.

The great financier lay on his death bed. His many friends and near relatives gathered about his death-bed. The attending physician whispered:

ABOUT TOWN

Passengers on a New York bound bus early this morning saw more of Manchester than most of the patrons of the Boston to New York line that pass through this town. The big bus, carrying a capacity crowd, had just passed the Center here when a rear tire blew out. It was a little after one o'clock this morning and most of the passengers were sleeping in their chairs. It took 45 minutes to fix the tire and during this period the passengers got out and strolled around the Center. It was mild and the bus patrons seemed to enjoy the stop immensely.

OVER 300 ATTEND CHURCH REUNION

Confirmation Classes Meet at the Concordia Lutheran Church Last Night.

Fully 300 attended the confirmation reunion held last evening at the Concordia Lutheran church, many of them from other places. The church was beautifully decorated with cutflowers and palms from the Anderson greenhouses. The English and German choirs, under the direction of Organist Fred Werner rendered special music.

Dr. George G. Hackenbush of Southington opened the reunion service last night at 7 o'clock, speaking in English, and inspiring the people, who have just lost their pastor, to redouble their efforts in carrying on the work of the church until they are ready to call a new leader.

Rev. Herman Stippich of Seymour who preceded the late Rev. H. O. Weber, and labored among the people of the Concordia Lutheran church for practically the same period of years, spoke in a rambling vein and recalled many of the outstanding events as he remembered them. His address was in German and was enjoyed particularly by the older members.

Alfred C. Lange and his associates on the reunion committee had notified members of each of the 37 confirmation classes living at a distance, and by roll-call 156 were present last night.

Following the commemorative service, adjournment was made to the lower hall. An interesting display here was group pictures of 31 out of the 37 classes. The committee found it impossible to secure photographs of each one. The class of 1896 was the oldest represented in the collection. Mrs. Emil Helm and her committee of ladies from the church served a buffet supper, and many comments were heard in praise of the faithful work of the committee in charge of the details for the reunion.
