

GOLF PROS HERE SUNDAY, MAY 14 To Pair Up With Manchester Club Amateurs in Annual Tournament.

The first Amateur-Pro golf tournament in Connecticut this season will be held at the Manchester Country Club course a week from tomorrow, Sunday, May 14. The tourney was originally scheduled for the week later, but because of the Sarazen-Kirkwood exhibition in West Hartford on that date a change in date for the local tournament was made.

Manchester was chosen for the first Amateur-Pro tourney by the Connecticut Professional Golfers Association because of the excellent condition of the course here so early in the season. The local course is in mid-season condition right now and the visiting pros will find many improvements since their tournament here last year.

Bill Martin, professional at the local club, expects that 25 club pros from all over the state will be present. They will be paired up with amateurs from the local club. A list of 25 amateurs having the lowest handicaps of the local club will be chosen for the pairings. Just at present the local club members are busy getting in practice. The Manchester team is strengthened this year by the addition of Alex Thompson, whose brother is the pro at the Yale course. Thompson, who has taken up residence here is flirting with par at the local course nearly every time he makes the tour. Paul Ballinger and Harry Bacon have been getting in a lot of early-season golf and are consistently below 80.

The general public is invited to watch the Amateur-Pro tournament at no charge. If the day is pleasant do not let the gallery will be large.

"THE ENCHANTED APRIL" IS DELIGHTFUL COMEDY

Quaint English humor delightfully interspersed with a dash of dramatic sequences is to be found in the Community Players' latest production, "The Enchanted April" to be presented at the Whiton Memorial Hall next Wednesday evening, under the auspices of Ever Ready Circle of Kings Daughters, and suggested by them.

The Community Players themselves could hardly have chosen a better vehicle to close their season with than this stage adaptation by Kane Campbell of the novel "The Enchanted April", by the Countess Russell, who under the name of pluma of "Elizabeth" delightfully portrays life in the English upper classes. A few seasons ago the play was proclaimed as one of the outstanding comedies.

Mrs. Joseph Handley is directing the cast. A rehearsal is called for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Whiton Memorial Hall. Tickets are busy distributing tickets, which may be exchanged for reserved seats at no additional charge, at the Y. M. C. A. or Kemps.

JOE LUBECH IN COURT IN A DIFFERENT ROLE

This Time He Induces Garden Street Woman to Aid Chap Trying to Get Along.

Joseph Lubeck of this town, who a few months ago experimented in the fields of minor banditry by sticking up a Hilltown farmer after buying cider from him, for which he served a month in Seays street, drew a sixty day sentence in Police Court today for a different kind of a scheme for getting hold of some unearned increment. Lubeck was represented by Attorney William S. Hyde.

Lubeck went to Mrs. Elizabeth Simmons of Garden street and invited her to buy some of the soap or cosmetics handled by a Hartford concern for whom he was acting as agent. Mrs. Simmons didn't need any soap or cosmetics. That was all right with Lubeck; but would Mrs. Simmons do him a favor. Her next door neighbor, Mrs. Alexander Rogers, he said, had ordered $1.05 worth of his wares some time before. Three times he had tried to make delivery, but somehow or other he just couldn't seem to find Mrs. Rogers home. Would Mrs. Simmons mind taking the package, which he had with him, paying him the dollar-five and delivering and collecting from Mrs. Rogers at her convenience. It would be helping a young fellow trying to get along.

Mrs. Simmons believes in aiding the deserving. She took the package and Joseph walked away with the dollar and the nickel. Later, when Mrs. Simmons joyously hailed her neighbor with the glad news that here was her cosmetic package and Mrs. Rogers could pay her any time at all, Mrs. Rogers stared open mouthed at Mrs. Simmons for half a second. Then she gasped "Why—why, the ideal! I never ordered a thing of him. Never thought of such a thing!"

After that the Garden street ladies thought it was about time somebody did something, so they notified the police. Sergeant John McGinn picked up Lubeck yesterday. After court this morning, Judge Ellis said to keep Joseph from going to jail pending an appeal.

Yonkford In Spirit Albert Labarre of Tattville, old enough to know better being 63, drove his car all over the road on East Center street late yesterday afternoon and when Motorcyle Officer Malone stopped him and told him he was under arrest, offered to lick the policeman, who is young and husky. Moske got Labarre to the calaboose all right. This morning the Tattville playboy asked for a continuance, his police case for driving under the influence until a week from Monday, which was granted. Bail in the sum of $300 was provided by Mrs. Anna R. Dion of West Hartford.

STRUCK BY TROLLEY TWO BADLY HURT

Motorman Says They Were Walking on Track — Not Seen in Time.

Norwalk, May 6.—(AP)—Henry Anderson, 23, of 23 South street, Stamford, and James Brown, a negro about 30 years old, of Windsor are lying unconscious in the Norwalk hospital after being struck by a trolley car in the Boston Post Road at 12:10 a. m., today. Brown's condition is extremely critical and Anderson is also on the danger list.

William Carothers of this city, motorman on the trolley which was enroute from Westport to Norwalk, told the police that the two men were walking in the tracks and that he did not see them in time to avoid hitting them. He said he had dimmed the headlight on the trolley for an oncoming auto when he put it on full again he saw the men ten feet away. Brown was hit by the headlight and tossed to one side of the road. Anderson was struck by the cowcatcher.

Brown has a fractured skull while Anderson is badly cut and bruised.

COURT LAUDS HUSBAND AT DIVORCE HEARING

Comments Defendant for His "Chivalrous Attitude" During Trial — Wife Granted the Decree.

Bridgeport, May 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Alma Stumer Von Rhuu of Stamford today was granted a divorce from Major Henry Von Rhuu, now a resident of Washington, in a decision by Judge Arthur F. Ellis, of the Superior Court. Judge Ellis found that intolerable cruelty was proved by a fair preponderance of the evidence but he commended the husband's chivalry during the trial.

Judge Ellis said: "I commend the defendant for his chivalrous attitude toward his wife during the long and difficult trial and can but regret that he did not show her the same consideration during their married life. Although she and her witnesses attacked him with great bitterness he constantly refused to retaliate. To retaliate would have been to admit his own shortcomings and he extolled her virtues. Whatever his past misdeeds or misconception of duty, she and their child have cause to be grateful to him for his present conduct."

There were no other cases.

spent a few happy moments with her child and then returned to her home. It was from the "Bob" that Margaret and her father were taken. Needham questioned the girl aboard the Coast Guard boat while enroute from the "Bob" to the Coast Guard base. She remained at the Woods Hole base just long enough to have a bowl of soup and some milk with her mother. Then she was driven home to Harwichport and put to bed.

Crosley described the case as "very unusual. Needham left the greater part of the questioning to him since the general said Crosley would prosecute anyone that might be held in connection with the case."

GRANDFATHERS SELECT Detroit, May 6.—(AP)—Overjoyed at the safe return of their 10-year-old granddaughter, Margaret McMATH, in Harwichport, Mass., Francis C. McMATH and William R. Kees, both of Detroit, Ind., said they were sure about any part they may have played in bringing about the child's release.

It was the belief of many that the grandfathers, wealthy and well known in Detroit industrial and financial circles, supplied at least a major part of the reputed $50,000 ransom paid for the return of little "Peggy" but they refused to affirm this belief.

Mr. Kees told of a family conference Thursday noon in which he participated, along with Francis C. McMATH, Robert McMATH, a brother of Neil, and Trent McMATH, a cousin who is an assistant U. S. District attorney. At that conference, he said, it was decided that Trent and Robert McMATH should go east to give any aid possible in bringing about the child's return.

But Mr. Kees said that "if Trent or Robert took any money with them, I knew nothing about it." Mr. McMATH said he was "totally ignorant" of any ransom arrangements.

When Mr. Kees was asked: "Will it be all right to quote you as saying that none of the ransom money came from you?" the answer was, "no."

UMBRELLAS USED TO ATTACK UMPIRE

Women Baseball Fans Rush on Field and the Umpire Quickly Leaves. Philadelphia, May 6.—(AP)—Women baseball fans, especially those armed with umbrellas, took on new significance today for Umpire Charlie Moran of the National League.

Two irate members of the supposed weaker sex joined a group of leaders who rushed on the field at the close of yesterday's game between the Phillies and the St. Louis Cardinals to add their protests to those of Al Todd when Moran called Todd's swinging bat at the plate fair instead of foul.

The decision gave the Cards the final out and a 5 to 3 victory, but apparently it gave some of the fans only a grievance.

Some complaints on Moran were many but the two women in the group some witnesses said decided upon direct action and struck the umpire with their umbrellas. Surt Shottin intervened, and Moran quickly left the field.

200 ATTEND GREEN'S COMMUNITY SOCIAL

Supper, Entertainment and Dance Held Last Night — The Program.

Fully 200 attended the Manchester Green Community club's supper, entertainment and dance last night at the Green school. The supper at 6:30 featured salads in variety, cold meats, baked beans, relishes, cake and coffee. President John Jensen welcomed the guests in behalf of the club, and chairman of the committee, Griswold Chappell introduced the entertainers.

The program opened with piano numbers by Mrs. Thora Stoehr and her pupils, Lillian McBride, Myrtis Horton and Peggy Thoren. The children played solo and duet numbers and appeared twice. Leonard Goodspeed of Hartford, bass, sang and Miss Peggy Larkin gave a song and dance act, coming up from the audience in a surprise number. She reappeared later in the entertainment with a dance act. Other vaudeville numbers included Melvin and Douglas in comedy sketches and Buster Harvey and his dad in baton swinging. The little lad was tickled to pieces when the elder Harvey accidentally dropped his baton.

A feature of the entertainment was the one-act comedy, "Are Men Superior?" by a group of Acton Life girls. EXPECT NO DANGER IN FARMER STRIKE troubled areas continued a search for evidence to support the charges against the rioters.

Information charging criminal syndicalism in some instances and conspiracy in others are to be filed next week, Attorney General O'Connor said, adding that there would be no delay beyond the present terms of court. His statement followed verbal charges for the Iowa disturbances, including the abduction and mistreatment of District Judge C. C. Bradley at LeMars, dragged from his bench when he refused to take an oath not to sign any more mortgage foreclosure decrees.

The attorney general declared that "blacklisting methods" were restored to in forcing farmers to join the holiday movement each being charged 75 cents for membership; that not more than 25 per cent joined willingly and that others were told their barns or haystacks might be burned. He also asserted Communist agitators helped foment the farmers' "revolt."

All of his allegations were supported by Philip Milo, president of the Holiday Association, at Des Moines. While Farm Holiday leaders made plans to carry out their strike threat, if they deem it necessary, word came from Aurora, Ill., that dairy farmers furnishing milk to the Chicago area, had decided to go on strike May 15. Their object is to get $1.85 per hundred pounds. They are now getting $1.45.

BELIEVED TO BE ON OCEAN IN FOUR NEWFOUNDLAND FISHERMEN

Two Row to Sea.

North Sydney, N. S. W., May 6.—(AP)—Searching men of this port had given up hope today by the safety of Jack Smith and Harry Moulton, unreported since they left their fishing vessel at the Newfoundland coast on Friday.

A dense fog that came down after they left the schooner Radiant in a dory cut the two Newfoundland fishermen off from the vessel and they were believed to be drifting somewhere off the coast of Cape Breton.

Two other men who left the ship at the same time, Amos Cairnes and James Pittman, made land safely at Glace Bay Thursday. Separated from their ship, they covered more than 100 miles to shore.

Cairnes and Pittman rejoined the Radiant at North Sydney Friday. The vessel, skippered by Captain Joshua Hardy, had called here for bait and to report the loss of four of her crew.

but a meager idea of what his offense in its complete setting is. Of all the contributing factors to this offense, the principal known to or none of the details.

Mental hygiene will permeate the whole subject of child guidance. No one will be allowed to operate a clinic who is not at least familiar with the basic principles of psychology and of psychiatry.

"Into the child guidance clinic, then will come at once all the children who are seriously maladjusted. Any pupil who is sent to the office for corporal punishment should be referred to the clinic for investigation. Likewise any child who has been caught in theft or in a lie should be given the psychiatric examination.

Modern Trends Discussing modern trends in the study of a pupil's environment, Dr. Thayer said: "Specialists in mental hygiene proceed in the interest of the patient to modify and to alter the forces bearing upon him—with one exception. And that exception is the school curriculum. This remains as one of those immutable forces in life before which children are to bend or to prostitute themselves."

"The school should assume responsibility for assisting children to work out through their relations with their fellows, self directive, inner standards of conduct and behavior. The subject matter of the so-called social studies serves as excellent grist for this mill.

"Appropriate to the varying age levels (the school) should provide opportunities for service to others. And since the school is educational the opportunities for service it affords to children should function always for educational purposes."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS FACES THE CROSS

Text: Mark 10:33-45. The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 7.

It would be interesting if we could know whether the two incidents in this lesson were originally as closely associated as they are in the narrative. As the disciples were journeying toward Jerusalem, Jesus went ahead of them. He was evidently deeply grieved in thought, and there was something so strange about his manner that the disciples were both amazed and afraid.

Then Jesus took them aside, and told them of his tragic forebodings. They were going up to Jerusalem where the Son of Man was to be mocked and scourged and put to death; but through tragedy there was to be triumph, for after three days he should rise again.

Immediately there follows the story of James and John, the sons of Zebedee, making about the time that when Jesus came into his kingdom they should at the one on the right hand and the other on the left.

Did James and John sense the sufferings through which the Master was to pass and of which he had been telling them, or did they think of these sufferings as to be courageously borne in the fulfillment of their ambition and in their hope of sharing the glory of the kingdom? We cannot tell, but when Jesus put to them the extreme test whether they were able to pass through any ordeal with him, their reply was very decided. They were able.

One cannot fail to respect the intensity and capacity for endurance of such men. But how strange that such strong characters should be filled with such meaningless ambition as led them to aspire for the high places of preferment! How little they understood the purpose of Jesus, and his ambition only to be faithful to the will of God and to bring salvation to his fellow men!

Jesus accepted the earnest devotion of the ambitious disciples, but he made it plain that his ambition was higher and more unselfish ends, that the places of preferment to which they were aspiring could be given only to those for whom that destiny had been prepared from before the world.

That such ambition on the part of two disciples should stir up the wrath and protest of the others was only a manifestation of human nature, though it was the "we" which was with indignation upon much the same plane as the two who were moved with inordinate ambition.

Not one of the 12 had as yet understood the deepest thing in the teaching of Jesus—that humility and service are the ways to true greatness, and that ambition, when it is simply to be above someone else, is always very senseless of light and love.

Yet how true this record is to the history of mankind and to the life of the world at the present time! How much men are moved with the passion for place and preferment regardless of the worth and the quality of the service that fit them for high distinction!

FACING DIFFICULTIES

By GEORGE HENRY DOLE

International Sunday-School Lesson Text, May 7th.

"When the time had come that He should be received up, He steadfastly set His face to go to Jerusalem."—Luke 9:51.

Doggers never make good. Doggers of debt that can be paid; doggers of the truth because of shame; doggers of duty because it seems hard; doggers of responsibility because ease is desired; doggers of success because of misdirected desire; such and all doggers grow weaker because of internal decay that consumes all virtue, and finally the house built upon shifting sand falls, and great is the fall of it. Dodging duty is dodging opportunity.

Our perfect Exemplar demonstrated how all duties should be met. The end of His earthly life was near. He knew that to go to Jerusalem meant the cross, the pain, the agony, the death. He did not evade even death, which is so generally feared. He steadfastly set His face to go to Jerusalem. He went. He faced his snarled foes. He suffered all the agonies of the cross. He would, He became one with God; and such was His inward joy that He prayed, "Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am, that they may

SOUTH METHODIST EPISCOPAL Church. "Intolerant Religion, Narrow Nationalism, and This Scientific Age" will be the theme of the pastor's sermon at the South Methodist church tomorrow morning at the 10:40 service, being in reality a continuation of the discussion begun last Sunday morning when he discussed the evil effects of a narrow nationalism in the field of international friendliness and economic affairs. The music for this service under the direction of the organist, G. H. Byles, will include the following:

Prelude—"Largo (Sonata V)"... Bach. Processional Hymn—"When Morning Glides the Sides".... Dickinson. Anthem—"In Joseph's Lovely Garden".... Lord, We Will Be Glad. Under the auspices of the American Guild of Organists, Relief Committee, Mr. Byles will present tomorrow evening at 7:30 an Organ Recital of rare gold mine production. It is estimated that at least $1,000,000 worth has gone out of use—hidden—virtually forgotten—more than twice the value of the world's annual gold mine production. Its recovery and restoration to circulation ought to add much to purchasing power and to the gold reserves of the nation. Bringing in the gold is therefore an act of loyalty to our country as well as to our church.

The hymns chosen are, "Thou Didst Leave Thy Throne and Thy Kindly Crown," "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," and "Glory Be To God On High."

Connecticut At The Capital. Washington, May 6.—(AP)—The surprise of the week to Connecticut Democrats was President Roosevelt's nomination of Dean Acheson of Middletown, Conn., and Washington to be Under Secretary of the Treasury.

The appointment is regarded here as non-political and only of a basis of merit. Acheson, son of the Episcopal bishop of Connecticut, is an attorney specializing in financial and tax litigation.

Connecticut Democratic leaders had heard occasional mention of his name for some financial position, but there had been no indication until this week that he was slated for such a high post.

The Connecticut delegation in Congress split along party lines in voting on President Roosevelt's proposal for controlled inflation. Senator Lorigan voted with the Democratic majority in favor of the bill, while Senator Walcott joined the Republican group opposing it.

In the House the two Democrats, Koppelman and Maloney, supported the measure, with the Republican group—Goss, Merritt, Blakwell and Higgins—voting against it. Senator Walcott, appointed by Vice President Garner on the conference committee to adjust differences between the House and Senate bills, found himself in a peculiar position. He was active in seeking to defeat the inflation proposal, but as a conferee he had to support the action of the Senate majority.

Three Connecticut Representatives—Goss, Higgins and Maloney—will have quarters in the new House office building, just being opened. Goss already has moved from the old building to a suite in the southwest corner of the ground floor of the new structure, while the other two Representatives will move in a few days.

The new building, authorized in the boom days of 1929, has a private office for each member in addition to an outer office for his secretary and stenographers. Files are built into the walls, and many other modern office fixtures are included. In the past each member has had only one room in the old building,

BOBS FOR SUMMER VERY SHORT NOW

Chicago, May 6.—(AP)—The short bob for summer, or coons—so said Dermott of London, England, today.

This Irishman—Dermott John Quinn—was now only in his early thirties was twice international hair-dressing champion, court hair-dresser, former hair stylist for the New York Junior League and recently from Hollywood, where he designed new hair styles for many movie stars.

Long bobs are "out," and so are bangs, said this hair style authority, who designed Colleen Moore's new coiffure, which dispenses with her bangs. Two of his very newest creations are the "bicycle bob," named for America's latest revived sport, and the "sunshine bob." These bobs are intended as all-occasion summer hair dresses that are intricate with curls yet practical and lasting.

Both are parted on the right and the back hair waved in a swirl to the left. The parting and swirling gives a hint of a perpendicular part behind the right ear—new and tricky. The bicycle bob has one wave on top and two in back, which, due to the swirl, run to the hairline. The side hair is finished in rows of flat curls high on the sides, but there are no curls at the nape of the neck. The sunshine bob has an English roll—a Dermott call it—which is first cousin to the old French roll, high on the left side. The ends in back and sides are finished in flat curls. This is a dual purpose bob. When worn for sports the front side hair is combed back, but when the occasion is dressy, it can be brought out in front of the ears.

The effect of each is a well groomed close-to-the-head coiffure that is boyish yet feminine. These styles and others from Hollywood Dermott said he intended to introduce abroad. He is sailing for England in two weeks and immediately after his arrival in London he has scheduled a style show of American coiffures; then another in Paris and a third in Berlin.

and that of foreigners holding British securities.
Mr. Lippmann shown conclusively that the Times' statement is simply not true. He says:
No distinction whatever was made between British subjects and foreigners. A distinction was made between British obligations payable in sterling and those payable in foreign currencies. The American holder of a British bond receives paper pounds and nothing else.

That for some special reason of its own a certain element in this country is seeking to build up a sort of religious sense of obligation to favor foreign bond holders at the expense of Americans by contracting our own course with that of Britain, is perfectly obvious. The bombing administered by Mr. Lippmann to the Times' leadership in this maneuver is deeply gratifying.

President Roosevelt's proposed emergency railroad legislation, standing by itself, will strike a good many people as being a reasonable enough project as far as it goes but not going a terrifically long way and perhaps liable to make as much trouble as it will unmake. Regarded as a step in a program of transportation rehabilitation, however, it takes on a new aspect of importance and potential benefit.

The most striking thing about the railroad bill is what it does not undertake to do at all. It would leave the roads free to work out their own salvation through a system of joint agreements, setting aside the application of the anti-trust law and other federal and state statutes of which they have so long and so bitterly complained. This really would seem to be the meat in the cocoon rather than the appointment of a Co-ordinator of Transportation and three regional co-ordinating boards.

McGuire in the neighborhood sweeping, exciting incident rambling and falling on the great in spaces of derivate laughter in the latter background! Add to that the incredible, identifiable horror of a paper crown—world's fall; nothing but swades and swades could possibly fill the devastating position for expression.
Oh, ladies, ladies! If you could but realize a thousandth part of one per cent of what you can do to a small boy when you start out to make him happy by teaching him how to play!

Dr. Schacht, head of the German Reichsbank, is here to tell us that America is the only country that can solve the world's problems?
By any chance would it be by lending German municipalities and corporations a few hundred more millions on short term loans to be invested by them in long term investments?

Louisville, Ky., May 6.—(AP)—The fortunes of the American turf, pretty well battered by the times but struggling to make a come back, broad up today with a flash of old time color and sporting spirit for another chapter in the romance of the Kentucky derby. Closely woven now for 69 years with the sport's most glamorous and exciting tradition, it's the big race of the year. Since 1875 when it was worth only $2,500 to the first winner, Aristides, and drew the thousand followers of the thoroughbred for what a century ago was described as "a weak high old sport" it has become a national institution.

By GENE SARASON World Golf Champion (As Told To Alvin Goss)

In my previous stories I have discussed in a general way the essentials to getting off to a good playing start in the spring. I want to emphasize and detail in this article the importance of the grip in everygolfer's game.

Let me say first there has never been a great golfer who did not have a fine grip. It does not matter whether it is the interlocking or the over-lapping grip; the fundamentals are the same. I will wager I can take any eight-year-old boy, teach him the proper way to grip a club, and turn him loose to be a good player without any further instruction. The swing, the stance and everything else depend on the grip.

said to me, 'If you make any noise or try to get out, I'll chloroform you.' Peggy said.

'He told me to get in the back. I saw ropes and handcuffs on the floor. The man tied a black cloth around my face, so as to blindfold me, made me lie in the back seat, facing the back, tied my arms to my body, put handcuffs on me, and then made another tie around my hips.

'He started to stuff clothes in my mouth, but I asked him not to do that, and promised not to make any noise. He did not stuff anything in my mouth but let me in the front seat and backed the car up.

'She said they rode a long time, 'about an hour'—over rough roads.

'Then, she said, 'we stopped and another man came in and a little shack. He told me to lie down on the floor.

the municipalities of the state face bankruptcy.

'Will you by your voice and vote aid the cities and towns of the state to feed their hungry unemployed people and aid the municipal government to maintain themselves and support the needs of the state government?'

Only 17 working days are left to the Legislature before it must adjourn June 7. Aside from the scores of other measures still in committee the Legislature must still act on about 100 proposals for relieving financial distress. Among these are the value increment tax on certain business property proposed by William H. Blodgett, state tax commissioner as a final resort for obtaining new revenue for the state. It has been estimated that this tax would bring $8,000,000 a year to the state. An income tax has also been suggested.

The Legislature week which closed yesterday was fairly typical of what legislators may expect during the final weeks before adjournment. Both Houses found themselves crowded frequently by long debates as they moved from one controversial issue to another.

The principal verbal blast proceeded confirmation by the Senate of the nomination of Michael A. Connor, a Democrat, as commissioner of motor vehicles. Democrats voted as a unit to give to Connor by a strictly party vote of 17 to 16 the post held by Robbins E. Stoelckel as Republican since 1937.

The week also brought death to the birth control and women jury service measures. The former measure was approved by the House but defeated in the Senate. On the jury service measure the process was reversed, with the Senate approving it and the House voting it down.

Legislative Problems. Problem-solving with liquor also continued to occupy considerable attention. During the week the Legislature enacted a measure making it possible for Governor Cross to set June 20 for the special state election on prohibition repeal. A proclamation formally calling the election is expected to be issued by the governor soon.

Governor Cross will also be required to issue a second proclamation in the near future. This will legalize the return of 3.2 per cent beer.

To pave the way for the issuance of the beer proclamation the Legislature appropriated $19,000 to the liquor commission and authorized other expenses until Aug. 1. It also rushed through a clarifying amendment to the state control act declaring that law effective immediately.

Officers said the trouble had been brewing several days. They became suspicious, they said, when some of the men received money orders from outside. On one day, one company commander said, 21 money orders came in to the company and officials were "convinced" the agitation came from outside sources.

Summarily discharged yesterday by Brig. Gen. H. L. Laubach, commanding officer at the camp, the men were sent home aboard a special train. Upon arrival here, they complained of mistreatment at the hands of army officers at the camp and poor food and declared they could not work because they were "being starved."

DETECTIVES PUZZLED OVER DEATH OF GIRL Not a Single Clue Unearthed in Over a Week's Work by Bay State's Officials.

North Adams, Mass., May 6.—(AP)—Assistant District Attorney Harold Goewey and State Detective James P. Smith today suspended the hunt for the murderer of 18-year-old Leah Lloyd Johnson, convinced that the mystery is practically beyond solution.

The girl, employed by her neighbors as a household helper, was found stabbed and garroted in a remote field after she had left the home of grandparents last Saturday night, ostensibly to go to a neighbor's home to mind their children. Investigators determined that the girl had mailed her grandparents and did not have an appointment at the neighbor's home.

For a week, the authorities have questioned every known male friend of the girl on the theory that she was slain either by a disappointed lover or by a married man who frequented the girl's home.

Every clue proved to be fruitless and the case, after a week's effort, today appeared even a darker mystery than in the beginning.

YOUTHS ON STRIKE AT FORESTRY CAMP Officers Say Outside Influence to Blame—Were Receiving Money Orders.

Newark, N. J., May 6.—(AP)—As the culmination of a "strike" in the Camp Dix mess hall, 45 Newark youth who were in the Civilian Conservation Corp. were back at their homes today.

Summarily discharged yesterday by Brig. Gen. H. L. Laubach, commanding officer at the camp, the men were sent home aboard a special train. Upon arrival here, they complained of mistreatment at the hands of army officers at the camp and poor food and declared they could not work because they were "being starved."

A committee was also appointed for Children's Day, June 11, as follows: Miss Faith E. Collins, Mrs. Lillian E. Grant, Miss Lois Foster and Miss Doris L. Benjamin. A committee was also appointed to see about having a Church Vacation School, Rev. and Mrs. David Carter and Miss Dorothea Myers. As it was our Sunday School Superintendent's birthday, Mrs. Florence E. Stiles, she was presented with a birthday cake with the customary candles, and a birthday card. Little George Palmer who has been very seriously ill at the Hartford hospital, was able to visit to the home of his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. George Palmer at Wapping Center last Thursday afternoon.

THEATERS AT JER STATE "White Sister" Sunday Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts in "Out All Night" and "The Kiss Before the Mirror" with Nancy Carroll, Fred Morgan and Paul Lukas are the two pictures in today's double feature program at the State. Another thrilling chapter of "The Lost Special" will also be shown today.

A new contribution to the list of imposing screen achievements comes to the State on Sunday, 1 o'clock and Tuesday in the presentation of the talking picture version of "White Sister," with Helen Hayes and Clark Gable. In its poignant, touching narrative, its effective camera work and in the brilliant performances of its two well-known stars, this picture stands out forcibly as an example of the best in cinema art.

An Entertaining Climax F. Marion Crawford's immortal story of the girl who enters a convent when she believes her lover to be dead only to meet him again after she has taken her holy vows is too well known to bear repetition in these columns. Sufficient to say that the new talkie version of the tale brings out its most forceful moments, describes the experiences of the romantic Helen, and her soldier-lover in a series of warm, sympathetic human episodes and brings the narrative to a close as has been a climax as has been seen on the screen in some instances.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Ninety per cent of the automobile accidents are due to lack of courtesy, say traffic experts in urging a return to old-fashioned politeness. And this lack of courtesy spreads through all our human relations; but who can have faith in a return to anything?

The Woman Motorist
When a wild and pop-eyed driver shoots his auto down the street he can make the public stop about on light and nimble feet; he can make the bravest tremble, he can make the boldest quail. But they say "the female driver is more deadly than the male."

Doctor McGillicuddy's RollsRoyce
was stolen while standing parked in front of the County Poor House where he was visiting his aged parents at Dowagiac, Michigan, the other day.

She—After all, what is home?
He—The place to stay when the car is laid up.

Of course the slaughter of Chinese and Japanese in the war now going on is awful. It is almost as bad as the annual slaughter of pedestrians in this country by automobiles.

Sad But Very True
Silly Kid, — Car Skid, — Glass Lid.

First Mechanic—I hear that the new foreman is very old-fashioned. Second Dito—I'll say he is. He's so old-fashioned he wants to take the belts off the fans and replace them with suspenders.

Shakespeare on Automobiles
I'll show the best of springs—The Tempest.
I like the new tire—Much Ado About Nothing.
Being mechanical you ought not to walk—Julius Caesar.
I'll tell them all their names as they pass by—Troilus.

Hear the drum and the vile squealing—Merchant of Venice.
I'll remedy this gear 'ere long—King Henry, IV, Part II.
As horns are odious . . . they are necessary—As You Like It.
Still a-r-r pairing, ever out of frame and never going right.
Out Dog! Out Curl! Drive me past!—Mid-summer Night's Dream.
The name of Page and Ford differs—Merry Wives of Windsor.

Tourist—I say, old man, is this the road to Brushville?
Old Inhabitant—Wal, yes, it's if 'ONE CYLINDER IS MISSING, HOPE FOR THE BEST. ALMOST ANY DAY YOU MAY FIND THE WHOLE CAR MISSING.

Hal—Did your girl come down when you serenaded her with your saxophone?
Max—No, but she came down when some guy blew his automobile horn.

the road all right, but you'll have to turn around if you want to get there.

In 1932 gas killed 4,957 persons. Thirty inhaled it, 923 lit matches over it and 4,000 stepped on it.

COLLEGIATE—I beg your pardon, Miss, but would you care to take a ride?
PRETTY MISS—Sir! I'll have you know I'm a lady.
COLLEGIATE—I know that. If I wanted a man, I'd go home and get my father.

The Lord rested on the seventh day, because there were no automobiles in those days.

Papa—Hop in, wifey! Ah, the old wheel feels good! Beautiful day! Glorious Spring Day! Just right for a nice long ride in the country. All set, dear? Got the lunch?—everything? Fine! Get in, Willie!
Willie—Say Daddy, yuh got a flat tire!

SOON THEY WILL HAVE TO ADD TWO MORE WHEELS TO AN AUTO IN ORDER TO GIVE THE SPEEDERS MORE BRAKES. FOUR BRAKES WON'T ALWAYS STOP THEM IN TIME.

A couple married on horseback in North Carolina the other day. They took their honeymoon in an automobile. Perhaps it won't be long before they are "up in the air" over something.
