RIDING FREIGHT YOUTH KILLED BY LOW BRIDGE

George Gaylor of This Town Found Dead in Coal Car as Train Reaches Boston — Local Companion.

Wanderlust this morning brought tragic death to George E. Gaylor, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gaylor of 278 Hilliard street. Gaylor's body was found lying in a coal car when railroad men inspected a freight after it arrived in Boston today from Worcester. It is believed that Gaylor was standing erect on top of a car and was struck by a low bridge, this belief being strengthened by the statement of his companion, Barney Unupis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Unupis of 456 North Main street.

Left Last Night

Gaylor left his home early last evening but did not tell his mother his destination, although it is believed that the youth had been planning the trip for some time, as several friends reported today that Gaylor had told them of an intended trip to Portland, Me., this week-end.

Gaylor was a member of the graduating class of the local State Trade School. He was a student in the electrical department and was popular with classmates and instructors, who termed him an uncommonly apt pupil. He was extremely eager to graduate, and had been inquiring many times at the office of the director concerning how much time remained before he would complete the course. His name was published among the list of graduates of the Trade school yesterday.

Companion's First Trip

This was the first hitch-hiking experience for young Unupis, known to his friends as "Brownie". He is of the same age as Gaylor, 18. He left home last night and merely told his parents that he was going on a trip for a few days. It is understood that the young man went to Hartford and hopped "The Bullet", a fast freight that stops briefly at Worcester. In the latter city it is believed that Gaylor and Unupis shifted to another freight headed for Boston. Gaylor had promised several friends that he would send them postcards when he arrived at his destination in Maine and before leaving last night collected a penny from each to cover the cost of postage. It is also understood that he contemplated another long trip that would eventually take him to the Pacific coast, following his graduation from Trade school.

ARMY CUT NECESSARY FOR ECONOMIC RECOVERY

(Continued From Page One) adjustment of both must necessarily go hand in hand. The statement issued at the conclusion of the informal parleys with Germany's representative preparatory to the world economic conference in London said that "quick and far reaching solutions are necessary to save the economic life of the world." Credit Expansion. Until restoration of order in economic life has relieved unemployment, it added "endeavors must be made to help the unemployed by internal credit expansion and by a synchronized international program for the mobilization of public and private credit for productive purposes." The text said: "In our conversations we have been guided by the hope that the world economic and monetary conference may be successful. Quick and far reaching solutions are necessary to save the economic life of the world." Military Arms Cut. "We are convinced that this aim can not be achieved unless, along with economic disarmament, there is military disarmament. We emphasize the necessity of a speedy elimination of the obstacles to international trade, and we feel that the creation of stable conditions in the monetary field is equally important. Economic and monetary questions are so interdependent that the adjustment of both must necessarily go hand in hand.

RUSSIA TO SELL MANCHURIAN R. R.

Turns Deaf Ear to Chinese Protests—Manager Says Road in Bad Condition. Moscow, May 12.—(AP)—"Catastrophic conditions" on the eastern section of the Chinese Eastern railway in Manchuria were described in a report of the Soviet manager of the road published in the Russian press today. Turning a deaf ear to Chinese protests, the government has decided to sell the road to Manchukuo without consideration of what China calls its rights. The manager's report, covering the year ended May 8, declared that cases of destruction of tracks, train wrecks, attacks on stations, and the murder and injury of Soviet employees, were increasing daily. The manager ascribed this condition to ineffective guard measures against Chinese bandits. In the year covered by the report he said that 58 employees were killed, 825 wounded and 593 captured by bandits, many of them horribly tortured. Employees Robbed. More than 1,000 Soviet employees were robbed, he said, not only at isolated stations but at large stations supposedly well-guarded by troops. The report also asserted that 50 locomotives, 958 passenger cars and 855 freight cars had been damaged; that the track had been damaged in its direction by 125, civil and military buildings connected with the operation of the road had been damaged; and that telegraph and telephone communication had been broken 775 times. All this the manager said, caused serious interruption in traffic and losses of millions of rubles. In response to the Nanjing government's protest, Foreign Minister Masui Lavinio informed China that when it lost Manchuria to the invading Japanese eighteen months ago it lost its rights in the railroad. On Wednesday the Chinese ambassador, Dr. W. Yen, directed the foreign minister's attention to China's demand.

ROOSEVELT SIGNS FARM RELIEF AND INFLATION BILL

(Continued From Page One) and urging farm mortgage creditors to abstain from foreclosures. Mr. Reno, of Des Moines, president of the National Farmers Holiday Association, said today. President Roosevelt whether he intended to declare a moratorium on farm foreclosures and execution on chattel mortgages was sent by Reno from Des Moines last night. He conferred with Farm Holiday Association members from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and North Dakota about making effective the farm strike which was voted at the National Holiday convention in Des Moines last week. Told that the President had signed the farm bill and urged a relaxation in foreclosures, Reno said calmly: "I would be better satisfied if the President had made it a demand that creditors refrain from foreclosing on farms. This battle has got to be fought. It is a contest. You never will solve this problem until it is fundamentally solved." "I would hold your own doors and protect your property and by protecting your property you are protecting your depositors. Now, what has been done to give the farmer at least cost of production price?" Asked if he would call off the strike if Mr. Roosevelt issued a proclamation halting farm mortgage foreclosures, Reno said: "I can't call off the strike. Such action would have to be taken by the directors of the various state organizations. If we felt there was need for such a meeting, the directors could be contacted hurriedly and a conference held."

BABES, MOTHERS HOSPITAL GUESTS

About 50 Attend Lawn Party This Afternoon—Public Inspection. National Hospital day, May 12, was observed today all through the United States, and many novel ways of celebrating the day were tried out by different hospitals. This year, the board of trustees of the Manchester Memorial hospital felt that the day should be observed with as little expense as possible, accordingly a reception was held this afternoon for the mothers of all babies born at the hospital during the year 1932 and up to the present time. The reunion was held from 2 to 4. The group numbering over 80 mothers and babies was received on the hospital lawn by Mrs. Jane J. Aldrich, Superintendent of the Manchester Memorial hospital who was assisted in receiving the mothers and babies by a committee of the Public Health Nursing Association consisting of Mrs. Fred Van Ness, Mrs. Horace Learned, Mrs. Jane Dewey, Mrs. Walter Gorman and Mrs. Isabel Rogers. Mothers and babies sat in a large semi-circle on the hospital lawn and were shown modern methods of caring for the babies, the making of clothing and pre-natal care by the Public Health Nurses in charge of Miss Dorothy Buttle, assisted by Miss Myrtle Davis and Miss Audrius Lundin. Miss Margaret Bennett of the Connecticut Dairy Council demonstrated the proper divisions of food per dollar unit expended for the subsistence of the average family. Miss Bennett was formerly connected with the Welfare Council of Chicago. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served. From 9 to 2 today visitors were taken over the institution and shown the different departments not usually open to the public such as the sterilizers, central supply room where all work done by auxiliary groups is made ready, and where gauze and cotton dressings are prepared for the patients. Tours were made to the hospital kitchen, laundry and other parts of the institution. Much pain was taken by the arranging educational exhibits, providing for information on nutrition and health subjects. The hospital grounds came in for their share of praise. The maples in memorial of Manchester's soldiers who made the supreme sacrifice in the World War, the lawn, the attractive garden, as well as the rock garden and pool were looking beautiful in the May sunshine.

CLAIMS RUM RUNNERS KIDNAPED LINDY BABY

(Continued From Page One) had sold beer to servants in the household of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh and that on one occasion when they had delivered beer they had simply picked up the baby and taken it away. He added that on one occasion, after lengthy negotiations with Fenton for the return of the baby, he returned to Washington and found a memorandum saying that "the attempt to remove the baby from its hiding place in New Jersey and the baby was dropped on its head and was killed." CONTINUING STORY. Washington, May 12.—(AP)—James T. Means testified in the District of Columbia Supreme Court today that the Lindbergh baby was stolen by New Jersey liquor runners. Continuing the story that he began yesterday in testifying in his own behalf, Means said "Max Hessel" and "Max Greenberg" were responsible for the kidnaping. He said that he did not know the two men but that they had sold beer to servants at the Lindbergh house. He said "Irving Fenton," described previously by him as one of those responsible for the kidnaping, had told him that Colonel Lindbergh as a practical joke on occasions had placed his baby in a closet and told the servants that the baby had been stolen. This joke, said Means, gave the kidnapers the idea of how to take the baby. One of the members of their "ring" did go to the Lindbergh house with beer, picked the baby from its crib and went away, he added. Means took up the thread of his story where he left off yesterday and told of meeting Fenton at Concord, N. C. The former Justice Department agent was telling the story of his own negotiations between Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, estranged wife of the former publisher of the Washington Post, and the group he described as the kidnapers. His activities resulted in the present charges that he and Norman T. Whitaker conspired to defraud Mrs. McLean of $36,000. There are 1300 archaeological sites in Mexico.

SOLDIER MARCHERS ARE OFFERED JOBS

(Continued From Page One) tration has changed its opposition to the bonus at this time. OFFER TURNED DOWN. Washington, May 12.—(AP)—A cool turnout was the first reaction of the assembled bonus seeking veterans today to President Roosevelt's move to enlist 25,000 unemployed former soldiers in the Civilian Conservation Corps. "None of the men are going to do any work like that for $1 a day," said Maurice Miller, of Chicago, a group leader at the big campment set up under the president's orders at Fort Hunt, Va. Others echoed his statement. "In my candid opinion the men would be fools to work for a dollar a day," said E. W. Beach of Cleveland, Ohio, and Joseph Bone, a Chicago clerk, chimed in: "Not for me. It's like being sold into slavery." Gilbert Sellers, one of the organizers of the march and previously a labor organizer, said: "I hope the men will have enough sense to demand more than that." The hundreds at the camp, however, were happy enough under their tents and in praise of the Army breakfast served them this morning: eggs, baked potatoes, coffee, bread and jam. Meanwhile the self-styled "Right Wing" group, which refused to accept the World War accommodations and clustered miserably in the center of the city, launched a movement to get Falham D. Glassford, former Washington chief of police, to head their organization. There was no response to this from the Fort Hunt veterans.

FRIDAY, MAY 12

ity stronger at the polls than it was in 1929, when he was the Republican candidate for that office, is certain. New York has taken a desperate liking since that election. Its people know many times more about the way they have been exploited by Tammany. And there is not in the whole city, with the single exception of Mr. Smith, a politician better equipped to lead a serious contest against the Tiger than the sturdy little ex-Congressman.

He knows the city and he knows the game and New York people believe in him.

CONSISTENTLY MAD.

Mr. Rockefeller, who is a pillar of the right, hired Mr. Rivers, who is an unconvertible Red, to do a fresco in Radio Center. Mr. Rivers, who never paints anything but Red propaganda, naturally painted Red propaganda into the Radio Center picture. At which Mr. Rockefeller becomes quite shocked and fires Mr. Rivers off the job, paying him the hated money of capitalism in substantial gold to the full of the contract price. Whereupon Mr. Rivers—one may guess with his tongue in his cheek—pockets the scads and raves at being deprived of the opportunity of finishing the "greatest picture of his career," full of red flags and Lenin.

It is all pretty crazy; but it's magnificently in keeping with the whole Radio City project—which was insane in its inception and is plain lunacy in its architectural horrors and its economic impossibility.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

BY MORRIS GILBERT
 WPA Service Writer

Washington, May 4.—Special ambassadors coming to Washington, and those already here, will participate in the world's greatest scrimmage when they engage in tariff talks.

The ambassadors are, of course, brave men. They are tackling the high tariff question in a country where high tariffs have been a fetish.

"When better tariffs are made," said Mr. Dingley back in the '90s, "Dingley will make them." So did Mr. Smoot, not so long ago. Bigger and better tariffs for America has been the war-cry for many years.

The result is majestic. From the embargoes of the Ottawa Agreement, and Britain's wholesale tariff bill of last year, to the exclusion of retractable beddings from the world's American—tariff America.

Talks Reciprocity
 Now, in less than six weeks, all that is changing. Cordell Hull, not so long ago the forlorn leader of a forlorn low-tariff cause, is secretary of state. A lery Tennessee, the heat of the Free Trade battle smouldering in his deep-sunk eyes, he is talking reciprocity. He desires a series of reciprocity agreements with foreign countries for the general lowering of tariffs and the general stimulation of world trade.

Reciprocity is so new one. The United States and Canada had a reciprocity treaty in 1854. It lasted 11 years, when the United States denounced it, principally because of resentment of Canada's attitude toward the Civil War. Several times since then the thought of United States-Canadian reciprocity—a free trade basis—has risen. The last time was in 1911, when the Taft administration actually passed a Canadian reciprocity bill through both Houses of Congress.

Canada refused it. It was all mixed up, in the Canadian mind, with the fear of annexation.

LONE HAND.

Woodrow Wilson's ship was wrecked on the rock of a mistaken faith that the nations had taken to heart the lesson of the World War. It seemed wholly beyond belief that there could be a school of statesman thought so cynical, so indifferent to the awful slaughter and destruction of that stupendous tragedy as to be unready to make over the system of international relationships in the interest of security and peace. He found himself wrong. He found that the war hadn't lasted long enough, hadn't wrought enough ruin, hadn't killed enough men and starved enough children, to change the scheming, plotting minds of the European politicians—or of some of those in his own country.

There are indications that the world-wide depression hasn't lasted long enough, hasn't caused suffering enough or even caused trouble enough for the politicians, to bring the nations to the state of mind where they could and would strike hands in a candid effort to restore world business on a basis of honest mutual advantage. The American effort to bring about a tariff truce pending the result of the World Economic Conference is meeting with the same distrust, the same hide-bound national egotism, the same tricky make-believe and mental reservations encountered by this country's effort to make effective the lessons of the great war.

It is very doubtful if the outcome of a visit to London by President Roosevelt at the opening of the Economic Conference would have an issue in any way more satisfactory than the presence of President Wilson at the peace conference. Wilson carried with him a tremendous prestige. Roosevelt would be merely the representative of a nation of whom all Europe is suspicious and toward whom it holds more feeling of resentment than of friendship. It is to be hoped that there is nothing to the revived talk that Mr. Roosevelt is contemplating such a trip.

And we don't believe there is anything to it. The President, it is quite clear, has a pretty powerful conviction that this country is capable of far reaching independent action. It would not be in disagreement with his attitude so far as he were quite frankly to take the position that America is ready and willing to join hands with Europe for world recovery—and equally ready to make the best of it and her own road to her own prosperity without, as the bi-metalists used to say, "the aid or consent of any other nation on earth," if she has to.

Meantime there is very little percentage in the President's rinking a slap in the face at the London conference.

BOOK BONFIRE.

The Hitlerites may or may not have achieved unity of spirit for all Germany by destroying the concrete evidence of 20,000 more or less divergent viewpoints represented by as many books, but they seem to think they have done so; so perhaps the bonfire in Opera Square, Berlin, may not have been wholly without beneficial effect. Anything that contributes to the contentment and complacency of the Nazis may very well be a good thing for themselves and incidentally for the rest of their countrymen.

To be sure, there may be a lingering suspicion in the minds of some of them that by burning a printed copy of "The Western Front" the philosophy of Eric Remarque has not been swept altogether out of the German consciousness, but at least the Nazis have the satisfaction of having had a good bluster, and that may help in the development of geniality and the improvement of their own digestions.

The Hitlerites will not necessarily have to care a snap for the fact that the rest of the world is having a good laugh at them for about the silliest and most stilted performance of which they have yet been guilty.

What next to do by way of self expression, however, must be something of a problem. Having baited the Jews and having burnt all the "un-German" books they will now have to think up some other stunt. Somehow or other the excitement must be kept up, else the first thing Hitler knows his audiences will walk out on him. Perhaps it's too bad where they could and would strike hands in a candid effort to restore world business on a basis of honest mutual advantage. The American effort to bring about a tariff truce pending the result of the World Economic Conference is meeting with the same distrust, the same hide-bound national egotism, the same tricky make-believe and mental reservations encountered by this country's effort to make effective the lessons of the great war.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

New York, May 15.—Five circus press agents, strangely quiet, sat about a hotel room. Dexter Fellows, for 40 years a neologist and a transcriber of glittering superlatives, gnawed his grey mustache uneasily. Roland Butler, G. P. A. (General Press Agent, or Grand Purveyor of Adjectives), chewed a pencil and muttered over an advertisement he was trying to write.

Ora Parks, over in a corner, broke his moody silence: "Of course, we must admit it's unquestionably a brilliant idea, superbly and ingeniously conceived."

"Sure," said dapper Frank Braden. "The idea is practically Brobdingnagian. A Gargantuan inspiration, in fact, well calculated to inspire amazement and—"

"However," broke in William Wilton. "It's too bad it had to come just as the mightiest and most preponderant aggregation of wonders and features ever known in circus history has been commemorated in a massive entity in commemoration of the glittering golden jubilee of the greatest show on earth."

"Gentlemen," said Mr. Fellows. "Remember that a representative of the press is present. I think the unprecedented contingency confronting us provides noteworthy memorabilia for a newspaper story."

"A story!" exclaimed Mr. Parks. "Coleman!"

"Stupendous," chimed in Mr. Butler, almost swallowing his pencil. "Anomalous; unique! A circus story never before printed in any newspaper."

"In Other Words, Sir—"

"Well, sir, you have seen our glittering galaxy," continued Mr. Butler. "You have realized that this year the show has impressive proportions and an impressive grandeur too staggering for the human mind to enumerate or contemplate. We have things just as prehistoric, and even more macroscopic."

"Hey, I thought up that line," pouted Mr. Fellows. "Also the one about the convulsing attitudinarianisms of our assemblage of clowns."

"What Mr. Butler was trying to say," supplemented Mr. Braden, "is that never before have we publicly men had justifiable occasion to employ such glowing and superlative terms in describing the pompous panoramic display and the subsequent gigantic array of multiple arenic marvels. Why, we have—"

"And of course you realize," Mr. Parks interposed, "the circus part that circus advertising and publicity have played in the past—the well-rounded descriptive phrases, the magnificently translucent posters. Naturally we have considered ourselves masters of our craft. And now—"

"And now—" Mr. Butler carried on, "Mr. Samuel Gumpertz, new manager of the company, has named an order against all of our multi-syllabic words. Circus press agency, sir, stands bereft of its time-honored superlatives. Mr. Gumpertz seems to have taken exception to such phrases as 'premieres its proud paths,' 'sending a preponderance of vividities,' and 'an opulent exposition of Oriental panoply.'"

"Mr. Gumpertz believes that some of these terms may not be universally comprehended. He believes our work will be more effective if we stick to ungarlished facts."

"So from now on, in describing our riotous avalanche of howling hilarity we will mention only 'a troupe of funny clowns.' Our infinitude of dazzling arenic marvels henceforth will be known simply as 'twenty-one acts.' You get the idea—an amazing and occasionally daring stand for unmitigated veracity and 'normate' expression. Why, it's stupendous!"

"Coleman!" echoed Messrs. Braden, Parks, Fellows and Wilton.

HOW TO GET OVER BEING BORED

Many of my readers write me that they are bored by everything and everything.

It is easy to pick out a bored person; he looks wearied, his face seems dull, his eyes have no sparkle, his mouth turns down at the corners, often he taps his toe on the floor, or he takes out his watch, yawns, or crosses first one leg and then the other. One look and you know he isn't having a good time.

Being bored may come from a number of different causes; such as eating too much, or too much of the wrong kind of food, or too much of the wrong kind of work, or too much of the wrong kind of company, or too much of the wrong kind of environment.

The people who are most likely to become bored are the ones you could call well-behaved. Perhaps they are a little too well-behaved, or perhaps they are a little too conscientious, or perhaps they are a little too nervous, or perhaps they are a little too tired.

The best way to prevent nervousness due to boredom is to banish boredom at the same time as to find some outlet for your energies. The moment you find an interesting thing to do you will stop being bored. Boredom is the result of many "STOP" signals—interest is the result of "GO" signals that set you go ahead.

A good subject for you to become interested in is health. In fact, it is one of the very best, as health activities like swimming, gardening, gymnastics work, or dancing offer wonderful outlets for your energy. Another reason why health is a good subject is that one who is interested in health is bound to learn some of the rules which will help him gain strength, to be a person who is healthy and vital, and who is not bored for very long.

The subject of health has many interesting sides such as exercises, healthful cooking, diet, etc., as well as the study of the mental states and their effect on health. In studying health you should read all you can and learn all you can. It is a good plan to save clippings and notes.

Find an outlet for your energy in healthful pursuits and you will be interested instead of bored. One who is bored is not going after anything. He has forgotten that most of the fun in life lies in doing something and in pursuing some desirable objective in life with all his might. One who is studying health finds himself pursuing it, one of the best things he has to offer. One who keeps on studying and struggling for better

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Rupture)

Question: Mr. Frederick J. M. asks: "Will you please print a diet or whatever you think is best for a rupture or hernia, as some call it. I have had one in the left groin for 13 years, at first small, but now as large as a cup."

Answer: Keep the quantity of food down to the minimum so that your abdomen will remain as flat as possible. Then take the "setting up" exercises to develop your abdominal muscles. Meanwhile, wear a suitable support which will hold in the rupture until the muscles covering the peritoneum have been scientifically developed to do their work properly.

(Indoor Exercise Good Substitute)

Question: B. C. S. writes: "Will you please say what the final results will be if a person who has been used to an outdoor life, such as farming, is shut off for months from the exercise that such a life gives?"

Answer: Of course, the results will be bad if a person who is used to outdoor exercise does not substitute some other kind of exercise, such as that which may be taken in a gymnasium. A half hour of vigorous handball, volley ball, or regulated athletic work will give any individual sedentary work all of the exercise needed to keep the muscles in good condition.

(Fruit Whip)

Question: Cook writes: "Will you please print instructions for making the fruit whips given in your weekly menus?"

Answer: The fruit whips may be made of cooked apricots, peaches, apples, prunes, figs, etc., by first mincing the fruit and adding to the whites of well beaten eggs. Do not add sugar or any other seasoning. For a change, the whip may be placed in the oven and slightly browned on top.

(Unsupplured Fruit Best)

Question: Mrs. Ruth J. writes: "For a number of years I have been following your teachings, but there are a few questions I would like to ask. How is it possible to purge apricots of sulphur dioxide and other bleached raisins contain any chemical that is injurious? Also, what is the best way to prepare dried fruits for breakfast?"

Answer: Some of the sulphur dioxide can be removed from the dried fruit by soaking them in water and then washing them off. However, a portion of the food value is lost this way and it is better to obtain the unsulphured fruit. Bleached raisins are also treated with the same chemical. The best way to prepare the dried fruits for breakfast is to stew them without using any sugar.

LA GUARDIA LOOMS.

What political history Major F. H. La Guardia helps to write is written in bold strokes; and he has had a potent finger in more than a little of it. Major La Guardia now comes out with an offer to back a New York City ticket headed by Alfred E. Smith for mayor but consisting largely of independent Democrats, Republicans, at least one Socialist and a mere sprinkling of Tammany candidates.

Now almost any well known person in New York could make that kind of an offer and it might amount to very little. But Major La Guardia has an ace up his sleeve. "If we can't get that kind of a ticket," he says, "I'll go into the Republican primaries with a full ticket and make a fight to overthrow the Tammany machine myself."

And that is no empty threat.

That La Guardia could get the Republican nomination for mayor and name his own ticket is highly probable. That he would be influ-

A CONNECTICUT MEMORY.

The story of the murder of Edward Albert Ridley, long ago partner in the famous department store of Ridley's, in New York City, will be of special interest to the older generation of Connecticut people; for Ridley's, fifty years ago, was a prime objective of practically every shopper from this state who visited the metropolis.

Just why this should be so it would be difficult to explain; but for some reason or another it is probably true that over a period of a good many years Ridley's big Grand street emporium received as much patronage from Connecticut women as all the rest of the great metropolitan shops of that day put together.

For many years Ridley's has been a memory to the old folks and the present generations never even heard of it. But it was a great in-

Limited
The sweetest form of invitation card now in vogue in Holly wood is "Admit bearer and one wife."—Reader's Digest.

Durand, Schraft and Packard's candies in lovely Mother's Day boxes are found in large assortment at Packard's Pharmacy. Ideal for youngsters' gifts are 1-2 lb boxes of fine chocolates, 25c. Attractive packages are priced to suit every purse up to the 2 lb. package, $2.

The Linen "Duster"
Smartest outfit we've seen lately in a local shop is a white daisy print silk frock with a black background, worn with a white linen three-quarter length coat, falling straight from the shoulders, belted. Interesting cut gives the coat a wide shoulder effect. A bit of "elbow in the print" is accented by a yellow buckle.

A wedding is not complete without a wedding picture to commemorate the day. You will always want to know "just how the bride looked" and you can preserve that image only in a photograph. Fallot Studio, just below the Center, phone 5808.

Timely
May-time menus include such appetizing things as roast veal, new asparagus and delicious pies made from fresh rhubarb and fresh strawberries combined, served with good old-fashioned cheese. A medium cold dinner might consist of roast lamb, spiced beef, buttered spinach, mixed pickles, whole wheat or Graham bread with butter, grapefruit in lime jelly, milk for children, tea or coffee for grown-ups.

In the Shell
Table salt applied with a wet cloth will remove stains from silver. So you don't really have to use the "old" spoons when serving eggs in the natural way: right in the shells.

Imagine the joy of bundling up every curtain in the house, sending them off to the New Model Laundry, having them promptly returned, freshened and crisp, ready to hang! New Model charges are low for their efficient service, 50c a pair; 75c for ruffled. Phone 8072.

Fragrant Daphne
For home gardens a delightful flowering shrub is the Daphne, whose little pink blossoms have a poignant fragrance something like that of carnations. The Daphne has another point in its favor—it's an evergreen.

A dress length of Cheney silk from Cheney Hall Salesroom is a gift that will more than please Mother with its beauty and usefulness on Mother's Day. The new spring prints are reduced to $1 and up per yard. Among these are many small-patterned designs suited to the older woman. A large selection of plain colors is 76c per yard.

Little Cakes
Chocolate cup cakes are about as versatile as anything. Served with refrigerator ices, for tea or evening refreshments, they are extremely popular. To make 24 small cakes, cream 1-2 cup butter with 1 cup sugar, add 2 beaten egg yolks. Mix and sift 1-2 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoons baking powder. Melt 3 squares bitter chocolate, add to batter mixture with 1 teaspoon vanilla, ingredients and 1-2 cup milk. Fold in the egg whites, beaten stiff, but not dry. Bake in buttered, floured cup cake pans in moderate (350 degree F.) oven 12 to 15 minutes.

Hale's suggests these welcome, practical gifts for Mother's Day: pure dye silk gloves, trimmed, at $1.95; pure dye silk slippers, at $1.95; white linen Appenzel handkerchiefs, hem-stitched and embroidered with 4-corner decorations, at 25c each.

MARVELOUS MANHATTAN
By WILLIAM GAINES

New York.—Maybe clothes don't make the man, but a young fellow who moves in one of the snootier east side sets must be thinking that clothes do a lot to make him look like a society man.

He donned the costume of one of Uncle Sam's seamen to go to a fancy dress ball held recently at a happy-to-ly hotel.

When he lurched out at an early morning hour he decided that what he needed most was a walk in the fresh air. So he ambled along for a few blocks before he hailed a cab. As he dropped into the seat he mumbled his impressive home address. The driver looked over his tar's gab and shot back at him:

"Oh, yeah? said the elite young man and promptly went to sleep.

The next thing he realized the taxi driver was trying to turn him over to some one at the Brooklyn navy yard. Said he was acting on the advice of a policeman.

ROCKVILLE MUNICIPAL FLAGPOLE GETS A 3-YEAR SUIT

Aluminum Paint, Gold Leaf Topping, Fixes Up Staff for an Extra Long Period.

Unusual attention was attracted yesterday when seven hours was taken in painting the municipal flagpole in Central Park. The work was done by Walter Jaynes of Portland, Me., who is spending a few days at the Rockville House and who anticipates doing similar flagpole work in adjoining towns.

Mr. Jaynes arrived in Rockville yesterday morning and under the observation of Superintendent of Public Works George B. Milne spent a good part of the day working on the flag pole. More than an hour was occupied in climbing the flagpole and some six hours were needed to do the painting. Pure gold leaf was placed upon the ball on top of the pole. The pole proper was painted with asphalt aluminum paint.

Mr. Jaynes states that the work should last at least three years before it will have to be replaced as only the best of material was used. The last time the pole was done over it was painted white but it is believed the asphalt aluminum will last a year or so longer.

Jaynes, has hope of doing similar work on the flagpoles on the local school buildings.

Licenses Go Out Slowly
The distribution of the licenses to sell beer proceeded very slowly yesterday, the second day. At noon but six licenses had been distributed when one more issued late yesterday afternoon to the Rockville House. There were twenty-one saloons in Rockville when the prohibition laws went into effect.

The first "package store" to open was at 10 East Main street, opened by Allen Franklin Beckendorf. A second was opened by Oliver Stafford of Stafford Springs at 120 East Main street. Two permits have been issued to the First National Stores in Rockville and a similar store has also secured a permit in Stafford Springs. The Rockville Hotel obtained a permit late yesterday afternoon.

More than a score of applications have been filed by Rockville persons. The requirement to file collateral is being held in the amount of $1,000 has made it difficult for many.

Applications here are being investigated by Adolph C. Brill of Bolton Notch, formerly of Rockville, who has been appointed as chief of the temporary liquor inspectors. He is a former member of the local police force.

Plan Grand Lodge Sessions.
The 53rd annual session of the Grand Lodge, Grand Order of Odd Fellows, will be held at Middletown on next Tuesday and Wednesday and a delegation is to be sent there by Rising Star Lodge of Rockville. At 7 o'clock Tuesday night there will be a big parade in which the local delegation will participate after which a third degree will be exemplified. All Rockville members who are wishing to attend are asked to hand in their names by Monday night. Transportation will be provided to those who desire to attend.

Increase in Working Shift.
The Peerless Silk Textile Company, Inc., of Rockville, which recently experienced a strike of the night force, has decided to put a third force to work because of the great demand for their goods.

Harry Fine, president of the company, stated that the final plan would be made within a week or ten days. Earlier in the week more than a score of weavers walked out complaining about too long a week and the working on Saturday afternoon.

A conference was held on Wednesday and as a result the weavers returned to work last evening with the major difficulties being settled. Minor difficulties are still to be ironed out.

Investigate Accident.
An investigation is being conducted by the State Police from the Stafford Springs barracks of the accident on the Dobsonville, Vernon Center road on Wednesday when a large motor-tractor truck owned by the New England Transportation Company turned over and lay lengthwise across the state road. The truck was headed from Boston to Hartford and New Haven and was being driven by John F. Toro, aged 27, of 141 Fairmont street, New Haven. The truck was registered with headquarters in Providence, R. I.

The driver states that he was headed towards Hartford when he suddenly noticed coming towards him across the center of the road a fast moving automobile. He turned to the side of the road and in so doing the rear part of the tractor-truck started swaying and hit a telephone pole. The driver was thrown free but the truck tipped over, being slightly damaged.

Notes.

Elks, at a meeting held at the Elks' Home, corner of Ellington avenue and Prospect street last evening, discussed plans for the celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the installation of the lodge which will be celebrated in the fall. Exalted ruler Lewis H. Chapman, preided at the meeting last evening and was empowered to appoint the necessary committees to arrange the celebration.

Frank Badschneider Post-Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold a meeting in the evening in the G. A. R. rooms at which time delegates will be elected to attend the state convention. Plans will also be discussed for the Memorial Day celebration.

Many Rockville people attended the strawberry festival held last evening at the Windsorville Methodist church by the Ladies' Aid Society.

The Longview Parent-Teachers Association will give their annual minstrel and dance at the Ellington town hall on Friday evening, May 26th. Carlo Genovese is directing the presentation assisted by Albert Spielman. The proceeds will be used for a dental clinic for the Longview school.

An additional short calendar session of the Tolland County Superior Court will be held on Monday next by Judge John Rufus Booth of New Britain. The session will open at Rockville at 9 o'clock standard time.

Rockville sportsmen including City Treasurer Farley B. Leonard are attending the funeral of Arthur L. Seidler of Stamford, N. J., which is being held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edith S. Roberts of 27 Jessamine street, West Hartford, with burial in Spring Grove cemetery, Hartford. Mr. Seidler was formerly a judge at the state bar and a great friend of Farley B. Leonard of this city.

The Fastime club held a card party last evening at the Moose club rooms on Elm street. The proceeds will be used to purchase supplies for the club's baseball team.

Alfred H. Hebro of Rockville, a member of the committee on Humane Institutions of the Connecticut General Assembly, is visiting at the Connecticut State Hospital at Middletown today as the guest of Dr. Roy C. Leak, superintendent.

PERU AND COLOMBIA AGREE TO START NEGOTIATIONS LEADING TO PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT.

Lima, Peru, May 12—(AP)—Peru and Colombia agreed today to direct negotiations to solve their conflict over the Leticia border territory in the upper Amazon region.

Alfonso Lopez, president of the Liberal Party in Colombia, is coming to Lima Sunday to discuss personally with President Benavides of Peru the solution of the Leticia question.

The negotiations which will follow the arrival of Senor Lopez will be the result of an exchange of telegraph messages between the Colombian statesman and the Peruvian president, who have been intimate friends since the time when both served in diplomatic posts at London.

Senor Lopez, who will be accompanied by his two sons, will be accompanied at Toluca on the Peruvian coast by the President's aide who will go by air to meet the Colombian negotiator.

The negotiations were started tentatively May 6 when Senor Lopez congratulated President Benavides on the latter's election after the death of President Sanchez Cerro. At the time the Colombian was making a political tour in Manizales in connection with the next congressional election.

The cables were published here today in morning papers and President Benavides suggested that they be published at the same time in Bogota.

The conflict between Peru and Colombia was precipitated Sept. 1, 1933, when Peruvians seized the town of Leticia and ousted Colombian officials. Since that time there have been a few instances of fighting on a fairly large scale.

Both nations have concentrated arm and munitions of war in the distant Amazonian Amazon. The League of Nations and League of Nations have endeavored to compose the dispute.

Leticia is a sun-baked village of only a few hundred residents and has about 200 buildings in jungle country which was ceded by Peru to Colombia in 1923. It is important because it is at a tip of a strip of land which gives Colombia an outlet to the Amazon river system and control to the Atlantic.

The international interest has centered on the dispute during the last few days because of the movement of a Peruvian cruiser and two submarines through the Panama Canal.

The League of Nations held that refusing and reprovisioning facilities should be denied the Peruvian vessels. At one time Colombia was reported ready to send aircraft to bomb the ships before they entered the Amazon, but this plan never was carried out.

Last March the League of Nations accepted a report condemning Peru's occupation of the ceded territory and demanding immediate evacuation.

AMERICAN STUDENTS HURT

Vienna, Austria, May 12—(AP)—The conditions of Henry Kanes, leader Goodman, Nathan Shapiro and six other American students who last Tuesday protested to the American consulate here that they had been injured by Nazis, are not alarming.

The students complained that they had been struck by Nazi students in disorders which started at the Vienna Anatomical Institute. The American youths suffered slight cuts and bruises when they were escaping through the windows by aid of firemen and their burts required bandaging.

Death Valley, California, was made into a national monument by presidential proclamation on Feb. 11, 1933.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

It is just a toss-up what is the most uncomfortable thing you can have on your feet—ingrown nails, corns, calluses, blisters.

Ingrown nails call for continued soaking in hot soap suds until the nail is soft. Then, with sterilized instruments, pry out the nail from the bed of soft flesh and place a bit of sterilized cotton between the nail and the flesh...

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

A double quantity of meringue will result if a teaspoon of cold water is added to the whites of an egg before beating.

A Thought

The Lord looked down from heaven upon the children of men, to see if there were any that understood, and none of them.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

BACKWARD CHILD? DON'T WORRY!

"Backward Children" is often a misnomer, because parents are likely to expect too much rather than too little. If a baby does not duplicate his quick older brother or sister at a certain age, then his parents refer to him as "slow" or "backward."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Symptoms Probably Not Due to Cancer.)

Question: Mrs. T. writes: "Will you kindly state some of the symptoms of a cancer in the stomach? Is there any pain or bloating?" Answer: Sometimes there is a certain amount of pain and some bloating but in most cases the progress of sensation seems to be out of the growth and the pain is that very little pain is felt.

HEALTH

SUBJECT NOW EXTENDS TO ALL PARTS OF THE BODY

By DR. MORRIS FISHERMAN Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

It may well be said that there is hardly an organ or tissue of the human body that has not been approached surgically for the benefit of mankind. The brain is no longer viewed from the surgical point of view, with the awe and respect that surrounded it formerly. A surgeon has even removed one-half of the cerebrum of a woman.

Of particular interest has been the growth of another specialty in the surgical field, the orthopedic surgeon. In an early day he was a harness maker, developing braces, pads, casts and devices of various types to do the functions of weakened tissues.

Do not guess about it and do not try to diagnose your own case. (What Causes Arms to Get Numb.) Question: Mr. Paul A. writes: "Please tell me what causes the arms to go to sleep and get numb at night. Is this because of high blood pressure?" Answer: If you know you have high blood pressure, you have doubtless answered your own question, as this does cause the arms to become numb.

(Flavored Confection) Question: Mrs. Olive T. asks: "Will you kindly advise me what would be the probable effect of mixing figs with sugar into a confection made of ground figs, dates and nuts mixed with honey to be used as candy for grown-ups. Would the flavored meal have any beneficial effect at all, or is it better to make it better? And would the above confection be conducive to acidosis?" Answer: Flavored meal could be used in a confection. An would probably have a lubricating laxative effect much the same as if the entire seed were used. It would not have any tendency to produce acidosis.

(Rubbing Oil on Body) Question: H. I. writes: "Twice a week I have been rubbing pure olive oil on my body. The results are nearly that it is useful and I have an idea that it will keep my skin healthy. Is there any possibility of injury to the skin or of growing hair?" Answer: There can be no danger in your rubbing the olive oil on your body providing you also take a daily sponge or shower bath to remove any oil residue which would become rancid if not removed soon enough. Rub the oil on after you have taken your bath. This is a good treatment for dry skin.

Sport Forum

Baseball Fans and General Public: We want you to know that the management of the newly organized baseball club, are making a real honest to goodness effort to revive America's national game in the town of Manchester, by bringing in players to make up a first-class Sem-Pro Club. No stone will be left unturned to build up an aggregation that will be strong enough to compete with the best clubs in the state. It is the ambition of the management to build a club that will outdo the Gems of Hartford. In order to do so changes will have to be made on the roster of the local club, this is not to be accomplished in a moment. It should not take any great length of time before the club will be able to prove its worth to local fans, and Manchester is sure to take pride in the feats of its representatives on the baseball diamond.

The management also wants the players of the town to know that they can try for positions on the club at any time, and any assistance that the management can give locals will be given cheerfully.

We realize that to revive interest and the process of building a sure fire baseball club is a hard one, but all that we ask is your patience and support, the rest will follow.

Manchester Baseball Club, A. G. Kamm, Manager.

VETS' CUTS EXCEED THE EXPECTATIONS

Manchester Men Begin to Get Notices — Are Effective July 1.

The Veterans Bureau has notified a large number of Manchester veterans of the cuts in their service-connected compensations, it was reported today by several men who found to their surprise that reductions greater than they had expected were their lot, effective July 1.

According to the provisions of the Economy Bill, the term "disability allowance," terminates with the new act, sponsored by President Roosevelt. In all cases of non-service connected disabilities under the old status of the Veterans Act, the former service men will lose their allowance automatically when the new bill becomes effective at the beginning of the governmental year.

Against Wholesale Cut

Wholesale reductions in the compensation of veterans whose injuries resulted from active service in France and on the high seas, is vigorously opposed by the rank and file of veteranism, in this town, state-wide and throughout the country.

Through official sources local veterans have been informed that there is a rising sentiment in Congress in the demand for a "square deal" for the disabled men. Members of Congress have been giving the facts in the veterans cause and it is felt locally that the administration will be forced to recognize conditions as they actually exist among the thousands of veterans who are handicapped by physical disabilities and in desperate need of relief.

Spanish War Vets

Under the provisions of the act, veterans of the Spanish American War who have not reached the age of 62, and who did not receive disabilities in action will be removed from the lists of pensioners. It is expected that several Manchester veterans of '98 will come within the provisions of the act as regards the loss of pensions.

CROSS TAKES FIRST RIDE IN AIRPLANE

Finds Air a Bit Bumpy Over Capitol But Says He Should Have Expected That.

Hartford, May 12.—(AP)—Governor Cross, Connecticut's 71 year old chief executive, had his first airplane ride today. Smiling and unperturbed, he stepped into a four-passenger Pitcairn auto-gyro and for half an hour circled over the State Capitol and Hartford. Never before had the governor made a flight and he was enthusiastic when he landed.

"Splendid, perfectly wonderful," he remarked. "It was a bit bumpy as we passed over the Capitol, but I suppose I should have expected that."

He was piloted by James G. Ray, noted auto-gyro flyer and with him were State Aviation Commissioner Charles L. Morris and Brigadier General William H. Ladd.

The governor's ship was followed by a Vought Corsair with Deputy Aviation Commissioner Jack Lennox and Chief Inspector George Kane, who kept in constant radio communication with the department of aeronautics office at the field.

CONFERENCE ON WHEAT

Geneva, May 12—(AP)—The international wheat conference will spend the next few days in discussions among the delegates on the possibility of agreeing on a wheat plan to be submitted to the principal European importing countries.

This decision was made today by Representatives of the United States, Canada, Argentina and Australia.

The Argentine delegate told the conference that his nation was willing to find a solution of the surplus stocks problem and to seek a more world wheat market.

FIRST LADY'S DIARY

Washington, May 12—(AP)—It isn't exactly a diary, but Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt writes an account of each day in the White House as it passes.

She does it because she sees the importance of recording history in the making, and is now sorry she didn't similarly record her eight years here in war times when her husband was assistant secretary of the Navy.

"NOW CAN EAT ANY KIND OF FOOD, AND NO CONSTIPATION"

Mr. Durigan Finds Relief in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter: "Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic."

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN."

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat most any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan, 6511 Buffalo Ave., Jacksonville, Florida.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SHORTEST CHIP SHOT IS STROKE ECONOMY

The short chip shot to the pin can save many strokes for the player who has an off day with his irons. When playing this shot give the left hand a chance to guide the club by keeping the hands in line with the stroke. As only a short swing is necessary, the club should be raised no higher than the hips. The stroke must be executed smoothly to avoid jabbing.

If the ground is hard and sun-baked, the ball will roll. In that case aim at a spot in front of the green. If the course is wet, there will be very little roll, necessitating a shot aimed at the hole.

Bail was set at $10,000 and county authorities indicated they would have the man sent to the state's hospital at Bangor for observation.

FIRST TIE VOTE IS RECORDED IN HOUSE

Compulsory Vaccination Bill Which Was Rejected Yesterday, Up Again.

Hartford, May 12—(AP)—Attempts to obtain reconsideration of the bill which would exempt conscientious objectors from the compulsory vaccination law resulted today in the first tie vote in the House during the present session. With the vote standing 97 to 97, Speaker William Hanna ruled that the motion to reconsider had not prevailed.

The bill was rejected in the House yesterday by a vote of 118 to 108. In moving for reconsideration today Rep. Joe Garner Estill said many members had not understood the terms of the bill.

The move was contested by Majority Leader Baldwin who said that the matter had been thoroughly thrashed out once. Googel of New Britain fought for reconsideration, saying that the Legislators should be given another opportunity to vote.

When the viva voce vote was declared against the motion it was doubted and the rising vote which followed resulted in the 97-97 tie.

William C. Hungerford, of Waterbury, who led the fight for the bill yesterday did not vote either way today.

A petition for a clarifying amendment to the liquor control act to exclude the manufacture, distribution and sale of medicinal and toilet preparations and extracts and flavors "which are unfit for use as intoxicating beverages" was introduced by Ford of Milford. It was referred to the judiciary committee.

A bill permitting branch banks in towns of more than 50,000 population was rejected, as was a bill requiring security salesmen to be licensed by the towns in which they operate.

Drastic changes in the conduct of dentists are required in a bill passed today despite last minute efforts on the part of a group of dentists to defeat it.

The measure provides that the licenses of dentists may be revoked if they advertise in a manner tending to deceive; advertise professional superiority; advertise definite fixed prices; advertise by means of large display, glaring illuminated or flickering lights; or signs containing part of representation of a tooth, teeth, bridge-work or any portion of the human head; advertising either by sign or printed advertisements under the name of a corporation, association, partnership or trade name except those of incorporated companies existing on Feb. 1933, and further forbids the operation of more than two offices in the state.

The House concurred with the state in passing bills providing that New Haven may lease West Rock for a beacon light and that Edwin R. Holden of Plymouth and Jesse S. Miller of Middletown, may bring actions against the state to decide disputes with the highway department.

THINK JAPS PLAN TO TAKE PIEPING

Expect to Accomplish This Without Bloodshed; Block Retreat of Chinese.

Tientsin, China, May 12—(AP)—Japanese propaganda and recent military movements are regarded here as indicating Japan hopes to win control of Peiping and Tientsin without bloodshed.

Propaganda, such as that dropped in Peiping by airplanes, urged "Fellow Asiatics" to renounce the Chinese Nationalist government and unite with the Japanese and Manchukuanas.

Japanese military stationed here under treaty provision insist their armies are reluctant to occupy Peiping by force but are determined to expel Chinese troops from the northern roads leading to that city.

It is believed the Japanese forces which have crossed the Luan river will continue westward, moving through Tsunhsu and Tungshien toward Fengtai, important railway junction on the southern outskirts of Peiping.

This would menace retreat of the Chinese Nationalist armies over the Peiping-Hankow railway. These troops now are holding their ground against the Japanese north of Peiping.

A Japanese movement in the direction of Fengtai from the west is expected to make certain an early retreat by these troops to escape being cut off and surrounded.

Numerous prominent Manchukuanas are appearing in Tientsin, causing belief that Japan, through Manchukuo, expects to increase its influence hereabouts shortly.

The Sino-Japanese western front was brought within 90 miles of this city but foreigners on outlying districts have not yet evacuated or indicated such intention.

The continuance was allowed after counsel for both sides said they agreed to indefinite postponements.

'120-Per' To Qualify

The most severe qualifying requirements in the 21-year history of the 600-mile Indianapolis race lead observers to predict speeds of 120 miles an hour on the stretches this year; Louis Schneider, 1931 winner, is shown comparing the new gas tank with the huge container formerly used.

By C. H. WOLFF

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12 — (AP)—It will take a straight-away speed of at least 120 miles an hour to win a place in the starting line of the annual 600-mile automobile race here May 30, say the drivers here getting ready to meet the requirement of an average speed of 100 miles an hour over a 25-mile test run.

The four sharp turns in the 2 1/2 mile brick track greatly reduce speed, and it is only the two long straight-aways that there is a chance to make up lost time. A skid or a bounce in the turns of the bumpy course takes miles off the average speed.

Never have qualifying requirements been so severe for the race, which will be run for the twenty-first time this month-end. In the past top speed demand has been an average of 90 miles over a 10-mile course.

The changes, officials say, will eliminate poorly constructed cars and clear the track of slow ones, rather than leaving such eliminations to the contest itself, as in the past.

Gasoline and oil economies will be sought for the first time. Gasoline tanks are limited to 15 gallons capacity, where in the past they held from 35 to 50 gallons. It will be necessary, under the best economy, for a car to stop at the pits three times during the 600 miles.

All of the oil that can be used must be carried in the car, but there is a limit of six gallons. Thus officials believe they will limit waste. Oil waste on the track in the past has proved a great hazard, especially in the later stages of the race.

Small Tank is Safer The smaller gasoline tank also is hailed as a safety feature. Engineers say that the cars in the past were properly balanced only when their great tanks were full. As they were emptied the cars lost balance and were harder to control.

Five former winners have mounts in this year's race. They are L. L. Corum, 1924 winner; Louie Meyer, 1928; Billy Arnold, 1930; Louie Schneider, 1931, and Fred Frame, 1932.

The return of Leon Durray to a standard make race car is being watched with interest. For several years the big f-70w from Los Angeles puttered around with a gigantic big that showed speed but little stamina.

Durray holds both the one lap and four-lap records for the Speedway. In 1928 he sped around the course at a 125.018 average. For four laps, or 10 miles, he averaged 122 miles an hour.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

College Chatter

The Big Ten record for the half-mile will be trumped this spring by a gentleman from Indiana, Charley Hornbostel. . . . the mark is 1:52.2, which has stood since Scott of Mississippi A. and M. set it up 17 years ago. . . . the world record, set last spring by Ben Eastman, is 1:51.3, or three-tenths of a second better than Dr. Feltzer's mark of 1:52. . . . the previous American mark belonged to Ted Meredith.

Toll and Trouble Basketball coaches are wrangling over the pivot play again or should we say yet. . . . Nelson, Norgren of University of Chicago believes another year will see a general college restriction of the play that was invented by the professionals. . . . the complaint is that there is too much fouling on the maneuver. . . . and a lot of rough work has been tolerated by officials who take it there is a tacit agreement among coaches that "anything goes" on the pivot.

Angel's Medicine Manky Gels, who succeeded the veteran Keene Fitzpatrick as track and field coach at Princeton, says "no beer" . . . and you don't have to be told about A. A. Stagg's feelings on the same subject. . . . though there are some coaches who think a bit of alcohol now and then will help the lads in their work.

Four different courses. . . . The tournament is played over four different courses. . . . with an 18-hole pro-amateur best ball contest, in which amateurs may count their initial scores in the main event. It provides for the first time this year, 36-hole team competition among colleges and universities of the Missouri, Valley, area and a bracket for coaches and athletic directors.

Most important, the rules specify that out-of-town entrants shall not be charged an entrance fee and shall be entertained as guests at the local golf club each night of the tournament.

A Cross-Country Affair The first 18-hole round will be played Tuesday, May 16, at the Oakwood country club; the second at the Wood Hill country club next day; the third the following morning at the Old Mission golf club; and the final at the Meadow Lake country club that afternoon.

Frank Staller of Kansas City, Missouri, amateur champion, will defend his Heart of America title. The pro-amateur event was won last year by Bill (brother of Tom) Creavy, pro, and Ray Conlin, amateur of the Hillcrest country club, Kansas City.

There are over 200 rooms, including 40 bedrooms, in Buckingham Palace.

Strong, Comfortable Feet Vital To Sound Golf Game

This is the eighth of a series in which Gene Sarazen, Britain and American Open golf champion, tells the average golf player how to cut strokes off his score.

By GENE SARAZEN, World Golf Champion (As Told To Alan Gould)

Most golfers, including a lot of our best tournament players, pay too little attention to their feet.

Proper footwork is a factor too often neglected in our modern teaching of the game, although since the old days when we were taught that it was the proper thing to lift the left heel so that it pointed to the hole.

Now, the good player barely lifts his heel at all. He stands well balanced, with feet fairly close together, not spread wide apart or anchored awkwardly so that the swing is hampered.

You have missed something if you failed to study the footwork of stars like Walter Hagen or Bob Jones. To me it was a thing of beauty to watch.

Strength in the Feet Three-fourths of a golfer's strength comes from his feet; not only the way he uses them but how well he is shod. It is important to wear the right kind of shoes.

Nothing will tire a man out quicker than bad shoes, and I mean tire him out mentally, as well as physically. If he wonders why he feels "haggard" out toward the end of the round or why he can't go 36 in one day without finishing weakly, it's probably because he has not outfitted his feet properly.

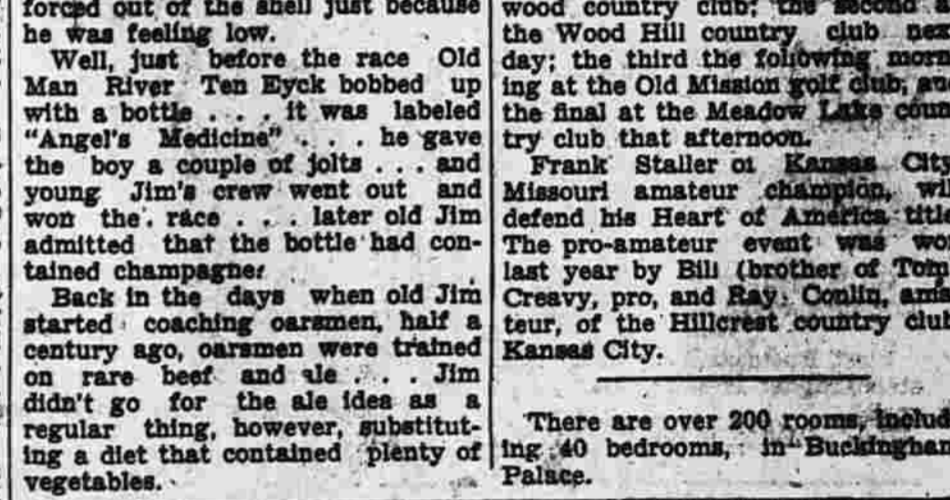

Ever since I learned that lesson myself I have had my own shoes made to order, and I always inspect a pupil's footwear along with his clubs, stance and grip.

Advocate Thick Soles I advocate thick soles. I can recall noticing the shoes worn by Harry Vardon and Ted Ray, the famous British professionals. They were heavy-soled and comfortable. They never had any trouble with their feet as a result, and Vardon, now 65, still can go 36 holes a day.

Between rounds it is a good idea to change shoes or wear a pair of slippers to ease the feet. Take good care of the feet and they'll carry you through to a strong finish; neglect them and your golfing day in comfort will be numbered.

SOLES GOES BIG

The University of Dayton (Ohio) has a shoe store that sells golf shoes for its school athletes.

THE TINYMITES

Story by EARL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBRO

"We left the house at 11:15 and started out for the park. We've been to the park many times but we've had a lot of fun. We had a picnic and played games. The shoe that was missing in came from our picnic basket we have seen. Some time this we'll get you of the Tinymites we've done."

"Our girl friends were in quite a plight, but they've escaped and they're all right. Why not give me some credit, since the whole scheme was my lunch?"

"One of the little girls then said, 'We must admit you used your head. Of course we've very thankful, and we've glad we've met you, too.'"

"But ere we travel very far, please tell us, lady, just who you are." "We're Tinymites," said Spoty, with a smile. "Now, who are you?"

"You're Tinymites?" one girl snapped. "Good! That's very strange, 'cause we are we. My name is Golly. Guess that is the color of my hair."

"And mine is Betty. That guess is wrong," exclaimed the other girl. "My this week thing."

"You're Tinymites?" one girl snapped. "Good! That's very strange, 'cause we are we. My name is Golly. Guess that is the color of my hair."

SENSE and NONSENSE

We believe in insurance, but the best insurance one can have for a peaceful eternity is to take out a conscience policy while living.

One of the reasons why we doubt the theory of evolution is that we never heard of a monkey coming home soused to the gills, who proceeded to beat his wife.

Minister—Yo' hsa? Whar yo' had yo' sins washed away?

Brother Johnson—Ovah at do Methodist church.

Minister—Ah, Brudder Johnson, yo' ain't been wash; yo' jes' been dry cleaned.

Judge—I discharge this jury.

Tall Juror (pointing to counsel for defense)—Waal, I was hired by that fellow over there.
