ROOSEVELT SUBMITS PUBLIC WORK PLAN

Sends to Congress His Proposal to Start a Monster Three Billion Dollar Construction Project.

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt sent his all-inclusive public-works industrial supervision program today to a Congress where his huge Democratic majorities were planning expeditious action.

Requesting full executive authority to inaugurate a $3,800,000,000 public construction program, he asked the Legislature to decide before early next week on new taxes to underwrite this project.

"The decision is not reached by that time, he will submit his own recommendations for levies.

Mr. Roosevelt also asked authority to reduce or eliminate the new taxes, should prohibition repeal be passed, or increasing revenues make them unnecessary.

Calling attention to the repeal amendment before the states, Roosevelt said in event it is adopted:

"The pre-prohibition revenues laws would then automatically go into effect and yield enough wholly to eliminate these temporary re-employment taxes."

Needs Cooperation

Recommending government cooperation with industry he said the purpose is to "obtain wide re-employment, to shorten the working week, to pay a decent wage for the shorter week and to prevent unfair competition and disastrous overproduction."

Test of Message

The test follows:

To the Congress:

Before the special session of the Congress adjourns, I recommend the further steps in our national campaign to put people to work.

My first request is that I work the Congress provide for the machinery necessary for a great cooperative movement throughout all industry in order to obtain wide re-employment, to shorten the working week, to pay a decent wage for the shorter week and to prevent unfair competition and disastrous overproduction.

Employers cannot do this singly or even in organized groups, because such action increases costs and thus permits cut-throat under-selling by selfish competitors unwilling to join in such a public-spirited endeavor.

One of the great restrictions upon such co-operative efforts up to this time has been our anti-trust laws. They were properly designed as the means to cure the great evils of monopolistic price fixing. They should certainly be retained as a permanent assurance that the old evils of unfair competition shall never return.

But the public interest will be served if, with the authority and under the guidance of government, private industries are permitted to make agreements and codes insuring fair competition. However, it is necessary, if we thus limit the

JERSEY VOTES WET BY BIG MAJORITY

Joins Other States Thus Far Recorded in Favoring Dry Law Repeal.

Newark, N. J., May 17.—(AP)—Voters of New Jersey, who last November repealed the state enforcement act, yesterday placed the state in the ranks of those favoring repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Election of wet delegates to a repeal convention probably the first week in June was accomplished by a wide margin. "Dry" candidates failed to secure enough signatures to get on the ballots in 11 of the 21 counties.

Absence of spirited primary fights in all but a few counties and rainy weather served to reduce the vote described by some observers as the "lightest in memory."

Huge Repeal Vote

But the efficient Democratic organization of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, was successful in winning up to a large repeal vote.

Jersey City's vote was 51,720 for repeal to 1,083 against.

Mayor Hague termed the huge majority "gratifying."

Voters of the two major parties are now clamoring for the assembly and Senate but the only important struggles were those waged in Passaic, Ocean, Union, Bergen and Morris. Power of county organizations was at stake in these counties.

Adding to the election spirit in many municipalities, reports were held on local abolition of the Sunday blue laws. Jersey City, Newark and Camden were among the cities where the strictest laws were repealed.

Fists Fly As Students Riot At Columbia U.

Noses were bloodied, eyes blacked and clothes torn in the rioting which broke out on Columbia University's campus in New York as 1,500 students staged a strike and demonstration protesting the recent dismissal of Donald Henderson, economics instructor and avowed Communist.

The top photo shows the battle in progress between the "radical" strikers and anti-radical students loyal to the administration. The inset shows Diego Rivera, Mexican artist recently dismissed from Rockefeller Center for his Lenin mural, urging the strikers to "wrest control of the university from Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler." Police quelled the rioting after five hours.

CRISIS IN MILK STRIKE; CALL NATIONAL GUARD

Pickets Massing in Various Parts of Wisconsin—Mob of 500 Tries to Burn Buildings.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 17.—(AP)—A crisis in the Wisconsin milk strike appeared imminent today as the state sent more than one thousand National Guards acting as deputy sheriffs into the field to combat pickets who said thousands of "farmers would arise" to close cheese factories, condenseries and creameries.

Adjutant General Ralph M. Inman, who said he was desirous of a showdown today, contacted his forces in two sectors — Shawano county in the north, and counties comprising the Milwaukee milk shed. Likewise pickets were massing in those areas.

Reports of violence brought prompt action last night. More than 800 additional Guardsmen were moved to trouble points. Two hundred more were held in reserve.

A crowd of more than 500 attempted to burn dairy farm buildings in nearby Racine county. One hundred twenty Guardsmen were sent to the scene. More than 1,000 strikers threatened violence at Fond du Lac, Shawano county, some of them disorderly Monday. To match their strength, Inman sent 200 Milwaukee Militiamen to Active Guard Oscar G. Dettman was leading the 200 men at his camp, including 700 Milwaukee county militia.

Inman said "the strikers' demands of milk may be met from all counties today.

Many Indiana and Illinois automobiles were seen in the area yesterday, he said, leading some to believe out-of-state strikers and organizers were gathering here.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for May 15 were $3,987,966.68; expenditures $28,435,854.89; balance $420,918,840.90. Customs duties for 15 days of May were $10,757,874.08.

Savant Advises Killing All Parrots in Nation

Baltimore, May 17.—(AP)—The slaughter of all parrots is the advice of Dr. Thomas M. Rivers as a certain method of putting an instant stop to the disease known as psittacosis, or parrot fever.

The suggestion to "kill all the parrots" was made in a lecture at the School of Hygiene and Public Health of the Johns Hopkins University by Dr. Rivers who is a member of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

Parrots are little known, says Dr. Rivers, but they are all carriers of the disease, and it is difficult to get rid of them.

Dr. Rivers explained the progress in developing a vaccination against the disease.

'CONCILIATORY' U. S. OFFICIALS' VIEW ON HITLER

State Department Sees Hope in Chancellor's Acceptance of Arms Control and Counting of Forces.

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—State Department officials today described the speech of Chancellor Hitler of Germany on disarmament as encouragingly conciliatory.

Disarmament experts at the department noted particularly that Hitler expressed his approval of the Kellogg-Briand pact, his approval for abolition of offensive weapons, declared his willingness to accept international control of armaments and stated that Germany was willing to count its national police forces and storm troops in figuring its armed forces.

No War of Aggression

Hitler's announced approval of the MacDonald arms reduction plan in principle was seen as a hopeful sign for progress at the Geneva conference scheduled to reopen tomorrow.

Special importance was attached to the statement that Germany was not thinking of a war of aggression and did not want to "arm but rather wanted other nations to disarm."

A willingness to obtain modification of the restrictions of the Versailles treaty by peaceful methods rather than armed force was the interpretation officials placed upon Hitler's words.

Official Washington noted that on the other hand Hitler's address contained a warning that pressure against Germany would never succeed in its objective.

Might Quit League

Special attention was given to his statement that coercion applied to his country by other nations would lead Germany to quit the League of Nations.

In this connection it was recalled that Japan has already quit from the League because of the League's refusal to accept her demands.

POLITICAL FIGHT GETS INTO COURT

New Haven Republican Factions Have Been Fighting Among Themselves.

New Haven, May 17.—(AP)—Factional fights in politics are not uncommon but rarely in the past have they reached the courts for injunction proceedings such as one group of Republicans here has brought against another.

Republicans in three wards of the Tenth Senatorial District have been fighting among themselves for months. Recent charges have been that one faction "loaded" its caucus lists with Democrats. A deputy registrar of voters called a hearing for tonight to determine if 150 names on those lists should be thrown off. The town committee is soon to be elected, and ward caucuses are a question of dropping names following a ruling of Corporation Counsel David J. McGarry that registered Democrats cannot be on the Republican lists at the same time.

The state Republican groups are supposed to be fighting the issue of the convention next fall which will nominate for the mayoralty.

Philip Troup will hear arguments on the injunction proceedings against Jacob Dreissen, deputy in the Eighth Ward before whom was strictly party one, was 18 to 17.

Rejection by the Senate of King, a Republican, means that the Democratic incumbent, Sheriff John J. McGarry, of Putnam will continue in office until a successor may be named.

McGarry is serving under a recess appointment, having been named to the office by President Hoover.

HITLER HAILS NOTE OF ROOSEVELT WITH GRATEFUL APPROVAL

AGREES THAT ARMS ARE KEY TO TROUBLE

Chancellor Sees No Solution Without Disarmament — Pledges Germany to Go as Far as Any Nation — Would Scrap All Military Equipment — Wants No Instruments of Aggression if Others Will Abandon Them — Denies Any Intent to Invade France or Poland — Declares New European War Would Only Further Disturb Balance and Destroy Social Order — Speaks for Hour — Reichstag Sings "Deutschland Ueber Alles."

Berlin, May 17.—(AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, in an impassioned speech before the Reichstag, today gratefully endorsed President Roosevelt's plan for relieving the international crisis and promised co-operation with Mr. Roosevelt's efforts.

The chancellor agreed that without solution of the disarmament problem, lasting economic reconstruction is unobtainable.

In behalf of the entire nation, and especially the young Nazi movement, he pledged that Germany would go as far as any nation in disarming, even to the extent of scrapping all military equipment.

He particularly offered to refrain from any claims for instruments of aggression so long as other nations scrapped theirs.

"There is but one great task before the world, namely, to secure the peace of the world," the chancellor exclaimed amid the plaudits of his listeners.

Plans No Invasion

He denied that Germany contemplated an invasion of France or Poland, emphasizing that his action is devoid of all instruments of aggression.

Germany, the chancellor said, is ready to join any non-aggression pact in the realization that the high-minded proposal of the American President to inject the mighty United States as the guarantor of peace in Europe would mean great tranquillity for all who desire peace.

Detailing with figures the extent to which Germany is "scarred" under the Treaty of Versailles, and presenting statistics to show that other nations are bringing with armaments, the chancellor demanded that:

"What more concrete security can France want from Germany?" His government, he pledged, would proceed on no other path than that prescribed by the international treaties, but he asserted that Germany would under no circumstances sign any paper which contained her disqualification.

Would Withdraw

Should such efforts be unavailing, he warned that Germany would withdraw from international conferences and from the League of Nations.

No new European war could mend matters, the chancellor declared, but on the contrary, were it a result to force succeeded, the result would only be a greater disturbance of balance, and the great would be laid for more trouble, misery and distress.

Such a result would end, he predicted, in the complete collapse of the social order as it is known today. He declared that a European war in Communist chaos would mean a crisis of tremendous extent and duration.

Lead laughter greeted the chancellor's scathing references to ideas prevailing abroad about German sports clubs being the equivalent of military formations.

When the chancellor finished his speech, which lasted an hour, the whole house arose spontaneously and sang "Deutschland Ueber Alles."

Throughout all of the party, including the Socialists, voted for a unanimous agreement with the Hitler statements and re-echoed the nation's salute to arms equality.

CASTIGATES TREASON

Berlin, May 17.—(AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler castigated the Treaty of Versailles before a packed Reichstag today and demanded for the German people the right to live.

"Even more absurd was it to try to effect this destruction by methods which, according to the law of cause and effect, would sooner or later lead the victors into catastrophe."

TALL CEDARS GOING TO WASHINGTON, D. C.

Five to Represent Nutmeg Forest at National Convention—Leave Tonight.

Five members of Nutmeg Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, are leaving Manchester for Washington, D. C. this evening to attend the annual convention of the order being held there tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. The party includes Ward Dogan, Robert Boyce, Edell Buckland, William E. Anderson and Ray Warren. The trip will be made in Buckland's car and they plan to leave at seven o'clock this evening and drive straight through to Washington. It is possible that others will make the trip in order to be at the convention.

PODROVE TO CONDUCT SIDEWALK MARKET

Rearranging Windows in Order to Make It Possible to Have Out-of-Doors Stand.

Alterations now approaching completion at the Manchester Public Market, of which Abraham Podrove is proprietor, will greatly change the front of the store and practically convert it into an out-of-door business place during a large part of the year.

The front part of the establishment, extending clear to the sidewalk line, will be arranged like the open stalls of the great public markets in some of the big cities. Here will be sold most of the fresh fruits and vegetables sold by the establishment. Customers, to be served, will scarcely have to step off the street. The open stand area will have marble fittings, drains, etc.

In mild weather the whole market will thus be open for the free passage of the outdoor air. Protection against inclement weather, however, will be provided by movable plate glass windows which can be set in place or slid out of the way at will. These windows, of course, will enclose the market at night and whenever the place is not open for business.

The alterations are being made by Contractor David Chambers. It is expected they will be completed and in operation before the end of the week.

OLD SCHOOL LANDMARK SHOP TO OPEN MAY 25

Women's Group Has Converted Oakland Building Into Education Center of Different Kind.

Simple Simon's Sandwich Shop is the name given by a group of local women to the former Oakland schoolhouse, which will be open to the public Tuesday, May 25, with a bridge in the afternoon and bridge and whist in the evening. The school committee will be guests of the hostesses at an afternoon tea the day previous, and will be shown the transformation that has taken place in the building, with the aid of partitions and fresh paint and paper, and Mother Goose decorations; the new General Electric refrigerator and other equipment for the serving of sandwiches, salads, soups, chowders, and the usual variety of light lunches, all at moderate prices. The women will also cater for private parties.

The hostesses, Mrs. Jessie Street, Mrs. Thomas D. Smith, Mrs. Cyrus G. Tyler, Mrs. C. I. Balch, Mrs. John J. Flavel and Mrs. LeVerne Holmes will serve one day in the week at the shop and will be assisted by one other woman and a young girl to act as a waitress. Each hostess will be responsible during her particular day and evening, from 10 a. m. to the morning.

The former one-room school, the only one of its kind in town, was discontinued when Manchester consolidated its schools, and the school board readily consented to rent the building for the purpose. It stands on a highway, traffic over which has multiplied many times since the little school was built. The committee of hostesses will see that the grounds are cleared and made usable for picnic parties. Chickens, fruits and vegetables needed for the shop will be purchased fresh from nearby farms, but will not be sold on the premises, no roadside market is contemplated.

Simple Simon's Sandwich Shop should fill the gap between the filling station refreshment stand and the exclusive tea room. The little band of women who are giving so generously of their time see no reason why it should not succeed, certainly through the summer months. They are making the venture and feel confident the shop will be more than self-supporting.

TRADE COURSES FOR H. S. STUDENTS

Summer Classes to Be Organized by Director John Echnahan.

Summer courses of six to eight weeks duration will be offered to all high school students and graduates of eighth grade in grammar school at Manchester State Trade School for the third successive year, it was announced today by Director J. G. Echnahan. The next term of summer courses will probably be held from June 19 to August 11, inclusive, although these dates are tentative, pending definite information on the closing of public schools in this vicinity.

The benefits of the short term in the summer as adopted by the local school three years ago are numerous. Not the least of these is the fact that the courses afford young men an excellent opportunity to discover their fitness for the trade in which they are interested. Intensive short unit courses are prepared to give students experience in architectural drawing, mechanical drawing, silk textiles, general textiles, machine shop, tool making, carpentry and electricity.

Regular students are given three opportunities to follow. They may continue in school during the summer period and thereby graduate sooner. They may take a vacation from school and return in the latter part of the summer. Finally, they may obtain work during the summer and gain actual experience in their chosen trade.

All courses are free and are designed to meet specific needs, yet are broad enough to provide a foundation or future development along any line the individual may follow. Certificates will be granted at the close of the short summer term.

The course has been extremely popular and successful during the past two years and many who were enrolled last year and the year before have already applied for enrollment under the summer enrollment plan. It is made at any time by calling in person at the Trade School or telephoning Manchester 4688.

CONFIDENT BONDS WILL BE SOLD SOON

Think Par Will Be Secured for Them—Note Renewal Deferred.

While Manchester's $300,000 bond issue remains unsold at noon today, and Governor Cross has "let" as yet set his name to the amendment to the bill providing for the sale of the issue, town officials are optimistic today that the sale will be made soon at an interest rate within the limit set by the General Assembly.

The chain of obstacles which have been thrown in the way, regarding the disposal of the bond issue has caused the payment of $475,000 of notes to be deferred temporarily. Assurance has been given the Board of Selectmen that the matter of deferred payment on the notes has been taken care of, contingent upon the disposal of the bond issue.

The original bill permitting the town to fund its indebtedness was passed by the General Assembly, only to face a disturbed and unfavorable bond market, at the outset of the inflationary period of tension in Washington.

No bids were received by the town during the last week of April, which necessitated an amendment to the original bill, permitting the town to dispose of the bonds at less than par. A compromise was granted by the General Assembly, permitting the town to dispose of the issue at an increase of one per cent or six per cent, instead of at less than par value, as asked by the Board of Selectmen.

As the matter stands at the present time, a vote of the town will be required approving the bill of the Selectmen if the bonds are marketed at an interest rate greater than five per cent, the amount stipulated in the original bill which was voted at the town meeting. If they are sold at five per cent, no vote of the town will be required.

WILLIMANTIC RIVER BRIDGE COLLAPSES

East End Falls as Anchor is Broken—Truck Crossing—News Hurt.

One half section of the 180 foot bridge over the Willimantic river at the town line on the Hartford-Willimantic road collapsed at 2 o'clock this morning just as a six ton truck of the Byroley Transportation Company, of 56 Monroe street, Waterbury, reached its center.

Savees Ben
Quick to realize the situation, Scholky, clambered out of the wreckage of his truck unhurt and lighted matches to warn an approaching Interstate bus loaded with passengers, stopping it at the approach to the bridge.

Early morning traffic which consisted of trucks enroute east and west from Willimantic, began to pile up at either end of the bridge and State Police and highway watchmen were posted to divert the traffic through Coventry to and from Willimantic.

How It Happened
The accident occurred when another truck, owned also by the Byroley Transportation Company, but traveling in the opposite direction, driven by Anthony Fors of 79 Flank Road, Waterbury, struck the end post of the bridge upon entering, releasing the "anchor" of the bridge, catapulting the approaching truck downward with the bridge span. The truck driven by Fors reached the west end of the bridge safely.

The east end of the bridge dropped from its moorings, the pull of the collapsing half of the bridge weakening the remaining section of the structure, dislodging the steel beams about a foot from the abutment. All traffic will be rerouted until the State Highway department has made a survey of the damage. Work was begun late this afternoon to jack up the fallen span to erect a temporary span across the river.

Traffic Jam
A large number of people were caught in the traffic jam at the east end of the bridge early this morning and were forced to wait over an hour before the cars on the east end of the line were turned about and returned to the town.

Scholky, driver of the truck which slid "roller coaster" fashion downward to the surface of the river, said that the falling half together with the broken struts dropped to the bottom of the river which at that point was 13 feet deep. A cargo of meats and printed matter in the truck was salvaged.

DEBATES FEATURE ASSEMBLY SESSION

House Approves Bill Creating State Council of Education—Other Bills.

Hartford, May 17.—(AP)—With just three weeks left before final adjournment, the Legislature pushed through a morass of debate today to set on several major pieces of proposed legislation.

After a two-hour debate, the House approved a bill creating a state council of education to replace the present State Board of Education and the board of trustees of the State college. The measure now goes to the Senate. The Senate concurred with the House in passing the bill establishing a state milk control board of three members but refused to concur in the adoption of a resolution appointing Walter R. King, Willimantic Republican, as sheriff of Windham county to succeed the Democratic incumbent, John J. McGarry.

The Senate turned down the King resolution by a strictly party vote of 18 to 17.

In the midst of the long House session, Representative John P. Kiely, Ansonia Democrat, made a plea for immediate action on relief legislation for municipalities "suffering under the burden of aiding the unemployed."

He charged House Republican leaders with delaying relief legislation.

More than a score of measures were passed by the two Houses during the long session.

In the interest of speed, the House voted to suspend the rules, so that all measures acted on might be immediately transmitted either to the Senate or the governing clerk. This procedure is expected to be followed by both Houses during the remaining days before the final adjournment, June 7.

that they constitute military trained units or army reserves.

The purpose of both the Nazi storm troops and the Steel Helmets, the Nazi chief declared, was to protect Germany from Communism.

"The danger of Communism other nations cannot measure."

"What concrete safeguard does France demand beyond the international obligations already assumed?" the chancellor asked. "What safeguards is Germany to have?"

"Germany is ready at any time to assume further obligations of international character," he said, "provided other nations also are ready."

"Germany would dissolve her entire military establishment and destroy what little armaments are left in neighboring countries," he declared.

"Lasting economic reconstruction is unthinkable, Hitler announced, without abolition of the disarmament.

DEMOCRATS REJECT KING NOMINATION

The office by Governor Wilbur L. Cross following the death of Sheriff Charles A. Gates for the unexpired term ending June 1, 1935.

Action on the resolution was taken after Senator Howard W. Alcorn, minority leader, moved for suspension of the rules. A roll call vote was taken and for by Senator Frank B. Bergin, majority leader.

Members who also remained at the bill creating a milk control board of three members to set a minimum price for milk and to foster cooperation between producers passed in concurrence after a motion amend the bill was attached to it. As passed by the House the measure would have required all stores selling milk or milk products to have licenses. As amended stores selling milk products, such as ice cream and condensed milk, are exempt from the licensing provision.

Does Back to House.
The bill must go back to the House as a result of the amendment.

Several Senators spoke in favor of the measure, most of them contending that immediate aid for dairy farmers was essential.

The milk board which must include two producers, will function for two years.

Two local issues, one pertaining to annual town meetings and one relating to the other dealing with voting districts in Torrington, were debated at some length during a busy session.

By a roll call vote of 19 to 16, the Senate concurred with the House in approving a measure providing for the division of Torrington into from three to five voting districts. Senator Caplan, New Haven Republican, joined with the 16 Democrats in supporting the bill.

Leads Fight.
Senator Pitagorah, Norwich Democrat, chairman of the cities and boroughs committee, led the fight for the Torrington measure as well as for the Griswold bill.

The Griswold bill, rejected by the House, provides that the annual town meeting shall be held in the First District at 8 p. m., instead of in the Second District at 2 p. m. The Senate by a viva voce vote rejected the committee's unfavorable report and ordered the measure tabled for the calendar and awaiting printing.

The Torrington measure was opposed by Senator Wadhams of that city. He contended it would increase city expenditures and that it conflicted with city charters.

Torrington with a population of more than 10,000, has only one voting district at present.

The Senate suspended the rules to issue no more than $500,000 in refunding bonds and validating appointment of board members in Newtown made after the period specified in the town charter.

A favorable report was received on a measure including West avenue, from Wall to North Main street, in Torrington in the trunk line system, and on a bank bill making minor changes in the statutes dealing with the supervision and regulation of security sales.

Several bills proposing reduction in the interest of small loans were rejected. Senator Wadhams, chairman of the bank committee, told the Senate the committee has retained one bill on the subject for further consideration.

Among the calendar measures approved was a Senate bill providing additional manholes during the month of less than 1500 feet, and a House measure providing that unviewed bread may be delivered to

OLD RUM RUNNER AGAIN CAPTURED

Speedboat Monalola With $25,000 Worth of Liquor Aboard is Seized off Coast.

New London, May 17.—(AP)—An old acquaintance returned to this city today bearing $25,000 worth of liquor of high alcoholic content.

It is the speedboat Monalola, once again in the custody of the government for engaging in trade other than that for which she is registered.

She led a Coast Guard speedboat in a chase last night when attempting to run in from Rum Row to a shore contact, but was finally captured because a heavy load of 400 sacks and 100 kegs of rye whiskey tumbled down her deck.

Crew Brought To Port
The seizure was made 12 1/2 miles west southwest of Gay Head on Martha's Vineyard. The Monalola and her cargo and crew of five were brought to this port where the vessel and liquor were surrendered to Customs authorities.

The men in the crew gave their names as follows: Philip McNamee, Master of Newport; Lewis McNamee, Master of Newport; Louis McNamee, Master of Newport; George Ray, of New Bedford, and George Walter, of New Bedford.

KIELY MAKES APPEAL FOR IDLE OF STATE

Hartford, May 17.—(AP)—Rep. John P. Kiely, Ansonia, Democrat, urged Republican leaders of the House today to take some action to relieve the unemployment situation "that we may face our people and say that we at least tried."

Kiely declared that plans for a special session had been discussed last fall to pass legislation to aid municipalities suffering under the burden of aiding the unemployed.

"That session was not held," he continued "and we have now been in session four and a half months without doing a single thing for unemployed relief. You Republican leaders are responsible."

"I beg you to do something so that we can go home and face our people, saying that at least we tried."

Kiely's remarks were made while the business on the calendar was being discussed and when Majority Leader Raymond H. Baldwin endeavored to shove, he was prevented by the clerk who continued to read the bill awaiting action.

Governor Cross has held two conferences with a view to legislative leaders to discuss the relief problem. A third conference is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon.

Velvet holds the lead as the most popular fabric for summer evening wraps. With the exception of a few wraps made of the same fabric as the dress, and an occasional handkerchief, broadcloth, crepe and tulle have a rival for this use. Many velvet coats and jackets are intended for day wear too. Fifth Avenue shops, fashion leaders of America, have already introduced new models. Many of these are, of course, made of finest Cheney velvets.

BOARD PUBLISHES REPORT ON AKRON

Error of Judgment on Part of Commander McCord a "Contributory Cause."

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—A Naval Board of Inquiry reported today that an "error in judgment" on the part of Commander Frank C. McCord "was a contributory cause" of the loss of the ship Akron.

The report, which was approved in substance by Secretary Swenson, did not condemn the commander who lost his life in the disaster last April along with 79 others.

The report said that the commander's "direct knowledge of the conditions" upon which the commander's judgment was based.

"Everything within the knowledge of Commander McCord at the time of the disaster was made known to the board," the report said, "and it is believed that the board's judgment was justifiable."

JUSTIFIED MURDER NEEDS OVERHAULING

Will Have to Be Speeded Up for Broadway—Lags in Attempt to Make Suspense.

"Justified Murder," a melodrama by Anthony Armstrong, now playing a pre-Broadway engagement at Parsons theater in Hartford, will have to be speeded up considerably before it reaches the tempo Broadway likes. Any success the play is enjoying in its Hartford run is due entirely to the work of the cast headed by John Buckler as John Derwent, the young murderer.

Mr. Buckler gave a fine performance notwithstanding the fact that he was working with a technical fault that he resolved in a half-hour night just before the performance started. Nancy Sheridan, the only feminine player, gave a very pleasing performance as Betty Findor, the young English girl about to be led to a life "worse than death" by Philip Revere, played by Edward Raquello. The play is certainly packed with mystery. In fact the audience will have to be very careful or the plot will be lost to them in about the middle of the second act when Derwent begins to fix his alibi by changing the time of the clock in an effort to be two places at one time.

A play of this type must have suspense and Mr. Armstrong certainly put plenty of it in "Justified Murder," so much of it that at times the story is almost at a standstill. The cast includes: Edward Raquello, Philip Findor, Nancy Sheridan, John Buckler, Colin Derwent, John Buckler, Bill Miles Standing, Frank Kingston, Inspector Fambler, Montagu Lovy, Sergeant Brabo, A. P. Egan.

Men, women and children still use daily to walk over the large signs of many manholes.

HIGH COURT HANDS DOWN 10 RULINGS

Error Found in Only One Case—Receipt of the Decisions Made.

Hartford, May 17.—(AP)—Ten decisions were handed down by the Supreme Court of Errors today, among which error was found and new trial ordered in a single case.

The decisions follow:
Eva Rosenberg vs. John J. Matulis, et al, no error.
David Polak, et al, vs. Sarah Kramer, no error.
Marie D. Shinnville vs. Laura S. Hanscom, no error.
George J. Bassett, bank commissioner vs. Mechanics Bank, New Haven, no error.
George Miles vs. Lawrence Sherman, error found. New trial ordered.

State of Connecticut vs. Elias La Douha, no error.
Mae K. Lunny vs. Joseph Peppé, no error.

John Norbutas vs. John W. Bender, no error.
Mary Mackey vs. Paul Dobreucki, no error.

The receipt of the decisions follows:
Eva Rosenberg vs. John J. Matulis, et al, action to recover damages for personal injuries through negligence of defendants, tried by Judge John Rufus Booth at Hartford, with judgment for plaintiff, no error, opinion by Chief Justice Malbie.

David Polak et al, vs. Sarah Kramer, action to recover commission alleged to have been earned as plaintiffs for architect's services, tried before Judge Pickett at New Haven with judgment for plaintiff, no error, opinion by Chief Justice Malbie.

The opinion said the defendant had repudiated the contract and the plaintiffs were entitled to recover.

Eva Shaugnessy vs. Howard Morrison, action to recover damages caused by negligent operation of an auto, tried by Judge John Rufus Booth at New Haven, with judgment for plaintiff, no error; opinion by Justice Avery.

Marie D. Shinnville vs. Laura S. Hanscom, action to recover damages for personal injuries due to "heedless and reckless disregard of the rights of the plaintiff by the defendant," tried by Judge Baldwin at New Haven, with judgment for defendant, no error; opinion by Chief Justice Malbie.

George J. Bassett, state bank commissioner vs. the Mechanics Bank of New Haven, appeal of certain creditors of the bank from an order of Judge Foster granting allowances and assistance in the receivership, no error; opinion by the court. Objections had been raised to allowances but no statement of these was offered to the Supreme Court which said in the opinion it would not except in unusual cases, consider any questions not distinctly raised at the trial.

New Trial Ordered.
George Miles vs. Lawrence Sherman, action to recover damages caused by negligence of the defendant in operation of an automobile, tried before Judge Dickenson with verdict for plaintiff, error and new trial ordered, opinion by Justice Avery. Plaintiff was struck while crossing the Boston Post Road in Milford. The defendant asked the trial court to instruct the jury that the plaintiff had not truthfully stated certain things and conditions and for this reason it would disregard any or all of the plaintiff's testimony. The trial court charged the jury it could pass on the credibility of the plaintiff. The opinion held the court did not specifically charge the jury that if it found the plaintiff falsely testified on one subject it was their province to disregard any or all of his testimony.

Mary Mackey vs. Paul Dobreucki, suit to foreclose a mortgage loan to Judge Inglis in New London county with judgment for the defendant, no error; opinion by Justice Avery.

State of Connecticut vs. Elias La Douha, who appealed from a verdict of guilty of indecent assault, tried before Judge Ellis at New Haven, no error; opinion by Justice Hinman. The child in this case could not testify as a witness. Evidence was offered by others which the opinion said was ample to support a conclusion of the jury that an assault had been committed.

Mae K. Lunny vs. Joseph Peppé, action to recover damages for injuries received by reason of a defective ramp in defendant's store tried to Judge Finn at Waterbury, with judgment for plaintiff, no error, opinion by Justice Avery. The court said the ramp was unsafe and the defendant negligent in failing to maintain a guard rail or other protection, and the plaintiff was free of contributory negligence.

John Norbutas vs. John W. Bender, administrator of estate of Joseph Jvanuskas, action on a promissory note, tried to Judge Finn at Waterbury with judgment for defendant; no error; opinion by the court.

The issue was whether a $100 check given to Jvanuskas before his death and cashed by plaintiff, discharged a note or was merely a payment on account. The court ruled the note was paid in full.

Mr. and Mrs. Grinton I. Will motored to New York Monday for a trip of a few days.

Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert, for the past three years regent of Colonel Henry Champion Chapter, D. A. R., has received word from G. P. Putnam's Sons, the New York publishing house, that she has won the award offered in connection with Miss Cornelia Fenfield's book, "After the Dawn Was Murdered." The contest which was state-wide, was on the subject of old mills of the state, the prize being an autographed copy of Miss Fenfield's book. Mrs. Gilbert's account was of Fortia, a mill, located near Hebron, Conn. in use since pre-Revolutionary war times, and still running, and supplying the people of this area with corn meal, wheat and other flour, up to about twenty years ago. The ancient mill and miller's house are still standing and in good condition. The mill fixtures are in pretty good shape and with slight repairs could be used again.

There will be a union Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening at 8 p. m., at the Hebron Green Congregational church. The Endeavor societies of Hebron, Gilead, Columbia and Andover are invited to attend. The speaker for the evening will be the Rev. Fred Bunker of New Haven, a state missionary. His theme will be "The Children of Many Lands." All interested are invited to be present. Mr. Bunker will preach at Lebanon Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Smith and children, also Miss Shirley Bessinger, witnessed the opera "Robin Hood" in a matinee performance at the Bushnell Memorial, Hartford, Saturday afternoon, given by a New York stock company.

A sawmill operated by a Mr. Lethrop of Rockville is saving on the former Hydeak place, now occupied by a Colman family.

The Hebron Cardinals won a victory over the Salem Bears in a baseball game played on the Kibba field Sunday afternoon, with a score of 6-2. Edward Hastings pitched.

Harry E. Viner, principal of the Natchaug school, Willimantic, formerly of the Hebron schools, has moved to a new house in Willimantic.

Mrs. Dolly Humphreys of Hartford spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Clarinda Brown, who is at her summer cottage for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kubla and daughter Betty of Blackford, were week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Moway.

Mrs. Lulu Lord, formerly of this place, has moved from her home in Manchester to Ellington and will make her home with her son Morgan and family.

ENGLAND GREET'S NEW AMBASSADOR

Robert W. Bingham Arrives to Take Up His Post—Receives Hearty Welcome

Plymouth, England, May 17.—(AP)—Robert W. Bingham, arriving today in England to take up his post as United States ambassador, said he agreed absolutely with every syllable of President Roosevelt's plan to the nations of the world.

The ambassador, his wife, and daughter arrived on the United States liner Washington. After being taken into a motor launch, they left on a leisurely motor trip to London, where they will arrive tomorrow.

"It is very hard for me to believe people can be insane enough to go into another war," Mr. Bingham declared.

Replying to the civic welcome, he stressed the necessity of co-operation and friendship between Great Britain and the United States.

"I cannot believe there is any sort of difficulty which cannot be solved when approached in an attitude of common-sense and good will."

Needs Co-operation
 "I hope as far as I can to contribute to the most important thing in the world today—restoration of the world to health, and protection of the world against the cruelties and obscenity of the World War, which I believe can be achieved by genuine understanding and genuine co-operation between Great Britain and ourselves."

The sound was the new liner anchored, but as the ambassador mounted the promenade deck, the mist rolled away and the sun shone brightly.

"This is wonderful. How good it is to be here again," he said.

Besides civic officials, Ray Atherton, counselor at the American Embassy, greeted the new ambassador, who expressed his thanks for "the very kindly, gracious and hospitable welcome."

CHILDHOOD DIET LIFELONG AGENT OF GOOD HEALTH

State Department Cites Experiments to Prove Need of All Essential Minerals in Foods of Growing Period.

Citing an experiment with two dogs in the matter of diet to prove the necessity of including elements vital to health, the State Department of Health in its weekly bulletin today declared that the equipment with which the adult faces the world depends upon the foundation for health laid in the earlier years and strengthened by daily reserves supplied in the diet during the entire period of growth.

In the experiment referred to, two dogs from the same litter were fed on food which was exactly the same with the exception that the diet of one had no source of vitamin A. As a result of this the dog on the latter diet failed to grow and remained stunted in size. As conclusive evidence that the result was entirely due to the missing factor, vitamin A, an adequate amount of vitamin A in the form of whole milk was then added to the diet before this dog had reached the adult age. Growth was immediately stimulated and at the adult age he had made up in length though not entirely in breadth of frame.

Importance of a diet containing the necessary elements was shown in this experiment, an importance which is more and more being recognized by parents and those in charge of groups of children. The building stones for growth and health are supplied in adequate amounts of milk, eggs, butter, green or yellow vegetables of all sorts and a small amount of meat or fish. Milk, butter, green vegetables and fruit make the best contribution to health since they are rich in vitamins which enable the body to make use of minerals and proteins as building stones.

Parents may give their children a distinct advantage in starting proper food habits early by (1) providing adequate amounts of these foods which meet all the needs of health and growth; (2) preparing these foods in such a way as to retain their mineral and vitamin content; (3) presenting them in attractive form; (4) well balanced menus at three regular meals a day; (5) establishing condenses in healthful foods by presenting them in the most acceptable form so that the full amounts will be consumed and individual likes or dislikes forgotten. The child who has grown up in a home where such a food plan prevails and sufficient amounts have been supplied daily will have acquired a basis for the right foods and will have no desire for excessive sweets or starchy foods between meals.

BETTER REMEDY FOUND FOR CLOTHES MOTHS

Efficient and Cheap Protection Against Pest; Harmless to Fabrics.

New Haven, Conn. — That ordinary para-dichloro-benzene is the most efficient material for getting rid of clothes moths has been demonstrated in experiments conducted at the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station. Likewise it is the cheapest. This material is a chemical compound that acts as a fungicide. It is sold under various trade names, but may be purchased in granular form in bulk at most drugstores for about 60 cents a pound. It is simple to use, and not poisonous in any way, and will not harm fabrics.

One series of studies conducted at the Station indicated that para-dichloro-benzene is more efficient than the naphthalene "moth balls," which have been a standard remedy of housewives for many years.

Woolens Might Be Clean
 According to the conclusions reached at the Station, one-fourth pound of para-dichloro-benzene will kill clothes moths in a chest or trunk of clean woolens, and protect the contents for three or four months. The substance may be scattered throughout, or enclosed in a loosely woven cloth bag.

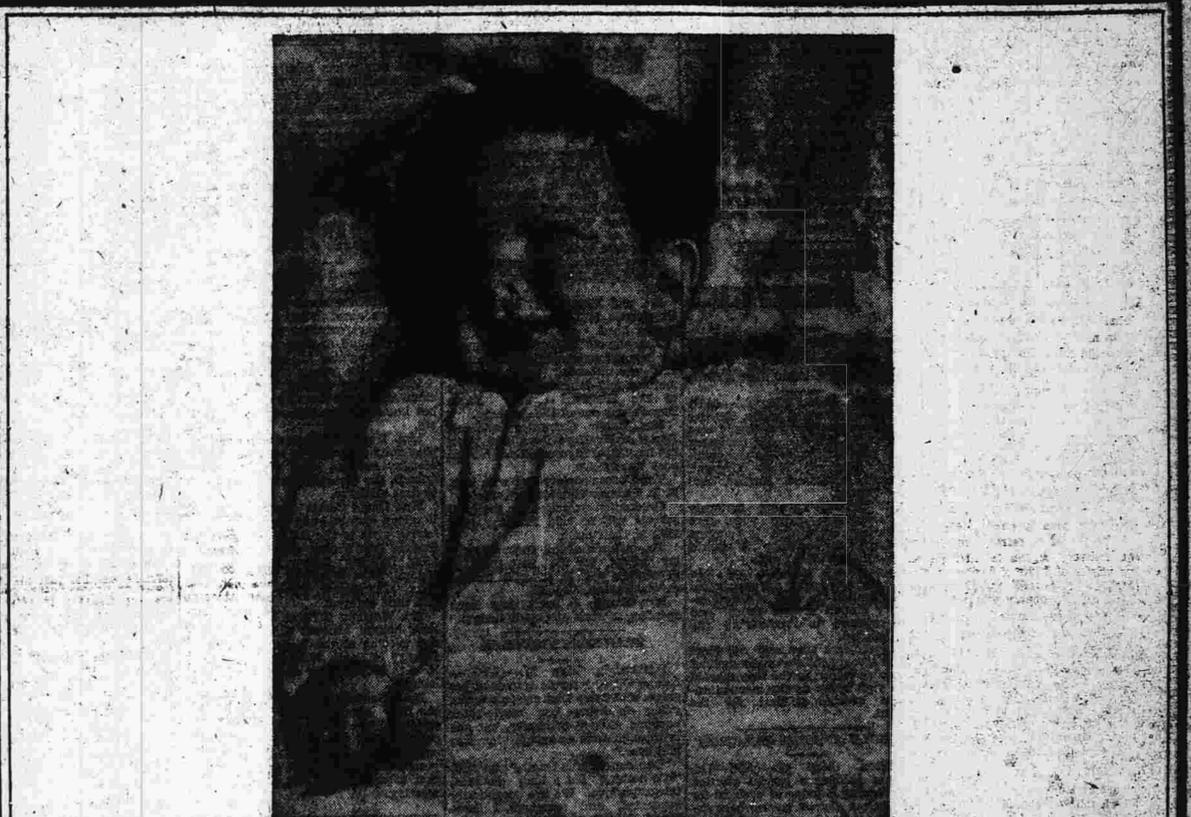

One-half pound of the chemical will fumigate a closed closet and protect the contents for a similar period. The Station found it was essential to sure success that the woolens be absolutely clean before being put away. Apparently there is a little danger that moths will damage clothes that have been cleaned.

Sunshine Helpful
 Experiments bear out that sunning and brushing two of the oldest protections against clothes moths, are also among the best. Sunshine will kill the larvae and a brush will do away with the eggs. A new cedar chest will kill young larvae, but later when the volatile oils of the wood are gone, this wood has no advantage over any other.

Flannels, jerseys, furs, and wool sweaters, are among the materials most frequently eaten by clothes moths and require the strictest care. Men's ordinary suits, tightly woven, or women's dress coats are seldom seriously damaged, unless dirty. Moths do not feed on silk or linen, but full grown larvae will cut these materials and use the pieces in spinning the cocoon.

Bored Woolens Dangerous
 Experience of entomologists at the Station has shown that the first step in clearing a house of clothes moths is to find it of woolen materials that have been stored for some time in bundles, trunks, or closets. Infestations are likely to be concealed in such accumulations. After that, closets can be fumigated by the following procedure: Cleaning the closet and contents; application of one-half pound of para-dichloro-benzene, stopping up the cracks, and leaving the closet tightly closed for three weeks.

A piano in which the felt is infested with moths can be fumigated by using one-half pound of para-dichloro-benzene in the bottom and closing the instrument tightly. The piano is protected by doing this twice a year. Moths in steam-heated furnaces are difficult to kill, and usually are a problem to be solved only by professional exterminators.

REPORT 30 KILLED IN CUBAN BATTLE

Rebels and Federal Forces in Fight—Field Artillery Sent to the Scene.

Havana, May 17.—(AP)—A despatch from Santa Clara today reported approximately 30 casualties in a battle in the outskirts of Sancti Spiritus, 210 miles southeast of here between rebel bands and Federal forces last night.

Field artillery men were sent from Santa Clara to the scene. Government circles last night confirmed a report that rebels operating in Santa Clara and Camaguey provinces are under the command of Major Arsenio Ortiz, military supervisor for a few months two years ago in the latter province.

During the major's term more than 40 unexplained political killings occurred. He was charged in civil courts with implication in at least five of them, but never was brought to trial. Two attempts have been made to kill him.

A heavy guard was thrown about the police headquarters at Marianao last night after reports it might be attacked by rebels. General Alberto Herrera, army chief of staff, reported that the rebel band recently active in Santa Clara consisted of only five or six men, all with criminal records. The leaders name was given as Juan Fernandez.

MANY NOTABLES ATTEND FAMOUS STAR'S FUNERAL

Services Held for Ernest Torrence Just as His Last Movie Picture is Being Showed.

New York, May 17.—(AP)—Services were held in the quiet intimacy today for Ernest Torrence, whose last motion picture had opened just an hour earlier two miles downtown in the garish burly-burly of mid-town Broadway. The services began at 9:30 a. m., Eastern Standard Time in the Church of the Heavenly Rest an hour after the doors have swung open for the New York premier of Torrence's last movie in a motion picture house, at 49th street and Broadway.

Torrence, 55-year-old character actor known to millions of theatergoers, died early Monday morning after an operation. He had been in a hospital since April 12 and had been critically ill for several days. He was surrounded by his family when he died.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Henry Darlington. After cremation here the ashes were to be sent to California.

Torrence rose to movie fame before the days of the talkies with his portrayal of the role of the homicidal maniac in "Tolable David." Before coming to the screen he had won unusual honors first as a concert and operatic singer and then as a musical comedy actor.

His last role was in the picture "I Cover the Waterfront," which opened here today just prior to the funeral service.

STAMP COLLECTOR DIES

Glastonbury, May 17.—(AP)—Winford C. Phillips, 80, well known among stamp collectors as a dealer and writer, died at his home here yesterday. He was auction manager of the Hartford Stamp Club.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

East Hartford High school carried away first honors in the C. C. I. L. Glee Club contest held yesterday at Middletown. The singers from that school had the unusual distinction of winning first place in both the boys' and girls' contests. Manchester's entries received much praise for their excellent singing, especially the girls' club. It was unofficially reported that the Manchester clubs stood third in the judges rating. Copies of the judges score sheet will be received in a few days when the distributed scores will be made public.

Albert Pearson, director of the club, received many compliments. He did a remarkable job when it is taken into consideration that songs for the contest were not rehearsed until after the "Creation" was given in April.

Miss Mildred Sutherland also received praise for her accompaniment at the piano. The boys, besides singing the required number, "The Hunting Song," by Kuhn, sang "Kentucky Babe," by Gabel, while the girls sang "Passing By" by Purcell, their required number, and "The Great Awakening," by Kramer, as their chosen number.

After the contest there was an entertainment which included dialect reading, East Hartford; a quartet, M. riden; a soloist, West Hartford, and accordion player, Bristol. Three Middletown players introduced a Grand Opera burlesque, "Roméo and Juliet." Manchester's contribution to the program was Tony Orlight's excellent handling of the xylophone. Tony played several popular numbers, which very nearly brought the house down, and finished with a "Four hammer number."

Refreshments were served and dancing followed, the buses leaving in order that the clubs could get home by 6 o'clock.

500 BATTLE FLAMES IN MAINE VILLAGES

Helped by East Wind Towns Are Saved—Forest Fire Raging Along a Four Mile Front.

Tremont, Maine, May 17.—(AP)—After an all night battle, 500 fire fighters reinforced by a timely east wind, today had turned a menacing forest fire back from the communities of Tremont, West Tremont, Bernard, Southwest Harbor, and Bass Harbor.

Although still burning furiously on a front four miles wide, fire fighters were working to confine the blaze with the hope it would eventually burn itself out.

Flames swept into Bernard last night, destroyed the town, and house, ignited the roof of the Community church several times and then reversed its direction as the wind shifted.

Householders who kept an alert watch throughout the night against a possible return of the fire, relaxed their vigil today as the menace appeared averted, at least for the present.

TO HOLD SPECIAL ELECTION

Shelton, May 17.—(AP)—The date of holding a special election for choosing a judge of probate for the Shelton district having been decided on it had been suggested that the day of the election on the question of ratification of the 21st Amendment be used. City officials have been informed by Attorney-General Burrows that a separate set of voting machines would be required, or a separate set of ballot boxes.

Burrows saw no objection to the elections being on the same date but, of necessity, because of the issues, they would have to be separate ones.

LEE WILSON DODD, EDUCATOR, IS DEAD

Was to Have Taken Charge of Yale's Famous Playwriting Course in Fall—Heart Disease the Cause.

New York, May 17.—(AP)—Lee Wilson Dodd, who was to have taken charge of Yale's famous playwriting course in the fall, is dead. The 53-year-old author, playwright and educator, died suddenly late yesterday afternoon while visiting the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Yeastman Griffith. Death was due to heart disease.

A sister, Mrs. Henry Noble MacCracken, wife of the president of Vassar college, arrived last night to take charge of the body.

Dodd, a native of Franklin, Pa., lived at New Haven. He recently was appointed associate professor at Yale, and was to have taken over the drama course of Prof. George Pierce Baker on the latter's retirement next fall.

Giving up in 1907 a position as chief counsel for the Standard Oil Company, Dodd turned to literature, writing plays, novels, poems, essays and short stories. His most successful play was "The Changelings", a comedy.

He lectured at Smith and Sarah Lawrence colleges and was a member of the staff of the writers conference at Middlebury college.

Mrs. Ralph Carpenter and son Byron of Hartford have been visiting her father Byron S. Lord for the past two weeks.

The Dorcas society met with Mrs. E. T. Thiens Thursday afternoon. Graduation exercises for the local schools will be held Monday, June 12th at the church.

The children of this town who enter school for the first time in September will be given a musical test in Heston, May 22.

Mrs. Sarah J. Pratt has been spending a week at Coplat Lodge.

STAR SEES DIVORCE

Pittsburgh, May 17.—(AP)—Lenore Ulric, dynamic actress of the stage, said today that not only is she going to divorce her movie-actor husband, Sidney Blackmer, but she is through with marriage "for ever and ever."

"Our marriage is tragic," she said. "It's nothing but a long distance, telegraph love. We are constantly separated, and marriage, I have found, doesn't mix with our professions."

Miss Ulric, appearing locally, says the divorce soon will be heard in court. She and Blackmer were married in 1928.

MAINE FOREST FIRES

Augusta, Me., May 17.—(AP)—More than two thousand acres of forest land were burning in 11 separate fires reported to the state forestry department today. The largest fires were at Tremont and Houlton. Unless there is a heavy rain soon the fire hazard will become "very serious", Forest Commissioner Neil L. Violette said today.

Reports of conditions in the woods from fire wardens are "very discouraging," he said. The other fires reported were at Bowdoinham, Boothbay, Salem, Lowlotown, Millinocket, Indian Number 2 and Township 14 range six in Arrostook county, and Cherryfield.

Tomorrow America will pay honor to its World War dead. Millions of Americans in every part of the country will be bright red poppies to show that they still remember and are grateful for the services of those men who gave their lives in defense of the country fifteen years ago.

Preparations for Poppy Day were completed today by the local auxiliary which has a large corps of volunteer workers ready to take to the streets early tomorrow morning with the memorial poppies.

The poppies which the Auxiliary will distribute tomorrow have been made by disabled World War veterans working under Auxiliary supervision. The employment of these veterans has helped them provide food and fuel for their families during the period when they could not possibly have found other employment.

The Auxiliary will distribute its poppies on a voluntary contribution basis. Poppies will be given in return for contributions of any size the individual is able to make.

TRUCK AND TROLLEY COLLIDE; 7 INJURED

Driver of Truck and Motorman Slightly Hurt Also— Driver is Arrested.

Beacon Falls, May 17.—(AP)—A truck of the Peapack-Produca Co. of Waterbury was in collision with a trolley car bound from Seymour to Naugatuck a short distance below the plant of the Beacon Falls Rubber Shoe Company this morning.

The trolley car carried about 45 passengers. It was understood seven persons were hurt. The trucks are close to the highway at the place of the collision. It was understood the truck hit the car through loss of control by the driver, James Trusky of 45 Railroad avenue, Waterbury.

The car motorman was John Holmes of Shelton. Both Trusky and Holmes were slightly hurt, the former with a gash on the arm and the latter by flying glass. Trusky was detained on a reckless driving charge. Truck and car were somewhat damaged.

WANT FREE HANDS AT SILVER PARLEY

State Department Asks Congress Not to "Tie Hands" of the Delegates.

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—Opposition of the State Department to any legislation which would "tie the hands" of American economic conference delegates on silver was transmitted to the House, foreign affairs committee today by Secretary Hull.

The committee was considering a resolution similar to that approved by the Senate which would suggest that the secretary of state instruct American delegates to work for an international 16-to-1 bimetallic agreement.

Representative Fish (R-N.Y.) said he had communicated with the State Department this morning and that the following statement was given to him for transmission to the committee: "The secretary of state would regret it exceedingly if the Congress passed any legislation on the matter which tied the hands of the delegates and made it more difficult for them to achieve the best possible result."

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) yesterday told the committee his resolution had been read by the President and that he felt there would be "no serious objections to the administration to such a measure."

Not "Tie Hands" Silver advocates said the proposed resolution simply would express it as the "sense of Congress" that the American delegates seek 16-to-1 bimetallic. Such legislation, they said, would not "tie the hands" of the American delegates for 16-to-1 failed.

Representative Luce (R-Mass) earlier had told the committee that an international agreement on 16-to-1 silver would "be in effect a creation of fiat money" since the white metal would be accepted as money simply because it "has the stamp of the government on its face."

"You gentlemen have all done some business at some time or another," Luce said. "When you go into a trade hampered by instructions you know how difficult it is to reach an agreement."

"If Congress can instruct the conference in this matter, it can instruct them as to tariffs, debts and everything else that is considered. Therefore, I beseech you not to tie the hands of the conference the President has seen fit to trust with the negotiations."

A film of 40 feet from the same issue sent out over the open air by the local club was shown by the local club.

W. B. A. STATE RALLY BIGGEST ON RECORD

Over 20 Reviews Attend Session Held Here Last Evening.

Officials and members of the Woman's Benefit Association announced that the state rally at Odd Fellows hall yesterday was one of the largest and most successful ever held in Connecticut. More than 20 reviews from as many cities and towns in the state were represented.

Mystic Review of this town was in charge of the floor work in the forenoon and Torrington in the afternoon when a class of 51 candidates was initiated by Mrs. Grace Best of Hartford, formerly of Manchester, state field director.

Exhibition Drills. Following the ceremony, about 4:30, the meeting was thrown open to the public for the exhibition drills. Mrs. Irene Walty, managing deputy of Torrington, conducted this part of the program. Two reviews from that place, John Brown and Torrington were in the contest. Both executed fine drills. In the case of the latter the women were gowned eight in green silk and eight in honed-eyed. All wore corsage bouquets of mixed flowers. They made an attractive appearance as they went through the intricacies of the drill.

John Brown Review's team was in peach-colored silk and the formations were somewhat similar. Helena Review of Hartford presented 16 young girls in nautical suits, and their work was heartily applauded all through a somewhat lengthy drill. They were followed by a team from Emily Morgan Review of Hartford, also young girls, who wore natty suits, red and white, with white satin caps and skirts. They went through the military drill in a way that approached students at West Point, but evidently the military judges thought the Mystic Review of this town did better for they awarded the prize of five dollars to the local review. The Manchester girls were in white poplin suits, made very plain, with no color whatever.

The judges were Captain Morrison and Lieutenant Smith of Williamstown. The New Britain review furnished the comedy of the contest, as pioneers the sixteen women were dressed in costumes with old-fashioned bonnets to match. Many of them wore pantalettes and as they paraded around the hall they got a big hand. In Hartford 250 women were served to a delicious turkey dinner at Center church parish hall by the Women's Federation, who also put on the most impressive. The tables were set with silver and glass and the women were served with turkey, cranberry sauce, and mince pie. Turkey with dressing and mashed potatoes, asparagus, ois d'oeil, cranberry jelly, celery, peas, rolls, coffee and ice cream composed the meal, and the church workers were complimented on its success. The head table was on the platform. Mrs. Best, her managing deputy; Mrs. Grace Lathrop, president of Mystic Review; Mrs. Lottie Jordan, a deputy from Maine, and members of the committee of arrangements were seated here. The music during the dinner hour was provided by Mrs. A. N. Merrifield's Federal orchestra, five of the players were from Williamstown and 12 from this town.

At the close of the dinner, Mrs. Helen Cowles, president, officer for the day presented to Mrs. Best, Mrs. Lathrop, Mrs. Walty, Mrs. Jordan and Mrs. Ruth Waddell, captain of the local winning drill team, handsome bouquets of roses. Mrs. Best in turn presented Mrs. Cowles with a bouquet in appreciation of her services.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the members and friends gathered in Odd Fellows hall for the entertainment in the shape of a musical soiree. The opening number was a group of readings by Miss Shirley Clemon, comedy dances by Dorothy Wirtala and Dorothy Goss. The girls appeared twice in costume in singing and dancing specialties and their work was greeted with hearty applause.

Entertainment. The review from Waterbury put on a comedy, purporting to be a woman's business meeting. This afforded opportunity for songs and instrumental music and various jokes and bits that amused the audience. An octet from the Bethoven Glee club under the direction of Helge Pearson sang in their usual finished style. One of the leading attractions of the evening was the playing of the Connecticut anthem, a musical staging and dancing ensemble composed of boys all under 15, the leader a little lad of about 9. The boys wore white trousers and blue coats and played for general deasting until shortly after 11 o'clock. Thereafter the program was that of the entertainment committee, Mrs. Grace Lathrop of the banquet arrangements and Mrs. Julia Rawson and Mrs. Thomas Smith, reception and publicity.

DARLING FOOL

by MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MONICA O'DARE helps to support her mother, younger brother and sister by working in a drug store in the small town of Belvedere. Her brother, MILD, plans to marry ANGIE GILLEN as soon as Angie divorces her husband. Monica is in love with DAN CARDIGAN whose wealthy parents do not approve of her. SANDRA LAWRENCE, pretending to be Monica's friend, tries to win Dan from her.

Sandra became angry with HENRY, a maid, and James, her father's chauffeur, and discharges them. A few days later she receives a telephone message saying her father is hurt. Sandra hurries to him only to find herself the victim of kidnapers. The kidnapers prove to be Henry and her cousin. James helps Sandra escape.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVI

Dan explained slowly, painfully. "It's like this, you see. She's had a shock. She isn't — not herself. She keeps calling for me. When she's well enough the doctor says it'll be all right for her to make this trip. And I — all the rest of them need to think I ought to go along. Just," he hastened to add, "to humor her. She's perfectly all right. It was just a bad shock."

"I see," Monica lifted her eyes, starting out at the fading garden. Dan rushed along. It was not like him to be so garrulous. These fellows, he said, had got away. Sandra was so dazed she couldn't even describe them. They had been foreigners, though. He had talked much English — not that she could understand, anyway. She had been plucky, hadn't she, to get away from them?

"Very brave," agreed Monica quietly. Sandra seemed definitely the heroine of the occasion. "Her father was on his way to put the money where they asked," Dan pursued. "He was just about wild, willing to do anything to get her back. But she wasn't having any of that!" Dan's eyes shone. You could see he admired Sandra's courage.

"Not that I want to go — for a minute or two," he said. "It just seems — well — the best thing. You see Mr. Lawrence holds that big loan of Dad's. This is confidential, of course. Dad wants to stand in with him right now. I don't think you'd want to go against him."

Again Monica agreed. The best thing — of course it was merely that, nothing more. No plot to get away from her — she wasn't wishing to imagine that, even for a minute. Such things were done only in old-time melodramas. Besides, weren't she and Dan pledged to each other? This was their first night — the most September, in January they would be married.

"I'll miss you terribly, every minute," Dan told her on parting. She stood, facing him, her arms outstretched with the pain of impending separation. Little bronzed tendrils curled about her pearl-face. "I'll be thinking of you, too, Dan," she told him soberly.

"Well, then —" He was awkwardly trying to tear himself away. "It's early but I've got all that packing to do. We make an early start on Wednesday. I won't be able to see you tomorrow night — at least, not if the heart's like lead."

"He put his arms about her. "You're wise, Monica, I've known that. My girl!"

"Don't, Dan. Someone might see."

"No one must know — no one — their plans for the future. Some jealous fate might intervene."

How big he was, how splendid. Monica thought watching him stride down the path. Why was it that, in spite of all his protestations, her heart felt her, went sick and faint when she thought of the impending separation? Nothing would happen. Sandra would find that Dan's heart was sealed against her. It was just a little while that they fell out. Dan had to go to Wyoming with the party.

Head and Shoulders In Style

Two notes from a new Spring song are this white hat and matching scarf, made of a new white spongy crepe. The tricky little hat has an intricately draped top, neat and ornamental, higher in the back than the front. The scarf has one end that slips through the other, holding the scarf in place, with a little touch of flowers right under the chin. It is particularly effective with a black costume.

don't you toddle off and get some rest?"

"Believe I will."

Kay gazed sternly at the doorway through which she had just passed. "Dan, Dan Cardigan, anyway!" she whispered explosively.

They heard the great news about Miss Anstee's Cory the following morning. Mrs. O'Dare, reading the Belvedere News, looked up with a little cry of excitement and pleasure.

"Girls, what do you think! Miss Anstee is an heiress! Judge Cory's sister in Boston has left her $50,000."

Monnie, heavy-eyed and pale, sipped her coffee, smiled. "How marvellous!" she would call, Monnie thought. "Perhaps he would find time to telephone her — surely he would. But each time the phone rang and she answered it to find the caller was emphatically not Dan, her heart grew heavier."

"Kay flew in at lunch hour, sparklingly pretty, lit by an inner excitement."

"Aren't you off early?" Monnie wanted to know. Usually the two girls at the library made tea or heated soup over a gas ring in the back room and ate their lunch there.

"Just ran over for a second," Kay crooned. "Something important to tell you. Are you leaving now for lunch?"

Monnie washed her hands at the little cracked basin behind the partition and brushed her hair back under the little blue hat.

"I don't know what you mean when she was told up," Monnie mused. "Oh, Kay, if you get it I can do for you!"

"No, you can't," said Kay coolly. "Why not?"

"Kay's eyes twinkled with mischief. 'You, go on, can't you guess?'"

"I don't know what you're talking about," Monnie said with impatience.

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famed Authority

BABY'S SUMMER DIET IMPORTANT TO HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

The best way to prevent summer complaint is to have mothers nurse their babies. If, however, this is impossible the baby must be artificially fed. Artificial feeding can be made perfectly safe if a formula is used suited to the baby, containing the proper proportions of milk and sugar and prepared under proper conditions.

The cow's milk must be pure. It should come from a reliable dairy. Dr. W. McKim Marriott points out that it is better to use the mixed milk from a herd of cows than the milk from a single cow.

It is necessary to sterilize all utensils, including pans, spoons, funnels and bottles, should be boiled and allowed to dry without being wiped. A clean ironed towel or cloth should then be placed on the table and the utensils placed on this. The bottles when filled should be covered with rubber caps or stoppered with clean cotton and should be kept in a refrigerator until ready for use.

In his article in Hygiene, Dr. Marriott mentioned specifically the usefulness of canned evaporated milk and of powdered dried milk in preparing formulas for babies. Evaporated milk is free from harmful germs because it has been heated in the process of evaporation. It is only necessary to boil the water in which the evaporated milk is added.

However, when the baby's feeding is being prepared the evaporated milk should not be taken from a can which has been opened and allowed to stand. A fresh can should be opened for preparing each new supply of food for the baby. It is important that all water be boiled, cooled and kept in clean receptacles.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Our bodies are the food we eat, the water we drink, and the air we breathe. Little else enters into our chemistry except perhaps sunlight.

Therefore, we have in us only those things we eat. No magic can put calcium, iron, manganese, protein or albumen into our tissues and bones. We must take them through our mouths.

Believed Diet Base The Public Health Nursing Association after a survey of home diets tells us that in spite of all that has been done to educate people about necessary foods, the majority of diets are still "greatly deficient."

The average diet is low in minerals and too high in fat and condiments and sugars, is the report. "Fats, condiments and sweets!" I find this report fits in with other surveys of home-buying. Generally children need fats and sugars, not as for the condiments that make eating more pleasant, pure relish preparations will not hurt children after they are old enough to eat exciting foods. But they were never intended to take the place of other foods.

Let us use sense. What too strong foods or too rich foods take away the appetite for plain foods the mother of the family must do some thinking.

Families living on welfare money must of course, budget. But I think we will find that many families who are eating all wrong now were eating all wrong when they were able to set more dainty tables.

Have a Simple Way It isn't necessary to go into all the ways and whereabouts, but vegetables that grow above the ground must be eaten to stabilize health and develop bodies. The other vegetables are needed, too, but it is in the above-ground ones that are neglected. They are very cheap.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

SPRINKLE THE SILVER IN YOUR HAIR

Your hair demands more attention in the summer than at any other time of year.

Remember that unless your hair has the right amount of oil it is going to look dry and unshiny long before fall comes again. But too much oil is as bad as too little.

There are various shampoos, tonics and lotions which correct oily conditions. So does a good old-fashioned massage at night, and morning with the finger tips. Avoid too frequent shampooing if your hair has a tendency toward oiliness. Every ten days should be often enough to wash it. If it gets unhealthily oily between washings try one of the dry shampoos.

Rubbing your hair vigorously with a rough bath towel each night after you have massaged the scalp, and far toward removing excess oil. This is a treatment which requires nothing after-morning work. You can't do it just once or twice and hope to get good results.

City hair takes a permanent beauty but when it comes to retaining the wave and staying set, the reverse is true. So why not begin at once to get rid of the oil?

If you haven't already learned to manage your scalp properly here's the right way. Place your elbows on a table with your head in your hands. Now move your scalp and not your fingers. Keep it up for ten minutes each night and see the improvement in a few weeks.

The first hot days should send you scurrying into a department or drug store to stock up on the summer toilet articles that will make life easier.

You'll need a fresh supply of deodorants, perhaps. Look at the new little gadget, like a lipstick, that you use under your arms for perspiration. Look at the creams for the same purpose. And don't forget that there are several kinds of liquid deodorants that must be used according to directions and prove a grand boon when so done.

Bath powder is by now a necessity. But these are some new body powders that have a deodorant quality to them. They should be on your shelf this summer. Also powder for your face!

Cold showers mornings, after a hot bath, do a lot to down perspiration. Cologne is a grand last touch under the arms. More effective than powder, really, and much cooler in summer. Also, give your hands a dash of nice lavender water or cologne and rub them together a little bit and see if you don't feel like going out to greet the world.

MANHATTAN

There is a small town in New York called Manhattan. It is a very interesting town and its people are very interesting.

One of the most unusual families I have come across in New York is that of the Bredons. They live in a small town in the heart of Manhattan.

The father of course is proprietor and his name is Bredon. He has a wife and a handsome young daughter and a little wife-hated dog that stays in the place, which they care for with wholehearted concern.

The tough element that congregates there evidently has been taught to respect the women. Order is maintained more rigidly than in some of the Broadway places, where nice people are said to go.

One night on an extraordinary tour I branched out from Hell's Kitchen and dropped in the place. I was much impressed, watching the daughter as she walked on a street with a young man, who might easily have been mistaken for gangster. It was the first time I had seen her, and I ventured to ask one of the sleek young men who she was and how it happened to be there.

"That's my sister," he said.

A New Note A bit later I had occasion to think it fortunate that I had remembered the young man's identity with this unusual family.

A couple of water-front roughnecks got the idea they had been ordered by the sleek young man. It happened to overtake them on a street near the water-front. This pair had "grats."

Richard, I believe it was, said the pen is mightier than the sword. On this occasion the word proved mightier than the "grats" because it dissuaded the ruffled hoodlums from effecting their plan to avenge their slighting.

What, No Newspaper? There is a place on Tenth avenue, in the early Forties, where I thought I might pick up an item for your edification.

"Who are you?" was the greeting at the door. I produced my card, but no matter how eloquently I talked, there was insistence that I reveal my business. Finally I said, "Well, I'm a newspaperman."

"We don't read newspapers," was the reply, and then the door slammed shut.

Architects

Architecture has gone into women's clothes, as evidenced in this charming new print in rich brown and rose tones, designed by Walter Dorwin Teague who was inspired by the enticements of some of the buildings now being built for the Century of Progress Exposition.

This dress is particularly lovely and wearable, being a one-piece model, with daring three-quarter cape sleeves, an old-fashioned yoke and a cute drape made of brown corduroy that droops over one shoulder and ties in a bow. It is removable for laundering.

A BOOK A DAY

BY RICHARD CATTON SEES INDIAN BUILT IN SOUTH AMERICA

Andre Siegfried Predicts Big Changes in Next Century.

BY RICHARD CATTON The future of a great part of South America belongs to the Indians. The dominance of the white race is set to give way to a new epoch in this continent. Brazil and perhaps Chile.

So says Andre Siegfried in "Impressions of South America," a collection of notes made on a recent tour of the continent. His books are brief, and here and there they sound a bit like the letters our readers send home from his far abroad, but in the main they are penetrating and thought-provoking, and they are always readable.

South American nations generally, says M. Siegfried, are in a peculiar economic situation. Wealth is drained out through foreign ownership of natural resources and through the sale of raw materials. In most countries there is no middle class; the cleavage between rich and poor is drastic and the social situation is bound to lead to trouble.

Further more, this line of thought is also the line of thought between the white man and the red. The white and the red are bound to clash in the future. The white man's civilization is bound to lead to trouble.

Rallies in 9th to Edge Springfield Trade, 6-5

Local Mechanics Score Four Runs in Last Frame on Two Triples to Gain First Victory in Six Starts; To Play High School Monday.

After losing five games in a row, Manchester Trade School's baseball team fulfilled its pre-season promise at Mount Nebo field yesterday afternoon by downing Springfield Trade, 6 to 5, a team that previously defeated the local Mechanics, 12-4. Trailing by three runs as they entered the final half of the ninth, the Manchester team staged a rally that accounted for four runs and a victory.

WEST SIDES LOSE TO HIGHLAND PARK

Bow by 7-3 Score as Winners Stage Sluggest in First Two Innings.

The Highland Park baseball team trounced the West Sides, 7-3, at the Highland Park field last night. B. Douglas started for the winners, getting four out of four and stealing home. Highland Park will play the Irish nine Thursday at Highland Park at 6 o'clock.

Play Better Ball

The Mechanics played a much better brand of baseball than they have exhibited in their five previous games, both at bat and in the field. Save for a bad inning in the fourth they would have won by a larger score. In that frame Springfield scored four unearned runs on errors, after two men had been retired.

Kelsh dropped a fly ball in right field to send scores two runs and Kovich lost another chance to stop the rally when he lost a perfect peg from Oriowald to catch the runner at third. Springfield tallied another run in the fifth and Manchester scored twice in that inning.

Farwell in Fife Fern Farwell was on the mound for the locals and pitched steady ball, keeping the hits well scattered. His pitching improved as the game progressed and he fanned nine batters, walking two and allowed eight hits. Oriowald got nine strikeouts, walked three men and was reached for eleven hits. He was replaced by Giovannelli late in the ninth and the latter was touched for two hits.

Dobson contributed three hits in four trips to the plate for Manchester, while Oriowald and Raguskus got two hits and two runs apiece. Siciliano featured at bat for Springfield, getting two out of four. Raguskus handled first base exceptionally well, pulling down many wild pitches.
