

BONDS OR NEW TAX IS CHOICE FACING TOWN

Town Meeting Turns Down Funding Plan 6 1-2 Mill Extra Levy Will Have to Be Laid.

The detour planned around the increasing tax rate for the town of Manchester, initiated and planned by the Board of Selectmen, is likely to come to naught if the reported organized opposition to the issuance of the $800,000 bond issue results in the defeat of the plan at tomorrow night's special town meeting to vote on the proposal.

For the past month the Board of Selectmen and the Town Treasurer, George H. Waddell, have bent every effort to solve the financial tangle in which the town found itself at the March town meeting. The town voted to float a bond issue to fund the extra indebtedness incurred through the excess expenditures in the charity department, unemployment relief and failure to receive the total of the taxes due from last year.

Bids were called for just at a time of the greatest financial instability and no bids being received on the approved bond issue an amendment to the original bill was granted by the General Assembly, empowering the town to offer an extra one per cent of interest on the bill on which the voters will act at tomorrow night's meeting.

At the March town meeting, adjourned from October, the town appropriated $70,000 in addition to the amount already appropriated and spent for charity expense. This estimated expenditure further added to the budget, making a total of $1,225,894.22.

Peiping, China, May 24.—(AP)—Advices from a Japanese source at Tientsin, 13 miles east of Peiping, today there was renewed fighting last night on the eastern outskirts of the town despite reports of a Chinese-Japanese truce in the North China war zone.

Five Chinese were killed, said the missionaries who have struck to their posts after evacuating from Tientsin between 70 and 80 American children attending school there.

Chinese reinforcements were said to be arriving with further hostile intentions. The Japanese mission compound was surrounded with ten thousand Chinese troops.

When "Emperor of Finance" Came To Grips With Senatorial Inquiritors

Bowing to the sovereignty of the United States government, J. P. Morgan, head of the world's greatest private banking house, is shown (right) as he was greeted by his Senate inquiritors at the opening of their investigation into his world-wide banking operations. Shaking hands with Morgan is Senator Duncan C. Fletcher (center), chairman of the Senate Banking Committee. At the left is Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, who is directing the investigation.

MUNICIPAL BONDS ARE ON PROBATION

Bankers Told That They Are Not Popular Just Now as a Form of Investment.

Swampscott, Mass., May 24.—(AP)—Carl M. Spencer, president of the Home Savings Bank of Boston, today told bankers attending the 12th annual conference of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, "a period of probation has opened for the municipal bond."

At the same session, David Wood, a New York attorney and a specialist in municipal affairs, spoke on "The Great Barrier of Dept. being placed on many cities by weaker relief."

Spencer, in a speech prepared for delivery at this afternoon's session of the conference, said: "A period of probation has opened for the municipal bond before it returns to its former favor as a savings bank investment."

Because of events of the last year savings banks have been forced to revise their judgment of municipal securities to some extent. A few years ago the average bondholder would have said that municipal bonds stood next to government bonds.

Contrast this outlook with conditions of the last six months, when many cities have found it hard to trouble of nearly municipalities.

"There is one item of expense (welfare relief) which most municipalities must now contend with which must be regarded as abnormal expense."

SWEEP OF NAZI REVOLT IS CALLED IRRESISTIBLE

Leader After Leader and Faction After Faction Swallow Pride to Surrender to Hitler's Leadership.

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER (Copyright, 1933, by AP) Berlin, May 24.—Within the past week the former Brunswick Nationalist premier, Werner Kuechel, and also the Berlin state commissioner for public works, Oscar Hartwig, hitherto one of the close collaborators of the Nationalist leader, Alfred Eucken, have joined the Nazis.

What happened to these prominent men is typical of what is happening in hundreds of thousands of cases. The sweep of the Nazi revolution is irresistible.

Even the members of the Stahlhelm (Steel-Helmet War Veterans Association) have swallowed their pride in their independent existence and have surrendered to Hitler's leadership.

Anybody who thought that January 30 merely brought a change in government has been disillusioned.

According to propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels, speaking a few days ago at Leipzig:

"Our revolution is not child's play. It is a serious and stern affair. If anybody believes it is ended, he is much mistaken. What is happening is not merely the reform of German politics. It is a revolutionary renovation of the entire public life of Germany."

ELECTRIC COMPANY PASSES DIVIDEND

Manchester Concern States Taxes, League Attack Have Reduced Earnings.

The directors of the Manchester Electric Company, at yesterday's meeting voted to pass the dividend on its common stock of the Company.

President Ferguson gave out the following statement:

"The earnings of the Company are so reduced this year and the amount of money borrowed has so increased that the directors felt that it was a wise precaution to omit for the present the usual dividend and conserve the cash reserve."

"This year's earnings are low not only on account of reduced industrial, commercial and street lighting business, but also on account of the material increase in expenses caused by an unduly increased tax assessment, the cost of the rate case brought by the Taxpayers' Association and the companies direct and indirect contributions to alleviate the unemployment situation."

ORDINARY BANK RULES NOT LIKED BY MORGAN

Senate Makes Public Loans Of Morgan Co.

Washington, May 24.—(AP)—There follows the list of Morgan Company loans made public today while J. P. Morgan was testifying in the Senate investigation, with the identifications given by Morgan and the date of payment given, where made.

Dumaine, F. C., First National of Boston, Artemus L. Harvey, U. Gibson, Mortimer N. Buckner, Joint account, New York Trust.

Head of Famous Bank Objects to Having His Private Firm Under Regulations Applied to Other Institutions; Hearing Again Largely Attended as Senate Body Probes Into Details of Banking System.

Washington, May 24.—(AP)—Senate investigators again dug deeply into the Morgan banking secrets today, developing objections from J. P. Morgan to having his private firm under regulation applied to commercial banks, obtaining names of bank officials to which Morgan money has been loaned and finding out where more of that money was deposited.

Again a sensation-seeking jam of spectators had its fill of what it sought, when Morgan identified recipients of loans from his firm to include his counsel—John W. Davis, former Presidential nominee; Ambassador Norman H. Davis, now representing the Federal abroad; former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, and others whose names are alike well known.

The list was placed in the record at the demand of Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, who said it might aid in conducting the truth charges of Morgan power and influence over banking and industrial concerns.

Amounts Not Given Amounts of the loans were not given. Some, including the one to John W. Davis, have been paid.

George Whitney, talk-broader Morgan partner, disclosed details of one of the loans, an advance of about $100,000 to Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City bank.

Whitney to Mitchell was said by the National City bank in maintaining the party of his bank stock with the stock of the Bank Exchange bank, with which a merger was contemplated.

First standing, and then sitting beside Morgan, Whitney said, the firm had $15,000 in reserves set aside against "under-collateralized" loans.

Another in crowd Washington, May 24.—(AP)—Reports that big names would figure in the testimony drew another capacity crowd today for J. P. Morgan's second appearance in the Senate investigation of his powerful banking house.

The thrill-seeking throng gathered early in view of the committee's decision to make public, possibly at once, a list of the people who were invited to share in Morgan security issues at lower than market prices.

The second day of the investigation also promised to disclose the names of bankers who were granted loans by the Morgan firm, some of whom have been allowed to fall behind in their settlements.

The big, marble-lined committee room was filled almost an hour before the hearing began, with half the spectators women.

The advance guard of the Morgan party arrived a full hour ahead of time with a trunk and suitcase full of documents.

Members of the committee and Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, sat close slow in assembly and their seats were vacant when the rest of the room was packed.

One of the first arrivals was Leonard Keyes, office manager of the International Morgan Bank, who testified yesterday that none of the 30 Morgan partners paid income tax in 1931 and 1932.

J. P. Morgan, accompanied by his counsel, John W. Davis, used a number of his banking partners to reach the committee room at 9:50 a. m.

MACDONALD IS TARGET OF ATTACK BY SNOWDEN

Colleague of British Premier Says He Exposes His Ignorance Every Time He Speaks; Raps Conference.

London, May 24.—(AP)—Viscount Snowden, who made a scathing attack on Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, his former National government Cabinet colleague, in the House of Commons today.

"It would be surprising if the government should look into the case of this prime minister not only in his own interests but in the interests of the country," Lord Snowden said, "for it is a positive danger to the country that its affairs should be in the hands of a man who, every time he speaks, exposes his ignorance or incapacity."

MacDonald's Colleague The viscount, for years a colleague of MacDonald in the Labor Party, declared the prime minister might better have saved time and expense than to have gone to Washington for President Roosevelt's economic discussions.

"There were no results," Lord Snowden said, "except a repetition of the platitudes which we have heard scores of times in connection with the forthcoming conference."

The speech was made in the course of a debate on British policy at the world economic conference opening June 12.

Piccard Brothers to Settle Dispute Over Cosmic Rays

Chicago, May 24.—(AP)—Scientists Arthur H. Compton of the University of Chicago and Robert A. Millikan of California Institute of Technology have been granted a change of venue in their famous dispute which involves the cosmic rays.

It was learned today the question which heretofore has been debated before the American Association of the Advancement of Science has now been referred to the ray itself.

When a balloon bears one of the Piccard Brothers on another flight into the atmosphere in July it may be able to get an idea of the cosmic rays which are striking the earth's surface.

Dr. Millikan believes cosmic rays are essentially ultraviolet rays of extraordinary high frequency and penetrating ability. He has concluded that the cosmic rays are deflected by the electric field of the earth, in which case, he says, they would be deflected toward the surface of the earth.

BRITAIN SUGGESTS SECURITY CLAUSES

Geneva, May 24.—(AP)—Inspired by President Roosevelt's warning that the United States is ready to oppose the spread of the power of a handful of nations, Great Britain today introduced at the annual conference of the League of Nations a resolution which would require non-member states to propose a conference in case of a breach or threat of a breach of the League's security.

These clauses stipulate that, in case of a breach or threat of a breach of the League's security, non-member states shall propose a conference.

DEFECTIVE BRAKES CAUSE OF CRASHES

Increase of 29 Per Cent in First Four Months of Year, Report Shows.

Hartford, May 24.—(AP)—For the first four months of this year deaths from automobile accidents in the country were approximately 7,800, the figures being based on reports received from a majority of the states by the Travelers Insurance Company.

It is pointed out that while the death figures show a drop of nearly 10 percent as compared with the same period last year, the drop in registration of cars is fully as great in many states. In spite of the registration figures are even more than last year.

Despite the decrease in number of cars in use, more defective vehicles have been involved in accidents this year than last, according to statistics gathered in compiling reports. The percentage of defective cars involved in accidents was about nine per cent.

Defective Brakes The gain in number of cars which had defective brakes, down lights and other defects, was 29 per cent.

THEATERS

AT THE STATE

Manchester movie patrons are in for a full week of positively sensational shows at the State Theater starting today when Robert Montgomery and Sally Eilers are co-starring in "Made on Broadway" continuing on Friday and Saturday when Lillian Lorraine and Edward G. Robinson appear in person on the State stage as an added attraction to the double feature program which includes Mary Pickford and the co-feature, "The Big Cage," with Clyde Beatty and Anita Page.

For Sunday the double feature program will be Edward G. Robinson in "The Little Giant" and "Forgotten" with William Collier, Jr. Next Wednesday and Thursday, the sensational "Bondage" comes to the State with children under 16 positively not permitted to the show.

One of the liveliest and most entertaining pictures of this season is "Made on Broadway," the farce drama with Robert Montgomery and Sally Eilers in leading roles. The sensational story of life "behind the scenes" in metropolitan politics provides Montgomery with a role that which he excels.

ROXY THEATRE

Music is predominant in the stage and screen program now at the Roxy Theatre, Seventh avenue and Fifth street, New York. The elaborate stage show is headed by the personal appearance of Donald Novis, celebrated radio star, who was recently featured in the film, "The Big Broadcast." Other acts in this Roxy variety show include Dave Scholer, Master of Ceremonies, and his band, the Five Elgins, unusual acrobats, Renova, dancers recently featured in Earl Carroll's "Vanities," and the Three Rio Brothers, comedians. The Gae Foster Girls will be seen in two new dance routines and in an unusual musical ballet.

BUYER FINDS TEXTILE PRICES FAST RISING

Jumps in Quotations Meet Hale Company Inquiries; Present Prices Not Repeatable.

Elton Johnson, buyer for the Hale Company, just returned from a buying trip to New York, reported today that buyers from all over the country are flooding the wholesale offices in New York, placing orders before the advances in prices of merchandise which are sure to follow the general upturn in business which has taken place in the past few weeks.

"Prices are advancing daily in New York," said Mr. Johnson, today, "and resident buying offices and wholesale manufacturers are looking towards the end of the depression. Everything points to higher prices within a very short time." He stated that prices on cotton fabrics, sheets and cases had jumped 20 per cent in the past week, and all indications point to another rise shortly.

In a letter which the J. W. Hale Company received from their New York office yesterday, new prices were issued ranging from 10 to 20 per cent above the prices of the past month. In view of this fact, the firm points out, the public should buy now while the present low prices are in effect, as prices such as the public has seen in the past year, possibly will never be heard of again in this generation.

The quoted advances in prices has affected the staple cotton items such as sheets, towels, cases, ticks and woollens, which were priced around fifty-eight and sixty cents per pound last spring, are now seventy-five cents. The blankets which Hale's are featuring in their annual 95 blanket club, jumped 20 per cent last week, so that when the present stock is exhausted, the Hale Company cannot offer the same blanket at the club price. In fact, the price of one blanket reported by their New York office has advanced four times in the past month.

Ten to fifteen per cent advances have been made in silks and silk garments. The Hale store was quick to realize the rising market and purchased a great stock for summer needs, one example being the silk underwear advertised in today's Herald. When the present stock is exhausted, they cannot obtain additional goods at this low price.

The Hale Company have had their buyers of both cotton wash dresses and apparel in New York this week, purchasing merchandise at the low prices in anticipation of sharp rises. At this time, Manchester shoppers may take full advantage of the present prices.

The speech is sometimes given on the fire-escape landing in the rear of high school hall, or weather permitting, in the Educational Square quadrangle.

Stuart Joslin, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Joslin of East Center street, has won many honors during his high school course. He has been a speaker on the debating team for the last two years, president of the Stock and Bulletin club, a member of the H-Y club, on the Student Council and a member of the swimming team. Initial Formal Appearance Will Be on Monday, June 5; Forty Pieces in Organization.

The High School Orchestra, under the direction of Harold A. Turkington, will present a concert on Monday evening, June 5, in High school hall—the first formal public recital in its history.

For a number of weeks the members of the orchestra have been diligently rehearsing for this event, and an unusually large group has been assembled for the musical. The orchestra will number over forty, and with the exception of a few assisting artists, will be composed of High school students.

The instrumentation will consist of twenty violins, two violas, two clarinets, three saxophones, two horns, one baritone, four trumpets, two trombones, drums and two pianos. Members of the orchestra will present the entire program, which will include, besides orchestra selections, string quartets, piano numbers, cornet solos and other specialties.

Besides the regular Monday morning school session rehearsals, the orchestra has held special rehearsals in the evenings and the program is shaping up in splendid style. It is expected that a large crowd will hear the orchestra's initial public concert.

PRIEST KEPT PRISONER

Philadelphia, May 24.—(AP)—An Augustinian priest who has been held "prisoner" for three weeks by parishioners protesting the transfer of Our Lady of Good Counsel church to the archdiocese of Philadelphia, made an unsuccessful effort to leave the church today.

Two of his four guards, appointed by the protest committee which is holding the church against diocesan authorities, escorted the Rev. Simeon Gatt "politely but firmly" back to his quarters, which he had left, carrying his belongings in a suitcase.

It was those belongings which led to his "capture" in the first place, for, after the transfer order had been issued three weeks ago, he left when parishioners started a demonstration, but returned later for his clothes and has been "detained" since.

ROCKVILLE

FIREWORKS IN ROCKVILLE ARE VOTED BY COUNCIL

May Be Sold 3 Days Under Restrictions—Tax Rate Goes Over for Two Weeks.

The first session of the Board of Common Council since the nervous breakdown of Mayor Albert E. Waite was held last evening with Alderman Roger J. Murphy, president pro tem of the council, as the presiding officer.

The matter of laying the tax rate, which was anticipated as being the major item for action last evening, was put off for two weeks.

In the meantime Acting Mayor Murphy has called a meeting upon instruction of the members of the council, of the chairman of the various committees with City Treasurer Parley B. Leonard and himself. It is doubtful if the city tax rate can be reduced this year.

The most important action to come before the Common Council last evening was a petition from residents of Center street, a recently developed thoroughfare asking the installation of a new fire hydrant which would make it possible for them to secure lower insurance rates.

The petition was referred to the fire committee for recommendations. It is signed by Robert Tennstedt, Clarence J. McCarthy, John J. McKenna, Emma A. Zuehlke, Harry P. Phillips, Harold W. Tillinghast, Patrick J. Johnston, A. Yanks, Frank T. Minor, Justice J. Lathrop, Charles W. Brendel, John R. Gortler.

Chief George B. Milne of the Rockville fire department who is also superintendent of the Public Works department said that a new travel road had just been built on Centre street and he thought the matter ought to be delayed for at least a year. Chief Milne stated there was a fire hydrant within 500 feet of the homes of the petitioners.

It was voted to permit the sale of fireworks in Rockville for the celebration of the Fourth of July with the understanding that no blank cartridges and no firecrackers over three inches in length would be sold. It was moved by Councilman Charles Underwood to permit the sale on July 1, 3 and 4 but not on Sunday, July 2.

The fire committee was authorized to make a contract for the painting of the West Main street fire station. Six bids were received and it was recommended to grant the contract to John Williams, who was the second lowest bidder.

Acting Mayor Murphy brought up the matter of setting the tax rate. He stated that there was only a slim possibility of cutting down the rate as had been requested by taxpayers. Alderman George Sheats, chairman of the finance committee, made the suggestion of a conference of the chairmen of the various committees with the executive officer and City Treasurer Parley B. Leonard so that they would be well versed with the recommendations to be made to the taxpayers and to agree on a tax rate. This was acceptable to the members of the council.

The following petitions were granted: Michael O'Connell permission to erect an electric sign, two by four feet, at 122 East Main street; Emma Carpenter of 40 Mountain street, permission to remodel front of home and to build an addition; R. E. Cushman, permission to erect a barn 14 by 24 feet at the rear of Grand street; Sigfried Lanz, permission to erect a veranda 9 by 18 feet at the rear of 26 Davis avenue; Ida Mueller, permission to demolish a store front at 15 Village street.

The question of asking the public to furnish better receptacles for the removal of garbage was brought up by Alderman Little, chairman of the health committee, who requested the press to bring the question to the attention of the public.

The council took adjournment shortly after 8:15 o'clock after the various committees held short sessions.

Many Rockville people attended the ceremony at Hartford. This is but one of many honors extended to Rev. George B. Brooks in recent months. A short time ago he was invited by his Alma Mater, (Bayer Theological Seminary in Maine) to deliver the address to the alumni on graduation day. He has accepted the invitation and the event will take place on Thursday, June 8th.

Recently he was asked by Andre Girode, ministre de l'instruction publique et des beaux arts, to contribute an illustrated sketch of the life of Anthony Benzet for the French National Exposition of Souvenirs of Emigrants to be held at Bleran Court from June 1st to October 31st. This beautiful manuscript, bound in red morocco, was mailed to France yesterday.

There Is No Guesswork About The Economy Of ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION

The convenience and comfort of Electric Refrigeration are but a small part of the total advantages of owning a good electric refrigerator to protect the food which you buy for your family.

The dollar and cents savings which electric refrigeration enables you to make are more important considerations these days when economy is urgent in most homes. The economies of electric refrigeration are two-fold and positive. Electric refrigeration, therefore, can be considered as an investment to save you money.

In the first place the operating cost for electricity is very low. In the second place, users find there are substantial savings in buying in quantities, in utilization of left-overs and in reducing spoilage practically to nothing.

At no time have these savings been more striking than at the present when electric refrigerators have undergone a downward revision in prices.

Improved Electric Refrigeration May Be Purchased At Much Lower Prices Than In Former Years. Take Advantage Of These New Prices And Investigate Now Through YOUR LOCAL DEALER OR

Canning A local housekeeper who cans hundreds of jars of fruits and vegetables each season, calls attention to the fact that an article on the home page Monday, specified that jars be covered with two inches of water in the canner. This, she explains, was taught the women during the World War days when cold pack canning was at the peak, but experience has shown that by this method the juices are dissipated in the hot water bath and it is not necessary to have the boiling water reach more than two-thirds the height of the jar in the canner. She has jarred quantities of asparagus already this season. Her method is to blanch it for five minutes, using the same water to fill the jars, adding a teaspoon of salt to a quart jar and processing the vegetables in the canner three hours. A pound of asparagus for a pint jar will aid in estimating the quantity needed for filling the canner or wash boiler, which many use when canning large amounts.

Spring Bride Lingerie for the bride has never been more charming than it is this spring. Some of it fairly drips with lace and the materials are exquisite. But designers have not forgotten the girl who likes tailored things. She can have gowns and underthings of lovely fabrics cut on the bias with simple bindings and unobtrusive embroidery. Matching sets of lingerie—with the various pieces cut on the same lines and all trimmed with similar lace or embroidery—are smartest.

THEATERS

AT PARSONS

"Going Gay" Rehearsing Faces

If you are seeking diversity from the drawing room type of play that has been dominating the theater for the past season, you are recommended "Going Gay," now playing at Parsons' theater, Hartford. The authors, William Miles and Donald Blackwell, have written into their farce a series of situations that move this play along at a rapid pace from the time the curtain rises at the prologue until it drops on the final black-out. The comedy is strictly of the bottom variety, though it waits until the third act to move the scene of story to that particular room.

Edith King, as Daisy Appleton, does much of the work, being in the center of action from beginning to the end. "Going Gay" calls for just the style of acting in which Miss King has enjoyed much of her success. Second to Miss King, Charles Halton as Benny Appleton, the somewhat-proving husband of Daisy did most to make the play a continuous laugh for the audience.

All in all "Going Gay" is a very merry farce. The most successful of the kind to play Hartford for many a season. The play is so well timed that it is a real treat to see it. The play is so well timed that it is a real treat to see it. The play is so well timed that it is a real treat to see it.

THE NORTH WIND AND THE SUN

A dispute arose between the North Wind and the Sun, each claiming that he was Stronger than the other. At last they agreed to try their powers upon a traveller, to see which could soonest strip him of his cloak. The North Wind had the first try; and, gathering up all his force for the attack, he came whirling furiously down upon the man, and caught up his cloak as though he would wreat it from him by one single effort; but the harder he blew, the more closely the man wrapped it round himself. Then came the turn of the Sun. At first he beamed gently upon the traveller, who soon unclasped his cloak and walked on with it hanging loosely about his shoulders; then he shone forth in his full strength, and the man, before he had gone many steps, was glad to throw his cloak right off and complete his journey more lightly clad.

NEW BEDFORD MAN INVITED TO S. M. E.

Group Seeking Successor to Rev. Mr. Colpitts Impressed by Rev. L. C. Harris.

At the Fourth Quarterly conference at the South Methodist church this evening at 7:45, in all probability action will be taken toward naming a probable successor to the Rev. Robert A. Colpitts, pastor of the church since April of 1928, who in January has tendered his resignation to the official board of the church, for the purpose of obtaining a much needed rest.

A delegation from the pastoral relations committee of the church went to New Bedford Sunday to hear Rev. Leonard C. Harris of New Bedford, pastor of Trinity Methodist church of that city for the past ten years.

SAYS LICENSE TRICKS HAS LICKED HIS PONY

Dadamas, Popcorn Wagon Man, Driven by Pushcart by Outsiders, He Complains.

Thomas Dadamas of 887 Main street, owner of a pony and a pop-corn wagon and outfit, is going to sell his pony and wagon and get out of the business because, he says, of the opposition of out-of-town competitors who are getting by with paying only 85¢ a year, whereas he is going to pay the town by-laws they should pay $1.00 a year.

This is maneuvered, Tom says, by a person who plans to run such a business moving into Manchester, hiring a room to sleep in, then he gets his supply of popcorn and fruits from out of town and peddles them at various stands from automobiles. Claiming residence in Manchester, he gets a license for a year instead of paying the license for six months as town vendors do $1.00. The competition, Tom says, has become such that the little pony cannot keep up with the trucks, he is going to discontinue his and return to the push cart business.

TRACKLESS TRAIN COES TO MANCHESTER THURSDAY

Something unusual in the way of vehicles, a locomotive and passenger coach, is scheduled to visit here tomorrow it was announced today by the Center Auto Supply, local United States tire dealer. "The train, an exact replica of those used on railroads, is touring the country on its way to the World's Fair in Chicago," said Ernest T. Bentley.

"This unusual mode of transportation is well worth inspecting. It is also equipped with broadcasting apparatus. Several years ago the first trackless train was built for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Motion Picture Company which sent it on a world tour. The tour was so successful that a second train was built recently by the same company. As a result of the satisfactory service which United States tires gave during the tour of the first trackless train, they are being used exclusively in the current tour by the second train. Fourteen United States royal check ply casing with puncture sealing tubes are used.

SENATORS DODGE DISPUTED TOPICS

State Body Holds Brief Session Because of Its Ousting This Afternoon.

Hartford, May 24.—(AP)—With its biennial outing and dinner scheduled for this afternoon, the Senate avoided all major controversial issues today in order that its members might get off to an early start on their round of social activities.

The state budget and a bill establishing the state council of education to replace the State Board of Education and the trustees of Connecticut State college were started for action on the calendar. Consideration of these measures was deferred.

At the conclusion of its four session Senator Frank S. Bergin, majority leader, announced that the General Assembly will hold a session Monday to make up for the time which will be lost through the Memorial Day vacation.

these provided machinery for a referendum in Hartford on the question of school consolidation. The measure was defeated by a strictly party vote. A rising vote resulted in a 16 to 18 tie, which Lieutenant Governor Wilson dissolved by voting with his fellow Republicans.

The Hartford measure came to the Senate on a favorable report from the committee on cities and boroughs. The West Haven bill has already been approved by the House. A measure providing for absentee voting was approved in concurrence as was a bill providing for a 15 per cent reduction in the pay of National Guardsmen in line with a similar reduction made by the Federal government.

State bills on the calendar which were approved included: Authorizing incorporated cemetery associations to sell unused portions of cemetery lots in arrears for charges of upkeep; clarifying some of the provisions in the law dealing with the supervision and regulation of security sales; including West Avenue from Wall to North Main streets in Norwalk in the trunk line system.

Under a bill passed in concurrence rence Killings will receive $12,500.00 from the state for work done on a trunk line bridge. Other claims approved under suspension of the rules included: $890 to Enfield for unpaid taxes on land bought by the state; and $58 to G. R. Duhman of New Britain for damage to his automobile.

The Senate rejected a bill establishing a board of pension control in Bridgeport to make a survey and revamp the pension system in that city. Senators left for the Farmington Country Club, scene of the outing, immediately after adjournment; while House Democrats met at the Bond for their biennial dinner.

THREE CHAMPS ARE AFTER OPEN TITLE IN CHICAGO EVENT

Hagen, Sarazen and Farrell Won First Major Crown in That District; National to Start June 8.

BY ART KENNEDY
NBA Service Staff Writer.
Three former National Open champions are glad to return to Chicago for the Open championship this year—Hagen, Sarazen and Farrell—for each won his first major title in that district.

When the open gets under way June 8, at North Shore Country Club, near Glenview, Ill., it will mark the fifth time since the tournament was organized in 1894 that the Chicago district has installed one of its big golf classics. And it will mean that two former winners, Hagen and Sarazen, are trying to hit the comeback trail.

Hagen was at Midlothian in 1914. Sarazen, as unknown before 1922, was victorious at Shokole. Farrell defeated Jones in the playoff of 1928 at Olympia Fields.

When 180 aspirants tee off on June 8, they will find a course worthy of the test. Long drives will be a premium for the North Shore club has installed one of the finest courses-watering systems in the country at an expense of $110,000.

Accuracy with both woods and irons is essential for there are 65 yawning traps. Distance is necessary, too, the course measuring 6027 yards, an average of 384 yards per hole.

Constant play on No. 3 has proved it to be one of the best holes on the course. It is still trapped entirely in front and to the right to the full depth of the green.

The course boasts three of the toughest finishing holes in the district. No. 16, first of the three, is only 168 yards in length, but has formidable trapping on three sides, an out-of-bounds on the left and a very small green. The prevailing wind is against the shot, which calls for smart calculation of the carry from the tee.

Having experienced the necessity of length over the whole course, players are likely to press off the 17th tee, and may find themselves out of bounds on the left or in the rough to the right. The length is 423 yards with a short well guarded by traps and surrounded by trees.

The home hole of 487 yards has a very narrow fairway with red rough and trees on either side. Unless the tee shot is to the left, the second must carry over double trapping of the hardest kind.

Trying to pick a winner in this tournament is about as hard as picking a daily double combination at the race track. There is no outstanding champion.

Cuyler's Absence Causes Champion Cubs to Slump

Last Year's Title Holders Drop to Seventh Place; Yanks Rap Out Four Homers to Break Hildebrand's Win Streak; Other Results.

By Associated Press
One man obviously cannot make a ball club but it seems the absence of one has undone the Chicago Cubs. National League champions of 1933. Investigation into the reasons why the Cubs have fallen from first place last year to seventh during the current season indicates the absence of Hank Cuyler is the principal cause.

Since Cuyler was injured shortly before the season opened, Manager Charley Grimm has had to substitute the experiment after another trying one to fill the gap in the outfield as well as the missing punch in the batter's order.

Are Trimmed Again
In addition Grimm has yielded his own place at first base to Harvey Hendrick. Bill Jurges' work at shortstop fell off until Mark Koenig replaced him and Charley Root and Guy Bush haven't pitched up to their usual form.

Chicago thus missed a chance to move into sixth place for the Cincinnati Reds took it on the chin from the Giants 6-4, when Dolf Luque's pitching saved a game for Roy Parmelee after the young hurler had given himself a good start with a home run.

The Boston Braves handed Tex Carleton his first defeat of the season to go into fourth place, rapping him for four straight hits and two runs in the tenth to defeat the Cardinals 5-1. Pittsburgh's league leaders turned the tables on Brooklyn, beating the Dodgers three to nothing when Steve Swetonic pitched four hit ball games.

After marking up six straight victories, Oral Hildebrand of Cleveland ran into the Yankees home run barrage and lasted only three innings as Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig hit their first circuit drives since April 30. It was the sixth for Ruth and the eighth for Lou and homers by Earl Combs and Ben Chapman accounted for the rest of the Yankees' run in an 8-5 victory.

The Senators who apparently had rounded up all their "rim" pitchers, saw a new one in Fred Marberry, an ex-Senator. He gave them only three hits in winning 7-3 for Detroit. Chicago's White Sox shattered a three game winning streak for the Boston Red Sox by doing some long distance hitting and winning 7-0.

The Philadelphia A's turned on their powerhouse in the middle innings and slammed out 18-6 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

SIMMONS TOPS RUTH
Chicago, May 24.—(AP)—Marjory Simmons in the ballot to name an American league team to face the National League's best in Chicago July 6, appeared to have a little edge over Al Simmons of the White Sox than Babe Ruth.

Simmons had collected 1,081 votes to 1,070 for the pitcher of the home run. Lou Gehrig, New York's other favorite, was in the running but lost in the voting for first baseman, Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox led for third base; Charley Geringer for second base; Jim Cronin for shortstop; Bill Hargrett for catcher. Philadelphia's first southpaw led the pitchers with 1,067 votes.

Taking every point in five out of six matches, Manchester High's golfers smothered Hartford Public High in a return match at the West Hartford Golf Club yesterday afternoon, winning by a score of 151 to 21. This afternoon the team travels to the Highland Country Club to meet Meriden High in a match postponed from last month.

Friday afternoon the local quartet opposes Lewis High at Southington and Saturday morning the Hartford High of Williamstown comes here for a match at the local Country Club.

Once again H. Civiello shot the lowest score, yesterday hitting a 75 that took three strokes from the total of three strokes better than Borjesson's 80. The Civiello brothers played to a tie with the Hartford quartet.

Friday afternoon the local quartet captured all three points from Murphy, carding a 79, while his opponent got an 83. Hildebrand was the only local man to fall by the wayside, losing a nip and tuck battle by two strokes that gave Hartford 2 1/2 points. Hurdwick shot an 81 and Reardon got an 83.

In a team match, Hultine and Reardon paired to take all three points from Murphy and Hurdwick. Summary:

Show Down for 'Baby Face' And Man With The Limp

By PAUL HERRSHMAN (Associated Press Sports Writer)
Los Angeles, May 24.—(AP)—Nine years ago a baby-faced youngster and a rather elderly man with a limp scoured the San Francisco fistic market for a chance to peddle the boy's wares.

Hand crabs, scared and cooed by the older was their one-courage man. The rent was overdue and the gas bill hadn't been paid. On the night of May 23 at Wrigley Field, this same kid, Jimmy McLarin of Old Ireland by way of Vancouver, B. C. will seek to wrest the world's welterweight title from Young Corbett III in a 10-round bout. The man with the limp, Charles (Pop) Foster, will be in his corner.

First Fight Brought $25
Fortune has smiled on them since that night in 1925, when the kid who said he was 17 but looked to be 12 defeated Eddie Collins in the curtain raise at an Oakland arena and received $25 for his efforts.

From Oakland McLarin came here. This was in the old four pound welterweight class. McLarin and Jimmy failed to impress. He seemed to lack stamina, home said it was because he was too young and others claimed it was his vegetable diet. Jimmy was training on spinach instead of meat. So, McLarin and Foster took themselves quietly away from here. They kept going until they reached Chicago. There Jimmy started the fight world by stopping Kid Kaplan in eight rounds after getting to the canvas twice.

That was the beginning of prosperity. Since 1924 McLarin has drawn gates totaling more than $1,000,000. He has a quarter of a million deposited in eight banks throughout the country. He owns real estate on Long Island and a soap factory at Oakland.

His will 'Baby Face' The last time McLarin fought in Los Angeles he lived in a pose too impressively room over a store near Boho Park. He did road work around the picturesque lake there, almost unnoticed.

Now he is training in the beautiful Westwood Hills. Successful people are his neighbors. He does his road work on sowered-flanked bridge paths where the motion picture stars go for their morning caters. A veteran fighter making his second title bid, McLarin still is "Baby Face" Jimmy the California that knew him when.....

Atlantic City, May 24.—Max Baer, a ruffian, eager, likeable boy. The man lay on the training table before him bare the other day. "Look at him now would you?" said little Irish Mike. RELAY TEAM RACES TO BRILLIANT VICTORY IN FINAL, DECIDING EVENT

Quartet Travels Distance in Close to Record Time; Locals Trail by 10 Points With Two Events to Go But Come Through in Triumph; Hit by Ineligibility.

By Associated Press
Trailing by ten points with two events to go, Manchester High's mighty trackmen came through to a thrilling, close-fought relay victory over West Hartford High on the latter's field yesterday afternoon by winning thirteen out of fourteen points in the running high jump and the relay to clinch the meet by a score of 53 to 41.

The score was 33 to 40 in favor of the William Hall squad when the running high jump was called and Patton and Lane of Manchester went out to tie for first place with leaps of five feet, seven inches. West Hartford taking third, this result made the count 33 to 48, still in West Hartford's favor, duplicating the meet of two years ago when the relay was also the deciding event by a similar score.

Almost a Match Record
That year, the Red and White set the present school record of 1:36.4, when Wittman, running anchor, came from behind to break the old mark with a dazzling sprint in the final stretch. Yesterday afternoon the relay team came within two-thirds of a second of matching the record, being clocked in 1:36.8.

That final event had the good-sized crowd in an uproar. Fraser of Manchester and Keane of West Hartford ran the first lap virtually neck and neck, Keane going to the front by a yard as he passed the baton to Walleck. But Stoutner quickly caught his man and raced to the front by a foot as Cude took up the baton. Cude ran the best race of all and was more than two yards up on Collier as the anchor men, Judd of Manchester and Johnston of West Hartford, made off stride for the vital points. Judd increased his lead to six yards in the final turn but Johnston out the margin half with a desperate but vain sprint at the finish.

Three Made Ineligible
Was considered by the ineligibility of three prospective point-getters in the field events, Manchester fought hard for every point, the score see-sawing back and forth as the meet progressed. After the eighth event, the score was tied 20-20 and West Hartford piled up its ten point lead in the running broad jump and javelin throw.

The victory again demonstrated Manchester's dominance over its C. I. L. opponents and leaves only a slight high to oppose in a dual league meet. Bristol defeated West Hartford early in the season but according to reports had plenty of luck in doing so. The state meet at Yale Saturday is the next objective.

West Hartford took an 8-1 lead at the start by taking first and second in the 100 yard dash. Bill Murray, Red and White's visible miler, headed to easy victory in the mile in four minutes and 48 seconds, Packard running third to his team mate. Murray took the lead in the second lap and was held in check by the Red and White's third position in the third lap. Lehrer of West Hartford unhooked a brilliant sprint in the stretch to clinch second place.

Garrett captured the diamond with a throw of 120 feet, two feet better than the nearest rival, Walter. The victory again demonstrated Manchester's dominance over its C. I. L. opponents and leaves only a slight high to oppose in a dual league meet. Bristol defeated West Hartford early in the season but according to reports had plenty of luck in doing so. The state meet at Yale Saturday is the next objective.

CHURCHMAN LAUDS ROOSEVELT METHOD

Baptist Leader Declares His Church Needs Such a Man to Direct Its Affairs.

Washington, May 24.—(AP)—Dr. C. Oscar Johnson, president of the Northern Baptists wants another Franklin D. Roosevelt to lead his church through hard times.

Keynoting a convention whose theme is "The Present Challenge" Johnson today said: "We must have in our situation something akin to the daring courage, the business sagacity, the political acumen, the wholesome confidence of his fellowmen, the straight-forward frankness, the readiness of attack which has been evidenced by that veritable human dynamo now residing in the White House, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Dr. Johnson added this sort of leadership "vested in some Moses and directed toward our present denominational distress," would "right early have us on our way out of the 'Egypt'."

Church Situation He paraphrased in summarizing the church situation: "Our foreign line is broken; our home line is wavering; the spiritual life of the church is ebbing; the situation is excellent for Baptists to attack."

The conventions sessions which will continue through Sunday will be mostly devoted to pressing emergency problems.

A committee on revision was ready to represent plans for what amounts to reorganization of the denominational machinery, proposing a new body, called the executive board, in place of the Board of Missionary Cooperation and to absorb the duties of the present executive committee.

However, a joint meeting of the missionary board with executive and finance committees previous to the convention held this change unwise.

DARLING FOOL

by MISS ANSTICE OBEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MONNIE O'DARE is going abroad with MISS ANSTICE OBEY, an old friend of the O'Dares to try to forget DAN CARDIGAN. Dan's parents wanted him to marry the wealthy SANDRA LAWRENCE who, while pretending to be Monnie's friend, has been trying to win him from her. Dan has been in Wyoming with a party including his mother, sister and Sandra. When Monnie received a cool letter from Dan she decided to accept Miss Cory's invitation to go to Europe as her companion.

Monnie does not know that Dan rushed home to see her, arriving just after her train had departed before she and Miss Cory go to a theater in New York. A handsome stranger offers them his car in the rain.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII

As Miss Anstice said afterward, Arthur Mackenzie, who was the tall man of the theater adventure, was "such a perfect gentleman." Miss Anstice had been a bit disturbed after she and Monica had arrived at the hotel to realize they had driven across town "with a perfect stranger."

And such terrible things happened in New York! But it had been the rain and the worry of getting her plum-colored wrap spotted which had plumped Miss Anstice into this darning.

And, after all, nothing had happened. Mr. Mackenzie, quietly assumed, had told the chauffeur to drop them at the Splendobit and take him on to a place that sounded to Monica like "The Fire-fly." She had read only that evening in the newspaper of a new night club of that name.

Cleverly, delftly Mr. Mackenzie had elicited from Miss Anstice the fact they were sailing on the morning. He had smilingly wished them bon voyage in Spain and thought demurely in one corner of the huge car, had caught a flash in the man's dark eyes when Miss Anstice mentioned the name of the boat.

Their first trip? But how delightful it would be to have together the pleasure of showing Miss Cory and Miss O'Dare his favorite haunts in Paris. They would love Paris, he said, in a quiet, assured voice that seemed to brook no contradiction.

The car slid under the dripping awning of the Splendobit and Mr. Mackenzie forestalled the action of the chauffeur in helping the ladies to alight. A tall, imposing figure in his gleaming white and white, he stood there. But it had been a real pleasure, he was assuring them. He had been charmed. He gave Monica's slim gloved hand a quick pressure. Her fingers tingled afterward.

"Have you got all your things in order?" Miss Anstice was nervous. They would have to be up early she told Monica. One of her missing trunks or bags. "I shan't sleep a wink," she protested. But later Monnie heard her deep and quiet breathing as she herself lay below-eyed, listening to the rain on the windows.

The city lay below them, an only partially somnolent beast. The hum of traffic, of taxicabs skidding along the gleaming pavements, the hasty screech of brakes reached her ears. Why had she liked Arthur Mackenzie so quickly on sight she wondered? Was it because he reminded her of Charles? He wasn't the least bit like him, really. Why, he must be 40! But he was nice. There was something admirably attractive about this assured man of the world.

"He's the sort who gets what he wants, always," thought the girl shrewdly. It must be worth while to be petted, taken care of as if you were a valuable piece of porcelain. Kay would love New York, love the kind of life Monnie had had a glimpse of to-night. Motor door opening and shutting, rich fabrics, the scent of costly, elusive perfumes on the air.

For the first time since her decision to go with Miss Cory had taken form, Monnie was honestly glad.

"Maybe I can free myself from this obsession about Dan," she thought, dropping off to sleep. There had been days when she was certain she had conquered the wild, ungovernable anguish. But then a chance look, a word, a quoted line of verse, would set the old pain throbbing again. But this time she would put half a world between them and perhaps that would help.

They had an early breakfast and were ready a full hour before the time appointed, their bags strapped and waiting.

"The clerk says he's sending up some mail," Miss Anstice announced, turning away from the telephone. Monnie's heart gave a wild leap. A letter—the long-awaited letter might be among them! But there was only a bon voyage note from Kay and another from Charles Burtice. She had to throttle her disappointment. She had been hoping against hope that Dan might send her one little line to take with her to all those strange places.

"Any news?" Miss Anstice looked up from her checkbook. "No news!" Monnie smiled valiantly to hide the hurt.

She stood on the deck a little later, watching late comers board the ship. Miss Anstice was in her cabin but she had secured Monica to see the excitement. A slim wand of a girl in a coat of hunter's green, her amber eyes starred above the collar of deep brown fur, she drew many eyes. Porters fringed with white and blue cases strolled aboard. There was one bride, youthful and distinguished, dressed with care and elegance, making farewells. The girl had a long, pale, aristocratic face. She was wrapped austere in black caracul topped by a head of silver fox. Monnie could hear her slow drawl.
