The National Automobile Chamber said "Since the low point of the bank holiday production and sales of motor vehicles have shown a steady increase, some of which was no doubt due to the postponed demand resulting from closed banks and some due to the usual spring seasonal rise. 53 P. Employment and production in the cotton textile industry this month were said to "compare favorably" with conditions prevailing in 1932, and said the Cotton-Textile Institute: "For the first time since 1929 wages for the average cotton mill worker exceeded replacement cost." The National Association of Wool Manufacturers said general conditions "are improving, more people are just as a lighted match in all right in its place and position in all right in its place but, under improper juxtaposition—terrible! We haven't the faintest bit of faith that the Congo baseball team is any different from any other baseball team when it comes to chicken pie.

And imagine the combination—a chicken pie supper on Friday night and a baseball game on Saturday. There isn't a gambler anywhere who wouldn't give odds on a blind layman team to goose-egg the real Congo if the latter had filled up on chicken pie the night before.

Chicken pie is one of those things that, when you load up on them, you either devote the next twenty-four hours exclusively to the processes of indigestion or you court failure, disappointment and a shortened life, for you have no more wit than a woodpecker and no more vim than a sponge and the only thing you could successfully compete in would be a long distance moving match.

Far be it from us to attempt to discourage the Congo baseball team from either playing the Little Giants or giving—and devouring—chicken pie dinners; we only travel this road once and chicken pie is one of its feature attractions. But we do seriously urge the boys to space these two activities a bit more widely.

There should be a magnificent gate at the international automobile races at Indianapolis in 1934—and the promoters should make a pack of money. The result of this year's races ought at least to insure that the excited lovers of sudden death and devastation—viciously experienced—will throng to Indianapolis next year and pay their cash to see racing motor cars crash the walls on those perilous curves at a hundred miles an hour!

Truly a noble sport, this business of watching automobile races to see who shall be the next to die. To be sure, there is nothing to see worth a second look, except the crashes. This second look goes round and round, with rather sickening disappointment each time, a racer comes safely out of a skid at a turn; it would bore a flagpole-sitter. But every little while comes that delightful sensation of beholding a human being hurled to his death, or at least mangled out of recognition—and the race-goer is amply repaid for his boredom.

Meantime we can spend the time between automobile races in pondering over the barbarism of Spanish bull fights, badge-baiting, dog-fighting and the bull-dogging of steers in the rodeos, and in congratulating ourselves on America's cultural superiority to such savage pastimes.

Two things are clearly obvious in connection with the Senate Banking Committee's inquiry into the affairs of the Morgan firm: One is that the facts brought out by the questioning of Morgan partners by Mr. Peoria, committee counsel, concerning the avoidance of income tax payments by very rich men constitute astonishing enlightenment to the great majority of the American people and thereby help to qualify them in a wholly new degree for the business of self government. It is highly probable that this factor of popular education will be importantly amplified and added to within a short time, if the inquiry is continued in its present trend, by the shedding of more white light on the control of electrical power in the country.

the only Democrat of his kind. If the President fails to isolate and disarm these members of his own party who are prepared to secretly knife his liberal policies he can hardly expect to complete a successful administration. In the present instance it is peculiarly necessary that President Roosevelt put every cunco of his power and influence back of Peoria so that the present investigation may be carried out to the finish in the spirit in which it was begun. To compromise the situation now, however slightly, would be to utterly destroy the confidence of the average man in the good faith and stamina of the administration.

THE POOR ABUSED. Once more the inhuman treatment of prisoners has driven them to revolt. It will be observed that the eleven convicts who got away from the penitentiary at Lansing, Michigan, victims of the iniquitous system which failed to realize that the amiable eleven, only two of them murderers, were "mentally sick" persons who should be hospitalized instead of jailed—made their escape during a prison baseball game. No doubt they had been cruelly compelled to attend the game when they would much have preferred to stay indoors and read the Bible or Plato.

We have long been convinced that the introduction of baseball into the prisons was a mistake—it is far too rough and violent a game for those delicate and precious temperaments which make up our prison population, which need only the refining influences of yachting and the Hollywood type of swimming pool parties to make of them shining ornaments to society.

Compelled by the vicious and hateful practices of prison authorities to descend to such vulgar and degrading things as baseball, what is there surprising in the fact that these gentlemen of the Kansas pen refused longer to submit, and went away?

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON. New York, May 21.—The Union Club has decided to up its last year chair and its copy of the New York Times, and is moving to a new $3,000,000 home on Park Avenue. Columbus and Commodore, paunchy masters of finance, bristly-mustached dignitaries of the blue-bloods, they're deserting with a sigh, the gloomy, high-vaulted Italian palazzo where for 30 years they have dined, and talked, and lounged before the broad windows on Fifth Avenue and Fifty-first Street. And now, for the first time in the organization's 97 years, its members must accustom themselves to new and modern grandeur, and a new view.

The Union is the oldest social club in America, as well as the most socially exclusive. In the old days sons of New York's first families were enrolled on its long waiting list, which often contained a thousand names, as soon as they were born. Lately, though the waiting list has dwindled, but there has been no total lowering of its membership. On the roster are names like J. Pierpont Morgan, Ogden L. Mills, Clarence H. Mackay, Nicholas Murray Butler, William H. Woodin. Members of old families like the Calvins, Van der Bilt, and Bidwells are elected as a matter of course. The club's secretary, Charles K. Beckman, owns the Social Register.

Sternly masculine, the Union Club has never had a ladies' day. In fact, the only woman ever admitted to its club-level halls was the widow of an ex-president, escorted there to view their husband's portraits. Gambling games are frowned upon; although members generally find something on which to place bets—such as the number of Negroes who will pass a window during a given time, or the number of kittens that will be born to the basement cat.

Contrary to conjecture, mere membership is not expensive. Initiation fees are $200; annual dues $200. Cigars and refreshments are sold at wholesale prices, and there is no tipping of employees. The latter, however, divide a subscribed Christmas fund which usually runs between $12,000 and $15,000. Diners in the club's private dining rooms are likely to be expensive. Union Club terrapin, famed for more than half a century among epicures, costs $3.50 a portion.

Not always has the Union Club pursued its placid way. Dissenters has disturbed its studied calm. Tradition has it that the Brook Club was founded by two Union members who were expelled for putting a poached egg on the bald dome of a napping brother. In 1837 Count Joseph Loubat called Joseph H. Choate a liar during a heated argument. Expelled forthwith, Count Loubat went to court with an array of bitterly eloquent legal talent that won him rehabilitation. It was a humiliating precedent that has made expulsion a difficult process ever since.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

U. S. WORKERS ON JOB OF TRADING NEVER ABSENT. News of Senate Reporters Dead After Lifetime Service in Capitol. By ROBBY DUTCHER. Herald Washington's Correspondent.

Washington, May 21.—Probably no other prominent group will ever equal the Senate's "Dead in the Capitol" group. It is the group of Senate reporters who died after 25 years of service during which they had a single day on the job. It is the group in the Capitol who had impeached and almost removed Andrew Johnson from office. He served from 1862 through the reconstruction period, the bloody time of the Civil War and the new era of Franklin Roosevelt.

Shuey used to recall times when senators would get up and start talking for hours at a time, sometimes including night sessions. "There were bitter days and they fought out big political questions," he remembers. "There were lots of speeches and only a bare handful of members to defend the interests of the south. But they used to waste a lot of time at oratory. Now they don't do that." If you don't believe that a senator would speak for four days running, Shuey would cite you such old names as those of Garrett Davis of Kentucky and John A. Cooper of Illinois. And you would look it up in the Congressional Record, for which Shuey had taken it all down.

HEALTH-DIET ADVICE

BY DR. FRANK MCCOY. Questions in regard to Health and Diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper. Enclosed stamped, self-addressed envelope, for reply.

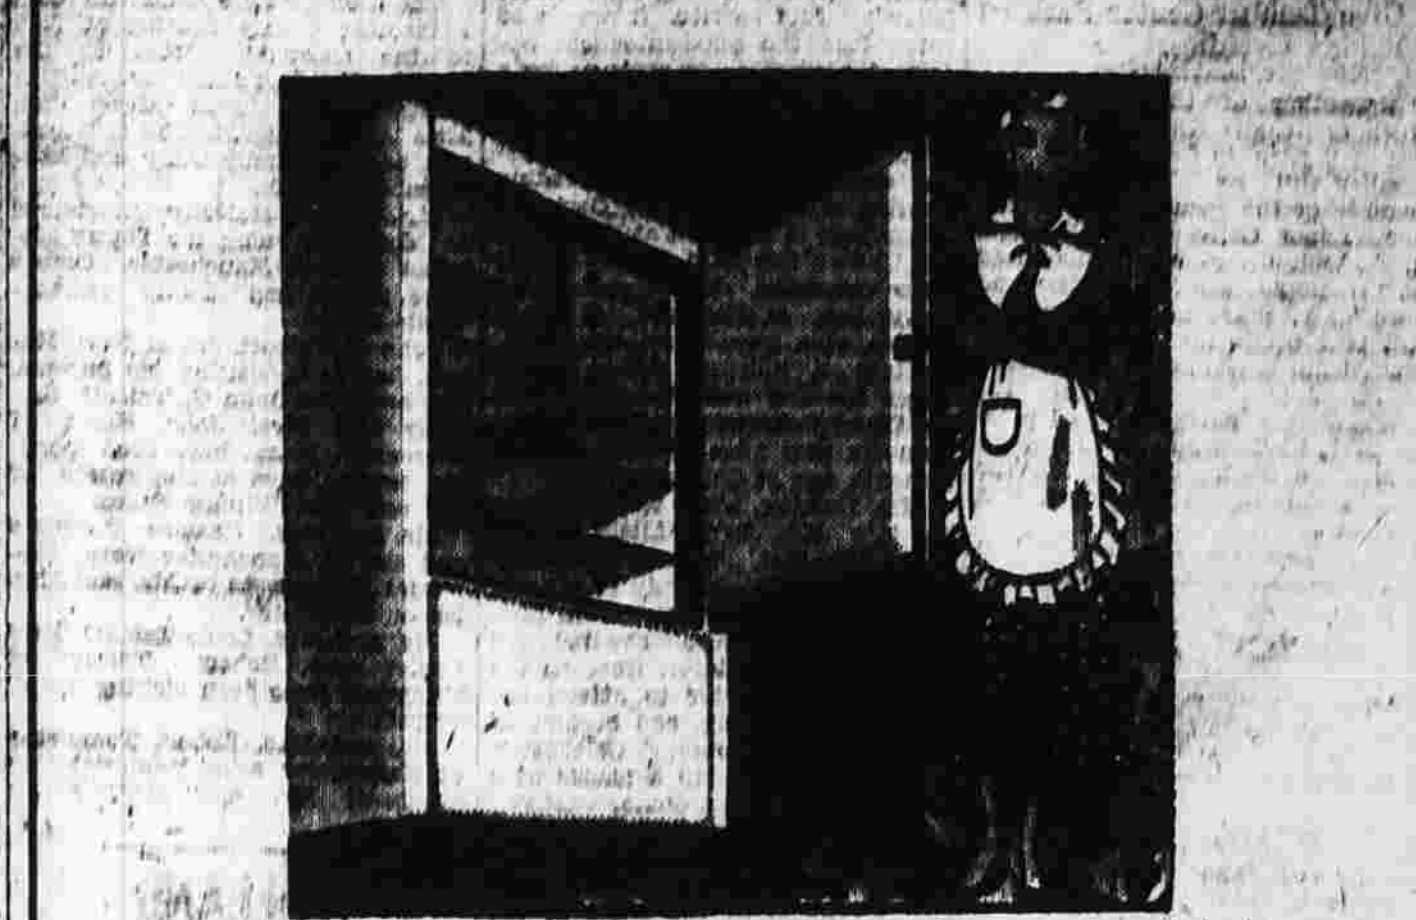

THE TERM "ENERGY FOODS" IS MISLEADING. Mothers often stuff children with starches and sugars with the idea that these foods are needed to make a child grow that is a mistaken belief. None of the necessary cells in the body are built up or developed from starches or sugars. Nature has not provided any method for building a healthy cell out of pure starch or sugar. When you read a book on physiology, you may find that these foods are classed as "energy foods." The statement is partly correct in that starches and sugars may be used by the body to provide energy. It implies that by eating more of these foods one will have more energy, a belief that is very far from being true.

Suppose, for example, a man eats a very hearty meal consisting principally of starch and sugar. In a short time he becomes sleepy and loopy. Where then is his energy? A short time later he may have some gas pains and indigestion; he feels less like working than ever. Obviously the large meal he has eaten is not providing him with energy. The energy in these foods seems to be expended in creating a disturbance inside him.

Another example. Suppose a man eats an extra large banquet consisting principally of starches and sugars. Gas forms and vesicles against his diseased heart. In a short time the man falls over in a heart attack. Talk to him and he does not answer you. In a short time he grows old and does not move. The starchy foods and sugars are still inside him, but his energy has in some mysterious way departed.

Suppose a child is stolid and weak. The mother makes the mistake of feeding it with large amounts of the so-called energy foods, and the child's system becomes overburdened with starch and carbohydrate foods, making it a ready prey to such disorders as colds, catarrh, hay fever, swollen tonsils and adenoids. It has been my observation that the children who are the most energetic of "starchy" foods are sluggish in disposition and readily tired, while those who eat lesser amounts of starches and sugars over in a heart attack. Talk to him and he does not answer you. In a short time he grows old and does not move. The starchy foods and sugars are still inside him, but his energy has in some mysterious way departed.

HOLD NEW BRITAIN MAN ON A MURDER CHARGE

Signs Confession in New York That He Killed Man in Jamaica on May 7.

New York, May 27.—(AP)—Frank Uitz, 30, of New Britain, Conn., today signed a confession, police said, that he shot and killed Adam Engrot, 66 year old watchman, in a woods in Jamaica on May 7.

Uitz, arrested yesterday because he was unable to pay for a rental in a lunchroom, confessed to the killing after police questioned him about a .32 caliber pistol they found on him. According to the police, Uitz said he shot the watchman in a quarrel over a suitcase full of clothing which Uitz said he gave to Engrot for safekeeping. He said Engrot threatened him with a hammer during the quarrel and that he shot him in self defense.

Engrot, who was watchman on the estate of Edgar Rowne, is survived by two daughters, one living in Virginia and the other in Pennsylvania. The police do not know their names.

MURKIN COLLAPSES.
New Britain, May 27.—(AP)—News that he shot Frank, 20, had confessed to the murder of the caretaker of an estate on Long Island, so seriously affected Mrs. Frank Uitz, of Maple Hill avenue in Maple Hill, Newington, a suburb of Hartford, that she was reported at the point of death today.

Mrs. Uitz had been in declining health for some time. When her husband informed her Saturday of their son's arrest as a murderer, she is said to have become seriously ill.

For years Mr. and Mrs. Uitz labored to raise funds for the purchase of a home, and they had bought an attractive cottage in Maple Hill and were happy in the knowledge that they had achieved their goal. The father worked in a New Britain factory. The mother has been employed in a house work.

A younger brother of the alleged slayer will be graduated with honors next month from a junior high school in this city.

The Uitz family came from Austria.

Joe Tedford, who managed the old team, is in the role of manager for this revival. He promises to line up today much as he used to, and names it a decade ago. HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Girls Tennis
The Girls Tennis team, which entered the State Tennis Tournament for girls, failed far worse than expected. Last Saturday afternoon at Colby Park, excellent tennis was exhibited throughout the day by the 48 players who represent eight high schools, namely: Bristol, Lebanon, Meriden, Manchester, New Britain, Hillhouse, Commercial, Storrs, and Hartford. It looked as though Hillhouse would repeat its record of last year and win both in doubles and singles but the final result of the tournament will not be known until the afternoon of Sunday. Doubles and singles will take place on the tennis courts at New Britain Normal school.

One doubles team made up of Mary Antonio and Olga Weber drew a bye in the first round, /on their second match, 6-0, against Betty Hildesheim and Evelyn Mag from Meriden, and are now in the third round. The other doubles team from Manchester High school, Jean Williams and Mild Klein, met the first doubles team from Hillhouse, Nancy Lannon and Alan Duket, and were defeated, 6-0, 6-1. Miss Brown drew a bye in the first round and met Barbara Barker from Bristol in the second round. Miss Brown won her match, 6-0, 6-0, after playing for about an hour and a half. It was a long, hard-fought three sets but placed Miss Brown in the third round where she was defeated by Ruth Rossini, 6-1, 6-0.

Mildred Sutherland won her first draw, 6-0, playing Arlene Smith from Meriden. Miss Sutherland lost in the next match to Betty Terry from New Haven, 6-0, 6-1. Betty Quimby lost to Alice Parmelee from Simsbury, 6-0, 6-0, and Eleanor Hopper lost to Aithon Hrum from Meriden, 6-0, 6-0.

Memorial Day Assembly
The annual Memorial Day Assembly was held at the high school for both buildings on Monday afternoon. The speakers on the program included Captain Ralph Wade Emerson DeWitte, Chaplain of the 67th Division Officers Reserve Corps, who is at present pastor of the Baptist church at Moonup.

Captain DeWitte spoke of the horrors of war, its expense, its waste, and its problems. During the Freshmen assembly he exhibited pictures which originally had hung in the trenches and dug-outs during the World War. Many of these crudely drawn but touching pictures depicted scenes of comfort at home which the soldier longed for. With words he drew pictures of the devastated cities after shells and bombs had ruined them.

Superintendent F. A. Verplanck closed the assembly with a benediction in which he also emphasized the terrible waste and horror of war. It will be remembered that Mr. Verplanck was the originator of Memorial Day Assembly programs in the high school and he is always on the platform to welcome the visiting Civil War veterans. Three veterans, namely, John M. Allen, Elmer Northman, and Henry Bragg from the Drake Post of the G. A. R., were present at the exercises on Monday.

John Jensen, who for many years was chairman of the permanent Memorial Day Committee, was also on the platform.

In the absence of Harold Tuttle, the speaker duties fell to the shoulders of a special minister taken from the church. A program which is to be given in the high school hall this Monday evening.

SENSE and NONSENSE

RAMBLING REMARKS—Various may be the spice of life, but there is such a thing as getting too much peppering. From the present indications it appears that the foot-darting down's routine there is a depression. It takes more will power to stay out of a fuss than it does to get into one. One man puts it this way: "I suppose we are doing as we have done for centuries. Not all people would have been becoming idiots. It is alright to 'keep that school-girl' complexion." If you were a trouble-faced old woman you were in school. Men have to be clean on the inside before they are safe to associate with on the outside. These times are making big men bigger, just as they are making small men to arrive and lodge a magnificent thought to a crowd is out with one that is agreeable. During these days straight remedies have to be applied. You can't remove a carcinoma by eating orange juice. The bigger the city the fresher the eggs.

George Ade, optical bachelor, tells this one: "I was sitting with a little girl of eight one afternoon. She looked up from her Hans Andersen and said: 'Does m-r-a-g-e spell marriage, Mr. Ade?' 'Yes, my child, I said.'

According to a famed western judge, a husband has a right to kiss his wife. "But if he gets too rough with her she can call a policeman. Policemen have such gentle ways."

Boy—Miss Jamerson, you are very beautiful.
Miss Jamerson—Thank you, Robert.
Boy—Oh, that's all right. Us boys ought to have to do one kind or every day.

MEMORIAL DAY WE HAVE A GAIN TO REMEMBER THOSE BRAVE MEN WHO DIED THAT OUR NATION MIGHT LIVE.

Another hedonist the liar suffers is that nobody will believe him when he tells the truth.

Our Lady—My poor man, I suppose you have had many trials in your life?
Tramp—Yes, ma'am, but only one conviction.

It is all right to sympathize with the underdog in a fight, but the wise man puts his money on the top dog.

Wife—What do you mean by coming home at this hour?
Hubby—I didn't mean to come home at this hour, but the damned place was raided.

Don't forget that Memorial Day was never intended for the dead and young dead. It is intended to honor the dead and living who fought to make this country the great place it is to live in.

Here's one heavy cheer for that statement of President Roosevelt that there must be an end to the associating with other people's money.

Victor—Harold told me he could live on my love forever.
Daisy—Slow romantic! And are you going to let him?
Victor—Not until I find out what I am going to live on.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
Henry Ford says the country has made a complete turn-around and is now going forward. Here's hoping that the speed in high will soon be equal to what it was in reverse.
