EXPLAIN WATER PURCHASE PLAN TO CIVIC GROUP

Members of Cheney Firm Outline Project — Town's Leading Citizens Favorable Towards Buying.

One of the most important questions facing town officials and citizens of Manchester—the proposed purchase of the Cheney Brothers utility companies—was discussed last night at a conference between the members of the silk firm, the Board of Selectmen, and a representative group of manufacturers, business and professional men of the town.

The meeting was called by the Board of Selectmen to acquaint a selective group of citizens of the information already obtained in connection with the proposal, also to divulge the latest plan of purchase as reported from the Cheney Brothers company, June 5, the account of which was carried in The Herald of that date.

Outlines Procedure Wells A. Strickland, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, presided and outlined briefly the steps already taken in the several conferences between the Selectmen and Cheney Brothers since it was disclosed that the two utility companies, the South Manchester Water Company and the South Manchester Sanitary & Sewer District were for sale.

Ward Cheney, chairman of the Board of Directors of Cheney Brothers reviewed the proposition from the company standpoint and stated that while the company has received offers from holding companies for the purchase of the companies at various times, they had not seriously considered selling.

Stating that the proposal, as far as Cheney Brothers was concerned, was not a "bargain" proposition but was offered at what the Cheney company tried to determine as a "justifiable" price based on commercial and physical values of the properties and at a price which the town could afford to pay.

Mr. Cheney said that he has been queried by Manchester people concerning the possibility of increased employment if the town bought the utility companies. To correct any possible misconception of the idea behind the proposal as made by the firm, and accepted by the Board of Selectmen, he said that he would investigate further, he said that in no sense would the firm guarantee immediate increase in employment to those now on short time, but the proceeds of the sale, converted into liquid working capital would enable the company to take advantage of opportunities to strengthen its position in the business world by the liquidation of the utilities.

HUMPHRIES BETTER; SUFFERED A SHOCK

Veteran Fight Announcer Stricken While He Was Alone in His Home.

Fair Haven, N. J., June 15.—(AP)—Joe Humphries, veteran fight announcer who has been paralyzed by an apoplectic stroke, showed further improvement today, and his physician said the familiar voice would probably again be heard at sports events in the future.

The physician, Dr. Walter A. Rullman, of Bank, reported that Humphries was making satisfactory progress, Rullman said he expected his patient would eventually be able to return to his familiar announcing role.

Humphries was stricken early Tuesday after returning to his home from the wrestling matches at the Yankee Stadium. The stroke, diagnosed as a light stroke of apoplexy, induced by hardening of the arteries, left him almost totally paralyzed. Only his voice was unaffected, and he called for several hours before summoning help.

Many Members of House Ready to Follow Lead of Senate Despite an Almost Certain Veto Action.

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—The restless Democratic ranks of the House, many ready to follow the Senate in liberalizing veterans' benefits despite a prospective veto, argued on closed conference today over what to do preparatory to voting.

President Roosevelt, meanwhile, discussed the alternatives at the White House with the two Republican authors of the amendment that is more expensive than the course

SCHOOLGIRL WROTE KIDNAPING NOTES

Three Stamford Families Panic Stricken Until Police Discover Author.

Stamford, June 15.—(AP)—A torn strip of pale blue cloth and the immature handwriting of a 15-year-old high school girl provided the clues that solved a kidnaping threat which had three Stamford families panic stricken and on the verge of abandoning their homes here, it was said today.

Three letters threatening the kidnaping of a child in each of two of the families, were received on Monday and Tuesday of this week and the case was broken last night by Detective Sergeants Daniel Hanerhan and Henry Nevins of the Stamford police 24 hours after it had been reported to them.

The writer of the letter was found to be a 15-year-old girl, a freshman at high school. She will be arraigned in Juvenile Court. Two of the letters were received by Mrs. Harry T. Dykman of 157 North street, by whom the girl was employed part time and the other was received by Mrs. William H. Clark of 49 Washington avenue, sister of Mrs. Dykman and who employed the sister of Mrs. Dykman's maid.

Leaves Stamford Mrs. Dykman and Mrs. Clark are daughters of Harry Le Dodson of 6 Maple avenue, Southfield Point, prominent New York lawyer. Mr. and Mrs. Dodson were also panic-stricken at the thoughts of possible harm to one of their grandchildren. Mrs. Clark's child is two years old and Mrs. Dykman's baby is only a few weeks old. On receipt of the first letter, Mrs. Clark left Stamford at once for an unannounced retreat with her child and her maid.

TRAINING SCHOOLS ON NEW SCHEDULES

State Official Explains New Policy Adopted — Four Plans Are Outlined.

Hartford, June 15.—(AP)—The new policy adopted by the State Board of Education yesterday embodying four plans for teacher preparation in this state, was announced today by State Commissioner of Education Ernest W. Butler, at the graduation exercises of the New Haven Normal school.

The first plan is for a reduction in the number of pupils at the teacher training schools so they may be conducted within the appropriations made by the General Assembly, the maximum number being set at 1,000. There were from 1,100 to 1,200 in the schools this year, and the proposed reduction will have the effect of limiting the number of new students at the schools.

Four Year Courses The second plan is that those admitted to the schools this year for teacher preparation will be for four year courses. Two year courses were in order at the schools four years ago, but this has been gradually changed so that this year all schools are operating on the three year plan. Those who have completed a three year course will be permitted to stay for the fourth year of training if they so desire.

At the teachers' college in New Britain will be organized classes of training for the seventh, eighth and ninth or junior high school grades, the training up to this time having been for the first six grades. For this purpose a class of not exceeding 35 in number will be formed of young women who desire an extra year of training to that already received, so there will be a graduating class next June. At New Haven, also, it is planned to take back the same way a class of not more than 35 for primary elementary teacher training so they may be able to compete next June with teachers

U. S. NAVY YARDS SOON TO BE BUSY

Sec. Swanson Announces Thousands of Men Will Work on 32 New Ships.

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—A $238,000,000 naval building program intended to put 32 new ships in the water in three years was formally announced today by Secretary Swanson.

President Roosevelt had agreed to allocate the funds out of the $3,300,000,000 public works appropriation and "is anxious to have the work done as soon as possible," Swanson said.

"We will build to the fullest capacity of shipyard facilities," he added. "As quickly as possible we want to put people to work at shipbuilding where 85 per cent of the expenditure goes to labor."

"We can start in the Navy Yards at once."

Open Bids Soon "We hope to open bids for private shipyards in July and may be ready to go ahead in them by August, though that depends a great deal on bids."

"Every Navy Yard in the United States capable of doing work will have some work to do. The program will be pushed from the department with all the vigor we have."

The program: 20 destroyers of which 16 will be in the 1,500 ton class and four in the 850 class.

Two aircraft carriers not exceeding 20,000 tons.

Two gunboats for Chinese waters. Asked whether the construction of the Geneva arms conference, Swanson—a former delegate—said not, since "we don't do

Secret Service Uncovers An Arms Smuggling Plot

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—The smuggling of arms and ammunition to Cuba by airplane from Miami, Florida, was divulged in evidence seized by Secret Service operatives when they arrested Angel Rodriguez and his wife Sadie, at Augusta, Ga., on charges of passing counterfeit money.

W. H. Moran, chief of the Secret Service, announced today that "sufficient evidence indicating conclusively this man has been engaged in smuggling arms and ammunition from Miami to Cuba by airplane" was found in possession of the couple.

Rodriguez and his wife were known in New York as Ralph Rena and Sadie Rena. She also was known as Sadie Waxman. The couple was arrested at Augusta after they are alleged to have passed counterfeit money at Aiken, S. C. Moran said reports he had received said the couple had in their possession counterfeit one dollar silver certificates and counterfeit $10 Federal Reserve notes. He said they also had a large quantity of morphine in their possession. The Secret Service chief declined to say how great the smuggling activities had been but said that the evidence against the couple found in correspondence was "conclusive."

While the Secret Service will hold the couple on charges of counterfeiting it was notified by the Narcotic Bureau that the couple had narcotics in their possession and also has notified the Department of Justice regarding the smuggling activities.

The latter department is expected to investigate the smuggling evidence at once.

Mattern Is Overdue On Over Ocean Hop

Nome, Alaska, June 15.—(AP)—Jimmie Mattern, the globe-girdling aviator, was overdue today from Khabarovsk, Siberia, on the perilous 2,500-mile ocean lap.

The aviator tackled the treacherous water stretch in the face of severe weather on this side, although the winds were not as strong as on Tuesday when he was forced back to Khabarovsk.

He left the Siberian town at 3:30 p. m., eastern standard time yesterday, and was expected to reach Nome in 17 hours—7:30 a. m., eastern standard time, or 1:30 a. m. (Nome Time) today.

At 10 a. m. eastern standard time, Mattern had been on his way 19 1/2 hours. Wiley Post and Harold Gatty covered the same leg on their record round-the-world flight in 16 3/4 hours.

GREAT BRITAIN PAYS 10 MILLIONS ON DEBT

Italy Also Makes Part Payment and France Again Defaults; Expect Nothing from the Other Nations.

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—War debt installments fell due today with Great Britain paying $10,000,000 in silver on the $75,950,000 it owes, France again defaulting and Italy making a part payment.

Weeks of patient negotiations reached their culmination in a presidential announcement of the British payment, which the London government frankly asserted to be "an acknowledgment of the debt pending a final settlement."

Making it clear he does not characterize the resultant situation as a "default," Mr. Roosevelt said he had granted an urgent British request for a review of its existing debt agreement and has suggested to the London government it bring its proposals to Washington at a convenient date for discussion, the result to be laid before Congress for decision.

Notes Are Exchanged The developments were contained in a formal note to London, an American reply and a supplemental statement by the President, all made public last evening, simultaneously with an explanation speech in the House of Commons by Chancellor Neville Chamberlain of the British Exchequer.

The Congressional response was immediate and loud. In the Senate regular Republicans challenged the development as "a breach of faith" and a "plain default on a plain promise."

Administration men and Republican Independents sprang to the defense. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, denounced the criticism as evidence of an effort to keep Congress in session to hinder the President's handling of the debt question, and to impair the American

BISHOP ACHESON SCORES DRY LAW

State Head of Episcopal Church Urges Repeal of the 18th Amendment.

Middletown, June 15.—(AP)—The Rt. Rev. E. Campion Acheson of Middletown, Bishop of the Diocese of Connecticut, today urged the repeal of the 18th Amendment as the way to true temperance in a statement issued at his home.

Bishop Acheson said: "I was an earnest advocate for prohibition. I believed in it, and when in France spoke to groups of our soldiers of the benefits we hoped would come to our nation because of it."

"This position was gradually undermined by what I saw during the ensuing years and as time went on, I was compelled to abandon it entirely."

United States Wins Important Victory at World Economic Conference — France at First Opposed American on Grounds That Chairman Should Come from Gold Standard Nation — Compromise Follows Dispute.

LONDON, JUNE 15.—(AP)—The United States achieved a great and hard-won victory in the world economic conference with the election of James M. Cox as chairman of the vital monetary committee by the steering committee late today.

The designation of the American was unanimous and his name was presented by the Frenchman, Georges Bonnet, who had himself been a candidate. Bonnet had bitterly opposed Cox's election until a compromise was effected among warring groups in mid-afternoon.

Opposition to the American had been based on grounds that the chairman should come from a gold standard country.

Finance Minister Guido Jung of Italy was given the vice-chairmanship and M. Bonnet, the French finance minister, was elected reporter to the conference.

Prime Minister Hendryk Colijn of Holland, who had been suggested as a compromise chairman of the monetary group, was elected to head the important economic committee.

With this happy outcome of the imbricco Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and other members of the steering committee withdrew from the private room where they met to the assembly hall to speak the good news to the General Assembly.

The elevator in which the entire party was descending got stuck and for some time delayed proceedings. Mr. MacDonald and the steering committee were stalled in the elevator for ten minutes before they were finally released.

Mr. MacDonald's dry Scotch humor came to the surface as he emerged, saying with a smile: "We have had an adventure."

Addressing the assemblage, the British prime minister reported the elections of the conference bureau and said if they met the approval of the assembly that the committee would get together tomorrow.

The Assembly unanimously approved, the delegates greeting the names of the men elected with applause. The mention of Mr. Cox brought a special ovation.

A second vice president was chosen for each of the committees—monetary and economic. Victor Klenbock of Austria was named vice president of the monetary committee along with Sigmar Jung of the economic committee, beside Prime Minister Colijn as chairman, Delegate Krogmann of Germany and Thomas A. Le Breton, of Argentina, were chosen vice presidents. This committee was left to select its own chairman.

In adjourning the plenary session, Mr. MacDonald said: "I congratulate you most heartily on the proceedings since Monday. It is the most business-like and expeditious conference over which I have ever presided."

Today's session ended four days of the general meeting. Tomorrow there will be no plenary session and the committees will get into action.

STABILIZING THE DOLLAR London, June 15.—(AP)—British financial quarters were inclined to the opinion that stabilization of the dollar and the duration of the world economic conference virtually was accomplished today as the dollar steadied close to a quotation of $4.05 to the pound.

The $4.05 quotation was widely rumored as the point on which it was agreed to start stabilization. The pound had been substantially higher earlier in the day.

The steps to be taken to accomplish de facto stabilization have been the subject of much speculation, both in banking quarters and the world economic conference, but it was understood that experts are working out a formula which will include virtual cessation of foreign exchange speculation.

Stabilization, it was said in informed quarters, will be designed wholly to smooth out fluctuations rather than fix positive rates. This dollar any would permit a gradual change over a period of time as required by economic conditions.

Neither the Americans nor the British are willing to return to the gold standard until wholesale prices generally are restored to better levels.

DOLLAR BOUNDS UPWARD New York, June 15.—(AP)—An incident with reports of an imminent Anglo-American agreement on the stabilization of currencies, the dollar advanced today.

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for June 15 were $3,968,837.06; expenditures $11,828,983.31; balance $371,800,031.76. Custom receipts for the 15 days of June were $9,307,368.55.

CONOVER AGAINST BROAD ELECTORATE

Yale Economist Holds That Qualified Electorate Would Improve Conditions.

New London, June 15.—(AP)—A qualified electorate instead of the present broad electorate was advocated by Professor Milton Conover of Yale University at the morning session today of the Institute of Constructive Economy in Government which is being held by the League of Women Voters at Connecticut College Professor Conover said "Democracy defeats its own purposes with a broad electorate which can only result in social stasis."

The sources of revenue by George B. Clarke, assistant economist at Connecticut State College at Storrs. Mr. Clarke outlined the sources of income of the state of Connecticut using a series of interesting charts to illustrate his points. He said that because of the increased cost of education and the greatly increased indebtedness of the state new sources of revenue must be found to meet the needs of the government at the present time.

ABOUT TOWN

The interior trim job goes to the Hartford Builders Finish company.

The band concert committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Chamber office, to complete arrangements for the series of band concerts to be given by the Salvation Army band this summer.

Reports from Fort Wright, Fisher's Island, N. Y., where the Manchester contingent of the Forestry Corps is in training are to the effect that the boys are fretting at the delay in getting assigned to their allotted stations in the state forests. During the past ten days the boys have undergone the customary typhoid and smallpox inoculations.

One hundred and fourteen elms on North Main street, North, North School, Oakland and Union streets were sprayed Wednesday for the European elm tree beetle. The work was done by the park department.

Tennis is becoming a more popular outdoor sport in Manchester than baseball. Every public court in South Manchester was in use last night and there were persons on hand with permits ready to take the courts just as soon as those who were playing had used up the time allotted to them. What was true at the courts in South Manchester was also true of the courts at the north end. The tennis courts that are laid out on the north end playgrounds were in demand until dark.

New York, June 15.—Shipments of structural steel in May by companies representing 71 per cent of the industry totaled 52,427 tons, an increase of 25 per cent over the previous month, the American Institute of Steel Construction, Inc., reports. Bookings during the month amounted to only 25,470 tons.

The Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., weekly food index continued at 137 for the period ended June 13, unchanged from the preceding two weeks. The gain over the low of February 28 remains at 25.5 per cent.

opened a law office in Manchester. Attorney Shea is a director of the Savings Bank of Manchester, a trustee of Manchester Memorial hospital and a director of the Manchester Emergency Employment Association. He is a present District Deputy of the Knights of Columbus, being a past grand knight of Campbell Council.

When the Manchester Trust Company failed to reopen after the bank holiday Mr. Shea took an active interest in the organization of a new commercial bank. He studied the situation thoroughly and made himself an authority on the procedure in liquidating the old company and the organization of the new. When it seemed wise that the depositors be represented in the liquidation process Attorney Shea at the suggestion of The Herald conferred with Bank Commissioner Bassett and obtained much valuable information for heavy depositors.

At a meeting of the depositors Attorney Shea was named to the committee of six raised to assist the State Banking department in its work, that committee naming Mr. Shea as its chairman. He is now devoting a great amount of time to this work merely in the interests of the old bank depositors.

Mr. Shea is recognized in the local court and in the higher courts of the county and state as an able lawyer. He is of sound judgment and his keen, analytical mind should make him an excellent prosecutor.

Radical Vs. Conservative Argument Over Roosevelt Continues Burning Topic

One thing the all-embracing administration emergency program does not do is to end the dispute whether Mr. Roosevelt, as President, is destined to be influenced more greatly by the conservative or by the radical element among his following.

It will be recalled that this was a subject of prime discussion a year ago, when the democratic nomination was made.

Some of the most extreme of the left-wingers from the west are excluding assurances that the candidate was one hundred per cent radical, that he ardently wanted a redistribution of wealth, and hated "Wall street and the interests" with unexampled venom.

At the same time a group of eastern millionaires and railroad presidents were saying that the nominee was as "safe" as Calvin Coolidge himself; that he could be trusted never to go off on a dangerous tangent or comminate any measure not thoroughly sound and orthodox.

This all was so confusing that many American citizens just gave it up and decided to wait and see how Mr. Roosevelt himself would settle the dispute if and when he entered the White House.

Since March 4 he has expressed himself to congress on virtually every important issue. Yet the dispute goes on, with only minor modifications.

From Both Sides The farm bill was passed and cries of pain from old-time easterners, who said the inspiration for such a policy could have come only from the Russians.

The inflation project and the gold clause repeal shocked some of the conservatives even more.

But the industry control bill, drafted largely by big industrialists, used a call to American women to follow London economic conference events which she described as being of vital importance to them in their homes.

Mrs. Roosevelt said women have a very special and vital concern in what is happening at the economic conference. She gave them her own recipe for reading newspapers in such a way as to keep track of events even in a crowded day.

"This is a time when women have a special stake in watching what is happening in National and international affairs. Every woman should have a knowledge of what is going on in the economic conference because it does effect future settlements and amicable relations between the nations of the world."

"It has been stated that the debt question is not to be discussed at the conference but whatever does come out of the conference will determine economic conditions here and abroad and affect the economic status of the whole world."

"Therefore it is vitally important to every woman in her own home."

advocated by him. What he had to say to Cutting of New Mexico and Stetler of Oregon was known only to the three.

Has Veto Ready The leaders were out to have the Democratic representatives stand behind the President, prolonging the deadlock with the Senate. If this turned out to be impossible, as appeared likely, it was known Mr. Roosevelt already had a succinct note prepared and he was believed on the hill to be ready—if necessary—to deliver it in person to a joint meeting of the two branches.

The House met but an instant at 10 a. m., and recessed for the Democrats to gather. Representative Byrns, the party leader, termed the meeting a "conference" rather than a caucus, explaining it takes two thirds of those present to bind the Democratic membership to vote under the caucus, while a majority suffices to express the sentiment of the membership under a conference.

There was to be an effort to reacquire a vote in the House by early afternoon.

NEPHEW OF MELLON INVOLVED IN SUIT

Charged With Failing to Pay Two Million Dollars as His Income Tax.

Pittsburgh, June 15.—(AP)—William L. Mellon, president of the Gulf Oil Company, today was given 15 days in which to file an answer to the suit charging him with income tax evasions of $2,000,000.

The action, brought by David A. Olson, former special counsel for the Senate banking and currency committee, seeks to recover from Mellon, nephew of Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasurer, a total of $4,000,000, twice the amount of the tax.

Olson contends Mellon omitted from his tax returns for the years 1926 to 1930, inclusive, the value of 73,000 shares of Gulf stock which the suit asserts were given him for services. Olson places the value of the shares at $5,023,520.

He asserts that Mellon, with K. B. Mellon, an uncle, and G. R. Nutty, a Gulf official, conspired to conceal the fact that the shares were compensation by giving the corporation five notes of $500,000 each.

QUESTIONS BLODGETT'S POWER AT HEARING

Tax Commissioner Orders Hartford Assessors from Room—Attorney Butler Protests.

Hartford, June 15.—(AP)—State Tax Commissioner William H. Blodgett is an administrative official and cannot function as a court of law and order the exclusion of interested parties for an inequalitarian hearing, Attorney Robert P. Butler told the Supreme Court of Errors this morning in arguing the appeal of Assessor John F. Cogrove from a jail sentence for his refusal to testify before the commissioner in his investigation of tax assessment methods after his fellow members of the board had been ordered from the room.

Deputy Tax Commissioner Farwell Knapp, who represented Mr. Blodgett, contended that such power was a requisite in order to properly and thoroughly conduct a hearing and prevent witnesses from learning of other testimony.

The appeal was based on Mr. Blodgett's attempt to get information from Mr. Cogrove in his investigation of Hartford tax assessments.

Mr. Cogrove refused to take the oath or testify when he was summoned after the commissioner ejected William J. Hardie and George F. Kinella, who previously had been on the stand, as well as his counsel and a stenographer, while permitting a newspaperman to remain.

NAVY DEPT. TO ACCEPT NEW AIRSHIP MACON

Report That Rudder Was Damaged in Test Flight Is Denied by Swanson.

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—Secretary Swanson announced today the special trial board had recommended that the Navy accept the new airship, Macon.

The board headed by Rear Admiral George Day, reported the airship's flights were completed and recommended acceptance "subject to routine post-trial inspection."

"On the morning of June 13 persistent press reports to the effect that the Macon's rudder was damaged over Frankfort, Michigan, were received," Swanson said, "and the Navy Department at that time in constant communication with the Macon sent her the following message:

"Verify press reports to the effect rudder damaged or any other damage over Michigan," to which an answer was immediately received from the commanding officer of the Macon to the effect that the ship had sustained no damage whatsoever either to the rudder or any other part of the ship.

"On the basis of the flight a message was received this morning from the commanding officer of the Macon to the effect that the ship had sustained no damage whatsoever either to the rudder or any other part of the ship."

"The board recommended that the Navy Department accept the Macon pursuant to the routine final inspection trials."

52,000 GET BOOST IN THEIR WAGES

All of the Big Rubber Companies Announce Ten Per Cent Increase Today.

Akron, O., June 15.—(AP)—E. F. Goodrich Company today announced a 10 per cent increase in the wages and salaries of all employees. The action follows similar announcements by Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company; Firestone Tire and Rubber Company; General Tire and Rubber Company; and Mohawk Rubber Company, and a five per cent increase last week by Seiberling Rubber Company.

The Goodrich order affects 17,000 persons employed at the plants in Akron and Los Angeles, cotton mills at Silvertown, Ga., and branches scattered throughout the country. It is effective today as are the Goodyear, Firestone and General increases. Mohawk's goes into effect tomorrow.

With addition of Goodrich to the list, it is estimated that 52,000 residents of the United States receive pay boosts from the rubber companies.

How Uncle Sam's New Mortgage Plan Aids Home Owners. FORECLOSURE. Home owner (for example) has $8000 mortgage, at 5 per cent on $10,000 house. Cannot pay and faces foreclosure, with loss to both self and mortgage holder by forced sale. Applies to new federal corporation for aid, later induces mortgagee to reduce mortgage to $6000 and exchange it for corporation's bonds bearing 4 per cent guaranteed interest. Government gives home owner new $8000 mortgage payable in 18 years at 5 per cent interest. A three-year moratorium may be granted persons unable to pay. If home needs repairs or taxes are arrears, the corporation may lend the necessary money at 5 per cent, adding this loan to the amount of the mortgage.

MARVELOUS MANHATTAN

By WILLIAM GAINES

New York—This year we observe the 100th anniversary of the birth of Johannes Brahms so here's an apt tale for you:

Charles F. Posty, of the Radio City musical library staff, who has dedicated his latest composition, "The Spirit of America," to President Roosevelt, is a graduate of the Vienna Conservatory of Music, where Brahms was one of his teachers.

Posty was 18 when he played the first clarinet in the student orchestra, and full of youthful snickers.

He recalls Brahms in his late years, with patriarchal beard, solemn mien, standing only about 5 feet, 5, and very corpulent.

In July, 1895, when Brahms was rehearsing the students in his own composition, the Academie orchestra, every time he would turn upon Posty for the clarinet to take over the melody, the young fellow would lose control of himself and break out laughing.

It was evident that this peevish great Brahms, but he overlooked it in rehearsal.

Got Brahms' Goat

But then came the orchestra's public performance. Posty was determined to be serious. When his solo passages were called for, the master restrained in directing.

Despite everything, the solo went sour. One squeak of the clarinet followed another and the beauty of the melody together with Brahms' temper was lost.

"After the concert," Posty told me, "Brahms called all of us students into the artists' room, ruffing with rage, he hurried in Vienna-German dialect: 'Wo ist der Spitzbub? In den Proben hat er gelacht und heute hat er gepostet.' Meaning, 'Where is the bad boy? In the rehearsals he laughed and today he squeaked.'

"I tried to speak out of the room but Brahms saw me. He screamed—I'll put it in English for you—'Say, boy, come here! I like to slap your ears, you rascal.'

"But I was gone for a summer vacation."

No Acting For A Horse

Edith Tallafra got a telephone call from the manager of a summer stock theater on Long Island. He wanted to know if she would come out there and revive the leading part in "Private Lives," which she played for a whole season. She asked him what he would pay.

"We can't guarantee any set salary," the manager purred, "It's according to our receipts. But we'll have lots of fun, and you can lead a healthful outdoor life. Plenty of horseback riding and boating."

"How dare you!" the actress stormed—"call up a star and ask her to play in the sticks for a horseback ride!"

"If you really are near water, please go jump in!"

OPEN FORUM TUESDAY'S VOTE

Editor of The Herald: In just a week the voters of Connecticut must decide the stand Connecticut must take on the Eighteenth Amendment. They must either preserve or destroy the best control measure which this country has been able to set up for the regulation of the drink traffic after a century in which every other method has been tried and found wanting.

Local opinion did not work; county control was inefficient; state control was difficult of enforcement and so the American people by the greatest majority ever given an amendment said that the liquor business must no longer exist.

Today the liquor interests, the wet press, and the rich who wish to escape their taxes are demanding that the liquor trade must be re-established. If they are able to make enough people believe this, they will become wealthy and the common people will again bear the heavy taxes which the wealthy are now easily carrying.

The wets have nothing constructive to offer. Once they said that all the people want is light wines and beer, not hard drinks. They then stamped the enforcement act off the books and said that in the future it would take four years to get up to intoxication. Now while they are slowly increasing the alcohol content of this four percent let too many might get drunk and a bad start be made, they are saying that the American people are hard drink users. Once they said the saloon must not come back so they set up the tavern with fewer restrictions than the old saloon ever had.

Until the wets can prove, not promise that their drink will not be far worse than the saloon, that drink will not cause poverty, sickness, and broken homes and lives, that the liquor traffic will obey restrictive legislation (it didn't in the good old days)—until that time it is the duty of every citizen to vote against the ratification of the Twenty-First Amendment.

David Stone Kelsey spoke on the National Grange Mutual Liability company and also gave two readings.

The trial, entitled, "The Little Twins vs. Mrs. Biggers Moore," was written by Mrs. Hardy, and the comic speeches and costumes kept the audience in an uproar. The twins, Mrs. Carrie Howard and Walter Joyner, who appeared in romper suits were suing Mrs. Moore (Mrs. Arthur Loomis) for under-feeding.

Neither of them had that appearance but they brought all sorts of ridiculous charges in regard to food and recreation against their landlady, who had witnesses to prove

BARGAIN BRIDE

By KATHARINE HAVLAND-TAYLOR

"I wish I could take you back with me, Jerry," said Jarrett.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BARRETT COLVIN, 35, returns to New York after four years' absence. He is rich and has made a name for himself as an archeologist. The first to greet him is his half-sister, MARCIA RADNOR, younger, selfish and spoiled. Marcia is happily married now. Years before Barrett shielded her when a youthful flirtation ended disastrously. Marcia had a son whom Barrett adopted. She is worried because the boy's tutor has threatened her with blackmail and declares her husband will never forgive her if he learns the truth. Barrett agrees to deal with the tutor, HAROLD DEXTER.

As Marcia is leaving she sees ELINOR STAFFORD across the street and offers to drive her home. Elinor, 20, has been calling on her wealthy aunt, MISS ELLA SEXTON. All Miss Sexton's relatives (with the exception of Elinor) are eagerly awaiting her death, hoping to inherit a share of the Sexton fortune.

Marcia and Elinor depart. The girl, instead of going home, goes to visit her cousin, PHILIP SEXTON, and loans him $20. Philip has been discovered by his aunt. Elinor is the only one of the family who remains friendly with him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV

Two days later Barrett Colvin, in Connecticut, stepped into his low roadster. His ward, who at nine years was beginning to stretch to the famed Colvin height, stood near by, looking at Barrett wistfully. "I do wish you could stay longer," he said. Then, with an effort, he forced a smile, adding, "It was nice of you to come. I'm glad you came."

Barrett leaned from the car to take the boy's hand. "I'm coming back," he promised, "and we're going to have some good times!"

He was tremendously attracted to Gerald who was clever without being too serious, who was, in short, the reassuringly normal, healthy-minded fabric for a man. Gerald would turn out well, Barrett knew, if he had his chance; and the visit had strengthened the intensity of Barrett's vow to give Gerald that chance.

"It was fine of you to come, Mr. Barry, and to send me all those cards when you were away. I'd pretty nearly forgotten what you looked like. You see it was a long time ago that you went away."

"That's true," Barrett agreed, contritely.

"Are you going to stay here a while now?" the boy asked. He tried, without success to make his question casual.

"I will, I promise, Gerald, until it's easy for you to let me go."

"See whizz, I don't see how you can ever go then!" Jerry commented, smiling.

"Well, all fiddle that way," Barrett thought. He tightened his hand on the boy's. "Nice youngster! Deserving of everything square and good! Odd how I made you feel to see family traits intensify . . . rather melt-

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

CONSULT YOUR DOCTOR ON PROBLEMS OF BABY'S HEALTH IN SUMMER.

The importance of proper medical care for infants is emphasized in this article, the first of a series of six by Olive Roberts Barton on summer care for babies.

Babies and summer are almost synonymous in a mother's mind. Synonymous with trouble too. We might even call it the great national complex, because if there is no actual illness, probably a mother lives who deep in her heart, doesn't anticipate it.

If a baby goes half the summer without being ill, she is almost certain to say to herself, "It will come now! Surely I couldn't be so lucky as to go through the next three months without Baby Bett having one sick day!"

But it is all wrong. With babies as with anything else worry beforehand is useless. Besides it uses up energy that may well be directed elsewhere.

Illness Is No Matter of Luck

I am not telling a mother that cheerful thoughts alone will keep her baby safe and well. But I do insist that if she is alert and takes precautions against illness there is no more reason for her baby to be sick in the hot months than in the cold.

She must make up her mind that her baby is not going to be ill, and then stick to it. No magic will do it—no element of luck.

The first piece of advice I wish to give in this series of articles is this:

Every mother should have a good doctor, or if she cannot afford one, she should get in touch with a baby clinic. Don't dodge your doctor if you owe him a bill. Go to him and say, "Doctor, I have a baby and it is summer. Jim is going to have work by such a talk. You charge more and let us pay you later?" But in any case it making such tangles to be hidden, making them things to hide! Barrett made even one trip to Mrs. Cooke's farm house. He felt increasing resentment, reminding himself that he was a fool to have placed the slightest trust in any of Marcia's easy promises. If he reproached her (as he would not, kept by common sense from making futile motions) Marcia would probably murmur, "But I thought, Barry—I really thought Annie had gone. I told her to go—I'm certain, dear." And this murmur made, she would be done with the matter. Barrett shook his head. There was no understanding how anyone could shake responsibility as Marcia did.

The boy was appealing too. Engagingly unspoiled, obviously a truth-teller and softened so easily by kindness, it was all too evident that kindnesses were not common for him.

"Damn!" said Barrett, half-loud but feelingly. He could not remember being more ashamed and irritated. Shamed at having had part in an arrangement so patently unsatisfactory and irritated by Marcia's running true, as she always did, to her selfish type.

Civilization? The devil will!

It was true that he was not in that class physically, but he was remarkably fit. A man can not wield a pick under a desert sun without return in hardness! Still he was 35 years old and Elinor Stafford could not be more than 20 at the most, he decided—perhaps for the first time.

He tried to visualize her as she had looked four years ago but the new vision covered and dimmed the old. He remembered suddenly that Elinor's mother had been called at that time the most beautiful woman in New York and that everyone, seeing her with her daughter, had wondered at the daughter's lack of grace, of arresting loveliness or languid, wistful appeal.

When Barrett reached home he found Higgins waiting with several messages. Mrs. Radnor had telephoned and asked Mr. Barrett to telephone her between six and seven. A young gentleman named Dexter had called. He had not been willing to explain his mission to Higgins but he promised to call another time. Barrett's square chin became dangerously set. He did not know what Gerald's erstwhile tutor, Dexter, could want of him, but he knew exactly what he wanted from Dexter if he intruded—or tried to intrude. Barrett would enjoy the solace of pitching him out and he had not seen the man he could not deal with in this way if he wished to.

Higgins waived. Quite obviously he had something else to say.

"Well?" Barrett prompted a little shortly. "He had been put out by Dexter's daring to call. The matter was closed; he had dismissed Dexter."

Miss Ella Sexton sent you a note at noon, str., Higgins said. "I went over to tell her you were gone from town and she sent back word through Craven that she would like you to read her note as soon as you returned."

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins is refuting a lot of praise for thinking up ways to put men to work, but we believe most wives could give her a few pointers around house-cleaning time.

Scientists insist that long-range weather forecasts are impossible, but after looking over the report returns from the various states we feel entirely safe in predicting that 1934 will be a wet year.

CANADIAN HOME CRAFTS FLOURISH

Thousands Are Reviving Vogue for Products of Loom and Needle

Quebec.—It looks as if nothing short of a correspondence school in Canadian home handicrafts will satisfy the demands for sewing instructions that pour into the Quebec School of Handicraft, according to A. O. Bériau, director general.

The Quebec Provincial Government founded this school in 1930 to revive the old French-Canadian domestic arts and help citizens make a living.

Anyone who has motored to this quaint city and its environs will remember the fascination with which they viewed the miles of hooked rugs, sofa pillows, wall hangings, table covers and other pieces of handwork hanging on fences by old-fashioned little houses, where old men, women and children were to be seen weaving, spinning, and hooking rugs on porches or in yards.

Thousands Clothing Themselves

Just seeing these alluring, decorative and useful pieces makes visiting motorists want to learn how to spin, hook and make their own. And this way the school has had requests for instruction shows that home handicrafts are having a revival never dreamed of three years ago when the school was started.

Two thousand local women applied for instruction the first year. This year there were 20,000 registrations and thousands of letters asking for correspondence courses. More than 150,000 "habitant" French Canadian rural families are now completely clothing themselves, utilizing more than 2,000,000 pounds of wool annually.

To a large extent, Monsieur Bériau explained, the school works in co-operation with the women's clubs, which receive social courses in their own communities. It also tutors nuns, convents and teaching staffs of the various schools of Home Economics.

U. S. Women Interested

Virtually every phase of the domestic arts of their colonizing French ancestors are being taught the women of Quebec. But their chief interest centers on spinning, weaving, rug hooking and vegetable dyeing.

Tapestries, hand bags, scarfs, blankets, curtains, woven by the yard and woolen clothing, linens and other products come out of these growing "fireside factories."

With the increasing number of letters arriving with U. S. stamps on them, Bériau is convinced that this revival of handicrafts is a world-wide movement, part and parcel of the depression, one more indication that families are getting back to the home and an appreciation of the beauty and satisfaction in home-made productions.

PREPARING FOR THE MAKE-UP

Don't ever make-up for evening without preparing your face for it. This doesn't take long. Just a quick get-ready facial. If you have given yourself a good 10-minute facial, or even a 15-minute one, then all you need do is to apply foundation cream and then apply make-up.

But if you dash in, all tired out and have no time at all for a facial, wash your face thoroughly with warm water and soap, get it good and clean. The warm water will relax your facial muscles and it only takes a minute. Then apply some good nourishing cream, rub it in, with upward strokes, and hop into your tub or your shower. Wipe off your cream as you dry yourself and see if your face hasn't lost much of its tensesness, just from the few seconds it has been exposed to kind treatment.

Now pat on with a piece of gauze or cotton or just use your hands and slap on some good face tonic. This is absolutely necessary to tone up your face and it makes you feel better all over to have your face toned up.

Wipe it off, then put on your foundation cream and start make-up. If you are very speedy, this will take only five minutes, all told. Any day's worth keeping is worth waiting five minutes for.

For summer evenings, there are some delectable new face powders that you dust over after you have made up. Blue is for blondes, green for medium coloring and lavender for brunettes. It gives a kind of glamour that women love and men fall for!

WHERE DESPAIR AND HOPE ARE MINGLED

That's America As It Appears To An English Educator

By BRUCE CATTON

America is a problem-hunter's paradise. Every problem that racks the world is likely to be found in America, in an exaggerated form. The one thing to remember is that it is never safe to judge anything in America by its present state; you have to figure on where it's headed, instead.

So says "My American Friends," one of the pleasantest and, I think, shrewdest of all recent overseas studies of American life.

Dr. Jacks has toured the republic extensively; he has kept his eyes on a route.

He finds America a land of glaring contrasts. Some of the things he saw here moved him to black despair; others filled him with unbounded hope. American cities, he says, display humanity at its very best and its very worst. Beauty and ugliness, wisdom and folly, nobility and crime, all are jumbled together, he says, and from the mixture you can draw practically any deduction you wish.

All in all, he is inclined to be more optimistic than otherwise in his conclusions. What the world of the future is to be like, he admits, depends largely on two nations—America and Russia; Russia has already chosen her course, and America is right in the process of making a choice now. In consequence, it is a tremendously exciting place; a place which he thinks Europe could profitably study a lot more closely than it has yet done.

"My American Friends" is published by Macmillan at $2.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

An air race meeting is planned at Detroit, July 15-16, to be held in connection with the annual Michigan Air Tour.

Oklahoma's legislature recently defeated a movement to derive funds for maintaining existing state airports from money obtained by taxing airplanes gasoline.

The world speed record for seaplanes is held by Warrant Officer Francesco Agello, of the Italian navy, who set a new mark of 423.72 miles an hour recently.

Dorothy Hester, well-known acrobatic flier, has opened a flying school at Portland, Ore.

France has introduced a new contribution to the "baby car" field. It is a five-horsepower, two-passenger unit, with a wheelbase of only a little more than six feet, selling for $480.

Sick Skin

Sensational results in cases of Skin Diseases are being obtained by an amazing ointment.

Pimples are brought to a head without squeezing. Itching stopped. Sores relieved. Chapped Skin and Cold Sores healed, and the skin left gloriously smooth and healthy. No matter whether you have spots, Acne, Boils or open sores—only one box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT will convince you that here at last is the supreme healer.

Remember this: if you have Athlete's Foot, Ringworm, burning feet, cracks between the toes—this powerful ointment kills the ringworm, and prevents the trouble from over. There is only one PETERSON'S OINTMENT. Get it at any drug store. And be sure to use Peterson's Ointment for your feet.

Price of book 10 cents.
 Price of pattern 15 cents.

SENSE and NONSENSE

When a man has been pounded by overwhelming odds for a long time either one of two things happens: he is whipped and knows he is whipped, in which case he loses his initiative and his ability to fight back; or he is roused to such a pitch of grim determination that he gets in and fights his way back.

Generally the more shiftless a man is the more critical he is of the shiftlessness of others.

Bride—You didn't talk that way before we were married?
Groom—What way?
Bride—You said you would go through fire and water for me, and now you refuse every time I ask you for money.
Groom—But I never said I'd go through bankruptcy for you.

On the wall of a large corporation this saying is displayed: "There never was anything made but what somebody else could make it worse and sell it for less."

Doctor—You must avoid all forms of excitement.
Male Patient—But, doctor, can't I even look at them on the street?
"I can say this for them: Girls are more polite to old men than boys are to old women."

Some men would rather be right than to be president. But most of us have no ambitions along either line.

A lot of young men start out in life with no more idea of where they're going than the stick on a skyrocket.

Girl—It's sweet of you to bring me this miltotee.

The milk of human kindness might not be so bad if it were not skimmed so often.

Boy Friend—Don't mention it. The pleasure is going to be mine.

There is probably no bigger fool than an old fool, unless perhaps there might happen to be two old fools.

A nickel never sounds any louder than when it is dropped in a church collection plate.

Expenses must be reduced if taxes are to be reduced.

What a man can't understand is why his wife can't be as satisfied with him as he is with himself.

SOME PEOPLE ARE SO CONSIDERATE THAT THEY WOULD RATHER WRECK A MACHINE THAN TO SEE SOMEONE ELSE TAKE HOLD AND RIGHT IT.

Billie (who has eaten his apple)—Let's play Adam and Eve.
Little Pattie—How do we play it?
Billie—You tempt me to eat your apple and I'll give in.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:
A girl can always put the skids under a poor skate by taking a good pair along.

There is something mysteriously attractive about all mysteries except hash.

Doctor—You are undernourished. You should eat more substantial food.
Patient—The spirit is willing, but the grocer's confidence is weak.

"Will you please insert this obituary notice?" asked an old gentleman of the editor of a paper. "I ask it because the deceased had a great many friends about here who'd be glad to hear of her death."

It's hard for a man to climb up in this world, but it hurts him far more to climb down again.

Walter (after spilling plate of soup down guest's neck)—I beg your pardon, sir!
Guest—Oh, that's all right! I really didn't want the soup anyway.

Reforming the government is a cinch compared to raising the money to finance the reform.

She—Your absurdity would make a donkey laugh.
He—Yeah, I noticed you was laughing.

ALL STRAWBERRIES IN MARKET SOLD

High Price Is $2.80 a Crate; Average Yesterday Hits $2.05 a Crate.

All strawberries offered for sale at the Manchester fruit and vegetable market yesterday were disposed of and the high market price for a crate of berries to be sold at the auction since the market opened last Sunday was broken when a bid of $2.80 a crate was accepted by the bidder.

It looked at first as though the growers were going to refuse the offers made as the first three to drive to the platform passed the bids that were made on their berries, with the bid around $2 a crate.

berries to the Buckingham market the day before did not put in an appearance to get their checks. It was later learned that the growers that were to furnish berries to the Glastonbury market were not picking and were not likely to continue to do so at the present prices.

An effort is being made today to have the Glastonbury growers join up with the Manchester market and have one selling place.

These two buyers purchased most of the larger loads that came to the market and smaller buyers picked up those in lots of ten to fifteen crates.

The price of $2.80 a crate paid for a new strawberry type in this section was watched with interest by all of the growers.
