FINANCIAL MARTS REGISTER UPTURN

Stocks Gain from $1 to $11 a Share in Many of the Leading Issues.

New York, July 1.—(AP)—Financial markets swung upward buoyantly today following renewed strength and foreign exchanges regained portions of their recent losses.

Stocks were turned over in large volume at gains of $1 to as much as $11 a share. Wheat, corn and oats leaped forward with advances of 1 to more than 3 cents a bushel, cotton rallied more than $1 a bale.

Found Advances The British pound sterling advanced 6 1/2 cents to a cable rate of $4.84 1/2. French francs were up .09 of a cent at $2.04 1/2 cents, and the gold currencies of Holland, Belgium and Switzerland were equally strong.

In rapid-fire stock trading, with the ticker running several minutes behind floor transactions, Allied Chemical got up about $11 a share to $126. In addition to general market buoyancy, this issue was aided by settlement of the company's controversy with the New York Stock Exchange.

NATION STARTING NEW YEAR TODAY

Review of What Has Been Done Recently by New Administration.

Washington, July 1.—(AP)—The United States government started a new year today, leaving behind in its pursuit of progress some ancient commandments about how a government should treat its citizens and their money.

Important in these changes is what has happened to the "gold standard"; of interest is the fact that an individual can expect more direct aid from his Federal government than ever before.

Since mid-March, money has been "off the gold standard." People used to be able to trade a dollar bill for gold. Now they can "trade it off for another dollar bill or for paper securities, such as a share in the mortgage on a house."

On more direct concern to the individual are some other things. For generations, people have been told to settle their money problems with their banks.

Millions For Needy Millions are being poured out, too, to care for the hungry and poorly clothed. A number of other, and different things, are being done. The government once kept only one set of books; now it keeps two. One records expenditures and tax receipts used for ordinary operations.

Public Works Program The $3,800,000,000 job-creating, public works program is in the latter class. Long term bonds will be issued to finance the money to pay off these bonds when they mature.

The government also has told bankers they must stop speculating with the people's money. It is setting up machinery to insure against loss of money that is put in the banks; it is in a position to tell industry, for a time at least, how long it shall work its employees, and how much it shall pay them.

TREASURY BALANCE Washington, July 1.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for June 30 were $4,792,215.90; expenditures $10,564,708.99; balance $588,769,811.56. Customs duties for 30 days of June were $21,452,898.88.

'LEGS' DIAMOND'S WIDOW IS MURDERED IN HOME

Police Believe She Was Slain Because She Knew Too Much; Recently Had Been Practicing Marksmanship.

New York, July 1.—(AP)—Two question marks danced before detectives today after an all-night inquiry into the murder of Mrs. Jack Diamond, 33-year-old widow of the notorious "Legs."

Why did the dark-haired widow practice marksmanship so intently for several weeks before a killer fired a bullet into her temple after a struggle in her Brooklyn flat?

Who sent large sums of money—sometimes as high as $1,000 a week—to Mrs. Diamond, who nevertheless lived in comparative penury in her $45-a-month home?

Strange disclosures followed in quick succession after the widow's body was found last night, sprawled before a little table, on which stood three coffee cups, drained to the dregs.

The dominant police theory was that the woman, whose gang chief husband was shot to death in Albany, Dec. 18, 1931, was killed because she may have "known too much."

Recently, in a speakeasy, her tongue loosened a bit. "I am tired," she complained to friends, "of protecting a lot of mugs."

Practiced Shooting A theory that she lived in fear was bolstered—seemingly—by her persistent practice with shotgun and rifle.

U. S. STOCKHOLDERS ARE HAPPY AGAIN

Favorable Dividend Changes Almost Doubled Over June a Year Ago.

New York, July 1.—(AP)—Happy news for stockholders, as compared with the dark picture of a year ago, is contained in the American dividend record of the past month.

Favorable dividend changes almost doubled in June over the same month of 1932. As computed by the statistical experts, the score stood $2 to 48, whereas in May this year, the favorable items amounted only to 44.

The survey shows that dividends were resumed on 27 stock issues in June, as compared with 11 in the preceding month and 4 in June, last year. Increases were voted by 18 companies in June, as against 7 in May and 8 in June, 1932.

Initial Payments In June totaled 16, whereas in the previous month they were 6, and in June a year ago 17. Extra payments were made on 21 issues, as compared with 20 for May and 24 for June, 1932.

Unfavorable dividend changes for the past month were 140, in May they were 99, but in June, 1932 they stood at 476, according to the Standard Statistics Co., Inc., compiler of these figures. The report shows that there were 92 decreases in June and 48 omissions. In May there were 42 decreases and 57 payments were passed. In June a year ago, reduced dividends were 297 and omissions totaled 219.

The paper in a copyrighted story says the plan designed to save the world economic conference, have been "definitely adopted" and will be carried out in such a way as to leave the domestic recovery program of the federal government free from restrictions.

The dollar will not be pegged at any particular level with relation to other currencies; the primary purpose is to end violent fluctuations.

Indications were that the plan would bring the United States and Great Britain into closer relationship with regard to their currencies.

The actual ground work for the new program is reported to have been laid Thursday at the weekly meeting of directors of the New York Federal Reserve bank.

NEW STATE HEADS TAKE THEIR POSTS

Fiscal Year Begins — Salaries Reduced; New Beer Rules in Effect Today.

Hartford, July 1.—(AP)—The state departments had new heads today while thousands of state employees began a new fiscal year with reduced salaries.

Senator William H. Haddock of New Haven, Democrat, assumed his duties as tax commissioner; Oloft F. King of South Windsor, was the new commissioner of agriculture; while Senator Joseph H. Lawlor of Waterbury became boxing commissioner.

As these new appointees assumed office, William H. Haddock, tax commissioner since 1930, retired; S. McLean Buckingham stepped out as commissioner of agriculture; and Thomas E. Donohue completed his appointment as boxing commissioner.

Laws Go Into Effect. Meanwhile many important laws enacted by the 1933 General Assembly went into effect today.

Hotel and restaurants can now sell beer with or without serving meals; druggists may apply for a permit to brew the brew; while in industry, the new minimum wage law, the 52 hour week for women and children went into effect.

Other laws making drastic changes in previous statutes were the new security laws, amendments to the motor vehicle laws and the unemployment relief legislation creating a new state unemployment commission.

Colonel Michael A. Conner preceded his fellow Democrats into office by one month. He became state motor vehicle commissioner June 1, replacing Robbins B. Stoelkel.

Other Appointments. Many other appointments to state boards and commissions became effective today, but these were generally regarded as less important since they carry no salaries and offer virtually no patronage privileges.

Whatever election was felt by Democrats as they tightened their control over various governmental divisions was tempered somewhat by the wage cut for state employees ordered by the General Assembly. These cuts, ranging from 8 to 16 per cent, affected approximately 3,000 persons on the state payroll and are expected to reduce more than $2,000,000 a year from the governmental costs.

The General Assembly has authorized budget expenditures of more than $68,000,000 for the next biennium, which begins today. The budget approved by the Legislature ignored virtually all requests for money to finance Capitol improvements.

WOOD'S ARTESIAN WELL GIVES A BIG SUPPLY

Gets 183 Gallons a Minute from New Well Sunk at His Ice Plant.

L. T. Wood on Thursday connected up the artesian well that was driven 450 feet to supply water for the cooling system of his ice making plant. He has secured a flow of water equal to 183 gallons a minute and it is being taken from the well by a pump with a capacity of delivering 500 gallons a minute if there is need for such a supply.

The water that comes from the well registered 50 degrees, which is from 20 to 25 degrees lower than secured from the city water mains and will save considerable time in getting the water circulated at a low temperature and will mean a saving in the time that it takes to freeze the water into ice. It has been necessary to increase both the day and night forces in order to take care of the demands for ice and today Mr. Wood had to have a freight car of ice shipped into Manchester.

picture regarding the possibility of Germany's meeting her indebtedness unless she is given the chance to increase her exports.

"I see the darkest future unless we can export," he asserted. "By a series of almost superhuman and artificial measures we have remained on a gold parity, though we have no gold, knowing that abandonment of the gold parity means sinking into an abyss."

Our creditors, however, must realize that we can pay only in exports. Reichsbank's Announcement The Reichsbank yesterday announced the modification of Germany's transfer moratorium as a result of concessions made by creditors whereby services of the Dawes loan is completely transferred, while of the Young loan the interest only is so treated.

The transfer moratorium was celebrated in the application to all debts contracted before July, 1931. The Reichsbank anticipated the ability to transfer 50 per cent of the interest payments falling due in the next six months, but will pay amortization into the conversion office.

SATURDAY, JULY 1.

KAHN'S BOMBHELL

Either Otto Kahn is a very much cleverer person than any of those members of the Morgan group who testified before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee or else he is a spiritually and socially broader.

He is inclined to believe the very difference between his attitude and that of all of the House of Morgan.

Throughout the hearing of the Morgans the position taken by the witnesses and their attorneys was one of studiously polite and constantly guarded negation.

They entrenched themselves behind the law, behind precedent, and stood pat. There was never manifested the slightest disposition of willingness to co-operate with the committee, the government or the people in the effecting of any change from the old order of things.

Merely a manifestation of confidence that they were safe and of a determination to remain safe if with and prestige and retained leadership of a solidarity of money could accomplish it.

Mr. Kahn, testifying as head of the almost equally influential financial group known as Kahn, Loeb & Co., admitted participation by his firm in many of the same practices as those engaged in by the Morgans.

He even told of employing practically the same devices with relation to his income taxes as those used by Morgan partners.

But, in striking contrast to the Morgan witnesses, he did not stand pat. In fact he frankly condemned as economically and socially injurious many of the activities in which he as well as the entire financial leadership of the nation appears to have engaged—strictly within the law.

Some of the things that Mr. Kahn said to the committee on Thursday will almost certainly become classics in those forthcoming years of discussion over vital changes in the finances and capital structure of America which there will be, no avoiding—and which ought not to be avoided. For example:

If some way can be devised by which the government will get no less money, but rich people will pay, as I believe they would, more money to the government; by which this temptation to do this which the law plainly permits is definitely removed for all time, and people pay what they manifestly and on the face of their incomes ought to pay, I think you would have rendered a very great service to the community. Then consider this:

I am not sure in my mind that the time will not come when you gentlemen will determine that all these instrumentalities that deal with money and currency and with credit should be in one way or another under the supervision of some authority which accomplishes functions analogous to the governor of the Bank of England.

There is nothing novel in these views. They have been heard in Congress and in a thousand lecture rooms for many years. They have been expressed over and over again throughout an extensive literature. But not from or by great bankers closely identified with the "money trust" itself.

When so conspicuous a figure in finance as Otto Kahn declares in effect that the fiscal control of the nation cannot longer with safety be left in the hands of such men as himself, free to manipulate it as they please for the sole benefit of themselves and a tiny class, then something important has happened in America—something tremendously significant in its implications.

There will be a new attitude interpreted Mr. Kahn's speaking attitude as merely the highly intelligent ability of the handwriting on the wall.

These will say, "He is no better than the others; only smarter." It is our belief that such interpretation does less than justice to Mr. Kahn. He is, it is to be suspected, a good deal of an idealist—there is much in his life to support such a belief. We credit him with taking far more pride in this part of his testimony than in that part in which he had to admit that he merely did business on the plane on which he found it.

LONDON PUSH-AND-PULL

If the Economic Conference at London does so much as to bring to the various governments and various peoples participating in it some real sense of realization of what problems they must eventually settle by international agreement it will have been a very important success. To anticipate that it will get beyond that point is to expect miracles.

Once it becomes definitely established in the mind of the participating nations that any such thing as a free movement of trade between them cannot exist in the face of tariffs calculated in each instance to give an advantage to the nations creating them they will, naturally, cease trying to trick each other into tariff agreements based on narrow self interest; or else abandon the idea of exchanging products altogether. Once they can be made to see clearly the impossibility of bringing about disarmament without creating a definite guarantee of security, they will give up the trade and either proceed to provide the security or depend on competitive armaments as a straight-out policy.

And once they arrive at the conviction that there can be no such thing as a stabilization of currencies while each nation continues to seek special advantage from unstable ones, or by converting the others to its own peculiar system of money, they will either go to work to adopt a scientific world currency or they will abandon the pretense that currency fluctuations are as important as right now they are trying to make out they are.

Having got that far, the countries, big and little, may be ready to hold another conference at which they will really try to reach agreements. There appears to be no prospect of any such effort at the present party, since the parties as yet have only the vaguest notion of which things must go to bona fide international compromises and which can, perhaps, be jockeyed and monkeyed around into temporary domestic benefits.

Right now the little gold crowd, led by the die-hard conservatives of France, are endeavoring to create a belief throughout the world that if something drastic isn't done immediately to stop the "speculation in the dollar"—that something slyly taking the form of an international commitment to return to gold—there is going to be some kind of an awful time. They use the term "panic"—save the mark! As though anybody who has survived these post-war years is to be scared by that word any more!

To be sure, the gold clique is being pretty gallantly supported by the American correspondents who are playing up the exchange differential for about forty times as much as they are worth, and by propaganda enormously exaggerating the effect of "dollar" gambling. But it's all a waste of time and energy. America wasn't brought up in the woods to be scared by an owl. If the bankers and money swappers of Europe want to play games with the United States dollar, let them go as far as they like. They will only, in the long run, learn a needed lesson—that this country is all washed up on letting any international or national money ring run its fiscal system. And that if the game gets rough we can at any minute and for any necessary length of time retire to our own back yard and play there happily and healthfully.

So far as this country is concerned, let those fellows turn somersaults among the buzzsaws if they want to and as much as they want to. When they find that it brings them nothing but grief they may be ready to sit in on a genuine stabilization movement through the adoption of a universal composite dollar. In the meantime we needn't even get up a sweat over those frightful "capars of the dollar." Right here a dollar is a dollar—who cares what it is in Senegambia?

GRATIFYING. Apparently the serum of human decency is going to save Joseph Massarelli of Waterbury from the effects of human snakebites.

Massarelli, who broke jail in New Haven nine years ago and for six years has been living an exemplary life and supporting a family in Waterbury, was "turned in" to the police there by some anonymous snook who telephoned and who was never seen by them. They made the mistake of arresting Massarelli on this kind of information. He frankly admitted the incident of his early life which he had so earnestly sought to live down. It looked as though he would have to serve seven months of his unexpired term and, besides, be punished for the jail break.

Yesterday the last official act of Judge Daniel Pousamer of the New Haven City Court, who retired after the session of court, was to suspend sentence on Massarelli's plea of guilty. His lawyer has very strong hopes that the superior court will remit the seven months imprisonment, as he has the strongest kind of backing in Waterbury and elsewhere.

The present status and probable issue of this case will gratify thousands of Connecticut people for it is so far, and bids likely to be, a triumph of the right. To Judge Pousamer, our respect.

LEVITT AND A JOB

Professor Albert Levitt is being boosted by Connecticut Democrats for a post as a special investigator of power matters in the office of the United States attorney-general, Homer S. Cummings. Whether the boosting is likely to bear fruit or not we have no idea but since Mr. Cummings, living in Stamford, and Professor Levitt, living in Redding in the same county, have been practically neighbors for years the former probably knows without much telling whether he wants the professor around him or not. Our sheer guess would be that if Mr. Levitt gets a federal job it will be somewhere else.

Still and all, there's no particular reason why the little Jack the Giant Killer shouldn't get something out of the Democratic party. Though his special stunt in Connecticut was calling on all good Republicans to throw out their leaders and put him and other "Independents" in control of the party, he never was a Republican but always a Democrat until he burst upon the scene in this state four years ago. So far as we can see, the professor rates a job as well as any other "deserving Democrat"—and for the standard reason, "service to the party."

ROBIN H. WALKER

Jimmy Walker having declared that he is going to turn English farmer, preferring the life of a British landed squire to that of mayor of New York, the unbeatable F. P. A. of the New York Herald-Tribune suggests: "You don't suppose former Mayor Walker would dare have that farm anywhere near Sherwood Forest, do you?"

And why not, pray? Does F. P. A. suppose that Jimmy could see in the Sheriff of Nottingham anything but just a sheriff—as that official is known in the county of New York? Then why should Robin—excuse it please—Jimmy worry?

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCoy

HAVE COURAGE TO BE HEALTHY

Courage is a mighty fine companion. Like happiness and enthusiasm, it increases the strength of the body. On the other hand, fear and his spouse, worry, are two sucking leeches, tearing down the strength and vitality.

Courage or fear, happiness or misery are largely matters of habit and belief. Your environment may seem to you to be the cause of all your troubles, but this is not strictly true. Most of one's misery is caused by the way one reacts to circumstances. Instead of moaning or cursing at blind fate, how much better it is to try to improve yourself regardless of conditions.

Some of the most inspiring thoughts have been uttered by men while they were listening to the rattle of death's wings. Some of the most beautiful literature has been written by men who were pallid with prison shadows but whose spirits traveled far and wide. Many of the most tremendous achievements have been made in spite of almost insurmountable barriers. Others, with a different attitude of mind, would have allowed their thoughts to become as cramped, warped and unhealthy as their bodies.

Strong men develop their bodies by lifting their weights and doing hard work. The same may be true in the mental realm. Your troubles should be considered as weights to be lifted to strengthen your mental muscles.

Psychologists have come to believe that fear is the most destructive force in the lives of most people. Let us look into this business of being afraid. Science has shown that we are born afraid of only three things. They are these: The loss of support or of being dropped, the fear of a loud noise, and physical pain. All of our other fears, such as the fear of losing a job; the fear of going blind, the fear of saying a wrong thing, the fear of being left out of things and being forgotten, the fear of not having enough when one is old, and any of the other hundreds of fears with which you may be possessed, are all fears which you have acquired. You begin with the first three and pick up the others as you walk along. They are all accidents. In fact, it

To Use Cool Air to Heat Your House During Winter

Chicago, July 1—(AP) — Using ordinary conditions considerable body heat is dissipated by being radiated away, but with walls of a room heated to 80 degrees, this radiation would be stopped.

The system of warm walls and cool air would work much the same as conditions on a high mountain, when the warmth of the sun is felt by a climber despite the fact that the air is cooler.

Not all the interior surfaces of the rooms would have to be heated for comfort under this plan, Dr. Schabell said. Heating "panels" could be installed preferably in the ceiling and a few in the sidewalls, perhaps under dormer windows. It was found this method of heating kept the temperature in all parts of the experimental room uniform to within one degree.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Egg Recipes Question: Mrs. George McK. asks: "Will you please state how to cook coddled eggs and French omelette?"

Answer: CODDLED EGGS: Over each two whole eggs pour one quart of boiling water and allow to stand from 5 to 10 minutes. There should be no fire underneath the pan, and when the eggs are broken open, they should have a jelly-like consistency but should, at the same time, be so well cooked that standing in the hot water that there is no transparent albumen. Eggs cooked in this manner have an entirely different flavor from soft boiled eggs.

FRENCH OMELETTE: To two ounces of milk add one egg. Put into a dry frying pan over a slow fire and beat the milk and egg together. Stir and beat constantly so that it doesn't cook to the pan, and continue this until the mixture assumes a jelly-like consistency. Do not fail to keep in stirring mixture over after it has been taken from the fire, as the frying pan will retain a good deal of heat which will continue to cook the egg. Serve in sauce dishes or egg cups. You will find that the eggs prepared in this way are much more palatable than the large and old of an egg cup. Additional healthful methods of cooking eggs can be obtained by sending me a large stamped envelope with your request for the article named Best Ways of Preparing Eggs.

Do Fruits Contain Glucose Question: C. C. writes: "Kindly tell me if glucose is found in grapefruit, oranges, or in the small fruits and in what amounts." Answer: Various forms of sugar including glucose are found in all of the fruits — both the so-called acid fruits and the dried or sugar fruits. The amount varies.

(Should Enlarged Kidney be Removed?) Question: K. writes: "Your articles are well worth reading, and we derive knowledge and common sense from them. Will you please tell me if an enlarged kidney which has caused three or four hemorrhages should be removed? A noted specialist in Nice says an operation is the only thing. My friend, who is the one in question, is over sixty and in good condition otherwise." Answer: It would be unwise for me to try to advise you about your friend's case, as all of the facts must be known before I could give you a sensible opinion. A diagnosis by mail is always more or less unsatisfactory, and in your friend's case I could only make the wisest kind of a guess.

SENATOR GLASS CARRIES FIGHT TO BITTER END

Makes Scathing Attack During Closing Minutes of Senate Session

By RODNEY DUTCHER, Herald Washington Correspondent. Washington, July 1. — Senator Carter Glass of Virginia will be one of our most outstanding and picturesque national figures as long as he lives.

At the age of 75 this white-haired, fighting little bantam is told by his physician to take things easy and handle himself with care.

But at 1:30 o'clock in the morning you find him holding the Senate in session, shaking his fist and pouring bitter scorn from the corner of his mouth at a senator who he thinks has reflected on his personal integrity and his courage.

That was the night Congress adjourned and an exciting, dramatic night it was. Quite a few senators in their sties and seventies had gone home at an early hour, but not Glass. He was one of the Senate conferees who had accepted the president's final compromise on veteran payments and he was there to see the fight through.

Crowds Hear Debate Scores of House members were piled in the rear of the Senate chamber. Some met even sneaked onto the Senate floor, pretending to be congressmen as they passed doorkeepers.

The bars had been let down for the gallery fans and hundreds stood in the upper reaches. Attorney General Cummings, Postmaster General Farley — chewing gum — and Dr. Cary Grayson sat in the front row of the family tiers. Even the diplomatic gallery was nearly full.

They long were heard at length about this "outrage" against the veterans. Borah sat in a new costume — blue coat with gray bow tie, gray shirt and gray pants matching. Someone demanded that the floor be cleared of congressmen because they were groaning and mumbling "Vote!"

Cutting Stirs Glass Schall of Minnesota told administration Democrats of the Holy Grail, Pontius Pilate's abutments and "16 pieces of silver." And how "we got nothing out of the war but prohibition — and now they're taking that away from us."

Tall, loping Cutting of New Mexico, from whose 20 per cent limit amendment the conferees had receded, was the one who strove to cut Glass — in the course of a rather brilliant speech of protest.

Glass thought he had been accused of changing the record. He said he never falsified the record, even though the senator from New Mexico does. "Cutting accused him of taking advantage of his colleagues' love and respect by 'insulting them.'"

The Last Word The vote came, the administration won and everyone was starting home. A Glass suddenly rose to defend himself and scathingly attacked Cutting.

Glass not long before had defied public opinion by objecting early in the Morgan investigation. He had had a snappy set-to with Stand of Pennsylvania over war debts and had seen his cherished banking bill revived at the end of the session and passed.

Speech Bitter Earlier in the day he had laughed about an encounter with another senator. But now he reached points of bitterness sarcasm and scorn that few others can reach. He shook with wrath as he pointed his finger at Cutting. He sneered contemptuously at Cutting's insinuation that he had feared the result of his action when Virginia voters heard of it. He hurled back Cutting's assurances of love and affection with the biblical story of the amiable Joab, who kissed Amasa and disembowled him with a dagger.

The attack wasn't quite deserved, but the picture of old Carter Glass standing there at 1:30 a. m., hurling his barbs, was a dramatic one which to wind up the session.

"Our patience is exhausted," said a Japanese leader just before beginning the latest drive into China proper. Well, they have had to take a lot.

President Roosevelt may not make a hit every time he comes to bat, but his average so far is certainly "way above 5.2."

TAKING YOUR DOLLAR TO MARKET

EVERY year your family, and every family of your acquaintance, spends about 70 per cent of its income just for living, exclusive of rent — no economic experts tell us. Think what this means—seven dollars out of every ten invested in food, clothing, household utilities and all the multitude of things that keep a family comfortable and happy.

That part of spending is readily understood. But do you realize that every manufacturer and retailer of these necessities is planning how HE can get your dollar?

It's a big job to spend so much money wisely and well. It requires careful business methods to get the best possible returns from each dollar that leaves the family purse.

DEMOCRATS OF COUNTY MEET AT CRYSTAL LAKE

Hold Picnic This Afternoon After Planning Parley — Will Be Oratory Too.

The Tolland County Democratic Association is to hold its annual picnic this afternoon at the Crystal Lake hotel grounds, incidentally it will plan fall activities. The picnic is to be held about 3 o'clock following a business meeting at 2:30.

President John Jackson expects the business meeting to be short. Speaking will follow in which Senator John C. Blackhall and former Representative A. W. Sison of Amston will participate.

Luncheon will be served. The committee in charge consists of E. H. Woodworth, Mrs. Fannie Dixon Welch, Louis Eaton, William J. Bowler, Francis Murray and Francis Leonard.

Textile Holiday The annual "textile holiday" in Rockville is being observed, with most of the factories closed until next Wednesday morning.

Closing for several days around July 4th has been a practice in Rockville for many years. The short vacation gives the overseers and employees an opportunity for a rest and a short trip.

The plant of the James J. Regan Manufacturing Company closed last evening and will not re-open until next Wednesday, July 5.

The woolen mills of the Hockanum Mills Company are working on a day and night basis of 115 hours a week. In order to keep up with their work the mills are to operate this afternoon and tonight until midnight. They will then close until July 5.

The Hockanum Mills Company will also work on next Saturday and also Saturday night until midnight to make up for the time lost in the three day vacation.

The White Corbin & Co. Div. of the United States Envelope Company also closed down last evening until July 5th. This plant has also been working to capacity for the past year.

The Peerless Silk Company will only be closed for Tuesday, July 4. The plant of the Horton Manufacturing Company will also only be closed for July 4th.

No formal celebration is planned for Rockville on July 4 this year.

Federal Aid Not Wanted The city of Rockville, which lies within the town of Vernon has not asked for the Federal Aid Relief granted by the last session of Congress. The town voted an appropriation of approximately $18,000 for outside aid. Last year $16,811.72 was expended on which there was a refund of $2,890.68. The amount being expended this year is reported as being substantially lower than a year ago because of the improvement in business.

Campaign on Speeding A campaign against reckless driving is to be conducted over the week end and over the Fourth of July in Tolland County according to an announcement of the state police and officials of the Motor Vehicle Department.

A motorcycle patrol is to watch the Hartford Turnpike leading from the East Hartford town line through Vernon and Vernon Center to the Boston road at Tolland. Several arrests are made each Sunday by the state police.

The piano pupils of Miss Mabel Holland presented a piano recital in the auditorium of the old High school building last evening at 8:15 o'clock. Miss Ella E. Otto of Broad Brook, assisted, and presented vocal selections.

Mayor Albert E. Waite who has been seriously ill for several weeks is reported as much improved. He is expected to return to his home in Rockville very soon.

Dr. Roy C. Ferguson, president of the Men's Union of the Union Congregational Church announced yesterday that the annual outing of the "Men's Union" this year would be held at Somers on Saturday, July 22.

Three prisoners were released from the Tolland County Jail today so that they could celebrate the Fourth of July at liberty. Only seven now remain at the jail.

Miss Faith Buckmaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Buckmaster, suffered a wound in her cheek yesterday from a fire cracker explosion. The wound required several stitches to close. The firecracker exploded near a piece of jagged bone which was hurled against the child's face.

Miss Rose E. Jelinek took over the duties as chief operator at the Rockville exchange of the Southern New England Telephone Co., replacing Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald who resigned effective today.

And Sykes Bamforth have sold their farm of 28 acres located on the old Bolton Road in Vernon to Frederick N. Belding. Stanley Dobos Post, No. 14, American Legion, will hold an important meeting on Monday evening in the C. A. R. Hall.

The Rockville post office will observe holiday hours on July 4, with no deliveries and the stamp window open only from 8 to 10 a. m.

The graves of the deceased members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the A. O. H. were decorated last evening in St. Bernard's cemetery.

Mrs. Charles E. Johnson and children returned to Rockville yesterday after a short visit with friends in Taunton, Mass.

EXPECT AUCTION MARKET TO CLOSE TOMORROW

May Open Again Soon When Peas and Blueberries Come in Greater Quantities.

With the auction tomorrow it is possible that the market on Charter Oak street will be closed for a few weeks as the larger buyers are now going south and will start at Salisbury, Md., where the auction of cucumbers will start. Joseph Faustivo, who has been coming here from Philadelphia, leaves for that place today as will other New York buyers who have been coming to Manchester. The three weeks' sales have netted to the growers in this section $42,416.63 — the sales for the past week were $12,970.53. Yesterday's sales were low with $1,010.36 taken in from the sale of berries, peas and blueberries. For the berries the high was $4.35 and the low $1.60, the average being $2.55.

There is to be a meeting of the members of the association held on Wednesday evening in the Sub-Alpine club when plans for future auctions will be taken up. Just at present there are only early bush peas and a few blueberries coming into the market. Telephone peas and blueberries will not come in any quantities until later and the strawberry season is about over.

THEATERS

AT THE STATE Two Feature Programs "Wheeler and Woolsey in 'Diplomaniac' and William Powell in 'Private Detective 62' are the two features on today's double feature program to be shown at the State for the last times. 'Clancy of the Mounted' will be an added attraction today.

On Sunday the State will present "International House" with Peggy Hopkins Joyce (the International Beauty), Rudy Vallee, W. C. Fields, Stuart Erwin, Bela Lugosi, Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, Cab Calloway and His Orchestra and the 12 Cellophane Beauties.

"International House" has a genuine plot in addition to its musical and spectacular qualities. Its action takes place at a hotel in a Chinese city, where representatives of big business from all over the world are assembled to see and bid upon a marvelous new invention, a device which can see and hear anything anywhere.

The complications result from the activities of Bela Lugosi, a villainous character who is trying to keep the American representative from bidding. Erwin, the American develops a rash, and Lugosi insists that he be quarantined. The scheme works too well; the whole hotel is quarantined while Lugosi is outside.

The latter's consternation becomes even greater when he sees, from across the street, that Peggy Joyce, who had once been his wife, is now "on the make" for another man. The man is W. C. Fields, an aviator who had married William for Kansas City and has landed on the roof of the hotel.

Matters in the hotel go from crazy to crazier—Burns and Allen and Col. Stoopnagle and Budd wisecrack; Rudy Vallee and Cab Calloway and Baby Rose Marie sing and play; Erwin makes timid love to Sari Maritz.

The events work up to a frenzied climax.

WAPPING

The place recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Billings, has been sold to a man by the name of Goldberg, who it is said will use the store, where he will sell automobile tires and accessories.

There was a bad accident near Wapping Center just below the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Stoughton on Thursday afternoon, when a truck loaded with oranges, on its way to New Hampshire, collided with a large new car from Massachusetts. The man and woman and their son were all injured, the woman and son were taken to the Hartford hospital, where it was stated they would have to remain for some time. The car was badly damaged.

The Young Peoples Society of Christian Endeavor held its social on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Harrison on Thursday evening.

Nearly sixty people attended the open meeting of the South Windsor School Board at the Wapping School Thursday evening where the question of the advisability of having a ninth grade school was discussed. A majority seemed to be strongly opposed to the ninth grade idea, preferring that their children go to high school.

ARE YOU a BETTER JUDGE of VALUE THAN YOUR Grandmother WAS??

Your Grandmother had her hands full when she went shopping. She was as interested in getting the best value for her money as you are. But to be sure of getting the best value she had to go to every store in town that carried the things she wanted... then she had to bargain with the merchant to find his real price... and then she had to use an eagle eye, a sniffing nose, experienced fingers and her trained taster to be sure that the merchandise was all that the merchant claimed it to be.

Your Grandmother knew value alright—but Oh My! how she had to work using that knowledge.

For you it's a different story—YOU can use the advertisements to tell you where to get it... the fair price to pay for it... and when it's advertised you can be sure the merchandise is as represented.

S. T. S. BOWS TO BRIDGEPORT IN FINAL GAME, 13-7

McCluskey Returns To Winning Form CLOSSES SEASON WITH 9 VICTORIES, 7 DEFEATS

TRIUMPHS EASILY IN STEEPLECHASE TO RETAIN TITLE

Runs First Race Under Colors of New York A. C.; His Time is Slow, 9:38.5; May Compete in Europe.

Apparently fully recovered from the illness which forced him to bow in defeat in two of his most important races recently, Joe McCluskey started his unbeatable form again last night in the fifty-eighth annual American senior championships of the Amateur Athletic Union at Soldier's Field in Chicago to romp to an easy victory in the 3,000 meters steeplechase.

McCluskey, the defending title holder, traveled the distance in 9:38.5, the slow time being due to the inferior opposition which he faced. McCluskey's triumph aided the New York Athletic Club, for which he was running for the first time, to capture the team title against this year with a total of 56 1/2 points.

How Others Placed

Forrest Harvey of the Denver A. C., was second, Ray Sears of Butler University was third and Glen Dawson, an old rival of McCluskey's, trailed a fourth place. The event was scheduled to be run tonight but was placed ahead in order to finish the senior events all in one night.

McCluskey, due to his victory last night, has a fine chance of being chosen as a member of the New York Athletic Club team that will compete in England, Germany and Sweden this summer. The team is expected to be selected in the next few days and will leave this country July 5.

CUNNINGHAM FEATURES

Chicago, July 1.—(AP)—Glen Cunningham, the Kansas star, more than earned himself a place among America's track greats, as Chicago's track and field carnival went into its final phase today.

On top of his accomplishments in the National collegiate meet, two weeks ago, Cunningham today held two well-earned senior A. A. U. titles, gained on Soldier Field.

Making a show of his field in the 1,500 meters run, the Kansas youth raced the distance in 3 minutes, 52.8 seconds for a New American and meet record last night.

Coming back two hours later he wiped out a defeat administered by Charles Hornbostel of Indiana University, in winning the 200 meters in 1:11.8, only four-tenths of a second slower than the National record set by Lloyd Hahn in 1928.

Metcalf Wins Dash

Sharing honors with Cunningham was Ralph Metcalf of Marquette University, who proved his right to the "fastest human" title, by winning the 100 and 200 meter races with the utmost ease.

In addition to the record performances by Cunningham and Metcalf, Heye Lambert of Nebraska bettered Bob Maxwell's mark in the 200-meter hurdles by a tenth of a second, winning in 23.4 seconds. Cornellus Johnson, Los Angeles negro high school youth bettered his own meet mark six feet seven inches in the high jump.

The New York A. C., with a big, well-balanced team, won the team title with 56 1/2 points.

On July 3 a few natives of the British Isles will stage a bloody battle with woods and irons in an effort to prove to the world that the British Open is truly that, and not a second edition of the American Open.

For the last 10 years American golfers have walked off with this English golf classic. Not since 1923, when Art Havers won it, has the British Open been taken by a native of the tiny Isles.

In that decade Jim Barnes, Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour, and Gene Sarazen have brought the old cup back to the states after humbling the native sons of Merrie Old England.

As things stack up now, it's likely that the honor will again rest in America after the smoke of the present battle rolls away. The reason is Walter Hagen, the "old man" of present-day golf.

Whether it is the age of golf what old Tom Morris was to the stone age of the game. "Old Tom," as he was affectionately called, spent 55 years as professional and clubmaker at St. Andrews, the historic scene of the British Open.

Tom was instrumental in the organization of this tournament, and won the title four times, the first in 1861. His son, "Young Tom," also won the honor four times.

They've been saying that Walter Hagen is slipping. But no matter what type of golf he shoots in this country, "The Hag" can always go over to England and shoot a wow of a game. It seems that all the medals he labors under in the United States leave him when he hits England and he is at his best with his foreign competition.

Hagen, like old Tom Morris, has won the British Open title six times—1922-24-28-29. His play in those tournaments has been an epic of golf, and there's no reason to believe he won't write a new chapter in golf's heroics this year.

The Hag proved in the recent National Open that he can still shoot courageous golf. In the face of that blazing 68-round of Tommy Armour, and that super-round of 66 that Johnny Goodman shot. Walter, after slumping miserably the first three rounds, came back with a 66 that was sensational.

That last round proved that he can still shoot with the best of them.

Of course, Hagen will have a lot of backing when the tournament is staged. And if he doesn't win the Open, a lot of other United States golfers will be there to pop in.

CARNERA WILL NOT DEFEND HIS TITLE BEFORE NEXT YEAR

Italian Giant Expects to Reap Harvest in Exhibitions; May Match Beer and Sharkey for Bout in Sept.

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, July 1.—(AP)—The balance of heavyweight fists power has shifted to European hands for the second time in three years and it will stay there at least for another year, and perhaps longer, if you happen to be convinced that it will take nothing less than dynamite to topple the gigantic form of Primo Carnera of Italy.

Carnera, it may be safely predicted, will not defend his newly gained honors before 1934. The Italian and his board of directors have too many financial losses to repair, and too many chances to capitalize their circus attraction, before running the risk of having some rough young man like Max Baer of California, pounce on "Da Freeman" before the giant is put to another rest in the ring, he will visit his homeland, then tour the United States for one and all to gaze on in awe, and wonder, at a suitable fee.

Beer and Sharkey? If there is any further heavyweight excitement this year, it probably will be a match in September between Beer and Sharkey. Carnera's rise to the championship, with a six-round knockout of Sharkey, is the climax to a baffling series of title developments since Gene Tunney called the boys together and announced he was through in the summer of 1928, shortly after knocking out Tom Heeney.

Logic and a long established order in heavyweight history saw the window when Gene Tunney was overseas, first, and Sharkey soon gained a claim to the "American championship" but there was no world champion until after Max Schmeling won on a foul from Sharkey in 1930.

Must Prove Worth Reluctantly, New York boxing authorities conceded Schmeling's title claim and the German developed popular recognition by his prowess over a two-year period only to lose the crown on a disputed decision to Sharkey just a year ago in the Garden's wooden bowl at Long Island City. The Boston sailor's erratic reign ended abruptly in the same spot.

Carnera has yet to prove he is anything more than he seems, a cavernous ex-circus freak, but he is only 26, and unquestionably has improved as a boxer and puncher. There have now been three heavyweight rulers in as many years, with the title going to Germany, and now to Italy, after a long span during which only two champions, Fitzsimmons and Burns, were not American born. Jim Jeffries, Jack Johnson and Jack Dempsey were world champions for seven years each.

But those were the days when fighters dominated the pack because they were willing to take on any duly nominated rival. From now on, it will be the play of the board of directors to hoist Carnera into the ring, with his crown at stake.

WEST SIDES LOSE 4TH IN ROW TO ALL-STARS

The West Sides lost their fourth straight game to the East Hartford All Stars last night at the West Side by the score of 3-0. Hewitt pitched fine ball, striking out nine men and allowing but five hits. These five hits were responsible for all of Hartford's scoring. The West Sides collected six hits but made no runs. Mellon's fielding stood manning and he fielded well for the West Sides.

St. Louis Hasn't Lost a Game to New York This Year; Senators Pull Ahead of Yanks; Phillies and Braves Continue to Win; Foxx Hits His 20th Home Run.

(By Associated Press.)
The "Indian sign" which the St. Louis Cardinals hold over the New York Giants this season is standing them in good stead in their efforts to regain the National League lead. The Cardinals haven't lost a game to the Giants this year, winning their seventh straight by a 1 to 0 count yesterday, when Joe Medwick broke up a mound duel between Disney Dean and Hal Schumacher by peeing a home run after two were out in the ninth.

Senator Pulls Ahead
Meanwhile, the Washington Senators again pulled away in the American League race, breaking their tie with the New York Yankees by defeating Detroit's Tigers by a 2-1 count while the Yankees "blew" a 13-12 decision to the Cleveland Indians.

The Phillies and the Boston Braves continued their sensational winning streaks in the National League. The Phillies banged Larry French for four hits to score three runs in the ninth and a 5-4 victory over the Pirates. The Braves slugged Red Lucas and Allyn Stout for 13 hits to beat the Cincinnati Reds, 9-2.

Foxx Hits 20th
The Brooklyn Dodgers cut loose behind Van Mungo's seven hit inning and pounded out a 5-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The Boston Red Sox sent Chicago down into a fourth place tie with Cleveland in the American League by defeating the Pale Hose 4 to 2 behind Henry Johnson's four-hit single.

The Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Browns slugged it out for four hours and 36 minutes in a double-header which produced 63 hits, including Jimmie Foxx's 20th home run. They wound up all square as the Browns won the opener, 12-11, and Philadelphia the nightcap, 11-7.

LEADERS HOLD PLACE
New York, July 1.—(AP)—Batting leaders of the major leagues evaded the pitching spell cast over most of the other hitters during the last week and emerged with strengthened positions after yesterday's games.

The first four men in the American League and the first three in the National showed higher marks than last week while others of the "first ten" in each circuit fell off as much as 25 points.

The leading ten hitters in each major league follow:
American:
Simmons, Chicago, .374; Cronin, Washington, .360; Hodapp, Boston, .357; Fox, Philadelphia, .348; Schulte, Washington, .346; West, St. Louis, .344; Manush, Washington, .339; Spilling, Chicago, .335; Gehrig, New York, .333; Chapman, New York, .326.

Score is Tied at 3-All Up to Fifth, When Visitors Break Loose and Coast to Triumph; Use Players Over Age Limit So Locals Have Best Claim to the Title.

Playing a dull, inferior brand of baseball, Manchester Trade lost its final game of the season to Bridgeport Trade at Mt. Nebo yesterday afternoon, closing an extensive schedule of sixteen games with nine victories and seven defeats. The final score was 13 to 7, Bridgeport breaking up a three-all deadlock in the fifth inning to coast to an easy triumph.

Start Out Well
At the start the game seemed destined to be a close affair. The visitors tallied once in the first and twice in the second and Manchester did the same. Then in the fifth Bridgeport got away to a three run lead on a brace of doubles and a single and continued to sew the contest up by putting across four more runs in the seventh, aided materially by the misplays and loose fielding of the local Mechanics.

In the last half of this inning Manchester managed to squeeze across two runs, aided by timely singles by Ketch and Rossi. In the ninth the visitors flled the bases and a double by Jrinage scored three runs. Manchester staged a rally in the final frame that brought home two runs but Bridgeport lightened up and retired the locals before they became dangerous.

Locals Claim Title
As Bridgeport, due to its failure to live up to the athletic code of the league was declared ineligible for the league title, Manchester has a clear claim to the championship with five victories and one defeat, having beaten Meriden twice, New Britain twice and Hartford once, losing only to Hartford. These four teams were the only ones active in the league, this being the first year of its organization. Hartford has not and will not play New Britain and polished off New Britain twice and Hartford, losing to Bridgeport to be considered eligible for the title.

Violate Age Rule
Article four of the Intercollegiate Athletic Code of the Connecticut Trade Schools states that an athlete "shall not have reached his twentieth birthday." The refusal of other schools in the state to abide by this ruling is the reason for the small number of schools represented in the league this year. It is expected that a larger number will participate in the league basketball season and next year's baseball season.

Manchester Trade has had a rather peculiar season this year, starting the schedule like a team destined to go through its slate without a single victory. Loss followed loss as the local Mechanics bowed to Windsor Locks High, Springfield Trade, Manchester and Hartford. Losses again and Enfield High in succession.

Then after five decisive defeats Manchester came out of its slump with a vengeance, chalking up six consecutive triumphs, including the expense of Springfield Trade, Manchester High, Rockville High twice and Meriden Trade twice. Hartford Trade bailed the victory streak but the locals came right back and polished off New Britain twice and Hartford, losing to Bridgeport to end the season.

In the last few games the locals were handicapped by the loss of several players who left school for the summer, especially Farwell, ace hurler, and Frau, star third sacker. These gaps were plugged effectively, however, and the work of the rest of the team kept the school in the winning column.

The record in the season is as follows: (Manchester's score is listed on the right hand side and the opposition's on the left.)

JONES KNOCKS OUT OPPONENT IN 10TH

Retains Middleweight Title With Kayo in Final Round With Marino.

San Francisco, July 1.—(AP)—Gorilla Jones, Akron, Ohio, negro, today still held the middleweight title belt awarded by the National Boxing Association, by virtue of a knockout over Babe Marino, San Francisco, in the last round of their ten round bout.

Jones placed the belt, which he retained after his recent suspension by the association, at stake in the battle with Marino here last night.

The negro carried the lead throughout most of the contest, dashed his opponent with clever boxing and accurate hitting and topped his performance off with the jabbing punch, a looping right to the opponent's head in the first round and almost dropped him, but Marino came back in the second, his best round to make it just about even. From then on, Jones had things his own way.

SPORT PLANTS

ALAN GOULD ASSOCIATED PRESS, SPORTS EDITOR

In the battle of all-star wits, bats and pitching arms at Chicago early in July, when the major leagues declare a holiday from their regular games in order to make one of baseball master's dreams come true, no little mander-minding will be devoted to the rotation of the hurlers.

This will be especially vital if it is a close, hard fought game, with each team playing the "break" in the latter stages. Under such circumstances, may we suggest that the finishing jobs be turned over to a couple of southpaws who have no compunction about being called to duty at odd hours and, accordingly, thrive in a fireman's role—Robert Moses of the A's and Carl Hubbell of the Giants.

Since they developed these hard workers, Messrs. Connie Mack and John McGraw no doubt appreciate their value in the pinches and probably will save them for the latter and more nerve-wracking stages of the contest.

Every Team Represented It will be fun no matter in what order the pick of the two big league pitching rosters operate. The National League has Bill Hallahan, Lon Warneke, Hal Schumacher and Hubbell. The American League has one maverick pitcher to turn loose, with Al Cowley, Oral Hildebrand, Wesley Ferrell, Vernon Grooms and Grovo on the all-star squad.

To keep peace in the family, there's at least one player on every team on the list selected for what the English would describe as a "hot match." The Boston Red Sox contributed Rick Ferrell, thanks to a trade with St. Louis, and thus presents the opportunity for a brothered if Wes Ferrell goes on duty at the same time.

We understand they were not so far up the list in the voting, yet it is possible the American League overlooked a bet by leaving Heinie Roth out of the list. The Washington outfield slugger, off the squad. Both are away ahead of Earl Averill, the Cleveland selection, in the season's batting performances. They might come in handy for pinch duty, even if they could be squeezed into the starting lineup.

Throw It And Duck The American League has a heavier hitting array for the all-star grapple but it may be due to the fact that all liveliest.

Given the same ammunition, Chuck Klein, Bill Terry, Wally Berger, Pepper Martin and other National League sluggers should contend no advantage to their rivals "over the top."

The pitchers, at least, won't have much worrying to do about the "weaknesses" of opposing batsmen. There won't be any worth mentioning and they might as well adopt Lefty Grove's policy in pinning Babe Ruth: "If it's in there, shut your eyes and hope for the best."

MAN KILLED IN CRASH

Franklin, Mass., July 1.—(AP)—Guido Baunell, 27, of Franklin, the father of four children, was injured fatally and two other men suffered injuries which may cause their deaths in an automobile accident at 2 a. m. today.

Wilbrot Giguere, 26, of Goldville avenue, Woonsocket, R. I., driver of the car, appeared to have a broken neck when taken to the Milford hospital and Guary Circone, 28, of Franklin, had serious cuts on his back, arms and right side.

Amanda Gagnone, of 1081 Burnside avenue, Woonsocket, R. I., suffered only a facial bruise.

The automobile was on its way to Franklin from Woonsocket when the accident happened. It struck an embankment, twirled in the air and threw all the occupants out. The car landed upside down and was demolished.

TO OPEN HARTFORD OFFICE

Hartford, July 1.—(AP)—Former Tax Commissioner William E. Blodgett today said that he will open an office in Hartford soon where he will specialize in tax matters, Federal, state and municipal.

After serving the state as tax commissioner for 13 years, Mr. Blodgett left the office today and Governor Cross' Democratic appointee, Senator William H. Hackett of New Haven, stepped in.

Blodgett commissioner will make his home in Winsted, however.

When Mr. Blodgett left his office yesterday, he was given a basket of roses by his office associates.

McGraw and Mack To Clash Once More In All-Star Tilt Soon

By WERNER LAUFER NEA Service Sports Writer

Old memories will come crowding about when John McGraw and Connie Mack—the last of baseball's Old Guard—send teams of All-Stars into diamond battle July 6 as a feature of the Chicago Century of Progress exhibition.

The first time these two clashed was in 1905 in the first real world series ever played. McGraw had disrespectfully dubbed the Philadelphia American the "White Elephants" and the name clung to the club through the years.

McGraw was full of roaring fires of fury in those days, and had a fine team which he bent to his indomitable will. McGraw thought that 1905 team was the smartest he ever handled.

The two did not meet again in a world series until 1911 when Mack had probably the greatest team of all time, with Plank, Coombs and Bender to do the pitching and such stars as Frank Baker, Eddie Collins and Jack Barry.

McGraw, who never forgets, must remember two costly mistakes by his great pitchers, Mathewson and Marquard—the little Napoleon told them that by no means should they throw a high fast ball to Frank Baker.

Hartford, July 1.—(AP)—Frank Grady, Torrington boxer, was taken to the Hartford hospital last night after a bout at 8th Park with John Conroy of Springfield, in which Grady was knocked out in the first round.

THE TINYMITES

Story by MAL COCHRAN. Drawings by GEORGE SCARBO.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites soon grew tired out of being bounced and tossed about by all the little serpent men. Said Duncy, "That was fun!"

"Now, let us toss you for a while." "All right," yelled one man, with a smile. "I guess we will be safe because we've shown you how it's done."

The little man crawled right into the net and yelled: "It's up to you! See how high you can toss me. This will be a dandy treat!"

"Be sure and catch me safe and sound. While I'm in the air I'll whirl around. It might give me an appetite. Then we'll find food to eat."

"Oh, gee! That sure sounds good to me. I am as hungry as can be!" said Duncy. "Don't you worry, you'll be tossed up good and high, and just yell when you have had enough. We do not want to treat you rough. Be careful you don't bump into a cloud up in the sky. It wasn't very long until all the men had the thrill of Escapes Bad Crash BY QUICK THINKING Mrs. Eulia M. Alvord Turns In to Side Street But Smashes Side of Car.

An automobile driven by Mrs. Eulia M. Alvord of Benton street narrowly escaped being involved in a serious accident this morning on Center street, near Winter, when in passing a car driven by John Winder of 6C West street, Mrs. Alvord was forced to turn into Winter street ahead of Winder. The right running board of her car was smashed against the curb.

Mrs. Alvord, police learned, was driving west on Center street and upon reaching the intersection of Center and Winter, Winder signaled that he was going to turn into Winter street.

Mrs. Alvord passed him and turned sharp left on the west side of Winter street striking the right side of the car against the high curbing. A small roadster parked at that point and owned by Earl A. Carron of 51 Summit street was struck by Mrs. Alvord's car.

SENSE and NONSENSE

The following interesting advertisement was taken from a recent issue of The Raleigh, N. C. Review:

One rainy day recently a lady in silken finery climbed aboard the street car, sniffed, and exclaimed: "Lady—This is the first time I have ridden on a street car in two years. I ride in my own car." Conductor—You don't know how we've missed you.

Thompson—I understand that Fred May's wife is going to stop driving a car and take up horseback riding to increase her social standing.

Fennington—I don't know about the social part of her plans, but experience tells me she will increase her standing all right.

A motorist rattled into a garage in a very old and dilapidated car, and the following conversation took place:

Garage man—I'll have to ask you for a five spot in advance.

Motorist—A five spot in advance!

Garage man—Ah, that's just it. Will you come?

We don't know so much about all this "free wheeling" stuff that is being so extensively advertised, but presume it must be something that the hitch-hiker is looking for.

Mr. Pester—I have entered the automobile race for novices. Mrs. Pester—Very well, but if you get killed remember I warned you and don't come around me looking for sympathy.

"No matter how wise a man may become, he never knows what a cow or a woman is going to do on the highway."

Katie—Say, Jack, how did you get that red on your lip? Jack—That's my tag for parking too long in one place.

The Scotchman was quite enthused over these "free wheeling" cars until he found out that they were still operated on gasoline.

Epiaph
Shed a tear for poor Alice, Parked all day in front of the Palace.

A reckless driver, is the fellow that passes you on the highway in spite of all you can do.

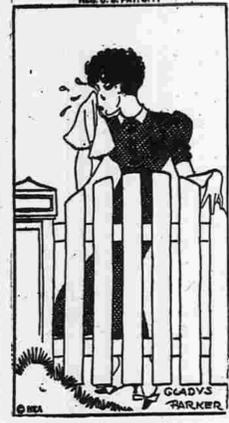

A lot of boys and girls have recently graduated from college, and a lot of business men would like to have the opportunity of graduating from the University of Hard Knocks.

The Detour
When you come to the end of a good detour, And you sit and look at the sign, And the arrow points the other way— To the road you left behind; Oh, this is the end of a "perfect day!"

And the end of your patience, too, And you voice your thoughts in a quiet way: A: the air around gets blue.

SPARE PARTS . . . It's growing more and more difficult to tell which is the house and which is the garage . . . Motorists call jay-walking a nuisance, jay-walker calls motoring a menace; the traffic cop calls them both down . . . The old tire blows out just before you make a mileage record with it . . . When you can't get your name in the paper any other way, try joy riding on Sunday . . . Clothes used to make the girl. Now it's his car . . . In spite of the automobiles the population of the United States has increased eighteen million since 1920 . . . They get eight hours, now they want eight cylinders . . .
