

RECESS DATE IS SET FOR WORLD PARLEY

Steering Committee Decides on July 27—All Bureaus Notified to Have Complete Reports Ready.

London, July 14.—(AP)—The steering committee of the world economic conference decided today to recess the worldwide parley on July 27.

All committees were notified to have their complete reports ready by next Friday.

The full bureau meeting will be conducted the following Tuesday and the final plenary session will be held the 27th.

It is understood that great care will be taken to avoid a note on finality at the plenary session.

There will be a clear indication that the conference is expected to resume at a future date.

This attitude would permit continuation of the tariff truce which was for the duration of the parley and which many nations desire not to terminate.

The plenary session will have to confirm the steering committee's decision to close out the deliberations but leaders consider this a mere formality.

Private Meeting Senator James Coussens of Michigan was the center of interest today in a private meeting of the subcommittee which is considering the question of commercial indebtedness.

It was understood that the Senator expressed disgust at the lack of progress and declared that the subcommittee might as well adjourn.

James M. Cox of Ohio then called his colleague aside for a few minutes confidential talk, after which Mr. Coussens withdrew his remark.

Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of state, visited conference headquarters today, and held a long conversation with his successor at Washington, Cordell Hull.

MILLION NEW JOBS BEFORE OCTOBER 1

Public Works Officials Tell How 115 Millions Are to Be Distributed.

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—The public works administration today told how it intends to distribute $115,513,610 as the first step in a program to create a million new jobs by October.

That $115,513,610, Secretary Tolson announced, will be portioned out this way: $64,561,542 for Federal public works; $50,000, 30 for roads in parks, forests, Indian reservations and public lands; $952,068 for municipal water and sewer plants.

These brought to $753,513,610, the total allocated from the $3,300,000,000 fund made available less than a month ago.

Already President Roosevelt has approved the expenditure of $238,000,000 on naval construction and $400,000,000 on highways.

An additional rivers and harbors program awaits the presidential "O. K."

Additional Projects A "vast number" of additional projects are yet pending before the public works board which he heads, Tolson said.

The biggest single amount in the items announced today was $38,000,000 for the Great Boulder Canyon power and irrigation project on the Colorado river.

In most other cases, the Federal funds were allotted by bureaus and departments. Individual projects in this class cannot be announced until governmental agencies revise their programs in accordance with cuts made by President Roosevelt and the Cabinet board in charge of the program.

Federal Program The public works administration announced the $64,561,542 Federal program would provide the 258,200 men months of labor, or give a year's work to 21,517 men in every state of the Union, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

In allocating the $50,000,000 to roads, the Cabinet board merely followed the injunction of the law under which it is operating, setting aside:

CONTRACTS READY FOR TOBACCO MEN

Farmers Who Sign Will Get $47 an Acre for Those He Does Not Plant.

Hartford, July 14.—(AP)—Connecticut tobacco farmers will receive acreage reduction contracts from Washington early next week with the result that the experiment of controlling production under the "new deal" will be put to its first test in this territory.

Designed also as a step to make good the Democratic platform pledge to cut government expenses 25 per cent, the economy act authorized the President to slash allowances to all war veterans by various degrees and to cut Federal salaries by 15 per cent.

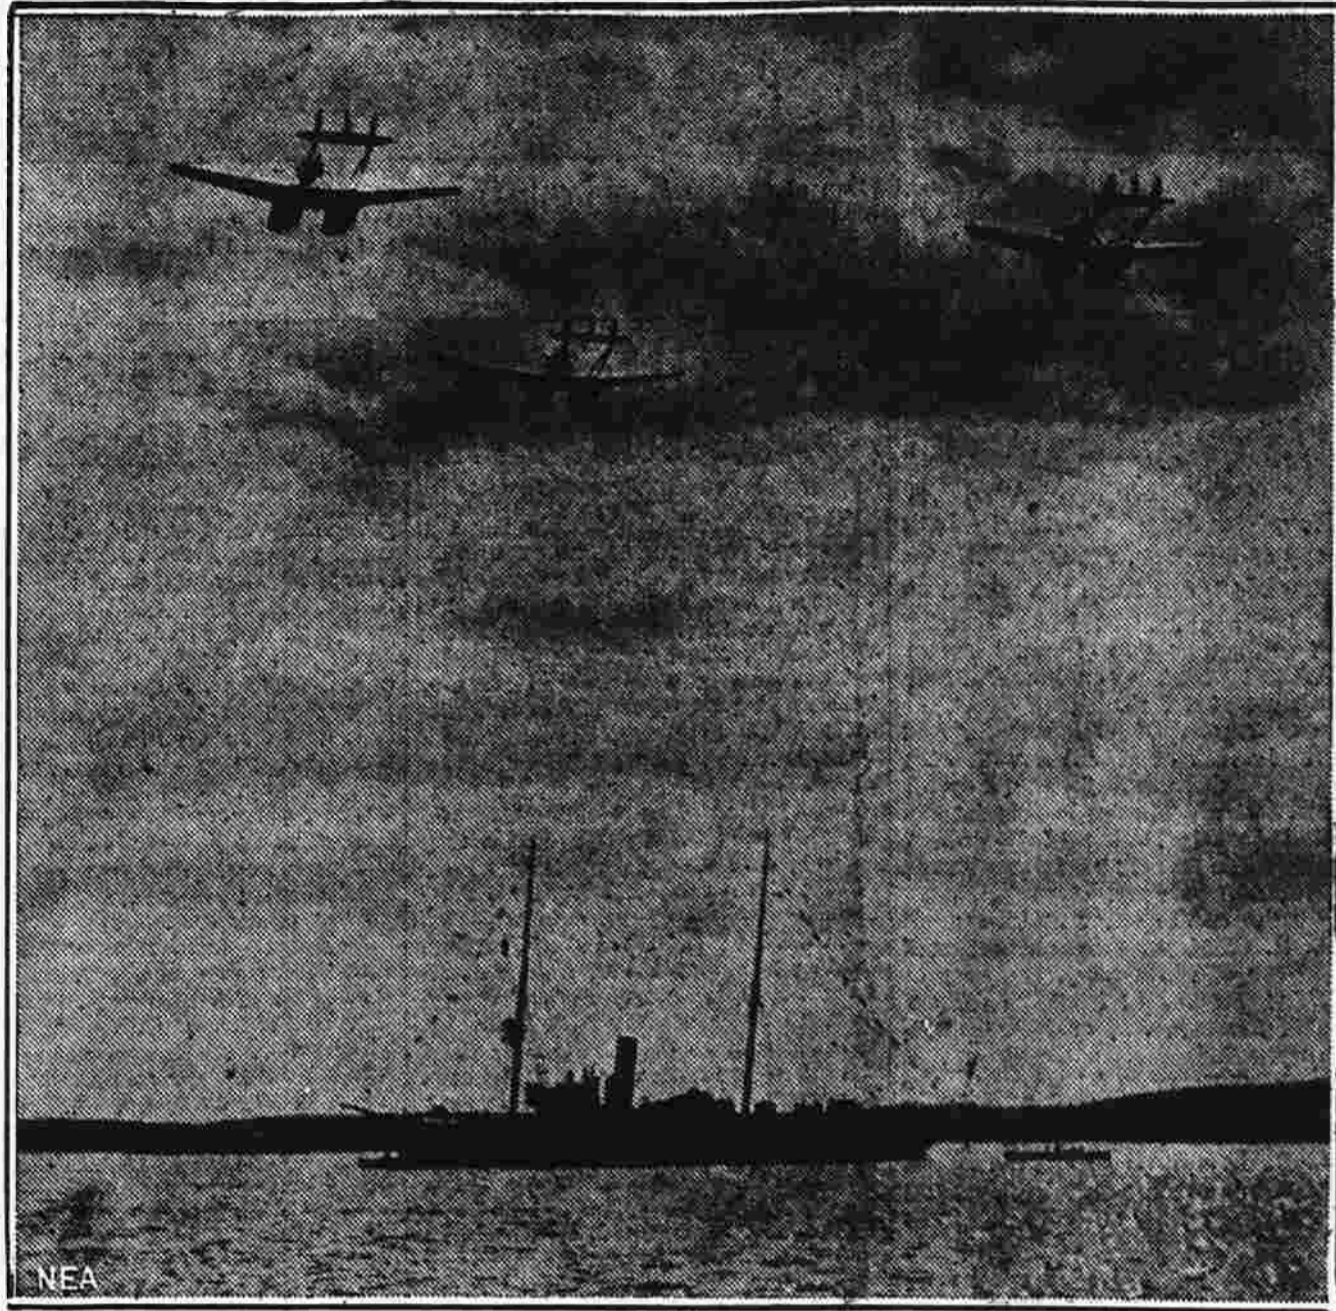

The veterans benefits were selected to absorb most of the shock as they had reached the astounding total of a billion dollars a year—approximately one fourth of the entire budget—and were constantly growing.

A howl went up about the veterans. The first regulations issued by the President, regarded as too severe, were amended and Congress itself liberalized the law.

Nevertheless, veterans appropriations were reduced by about $350,000,000. A House appropriation sub-

ECONOMY ACT'S PURPOSE, MAINTENANCE OF CREDIT

President Given Authority to Slash Expenses in An Effort to Make Good Party Pledge.

Editor's Note: This is another of a series of stories by staff writers of the Associated Press explaining new laws.

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—"To maintain the credit of the United States government" a prerequisite for borrowing to finance the administration's gigantic employment and relief plans, was the purpose of the economy act.

Affecting every fibre of National life from the financial portfolios of the banks to him who stands in the bread line, the credit of the Washington government is a bulwark of American solidity.

That it should and must not be impaired, comprised the cry in Congressional halls for enactment of this law.

Public support was pronounced. It had been no secret that persons with funds were beginning to look askance at the disordered state of the Treasury, with deficits piling up.

Given Authority How long they would continue to lend to the government was a question, until President Roosevelt asked and received this authority to slash expenses right and left.

Designated also as a step to make good the Democratic platform pledge to cut government expenses 25 per cent, the economy act authorized the President to slash allowances to all war veterans by various degrees and to cut Federal salaries by 15 per cent.

The veterans benefits were selected to absorb most of the shock as they had reached the astounding total of a billion dollars a year—approximately one fourth of the entire budget—and were constantly growing.

Hollywood Taking Steps To Prevent Kidnapings

Hollywood, July 14.—(AP)—Lest Filmdom's millions attract a bus-sard's swarm of kidnapers, Hollywood is taking its ounce of prevention.

Fear of kidnaping, always present among the colony's twenty thousand actors and actresses has been heightened by recent abductions in the east and midwest.

FENG IN CAMPAIGN TO RETAKE JEHOI

Chinese General Has Already Captured One Town in Manchuria.

Tokyo, July 14.—(AP)—A direct clash between followers of General Feng Yu Hsiang and forces of General Nobuyoshi Muto, commander-in-chief of the Japanese army in Manchuria, on the Jehol-Chahar frontier seemed most likely today as a result of the former's recapture of Tolunnoeh (Dolon Nor), a town in Chahar province just across the border from Jehol province.

(General Feng is engaged in a campaign to regain Jehoi and China's "lost provinces" from Japan and Manchukuo. The Chinese Nationalist government at Nanking has indicated no force will be used against him, although his drive is

POLICEMAN KILLED GUARDING PAYROLL

Bandits Shoot Him Down and Escape With $10,000 in Automobile.

Philadelphia, July 14.—(AP)—Three robbers shot to death a policeman and took a $10,000 payroll he was guarding today in the factory office of the Allied Kid Co., near Fifth and Huntingdon streets.

The policeman, Charles Stockburger, 60, went down under a shower of bullets as the gunman rushed in. He had no time to draw his pistol.

The robbers apparently trailed an automobile carrying Stockburger and two employees of the company from a bank where they obtained the money. They went to the office on the second floor and the policeman remained on guard while the employees entered an inner office to place the money in envelopes for the 350 workers at the factory.

POLICE GET CLUE IN FACTOR CASE

Find Woman Who Saw Ransom Money Paid to Gang of Kidnapers.

Chicago, July 14.—(AP)—From a woman who is believed to have witnessed the $50,000 "down payment" that resulted in the release of kidnapers of John Factor, has come a clue that may help investigators find the men who abducted him.

She is Mrs. Cardie Kiefer of near Hinsdale, who told Police Chief George Kummerow of suburban Elmhurst her attention was attracted Wednesday afternoon by a taxicab which was being driven slowly along a street in Hinsdale, followed by a small coupe containing two men.

Carried Handcuffs "There was one passenger in the cab," she said. "He got out and approached the coupe. He was carrying something that looked like a brightly colored chain—perhaps a pair of handcuffs. The door of the coupe was opened a few inches and the man from the cab looked in. Then, he went back to the cab, and

FOURTH LETTER DISPATCHED TO THE O'CONNELLS

Kidnapers Ask Family to Submit a New List of Names by Publishing Them in Three Newspapers.

Albany, N. Y., July 14.—(AP)—Daniel P. O'Connell, uncle of the kidnaped John J. Jr., received a letter from the kidnapers today ordering the family to submit a new list of intermediaries to be published in three New York newspapers, the Sun, Journal and World-Telegram.

The list of go-betweens, the third offered by the family, has been sent to the New York papers.

The letter received today was signed by the kidnaped youth. The family established the authenticity of the signature.

The first letter from the abductors, demanding $250,000, received last Saturday, bore young John's signature. Two other letters from the kidnap band did not carry his name.

The fourth letter Today's letter, the fourth the family has received, was taken from the private mail box of Dan this morning. It was not made public. It was said, however, that no reference was made to the boy's condition, nor was there any reference to the ransom.

O'Connell, scion of the nationally famous political family, was kidnaped a week ago today. Since then, the family, acting on instructions from the kidnapers, has submitted two other lists of go-betweens. Each list carried 11 names, chiefly of men prominent in Albany sporting circles. The first list is a simple code was in the Knickerbocker Press last Sunday morning. The second list, in the same code, was carried in the Albany

CUMMINGS TO ACT IN KIDNAP CASES

Attorney General Says Department of Justice Will Fight the Underworld.

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—No matter how long it takes, in the words of Attorney General Cummings, the Federal government will fight the underworld until law and order prevails over the gangster, kidnaper and racketeer.

As part of that effort, the Justice Department continued work today on legislation intended to give the government greater power in dealing with the lawless. This will be presented to Congress in January, Cummings said, although specific proposals have not been agreed on.

Federal Police Force One idea, he said, is that of setting up a Federal police force. But the laws would have to be changed, because in the past it has been held that the Federal government can act only in things involving it, such as counterfeiting or smuggling, or in crime cases which spread across state lines.

Meanwhile, Cummings suggested that when kidnapers kidnap, the Justice Department Bureau of Investigation should be notified, all essential facts told to Federal agents and officers not "properly constituted," kept out of the case.

FRENCH CELEBRATE FALL OF BASTILLE To Last Until Monday—Corresponds to the Fourth of July in United States.

Paris, July 14.—(AP)—A hundred bombing and pursuit planes, dipping low over Paris in a huge parade of military and air strength, officially opened today the great national fete of Bastille Day.

President Lebrun reviewed the army in front of the Invalides soldiers' home. Frenchmen danced in the streets, drank beer, and shot off fireworks in the traditional revelry marking the holiday, which corresponds to the American Independence Day and which will last until Monday morning.

Flags of the allied countries were unfurled on public buildings and music was to be heard everywhere and in all the squares and streets, lasting all day and night, was the principal manifestation of joy.

Today was the 14th anniversary of the taking of the former prison on July 14, 1789, as a climax to events that led up to the French Revolution.

Much Exaggerated The importance of the fall of the bastille, whose site is marked now only by a commemorative pillar, has been exaggerated, French historians say, by legend and popular imagination.

A crowd of about 1,000 persons, after several rifle and cannon shots, swarmed inside the jail with little resistance from the 30 Swiss guards and 95 aged soldiers who occupied the prison.

As fashionable women watched from their carriages, the crowd killed the men forming the garrison, with total casualties on both sides of 98 dead and 60 wounded.

The seven prisoners it harbored escaped. They were four forgers, two idiots, and a count locked up at his family's request, according to history, to prevent his misbehavior.

The capture of the prison was the signal, however, for the revolution and the overthrow of the royal regime, which today is celebrated by Frenchmen wherever they may be.

Escaped Convict KILLED IN HOLDUP His Companion Seriously Wounded by Bank Cashier Who Prepared Ambush.

Parsons, Kans., July 14.—(AP)—A bank robber, identified by officers as Kenneth Conn, one of eleven convicts who escaped from the Kansas penitentiary Memorial Day, was shot to death today in an attempted holdup of the Labette county state bank at Altamont.

A companion, seriously wounded in the face, was identified as Alvin Payton, another of the Lansing prisoners who escaped by kidnaping the warden, Kirk Prather.

The two men were shot down by Isaac McCarthy bank cashier, from an ambush he had prepared on top of the building.

General Balbo's Air Armada Completes 500 Mile Hop from Shediac, N. B., in Three Hours and 34 Minutes—Wild Reception Accorded Fliers as They Alight.

Montreal, Que., July 14.—(AP)—The Italian air armada led by General Italo Balbo appeared over Montreal at 12:35 p. m., eastern standard time today, having completed their 500 mile flight from Shediac, N. B.

The Italian seaplanes approached from the east and swung around the city in a wide circle preparatory to alighting in the harbor.

General Balbo and his aviators left Shediac this morning at 8:51 o'clock and thus required 3 hours and 34 minutes to cover the 500 mile journey.

The armada flew over the state of Maine during its trip today. The first group of Italian planes, glided down to a smooth landing on the river and taxied toward the seaplane base on the south shore.

The booming sirens of ocean vessels at their piers in the harbor added to the din of airplane motors and automobile horns as Montreal welcomed the Italian visitors.

As soon as the chief's seaplane was on its way to its moorings, the other ships started to drop down these at a time to alight on the stream.

By 12:57 p. m. half of the picturesque squadron which has winged its way by stages from Orbetello, Italy, to this city had alighted upon the water.

As the early arrivals were finding their landing spots on the water, the rear group of the fleet continued to drop around the city in large circles.

At 1:10 p. m. the fifth tried, making a total of 15 planes, had come to rest on the river and were moving toward their hitching places.

The entire fleet of 24 ships had descended to their anchorages at 1:23 p. m.

THE HOP OFF. Shediac, N. B., July 14.—(AP)—The Italian air armada, led by General Italo Balbo, hopped off from here today for Montreal on the next stage of the flight to Chicago.

Following their chief the other seaplanes of the armada of 24 which are making the flight from Orbetello, Italy, to the Century of Progress Exposition, were soon in the air and headed westward.

The Italian squadron which arrived here yesterday afternoon from Cartwright, Labrador, got in the air for their 500-mile jump to Montreal at 8:51 a. m., eastern standard time. Montreal is the last scheduled stop before the Italian visitors arrive in Chicago.

The bearded young air minister was the first to take off in the first group of three planes which left the water.

Other planes rose from the bay as soon as the first triad had mounted and was circling above the harbor.

As the seaplanes rose, three by three, the leading group headed toward Montreal, west by southwest of Shediac.

Weather Reports. The Dominion Signal Service reported light west winds prevailing along the St. Lawrence river and lower valley, with a little fog ten miles below Quebec. The Italians would have light head winds on their trip.

The last group of three left the water at 9:42 a. m., at which time the vanguard was well on its way to the west.

The flying formation roared away on a direct line for Montreal. The great crowds lining the bay shore to witness the takeoff sent up frantic cheers and waved a farewell as the Italian airmen left for Montreal.

One of the final triad of ships experienced some difficulty in getting started but finally left the water at 9:42 a. m. and scored away in pursuit of the other twenty-three.

POLICE SEARCHING FOR YALE CURATOR

Prof. Raymond P. Dougherty Fails to Return Home — Planned to Take Walk.

New Haven, July 14.—(AP)—After an all night search of his favorite haunts, police found themselves without any clues today as to the whereabouts of Professor Raymond P. Dougherty, 35 year old curator of the Sterling Memorial library at Yale, who has been reported missing by his family.

Working on the theory that the professor, noted authority on Assyriology and Babylonian literature, may have met with an accident after leaving his home yesterday, police centered their search during the night at the Pine Rock quarries.

Officials were told the professor left his home presumably to go for a walk and that he frequently visited the quarries, located several miles from his home. His disappearance was reported last night when he did not return for dinner.

Members of his family said Professor Dougherty was recovering from a nervous breakdown.

BOY SCOUTS SEARCH

Shortly after noon today, nearly 300 Boy Scouts joined searching parties in the Pine Rock and Winter Green lake sections of Hamden.

Professor Dougherty, police were told, had been absent from Yale since April because of a nervous breakdown and until a month ago was under the care of a physician. There was a possibility, researchers said, he might have been seen at the quarry, which was being examined about some isolated wooded section in Hamden.

Employees at the quarries, who had come to know the missing professor, through his frequent trips that section, said they did not see him yesterday.

Mrs. Dougherty was quoted as saying her husband was in a cheerful mood when he left his home yesterday. She was reported as declining to the theory that her husband may have been seriously injured while climbing Pine rock.

ITALIAN AVIATORS NOW AT MONTREAL

Gasoline awaited the powerful motor, moorings for which have been put out along the south shore of the St. Lawrence river for a distance of a mile and a half opposite the city.

Thousands of Montrealers streamed across the river bridges to form a huge waiting throng at the air base.

Italian flags fluttered here and there in the crowd. The Italian colon turned out in force to greet their venturous countrymen.

Enterprising tradesmen did a rushing business in "Balbo Hats," a cross between a beret and a Dutch boy cap.

Provincial and city police protected the seaport, keeping the landing jetty clear.

The Montreal Fascist band amused the crowds with Italian airs and marches.

A monster open air reception to General Italo Balbo and his aviators was planned by Fletcher's Field in the center of the city shortly after the expected time of their arrival. The Italian colony will entertain the visitors at dinner.

WASHINGTON'S FLANS

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Extensive preparations, including a White House luncheon, are being made in the capital to entertain General Italo Balbo and his Italian flans.

Arrangements today were not final but Balbo and his aides were expected here on the fifth day after arriving at Chicago.

The State Department, Army and Navy will join in extending receptions to the visitors and leaders of the flight were expected to lunch with President Roosevelt. Plans also were made by the Italian ambassador to entertain his countrymen.

Ottawa, Ont., July 14.—(AP)—While high above United States territory, the state of Maine, today, General Balbo, leader of the Italian air armada, received a wireless message of congratulations from Premier Mussolini at Rome, the Department of Marine's radio office reported.

The message was received by the Italian air minister while he was passing over Lake Millinocket, Me.

SENTENCE IS UPHOLD

Atlanta, July 14.—(AP)—The Georgia Supreme Court today upheld the life sentence given the Rev. J. M. Williams, convicted for the slaying of his son, Rafoed Grady Williams of the U. S. Navy, stationed at Kittery, Maine.

The state contended the minister killed his son to collect insurance on the youth's life. It was charged the father engaged in cotton speculation and had incurred other pressing debts.

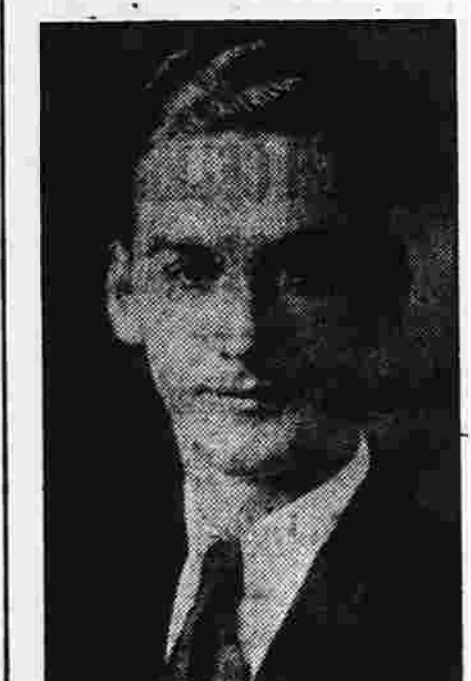

The state's body was found near Augusta, Ga. April 5, 1932. The father was arrested shortly afterward, tried and convicted in December, 1931, on his second trial. The first trial resulted in a mistrial.

WOMEN'S CLUBS PLAN OCCUPATIONAL SURVEY

Chicago, July 14.—(AP)—The National Business and Professional Women's Clubs today voted to conduct a broad occupational survey in regard to women in the light of present day conditions to determine vocational opportunities, possible discriminations against women and effects of the age factor.

The convention's action followed the report and recommendation of Dr. Lillian N. Gilbreth of Montclair, N. J., chairman of the research committee.

A resolution, presented by Mrs. Gladys MacDonald Bowman of Richmond, Va., that vocational guidance department be established at the National headquarters in Washington to serve as a clearing house on occupational information, was passed.

Another recommendation by Mrs. Bowman, who is National president, was also endorsed, giving the board of directors authority to call a conference of outstanding woman leaders in various fields to discuss the present day situation and co-operation.

The federation also pledged its efforts "to main- in the present high standards of American education through adequate financial support to our public schools and public libraries, whose services have been impaired by drastic economy programs in many communities.

PRESIDENT ASKS SPEED ON CODES

Urges Industries to Volunteer on Minimum Wages and Work Hours.

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Imminence of action by President Roosevelt for establishment of National minimum wages and maximum working hours was indicated today, but the method remained to be decided.

Two motivating factors apparently lead in that direction, the desire to boost purchasing power steadily and simultaneously to guard against excess production under way in attempts to take advantage of expected higher prices.

The plan, which would be voluntary, would call for a general weekly level of 35 hours work at $14 minimum wage for labor; and 40 hours with $15 minimum for clerical and store help.

The prospect is for a general call for business and industry to join under a temporary, voluntary agreement to such a limit of working hours and wages.

To Issue Call

At a press conference, Hugh S. Johnson said as the administrator he believed he would shortly ask the President to issue such a call, and that meantime he was gathering a tremendous volume of information needed to reach a decision.

The blanket agreement would be effective until individual industrial codes, which set up trade organizations to improve labor conditions and purchasing power and to eliminate undesirable practices such as over-production and price cutting, can be approved.

The idea back of the general code is to get the purchasing power of American laborers and white collar workers increased immediately, so that before hot weather is over the "upward spiral" sought by President Roosevelt will have a substantial basis.

Codes have been coming in fast. Speed is needed.

It is probable the administration will drop the idea of calling for submission of every agreement by a definite early date, but the physical limitations of time needed to get each agreement in operation would prevent really general application of wage raising and hour reduction until fall at least.

Already, however, the majority of the textile industries have voluntarily asked to put such limits into effect simultaneously with the first code promulgated by the President, which will go into force for the cotton trade next Monday.

Johnson said today he looked as though virtually all the spinning, cotton, rayon, silk and wool, will be on the 40-hour basis next week.

Meanwhile, a special section of the Interior Department was organized to prosecute any companies moving illegally produced oil in interstate commerce.

Louis R. Glavis, departmental director of investigations, will have immediate charge and Charles Fahy, an assistant solicitor, will be associated with him. A statement of warning and policy will be issued later today.

Roosevelt will be the only witness, and he will testify only as to his residence in Nevada.

RAILROAD EXECUTIVES MAY GET SALARY CUT

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Railroad executives were informed by Joseph B. Eastman, coordinator of transportation, today that the Roosevelt administration believes many of their salaries should be reduced.

The statement opened a conference with regional coordinating groups elected by the carriers to cooperate with Eastman under the law passed by the last Congress for a study of means of reducing railroad expenses.

The coordinator said he was putting the question of salaries up to the railroads "because there must be an adjustment of salaries before the railroads will stand right with the shippers, investors and labor under the conditions which now exist."

SHOPPING NEWS

Waste
How anxious we sometimes are to get rid of time, to while away a few hours or a few days of that precious commodity which is the only thing that stands between us and death—No, the thought isn't ours; we read it in Richardson's "Ultima Thule."

One of the most beautiful silks we have ever seen at Chhney Hall Salesroom is the printed satin recently reduced to $1.00 per yard. We have seen so many printed crepes that we welcome the novelty of a printed satin. The print designs are especially suitable for dinner or dance dresses, formal wear, lounging pyjamas and negligees. These satins will make you feel really luxurious.

Simple Soup
A delicious soup and a salad make a very suitable summer meal, and one easy to get—what last point will have some weight with the housewife. You can now buy cans of plain chicken broth, without seasoning what you have in the refrigerator—and you will concoct a wide variety of soups. Here's a sample—boil two potatoes; put them through the sieve; brown one onion in butter; add one can of soup to this and season with salt and pepper. Not bad!

Brand new is Perstop, the liquid anti-perspirant with sponge applicator, extremely neat, and quickly effective. An important point is that it can be used just before shaving. You'll also want Perstik, the deodorant in lip-stick form; it can be applied immediately before putting your dress on. Both are 50c at Hale's Cosmetic Dept.

Two in One
Little boys—and some who are full grown—delight in wearing as few garments as possible, particularly in hot weather. So we believe that the newest combination for men, a regulation broadcloth shirt with a lining of mesh from shoulders to waist, obviating the use of an undershirt, must have originated as a masculine idea.

The most remarkable values in wrist watches are featured at Dewey-Richman Co. A limited number, finest American makes, now priced at less than 1-2 values, cannot be offered at these prices again. For example, a 17 jewel Waltham, 14K gold case, value $75; now $32.50. Others at lower prices.

Striking
A white linen "mess jacket", worn with a black shirt and black skirt, makes a striking dinner costume. The jacket is cut exactly like a man's, and pleats in the front and back of the skirt give the tailored effect of trousers—yet not too masculine an effect. The entire suit can be made of linen, or the jacket may be linen while the skirt is silk.

Crocheted Heads
Well, what's the latest news about clothes? For one thing, crocheted hats. Hand crocheted ones. We don't enjoy giving all the credit to Paris for originating things, but it has to be admitted that Paris is now just full of hand crocheted hats; consequently we are all copying. They're very simple. Berets, sailors, square crowned things, trimmed with a twist of ribbon or a feather.

MRS. HURD VICTOR AT EASTERN POINT

Defeats Miss Brooks Four and Three to Gain Possession of Trophy.

Eastern Point, July 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia today defeated Miss Jane Brooks of Sparhill, N. Y., four and three, to win the Griswold golf tournament for the third time and gain permanent possession of the trophy.

Despite a somewhat erratic round, the veteran Philadelphia linkswoman came through with birdies at two important stages of the match, bagging one of them to go out front at the eighth after a nip and tuck duel and another at the short 15th with a 25-foot putt for a two to end the match.

After halving the first two holes of the incoming nine, Mrs. Hurd increased her lead to three up at the 12th with a par five while Miss Brooks three putted. At the 14th Miss Brooks missed an easy three foot putt which would have won the hole with a birdie and was forced to take a half.

On the 125 yard 15th Mrs. Hurd sent an iron shot to the edge of the green and holed out from 25 feet away while Miss Brooks needed three.

Cards for incoming holes:

Miss Brooks in 536 643

NEW CABINET ORDERS ISSUED IN GERMANY

Berlin, July 14.—(AP)—The private fortunes and even the citizenship rights of "enemies of the state and the people" were ordered seized in a new Cabinet order passed today.

The cabinet also legalized gambling at Baden-Baden only, and this on condition that the profits be used for the general welfare of the city. The Nazi newspaper Angriff said that the government was likely to pass a law forbidding future attempts to organize political parties in Germany, stamping such efforts as high treason and providing stiff sentences.

Thirteen new laws are being considered, the paper said, touching all phases of German life. The principal one of these would reduce taxes, the Angriff said.

Mrs. Morgan Palmer, Rye, N. Y., defeated Mrs. Roger Walcott, Rye, N. Y., 6-3, 6-0 to enter the finals in which she will be pitted against Miss Kallous for the championship tomorrow afternoon.

NATION'S NUDISTS UNDER SPOTLIGHT

Herald Special Writer Describes Visit to Typical Nudist Colony.

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Writer

New York.—A minister at under a tree, reading. At least, he turned out to be a minister, although he did not wear clerical garb. He wore, in fact, nothing at all but a pair of soft slippers and some spectacles. His skin was browned and he looked singularly sinewy for a middle-aged pugilist. He grinned and said: "Newcomer, aren't you sir? I thought you looked a little startled. Probably I'm the first of these so-called nudist colonies you've ever seen in this city—well, you can lay aside your misgivings and qualms along with your clothes. Look down there along the lake."

This was the 500-acre farm of the Out-of-Door Club, one of New York's nudist groups. Heavily wooded, flanked by the rolling Catskills, the estate centered about a 34-acre lake. Over the brow of a hill, in sight of a little-used road, were farm buildings which now were converted into dormitories and private rooms for the guests. On this side of the hill, and on the lake, hidden from the gaze of all but aviators, were some 50 men and women, all entirely nude except a few who were shielding their shoulders from the hot 3 o'clock sun.

Look down there," resumed the clergyman, "and see if you can find anything shocking, or immoral or immoral. Some of these bodies we live in are pretty sorry things. But here there is both the incentive and the opportunity to improve them. These people are trying in their modest way—"

"In their modest way," continued the minister firmly, "to attain more natural beauty. But you'd better go on down yourself, and swim. Here's Mr. Blank, a Wall Street man who seems to have lost his shirt and came here for the first time yesterday. He'll take you with him."

On the way down the steep path the broker was inclined to be communicative.

"You know," he said earnestly, "I don't quite like this. Not that I've seen anything wrong, but I'm so doggedly self-conscious. I think these people ought to wear something; just maybe even a little something. I like the sun as well as anybody, and I like to swim in the raw as well as any kid. But here, after I'll take my sun in solitude."

We reached the lodge on the lake shore. Around the corner, coming from the swimming dock and on their way to work on a new tennis court, burst a group of men and women, all nude. Miss Jan Gay, director of the camp, halted them for introductions. Miss X, a well-known photographer, Miss Y, an artist, and Miss Z, who the day before had been graduated from a select college, nodded pleasantly and without an observable trace of embarrassment. Professor A, tall and athletic, shook hands cordially. Mr. B, a paunchy manufacturer, asked if there were any news from the economic conference. Dr. C, a white-bearded scientist, nearly 70 and nut-brown from three months in the Bahamas, bowed from an enviously slim waistline.

Several people were out on the lake in three rowboats and a sailing canoe. Some 20 persons were on the swimming dock. Three little children of about 4 to 6 splashed happily in a shallow, sunken crib. Two middle-aged men and their wives sprawled in a circle and argued the previous evening's bridge game. Two young men dozed, with heads pillowed on towels. Their white torsos, contrasted with browned arms and legs, told of many hours spent this year on conventional bathing-suit beaches. A woman of perhaps 50, with graying hair but a trim figure, was resolutely practicing a back dive from the low dock. On one corner five young men and three women clustered about Miss Ethel Jacobs, the swimming instructor. Most of them were employees of the club and were receiving advanced lessons in life-saving. Men took turns being "rescued" by other men, and the women practiced by themselves. An amateur photographer appeared and snapped a few close pictures, for which all posed without protest.

Miss Gay, incidentally, has forestalled neighborhood antagonism and prowlingsightseeing by occasionally inviting the people of nearby farms to come over for a swim. Few of them now evince any hesitancy to appear in the nude.

Half way up the hill the tennis court makers were busily carrying stone to build a retaining wall along the lower side. Most of them wore gloves and shoes, nothing else. The porch of the lodge along the lake shore was lined with easy-chair nudists, several of them reading, some smoking and chatting, one woman knitting a sweater. Miss Gay, who had been busier than a mosquito at a nudist convention, here paused to talk about the health experiments being conducted at the Out-of-Door Club.

Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, health statistician, is taking periodic physical measurements of 20 women who expect to be guests at the camp throughout the summer. Dr. John Levy, of the Columbia University Medical Center staff, will make psychological studies of nudist's mental attitudes. Most important, Miss Gay believes, will be comparative studies of two groups of children, one group wearing school clothes, the other being completely naked. Dr. Josephine Kenyon, a child specialist of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, will be in charge of this work.

A dinner call from the hilltop brought about 50 nudists from the lake, the veranda and the lawn to the dining room, where they donned light clothing. Some organizations dine together in the nude and are served by nude waiters. But this group preferred a shred or two more of conventionality.

The meal, as in clement weather, was served outside the old farmhouse. It began with onion soup, included ample meat and salad courses, and ended with strawberries and cream. Nobody talked much about nudism. After dinner, though, some camp snapshots were passed around, and German chemist became the center of an attentive group as he told of the struggle of Naektkultur, which has been banned in Hitler-land.

As darkness came the guests strolled down to the lake. Some were rowing; most of them sat around an open fire in the lodge. There was a good deal of talk, and many a yarn. By 10 o'clock everyone had retired but two or three employees for the strenuous half hour of nude exercises (the men and women in separate groups) and a swim before breakfast.

Most of the guests retired to individual rooms. However, the men's and women's dormitories were not yet finished, so two couples and three single men occupied the long sleeping porch of the lodge, where seven single beds were made up. As lights went out, and good-nights were said, a resonant snore came from someone already asleep. It was the Wall Street broker.

"Exhibitionist!" snickered one of the women. "Exhibitionist is right," responded the other woman drily. "Why, my dear, he even wears pajamas!"

A Sniff-ter of Mountain Dew

Bewhiskered Hod Peters might not be able to tell one clearer from another in a blindfold test, but you can't fool him on mountain dew. Here's Hod in action in his native Plus, Ark., where the sniffing of mountain dew is a fine art. He nosed out all comers in a contest to determine the age of corn juice purely by the bouquet. Hod missed the age of this mountain dew exhibit by only four days. "Easy," says Hod. "You see, there's likker, and then there's likker."

HOME MADE BREAD BACK AS RETAIL PRICE GROWS

Yeast Cake Demand Increases and Dealers Say They're Being Used for Bread.

The retail price now being asked for bread has induced many a housewife to make bread instead of buying baker's bread. Yeast cakes increased in sales when home brew was being made, but there was a falling off when legal beer came to town. Monday there was an increase in the sales. A representative of a large yeast cake concern started out Monday to cover his route, taking along a supply that he expected covered one-fourth of his route when he found that the demand for the yeast cake has increased and he was sold out. In each case, he said, the additional yeast cakes were being bought by housewives who were again making bread instead of buying it from the bakeries.

Company G and the Howitzer Company took part in the war game conducted by the 169th Regiment yesterday. During the absence of the regiment on the field training problem, the 169th Band and Service Company were assigned to camp guard.

All camp problems are prepared each year by Major Allan L. Dexter of this town. Regimental Plans and Training Officer. At the annual dinner last night Colonel Orville Petty, Regimental Commander, stated that the camp this year was the best held any year while he has been in command of the regiment.

The boys have been given a medical examination and are "raring to go" for the joys of a one week stay in the wilds of Hebron. Helge Pearson, popular among the young element of Manchester for the many games and stunts that he can devise, will again be in charge of the camp for two weeks.

Doctors Moore and Holmes, James Turnbull and James Nichols will be at the High School at the same hour to transport the other boys to the camp.

BOOZE PRICES DROP AS BEER ARRIVES

Hartford, July 14.—(AP)—With the advent of 3.2 beer in Connecticut prices of hard liquor have dropped to almost half the pre-legal-beer era, and consumption has taken on a decided slump according to Cecil V. Bassett, deputy prohibition administrator for the state.

That this drop in consumption was not due entirely to legal beer was indicated, however, with the statement there is always a falling off in the drinking of distilled spirits in hot weather. Usually prices are high because comparatively small amounts of Canadian rye whiskey are brought into New England from the middle of January to the first of November.

ANNOUNCES WAGE RAISE Bridgeport, July 14.—(AP)—Ralph E. Day, president and general manager of the Bridgeport Brass Company, announced today that effective on Monday 1,500 employees of the plant would be granted increases of ten per cent in hourly and piece work rates.

NEW SPEED BOAT Southampton, Eng., July 14.—(AP)—Hubert Scott's new speed boat, prospective challenger for the classic Harmsworth trophy, now held by Gar Wood of Detroit, will not be ready for its trials until further experiments have been carried out in the construction details.

Scott-Paine has refused to make the slightest prediction about his boat when it is put into the water. He declined even to set the date for its trials, which probably will be guarded with as much secrecy as possible.

Chris von der Ahe, owner of the St. Louis Browns, the eighth baseman Charles Hean, the greatest baseball fan in the world, was seen here today by a newspaper man, who called baseball enthusiasts "fans."

LATEST STOCKS

New York, July 14.—(AP)—The Stock Market cooled down a bit today, following its heated performance of yesterday, and irregular and somewhat nervous price movements gave the list a spotty appearance.

Traders were inclined to turn their attention to specialties, when most of the leaders failed to exhibit the expected enthusiasm, and some of these were run up around 7 points. Wheat, corn, and rye were almost as indifferent as in yesterday's proceedings. Cotton, however, got back some of its previous day's losses. Bar silver sagged 1/2 of a cent an ounce to 39 1/2 cents.

Stocks that rallied 7 or more points included Allied Chemical, International Silver and Industrial Rayon. Most of the distilling issues were rather quiet, although U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Commercial Solvents got up about 2 points each. Other gainers of 1 to 2 included Celanese, Cerro de Pasco, U. S. Smelting, American Tobacco B and Monsanto Chemical, American Telephone and American Can.

BARONESS FOUND IN INSANE ASYLUM

Picked Up in Streets on June 27— Her Identity Is Just Discovered.

Morristown, N. J., July 14.—(AP)—A mental patient in the state institution for the insane at Greystone Park was identified by police today as the former Baroness Helena Blotom, of Russia, who is now the wife of Walter Hope Mairs, wealthy New Yorker.

Chief of Police Runyon, of Springfield, N. J., announced he had: a) the identification of the baroness, who has been missing for several weeks; b) a photograph appearing in a New York newspaper in connection with divorce proceedings she has instituted against her husband.

Chief Runyon's interest in the case dates back to June 27 when Springfield police found the baroness wandering about the town in a dazed condition, wearing men's clothes. At that time her identity was unknown. Naturalization papers in the name of Helena Mairs were found on her person, but her mental condition was such that she could give no account of her presence in the town or of her identity.

Had Money With Her Police found a thousand French francs in her pocket and $1,700 in American currency sewed into the lining of the suit she wore. Price and size tags had not been removed from the clothing.

Physicians examined the woman and pronounced her in "a very dangerous mental state," and said she was apparently suffering from a nervous breakdown. She was taken to Greystone Park for treatment and observation, and Chief Runyon visited her there several times in hope of solving the mystery of her identity, but found her still dazed mentally.

IMPORTER SHOT DOWN BY BROOKLYN GUNMEN

Men Passing in Auto Fire On Wealthy Resident — Police Seek Motive.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 14.—(AP)—Anthony Calento, 65, wealthy retired importer, was shot and critically wounded today by two men who hailed him from an automobile. He was taken to a Conny Island hospital where he was reported in a dying condition.

Two bullets were fired by the gunman, one striking Calento in the eye, and the other inflicting a flesh wound in the leg of Marie Wilson, 22, a passerby. The young woman was not seriously hurt.

Police notified the wounded man's wife, Mrs. Kitty Calento, at her home in Mount Vernon, N. Y. No motive for the shooting could be determined by police. Calento was shot while he was taking a morning stroll, which he did daily. Police believe that his assailants were familiar with his habit and probably waited in their car until he came by.

LINDBERGH ARRIVE AT BOTWOOD, N.F.D. Complete 140 Mile Flight from St. John's in Two Hours.

Botwood, Newfoundland, July 14.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh brought his big red and black monoplane down here about noon today completing a 140-mile flight with Mrs. Lindbergh from Bay Bulls Big Pond near St. John's.

Botwood is on the northern side of Newfoundland, due northwest of St. John's, on the Exploits river, which flows into Notre Dame bay. The trip from St. John's is less than 300 miles.

ATTACK ON M. D'S STILL A MYSTERY

Police Seeking Woman Who Visited Doctor's Office a Few Days Before.

St. Paul, July 14.—(AP)—Investigation into an unexplained attack upon two St. Paul doctors on a lonely road shifted today to a list of names found in the office of Dr. W. H. Hedberg upon whom a mutilating operation was intended to have been performed.

Although no results were announced by police, they also sought the identity of a woman who had visited Dr. Hedberg, a chiropractor, and asked that he perform an illegal operation. The names of other possible suspects also were sought in his list of patients.

Meanwhile, police still were puzzled as they attempted to uncover a motive for the attack, which resulted in hospital confinement for Dr. Hedberg and Dr. E. J. Engberg, prominent physician, who had been lured to a secluded spot Tuesday night to perform the operation.

New Development
One new development came with the assertion by Dr. Joel E. Hultkrans, medical associate of Dr. Engberg, that he believed the gang of four men had planned for a long time to call upon Dr. Engberg for their purpose.

Dr. Hultkrans disclosed he had received a telephone call a week ago from a man who gave his name as "John Anderson" asking for Dr. Engberg. Informed Dr. Engberg was out of the city, the man refused Dr. Hultkrans' offer to see the supposed patient and insisted he wanted Dr. Engberg and no one else.

The next day this man arranged a meeting at the place where the attack later occurred, but failed to keep the appointment.

At the same time that Dr. Hedberg disclosed he had refused to perform an illegal operation for the unidentified woman who had visited him and that he believed her visit was a "frame-up," Dr. Engberg revealed that the gang on the night of the attack had in its possession the surgical instruments necessary for an operation such as they insisted be performed upon the chiropractor. Dr. Engberg refused to operate.

ELKS PLAN PROGRAM ON 15TH ANNIVERSARY

Set September 12 as Date for Celebration—Harry C. Smith Is Chairman.

Plans are progressing for the celebration of the Fifteenth Anniversary of Rockville Lodge, No. 1359, B. P. O. Elks and the date selected is Tuesday, September 12. This is expected to be one of the biggest events of the season in Rockville and scores of prominent members of the Elks are expected to visit Rockville with their friends.

The committee, of which Harry C. Smith has been elected chairman, have made preliminary plans in addition to selecting a date which is the same date as that when the lodge was founded. The general plans call for the opening of the day's program at 3 o'clock in the afternoon with a buffet lunch which will be served for the remainder of the day. There will be a musical program by a local orchestra during the afternoon. The big event of the day will be a banquet to be served at the Rockville House at 8:30 o'clock after which there will be prominent speakers. Several representatives of the Grand Lodge of Elks are expected to be present in addition to the president and officers of the Connecticut Elks Association. Excited Ruler Lewis H. Chapman is now at the National Elks Convention at Milwaukee and hopes to secure the promise of the Grand Exalted Ruler to attend the Rockville anniversary.

A second big event of the day will be the Grand Ball in Princess Hall on Village street at 9 o'clock in the evening. The various sub-committees are expected to complete plans very soon.

Another crash at Goat Farm
Another crash of autos took place yesterday morning at the Goat Farm, close to Talcottville, when an automobile driven by Miss Rosalind Papopora, aged 22, of 38 East 85th street, New York City, collided with the rear of the truck driven by Andrew Holloway, aged 26, of Delmar, Delaware. The truck was owned by Frank Baker of the same city and was only slightly damaged by the impact.

The accident occurred when the truck driver who was headed from Dobsonville village towards Hartford stopped to permit a car on his right, approaching from Rockville to pass. Miss Papopora was unable to stop her car in time and crashed into the truck slightly damaging her car. No one was injured by the collision.

Sergeant Peter Dowgievicz, who was acting as police captain the day, made an investigation of the accident but made no arrests.

This was but one of the many accidents which have occurred at the Goat Farm intersection where five roads join with the main highway running from New York to Boston. There have been two deaths as the result of the accidents at this point. A survey by the State officials states that the intersection is perfectly safe as there is a clear view in all directions.

Due to impaired health for several years, Mrs. Shea entered the hospital about a month ago where she underwent a serious operation. She was a member of St. Bernard's Catholic church and Victory assembly, Catholic Ladies of Columbus. For several years Mrs. Shea was an officer of this organization and took much interest in its activities.

FRIDAY, JULY 14.

THE WAY IT WORKS.

Those numerous residents of Connecticut who never have anything to do with oysters, clams, scallops, etc., except to eat them, have very little idea of the amount of law existing in this state in relation to shell-fisheries.

Recently, because Governor Cross felt that there should be more deserving Democrats in office, there were changes in the commission.

And now comes Commissioner London to the State Board of Finance and Control—or is about to come—with a request that that body restore the $500 salaries to the commissioners.

Which, to our way of thinking, indicates that Mr. London is a fine, upstanding citizen, endowed with a magnificent understanding of what government is for—that it is for the purpose of providing clear money for the faithful, as faithfulness is understood by Dr. Cross.

Students of child psychology—and who does not come more or less within that classification?—will be interested in observing the development of events in connection with a novel enterprise just set on foot in New York.

No doubt with the average child, particularly the average small boy, this scheme will work all right. Plenty of youngsters can get a big kick out of a toy for a few days but after that the edge is worn off their interest and they would be delighted to swap it for something different.

the May mother child who has borrowed a scar-faced poppet and before it is time to return it has come to regard it as the keystone of her existence?

Perhaps the good ladies who are running that unique welfare service may know what to do about such a case. But it's our guess that it is going to take a lot of dolls to keep up the supply.

GANGSTER ETHICS. The O'Connell kidnaping case, while it has made a reasonably good newspaper story, will seem to most people to bear so near a relationship to intra-gang quarrels as to set it quite apart from similar crimes committed against people who have nothing to do with criminals voluntarily.

It would be libel to call the O'Connell of Albany gangsters. But the peculiar kind of politics which they promote and the singular associations fostered by such politics as theirs put them in a position where the gap between them and the racketeering mobs is not, perhaps, as wide as that separating the ordinary good citizen from the criminal class.

It is the natural thing to think of this kidnaping, not perhaps exactly as a family affair but at least as a conflict between kinsmen not very remotely related; and to feel, toward the whole affair, a little of that relative indifference one experiences when he hears of a falling-out between wild men of Borneo.

The O'Connells, at all events, seem to regard the matter as none of the public's business, taking the attitude common among gangsters that settlement of it is strictly up to the parties directly in interest.

DR. FRANCE. The picturesque Dr. Joseph Irwin France, former United States senator from Maryland, comes again into the public eye by announcing his candidacy for re-election to the Senate.

That was a curious sort of incident. Probably France would not have been suppressed as he was if anybody had realized that he was demanding recognition for the purpose of naming Coolidge; but all hands believed, as they had every reason to believe, that he was going to nominate himself.

SPECIAL LIQUEUR SESSION. We would be much more enthusiastic for the proposal of the hotel men of the state that a special session of the Legislature be held to amend the liquor control law if there were any evidence that a thoroughly sound substitute for the present mess was likely to be offered.

ALIMONY RECIPROcity. A news item carrying the information that two husbands have been awarded alimony under the new reciprocal law of Illinois suggests the thought that the League of Women Voters and other and more radical feminist organizations appear to have almost entirely neglected this particular field of reform.

many laws of most of the American states.

New York state probably has the worst alimony laws in the world. Under them rich women can and not infrequently do keep absolutely impotent husbands in jail for long periods for failure to pay alimony that they cannot possibly pay and of which the wives or ex-wives stand in no need whatever.

CRASH IN DIVORCE MILL. Judge J. Emmett Walsh of Nevada has hurled a bombshell into the camp of the Reno hotel keepers, gamblers and purveyors-in-general to the comfort and entertainment of the divorce colony.

That decision is going to dump a lot of large sized rocks in the primrose path of the average Reno divorce-hunter. In the first place it is only the exceptional wife or husband who, even for the sake of a divorce, is willing to swear to a whopper, particularly in the presence of a gimlet-eyed and skeptical jurist like Judge Walsh.

IN NEW YORK. By PAUL HARRISON. New York, July 13.—For some time now there has been talk about the idea of doing something for Fritz Scheff. In theatrical clubs and managers' offices and risqué speakeasies, wherever old-timers meet, the conversation usually goes around to her:

"Dear old Fritz Scheff is broke, I hear. He's mortgaged her home up in Waterbury, Conn., and now they're even going to fore-close on that. . . . 'What a pity! Why, I remember that Christmas night at the old Knickerbocker Theater back in 1905, and . . . 'So do I. And when she stood there with Victor Herbert holding onto him bowing and bowing to the wildest audience I ever saw, I couldn't have believed that she'd ever be in need. . . . 'Well, I think there ought to be a benefit for her; one that would save her home, anyway. . . . 'Yes, something certainly ought to be done.'"

But somehow, nothing has been done. And maybe this partly because, on seeing the Fritz Scheff of 1933, it's so difficult to realize that she was making musical comedy history nearly three decades ago. Her hair is as red, her nose as impudently upturned, and her manner as saucy as ever. She still gets about town — by what sacrificial economies no one knows — and sings at other people's benefits.

Miss Scheff now recalls that after she left the Metropolitan to sing in operettas of Victor Herbert, she shied away from the "Kiss Me Again" number in "Mlle. Modiste" because of its difficult range and intervals. "It is impossible," she told Herbert. "I cannot sing it; nobody can sing it. Do you think I am a cello?"

Today the old street is sorrowfully reminding itself that Fritz Scheff is broke. . . . Going to lose her home in September, too, unless something's done. . . . The trouble is, though, benefits are generally given only for doddering old troupers; and Fritz doesn't dodder, nor does she want that kind of aid. Only the other night at the Actor's Dinner Club, where the big stars take turns entertaining for their jobless compatriots, Fritz Scheff got up and sang "Kiss Me Again."

The New York Auto Show is scheduled to open Saturday, July 8, and the Chicago Show on Jan. 27.

HEALTH-DIET ADVICE

BY DR. FRANK MCCOY. Questions in regard to Health and Diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

INFLAMED VEINS OR PHELEBITIS. The name of this disease is spoken as if it were "sea-bee-us," however, it has nothing to do with seas but refers to a serious inflammation of a vein.

Both eating and exercising which will bring about better health. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. (Will Heart Improve When 21?) Question: Linton M. writes: "I am a young man of 20 years and have heart trouble (mitral stenosis) which has existed since birth."

While phlebitis is usually caused as I have just described to you, it may follow such diseases as typhoid fever, tonsillitis, erysipelas, dysentery, appendicitis, scarlet fever, influenza, tuberculosis, pneumonia and other diseases where there is a large quantity of pus.

It is a good plan for the phlebitis patient to take a fruit juice fast. This will bring about the absorption of the clot in the most satisfactory manner. Usually the body can accomplish the absorption within a week or ten days although in cases of long-standing phlebitis or with patients who have had it before, the cure may take longer.

The localized treatment to the affected vein should consist of several daily applications of hot moist towels which are wrung out and placed over the painful area. If you are near a doctor with a therapeutic light, treatments may be taken with it with good results.

orders of childhood often gradually disappear after adolescence, but do not depend too much upon this possible change. Begin eating correctly so that you do not have an excessive amount of gas pressure against your heart, as such pressure is the most common cause of all heart derangements.

White Spots in Nails. Question: Mrs. Frieda Van B. writes: "What causes white spots to form in one's nails? Have been told they indicate that something is wrong with the system in a nervous form. Is that right?"

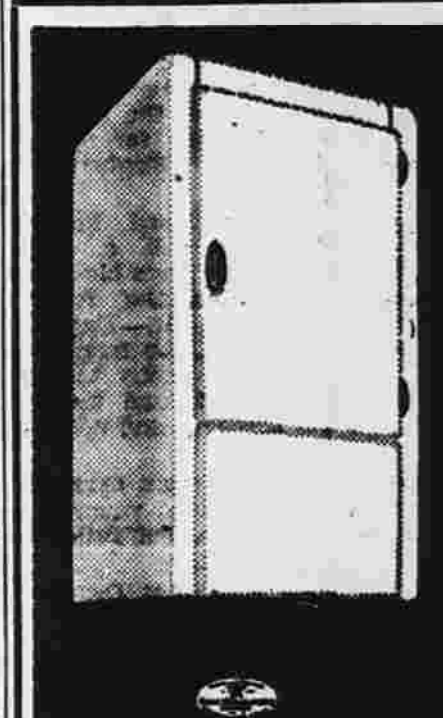

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

FARM PROGRAM MOVING FASTER THAN EXPECTED. President Had Planned to Defer Action; Bureau Called "Acting President"

Washington, July 14.—Roosevelt seldom makes a slip and hardly ever has to reverse himself. He handles any and all questions, with no holds barred. But the great program of agricultural production control, with its initial process taxes on wheat and cotton to compensate farmers for reduction, is going ahead after a period during which nearly everyone was believing that it would be put off until after the London economic conference.

So the whole huge scheme seemed to be temporarily shelved. But Secretary of Agriculture Wallace went to bat on the issue. Southern senators squawked blue murder and western wheat groups demanded that the administration make good its campaign promise. And it was urged that process and compensatory taxes couldn't bury the London conference further in the mud than already seemed inevitable.

Our formal position now is that the compensatory tax doesn't violate the tariff truce because it isn't a tariff truce designed to give the domestic producer an advantage, imposes no new barrier to international trade and is merely an equalizing effect.

STATE IMPROVED 237 ROAD MILES IN FISCAL YEAR

Informal Report by Macdonald As of June 30 Shows Work Was Mostly Town Aid Gravel Surfacing.

Although an act of the 1933 Legislature makes it unnecessary for him to render an official report until June 30, 1934, and provides thereafter for biennial instead of annual reports as heretofore, Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald today made an informal report of the work of the State Highway Department during the state's fiscal year which closed on June 30, in which he stated that during the year the department had improved 237.07 miles of Connecticut roads.

Table showing road improvement statistics: Type, Miles, Total. Gravel 200.54, Waterbound macadam 45.25, Bituminous macadam 5.03, Loose macadam 1.84, Bituminous concrete 3.92, Reinforced concrete 14.85, Barites 1.61.

Comparison of the type of roads being worked upon now with those of 1928 shows that Trunk line work in that year measured 13.2 miles against 21.91 last year; State Aid work was 43.91 miles in 1928 and last year 30.53 miles. Town Aid work, which did not start until 1931, last year measured 220.63 miles.

BARGAIN BRIDE

By KATHARINE HAVLAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELINOR STAFFORD, 29, falls in love with 35-year-old BARRETT COLVIN, who has returned to New York after years abroad. Barrett has made a name for himself as an archeologist. He is about to ask Elinor to marry him when her jealous, scheming mother, LIDA STAFFORD, interferes and succeeds in breaking up the romance.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies she leaves her entire fortune to Barrett. Then she dies. VANCE CARTER, S. H. O. S. BENTWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barrett, who does not want the Sexton fortune, tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live in his home as a guest for a year he will give the entire sum to her to divide among the relatives. Elinor agrees, knowing the money may save her father's life.

The marriage takes place next day. Barrett and Elinor have their first quarrel when he finds she intends to give all Miss Sexton's money away, keeping nothing for herself. She also insists she will not accept alimony from him at the end of the year their marriage is to last.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIX

A small night light was burning beside Elinor's bed and she was sitting up, curling her hair. Her face and neck were bare. "Barrett," she said as he stood beside her. "I can't stand it!" Her lips trembled on the words.

"I don't want you to, since you feel as you do. But I do want to provide for you—when the time comes. I don't know how I'd stand it if you wouldn't let me do that."

"I can take money from you more easily," she admitted.

"Well," he murmured. His throat had thickened a little with her confession. His eyes stung. "Suppose," he said, "we call this matter closed?"

"Let's!"

"I know I was harsh, child—but—"

"Well, it's over now." He had to stifle the "dear" that was on the tip of his tongue.

She laid her hand on his and again his heart was beating thickly.

"We made rather a mountain out of a molehill," he said.

"I suppose we did but I couldn't seem to help it," she said with a deeply indrawn breath and a little smile.

"We were both—rather earnest!"

"Yes—"

He rose quickly. "Better be on my way," he said. "Peace to you, child." Stopping suddenly, he kissed her forehead.

"We must be friends," he said a bit thickly. "Today has taught us that."

He did not understand her eyes that were crying. "I love you!" but he knew he could not stifle his. "Good night, dear."

Alone Elinor touched her forehead with her hand as she held the hand to her lips. She had been less than a week in this house and already she was back where she had been, willing to kneel to him if he would have her.

Barrett next morning smiled bitterly to himself. How could he have been taken in so completely as to believe the girl really meant what she had said? How could he when he knew her for exactly what she was?

Elinor awakened with a chill start to think, "Philip!" She had not put his name down—Philip Sexton who sneered over her to tell him in public yet took anything that she gave him where no one could see his acceptance. She had—in the excitement—forgotten Philip! She would tell Barrett that she must have $100,000 which she could not explain.

Barrett heard this and thought wearily, "No, you could hardly explain—after the role you assumed last night!" He was convinced that Elinor was not going to cheat herself in doing out the Sexton millions.

For Elinor the weeks that followed passed swiftly. She sat for hours each day with her father. Bentwell Stafford seemed to be recovering but his strength came slowly. Elinor went to see Marcia and the tiny son who had at last arrived. She shared Bessie's and Jim's tremulous excitement over their new house on Long Island.

With Bessie puffing happily on long shopping jaunts, Elinor considered chintzes, rugs, schools for the boys and the tones of radices. Elinor had had a hard battle with her aunt and uncle before persuading them to say they would take a share of the fortune. Before it was settled she admitted a truth she had never voiced even to her aunt who was so close to her.

"Aunt Bessie," she said on a day in mid-January when she was almost worn out by her futile argument with proud obstinacy. "I have never said this before. I wouldn't stay it now but I must. I know, Aunt Bessie, that you and Uncle Jim were remembered substantially in Aunt Ella's will a year ago. My mother found out about it and she so cleverly planted suggestions about your inability to handle money that she persuaded Aunt Ella to change her plans. The sum I want you and Uncle Jim and the boys to have is yours. It's exactly what was left you until my mother robbed you of it. Are you going to burden me all my life with the consciousness of having stolen your money? Barrett and I both know this money is yours and that more might have been yours if you had been willing to do what my mother did. There has been plenty of gossip about Aunt Ella—that you could have told Mother that."

"I never did tell Aunt Ella anything about your mother," Bessie admitted. "Once I thought of it—I never did, though—and I was so glad even right after Aunt Ella's death that I didn't."

Jim Thrope heard all this and considered it. Barrett put in his voice and at last they were persuaded. After that came the ecstatic hunt for a house with "nice grounds and space around it."

"There's not a dark room in it!" Bessie would brag, shopping with Elinor. And Elinor would press her aunt's arm closer to her side, saying, "Barrett thinks it's a marvelous bargain!"

Bessie told Jim Senior that all Elinor's opinions were second-hand. "I never saw a child so much in love," she said. "I sometimes think she's a little too much in love. It puts every egg in one basket, you know," she pointed out.

"Oh, Barrett's all right!" Jim assured her. "If you ask me, he's crazier about her than she is about him. Notice the way he kissed her when he came here for the other evening?"

"Yes, I did," Bessie admitted. She had not been so convinced by that scene as Jim had. There had been tension and a balked hunger back of Barrett's swift kiss. Sometimes the astute Bessie suspected that affairs weren't quite what they seemed for Barrett and Elinor.

Yet the girl was happy; extremely and patiently happy. She talked of their games of chess, of plays she saw with Elinor, of playing the piano for him. She hurried home toward the close of each afternoon in order to be in for tea. There was a new brightness in her eyes, a new sweetness in her face. She was gentler than ever and she had always been gentle.

"But," Bessie thought, "something about it is—not quite right."

Elinor had had no difficulty in settling a fortune upon her own parents. Her father was too weary, too frail to consider the right and wrong of anything. Her mother held out eager hands as her eyes brightened.

"It is ours," Lida said. "I'm glad Barrett saw it that way!"

Lida made innumerable new purchases—matching make-up, purses and shoes, a vibrating machine which she used once, frocks that had seemed attractive and that she discarded after one wearing, Italian pottery, colored glass. She was feverish in her search for diversion—and no diversion helped her to forget that Vance Carter had been locked up as insane in order to escape a less comfortable place of imprisonment.

Vance wrote Lida now and again, his letters smuggled out of the asylum to a post box by a bribed guard. The letters were bitter arraignment of her, of... folly in having believed in her. He told her in the bluntest phrases what she was, Lida tried to burn the letters when they came, without reading them, but that gesture takes strength and Lida's only manner of strength lay in telling lies.

After "the accident" she had had to deny even the slightest interest in Vance Carter. She had admitted publicly that he had "annoyed" her for some time. She implied that her nature was a home-keeping one. Seeing her mother's name in newspaper headlines made Elinor shrink. It was all so scrid. She thought of Vance Carter, with not pity. She knew what her mother had done to add weakness to weakness.

"Don't think of it," Barrett urged often. He was learning by her changing expressions to know the emotions they mirrored. He was learning too, that he could not bear to have her anything but happy.

He supposed as the weeks passed that he was being a fool again but he could not help it. He tried to steel himself against her, to ignore her natural appeal and he failed.

WHY HAVE AN ICE-COLD DRINK?

Electric Refrigeration Offers a Multitude of Possibilities in the Preparation of Cooling Beverages

The distinctive American custom of having a cold drink in the summer is increasing rapidly from year to year. This is not surprising when one considers that household electric refrigeration, with its facilities for making iced drinks in ample quantities, has been installed in more than three million American homes in the last four years.

Moreover, we are going to keep right on consuming iced drinks, even though some scientists and physicians contend that they are psychologically harmful. For after all, to paraphrase an old adage, a man is as cool as he feels. And with all the new drinks and the new and convenient ways of preparing the old ones, made possible by the modern electric refrigerator, the habit becomes more irresistible from year to year.

Undoubtedly the most popular of all home-made iced beverages are iced tea and iced coffee. Almost 24,845 passengers in March, during the same month 124,454 pounds of express were carried.

Make the tea or coffee as strong as you like it. Pour it into the ice trays and freeze in cubes, just as you would make plain ice. Then when it is time to serve, place the frozen cubes in the glasses and pour your freshly made tea or coffee over them. The most fastidious tea or coffee addict will declare that here is a drink that is good to the last sip.

Many have already discovered this secret, but it is not occurred to all of them that the electric refrigerator provides numerous ways of enhancing the attractiveness of the beverage, especially of tea. Surprising variations in the tea cubes may be introduced by placing half slices of lemon or segments of orange in as many compartments of the freezing tray as desired, or by adding a few maraschino cherries, red or green, or by freezing leaves of mint into the cubes. And for those who are not so particular about not having their iced tea weakened a bit, try freezing lemon juice in cubes, in the proportion of one part pure juice to eight parts of water.

Any one of the numerous so-called coffee substitutes, iced, makes a pleasing summer evening drink for those who may be fearful that late indulgence in coffee or tea may result in loss of sleep. Then, too, there are chocolate and cocoa drinks so numerous, and with so many variations, that it is hardly necessary to particularize.

As to the harm in cold beverages—there isn't any, provided one does not hastily gulp them down. So make the most of the opportunities which your electric refrigerator affords and don't get hot about the heat.

The appearance of food is all important when hot days sit right down on top of you.

An appealing cold plate will tempt the most harassed person to take a bite. Serve one that is just a little different and your praises will ring in your ears.

Cold sliced beef loaf, served with a combination salad, is simplicity itself when it comes to preparing, but a meal that few folks seem to think of. This is how you make New England beef loaf:

To 2 pounds of chopped lean beef—preferably bottom round steak, add 1 tablespoonful of chopped parsley, the grated rind of one lemon, 1 egg, 1-2 teaspoonful of grated onion, 1 teaspoonful of salt, 1-4 teaspoonful of dash nutmeg and 4 slices of fat salt pork (about 1-4 pound) well chopped.

Mix the ingredients thoroughly. Put them in a deep baking pan and cook about 30 minutes in a medium oven.

Beef loaf served hot with brown gravy, is equally as delicious as it is when sliced cold and served with a summer salad.

Put your salad and your meat loaf right on the dinner plates.

Salads are a boon to the home-maker. They can be prepared in the cool of the morning, kept on ice until lunch or dinner time and served with a minimum of effort.

Be sure that your lettuce is very crisp and that the salad bowl or the dinner plates are ice cold. Many a delicious salad has been ruined by being served on luke-warm plates.

Tomatoes, cucumbers, rings of green pepper, green onions, chicken, endive, radishes and any number of other fresh vegetables can be used on the platter in conjunction with the meat loaf.

You can give your family a choice of mayonnaise or French dressing.

mother held out eager hands as her eyes brightened.

The most fastidious tea or coffee addict will declare that here is a drink that is good to the last sip.

Many have already discovered this secret, but it is not occurred to all of them that the electric refrigerator provides numerous ways of enhancing the attractiveness of the beverage, especially of tea. Surprising variations in the tea cubes may be introduced by placing half slices of lemon or segments of orange in as many compartments of the freezing tray as desired, or by adding a few maraschino cherries, red or green, or by freezing leaves of mint into the cubes. And for those who are not so particular about not having their iced tea weakened a bit, try freezing lemon juice in cubes, in the proportion of one part pure juice to eight parts of water.

Any one of the numerous so-called coffee substitutes, iced, makes a pleasing summer evening drink for those who may be fearful that late indulgence in coffee or tea may result in loss of sleep. Then, too, there are chocolate and cocoa drinks so numerous, and with so many variations, that it is hardly necessary to particularize.

As to the harm in cold beverages—there isn't any, provided one does not hastily gulp them down. So make the most of the opportunities which your electric refrigerator affords and don't get hot about the heat.

mother held out eager hands as her eyes brightened.

"It is ours," Lida said. "I'm glad Barrett saw it that way!"

Lida made innumerable new purchases—matching make-up, purses and shoes, a vibrating machine which she used once, frocks that had seemed attractive and that she discarded after one wearing, Italian pottery, colored glass. She was feverish in her search for diversion—and no diversion helped her to forget that Vance Carter had been locked up as insane in order to escape a less comfortable place of imprisonment.

Vance wrote Lida now and again, his letters smuggled out of the asylum to a post box by a bribed guard. The letters were bitter arraignment of her, of... folly in having believed in her. He told her in the bluntest phrases what she was, Lida tried to burn the letters when they came, without reading them, but that gesture takes strength and Lida's only manner of strength lay in telling lies.

After "the accident" she had had to deny even the slightest interest in Vance Carter. She had admitted publicly that he had "annoyed" her for some time. She implied that her nature was a home-keeping one. Seeing her mother's name in newspaper headlines made Elinor shrink. It was all so scrid. She thought of Vance Carter, with not pity. She knew what her mother had done to add weakness to weakness.

"Don't think of it," Barrett urged often. He was learning by her changing expressions to know the emotions they mirrored. He was learning too, that he could not bear to have her anything but happy.

He supposed as the weeks passed that he was being a fool again but he could not help it. He tried to steel himself against her, to ignore her natural appeal and he failed.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

SKIN LOTION BRINGS "FRUITFUL" RESULTS

The summer crop of beauty gadgets is in full bloom. Harvest what you need!

Eyebrow pencils and mascara come in sets for your purse these days. You don't have to wonder if your eyes are going to stay made up all evening, nor do you need to tote along cumbersome boxes and pencils which don't quite fit into an evening purse.

The finishing cream which you use on your hands comes in smart little containers. You can carry them on the beach. For traveling, they are invaluable. It's a mistake to neglect using a lotion on your hands just because it's too much trouble to take along a big lotion bottle. Salt water at the beach and the soap ordinarily supplied in trays or on board a ship are not very good for your hands. You need hand lotions for vacations even more than you do at home.

You're the kind of a person who is always dashing home from business just in time to make a dinner date, you'll need some kind of a skin freshener which takes little time to use. There is a heavy soap ordinarily supplied in trays or on board a ship are not very good for your hands. You need hand lotions for vacations even more than you do at home.

Stand on both feet this summer! Don't shift your weight from one foot to the other because one or both of them hurt.

You need special attention when the days and the sidewalks are hot. If you would walk with a light, buoyant step and trip the light fantastic when the stars shine down on some all fresco dance place, they give your feet the attention they deserve!

Tired, aching feet will be greatly revived by a soaking in salt and water. Use about a cupful of salt to two gallons of water and soak your feet for at least half an hour. Then rinse them.

Vinegar baths are soothing to feet that are worn out and tired and hot. Use one-half cup of vinegar to a gallon of lukewarm water. Rinse your feet with clear water afterward.

Drying your feet properly is half the battle. Be sure there is no dampness left on them when you have finished with the towel. Drying between toes, separately, is important.

If you have small callouses on your heels and bottoms of your feet, use a piece of pumice stone on them after each soaking. In time, the pumice treatment will tend to make the callouses disappear.

Corns and bunions should be treated by a foot specialist. There are corn and bunion plasters which you can wear to keep them from hurting while you walk. Never cut corns yourself!

Clean stockings each and every morning are most important to ideal foot comfort. It seems unbelievable that many girls wear their hose the second day without washing. That's a big mistake! Be sure that yours are clean every morning.

WHY HAVE AN ICE-COLD DRINK?

Electric Refrigeration Offers a Multitude of Possibilities in the Preparation of Cooling Beverages

The distinctive American custom of having a cold drink in the summer is increasing rapidly from year to year. This is not surprising when one considers that household electric refrigeration, with its facilities for making iced drinks in ample quantities, has been installed in more than three million American homes in the last four years.

Moreover, we are going to keep right on consuming iced drinks, even though some scientists and physicians contend that they are psychologically harmful. For after all, to paraphrase an old adage, a man is as cool as he feels. And with all the new drinks and the new and convenient ways of preparing the old ones, made possible by the modern electric refrigerator, the habit becomes more irresistible from year to year.

Undoubtedly the most popular of all home-made iced beverages are iced tea and iced coffee. Almost 24,845 passengers in March, during the same month 124,454 pounds of express were carried.

Make the tea or coffee as strong as you like it. Pour it into the ice trays and freeze in cubes, just as you would make plain ice. Then when it is time to serve, place the frozen cubes in the glasses and pour your freshly made tea or coffee over them. The most fastidious tea or coffee addict will declare that here is a drink that is good to the last sip.

Many have already discovered this secret, but it is not occurred to all of them that the electric refrigerator provides numerous ways of enhancing the attractiveness of the beverage, especially of tea. Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famed Authority

USE OF COSMETICS BY WOMEN IS DEFEATED BY MEDICAL SCIENCE

Face Powders, Nearly All of Which Are Now Harmless, Protect Skin From Irritations to Which It Is Exposed.

This is the first of three articles on cosmetics.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBURN Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Because of the increasing extent to which cosmetics are used daily by women throughout the world, it occurred to Dr. Alice Carleton of Oxford to study their possible dangers to human health and comfort.

The face powders available today include materials of various origins. Vegetable powders come from rice, wheat, corn flour, starch, scoria, and tragacanth. Mineral powders come from chalk, talc, kaolin, magnesium carbonate, bismuth nitrate or carbonate and zinc oxide. Various oils are used as perfumes; various aniline dyes are used to produce colorings. Oris root is frequently used to fix the powder.

The vast majority of substances used in face powders are harmless. There was a time when lead acetate and lead carbonate were found in face powders, but in this country at least the practice is no longer common, if it exists at all. In Germany, the use of lead salts in face powder has been prohibited for more than 40 years. Cases still occur, however, in Japan

Depression Due to Machines, He Says

Author Holds New Economics Essential to Prosperity

By BRUCE CATTON

The depression from which we are now emerging was not a previous economic crisis, as Albert M. Newman in "Enough for Everybody," in that it was due primarily to the impact of machinery on the existing ratio between human labor, the production of goods and the price scale.

Machine production, says Mr. Newman, dropped a new factor into this old equation by making possible an unlimited increase in the production of all kinds of goods. By doing so it disarranged our old economies so completely that only by revolutionizing our ways of thought can we get back to a real prosperity.

"Goods heretofore," he says, "were invariably produced for sale. Because they can now be produced in such quantities as to break down any conceivable price scale, they must henceforth be produced for use. We must stop figuring on the effective consumer demand and figure instead on the potential consumer demand; that is, we must calculate, not how many people can buy the things we produce, but how many people can use them."

That, of course, calls for changes that make the current industrial recovery act look mild. Mr. Newman suggests government production of all essential commodities, strict control over the production of non-essentials, and a managed currency based on some such device as electrical energy units instead of on gold.

You may disagree with much that he says, but you'll find his little book exceptionally thought-provoking. Published by Bobbs-Merrill, it sells for $1.25.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

KEEP CHILDREN BUSY TO BREAK THUMB-SUCKING HABIT

Billy was three and he sucked his thumb. Jeanie, his sister, was six months old and she sucked her thumb. She didn't suck it all the time—just when she went to sleep. At other times she lay and cooed and played and never thought of her hand.

But her mother was terribly worried. She wasn't going to have another thumb-sucker in the family if she could help it.

When Billy was that age she had worked with him terribly hard to try to break the habit. She never could, however, and now she was at her wits' end to know what to do.

She bought some little bulb-shaped affairs to tie over Jeanie's hands so she could not get them to her mouth. Jeanie munched them and screamed and cried. After a week of struggle her mother tied her arms down to her sides by wrapping a big towel about her body.

This was worse still. The baby, like all babies, was terrorized at restriction, and it seemed as though she just never would go to sleep.

Her mother did all the things she had done with Billy at his age plus all the new things she heard about. She tried one after the other only to give them up because the baby needed sleep. The whole house needed it.

"Let her suck her thumb for awhile," she declared. "I'm tired struggling."

Some Helpful Advice

So Jeanie began all over again. She would drop off happily to sleep with the tiny pink thumb in her mouth.

One day Mattie came in to wash and she asked to see the baby.

"The darling," she cooed, wiping her hands on her apron and bending low over the bassinets. "I wish mine was little again. They looked like that. A sucker in their thumbs so sweet."

"What did you do to cure it?"

"Cure it?" Mattie stared. "Why nothin' at all. They cured their selves when they could walk. Any-way, I wish mine was little again for thumb sucking. Eight of 'em."

"Billy suckin' his thumb."

"He wouldn't if there was eight kids. He just ain't got nothin' else to do."

"I've spent three years trying to break him."

"Gracious goodness! Is that so. Mebbe if you stop worryin' he'll quit."

"I'm trying to shame him out of it."

"Suggestion for Cure

"The lamb! Well, mebbe that makes him worse, too. They do say the more you fuss and talk the worse they get. Say—Mattie had a thought. "Why don't you get him a doll or some bunnies, or a lot of things to keep him awful busy? Just so busy he'll forget about his thumb. And get kids in to play all the time. Just so he won't have time to get his fingers up. And this here baby I wouldn't worry about. Honestly, I think you're gonna have trouble with all this tyin'-business. I think it just sets 'em."

"I hope you're right, Mattie. 'Maybe' will keep Billy busier."

A year later Mattie said one day, "Say, Mrs. Smith, remember when they sucked their thumbs?"

"Yes I do, Mattie. And you were their doctor."

"Mebbe it don't always work," said Mattie, "but it just seemed to me like sense."

MARKS MAY BE SMASHED AT PRINCETON SATURDAY

Oxford-Cambridge Track and Field Teams to Meet Princeton's and Cornell's Star Athletes.

New York, July 14.—Win or lose, the Oxford-Cambridge track and field team, which meets Princeton-Cornell tomorrow at Princeton, will leave the imprint of its visit in the form of several new records for the series.

In that meet the Light and Dark Blues, particularly the Dark, of Oxford, with a bit of aid from their American rivals, tinkered with virtually all the meet records, of which six were broken and two tied.

The same speed will result in another record spree tomorrow. The visitors, in fact, expect to be better. They are pretty good prognosticators of their own ability, for they predicted on reaching New York a fortnight ago that they would win six events against Harvard-Yale.

Records in Danger The records which figure to go tomorrow are 120-yard high hurdles, 0:15.4; 100-yard dash, 10 seconds; one-mile run, 4:20.4; pole vault, 12 feet 7 inches; two-mile run, 9:33.8; 220-yard low hurdles, 0:24.7; half-mile, 1:56, and perhaps the 440-yard mark of 0:49.8.

BITTER BATTLES AT SPRING LAKE

Shields and Bell and Parker vs. Bowman on Today's Card.

Spring Lake, N. J., July 14.—(AP)—Two bitter singles battles were on tap in the Spring Lake challenge trophy tennis tournament today, as four survivors fought for places in the final round.

Frank X. Shields, New Yorker who ranks fifth National, faced Berkeley Ball, of Austin, Tex., and the spectacular Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, took on Herbert L. Bowman, of New York.

Shields, seeded No. 1, and Parker, seeded second, were favored to win and meet tomorrow for the trophy.

Yesterday's Stars

Johnny Vergez, Giants—Hit homer in 9th to beat Cards 8-2. O'Dell Hale, Indians—Drove in four runs, including winning counter against Athletics.

PHIL COLLINS, PHILLIES—Held Reds to two hits in 3 1/2 innings of relief pitching.

Red Kress, White Sox—Rapped Washington pitching for triple, double and two singles.

Bill Jurges, Cubs—Figured in three double plays, one unassisted, against Dodgers.

CRITICIZE DOCTOR FOR HIS MOVE IN STOPPING BATTLE

Fans Say Hollander Was Not Badly Hurt in Bout With Billy Petrolle.

New York, July 14.—While Tim Mara, promoter of the Aram A. C., was seeing to re-match Billy Petrolle and Bep Van Klaveren for a fight at the Yankee Stadium on August 13, fans, followers and even officials yesterday were busy hurling criticism at Dr. Joseph M. Sheridan, who stopped their contest after the fourth round Wednesday night.

Dr. Sheridan stepped in to one of the best bouts of the year with a precautionary finger when an old wound was opened over Van Klaveren's right eye. He ordered the bout stopped and Billy Cavanaugh, the referee, hurried the fight.

"But if I had been the referee, fifty doctors couldn't have made me stop it," Bill Brown, commissioner, said yesterday. "Van Klaveren was in good condition and making a fine fight of it."

"Eyesores of the 10,000 spectators could see that Van Klaveren was not injured badly," declared Tim Mara, the promoter. "Dr. Sheridan examined him at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and saw the cut then. He said the Dutchman was in good condition—good enough to fight without taking any chances. He wasn't any worse off at the end of the fourth round than he was in the afternoon."

N. END ARROWS WIN FROM W. S. RAMBLERS

North Enders Score Seven Runs in Two Innings—Ramblers Err Four Times.

The North End Arrows migrated over to the West Side Playgrounds last night long enough to pin an 8 to 3 defeat on the Ramblers baseball outfit.

The Arrows scored twice in the second when Mickey Katkeveck doubled with two men aboard. They came back in the next marker to cross the platter five times on three hits, two errors and a couple of wild pitches.

Boycé Failors Eddie Boyce returned to the mound to twirl for the West Enders after an absence of two years and found it hard to locate the plate. Boyce asked to be relieved in the third and Capt. McConkey called Mahoney in from the left pasture to finish the game. Mahoney twirled the remaining four innings, issuing one hit and one run.

The Ramblers who have been dubbed the "hitless wonders" by the wolverine in the pitchers' circle every night failed to come through in the pinches although the Arrows only got one more hit to win the ball game.

Jolley, McConkey Star Eddie Jolley and Bert McConkey were the stars for the Ramblers. Jolley getting two hits out of four and McConkey had a perfect day with the bat and handled eight chances and booted one. Richardson and Katkeveck were the stars for the North End boys. Richardson doubled with the sacks clogged in the third.

The Ramblers would like to hear from Manchester Green, Pioneers and Hose Co. No. 3, and would like to tackle the Sub-Alpines at the West Side some night with their new battery.

The Ramblers have signed up Harold Mattson and Clarence Gustafson for the remainder of the season. The score:

Table with columns for teams and scores. Arrows 7, Ramblers 3.

GEMS OPEN SERIES FOR STATE TITLE WITH NORWALKERS

Play Skee Watson's Team Sunday—Tackle Black Yankees Tomorrow.

The Savitt Gems, who added further laurels to their wreath by defeating the House of David at Bulkeley Stadium, last Wednesday night, will play Skee Watson's Norwalk Pros at Bulkeley Stadium Sunday afternoon, in the first of a series of three games for the semi-pro championship of the State.

There has not been, in recent years, a clean-cut holder of that title so the Savitt Gems, in the belief they have as good a semi-pro club as in the state issued a sweeping challenge to meet any and all comers in a series of best two out of three games for the title and a side-bet of $100.

Skee Watson, who formerly played in Hartford, promptly accepted the deft in behalf of his club. If the Gems triumph over Norwalk then they will be prepared to take on any other club that is prepared to comply with the terms.

The Gems will probably use in the Saturday game Bill Morrell, former State champion, who has hit the Gems to victory over the House of David. Johnnie Miller and Fat Loftus will be in reserve. Bill Barrett, for nine years an American League outfielder will play in right field.

ALPINES BATTER ALL-ROCKVILLE

Breeze Through to Victory Last Night 6-5; Frazer Aids Teammates.

The cocky Sub-Alpines went to Rockville last night and trounced the highly touted All-Rockville club 6 to 5.

The Sub-Alpines took no mercy on "Pete" Genovesi, All-Rockville pitcher slamming him for ten hits. Leo Johnson and "Ding" Farr, two successive triples in the fourth inning, sent the Alpines into a commanding lead.

"Herb" Frazer proved the big hero for the Alpines when he relieved "Johnny" Mikoleit with the sacks leading and nobody out in the sixth inning. Frazer bowled down the All-Rockvilles scores only one run which is quite a feat.

Mikoleit bressed along in fine style holding the Rockvilles to three hits for five innings and then faltered in the sixth inning. Mikoleit connected for two solid smashes which accounted for two runs to star with Farr and Johnson at the plate.

Burke did the heavy stickwork for the Gems team. The Alpines will play the All-Rockville team a twilight game at Mt. Nebo in the near future.

These Didn't Get Away

No, these are not minnows... they are swordfish caught by George Thomas, Jr., left, off Catalina Island.

They Catch Monsters On Spool of Thread

Avalon, Santa Catalina Island—Six thousand two hundred and seven tons since 1900. Two thousand six hundred and forty-seven marlin swordfish since 1908. One hundred and five broadbill swordfish since 1918. Thousands of other great game fish, including black sea bass, yellowtail, white sea bass, albacore and dolphin. And all caught with exceptionally light, or comparatively light tackle.

Sounds like a sport fisherman's dream, doesn't it? But carefully kept records reveal that 200 members, more or less, of the exclusive Tuna Club here have taken, with rod and reel, that number of game fish from the blue waters of the Pacific surrounding this semi-tropical isle. The tuna ranged from 65 to 251 pounds. The marlin from 125 to 448 pounds. And the broadbill from 222 to 529 pounds!

To become a member of the Tuna Club, you must catch a fish over 200, or 100 or 60 pounds, depending upon the weight of tackle used, before you can even pay the high membership fee and receive a club card. The club has members all over the world.

CITY SERVICE NINE MEETS BLUEFIELDS HERE SATURDAY

Crack Hartford Team to Bring Stars for West Side Game.

The Bluefields are booked to meet two very strong baseball combinations over the week-end. Saturday afternoon they will play the City Service team from Hartford at the West Side, while on Sunday they will travel to Hartford and meet the Orioles of that city.

Of these two teams the City Service seems to have the edge. Not only have they already beaten the Orioles but they have also played and defeated some of the best teams in this section. The Orioles hold one victory over the Bluefields by virtue of winning in 14 innings.

MANCHESTER SWIMMERS ARE ENTERED IN N. Y. RACES TONIGHT

Four Man Team, Stechholz, Howroyd, Leary and Carney in Poughkeepsie Meet.

A swimming team of four members will represent Manchester in a swimming meet to be held in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., tonight, the events getting under way at 7:30 p. m.

PLAN RETURN MATCH

New York, July 14.—(AP)—While the arguments continue over the sudden ending of the Billy Petrolle-Bep Van Klaveren waterweight battle where it left off Wednesday night with Petrolle the winner on a technical knockout after four rounds, Van Klaveren still was protesting bitterly over the sudden termination of the bout, ordered stopped by Dr. Joseph M. Sheridan because of a cut over the Hollanders' right eye.

On the West Side the West Side Junior Volley Ball games was between the Bloodhounds and the Terriers. The game was hotly contested with the Bloodhounds taking a 3-2 lead.

AMERICAN MAY WIN TITLE IN CANADA

Vancouver, B. C., July 14.—(AP)—Only once in 28 years has the Canadian amateur golf championship been won by a player from the United States but today, it seemed headed for another trip across the border.

As the four survivors entered the semi-finals, Ken Black, 20-year-old son of the Shaughnessy Heights Club professional, was the sole remaining Canadian hope.

Black's rival in the semi-finals was Harry Givan of Seattle, while Frank Dolp of Portland and Albert Campbell of Seattle were paired in the other match.

HEAVY SCHEDULE FOR WEST SIDES OVER WEEK-END

Engage Glastonbury, Winsted and New Britain West Ends in Holiday Games.

The West Side team will have a busy week end, starting the train of games tonight at the West Side grounds when they meet the All-Glastonbury team in a return engagement. Saturday the team goes to Winsted to play the All-Winsteds, and Sunday the West Sides play the fast West Ends of New Britain.

Glastonbury already has one victory over the West Sides and are out to make it two in a row. All Jantzen will be in the box for the West Sides and Nicholson will pitch for the Glastonbury team.

Tough Game On Saturday afternoon the West Sides will travel to Winsted to face one of the strongest teams in the state. The team will leave the West Side Rec at 1 o'clock sharp. Sunday they will play the fast West Ends of New Britain. The latter team has one win over the West Sides and their lineup included several college and high school stars.

VETERAN FIRST SACKER PITCHES WINNING BALL

Des Moines, Ia., July 14.—(AP)—It may be a case of necessity being the mother of a comeback, where Ossie Orwoll is concerned.

Orwoll, former Philadelphia Athletics pitcher and infielder, has done extra duty on the mound for the Des Moines western league club this summer, though for years he has been definitely a first baseman.

A breakdown of the Demons' slab staff forced Manager Butler to use Ossie on the hill, and in 6 1/3 innings, spread over two occasions, he allowed only four hits and no runs. Three of the hits were scratches, and he struck out seven batters.

BALDWIN A. C. TO PLAY HIGHLAND PARK

The Baldwin A. C. will resume their rivalry with Highland Park tonight at the Charter Oak field. In their last two encounters no satisfaction was obtained by either team as both games were ties.

BUILDING INCREASING

Chicago, July 14.—(AP)—President A. E. Dickinson of the Indiana Limestone Company reported today that non-residential building construction throughout the United States was showing the first tendency toward an upturn since late in 1931. Last month's total, he said, was head of every month since August, 1932.

Washington Team Fares Badly on Home Grounds But One Game Separates the Leaders Now.

BY HUGH S. FULLETON, JR. A. P. Sports Writer.

The Washington Senators, after a remarkable road trip, have found it increasingly difficult to shake off the New York Yankees since the clubs returned home.

The Yankees have been winning consistently since they got back to the Bronx, while the Senators have slipped and today only one game separated them in the race for the American league lead.

Running rough-shod over the last place St. Louis Browns 13-0, the Yankees allied the Senators lead in half yesterday as the Chicago White Sox slammed out a 9-6 decision over the Senators.

Yankees "Lefty" Gomez was the big factor in the Yankee victory, granting only five hits. Athletics Defeated The Cleveland Indians edged out the Philadelphia Athletics 6-5, and the Detroit Tigers turned back the Boston Red Sox, 3-2, as Fred Matberry outpitched Henry Johnson.

The St. Louis Cardinals slipped into fourth place in the National league when Carl Hubbell's south-paw fingering and a ninth inning homer by Johnny Vargas gave the New York Giants a 3-2 victory. Pittsburgh's Pirates meanwhile downed the Boston Braves 5-3 and moved into third place.

The Chicago Cubs held their place three games behind the Giants and one ahead of Pittsburgh by knocking off the Brooklyn Dodgers for the third time, 4-1.

The Phillies and the Cincinnati Reds again exchanged places at the foot of the ladder. The Reds got into last place as Philadelphia pulled out a 4-3 decision.

SEEKS SHORTER TERM FOR SOUTHERN PROS. Dallas, Tex., July 14.—(AP)—Larry Nabholz, Dallas golf pro, is a leader in a movement to have the Professional Golfers' Association approve a shorter apprentice term for youngsters learning their "trade" in southern states.

The present five-year requirement, Nabholz contends, is unfair to embryonic pros in the south, where golf is played the year around and professionals work 12 months. In the north and east the season is scarcely more than six months, so apprentices there put in only about half as much labor.

RANSOM DEMANDS IN THE LUER CASE

But Agents of Family Say They Do Not Believe They Are Genuine.

Alton, Ill., July 14.—(AP)—Two notes demanding ransom for August Luer, 77-year-old Alton banker, have been received by Luer's family, it was announced here today. Agents for the family said neither of the notes bore Luer's handwriting.

The family's agents, O. S. Catt and Lawrence Keller, Jr., said they would insist that any note from the kidnapers bear a few lines of Luer's handwriting and be signed by him before they would recognize the note as genuine.

"This is the only condition on which we will further negotiate with his captors," the agents said, "and until we have proper proof that he is being held by one of the persons from whom we have received communications, none of the instructions contained in the demand note will be carried out."

The agents refused to amplify their statement, and would not say how the notes were received or give any description of them.

Question Suspects Further questioning of a father and son taken into custody in St. Louis yesterday for questioning and confined in the county jail at Edwardsville, Ill., last night, was scheduled for today. No charges have been filed against them.

The older man, a St. Louis hotel proprietor, was detained by police and Federal investigators after Thomas Butler, Alton mayor, informed them the man telephoned suggestions designed to aid in the return of Luer.

Previously police had withdrawn officially from the case at the request of the Luer family.

Both the hotel man and his son professed their innocence and asked to be taken to Alton to make personal explanation. The father was quoted as saying he was intoxicated when he made the call to Mayor Butler, and acted purely from a friendly interest.

POLICE GET CLUE IN FACTOR CASE

(Continued From Page One) obtained a brief case which he gave to the men in the coupe. The coupe left hurriedly and the cab was driven east toward Chicago.

She added she could identify the passenger in the cab, as well as the driver.

While she was telling her story Factor was recuperating and 240 officers were searching various parts of Cook county for the farm house where he said he was held prisoner and threatened with death by the kidnapers. He admitted that $50,000 was paid, but reports persisted this was only part of the ransom, estimated in some quarters as high as $200,000.

TO CHECK UP FIREMEN'S ATTENDANCE RECORDS

North End Department Starts Move to Remove Inactive Members from Lists.

A fireman in fact instead of in uniform is to be the order in the Manchester department. The first step was taken in this direction at the meeting of Hose Co. No. 2 of the Manchester fire department last night when Chief Edward Coleman showed by a list of names that had been checked up after a fire that there were men on the roll listed as firemen who made little or no effort to get out to a fire.

The company's roll is filled in many cases with "members," but not with fire fighters. There are some who have seen long service in the department who have in the past done their bit and stayed along with the company to assist in financial matters and help in other ways, but who do not feel that they can roll out of bed in the middle of the night or early in the morning, leave their work during the day or for some other reason take an active part in handling hose, climbing ladders, swinging axes or getting their clothes spoiled with chemicals. On the other hand there is a waiting list of younger men who are in better physical condition waiting to be allowed to become members. As a result the members of No. 2 at their meeting last night voted that a committee of three be named by Harlowe Willis, the foreman, to make an investigation into this matter and where such cases do exist to allow the inactive member to withdraw or later have the names transferred to the honor roll and bring in new members. The same action will be taken by No. 1 at their meeting.

With the two companies of the north end leading in this movement a similar investigation will probably be followed in the South Manchester department. To those who are in close touch with matters in the South Manchester fire department it is known that the same condition exists in some of the companies. Little attention has been given to the question at the south end because there are enough active men on the rolls who turn out so that there is little or no complaint on the work done.

opposed as conflicting with peace negotiations with Japan.) FOURTH LETTER DISPATCHED TO THE O'CONNELLS

Times Union on last Monday afternoon.

Today's list, it was said, also was in the same code. It did not, however, carry the caption affixed to the other notes. The caption was "Sedgewick." The ad sent to the New York papers bore as caption, a telephone exchange of New York City. What that exchange was could not be learned.

GOVERNMENT ACTS

Albany, N. Y., July 14.—(AP)—A new club of the Federal government was swung today against the kidnapers of John J. (Butch) O'Connell, Jr.

The office of the United States attorney of the Northern district of New York said today that he had ordered an investigation of the three notes sent through the mails by the 24 year old soldier's abductors to his uncles, Ed and Dan O'Connell, Democratic czars of Albany county.

Reached at Malone by long distance telephone, U. S. Attorney Oliver T. Burden declared that misuse of the mails by the youth's captors had been brought to his attention and that he had instructed W. D. Teagle, the Albany district postal inspector, to make a thorough investigation.

One of the first steps in the inquiry, he said, would be to obtain the letters which are in the possession of the O'Connells. The first of the notes demanded ransom of $250,000 and the others asked the political bosses to name two sets of eleven Albany men to negotiate for the return of the hostage.

Considered His Duty "I feel it is my duty to investigate the letters," Burden said, adding that up to now he had hesitated to enter the case lest the presence of his department might tend to hamper the negotiations, which are being conducted exclusively by the O'Connells.

"Postal Inspector Teagle in Albany will carry on the investigation," Burden declared. "It will, of course be necessary for him to see the letters."

While the three letters were about to fall under the scrutiny of the Federal government, the O'Connell brothers and John J. (Solly) O'Connell, Lieut. O'Connell's father, anxiously watched their mail today for further word from the kidnapers.

Await Another Note

A representative of the O'Connells called hourly at the post-office where the O'Connells have a private mail box. The uncle and father of John, Jr., pinned their hopes on the prospect of receiving another mysterious note for the first time since Monday, and as the kidnaping entered its second week.

Some credence was given to a report that the O'Connells expected soon to hear from the kidnapers by virtue of the fact that Ed and Dan retired early last night, assuring friends in the city that "nothing would happen tonight."

KIDNAPING TIP

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Here's a kidnaping tip from Joseph B. Keenan, special assistant to the attorney general.

"Upon receipt of a threatening letter on the disappearance of a relative or friend, place long distance call immediately to Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, (Washington).

"Officers will be despatched to the scene."

"In a recent case we were able to solve the crime because the family notified immediately.

"Federal officers constantly emphasize and strictly observe the rule of secrecy."

of the bank vault for use in case of robbery. The first blast from his shotgun struck Conn in the body. Payton was shot in the face. McCarthy was hidden from the robbers by a curtain through which he could observe them.

Others in Bank

McCarthy's father, A. H. Mc-

Carthy, assistant cashier, his wife, a bank bookkeeper, W. H. Drumbeller, president of the bank, and A. H. Sachs, a mail carrier, were present when the men entered and drew revolvers.

Six of the eleven convicts who participated in the Memorial Day prison break are now accounted for, but the leaders, Harvey Bailey and Wilbur Underhill, are still at liberty. Bailey and Underhill are among those sought in connection with the slaying of four officers and convict Frank Nash at the Union station plaza in Kansas City June 17.

Those recaptured and returned to prison previously are Clifford Dopson, Lewis Bechtel, Frank Sawyer and Billie Woods.

Italian air lines have flown 20,500,000 kilometers without an accident in the last six years.

CANADIANS HONOR CALIXIA LAVALLEE

Composer of National Song Spent Most of His Life in United States.

Montreal, July 14.—(AP)—Canada today honors one of her foremost musicians, Calixia Lavallee, composer of the music of "O Canada" who spent his life in the United States and died 42 years ago.

Like many another genius Lavallee received somewhat scant recognition from his own countrymen during his lifetime but nothing has been spared to pay honor to his remains which were removed from a Boston cemetery and brought here for burial today in an imposing sepulchre.

During the night the body lay in state in the Notre Dame church and today it will be taken to Cote Des Neiges cemetery on the wooded slopes of Mount Royal whose rugged bulk looked down on the beginnings of the city.

The strains of the national anthem played by massed bands rang out last night as the body was carried to the old church at the head of a long procession. In the church again the organ played "O Canada" and later the funeral march Lavallee composed as a tribute to Pope Pius the Ninth.

Although born in Canada and the composer of this country's national song it was in the United States Lavallee found recognition for his talents. There he gained a high place in the world of music, became director of the Grand Opera House in New York and musical director of Holy Cross Cathedral at Boston.

Leaders of church and state and heads of patriotic and benevolent associations united today with thousands of citizens in following the remains to their new grave in Canadian soil.

Queer Twists In Day's News

New York—Samuel Levy, borough president of Manhattan, went straight up in the air at the rate of 1,400 feet a minute yesterday. He was inspecting an elevator in Rockefeller Center to determine whether the present city speed limit of 1,200 feet a minute might be increased.

"Very nice," he commented. "Have you anything faster?" Poplar Bluff, Mo.—Frank Lynn, slapped a horsefly. The fly was resting on a horse, which then kicked Lynn. He died from the injuries.

Kansas City—An old-fashioned square dance, sponsored by the Kansas City Recreational Council, attracted 1,500 persons. They were directed by the caller, to "catch you a partner if it ain't too late."

New York—The Leviathan, once queen of the seas, today is inhabited by four sailors and four monkeys. The sailors are paid for staying aboard the de-commissioned liner—if they weren't they'd leave the ship entirely to be monkeys, who are not paid.

Chicago—Peter Stamison finds a good way to prevent being held up—to fall backwards down a flight of stairs.

Three robbers were so frightened when Stamison tumbled that they fled, scared by the noise of his fall. Chicago—Mrs. Sally Levy, blues singer, named a dummy as co-respondent in her divorce suit, against Herbert Levy, a ventriloquist.

She told a court, Herbert ignored her, but delighted in spending evenings with the dummy on his knee, making conversation the while.

MIDDLETOWN BOY DROWNED Du Quoin, Ill., July 14.—(AP)—John Stella, 23, Middletown, Conn., a member of the Civilian Conservation Corps camp here, was drowned last night in North Strip pond, near here.

Members of the camp have been using the pond to swim in. The youth, unable to swim, stepped off into 25 feet of water and before members of the camp could reach him, he disappeared. The body had not been found today.

DANBURY SHOP CLOSED TO PREVENT TROUBLE

Pickets Attack Workers in Streets and Beat Them Before the Police Arrive.

Danbury, July 14.—(AP)—The factory of H. McLachlan and Company, manufacturers of hats in the town, where disturbances occurred late yesterday afternoon, as employees in progress in one of the departments of the shop were leaving the plant, did not open for work this morning. This action was taken by the company to avert a repetition of yesterday's disturbances, during which automobiles in which workmen left the factory yard were stoned and the factory itself was pelted with stones thrown from the hillside of a neighboring cemetery.

Some of the employees who remained at work yesterday reported at the factory this morning, unaware of the decision not to resume work today. Some of them were accosted by groups of picketers as they left the shop after ascertaining that there would be no work today and were followed to neighboring streets and severely beaten before police aid could be given them.

COMPOSER PROTESTS

Munich, Germany, July 14.—(AP)—Professor Hans Pfitzner, German composer, wrote to the management of the Salzburg (Austria) musical festival today, repudiating his contract to conduct there.

AMUSEMENTS

DANCING At Sandy Beach, Crystal Lake

Adding another nationally known figure to the group of famous artists already presented at Sandy Beach, the management has secured a sensational attraction in Blanche Calloway and her fourteen Victor Recording Joy Boys, who will appear in the ballroom and play for dancing on Saturday night, July 15.

Wherever radio, phonograph recordings and talks are to be heard, Blanche Calloway is a familiar name. She and her Jo, Boys band have broadcast both on the N. E. C. and C. E. S. hook-ups. All over the country their music has been a constant delight to thousands of people. Victor Recording artists, they have made a large number of phonograph discs in their own distinctive style. They have also performed in many talks shorts, which have proved highly popular both with movie exhibitors and patrons throughout the country. In addition, they have made several nation-wide tours, scoring a tremendous success in their every engagement.

Sister of the well-known "Cab" Calloway, Blanche has attained an equal fame. She inherits the same genius for interpreting modern dance rhythms. This she displays in directing her celebrated orchestra. She also sings—mostly the hi-de-hi style of negro shout made popular by her and her brother. Surpassed by no other colored dance unit, Blanche Calloway's orchestra is composed of the most expert musicians. Fourteen in all, they are comedians, soloists and specialists in first-class entertainment. At Sandy Beach, they are sure to please everyone with their program of sparkling and unusual dance music on Saturday night.

DANCING At Rau's, Crystal Lake

Harry Brinkman and his Society Orchestra will furnish the dance music at Rau's, Crystal Lake, this coming Saturday night. Harry and his popular band offer a violin trio and a clever banjo soloist that always draw a big band from the crowd. Early this season Harry Brinkman and his Society Orchestra played to a full house at Rau's. Another large attendance is expected this week-end.

The following Saturday night Bill Deby and his Merry Makers will play a return engagement at Rau's. Both of these orchestras have an established reputation and enjoy a host of admirers at Rau's.

STATE THEATER

Two Features Jack Holt and Fay Wray come to Manchester's State theater today and Saturday in "The Woman I Stole" with Noah Beery as one of the pictures on the giant double feature program. The co-feature finds James Dunne, Gloria Stuart, David Manners and Jack La Rue in "The Girl in 419." Here's a show where-in the titles are hardly enticing, but the pictures are said to be far above average and suitable for the entire family.

The misnamed "Woman I Stole" finds Jack Holt an oil well engineer in Africa while James Dunne is hospital surgeon in "The Girl in 419." On Saturday another thrilling chapter of "Clancy of the Mounted" will be an added attraction.

RECESS DATE SET FOR WORLD PARLEY

Settlements should play an increasingly important part, not only by improving contact but also as an instrument for common action.

PRICE RAISING TOPIC

London, July 14.—(AP)—After plunging from sensation to sensation, the world economic conference ends its fifth week today with the unofficial topic of price raising overshadowing the rapidly narrowing field of official activity.

It was at Great Britain that the daily charge of obstructionism was leveled today in conference lobbies, which still echoed the blunt refusal of Walter Runciman, president of the British Board of Trade, to have anything to do with extensive public works program, either directly on Britain's part or indirectly by granting loans to other nations for such purposes.

Pressure was being exerted on Runciman's fellow Cabinet members, however, to bring England around to a program of raising the price of the world's staple commodities as more important than keeping the pound pegged in the neighborhood of 86 French francs.

These suggestions have been put forward as possible solutions for economic ills. No Specific Plan Some disappointment was expressed in Dominion quarters that there has been no specific plan of action forthcoming from President Roosevelt, but there were conferences all day yesterday between Dominion leaders, J. M. Keynes, British economist, and others and it was understood that a British program for recovery is being evolved.

Considered noteworthy was the fact that Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, conference president, called upon representatives of the larger wheat producing countries to reach some agreement for controlling the production and marketing of wheat. The United States, Argentina, Canada and Australia, however, were said to be far from agreement with the Danubian nations on crop and export figures.

Dominions' Position It was reported that the Dominions were seeking to have sterling divorced from the franc, with subsequent co-operation in the American inflation project in view. Keynes, Sir Henry Strakosch of India, General Jar Christian Smuts of South Africa, Stanley M. Bruce of Australia, and J. H. Thomas, British Dominions secretary, discussed plans for defeating low prices.

The Dominions were said to have warned Great Britain that India, Australia and New Zealand might not be able to service their debts if England did not fall in line and that something must be done to improve prices of raw materials on which these countries depend for prosperity.

It was understood one point of the projected scheme would be to ask all nations to state what they can do to raise prices and how far they would like to raise them. An American program, not yet approved, is believed to have similar aims, suggesting public works, production agreements, international lending, restoration of confidence, and regulation of wages and hours.

that this item had not been reduced in proportion to the drop in the cost of living. The economy act made a big dent in the deficit, but even with that the government ended the last fiscal year with its outgo exceeding income by $1,786,000,000, and with a public debt of $22,625,000,000 July 10, one of the largest in history.

CALIFORNIA SALAD: Prepare sections of grapefruit by removing all fibre. Peel an avocado, cut in half, and cut again into pieces similar in shape to the grapefruit sections. Now place a ball-shaped mound of cottage cheese on a plate of lettuce and press into and around the sides alternate lengthwise sections of the grapefruit and avocado, pointed part first. This will leave only a little of the cheese showing at the top which may be garnished with anything green you prefer, such as a sprig of parsley, an emeraldite or a dash of whipped cream tinted with a little vegetable coloring. This makes a very nourishing salad, and the cool green and white color scheme is attractive, especially on a warm day.

*FIVE-MINUTE CABBAGE: Shred the desired amount of crisp fresh cabbage and place in a heavy aluminum stew pan with a small amount of boiling water. Do not add any fat or other seasoning. Cover tightly and boil vigorously for five minutes. Serve with butter and a little salt.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

(What is Meaning in English?)
Question: V. L. P. asks: "Will you please tell me what this means: 'suppurating area over left acromion, slight lymphangitis, extending to axilla.'" Answer: This simply means some inflammation of a part of the left shoulder with enlargement of the lymphatic glands under the arm. The pus condition may be due to an injury, tuberculosis, or arthritis. Local treatment may be necessary, but dieting will prove effective in bringing about a cure by changing the quality of the blood stream so as to help in controlling the inflammatory process which is going on.

(Child Still Sucks Thumb.)
Question: Mrs. Pearl G. writes: "My little girl is six years old but continues the habit of thumb sucking. I have broken her a few times, but when she would feel badly, she would start the habit again. Now she is too large to wear anything on her thumb. Do you know of any way I can break her of this habit?"
Answer: Brushing the fingers with a solution of alum dissolved in water will usually prevent children from sucking their fingers because of the burning taste. It is a good plan to repeat this every day until the habit is broken.

(Chlorophyll Makes Plants Green)
Question: John B. asks: "Will you please tell me the name of the substance in plants which makes them green?"
Answer: You are thinking of chlorophyll, the natural pigment in plants and vegetables which imparts the green color to a greater or lesser degree, depending upon contact with sunshine. For instance, celery and asparagus are bleached by having the light shut away during their growth.

(Chill is Nourishing.)
Question: Miss H. asks: "Does chill contain any nourishment?"
Answer: Chill is very high in nourishment, being made mostly of meats. It is highly flavored with peppers and, therefore, is irritating to the stomach and cannot be considered a wholesome food even for those who have been accustomed for years to its use.

CLIFFORD HOUGH QUILTS MILK ORGANIZATION

General Manager Resigns Because of Ill Health—Successor Is Named.

Hartford, July 14.—(AP)—The resignation of Clifford E. Hough as general manager of the Connecticut Milk Producers' Association has been announced in the July issue of the association's bulletin.

Hough has been ill since last March and his resignation had been generally expected.

Robert C. Mitchell of Southbury, president of the association took over Hough's duties last March and will continue as acting manager.

Commenting on Hough's resignation, the Bulletin expressed regret that "a man of so much ability and experience in milk marketing should be disabled by ill health." He became manager in 1923.

STRIKERS ON PARADE; POLICE ARE CALLED

Philadelphia, July 14.—(AP)—Strikers and sympathizers, seeking union recognition and higher wages at the Walburton hosiery mill, marched on three other mills today in a drive for recruits.

William M. Leader, vice president of the American Federation of Full-Fashioned Hosiery Workers, led the parade in the northern part of the city. Police estimated the crowd at 2,000.

Singing and cheering, the marchers circled the Walburton mill and then held similar demonstrations at the Vogue Silk Hosiery Company plant and the Northwest hosiery mill. Officials of the latter called police, but by the time a detail arrived the marchers had moved on to the Lucille hosiery mill.

Fifty policemen meanwhile were maintaining their guard at the Walburton plant. The demonstrators came upon the heels of an announcement by Walburton officials that the plant would close today until Monday. They denied there is a strike at the plant, asserting that not more than 15 employes left their jobs and that the pickets were from other mills.

FISHERMEN WARNED

Hartford, July 14.—(AP)—The State Department of Fisheries and Game has issued a bulletin today, warning Connecticut fishermen that is the last day of the year they may legally lure brook trout into the creels.

The closed season on trout begins tomorrow. The bulletin urged anglers to return within seven days tags found in trout planted this year to secure data on trout movement. Prizes will be awarded for tags drawn from among those returned up to July 21.

HOW KIDNAPING MENACE GRIPS NATION

Here's Geographic-Pictorial Record of Abductions Occurring Since the Lindbergh Case

From coast to coast extends the kidnaper's menacing trail. Pictured here are victims of the abductions that have followed in the wake of the kidnaping and subsequent murder of baby Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., at Hopewell, N. J., on March 1, 1932—a crime which stirred the world with horror. Sentences of ten years to life were meted out to two convicted kidnapers Mrs. Mary Skeele of Los Angeles on March 1, 1933. Two convictions and two indictments resulted from the abduction of Charles Boettcher, Jr., at Denver, Colo., on February 12, but no one ever was arrested for capture of Peter Myers, Jr., at Warren, Ohio, on March 1. The spiriting away of youthful Jerome Factor at Chicago on April 12 was followed on July 1 by the disappearance of his father, John (Jake the Barber) Factor, who still is missing. Meanwhile at Harwich, Mass., on May 2, little Margaret McMath had been kidnaped from school (a neighbor was convicted of the crime); on May 27, Mary McElroy, daughter of the Kansas City City Manager, was abducted (four alleged kidnapers are awaiting trial); on July 15, at St. Paul, Minn., William Hanna was kidnaped—and returned three days later—by captors who demanded $100,000 ransom. Most recent kidnaping victims are 24-year-old John J. O'Connell, member of a politically dominant family at Albany, N. Y., who vanished on July 7, and August Luer, aged banker of Alton, Ill., who disappeared on July 10. Both of the latter still are missing.

The proposal involves two share-splits and contemplates a change of name to Rustless Iron and Steel Corporation.

American Rolling Mills Co. proposes to increase its authorized common stock to 2,500,000 shares from 2,000,000.

Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. estimates sales for the five weeks ended July 1 at $75,503,203, against $86,061,988 for the same period, a decrease of 7.6 per cent.

KANSAS DEBATES BEER

Topeka, Kas., July 14.—(AP)—Beer talk foamed high in traditional dry Kansas today over a supreme court decision holding it up to trial court judges and juries to decide whether 3.2 per cent brew was intoxicating in fact.

"This decision," said Attorney General Roland Boynton, "will make it very difficult to get a conviction in beer cases."

Some wets heralded the ruling as an entering wedge in their campaign in one of the nation's bonny dry states.

MILITARY ORDERS

Hartford, July 14.—(AP)—Second Lieutenant Adolph H. Nelson of the Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, Third Battalion, 192d Field Artillery has been directed to appear before an examining board to determine his qualification for promotion to first lieutenant.

Work Begins on World's Greatest Bridge

Following formal dedication ceremonies in which both President Roosevelt and ex-president Hoover participated, work has begun on the $75,000,000 San Francisco-Oakland bridge, "greatest in the world, which eventually will give employment to 12,000 persons." The above diagram and aerial photo show the scene of the project, with San Francisco in the foreground, Yerba Buena Island in the center and Oakland in the distance. Hoover broke ground at Yerba Buena Island with a golden spade, while Roosevelt pressed a telegraph key in Washington that set off dynamite blasts that started excavation at all three places.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tynymites, all splashing 'round, discovered they could not touch ground. "We'll have to swim," cried Doty. "Come on, let's head for the shore."

"The skinny-scouts are out of sight, so we are rid of them, all right. They played too many tricks on us and that's what made me sore."

"Let's have a race," said Doty. "See, I'll bet nobody can beat me, 'm quite a speedy swimmer." Then she promptly took the lead.

All of the others tried, in fun, to beat her. It could not be done. "He, he," laughed Doty. "You're too slow. A boat is what you need."

She reached the shore, hand over hand, and when she crawled up on the sand, wee Duncy, far behind her, shouted, "Well, you win the race."

"We'll join you. Then we'll gather wood. A little fire will feel real good. Let's start it right here by the shore. It is a dandy place."

The other Tynymites waded out and

TO EXPLAIN WATER PROPOSAL TONIGHT
Town Meeting for Discussion Only To Be Held in High School Hall.

A town meeting, for discussion only, will be held in High school hall at eight o'clock tonight for the purpose of explaining to the voters the proposal of Cheney Brothers that the town of Manchester purchase the franchises, rights and property of the South Manchester Water Company and the South Manchester Sanitary & Sewer district. The subject has been before the townspeople for several months and most of the voters have been given an opportunity to discuss the project and the price asked by the firm, but there are several phases to the problem that are not clear to the average voter. These will be entirely cleared up at tonight's meeting.

To Present Project
Frank Cheney, Jr., president of the South Manchester Water Company, will present the proposition on behalf of Cheney Brothers. Wells A. Strickland, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, will cite the incidents that brought up the subject and led to the possibility of the town's purchasing the water plant. A complete copy of the appraisal of the property by Terry and Bennett was printed in last night's Herald so that voters, who care to, could study the valuations placed on the plant by the experts.

Some Opposition
Although no vote can be taken at tonight's meeting it is expected that opposition will develop, not to the purchase of the plant but opposition to the price of $1,150,000 asked by Cheney Brothers. All the Selectmen favor the purchase of the plant, but Selectmen Bowers and Cook do not agree that the price is right. Selectman Bowers does not believe that the town can carry the property at the principal required. Selectman Cook has stated also that he believes the price is too high for the town to attempt to carry it without expense.

The public utilities commission has heard the petition for the purchase but has not rendered a decision. It is not expected that a decision will be given until the town registers its opinion on the question.
