NEW YORK AWAITS BALBO'S AIR FLEET

Italian Fliers End Three Day Visit in Chicago and Start for Metropolis — Thou- sands Wait at Field.

BULLETIN 1

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 19.
(AP)—General Balbo's Italian fliers passed over Poughkeepsie at 2:10 p. m., e. s. t., with New York City only a few minutes flying time away.

LEAVE CHICAGO

Chicago, July 19.—(AP)—To the cheers of a multitude of early risers

General Italo Balbo

mossed along the shoreline, General Italo Balbo's fleet of 24 Italian flying boats skimmed off the glistening waves of Lake Michigan today and vanished in a silver mist toward the east.

Ending their three-day visit to Chicago and its Centennial Exposition, the fliers began to take off from the sheltered harbor at 6:42 a. m., (central standard time) and an hour later the last ship had shaken Lake Michigan's water from its twin hulls.

The armada, with General Balbo leading from the apex of the first triad, cut across the water reaches of the lake and headed for the air mail way to New York. A trip of perhaps seven hours would bring them to rest in Jamaica Bay off Floyd Bennett Field, New York.

Early on the job
As had been their arrival here Saturday, their departure was without unhappy incident. Enthusiastic pilots and mechanics had boarded the seaplanes even earlier than their commander had ordered.

The young air minister of Italy, resplendent in his white uniform, drew volleys of cheers as he strode from the Drake hotel into an automobile and saluted his well wishers.
He had spent an hour before breakfast scanning maps of the route, over South Bend and Toledo to Cleveland, Buffalo, Albany and the Hudson valley.

Then he climbed into a rowboat

HUSBAND AND WIFE ARE BANK BANDITS

Shoot Two Members of Posse Before They Sur- render Following Hold-Up

Fennville, Mich., July 19.—(AP)—
Two members of a posse were shot and wounded, one probably fatally, shortly after 8 a. m. today in a chase which resulted in the capture of a man and woman who had held up the Old State bank at Fennville.

Russell McKellips, one of the posse, was shot in the head and may die. Kenneth Jackson, Fennville councilman, was less seriously wounded.

The man and woman, who gave their names as Edward Austin and his wife, Grace, both of Bravo, Mich., were not injured. They entered the bank shortly after 8:30 a.
m., by breaking a window at the rear, bound the janitor, and awaited the arrival of Marvin Harrison, assistant cashier. When he arrived he was forced to open the bank vault. The pair took all the available money and fled by automobile.

A hastily organized posse gave chase, cornered the pair three miles west of the village. After a gun battle the robbers surrendered.

PHYSICIAN SAVES LIFE OF MILK MAN

Drags Him from Burning Truck, Calls Ambulance; Is Burned Himself.

New Haven, July 19.—(AP)—
Drenched with gasoline and milk,
John McAleer, 31, New Haven milk man, was saved from his burning truck today by Dr. Fred W. Comstock, Whitney avenue surgeon, in front of whose home the truck struck a pole and burst into flames.

Dr. Comstock, who was clad only in pajamas, suffered burns of his arms, body and face, but was able to give McAleer emergency treatment for severe burns, cuts and bruises, and to treat him later at the Grace hospital, where he was in serious condition.

Blowout the Cause
Police said a blowout of a tire on McAleer's truck about 3 a. m., caused him to lose control of the machine, which swerved onto the sidewalk and struck an electric light pole, snapping it off at the bottom.

The gasoline tank exploded and the driver was showered with burning fuel. As the truck toppled on its side, McAleer fell beneath it, and was covered with milk and bottles.

(Editor's Note: This is another of a series of stories by

Press explaining new legislation.)

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—
The farmer by getting in touch with one of the 12 Federal land banks, by letter or otherwise, now has the way open to borrow more Federal money at less interest.

The amounts run from $100 to $25,000. Previously there was a $50,000 limit to what one borrower could get under the Federal Farm Loan Act.

If he is out of debt, says the law with its recent changes, the farmer can obtain a loan for up to fifty per cent of the appraised normal value of his land plus 20 per cent of the appraised value of permanent, insured improvements, giving a first mortgage in return.

The loan can be obtained directly from the land bank, but the farmer can get it at lower interest if it is handled through a National farm

RUNNERS WOUNDED BY COAST GUARDS

Armored Speedboat Cap- tured Off Woods Hole After a Running Fight.

Woods Hole, Mass., July 19.—(AP)—
Two of the crew of the New York speedboat Whatzis, wounded during a running fight with Coast Guards, were brought into Coast Guard Base 13 early today with their craft, its cargo of alleged liquor and four others of its crew.

The Whatzis, a 65 footer, was described by Coast Guardsmen who captured it off Woods Hole last night as one of the fastest and best armored speedboats yet to come into government hands. The New York craft was powered with four Liberty motors and was sheathed throughout.

Her crew refused to give their names and they were held for arrestment before the Federal commissioner at New Bedford.

Lost Much Blood
Neither of the wounded was hurt seriously but both were sent to the Cape Cod hospital at Hyannis for treatment. One was wounded in the side and one in the knee. Both had lost a considerable quantity of blood.

The Whatzis was captured by the Coast Guard patrol boat CG-9261, commanded by Chief Boatwain's Mate James Phelan. The 9261 was specially formerly a rum runner, the Auf Wiedersehen.

Phelan said the Whatzis was running without lights and refused to stop after he had hailed her and sent a warning shot across her bow.
The two wounded were hit by a burst of machine gun fire that followed the Whatzis' failure to heed Phelan's command.

The Whatzis, being the speedier of the two boats, was used in transporting the wounded man to Woods Hole. Phelan put two of his crew aboard the New York craft to carry the wounded into port and he followed in the 9261.

POST SPEEDING ACROSS SIBERIA; LEAD CUT DOWN

Flier, Leaving Irkutsk, Was Only Three Hours, 24 Minutes Ahead of Record Because of Bad Weather.

BULLETIN 1

Moscow, July 19.—(AP)— Wiley Post, American globe-circling solo flier, passed over Verkhne Udinsk, Eastern Siberia, at 8:50 a. m. Moscow time today (12:30 a. m., e. s. t.)

By the Associated Press.
Wiley Post, globe-circling flier, streaked on across Siberia today, fighting to make up for lost time because of foul weather.

When the Oklahoma speedster left Irkutsk, Siberia, for Blagovestchensk at 11 p. m., eastern standard time, last night he was only three hours and 24 minutes up on the timetable he and Harold Gatty established on their 'round-world flight in 1931.

He had reached Irkutsk at 7:35 a.
m. with a lead of 16 hours, 34 minutes, but heavy rain and fog stretched his stay there to 15 hours and 25 minutes as against the 2 hours, 15 minutes he remained there with Gatty in 1931.

LEAD CUT DOWN
Irkutsk, Siberia, July 19.—(AP)—
His lead over his 1931 record having been cut sharply to three hours and 24 minutes, Wiley Post zoomed out of Irkutsk today towards Blagovestchensk, nearly 1,000 miles westward, on the sixth lap of his world flight.

The American airman hopped off at 7 a. m. Moscow time (11 p. m., Tuesday, e. s. t.) after remaining here since 3:35 p. m. (7:35 a. m., e.
s. t.) while his advantage over the time recorded by him and Harold Gatty two years ago was whittled to a slim margin.

Bad weather, which caused him to lose precious hours on the Jaunt from Moscow to Novosibirsk, again dogged him, and forced him to stay here, longer than he wanted to.

He still had unfavorable conditions before him, however, but he announced he would land at Blagovestchensk—where he and Gatty suffered a mishap on the earlier flight—which lies between the Vabinovoi and Sikhota mountain ranges.

LINDBERGH BACKER DIES IN DENVER

Harry F. Knight Stricken With Heart Attack — Was 65 Years of Age.

Denver, July 19.—(AP)—Harry
F. Knight, financial backer of Col.
Charles A. Lindbergh's New York to Paris flight, is dead from a heart attack. He was 65.

The former St. Louis investment broker had been in ill health and for several weeks had been at his real estate office in Denver. He was brought to Denver yesterday when his condition became critical and died last night in his hotel room.

Mr. Knight was born in St. Louis and was educated in the public schools there and at Smith Academy and Wyman Institute. He was a member of the former St. Louis brokerage firm of Knight, Dysart & Gamble.

He was divorced from his second wife, Mrs. James Hobart Moore, one of the wealthiest women of the United States, in Reno, Nevada, in 1927.

On his ranch in the Rockies Mr.
Knight maintained a landing field.
Col. Lindbergh visited the ranch once after his historic 1927 flight.

Funeral arrangements have not

OFFICIALS WATCH DROP OF DOLLAR

Is Now Below Old Parity Rate to the Pound — No Comments.

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—
The drop of the dollar in London below the old parity rate to the pound, $4.86 3-5, was watched with interest by government officials, but comment was withheld as usual.

Officials had previously expressed the opinion that the weakness of the dollar abroad was due to "speculation" and future purchasing of foreign exchange by American in orders of foreign goods.

When the United States went off the gold standard, President Roosevelt's attitude was set forth in a tendency to permit the dollar to find its own level without any governmental action.

Efforts made by gold standard countries at the London conference to have adopted a temporary stabilization plan were rejected by the President.

The opinion prevailed that the President felt that any effort at stabilization now would halt the upward trend of prices sought by the domestic emergency program.

While the administration still stands on its rejection of stabilization at this time, the President has a powerful weapon at his command in the authority conferred in the Thomas amendment to the Farm Bills to reduce the gold content of the dollar as much as 50 per cent. The dollar now contains 25.8 grains of gold, 0.900 fine, and gold is worth $20.87 an ounce.

The Federal Reserve system holds $3,400,000,000 of gold and the Nation's supply is more than $4-000,000,000, the largest amount held by any nation in the world, the total stock of which amount to $11,300,000,000.

While official comment was lacking on the drop of the dollar today, officials of the Treasury, Federal Reserve and State Departments have been watching closely the change from day to day. It has generally been understood that the President was ready to act whenever he deemed the proper time had come, but what form this action would take has not been divulged.

The old parity of $4.86 3-5 stood from 1925 until the United States went off the gold standard in April.
The exchange rates have been in that neighborhood since the gold standard was adopted in 1900. The post office rate of dollars to the pound, always a little above the prevailing exchange rate was set at $4.87 to the pound on July 12.

TREASURY BALANCE
Washington, July 19.—(AP)—
Treasury receipts for July 17 were $7,453,408.91; expenditures, $11-899,442.98; balance, $348,977,553.53.
Custom duties for seventeen days of July were $11,809,728.15.

Former State Votes Three to Two for Repeal of Dry Law and Latter About Two to One— Repealists See Victory Near Because of Results in "Solid South."

By the Associated Press.
Arkansas and Alabama, first states of the "Solid South" to speak on the prohibition amendment, have voted for its repeal.

Approximate and incomplete figures showed today that Alabama favored repeal by about two to one.
The vote for repeal in Arkansas was three to two.

Yesterday's vote brought the number of states on record for repeal to 18, with prohibitionists yet to score their first victory.

Tennessee voters will register their decision tomorrow, with Oregon following Friday. Thirty-six states must vote for repeal if the prohibition amendment is to be nullified.

In addition to Tennessee and Oregon, 15 states have fixed definite dates before early November to vote on repeal.

States that have voted for repeal are:
Michigan, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Wyoming, New Jersey, Delaware, Indiana, Massachusetts, New York, Illinois, Iowa, Connecticut,
New Hampshire, Nevada, California, West Virginia, Alabama and Arkansas.

Voting Next Month.
States voting next month are:
September six other states will give their verdict—Vermont, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Idaho and New Mexico; and in October, Florida.

On November 7 repeal will be passed upon by North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania and South Carolina.

Although only 35 states have either voted or arranged to vote on repeal by November 7, action is pending in several others which may bring the total number voting to more than 36. It is on this possibility that Repealists rest their hopes for victory before Christmas.

NEARLY TWO TO ONE
Birmingham, Ala., July 19.— (AP)—Alabama, in the heart of the traditionally dry south, today swung into the column for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment—a majority of nearly two to one on the face of incomplete returns from yesterday's prohibition referendum.

Late last night, Charles E. Rice, chairman of the forces opposing repeal in Alabama, conceded defeat but pointed out that the referendum still is in effect and said the prohibition forces would oppose any movement to change them.

Tabulations at 2 a. m. today from 1,159 of 2,137 ballot boxes in the state gave for repeal 13,988 to 44,330 against. Repealists had a majority of 44 of the 67 counties in the state at that time.

In conceding victory to the repealists, Rice said, "my judgment is that later returns will increase our vote in proportion to the total vote, but the additional ballots in any event won't be enough for us to win."

Gets Early Lead Repeal received an early lead in returns from city boxes but returns from the smaller rural counties cut into the majority for a time.

The state voted to elect 16 delegates to a repeal convention to be held August 8. Delegates are bound to vote as a unit on the basis of the referendum's majority.

Repealists waged their campaign in the state on the issues of state's rights and loyalty to the Democratic National program while the opponents contended prohibition was a moral issue upon which a party platform should not be binding. The opponents urged that Alabama become the first state to vote to retain the Eighteenth Amendment.

Constitutional amendments for a state income tax and a deficit funding $20,000,000 warrant issue, also voted on yesterday, had commanding leads early today.

IN ARKANSAS
Little Rock, Ark., July 19.—(AP)— Arkansas, a southern state with a "bone dry" law since 1916, today apparently had voted approximately three to two for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment as incomplete returns from its prohibition referendum were tabulated.

Shortly after midnight, M. L. Sigman, president of the New Deal Repeal Club, telegraphed President Roosevelt he was very happy "in presenting to you tonight this great state for the ratification of the Twenty-first (Repeal) Amendment."
At that hour, a tabulation from 1,030 of the state's 3,103 precincts showed the vote for repeal as 64,150 as compared with 84,193 against.
Incomplete returns had been received from all the 75 counties in the state and the vote tabulated was as-

Mancheser Sanitary and Sewer District June 29, 1933.

Board of Selectmen, Town of Manchester, Mancheser, Connecticut.

Board of Selectmen, Town of Manchester, Mancheser, Connecticut. Gentlemen: We hereby confirm the proposals made to the Town of Manchester for the purchase by it of the properties of the South Manchester Water Company and South Manchester Sanitary and Sewer District.

1. The price for the combined properties is to be $850,000.00 plus the assumption by the Town of the Water Company's existing bonds of $500,000.00 secured by a mortgage from the South Manchester Water Company, Trustee, dated December 1, 1924, making the total price $1,350,000.00.

2. The sale to be completed on or before September 1, 1935. 3. The Town agrees to make no assessment of benefits upon any person, firm or corporation for the cost of existing sewers and properties as conveyed to it by South Manchester Sanitary and Sewer District.

4. Cheney Brothers will assume any obligation of the South Manchester Water Company to Henry E. Rogers, or his assigns, existing by virtue of a contract between the South Manchester Water Company and said Rogers, dated June 13th, 1898, and recorded in Mancheser Land Records, Vol. 45, Page 511.

5. The Town will assume the expense of the operation and maintenance of the purification plant and will charge a proportion of such cost against Cheney Brothers, estimated quarterly on the basis of the volume of sewage delivered to the purification plant by Cheney Brothers' Mills, plus the volume of sewage delivered to the purification plant in accordance with the contract referred to in Paragraph 4, to the total volume of sewage from the whole system delivered to such purification plant.

6. The parties agree that if and when the Town shall issue, in accordance with the provision of a special act of the General Assembly of Connecticut approved April 10, 1933, serial bonds bearing 4 1/2 per cent interest, such principal and interest being payable in gold coin of the United States, the Town shall pay the interest on the outstanding bonded indebtedness of $500,000 and the interest on the proposed additional bond issue of $850,000; to amortize the proposed bond issue over a period of thirty-nine years (as provided for in the Special Act of the General Assembly authorizing the purchase) and still leave a balance available for either a charge to depreciation, extensions of services or amortization of the present bonded indebtedness of $500,000.

7. The consideration for the acceptance of the obligations herein assumed by Cheney Brothers is the fact that Cheney Brothers is the owner of all the stock of the South Manchester Water Company and South Manchester Sanitary and Sewer District, except qualifying shares of directors.

Yours very truly, The South Manchester Water Company. By Frank Cheney, Jr., President. South Manchester Sanitary and Sewer District. By Frank Cheney, Jr., President. Cheney Brothers, By Horace B. Cheney, Vice President.

London, July 19.—(AP)—The increased use of silver in subsidiary coinage was agreed upon by the world economic conference subcommittee on silver today in adopting a part of Senator Key Pittman's resolution.

Other important features of the American silver program were held over for future action. A proposal to regulate the world market for silver will await decisions by a conference of producers and exporters.

This limited action on Senator Pittman's resolution to something far short of its original expectations several weeks ago. Senator Pittman told the Associated Press he was quite satisfied with the result.

CHARGED WITH KEEPING 200 SLOT MACHINES

Law Says He Had to Dispose of Them Before July 1. New Haven, July 19.—(AP)—W. Leo McAviney of Hamden, who was arrested last night on a charge of illegally possessing 200 slot machines, was found in a Columbus avenue warehouse, was not present when his case was called today in city court.

His counsel asked a continuance until August 8, asserting he would carry out a fight against the slot machine law, directed at the constitutionality of the statute. Bonds were fixed at $1,000.

The defense attorney, Judge William L. Hadden, said McAviney had stored the machines pending negotiations to sell them, and felt he was obeying the law by placing the machines where they could not be used for illegal purposes.

A squadron of U. S. Army planes flew in close formation above the Italian armada as farewell escort. ARRANGING WELCOME New York, July 19.—(AP)—A welcome to stir the heart was in store today for General Italo Balbo and his squadron on their arrival from Chicago.

The dirigible Macon was ordered aloft to dip its bow in salute as the mighty aerocraft from Italy swings down the Hudson river. The Army, Navy and Coast Guard prepared their finest displays of courtesy for the men who flew from Italy to Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition.

Hundreds of thousands were expected to get a good view of the 24 planes as they circled Manhattan before alighting in Jamaica Bay. Surrounding the landing place, near Floyd Bennett Field, was a fleet of Coast Guard vessels, including three 135-foot cutters, 15 patrol boats and a score of speed-boats. They had orders to keep all except official craft away.

At Floyd Bennett Field Balbo and his 96 men were to be greeted by a committee of 80 distinguished citizens. A salute of 19 guns awaited him. Major General Dennis E. Nolan and Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, Jr., planned to escort Balbo and 10 ranking officers to the Columbia Yacht Club for a wel-

PARLEY IN ACCORD ON SILVER USAGE

Agrees to Use More of the White Metal in Subsidiary Coinage. London, July 19.—(AP)—The increased use of silver in subsidiary coinage was agreed upon by the world economic conference subcommittee on silver today in adopting a part of Senator Key Pittman's resolution.

Other important features of the American silver program were held over for future action. A proposal to regulate the world market for silver will await decisions by a conference of producers and exporters.

This limited action on Senator Pittman's resolution to something far short of its original expectations several weeks ago. Senator Pittman told the Associated Press he was quite satisfied with the result.

"What it means," he said, "is that all governments agree to cease the use of silver for the purpose of minting coins, except India and Spain, and they agree to limit the amount they will sell. We will get back to where silver was before the World War."

"We hope that by restoring normal conditions exchange values in India, China, and Latin America will be restored to their former level."

The board further announced that it was holding a hearing at 2 p. m. in the hall of the House of Representatives and that persons selling less than ten quarts a day are not required to be licensed and are not under price control of the board, but that body in giving notice of a hearing to-morrow at 2 p. m. in the hall of the House of Representatives and that persons selling less than ten quarts daily "at less than market prices appear to be the most demoralizing factor in certain markets of the state."

ALLEGED COUNTERFEITER IS HELD IN WATERBURY

Man Sought for Last Two Months Is Arrested Near His Former Home. Waterbury, July 19.—(AP)—John Thomasatis, 35, was taken before Judge John F. McGrath in City Court today on a charge of possessing counterfeit money and was ordered held in jail of $25,000 for Federal authorities. He was scheduled for a hearing this afternoon before U. S. Commissioner Harry Kraow.

Thomasatis, sought by police of New England and New York for two months, was arrested here last night by detectives who encountered him by chance near his former home in this city, on Railroad Hill street. Thomasatis put up a fight, and struck at the detectives with a brick, and the latter, in self defense, boarded the running board of the New York registered car he was driving.

He was subdued after his car had been halted, and taken to police headquarters where, police said, he was held up another night. He struck at the headquarter's policeman and attempted to flee to the department garage which opens onto a main thoroughfare.

Nine counterfeit $20 bills were found in Thomasatis' possession. Police said he is connected with Anna Thorn, alias Anna Delinkaitis, who was arrested in Burlington, Vt., two months ago, and is awaiting trial there on a counterfeiting charge.

Still Has a Cold But Expects to Return to His Desk Tomorrow. Washington, July 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt arranged to stay away from his office one more day in the suggestion of his physicians to complete fully his recovery from Monday's indisposition. He was dressed and ready to return to his desk in the executive office, but Dr. Ross T. McIntire of the Naval hospital, suggested another day of relative rest would be best.

Marvin H. McIntire, a secretary to the President, described the indisposition as a slight cold, said Mr. Roosevelt had no temperature and was feeling all right. All engagements for the day were cancelled, including a luncheon to Ras Desta Denu, son-in-law of the Emperor of Ethiopia, here on a special session.

McIntire said the President will return to his desk tomorrow and will keep his luncheon engagement then with General Balbo of the Italian flag.

Morgan arrived here today from New York and said that it was likely he would meet many British financiers on his trip here, including Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, but no political significance would be attached to any of his talks.

His meetings with British monetary leaders, he said, would simply be friendly exchanges of views on common principles, but, he added, "I shall not rule out the possibility of talks on stabilization."

Mr. Morgan declined to discuss world affairs or to make any comment on the recent inquiry upon his banking house at Washington. He said he intended to visit his offices at London and Paris before going to Scotland for the grouse shooting.

GET FEW REPORTS ON MATTERN'S HOP

Wireless Facilities Poor in North Because U. S. Does Not Recognize Russia.

Nome, Alaska, July 19—(AP)—Alaskan observers expressed the wish today that if aviators insist on flying the "top of the world" route, Russia and the United States get together on wireless communications.

The observers have been on the alert for news of, or the sight of, Jimmy Mattern, round-the-world flier, who was reported in an unconfirmed dispatch Monday to be flying across the Bering Sea from Russia where he was forced down last month on his projected globe-girdling flight.

Somehow in Siberia was Pilot Levanovsky, detailed by the Soviet government to fly his seaplane to Nome with Mattern.

Here in Nome sat William Alexander, head of a relief expedition which flew here to rescue Mattern and help him resume his flight.

No Communications So far as willing assistants from Nome to Point Barrow knew today, the three groups were unable to communicate.

There is a Soviet wireless station in Anadyr, an American station here, but the two are not "speaking terms," because there are no official diplomatic relations between the governments.

Unofficial chattering of these stations and those on ships at sea, vague, indefinite, in various languages, often interrupted by weather conditions and "fading" because of great distances—these are the means of communication.

The U. S. Army's Alaska telegraph keeps its men on the job long hours when the parade of aviators starts across the top of the world, but until they reach Alaska, the news is unreliable.

To be relayed accurately, messages from Anadyr must go back to Moscow, Russia, and around the world westward to Seattle, thence to Nome.

Rice paper is regarded as the highest achievement in the paper industry so far as purity is concerned; it is in common usage today as wrapping for cigarettes because it is least injurious to smokers.

Pays Costs of Improvements The entire costs of the improvements made on the section of Prospect street near the Rockville City Hospital where the road was extremely narrow, were paid for by Judge John E. Fisk at a cost of several hundred dollars.

Announcement that Judge Fisk has agreed to pay the costs of the improvements was made at the meeting of the Board of Common Council on Tuesday evening by Alderman Kerwin Little, head of the public works department. The section of Prospect street improved have long been in need of care and alteration. The street was very narrow and the slope at this point made it hazardous.

The improvements include the widening of the street some six feet and the resetting of the curb, also the laying of a new sidewalk. With Prospect street one of the main arteries for transportation of trucks and buses which do not care to pass through the center of Rockville, this improvement has already been praised as a big improvement long needed for the safety of the motorists using the highway.

Still in Critical Condition Stella Knof, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Knof of 92 West Main street is still in a critical condition at the Rockville City Hospital as the result of the accident on Monday when the child stepped off the sidewalk at the intersection of West Main street and Vernon avenue. She was struck by an automobile driven by Alexander Grouse, aged 22, of 138 Vernon avenue.

The accident was explained by Grouse who stated that he was driving along Vernon avenue to wards West Main street and noticed the children on the sidewalk near the mill of the James J. Rogan Manufacturing Company. He slowed up as he approached the intersection but the child stepped off the sidewalk directly in the path of the auto. The child was struck by the right rear fender and suffered a possible fracture of the skull. The case is now under investigation.

New Labor Arrives Rayon silk weavers from Paterson, N. J., are daily arriving in Rockville to take up work at the Peerless Silk Company's plant on West Main street. The changing over to two forty-hour shifts in place of two fifty-five-hour shifts, has necessitated the enlarging of the weaving force. The fact that additional help is arriving in Rockville has necessitated the securing of rooms for the weavers and all public boarding and rooming houses are now filled. It has been necessary to secure rooms with private families.

Many weavers are also seeking work in the woolen mills and when the new code goes into effect in August it will be necessary to enlarge the weaving force nearly one-third to cover the present output of the mills.

The new hours are now in effect at the Peerless Silk Textile Company's plant which started work Tuesday on the five-day week of eight hours each. The first shift starts at 6:30 o'clock and quits at 2:30 o'clock while the second shift starts work at 2:30 o'clock and quits at 10:30 o'clock at night.

Mrs. Bessie Wilson Falconer, Mrs. Bessie (Wilson) Falconer, aged 73, wife of John Falconer, of Broad Brook, died on Monday evening. Death was caused by bronchial pneumonia following a week's illness. Mrs. Falconer was born in Belfast, Ireland, but came to this country when a young woman and lived here practically all her life.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Falconer is survived by two sisters, Miss Lettie Wilson of Philadelphia and Mrs. James MacKay of Pittsfield, Mass.; also several nephews and nieces. The body is now at the funeral parlors of the E. H. Preston Company on Park place and will be taken to the Broad Brook Congregational church on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Charles Peck, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Windsorville cemetery.

Funeral of Gustave Reinschenbach The funeral of Gustave Reinschenbach, aged 72, of Vernon, who died Sunday after a short illness, was held Tuesday afternoon from the Lucia Memorial chapel in Grove Hill cemetery. Rev. William F. Tyler, pastor of the Vernon Center Congregational church, officiated. Burial was in Elmwood cemetery, Vernon Center.

Funeral of John Carson The funeral of John Carson, aged 63, employed as a farm hand in Vernon, who died at the Hartford hospital on Saturday, was held from the funeral parlors of the E. H. Preston Co., yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. George S. Brookes, pastor of the Union Center Congregational church, officiated. Burial was in Grove Hill cemetery.

Notes Many people were attracted to the junction of Market and Brooklyn streets at 7:30 o'clock last evening when a Ford truck was pushed partly off the trailer truck which was delivering the truck to the L. P. Fitzgerald Sales Service. The truck and a sedan was on the trailer delivery truck and the driver turned the corner too short resulting in the body of the truck on the trailer being partly pushed off. It was necessary to raise the truck with jacks to its former position on the trailer. The damage was very slight.

A meeting of Stanley Dobosz Post, No. 14, American Legion, was held last evening in the G. A. R. rooms in the Memorial building. Plans were discussed for the meeting of the Fourth District which is to be held in Rockville on Sunday, August 6. A social hour followed the meeting.

THIS WEEK'S WINNERS ARE FINE SNAPSHOTS

Previous Winner Repeats This Week—Fine Examples Are On Display.

Snaphots had to be exceptionally good this week to win a prize in the Amateur Photo Contest being conducted by Kemp's, as the three winners showed excellent knowledge of amateur photography, among the very large number of entries. The prizes for this week are awarded as follows: First prize, Sherwood Beechler, Lancaster Road; Second prize, Miss Ohman, 95 Forest street; Third prize, Thomas Dannaher, Bigelow street.

Mr. Beechler is the first prizewinner to repeat having been awarded third prize in the judging of the winners a few weeks ago. This is a splendid example of taking interest in snapshot-making and getting the best results possible.

The 2nd and 3rd prize winners are fine examples of amateur photography on a splendid dog snaphot, the other an action photo of a boy on a dog.

Owing to the fact that the photos keep getting much better, photographically, each week, it is going to be a very difficult task to select the prize winner for the whole summer, when the contest ends, Labor Day. However, the prize of an Eastman Movie Camera is well-worth working for, and it is expected that there will be many exceptional snaphots entered for the grand prize. Three en-

'DEFIANCE MANOR' IS GLEN RIDGE'S UGLIEST DWELLING

Result of Campaign of Woman Against Glen Ridge Town Council.

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Writer

Glen Ridge, N. J.—Mrs. Daniel Aldsworth Warren, embattled resident of "Defiance Manor," the ugliest house in the world, is more confident than ever of victory in her single-handed campaign against the town council of Glen Ridge. She wants a change in the zoning ordinance so that her property can be sold as a business site. The town, however, has insisted that the place is in a restricted residential area.

For more than a year, now, Mrs. Warren has carried on her offensive. And "offensive" is right, since she has transformed the once sedate old mansion into a hideous monstrosity. The council thought a nice filling station or a store would be unsightly, did it? Well, she'd show it something really unsightly—a shrieking, clashing spectacle that would give her uptight townsmen the fitters when they passed within a mile of it.

In a spirit of gay malice, Mrs. Warren went forth and bought paint. Yellow, jaundiced-looking paint, pink paint, purple paint, paint of a gangrenous hue, paint of an odious red. In wavering stripes and swirls, blotches and daubs, she smeared these assorted colors on the visible areas of her home from eaves to foundation. The result looked like a camouflage job executed by a mad modernist with delirium tremens.

A Real Riot of Color
It was a riot. Such a riot, in fact, that two policemen have been stationed here part of the time ever since to keep traffic moving on the street. From the pretentious new municipal building two blocks away came Mayor John H. Koch and his councilmen to view, shudderingly, this chromatic answer to their edict.

Mrs. Warren and her house got into the newspapers, and from far and near came letters of encouragement and condemnation from sympathizers. "I believe," said she, "that there's an urge for mutilation in all of us—like the small-boy trick of painting mustaches on the people in advertising posters. I've had letters from business men, housewives, and even a minister, telling what they believe are the most awful color combinations. One cartoonist and two artists offered to paint grotesque figures on my house. People right here in town (most of them are in sympathy with me) send in slogans, anonymously, to be posted around the place."

House That "Jack" Built
Mrs. Warren is middle-aged, stoutish and well-spoken. And she seems a quiet and sensitive person in the privacy of her home, which, incidentally, is well furnished and in startling contrast to the garish exterior. There also is a Mr. Daniel Aldsworth Warren, a retired businessman, but he keeps in the background and is extremely reticent about the whole sensational business.

The couple bought the 13-room house at No. 928 Bloomfield avenue, seven years ago as an investment. It was sold once, and repossessed on an unpaid mortgage. "Meanwhile," explained Mrs. Warren, "all through traffic had been routed over this street. It is now a main artery leading out of New York."

"In November, 1931, I went to the council with a petition signed by nearly everyone on this street to have it re-zoned as a business section. We explained that it was no longer fit for residential purposes; that nobody could sleep with the traffic going past; and that the property value had depreciated until it could be sold profitably only for business places.

"The worst of it is that in the same block with our 100-foot lot are two junk yards, a public garage and a hat-tonic factory. Down the street are a metal polish factory and a lobster house. They were there before the area was restricted, so the council couldn't do anything about them.

"Well, the council voted a tie—three to three—and the mayor cast the deciding vote against us. I'll tell you I was mad! I decided I'd show 'em, and I'm doing it. As a matter of fact, I'm having more fun every day. I'm making exclusive Glen Ridge known from coast to coast as 'the town with the ugliest house in the world.' I have spent a lot of money and time making this place a first class

A-No. 1 eyesore, and I've only just begun."

Zoological Aspect
As she spoke thus forcibly, Mrs. Warren was waving a pair of red flannel drawers in a manner somewhat reminiscent of the fabled Barbara Frietchie and her flag. The unmentionables are to be worn by a negroid zodiacrow which will flap defectively on the roof of the front porch. Two other ragged dummies already are ensconced there, together with a couple of discordant pairings of a blindfolded and somewhat deformed figure of "Justice." Additional pictures show a group of skeletons, labeled "Ghost Rulers," and seven heehawing jackasses. (There may be no significance in the fact that there are seven members of the city government.) Also there are wise-cracks and pictures of beer steins painted on the front yard where the grass has been unbarbered for 15 months in a drooping, weatherbeaten undergarments. At night a couple of floodlights illuminate the jumbled scene.

Mrs. Warren has a lot of ideas about what to do with the few remaining vacant spaces. Also she intends to paint her concrete walk in red and yellow stripes, and to install a wrecked automobile on the lawn.

So far the civic predesters have been unable to find any way of restraining all this defacement. But one of these days, rumor has it, a mysterious buyer is likely to walk in and offer the Warrens a great deal of money for the ugliest house in the world.

BOWERS TO CONFER ON MAJORCA CASE

U. S. Ambassador Sends Consul General Dawson to Handle the Case.

Madrid, July 19—(AP)—Claude Dawson, American consul general at Barcelona, will leave for Palma, Majorca, tonight to handle personally the case of five imprisoned Americans who allegedly attacked a Majorcan civil guard forty-two days ago.

The United States Ambassador Claude G. Bowers will confer tomorrow with Manuel Azana, Spanish premier and war minister about the case, which the envoy said might result in "unpleasant publicity."

The government, meanwhile, was silent regarding a report Juan Francisco de Cardenas, ambassador to Washington, is understood to have made on his conversations with Acting Secretary of State Phillips.

(A dispatch from Washington said Mr. Phillips expressed concern over the situation and asked the ambassador that prompt action be taken to try the prisoners or free them on bail.)

Those in Jail
Those held in Palma jail are Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Lockwood of West Springfield, Mass.; Rutherford Fullerton, of Columbus, O.; Roderick F. Mead, of New York, and Edmund W. Blodgett, of Stamford, Conn.

Dawson also will take up the case of Theodor Pratt, an American writer, whose article on Majorca aroused resentment, in case he asks for assistance.

Pratt went to Palma yesterday from Pollensa, on the other side of Majorca, escorted by a civil guard, whose protection he had asked.

Holding Passport
Dawson said that so far Pratt had not asked his protection. Meanwhile, the governor of Majorca is holding Pratt's passport while the judge investigates whether prosecution will result from the article.

Foreign Minister de los Rios said that "certain persons have been exaggerating the importance of the case, and have been prejudicing the prisoners' cases."

No formal statement of charges has been made against the five Americans, but Spanish officials explained it is under the jurisdiction of the War Department since the civil guard the Americans allegedly attacked is a member of the military organization.

While crossing a field where he had previously found an Indian pistol, at his home, "Maple Ridge," Farrum H. Lane of South Windsor noticed an oddly shaped stone of a texture and color not native to that town. Feeling convinced after examining it that it was an Indian implement of some kind, he showed it to an acquaintance in Massachusetts, who is an adopted son and chief of the Blackfeet Indians and the possessor of an extensive Indian museum who identified it as a grave hoe. The hoe is about eight inches by six wide. It is larger and heavier than the hoes which were used by the squaws when planting corn.

street, West Hartford, are at their summer home at Grove Beach, Clinton, where they will spend the season. Mrs. Fenn was before her marriage, Miss Emma Frances Avery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Avery of Avery street, Wapping.

STERN REMEDY NEEDED.

No society in which kidnaping for ransom becomes as common a racket as it has become in the United States recently is offering its citizens anything very substantial in the way of security.
 No crime emphasizes the helplessness of a community as does kidnaping. There will always be desperate men who will commit robbery, there will always be weak men who will commit forgery and defalcation, there will always be gamblers and panders and confidence men. The most society can hope to do is keep such crimes at a minimum.
 But kidnaping is different. It cannot be an organized racket unless the society in which it thrives has demonstrated its utter inability to protect the lives and persons of its citizens. Its appearance is the gravest symptom that the machinery of law enforcement can display.
 Today we have just about reached a point at which we must discuss some extremely revolutionary revision of our whole system of law enforcement.
 Police methods could not be more disorganized than they are now. From New York down to the smallest hamlet, each police force is entirely independent. There are 48 states, each with a separate jurisdiction. The powers of the federal government to coordinate and direct the war on crime are very limited. The cards are stacked in favor of the racketeer. He could not ask for a better set-up.
 The editor of the Daily Post-Tribune of La Salle, Ill., recently suggested to President Roosevelt that changes be made in the law so that federal agents could take a hand in all kidnaping cases, and not just in those where the victim is transported over a state line. This is an excellent proposal, but it may be that we need to go even farther than that.
 It may be that we need to follow Attorney General Cummings in his scheme for a nation-wide federal police force. It may be that we need to surrender our old fondness for local independence and make every cop in the land part of a great, centralized organization, just as we have already put our national guard under federal authority.
 It is perfectly obvious that we have got to do something. The kidnapers could not operate as they have been operating if the existing machinery had not proved its utter inadequacy.

ADVERTISING—GOOD BAD.

"It Pays to Advertise" is a slogan long in use. But there are two angles to this slogan.
 Several years ago a few American writers, hit hard by the depression, scraped up enough money to get to the Majorca Islands, in the Mediterranean, off Spain. They found there simple peasants who lived primitively. Food was cheap. Homes rented for a few cents a month. Wine was as cheap as water in the states. That last item may have had something to do with the sad tale.
 As a result of the stories these writers sold to American magazines, the islands immediately became popular, especially among the literary folks because of the cheapness of the cost of living. "Paradise at a Dollar a Week" and such titles headed the articles that soon were broadcast in this country. Followed a boom comparable with the early days in Florida. Tourists rushed to Majorca. The peasants, who by this time had learned the value of the American dollar became "gypsies" in the full sense of the word. Recently in an American magazine, the real story of the island was made known. Houses for which natives were paying $12 a year rent, were handed over to tourists and others at $14 a month. Food and other prices rose accordingly.

 The tourists also learned something about the climate of this Paradise. It was a Paradise for but a few months of the year. The rest of the time it either rained or the mistralis raged for weeks at a time. There were no roads fit for autos. The peasants, for the most part, were anything but peaceful, honest, simple citizens.
 The latest development of this tale is the story just coming out of the islands where indignant peasantry tried to bomb the residence of the writer who was bold enough to tell the truth about the country. Also, incidentally, five Americans, four men and a woman, have been confined in a filthy jail in Palma, because of a difference they had with a civil guard, or policeman of the city.
 American consuls have been ordered to investigate the matter. American newspapers are frothing at the mouth because of alleged indignities accorded American citizens in a foreign country.
 And all because of poor advertising—and vice cheaper than water.

DIVORCE BY RENO.

It seems unfortunate for the President that his son's marital difficulties could not have been settled in a manner more liable to be approved by the general public than a divorce via Reno. In court Elliott Roosevelt swore that he intended to make his home in Nevada indefinitely. At the moment he was solemnly swearing to that, if the dispatches from Reno are true, arrangements were being completed to transport young Roosevelt to Chicago to meet a Texas heiress who is believed to have been the cause of the strife in Elliott Roosevelt's family.
 Divorce, at its best, or perhaps more to the point, at its easiest, is an ugly thing. It means renunciation of vows more solemn than those taken in a man-made court. It makes public too often the things two people share in common, things that should be sacred and inviolable. But divorce under the Reno system holds the marriage state in the light of ridicule. Those who resort to that means of separation seat themselves with the Jester in the court of Mock Marriage.
 The Nevada system isn't generally accepted, else a majority of the states would adopt divorce laws as facile as those practiced in Reno. Most states are strict in their treatment of marital separation. In Connecticut the grounds that must be offered are justifiable for divorce, since on those grounds no couple could live happily together. They are not laws of convenience.
 It is unfortunate then that the son of the President should choose the Reno method of loosing his marriage ties. It does not seem possible that any emergency could have existed that would necessitate such hurried action. No possible reflection should be thrown upon the President or his gracious lady since Elliott Roosevelt should be perfectly capable of handling his own destiny, but it seems he could have been more considerate of his father's position and followed different tactics.

SCRAP IT NOW.

The Solid South's supposed unalterable position on prohibition has been changed. Today Alabama and Arkansas, definitely listed as "dry" states, are in the "wet" column with the prohibition forces sitting back yet to score a victory. Repealists are naturally jubilant today. With the "dry" South contributing two states to their side they, of course, see victory assured by November 8 when enough states will have voted to reject prohibition, if all those states voting go into the "wet" column.
 The score now is: 18 for Repeal; 0 Against Repeal.
 Tomorrow Tennessee will register its opinion. Just last week Postmaster General Farley rallied a force of 10,000 in an anti-prohibition gathering in Tennessee exhorting the South to support the President in his stand against the 18th Amendment. There is no reason to believe that Tennessee will not follow Mr. Farley's bidding.
 With repeal almost definitely on the way it seems both a waste of time and of money to await the mechanical ratification of the 18th Amendment by all 36 states. Taxation on 5.2 beer has proved a revenue winner even beyond the expectations of its proponents. Taxation on spirituous liquors will raise an even greater amount of revenue for the government.
 With this prospect in view and with President Roosevelt's leaning towards special legislation why isn't it possible that the 18th Amendment be scrapped right now, as an emergency revenue raising act? President Roosevelt is opposing to the

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 The Evening Herald Washington Correspondent
 Washington, July 19.—The childers and exploiters who used to find a happy hunting ground in the Department of the Interior can't do a nickel's worth of business there any more.
 Their worst enemies are in full control. The department is now manned by a valiant corps of progressives, conservationists, crusaders and experienced watchdogs over the natural resources.
 No such crew has ever before been gathered in any government department as that headed and selected by Secretary Harold L. Ickes. It includes men who have fought and foiled Interior officials and their favored special interests through major national scandals—Bull Moose, Teapot Dome, "power trusts," Indians, and many more—for the last 25 years.
 Ickes has picked successful men of integrity and social purpose to help him, at the same time rapidly weeding out those of the old regime who appeared to have been willing to sacrifice public interest for private interest. Lately he has been applying his policies to the $3,000,000 public works program, of which he is virtually the boss.
 Ickes himself is a veteran of reform political movements in Chicago and an old Illinois Bull Moose leader. Ardently progressive in politics, he waged a long battle against Sam Insull and in favor of lower gas, electricity and transportation rates.
 Assistant Secretary Oscar L. Chapman is another progressive who has fought machine politics. He was associated in law with Senator Edward F. Costigan, the Colorado Independent, and managed Costigan's last successful campaign. Specializing in welfare, he had previously served five years as probation officer of Judge Ben Lindsey's juvenile court. Able and aggressive, he's a dangerous foe of special privilege.
 Serving as personal assistant to Ickes is Harry A. Slattery, who helped reveal the $100,000,000 Ballinger coal lands scandal, gave Woodrow Wilson the facts as to the National Manufacturers' Association's secret lobby, made the first public attack on the naval oil leases, and for years has led progressive senators with ammunition for the Boulder Dam, Muscle Shoals and other power fights.
 Louis R. Glavin, the department's chief investigator, is another Ballinger fight veteran. He exposed that scandal and later did brilliant detective work in the Teapot Dome, "power trust" and Indian bureau scandals. Recently he charged that power companies at Muscle Shoals were misusing federal property and defrauding the government of revenue.
 Solicitor Nathan R. Margold and Assistant Solicitor Charles Fah are two more liberals. Young Margold has represented New York City against subway lines and the Pueblo Indians against the Interior Department and land-grabbers. Fah has also represented the Pueblos and engaged in welfare work.
 Indian Commissioner John Collier has been a red-hot crusader against Indian bureau policies and white exploiters of Indians for many years.

HIGHLY CONFIDENT

Auteuil, France, July 19.—(AP)—It may be overconfidence but America's Davis cup tennis stars are convinced they can sweep to a decisive victory over England in the inter-zone finals starting Friday and thus advance to the challenge round against France next week.
 Not only are Ellsworth Vines, Wilmer Allison, George Lott and John Van Ryn confident of victory in the series but they decline to concede England a single triumph in advance.

"dry" South to support him on his anti-prohibition stand. Now that two states of the South have shown their colors why isn't the President within his rights if he simply writes out the "dry" law so that millions of dollars will roll into the U. S. Treasury now instead of waiting until November or December?

FOOLISH FREIGHT.

A student at the University of Wisconsin told a legislative investigating committee the other day that he had been hired by the secret service to supply federal investigators with information about the activities of Communists at the university; and one is forced to wonder just what humorous sub-official it was who decided that such a course was necessary.
 No one with any common sense thinks that anything important in the way of red activities is taking place at any state university. It was another Wisconsin student who explained how the Communists at the university got to Uncle Sam's ears.
 On May Day, this lad explained, one undergraduate hung a red flag out of his window. This undergraduate was a thorough-going young capitalist, the son of the president of a big Illinois manufacturing concern and he hung out his red bunting as a prank, pure and simple. But someone took the flag seriously, some federal official got worried—and the sleuths got busy.
 And the whole business looks more than a little ridiculous.

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCoy

SUMMER TROUBLES OF BABIES AND CHILDREN

In summer babies and young children often suffer from troubles which make them uncomfortable and the mother should know how to care for them. In today's article I am describing some summer irritations of young children as I am sure you will find the article helpful.
Prickly Heat.—During hot weather babies may suffer from prickly heat rash which induces redness of the skin and restlessness and peevishness by reason of the skin irritation. It may be due to putting too much clothing on the baby which causes him to perspire heavily. To make the baby more comfortable you should sponge him several times a day, using plain cool water. Add a little baking soda to the water if you wish. Allow the skin to dry and then lightly rub with baby talcum powder. Discard all clothing except the diaper and prevent the baby from scratching the rash.
Diarrhea Or "Summer Complaint."—is usually caused by some error in feeding. In bottle fed babies it is due to the baby's inability to handle rich cream in the milk. In children it frequently follows eating unripe or spoiled fruit. The most important thing to do is to stop all food and give the child plenty of cooled boiled water to drink for at least 24 hours. A small amount of boiled water allowed to cool until comfortably warm should be given in order to cleanse the intestines. If there is any cramping, a hot application or hot water bottle laid over the lower abdomen will give relief. A period of complete rest for the whole digestive tract is advisable after an attack of diarrhea and will do a great deal of good.
Vomiting.—Both children and babies are more likely to have upset stomachs during the warm weather than during cool. Use the treatment suggested above for summer complaint. By taking extreme care in the feeding of young children during the summer, much digestive disorder may be avoided. Keep all milk utensils strictly clean. If the baby seems to be losing his healthy appetite or the breath smells a little sour, it will not hurt him to raise the next feeding of milk, substituting cool boiled water instead. Over-feeding during the summer is a mistake. Children remain healthier and more comfortable during the heat if they are fed simply and lightly, being given regular meals consisting of salads and vegetables. Fruit juices and fruits are wholesome combinations. When a young child vomits, it usually shows that he has been eating haphazardly, that he ate when too hot and tired, or when emotionally upset. Most vomiting spells serve their purpose of cleansing out the stomach and then the trouble is quickly over. Rest of the stomach is of value after the attack in every case, and, if you are in any doubt as to the child's condition, I would suggest keeping him on cool, clean water to which fruit juice may be added if desired, until he shows a returning appetite and clamor for food that his digestion has returned to normal. This use of the small enema, given slowly, is to be preferred in my opinion to the giving of any medical preparation for clearing out the intestines.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Eyelashes Falling Out)
 Question: Miss Polly H. writes: "I am a young lady, twenty years of age and in good health. I have been troubled for the past few months with falling eyelashes. The eye doctor finds nothing really the matter with my eyes, but my family doctor prescribed yellow mercuric oxide, which I have been using with no results. I would appreciate any advice you could give me concerning my eyes."
 Answer: If the doctor prescribed mercuric oxide, he must have been of the opinion that there was some infection of the roots of the eyelashes. If, on the other hand, there was no local condition present, which was causing the lashes to fall out, the ointment would be of no value. It is difficult to say what might be causing the trouble without examining you, however, a nervous affliction sometimes produces this effect.
 If you are of a nervous temperament, I would suggest that you try to obtain as much sleep as possible and avoid unnecessary worry, using a well balanced diet such as outlined in my Friday Menus. No local treatment of the eyelashes would be necessary, although the use of a thin line of almond oil just over the lashes whenever you wash your face, using the oil afterward, might prevent the eyelashes from becoming brittle so that they would grow longer.

(Ringing in Ears)

Question: Mr. Martin C. writes: "For the past few months I have been having a constant ringing in my ears. It sounds like steam escaping."
 Answer: Buzzing or ringing in the ears is caused either from high blood pressure or by a clogged ear. In either case, the cure lies in dieting. Send a large self-addressed, stamped envelope for a special article I have prepared on ringing in the ears.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

New York—July 19.—The Metropolitan Opera Company hasn't, as yet, displayed in public any qualms about its proletarian competition this summer. But the chances are that its hard-pressed directors, who scarcely know where their next deficit is coming from, indulge in apprehensive little shivers when they consider the threats that have popped up on the classical horizon.
 For one thing, crowds are still standing in long lines before the old Hippodrome theater, where excellent grand opera is being performed for 20 to 30 cents admission by a cast built around some stars of the Chicago Opera Company. For another thing, Mr. George Blumenthal, who used to be associated with Oscar Hammerstein, is about to start a season of Wagnerian Opera—at low prices, in English, and with the Met's own orchestra and several of its stars, including Frances Alda. A woman, Leginska, will conduct at least one performance.
 Of course both of these are summer ventures, and are not yet menaces to the Metropolitan's box office. But it is very likely that they will be reorganized, with new talent, to carry on next fall and winter. Also there is a chance that Mr. Blumenthal's organiza-

"A National Institution"

Some notes here recently about the Hippodrome theater have brought in a lot of addenda from sentimentalists who remember when it was the biggest theater in the world and was advertised as "a national institution." People from out of town could give it as a mailing address and call for letters at the box office. And patrons could borrow rubbers and umbrellas there is caught by a shower, or even a quarter for car-fare if they had mislaid their purses. . . . All manner of celebrities have seen the Aid Hipp spectators, among them President Taft, General Foch, General Pershing, the Prince of Wales, and John D. Rockefeller, Sr., who went in a side door and to this day is not generally known ever to have attended any sort of variety show.

Theatrical Fortune

Settlement of the estate of colorful David Belasco, the theatrical producer, reveals that he left about $622,000—which is a bigger fortune than was amassed by any of his contemporaries. . . . Florens Ziegfeld, for instance, made merry millions, but died poor.

ENTRY LIST SMALL

New York, July 19.—(AP)—It begins to look as though the annual professional golfers' association championship, to be held in Milwaukee starting August 3, a month earlier than usual, will draw only a handful of the game's best known pros.
 Densmore Shute, British open champion, and Walter Hagen, five times winner of the P. G. A. title, announced several days ago they could not return to this country from Europe in time to compete, and yesterday, Sarazen, Craig Wood and Joe Kirkwood arriving from England, revealed they probably would not play either.
 Geese are used as "watchdogs" around the home in the West Indies.

SAYS ADVERTISING WILL AID CHURCHES Speaker at Lutheran Convention Urges Pastors to Use Newspaper Space.

Chicago, July 19.—(AP)—In these days of keen competition, the church must launch a spirited advertising campaign to get "new business," the International Waltham League convention was told today.

Advocacy of extensive newspaper advertising was made by J. F. E. Nickelsburg of New York, executive secretary of the American Lutheran Publicity Bureau.

To support his contention, he quoted from the Bible, "Publish and conceal not" and "what ye hear in the ear, that preach ye upon the house tops."

The church should use newspaper space for both items of news and insert paid advertising, said Nickelsburg. "Why?" We have more than 63,000,000 unchurched persons in these United States.

Three additional finalists in the league's oratorical contest were announced yesterday. They were Miss Gertrude Behrens of Berkeley, Cal., Miss Bernice Baker, St. Louis, and Arthur Lance of Seymour, Ind.

They will meet three opponents announced yesterday for first, second and third place awards.

POST SPEEDING ACROSS SIBERIA; LEAD CUT DOWN

to Khabarovsk, his scheduled stop about 400 miles farther on, he said unless bad weather retards him too much, in order to make up time.

When he landed here from Novosibirsk he was 16 hours and 34 minutes ahead of his previous mark. He left that place at 8:02 a. m. Tuesday, Moscow time, having rested for only two hours and 35 minutes there. He and Gatty stayed in Irkutsk two hours and 15 minutes.

They were 81 hours and 59 minutes out of New York when they landed here, but Post reached Irkutsk in 75 hours and 25 minutes. More than half of his stint has been accomplished.

HOW GOVERNMENT BANKS WILL ASSIST FARMERS

loan association. There are about 4,000 of these, with from a dozen to several hundred farmer-members in each.

These endorse the loan and accept responsibility for payment. To become a member a farmer who obtains a loan through one is required to subscribe to the association's stock in an amount equal to five per cent of his loan.

The interest rate where the farmer is a member of an association is 4 1/2 per cent for five years and 5 per cent after that, if the loan is made in the next two years.

ABOUT TOWN

Mary C. Keesey Tent, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War will meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the State Armory.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorrance Bronson of Farm Drive are planning a trip to Europe in August. They will join Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Moore who are spending the major part of the summer in Spain and return to this country with them.

A crew of men under the direction of Henry Bradley, outside foreman have removed several blocks from the sidewalk in front of the stores on Main street from Birch street to the State Theater and will replace them with new concrete.

The town highway department has closed East Middle Turnpike, Bolton Center Road, Finlay street, South Main street and Keeney street during the past 10 days.

The town of Coventry now has two taverns. Outside of Rockville, Stafford Springs and South Coventry there are but few taverns in Tolland County.

George Graziadio, of 264 North Main street, is driving a new car, purchased this week.

Louis Cornet is now covering the Main street route, which was for many years covered by Richard Allen. Mr. Cornet is one of the oldest carriers, in point of service, at the Manchester postoffice.

Mrs. J. C. Robinson and Miss Sadie Curran are spending a few days at Woodmont, Conn.

The Mons Ypres Command's Auxiliary will meet tonight at 8:30 at the Army and Navy Club.

Manchester is pretty well locked up today. What is true among the business places in South Manchester is also true among the majority of the stores at the north end.

The new tavern that is to be opened in the building adjoining the Montgomery-Ward store, will be first put in first-class condition and the approval of the inspectors secured before opening, which will not be before a week from Saturday.

Memorial Lodge, K. of P., will meet tonight in their lodge hall and elect delegates to the grand lodge meeting which will be held in Torrington in October.

Many of the local package stores, beer taverns and restaurants that have been in operation in town since the early start of selling beer in Manchester was allowed, are now being checked up by Inspector Adolph Broil of Bolton.

Attorney Chester Mills has returned to Manchester after spending several days in his former home in Maine. Mr. Mills was called back early in the week of his mother's death, who died three days before reaching her 90th birthday.

Mrs. David Wilson of 57 Wellington Road will leave tomorrow for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Daniel Elliott of Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott and their two sons will return with Mrs. Wilson for a two weeks' stay in Manchester.

EX-CONVICT IDENTIFIED AS A LUER KIDNAPER

"The Dice Box Kid" Is Held Under Federal Charge — Identified by Mrs. Luer.

St. Louis, July 19.—(AP)—Identified as one of the kidnapers of August Luer, aged and wealthy banker of Alton, Ill., Percy Fitzgerald, who has a long police record in this vicinity, today was under a Federal charge of violation of the National Extortion Act.

The complaint against "The dice box kid," as Fitzgerald is known in the underworld, was filed with United States Commissioner Arthur R. Felsen in East St. Louis after identification had been made by Mrs. Luer.

The banker's wife was at home in Alton a week ago Monday night when Luer, 77 year old semi-invalid, was seized by two men and a woman. He was released by his captors early Sunday near Collinsville, Ill. No ransom was paid, members of his family said, although as much as $100,000 was demanded in ransom notes.

Fitzgerald was viewed by Mrs. Luer at police headquarters late. Identification was not made known until the filing of the charge against the ex-convict.

NATIONAL MATCHES ON RIFLE PROGRAM

Target Shooting Experts to Gather at Wakefield, Mass., August 5 to 13.

With national rifle and pistol championships and the accompanying trophies at stake, the target shooting experts of the New England and adjacent states will gather at Camp Curtis Guild, Wakefield, Mass., from August 5 to 13 to make their bid for the 1933 honors of the shooting range, according to plans conveyed to the National Rifle Association at Washington, D. C., by the United Services of New England.

Started in 1875 The Wimbledon cup competition was started in 1875. Princess Louise was presented to the rifle association, on behalf of her mother, Queen Victoria of England, a handsome silver cup for competition among American riflemen as a tribute to the members of an American rifle team who participated in matches over the famous Wimbledon rifle ranges in England that year. The 58-year-old cup, still as untarnished as when it was made, goes to the winner of the Wimbledon match, which, fired at 1,000 yards, decides the long-range championship of the country.

Use New System The National Rifle Association championships are being determined this year in the 30-caliber rifle and the pistol and revolver fields on the basis of scores fired in state or regional meets. This system was adopted by the N. R. A. as a substitute for the usual Camp Perry National Rifle and Pistol Matches which have been dropped for this year, as was the case last year, as a part of the government's far-reaching economy program. Scores fired in all the state and regional meets will count toward the 30-caliber rifle and the pistol and revolver championships and trophies but the snare-bore rifle championships will be decided in one national tournament to be held at Camp Perry from August 28 to September 4.

The N. R. A. championship matches to be fired at the Wakefield shoot-fest and the dates set for them are: A. E. F. Remington team trophy match, August 5; civilian club members' match, August 6; Navy cup, Scott trophy and Camp Perry instructors' trophy matches, August 7; President's match, August 8; Coast Guard rapid-fire trophy, Croswell cup, Wimbledon cup and Marine Corps cup matches, August 9; individual pistol championship, August 10, and the N. R. A. members' match, August 12. All but one pistol match listed for August 10 are 30-caliber rifle competitions.

NO VALUE IS PLACED ON WOOLSEY'S ESTATE

Yale Forestry Expert Inherited Over a Million Dollars from His Father.

New Haven, July 19.—(AP)—The value of the estate of the late Theodore S. Woolsey, Jr., forestry expert, is not indicated in the will offered for probate yesterday. It is believed to be considerable, although one of the named trustees, the New Haven Bank, N. B. A., is as yet unable to fix an approximate figure. Woolsey inherited an estate of over a million dollars from his father in 1929, and he had property holdings outside Connecticut. Under the will there will be a trust fund of $3,000 for books for the Yale University forest school library and his own library, surveying and forestry equipment goes to the school.

LEGAL SUIT DELAYING POST OFFICE BUILDING

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—Officials in the supervising architect's office said today no action would be taken to speed construction of the post office at New London, Conn., until a decision is reached in an action now pending in the Federal Court in the Connecticut district. The contractor, the Central States Construction Company, had previously been threatened with an action to void the contract, officials said, unless the delay was ended. When the fight was taken into the Federal Court, however, it was decided to wait. Little information regarding the nature of the delay could be learned here. At the supervising architect's office it was understood the McLaughlin Corporation, a subcontractor, had enjoined the Central States Construction Company from proceeding with work on the building until the settlement of a financial controversy.

TWO HURT IN CRASH

Bridgeport, July 19.—(AP)—Two men were injured here early today when a truck driven by Adler Sladon, of 16 Methodist street, New London, collided with a truck driven by Sydney A. Deny, 21, of 488 East street, New Britain, at the corner of South avenue and Main street. Sladon's truck got out of control when hit, and ran over the sidewalk into a vacant store nearby. Sladon was taken to the Emergency hospital with his helper, Joseph Silver of 155 Vayonne street, New London, who received a fracture of the left leg and lacerations of his left arm. Both men later were removed to St. Vincent's hospital.

ELKS PLAY A JOKE ON JAMES FARLEY

Breaks Three Targets at Trapshooting But Doesn't Yet Know How He Did It.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 19.—(AP)—Those rollicking Elks—they're in the midst of convention festivities here—induced Postmaster General James A. Farley to try his hand at trapshooting and played a trick on him. With expert assistance he broke three targets in a row.

With a modest remark that he would break the record for misses, that baseball was his game, Farley selected a shotgun and called "pull." The target soared out and the gun blazed. The target soared on.

Time and again that happened and "Genial Jim" was ready to give up in disgust. "Just one more round," a brother Elk coaxed, winking at an expert marksman who took a position behind Farley.

Another target flew out. Farley fired. So did the expert simultaneously. The clay disc was shattered. Another target, another hit. And a third.

"Well, I broke three anyway," Farley exclaimed as he strode off.

CONGRESSMAN HAUGEN, FARMERS' FRIEND, DEAD

Spent 34 Years in National House—Co-Author of Agricultural Measure.

Northwood, Ia., July 19.—(AP)—Gilbert N. Haugen, 74, veteran Iowa Congressman who spent 34 years in the National House of Representatives as a champion of agriculture, is dead.

The holder of the record for longest continuous membership in the National House succumbed to heart disease and complications late yesterday.

At his bedside were his daughter, Mrs. Joe Johnson, and his son L. G. Haugen of New York, vice president of the National City Bank, the only surviving relatives.

Best known of his laborious endeavors for farm relief in his co-authorship of the McNary-Haugen measure in which he collaborated with Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon.

Haugen was one of many Republican leaders who went down to defeat in the Democratic landslide last fall.

Funeral services and burial are to be held at Northwood Friday afternoon.

QUIZ YOUNG ROOSEVELT ON SECOND MARRIAGE

Tells Reporters That When He Decides to Wed He'll Let the Public Know.

Chicago, July 19.—(AP)—If Elliott Roosevelt ever decides to get married again he says he'll certainly let the people know about it. Until then he apparently intends to keep his own counsel.

He indicated as much upon his arrival in Chicago by airplane from Nevada, where he and his former wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt, Philadelphia society girl, were divorced.

Many questions, particularly concerning his reported romance with Miss Ruth Goggins of Fort Worth, Tex., were put to young Roosevelt after he had reached Chicago yesterday, but he parried them, pleasantly and skillfully.

When he was asked about a possible second marriage he said: "Really, you haven't given me time to ask her yet."

"I'm not going to spend my time answering anything personal," he added. "If I'm asked, 'Is it so?' I'll say nothing until I get ready to announce it. I'll certainly let all you know if I ever decide to marry again."

Last night young Roosevelt called at the hotel where Miss Goggins was registered.

He said he expected to stay in Chicago for a few days to visit the World's Fair with his sister, Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, who is expected to reach Chicago today, and then return to the west.

Someone asked him about a report he was to be married in a day or so and he said: "That's all wet."

ANGELUS TEMPLE SQUABBLE CENTER

Aimee's Husband Sets Guard to Prevent Any of Congregation from Entering.

Los Angeles, July 19.—(AP)—David L. Hutton's divorce action today developed into a squabble over occupancy of the parsonage at Angelus Temple, the evangelistic edifice of Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton.

Open hostilities were initiated by the husband of the evangelist when he ordered a temple guard to barricade himself in the parsonage and defy any and all members of the congregation or its leaders to enter.

The guard, William B. Levin, discharged Monday by Miss Harriet Jordan, acting business manager of the temple, followed instructions.

Hutton, whose divorce complaint against the evangelist was filed in Superior Court Monday, and Miss Jordan are not on speaking terms, largely because of a remark attributed to her by the portly baritone to the effect that he, Hutton, was "taming a sick woman in the back" by filing for divorce.

Levin was discharged immediately after Miss Jordan announced there would be a "house cleaning" at the temple incident to the divorce action. Hutton explained his orders to Levin by saying there were many articles of value in the parsonage belonging to him and his wife, and he was going to make sure they were not molested pending her return from Europe.

Levin told Hutton he had thwarted

PRICE DIFFERENCE ON WATER SMALL

Willard B. Rogers Points Out That Opponents Favor Million Figure.

Editor of The Herald:

No one has successfully refuted the arguments recently advanced in The Herald by Selectman George E. Keith in favor of the purchase by the town of the South Manchester Water company and the South Manchester Sanitary and Sewer district at the price of $1,150,000.

The board of selectmen, certainly a cross-section of representation is unanimously in favor of the purchase but two members of the board of seven think the price too high.

The Manchester Evening Herald which has certainly proved that it is unprejudiced, unbiased, fair and free from any factional influences, favors the purchase at the price of $1,150,000.

The chamber of commerce committee which at first went on record as favoring a lower price reversed itself after studying the engineers' reports.

Three eminent engineers have said the town could even pay a higher price than that now asked by Cheney Brothers and the town.

The asked price is $1,150,000. The price favored by two selectmen is $1,000,000. The difference is $150,000. The interest even at so high a rate as 5 per cent upon this difference is $7,500.

Actually then Friday's vote will be not upon the purchase by the town of these two utilities for everyone favors public ownership of such utilities but upon whether the town is going to reject Cheney Brothers' proposition because of an annual carrying charge difference of $7,500.

Mr. Keith, expert appraisers, five selectmen and many other well informed men say the purchase at $1,150,000 is sound.

For the sake of argument let's assume the price is a little too high. The money received through the sale by Cheney Brothers is to be used to aid the silk company, the backbone of Manchester, to get under way.

Were such a firm as Cheney Brothers located elsewhere and considering moving here or to any other live town all kinds of inducements would be offered. Some towns would abate or allow special taxes for several years. Others would raise capital to attract the industry.

Little Putnam to our east some time ago raised in a few hours a sizeable sum with which to pay the freight to that town of machinery and other equipment of a company which had moved out of Putnam.

There isn't a man, woman or child in Manchester who will not share in the prosperity of a re-stimulated Cheney Brothers. For example, assume the firm gets under way in good shape. The additional taxes the firm will pay upon increased stock on hand will absorb not once but several times the item of $7,500 which is the difference in the carrying charges of the two prices.

But to go further let's consider the additional number of taxpayers who will be able to pay their taxes to town and who will in turn have tenants enjoy more work and at better rates of wages.

Merchants who not only employ several thousand but pay a big share of the tax bill will enjoy a greater volume of business. The building and allied trades will also profit and these workers and their families will have normal buying power. With this industrial activity will come also more business for all utilities. With more business will come greater profits.

And who will deny that a reappraisal of the water and sewer plants a few months from now would inevitably result in an increase of at least twenty-five per cent?

Should the town reject Cheney Brothers' offer the silk firm will then feel free to offer these properties to private parties. Such utilities will soon be attractive to stock promoters. If the utilities should be acquired by out-of-town financiers they can legally change administrative salaries and if the present water rates are inadequate to pay those salaries together with other items of overhead plus a large depreciation figure there is no power which would order the public utilities commission to refuse to approve higher water rates.

Of course, every taxpayer wants to see these companies acquired by the town at the lowest price. But, the situation is not similar to that of the south end schools. The latter were of value only to the town. There was no commercialism involved. No outside financiers could see an opportunity in acquiring the school properties.

In both the water company and the sanitary sewer district, however, outside financiers can readily see an opportunity.

Local voters will do well to study these factors before voting Friday and when they have seriously considered them they will unquestionably vote "Yes."

SAYS WATER PRICE ASKED IS TOO HIGH

Attorney Bowers Asserts Utilities Would Not Carry Selves at Figure.

Manchester, July 18th.

The following letter is submitted for publication in "The Open Forum" of your paper:

After an analysis of the obtainable data relative to the proposed purchase by the Town of the Water and Sewer Companies, I have become convinced that the price asked for these utilities is too high. If the Town pays $1,150,000, the proposed price, for them, the result will be that the Town owned utilities will not carry themselves, and the taxpayers of the Town will have to make up the resulting deficit in the shape of an increased tax rate. It is felt that this condition would obtain if the Town were to pay for the concerns in question, necessitating the borrowing of any sum in excess of one million dollars (a tidy sum in itself). Unless the water and sewer properties can be purchased at a price which will mean no increase in taxes, the taxpayers should vote not to buy them.

A brief analysis of the available figures would perhaps be in order at this point.

Different Set-Up
A financial set-up is presented herewith which it will be noted differs considerably from those preferred by advocates of the purchase.

Income—(4-year average per engineer's report)

Water company (including hydrants) $108,297
Sewer Company $1,597
..... $109,894

Expense—(same basis)
Water company $24,415
Sewer Company 41,849
..... $66,264

Net Operating Revenue $ 98,528
Loss and Expense:
Interest on present $500,000 Bond Issue $ 25,000
Interest on new $650,000 Bond Issue 22,250
Loss in tax receipts at 22 mills 19,450
Depreciation—(payments must be made on principal of bonds at least at this rate in order for Town to hold its own on its investment) 22,500
Bolton and Glastonbury tax 1,000
Increase in administration and rent (admitted) 4,000
Short term borrowing—5 per cent on $60,000 3,000
Estimated additional expense under municipal ownership 5,000 Advance for bond bills (per Cheney Brothers suggestion) 5,000
..... $114,180

Extensions, (four year average) 17,000
Total $131,180

We are told by Mr. George E. Keith and other advocates of the present sale price, that the income from the companies at existing rates will pay operating expenses, make up for lost taxes, pay interest on bonds, and provide for the amortization (payments on principal) of the bonds over a period of years, so that after 50 years or so, the Town will have paid for the entire plant out of income and own it free of incumbrance, without any actual additional expense, except for extensions. Mr. Keith and his allies have apparently overlooked the item that appears in the engineer's report and in the annual statements of profit and loss issued by the Companies. This is the item of Depreciation. This item amounted in 1932 to $23,839.98 for the Water Company, and $3,227.41 for the Sewer District, according to their own books. A total of approximately $27,000.00. If the Town bought the utilities for $1,150,000, the item of depreciation could be scaled down to about $2,500, since the higher figure is based on valuation of $1,400,000 for the properties. Now unless payments are made on the principal of the bonds faster than the assets depreciate, the Town will never acquire any equity in the properties. The old bonds will be paid off, but new bonds will have to be issued to cover replacements. Thus the Town will never get anywhere towards owning the plants free of debt, unless it pays off more than $22,500 per year on the bonds. I arrive at this figure of $22,500, by an analysis of the depreciation allowed by the engineers in the past on the various properties, and by adjusting the result to the price of $1,150,000. It figures slightly more than 2 per cent per year. Let us not make the mistake of forgetting that our plants do depreciate at about this rate. Don't forget about the leakage in that dam and that wooden pipe line that the engineers tell us will have to be replaced before long. The engineers' report calls attention to this very feature, on page 16—"In the above figures, depreciation is covered by amortization."—"It will be necessary therefore, to provide funds for—retirement of Serial Bonds."

THE LOSS IN TAXES WHICH THE TOWN WILL SUSTAIN IF IT BUYS THE PROPERTIES HAS BEEN ESTIMATED AT $22,000, ON THE BASIS OF A TAX OF 25 MILLS.

would not put the figure as high as this, as I hope our tax rate can be kept at a lower level for some time to come.

The operating expense for 1932 was approximately $22,000. Under municipal ownership, it would undoubtedly be much higher than this amount, and due allowance should be made for a substantial increase on this item, especially in view of the fact that the average operating expense for the years 1929-32 was considerably greater—namely $41,000. To quote again from the engineers' report "Experience indicates that municipal operation of utilities is apt to be somewhat higher in cost than private operation."

Again, we must be prepared to expect that collections of water and sewer rent, already a growing problem under the present ownership, will be much slower under Town control, necessitating the borrowing of money to finance the payment of obligations which must be met though the rents remain unpaid.

Further In Debt
On this set up it can readily be seen that on the basis of their present income, the two companies will not carry themselves at a purchase price of $1,150,000. And remember that on this basis, the Town will not only not be acquiring out of income, an equity in the properties, but will actually be slipping further into debt from year to year.

We also must consider the question of additions and extensions. Extensions for the past four years for Water and Sewers have averaged about $17,000 per year. These will have to be taken care of by higher taxes, or by more bonds, which amounts to the same thing in the end. The engineers tell us that normal employment conditions will necessitate in the near future two new units at the sewage disposal plant—probable cost $35,000, which means more bonds. Other additions will become necessary from time to time. At the proposed purchase price, therefore, there would appear ahead of us no alternative but an increase in the tax rate.

Mr. Keith suggests that a sinking fund could be established and allowed to accumulate at compound interest for 20 years or so and then used to pay the principal of the bonds. This could be done of course, if the income from the utilities would otherwise carry all expenses, which it won't, but does Mr. Keith or anyone else have any idea that such a sinking fund would be established? This means setting aside cash money every year and not using it, whilst the voters pay higher taxes in the meantime, so that the taxpayers of 20 years from now will be benefited, and is a little too much to expect from the normal voter.

Insignificant
Mr. Keith further suggests, "after careful consideration—it seems to me that the matter of $150,000 difference between their offer and the price suggested by some is so insignificant that it should not stand in the way."—The Town of Manchester should not assume a penurious attitude.

Penurious?
Insignificant?—well, maybe. But if $150,000 is so insignificant a sum for the Town to spend, just how large would a sum have to be before it became significant?

The proponents of the present proposed sale price have two arguments to overcome the objection that a sale at this figure will mean an increase in the tax rate. The first is that if the Town doesn't buy, the patrons of the Water Company will undoubtedly have to pay increased rates.

This argument should carry no weight whatsoever with a single voter or taxpayer who lives outside the territory served by the South Manchester Water Company. The residents of the north end of town and the citizens of the south end who will not be served with municipal water, should not be asked to pay higher taxes in order that the users of municipal water may enjoy low rates. It should be remembered that the South Manchester Water Company furnishes water to less than half of the area of the Town of Manchester.

Furthermore it is not at all apparent that an increase in rates is imminent. The present owners of the company would hardly be inclined to add to rates which over a long period of time have always netted a substantial profit, and even if the inclination existed, and no matter who the owners, an increase in rates could scarcely be justified from the standpoint of good business, when it is apparent that many of the patrons of the company are only with great difficulty and delay, meeting their bills under the present set up.

Would Dismiss Sale Possibility.
The possibility of a sale of the water works to an outside concern in the near future should be dismissed from the picture. It should be noted that among the most ardent advocates of a sale to the town at the proposed price, are the present owners, Cheney Brothers. It is difficult to imagine why the owners of a business would be so anxious to sell at a given price to a certain customer, if another customer was available at the same figure.

We are told that the two companies cannot be bought at a lower figure than $1,150,000, that this is the final price—we can take it or leave it. A prospective seller could hardly be expected to assume any different attitude towards a reduction in price, until his current offer had been rejected.

The second argument of the proponents of the sale amounts to this:—even if the proposed purchase price is a little too high, we will pay it anyway, since it will help Cheney Brothers, and thus indirectly it will be a benefit to the town. This argument should not be given too much weight. The difference in the price ultimately to be paid is in all probability not going to make or break Cheney Brothers. This problem is solved in primarily that of arranging at a purchase price which will not mean an increase in the tax rate. If the voters of this town were asked at a town meeting to lay a one mill tax for the benefit of a private corporation, their answer would be promptly and decisively in the negative. Is not that what this argument amounts to?

Opinions Changed.
Pressure has been brought to change the opinions of those who do not agree. The Chamber of Commerce thought a million dollars was the limit the town could afford to pay. Then it changed its mind. Why? Some of the members of the Board of Selectmen have changed their opinions, too. It is significant, however, that the member of the board who has had the best training in problems of "People who are shallow, or whose inner lives are harassed by fear ('most men,' as Thoreau says, 'live lives of quiet desperation') rarely care to be silent, rarely wish to be alone with themselves; but it is the sign of a noble nature that it has made terms with itself."

Gardener's Gift
An ideal gift for a friend who is an ardent gardener is something that every gardener craves, but seldom buys for himself: a practical basket, with wooden wheels, which looks attractive and can be used for collecting weeds as they are pulled, or for gathering flowers or vegetables.

The Beauty Nook
It seems impossible to go through the summer without a permanent wave. Those given at Mary Elizabeth's Beauty Nook (Rubinow Building) are exceptionally nice and the prices are very low. Phone 8011.

Ready for Guests
There's only one way to be able to serve ice-cold drinks in a hurry. Keep a couple of bottles of fruit juice syrup, ginger ale and beer in the refrigerator all the time; or a big pitcher of your own favorite mixture.

Jewelry for Fall
Jewelry for fall is certain. It will be important and real jewelry will again be worn. When black and dark colors succeed the summer galaxy, color accents will be provided by jewelry. Necklaces promise to be again in vogue. Elegance and distinction can be achieved by the use of effective costume jewelry—provided it doesn't look cheap. Frosting Never knew a cook yet who didn't want to try a new recipe for chocolate frosting every once in a while. Here's a seven-minute frosting:
2 egg whites, unbeaten.
1-2 cups sugar.
1-2 teaspoons light corn syrup.
tablespoons cold water.
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
Put egg whites, sugar, corn syrup and water in upper part of double boiler. Beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with egg beater, cook seven minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire; fold in chocolate and vanilla. (Do not beat mixture.) Cool and spread.

Here's a tip. Be on hand tomorrow when Hale's open their big Cotton Frock sale, with every cotton dress in the store marked down, Nelly Dons and Hubrte frocks included. It's a marvelous chance to buy for vacations yet to come, and to replenish summer wardrobes. They'll feature three prices, $1.45; $1.98; $3.98.

Wide Use of Dessert Balls.
There is almost no limit to the combination of fruits to be used in dessert balls. One of the most delicious is red raspberry and peach with cheese balls. This combination can be used jellied or frozen. Diced peaches are molded in raspberry juice stiffened with gelatine. When the jelly begins to stiffen mayonnaise salad dressing combined with whipped cream is folded into the mixture and the whole is frozen or molded. Tiny balls of cream cheese mixed with butter and rolled in grated salted almonds are used as a garnish in serving.

BIG CROWD AGAIN AT BAND CONCERT

Excerpts from 'Il Trovatore' Feature of Last Night's Program.

Interest in the Salvation Army band concerts seems to be increasing as the fine crowd last night would indicate. The program was full and little time was left between numbers. Due to the fact that the band carries no reed section the volume of tone is greater than with much larger bands. The cornet solo by William Hall was sweetly rendered, and the brass quartet number was well received.

The number which pleased the most was that which contained excerpts from Verdi's "Il Trovatore." The band seemed quite large last night despite the fact that four of the bandmen are working out of town during the summer. One is working evenings at the mill, and one has a home garden.

As on previous nights "Gus" was very officious putting up stands, giving out books and dealing but refreshments. In fact he seems to be the leading light in the band. Fred Woodhouse donated ice cream sandwiches and soda. These were much appreciated. Adj. George Williams, who leaves town tomorrow was in the band lineup. He played an incidental solo in "Il Trovatore."

CATHOLIC CLERGYMEN RETURN FROM ROME

New York, July 19.—(AP)—An archbishop and three bishops of the Catholic church returned from Rome today on the liner Rex.

They were Archbishop John T. McNicholas, of Cincinnati; Bishop Urban J. Year, of Denver; Bishop John J. Dunn, of New York, and Bishop James A. Walsh, of Maryknoll, N. Y., superior general of the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America.

Bishop Dunn headed a pilgrimage of 125 New Yorkers to participate in ceremonies of the Holy Year in Rome.

Bishop Walsh was consecrated in St. Urban's Chapel, June 29, by Cardinal Fumasoni-Biondi.

Among those who attended the consecration of Bishop Walsh and returning on the Rex were Timothy Walsh, his brother, of Boston.

MAY LIVE IN FRANCE
Istanbul, Turkey, July 19.—(AP)—Leon Trozky, who is enroute to Italy for medical treatment, has received permission to reside in France, Turkish sources said today.

He may continue aboard the Italian ship Bulgaria, on which he and his wife sailed Monday night, to Marseilles, France, it was said, and settle in southern France. In that case he would not return to his ex-home in Turkey.

Trozky probably will disembark at Naples to consult an Italian doctor, principally for his wife's health, and then visit Corsica before going to France.

BRAKEMAN IS KILLED

Providence, R. I., July 19.—(AP)—The body of H. A. Gilman, 320 Connecticut avenue, New London, a brakeman on the New Haven railroad, was found on the tracks between Westerly and Bradford this morning.

Apparently he had been killed by a train when the freight train to which he was assigned moved onto a "running track" parallel to the main line, to allow the other train to pass.

Gilman's absence was noted when the freight pulled into the Auburn yards. His body was found at 5:50 a. m., standard time.

The freight moved to the "running track" at 2:30 a. m., and Gilman's watch was stopped at 2:28 a. m. A. H. Beebe was engineer of the freight train and W. W. Phillips was conductor. The body has been sent to New London.

MILK PRODUCERS MEET TOMORROW

Local Group to Attend Session at State Capitol at 2 p. m.

A public hearing to set minimum prices to be paid to milk producers and to create a state-wide pool of milk monthly will be held in the Hall of the House at the State Capitol in Hartford tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock by the State Milk Control Board. It is expected that a large number of local dealers and others interested in the milk situation will attend.

It is expected that discussion will take place on the fixing of a uniform price for milk throughout the state, said to be 12 cents per quart, the price now being charged in this vicinity. The question of allowing discounts to customers taking three quarts or more per day is also expected to be discussed. It has been pointed out that by fixing a reasonable price for milk the consumption of the product will be increased and will reduce the use of lower quality milk.

PITTSBURGH NEWSBOYS ARE NOW ON STRIKE

Pittsburgh, July 19.—(AP)—A large share of Pittsburgh's citizens ate breakfast today without a newspaper in front of them, while streets were littered with papers torn up by striking newsboys.

Police are guarding the plants of all three Pittsburgh newspapers and 10 persons have been arrested.

Newsboys selling on the streets are protesting an increase in the price charged them for papers from $2 to $2.25 a hundred.

The Post-Gazette says apparent interest of racketeers and Communists in provoking disorders has drawn the attention of the U. S. Department of Justice and agents have been assigned to investigate.

Bands of striking newsboys upset delivery trucks, destroyed papers and waged a campaign of intimidation against news stand proprietors.

About 45,000 carloads of fruits and vegetables are shipped into New York City annually.

Voters of Manchester!

You Are Called Upon To Vote On Another Very Important Question Friday, July 21

If. The Proposition Of Buying The Property Of The South Manchester Water Co. and Sanitary & Sewer District Is Carried It Will Mean An

EXTRA INDEBTEDNESS
Of Approximately $50 Per Individual

On Friday next, the voters of the Town will decide on purchase of Water and Sewer properties now owned by Cheney Brothers. Every voter should go to the Polls and express his opinion.

Before Voting We Urge You To Read And Study The Following Statements

1. Would you spend $1,000,000 without knowing exactly what it was all about? Naturally not. Then Vote "NO!"

2. Would you invest $1,000,000 in property on which you could not be sure of a net income? Naturally not. Then Vote "NO!"

3. Every man, woman and child in Manchester is asked to assume a debt of $50.00 toward the payment of $1,000,000. Do you spend $50.00 without knowing what you are getting in return?

4. There is no question but what the Town should own its water and sewer system. BUT there is no need of rushing into the deal.

5. Million Dollar deals do not take place without some trading. THUS FAR THE TOWN HAS NOT HAD A CHANCE TO TRADE.

6. By voting NO you do not vote against the idea but you merely indicate that sound business judgment is opposed to making such deals without more time for understanding and thought.

7. Do not fear the threat of possible outside purchasers. No offers have been made yet and if they are made they will undoubtedly be lower than you are now asked to pay. At any rate, the Town can meet the outside competition if and when it comes up.

8. The engineers' report given in detail in The Herald on July 13, 1933, showed many possible troubles and expenses ahead for owners of the water and sewer systems. No adequate provisions have been made to meet these possible expenses.

9. At the meeting called last week to discuss this purchase no mention was made of the decision arrived at before the meeting, to take a vote within a week. What's the hurry? If you don't understand it, Vote "NO!"

10. It has been definitely stated that the proposed purchase will not reduce water and sewer rates but there is definite evidence that rates will have to be increased to provide for the negative points raised in the Engineers' report.

If you are opposed to any increase in rates, Vote "NO!"

11. Vote NO if you think the price is too high and want to instruct our Selectmen to make a better bargain. Remember that a committee of four was appointed by the Board of Selectmen to study the matter. This committee voted two, for the present proposition and two, considered the price too high. Decide for them by Voting "NO!"

ELINOR STAFFORD, 20, falls in love with 25-year-old BARRITT COLVIN, returned to New York after years abroad. Barrett has made a name for himself as an archaeologist. He is about to ask Elinor to marry him when her jealous, scheming mother, LIDA STAFFORD, interferes and succeeds in breaking up the romance.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies he leaves her entire fortune to Barrett. Then drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barrett, who does not want the Sexton fortune, tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live in his home as a guest for a year he will give the entire sum to her to divide among the relatives. Knowing the money may save her father's life, Elinor agrees.

The marriage takes place next day. Barrett finds himself more in love with Elinor than ever. Then one day he sees her with BOB TELFAR and his suspicions that she is a heartless flirt are renewed.

The doctor orders a change of climate for Elinor's father and she goes to Alien with him.

Years before Barrett shielded his half-sister, MARCIA, when a youthful romance ended tragically. Marcia had a son whom Barrett adopted. Barrett has promised Marcia never to tell anyone the truth about the boy.

Lida Stafford asks Barrett for $30,000 and he refuses. Angry, she sets detectives on his trail, hoping to unearth some scandal she may use to her advantage.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIII

Lida, on her way home from the detective's office, decided to drop in at Cleo's and try on the sports frock she had admired. If her suspicions about Barrett Colvin were correct—and they couldn't be wrong—she could buy the frock and a hat too. She would then charge the account and tell Cleo that in a short while she would settle for everything and make more purchases.

She would be able to have everything she wanted, once she discovered Barrett's secret. The thought that Barrett might refuse to pay her for keeping silent did not enter her mind.

Cleo, the proprietor of the fashionable 57th street shop, was too cordial in welcoming Lida but after a few words her slightly frigid smile became warm. Cleo herself was soon ordering saleswomen to bring out the newest imports.

It happened that Barrett decided he would drive to Connecticut that afternoon. The day was fine and he had had a disappointing Saturday because of work at the office. The boy had come to depend upon seeing Barrett once a week and Barrett felt he had a right to depend upon this. He ordered Hutten to bring around the roadster which he said would drive himself.

He wanted to be alone that afternoon. He wanted to feel that some one might steal a sly side glance and read his thoughts. Barrett felt that he must have an understanding with Elinor. He wanted to ask her to help keep the secret without that taint that starts gossip.

Marcia had told him the day before that Bob Telfar had gone to Alien. The casual information had made him stiffen with anger. It wasn't fair of Elinor, he decided, to tell her father she had promised outward, if not inward, fidelity for a year.

The spring they meant nothing to him, driving swiftly and carefully and considering how he could talk to her through with her. He felt that he must keep from becoming angry and for some reason which he did not fathom the idea of Elinor flirting with Bob Telfar made him see red. He wanted to be as kind about the situation as a man could be. Elinor was very young. Her upbringing had given her no chance of knowing right from wrong.

He thought suddenly how sweet she had been that night when she called him to her bedside after their first quarrel and because this memory warmed him he felt a shame that he was learning well. He could not love her, he was certain, knowing her as he had come to, and yet the faintest thought of her made his heart plunge and filled him with a deep and sometimes torturing hunger.

Easy enough, he mused, if he weren't the sort to demand so much. If he could love a woman he could not honor, if he could feed his hunger, between moments of understanding and scorn. But he could not do that.

A small car passed him. On a rise of the next hill he passed it. Thereafter it kept rather close to him, sometimes passing, sometimes lagging behind. It gave Barrett a rather pleasantly companionable feeling. He saved it as the driver who grinned apologetically as he returned the salute.

The driver of the small car rather wished Barrett were not such a "nice looking, friendly chap." However, business was business. And maybe he had it coming to him! You never could tell.

When Barrett alighted before the gateway of Gerald's new home, the Phillips place, the small car, which still followed, slowed and came to a stop. The man who had driven it leaned out to ask the way to Benton.

Barrett again saluted him. He enjoyed the casual, friendly ships of the road, the giving a hail to the voyager who would probably disappear and never reappear.

"I'm sorry," Barrett said. "You've taken the wrong turn. You're miles out of the way. I'm afraid I'm not certain myself of the spot where you cut east."

Gerald came running from the house as the stranger murmured a perplexed, distressed, "I'll be damned!" He studied Gerald as a man might who is thinking backward to find the turn he didn't take. His eyes seemed filmed by worry and irritation, but within him he was triumphant. "The kid is Colvin," he thought. "No doubt of that! Same chin, eyes, sandy hair."

"Was the woman, who now stood in the doorway the boy's mother?" "Maybe your wife could tell me about the roads," said the driver of the small car as he nodded to the woman who had now stepped from the house and to the porch.

"Not my wife," said Barrett smiling. "But that won't keep her from telling you and she doesn't know Mrs. Phillips!" he called. "Can you tell us the shortest road to Benton?"

"She came hurrying down the steps toward them."

"It's been a good while since I took that way," she confessed, "and I hear there's a new road."

"Maybe your husband can tell me," said the young man.

She flushed and paled. Barrett said quickly, "Mrs. Phillips is a widow." He was thinking of the short time she had been one and regretting the brutal reminder.

"A widow" echoed in the stranger's mind. It was the old tale! And the big guy looked so straight, too!

"May I use your telephone?" asked the driver of the small car.

"Why, surely!" Mrs. Phillips answered with pleasant, rural heartiness.

YOUR CHILDREN

KEEPING THE FAMILY IN SWEET TEMPER IS ESSENTIAL FOR MOTHER'S HEALTH

Mary Smith dragged out of bed. The sun already was high and hot although it was early. She hadn't slept much.

She went downstairs to get breakfast, waking John before she left.

The kitchen dined with flies. You couldn't keep flies out with the children out and in every minute holding the screen open. And once in they seemed to hide.

John had had lunch at midnight. The table was covered with crumbs and the sink full of broken glass. A broken glass littered the sink. Ants had discovered a banana skin.

She had left the kitchen as clean as water could make it last night. She got breakfast listlessly. She hadn't felt well all summer.

A House Divided

John came down. "Oatmeal again! Give me corn flakes or shredded wheat. I can't eat this hot stuff."

"You need oats once in a while—cooked." She got him the cold cereal. She watched him eat—he drank three cups of coffee and ate nothing. John did not notice.

After a while she got the children awake—three of them. They came down one at a time, she fed them what she thought was right. She went to the telephone and gave an order. Then she did the dishes, swept the porch, and made the beds. She got the ironing board out and began to iron.

The children quarreled. Betty cut her leg, Bobby got scared at a dog, Jack was discovered climbing a telegraph pole.

Mary left the ironing every ten minutes to go and see about something. John's shirts seemed harder than ever to do this week. A nice lunch time she hadn't one-fourth of the basket finished.

Betty's leg continued to bleed. Finally she called up the doctor. He came and stopped it and said she had done right. It was in an ugly place.

The day got hotter. She could not eat at all. But the children had a wholesome lunch. In the afternoon she let the boys get a hose and a tub and play. Bobby got wet and his nose and complained of earache.

John came home at five-thirty. He was hot and tired. He didn't want lamb stew. Why couldn't they have a Dutch lunch?

She had to leave stew on ironing day, Mary explained. It cooked itself, and the children couldn't eat a Dutch lunch. John said he would get the car and go out. Did she want to go along? No? His collar wasn't ironed right, he complained. He explained the Mary didn't watch the children, growled at the doctor bill, about Bobby's ear and everything in general. He said Mary should go herself for the order and see what she was buying. In short "it was a heck of a house."

Mary didn't hear. She was unconscious on the sofa.

Doctor Clark back again and John completely puzzled and worried. "Mary was all right a minute ago. No she hasn't been sick. Sure, she worked a little but not hard."

Dr. Clark said to John, "Boy, I'm afraid you've been pretty blind. Sell your car and get Mary some help. And praise her, don't keep criticizing. Most homes are sweatshops in hot weather. She has just two hands and two feet. I'm ordering her to a farm for a month. Now you can get a housekeeper. And I don't mean perhaps, either."

A PROBLEM FACING WORKING MOTHERS WHO LEAVE MAIDS WITH CHILDREN

"I manage very well," said Mrs. Smith to Mrs. Jones. "You see I have Lena and she's a jewel."

"She certainly is a good scrubber," assented Mrs. Jones. "I see her doing your porches every day."

"Yes, and when John and I come home all tired out from work she has Daisy as clean as a pin, her toys all picked up and the house in order. And a good dinner ready."

Mrs. Jones agreed that Mrs. Smith was very lucky to have Lena. Money for Schooling

"So now, if you just say the word, John can get you that vacancy at the office." Mrs. Smith went back to the original subject. "You wouldn't get what you used to earn before you were married, but it pays pretty well. And in six months you will be making a lot more. Why don't you?"

"I don't see how I can leave Susy. I have no Lena, and anyway, Bill's funny. He would probably raise the roof if I went out to work again. He isn't making much but they promised more soon."

"Oh men! They never care once you start. And Lena has a sister who is just as good as she is. May be you don't need the money now, but you'll need it some day. I don't love to do that for Susy. She doesn't need me so much now as she'll need the advantages later. All right and thank you so much. Will you tell your husband that I'd love to take that position? And will you speak to Lena?"

A week later Mrs. Jones went down to see Mrs. Smith who had been home a week with a sprained ankle. "I'm to report Monday," she announced. "I just heard today. And Torra is splendid. Why Susy minds her already better than she does me. I'm already building my castles in the air. I hope I'll suit the firm. I really think I shall enjoy it better than housework."

A Change of Heart

Mrs. Smith said, "I'm not going back any more. I sent in my resignation today."

"Well, after you have rested maybe you'll change your mind."

"No, I don't think so. I have had a week now to use my eyes and I've decided that Daisy needs me now to be with her more than she'll need a fine house and a college education later. Maybe John will make money. If he doesn't I can't help it. I think I may have been wrong."

"I'm so relieved I cried her neighbor. 'I have been feeling the same way. And I don't believe I'll go either.'

I believe these two mothers to be wise. Sometimes it works out well enough the other way. It is a decision each mother must work out for herself. But there are two ways of looking at it, and it is well to weigh them both very carefully before choosing.

And a Bored Young Wife Gets In—and Out Of—a Jam

By BRUCE CATTON

"Evelyn Prentice," by W. E. Woodward, is the brisk and straightforward story of a bored young wife, an aging husband and a slick young city feller.

The wife in question has more money and talent than are allotted to her husband and she is fastidious enough to abstain from the customary monkey-business of her set; but the just naturally has more time on her hands than she can use, and when she encounters a soft-spoken young poet, she drifts very casually, into an adventure.

Unfortunately, it is often a lot easier to drift into an adventure of this kind than it is to drift out of it again, and our young wife is not long in making this discovery. Her poet turns out to be a convincing rogue; he sponges on her for money, hoards the love letters she sends him and at last, when she wants to break things off, uses them to blackmail her.

The wife, consequently, finds herself in an utterly impossible situation. Being a young lady of spirit, she does what other young ladies of spirit have done before—uses a revolver to settle things. The poet is plotted out, and in the end, escapes detection, and in the end, escapes, sadder and wiser—she goes safely back to the arms of her unsuspecting husband.

Probably there isn't much comic significance in all of this. But it's

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famed Authority

EVERY HOME SHOULD BE READY TO GIVE FIRST-AID, SAYS DR. FISHBEN

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first article in a series on first-aid.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

When illness or accidents occur it will for someone in the home to know what can be done immediately. Such knowledge will avoid confusion, alarm and distress that inevitably occur when no one knows just what to do in an emergency. Prompt and proper action may save a life or prevent injuries from becoming more serious.

There are available innumerable books on first-aid, including the books used by the Ecy Scouts and Girl Scouts organizations, and many small pamphlets sold privately or distributed by manufacturers of first-aid supplies. Several of the large insurance companies also have books which they send on request.

The emergencies that may occur are numerous. No one can be fully prepared for all of these any more than any family is fully prepared for twins or triplets. There are, however, certain supplies that may be kept in every home, pending the occurrence of various accidents. The knowledge of the availability of these supplies and what to do with them by the mother, father or the nurse will be found extremely helpful when the emergency arises.

In the United States the number of accidental deaths reaches almost 100,000 persons a year, and it is said that each year 10,000,000 people suffer accidents sufficiently severe to take them from their work.

Of the accidents which occur in the home, falls constitute 40 per cent of the total; after falls come accidents from burns, scalds and explosions; then asphyxiation or strangulation; and finally, cuts and scratches. Most of these accidents are preventable with carefulness, but it is in the nature of the human being not to be as careful as he might.

When a person is injured in a fall the first step should be to ascertain the extent of the injury. It is necessary to determine whether or not bones have been broken, if there is bruising or hemorrhage and, finally, the extent to which the skin has been damaged. A broken bone usually reveals itself by inability to function. However, the only safe procedure is to call a physician who will take an X-ray picture.

Pending the arrival of a physician it is well to place the injured part completely at rest and, if necessary, to hold it quiet by some suitable splint. A good splint can be made by wrapping a large size magazine or a newspaper folded many times, with handkerchiefs around the arm or leg to hold the tissues in place.

However, unless the person who is applying the first-aid measure knows exactly what he or she is doing it is better merely to put the injured person at rest and to keep him quiet.

In subsequent articles in this series I shall offer more first-aid suggestions.

NEXT: How to stop bleeding.

Roosevelt Finance Probers Fit In His 'Three-Way' Plan

Washington — President Roosevelt's selection of two more professors, George F. Warren of Cornell and James H. Rogers of Yale, to study means of putting the public debt on a long-term basis at a reduced cost goes to the heart of a problem that has vexed congress for a long while.

And also, it brings to the fore again the system that Roosevelt apparently will follow in the working out of permanent legislative reforms.

This system apparently has three separate and distinct divisions: the first is the planning division. This group is composed of the professors, or, as they are familiarly known around the capital, the "brain trusters." In the study of the public debt, Professors Rogers and Warren are understood to represent the "brain trust."

It will be their duty to make a comprehensive survey of the whole scheme of federal finances and submit their findings and recommendations to the President.

Once that is done, another group steps in, headed by the President himself in the capacity of a sort of political director-general.

Modus Operandi

The White House summons the congressional leaders in for a conference. The plan worked out by the professors is placed before them. It is here that ways and means of getting the proposed legislation through congress are devised.

The President, presumably not webbed to any detail of the plan upon being notified of her husband's appointment.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

EYEBROW PLUCKING IS LOSING FAVOR

Hold yourself in line when it comes to the line of your eyebrows. Most women lose their sense of proportion when they get eyebrow tweezers in their hands. Don't lose yours!

Fashions in the ways to wear your eyebrows have changed. You no longer tweeze them into a thin, straight line if you would be smart. Their own natural line is much more becoming.

However, don't discard eyebrow tweezers altogether. You'll need them to remove straggling hairs which grow down too far on your eye lids and the ones that have grown too closely together in the middle.

You should have a smooth, unlined brow. Eyebrows which grow close together in the middle mar its appearance. Tweeze those hairs often. If your eyebrows are unusually thick and have a shaggy appearance, thin out a few hairs occasionally.

Don't try to change the natural line. Leave them in the line in which they grow — just be sure and keep that natural line smooth, with no rough edges.

Tweezing your eyebrows until only a few hairs remain defeats your purpose. Instead of enhancing the beauty of your forehead and eyes, the excessive tweezing will serve to disfigure them.

If your eyebrows aren't thick enough, you might use a little plain white vasoline on them at night. Don't forget to brush them with a small, soft brush after you powder your face. They won't be shiny and beautiful if they are allowed to become encrusted with powder dust.

Eyebrow pencils can be used to darken eyebrows that are too light colored. But use it sparingly, especially in the daytime.

Automatically, frequently and anxiously contain all the world's troubles.

EXTEND CLOSING DATE FOR ENTRIES IN TOWN TITLE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

List to Close Tomorrow Night; Draw Will Be Made at 8.30 at East Side Rec; 27 Players Entered So Far, Including Holland, Title Holder for Past Five Years.

Walter Holland

In order to obtain as large a field as possible, the closing date for entries in the town tennis tournament has been extended until tomorrow night and all players who have not yet entered but plan to do so are requested to file their entries immediately. So far the entry list totals twenty-seven names, including the outstanding players in Manchester and it is hoped to swell this number to forty-four.

The draw will be made tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock at the School street Rec by James Britton and will be open to anyone interested in seeing a draw made. It is expected that play will start by Saturday. A three year cup, donated by Frank Busch, director of the Recreation Centers, sponsors of the tourney, will be the prize.

Walter "Ty" Holland, town champion for the past five years will defend his title against a field that includes a number of youthful and highly talented racquet wielders who are capable of playing a splendid brand of tennis. Paul Jersanis, one of the most spectacular local stars, will be missing from the field for the next five years.

Two of the outstanding entries so far are Sherwood "Cap" Bissell, former champ and runner-up in several tournaments, and his brother, Earl Bissell, who started local tennis last year by smashing his way to the finals, where he bowed before the invincible Holland. The complete list of entries to date is as follows: Herman Bassett, John Gorman, Dan Foley, Mike Eric, Fred Bieber, Lebro Urbancich, Carl Johnson, Frank Vittner, Hudson Lyons, Edward Markley, Edward Dzialaus, Roy Johnson, Howard Brown, Wilbur Brown, Herman Goodstone, Jacob Rubinow, Merrill Rubinow, Carleton Harris, Thomas McFarland, the Britton, James Metcalf, Earl Bissell, Sherwood Bissell, James O'Leary, Francis P. OUST SENATORS BY TURNING IN NINTH VICTORY IN A ROW

Champs Gain Full Game Margin and Chalk Up Longest Winning Streak of Season in Major Loops.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. (A. P. Sports Writer)

The New York Yankees have regained the top of the American League standing very much in the manner of a team which is merely asserting its right as world champion.

By defeating the Chicago White Sox 9-4 yesterday the Yankees stretched their winning streak to nine games, the longest in the major leagues so far. Yesterday's triumph coincided with Washington's 4-3 defeat at the hands of the St. Louis Browns and gave the Yankees a lead of one game.

In nine games, the Yanks have piled up a total of 97 hits for 80 runs. The Senators made ten hits last night and both the boys kept a couple of errors in the first inning gave St. Louis a head start of three runs. The Detroit Tigers backed Vic Sorrell's six hit pitching with home runs by John Stone and Ervin Fox and stepped a game closer to the first division with a 5-2 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Monte Pearson outpitched Lloyd Brown as the Cleveland Indians scored their second 2-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Jim Foyley was named as chairman of the meeting and Nick Angelo as secretary. It was decided to allow the Aces to play in the series, although this team is the defending champion. It was pointed out that the Aces opened their season late in order to be able to enter the series, and have played only four games to date, winning two and losing two.

The Aces also wished to bring in players who have not, as yet, played with the team. Nick Angelo recommended that the draw to decide the contestants for the opening game be made from a hat and this system was followed. Chairman Foyley drew the first two names which will bring his Bluefields into action against the West Sides.

Play Alternately It was also decided to alternate the Sundays of play. After the first game on August 6, the Sub-Alpines will play the Pirates on August 13, the West Sides and Bluefields will play again on August 20 and the Sub-Alpines and Pirates again on August 27. Both series will go the best out of three games and should the games be evened up the next Sunday available.

It was decided to split all money received at the games on a 60-40 basis, the larger percentage to the winner after all expenses have been deducted. Games will be played on the West Side diamond and at Mt. Nebo field. Managers of the teams involved in these games will select their own umpires.

The following lists were handed in last night and will be closed tonight: West Sides: Hedlund, Stratton, Maloney, Holland, Falowski, Jarman, E. Hewitt, Stavnitsky, Mikas, S. Hewitt, McCann, D. PURSES TO TOTAL $75,000 AT THE "RAGING GRAND"

To Run 80 Fast Harness Events at Rockingham Park in Salem, Starting Next Wednesday; Will Be Final Test Before Hambletonian.

Salem, N. H., July 19.—(Special)—With $75,000 up in purses for 80 fast harness events, Rockingham Park is welcoming the "Raging Grand" on July 26th for nearly three weeks of the snappiest trotting and pacing New England has seen in years. Following unusually successful meetings at Cleveland and Toledo, the Grand Circuit will parade its crack performers here until Aug. 12th—the longest racing card in the history of the big trotting loop.

Speedy events for every class harness horse will give every stable a chance to race their classiest trotters or pacers, according to Allan J. Wilson, impresario of the fast-stepping horse drama known in horsemen's parlance as the "Raging Grand." Intent is especially keen, however, in the inaugural American and National Stakes, No. 1, which will bring 20 candidates for the $50,000 Hambletonian into action here for their last test before the blue ribbon harness classic at Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 16th.

Curtain Raisers Sponsored by the Trotting Horse Club of America, the new stakes for three-year-old trotters are actually curtain raisers to the Hambletonian. New Englanders who see the American and National Stakes No. 1 raced here will have the satisfaction of watching the winner of the races march on to probable victory in the greatest of all harness races a few days later at Goshen.

From performances already turned in, Spencer McElwyn, King Ben, Mary Reynolds, Brown Berry, Hollywood Fortis, Volga Hanover and Sir Raleigh seem to have the best chance of capturing the two $5,000 stakes being introduced here the weeks of July 31st and Aug. 7th. Spencer McElwyn's work in the Matron Stakes at Cleveland, with King Ben winning one heat, and Mary Reynolds's well-earned victories in the Championship Stallion Stakes at Cleveland and the Peninsular Farms at Toledo indicate that this trio will be hard to beat. In fact, the victories of Mary Reynolds in two of the three major three-year-old events stamp her as one of the outstanding favorites not only for the Trotting Club's new stakes but also for the classic Hambletonian.

A Strong Entry Calumet Delco, not eligible to compete in the Hambletonian, but unquestionably one of the finest three-year-olds ever raced here, will

ALL-HARTFORDS FACE SUB-ALPINES TUESDAY

Johnny Gusta, former manager of the Sub-Alpines will bring to Manchester next Tuesday evening the All-Hartfords from East Hartford to oppose the Sub-Alpines. The All-Hartfords are champions of East Hartford. The rivalry between these two teams is very keen. Last season the Sub-Alpines took it on the chin twice in a row by this team.

MATES FAIL TO HIT SO WARNEKE SUFFERS

Chicago, July 19.—(AP)—Even if he won and lost columns don't show it, Lonnie Warneke is just as much, if not more of a pitcher than he was last year when he led the National League's hurlers.

The young Chicago Cub right-hander who last year won 22 games and lost 7, today had won 12 games, against seven defeats. A year ago today his record was 12 victories and three defeats. The difference has been brought about, not because of short comings on the part of the pride of Mt. Ida, Ark., but by failure of his associates to hit for him.

His record took it on the chin during a five game streak of the most dismaying hard luck. He dropped the whole five, even while permitting his adversaries a grand total of nine runs. The answer to that was super impotency at bat by the Cub attacking force. While Warneke was holding the enemy to less than two runs a game in five games, his mates were able to produce only three scores—an average of three-fifths of a run a game.

The old time Athletics will clash with the West Sides at the West Side field Friday evening at 6:15 o'clock in the second of a three-game series. The West Sides won the first contest by a close score but the old timers are confident of turning the tables.

FIRE EATERS EDGE NORTH END ARROWS

Hose Company No. 3 Turns in 6-5 Victory; McCormick Gives But Three Hits.

"Ken" McCormick's fine pitching enabled Hose Co. No. 3 to defeat the strong North End Arrows 6-5. McCormick, manager Happen's new find, had the Arrow stickers well in hand, allowing them but three hits.

The hitting of both teams was unusually light, neither outfield making a putout. The fire eaters started their second scoring three runs and added another in the third. Zwick's base running scored the tying run after the Arrows had taken the lead. In the eighth Vesco reached first on an error, stole second and scored the winning run on a wild throw.

The ninth bout had a rather funny ending. Young Honey, 134, Willmantic lost to David Weaver, 130½, of Willmantic. They were fighting all during the first round and Honey was over. He was informed by the referee that the bell had saved him and wanted to know if he felt that he could go on. He said he could, but that is about all that he did do as Weaver walked out into the center of the ring, landed one blow and Honey went down and was counted out after 10 seconds of fighting in the round.

Gains Decision In the final bout Al Pinkham won the decision from Fred Foran of Hartford. It looked in the second that it was all over for Foran, the referee stepping in to stop the fight, but Foran insisted on going on and he kept the match going at a hot pace, but Pinkham slowed him up in the third and was awarded the decision.

By Associated Press Chicago—Kid Leonard, East Montic, Ill., outpointed Willie Oster, Boston, 8.

Sloux City, Ia.—Battling Nelson, Belgrade, Neb., won on a foul from Johnny Martin, Sloux Falls, 6.

PLENTY OF ACTION ON OUTDOOR SLATE

Al Pinkham Outpoints Fred Foran in Feature Bout on Crystal Lake Card.

Sid Nichols, 110, Willmantic and Young Carpenter, 115, Rockville, started the ten bouts of three rounds each at the Crystal Lake stadium last night and both the boys kept busy for the three rounds that they struggled through. Carpenter seemed a little frightened at the start, but overcame this and after the first minute of the first round started to pile up points that resulted in the count of 9, 8 and 8 in the first round.

When the second opened Mart hit Nelson so hard that he was declared out of the picture by Referee Kid Kaplan, who was the third man in the ring.

Wins by Knockout The Fred Vales, 121, Hartford, and Jimmie Smith, 117, Hartford bout was won by Vale, who put Smith away in the first chapter. Joe Wainwright, 121, and Kid Tommy, Hartford, 161, went the limit, but Bard was given the decision.

It took one round and 1 min. 40 seconds of the second round before Norman Atlas, 154, Hartford, was down for the count in the battle against Archie Morriss, 153½, of Willmantic.

A knockout was scored by Sam Berniss of Willmantic, fighting at 124 pounds over Jess Willard, 122, Hartford, in 2 minutes and 45 seconds of fighting.

A knockout won for Eddie Pulack, 150, Hartford, over Frank Carson, 147, Hartford, after a fast go in the first round, which suddenly came to an end in one minute of fighting in the second.

The Best Fight Jackie Clarke, 110, Hartford and Bud Gorman, 112, Danleison, furnished the best fight of the evening. Clarke was the boxer and Gorman the fighter and there was action throughout the three rounds, which was given as a draw, although it looked like Gorman's fight. So close was the match that they were at once rematched to meet again at Crystal Lake next week.

The ninth bout had a rather funny ending. Young Honey, 134, Willmantic lost to David Weaver, 130½, of Willmantic. They were fighting all during the first round and Honey was over. He was informed by the referee that the bell had saved him and wanted to know if he felt that he could go on. He said he could, but that is about all that he did do as Weaver walked out into the center of the ring, landed one blow and Honey went down and was counted out after 10 seconds of fighting in the round.

ACCEPT CHALLENGE Herald Sports Editor, Dear Sir: The Sub-Alpines A. C. accepts the challenge issued by the Manchester Green team in last night's paper. The Green stated in the first round that they would play us any place, any time. After reading last night's paper I got the impression that they were detaching to us instead of vice versa as it should be.

However, we will play them a three game series. The first game will be played this coming Sunday at Mt. Nebo at 10:15 and the second at Jarvis Grove the following Sunday. The Green is right about the third game. It won't have to be played. They should have more confidence in themselves and hope they can have luck enough to stretch it into a three game series. One more term, the winner is to get 70 per cent of the total gate receipts.

They stated in last night's paper that we might come around and scout the Green in action. Well, after watching them for a while I certainly was astonished at the new tricks they had for letting in runs. As for the batters they sure did maul the atmosphere. Better buy them paddles Joe, they might come closer.

Well, actions speak louder than words, we'll see you Sunday. Yours in Sports, Eugene Enrico, Mgr. Sub-Alpines.

BASEBALL

BLAZING NINE BLAZES

The Blazing Nine trounced the Y. M. C. Jrs. 12-5 in a well played game. It developed into a pitcher's duel until the fourth when with the bases loaded Grene crashed a double to right field scoring 3 runs. Cerrutti pitched a good game. He allowed 7 scattered hits, he was also given perfect support, his teammates piling up four snappy double plays, Greene being in all of them.

Score by innings: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9. Blazing Nine 12 5 21 10 0—5. Y. M. C. Jrs. 1 2 1 1 0 0—5.

GIBBIES WIN EASILY

Gibbies Soda Shop easily defeated the Dills last night at Ford's field. The final score was 11-2. Gibbies team nicknamed "Swede" Bjorkman and "Jimmie" O'Leary for ten safe singles, one being a triple. After the second inning Gibbies had the game on ice, having scored six runs on three hits, three errors and two walks.

Cook was the individual star of the game, getting two clean hits, one a long triple and the other a hard hit single through short a third. He also pitched a good game, getting eight strikeouts. Nell played a good game at third and Pinney got two hits out of four times at bat.

Finnegan was best for the Dills, getting two hits, one a double and a third. He also pitched a good game, getting a brilliant one hand catch of a short fly ball.

Gibbies Soda Shop and Gibbies Old Timers will meet at Ford's field tomorrow night to play off a tie game which was played a few weeks ago.

Gibbies Soda Shop is also playing the W. S. Buddies at Ford's field Sunday afternoon and the Dills next Tuesday night.

Score by innings: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9. Gibbies 11 2 21 10 0—5. Dills 2 1 1 1 0 0—5.

finance, and whose business is concerned with financial matters, Mr. Coker has been from the start and still is of the opinion that the present proposed price is too high.

Personally, I believe the South Manchester Water Company and the South Manchester Sanitary and Sewer District should be acquired by the Town of Manchester; but every taxpayer of the town who is interested in lower taxes, every voter to whom the sum of $150,000 is not an insignificant amount, should vote against the proposed purchase at the proposed price.

RAYMOND R. BOWERS.

SPORT PLANTS

Now that the second-guessing season is on in full blast, it's too bad some bright young sporting fanatic didn't have the foresight to parlay a modest sum on a few such logshots as these:

Horse—Brokers' Tip, 40 to 1 in the winter bonus and 6 to 1 at the post, won the Kentucky Derby; Hurryup, 8 to 1, took the classic Belmont; and Kellsboro Jack, 25 to 1, grabbed Grand National honors.

Golf—Johnny Goodman, 20 to 1; Benny Shute, 15 to 1; and the Honorable Michael Scott, at least 30 to 1, captured the principal national championships so far.

Baseballers—New York Giants, 20 to 1; in the pre-season National League odds.

Season of Upsets And here are a few other tabulated upsets that have come in on the first bounce:

Track—Southern California beat Stanford, then Louisiana State beat U. S. C.

Tennis—Jack Crawford beat Ebbel, won the champ. at Wimbledon and Dorothy Round took a set from Helen Wills Moody, the first American woman lost in six years.

Boxing—Max Baer knocked out Max Schmeling and Primo Carnera pounded Jack Sharkey loose from the heavyweight title. Jimmy McLarin kayoed Young Corbett III in a round, although this was a bigger surprise on the West coast than it was in the East.

Hockey—New York Rangers, a "third place" team, won world pro championship.

Wrestling—Joe Savoldi threw Jim Lendon.

Maybe It's the Viewpoint Often the matter of an "upset" in any sport simply depends on the viewpoint. The expert, rather than the competitor, may be the one caught by surprise.

Jack Dempsey, for instance, says now that he felt beforehand he was going to lose his world championship to Gene Tunney in their first fight at Philadelphia, but the critics made the O' Mauler a 3 to 1 favorite right up to the moment he stepped into the ring and did not discover until afterward that the champion was really a "hollow shell."

Still the experts can't always be blamed for failure to detect in advance the details which, it turns out, affect the result. A fighter, a racer, a horse or a runner has to be rated on past performances. It isn't until afterward that it can be learned, for instance, that Paavo Nurmi, on the famous occasion when he dropped out of a foot-race with Willie Ritola, had eaten something for supper that didn't agree with him.

If it wasn't for the unexpected or the uncertainties, it wouldn't be sport. And if it wasn't a well known characteristic to take a chance, there would be no bookmakers or mutuel machines.

SCHUMACHER A NEW MEMORY OF MATTY

Ace Hurler of Giant's Staff Is Like Mathewson in More Ways Than One.

By BILL BRAUCHER New York, July 19.—They used to say of Matty, Margard, Teareau and Demare, "Give 'em a run and the Giants win a ball game."

What the baseball commentators said of the Giants pitching staff in 1912 is being repeated now—and the names are Schumacher, Hubbell, Parmelee and Fitzsimmons.

Of the 14 shutouts scored by the Giants' staff as the Terrymen swept past midseason at the top of the league, six were pitched by 21-year-old Hal Schumacher. This young man has become the Mathewson of the modern slab staff.

He is like Matty in more ways than one. He wears the poise of heroism. He is quiet, soft-spoken, gentlemanly. Matty was a Bucknell boy. Schumacher has a degree from St. Lawrence University. And, in a crisis, like Matty, Hal can use his brain.

Schumacher is a McGraw man, even though he is rising to stardom under Bill Terry. His pitching suggests McGraw sitting back in the shadows of the bench. In fact, McGraw brought him to the Giants.

Young Schumacher appeared with the team in 1931, fresh from the campus at Canton, N. Y. He cost the Giants less than 10. McGraw had great faith in him, and not without reason.

Something like 43 years ago, McGraw, then 17, walked from Truxton, N. Y., to Olean to ask Al Kinney for a chance to play ball. Kinney placed McGraw's foot on the first rung of the ladder that led to the heights.

In the 30 years that McGraw managed the Giants, Al Kinney recommended to him two ball players. One was Leon Ames, whose name ranks with the mightiest of Giant hurlers. The other was Hal Schumacher.

Matty's most deceptive pitch was his fadeaway ball which has joined Walter Johnson's fast one in immortality. But Matty also had a hard one with a hop on it. He could turn on plenty of sliders when he had to.

Schumacher is fooling them with a baffling drop curve and a amok ball that screams as it crosses the plate. During his first two years in the majors, Schumacher couldn't name his own delivery. Now he has learned to steer it.

McGraw, hidden away up in the reaches of the grandstand, must yearn again for the fire and smoke of the diamond as he sees Schumacher out there bearing down.

It is like old times.

The Gynosophical Association has leased an eleven-acre camp in the foothills of the Catskills, and recently has acquired another farm, of 60 acres, nearer the city. Quarters at these places consist either of a folding bed in a dormitory (with separate buildings for men and women) or private tent sheltering two folding beds. Tents rent for $6 a week per person, dormitory accommodations for $3 a week. Meals furnished for $12 a week include meat three times a day, for this group, unlike some others, is not vegetarian.

The American League is buying a farm in New Jersey. It has been visited and approved by the chief of police, one of whose troopers belongs to another nudist group. A permanent resident of the camp has been deputized by the county sheriff so that he can arrest trespassing sightseers. Friends are suggesting that the deputy have a star tattooed on his chest.

In all, there are nine nudist organizations either practicing or being formed in the New York area. Also there is a so-called International Nudist Conference, with offices in Manhattan, which claims to represent nudist leagues and groups and the movement generally in North America. It offers its services in the forming of new clubs, but has done little thus far toward coordinating the now operating nudist camps. In fact, it does not even know how many there are of the latter, although one of its advertisements declares that membership in the conference is restricted to nudist camps throughout the country.

The conference was founded by Dr. Henry Strong Huntington, a former Presbyterian minister, and Dr. Isley Boone, a former Baptist minister. They are, respectively, chief and managing editor, of the magazine called "The Nudist," and are associated in the operation of Burgoyne Trial Associates, Inc., a nudist organization near Otis, Mass.

Of all the nudist camps there is the least secrecy, and the most publicity. The one at Otis, Mass., is the least secret, and the most public. It is the only nudist camp in the United States which does not have a "going naked" rule. The camp is about seven miles northwest of Highland, N. Y., and Miss Gay personally interviews prospective guests before they are admitted there.

There is no secret of the identities of other members of the camp's personnel. Karl Winkler, for instance, physical instructor for the men, on the faculties of several of New York's largest dance studios, has appeared on the stage and in movies for the past seven years, and is a consultant for most of the nudist organizations in and around New York.

Elizabeth Rittmeyer, women's physical instructor, is a graduate of two orthopedic gymnastic schools of Stuttgart (Germany), has been a dancer, a dance teacher, and leader of a nudist organization in St. Gall, Switzerland. Ethel W. Jacobs, swimming instructor, is an examiner of the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps, and the director of physical education at Welcome Settlement House, New York.

SCHUMACHER A NEW MEMORY OF MATTY

Ace Hurler of Giant's Staff Is Like Mathewson in More Ways Than One.

By BILL BRAUCHER New York, July 19.—They used to say of Matty, Margard, Teareau and Demare, "Give 'em a run and the Giants win a ball game."

What the baseball commentators said of the Giants pitching staff in 1912 is being repeated now—and the names are Schumacher, Hubbell, Parmelee and Fitzsimmons.

Of the 14 shutouts scored by the Giants' staff as the Terrymen swept past midseason at the top of the league, six were pitched by 21-year-old Hal Schumacher. This young man has become the Mathewson of the modern slab staff.

He is like Matty in more ways than one. He wears the poise of heroism. He is quiet, soft-spoken, gentlemanly. Matty was a Bucknell boy. Schumacher has a degree from St. Lawrence University. And, in a crisis, like Matty, Hal can use his brain.

Schumacher is a McGraw man, even though he is rising to stardom under Bill Terry. His pitching suggests McGraw sitting back in the shadows of the bench. In fact, McGraw brought him to the Giants.

Young Schumacher appeared with the team in 1931, fresh from the campus at Canton, N. Y. He cost the Giants less than 10. McGraw had great faith in him, and not without reason.

Something like 43 years ago, McGraw, then 17, walked from Truxton, N. Y., to Olean to ask Al Kinney for a chance to play ball. Kinney placed McGraw's foot on the first rung of the ladder that led to the heights.

In the 30 years that McGraw managed the Giants, Al Kinney recommended to him two ball players. One was Leon Ames, whose name ranks with the mightiest of Giant hurlers. The other was Hal Schumacher.

Matty's most deceptive pitch was his fadeaway ball which has joined Walter Johnson's fast one in immortality. But Matty also had a hard one with a hop on it. He could turn on plenty of sliders when he had to.

Schumacher is fooling them with a baffling drop curve and a amok ball that screams as it crosses the plate. During his first two years in the majors, Schumacher couldn't name his own delivery. Now he has learned to steer it.

McGraw, hidden away up in the reaches of the grandstand, must yearn again for the fire and smoke of the diamond as he sees Schumacher out there bearing down.

It is like old times.

NUDISM SPREADS ACROSS AMERICA

Sun Worshippers Frequent Secluded Spots in Ever Increasing Numbers.

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Writer New York, July. — In ever-increasing numbers, sun-worshippers are converging on secluded sylvan spots this summer, and on the shores of protected lakes, to doff their clothes and luxuriate in nakedness. Thousands of them in the vicinity of New York alone are becoming converted to nudism. And all kinds of people they are, too—parents and their children, students, clergyman, clerics, professors, stenographers. Some are fanatics, some faddists; but collectively they are part of a new and sensational social phenomenon.

The organized nudist movement in America is about three years old. But stealth and caution cloaked its earliest life. Secrecy surrounded the identities of its followers and the locations of their meeting places. Nudists were the targets of written and cartooned ridicule—and of enthusiastic aids by police.

This year, though, interference has lessened. Reformers are vigilant but inactive. Many reputable people no longer hesitate to extrude to a nudist camp. A nudist movie is being released in some states. A nudist magazine is being sold in nearly a hundred cities. And in it are openly listed the larger nudist organizations now existing in nine states.

For all that, considerable reticence and timidity remain. The American League for Physical Culture, largest and oldest of the nudist

SENSE and NONSENSE

SUMMER SHOWER: Broad hints, as a rule, don't get as good results as the narrow ones. . . . When you know a man whose hobby is work, you don't find him in the bread line. . . . The politician couldn't have any more iron in the fire if he'd been brought up a blacksmith. . . . Some folks who give until it hurts are mighty susceptible to pain. . . . A good yawn often serves the purpose better than a caustic remark. . . . The hen-pecked husband gets his satisfaction by teaching the dog to lie down and roll over. . . . Idle remarks seldom remain that way. . . . There's plenty of work for everybody these days. The trouble comes in the matter of paying for it. . . . One reason the radio will never succeed the newspaper is because you can't wrap up a lunch in it. . . . One thing the depression has accomplished: It has certainly increased the demand for red ink.

Grace—Tom Terry is raising a mustache!
Lucy—Do you like a mustache on a man?
Grace—Sure! It tickles me almost to death!
Be certain the girl you marry knows how to cook, and also be sure you know how to get the things for her to cook.
Rich—What makes you think that fellow Smathers is insane?
Hupp—He thinks he knows what his insurance policy covers.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS.

The "Keep Out" sign arouses curiosity just the same as the "Danger" sign makes one want to take a chance.

"If England's people are 'Laps', And Japan's people are 'Japs', Then where on earth is the land of birth Of all our millions of 'Saps'?"

Some fellow could make a fortune by inventing some way whereby we could have everything we want in the way of government without having to pay for it by taxes.

June—Do you ever get down on your knees?
May—Yes, but I always shave it right off with Dad's razor.

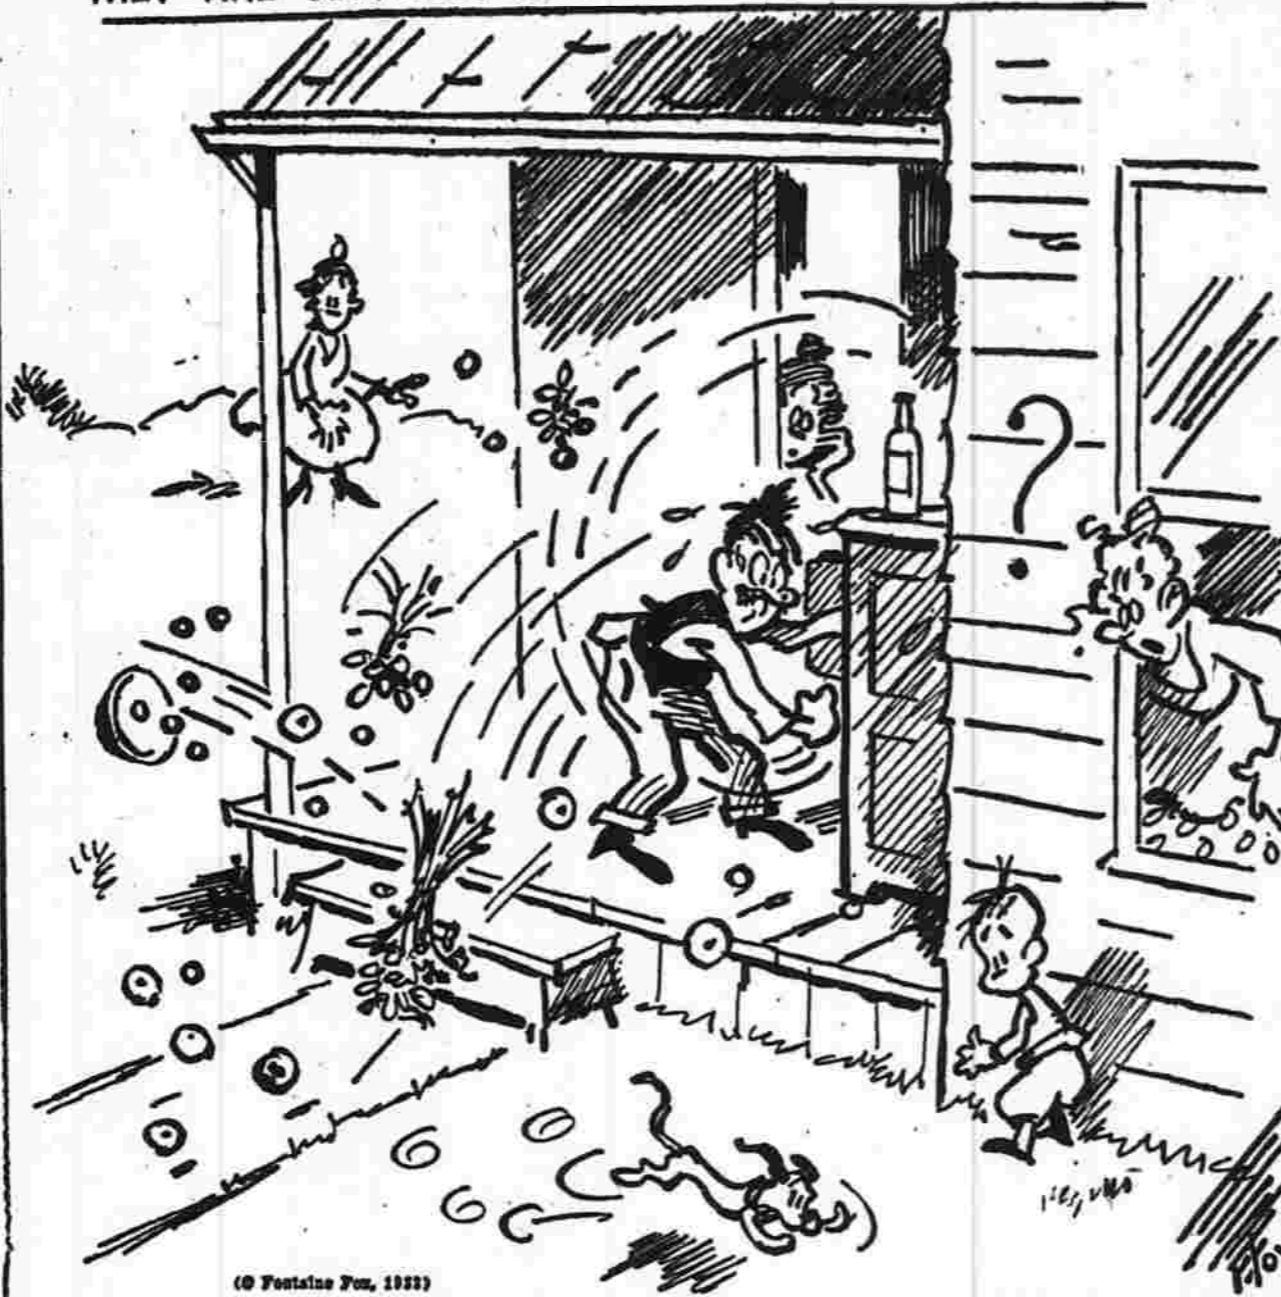

Clerk (to old, seedy looking man)—We can't take you in here. This is a veterinary hospital.
Old Chap—That's all right. I'm a veteran.

Bonus Seeker—Buddy, if you had to enlist again for overseas duty, what branch of the service would you go in?
Buddy—The peace delegation.
