HUNDREDS RESPOND TO ROOSEVELT PLEA

Flood of Pledges to Cooperate Follows President's Appeal Over the Radio—His Proposition in Brief.

Washington, July 25.—(AP)—A flood of telegraphed pledges, hundreds upon hundreds of them, answered today President Roosevelt's appeal to the Nation for immediate enrollment of all employments under the blanket agreement to raise wages and create new jobs.

Hardly had he finished last night his direct call for patriotic and un-questioning acceptance of the voluntary and individual employer-pledges to raise pay and shorten hours, before the answers began to come in.

The President and Hugh S. Johnson, the man who is running the industrial recovery unit, were reported profoundly gratified. A White House secretary said it was the greatest spontaneous outburst that had greeted any of the President's utterances.

His appeal was terse:

"We are not going through another winter like the last. x x x It is time for courageous action and the recovery bill gives us the means to conquer unemployment. x x x

His proposition is simply this:

"If all employers will act together to shorten hours and raise wages we can put people back to work. No employer will suffer, because the relative level of competitive cost will advance by the same amount for all. But if any considerable group should lag or shirk, this great opportunity will pass us by and we will go into another desperate winter. This must not happen. x x x

Write Personally

"I ask that even before the dates set in the agreement which have been sent out, the employers of the country who have not already done so—the big fellows and the little fellows—shall at once write or telegraph to me personally at the White House expressing their intention of going through with the plan."

While the mass movement was on, beating the gulf on the campaign which gets underway official day after day tomorrow and seeks to have six million men re-employed by Labor Day, with increased wages for those who now have jobs, Johnson and a corps of lieutenant workers today are attacking a different set of problems—hundreds of codes of fair competition for oil, lumber, wool weaving and rayon weaving industries against union sympathizers, and requests for interpretations of the blanket re-employment agreement.

Among typical parts of replies to the President's appeal were the following:

Fitzgerald, Ga., J. G. Williams, Mayor: "We, the people of Fitzgerald in mass meeting assembled unanimously endorse the Industrial Recovery Act and pledge our support to your program."

Cleveland, Ohio, Association of Manufacturers Representatives: "Will use our influence in daily contacts with the food and grocery trade."

Pittsburgh, one hundred employees of Harris stores: "We are with you 100 per cent."

Bakersfield, Calif., Malcolm Brock department store: "As soon as we know the rules we will play the game."

LINDBERGH'S BEGIN GREENLAND SURVEY

Mapping Out Emergency Landing Sites for Proposed Aerial Route.

Godthaab, Greenland, July 25.—(AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh began today their aerial survey of the Godthaab vicinity today and planned to continue their aerial mapping tour to Holstenborg, on the west coast of Greenland, Thursday.

Holstenborg, north of here, was considered suitable for an airport by Parker Cramer, American, who died in 1931 while laying out a North Atlantic air route.

The supply ship Jellinge was ordered to proceed today to that place, which is a base for flights over the inland ice to seek emergency landing sites.

May Go to Iceland

Thereupon the Lindberghs intend to fly northward to Godthaab and later to Scoresby Sound, East Greenland. The aviator said last night they did not plan to go to Iceland, the Faroe islands, or Denmark, but today he informed the Associated Press they might fly to Iceland this year.

They plan to return to Hopedale, Labrador, late in August. In 1924, they wish to conduct further investigations.

LIABILITY REST; PLANS UNCERTAIN

Taken to New York in Plane Ambulance—Both Utterly Tired.

New York, July 25.—(AP)—The flying Mollisons, who set bravely out from Wales in their own plane only to reach New York in a flying ambulance, settled down for "a good long rest" and said little about their plans for the future.

Captain Jimmy and the former Amy Johnson, stars of British aviation, arrived last night from Bridgeport, where their plane Seastar was wrecked Sunday night within sight of the lights of New York.

They came as passengers—in a roomy cabin plane converted into a sky ambulance for the trip.

They lay wearily back on white hospital pillows. A nurse and two physicians sat beside them. A four plane escort of honor, led by Commander Frank Hawks, accompanied them.

Sympathetic Silence

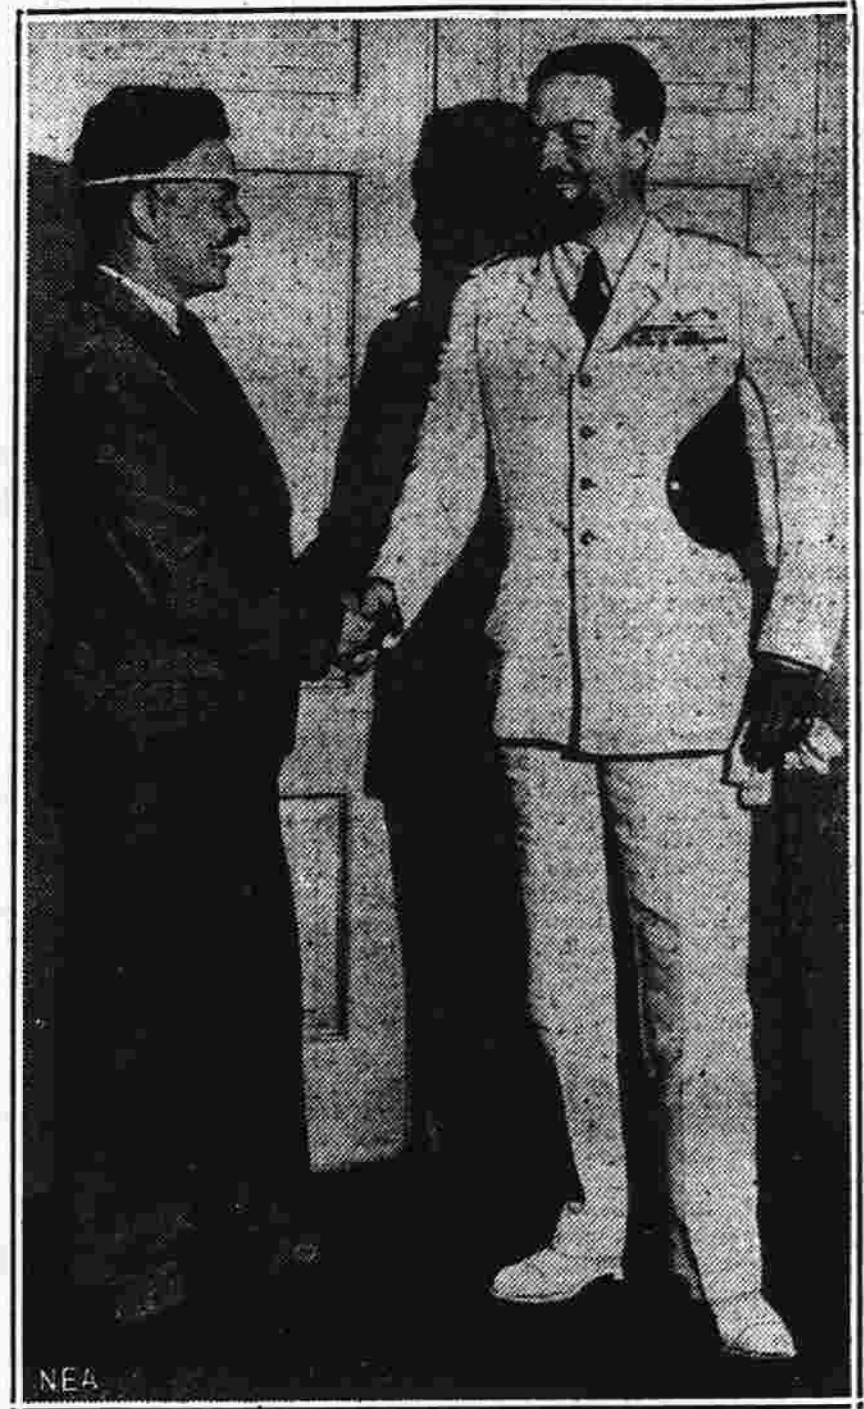

When the planes swept down at Floyd Bennett field, a crowd set up a shout. It quickly diminished to a sympathetic silence as policemen lifted the two young fliers into an automobile.

Mrs. Mollison, clad in bright yellow, her light hair newly graced, grimaced in pain. Her right hand and her legs were bandaged.

Captain Mollison wore a bandage on his head, where 30 stitches had been taken. He appeared utterly tired. "All we want to do is go to bed for a good long rest," said Amy, hugging a bouquet that the city's official greeter handed her.

They were put to bed in a hotel suite. The official reception will await their recovery. Meanwhile, they expressed fear they cannot get a plane to continue their flight, which was to have taken them to Baghdad and then back to England.

They Had Airy Greetings For Each Other—!

"I am sorry you were not able to go to Rome"... "I would have liked very much to have gone, but I could not"... So the conversation began when the outstanding air heroes of the day, General Italo Balbo (right), and the girl, Natalie Carr, called at the New York hotel of Wiley Post to congratulate him on his round-the-world flight. "Oh Post! Magnifico! Magnifico!" Balbo told him.

GOV. CROSS ADVOCATES REFORM OF TAX SYSTEM

Speaks Before Governors' Conference in San Francisco—State's Income Has Shrank, He Says.

Hartford, July 25.—(AP)—In his speech at the Governors' conference in San Francisco today, Governor Wilbur L. Cross was to discuss the problem of broader distribution of taxes in Connecticut. In the text of the speech, given out at the Governor's office, the governor calls for reform rather than abandonment of traditional New England policies.

The speech, in part, follows:

"The subject of taxation, which is always with us, has become urgent since the debacle of 1929. State and municipal incomes from taxation have shrunk enormously, without corresponding decrease in rule, in expenditures. State and municipalities have raised their tax rates on..."

Mrs. Stulpin and her son, Victor, 11, were tossed out of their beds by the explosion, which blasted open the walls of the building. They scurried into the back yard and dived there. The Stulpins resided on the top floor. The husband was at work in a factory.

Not in Home

The occupants of the first floor, over the basement where the still was located, were Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Keegan. The woman was at...

UNION TO EXPLAIN RECOVERY PROGRAM

State Federation of Labor Calls Meeting of Workers to Be Held on Saturday.

Bridgeport, July 25.—(AP)—A call to representatives of labor to attend a meeting Saturday in New Haven, at which the National Industrial Recovery Act will be explained, was issued today by John J. Egan, secretary of the State Federation of Labor.

Egan said the Connecticut meeting would be the first of a series of similar labor institutes throughout the country.

Edward M. McGrady, assistant to General Hugh S. Johnson, National recovery administrator, was announced as one of the speakers.

Expect 200 to Attend

More than 200 workers were expected to attend the meeting, which will be held at Tabard Inn, Light-house Point, under the auspices of the State Federation of Labor and the Workers Educational Bureau of America.

Other speakers will be Spencer Miller, Jr., of the Workers Education Bureau; Arthur Wallace, president of the Federation of Labor; Joseph M. Stone, state labor commissioner; Walter J. Cooper, deputy labor commissioner; Professor Harry Shulman and Professor Nymman Carter of Yale; Mayor John J. Murphy of New Haven; The Rev. George Lackland of New Haven, and Henry J. Tierney, president of the New Haven Trades Council.

NATALIE CARR THOUGHT TO BE IN A CONVENT

Missing Vassar Student Sent Letter, Postmarked Hartford, Saying She Was Going to Take Veil.

New York, July 25.—(AP)—The family of Natalie E. Carr, missing Vassar college girl, today denied printed reports that the girl had eloped.

Speaking through E. Wickham Sweetland, New York book publisher and friend of the family, Mrs. Joseph Bradford Carr, the girl's mother, also denied a report that she had asked the Connecticut state police to abandon the search.

Sweetland said the family had received one letter from the girl in which she expressed a desire to become a Catholic nun and asked her mother to believe that she was safe with friends. The letter was dated July 23, but postmarked July 21 at Hartford, Conn.

Girl at Convent

It was believed, Sweetland said, that the girl sent the letter to Hartford friends from Montreal. In a telephone conversation with the Mother Superior of the Convent of the Presentation at St. Hyacinthe last Saturday Sweetland said he learned that the girl had been there on the Saturday following her disappearance and had left after a visit of about five minutes.

The girl attended the convent, which is in Montreal, for eight years.

Antonette Elliott of New York, Mrs. Carr's sister, is now in Montreal cooperating with detectives in a search for the girl. She telegraphed Sunday: "Detective information Natalie safe in convent. Investigating whereabouts."

Family Opposed

Sweetland said that Miss Carr's family, which adheres to the Episcopal faith, was opposed to her desire to become a nun and would make every effort to prevent her taking the veil. The girl is 19 years old and only heiress to a large fortune.

She disappeared on her last birthday, July 18, after driving to West Point from the family summer home at Clinton, Conn. It was learned later that she stayed at West Point only a few minutes, and then drove to New Haven, Conn., where she abandoned her auto and bought a ticket to Montreal.

FOREST WORKERS ARE OFFERED JOBS

More and More Going Back to Home Towns as Business Picks Up.

Hartford, July 25.—(AP)—In increasing numbers the youths in the thirteen reforestation camps in Connecticut are being offered jobs back in their home towns and honorably discharged from the Civilian Conservation Corps to let them go back to regular work. In many cases the young men never had present industrial pickup. At the same time, in giving the official report for Connecticut tabulated up to July 21, Captain George C. McFarland, adjutant of the Fifth District of the corps with headquarters at Fort Wright, Fishers Island, N. Y., today announced an amazing improvement in the morale of the camps.

In June, seventeen men received outside jobs and were let go. In the first three weeks of July the number was exactly duplicated. Returns since July 21, are not complete.

Captain McFarland announced today that whereas twenty Connecticut men were discharged in various parts of the state for "not abiding by the rules" in June, only two among the more than 3,000 corps members came under this classification thus far this month. Twenty-seven were discharged last month for "refusal to work," and only ten during the first three weeks of July. "Absent without leave" accounted for twenty-seven discharges in June, and 25 this month so far. Physical and other reasons caused the discharge of five in June and nine in July.

POUND NOT TIED TO FRENCH FRANC

British Official Denies Rumor Circulating Today in House of Commons.

London, July 25.—(AP)—Leslie Hoyle-Banda, financial secretary to the Treasury, in the British House of Commons today emphatically denied the suggestion frequently advanced that the pound sterling is tied to the French franc.

"There is no truth in that suggestion," said the undersecretary of Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer.

"The policy of the government as stated in the Budget is to prevent wide fluctuations in exchange due to purely speculative influences.

"No inference can be drawn from the fact that fluctuations of the cold value of sterling are not very wide at this particular time."

The announcement of the undersecretary of the Treasury was met with a question brought out by the statement, suggested inferentially (Continued on Page Six)

New Light Discovered By Scientists In Ohio

Cincinnati, July 25.—A new kind of light, a rosy-hued mercury vapor lamp, was announced today at the University of Cincinnati.

In this lamp the sickly greenish glow of mercury vapor is completely changed by the addition of a pinch of potassium, the metal which flames in water. All the intensity of mercury vapor light is retained, says the announcement.

The discovery is classed as opening the way to more efficient illumination. It was developed in the Department of Physics by two young scientists, Dr. Isaac Balmain and Dr. D. A. Walls.

The first appearance of the new light started them. They were experimenting with a new, long life mercury vapor lamp in their laboratory a year ago. One of these lamps has burned more than 10,000 hours.

The physicists added 2 per cent of potassium to the mercury and switched on the current to see what would happen. The greenish light of mercury vapor appeared, and then quickly the glass seemed to get red hot. The current was hastily shut off.

Then it was discovered the glass was not red hot, but merely had been coated with a red glow, which enveloped the green vapor.

"At present," the announcement states, "these new amalgam lamps are mainly useful as demonstration equipment in spectroscopic laboratories. But this new development may also play an important part in illuminating engineering."

"It is the first step toward improving the present mercury vapor lamps, which although having high efficiency, are not widely used because of their objectionable green light. We may expect that by a proper combination of definite portions of different elements added to mercury, a very efficient lamp could be developed, which ought to displace our present inefficient source of incandescent illumination."

BALBO LEADS ARMADA ON HOMEWARD FLIGHT

Solo Flight Planned To The Stratosphere

Chicago, July 25.—(AP)—Lieut. Com. T. G. W. Settle will make a solo flight to the stratosphere, act both as navigator and scientific observer on the balloon ascension from Soldier Field, Chicago.

Definite announcement was made today that Settle would go alone. Dr. Jean Piccard withdrawing from active participation that more scientific instruments might be packed aboard the spherical gondola. It had been planned originally that Dr. Piccard or his brother Auguste, veteran of two European stratospheric ascensions would make the hazardous flight.

The time of the takeoff from a Century of Progress grounds has not yet been fixed, awaiting a certainty of favorable meteorological conditions.

Settle arrived last night with Mrs. Settle and Ward T. Van Orman, his "understudy" for the stratosphere flight, from Akron, O. After a study of weather conditions Settle said that chances for a take-off Wednesday seemed less favorable, but he hoped the ascent might be made later in the week.

Dr. Arthur H. Compton of the University of Chicago, whose cosmic ray apparatus will go aloft in the gondola to bring back data for scientific study, has approved the solo flight by Settle with his instruments.

DETECTIVE SHOWN POISON CONTAINERS

Slueth Says Mrs. Costello Took Him to Cellar to See an Empty Can.

Salem, Mass., July 25.—(AP)—(AP)—Inspector James F. Murphy of the Peabody police testified today he had advised Mrs. Jessie B. Costello, charged with the poisoning of her husband, to "take a vacation," as she left a police inquiry after her husband's death.

Murphy testified that on February 24, Mrs. Costello was interrogated by State police officials at Peabody police headquarters. He said he was leaving the station on his way to his car while she was walking to hers when he made the remark.

"Not Her Type"

Murphy testified he had not been on speaking terms with William J. Costello, Peabody fire chief who was found dead in his home on February 17, because of a remark he made to Mrs. Costello in his presence before they were married. He admitted he once advised "Jessie" not to marry "Bill" because he was not her type.

MEN DISCHARGED FOR TESTIFYING

Southern Newspaper Tells of Workers Laid Off After Federal Probe.

Greenville, S. C., July 25.—(AP)—The Greenville Piedmont said today that several textile workers who testified at the recent stretch-out hearing in this city, or were present to testify, have been laid off by the mills for which they worked.

"A number of complaints have been made," the paper said, "by textile workers for mills in this section, some of them in Greenville.

"One man declared he was told the morning following the open hearing here that his services would no longer be needed, even though he had been at that particular mill for about 20 years.

No Reason Given

"No reason was given as to his discharge," he said.

"A number of others who testified here, and some who were only present but not actually called, were also let out a short time later. No reason was given except that their services were no longer needed."

The hearing the paper referred to was conducted by a special Federal committee appointed under the "Industrial Recovery Act to determine if the machine load of operations should be limited under the textile code.

ELECTRICAL STORM SWEEPS THE STATE

Three Barns, Two Sheds and Several Smaller Buildings Struck by Bolts.

By Associated Press.

Three barns, two sheds and several smaller buildings lay in ruins today in the wake of an electrical storm that passed over a wide area in northern Connecticut last night.

Centering in the Connecticut river valley, the storm was accompanied by a falling mercury, bringing relief after the Hartford Weather Bureau reported the day was the hottest July 24 on record.

Boy Is Injured

The storm brought injuries to a 12-year-old boy, Santo Faroni of New Britain, who was cut and bruised as he fell down a staircase after a bolt of lightning struck near his home. He was taken to a hospital where he was reported suffering from shock.

Barns were fired by lightning and burned in Windsor, Goshen and Suffield, a tobacco shed and three smaller buildings burned also in Suffield, while a tobacco shed in Enfield was destroyed by fire caused by lightning.

Total reported storm damage was estimated at $15,000.

ITALIAN FLIERS LEAVE FLOYD BENNETT FIELD FOR SHEDIAC, N. B., 650 MILES AWAY—HEADWIND CUTS DOWN SPEED OF PLANES—GENERAL UNDECIDED ON ROUTE HE WILL TAKE TO CROSS THE ATLANTIC.

Campobello Island, N. B., July 25.—(AP)—The Italian air armada began crossing the International boundary here at 1:50 p. m. (e. s. t.) The fleet passed over the summer home of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and went toward St. John, N. B.

ONE PLANE DOWN.

Rockland, Me., July 25.—(AP)—One of the 24 planes composing General Italo Balbo's air armada landed in Rockland harbor shortly before 1 p. m. (e. s. t.) today.

The reason for the plane's alighting was not immediately apparent. Boats put out from the seaplane base here to assist the crew of the ship.

At the time the single seaplane made its unhalting visit, the other ships of the fleet were reported over Vinhaven, 15 miles out to sea.

The armada apparently was flying in two groups, with the second contingent about seven minutes behind the leaders.

At Vinhaven the fliers had covered approximately 375 miles of their 650 mile trip to Shediac, N. B.

The office of the seaplane base said the Italians apparently had been forced down by minor motor trouble. The crew moored the ship in the middle of the harbor and started work on repairs.

ARMADA TAKES THE AIR

New York, July 25.—(AP)—General Italo Balbo led his 24-plane armada into the air from Jamaica Bay at 9:01 a. m. eastern standard time today on another lap of the return mass flight to Italy.

The takeoff was delayed about half an hour by engine trouble in one of the planes.

The destination of today's flight was Shediac, N. B., 650 miles from New York and the course was along the coast line.

General Balbo was at the controls of the first plane to leave the water. He was closely followed by the two other planes of the leading triad. Other triads followed at intervals of a few minutes.

This was the second lap of the return flight to Italy. Balbo's destination in Italy is States on his flight from Italy was Chicago, where he and his officers visited the Century of Progress Exposition last week. Then he flew here on the first lap of the flight home.

Delayed Yesterday

He had intended to leave the seaplane base of Floyd Bennett Field in Jamaica Bay yesterday but weather prevented.

Early weather reports this morning were unfavorable, but when clearing the word was given to start.

Dr. James H. Kimball, government meteorologist, reported to General Balbo that weather conditions on the route to New Brunswick had improved. It was raining in southern Maine, was cloudy in northern Maine, and partly cloudy in New Brunswick. Dr. Kimball said.

The last triad rose from the water at 9:18 and the armada, which had been circling over the field until all planes were in the air, flew away in formation toward the northeast. There was a 25-mile headwind.

Crowd At Field

There was a crowd of several thousand persons at the seaplane base and around the field administration building. Almost a mile away a great cry of "Viva Balbo" and "Viva Italia" rose as the great armada roared away.

Just before the order for the takeoff was given Balbo himself was seen to appear on the wing of his plane to scan the horizon, which was slightly misted with fog. He apparently looked for a few minutes, and as soon as he was returned to his position at the controls the order to fly was given.

The Italians planned to make the 650-mile hop to Shediac in from there for a few days before resuming their flight. General Balbo will decide after he gets there whether to take the northern or the southern route.

Balbo appeared in fine fettle as he reached the field from his last morning. He wore his dress uniform, and carried a cane.

He good-naturedly signed a number of articles thrust in front of him by photograph hunters and then raised his arm in a salute.

Once on the launch which carried him to the island which carried (Continued on Page Six)

COAST GUARD DIES, VICTIM OF BURNS

Short Circuited Wire Ignites Oil Tank — Companion Escapes Injury.

New London, July 25.—(AP)—Henry J. Malton, electrician, first class, who was seriously burned in a fire at the electrical shop at the Coast Guard training station at Fort Trumbull, July 19, died this morning at the Coast Guard Academy hospital here.

Malton, a 34-year-old Coast Guardsman, was burned when a short circuit in a wiring ignites an oil tank. The tank exploded, throwing oil on his clothing as well as on the clothing of William Burke another sailor.

Unlike Burke, he was unable to extinguish the flames and before fellow employees came to his assistance, he received second degree burns of the right arm, right side of the chest and left leg.

ICKES TO ANNOUNCE PUBLIC WORK PLAN

Soon to Give Out Names of the Directors for the Various Projects.

Washington, July 25.—(AP)—Early announcement of the names of regional and state public works administrators was promised by Secretary Ickes today.

The men to be selected will cooperate with the central agency here in picking out the most worthy projects to be constructed in the government's vast re-employment program.

There were indications the appointments might be announced some time today.

Secretary Ickes said that the list of projects handed over from the Hoover administration were being studied carefully "to be sure they are justified in accordance with principles we've laid down."

Such studies include the whole Mississippi river and the numerous projects authorized or begun in the system.

"We are making a study of all hand-overs from the previous administration," Ickes said. "We don't want to be charged with anything we do not believe is justifiable in accordance with our principles."

Ickes said he did not know of any "real objection" to the upper Mississippi project on which four dams have been built, but he said "I think that is a poor way to do public works."

"It is like building one story of a house one year and leaving the second until the next year," he remarked.

He said he had heard no question of design raised in connection with either the upper Mississippi or the Missouri river project.

But he added that he will have additional projects ready to submit to the President before next Thursday or next.

"Those we are studying now involve some real questions. What we've seen so far were more or less routine."

Ickes said he would "look into" an emergency application of $200,000 to reestablish a waterworks wiped out by cloudbursts.

BEER REVENUE WELCOMED IN WESTERN STATES

Old-Fashion Saloon Now Flourishes in Reno—Coast Farmers Grow Hope.

Denver, Reno, Helena, San Francisco and other cities in the great open spaces of the west have resumed their beer-drinking on an old-time scale.

Colorado, in particular, has gone in for beer in a big way. Reno has old-time saloons, swinging doors and all.

Many localities are getting stable revenues from taxes, but with the exception of Colorado and California there appears to have been little increase in employment.

The Colorado state treasury has received thus far about $85,000 from license fees, counties about $25,000 and towns and cities over $100,000.

It is estimated that 1000 Coloradans got jobs as soon as beer was legal, and that others have gone back to work since. A census of 16 places serving beer in Denver showed 83 additional employees at work. Three breweries are operating in the state, and eastern brewers are negotiating for construction of a new $1,000,000 plant.

Border counties near dry Kansas and dry Nebraska have difficulty in getting enough beer to meet the demand.

The Colorado law made no provision for local option, but several localities have had "bone dry" ordinances for years and courts have ruled that these apply to beer.

High Prices Retards Sales in Montana.

In Montana the price of beer has been high—25 cents a pint, and there have been complaints against its alcoholic content and quality.

This has kept down consumption. Two breweries are operating in the state.

License fees have brought Montana more than $100,000 and local jurisdictions another $100,000.

It is not expected that the beer business will greatly help employment until breweries are being full blast and quality has been improved.

No county has an act yet attempted to exercise local option.

Like county remain legally dry because it is within an Indian reservation and federal authorities advised that sale of beer was not permissible.

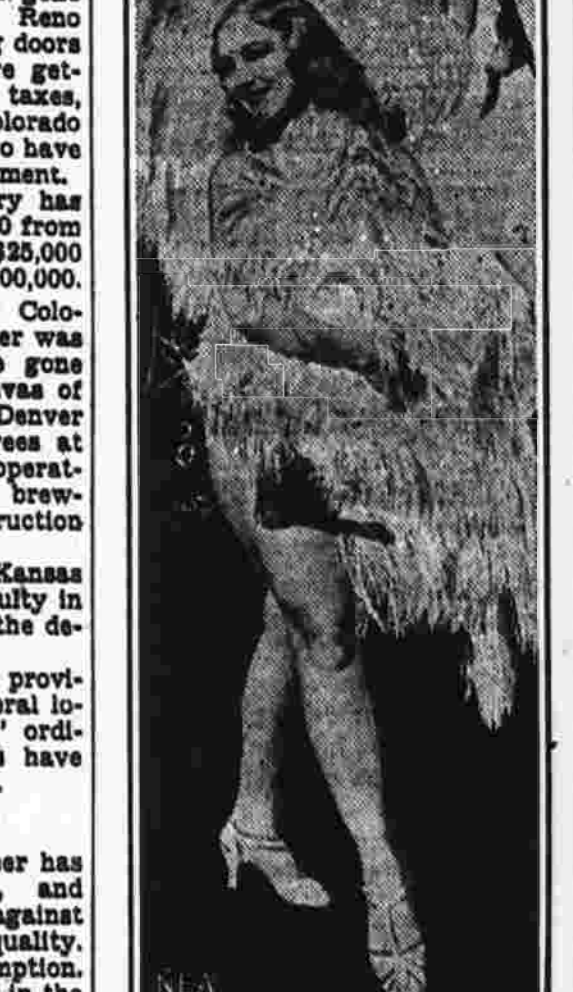

Indians do not care because they prefer whiskey, but the whites are demanding beer.

Beer sale became legal in Arizona June 14. In Phoenix 250 licenses brought $10,000 to the city. Police officials of Tucson and Phoenix, the two principal cities report a decrease in bootlegging.

Old-Fashioned Saloon Flourishes in Reno. Nevada has no state law regulating beer, so the old-time saloon has returned with cities in control.

Fans Fair Fans To Fine Frenzy

Police officers at the World's Fair in Chicago, charged in a 2 o'clock Sunday morning and Lieutenant Eason found, upon investigating the vicinity, that a car had crossed the small park at that point headed in the direction of Hartford Road. The boxes were located close to the park.

STRIKERS ARRESTED AT WINDSOR FARMS

State Police Rush to Scene When They Hear of Plot to "Crash" Pay Car

Windsor, July 25.—(AP)—John Onaseki, 17, and Alfred Donnelly, 20, were sentenced to 30 days in jail on charges of violation of the peace in Town Council case, but the sentences were suspended on their promise to keep away from the Stewart plantation of the Hartman Tobacco Company where they were among the strikers who quit work yesterday.

The arrest followed a report that strikers were driven from the boarding houses they occupied, handed their pay and put aboard trucks which took them back to New Britain.

State police who went to the plantation yesterday to pick up Alfred Schultz of 16 Mitchell street, New Britain, in connection with another proposed strike among plantation workers before officials knew anything about it or anything had occurred.

Schultz told them he was disappointed at being arrested because he wished to take part in the strike. The police notified the management and other officers from the Hartford barracks were sent out to help keep the situation under control. State policeman Harry Leavitt was struck, but there was no other violence.

THREE MAIL BOXES REPORTED STOLEN

Taken from Posts at Hackmatack and Prospect Sts.—Thought Joke.

James Adams of 290 Hackmatack street complained to the police yesterday that three rural mail delivery boxes which were in place on the corner of Hackmatack and Prospect streets were removed from their positions sometime early Sunday morning.

The boxes were owned by Mr. Adams, Charles I. Pollard and Raymond Holland.

All of the owners noticed the boxes in place late Saturday night and it is believed that they were removed by a "whoopee" party proceeding west on Hackmatack street early Sunday morning.

A neighbor living nearby informed Lieutenant William Barron who investigated that he heard a commotion near the boxes at 2 o'clock Sunday morning and Lieutenant Eason found, upon investigating the vicinity, that a car had crossed the small park at that point headed in the direction of Hartford Road. The boxes were located close to the park.

There was no mail in the boxes as it had been removed by the owners, all of whom were at home on the last day of delivery, Saturday.

STRIKERS ARRESTED AT WINDSOR FARMS

State Police Rush to Scene When They Hear of Plot to "Crash" Pay Car

Windsor, July 25.—(AP)—John Onaseki, 17, and Alfred Donnelly, 20, were sentenced to 30 days in jail on charges of violation of the peace in Town Council case, but the sentences were suspended on their promise to keep away from the Stewart plantation of the Hartman Tobacco Company where they were among the strikers who quit work yesterday.

The arrest followed a report that strikers were driven from the boarding houses they occupied, handed their pay and put aboard trucks which took them back to New Britain.

State police who went to the plantation yesterday to pick up Alfred Schultz of 16 Mitchell street, New Britain, in connection with another proposed strike among plantation workers before officials knew anything about it or anything had occurred.

Schultz told them he was disappointed at being arrested because he wished to take part in the strike. The police notified the management and other officers from the Hartford barracks were sent out to help keep the situation under control. State policeman Harry Leavitt was struck, but there was no other violence.

RACE BUILDING AS PUBLIC WEAL URGED BY NAZIS

Berlin (AP)—Emphasizing the nation's declining birth rate, the Nazi regime of Adolf Hitler has started a campaign of education aimed at more and better babies for Germany.

Earnest appeals for well filled cradles have been directed especially toward the rural population, "for," says one of the official communists, "a man can survive all blows of fate if its peasant stock is sound."

Claims National Right "What is imperatively needed is a constant healthy rejuvenation of the peasantry," said Wilhelm Frick, Prussian minister of the interior. "It was so in the time of Frederick the Great, when the cry was 'the king needs soldiers,' and it is so now."

"The state has the right to demand from those who till the soil that they produce a healthy offspring and plenty of them."

Frick made this statement in addressing the first meeting of a commission of experts on population and racial policy.

He began by pointing out that the number of births in Germany had declined from 2,000,000 per annum 30 years ago to 975,000.

The birth rate of 38 a thousand has dropped to 15. The average German family has shrunk from 2 or 3 children to one or no-child.

"A most important and alarming feature of the present situation," Frick continues, "is the mating of the bodily or mentally deficient.

"Some authorities place the proportion of hereditarily unsound in Germany as high as 30 per cent of the whole population. It would seem that sound stock is shrinking from generation to generation and is doomed to die out. That would be the end of German Kultur."

"From an agrarian state we have changed to an industrial state. The industrialization of the nation has brought in 'its wane money worship, individualism, class antagonism, Marxism, communism and the decline of family life."

"Public opinion applauds woman for business and sports. It takes little interest in the wife and mother. We shall change all that." Declares "Maudlin Charity" Frick said that each criminal cost the state 350 marks; such lunatics 4 marks; each crippled person or deaf mute, 5 to 6 marks a day, whereas the unskilled laborer had to content with a wage of 250 marks and the lower class employee or official with 4 marks.

"Modern humanitarianism which allows the weak and degenerate to propagate their kind is nothing less than cruelty to the nation," he asserted. "We shall refuse to be bound by maudlin notions of charity or by effects church dogmas."

"Married women," Frick insisted, "must be given jobs and wives must get back to housework. The big family ideal must be revived throughout the land."

"Too long a period of professional training is just as bad as the timely founding of a family as too much time given up to sports."

WHEAT'S PROBLEM NOT YET SOLVED

"Big Four" Fight Against Time to Reach an Accord Before Thursday.

London, July 25.—(AP)—Negotiations for a wheat restriction agreement hung in the balance today with American representatives believing some way of adapting the scheme to the requirements of each country would be found.

At a joint meeting of delegates from wheat importing and exporting countries today both the French and Italian representatives were described as of a much more favorable frame of mind than previously.

Germany, while unable to reduce her tariffs, indicated a willingness not to insist on acreage.

Today the "big four" wheat producers—the United States, Canada, Argentina and Australia—battled against time with the importing nations to force an agreement to cooperate in their scheme for adapting wheat consumption to production with the view of raising prices.

STORM, BADLY NEEDED, MISSES ROCKVILLE

Extreme Dry Weather Proves Harmful to Crops—Only Light Shower Last Night.

The extreme warm spell of the past few days has proved a big handicap to the farmers in this section who have been anxious for more than two weeks for a wet day.

The anticipated thundershower failed to arrive although a few drops of rain were evident between five and six o'clock.

The tobacco crops are badly in need of rain at this time and the small acreage being planted the amount of loss which the farmers are able to sustain will be very small.

Private home owners with large lawns are also complaining about the damage which has been caused by the severe heat spell damaging many lawns so that it will take more than a month to restore to its natural greenness.

The Connecticut State Department of Agriculture and the Tolland County Farm Bureau have started work on checking the damage to the crops of the county by insects and other causes.

Inquiries are being received daily by Ernest E. Tucker, Tolland County agent, explaining the damage to many people who have but small crops.

Various methods of fighting the disease is being brought to the attention of the farmers in a hope of curbing further damage.

Road Improvements Continue. The work of completing the new dirt roads in this section so as to realize a return for the summer, is now nearing completion.

The cost of building the State-aided roads this year were greatly reduced as the Board of Selectmen, headed by Francis J. Prichard, undertook the work without offering it for bids.

POLICE QUESTIONING KIDNAPING SUSPECT

Chicago, July 25.—(AP)—Federal agents working on the government's probe of the kidnaping racket today brought in Leo Mongoven, public enemy and a member of the "Bugs" Morgan gang.

Melvin H. Purvis, bureau of investigation chief, said he would question Mongoven in connection with the kidnap plots hatched recently against several Chicagoans.

Roger Touhy, head of another gang, and three of his men, were held in Milwaukee in the $100,000 kidnaping of William Hamm, Jr., Minneapolis brewer, and Chicago police and Purvis said that the Morgan gang remnants have also turned to kidnaping to replace the revenue they once enjoyed from beer.

Mongoven was one of the few Morgan gangsters who escaped death in the bloody warfare they waged with the Capone gang for underworld power in 1929, which culminated in the seven murders of the St. Valentine's Day massacre.

OPEN FORUM

LOST VOTES

July 24, 1933. To the Editor of The Herald: It is not because I oppose the ownership of the Cheney owned water works and sewer district that I make the following protest.

On Saturday morning July 22, the Manchester column in the Hartford Courant carried the news that a total of 646 votes were improperly recorded on the voting machines Friday.

Such a fact as that it seems to me will only tend to turn voters against going to the machines in the future and so add one more knot in the tangle of those who are trying to kill the idea of democracy in America.

In what fault have these 646 votes been lost in the town election? Did the voters disfranchise themselves, or were they disfranchised through poor supervision and setting up of the machines? What is the trouble?

It seems to me the Board of Selectmen owe it to the voters to state the reason of this disfranchisement. If the voters themselves are not to blame how can the vote be legal? My own vote was yes on the purchase and no on the appropriation, but—did it count?

GERMAN POLICE START SEARCH FOR WEAPONS

All Autos and Trains Held Up in Effort to Find Red Literature and Illicit Arms.

Berlin, July 25.—(AP)—Throughout Germany today police conducted a widespread search for persons suspected of subversive activities and for illicit weapons and literature.

Beginning at noon trains and railway passengers were searched. The activity was extended to include all vehicles passing along country roads and automobiles in the cities.

The Secret Police ordered the regular police groups with Nazi storm troopers in order to cut down traffic delays.

The reason given for the blanket search was "to curb the still continuing Communist and other subversive activities." A number of arrests were made, the persons detained being placed in protective custody.

DIEGEL AFTER P. G. A. AGAIN

He's Ready To Play August 8, Though Other Stars Disagree With Date.

Milwaukee, July 25.—With many stars threatening to withdraw from the Professional Golfers' Association tournament this year, due to conflicting dates, the most unorthodox golfer in the country has an inside track to the title.

He is Leo Diegel, Detroit pro who tees his ball too high, crouches with his arms nearly akimbo while putting, and has the most acute case of jumping putters ever seen on the course.

But with all his faults, Diegel's play this year has been up to that of the best golfers in the country. If he is on his game at Milwaukee, whenever it is finally decided to hold the tournament, he may out Olin Dutra, the Dashing Don, from the coveted pro seat.

Shute, Barnes, Egan and others say they cannot compete Aug. 8 because of "other business." The U. S. G. A. may set the date back to September.

Diegel's winter golf left much to be desired, even though he did finish well up among the money winners. Even through the National Open, which he finished with a score of 299, he didn't look like the fellow who won the pro title in 1928 and 1929, and topped the Canadian Open championship four times in six years.

But in the British Open he played brilliant golf.

Denny Shute and Craig Wood, with their playoff score of 292, were only one stroke ahead of the Detroit demon. That 293 also was his British Open score in 1930, when he finished second, two strokes behind Bobby Jones.

Should Leo fail to top the P. G. A. cup, honors probably either go to Olin Dutra, last year's champ; Ed Dudley, Delaware pro; Joe Kirkwood, the trick shot artist; or Paul Runyan, youngster from New York.

GEORGIA FOOTBALL TEAMS FACE TOUGH FOES NEXT SEASON

No Setups on Schedule of Southern Eleven; Are Much Improved Over Last Year; Wealth of Vets.

Atlanta, July 25.—(AP)—There'll be no setups for the football teams of Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia next fall. In fact, the experts already are predicting that both elevens are "facing certain shipwreck on the reefs of schedule."

Georgia Tech plays, in sequence, Clemson, Kennedy, Auburn, Tulane, North Carolina, Vanderbilt, Florida, Alabama, Georgia and Duke.

Georgia beginning on the same September 30 date, meets in order, North Carolina State, Tulane, North Carolina, Mercer, New York University, Florida, Yale, Auburn, Georgia Tech and Southern California.

"No other southern team has a program so tough," says a veteran Dixie football writer, "none, in fact, has one that is close to either. No team short of a Notre Dame of 1931 could reasonably hope to get through their schedule unscathed."

Horseshoe Pitchers Show 'Science' Of Ancient Game In World Tourney

By C. C. GRANMER
London, Ohio, July 25.—(AP)—The Greeks had a name for it back in 210 A. D.—discus throwing, one of the five games of the Pentathlon.

Early Americans, having only horseshoes handy, used them in lieu of stones or metal discs, while an earlier adaptation of the sport became known as quoits, enjoyed today by the curling clubs of other countries.

And that, say officials of the National Horseshoe Pitchers' Association, who in an official magazine, "Horseshoe World," is published here, ought to go far to establish horseshoe pitching as at least as ancient and honorable as golf.

To show just how much progress is being made in the sport, they are holding a world's horseshoe pitching championship at Chicago, July 27-31.

Take It Seriously

For although the sport is ancient enough, it is only in recent years that horseshoe pitchers have begun talking their "science." Like golf professionals they study their stance, grip, timing and swing, and argue whether the one and a quarter or the one and three-quarters turn is best.

Instead of using a pair of wobbly shoes cast off by old Dobbin, they are meticulous about the weight, width and length of the shoes they wear, height of the soles, width of the opening, and temper of the steel.

They even wear uniforms, the national association tournament rules prescribing white trousers and shirts, with black stripes down the sides and a horseshoe as an emblem on the left breast pocket.

Responding to such showmanship, the game is moving into the cities. B. G. Leighton, of Virginia, Minn., former association president, cites the 1932 report of the national rec association, showing 207 cities had 185,289 tossers. He estimates 1,000,000 persons are playing horseshoes this year.

Game Has Celebrities

A total of $3,600 in cash prizes, besides medals and trophies, has been hung up for the Chicago tournament. The men's division rates 24 prizes ranging from $50 to $100, while the women will seek six prizes ranging from $75 to $10.

The game has its full share of celebrities, and most of them have entered for the world title. Blair Numamaker, of Cleveland, competitor in world's championship matches since 1923 and holder of the title since 1929; Frank Jackson, of Kellerton, Ia., "grand old man of the horseshoe game," 13 times holder of the title; C. C. Davis, of Kansas City, former world champion; James Leaky, Arizona champion; Bert Duryee, Ohio champion; Peter Olson, South Dakota champion; Fernando, of Mexico, Mexican pitcher who holds the California title; and John "Fella, New York City hotel waiter.

Like other sports, horseshoes also has its "trick shot" artists. Among them are Jimmy Risk, of Montpelier, Ind., American champion, who pitches ringers blindfolded, strikes matches with a tossed shoe, and rings the peg without touching his hat that has been placed in front of the stake.

Orren "Pratt" Mossman, of Eldora, Ia., former national champion, adds to these tricks the stunt of pitching ringers while dashing—past on a motorcycle.

In and Out

Take a list of the country's great three-year-old stakes as a beginning. Cutting out some of the smaller ones you have left: The Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Belmont Stakes, Dwyer, Withers, American Derby, Latonia Derby and Arlington Classic.

Not one of the country's so-called top horses was able to win two of these races. Brokers' Tip won the Derby, Head Play the Preakness (Broker's Tip last, Mr. Khayyam made a monkey out of Head Play in the American Derby and then ran last in an allowance race, War Glory ran away from his field in the Dwyer and then lost his next two starts. The Belmont was won by an erstwhile claiming horse named Hurray, the Darb won by Withers and Inlander the Classic.

You Figure It Out

Now here's what makes the form player feel as though he's been in the corner of either Mr. Schmeller or Mr. Sharkey. If Head Play the greatest exhibition since Man of War, how is it he is now unable to beat but one horse in a 12-horse field?

And if War Glory could run away from his field in the mile and a half Dwyer Stakes, setting all the pace, and turning on more power in the stretch, how is it he got tired after the first mile in his next race?

Well, and for that matter, what made Mr. Khayyam suddenly decline the issue in two races and run last in another, after setting a track record in the Chesapeake Stakes, and giving Head Play two sound beatings?

Age No Help

And there are the older horses. Plucky Play still is breaking the hearts of the form players. Maybe you remember that during the last two years he limited his victories to races in which he whipped Gallant Knight, Sun Beau, Equipoise and Fairno? Well this year in his first start he beat a good field, carrying top weight of 124 pounds, and being a long shot, too.

But in his next out, dropping nearly 20 pounds, and facing poorer competition, he was next to last—"still running," as they say.

And if you're not too punch drunk by this time, tell this poor mortal what "how come this Indian runner?" A bang-up two-year-old. As a three-year-old a common player. As a four-year-old, next to Equipoise, the outstanding horse of the year.

Above are three of the world's outstanding horseshoe pitchers, all of whom will compete in the men's and women's championships at Chicago July 27-31. Blair Numamaker (left), of Cleveland, has held the title since 1929. Mrs. J. E. Francisco of Columbus, Ohio, is present women's champion, while Frank Jackson (lower right), of Kellerton, Ia., has captured 13 world championships in his time.

Homer With Bases Full Ends Battle In Deadlock

V. F. W.-Watkins Game Ends in 5th With Score 7-All, After Mathiason Hits for Circuit in Final Frame to Avert Defeat; Playoff soon.

Harry Mathiason, the Jimmy Foxx of the V. F. W., again came to the rescue of his hot and tired mates last night at Mt. Nebo field and crashed out a home run with the bases loaded in the fifth. The Vets, aided by loose play and good hitting by the Watkins players, were four runs behind when "Matty" broke up the ball game. When the four runs had counted, it was too dark to play longer. The game ended in a deadlock at 7-7.

CARNERA TO FIGHT ON ELM CITY CARD

Champ to Meet 3 Opponents in Exhibition at New Haven on Thursday.

New Haven, July 25.—Marty Fox, sensational New York Hebrew heavyweight punching master, has been selected by Matchmaker Al Well as one of the opponents for Primo Carnera, heavyweight champion of the world, in his exhibition matches at the White City Stadium Thursday evening. Harold Mays, Taumona, N. J., puncher, is the second slated to match talents with the Italian titlist and the third will be selected either today or tomorrow.

TAKE DOUBLE BILL TO PASS YANKEES; OTHER CLUBS IDLE

Whale Phillies Twice to Lead by Half Game; Grove and Earnshaw Victims of Heavy Batting Rampage.

By ROBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Through the odds-impenetrable pitching armor of the Philadelphia Athletics' twin mound ace, Bob Grove and George Earnshaw, the Washington Senators have blasted their way once more to the top of the American league standing.

Half Game Ahead

Taking advantage of the New York Yankees' idleness, the Senators battered the A's into defeat in both games of a doubleheader yesterday, 5-2 and 10-6 and moved into first place by a half game margin.

The third place Athletics, at the same time, fell to a point 11 games behind the Yankees, thus emphasizing again the two-club character of the pennant race.

Grove, who has won six games in a row, was the victim of bunched hits in the second and fourth innings. The Senators scored three runs in the second on four safeties and two in the fourth, coupling three hits with an error.

Other Teams Idle

The Senators drubbed Barnabaw for 11 hits and eight runs in seven innings in the second game which they did not even have close except for a five run rally, climaxed by Jimmie Fox's 28th homer in the ninth.

This doubleheader marked the only competition in either league but the National circuit reached the headlines when the St. Louis Cardinals announced the appointment of Frankie Frisch to succeed Gabby Street as Cardinal manager.

NEW BASEBALL LEAGUE TO OPEN NEXT SUNDAY

FRISCH IN DEBUT AS MANAGER TODAY

Green, Highland Park, Arrows and Baldwins Form "Manchester American League" Pairings Are Made, Eligibility Lists Agreed Upon.

St. Louis, July 25.—(AP)—Frankie Frisch, one of the few collegians to jump directly from college campus into big league baseball and stick, will make his debut as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals today against the Cincinnati Reds.

The Fordham Flash was named pilot of the Philadelphia Athletics, succeeding Charles E. "Gabby" Street, who had been at the helm of the Cardinals since 1930. Although eight games behind the league-leading New York Giants, Frisch was somewhat optimistic about St. Louis' chances.

"If we can get the winning spirit," he said, "we may be up there on top in October."

Hornsby May Leave

Following his release, Street went to his home at Joplin, Mo., without discussing his future plans, except to deny a report that he was planning to buy the Joplin Western League club.

Meanwhile a feeling existed, the Globe-Democrat today said, that the Cardinals would be Rogers Hornsby. This feeling was strengthened, the paper stated, when Branch Rickey, vice president of the club, asked whether the change in managers would affect the status of Hornsby declared: "I don't want to discuss that now."

"That would indicate some doubt as to Hornsby's future with the Cardinals?" he was asked.

"I don't know about that," Rickey replied, "but I can't discuss Hornsby's position now."

Hornsby, who led the Cardinals to a world championship in 1926, returned to the club this spring, after being let out of Chicago last summer. After the close of the season, he was traded to the New York Giants in exchange for Frisch.

Follows Killefer

When Bill Killefer resigned as manager of the St. Louis Browns last week, reports were current that the Rajah might succeed him. With the release of Street, the two St. Louis clubs, within a week, lost pilots whose careers were unusually parallel.

During their playing days, both Street and Killefer were outstanding catchers. Street was the battery mate of Walter Johnson of the Washington Senators, while Killefer caught the great Grover Cleveland Alexander for the Philadelphia Nationals.

Both succeeded to the managerial post of their respective clubs here via the same route—being advanced from coach—in and the same year—1930.

Now both have left. Five days apart, with reports that each may be at the helm of another major league club next season, or may buy an interest in a minor league club.

SENSE and NONSENSE

LIKE A CONGRESSIONAL PROBE
Men grow weary of the chatter which so long they must endure. As it tells what is the matter, but it does not suggest a cure.

Do not forget that your children deserve the right not to have too many advantages thrust upon them; and the chance to create a few for themselves.

Going-To-Be—Do you believe in the old adage about marrying in haste and repenting at leisure?
Has-Been—No, I don't. After a man marries he has no leisure.

"It isn't so much the disease as the after effects. For example, a girl can recover from love sickness but it may leave her with a husband."

Man—Yes, it was a sad case about Hayes, since he lost all his money half his friends don't know him any more.
Neighbor—What about the other half?
Man—They don't know yet that he has lost it.

Doctor—Why do you put all those B's in front?
Patient—Well, the preacher who baptized me stuttered.

Here's honesty, at last! The following is from The Brushville Bugle:
"Mr. Hank Smith has returned to his home after having been graduated from the state university. Young Mr. Smith plans to enter business with his father, Mr. Henry Smith, our prominent retired farmer."

Man—I'm thinking of opening a movie theater.
Neighbor—Well, there's good money in that business.
Man—It isn't the money so much; but I'd like to see my wife and children once in a while.

Chairman—We'd like you to make a few remarks at our banquet.
Prohibition Advocate—Are you sure that the banquet will be dry in every respect?
Chairman—Certainly. Why do you think we asked you to speak?

One trouble with the country is that too many corporations tried to get out how many stamps we can get for so much.

ABOUT TOWN

The Women of the Moose will hold their regular meeting tomorrow evening at the Home Club on Brainard Place. It is requested that all members attend, bringing with them the caps and hats they are to wear at the convention.

Relatives in town have received news of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. John Thornton of Providence, R. I., formerly of Manchester. The child is the granddaughter of Mrs. Sarah Thornton of 411 Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snow of Pine street have as their guests Mr. Snow's sister and brother-in-law, who are here from the West after an absence of 14 years. They noted many changes in Manchester and other places they have visited in the East. Mrs. Snow was born and brought up in Mansfield, Conn.

A number of local young people are attending the camp-meeting of the Nazarene church at East Douglas, Mass., this week, and another group will leave for the week-end. Among those at present at the camp are Miss Gladys and Miss Gertrude Wilson, Miss Marion Hobby, Miss Ruth Brown and Miss Anna Kotsch.

PLAYS INCOMING NINE AT COURSE HERE IN 32

Clarence Thornton Posts Best Score for Second Nine Since New Holes Have Been Built.

Clarence Thornton chalked up a golf record to be proud of the other day when he played the incoming nine at the Manchester Country club course in 32 strokes. This is the best incoming round posted at the Country club since the new 14th and 15th holes were built. Thornton's medal for the 18 was 78, going out in 46.

"Lefty" started to "get hot" on the 10th getting a birdie there, another on the 11th, again on the 12th and still another on the 13th. Four birdies in a row constitute something of a record in itself. He scored a par four on the new long 14th hole. On the incoming nine holes he only took 10 putts. Thornton was playing with Bill Martin, Alex Thomson and Joe Handley at the time.

GIRLS ENJOY CAMP LIFE AT HEBRON

Hold Fireplace Gathering Last Night — Songs, Stories, Dances Entertain Group.

After a day that was filled with activity and excitement of preparation to spend a week in camp, the 44 girls who will spend this week at the Kiwanis kiddies camp are gradually settling down to the regular routine of the camp and all the activities and good times in store for them there.

Although the storm last evening interfered with plans for having an outdoor camp-fire, the campers enjoyed the fun of sitting around the big fire-place in the dining hall. Helge Pearson, camp director, led the group in singing some of the favorite camp songs and also told one of his famous stories. Exceptional talent was displayed by many of the girls in the way they sang danced and told stories.

As the embers of the fire were getting low, the group joined hands together and sang their good-night songs "By the Council Fire" and "Taps" after which a tired but happy group of campers retired to the various dormitories.

GUARDSMEN OPEN RANGE SATURDAY

Regimental and Battalion Officers to Be Guests of Company G.

On Saturday at 2 o'clock, Company G, 169th Regiment will be host to regimental and battalion officers of the Regiment at the dedication ceremonies in connection with the opening of the company's new range at Bolton Notch, in rear of the College Inn. Invitations have been sent to Adjutant General William F. Ladd; Col. George A. Wardinski, Colonel Orville A. Petty, Regimental Commander; Lieut. Colonel Joseph F. Nolan, Major Allan Dexter, Captain Warren Wilsey, Captain Edward H. May, Captain Russell E. Hathaway, commanding the Howitzer Company and Lieut. Horace B. Murphey and Lt. Donald Forbes of the Howitzer Company, W. George Glenney and Dr. D. C. Y. Moore.

Lieut. Raymond E. Hagedorn is chairman of the committee on arrangements and is assisted by a committee composed of non-commissioned officers and men of the company. Refreshments will be served at the range during the afternoon and an opportunity will be given the regimental and battalion officers to try out the range during the afternoon.

The new range, constructed by the company under the direction of Lieut. Raymond E. Hagedorn, is considered one of the best in the state. Colonel Harry E. Bisell was in charge of the details incident in the taking over of the property for the State by lease from C. R. Burr, the owner, and construction was begun early in the summer on stone and concrete butts.

The range consists of four U. S. Army standard snub targets and a room is available for an additional target by re-arranging those now in place. The range is 200 yards and has for its base the easterly prominence at Bolton Notch, making an ideal location for direct fire as the sun is always at the rifleman's back.

Running spring water has been piped from the hill on the north to the butts where showers are available for the men, also a good supply of drinking water is available. It is expected that a clubhouse will be constructed later near the firing point. The work on the range was completed shortly before the company left for the summer training period at Camp Cross, Niantic.

Company G will be the range as a company for the first time Saturday, August 5. Previous to the leasing of the property by the State, the property was under lease by the Manchester Rod and Gun club.

POLICE COURT

The continued case of Elie Jodoin of Main street, who was brought before the court on an assault charge by his wife two weeks ago, was disposed of this morning when Judge Johnson suspended judgment. Probation Officer Edward Elliott, Jr., reported conditions at the Jodoin home and told the judge that he was confident that Mr. and Mrs. Jodoin would cause no further trouble.
