

STORE CROWDS HERE INDICATE BETTER TIMES

Last Night's Business in Local Houses Much Greater Than Same Period Last Year; Streets Thronged.

Under the impetus of the National Recovery Act—created to take definite steps toward the return of prosperity—Manchester business is being engulfed in a welcome wave of optimism and hope, visibly demonstrated last night, when hundreds of shoppers crowded the main street.

Everybody seemed to be doing business and a lot of it and inquiry at the leading stores this morning brought ready statements that business seemed heading upward.

Watkins Brothers reported that more people were in the store and more business was done than has been recorded in some time.

Edwards reported that the store was crowded with shoppers all evening and the volume of business was very satisfactory.

Everywhere, in fact, merchants found business better. Stores were filled with customers at 9 o'clock, making it necessary to remain open beyond the regular closing hour and in some instances it was necessary to call in additional sales help.

Cheney's Reason. The increase in employees at Cheney Brothers plant, with its attendant wage distribution, is pointed to as one of the outstanding contributing factors in the general trend back to prosperity in Manchester.

SAPIRO'S HEARING TO BE AUGUST 11

Lawyer Well Known in State Was Indicted by a Chicago Grand Jury.

New York, July 28.—(AP)—Aaron Sapiro, lawyer and labor organizer who was indicted in Chicago with Al Capone and others on charges of restraint of trade by terrorism, was arraigned today as a fugitive from Chicago.

The hearing was adjourned until August 11, and Sapiro's bail of $1,500 was continued.

Sapiro came into nation-wide notice in 1927 when he filed a $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford in which he charged Ford with the Jewish race in an article in the Dearborn Independent. The case was settled out of court after Ford made public retraction of the statements objected to.

Sapiro accompanied former Mayor James J. Walker when the latter went to California to plead in behalf of Tommy Mooney, imprisoned there for his alleged part in a bombing.

When Sapiro was arraigned, the former Assistant United States Attorney David R. Selig, counsel for Sapiro, asked for a two weeks adjournment, saying "this is an unusual case and there is unusual interest attached to it."

Sigal said he wanted the two weeks adjournment to communicate with the governor of Illinois and ask in inquiry and to communicate with the governor of New York and ask for a hearing on the ground that there was "not one scintilla of evidence" against Sapiro.

COW KILLS OX IN ODD FIGHT

Ox Was One of Prize Winning Pair—Breaks Into Adjoining Pasture and Battle Is On.

Hartford, July 28.—(AP)—The story of a battle to the death between a cow and an ox was recounted today, in which the cow emerged victor.

The struggle was precipitated when an ox owned by Philip Armbruster broke through a fence into the neighboring cow pasture of Theodora Coy.

Apparently resenting the intrusion, one of Coy's cows attacked the ox, drove a horn into its neck and killed it. An artery was punctured and the ox was found dead.

One of a prize-winning pair, the ox was valued by the owner at $150. The cow was uninjured.

NRA PROCEDURE PUZZLES TOWN

Little Information Available; Leaders to Meet in Hartford Aug. 1.

Just what method of procedure is to be followed in complying to the National Recovery Act is a matter that is highly puzzling to Manchester, as little light has been thrown on the subject from headquarters in Washington. But Manchester is not alone in this difficulty, as an Associated Press dispatch from New Haven bears out.

George W. Poley, a member of the New Haven chamber of commerce, who wired Washington for information to guide it in preparing for a campaign under the blanket code which President Roosevelt has proposed under the National Recovery Act, today had had nothing in reply.

Edward W. Potter, an officer who is to guide the campaigning, said everything appeared to await the action of John H. Goss of Waterbury, who has accepted appointment as general chairman for the Connecticut division.

FOREST WORKERS QUIT THEIR CAMP

125 of Them Located in California Start Hiking It for New York.

Sacramento, Calif., July 28.—(AP)—Reminders that the side-walks of New York are a long, long way off were the persuasion used by Army officers today in an attempt to halt the first large group desertion from a Civilian Conservation Corps camp in California.

Rides back to camp were offered stragglers from the default band of 125, most of them from New York City, who deserted the Bear River camp in the Sierra Nevada mountains.

News of the desertion yesterday was telephoned here to Major R. E. McQuillan, second in command of the area. He left with a truck to pick up deserters who might have decided camp wasn't so bad after all.

Intimidated Others. Officers reported leaders of the group had threatened violence in intimidating the others and forcing them to walk out. Some 240 men were stationed at the camp.

Reports received here said that some of the leaders claimed they were virtually forced by New York police to join the reformation army under threats of arrest.

The deserters declared they planned to walk to Sacramento. None had arrived here, or even at Jackson, 50 miles from the camp.

Semi-military regulations are in effect at the camp. The members of the C. C. C. are free to leave if they so desire but if they leave without official sanction, the government will not transport them back to their homes.

Aimee Hutton and Daughter Come To "Grips"

There apparently was a heated difference of opinion when Aimee Hutton (right) and her daughter, Mrs. Roberta Smythe (left), debated what disposition to make of their luggage as they arrived in Baltimore, Md., from Paris. Aimee is seen wearing a black satin dress sent to her by the congregation of her Angelus Temple in Los Angeles.

HOW GOVERNMENT PLANS BACK TO THE LAND LOANS

Families of Jobless in Cities to Be Set Up in Country Where They Can Raise Their Own Food.

Washington, July 28.—(AP)—Supporters of the "back to the land" movement to be financed from the public works fund believe it will go far to solve the Nation's relief problem and at the same time aid in restoring prosperity.

Back to the Land. Broadly, the plan contemplates taking families of unemployed in the cities where they are on relief to the country and setting them up on land where they can at least grow their own food and to that extent be independent.

Details have not been worked out. Some contend homesteaders should be given enough land on which to begin life anew, while others will want to give them land on which to grow their own food without adding to the agricultural surpluses by commercial farming.

Working Out Details. Secretary Ickes, chosen by the President to administer the fund, has called upon the plan's friends to work out details and get the idea on the track for realization.

The law is broad, providing merely that $25,000,000 shall be used to make loans for the purpose of establishing subsistence homesteads or for aiding them in other ways.

Will Be Repaid. It does stipulate that the money shall be used as a revolving fund, which contemplates that it will be repaid.

The law says the money is to be used "to provide for aiding the redistribution of the over-balanced population in industrial centers," contemplating a wholesale movement to the rural areas.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, July 28.—(AP)—The position of the Treasury July 28 was: receipts $84,586,133.33; expenditures $89,500,004.91; balance $840,245,385.05. Customs duties for month $19,619,169.05.

Total receipts for fiscal year (since July 1) $140,049,463.97; expenditures $344,666,787.40 (including $26,285,499.08 emergency expenditures). Excess of expenditures $104,617,323.43.

McNEIL NAMES ASSOCIATES TO HELP IN DRIVE

Dr. Edward G. Dolan Among Those Suggested to Conduct State Wide Campaign to Speed Recovery.

Bridgeport, July 28.—(AP)—Democratic National Committeeman Archibald McNeil today named to President Roosevelt the names of nine persons he has recommended for appointment as an advisory committee to assist in the state wide drive for support of the President's recovery program.

Mr. McNeil recommended for appointment to the committee Senator Frank S. Bergin of New Haven; Dr. Edward G. Dolan of Manchester; Mrs. Fannie Dixon Welch of Columbia; Frank D. Coster of Fairfield, president of McKesson and Robbins Inc.; E. Kent Hubbard of Middletown, president of the Connecticut Manufacturers Association; William Fitzgerald of Norwich, deputy state labor commissioner; J. M. Halloran, former mayor of New Britain and Milton McDonald of this city and John A. Walsh of Stamford.

Like Liberty Loan. The committee to be appointed will be in charge of the work of securing public support for the President's program through a state-wide drive along the lines of the Liberty Loan drives staged during the World War.

Acceptance of John J. Felloy, president of the New Haven railroad, of a place on the state board in charge of the Federal public works aid program, today guaranteed organization of the committee this week, Mr. McNeil said today.

It is likely that a meeting of the board will be held tomorrow. The other members named by President Roosevelt are Mr. McNeil and Senator Harvey L. Thompson of Middletown. Mr. McNeil is slated for the chairmanship of this group.

NOTED LAWYER DIES

Laconia, N. H., July 28.—(AP)—Stanton Owen, prominent attorney, who two days ago was named by President Roosevelt to be a member of the public works advisory board for New Hampshire, died here today aged 69 years.

MURDERS HER MOTHER; CANNOT EXPLAIN ACT

Former School Teacher Calmly Tells Husband of Slaying and Then Leads Police to the Body.

Orange, Mass., July 28.—(AP)—A 30-year-old former school teacher early today led a group of state and local police into the woods at Warwick, through a tangle of dew-drenched brushwood to a brook where lay the bullet-riddled body of her mother whom she said she slew.

The daughter, Mrs. Ruth Compton, wife of Warden W. Compton, a state engineer residing in Waterbury, a suburb of Boston, told the officers that she had her mother, Mrs. Mabel A. Grogan, 59-year-old Boston school principal, five times yesterday afternoon during a nature walk in the wooded wilderness surrounding her.

Mrs. Compton, police said, spent 20 days last April in a Waverly institution for the mentally ill. Recently she and her mother had been staying at her mother's cottage, Pine Lodge, in Northfield, one of a group of camps on Northfield mountain a few miles from here. She could give no reason for her act.

Abused Strangely. Mrs. Compton's husband told police that his wife returned to their Waterbury home unexpectedly late last night. She acted strangely, he said, and when he questioned her closely she told him of the slaying, and produced a fully loaded revolver.

Driver Flees Scene But Later Surrenders to Police and Is Held for Trial.

Wallingford, July 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Irene Bertram, 27, of Cherry street, Waterbury, was instantly killed late last night and Mrs. Margaret McGregor, 54, of Waterbury, suffered severe injuries when a motor car operated by Arnold LaGrange, 27, of 15 Yong street, Waterbury, with Louis Lawrence, 36, of 124 Oak street, Waterbury as the fourth passenger in the machine, left the highway and careened into a tract of land along the North Colony highway known as Miami acres for a distance of 190 feet and turned over twice in the vacant lot.

NATION'S BUSINESS HASTENS TO JOIN RECOVERY PARADE

England Wins Both Singles; Now Favorite

Perry Downs Cochet in Thrilling 5-Set Struggle, After Austin Easily Beats Merlin in Opener.

Roland Garros Stadium, Auteuil, France, July 28.—(AP)—England blasted France's hopes of keeping the Davis Cup today with a clean sweep of the first two singles matches in the challenge round of the international tennis battle.

Fred Perry, British No. 1, overthrew the Great Henri Cochet in a stirring five-set struggle, 3-10, 6-4, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1, for the main thrust after Henry W. Austin easily disposed of the newcomer, Andre Merlin, 6-3, 6-4, 6-0.

Cochet, upon whom the chief French hopes had been based, put up a gallant fight against his strong, aggressive rival but weakened after winning the fourth set to square their hard-fought match. Two of the five sets were prolonged duce struggles and Perry's greater stamina as well as his resourcefulness proved deciding factors in turning back the one-time world champion.

Need Only Victory. The British now need only one more victory in the remaining three matches to end France's six-year Davis Cup reign and give England possession of the classic trophy for the first time since 1913.

Unless the French, with their backs now to the wall, summoned Jean Borotra to play in the singles Sunday after pairing in the doubles tomorrow with Jacques Brugnon, it appeared certain Perry would dip.

Philadelphia Must Reduce Its Production of Wheat

Philadelphia, July 28.—(AP)—they meet requirements. This city-county must cut its production 1,230 bushels, or 46 per cent of its five-year average crop.

Announcement of the allotment in the morning newspapers was the first most Philadelphians knew that there were any wheat fields in the city. But then, Philadelphia sprays some twenty miles along its greater diameter.

Drinks 12 Quarts of Beer, Doctor Declares Him Sober

Paterson, N. J., July 28.—(AP)—Michael Sciro drank 12 quarts of 82 beer—48 eight-ounce steins—to prove it is not intoxicating.

The beer was consumed last night in a contest, in which five others, one a woman, dropped out after the first 15 minutes. Sciro went on for 16 minutes more and gulped down a total of 84 ounces.

Dr. E. F. Smith of Ridgewood then examined Sciro and found him "neither lightheaded nor intoxicated."

PRICES IN SLUMP ON STOCK MARKET

Dullest Trading Today Exchange Has Witnessed in Weeks; Some Quotations.

New York, July 28—(AP)—Stocks dropped today in the dullest trading the market had seen in weeks. The slow and generally moderate declines accompanied a setback for most commodities, to which early strength of dollar exchange appeared to have contributed.

The New York Stock Exchange, on a three-hour schedule this week, announced that a usual trading hour, 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., would be resumed on Monday and that the market would be closed Saturday through Sept. 2. It had been previously decided to hold no session tomorrow.

Grains at Chicago and Winnipeg were soggy, wheat losing about 4 to 5 cents a bushel. Cotton declined here.

The British pound, after dipping 8 cents to 84.48 here, more than recovered its decline.

Stock Exchange traders left the market largely to its own devices, many operators having departed for an extended week-end. Those who remained took little interest in the day's proceedings and volume dwindled to around 1,400,000 shares. Many leading issues had net losses ranging from a few cents to a couple of dollars. A few were off more extensively.

U. S. Steel Common closed at 85.47, off $1.82; American Telephone at $155.83, off $1.51; Western Union at $70.00, off $1.00; Bethlehem at $40.50, off $1.00; New York Central at $48.25, off $1.00; General Motors at $30.13, off $1.00.

Connecticut to administer the blanket code."

Meeting Called

Mr. Goss, this afternoon called a meeting of representatives of industry and business, to be held at 3 p. m., Tuesday, August 1, at the Hotel Bond in Hartford, when he will discuss the President's program with employers. The call for the meeting is being sent out by the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce, which is the liaison agent connecting the activities of local chambers of commerce with Mr. Goss as chairman of the recovery campaign.

MANCHESTER'S ACTION

Two duties confront the local Chamber of Commerce in its participation in the National Recovery Act program to hasten the return of prosperity, it was explained by Executive Vice President E. J. McCabe of the Chamber this afternoon, as he began the work of organizing the Manchester committee that will have charge here.

Campaign For Signers

First of all, the committee, consisting of representatives of the important elements in the economic life of the community, will conduct a campaign to obtain as many signers as possible of the President's Recovery Agreement, copies of which were received by all local employers today. This agreement is part of a nation-wide plan to raise wages, create employment, and thus increase purchasing power and restore business.

Employers who sign the agreement pledge themselves to establish a maximum schedule of working hours and also a minimum wage. Signing of the agreement is entirely voluntary on the part of employers, and it is here where the second duty enters in, according to Mr. McCabe. The committee will also conduct a campaign to educate the townsmen to purchase merchandise only in such stores as display the NRA insignia. With each agreement, employers also received a certificate of compliance by which they certify that they "have adjusted the hours of labor and the wages of our employees to accord with the President's Reemployment Agreement which we have signed."

This certificate is to be turned over to the local post office on or after August 1. The post office will give each employer a series of certificates to supply, including an outdoor card, an indoor card, a hanger, five large stickers, ten small stickers, ten consumer's stickers and ten consumer's statements of cooperation.

At certain intervals, when the agreements are mailed to the Department of Commerce at New York City lists of the local signers will be prepared and mailed to the post office here, to be posted for public inspection. Once a week the post office will send the certificates of compliance to the office in charge of this district.

Meetings Soon

After a conference with President E. J. Murphy today, Mr. McCabe announced that it is planned to call a meeting of local manufacturers in the near future, and that a meeting of local retailers is also planned soon. It is also expected that meetings of the various divisions will be called. These meetings will be held for the purpose of discussing what action will be taken by the various groups in regard to the National Recovery Act.

WALL STREET BRIEFS

The June gain in railroads' gross revenues and the substantial improvement in net operating income enabled numerous carriers to cover their fixed charges for the month. Wall street estimates that the Pennsylvania had surplus after charges of about $4,000,000. New York Central between $500,000 and $1,000,000, Baltimore & Ohio approximately $1,000,000 and Southern Pacific about $500,000.

MATTER RETURNING

Edmonton, Alberta, July 28.—(AP)—Jimmie Mattern, American airman, took off from here today at 9:45 a. m. e. s. t., for Winnipeg and Toronto enroute to New York.

T. M. "Pat" Reid was pilot of the plane.

Amateur Gallery

The British stars accounted a partisan, capacity gallery of 13,000 fans by turning back the French defense with the same methods that swept the United States out of the competition a week ago.

Cochet's defeat, his first on the opening day of a Davis Cup challenge round since he yielded to Big Bill Tilden at Germantown in 1927, was a shock to the defending forces, even though it was realized the former "Ball Boy of Lyons" no longer packed his best tennis punch.

The crowd yelled encouragement to him in the final set, repeating "Cochet, Cochet, Cochet" in unison, much after the manner of an American boxing crowd, but Henri became more uncertain and hit more feebly as the match neared its finish. As Perry leaped the net after the final point to grasp his opponent's hand, the crowd rose silently and seemed convinced that the Davis Cup was already on its way across the channel.

JOHNSTON NOT WORRIED

Detroit, July 28.—(AP)—General Hugh S. Johnston, national recovery administrator, here to "button up" an agreement upon a trade code in the automobile industry, is unperurbed by criticisms of the recovery program.

"Of course," he said in an interview, "there are those who will continue to pan the government and Congress, and the administrator, for going straight ahead with this recovery program as laid down in the Recovery Act. But it is working—so let them pan."

General Johnson was most optimistic over prospects for the success of the undertaking and asserted his belief that there was little if any possibility of difficulty between capital and labor as a result of the program.

"We shall go forward," he said. "No industry need fear any repetition of the pre-war difficulties between capital and labor. We are entering a new era, with a new economic design and pattern, with new rules of procedure. This is so definitely clear to those of us who are giving all our thought and time to it that it seems almost silly for either capital or labor to entertain suspicions or fears of the other."

Concerning the automobile industry directly, General Johnson said: "There has been a lot of bombing of shadows here as elsewhere. Between industrialists in such a huge enterprise as the manufacture of automobiles there are bound to be many more or less difficult points to iron out in order to come to agreement on a trade association and on a code governing action. But the main difficulty has been fear of something in the Industrial Recovery Act which is no real ground for fear. I hope and believe these fears will be quickly dispelled, and I definitely expect an automobile manufacturer's code to be signed."

Reiterating his statement that the recovery program is "working," General Johnson said:

"People are going back to work. More money is being paid in wages, more money is being spent in the purchase of goods. Business is moving up and ahead. If we can get that result—and we are getting it—what does it matter how much criticism there may be?"

"Moreover, the program has got to work. This country hasn't the resources to go through another winter of unemployment such as last winter. The disaster involved in failure of the recovery program is incalculable. And the tremendous good and improvement in conditions of living of the American people to be secured by a united effort to put across the recovery program are likewise incalculable."

DELIVERY PLEDGES

New York, July 28.—(AP)—Post office letter carriers today began the task of delivering National Industrial Recovery Act pledge blanks to more than 1,000,000 employers in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

Attached to the pledge blanks which are contained in White House envelopes, the carriers are circulating certificates of compliance to be filed by the employer after he had effected the changes necessary to bring his business in line with the code.

The pledges are to be signed immediately and mailed to the headquarters here of the Tri-State district. The certificate is to be signed before August 1. After it has been signed and the employer

RIDES INTO AUTO, CYCLIST MAY DIE

Young Raymond Stoutnar Hit by Rockville Woman on Oakland Street.

Raymond Stoutnar, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stoutnar, of 331 Tolland Turnpike, was seriously injured at 12:15 this afternoon when he was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Gertrude E. Custer, wife of Otto Custer of 12 Windsor avenue, Rockville, in front of Brunner's Market on Oakland street.

On An Errand

The Stoutnar boy was going home on his wheel riding on the sidewalk, having just purchased some groceries. At a point directly in front of the Brunner Market the boy went off the sidewalk into the road, directly into the path of Mrs. Custer's car which was proceeding south on Oakland street.

Stranded 46 Feet

The car struck the bicyclist head-on and dragged the wheel with Stoutnar on it for a distance of 46 feet. A call was sent in for help and the injured boy was taken to the hospital in Quish's ambulance. Upon examination it was found that he had suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, puncture of both lungs, cuts on the head and a possible broken back. His name was placed on the danger list after an emergency blood transfusion had been made to compensate for loss of blood sustained from pulmonary hemorrhages.

AUSTIN IS WINNER OF OPENING MATCH

English Star Turns Back Merlin in Straight Sets in Davis Cup Finale.

Roland Garros Stadium, Auteuil, July 28.—(AP)—Henry W. (Bunny) Austin, sensational young British tennis star, scored the first victory for England today in the Davis Cup challenge round against France by decisively beating Andre Merlin, a new-comer to the competition, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-0.

Playing the same careful, effective tennis that gave him two victories over the United States singles stars last week, Austin had command of the match except in the second set when the combination of a spurt by Merlin and unwillingness by the crowd contributed to the loss of the match.

A capacity crowd of 12,500, backed around the red clay court, indulged in partisan demonstrations at many stages of the contest, which preceded the match between the rival No. 1 stars, Fred Perry of England and Henri Cochet of France.

WIFE DID NOT KNOW HUSBAND'S BUSINESS

New Haven, July 28.—(AP)—To back-seat driving by wives in automobiles already a matter of State court opinion in Connecticut Judge Edwin S. Thomas of the Federal court yesterday added his court's opinion, on how husbands keep their wives in ignorance about the use of their cars for bootlegging.

Judge Thomas entered on his memorandum this notation: "It more than appears to me that this husband, like many husbands engaged in illicit business, failed to acquaint his wife with any of his goings or comings. And this is true even in cases where a husband is engaged in a lawful occupation."

ROCKVILLE TO VOTE ON BIENNIAL ELECTIONS AUGUST 14

Town of Vernon to Go to Polls Next Month on Proposal to Elect Every Two Years.

A special town election has been called by First Selectman Francis J. Prichard to act on the suggestion of replacing the annual election with a biennial election. The date set for the special election is Monday, August 14. It has been found necessary to vote by ballot on this question and not at a special town meeting as questions have been settled in the past.

Several months ago at the adjourned town meeting many citizens advocated the biennial election but action was deferred at that time. The change to a biennial election is expected to save the town of Vernon, in which Rockville is located, about $200 annually. Plans under consideration at the present time would mean an election during odd-years starting this year.

Many are still advocating the holding up of action on this question preparatory to acting on the consolidation of the town and city governments and the insertion of such a question in the revised charter for the suggested commission form of government which it is hoped to bring up for action in the fall of 1934.

The annual meeting of the Connecticut Editorial Association will be held on Saturday afternoon at Crystal Lake at which more than one hundred are expected to attend. They will make their first stop at the World's Fair at Chicago where they will spend a week. From there they will make a trip south, stopping at Kansas City, New Mexico and the Grand Canyon.

AMUSEMENTS

STATE THEATER

"Don't Bet On Love" "Sunset Pass" Lew Ayres and Ginger Rogers in "Don't Bet On Love" and Zane Grey's "Sunset Pass" are the two features on today's program at the State. For Saturday "Clancy of the Mounted" is an added attraction.

Not since "All Quiet on the Western Front" has Lew Ayres had a role which fitted him so perfectly as that accorded him in his latest Universal screen drama, "Don't Bet On Love". Ayres, who since his role of Paul Baumer in "All Quiet" has won an enormous personal fan following, has in "Don't Bet On Love", a human, appealing characterization different from anything he has yet done.

And in addition to Ayres, there is the vivacious, peppery Ginger Rogers as feminine lead-Ginger straight from her success in "42nd Street", playing opposite Ayres in absolute harmony—a perfect team of young lovers.

Two of Hollywood's best-known Western stars "joined up" with Paramount to play in Zane Grey's "Sunset Pass". They are Tom Keene, who is cast in the leading role and Harry Carey, one of the menaces of the cast. Keene plays the role of a cattleman's Association deputy, engaged to run down a gang of rustlers, who finds that the brother of the girl he loves is the man he must apprehend.

Both Keene and Carey have won outstanding success in Westerns. Keene has been a star in the past five years. Carey has been in pictures since 1910, when he played his first role for Biograph.

Sandy Beach, Crystal Lake Arrangements have been finally completed for two of the most successful musical attractions ever to appear in this section, which will be presented over the week-end, on Saturday and Sunday nights, at the Sandy Beach Ballroom, Crystal Lake. No less an outstanding orchestra than "Jack" Kerr and his twelve Victor Recording Missourians are scheduled to play on Saturday night, July 29. Known as the most popular and capable dance band in the middle west, they come from Kansas City, where they have been featured at the Hotel Muehlebach. At this famous spot, where the leading name bands of the country are employed, they registered a decided hit. Signed by the Victor Co., they have made a large number of phonograph recordings. Starred on the Lucky Strike Hour, their high quality radio work has brought them further fame. As a part of their first tour through the country, "Jack" Kerr brings this band of twelve musical artists to the ballroom on Saturday night.

Sunday night, July 30, brings "Charlie" Barnett and his WABC Paramount Hotel Orchestra to the band-stand. He is so well known but few words need be said about him. Only nineteen years old, he plays sax, clarinet, flute and trumpet, and directs one of the foremost dance units in the nation. Thirteen men compose his orchestra, eleven of them brilliant arrangers. And what music they play. Half of it has a velvet quality, flowing smooth and soft—and the other half might have been born in Harlem; it is so terrific and low-down. "Charlie" Barnett and his orchestra were a sensation at the Paramount Hotel. Likewise at the New Kemmore Hotel in Albany, and at the Pavilion Royal, Valley Stream, L. I. Heard so many times through WABC, they provide the highest type of musical entertainment. No one will want to miss their Sunday night program at Sandy Beach.

DENY TROTZKY REPORT Moscow, July 26.—(AP)—Reports in France and Spain that Leon Trotzky, exiled Communist leader, might be reconciled with Moscow and be named Soviet Russia's first ambassador to Spain were officially characterized today as ridiculous.

NORWALK LEADS PHONE PERCENTAGES OF STATE

Number of Patrons in Proportion to Population and Area Greatest in Down State City.

Telephone density—the number of telephones in a specified area in proportion to the population in that area—furnishes a figure which has long been used to compare cities, towns and countries with others in the matter of progressiveness in telephone utilization and the universal basis for arriving at this figure is the number of telephones per 100 population. Often the comparisons by this method show surprising results, as is the case with telephone densities of Southern New England Telephone Company exchanges at the half-way mark of 1933, for the exchanges is greatest in Norwalk, the State's eighth largest city (1930 population 36,019).

Since telephone density figures were compared a year ago this time, Norwalk has fought its way out of a triple tie for second place with Hartford and New London and has wrestled the leadership from Milford which has slipped back into fifth place for 1933. The leadership has thus passed from one of the smaller exchanges to one of the larger ones. Norwalk's telephone density at the present time is 22.0 telephones per 100 population, a figure which is higher than several of the country's cities with huge metropolitan populations. Hartford, which leads in population and in total number of telephones, held its own during the year, remaining in second place with 21.7 telephones per 100 residents, while New London tenaciously held its second place with the Capital, having exactly the same density.

Stamford, sixth in population, moved from fifth to fourth position in telephones per 100 population with a figure of 21.3. Milford, fifth in line, had a density of 21.2 telephones per 100. Danbury, seventh last year, advanced to sixth place with 20.9 telephones per 100 people; and New Haven, second largest in number of telephones and population, dropped from sixth to seventh position with 20.5 per 100. Others of the first twenty larger exchanges with respect to the total number of telephones have the following telephone densities per 100 population: Willimantic, 18.4; Manchester, 17.2; Meriden, 16.8; Middletown and Naugatuck, 16.6; Putnam, 15.6; Norwich, 15.4; Bridgeport, 15.0; Waterbury, 14.9; Bristol, 12.8; Ansonia-Derby, 11.8; New Britain, 11.7.

The average number of telephones per 100 population for the twenty largest exchanges in the Southern New England Telephone Company system is 17.4, so that Manchester most closely approximates the average telephone density.

POST WILL NOT RUN ON FUSION TICKET

Former New York Assemblyman Not a Candidate—Seabury Attacks the Movement.

New York, July 28.—(AP)—Fusion leaders today expressed surprise at reports that former Assemblyman Langdon W. Post had declined the resignation for president of the Borough of Manhattan on a fusion ticket headed by Mayor General John F. O'Ryan for mayor.

Leaders of the movement also were somewhat taken aback by the attack on their action by Samuel Seabury, who was counsel to the Hofstadter legislative committee in its investigation of the city administration.

"We took deliberate action designed to get the best possible ticket under the circumstances," Maurice P. Davidson, chairman of the City Party, said. "General O'Ryan is a fighter, a man of ability and a hitter who can't be controlled by anybody. Mr. Seabury has repeatedly said that he is a man of fine character and would make a good candidate."

Davidson said he always had been and still is an admirer of Seabury, but he is unable to understand Seabury's position.

The fusion conference which yesterday picked General O'Ryan to oppose Tammany in the mayoralty race next fall is not scheduled to meet again until Tuesday. Unless the situation has changed meanwhile, the rest of the ticket will be selected at that time.

The Tammany candidate for mayor is generally expected to be Mayor John F. O'Ryan, who has announced his candidacy reputedly after receiving approval of the Hall.

On Wednesday the hours were again changed to 11 a. m. to 2 p. m., until this abbreviated schedule ending today.

PRE-SCHOOL CHILDREN TO GET PHYSICAL EXAMS

Summer Round Ups Already Held Total 177 - Many Defects Corrected Before Fall.

Some five thousand Connecticut children who will enter school for the first time this fall have been or will be given complete physical and dental examinations in the annual Summer Round-Ups, instituted by the Congress of Parents and Teachers, the State Department of Health reported in its monthly bulletin today.

Thus far this year, 177 Round-Ups have been held in the State, practically all of them in the smaller towns which do not have public health departments to take care of such requirements. Still others are scheduled and there is still opportunity before school opens in the fall to have defects corrected so that children may enter school with a healthy condition as possible.

In the past such different capacities in the children were not considered by parents who felt that they were either fortunate in having children who were naturally healthy or just unlucky if their children did not gain as they should, but little effort was made to improve such conditions.

ECONOMIC FEDERATION IS ORGANIZED BY JEWS

To Hold Meeting in London When Delegates from All Over World Will Attend.

London, July 28.—(AP)—The organization of a world Jewish economic federation, formed at a recent meeting of Jewish leaders in Amsterdam, was effected here today with Sir Robert Mond as chairman.

It was decided to hold a meeting in London in October, with delegations from all over the world invited to attend.

One of the main purposes of the group, it was announced, is the furtherance of a German boycott plan advanced at the Amsterdam gathering.

Samuel Untermyer of New York, who took a leading role in organizing the movement, concluded his mission here, and will sail for New York Monday—his 74th crossing of the Atlantic.

Sir Robert Mond is a prominent industrialist, scientist, and civic leader. He is a director of a gas company, a nickel firm, and a refinery. Born in 1867, the son of the late Dr. Ludwig Mond, he was educated in Cambridge, Edinburgh, and Glasgow universities.

He is a member of several learned societies, including several devoted to chemistry, physics, and archaeology; an officer of the Legion of Honor, and the author of several scientific papers.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Cleveland, Ohio.—John W. Slagle, employe of the New York Central Railroad has traveled 159.8 miles to and from his work each day for 13 years. He will retire Monday at the age of 70. His friends figure he's ridden trains 720,000 miles between his home at Gallon, Ohio, 79.8 miles from here, and Cleveland.

"When I was transferred," he said, "my wife did not want to leave Gallon, and I'd just as soon ride a train as a street car so we stayed down there where most of our friends are. It seems too bad to quit now just when I'm getting used to commuting."

Slagle has been railroading 44 years.

Beckley, W. Va.—Bulky George Fine, 20, tried to follow Lester Blevins, 22, tall and slender to freedom through a hole in the county jail. He stuck tight.

Another prisoner called the jailer. While prison officials pulled from the inside, firemen outside pushed—successfully.

Erie, Pa.—Wesley Mehler, 18, who hustles messages for a telegraph company, works by the slogan "Get your man."

Handed a message for a man aboard a freighter in the middle of Erie bay, he arrived back at his office two hours later, his hands blistered and his back lame. He had borrowed a row boat to deliver the wire.

Ritzville, Wash.—A half-broken horse made Ewan Roloff a good candidate for a nudist colony. Ewan roped the horse which dragged him across a field and through three wire fences. When it finally gave in, Roloff was attired only in a pair of shoes.

Sunnyvale, Cal.—Arnold Marty, out in the hills with his gun, saw an 80 pound mountain lion kill a fine, large doe. So, he killed the cat which had violated the closed season on deer and venison legally.

Leavenworth, Kas.—Despite gloomy forecasts from some quarters that American home life is disappearing, home still twangs many a heartstring.

Of more than 5,000 men who have been trained at Fort Leavenworth for reforestation work, 185 have been discharged and most of them left because they were homesick.

11,000 GET WAGE RAISE.

New York, July 28.—(AP)—A wage and salary increase of 8 per cent has been granted to 11,000 employes of the Postal Telegraph & Cable Corporation, it was announced today. The advance which became effective as of July 12, does not apply to executives.

Beginning in August, 1930, the company reduced wages 20 to 30 per cent, depending upon location. The company is maintaining a five-day week in its small offices throughout the country but a longer week is in effect in the large centers and offices.

FOUR ARE HONORED BY STATE COLLEGE

Three Men and a Woman Awarded Recognition as Leaders in Rural Work.

Storrs, July 28.—(AP)—Three men and one woman, selected from among Connecticut's rural leaders, were awarded recognition certificates today in the tenth annual honorary exercises at Hawley armory, Connecticut State College. Dr. Charles C. McCracken, president of the college, presented the certificates as a feature of the farm and home week program.

For the first time in the history of the award, a certificate was presented jointly to two persons—Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Benton of Andover, who have worked so closely together that it seems impossible to separate the contribution that each has made.

Mr. and Mrs. Benton, for 15 years prominent in agricultural cooperative enterprises in Tolland county, were honored for "outstanding rural leadership."

Dr. George H. Jennings of Jewett City, still practicing country doctor at 83, after sixty years of devotion to his profession, and John B. Cannon of West Suffield, a "practical farmer," were also awarded certificates.

This annual selection of members of an agricultural "hall of fame" was introduced at the state college in 1924. Selections are made by a special faculty committee, and nominations are subject to the approval of the board of trustees.

GOLD HOARDERS WARNED

Washington, July 28.—(AP)—The few people who have gold ore and its concentrate may expect to get a higher world price, but the 200,000 still hoard coins, have only three more weeks to turn them in before the government acts.

The Treasury relaxed the presidential gold embargo so the ore and concentrates—crushed and washed—may be exported.

But there was no relaxation in the drive against hoarders. Attorney General Cummings announced these would be given three weeks to give up their hoards, and thereafter, the recalcitrants would be prosecuted and their names published.

FRIDAY, JULY 28.

THE MOVE TO THE FARMS.

The government's effort to place unemployed city workers on farms where they can support themselves and their families constitutes one of the most interesting experiments in the entire recovery program. Interior Secretary Ickes, under presidential order, will have $25,000,000 to spend on the endeavor. The consequences may well be more far-reaching than the modest beginning indicates.

What to do with hundreds of thousands of workers permanently displaced in industry has been one of the most baffling problems of the economic and social reorganization now being attempted.

Coal mining furnishes a case in point. Authorities estimate that there are now probably 250,000 idle miners who can never again find work digging coal even under the most favorable circumstances. There is no longer sufficient demand for fuel to warrant their labor, because of the development of water power, the use of oil for fuel, and other factors. What is true of coal mining is true in less degree in scores of other occupations.

Obviously, direct relief, which is now such a heavy burden on taxpayers, will not permanently solve the problem. It is necessary and desirable in the present emergency, but cannot be adopted as a permanent method of providing food and shelter for large numbers of the population. Direct relief and even "made work" are makeshifts, and do not permanently fix the beneficiaries to support themselves.

Difficulties in carrying out the back-to-the-land movement are at once apparent. Urban dwellers lack the experience necessary to make them successful farmers. Moreover, the government is engaged in a gigantic effort to reduce agricultural output, and any increase in productivity would defeat this effort.

These and other difficulties, however, do not seem insurmountable. The farms on which workers will be placed presumably will be subsistence homesteads which would not materially add to the glut of farm products. The migrants would have the friendly co-operation and assistance of the government. And small farms adjacent to cities would offer possible part-time industrial employment.

The project may be an important factor in the final and permanent solution of the unemployment problem, which is present even in the best of times.

THE RED SCHOOL GOES.

The little red schoolhouse has been one of the most significant of all American landmarks for more than a century. It is part of the background of millions of Americans; it has been the starting post for many of the nation's most successful men; and it lives today in a halo of sentiment, a thing as indisputably and typically American as corn on the cob.

But Owen D. Young was quite right in his recent warning to the National Education Association that we must bend every effort to getting the little red schoolhouse off of the scene.

The rural villages of the red schoolhouse's heyday, Mr. Young points out, were self-contained and self-supporting. They were islands, remote and isolated. The cultural life of the nation was centered in the cities; to the cities, consequently, went the ambitious and energetic young men as soon as the red schoolhouse had got through with them.

Today the wind of change is blowing over the land. New economic conditions foreshadow a decentralization of industry, of population and of culture. The small town is due for a rebirth. The old barriers that isolated it have vanished forever.

But, says Mr. Young, "we will not get this change in country life without good schools. People will not move there or even stay there if the educational facilities for their children are inadequate. The schools are the key which will unlock the country for modern living."

All of this is perfectly true; and no one who has traveled through rural districts in recent years can fail to realize that a tremendous start has already been made in the right direction. The fine new schoolhouse is more and more becoming the cultural and architectural center about which the life of the small town is built. Many and many a town has spent more money than it could really afford to give its children the best schoolhouse possible.

That is a healthy trend. Our democracy must stand or fall by its educational system, and the demands which it will make on its schools in the immediate future will be greater than ever before.

The little red schoolhouse, enormously useful as it has been, has outlived its day. The American scene will lose one of its dearest landmarks—but it will get something better to take its place.

SCANDAL CITY.

Al Jolson, veteran stage comedian, whose wife, Ruby Keeler, has made a rapid rise to popularity in the musical films, doesn't like Hollywood, the picture game, or the presence of his wife, in the business. He has been happily married, and as he puts it himself, quietly so, for the past five years. He doesn't want anything to wreck his wedded happiness. He says that Hollywood is "divorce and scandal all the time."

Coming from a comedian like Jolson who had won the hearts of millions before the movies began to talk and in the wake of a series of marriage breakdowns in the film colony, his statement can be taken as about the whole truth. No one can blame him for wanting to be rid of the movie connection. In an interview following his recent encounter with Walter Winchell he says that he tried to reach Will Hays, generalissimo of all the motion picture companies but that he was unable to do so.

It seems to us that Hollywood's contempt for the marriage trust is a sore spot in the nation. It certainly cannot be pointed to with pride by anyone who respects the sacredness of the marriage vow and the inviolability of the family. Mr. Hays should do something about it. Contracts with a clause forbidding scandal, or at least providing a stiff fine for bad publicity, might have some effect.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

BOOTLEGGING IS LIKELY EVEN IF REPEAL PASSES

High Cost of Legitimate Liquor Expected to Keep Present Kind in Demand

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, July 28—Prohibition agents are being rapidly exterminated, but the bootleggers will survive them by many years.

That fact is commonly recognized here. The administration is taking the bootlegger's present relative freedom with complete calm, at the same time anticipating a problem of collecting the revenues which it anticipates from hard liquor after prohibition's repeal—which may come this year.

The root of the problem is that high-grade, legitimate whiskey may be selling at five or 10 times the price at which it can be handled by illicit distillers and distributors.

In adjacent Maryland new whiskey is offered in case lots at $1.35 a gallon. Whiskey of considerable age and quality may be had for $4. Illicit booze of similar type is available in most regions of the country.

Price Will Be High

To compete with this, legal distributors under government sanction are likely to have nothing to offer at less than $20 a gallon. There will be a federal tax—very likely $6.40—plus a $5 import duty, plus state tax and costs and profits of producer, wholesaler and retailer.

Legal whiskey must be largely imported for three or four years because there are less than 4,000,000 gallons of pre-war whiskey in bond, and only 7,000,000 gallons which can become eligible before expiration of the four-year aging period prescribed by the government. That compares with 167,000,000 gallons consumed in 1917. Bootleggers and private hoarders, under the relaxed restrictions on medicinal permits, are making rapid inroads on that 4,000,000 gallons, and much of it will be sold only after being "cut" with alcohol and water.

There's no age limit on gin and the speed and quantity of production would be limited only by the supply of alcohol available, and consumer demand. Bootleg gin will continue to have a market, officials believe, since taxes will make the legal article dearer.

Old Tax Ineffective

Contrary to common belief, the old federal tax of $6.40 a gallon on spirits will not become automatically effective when repeal is achieved. The tax was $1.10 until wartime, when it was doubled.

Just before prohibition became effective it was hiked to $6.40 for beverage spirits and $2.20 for non-beverage spirits. But in 1925 the rate was fixed at $1.10 on non-beverage spirits with a $6.40 tax on those "diverted for beverage purposes."

Dr. James M. Moran, commissioner of industrial alcohol, says this means that after repeal there will be no tax except the $1.10 import duty. Congress makes a change. Congress is expected to act rapidly and will place the rate much nearer the former $6.40.

A Senator's Fame

The fame of Senator Edward P. Costigan of Colorado, who was more effective than any other banking committee member in seeing that fact about J. P. Morgan & Co. were publicly revealed, has spread across the sea.

He recently received a letter from a lady named Costigan in London, who seeks a relative over here of the same name, addressed "Senator E. P. Costigan, House of Morgan, Washington, D. C."

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

New York, July 28 — Most of Broadway's celebrities had amazingly inauspicious beginnings. John Golden, for instance, one of the most successful producers, once was a bricklayer—and even was a member of a construction gang on a theater in which some of his plays later appeared. . . . And George Gershwin, who was born George Brushkin in Brooklyn, used to be a half-starved song plunger in Tin Pan Alley. His next job was in a vaudeville act in a cheap movie house house, and he lasted exactly one performance.

It was only a few short years ago that Ethel Merman was failing a typewriter in a realty office. And now she's starring in "Take a Chance" the musical hit that had moved to Chicago. Samuel Rothafel, now known as "Roxy," is an ex-bartender and a former marine. Rosa Ponselle vaulted from the vaudeville stage to the Metropolitan Opera Company. . . . And Mae West was a vaudeville acrobat. . . . George S. Kaufman, after being fired from at least half the newspapers of New York and Washington, now has become the foremost director-playwright in the American theater.

Eddie Elikin, the orchestra leader, graduated from a dental college; Fred Waring took a degree in architecture; and George Kelly, the playwright, once was a civil engineer. . . . Constance Bennett used to be a rialto chorus girl specializing in the nucker trade; and more speakies (often estimated at over 30,000) than the mere 57 Federal enforcement men can shake a stick at. . . . New York you're thinking for it has 2900 churches of every sect and denomination including Buddhist and Mohammedan, and they have a total membership of well over a million.

More than a third of the people here are foreign-born, and it's difficult to find a native New Yorker. It has more Italians than Rome, more Irish than Dublin, more Germans than Bremen, and more Indians than Tippecanoe, Okla. It contains one-tenth of all the Jews in the world; and there are exactly 11,314 Cohens in the Brooklyn telephone directory alone. . . . New York is a center of higher education; as a matter of fact, one of its college campuses is on the forty-second floor of the Woolworth building.

The town dotes on its 140 public monuments and statues, which if laid end to end, would probably look more astonishing than they do at present. Real estate here is worth $8,500,000,000, which doesn't mean that taxes are collected on any such amount. . . . A new business starts up approximately every fourteen minutes, and another goes broke almost as often. . . . Every 32 seconds a passenger train pulls in to discharge part of the 300,000 visitors that arrive every day, at least half of whom know more about New York than do New Yorkers.

The traffic problem keeps everybody on the jump, although the time spent by pedestrians waiting to cross Fifth Avenue at Forty-second Street totals 300,000 days a year. . . . Somebody is born every eight minutes, and there's a wedding every fourteen minutes. Each hour and fifteen minutes, though, somebody applies for a divorce or hops off for Reno.

The temperature on the planet Mars reaches 84 degrees below zero at night.

A Thought

For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you; but if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.—St. Matthew 6:14-15.

He who has not forgiven an enemy has never yet tasted one of the most sublime enjoyments of life.—Lavater.

Auto production by members of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce during March is recorded as 61,970 units.

That compares with 167,000,000 gallons consumed in 1917. Bootleggers and private hoarders, under the relaxed restrictions on medicinal permits, are making rapid inroads on that 4,000,000 gallons, and much of it will be sold only after being "cut" with alcohol and water.

There's no age limit on gin and the speed and quantity of production would be limited only by the supply of alcohol available, and consumer demand. Bootleg gin will continue to have a market, officials believe, since taxes will make the legal article dearer.

Old Tax Ineffective

Contrary to common belief, the old federal tax of $6.40 a gallon on spirits will not become automatically effective when repeal is achieved. The tax was $1.10 until wartime, when it was doubled.

Just before prohibition became effective it was hiked to $6.40 for beverage spirits and $2.20 for non-beverage spirits. But in 1925 the rate was fixed at $1.10 on non-beverage spirits with a $6.40 tax on those "diverted for beverage purposes."

Dr. James M. Moran, commissioner of industrial alcohol, says this means that after repeal there will be no tax except the $1.10 import duty. Congress makes a change. Congress is expected to act rapidly and will place the rate much nearer the former $6.40.

A Senator's Fame

The fame of Senator Edward P. Costigan of Colorado, who was more effective than any other banking committee member in seeing that fact about J. P. Morgan & Co. were publicly revealed, has spread across the sea.

He recently received a letter from a lady named Costigan in London, who seeks a relative over here of the same name, addressed "Senator E. P. Costigan, House of Morgan, Washington, D. C."

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

New York, July 28 — Most of Broadway's celebrities had amazingly inauspicious beginnings. John Golden, for instance, one of the most successful producers, once was a bricklayer—and even was a member of a construction gang on a theater in which some of his plays later appeared. . . . And George Gershwin, who was born George Brushkin in Brooklyn, used to be a half-starved song plunger in Tin Pan Alley. His next job was in a vaudeville act in a cheap movie house house, and he lasted exactly one performance.

It was only a few short years ago that Ethel Merman was failing a typewriter in a realty office. And now she's starring in "Take a Chance" the musical hit that had moved to Chicago. Samuel Rothafel, now known as "Roxy," is an ex-bartender and a former marine. Rosa Ponselle vaulted from the vaudeville stage to the Metropolitan Opera Company. . . . And Mae West was a vaudeville acrobat. . . . George S. Kaufman, after being fired from at least half the newspapers of New York and Washington, now has become the foremost director-playwright in the American theater.

Eddie Elikin, the orchestra leader, graduated from a dental college; Fred Waring took a degree in architecture; and George Kelly, the playwright, once was a civil engineer. . . . Constance Bennett used to be a rialto chorus girl specializing in the nucker trade; and more speakies (often estimated at over 30,000) than the mere 57 Federal enforcement men can shake a stick at. . . . New York you're thinking for it has 2900 churches of every sect and denomination including Buddhist and Mohammedan, and they have a total membership of well over a million.

More than a third of the people here are foreign-born, and it's difficult to find a native New Yorker. It has more Italians than Rome, more Irish than Dublin, more Germans than Bremen, and more Indians than Tippecanoe, Okla. It contains one-tenth of all the Jews in the world; and there are exactly 11,314 Cohens in the Brooklyn telephone directory alone. . . . New York is a center of higher education; as a matter of fact, one of its college campuses is on the forty-second floor of the Woolworth building.

The town dotes on its 140 public monuments and statues, which if laid end to end, would probably look more astonishing than they do at present. Real estate here is worth $8,500,000,000, which doesn't mean that taxes are collected on any such amount. . . . A new business starts up approximately every fourteen minutes, and another goes broke almost as often. . . . Every 32 seconds a passenger train pulls in to discharge part of the 300,000 visitors that arrive every day, at least half of whom know more about New York than do New Yorkers.

The traffic problem keeps everybody on the jump, although the time spent by pedestrians waiting to cross Fifth Avenue at Forty-second Street totals 300,000 days a year. . . . Somebody is born every eight minutes, and there's a wedding every fourteen minutes. Each hour and fifteen minutes, though, somebody applies for a divorce or hops off for Reno.

The temperature on the planet Mars reaches 84 degrees below zero at night.

VARICOSE VEINS MAR LIMBS

During vacation time many women are especially interested in overcoming the varicose veins which disfigure the legs, sometimes to such an extent as to make the one affected hesitate to appear in bathing suit. By the term "varicose veins" we usually refer to those appearing on the inner side of the leg, around the knee or behind the calf, although varicose veins may occur in the larger part of the large intestine, on the abdomen and on other parts of the body. Even piles or hemorrhoids could be referred to as varicose veins.

The most common cause of varicose veins is an interference with the return of the venous circulation. This may occur directly over the veins when tight garters are worn or may be due to abdominal pressure which partly stops the flow of blood along the great veins. Abdominal pressure may be caused by fallen organs, pregnancy, tumors or aggravated constipation. The legs feel heavy and ready to sink; if the veins are subject to a continued pressure, the blood coming up will gradually accumulate and distend the veins. When the leg veins are overloaded, they sag and stretch and the valves, which keep the blood from flowing backward, give way.

The development of varicose veins is usually slow. At first, thin, bluish lines may appear but, as the condition progresses, they become larger and turn a deep purple color. They seem to be knotted and tortuous and even small tumor-like masses may form. The leg becomes unattractive and bruises readily. Ordinary symptoms are aching, numbness and even cramps. The legs feel heavy and walking or standing intensifies the symptoms. Usually the trouble is most noticeable after a hard day's work during warm weather. Those who are on their feet a great deal, such as housewives, postmen or mail-carriers are most likely to develop this trouble. More women than men are affected, possibly because they are more subject to prolapsed conditions.

Varicose veins should be treated as soon as possible since they have a tendency to grow larger and sometimes form ulcers. A cure depends upon a general health building regimen to re-vitalize the blood so that the veins will have better nourishment for developing stronger walls, but local treatment is also indispensable if you wish to shrink the veins to normal size. The best local treatments are given with certain kinds of electrical apparatus which can only be used by a physician.

You can benefit yourself, however, by applying a piece of ice several times a day to the enlarged veins. The ice should be held against the vein in a towel so that the hand will not become too cold and the smooth piece of ice is pressed directly against the swollen vein while the leg is raised in the air so that the blood has some opportunity to drain out of the vein. This treatment should be continued several times daily for three or four months, during which time the muscles in the wall of the vein become strengthened by the contraction produced by ice. Apply the ice successively for two or three minutes to the different parts to be treated. During cold weather a substitute can be had by sitting in a tub and allowing cold water to run over the part of the leg where the veins are.

The best exercises for over-crowded varicose veins are those which while lying on the back on a

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS:

(Can Human Catch Mange?)
 Question: Mrs. Agnes DeW. writes: "I have a pet cat that I have had for over ten years. He has a bad case of mange. I keep him in the house and would like to know if there is any danger of a person catching the mange?"

Answer: I have never known of any cases of mange affecting human beings. However, it may be possible since the mites which are highly communicable among domestic animals. Its cause is a certain type of itch mites which must be destroyed if the mange is to be cured. A veterinary would be able to advise you definitely concerning the treatment of animals. (Raspberries Difficult to Sell)

Question: Mrs. C. S. asks: "Why do I have such a time trying to make raspberry jelly, when I have no trouble with apples or quinces?"

Answer: Your trouble comes from the fact that raspberries contain practically no pectin which is necessary before cooked fruits will thicken or jelly. There is a generous supply of this substance in such fruits as apples, quinces, currants, gooseberries and guavas, hence their jelly-making qualities. (Dried Fruits Need Not Be Cooked)

Question: Mrs. Robert M. writes: "I receive a great deal of help through your daily writings, and am wondering if you would advise eating dried figs, prunes, and fruit of that kind without being stewed?"

Answer: The dried fruits you mention can be used without cooking and are even more wholesome when used in this manner. Some enjoy the flavor of the fruits when they are soaked over night in a small amount of water, and then eaten without being cooked.

BARGAIN BRIDE

KATHARINE HAVLAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELINOR STAFFORD, 30, falls in love with BARRETT COLVIN, 35, but her jealous, scheming mother, LIDA STAFFORD, breaks up the romance by convincing Barrett that Elinor is a heartless flirt.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies she leaves her fortune to Barrett. Then drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barrett tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live in his home as a guest for a year he will give her the entire Sexton fortune to divide among her relatives. Knowing the money may save her father's life, Elinor agrees.

The marriage takes place. Barrett, in spite of the lies Lida told him, finds himself more in love with Elinor than ever. Barrett has a ward, nine-year-old GERALD MOORE, who is the son of his half-sister, MARCIA RADNER. Barrett has promised Marcia never to reveal the boy's real story. Lida Stafford discovers the child's existence and concludes he is Barrett's son.

Elinor's father dies. Barrett takes her to Cuba and the trip is a happy one. After their return Lida calls. Elinor senses that there is some secret between Barrett and her mother. When she asks him about this he evades.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLII

Elinor rose slowly. She felt suddenly plunged back into the old existence of deceit and dishonesty, wishing so hungrily that codes might be right and true, yet being certain they never were.

"Barry," she said, "I can't live if things aren't as they seem. You know how entirely my heart is yours—"

"Of course I do!" he exclaimed. He caught her in his arms to kiss her hungrily.

As suddenly as it had swept her, her fear faded. She laughed. "It's just that I've been worrying about nothing at all, isn't it?"

He nodded, face pressed against her throat and with one hand, he did not want her to read his eyes, revealing his terror at what she might think if she knew about Gerald. He had never broken a promise but he did not see how he could keep the one he had made Marcia if keeping it should make Elinor unhappy.

"I didn't understand mother's look, dearest, but it was foolish of me to take her seriously," she admitted.

"Yes, darling, it was."

"It bothered me all evening—"

"Darling, what?"

"You do love me?"

"You know I do!" he faltered, tightening his arms about her.

And that was the end of the matter—for the time.

It was on a day in early July that Lida died. It was her duty, to tell Elinor the entire story. Lida was always been capable of turning a wish to a moral necessity. She had felt the scorn Barrett could not keep from showing for her and this was to be her revenge.

Never had any man looked at her as Barrett looked. His daughter's husband, her son-in-law! His eyes, whenever they met hers, were a note and chill. He could not have shown more aversion to a beggar of the east.

Lida assured herself that under the circumstances Elinor would be able to extract from Barrett a huge amount of alimony. This done, Lida was sure she could have about what she wished. Elinor hated quarreling over money—hated quarreling over anything at all. She would do anything to maintain peace.

"She must leave Barrett! He isn't fit to be her husband!" Lida thought. "She must be brave and stand by her rights!"

But Elinor did not comply with Lida's suggestions. She received her mother in the drawing room. That was a beginning that Lida, who wanted a boulevard intimacy in her daughter's house, did not want.

"It's frightfully hot!" Lida said as she sat down. "Why don't you get away?"

"Barrett has to be in town just now. He's helping Doctor Detries," Elinor answered. It was for her a wholly convincing reason.

What had her mother come for? Elinor, who knew her so well, was aware that when Lida seemed concerned about anyone it was likely to preface a stab in the back. Her eyes grew troubled as she waited.

"I'll have Higgins bring us some iced tea," she said quickly. Perhaps she could divert her mother.

"Not for me, darling, please. I haven't time. I have a few words I must say to you and I want to catch a train at five for Bellport."

Elinor sat down and Lida began. The color faded from the girl's cheeks. She closed her eyes a moment, then opened them. It was true that each week Barrett went away for a long day. Objects in the room that she knew well became suddenly remote and misty. She must not let her mother see what this talk was doing to her.

"All that I want," Elinor heard Lida saying, "is to help you in your struggle toward truth. You must leave this man, to build a strong, fine life for yourself! And I will help you—"

Lida was astounded then to hear Elinor laugh. A long unsteady, almost hysterical laugh. Lida could not believe her ears.

"Why, Elinor!" she exclaimed. "I don't understand you at all!"

"No, of course not. Mother, I am not going to leave Barrett. You thought I would, didn't you? And I suppose you thought I'd collect a huge sum of alimony—"

"He certainly should support you if he's wronged you so!"

"I'm not going to leave him and I don't want to do as much as Barrett has for me! I know about it if I don't know it. I don't want to get out. Later perhaps I will, but not now. And I think you'll have to excuse me now. The heat is bothering me a little."

Higgins let Mrs. Stafford out of the house. His stony expression did not change as she smiled at him condescendingly. Higgins had seen Elinor go up the stairs and knew something was amiss. He was certain that her mother had said something cruel to her and Higgins was devoted to Elinor.

As soon as the door closed the butler hurried up the stairs. "Mrs. Colvin," he said after tapping at her door, "can I bring you a glass of iced tea and some sandwiches?"

He waited a long minute. Then quite steadily came the answer. "Thank you, Higgins, but not now. I'm not feeling very well. I don't want to be disturbed, Higgins, please—"

"Yes, Mrs. Colvin. Certainly," he replied, sure that his suspicion had been correct. Mrs. Stafford had said something cruel to Mrs. Colvin. Higgins went slowly down the stairs.

Barrett came in eagerly a little before six. He had been gone since early morning. He had missed the tea with Elinor and was eager to see her. He had been helping a group of archeologists lay their plans for a trip to a part of South America which he had once longed to visit. Now his mind interest in their plans showed him how entirely he had been changed by Elinor and his admiration of her.

The house seemed unusually quiet. "Where is Mrs. Colvin?" he asked Higgins.

"She is in her room, Mr. Barrett. Mrs. Stafford called and Mrs. Colvin excused herself. She went to lie down and asked not to be disturbed."

Barrett's face lost color. He hesitated a moment and then, all his eagerness drained from him by fear, mounted the stairs.

He tapped on the door that was closed between their rooms, heard Elinor say, "Come in if it's you, Barrett."

Not "dearest" or "Barry," but "Barrett."

He opened the door. She was standing, wrapped in the yellow negligee, by a window. He saw that she was tightly gripped and knew that if he could touch them he would find them cold in spite of the day's heat.

"I'd rather you didn't kiss me, please," she said breathlessly as he reached her.

"I can be quite certain," she said, "I never shall unless you'd much rather I would. I think you know that?"

"Yes, I do," she answered. There was a pause and then Elinor said slowly, "Mother's— told me."

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famous Authority

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor of Journal of American Medical Association, and Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Since the beginning of man's life on this earth he has waged a constant battle against germs, for his own life, and against insects and animals that prey on his life and food materials on which he lives.

Every new development of modern science brings with it hazards as well as benefits. The motor car is a great advance for transportation but has brought a tremendous number of deaths and injuries. Modern living in apartment houses has its conveniences but it is associated with difficulties in securing good air and sunlight.

The use of chemical insecticides for destroying insect life on plants takes care of the insects but occasionally produces poisoning in vegetables containing enough of a poisonous insecticide to have an effect on the human being.

Sprays of nicotine, tobacco dust, paris green and lead, as well as arsenic, are often used on growing fruits and vegetables. Most such poisons are removed by washing, particularly by thoroughly washing, particularly with agents which act to oppose the particular poison involved.

In the case of vegetables, such as lettuce and cabbage, it is possible to remove the outer layer and then, by means of washing, to get rid of practically all of the insecticide. It is not possible, however, to get very much with asparagus in the way of getting rid of the poison short of thoroughly washing with suitable solutions.

The subject has been studied recently by chemists with a view to establishing some safe amounts of lead and arsenic remaining on fruits that have been sprayed, or to develop other methods of control which will absolutely prevent any possible poisoning of human beings. New chemicals are being investigated with a view to replacing the dangerous ones.

However, the consumer need not fear acute poisoning the next time he eats an apple, an orange, lettuce, cabbage or celery. He should know, however, that there are occasional hazards from eating fruits and vegetables that have been sprayed with poisons.

Therefore, it is well to wash thoroughly and to clean all fruits and vegetables before putting them on the table in either the raw or the cooked form. It is advisable to strip and destroy the outer layers of lettuce, cabbage and similar vegetables that lend themselves to such manipulation.

It seems likely that in the near future the agricultural chemists will be able to develop insecticides and methods for the removal of poisons which will guarantee safety in the use of all such foods products.

"Amy, there's Margaret. I'm not speaking to Margaret. I'm mad at her."

"Why, I saw you two with your arms around each other yesterday. What's wrong?"

"That isn't any reason for not speaking. I often get provoked at people but I wouldn't stop speaking to them just on that account."

"I won't speak to people I'm mad at."

"If you would speak to Margaret, she would speak to you, wouldn't she?"

"She won't get the chance. Anybody none of the girls ever speak to other girls they are mad at."

No Sense of Shame

"Oh, I see! And how long has this been going on? Do you mean that you girls have two kinds of friends, the ones you speak to and the ones you don't?"

"I don't understand you, mother."

"Margaret's still your friend, isn't she? I mean she will be in a week or so. You aren't going to stay mad at her until you are both old ladies."

"Yes, I am."

"Look here, my dear, you know better than that. You'll be speaking to her tomorrow. And I think you should be ashamed of yourself."

"Me! Why, mother, everyone does it. If you told the girls they ought to be ashamed of themselves for that they would think you were crazy."

"Oh, they would, would they? Well, I'm not concerned about the girls. I'm only concerned about you. Amy, you are not going to do it any more, or what? You are enjoying being mad at Margaret, are you, call it. You love to toss your head and snub her. I can see. You were whispering to Agnes a while ago and I know you did it to Margaret. I would see you and be uncomfortable."

Growing Into a Habit

Amy looked at her mother with new interest. This was exactly what had happened! All except one thing. She wasn't enjoying it, or at least she said so.

"Yes, you are, or you wouldn't do it, my dear. We don't do things we don't enjoy. We enjoy getting angry. Did you ever know that? People have quick tempers, for instance, because they have it. All excited and shout me things."

"And all this 'mad' business of yours is something like that. You get a kick out of it. So does Margaret, probably."

"No, anyway, I won't have it. It has to stop. You go right over to her now and make up."

Amy went reluctantly and the two girls made up. But already Amy was wondering who else she could be "mad" at next. It gets to be a habit. It should be stopped. This little girl's mother was wise, and she was right.

Being habitually "mad" at somebody is a sort of orgy of hatefulness. It should have no place in any child's life.

Have no feeling for your ice-box when the days are hot. Make it work overtime!

When summer sends the temperature skyrocketing, it's a wise hostess who studies up on short cuts and gives her ice-box the burden of preparation of all sorts of hot weather dishes.

The best time to prepare food is in the morning before the house gets unbearably hot. Try to choose recipes which can be made with a minimum of effort early in the day. Then put them in the ice-box until lunch or dinner time.

The ice-box is doubly handy when it comes to mid-summer desserts. Leave pies, cakes and things which have to be baked in the oven until the days are cooler. Your guests will appreciate your menu twice as much if they know that you aren't completely worn out with the preparation of it.

Simple desserts are your best bets. They cause you less trouble to make and, at the same time, provide ample nourishment without being hard to digest.

A raspberry ice-box cake is a favorite party treat for the family these hot days. It is extremely simple to prepare and is also very economical.

Here's the way you make a delicious raspberry ice-box dessert: Stir together one and one-third cups (one can) of sweetened condensed milk and three tablespoons of lemon juice until the mixture thickens. Place the round side out top with a layer of lady fingers. When you are ready to serve dessert, take it out of the pan, slice and garnish, with whipped cream. The recipe serves eight.

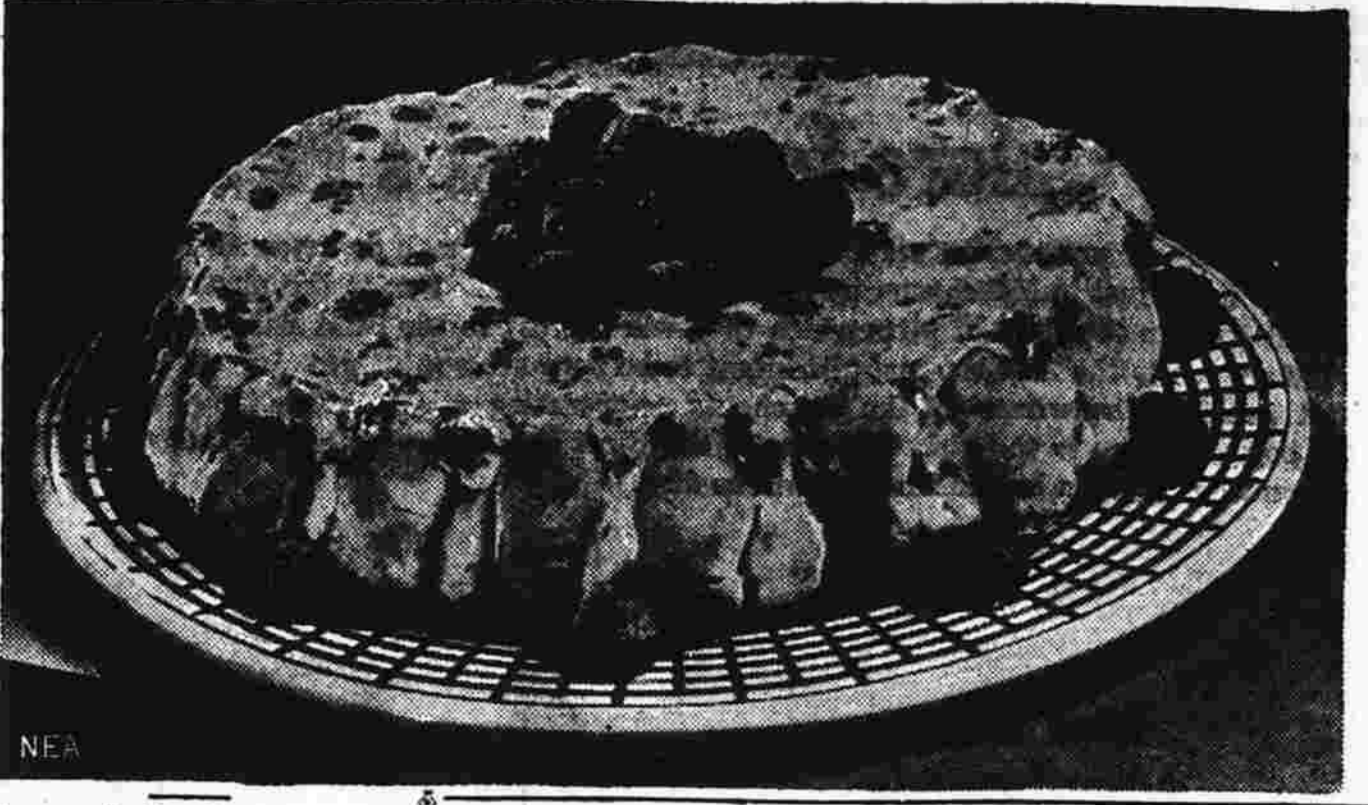

You don't have to worry about the condensed milk and lemon juice thickening. The trick of using cold milk is that the milk and sugar already have been boiled down to perfect smoothness and it will thicken with very little effort on your part.

The raspberry dessert recipe can be varied by using other seasonal fruits or berries.

It is incorrect to say "per day" or "per week," according to gram-marrians.

NEW ENGLAND INDUSTRY AT A NEW HIGH POINT

Activity for June Highest Since 1930—60 P. C. of Loss Since 1929 Regained.

"New England industrial activity has advanced for three consecutive months, with June figures the highest since 1930," reports The First National Bank of Boston in its New England Letter dated July 27. "Our index for last month was 18 per cent above May and 75 per cent over the same period in 1932," the letter states.

"Approximately 60 per cent of the aggregate loss in industrial production since 1929 has been regained during the past three months. All of the principal industries in this section have participated in the upturn to a marked degree. Many of the major lines are operating at near capacity and have sufficient orders on hand to maintain activity at this level for several months."

"Cotton consumption in June, on a daily average basis and after corrections for seasonal changes, was more than 36 per cent over the preceding month and reached the highest level since August, 1929. According to recent reports there has been some slackening in activity but this is to be expected in view of the spectacular gains that have been made during the last few months. The limitation of hours provided for under the code for the industry will also tend to restrict output to a more normal basis. These restrictions will be of real benefit to the industry in this section as the New England mills have been seriously handicapped during the past few months because the legal limitations upon hours of labor imposed a distinct disadvantage as compared with the South.

The wool goods industry a number of mills have had pressed to make deliveries although working on day and night shifts. Business in all lines has been very gratifying although there have been signs of a let-down within recent weeks, which is to be expected between seasons. Members of the trade look for good volume of business for the last half of the year, especially during the fall months.

"While the trend of shoe production has seasonally downward during the second quarter and payrolls there has been a steady increase in shoe production since March, with the June output the highest on record after seasonal corrections. For the first six months of this year production of shoes in this section amounted to nearly 61,000,000 pairs, or 7 1/2 per cent over the corresponding period of a year ago. While the sentiment in the trade continues optimistic, some members are inclined to be somewhat concerned over whether or not higher prices, made necessary by the National Recovery Act, can be passed on without too much sales resistance on the part of the consumer.

"Building operations in New England have increased for four consecutive months, with the aggregate value of contracts awarded in June nearly 10 per cent above May, and the highest of any month since 1932. Residential building in June was 10 per cent over May and was higher than any other month since April of last year.

"The sharp increase in industrial activity in this section has been reflected in a considerable improvement in employment. The number of workers engaged in manufacturing establishments in June was 8.6 per cent over the preceding month and 21.1 per cent above the same period in 1932, while the corresponding increases in payrolls were 11.2 per cent and 25.5 per cent, respectively. In Massachusetts, according to reports of the Department of Labor and Industries, the number of wage earners employed in June was 7.5 per cent over May and payrolls were up 11.3 per cent. Usually a decline in both employment and payrolls takes place during this period of the year. While the gains in the workers' purchasing power is very encouraging, employment in Massachusetts is still 45 per cent and payrolls are 53 per cent below the high point of 1928."

FEDERAL AGENTS SEEK KIDNAPERS

Government Men in Intensive Campaign to Stamp Out Racketeering.

By Associated Press

The FBI pointed today a ten strike against kidnaping—the first death sentence in an abduction case—but two victims of kidnapers still were missing, with authorities apparently at a dead end.

Three weeks ago today the young National Guard lieutenant, John J. C'Connell, Jr., of Albany, N. Y., was abducted. He is still unaccounted for. The other man, still unreturned is Charles F. Urschel, wealthy Oklahoma City oil man. His wife was reported today near collapse, all efforts at negotiating for his release having been unsuccessful.

On the heels of the imposition of the death sentence upon Walter McGee for the kidnaping of Mary McElroy in Kansas City, the prosecution announced it would seek the same penalty for McGee's brother, George, and for Clarence Cline, held in the same kidnaping case.

Federal agencies have shown increasing energy in the pursuit of kidnapers. At Lecomster, Mass., today, officials investigated threats to kidnap executives of the Wachusett shirt factory and members of their families. The writers of the letters demanded a wage increase for employees.

Government to Act

Joseph E. Keenan, assistant United States attorney general, said: "Gangsters and kidnapers throughout the nation may expect the full force of the government to vigorously, persistently and relentlessly prosecute of every Federal law, and in co-operating with state authorities, seeking the maximum penalty in each case."

Major General Smedley Butler, U. S. Marine Corps, urged modified martial law which he thought would end kidnaping within a month. By such a plan, he said, "we'd soon see the end of the rats who live on ransom money."

Through the agency of Federal defectors, prisoners are being held at Milwaukee and St. Louis for the kidnapings of Charles Hamm, Jr., and August Luer.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

JUDGES FRANCHISES FOR ALL INDUSTRY

This Writer has a Program Much Like Roosevelt's

Capitalism as we have known it has been nothing less than a modified feudalism. For the ordinary citizen it has contained all of the evils of unrestricted competition and of monopoly as well, with few of the advantages of either.

So says Robert Segal in "Triopoly or Cram 77," a stimulating and readable little discussion of the new trend in finance and industry.

Man, says Mr. Segal, started out with nothing at all and worked up, by dint of infinite sacrifices, to a condition of widespread poverty. Because the forces of credit machinery are essentially anarchic, he has got little genuine benefit from either.

Yet the solution, as Mr. Segal sees it, is neither difficult nor far away. It lies, Mr. Segal believes, in an adaptation of the industrial franchise—the franchise that so far is granted only to public utilities which have to be monopolistic.

Mr. Segal suggests that all industry be placed under a system of control capital, labor and consumer. Stated in a three-way manner, in a bill of exchange, abolition of unemployment, security of investment and the maintenance of decent wage scales, he says, he has the logical result.

What makes his plan especially interesting is the fact that it looks remarkably like the program that is now being attempted under the industrial control bill. Mr. Segal is right, this bill ought to be the most significant and profitable thing we have ever attempted.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Skin toning lotions are vitally important, says one of the foremost French manufacturers of cosmetics. And he goes on to explain that they serve two purposes. They remove all traces of dirt and give your skin just enough daily stimulation.

Skin toning lotions are not to be confused with astringents. It is true that they have a slight astringent quality, but they do not increase circulation to any great extent. They are exactly what their name implies—a gentle tonic for the skin.

You can get a bottle of skin toning lotion in any store which sells cosmetics.

After you have thoroughly cleansed your face with cleansing cream, saturate a piece of clean cotton with the skin toning lotion and wipe your face and neck with it. When dry, apply a powder base. Your face will feel cooler and clearer, since the lotion removes all the excess cleansing cream which cleansings tissues did not.

Astringents as a daily routine are not for your face. They increase circulation artificially and anything which is artificial is not healthful if practiced daily. You may use an astringent on your face occasionally, but, as a rule, save it for your chin and neck.

Astringents on your chin and neck should be used in conjunction with a patten. The treatment will reduce your chin if it has a tendency toward becoming a double one.

In other words, every woman needs both an astringent and a skin toning lotion. Each one goes far toward preserving your natural beauty.

HIGHLANDERS MISS CHANCE FOR TITLE

Y Crown Eludes Locals as Wapping Rallies in 8th to Tie Score, 3-All.

In a last minute rally, Wapping blasted the hopes of Highland Park of winning the Hartford County "Y" League this week by scoring two runs in the seventh inning to tie up the ball game which was called on account of darkness in the eighth inning. 3-All. Senkbell pitched his best game of the year, allowing Wapping only three hits, one in the sixth and two in the seventh with an infield error which was just enough to tie the score.

Cushie Dougan stood out in the field, handling many chances well, and also drove out a two bagger. Senkbell and E. Dougan stood out at the bat with a double and a single apiece. This means that Highland Park and Wapping will have two more games each, one with each other. Wapping has one more left with the Hartford North Ends and Highland Park will have to play the Windsor A. C. next week. Highland Park plays the Athletics tonight at Mt. Nebo at 8:15 o'clock.

The Mohawks have beaten some of the best teams in New Britain, Hartford, and Middletown and will be out to make it a double victory over the locals.

The Pirates hurlers for these games will be chosen from Maneggie, Kisman and Woodbridge with Bycholski doing yeoman service behind the plate.

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED

Sports Editor: In last night's paper the Center Springs All Stars claim that they have never played the Aces. I think that the manager of this team has a very poor memory. On Friday July 7, 1933 we played a team called the All Stars and if my memory serves me right this was the same team, but since then they have added Center Springs to the name they formerly played under. When we played the All Stars we defeated them 8 to 2 at the Bluefields diamond.

Let the past be forgotten and if the "Center Springs" All Stars think that they have such a wonderful team we will be willing to play them Saturday, July 29, at the West Side field at 2:30 p. m. If the Center Springs All Stars think they are a team that cannot be beaten because they have defeated the Manchester Green, Highland Park and the Pirates, I think that they will get the surprise of their lives if they play the Aces tomorrow afternoon.

The Aces have a record as good, if not better than the All Stars, having defeated Hose Co. No. 8 and the All Stars. Oh! will actions speak louder than words. If the All Stars' manager wishes to play us tomorrow, I wish he would get in touch with me tonight before 7:30, so that all arrangements can be completed before the game. We will play the All Stars for a small side bet of $10, if they can get the money together. I remain yours in sport, L. F. BRONKIE.

Bluefields Book Famous Girls' Team for Monday

Baseball fans will be given a treat Monday evening when the Bluefields play the All-Star Ranger Girls from Chicago at the West Side field. With the exception of two positions which are filled by men, the rest will be entirely played by girls. The team boasts an all-girl pitching and catching combination. The girls play a snappy game of ball and it has been said that they have the scalps of several good semi-pro teams they have met.

HOLLAND WINS OPENER IN TOWN TENNIS PLAY

Champion Starts Bid for 6th Consecutive Title by Trouncing Muldoon in Straight Sets, 6-1, 6-0; Meets Robert H. Smith Next.

Walter "Ty" Holland has served ample warning on the rest of the field in the town tennis tournament that he is determined to annex his sixth consecutive championship, by smashing his way to an easy victory over Dave Muldoon in a preliminary match at the West Side courts. Holland won just about as he pleased by scores of 6-1 and 6-0 and will face Robert H. Smith in a first round match.

Smith is expected to give Holland plenty of opposition, the former having reached the quarter-finals last year before being eliminated. Holland, with five titles in a row to his credit, is, of course, a prohibitive favorite. The winner of this match will meet the winner of the Bassett-Douglas setto.

The Holland-Muldoon match was the last of the preliminaries made necessary by the fact that thirty-eight players entered the tourney. No other scores have been reported to date and players are urged to arrange and play their matches as soon as possible. Only three first round matches have been reported played out of the sixteen scheduled.

SUB-ALPINES HAVE HOST OF SLUGGERS

Ten Members of Team Bat Over .300; Farr Leads With Average of .406.

Tonight at the Charter Oak street starting at 8:15 the Sub-Alpines will meet the Highland ice team. On a roster of "Pete" Kapura, who during the latter part of the 1931 season, played with the Hartford Senators, Eastern League champs. The Sub-Alpines has a record of 10 games won and 8 lost. Last Sunday the Alpines collapsed completely by losing two games. They collected only 11 hits and made 19 errors all day.

Consequently the batting averages of the team fell. Tonight, however, the team hopes to come to its former self, and there will be plenty of action. ## MAT CARD SLATED FOR MONDAY NIGHT

Zbysko and Williams to Meet in Feature Event of Downing's Program.

Hartford, July 28—The card scheduled for last week was ruined by rain. Wrestling Promoter Jim Downing will present his first mat program featuring Mark Zbysko and Cy Williams in a main event two falls in three event, at South Park here on Monday night, July 31.

Williams, ex-Florida grid great and one of the real bad men of the mat, may have his wings clipped tonight tangles with Zbysko who is a nephew of the great Stanislaus Zbysko and a member of the famous family of wrestlers and strong men. The semi-final time limit match in which Jack Reilly, former North-western athletic ace, meets Al Mercer, Canadian wildcat, may steal the thunder from the main event. Reilly, tall, handsome blond and son of well-to-do parents, is greatly feared for his stinging leg kick and figure four hold which has forced some of the best matmen to cry quits. Mercer jumped to favor in New Haven recently by virtue of his thrilling bouts with Dick "Bull" Martin, Trenton terror.

Coming back after a surprise defeat by Machine, the Electricians slugged their way to victory over the Draffex to gain a tie for the league lead. Lucius Farwell was in top form and stingy with hits, allowing only two bloopers. The Electricians tallied five times in the third inning to put the game on ice. Sargent and Quartus starred for the Draffex, while Sendrowski was outstanding for the Electric.

CARPENTERS WIN

The Carpentery Department baseball team rose from the cellar position yesterday by virtue of an 8 to 1 win over their rivals of the Machine department. The Carpenters hit the ball hard and gathered 12 hits including 4 doubles. Gill working on the mound for the Machine boys pitched a good brand of ball but received ragged support from his mates which accounted for the one-sided win. Oriowski and Daniels excelled both in the field and at bat for the Carpenters.

DRAW FIRST BLOOD IN IMPORTANT SERIES TO LEAD BY 2 FULL GAMES

Champs Held Scoreless Until 8th, Then Rally to Knot Count; Bolton's Bingle Wins for Washington; Giants Increase Margin to Five Games; Pirates Advance.

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer The Washington Senators have drawn first blood in their highly important series with the New York Yankees and boosted their American league lead to two games. The Senators traveled ten innings to gain their eighth victory in 11 meetings with the Yankees by a 3-2 count yesterday as a pinch hit by Cliff Bolton, third string catcher, drove in the deciding run.

With southpaw Walter Stewart holding the world's champions to two hits in the first seven innings, Washington rolled up a 2-0 lead and looked as if they were about to hand the Yankees their first white-washing in 304 games since August 5, 1931. Then with Jack Russell pitching in the eighth, Bill Dickey, Charles Puffing and Earl Combs connected for singles and one run and Ben Chapman's double in the ninth produced the tying counter. New York's National league competitor, the Giants, increased their lead to five games. With Carl Hubbell pitching four hit ball for his eighth shut-out, and the Giants' St. Louis slugger, Jimmie Foxx, hitting himself, the Giants beat the Brooklyn Dodgers for the fourth time, 2 to 0.

Pirates Close Gap

The third place Pittsburgh Pirates meanwhile took their third straight fall out of the Chicago Cubs, 2-0, behind the six hit hurling of Larry French, and cut the Cubs' second place margin to a half game.

The St. Louis Cardinals re-asserted their right to fourth place scoring two runs in the ninth by Martin, Watkins, Frisch and Crawford to beat the Cincinnati Reds 4-3, while Boston dropped two games to the Phillies. The Phils won on home runs as Harry McCurdy cracked a pinch homer for the winning runs in the opening 4-3 victory and Wes Schulmerich socked one in the second game to win 2-1, as Ben Cantwell gave the winners only two hits.

SHOCK DISTURBED HARRIMAN'S MIND

Daughter Tells Court He Never Recovered from Son's Death.

New York, July 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Boykin Wright, daughter of Joseph W. Harriman, indicted former bank president, who is undergoing a Federal investigation to determine his sanity, testified today that the mentality of her father is like that of "my own children, who are still very young."

Mrs. Wright said that her father's mental condition had been affected since 1928 when his son, Alan, was killed in an automobile accident.

"The news was unexpected and was brought most abruptly," she testified. "My father has never recovered from that blow."

Harriman appeared calm and self-contained while his daughter testified. He was accompanied to the courtroom by a nurse from the Regent nursing home, from which he escaped twice during the past two months.

Mrs. Wright testified that during the past year Harriman's memory began to fail him, and that in his recent illness it was impossible for him to concentrate. She related that he would miss trains or go past his station.

Harriman, who was president of a bank bearing his name, is under Federal indictment for misapplying funds and issuing false statements. Summarizing her father's condition last week when he disappeared from the nursing home for the second time, Mrs. Wright said:

"He just didn't seem to know what it was about. He was like my own children, who are still very young."

As it fell, it fluttered on to the hat of a woman passerby, who put it into her handbag and later gave it to the police. It said:

"Meet us at 86th street at 11:30."

This note helped, the police said, in tracing the movements of the men.

Kelly is described as a former friend of the dentist.

STAYED IN STAMFORD
Stamford, July 28.—(AP)—Edward F. Moran, 22, of 694 Main street and Joseph Terasowich, 30, of 15 Woodland place, who were arrested on the street here yesterday by Detectives in connection with the robbery and slaying on Monday night of Dr. E. Warren Sylla in his New York apartment, returned to Stamford shortly after the crime and had been here since according to information secured here this morning. The men were not brought to police headquarters here before being taken to New York.

The two men, Lawrence Kelly, brother of Policeman George Kelley of the local department, who is still missing as is another man, yet unidentified, have been linked with the crime. Kelly, who has not lived in Stamford since he was 12 years old, has of late resided in New York City and Hartford.

None of the three men so far involved in the case have police records, with the exception of Moran who was arrested once for violating the liquor laws, and twice for motor vehicle infractions.

SAPIRO'S HEARING TO BE AUGUST 11

had conspired with others in Cook county to commit malicious mischief by causing explosion of bombs, destroying buildings, and inflicting injuries on divers people.

The affidavit alleged that the defendant had fled the jurisdiction of the Chicago court.

After the adjournment Sapiro talked freely in the corridors, making a general denial of the charges against him. He expressed the opinion that the indictment against him was based on a contract made by the Laundry Owners Association of Chicago, for which he was counsel at $25,000 salary, with the Laundry Drivers Union.

He said he knew of only one bombing in Chicago in connection with the laundry business and in that instance it was a member of his organization who was bombed.

He said that when he was employed as counsel to reorganize the laundry association he put into practice certain ideas he took from the Federal Trade Commission regulation and which are now being used by the government in its Fair Trade Act.

Resigning from the laundry association last month, Sapiro said, he came back here after leaving word that he would return voluntarily any time he was wanted.

MURDERS HER MOTHER; CANNOT EXPLAIN ACT

volver. He accompanied her to the Watertown police station about 1 o'clock this morning, told the story to Lieutenant Joseph J. Reilly and turned over the weapon to the officer.

The Watertown police immediately notified the state police and Lieutenant Reilly, accompanied by another officer and Mr. and Mrs. Compton set out by automobile for the Holden barracks of the state police. There they were joined by Lieutenant Albert Dacey of the state police, stationed at Northampton, and other state officers. The party set out by automobile, Mrs. Compton pointing the way and eventually leading them to the body shortly before 7 a. m. The body, lying in the brook, was partially covered by leaves and brushwood which Mrs. Compton said she placed over it to conceal it.

Tells Her Story
Mrs. Compton, slightly hysterical, told the officers that she set out with her mother by automobile yesterday. They alighted in a desolate, wooded region in Warwick for a walk in the woods to study nature. At a spot near the brook, she said, her mother leaned over to pick a flower and she shot her in the back. She started to leave, she said, and thought she heard the mother groan. Then she fired another shot through her mother's head. She returned to her car, she said, but returned again and fired three more shots into the body.

Then, police quoted Mrs. Compton as saying, she removed her mother's stockings "because they were covered with blood," drove five miles to a store in Orange where she purchased another pair, returned to the scene and put them on her mother's body.

She then drove to Watertown where, police quoted her as saying, she intended to kill her husband and then herself.

Medical Examiner S. J. Tembroek took possession of the body and Mrs. Compton was held temporarily by the Orange police until some procedure for handling the case was decided upon.

PARLEY DELEGATES HOMEWARD BOUND

Many Believe Groundwork Has Been Constructed for Future Conferences.

By Associated Press.

Some homeward bound delegates to the world economic conference counted results of the congress today in terms of spade-work for future deliberations; others considered the elaborate agenda and were discouraged because it was not nearly completed.

One tangible achievement during the six weeks of discussions by representatives of 66 nations was an eight power arrangement for withdrawing a certain amount of silver from the market for four years, thereby increasing its price.

Another was the economic non-aggression pact Russia affected with her neighbors. In this category are the reported negotiations of other countries, including the United States, looking to consummation of bi-lateral trade agreements.

Stumbling Block.
On this latter point, the conference stumbled. France maintained from the outset that there was no value in talking about removing trade barriers or any subject until the problem of currency stabilization was solved, a question the United States refused to consider.

An executive committee has the power of determining when the congress will reconvene; it will meet, perhaps in September to consider reopening the parley.

In the meantime, representatives of several countries will resume their discussions—not exactly a part of the conference—regarding a wheat restriction agreement, which several times was reported close to completion.

BREEDING CAN CONTROL NEW CORN DISEASE

Bacterial Wilt Which Came in Last Year Has Ruined Much of Crop This Year.

New Haven, July 28.—Plant breeders of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station have tackled Stewart's disease of sweet corn with a modern scientific idea of control by breeding. This bacterial wilt, which was comparatively unknown in this state, came in last year and caused some injury. This year it has been highly infectious all over the state, has ruined a good deal of the sweet corn crop, and appears to be a permanent inhabitant.

Donald F. Jones, in charge of the station's plant breeding department, and his assistant, W. Ralph Singleton, have laid out a series of experiments in an attempt to breed a sweet corn that will not become infected by the bacteria. These men have spread out many varieties, crosses, and inbred strains of corn in order to observe individual plants that grow healthy in the midst of fields badly infected with the wilt. These breeding studies will form the principal exhibit of the Station's annual Field Day, which will be held August 16. On this day the Mount Carmel farm will be thrown open for a public inspection of all the experiments in progress, and F. J. Stevens, director of the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station, will speak briefly at noon on "The Sins of the Farmer." A basket lunch will be served under a big tent pitched on the grounds.

Farmers who visit the sweet corn plots will see certain crosses that are curiously resistant to the bacterial wilt. Surrounded by sick and sorry-looking plants, these crosses are holding up, both as to vigor and quality. Some of the healthy corn has come from Dr. Jones's own experiments of the past ten years.

Others are made in combination with resistant plants developed by experiment station workers in Indiana, where corn fields have long been infected with Stewart's disease.

In nearly every successful campaign against the Indians, the whites had friendly Indians as guides and scouts, or the redmen were too clever for them otherwise.

NEW ICE CREAM LAW

PROTECTS THE PUBLIC
Last Legislature Specified Strict Standards Governing Manufacture, Says Bulletin.
Recognizing ice cream as a nourishing food which may well be incorporated in the daily diet as a pleasant, summer means of obtaining the important food essentials contained in milk, the State Department of Health in its weekly bulletin today described the new law which was passed by the last General Assembly to protect the Connecticut public in the cleanliness and quality of the product and urged the public to accept only ice cream which meets with the prescribed standards.

REPORT ON CLASSIFICATION

Hartford, July 28—(AP)—The State Board of Finance and Control, at its meeting today, heard a report of a sub-committee appointed to adjust details in the classification of State employees before the general reduction in salaries became effective. The subcommittee completed its work yesterday, and has heard the heads of all state departments and institutions who sought adjustments of salaries of employees. The finance board accepted the report, and it is now believed the classification has been completed.

TO RUSH PLEDGES

Hartford, July 28—(AP)—Post office officials in Hartford stood ready to rush thousands of certificates of cooperation and communications from President Roosevelt to employers in this district employing three or more persons, in compliance to orders from Washington. At noon, however, the certificates, said to be enroute in "irregular emergency mail pouches," had not arrived, nor had instructions as to the posting of names of cooperating employers on the bulletin boards in the Federal building.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Grocer—Would you like some wax beans?
Sweet June Bride—Go away with your lousy imitations. I want real ones.

We should be very careful to distinguish between a bread line and the pie counter, even though certain values are common to both.

Doctor—Medicine won't help you any. What you need is a complete rest and change of living. Get away to some quiet country place for a month. Go to bed early, eat simple foods, drink plenty of good rich milk and smoke just one good cigar a day.

A month later the patient walked into the doctor's office. He looked like a new man and the gratified doctor told him so.

Patient—Yes, doctor, your advice certainly did the business. I went to bed early and did all the things you told me. But, say, doctor, that one cigar a day just killed me at first. It's no joke starting to smoke at my age.

Moral—Treat 'Em Rough!
To get my way I oft proceed
By weeping in your presence,
Or wheedling you till you concede
Reluctant acquiescence;
I feel elated when I win,
But afterwards—its funny—
I wish you hadn't given in,
You ought to boss me, Honey.

Stray Thoughts Caused By the Hot Weather—When a girl goes shopping for a husband, she doesn't always find a bargain—After a woman lives with a man for ten years, he's about as hard to figure out as a three-piece jig saw puzzle—Instead of trying to patch up a quarrel some couples don't seem to give a rip—A girl can love every hair on a girl's head and yet at times, feel like pulling every one of them out—If a girl could read her boy friend like a book, she probably couldn't resist reading the last chapter to see if she marries him—Love dies out the window, when too many bills come in the door—Probably the reason so many women put their husbands on a pedestal is because they expect them to be a bust—About the only time some girls will meet a boy half way is when they want a kiss—In life many are called but few are chosen, but in a girl's life many call but few respond—A woman's intuition that tells a girl when the boy friend is falling for her is the same instinct that tells a fisherman when he has a nibble.

Gertrude—So you are not going to get married again?
Robert—No, dearie, I've become a pacifist.

Taking a slanting survey of the new early fall millinery, we suspect the man of the modern house never is bothered with the question: "Is my hat on straight?"

Old Aunt (dependently)—Well, I will not be a nuisance to you much longer.

Nephew (reassuringly)—Don't talk like that, aunt; you know you will.

A farmer friend tells us that with a little patience horses can be trained to follow a leader just like sheep. That must be the way the ones we back are trained.

If there were more words of praise in the home, and less censure and criticism, there would be fewer cases for the divorce courts. How long is it since YOU complimented YOUR wife?

Many persons like to talk about their operations, but a Scotchman isn't satisfied unless he can get a lecture tour out of it.

The Best Bet
We pitted once the working girl outside the social ban,
But now she is the only maid who lands herself a man.

When a boy suddenly stops loving her, a girl is as helpless to do anything about it as she is when the car she is driving stops dead in the traffic.

Running a matrimonial agency is just a sort of male order business.

FAINTS AT WHEEL, CAR HITS WINDOW

J. R. Braithwaite Overcome, Auto, Out of Control, Runs Into Rubinov Window.

While attempting to drive across Main street from Park street to Purnell Place at 11 o'clock this morning, J. R. Braithwaite of 52 Pearl street was temporarily overcome in a fainting spell and lost control of his car. The automobile swerved sharply to the right as it entered Purnell Place, striking the corner plate glass window of Rubinov's store and demolishing it.

The driver was not injured and was removed from the car by Rev. Watson Woodruff who happened to be passing at the time. It was apparent to those who quickly gathered at the time that the driver had been temporarily overcome as he did not recognize Mr. Woodruff nor could he understand the reason for the crowd which quickly gathered at the sound of the smashing of the plate glass window.

Braithwaite had driven down Park street, and whether it was his intention or not, had crossed directly to Purnell Place, turning sharp right upon reaching the east side of Main street and on into the corner section of the north window. Fortunately there were no children or cars passing at the time.

Braithwaite was taken at once to the police station and was questioned, later being taken to his home where medical treatment was given him. Officer Rudolph Wittialis investigated.

GET 225 LBS. OF BLUES OFF FISHER'S ISLAND

Walt Luettgens' Party Brings Home Big Catch - Bluefish Run Late in Afternoon.

Walter E. Luettgens, of 187 Main street, with his son Walter, Jr., and four Hartford men, went deep sea fishing off Fisher's Island yesterday and had exceptionally good luck. They brought home about 225 pounds of Block Island blue fish. The fish weighed from four to eight pounds each. The party reached New London at seven o'clock in the morning and from there went straight for the fishing grounds. During the forenoon the catch was small. However, in the late afternoon the fish began running and before six in the evening the party had all the fish they could conveniently carry home. Mr. Luettgens' neighbors today had real blue fish for dinner.

HARTMAN TOBACCO WORKERS PLEASED

Over 300 Employed at Buckland Plantation Show No Discontent.

More than 300 workers at the Buckland tobacco plantation received their pay envelopes today for the week that ended Wednesday and found an average increase in wages of twenty per cent. Hartman's having pledged their support of the National Recovery Act. A good crop of shade grown tobacco is now being harvested and between 190 and 200 men and boys are employed along with slightly more than 100 women. This latter number will be increased by twenty in the near future, as another cooperative move in the program for national prosperity. The tobacco has now reached a stage where it is being picked in the field under light cloth by men and boys and brought into the various sheds, where girls and young women take the baskets of tobacco leaves and lay them out on a table.

The leaves are separated into two piles, each having the thickest part of the leaf pointing together. Through these two leaves the women string the tobacco. The string is attached to a lath and as 22 pair of leaves are strung they are hung on a saw horse until fifty laths are filled, these then being carried away and packed into the top of the shed. In some cases where the leaves are large only 20 pairs are placed on a lath. The work in the shed is not hard and under the adjustment of wages the women who sew the strings together will average about $2.25 per day, some going slightly higher.

Nearly all the employees of the Hartman plantation are Manchester men and women. This year 150 acres of shade tobacco are being grown and 130 acres are under cultivation for broadleaf. Experienced tobacco men are in charge of the different groups and foremen over other groups include recent high school graduates.

The harvesting of the shade grown tobacco will go on for about a month more and attention will then be turned to the crop of broadleaf, or tobacco grown in the field, which will take about a month longer. Andrew Healey is general superintendent of the plantation and Richard Newfield is head timekeeper. Foremen of the various sections of the lot turn in the time of the men and women employed in their department. The greater part of the work done by women is piece work and a tag with the name of the operator and the date is posted near the tables at which they work. Each time a bundle is taken away a punch is made in the card, similar to a bridge card. These are later picked up and turned in and from them are figured the number of bundles strung by each woman and pay is figured at 25 cents a bundle. No indication of discontent has been shown among the employees in the different sections visited.

FINED FOR HOLDING UNLICENSED SALE

Hartford Man Pleads Ignorance of Law - Was Selling Out Mintz Stock.

Max Kennedy of Hartford, who was conducting a sheriff's sale of general merchandise in the store of Harry Mintz on Depot Square, was arrested by Lieut. William Barron yesterday afternoon as an itinerant vendor without license. Four other Hartford men were ordered to appear in court, but as they claimed they were working for Kennedy they were not prosecuted. It was impossible for the officer to learn who was the responsible person so he ordered the five men to appear.

In court this morning Mr. Kennedy was represented by Attorney George Hyman of Hartford, who entered a plea of nolo contendere. He claimed that his client was not aware of the law that required a license for the purpose and asked for leniency. Prosecuting Attorney William J. Shea maintained that because the man was ignorant of the law it did not excuse him and while he did not ask for a severe penalty he believed that a fine should be imposed. Deputy Judge Thomas Ferguson imposed a fine of $20 and costs, which was paid.

James Delnicki, of Foster street, South Windsor, 21 years old, was arrested by Officer David Galligan yesterday charged with theft of a pair of white trousers and four towels from a clothes line in Oakland. The arrest was made on complaint of residents on Denning street. The judge claimed the young fellow was acting strangely. Delnicki told the court that he intended to return the trousers the next day and that he had taken them as a joke. He claimed he had work to go to next week. The judge warned him that such pranks were liable to get him into serious trouble and gave the young fellow an opportunity to make good by suspending judgment in the case.

Recreation Center Items of Interest

Playground Notes Now that the water carnival and picnic is over which was one of the largest ever attended by the people of Manchester, it begins to show that the people of Manchester are taking an active interest in the Rec and playgrounds for summer. The caucuses broke all records at Globe Hollow for the sale or refreshments and sold out practically everything that was on hand. The young children still take an active interest in the pool by taking lessons for swimming daily under the direction of Frank Busch. The following have joined in the new classes and have passed the test for a beginner and they will soon earn a pin for their ability as follows: Allen Maxwell, Everette Cavanaugh, Raymond Ellis, Robert Thornton, Walter Weir, Bernard Gettman, Russell Quash, John Nackowski, George Nackowski, Donald Fisher, James McConville, Frank Yetsani, Robert Lappen, William Wright, George Williams, Sydney Lauter, Russell Irwin, Junior Weir, Michael Marovovich, John Treasick, Bobby Behrend, Raymond Isip, Robert Campbell, Earl Watsonog, Reginald Barr, Stephen Marovovich, Ernest Ubert, Charles Senkbell, Raymond Gorman, Walter Gorman.

The following girls have also entered into the daily swimming classes at the Globe and they are as follows: Ruth Wilson, Doris Hennequin, Mildred Hennequin, Beatrice Roberts, Grace Russell, Wanda Seaman, Marion Vittner, Jean Fitzgerald, Mary Cotter, Lorraine McKee, Grace Madden, Unis Gudrie, Martha McKinney, Betty Davidson, Evelyn Chessie, Florence Hanley, Jennie Colman, Mildred Hewie, Lucille Hewie, Eleanor Hultgeron, Dorothy England, Rene Finn, Shirley Gustafson, Barbara Gustafson, Marion Selwitz, Gertrude Maxwell, Mildred McAllister, Evelyn Senkbell, Anna Nackowski, Deloris Mader, Elaine McCaughey, Ethel Weir, Margie Weir, Ethel Boyle, Barbara Bonaiuto, Jannette Weir, Anna Fry, Eleanor Jacobs, Helen Brash, Harriett Clauson, Ruby Clauson, Margaret McCormick.

The public will notice that these youngsters average in age from 12 years to 13 years. The public is cordially invited at the pool any morning other than Saturday or Sunday to see these youngsters going through the drill. Classes are held only five days a week. The total number of boys who have registered are 230, while the girls have the same amount. Every morning brings additional members and it is hoped that at the end of the season some 500 will have joined in the classes.

Due to the increase of outdoor Rec activities this year and its success by its large attendance and popularity, an increase in new members has been noticed. Yesterday 12 new members were listed alone for that evening. It is hoped that parents will see the benefit there is in having the boys and girls join, while older boys and girls make this Rec popular by its self-support.

The showers and pool as well as the large and small gym are being used more than ever during the summer. The playgrounds both East and West Side are being used each evening in some sort of sport, the baseball games and tennis courts are becoming very popular just now, and those who have games to play are urged to book far in advance for the tennis courts. The East Side Playground will be the attraction for thousands of boys and girls as well as adults for the weekly carnival and picnic on Wednesday, August 2. The early part of the evening will be a treat for the children, while the adults and the junior class will be given the privilege for free dancing on the tennis courts. Only those who dance will be allowed on the courts, while the spectators will be on the playground. Art McKay's orchestra will furnish the music and it is the hope of everyone that this will bring out the crowds as at all other events.
