

BALBO'S AIR FLEET NEARS THE AZORES

Because of Weather Conditions Hop Directly to Ireland Was Not Taken - Lisbon to Be Next Hop.

BULLETIN. New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Mackay-Bassett Company announced that General Italo Balbo's flagship, the I-Balbo, passed Cape Flores, 100 miles northwest of Horta in the Azores group, at 12:05 p. m., eastern standard time today.

THE TAKE-OFF Shoal Harbor, N. F., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Italian air armada of 24 seaplanes took off at 2:45 a. m., e. s. t., today bound home across the Atlantic by way of the Azores.

Balbo, whose plane has led the ships on each lap since they left Orbetello, Italy, July 1, was again in the van as the ships took the air in threes. He had studied weather reports from Horta, the Azores, just before leaving, and pronounced everything ready.

Before dawn mechanics inspected the giant ships. An hour before the departure, the pilots rowed out to the moored planes.

The present jaunt is one of the longest of the journey. It was expected the fleet would reach the destination well before night-fall.

The flight to the Azores is the fourth leg of the homeward journey from Chicago, the fleet having stopped at New York and Shedd, N. B., before reaching Shoal Harbor.

First Plans of Flight First plans were for a flight by way of Ireland but as nearly two weeks passed without favorable weather, General Balbo decided to fly safe and by way of the Azores and Lisbon.

A handful of excited Newfoundlanders cheered the leader as he waved goodbye from the boat that carried him out to his machine.

Before the takeoff one of the pilots predicted that they would reach the Azores in about 11 hours.

The entire squadron was on the wing at 3:10 a. m. The weather was fine and clear with a light westerly wind, and reports from the Azores were considered favorable.

Brief Stop at Azores After a brief stop at the Azores, General Balbo intends to press on to Lisbon and thence homeward to Italy to be honored with the title of air marshal by Premier Mussolini for his achievement in bringing the squadron safely over the North Atlantic to Chicago and then returning.

Honors are also in store for the other 95 aviators. It was still dark when General Balbo returned to the ship.

Where Rail Official Was Found Slain

The bullet-pierced body of Henry F. Sanborn, 44, general Eastern representative of the St. Louis-San Francisco railroad, was found by berry pickers in the shallow grave pointed out here in Queens, New York. He was a member of a prominent St. Paul family.

BELIEVE SANBORN SWINDLE VICTIM Sister Tells Police He Might Have Discovered a Gold Brick Scheme.

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The family of Henry F. Sanborn, slain railroad executive, believes an attempt to ensnare him in some "gold brick scheme" preceded his murder.

Sanborn, member of a leading St. Paul family, disappeared from his New York office July 17, never to reappear until his bullet-torn body was found buried head down in a hastily dug grave in Queens.

On the day he disappeared, said Mrs. Grant van Sant, socially prominent sister of the victim, "he was in a great hurry to get somewhere, and he told people at his office that a man was waiting to take him to Long Island and that he would see them next day."

"We think it was a business deal and that he went to close the deal and discovered it was a gold brick scheme."

Woman Near Collapse Magnihilde Almskaar, 27-year-old fiancee of Sanborn, was reported near collapse today. Volunteering all the information in her possession about the dead man, she spent hours in the district attorney's office yesterday and then went to the morgue to clinch the identification of the body.

She is a small, reddish-blond office worker. Yesterday she was sitting in a modish dress of silk print. When she saw the body in the morgue, she became hysterical.

Authorities said she could give them no clue. "We are no nearer a solution," a police inspector said. "We have not been able to establish a motive and we suspect no one at this time."

"Feminine Angle" Herbert McKennis, an attorney for the Sanborn family, expressed disapproval at any attempt to introduce what he called "feminine angles."

"They already have been thoroughly gone into," he said, "and in the opinion of the authorities, and my opinion, are of no significance."

FRENCH FLIERS JOYFUL AFTER RECORD FLIGHT

Rossi and Codos Traveled Over 5,737 Miles and 531 Miles Beyond Record - Takes Long Rest.

Rayak, Syria, Aug. 8.—(AP)—When the French distance fliers Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos arrived today refreshed after a long sleep they expressed thanks to their own government first and next to Americans for the warm sympathy and aid given them before the start of their epochal New York to Rayak flight.

"We are immensely happy," the aviators said as officers and men of the little French military airfield crowded about them, renewing the congratulations given last night to the tired men who in about 56 hours and one-fourth of the way around the globe.

Their plane, the Joseph Le Brix, came down to a beautiful landing at 5:10 p. m., G. M. T. 12:10 p. m., e. s. t., yesterday, an hour after they had informed the military command by wireless that they were coming. The whole post was out to greet them.

When the monoplane stopped rolling, Rossi and Codos, stiff and tired, clambered out of the great ship and greeted their own countrymen with great joy.

Wished Three Things They said they wanted three things—to report their success to the air ministry; to send their greetings and love to their wives, and to sleep.

But before sleeping they wanted a bath, and they got it. Then they stretched out on army beds in the desert barracks just as the sun was going down.

The blistering heat subsided and the aviators were comfortable in the sheltered room. They complained the cabin of their plane became hot.

Rossi and Codos today calculated they had travelled about 8,400 kilometers (5,231 miles) or 856 kilometers (531 miles) beyond the record.

They said they were grateful to the United States for the aid it had given them before the start of their epochal New York to Rayak flight.

They were given a special reception by the military command and were taken to the air ministry.

Polish Aviators Hop On A Mystery Flight

Farrboro, N. S., Aug. 8.—(AP)—A plane believed to be carrying Benjamin and Joseph Adamowicz, bound from Brooklyn to Harbor Grace, Nfld., in preparation for a trans-Atlantic flight, passed over Farrboro, at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., today.

The plane came up the Bay of Fundy shore and headed southward towards Halifax. It was flying high and its markings were indistinguishable.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Two Polish-American brothers, Benjamin and Joseph Adamowicz, who hope to fly from New York to Harbor Grace, N. F., took off from Floyd Bennett Airport early today on what they said was merely a "test flight" to Harbor Grace, N. F.

Airport attendants believed, however, that there was a strong possibility they might continue on across the ocean, with or without a stop at Harbor Grace.

Taking off unexpectedly at 5:08 a. m., eastern standard time, without making any announcement of their intention until just before the hop-off they took more than 500 gallons of gasoline with them, attendants said.

Previously they had announced they would not make the trans-Atlantic hop until the third week in August.

Their big monoplane "White Eagle," powered with a 300 horsepower motor, was formerly "The Liberty," in which Ottie Hillig and Holger Holtriss flew to Denmark two years ago.

Emil Birgen, another pilot, accompanied the two brothers. It was learned. He did not announce whether he would accompany them on the eventual hop across the ocean.

The Adamowicz brother, a short, stocky and uncommunicative man who has evinced more interest in attending to their plane than in talking about themselves or their plans. They live in Brooklyn and have been making preparations for the trans-Atlantic flight for several days.

Havana, Aug. 8.—(AP)—One wounded person died today, bringing the known fatalities from yesterday's riotous political disorders in Havana streets to 21.

The capital was quiet this morning the army forces having been withdrawn from the city following the outbreak of firing late yesterday afternoon in which more than a hundred were wounded in addition to the number known to have been killed.

The disorders came as a climax to a week of agitation and strikes, which spread as opposition leaders sought to induce President Machado, storm center of political unrest, to retire from his office, and while Sumner Welles, United States ambassador, was seeking to obtain agreement by all groups upon a proposed plan of peaceful settlement.

Stores Keep Closed Uptown stores continued to be closed today although many smaller ones on the outskirts opened. Groceries were becoming scarcer.

DOPE SMUGGLING IS ON INCREASE Federal Agents Discover That Opium Is Now Being Brought in from West.

San Francisco, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The incessant warfare to control the smuggling of narcotics into the United States has turned to the Pacific coast.

Harry D. Smith, who has been in charge of the Federal Narcotic Enforcement Bureau of this district for 14 years, said today a campaign of unusual proportions for this district is being waged.

Smuggling attempts on the eastern seaboard have decreased rapidly, he said since the signing of the international agreement by European and American countries pledging control of the traffic but there has been a consequent large increase in shipments over the Pacific ocean.

Within the last year success has followed the efforts of government agents in the west. In Los Angeles the arrest of three Japanese and the apprehension in Japan of the asserted ring leader smashed, Smith said, the source of supply for a considerable portion of the smuggled narcotics reaching this country.

TOWNS THREATENED BY FOREST FIRES One Village Saved Because of the Bravery of Only Nine Men.

Granson, Wis., Aug. 8.—(AP)—A village was saved from destruction because nine men flatly refused to leave their forest fire fighting posts, but dozens of fires continued to menace property today in widely scattered sections of Northern Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan.

When a fire swept through the village of Nelma on the Wisconsin-Michigan state line in Forest county yesterday, 100 persons were forced to evacuate, but nine men remained. They hauled a pump to the Brule river and for two hours played streams of water on houses and business structures as the flames swept up the edge of the village, then with a roar sped over lawns and across balsam thickets to the other side.

ARIZONA VOTING ON REPEAL TODAY Dry Leaders Predict They Have Little Chance - Have No Delegates.

Phoenix, Ariz., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Arizona votes on the wet and dry question today and dry leaders agreed they have only a slim chance of keeping this state from becoming the twenty-first to ratify the proposed repeal amendment to the Federal Constitution.

Because the drys were unable to obtain enough signatures on initiative petitions, only repeal candidates for delegates to a state convention to pass on the amendment appear on the ballot. Anti-repeal votes, however, may be written in.

Last November Arizona swept all state prohibition laws from its statute book.

In Supreme Court A temperance society has carried to the State Supreme Court an appeal from a lower court decision in an effort to have the election declared unconstitutional and void on the ground it does not conform to the pattern for repeal referenda stipulated by law.

Voters also will nominate a successor to Lewis W. Douglas, resigned as Congressman to become Federal budget director. Candidates are Isabella Greenway, National Democratic committee woman from Arizona; Harlow Avera, Phoenix attorney; and William Coxon, all Democrats; and Dillworth E. Sumpter, Socialist. No Republican candidates were entered.

JOHNSON APPEALS TO U. S. EMPLOYERS

Wants Everyone Under the Blue Eagle Within the Next Two Weeks.

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—To employers the country over went today an indirect but renewed warning that Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, wants everybody under the blue eagle in two weeks.

With that goal in mind, he appointed a special board to consider and speed temporary application, of the many pending codes that are to be temporary, of the many pending codes that are to be temporary, of the many pending codes that are to be temporary.

RUSSIA, BRITAIN RESUME RELATIONS

New Ambassador Appointed to Moscow - Has Had Long Experience.

Moscow, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The British Government has appointed Viscount Chilton as its ambassador to Moscow, succeeding the recalled Sir Esmond Ovey, it was learned today from a reliable source. The Soviet government has found Lord Chilton persona grata.

The new envoy is expected sometime in September when, for the first time since March 30, Britain will be represented by a fulfilled ambassador here.

In March Sir Esmond was summoned to London to make a personal report on the Metropolitan Vickers case, involving a group of British engineers who were tried by the Soviet government on charges of espionage and sabotage.

Since the departure of Sir Esmond, William Strang, counselor of Embassy, has been the British charge d'affaires.

Report is Verified London, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The fact that the British government has appointed a new ambassador to Moscow in the person of Viscount Chilton, for five years minister at Budapest, was contained in a report of today's happenings at Buckingham Palace.

"The King at Buckingham Palace today received in audience Lord Chilton, the newly-appointed ambassador to Moscow," it was stated.

Lord Chilton, who was educated at Eton college and formerly was a captain in the Royal Scots, has been in the diplomatic service since 1898. He has held posts at Cairo, Madrid, Istanbul, Athens, Sofia, Rome and Vienna.

ABOUT TOWN

The Amaranth Sewing Club will spend the day tomorrow with Mrs. Astrid Dougan at Metz's Point, Hammoneast. The group will meet at the Temple tomorrow morning at 8:30. Mrs. Dougan is spending two months at the shore with her family.

At the regular meeting of the Regina d'Italia Society held last night at their club rooms on Norman street, every member was re-membered with a souvenir from Italy by their president, Mrs. Monti, who returned on August 3 from a three months' visit in Italy with her people.

Mrs. Vera Gorman of Locust street left Sunday to spend her vacation in Long Beach and New York City.

The Manchester Pipe Band will hold a special meeting tonight at 8 o'clock sharp at Orange hall.

John Copeland has gone to Silver Lake, N. H., for the summer. He was here for the week-end, but returned to the lake last night. He has found some fine fishing.

Mrs. Thomas J. Russell of 169 Maple street has an auratum lily in her garden which has a stalk about 48 inches high with 24 blossoms on it. Someone in authority on growing these lilies informs Mrs. Russell that this type of lily is known to have as many as 13 blossoms, but having as many as 24 blossoms on one stalk is very unusual.

Miss Emily Pitkin who has been confined to the Manchester Memorial hospital for some time has left that institution and is now staying at the home of Mrs. Anna M. Gray at 183 Main street. Miss Pitkin is still confined to her bed but will be glad to receive her friends.

There was a meeting of the smaller milk dealers held last night. The men that met are those who are not buying on pool contracts, but from individual milk producers. They are of the opinion that the organization and plan for increase of milk, which the majority do not favor, will result in their being later put out of business. They are against the present order of an increase in the price of milk. The meeting was attended by several of the smaller producers who are not connected with any pool.

BARBERS CONTINUE HOLIDAY PLAN

North End to Close Thursdays and South End Wednesdays.

All questions as to half holidays to be observed by the Master Barbers' Association were ironed out at their meeting last night. There has been a difference of opinion concerning the day selected for a half holiday. For years it has been the custom of the north end shops to close on Thursday afternoon while the south end shops have been observing Wednesday afternoons and evenings for their closing. There was at first a suggestion made that one day be decided upon, but after considering the matter for a week it was decided at the meeting last night that the north end shops would continue their regular day, Thursday, and the south end shops Wednesday. There were twenty-seven at the meeting last night.

PLAN OLD HOME DAY IN BOLTON

Quarryville Church Folks Preparing Program for Saturday, Aug. 19.

Old Home Day will be celebrated for the first time in Bolton this year at the Quarryville church on August 19. The committee in charge of the event has sent out many invitations to former old residents of Bolton as well as a number of pastors and their wives who have served there in past years. If the affair proves successful the committee hopes to make it an annual event.

The program will open with a parade at 2 o'clock, starting from Fulling's Corner and parading up the street. At 4 o'clock on the lawn of N. C. Painter, which is opposite the church, there will be Bohemian Folk dancing in National costume, under the supervision of Jerry Novotney of South Willington. During the afternoon a silver collection will be taken and a light refreshment will be for sale on the lawn. From 8 to 9 o'clock in the evening an "Old Time Supper" will be served. The entertainment in the evening will be a sketch entitled "The Good Old Days."

The committee in charge of the affair are as follows: Entertainment and Parade, Mrs. A. N. Skinner, Mrs. Gertrude Bunce; Supper committee, Mrs. George Hewlett, Mrs. Ethel Yates, Mrs. Charles Thral; Refreshments, Mrs. Fred Warren, Mrs. Ella Christensen, Mrs. Edward Madson and Mrs. Florence Dowling; Fancy Article Committee, James Fletcher, Mrs. Joseph Haley, Mrs. Kitty Webster; Advertising, Mrs. Edward Madson and Mrs. A. WIDOW OF VETERAN RELATES SAD STORY

Five of Sons Served in War — Now Asks Federal Aid So She Can Save Home.

New Haven, Aug. 8.—(AP)—There's many a heart throbs in the applications for aid that pour into the Connecticut branch of the Home Owners Loan Corporation. Typical of the stories heard by the staff is that of the widow of a Civil War veteran.

During the World War her patriotism was lauded by President Woodrow Wilson. Today she faces loss of her home for non-payment of interest on her mortgage and taxes.

Five of her sons served in the war. One was only 16 years old because he enlisted without her consent friends suggested to the widow that she sign petition asking for the discharge of her son. She refused to do so and President Wilson in recognition of this act of self-sacrifice wrote her a letter of commendation.

"We're getting pathetic stories like these every day," Peter M. Kennedy, state manager, said. "We are doing all we can to help their widows, but the mortgage on her home is held by a savings bank and there is some question as to whether the bank can legally accept Federal bonds in present exchange for the mortgage."

BRUNNER SUBSCRIBES TO NRA PROGRAM

Chet Brunner, proprietor of Brunner's Market, announced today that he had signed the N. R. A. program and is adhering to the code.

The store will be closed at 1 p. m. on Tuesday days starting this week. An additional 20 employees will be employed week-ends and at rush times. Additional work will be provided as fast as business warrants it.

The sale of Norwalk Tires which Brunner is conducting at his Service Station, which is opposite the next door is meeting with very good success and he reports a large number of sales. Norwalk Tires are made right here in Connecticut at Norwalk and their Gold Standard tires are one of the best tires on the market irrespective of the make. It will give exceptionally good mileage under all conditions.

STRICKEN IN AUTO

Stamford, Aug. 8.—(AP)—William E. Goulden, trust officer of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company, here for ten days died suddenly yesterday at Williamstown, Mass., as he was driving his wife and sister home from a two weeks vacation. He was stricken with a heart attack as he passed through Williamstown and died shortly after at a hospital there. It was his 57th birthday. He was an officer and director of the Goulden Van Company, which was founded by his father, and had been active in fraternal societies.

500 GIVEN WORK

Ansonia, Aug. 8.—(AP)—About 500 men and women have been given work here through application of the N. R. A. Of these, over 300 are American Brass Company employees, long unemployed and now on full time. In addition, about 500 part time mill employees have been put on a 35-40 hour weekly schedule. Monday, 35 additional workers have been taken on. Between 300 and 400 newly have been removed from the rolls of the municipal board of charities. Nearly 100 manufacturers, merchants and other employers have applied for and received the NRA emblem.

N. R. A. PLEDGES

New Britain, Aug. 8.—(AP)—N. R. A. pledges have been signed by 315 employers in this city, postmaster H. E. Erwin said today. No estimate of the number of additional employees added to working forces is obtainable.

JERSEY NURSE IS HELD IN KIDNAPING PLOT

Leaves Note With Former Employer Demanding $50,000 in Silver or Daughter Will Be Killed.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 8.—(AP)—An alleged extortion letter to J. Fred B. Squire, of East Orange, demanding $50,000 in silver, led to the arrest of Miss Flora Carol Ravens, 42, nurse, of Bloomfield, by Federal authorities today.

Miss Raven is in Hudson county jail, the first woman in New Jersey to be charged under the new Federal kidnaping statute. Bail was set at $3,000.

The alleged letter received August 1, read according to Federal authorities: "Leave $50,000 in silver at main gate midnight August 2, or your daughter's head will be cut off." The note was unsigned.

Miss Ravens, it was stated, said she first noticed in a street car and took it to Squire by whom she was formerly employed.

A week later a second letter was received by Squire.

Miss Raven was employed by Squire until February, 1932.

CHECK VIOLATORS OF NRA PROGRAM

Bureaus Started All Over Country to See That Pledges Are Kept.

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Signs multiplied today that the National recovery administration will brook no holding back or double dealing in the determined prosecution of its plans to bring popular living lower and employment higher. While setting no specific deadline, Hugh S. Johnson spoke again of allowing "two weeks" for those businesses still outside the blanket code to come in—before asking the public to apply the boycott screws to force the code in.

And on top of this William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, prominent in NRA activity—told reporters he would ask all state and city branches of his organization to watch for and report violations of the recovery act.

Labor organizations over the entire country thus would watch for infractions of codes as they affect both the manufacturers or sellers and laborers.

Report Violations would be cleared through city and state headquarters to the Federation's National headquarters here, to be turned over to the recovery administration for disciplinary action after investigation.

As a part of this renewed pressure which Johnson said was necessary to put millions back on jobs before Labor Day, the labor and industrial advisory boards were called into full session to help draft plans.

He said the next few weeks will largely determine the success or failure of the emergency employment program based upon the necessity of restoring purchasing power before fall.

House Canvass, director of the women's section of the emergency re-employment campaign, announced completion of an organization in 48 states to map house to house and store to store canvasses for community. They will check up on compliance with agreements and present to consumers the demand of the National recovery administration that they trade at blue angle establishments.

Green said instructions would go out to the Federal Reserve Bank membership not to accept the blue eagle alone as evidence of co-operation on the part of the business house, but to make inquiries whether acceptance of the agreement with President Roosevelt's initiative had been followed by higher wages and increased employment through shortened hours.

Green told newsmen that the NRA labor advisory board, a meeting of which he had just attended, had considered some of the organization problems of the new agency designated by the President to end industrial strife while the recovery program is going forward.

The new board to be known as the National Labor Board, is to hold a meeting tonight.

Presentation of new codes and public hearings on those already surveyed continued today. The latest survey was proposed for daily newspapers, while taking of testimony proceeded on agreements proposed by the wallpaper and lime business.

OBITUARY

FUNERALS

Joseph Koefner. The funeral of Joseph Koefner was held this morning at 8:30 from Holloran's Funeral Home on Center street and from St. James' church at 9 o'clock. Rev. W. P. Reid celebrated the mass and also read the committal service at the grave in St. James' cemetery. The bearers were: Richard, Charles and Theodore Zimmer, Joseph Schaub; Fred Schuets and John Krahe.

Mrs. Margaret Sullivan sang at the opening of the church service the Gregorian Mass in full. At the offertory she sang "Salva" "Ave Maria" and at the elevation "De Profundis". At the close of the mass she sang "Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling". At the conclusion of the service Organist Charles Packard played "Solemn Chrieus" by Klum.

Miss Elisabeth Haddock. Word was received in town last night of the death of Miss Elisabeth Haddock yesterday at 4:15 at her home, 503 Madison avenue, Paterson, N. J. Miss Haddock had been ill for a couple of months and death was caused by complications. She leaves one brother in this town, Thomas Haddock of Fairfield street, who had been called to Paterson a few days ago. Miss Haddock also leaves one sister in Ireland and her mother and another sister in Paterson with whom she made her home.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at Paterson, N. J. Miss Haddock and her mother were residents of this town about 10 years ago and are well known here.

AMERICAN AUTHOR TELLS OF MAJORCA

Says He Was Expelled Because He Told Truth About Islands.

Boston, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Theodore Pratt, enroute home to New York from Majorca, had many interesting things to say about the Spanish island today when the Spanish export liner Exochorda docked at Boston.

Pratt declared emphatically the island was no longer a haven for American disciples of the arts; that an author or writer could live more economically in America and at the same time be free of the unpleasantness of Spanish officialdom.

The American writer, explained his departure from Majorca had no direct connection with the jailing of five Americans, charged with assaulting members of the civil guard, who he said must be treated like "God Almighty."

Pratt said he and his wife had not been deported. They left, he added, because things had been made unpleasant for them after an article he had written had been printed in an American magazine.

He said he had been misquoted to the effect residents of the island blinded canaries to make them sing better. Instead, he said, nightingales were blinded, "so the birds might think it was ever night and thus continue their song throughout the day."

Mrs. Pratt said the incident which caused her the greatest regret was the skinning of a live rabbit by three women servants, who she said giggled and tittered at the animal squelch.

Pratt said the action taken against him after publication of his article was "good deal worse than expulsion."

He said their fishing cottage was attacked and stoned by a mob of 300 people, that they were boycotted on buying food, ousted from their hotel, that servants refused to work for them, and that they were imprisoned for two weeks when they wished to leave.

PUBLIC WORKS BOARD TO HOLD A SESSION

Efforts Will Be Made to Start Projects in the State as Soon as Possible.

Bridgport, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The state advisory board of public works will hold a joint conference with Governor Wilbur L. Cross and State Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald to discuss a state program of public works under the National Recovery Act. Archibald McNeil, chairman of the board said today.

It was intimated today that an effort will be made at the conference to formulate a program of public construction projects under state auspices with Federal aid, in several parts of the state, including the Merritt Highway linking Fairfield and Westchester counties.

It was also indicated today that a special session of the Legislature will be suggested, with a view to having the state authorize additional public works.

STATE SPEEDS UP RECOVERY PLANS

Governor May Call Special Session of Assembly to Aid Home Owners.

By Associated Press. Suggestions for a special session of the General Assembly to speed along President Roosevelt's recovery program grew more insistent today as the wide range activities for relief in Connecticut moved forward.

From Bridgeport, Hartford and New Haven came reports Governor Wilbur L. Cross will be asked to consider the advisability of calling a special session to enact legislation necessary for the full operation in the state of Federal agencies organized to aid home owners threatened with foreclosure and to create more jobs under the Federal public works program.

Peter M. Kennedy, state manager of the Connecticut branch of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, said he planned to confer with the governor on proposed legislation required to make bonds of his organization legal investment for savings banks and the savings departments of other banking institutions. David A. Wilson, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, was reported as having written to the governor suggesting the possibility of a special session to facilitate the operation of the Home Owners Corporation.

Archibald McNeil, National Democratic committeeman and chairman of the Connecticut public works advisory committee, announced he too planned to confer with the governor on State Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald on a state public works program. From this source also came indications the governor might be asked to call a special session to authorize additional public projects.

Governor Cross returned to the capital today from the governor's conference in California.

Meanwhile post offices throughout the state reported an ever increasing demand for N. R. A. emblems from employers who have pledged themselves to President Roosevelt's more pay, shorter hours program.

FRENCH FLIERS JOYFUL AFTER RECORD FLIGHT

"They received us warmly" the fliers added, "and did everything in their power for us."

PARIS OVERJOYED

Paris, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Fifty million Frenchmen, bubbling with enthusiasm over the thrilling non-stop flight of two countrymen from New York to Ruyak, Syria, prepared today to crown Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos with fitting glory.

The pair are expected to rest a few days in Syria where they arrived in the monoplane. The Joseph Le Briz last evening with the claim of having surpassed the world distance record by about 560 miles.

News of the successful completion of the flight, came as a relief to the entire country, which felt French aviation was being outdistanced by recent adventures in Wiley Post, American round-the-world aviator; Captain James Mollison and his wife, Amy, British trans-Atlantic fliers; and General Italo Balbo's squadron of Italian seaplanes.

The aviators wives kept the three day vigil together. Mme. Codos said she expects to ask her return husband to take her along on his next trip as "it is too nerve-racking to sit and wait for days at a time."

REIDS TO DEVELOP REAL ESTATE WORK

Robert M. Reid and Son, local auctioneers, real estate agents and appraisers, will extensively develop their real estate activities, they announced today. In this issue the Herald they are advertising for real estate listings. The Reid name has been connected with real estate transactions here and in Hartford for 27 years. For over 15 years Mr. Reid maintained an office in Hartford and in that time he transferred some big pieces of property.

Although never out of the business the Reids have not been closely connected with real estate giving their time largely to their auction business. Last February Mr. Reid sold a $16,000 farm in Amherst, Mass., to a Gilead man.

PRICES OF COTTON DROP ON EXCHANGE

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Cotton dropped about 1.50 a bale today after publication of the first official crop estimate for the season.

All features of the government report, which placed the condition of the crop at 74.2 acreage for harvest at 29,704,000 acres and indicated a field of 12,214,000 bales, were interpreted as bearish, traders said, against expectations based on the private reports issued during the past few weeks.

Prior to the report, which was released at 11 o'clock, the market remained in a narrow range with trading in small volume.

With the publication of the figures, heavy selling came in the market forcing the active contracts well below the previous closing levels.

July slumped to 10.46 cents a pound, off $1.50 a bale; May 10.30 off $1.15; and March 10.14, off $1.35.

MAY CALL SESSION OF STATE ASSEMBLY

Law Must Be Changed So That Home Loan Corporation May Function.

Hartford, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Expecting Governor Cross to be in Hartford today, David A. Wilson, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, has written him urging consideration of the possibility of calling a special session of the General Assembly for enactment of legislation which will enable the Home Owners Loan Corporation to function in Connecticut, it was learned this morning.

He planned to confer with the Governor on the matter. Mr. Wilson said, pointing out that he had received numerous requests from all sections of the state for action on how home owners may take advantage of the re-funding facilities offered by the Federal-sponsored corporation.

At the present time, under existing state law forbidding savings banks from investing in bonds such as those of the loan corporation, which are guaranteed by the Federal government as to interest only, the corporation can function only on a limited scale in this state, since a large proportion of mortgages on homes are held by Savings institutions. Foreclosures are thus continuing throughout the state.

V. F. V. VS. AMERICAN LEGION AT JARVIS GROVE TONIGHT

Weather permitting, the Legion Old Timers will meet the V. F. W. old timers this evening at 8 o'clock on Jarvis field, Walker street, instead of Mt. Nebo as expected.

Manager Earl Wright of the Legion will have Tedford, in the box and Stevenson will be behind the plate. "The Phillips will dust off the old uniform for the occasion as will several other Legionnaires, including Sam Massey, "Ski" Russell and Tom Rogers.

The Vets will line up tonight with Beluch in the box and Sentile will don the mask and mitt. Several new faces are due to be seen in the first lineup tonight including Wilkie at first base, Cr ney in the outfield and Pop Edgar at short.

The Legion expect to take tonight's game, to make the series one-all. The Vets won the first game played two weeks ago on the Charter Oak grounds.

AUTOMOBILE TRADE STAGING COMEBACK

Output in July Alone Almost As Much As Three Months Last Year.

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Wall street, accustomed as it has become after a long period of cloudy weather to finding bright spots on the economic horizon, has been cheered by reports of the rapid comeback being made by the automobile trade.

STATE SPEEDS UP RECOVERY PLANS

Governor May Call Special Session of Assembly to Aid Home Owners.

By Associated Press. Suggestions for a special session of the General Assembly to speed along President Roosevelt's recovery program grew more insistent today as the wide range activities for relief in Connecticut moved forward.

From Bridgeport, Hartford and New Haven came reports Governor Wilbur L. Cross will be asked to consider the advisability of calling a special session to enact legislation necessary for the full operation in the state of Federal agencies organized to aid home owners threatened with foreclosure and to create more jobs under the Federal public works program.

Peter M. Kennedy, state manager of the Connecticut branch of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, said he planned to confer with the governor on proposed legislation required to make bonds of his organization legal investment for savings banks and the savings departments of other banking institutions. David A. Wilson, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, was reported as having written to the governor suggesting the possibility of a special session to facilitate the operation of the Home Owners Corporation.

Archibald McNeil, National Democratic committeeman and chairman of the Connecticut public works advisory committee, announced he too planned to confer with the governor on State Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald on a state public works program. From this source also came indications the governor might be asked to call a special session to authorize additional public projects.

Governor Cross returned to the capital today from the governor's conference in California.

Meanwhile post offices throughout the state reported an ever increasing demand for N. R. A. emblems from employers who have pledged themselves to President Roosevelt's more pay, shorter hours program.

Air Minister Cot of France for entrusting to them the world record mission and declared they were "very appreciative for efforts of Americans, whom we wish to thank."

"They received us warmly" the fliers added, "and did everything in their power for us."

PARIS OVERJOYED

Paris, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Fifty million Frenchmen, bubbling with enthusiasm over the thrilling non-stop flight of two countrymen from New York to Ruyak, Syria, prepared today to crown Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos with fitting glory.

The pair are expected to rest a few days in Syria where they arrived in the monoplane. The Joseph Le Briz last evening with the claim of having surpassed the world distance record by about 560 miles.

News of the successful completion of the flight, came as a relief to the entire country, which felt French aviation was being outdistanced by recent adventures in Wiley Post, American round-the-world aviator; Captain James Mollison and his wife, Amy, British trans-Atlantic fliers; and General Italo Balbo's squadron of Italian seaplanes.

The aviators wives kept the three day vigil together. Mme. Codos said she expects to ask her return husband to take her along on his next trip as "it is too nerve-racking to sit and wait for days at a time."

REIDS TO DEVELOP REAL ESTATE WORK

Robert M. Reid and Son, local auctioneers, real estate agents and appraisers, will extensively develop their real estate activities, they announced today. In this issue the Herald they are advertising for real estate listings. The Reid name has been connected with real estate transactions here and in Hartford for 27 years. For over 15 years Mr. Reid maintained an office in Hartford and in that time he transferred some big pieces of property.

Although never out of the business the Reids have not been closely connected with real estate giving their time largely to their auction business. Last February Mr. Reid sold a $16,000 farm in Amherst, Mass., to a Gilead man.

PRICE OF COTTON DROP ON EXCHANGE

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Cotton dropped about 1.50 a bale today after publication of the first official crop estimate for the season.

All features of the government report, which placed the condition of the crop at 74.2 acreage for harvest at 29,704,000 acres and indicated a field of 12,214,000 bales, were interpreted as bearish, traders said, against expectations based on the private reports issued during the past few weeks.

Prior to the report, which was released at 11 o'clock, the market remained in a narrow range with trading in small volume.

With the publication of the figures, heavy selling came in the market forcing the active contracts well below the previous closing levels.

July slumped to 10.46 cents a pound, off $1.50 a bale; May 10.30 off $1.15; and March 10.14, off $1.35.

MILK CONFERENCE TO BE TOMORROW

Public Hearing Arranged in Effort to Have Farmers Reach Accord.

Hartford, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The action of the state milk control board in increasing basic milk prices to 7 3/4 cents and the price to consumers to 14 cents a quart, found some support from Goshen farmers while plans for a public hearing on the issue tomorrow were made.

A resolution asking Governor Wilbur L. Cross to remove the milk control board failed by two votes at a meeting of farmers in Goshen last night, although the same group approved the so-called Wadhams resolution, which includes a demand for farmers' control of surplus milk.

At the same time, Charles G. Morris, chairman of the milk board announced a conference on the milk situation, will be held between the board and a committee of four representing the farmers National Association in the state capital.

The public will be asked to attend the meeting at Goshen, one of a series being held by the Farmers National Association, to gain support for its demands that the milk control board act in what they say is the producer's interest, or face removal, was attended by Litchfield county dairymen.

First Meeting It was the first of the dairymen meetings to be held since the milk control board announced the increase in prices for producers. At previous meetings, farmers had demanded first, a basic price of 7 3/4 cents a quart for 3.7 per cent butterfat milk delivered to market centers and second, farmer control of the surplus.

The board resolution to be presented to Gov. Cross should the board fail to act favorably before Thursday, on the demand of the first asks for the ousting of the board members.

Morris' Statement Morris in announcing the hearing tomorrow, said: "The Farmers National Association has asked for a discussion of the milk situation in this state with the milk control board. They proposed that while the discussion should be held in front of the committee and the board, this meeting shall be open to any who wish to attend and listen to the discussion."

"The board has obtained the old Senate chamber for this meeting, to be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and as many persons as can be seated will be admitted in the order of their arrival after 1:30 p. m. Approximately a dozen seats will be reserved in addition to the press seats, for officials whom the committee may wish to seat near the table where the discussion will be held."

The announcement came after a conference between board members and a group of producers yesterday afternoon. Meanwhile New Haven county independent dairymen, who recently lost in a move to declare the milk control bill unconstitutional, said through their attorney, J. Gregory Lynch, of Waterbury, they would abide by the new minimum price of 14 cents a quart unless it means the destruction of their business.

Lynch said the dealers will sell milk at that price or at any price necessary to compete with the larger milk companies. He said he did not believe any criminal action would be taken against small dealers until the Supreme Court of Errors ruled finally on the constitutionality of the control measure and its licensing features.

NEW MUSIC STUDIO TO BE OPENED HERE

The American Conservatory of Music, one of the largest organizations of its kind, with branches throughout the United States and Canada announces the opening this week of a new studio deluxe in the Hale and House Building, 953 Main street, for the purpose of musical instruction for children and adult students in Manchester and vicinity.

F. H. Mueller, vice-president and manager of this organization, has spent the greater part of the past two weeks personally supervising preparations for the grand opening Thursday. Organization of children's orchestra classes is now in progress and it is expected that some real professional talent will be developed. Special attention and arrangements will be provided for older students who desire instruction on the banjo or Hawaiian guitar.

Mr. Mueller director, reports that already over one hundred students are enrolled for instruction on various instruments. This organization has engaged an eminent instructor, Prof. H. L. Parsons, graduate of the Hartford Conservatory of Music under the direction of Louis Eaton, formerly of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and graduate of the New England Conservatory of Boston.

To stimulate interest in music in this community this organization furnishes instruments free with each course of instruction.

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor: I would like to submit this unusual poem which will help to serve as a crusade against "depression," especially at this time when our President is putting the Blue Eagle to work.

Sincerely, Rose Pisack.

(If Kipling had written his "If" today)

If you can see what some folk call "depression" As nothing but a spin of Fortune's wheel;

If you can keep your poise and self-possession No matter what you think or how you feel;

If you can view a stupid situation All cluttered up with "ifs" and "aws" and "buts"; And take it at its proper valuation— A challenge to your common sense and "guts";

If you can rise above the mess and muddle, If you can glimpse a rainbow through the clouds

When Do it and Dread and Fear are in a huddle And Hope is being measured for a shroud;

If you can keep a saving sense of humor For stories that are slightly inexact;

If you can disregard Report and Rumor, And not accept a statement as a fact;

If you can spread the gospel of success, If you can stir the spirit that intills

The latest life in lathes and looms and presses And lift the steam above a thousand mills;

If, briefly you can spend an extra dollar;

If you can pry the Sacred Roll apart And buy another shirt or shoe or collar

And act as if it didn't break your heart;

If you have faith in those with whom you labor, And trust in those with whom you make a trade;

If you believe in friend and next door neighbor And heed examples pioneers have made;

If you expect the sun to rise tomorrow;

If you are sure that somewhere skies are blue— Wake up and pack away the futile sorrow

For better days are largely up to YOU! Author Unknown.

HOLLYWOOD'S STRIKE

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 8.—(AP)—A mass meeting of striking technical men last night was told by leaders of the walkout from Hollywood movie studios that laboratory workers in New York would be called out today in an effort to forestall the producers from developing their negative films there.

William C. Elliott, president of the International Alliance of Stage Employees, will serve notice of the Eastern laboratory strike, the gathering was informed. The number of employes who would be affected in the east was not given.

DYNAMITE MILK HOUSE

Lowville, N. Y., Aug. 8.—(AP)—A cement milk house on the farm of Henry Kraeger, a Mohawk Hill Dairymen's League member, was dynamited this morning, according to Sheriff Louis A. Kohler of Lewis county.

The blast shook farm buildings for miles around and scattered large masses of cement for several hundred yards. About 20 milk cans were destroyed.

The dynamiting was the first to be reported in the eight-day-old milk strike. Threats to use explosives have been brought to the attention of law officers in several parts of the state, but in each instance nothing whatever came of them.

OUTDOOR PUBLIC DANCE TONIGHT

Recreation Centers Sponsor Affair at East Side Playgrounds Tonight.

Weather permitting a banner crowd is expected tonight to attend the first public outdoor dance to be held at the Nathan Hale tennis courts under the supervision of the Recreation Centers. It is planned to continue the dances possibly two nights each week if the attendance warrants such a project for which only a small admission charge is being made.

From what can be gathered from those who danced last week the outlook is very promising as the dancing conditions exceeded everyone's expectations. With the setting of colored lights and other accommodations for those who enter the tennis courts a demand should be created for local dancers to have a local open air dance floor. For these dances 'hat we' known local band, a group of promising musicians who have been playing in many of the leading dance halls rooms throughout the state have been secured. They are known as Art McKay and his rhythm makers. In case of rain the dance will be held indoors at the East Side Recreation Center building on School street.

AFTER 3D STRAIGHT UNDERWATER TITLE

Eddie Lithwinski to Defend Swimming Championship on Saturday.

Besides defending his title as Manchester's swimming champion, Eddie Lithwinski will seek his third straight victory in the underwater event, which is listed separately on the program for the annual town swimming meet, to be held at Globe Hollow Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Lithwinski has won the event two years in a row, swimming underwater a distance of fifty yards. This event has no age limit and is open to all, longest distance to win. Lithwinski wrestled the town title from Leslie Buckland in 1931, when Miss Anne Arson captured the girls' title from Miss Dorothy Gaylor. Both were successful in the defense of their titles last year and are out to make it three straight Saturday.

Entries are now being received by Director Frank Busch at the School Street Rec and Globe Hollow. The program will consist of thirty-three events, with six different classes, as follows: Boys, first year to raft; boys, 14 to 16 years of age; seniors; girls, first year to raft; girls, 13 to 15 years of age; and senior girls. Diving will be a required event in each division.

BUY—AND WHY.
 When General Johnson told the people of the country, on Sunday, that they should at once begin buying goods to the full of their capacity in order to help re-employment he was using an argument which, sound as a nut, might still very well fall to get across to the extent of starting up retail business to the limit of its possibilities, because there are many persons who are not as deeply interested in their country as in themselves. But when he told the people that to hoard money now instead of investing it in needed goods would be to suffer loss in their own individual pockets, since the goods were bound to go up in price while the hoarded money was falling in value, he made use of a fact which ought to impress itself upon the slowest and the most cash-minded individual in the country.

Nothing can possibly be more certain than that the price level is going up and that it will continue to go up for some time to come. An article that now costs $20 is likely enough to bring $30 before snow flies, and the person who leaves his $20 in the bank instead of buying the article at this time is just about absolutely certain to find himself with about 40 cents added in interest to his $20 to meet the $10 advance, leaving him $9.80 worse off, when he does buy at the higher price, than if he had put his money to work while its purchasing power was still at the maximum.

Nothing is going to be permitted to prevent or even halt this program of price increase. It is fundamental in the scheme of recovery, of increased employment and of debtor relief. While it is the expressed purpose of the government to prevent unduly sudden boosting of prices and thus block the schemes of the potential profiteer, a gradual and steady increase is not only necessary but desirable as part—and a vital part—of the national rehabilitation. If the increased cost of production owing to shorter hours and higher wages should, for any obscure reason, fail to result in a natural and proper increase in the prices of merchandise, the government still has a handful of aces, in its powers of currency inflation, to play in the game of value-lifting. And there isn't the slightest doubt that it will flip down the cards if necessary.

For this reason nothing can be easier to understand than that the person who, in the next several years, gets the most value for what-ever money he spends is the one who spends it now, while the stores still contain many commodities that were bought at the old prices incidental to the very depths of the depression. Those who hug their money till they can no longer put off their purchasing cannot possibly find themselves anywhere but out of luck.

There is a tremendous difference between this "buy-now" campaign and the several feeble and abortive attempts made to start purchasing while we were still in the grip of deflation. Now the goods are on the upward trend and cash is growing less in buying power. Then, money was still gaining in purchasing power and goods were coming down. Then the fellow who kept his cash today could get more for it tomorrow. Now, he will get less for it tomorrow than today.

It does not take a student of economics to know that the time to buy anything, whether for investment or for use, is when the trend of property and merchandise is upward, since each day we hug our dollars, in such a period, finds them a little less efficient than the day before.

From purely self-interested motives, therefore, even those who might not be open to arguments about their public duty can hardly fail to be impressed with the fact that the way to help themselves most is to help this buying movement to the extent of their ability.

COLLECTOR DOLAN.

This newspaper, over a considerable period of years and from time to time has raised Dr. Edward G. Dolan of this town, principally, we suppose, because he is a Democrat and the Herald is Republican; certainly to some extent because the doctor doesn't ever mind it in the least. It has been fun, of a sort, for us, and it hasn't hurt him.

Now that Dr. Dolan has come out of the intra-Democratic squabbles of the past several years with about all the glory that is to be derived from complete victory over opponents of one's own political faith and has demonstrated that his considerably talked-of friendship with President Roosevelt is neither a myth nor an exaggeration, we are at just a little loss, we must confess, for razzing material. It looks as though the doctor had a bit of a laugh on us.

All right; we're glad of it. Glad that our genial fellow townsman has received the highly important office of collector of internal revenue, not only because he wanted it but because he will be a good and honorable collector; and in our humble Republican way, glad of the honor that comes to Manchester.

And to prove it we shall reprint here the following deeply appreciative editorial article from the Bridgeport Times-Star, than which nothing could well be more enthusiastic:

In appointing Dr. Edward G. Dolan of Manchester to the post of collector of internal revenue for Connecticut, President Roosevelt did more than select a man who had been his early supporter in Connecticut, or a man who was identified with the cleaner faction of the Democratic party in Connecticut.

He recognized a political prowess but sterling personal qualities. He recognized loyalty to ideals, unquestioned honesty, a militant courage, and a fine attitude towards public life which Connecticut has come to know well as the attributes of the "Happy Warrior" of Manchester.

Dr. Dolan is really a misfit in politics. His plain honesty, his steadfast refusal to play the game as it is usually played, always been his; that, why he has held the office for some time, his reputation will still continue to be one to inspire the respect of all who admire decency and honesty in the political arena.

We only hope that somebody will some day say something half as nice as that about us. But we don't know of anybody that ever will—unless, by chance, it might be Dr. Dolan—the forgiving soul! We wouldn't put it past him.

HEARTISM AND SCHOOLS.

One of our very good friends sends us a clipping of an editorial from a florid Boston newspaper, with the penciled annotation, "Lad you see this? I don't like the paper but the editorial is in order."

The first two paragraphs of the article indicate the import of the whole. They are as follows:

Rev. Dr. J. Whitcomb Brouger makes the terse observation that this country spent more for one war than it has spent for education since the beginning of government.

Of course this is true. Forty billions of dollars, not counting the loss of life and property, went into the destructive World War while a stingy, penny-pinching policy has been applied to the education of our children for the constructive pursuits of peace.

The principal trouble with this is that it is not true. In the first place the sum of forty billion dollars cited as the cost of the World War to the United States was used, quite obviously, for no better reason than that it makes a louder noise than the actual amount, which was twenty-six billions.

We know of no source from which it is possible for us—or for the blatant organ of Mr. Hearst in Boston—to learn how much money has been spent in this country on education. But since we have always been assured that the conduct of Manchester's schools was extremely economical it may be fair to take the expenditures of this town as typical of the country. If so the nation was spending, on the operation of its public schools alone, at the time of the business crisis nearly four years ago, practically two billions a year—which in thirteen years would equal the cost of the war; and this makes no account of the enormous expenditures for school buildings. Nor does it include any part of the five hundred colleges, the entire maintenance of which is just as much a charge upon the country as that of the grammar schools.

From which it will be seen that Dr. Brouger and Mr. Hearst's newspaper are talking very much at large in their comparisons and with a far keener regard for effect than for accuracy.

The real facts of the matter are, probably, that the schools of the country have cost the people more, and considerably more, since the war—let alone the whole history of the country—than the total money cost of that terrible affair.

And besides, what has the cost of the war to do with the question? Did we go into that conflict as a matter of choice, or because we believe in war, or for any other reason than that there was no possible way of avoiding it?

Such arguments as those of Brouger and Hearst are blather, intended for the consumption of morons. We are a little astonished that our friend, who is a very long way indeed from being moronic, should be attracted by them even in a casual moment.

LONGEST FLIGHT.

An amazing passage, that of Rossi and Codos, the Frenchmen, who took to the air in New York and came down for the first time within a hands-breadth of Damascus. It is not only the immense distance traveled by the aviators in one unparalleled hop, but the contrasting characteristic of the termini that are impressive. Imagine leaving that very crystallization of ultra-modernism, New York city, ascending into the skies and landing next at the very gates of the oldest city in the world still trod by the feet of man! It is, in a very important way, the most extraordinary episode in the history of flight.

In one gigantic step through the air from the most youthful of the great capitals of the earth to the environs of a city that was lost in antiquity at the period of the fourteenth chapter of Genesis—a city so old that no man has even a remote idea of how ancient it was when the Jews were taken into captivity in Egypt! What an experience for those two hardy Frenchmen!

There is room in the incident for endless philosophizing.

PREVENTING STROKE AND HEAT EXHAUSTION

During the heat waves we read of people falling suddenly in collapse. Some of these cases end in death and, even when recovery occurs, severe sunstroke may have a permanent effect on the mind. Many cases could be avoided entirely if people learned to change their food and clothing to suit the weather and were careful not to stay in the sun too long and to keep cool by means of cool sponge baths or electric fans. With such care hundreds of cases of sunstroke and heat exhaustion could be prevented. Hot weather is a trying time for everybody and many people become irritable or listless during a hot spell; statistics show that crimes of violence such as assault or murder are more frequent during extreme heat.

The most important cause of sunstroke is excessive exposure to the heat of the sun but contributing factors are: unwise selection of meals, working too hard, a disturbed mental condition, worry or anxiety, and over-consumption of alcohol. During the summer months people make the mistake of adding many inharmonious mixtures to their meals, such as peanuts, popcorn, hot dogs, sandwiches and soda fountain concoctions. The result is indigestion, loss of sleep and an upset condition. Then, when two hot days come along together, a certain proportion of the population suffers from the heat and the ambulances do a rushing business. By eating sensibly, being careful of the elimination of wastes, wearing light clothing and staying out of the sun you best protect yourself from collapse from heat.

Those who suffer the most are the old, the young, those already run-down and those who have borne sunstroke before. If you become dizzy after being in the sun for a short time, then it is possible that you are experiencing the first effects of sunstroke as exposure of the body to intense sunlight will often bring on dizziness and mental confusion. After effects of severe sunstroke are headache, tendency to become irritated easily, and an undue degree of excitement after taking a small amount of a stimulant such as alcohol. These are all nervous symptoms and show that the part of the body most often affected by sunstroke is the central nervous system.

Sunstroke produces a very red face, red eyes, and high temperature. The head is congested with blood. The patient often becomes unconscious almost immediately, as

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(What Causes Varicose Veins?)
 Question: Mrs. Jeanette A. inquires: "Is it possible that underaction of the suprarenal gland is the cause of varicose veins? I have taken a half grain of suprarenal extract every day or about three months but cannot see any improvement. I follow your diet and exercise."
 Answer: Varicose veins are produced by a breaking down of the walls of the veins. If the veins extend over both legs, it is sure to be due to a lack of organic minerals in the body's food supply or due to a sedentary life. Destroy the minerals after they are assimilated. If any of the ductless glands over-secrete or under-secrete, it is bound to affect metabolism to some extent, but use of glandular extracts will not correct the mineral deficiency from which the veins suffer in the trouble known as varicose veins. I have an article that gives a good home treatment for varicose veins, and it will be very glad to send it to you if you will send me a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope, care of this newspaper.

(Drink Milk Slowly)
 Question: "Dad" asks: "Does milk form a lump in the stomach? I know if it is taken in large swallows, it will form large curds in the stomach and is then not easily digestible. However, if small amounts of lemon juice are taken with the milk or if the milk is taken very slowly, the curds will be smaller, in which form the digestive juices can have a better effect in digesting these curds."

THE MOVEMENT SPREADS

though he had been struck down: More men than women suffer from it and it is most commonly found among those exposed to hot sun while in a weakened condition or while dressed too warmly. When the humidity is high, sunstroke is more common. The symptoms are: shortness of breath, quick unconsciousness, a high fever, and, in some cases, death within a short time. The ordinary symptoms are: severe headache, dizzy sensations, and perhaps nausea. The breathing may be peculiar and sound like gasping or snoring.

The most hopeful signs are a drop in the fever and the recovery of consciousness, such cases returning to normal and being all right as long as they keep out of sun. Sunstroke does not occur without some warning signals being given first. These are dizziness, pain in the head, swimming spots before the eyes, flushed or burning sensation of the face. Patients having such symptoms would do well to look for a cool place dash cold water on the face, the wrists and the back of the neck and loosen the clothing. If possible, lie in a cool bath or get into a cool shower until you are relieved. This will keep a real case of sunstroke from developing and is an important safety measure during the "dog days."

Sunstroke and heat exhaustion both occur during the warm weather, but they are two entirely different conditions and require different treatments. In tomorrow's article I will outline the treatment to use.

AUTO VICTIM DIES

Grand Haven, Mich., Aug. 8.—(AP) Mrs. Albert Hagenberger, 33, of Dayton, Ohio, died last night in Hutton hospital of injuries suffered when her husband's automobile left the highway near Spring Lake and overturned. Capt. Hagenberger, who with Lieut. Lester Malland was the first to fly the Pacific ocean from Hawaii in 1928, and his wife were enroute to Duck Lake where their two sons are in camp, when the accident occurred. Captain Hagenberger, who is stationed at Wright Field, Dayton, was uninjured.

DISTILLERS BUILD GROUNDWORK FOR "BIG BUSINESS"

Liquor Traffic Will Be Conducted on Modern Business Plan.

The new set-up in the liquor industry is described in the following article, the second of three written for this newspaper.

By WILLIS THORNTON
 NEA Service Writer

New York, Aug. 8—If America finally says "Come home—all is forgiven" to John Barleycorn, the country will scarcely recognize the product.

What used to be called "the liquor traffic" will be more like "the spirits-purveying enterprises." It will be all decked out with holding companies, stock issues, subsidiaries, scientific merchandising, and all the fancy clothes that big business put on during the twenties. Though only half the needed states have ratified repeal, the setup in the liquor industry is already a far different thing than it ever was in 1918.

Consolidations, reorganizations, dissolution of old companies, formation of new ones, new plans for selling and distributing, all figure in the frantic rush of the industry to prevent being caught flat-footed by repeal.

That's a real danger. For a nation which used to consume between 90,000,000 and 80,000,000 gallons of whiskey a year would probably great repeat with only a couple of months' supply. This deficiency can't be planned overnight. "Bottled in bond" means that a whiskey has aged at least four years. Blended whiskey, however, can be bottled at any age and distillers believe they can build up a stock of this type of "quor in from twelve to eighteen months."

But the distillers are doing their best to follow the advice of Major A. V. Dalrymple, federal prohibition administrator. Dalrymple admits that prohibition is doomed, and urges that American distillers get busy so that country will not find itself entirely dependent on the Canadian and European stocks of whiskey which are eagerly waiting for the word "Go." "Use the grain that is bursting our warehouses and get other liquors that can be built up on an alcohol base. Commercial Solvents Corp., largest present producer of grain alcohol, enters the picture through the same door. It recently acquired the industrial alcohol business of the Rossville Alcohol and Chemical Corp. and is planning to increase the output of its Florida alcohol plant from 18,000,000 to 35,000,000 gallons a year. At Poria also, before the first of the year there is expected to be under construction one of the largest distilleries in the world capable of making 100,000 gallons of bourbon and rye whiskey a day. The Canadian firm of Hiram Walker—Gooderham & Worts is back of this, probably with one eye on future import tariffs.

Talk of Canadian Mergers
 The American Commercial Alcohol Corp. is planning improvements at its Pekin, Ill., distillery that will enable it to turn from 6000 to 7000 bushels of grain a day into whiskey and gin.

Runners of a continental merger between distillers of this country and four of the great Canadian companies persist. Canadian liquor shares have risen sensationally, for these companies have immense stocks of properly-matured whiskeys on hand. The British Isles wait hopefully, and mumble something about paying the war debts in whiskey.

With mixed feelings a great country waits to see what the long-banished John Barleycorn will look like at the homecoming—if there is a homecoming.

Next: The future line-up of the wet and dry forces.

stockholders. On Oct. 1, 1934, this huge company will give a warehouse receipt for a case of whiskey to every holder of five shares of the company's stock; the actual whiskey to be distributed to holders of the receipts when, as and if the law permits. National Distillers has been the signpost of a sensational stock market, rising from a low of 16 7/8 to a peak of 124 7/8. Other stocks connected with the repeal prospect have also skyrocketed. Long-sleeved rye rose to a place beside dollar wheat.

Standard Brands, the famous food combine launched by the House of Morgan, is rumored to be "surveying the liquor field." As this firm includes the Fleischmann Co., large alcohol producer, it seems likely that the national distributing system of Standard Brands might be used in a brand-new method of selling liquors through food stores rather than saloons.

All producers of alcohol look forward to a potential interest in the liquor business, for alcohol is used to "rectify" or cut aged whiskey down to the legal 100 proof. Also, as many citizens have learned for themselves, alcohol can be used to make gin. Proper gin is distilled, but gin of a sort can be made by simply mixing alcohol and certain flavoring matters.

Other distillers are making heroic efforts to prepare for the homecoming. The Schenley Distillers Corp., for example, recently sold for $3,000,000 of new stock to finance new warehouses and other facilities. The stock was sold before listing at $15 a share. Immediately after listing it opened at $35 and has touched $47. Schenley Distillers has been acquiring other distilleries and stocks of whiskeys since 1920—one of the most recent one—the famous old James E. Pepper & Co. Inc., and its reserve stock. One of the Schenley subsidiaries, the Joseph S. Finch & Co., owners of the Gr-Iden Whedding brand, is now enlarging its plant and warehousing facilities at Schenley, Pa. Another subsidiary, the George T. Stagg Co., at Frankfort, Ky., is now producing large quantities of Kentucky bourbon and rye.

The alcohol companies have been active. U. S. Industrial Alcohol, which makes mostly denatured alcohol and solvents for lacquers, can turn out 40,000,000 gallons of alcohol a year, part of which could be very useful in expanding the slender stock of aged whiskey, or in making gin or other liquors that can be built up on an alcohol base. Commercial Solvents Corp., largest present producer of grain alcohol, enters the picture through the same door. It recently acquired the industrial alcohol business of the Rossville Alcohol and Chemical Corp. and is planning to increase the output of its Florida alcohol plant from 18,000,000 to 35,000,000 gallons a year. At Poria also, before the first of the year there is expected to be under construction one of the largest distilleries in the world capable of making 100,000 gallons of bourbon and rye whiskey a day. The Canadian firm of Hiram Walker—Gooderham & Worts is back of this, probably with one eye on future import tariffs.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 8.—Col. Henry Stanley Todd, war hero and artist, admits unashamedly to being a little frightened. And the mounting stack of mail that finds its way to him each day doesn't improve his placidity of mind.

The letters are from "all over the world, many from high churchmen of various denominations, others from ordinary folk—but all from people who have seen his painting of a virile, fearless Jesus Christ.

The artist, who wasn't at first aware that he had done anything remarkable, titled it simply, "The Nazarene." Others are calling it now "The Christ Triumphant" and "The Dynamic Christ." Clergymen have written: "It will reach and impress, for all time, all the peoples of the Christian world."

"The story of the New Testament on canvas." "Art critics who come to study it remain to worship." "This is the Christ of our day."

From one town comes word of a woman saved by the painting from a desire for self-destruction. "From another place a boy of 8 declares in a wavering scrawl: I know Jesus loves me, the picture tells me so." A prominent Rabbi says: "I welcome your conception; there has long been need of it. To me Jesus has been a remarkable combination of sympathy and strength—not so much a sufferer as a stimulator."

After having been shown on the altars of some 30 churches and cathedrales, the original painting now hangs in the Hall of Religion at the Chicago Fair—the sole exhibit of the Federal Council of Churches. Colonel Todd has just returned from Chicago. He watched thousands of people pass before the canvas every day; saw many of them return again and again, to stand in reverence, and some of them in tears. He met an aged invalid who had packed up her whole family and traveled there from Mobile, Ala., just to see the painting.

These are the things that have made the big, broad-shouldered portrait painter afraid. Or perhaps not so much afraid as dismayed and curiously humble, amazed that his hand could have been the medium of such a stirring thing.

Todd combines a confusing multiplicity of interests. He originally wanted to be a soldier, but became an artist instead. He studied engineering at college in St. Louis, then art for four years in Paris. Incidentally, he won a prize there for an extemporaneous composition of Mary, at the Tomb. As one of America's leading portrait artists, he has painted three presidents and scores of celebrities. He was 47 when the war came, served to the intelligence Division, later became Red Cross Commander for France and Belgium. France decorated him twice.

For some reason that he can't quite analyze, he tried five times to depict the Nazarene. Four were unfinished failures. One day last winter, strolling on his estate near Huntington, L. I., he had an inspiration. Returning to his studio, which looks like a little sylvan chapel, he began to paint. Didn't even sketch the features; just transferred the pigments to canvas. Eight hours later he laid down his brushes and looked at the result. No man of sorrow, this, but a Jesus strong, confident and compassionate.

RAILROAD EXECUTIVE GETS WARNING NOTE

Told to Pay $15,000 or His Daughter Will Be Killed at Summer Camp.

Philadelphia, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Federal agents are attaching the building where James R. Downes, Pennsylvania railroad executive, was instructed to go today with $15,000 if he did not want his daughter, Betty, 18, killed or kidnaped at a summer camp in New Hampshire.

Investigators have virtually no hope that the extortionist will keep the rendezvous which was ordered in a letter to Downes and confirmed by a telephone threat to his home, but they are leaving no stone unturned in their search for a potential slayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Downes refused to discuss reports that they had received a second threatening telephone call. R. G. Harvey, chief of the United States Bureau of Investigation in Philadelphia, dismissed questions with "we're too busy."

Downes, chief of freight transportation for the railroad, said he would not take the money to the appointed building, but hastily added, "The whole matter is in the hands of police."

At North Sutton, N. H., where Betty is at Camp Buno for the season, National Guardsmen joined law enforcement officers in guarding her and 100 other girls.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 8.—(AP)—A convention to cast Alabama's formal vote for repeal of the National prohibition law was called today.

The action of the 116 delegates was confined to routine since the convention was bound to follow the dictates of a statewide referendum July 18. Alabama voted for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment by a majority of approximately 29,960.

Ever Ride Surf? It's Great Sport But You May Take A Few Spills Along With Thrills

Honolulu, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Surf riding, peculiarly a Polynesian sport and developed to a greater degree by the Hawaiians than by any other race, is constantly drawing more white persons, over "hobbies" to the ranks of those who ride the waves at 30 miles an hour or faster.

Surf riding, long a favorite sport of Hawaiians, is gaining in popularity with white persons. And it packs thrills a plenty, for a rider travels 30 miles an hour. It looks easy for the Hawaiian pictured above, but it's not. Diagram shows how rider travels at an angle to the wave's crest and not straight ahead.

Three centuries and perhaps longer, according to Kenneth P. Emory of Bishop museum, Hawaiians have pursued the hobby, and it is dangerous enough to be thrilling and is one reason for the great physical development of the Hawaiians of yesterday and the present.

In ancient days, said Emory, surfing was reserved for the chiefs, for more proficient riders than any today.

The chiefs were always willing to lay down anything, even a war, to take out the boards when a big surf was running, Emory said.

Huge boards 17 feet long in the museum make the present boards of eight to eleven feet appear puny and bear witness to the strength of men powerful enough to paddle these heavy craft, using only their hands, sufficiently fast to approximate the speed of the breakers.

Surf riding presents an interesting study in physics, Emory explained, and is possible because the wave moves but the water does not. Essentially it is sliding down a constantly moving inclined plane whose forward surface of water slides upward, creating friction that prevents the board from slipping to the bottom. It is the same principle as sliding on a sled, only the sled that moves upward with sufficient speed to keep the slider from reaching the bottom.

The riders do not slide straight before the wave but diagonally to one side. If they tried to go straight ahead the nose of the board would dip water and a "pearl dive" would result.

Instead, as soon as the rider, who lies prostrate on his board before the oncoming wave and paddles furiously just before it reaches him, feels his board sliding down the wave he stands up and as he rises lifts on side of the board slightly. The board veers in the opposite direction and he rises at an angle of approximately 30 degrees to the wave's crest.

Not only does this angling motion keep the board afloat but also the board goes faster, traveling, in effect, the hypotenuse instead of the side of a triangle drawn at right angles to the wave.

The fundamental rule for safety in surf riding is: Never let go the board. A free board caught by a breaker first goes to the bottom, then rebounds ten feet into the air, and woe to the swimmer it strikes, for a board weighs from 60 to 130 pounds.

If all efforts to cling to the board are unavailing, the rider's next best bet is to dive as deep and as fast as he can and not reappear until he hears the roar of the wave pass on. Then he rises holding one hand above his head so another rider can steer past him.

MRS. MOODY READY FOR SINGLES PLAY
New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Any question of Helen Willie Moody's ability in the women's championship, where she will start in quest of her eighth singles crown at Forest Hills, Monday, was dispelled today.

Along with this doubt went the mystery surrounding the "crick" in Helen's back that kept her from the Wightman cup matches with Great Britain last week, and almost cost the United States the highly prized international trophy. The injury was announced fearfully as "sub acute fibrous lumbar vertebrae symptoms."

While swimming around in the surf bathing in California, she said, she explained, "I dug them up and carried them to the shore and in doing so, wrenched my back." She expects to resume practice Wednesday or Thursday.

HOLLAND-BISSELL LOOM AS TENNIS FINALISTS

Last Year's Runner-Up Seems Due to Meet Champ as Seeded Players Move Toward Semi-Finals; First Round Ended Without Upset.

In two matches played last night, Earl Bissell eliminated James Amico, 6-3, 6-1, to gain the quarter-finals, where he will meet Carleton Harris, hailed as the "dark horse" of the tourney. Harris won the right to meet Bissell by trouncing Jim Metcalf last night, 6-2, 6-0. Although Harris had not been tested fully, it looks as though Bissell will have his hands full to reach the semi-finals. The match has not been arranged as yet.

Beyond the elimination of two seeded players by default, the first round of the tennis tournament for the town singles title was completed over the week-end without upsets or spectacular play as the favorites advanced to the second round and the quarter-finals. It is expected that the tourney will be completed within the next two weeks and present indications are that Walter "Ty" Holland will again defend his crown in the finals.

One Bracket Complete
Robert C. Smith, seeded No. 3, and Sherrwood "Cap" Bissell, seeded No. 4, were eliminated by default. The other four seeded players scored first round victories and seem likely to advance at least as far as the quarter-finals. The fourth or lowest bracket has already been completed with James Britton waiting to meet the winner of the third bracket, in all probability the defending champion.

Should Beach Finals
Earl Bissell, last year's runner-up, is the only seeded player in the first or top bracket and seems headed for the finals. On paper he has but one opponent serious enough to threaten his place, namely, a remarkable upset should easily come through.

Lebro Urbanetti, seeded No. 5, seems destined to enter the quarter-finals unless he is stopped by Wilbur Brown, Robert Sturgeon or James O'Leary. The latter looks like the only player capable of giving Urbanetti a real battle. This means, of course, that Urbanetti will oppose Bissell in the semi-finals, with Bissell having a decided edge on the strength of his play last year.

Bissell-Holland?
The third bracket has two seeded players, "Ty" Holland, ranked No. 1, and Carl Johnson, ranked No. 8. Holland should have little trouble defeating Herman Bassett and then Johnson, although Johnson's amazing victory over Thomas Hawley last year stamps him as one of the best of the younger players.

On this basis, Holland will meet Britton in the semi-finals, with Bissell and Urbanetti in the other match. As it looks now, the finale will be a repetition of last year as far as the identity of the finalists are concerned, the only question being whether or not Bissell has improved his game to the extent that he can end Holland's five year tennis monopoly in Manchester.

There are 378 imported waterfalls in Brazil; 164 of these have a potential power of at least 50,000,000 horsepower.

PICK BROWN BERRY AS DARK HORSE OF THE HAMBLETONIAN

Spectacular Victory in American Stakes Makes Horse Likely Candidate; Event Slated Aug. 16.

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 8.—(Special)—With the spectacular victory of Brown Berry, bay colt owned by the Lytle Brothers of Plainfield, N. J., in the American State No. 1 at Salem, N. H., a new and threatening "dark horse" has entered the lists for the $50,000 Hambletonian stake to be trotted at Goshen, N. Y., August 16 during the Grand Circuit meeting there.

Not satisfied with an already crowded field of fast-stepping colts and fillies given a good chance to win the coveted blue ribbon class, Fred Egan and Brown Berry home first to toss another formidable candidate for Hambletonian honors into the scrambled potpourri known as "advance dope."

Not Considered Before
While Brown Berry, by the great Peter Volo, was second in the $5,000 Matron Stake at Cleveland early in July and edged in third in the $11,500 Championship Stallion Stake, also staged at North Randall, he was not considered out of the run-of-mine class when he came to the post for the inaugural trotting of the American Stake at Rockingham Park.

No. scared one whit by the presence of the favorite, Mary Reynolds, with victory in the stakes at Cleveland and Toledo behind her, Brown Berry gave the filly a tough time of it in the first heat of the three-year-old trot at Salem. Egan brought his colt in only a half length behind Mary Reynolds in the first heat, endangering the lead of the winner every inch of the way.

Undaunted by this first setback, Brown Berry went out and triumphed in the second and third heats, and finally, in the fourth, he won by a wide margin. Mary Reynolds still stands as one of the strongest favorites for the Hambletonian, the sudden and sensational appearance of Brown Berry in first place has made horsemen and fans alike sit up and wonder if the filly driven by Ben F. White is going to have as easy a time in the Hambletonian as was expected once upon a time.

King Ben Entered
Another colt, which Brown Berry knew was too dangerous to him for comfort in the last two heats of the American Stake was King Ben, staging an almost super-human comeback after suffering from sickness at Cleveland and Toledo. Placed sixth in the first heat which Mary Reynolds won, King Ben came back with a dash in the second heat to place third. The third heat saw the Good Time Stable colt, with Stokes up, riding fast and furiously into mid-places and threatening the leadership of Brown Berry.

Under the expert training of Walter Cox, who helps William H. Cane stage the Hambletonian at Good Time Park, Goshen, N. Y., King Ben's career has been a triumph. His victory in the first heat of the Matron Stake at Cleveland stamped him as a 10 calibre, but when sickness overtook him, he had to be withdrawn from the three-year-old stakes.

Returning to the mile circuits at Salem, King Ben demonstrated beyond question that he'll bear plenty of watching in the Hambletonian. Another colt, which Brown Berry's Cox's care is Atlantic Volo, who caused as great a sensation on July 31 in winning the three-year-old trot at Rockingham Park as did Brown Berry in coping the American Stake sponsored by the Trotting Horse Club of America.

Another Threat
Atlantic Volo, with nothing much behind him as a two-year-old, dashed out and won the trot recently which showed him as another Hambletonian spotlight as another threatening "dark horse."

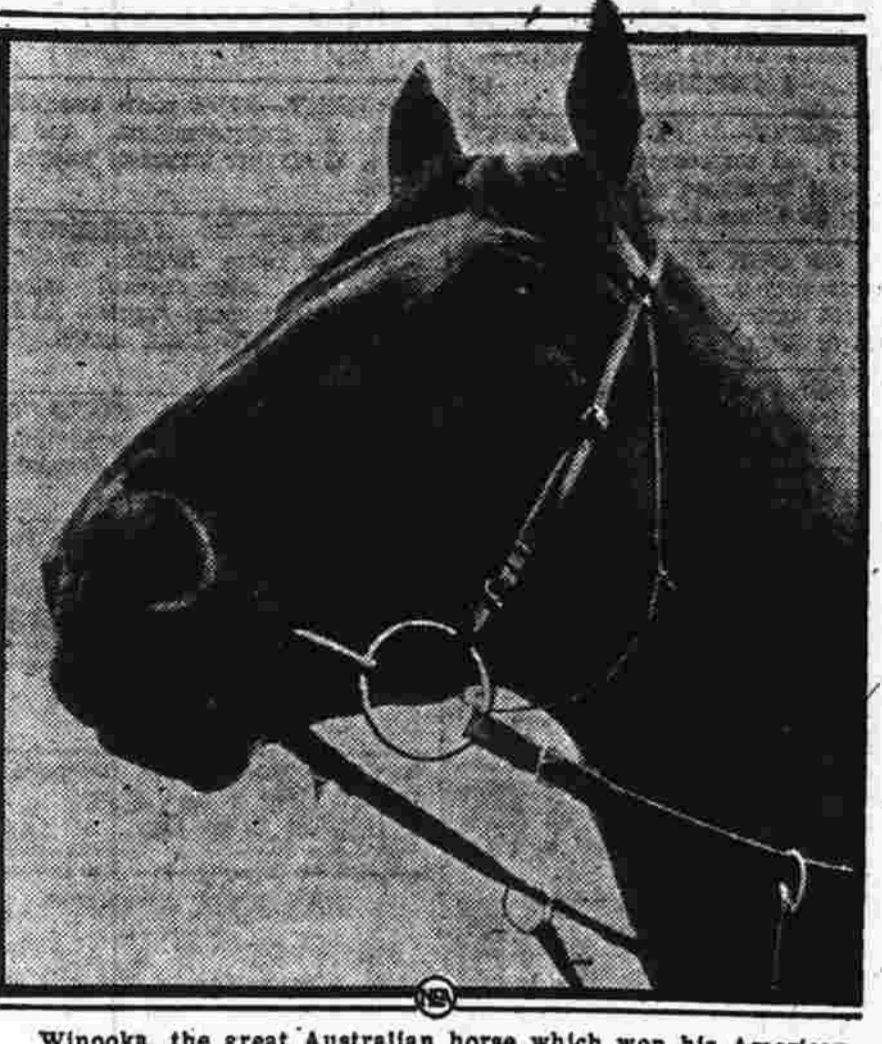

As a result of the "dress rehearsal" for the Hambletonian at Salem, represented by Brown Berry and King Ben are in the front rank of dangerous rivals for the richest purse offered in a trot anywhere in the world. But Mary Reynolds, still in the best of form, is not going to taste defeat again if she can help it.

So, it's still anybody's guess as to what colt or filly will get the highest honors which the harness sport can bestow on August 16.

THE BIG ONE? OH, SURE, IT GOT AWAY

A Mighty Strike, a Thrash in Head, and Then—A Broken Line! No Wonder Fisherman Sheds Salty Tears; Here's Story on Catching Muskellunge.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth of a series on big game fishing in the Canadian north-west.

By JIMMY DONAHUE
NEA Service Sports Writer

Hudson, Ont., Aug. 8.—The big ones always get away. And that's true of the trip Jim Haber and I took into this country for muskellunge.

I was our second trip back into Muskies Lake for "tunge that we encountered our ghost fish."

It had started to rain that morning, and Shorty the guide, was a bit skeptical about starting out. But fish-crazy as we were, a little rain goes a long way.

We bundled our duffie into the boat and made for our paradise back in the bush.

When we arrived at Musky Lake, the sun came out and proceeded to dry our clothes and dampen the tiny thermometer in my tackle box showed, and Shorty shook his head with misgivings.

"Too hot for musk," he grunted. "Go in weeds and sleep. Too hot for me to eat even."

But a little thing like a guide who had been back in this country for five years didn't discourage us. We threaded our lines through the weeds and started fishing.

We hadn't any more than started when I hooked the first one. "Sixteen pounds, back you go," said Shorty.

Everytime the Yanks slide, swerve and knock a wheel off or two in a tangle with some routine opponent, chuckles sweep the baseball lands and the boys nod wisely a. the indisputable signs of an aged, hard to inspire machine about to fly apart all at once like the fabled one horse shay.

Toughest of Foes
Every one chuckles but the baseball men who have to tackle the Yankees next. It has long been their adage, and it stood forth more than ever today, that when the checks are down and the issue is man to man with the title at stake, Babe Ruth and his "doddering" brethren, are the grimmest, toughest foes, in all baseball.

With 45,000 roosting in the great horsehoe stands yesterday, the high riding Senators, opened a four game series with a doubleheader. The Yankees climbed right up out of the rut like a hurt Dempsey, Babe Ruth belted one, Lou Gehrig hit another. The pitchers pitched as they're capable of pitching, the hitters hit, the defense was tight, the Yankees swept both games 6-5 and 5-4 and the Senators lead was shaved to a single game.

Forced to Rally
The Yankees had to rally in the ninth inning of both games to win. With two out, Earl Combs and Byrd, running for Ruth, on second and third, Ben Chapman, nicked Jack Russell, finishing for Alvin Crowder, for the hit that scored two and won the first game 6-5. Then in the second with the count tied at four-all, two out in the ninth again and Crossett waiting patiently, Joey Sewell belted him home with the counter that won 5-4. In the second game, the 28th and 30th respectively, in second, Gehrig now has played in 1,800 consecutive games, within seven of Everett Scott's record.

Red Sox Whale A's
The Browns won their first series for manager Rogers Hornsby, as Lena Stiles shut out the white Sox, 6 to 0, for a 3 to 1 edge. A five run assault in the fourth gave the Tigers enough runs to beat Cleveland 6-3, despite errors.

The home folks gave Bucky Walters, Red Sox third baseman a chest of silver and a loving cup at Philadelphia, and he in turn gave the Athletics a headache by being in five runs with a homer and triple as Boston won 8-5.

Action in the National League was suspended for the day.

SARAZEN IS HERO AS TOURNEY OPENS

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Olin Dutra, the strapping caballero from California, was the defending champion and the marked man, but Gene Sarazen was the hero of the hour as 100 marksmen of the fairways opened a week's battle for the national professional golf championship at Blue Mound today.

Gene, making a late dramatic entry, had saved the day for the field just when Milwaukee tournament sponsors, angered at the loss of several Ryder cup stars, threatened to withdraw the guarantee fund of $9,000 and force the players to play for the gate alone.

Just as the fears and threats of withdrawing the money guarantee were at the highest, a cheer went up. Into the club house, strode Sarazen, not only ready for action, but confident of beating Dutra and the rest of the professional contenders for the crown.

Sarazen stood out as the one man to beat but there were at least a score of serious contenders including Dutra and five other Ryder cup players—Billie Burke, Paul Runyan, Horton Smith, Leo Delgel, and Ed Dudley.

Other golfing notables entered included Harry Cooper, Bobby Cruikshank, John Golden of Noroton, Conn., Johnny Farrell, and Tom Creavy, 1931 champion.

Today's qualifying round called for 36 holes.

MATCH PLAY OPENS
Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Match play in the 31st annual women's western open golf championship tournament opened today with Virginia Van Wie, the national title holder, and Bernice Wall of Oakbrook, Wis., the medalist, facing brisk competition. Mrs. Opal E. Hill, of Kansas City, is the defending champion.

THE TINY TINIETTES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Wee Scouty swam up to the top and saw the bag of money drop into the little rowboat. Then he smiled from ear to ear. He'd made somebody happy and that always made him feel just grand. Said he, "I'll bet that fisherman is glad that he came here. 'With all the gold that's at his feet, he'll buy more fish than he can eat. He will not have to hold a pole, while sitting in the sun. 'If he's as careful as can be, he'll live from now on, happily. He has enough, now, to retire. A good deed we have done. 'I'll crack two rocks together and a great big whale will understand that I want it to come right here. Just wait and you will see! 'He cracked the rocks with all his might, which shortly brought the whale in sight. 'Now comes a ride,' said Shrimpy. 'There is room enough for three. ' (Scouty, Windy and Copy rescue a shark in the next story.)

CHASE WILL LEAVES $5,000 TO CHARITY

Hartford, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Bequests totaling $100,000, of which $5,000 is left to Trinity college, are provided for in the will of Charles E. Chase, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company, who died last week.

The will, filed for probate, creates a trust fund with the residuary estate for the benefit of Mrs. Helen I. Chase, wife of the testator, after bequeathing $25,000 each to Genevieve C. Hewes, a daughter, and Foster E. Chase of West Hartford, a son. Mrs. Hewes is the wife of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Thomas Hewes.

Bequests of $1,000 each are left to the Young Men's Christian Association, Young Women's Christian Association, Newington Home for Crippled Children, Connecticut Children's Aid Society and the Hartford Hospital.

The trust fund will revert to Mrs. Hewes and her brother on their mother's death.

SENSE and NONSENSE

BRIEFS: A man doesn't always have to make money to spend it. This fact raises a tremendous amount of trouble, first and last. The man who is not going to do much is likely to talk a lot about what he says he's going to do—but isn't. Tomorrow may never make up for what's lost yesterday or today, but it's something to look forward to. One fisherman states that the only time a fisherman tells the truth is when he calls another fisherman a liar. Why is it that when a subscriber gets mad and stops his paper, he still seems to know ever thing that is in it? Women don't cry much now. For that matter, a id turned loose in a candy store doesn't cry for candy. The worst thing about this high postage is that it encourages creditors to send bill collectors in person. The tax-payer has one advantage. He can work for his country without spending money to get elected. Of course it can't be done. But abolishing the ninth inning would seem to be a helpful service.

Goofus—Henry Peck keeps a secret record of his whole married life. Rufus—I presume he calls it a "Scrap Book."

Add Similes: As futile as trying to sell Mahatma Gandhi a reducing machine.

Wife—I call my husband "Twinkle Little Star." Why—because he's constant? Wife—No, because I wonder where he is.

Betty—My fiancée wrote to say he wanted to be married very soon to the most charming girl in the world. Letty—The wretch! After promising to marry me!

The inotype is a very tricky piece of machinery, and unless watched very carefully will cause much trouble.

Horace—That is a government revenue cutter. Jean—I had no idea they did it with a boat.

Knowledge is not always power. Also there is a good amount of power wielded, without much knowledge to guide it.

Do women make fools of the men, or, do they merely show up what fools some of them really are?

Ikey—Dot hat iss nice fit, sindt it? Customer—But suppose my ears get tired? Sick Man—Doctor, the other doctor seem to differ from you in their diagnosis of my case. Doctor—I know, but the post-mortem will show which of us is right.

Tourist (in Chicago at the Field Museum looking at the jawbone of a whale)—Is this the whale that swallowed Samson? His Wife (nudging him)—Pa, don't speak so loud. It was Job that the whale swallowed.

Hal (kissing her gently)—Haven't I met you before, some-where? Sue (kissing her gent)—No, it's just the situation that's so familiar.

Joe—It's to be a battle of wits. Mae—How brave of you, to go unarmed.

You rarely make a friend by winning an argument. Your antagonist would perhaps liked you better if he had won.

About the only person safe from kidnappers is the one who sidles up to you and asks for the price of a cup o' coffee.

Mabel—Did you let Fred Helms kiss you? Mildred—Yes, he said he'd scream if I didn't.

Every successful book must pay the expense of publishing ten failures.
