50,000 LOSE LIVES IN CHINESE FLOOD

Officials Say Many More Killed and That Complete Total Will Never Be Known—Bandits Plunder.

Hankow, Hupeh Province, (Central China), Aug. 17.—(AP)—Wide-spread floods of the Yellow river in Northern China, were said today to have caused fifty thousand deaths in the last few days.

Officials of the Kinkow-Hankow railway, in giving this estimate, said that many more undoubtedly had perished since dikes began breaking over a wide area early this month, but that the complete total will never be known.

To add to the misfortune of the destitute population, bandits have appeared in the submerged areas in Hunan Province north of here and are plundering towns and villages.

In Honan, the river, called "China's Sorrow," was reported as having ceased rising, but in Shantung province, farther to the northeast, the waters continued to rise.

Towns Destroyed.

Dozens of towns and villages in western Shantung were destroyed today as the flood waters moved slowly toward the river's mouth.

Thousands were made homeless. Many clinging to tree tops when the dikes broke were swept to their death.

All crops in an area fifty miles long and 20 wide in Western Shantung were destroyed and great hardship visited on inhabitants, missionaries from Tsochowfu reported.

COUZENS EXPLAINS REFUSAL OF LOAN

Senator Declares Federal Law Had to Be Obeyed in Detroit's Bank Crisis.

Detroit, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Senator James Couzens, (R., Mich.), relating the "inside story" of the Michigan banking crisis, today informed the Detroit bank investigating jury that although he told the then President Hoover he would "denounce" from the housetops a proposed loan of $45,000,000 to a Detroit bank group, it was the Federal law governing Reconstruction Finance Corp. loans that really prevented such a grant.

The loan, previous witnesses have told the bank jury, would have prevented the Michigan banking holiday.

Explains Details.

The Michigan Senator, reading from a prepared chronology of events in which he took a prominent part during the bank crisis, described a meeting of R. F. C. officials with Mr. Hoover, Oden Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, and Senators Couzens and Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, at which the loan was discussed.

He said the application was for $45,000,000, and the R. F. C. had scaled assets offered as valued at $37,700,000. He declared the deposit liability of the Union Guardian Trust Co. for which the loan was sought, was $20,500,000.

Must Be Secured.

"The law says very explicitly that every R. F. C. loan must have 'full and adequate security,' he said. 'Every Federal official having to do with the Detroit banking situation, from the President down, was of the opinion that the security offered by representative of the Union Guardian was adequate only for a loan up to $37,000,000. The law prohibited loaning more.'

The Senator, discussing testimony of a previous witness that Alfred F.

Machado's Family Arrives In U. S.

EX-PRESIDENT MENOCA, OF CUBA, IS RETURNING

Leaders Are Wondering What Part He and Other Exiles Will Play in the Reconstruction Program.

Havana, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Cuba awaited today the return from exile of former President Marco G. Menocal and Colonel Carlos Mendiz and wondered what part they will play in reconstruction plans of the new provisional government.

Qualified observers professed to see a possibility that the two famous leaders against the overthrown regime of Gerardo Machado might ride back into favor, take an important role in President De Cespedes administration, and help solve the political and economic issues born of last week's revolution.

Colonel Mendiz, one time Congressman and newspaper editor (El Herald), who first took up arms in 1906 and since has been linked with revolutionary activities, went to Florida, Feb. 18, remarking that "Liberty is crushed in Cuba."

In U. S. a Year.

General Menocal has been in the United States more than a year, during which time he has directed activities of a revolutionary junta. He denies having political aspirations.

Also expected is the return of Colonel Aurelio Hevia, former secretary of war, and of the interior department and Sergio Carbo, newspaper editor, who in May, was charged with inspiring a rebellion in Oriente province.

Miguel Mariano Gomez, former mayor of Havana, is also expected to arrive soon. He reputedly is in line with the chieftainship of the Havana Central district.

Exiles Returning.

Meanwhile, as exiles returned or prepared to come back to a fatherland that has seen many changes in the last few days, others, of an opposite faith, prepared to leave.

Ramiro Guerra, Machado's secretary, and two others left for New York. It was learned authoritatively that other important leaders of the deposed regime, including

NRA MEDIATORS SEEK STRIKE SETTLEMENTS

If NRA Is a Failure, A Dictatorship, —Egan

New Haven, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Representative of the union announced the strike "is the most successful, most nearly true to its purpose and has been marred by the least violence" of any in his experience.

Egan asserted the walkout "marked the death blow to sweatshops in Connecticut. We are going to eliminate sweatshops. We started weeks ago and your presence in the hall shows that you are cooperating with us."

"The sweatshops are not working with the President. We planned to start this drive two weeks ago, but decided to wait and let the sweatshop owners show that they were not working with the President."

He added that many of the shops have the Blue Eagle but "don't know the meaning of it. When the union gets through with them, they will know what NRA means."

Schub announced the walkout was complete in New Haven, with 2,000 workers on strike, while he estimated the number who quit at Bridgeport at more than 1,200.

Few Acts of Violence Reported as 60,000 Garment Workers Continue Strike in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut — New York Believes Needle Workers Will Return on Monday.

Mediators, some of them backed by the NRA, sought today to settle strikes in such widely differing occupations as needle workers and fruit picking.

A major industrial conflict tore the eastern garment business at the height of its peak season.

Union leaders announced that sixty thousand dressmakers in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania, answered a strike call yesterday in fight against "sweatshop conditions."

Grover A. Whalen, NRA chief for New York, was authorized to mediate, and called a meeting today.

River Receding.

Near Kaileng, a city of 175,000 in Honan province, one thousand peasants drowned in a few minutes, when dikes broke and impounded waters rushed over a large area. Danger to the city was diminishing today, however, as the river receded.

The flood of the Yellow river is considered the worst of several scourges in Central and Northern China this summer. Earlier this month, ten thousand persons drowned in flooding of the Yangtze river in north central area. Two hundred villages were destroyed.

Lesser streams, with the Chang and Yellow, flooded ten thousand square miles.

Famine, floods, heat, cholera, rats, terrorists and other natural forces said officials of the Nanking government, afflicted 12 of the 18 provinces of China proper, with 100 million persons affected.

REPORTS EXAGGERATED

Peiping, China, Aug. 17.—(AP)—O. J. Todd of San Francisco, field engineer for the China International Famine Relief Commission, returned here today from areas flooded by the Yellow river and said Chinese reports of the number drowned, were exaggerated.

He asserted, however, that a large district in Honan, Southern Hupeh, and Western Shantung provinces was inundated and that heavy losses were suffered.

With a continuance of the present fair weather, he added, the stream would steadily recede.

TROUBLE IN IRAQ WORRIES PREMIER

London Newspaper Reports 300 Assyrian Christians as Being Massacred.

London, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald interrupted his vacation at Lossiemouth today to come to Downing street for conferences with governmental leaders.

Captain Anthony Eden, under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, and Robert G. van Sittart, assistant clerk of the foreign office, visited him. It was believed that among the matters brought before the premier was the present position of Assyrians in Iraq.

300 Massacred.

The Daily Herald today reported that more than 300 Assyrian Christians had been massacred in a village in Northern Iraq, within two miles of an Iraq army camp.

The commander of Iraq troops, who was said to have used swords to attack the Assyrians as they were returning from French Syria after recent border outbreaks, was blamed for the killings.

Early this month, more than 100 persons were reported killed after the Assyrians crossed into Syria from the territory in Iraq. They were said to have been disarmed with arrangements made when the British mandate over Iraq was ended.

Baghdad dispatches said resentment had been aroused there by allegations that Assyrian Christians had burned bodies of Iraq soldiers killed in border fighting.

CROSS NOT ANXIOUS TO CALL ASSEMBLY

However, He Seeks Averill's Opinion on How Towns Should Act on NRA Rules.

Hartford, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Deputy Attorney-General Ernest Averill, who returned from Washington yesterday, was in conference today with Governor Cross with reference to the governor's request for an opinion relative to how far the towns of the state may go under existing law to take advantage of the provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

The governor had announced on Tuesday his intention of requesting an opinion from Colonel Averill relative to the legal situation as it exists today, and on this opinion the executive will rely chiefly in making his decision as to whether to call a special session of the Legislature.

While the governor has said he will call a special session if in his opinion a special emergency is found to exist, it is known he is anxious to avoid one if possible.

Some opinions have been expressed to the governor that under legislation enacted at the recent session of the General Assembly, towns have sufficient authority, with the approval of the emergency relief board, to exceed the 5 per cent of grand lists in the issuance of bonds for relief work, and this would be in a position to take advantage of the government's provisions as contained in the NRA.

GANGSTER KILLED; HIS WIFE WOUNDED

Police Find Hiding Place of Underhill Band; Machine Gun Battle Follows.

Bentonville, Ark., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Gene Johnson, said by Sheriff G. L. Maples to be a confederate of the Wilbur Underhill gang of Kansas penitentiary escapes, was killed and his wife seriously injured in a battle with officers near here early today.

Sheriff Maples and officers from Oklahoma and Kansas surprised who they said was the gang of Underhill confederates in a Springtown 15 miles southwest of Bentonville.

He suggested that the sale of coal and automobiles was in violation of their trade agreement.

Across the street, from this meeting, President Roosevelt in the White House studied the same points of difference, and considered steps for quickly bringing steel, coal and automobiles up to the Blue Eagle.

"The oil code is not ready for the President yet," said Johnson. "We are still fusing with it. We want to discuss some points with the oil men."

Important Issues.

Among the issues was just how far the government should go in supervising prices and production. Last night both Johnson and Secretary Ickes "inferred with the President a swift final decision was expected from the White House.

FACTORY WORKERS NOW GETTING JOBS

Sec. Perkins Reports 400,000 Taken Back Last Month; Details of Report.

Washington, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Secretary Perkins announced today that approximately 400,000 factory workers returned to jobs in July and that the purchasing power of all workers in manufacturing plants had increased about $29,000,000 in weekly wages in July compared with March.

The labor secretary, on the basis of reports by her experts, estimated the reemployment of 1,100,000 wage earners in the manufacturing industries between March and July and figured that another 300,000 additional workers went back to their jobs in 16 non-manufacturing industries, including railroad and agricultural industries, in the same period.

Last Year's Figures.

Miss Perkins continued: "A marked decline in employment and a more pronounced decrease in payrolls in July has been invariably reported in previous years, due to the customary closing down for repairs and inventory during the first part of the month, and the beginning of vacation periods and the effect of the July 4th holiday on payrolls covering more than a one week period. These usual conditions were reported to some extent in July, together with a number of strikes and labor disturbances in various industries."

General Expansion.

"These retarding factors however failed to halt the general expansion in business activity in July."

Manufacturing industries increased their employment by 7.2 per cent in July over June and Miss Perkins said most of those hardest hit by the depression were registering encouraging gains, particularly the durable goods industries.

She said most of the increases represented voluntary raises since the NRA codes did not become effective until after July 15.

Displaying a huge chart, the secretary said the payroll line had not yet caught up to the employment curve.

"We get a more wholesome and normal condition when the two lines parallel each other," she said. "The thing now is to get employment up. History shows payrolls always lag behind employment gains."

SHANK IS GIVEN A COURT HEARING

Ohio Lawyer Who Confessed to Poisoning Four Is Taken Into Court.

Hot Springs, Ark., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Mark H. Shank, 41 years old, Akron, Ohio, lawyer, who purportedly confessed he poisoned Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Colley and their two children to forestall threats of blackmail and prosecution over stolen legal papers were ordered to Benton today for preliminary hearing.

Herbert Akers, chief of Hot Springs detectives, said Shank will be returned here for safekeeping after the hearing.

Colley was an investigator for Shank, Akers said the attorney told him, and was wanted in Ohio for theft of some papers from the county prosecutor's office at Wooster which were to be used against one of Shank's clients.

Pleaded Innocence.

Akers said Shank pleaded innocence in the theft, but told him he

OIL MEN CONFER WITH NRA HEADS

Steel, Coal and Auto Men Next to Reach an Agreement on Their Codes.

Washington, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Oil today led three other huge industries—steel, coal and automobiles—toward positions favorable to NRA membership.

Oil industry chiefs took to the office of Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, a discussion of some unsettled points, understood to deal with price and production regulation, for their trade agreement.

Across the street, from this meeting, President Roosevelt in the White House studied the same points of difference, and considered steps for quickly bringing steel, coal and automobiles up to the Blue Eagle.

"The oil code is not ready for the President yet," said Johnson. "We are still fusing with it. We want to discuss some points with the oil men."

HOTEL INDUSTRY TURNS THE CORNER

For the First Time Since December 1929, Receipts Show an Increase.

New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The hotel industry, victim of a building orgy, the depression and other maladies, has borne all tribulations with fortitude to find business improving at last.

Posts Postmaster General James A. Farley, writing the Hotel and Restaurant Directory of the American Hotel Association:

"No industry of similar scope and importance has been called upon to bear a more burdensome load."

He suggested that the sale of alcoholic beverages, when, as and, if legalized, be placed in the hands of hotel men.

Will Boost Revenues.

Hotel operators, long in the vanguard of the crusade for prohibition repeal, contend that repeal will stimulate their revenues more than anything else.

Beer has helped some units, but general business improvement has aided a good many more. Authoritative estimates show that for the first time since December 1929, total hotel income of a single month—that of July, was higher than in the corresponding month of the preceding year. The gain was only one per cent, but executives feel it marked the turning point.

New England reports the best tourist trade since 1929. At Chicago, the Century of Progress Exposition is "packing them in," with total sales for July up 122 per cent over last July.

LABOR OFFICIAL HELD UNDER BOND

Shortage of Over $3,000 Found in Accounts; Hearing on Charge on Aug. 31.

Bridgeport, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Discovery of a shortage of $3,257.24 in the accounts of Local Number 2, American Federation of Bricklayers, Masons, Plasterers and Tile-Setters, some months ago resulted today in the arraignment in City Court of Anthony Gelormine of Devon, former treasurer and agent of the local Gelormine's hearing was set for August 31, and his bond of $5,000 was continued.

Although no hearing was held today it was understood that Gelormine denies responsibility for the shortage, claiming that money reported by receipts he gave the local financial secretary, was later included in other receipts, which covered two or more transfers of money between him and the financial secretary. The discrepancy, it is understood, he claims, "due to the receipts for the smaller amounts being held, instead of being destroyed when the larger receipts were turned over by him.

ATTEMPT SETTLEMENT

New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—While police about the city answering complaints of minor disorders on the part of picketers, representatives of 60,000 striking garment workers met with Grover A. Whalen, the mediator, at NRA headquarters today to attempt settlement of the industry's difficulties.

The walkouts of workers in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut was ordered yesterday in an attempt to force higher wages and better working conditions.

At today's meeting convened the prediction was made that the strike would end next week, probably on Monday.

Those conferring with Whalen included David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union; Julius Hockman, general manager of the joint board of the Dress and Waist Workers Union; Harry Lubenstein, president of the Dress Contractors Association of New Jersey and Connecticut, and Louis Stein, general manager of the same group.

Minor disorders in the city today included the turning off of electricity in some non-union shops and the throwing of a pressing iron from an upper floor of a 35-story building in the garment district. The missile narrowly missed striking a group of hundreds of strikers congregated on the sidewalk.

Strike leaders reported that only in New Jersey did the strike fall fully to materials. In this connection they explained that needle trade workers in that state in most cases already were on a 44-hour week.

American Is Fined $960 For Accidental Killing

Bremenhaven, Germany, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Charles Manger of Los Angeles today was sentenced to three months imprisonment on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of his friend, Karl Werner He, III, of New York, aboard the liner Bremen July 30.

The sentence, pronounced by a jury which heard the state's attorney ask for a mild verdict because Manger had "proved himself an upstanding man," will not take effect until Sept. 30, 1936 if he pays a fine of $960 (100 marks) immediately.

Manger's attorney, Dr. Ehrlichfeld, pleaded that his client completely

Latest tables showing that 19-year-olds topped the lists of arrests for serious offenses in the first six months of 1933, brought suggested solutions today from a number of persons especially alive to the problem.

The Justice Department's report showed that from January to June, it examined 159,493 fingerprint records of arrests.

Individuals aged 19 outnumbered all others.

Although 19 years exceeded 18 years by only ten per cent in total arrests, their offenses were graver. Age 19 exceeded age 18 74 per cent in criminal homicide; 37 per cent in carrying weapons; 34 per

EMERGENCY WORK
HERE COST $100,000

Report Compiled Shows Total Payroll Was $77,317; Seven Projects.

The annual report of the activities of the Manchester Emergency Employment Association, compiled for the annual town report, shows a total of $99,956.39 disbursements for the 37 weeks period extending from the fall of 1932 to the present. During the 37 weeks the association provided jobs for a weekly average of 217 persons and a total number of 216,844 1/4 hours of labor. The directors of the association followed the plan adopted last year of allowing contributors to request labor to be applied against their contributions.

The Finance Board was composed of W. C. Cheney, chairman; Arthur Knoffa, Jay E. Rand and E. J. McCabe. This committee conducted a successful drive for funds during the week of August 17. A special classification committee was composed of members James E. Irvine; Laberge Geer and Herbert McCann. Works creation committee members were E. J. Holl, chairman; James E. Irvine, Laberge Geer, E. J. Murphy and W. C. Cheney. The entertainment committee which conducted an "Old Timers" basketball benefit game on January 28, 1932 was headed by J. Leo Fay, assisted by J. B. Clune. The "Booster Club" under the chairmanship of Mark Hones promoted an entertainment in High school hall on February 8, 7 and 8 for the fund.

A committee from the American Legion, consisting of Victor Bronke, chairman, Everett Kennedy, Fred Sadler, Bertie Mosely and Oscar Anderson assisted the association by carrying out the home garden project. There were 173 gardens planted and in addition 131 persons provided their own land. A total of 304 families or 1,520 people were assisted in this manner. Seed was furnished by Frank W. Williams and cash donated was received from the Misses Mary and Helen Chapman and the Manchester Garden club.

ROAD CONTRACTORS OF STATE TO MEET

To Gather in Hartford Monday to Agree on Code Before Works Are Begun.

New Haven, Aug. 17.—(AP)—A general meeting of the road contractors of the state, supplementary to a meeting held Monday, has been called for Monday at 2 p. m. in the hall of the House at the State Capitol, Hartford, to discuss again the matter of "a temporary code for all builders."
The notice issued by Clarence A. Munson, secretary of the Connecticut Road Builders Association, says the meeting will be guided by the association, and that "it only remains for the remaining road contractors to subscribe to the proposed code to assure the immediate continuance of the state's road building program."

Explanatory of the call for the meeting officers of the Road Builders Association said today that at last Monday's meeting of the road contractors at the Capitol, all but two were in favor of adoption of a temporary code. Later it was understood, one of the two offered to consent to the code, but this left one dissenter.

The meeting had been called for the opening bids for road work in the state's program. State Commissioner John A. McDonald was unable to be present. His representative, however, let it be known that the commissioners felt that contractors should all get together and agree on a code before bids were opened that the construction might be undertaken in compliance with the general NRA. The contractors were informed that the State Highway Department held opinion that it did not have the legal status to award contracts for road construction unless the contractors themselves were under a blanket code to govern conditions until a permanent code is adopted.

The Road Builders Association, according to its officers, is making an effort to have all contractors agree to a temporary code that the state may proceed on its road building program which will require an outlay of several millions in state money.

The State Highway Department indicated, association officers said, that the state not only will award contracts on bids submitted for about a dozen projects, but will call for bids at intervals on other undertakings.

SENDS CONSCIENCE NOTE PAYS 12 YEAR OLD BILL

Took Cookies and Candies When in Madden's Store — Gives Owner Great Thrill.

Twelve years ago a little school girl, waiting perhaps for a grocery order in the store of J. H. Madden, 30 Laurel street, slipped her little hand into a box and extracted a few cookies. The cookies were so good (as peaches and watermelons always are when taken thus) that she topped off with a stick or two of Mr. Madden's penny candy. Then the years rolled by.

Wednesday Mr. Madden received a letter from that little girl—now grown up. It carried a Hartford postmark and a dollar bill was enclosed in the fold of the letter. In a fine hand the following note was penned:
"Dear Mr. Madden:
"While but a school kid I helped myself to some cookies and candy at your store. This has bothered me quite a bit, so I am sending this to cover anything that I may have taken and ask your forgiveness."
"Thanking you kindly,
"P. S. This happened twelve years ago—so my name will not be necessary."
Harry Madden, known to the older generation of this town has conducted a grocery store on Laurel street for over 30 years but he admits that the little note and the $1.00 received Wednesday gave him one of the greatest thrills of his life.

IN HARTFORD

Hartford, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The possibility appeared at the Capitol today that the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration may take a hand in the garment workers' strike. Regarding the Danbury Fur strike, Leo Wallman, NRA labor economist at Washington, has requested that Deputy Labor Commissioner Walter C. Couper attempt a settlement there.

Six garment shops here employing several hundred girls are not affected by the strike, proprietors claiming their workers are satisfied and they should not be classed with New Haven and Bridgeport sweatshops. However, Secretary John J. Egan of the Connecticut Federation of Labor, disclosed that organizers have been sent from labor headquarters and that the movement will soon embrace the capital city.

SHANK IS GIVEN A COURT HEARING

EXPECT SUCCESSOR TO LATE J. WHITE SUMNER WILL BE NAMED IN THE FALL.

IT HAS BEEN DECIDED NOT TO HOLD A SPECIAL ELECTION TO SELECT A JUDGE OF PROBATE IN THE ANDOVER DISTRICT, WHICH INCLUDES THE TOWNS OF COLUMBIA, BOLTON AND ANDOVER, MADE VACANT BY THE DEATH OF J. WHITE SUMNER.

WORK IN THE DISTRICT THAT REQUIRES HEARINGS IS BEING TAKEN CARE OF BY JUDGE WILLIAM S. HYDE OF THE MANTON DISTRICT AND AS THERE IS NO GREAT RUSH OF BUSINESS THE QUESTION OF HAVING A SPECIAL ELECTION FOR THE SELECTION OF A SUCCESSOR TO MR. SUMNER WAS ALLOWED TO GO OVER. IT WILL BE INCLUDED IN THE CALL FOR THE ANNUAL TOWN MEETING OF THE THREE TOWNS AND BEFORE THAT THERE WILL BE NECESSARY TO HOLD CAUCUSES IN EACH OF THE THREE TOWNS AND ELECT DELEGATES TO THE PROBATE CONVENTION.

AT PRESENT THERE ARE TWO NAMES MENTIONED, BOTH FROM ANDOVER, BOLTON AND COLUMBIA HAVE NOT AS YET PUT FORWARD A CANDIDATE. MR. SUMNER WHO HELD THE OFFICE FOR MANY YEARS WAS A Democrat, but he was endorsed every two years by the Republican party and was elected without opposition. This year it is not expected that such will be the case. There will be a candidate presented by the Democratic party, the party of the Republicans and the battle will be at the polls. All three towns are Republican as a rule, but in the question of a probate judge there has been little opposition to the reelection of a man who has filled the office satisfactorily.

FUEL OIL FLOWS INTO RESERVOIR

Auto Crash Near Middletown Threatens to Contaminate Drinking Water.

Middletown, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Precautions against fire and possible contamination of Middletown's drinking water were taken today by city officials following an automobile accident, in which about 1,000 gallons of fuel oil were spilled on the Meriden-Middletown highway.

The accident involving an oil truck driven by John Spadery of 169 Bunker Avenue Meriden, and an automobile operated by Joseph Egan of New York City, occurred about a half mile from Mount Highway, one of Middletown's water sources.

Oil from the overturned truck flowed into a culvert that connects with a tributary that empties into the reservoir. William J. Ackerman, caretaker of the reservoir, immediately had the tributary dammed. Warnings against dropping cigarette butts or matches along the oil soaked highway were also issued to motorists.

Police said Egan's automobile crashed into the side of the truck while entering the main highway from a side road Spadery and his helper, who was unidentified, leaped to safety as the truck overturned.

Egan who also escaped injury, was charged with failure to grant right of way.

TO DEFER ANDOVER PROBATE ELECTION

Expect Successor to Late J. White Sumner Will Be Named in the Fall.

It has been decided not to hold a special election to select a judge of probate in the Andover District, which includes the towns of Columbia, Bolton and Andover, made vacant by the death of J. White Sumner. The office will be filled at the town election.

Work in the district that requires hearings is being taken care of by Judge William S. Hyde of the Manton district and as there is no great rush of business the question of having a special election for the selection of a successor to Mr. Sumner was allowed to go over. It will be included in the call for the annual town meeting of the three towns and before that there will be necessary to hold caucuses in each of the three towns and elect delegates to the probate convention.

This will be done before the annual town election and a separate ballot box will be maintained for the casting of votes for the town office and judge of probate.

At present there are two names mentioned, both from Andover, Bolton and Columbia have not as yet put forward a candidate. CUBAN UPHEAVAL SENDS PRICE OF BANANAS UP

Practically All Come From Island—Dealers Get Word Shipments Not Coming.

The political upheaval in Cuba that has brought about a so-called revolution on the island, has caused a sudden shortage of bananas and a resultant increase in the price of the fruit, it was said today by Walter Gorman of the Pinehurst Grocery store.

Mr. Gorman said that most of this country's supply of bananas is obtained from Cuba. Latest reports are that it will be some time before regular shipments are made, this being indicated by the fact that only one of two banana shipments due in New York arrived yesterday. Another, due tomorrow, will not come, according to word received by wholesalers. The price has already advanced 50 cents a hundred.

FEAR SIGNING OF CODE WILL INCREASE RATES

Concord, N. H., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Public utilities in New Hampshire today were under definite instructions to "go slow" in signing up under any code of the National Recovery Act.

The instructions issued to every one of the utilities, also called for the approval of the Public Utilities Commission before any code is signed.

Mayland H. Morse, chairman, reached by telephone at his summer camp at Skowhegan, Me., and E. Styles Bridges, the other member of the commission, who was at his office here, said they may did not want their instructions interpreted as meaning that they were opposed to the National Recovery Act or the Federal government.

WAR INJURED WORKING FOR McCOOK'S ELECTION

Want Him Named to National Executive Committee of the American Legion.

"The war injured are showing their gratitude to Department Rehabilitation Chairman Anson T. McCook of Hartford by rallying to support him as the candidate for National Executive Committeeman from the Department of Connecticut, American Legion," declared William J. Miller of Wethersfield, First District Rehabilitation Chairman, addressing a meeting of Legionnaires of the Sixth District (Litchfield County) in Goshen on Wednesday.

Mr. Miller continued: "I am receiving communications from many World War veterans who feel grateful for the active interest Anson McCook has taken in their cases. During his leadership of the Department Rehabilitation Committee nearly half a million dollars have been procured for veterans wounded and disabled in service. He has also taken an active interest in many other phases of the Legion programs, including World War orphan and child welfare, boy scouts and national camps."

DUTCH ELM DISEASE BREAKS OUT AGAIN

Found in New Jersey—Tree Lovers Urged to Watch for Deadly Disease.

"The Dutch elm disease has broken out anew in the United States. This time it has been found in the State of New Jersey. Already sixty-nine authentic infected trees have been found scattered among the elms of an area of perhaps a hundred and fifty square miles in Essex, Hudson and Passaic counties," says R. Kent Beattie of the Bureau of Plant Industry, who has just returned to Washington after investigating the outbreak in New Jersey.

"Watch for wilting or yellow or brown leaves accompanied by brown streaks in the young wood," Mr. Beattie advises. "When such cases are found, cut pieces of the infected twigs as big as a lead pencil and send them to the Dutch Elm Disease Laboratory, care Experiment Station, Wooster, Ohio. If you are in the infected region or its vicinity send your specimens to, or communicate with, the Dutch Elm Disease Office, care Shade Tree Commission, City Hall, East Orange, N. J. There are other diseases with the same symptoms and we cannot be sure of the cause of the trouble till the specimens have been cultured."

The Cleveland, Ohio, infection of this disease seems to be well in hand, says Mr. Beattie. Three trees were found in 1930; four in 1931; one in 1932, and one tree thus far this year. Only one tree was ever found in Cincinnati and that in 1930. These are the only infections found on this continent till the outbreak in New Jersey.

All the New Jersey State and local authorities are cooperating with the Federal department to find and eradicate this disease before it spreads further. A force of men is already at work in the region. But the working forces are inadequate. Every tree lover must help. Watch your elms.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture Circular 170-C, entitled, "The Dutch Elm Disease" gives detailed information in regard to this disease.

A single peony may produce 3,500,000 grains of pollen.

Special Session of Assembly Called; Also Planning Action on a Liquor Program.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Virginia Assembly met in extraordinary session today, prepared to legalize the sale of the beer and to debate the advisability of immediate action on a liquor control plan to become effective in the event of the 18th Amendment's repeal.

There was every indication of determined battling from two other camps, one demanding immediate action on control legislation, and the other urging a split session with a referendum on state prohibition in October 3 and November 7 continued to be the dates most generally discussed for the state's referendum on National prohibition repeal.

FINE GLADIOLUS DISPLAY AT DEWEY-RICHMAN'S

Leonard Richman Visits Plainville Gardens and Gets Large Variety of Blooms.

The Dewey-Richman company have an unusually fine display of gladiolus in their store just at present and extend an invitation to members of the Manchester Garden club or others who admire these beautiful flowers to drop in and see them any time within the next day or two.

Leonard Richman of the firm, whose father is a well known horticulturist, while motoring through Plainville yesterday afternoon stopped at the Quinnipiac Gladiola gardens where 9,000 bulbs were set out in the spring. They have been picking the early varieties for a month to six weeks. The plants are strong and healthy and free from the minute black thrip which devastated gardens throughout the country last season.

There were found Mrs. Helen Carroll, 39 and her husband, Thomas F. Carroll, 45, a private chauffeur, unconscious on the floor suffering from knife wounds. Mrs. Carroll revived long enough to "inclose their identity and lay the blame to a family quarrel."

Physicians at the hospital where they were taken said they probably would die.

The couple have been separated from years and have eight children. As police pieced together the story from the few words gasped by Mrs. Carroll, the tragedy followed an unsuccessful effort by Carroll to effect a reconciliation.

Detective Michael Edurg said Mrs. Carroll had brought her husband into family court several times for non support.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 18.

the barons of steel, coal, oil and automobiles, because the American way is not the Cuban way. But the erstwhile all powerful finance magnates who have been bossing these vital industries in the United States may very well indeed study with advantage the history of Senor Machado. That gentleman's main trouble was not avarice or a lust for power—those qualities are fairly common. It was the impression, fostered by many years of success, that he was bigger than his country.

That is always a fatal misconception. Men before Machado—and before the industrial czars of the United States—have labored under it; and always they have fallen.

We can all afford to be quite serene in this matter of tacit conspiracy to defeat the National Recovery movement. It will fail, as certainly as Machado was bound to fail, and for the same reason. The wall being of the nation requires that it shall fall.

Very few people, relatively, want to see it made necessary for the government to take possession of the coal mines, the steel mills, the oil fields and the automobile factories and operate them in the interest of the continued industrial life of the nation. But if the gentlemen now in control of those interests think it cannot be done and will not be done if it becomes necessary—and done with a suddenness and effectiveness that will leave them gasping in helplessness—they are fooling themselves as completely as Senor Machado fooled himself.

"the greatest chance in her history to become a permanent world tourist center."

However, the chance seems to have gone. The Mallorcans saw that all tourists were exceedingly rich, by Mallorcan standards, and prices began to go way up. Furthermore, as Mr. Pratt points out, the Mallorcans tried to deal with foreigners "with the customs, ways of thinking and stubborn point of view of practically a medieval age." As a result, the tourists are disillusioned and the big rush is over.

Now all of this wouldn't be worth discussing at any length if it were not for the fact that Mr. Pratt's complaint illustrates so perfectly a point of view that has become all too common in the modern world.

According to this point of view, an onrush of tourists is the highest blessing that any out-of-the-way and picturesque spot can desire. A way of life that has remained unchanged for centuries, and that has provided its simple people with real happiness and contentment, may be destroyed in the process—but that is a minor matter. Let the dollars pour in and all is well, no matter how the existing framework of society is twisted out of shape.

This sort of thing has happened all over the globe. It has debased such an earthly paradise as Tahiti, it has rubbed the glamour off of Bali, it has helped to spoil African desert towns and Swiss mountain hamlets and American seaports and Asiatic trade capitals. It has ruined the lives of innumerable simple and trusting people.

Now, at last, we find a spot which seems to be having the good fortune to escape from it. Mallorca, by chance or by design, is shouldering the tourist trade.

And there is a type of mind to which this seems nothing but blind stupidity and a vast misfortune!

Mr. Roosevelt Goes Swimming

Two features of the NRA campaign are giving officials more concern than all of the others put together.

One is the attitude of certain big business interests toward organized labor. The other is the complaint of many small merchants that they simply haven't the money to expand employment.

If these two obstacles could be swept away, the recovery administration would be really happy. It has other troubles, naturally, but it seems quite serene about them.

It shows no great worry, for instance, at reports that some employers have signed the code and then restricted operations, or doubled up jobs, so as to preclude the necessity of new employment.

From General Johnson down, those who are engineering the NRA are fully confident they can remedy that situation by the force of an organized public opinion.

It is different with the worries about labor troubles in the biggest industries, and lack of ready capital in the smallest. No one at the recovery administration sees these two barriers as necessarily insurmountable but everyone wishes they were out of the way because of the bad feeling they are causing.

Surprise

What happened with respect to labor was something like this:

Many of the bigger business men who had helped to write the recovery act expected it to permit industries to draft their own codes of fair practice. The government was to come in only to enforce these codes after industry had said what they should be.

Mr. Roosevelt has another idea. He put in several clauses which would strengthen the part the government was to play, and also would give a larger voice to labor.

Washington, Aug. 11.—If prohibition repeal comes, it will take the federal government out of the business of liquor control. It will make the states' 48 laboratories working on a problem that has baffled mankind for hundreds of years, a problem that never has had a final solution.

People who are assuming that repeal simply means "all bars down" are wrong. Half the states will be just as dry as they are today—maybe drier. The other half will take up the liquor problem where they left off in 1917 when the national government took it out of their hands. But in evolving their new solutions they will have the benefit of definite data on the liquor problem that the rest of the world has been accumulating for scores of years.

They have before them a panorama of liquor control schemes, and figures on each one. The approach to the problem ought to be more intelligent than has been possible before.

Canada's Experiments

Naturally enough, the eye turns first to Canada, nearest us geographically, and with a people perhaps most like our own. The Canadians have not been afraid to experiment.

First, their situation is a little like our own will be if repeal comes. Each province decides for itself, subject to the taxation of the Dominion government, what to do. Eight of the nine Canadian provinces sell intoxicating beverages under government control. (TINY Prince Edward Island alone has chosen to prohibit.) But in two provinces have exactly the same system.

The Dominion (federal) government receives something like one-eighth of its total income from the liquor trade, and each province as much as one-sixth. These revenues have mostly been restored to the United States since repeal of the Volstead Act. Few countries consider light beer of the 3.2 type a problem at all. Liquors and wines are handled like this in Quebec:

To begin with, nearly half of the people of Quebec live in dry territory. The rest of the province is made up of licensed dispensing places are concerned. Residents in those dry areas may order wines, liquors or beers direct from the Liquor Commission. But they must drink it on their own premises.

The Liquor Commission of five men buys the goods, establishes the stores that sell them, and licenses the places permitted to sell at retail. The whole province has only 114 stores licensed to sell spirits and wine.

The Ontario system is much the same, but rather tighter. It, too, has a government commission, government stores, and licensed dispensing places. But here the commission first takes out a license, and all his purchases are checked at the store to see that they do not exceed a certain allowance. His purchasing permit may be revoked if he becomes a drunkard or doesn't support his family.

Finland Limits Profits

The experience of Finland is interesting in the United States because, though it is a small country, its experience with prohibition for 10 years closely paralleled our own. It had the same bootlegging, the same rise of the hardest kind of hard liquor, the same nipflax era, the same disillusionment.

Now more than a year has passed since Finnish repeal. A monopoly company owned by the state took over the liquor trade, with a politically-appointed board of seven to govern it. Liquor shops are open only from 10 to 5, and are closed on Saturdays and Mondays and all days preceding and following holidays.

Not more than two liters (slightly more than one quart) of liquor can be bought in a single call at the store, nor is a citizen allowed to possess more than five liters at a time. This latter regulation is aimed at bootleggers, not at private cellars. All profits go to the state for 1932 and 1933, while thereafter, 35 per cent goes to the state, 35 per cent to temperance propaganda and anti-smuggling work, and 30 per cent is distributed among the dry parishes. There is no private profit.

Sweden's Bratt System

Switzerland has had a government alcohol monopoly since 1872. Profits are apportioned among the cantons, which must use 10 per cent of them to promote temperance.

Sweden's famous Bratt System is the best example of licensing the drinker. Only about one person in four holds a license, which amounts almost to a certificate of character.

The licensed liquor producers may make 7 per cent retail sales, 5 per cent, and any profits above those points go to the state. More than 80 per cent of the districts of Finland are dry, though residents may buy by mail for consumption at home. The Norwegian system is very similar.

Characteristic of its other institutions, British liquor control is a long, slow evolution, not a violent or sudden reform. It takes the form of tightening the requirements for liquor licenses, gradually cutting down the number of licensed "pubs", restricting the hours of sale, and increasing liquor taxes so that fewer can buy. In the past two or three decades the cost of beer has more than doubled, and that of spirits more than tripled.

Education Helps Most

Gradual education of people away from liquor has been a big factor. Nearly half the money spent for liquor in Britain today is tax money. And the consumption of spirits is decreasing so steadily that it is little exaggeration to say that it is steadily going dry, not by law, but by the changing will of its people.

Russia's experience was something like our own. The Russian peasant was one of the worst drinkers in Europe before the war, swilling down quart after quart of vodka (something like corn liquor) whenever he could get it.

One of Lenin's first moves after the revolution was to decree total prohibition. He dreamed of a sober, industrious proletariat. But his proletariats would have none of it. They started home brewing and bootlegging on a gigantic scale. Prohibition had to be abandoned.

Russia Tries Riddle

In 1925 a government monopoly restored vodka, and nets a large income for the government each year. Part of the proceeds is used for anti-liquor propaganda, which is the most remarkable feature of Russia's effort to conquer the liquor evil.

Names of men caught drunk are posted publicly on billboards which also carry a repulsive picture of a drunkard. Their violation of the "father, dear father, come home with me now!" theme is a group of children imploring a drunken father to give up his evil ways for the sake of the revolution. Continuous propaganda is carried on in the schools, and the Bolsheviks hope for another generation which has lost its taste for the vodka bottle.

The systems of a score of countries in coping with man's deep-rooted desire to drink are an open textbook which may be studied with profit by every American state which must itself attempt a solution if repeal comes.

Quebec's Plan

The best known systems are those of Quebec and Ontario. Let's leave beer out of the question—for that is based on a much more serious basis in the United States since repeal of the Volstead Act. Few countries consider light beer of the 3.2 type a problem at all. Liquors and wines are handled like this in Quebec:

To begin with, nearly half of the people of Quebec live in dry territory. The rest of the province is made up of licensed dispensing places are concerned. Residents in those dry areas may order wines, liquors or beers direct from the Liquor Commission. But they must drink it on their own premises.

The Liquor Commission of five men buys the goods, establishes the stores that sell them, and licenses the places permitted to sell at retail. The whole province has only 114 stores licensed to sell spirits and wine.

The Ontario system is much the same, but rather tighter. It, too, has a government commission, government stores, and licensed dispensing places. But here the commission first takes out a license, and all his purchases are checked at the store to see that they do not exceed a certain allowance. His purchasing permit may be revoked if he becomes a drunkard or doesn't support his family.

WAPPING

Mr. and Mrs. Asher A. Collins and four children, who have been on a thousand mile automobile trip, returned to their home here Thursday afternoon. They were accompanied by Mrs. Collins and family of Little Falls, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Collins and two sons left Tuesday morning for a two weeks vacation which they are to spend at Kelsey Point. Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Stiles accompanied them.

Miss Mollie Ident of this town and Miss Helen Sellers of 19 Wetherfield avenue are spending a week at Virginia Beach, Va.

The South Windsor Garden club met at the home of Mrs. Lewis Main Wednesday afternoon, and talked over plans for the flower show to be held in September.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Collins returned to Granville, Mass., on Wednesday where they spent the day with old friends, it being Mrs. Collins' native place.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Bidwell spent the week end at Agawam, Mass., as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Wood.

Miss Mabel Avery of Somers, is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Foster.

other items for airplanes and ammunition.

The board meanwhile had studied a partial army engineers' program of $275,000,000 for rivers and harbors and flood control, and another of $100,000,000 and sent the balance to the White House for approval.

"Fork!" said Roosevelt of some of the projects as he sent the program back for further slashes.

Then he investigated the dispute between Dorn and Ickes, since he didn't want any cabinet members fighting openly. He decided that Dorn had been fairly treated.

No NRA Badges

There will be no official badges in the NRA propaganda campaign, according to latest word from G. I. Q. Just stickers. The explanation is, in case you can understand it, that "we decided the kind of people who would want to wear the badges weren't the kind of people we wanted to appeal to."

Also, managers of the drive have been put on the defensive by several members of the NRA staff who object to any crude forms of ballyhoo and pressure.

A Governor's Troubles

Governor Ruby Laffol of Kentucky, who was taken for a fast ride here despite the fact that he had made "colonies" of many prominent figures in the administration, returned home convinced that he needed a "brain trust" of his own.

The powers here demanded that he should call a special session of his legislature: 1. To provide for a repeal vote. 2. To vote state unemployment relief funds, lest Washington cut off federal grants. 3. To create a satisfactory state highway administration if Kentucky wanted any public works highway funds.

Ruby apparently saw the point. He planned to draw on the University of Kentucky for his "brain trust."

DORN ICKED AS ICKES REFUSES ARMY REQUEST

War Secretary Issues Blast When Denied Share of Emergency Funds

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Aug. 17.—Secretary of War George H. Dorn functions under the sign of the god Mars.

So it seemed fair enough that he should be the one to break into print with what appeared to be the first public break between a couple of cabinet members.

And it's fine to have as the Army's head a man who doesn't know when he's licked.

But Dorn simply can't have that six or eight hundred billion dollars the War Department wants from the $3,300,000,000 public works fund.

He announced that he had been dissatisfied with the action which he "anticipated was about to be taken by the public works board" on the Army request for $180,000,000 for barracks and that was taken as a howl at Secretary of the Interior Ickes, chairman of the board.

Ickes simultaneously insisted that approved projects must be sane from both engineering and social viewpoints and "offer return in money or services to the community."

Dorn's outburst was partly the result of peeve and partly for purpose of propaganda. Army requests for specific grants were being shoved off to sub-committees and he wanted to drum up support from the powerful "Army lobby." He did stir up favorable publicity, but he also roused the patients, who marched to take to the military, motorization and

MILK

Perhaps largely because they are impressed by the prestige and unquestioned integrity of Professor Charles Austin Beard of New Milford, one of the members of the Farmers National Committee, the newspapers of the state quite generally hail the "settlement" of the milk controversy in Connecticut as an accomplished fact and a satisfactory one.

Professor Beard is generally accredited with very importantly influencing, if not dominating, the situation; with not only averting the threatened strike but obtaining such an arrangement of affairs that the light will be sure to be let in on the whole subject of milk costs with special relation to the real value to the dealers of the "surplus" product.

Professor Beard really is an impressive person. He has received wide recognition as an economist—so wide that for a period he was an advisor to the Japanese government.

But so far as learned neither he nor any other member of the Farmers National Committee has manifested, in this matter, that degree of concern over the producer-consumer spread of milk prices which, it seems to us, most deeply concerns the greatest number of the people affected by a milk controversy.

Governor Lehman, of New York, is taking measures to set on foot a very thorough inquiry into the milk problem. And the spread appears to interest him more than any other aspect of the whole matter. The New York governor is frankly skeptical toward all the testimony—testimony repeated over and over again through a long period of years—that the big wholesale milk dealers take only very moderate profits. He proposes to find out about that.

So far as we can see there is not much difference between the situation in New York and that in Connecticut—except that here the case is worse for the consumer because we have to pay more for milk in Manchester than do the residents of Park Avenue or Carmine street in the metropolis—and it is impossible to see wherein the cost of production can be greater in Hartford or Tolland County than it is in Delaware or Dutchess County across the state line.

With all due respect to the Farmers National Committee and to its celebrated member Professor Beard, it can be fairly said, we believe, that that committee appears to have done a very good job indeed for the milk producers of the state, but that it, no more than anybody else, has done or proposes to do anything to relieve the general run of Connecticut people from what looks to most of them like a first-class legalized stickup.

Instead of a Governor Lehman, Connecticut has a Governor Cross. The kind of action taken by the New York executive is about as much to be expected from our sweetly slumberous Governor as that he will stand on his head tomorrow noon on the extreme apex of the Capitol dome.

LACKS DOGGEDNESS.

The retirement of Professor Ogburn from the Consumers Advisory Board in a fit of impatience because that organization was not functioning importantly and particularly because he found that it was not supplied with a reliable system of price indexes nor, apparently, making any attempt to get one, will strike a good many observers as indicating that the professor might as well be out of as in the NRA. His sudden quitting indicates a lack of the dogged pertinacity with which most of his former associates seem to be peculiarly endowed and which is a prime essential to success in such harassing work.

There is a type of intellect which is capable of figuring out almost any sort of problem provided it can function with sharp pencils, plenty of clean paper, perfect quietude and a good cushion in the chair, but which couldn't multiply two by two on the back of a scribbled envelope with a charred stick for a crayon while sitting on a rock surrounded by cawing crows.

Professor Ogburn is, if we may use the term, amiable. Definitely so. He found his job uncomfortable, so he quit. It was not a very heroic thing to do, but it was probably a useful one. People who can be jarred out of their equilibrium by unpleasantness and bafflements are not going to be of much service in putting over this essentially muddlesome enterprise—for which there are no precedents, no charts and no formulas but the one of trial and error.

There is no possible doubt about the Consumers Advisory Board being, so far, pretty ineffectual. Neither is there any reasonable doubt that presently and in due course it will become effectual. It is, by its nature, bound to become an exceedingly important part of the NRA mechanism. The fact is that its time has not yet arrived. It could not possibly function intelligently and usefully until the foundation for its operation had been supplied in a working system of codes. When the main elements of codification are in operation, then will be the time for the active functioning of the Consumers Advisory Board, because then it can know what it is doing and why.

The worst mistake that can be made about this NRA scheme is in imagining that everything can be done at once. No builder ever made a success of trying to lay his second course of bricks before he had put down the first.

QUICK DOOM.

The present plan being to turn over Harvey Bailey, captured kidnaper and assassin, to the authorities of Kansas City to be tried for the murder of a federal officer in the Union Station massacre, it is to be anticipated that the prosecution will be begun at the earliest possible moment and conducted with the utmost vigor. The less time that elapses between the capture of Bailey and his conviction by a Missouri jury the better. And the sooner he is hanged thereafter the more effective will be the example to other criminals of his quality.

MOTORISTS' HELP NEEDED TO STOP WATERSHED FIRE

Warning of the perennial danger of forest fire outbreaks on the heavily timbered watershed lands surrounding the public water supply reservoirs is being sounded by water utility officials to the motoring public again this year as the annual midsummer dry season approaches. Although watershed forest fires have been kept to a minimum thus far this year, the months of August and September usually find the underbrush bordering the highways fit tinder for starting widespread conflagrations, only a careless discarded cigar or cigar butt is needed to ignite it.

The cigars are more dangerous than the cigar butts because the chemicals used in the manufacture of the cigar paper cause them to continue burning until they are entirely consumed. Cigars, on the other hand, go out quickly although the light may linger long enough to start a fire. Water utility officials therefore urge motorists not to flick cigar and cigar butts from their cars into the woods lining the highways without first extinguishing them. This applies not only to the woods surrounding watersheds but to all wooded tracts along the highways.

Brush burning, unguarded camp fires on land adjacent to the watersheds, lightning and many other causes are likely to lead to forest fires which will destroy thousands of acres of "blue" timber, so the watershed overseers must be constantly on guard for outbreaks during dry weather. Some companies maintain their own fire fighting equipment on the watersheds; others rely on local fire fighting forces.

There were 2,186 airports and landing fields in the United States on July 1, 1933, an increase of 99 since July 1, 1932. Three hundred and thirty-one were lighted for night use.

The United States' export sales of automobiles during the first quarter of 1933 were 19 per cent larger than in the corresponding quarter of last year.

MALLORCA RESISTS.

Theodore Pratt, the young American writer who was expelled recently from the Spanish island of Mallorca because the Mallorcans didn't like some things he said about them in a magazine article, has returned to the United States complaining that Mallorca has lost its big chance to clinch a fat share of the world's tourist trade.

Mallorca is a pleasant little Mediterranean island where folk live much as they did in the days of Columbus. During the depression American and English travelers found it a pleasant place to stay, particularly so since its scale of prices was abnormally low. As Mr. Pratt remarks, the island had

WOMEN ARE FIGURING IN COUNTRY'S MURDERS

Review of Recent Crimes Shows They Are Implicated in the Majority of the Cases.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

In the silence of the Spokane night there sounded the voice of a woman—the report of shots swiftly fired—the whir of a motorcar, and headlights dark, racing away; and the ground bleeding from three bullet wounds, lay a young man.

Who killed Dr. James T. Gaines? Silent, too, was the Virginia countryside near Grundy; silent until there came the scream of a woman—the sound of five shots fired in quick succession. Then silent once more—with three dead men in an automobile.

Who killed them?

And there is thicket near Dover, N. J.; and in that thicket was found the body of a woman who had been murdered. And a woods in New Hampshire—and the body of a woman who, too, had been murdered. And a penthouse in Pasadena with a woman dead there—murdered, like the others.

A doctor of Cleveland, Miss., died. He said, a woman put poison in his whiskey and watched him as he drank death. They held her today in a cell.

Grape Juice Deaths

It was grape juice that carried poison death to four persons in Arkansas. Jelly was the reason for Detroit mother used to poison her two children, but they did not die because when they became ill, she could not bear to see them suffer, so she called a doctor.

Two children in Chelsea, Vermont, died from poison, and the mother who is blamed for their death still suffers—though she is expected to recover—from the same poison.

A man is burned to death in an automobile at Rockford, Ill., and the wife from whom he was separated is being held. "Torch slaying" again is heard.

Women in Cases

Women are figuring prominently in the current plague of crime. At Spokane, an attractive brunette is being questioned in the inquiry into the slaying of Dr. Gaines. She told police she was with the wealthy sportsman and painless practitioner all but ten minutes of the last two hours of his life. A few hours earlier he had been with another woman on a boating trip. She, too, is to be questioned.

It was a third woman, however, who, awakened by shots, found him dying. That was his wife.

A woman, too, is involved in the triple murder mystery of Grundy, Va. Officers said she admitted having been in the car when the men were shot.

Fear of a woman has been given by Mark H. Shank as the reason for the murder of four members of a family near Malvern Arkansas. The woman, Shank said, had been "running around" with Alvin Colley, and had demanded a sum of money under threat of telling Akron, Ohio, authorities some things Shank didn't want them to know. So, he confessed, he figured to kill Colley to keep the woman from talking. Colley, his wife and two Colley children, died from the poisoned grape juice.

Fear Tong War

A Chinese was killed at Reno, yesterday, giving rise to fears that another of the dreaded Tong conflicts was under way. New York leaders said, however, that the Reno murder victim was not a member of either the Hip Sing or On Leong tong.

At Chicago police and Federal agents pushed forward with new determination today to erase the faux pas by which extortionists slipped through their fingers early in the week. Word of a thwarted kidnap plot against Guy Wagoner, wealthy Fort Worth, Texas, oil operator, was heard; and kidnap threats against August A. Busch, Jr., St. Louis brewer, and Henry Chouteau, St. Louis capitalist, were made public.

Agents of the law range the west, riding hard on the trail of the new desperadoes, who rob banks and kidnap men of wealth at the points of machineguns. From an office in Washington, a sweeping war on crime is being directed. In another office a member of the Roosevelt "Brain Trust" is concentrating his talents in devising ways to stamp out kidnaping.

A Senate committee in New York, listens to the catalogue of racket crimes, seeking ways to break up a form of crime which Senator Cope-land of New York, estimates drains ten to fifteen billion dollars annually from Americans. A United States district attorney, in the same city offers to provide a Grand Jury with evidence that four New York political leaders are controlled by gangsters.

Bridge Players Convert Rockville House Into Bower in Honor of Miss Mary Romeo.

The wedding shower tendered Miss Mary Romeo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Romeo of East street in honor of her approaching marriage to Herbert Pagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Pagan of Glastonbury was held at the Rockville House last evening. The wedding will take place Labor Day.

A turkey dinner was prepared by Chief Arthur Busch and served under the direction of Mrs. Ellen Chappelaine, proprietor of the Rockville House, at 8:30 o'clock. The private dining room of the hotel was beautifully decorated.

Miss Romeo responded in a very appreciative manner.

The parlors as well as the private dining room of the Rockville House presented a beautiful appearance. The decorations were created from old-fashioned variety and were greatly admired by the guests of the hotel.

Immediately following the short post prandial exercises at which the presentations were made, the group started a bridge party which occupied the remainder of the evening. Valuable prizes were awarded the winners.

BRITAIN IS PROTESTING NEW GERMAN ORDERS

London, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The British government is protesting to Germany against a German order concerning sea passenger bookings.

(Under the new German regulations foreign shipping companies may transfer passage money to their home offices only when passage has been paid in foreign currencies).

Instructions were sent to Basil Newton, British charge d'affaires at Berlin, to object on the ground that the ruling is contrary to the Anglo-German commercial treaty of 1924.

Press reports from Berlin say that the German government contemplates placing obstacles in the way of exporting goods from the Reich in non-German vessels. Mr. Newton was instructed to make inquiries concerning this point.

GANGSTER MURDER

New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Shot several times, wrapped in a blanket and stuffed in a burlap bag, the body of a man was found today in a roadway in Astoria, Queens.

Police tentatively identified the body as that of James Palermo, a chauffeur, 30, of 231 East 26th street. The identification was made through a chauffeur's license. The body was coatless and bore a cross tattooed just below the left eyebrow.

LINCOLN NOTE STOLEN AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

Missive Introducing a "Connecticut Gentleman" Mysteriously Disappears from Case.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—(AP)—A 13-word letter President Lincoln wrote to the Secretary of the Navy was the object of a police search today after Albert Bahquist, manager of the Wigwam exhibit of the Lincoln group at the World's Fair, reported it stolen from a display case.

The missive was dated Feb. 25, 1865, and said: "Will the Secretary of the Navy please see and hear this Connecticut gentleman?"

An air of mystery was attached to the reported theft as Bahquist said the case did not appear to have been forced open.

CONVICT, A HOUDINI

Denver, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Hounded and chained to a bed, H. B. Graham, a prisoner from Oregon enroute to Texas to face robbery charges, broke a heavy iron bar and escaped while his guard was out to lunch.

Graham was handcuffed so that his left leg projected between his arms. The leg was attached to the bed with an iron chain around Graham's ankle. The hotel room door was locked.

His guard, Detective H. C. Hud-

Although she has lost but 7 lbs. of her overweight, this woman finds that 7 lbs. has made a remarkable difference to her.

Her letter reads: "I am 53 years old and my height is 5 ft. Last year I weighed 154 lbs. I have been taking a half-teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts, making no change in my diet. Now I am less round the hips and only weigh 147 lbs. dressed. But I feel lighter and can now run upstairs, which before used to make me gasp for breath. Everyone says how well and fit I look!"

PROVED!

Socony ETHYL can "take" the most blistering heat!

IMAGINE driving your car for ten hours without stopping, without radiator or water in a blazing 136-degree heat! The car you see above did that and more! Over the sweltering, salt-crusted surface of Death Valley, California. This test followed at once a run of 1000 miles in second gear without stopping the engine.

At the end of these tests, two things were officially observed by Prof. John F. Dodge, of the University of Southern California:

1. No spitting or sputtering, no bucking or stalling, no knocking or power loss—thanks to Socony Ethyl, plus Climatic Control.

2. No worn parts, a minimum of carbon, perfect piston seal—due to the full, rich protection of Mobiloil.

Play safe this summer. If you are driving a new car, you need Socony Ethyl for best performance. And thousands of owners of older cars have proved that the next best thing to a brand new car is Socony Ethyl in their present cars. Remember, THE HOTTER THE DAY, THE MORE YOU NEED SOCONY ETHYL!

For the LOVE OF EVE

by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY
EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bibby's department store, secretly marries DICK RAD-ER, a construction engineer. Dick wants Eve to give up working but she refuses.

The same day Eve learns that she is to go to New York for the store and must leave that night. Dick takes her to the station but throughout the week in New York she has no word from him. The days there are busy. She meets THERON REECE who is much attracted by her and she visits IRENE PRENTISS, a former schoolmate who is playing the stock market and advises Eve to do the same.

Back at the office a week later Eve finds a new copy writer, MONA ALLEN, who appears to be a trouble-maker. MYRA VLAD, fashion artist and ARLENE SMITH, stenographer are Eve's friends.

Eve and Dick move into an apartment in an old-fashioned home. Dick seems happy but Eve is discontented. They quarrel one night when she comes home and finds him wearing his working clothes.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER X
Matters were smoothed over for the time but the sight of Dick in a flannel shirt at the dinner table—though it was less common after Eve's outburst—continued to irritate her and she could not always conceal this irritation. Once she found herself, to her disgust, comparing Dick's appearance with Theron Reece's careful grooming.

In spite of its shabby setting in the down-at-heel house, Eve could not help but feel pride in her home. Often she found herself dreaming about improvements that could be made in it—ways to rearrange the furniture, an added touch of color here and there—when going through the store's various departments in search of ideas for her column.

Late in the afternoon she sometimes became nervous and worried and could not do her best work because she was almost certain she would be asked to remain after the store's closing hour to help get out the next day's copy.

Mr. Bibby did not know of this. She was sure. Prompt and efficient himself, he tried to exact promptness and efficiency from his department leads, and through them, from every employee.

But Mr. Bibby interfered very little with Barnes' management of the advertising department. In the first months during which Barnes had worked for him, Mr. Bibby had often tried to restrain his younger man's enthusiasms and had required much persuasion to increase the advertising budget to the amount Barnes asked. Gradually, however, as Barnes produced results to justify the increased expenditure, he was allowed to proceed without interference.

Nevertheless Mr. Bibby was opposed to overtime work except on rare occasions when it could not be avoided. There were such times, Eve knew. The days and evenings preceding the semi-annual remnant-day sales were examples. Then, Eve thought, the great department store resembled nothing so much as madhouse. And now that the rush of Christmas selling was on and the volume of advertising increased accordingly, there was seldom an evening that Eve arrived home on time.

She regretted this. She felt that it was not fair to expect Dick to prepare the dinner every evening, as had become the usual routine. His job had its delays and vexations, too.

He worked hard. He worked in all kinds of weather. Eve was beginning to understand that sometimes he came home more exhausted than the men whose manual labor he directed. She was beginning to understand that Dick would always give more than was required or expected of him to any contract to which he bound himself.

A CAULIFLOWER BOUQUET FOR THIS VEGETABLE DINNER!

and she gets away with that!" commented Arlene to Eve when Mona had gone and Barnes returned to his office.

It was eight o'clock before Eve and Arlene finished the copy, attached the necessary sketches and cuts and placed them in their separate envelopes, one for each of the Lake City newspapers. As a last straw to the burden of a weary day, Barnes asked them if they'd mind taking the copy to the newspaper offices on their way to the car. Usually he did this himself when the copy was late.

A light snow was falling when they left the store. Crowds were swarming about the brilliantly lighted theaters. Underfoot it was slushy as the two girls trudged from one newspaper office to another.

"Of course, we could save a few minutes by separating these things and delivering them alone, but in my present miserable state I feel the need of your stimulating companionship," Arlene said with a feeble grin.

Eve, tired and hungry, was tempted to agree to Arlene's suggestion that they eat downtown. But she thought of Dick, waiting at home for her. After the copy was safely delivered she hurried to the nearest corner where she could get a car on the trolley line that ran past her home. She had to wait and tonight the ride seemed interminable. Eve felt weak long before she reached home. She should have taken at least a malted milk before working so late, she thought. It was a quarter to nine before she reached home. As she wearily climbed the front porch steps, she wished anew for an apartment in a modern building with elevators.

However, she felt a warm little rush of thankfulness for her home just as it was when she saw the narrow slit of light under the door. Dick would be waiting for her. And he would have something hot and savory for her to eat. She hoped it would be chicken noodle soup.

But the door was locked. That meant Dick was not there. Probably he had just gone down to the corner to get a magazine or a fresh supply of tobacco. Eve hunted for her key and unlocked the door.

The room was in order. One lamp burned dimly in the living room. She turned the switch that lighted the combination kitchen and dining room and saw that the table was set with one place. There was a note beside it. It read:

"Eve, dearest:
"You'll find your dinner in the oven. Only take a few minutes to warm it up. Sorry I couldn't wait and eat with you. Decided to go to meeting again. Don't wait up for me. I may be late. Love, Dick."

Eve wanted to cry. How could he go away and leave her to spend this dreadful evening alone? Reason reminded her that he had had to spend the early part of the evening alone. But she couldn't help that. She had wanted to come home early. Dispiritedly she warmed over the food Dick had prepared for her—a chop and some stewed corn. There was a plain cabbage salad that had grown wilted and discolored with waiting. There was a dish of canned peaches for dessert. They had had canned peaches for dinner the night before and because she had forgotten to order fresh fruit they had eaten canned peaches for breakfast.

As Eve ate she became resentful, suspicious. Dick's going out evening had not been a sudden decision. The hastily prepared meal proved that. This was Tuesday and it was on Tuesday evening that he had been away last week. He had said very little to her about that absence. In fact, he had avoided the subject when she had questioned him casually the following day. Laughingly, it is true, putting

CHILDREN ARE HAPPIEST WHEN BUSIEST
All day long Alec had slouched around and moped.

"Why don't you get your bicycle?" his mother said.
"I'm tired of that old bicycle."
"Old! You haven't had it a month. Go and give Duke a bath. That will keep you busy and dear only knows he needs it."
But Alec didn't care so much about that either.

"You were crazy for a dog and promised to take care of him. You were tired of him in two weeks."
"I'm not tired of him. He just lies around today and sleeps."
"—let me see. I'll let you go to the pool if Eddie can go along."
"I'm tired of the pool. Been swimmin' all summer."
A Mother's Problem

"I don't know what you can do then, Alec. You have a whole playground full of toys. You have more things to play with than any child I know."
Alec made a face.
"I suppose you're working me for more money again. All right—go and get my bag. I can't have you lying around here growling like a bear."
"I've seen both the movies."
"All right then. Just sit and nurse your grouch. I'm going up and lie down. If you won't do anything, you won't, that's all. But I think you're just a spoiled little boy."

Alec sat for a while, then lifted his head. He heard hammering over in the direction of Eddie's house.
He found Eddie patching a hole in the back porch. Eddie's back porch was full of holes, and the front porch, and even some of the windows of his house.
In fact Eddie's house and Eddie's whole life was as different from Alec's as a sparrow's is from a canary's.

"Gee!" declared Alec enviously. "Can I help? Why didn't you tell me you were having so much fun?"
"It's not fun. This is work. I gotta do it," said Eddie. "The baby nearly busted his ankle this morning."
Hitting a Bargain
"I'll trade you," bargained Alec. "I'll let you ride my bike all afternoon if you let me saw those boards and nail them in. And I'll lend you Duke all day tomorrow and you can read my new book" the day after and—

"Come on and help. I can't go now, but I'll borrow your bike sometime. Now you take this board and you lay it—"
The boys worked all afternoon. Alec's face lost its fretful look. He went home dirty and tired—and happy.
"I wish I was Eddie," he said. "He has a good time. I never have anything to do. What did you bring me, Dad?"
"Nothing. I telephoned him not to. Not ever again," replied "his" mother. "It isn't things that make boys happy. It's doing things. How about white-washing the back trees tomorrow and painting the garage door? I'll let you do them if you wash the dog."
Alec shouted his joy. At last his mother had solved the secret of the dead end of vacation.

Though nobody was shot when Governor Murray called out state troops to delay the sale of beer in Oklahoma, it is probable that there were many who were half-shot soon after the ban was lifted.

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famed Authority
GET MONOXIDE VICTIM IN FRESH AIR AT ONCE TO SAVE LIFE
By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Most of the deaths from the inhalation of carbon monoxide gas occur from running automobiles in closed garages. However, there may be suffocation from illuminating gas or from working with carbon monoxide develops.

In order to prevent poisoning by automobile exhaust gas, the following instructions to garage workers are important:
1. Keep windows open as much as possible.
2. Do not permit the engine to run and discharge exhaust gas directly into the air of the workroom. Every workroom should have a flexible tube which can be attached to the exhaust pipe, and through which the exhaust gas may be carried out of doors.
3. Remember that carbon monoxide gas has no color. Your nose cannot tell you if carbon monoxide gas is in the air.
4. If you suffer with headaches, report the fact at once so that the conditions may be investigated and proper ventilation established.
5. If you do not feel well, see a doctor at once. You may be particularly sensitive to carbon monoxide gas. In that case you had better change your occupation. It is not safe for you to be exposed to even very small amounts.

The Bulletin of the New York State Department of Labor recommends these first-aid measures:
"If you get a headache, or feel faint, nervous or irritable, go out into the fresh air at once and stay there until you feel better. When you get out, go out slowly and when you get out, it down quietly.
"Do not go for a walk. You may not have enough oxygen in your blood to permit you to take any additional exercise or exert yourself in any way. Any added exertion is dangerous. Wrap up warmly, therefore, and sit down out of doors until you feel better.
"If one of your comrades faints, get him out into the fresh air at once. Put blanket under and over him, and surround him with hot water bottles or hot bricks. Keep him warm at all costs or he may develop pneumonia. Persons who become asphyxiated with carbon monoxide gas are peculiarly susceptible to pneumonia.
"Call up the gas company and an ambulance at once. You must always call both of these, because ambulances are not equipped with resuscitation apparatus. In the meantime the patient should be given artificial respiration."

CONTRAST IN LINENS

Linen continues to be a summer fashion highlight. It's cool and it's washable, and chic is the woman who wears a linen suit this year. One that is particularly handsome has a skirt and jacket of white linen with a brown linen blouse. The brown buttons on the jacket carry out the interesting color accent. Worn with finely stitched white kid oxfords, the costume is an ideal summer outfit for either town or country.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON
THIS BOOK IS JUST A BIT TOO MYSTIC
"Try the Sky" Soars a Little Too Far Into the Clouds
By BRUCE CATTON
Any healthy literature is bound to have a strong element of mysticism. The belief that there are forces in this world which cannot be seen, touched or analyzed, but which have the most profound effect upon human lives is at the bottom of some of the noblest books in the world—and it always will be.

But when your mystic gets his feet completely off the ground he is apt to cut some gyrations that leave the ordinary man extremely dizzy; and a good case in point is "Try the Sky," a new novel by Francis Stuart.
In this book Mr. Stuart tries to tell us of the spirit that touches man through the naked earth and the open sky and the unspooled forest; of the calm knowledge which long contemplation of human suffering can bring; of the way in which romantic love can

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Tomato juice fills an important place in many menus these days. Even babies are given tomato juice and when economy must be practiced tomato juice can take the place of orange juice. At a before dinner cocktail, well seasoned tomato juice makes an effective appetizer. And if you can your own tomato juice it's most inexpensive and altogether satisfactory.

Remove All Spoilage
Be sure not to use over-ripe tomatoes. Cut away any soft parts. It only takes a little bit of over-ripe tomato to spoil an entire jar, so cut deep enough to avoid danger of spoilage.
To can tomatoes for general use, scald them by placing in a large pan and pouring boiling water over them, completely covering the tomatoes. Let stand one minute and drain off water. Cover with cold water and slip skins. Do not let tomatoes stand too long in scalding water because the hot water makes them soft. After slipping skins cut out stem and hard core. Pack at once into hot sterilized jars and add 1-2 teaspoon salt to each pint. Pour over boiling water or boiling tomato juice to cover, half seal and process in hot water bath for 25 minutes, over heated to 275 degrees F. for 45 minutes and steam pressure cooker for 15 minutes at fifteen pounds pressure.

Tomatoes canned whole are nice for salads in winter. Choose rather small, uniform, round ones. Use poorly shaped ones for juice. Scald tomatoes carefully. Slip skins and pack whole in sterilized jars. Strain and pour hot over tomatoes in cans, filling cans full. Half seal and process as usual. If you do these in the oven it's a good plan to put the cans in a large dripping pan of hot water. Do not let cans touch each other.
When it comes to tomato juice there are certain precautions which must be taken. So many women have asked me why their tomato juice failed to keep that I'm going to give detailed suggestions on making it.

Canning for Soup
Scald tomatoes as usual and slip skins. Even though the tomatoes must be strained this is necessary. Cut in quarters and put in preserving kettle. Bring quickly to the boiling point, keeping the kettle covered. Crush with a wooden potato masher and cook ten minutes. Strain through a fine wire sieve and reheat to the boiling point. Four into sterilized jars adding one-half teaspoon salt to each half pint, half seal and process for 45 minutes in even heated to 275 degrees F. or 25 minutes in hot water bath.
If you put your tomato juice in bottles, process them after capping just as you do the pint jars. This processing insures against spoilage.
To can tomatoes for soup, scald and cut in pieces as in preceding rule. To each quart of cut tomatoes add 1-4 cup chopped onion and 1-4 cup chopped celery. Simmer 20 minutes and rub through a coarse sieve, forcing through as much as possible. Reheat to the boiling point and pour into sterilized jars and process as in preceding recipe.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF
By Alicia Hart
© 1933 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.
HERE'S AN EXERCISE TO AID YOUR POSTURE
The charm of a nice complexion and well-groomed hair is lost of your posture is bad. No matter how tired you are, don't allow your shoulders to slump. They should be straight and square. Clothes are not made for round shouldered women and you can't expect them to look well on you if your shoulders droop.
Stand erect always. Your weight should be on the balls of both feet. Don't put your weight on your heels. It makes the calves of your legs stand out in awkward manner.
One good exercise which will straighten your back and shoulders is simple and requires little time.
Stand against a flat wall and try to have your heels, hips backbone and shoulders touch it. Strain and pull all your back and shoulder muscles backward against the wall. Do it every morning. It gets you trim for the day.
Practice sitting erect. Your weight should not be on the base of your spine, but should be equally divided from just above your knees to your hips.
You must stand and sit erect without looking stiff and awkward. Good posture means a straight figure.
Engineers have developed air-conditioning to the point where it now cools thousands of homes and business places. However, it probably is too much to expect that it can ever eliminate hot and moist political speeches.

Senators Add Another Game to Lead

GEHRIG EQUALS RECORD AS BROWNS WHIP YANKS

Nats Increase Margin to 5 1-2 Games; Lou Due to Set New Mark Today; Giants Pull Ahead by Scoring 20th Shutout of Season.

Lou Gehrig, was ready today to tuck away the toughest of all major league baseball records in his hip pocket and go on playing baseball. For the stolid, sturdy Lou, it was just a matter of going out and playing another game and taking the honors that went with his record achievement. Yesterday he played his 1,307th consecutive game since he broke into the Yankee lineup way back in 1925. That equalled the record set by Everett Scott, with the Boston Red Sox and the Yankees. Today Gehrig was due to establish a new mark, to receive a silver cup from President Will Harbridge of the American League, and a lot of homage from the fans in honor of the occasion.

Senators Pull Ahead Gehrig led all the Yank hitters yesterday, but at that he got only two hits off his former teammate, Ed Wells, while the St. Louis Browns hammered out 18 hits and a 13 to 3 victory. That happened while Washington was scoring a 5-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Down where the race is closer the Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers came through with a pair of shaky victories and remained tied for fourth place. The Indians edged out the Philadelphia Athletics 5-4 in a ninth inning rally. Detroit beat the Boston Red Sox 5-5, by bunching its hits off Lloyd Brown.

The New York Giants increased their National League lead a bit by ringing up their 20th shutout victory of the season at the expense of the Cincinnati Reds, 5-0.

Van Mungo held Pittsburgh to seven hits and one run in the eleven inning opener of a double-header and Danny Taylor smacked two homers to gain a 2-1 decision for Brooklyn. The Bucs' lost little time in smacking Chicago White Sox, a pair of exciting struggles, St. Louis winning the first 7-6, in 12 innings and the Phillies the second 2-0 as Austin Moore got the better of Dizzy Dean in a mound duel.

Sweeps To Easy Victory By Overwhelming Margin

Scores 75 Points by Winning 24 of 33 Places; Jr. Sons of Italy 2nd with 17 Points, East Side Club 3rd with 7; Winners Have Wealth of Talent in Lineup; Bob McCormick Individual High Scorer, "Red" Sheridan Next; Salmonson Brothers Feature in Junior Meet.

Before a cheering throng of more than 1,500 spectators, the Spike Club swept to a decisive triumph in the first annual town track and field meet sponsored by the Recreation Centers at the West Side Oval last night. The club, composed of the cream of local athletic talent, demonstrated marked superiority in virtually every event and clinched 24 out of a possible 33 places to amass a total of 75 points out of a possible 99. The Junior Sons of Italy placed second with 17 points, the East Side Club third with seven points.

Win 1st Leg on Cup The junior meet, held during the afternoon, was captured by the West Side, which defeated the East Side in both classes, the boys up to 12 years of age and the boys 13-16 years of age. The score of the former was 25 1/2 to 19 1/2, and the latter, 37 to 17.

By virtue of their overwhelming victory in the senior meet, the Spike Club annexed the first leg on the silver loving cup awarded as a three-year trophy by Giuseppe Mazzini Lodge of the Sons of Italy. The cup must be won three years to obtain permanent possession.

An Unbeatable Array The Spike Club placed an unbeatable combination in the field, but despite the wealth of winners arrayed against them the Junior Sons of Italy and the East Side Club displayed a fighting spirit that kept the meet interesting from beginning to end, most of the events being closely contested.

Of the six highest point scorers, the winning team had five, the sixth being Orlando Garrone of the Sons of Italy. In scoring eight points with a first in the shot put and a second in the discus he tied Arthur Patton and border Fraser for third place among the individual scorers. Patton took first in the running high jump and second in the running broad jump. Fraser won first in the 100 yard dash and second in the 200.

Officials Thanked Credit for the huge success of the meet is due in great part to Playground Director Walter Kittel and Charles "Pet" Wigren, Manchester High School track coach, who assisted him with the arrangements. Director Frank Busch, wishes to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Kittel and Mr. Wigren and also the following, who also lent valuable assistance by acting as officials: Walter Holland, M. VINES HEADED FOR HIS 3RD STRAIGHT CROWN AT NEWPORT

Title Holder's Fine Form Confounds Critics; Women's Pairings Have International Flavor.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 17—(AP)—Elisworth Vines seems to have etched the memory of his upsetting Davis cup experiences as he moves onward to his third straight Newport Casino victory, showing improvement with each match.

The lanky Californian titlist confounded his critics yesterday, when he defeated Bryan Grant, promising Atlanta youth out of the tournament with a sensational string of 26 placements in a 16 game match and today was slated to engage Lester Stoen, the rugged California, now being groomed for future Davis cup service, in the fifth round.

INTERNATIONAL FLAVOR

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 17—(AP)—There being nothing quite like an international flavor to tone up a tennis tournament, the athletic daughters of England and the United States prepared to square off in six of the eight matches scheduled in today's third round of the women's national tournament. Right down the line with two exceptions, it was England versus America.

Mrs. Helen Willis Moody, leader of this country's forces, was pitted against Mrs. L. R. Mitchell of England. Helen Jacobs, the defending champion opposed Freda James of the British forces, Dorothy Round of Great Britain faces Mrs. John V. Eyn of Philadelphia, and bounding Betty Nuthall, only foreigner ever to win the big title, encountered Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles.

Other Pairings

Joseph L. Cruickshank of Wichita, Kansas, collided with Peggy Scriven, the left-handed Britisher and Baroness Levi of New York playing Mary Hely ranked No. 1, in England last season.

STARTS SHORTS FAD

New York, Aug. 17—(AP)—It took the young ladies a long time to break out in shorts at Forest Hills, America's most conservative tennis capitol, but when they finally did, it was in a flash.

The fashion experts say Miss Jacobs, Alice Marble, Josephine Cruickshank, and Mrs. Harry C. Brunie look best in them.

HOOKS SLIDES

Notes on Golf We note that Bobby Jones may come out of his three-year retirement and take up the cudgel against 30 of the world's best golfers in a match to be staged by the city fathers in Augusta, Ga.

Now, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson ought to do something about that. He should see to it that a code is formed preventing Bobby from coming back. The reason for such a code is that Mr. Jones' brand of golf is enough to cause unemployment in the ranks, and that's just what we're trying to get away from.

Figures on the number of professionals who took up the game after Jones' retirement aren't available right now, but they probably run into the thousands. To discourage them by Jones' comeback, and cause them to throw up the sponge, would be cruel, indeed.

No Miler Could Beat Jones 50 Yards, Says Old Mentor

Ithaca, Aug. 17—(AP)—No man living could ever have beaten John Paul Jones by 50 yards in a mile race in the opinion of Coach John F. Moakley of Cornell.

Moakley's statement was prompted by calculations that Jack Lovelock of New Zealand and Oxford, on a basis of his mile in 4:07.8 compared with the Cornell flier's best time of 4:14.4, would have trimmed Jones by that margin.

"There never was a man living who could beat John Paul Jones by 50 yards," Moakley said. "I do not say Jones was the better runner, for, in my opinion, Lovelock is the greatest miler that ever stepped in a pair of spiked shoes. But Lovelock had the benefit of intensive competition when he was at the peak of his form. Another thing favorable to Lovelock's performance was that he had a pacemaker who carried him along at a fast rate of speed for the first part of the race."

Trained But Little

"That was never done in Jones' day. Jones always stayed with the pack until the final lap. In winning the mile in the intercollegiate in 1913, he left Norman Taber 12 yards behind to go on and break the world's record."

PASSES VERSUS POWER

Eastern Eleven Plans to Meet Husky Western Foes with Air Barrage in World's Fair Tilt at Chicago Next Thursday Night.

Chicago, Aug. 17—(AP)—Two living, breathing football squads, brought to life by world's fair enterprise from those "mythical" teams of recent seasons, will see what they can do about settling the old east-west grid argument when they clash on Soldier field here the night of Aug. 24.

With wider range, both in time and geography, for selection of personnel than the University of Southern California's post-college eleven, Coach Howard Harding Jones and Dick Hanley are confident they have corralled the nearest thing to a pair of actual, playing all-America teams that has been seen in modern football history.

Altogether, 46 players from 25 different schools are on the two star-studded rosters. In addition to eight Big Ten schools there are representatives on Coach Hanley's squad: Army, Notre Dame, Marquette, Haskell Institute, Texas Christian, Tulane, Nebraska and Millikin.

West Team Powerful Coach Jones has, besides nine of his own University of Southern California stalwarts, outstanding individuals from eight other Pacific coast and far west institutions.

East vs. West, wingbacks vs. whirlpools, passes vs. power—these are some of the "opposites" scheduled to collide in this contest, designed largely as a Century of Progress unit to expound the country's most typical collegiate athletic show.

Hanley, coach at Northwestern University, scene of a 10-day conditioning and signals-learning period for both squads, is an exponent of the double wingback style of attack.

note that only one out of the 165 players to qualify for the National Amateur show the low score of 138, and that only three shot 139.

The lone player to register 138 was Frank Dolp of Tacoma; the three 139's were Lawson Little, California; Leland Hamman, Texas; and Johnny Goodman, Omaha, who won this year's National Open.

The average score shot in the 20 qualifying districts counts up to about 146, which makes those four players, on the basis of their qualifying rounds, look pretty good indeed.

Things about which some furor may be made in the prints or the record books or among the fans do no seem to register any lasting memories with the performers themselves.

Ninety-nine out of every 100 boxing fanatics who recall the Dempsey-Firpo fight, either by hearsay or as an eye-witness, dwell at its length on the "mighty blug" by which the Wild Bull flung our champion right out of the ring into the lap of Mr. Lawrence, then on the staff of the New York Tribune.

Ruth's Memory Falls Most any small American addict of the national sport of baseball knows more about the details of the great G. Herman Ruth's clouting records than the genial Ruth himself.

I put to him the same query that had been handed me: "Do you know how many homers you have hit off Lefty Grove or what pitcher you hit for the most homers altogether?"

"What about that Walberg?" he countered. "I must be pretty off my head. Why I nicked him for seven one year, 1927, when I made the record."

The P. G. A. will do about those two bad boys, Denny Shute and Walter Hagen, after they changed their minds so many times about the days when Ruth was a great left-handed pitcher or the Red Sox, mowing the enemy down with speed and rare control.

The Babe had instructions between innings to "dust 'em" one of the opposing batsmen expected to come up in the next inning. He was given the name and nodded in complete agreement and understanding.

As it happened this particular batsman was replaced. It didn't mean anything to Ruth. He followed orders anyway, "got his man" and then came in to the bench chuckling.

It was a funny sight to see the Tinies, busy as could be, all trying to catch the two fish that were threatening a fight.

"I'll get the catfish," Goldy cried. "Oh, look! Right now it's trying to hide. I saw it swim between some rocks. Right now it's out of sight."

"Well, move the rocks," said Duncy. "Gee, that seems a simple task to me." And then he tried to push one rock. It didn't move a bit.

"Oh, sure! It's easy," Scouty cried. "I noticed, from the way you tried. But, maybe, if we all push hard we really can move it."

And so each Tiny lent a hand. Their feet would slip. They had to stand upon the bottom of the sea. "Let's brace ourselves," cried one.

Just then a big fish came along and Shrimpy cried, "My, it looks strong! I'll have it moved the rock, lads. It can show you how it's done."

The fish soon did as it was told. Away one of the big rocks rolled. Wee Goldy stood right near at hand and grabbed the small catfish.

"Don't worry. Be real glad instead. You've had a speedy chase, and you can rest now, if you wish."

"Now get the dogfish," Duncy said. "It's easy, if you use your head." "Oh, yeah!" answered Scouty. "I have tried to catch him twice."

"But I'll keep trying till I do. Then I'll tell him a thing or two. Instead of pestering the catfish, he must be real nice."

Once more the dogfish started past and Scouty shouted, "Ah, he's just the little fellow!" Then he held it good and tight. "Now, listen, funny fish," said he. "Please be as nice as you can be. Don't chase the catfish any more. Then all will be all right."

(A deep-sea diver surprises the Tinies in the next story.)

The only excuse for any job is the opportunity it offers to supply the needs of others; if the holder alone is benefitted the job is merely a pension.

First Girl—Have a cigarette?
Second Girl—No, thanks—it's getting so dark no one can see us smoking.

"I have discovered," said a local man, "that whenever things get so cheap they are real bargains, no body ever has any money to buy them."

Positive Man—I am entitled to my own opinions.
Friend—Then why scatter them around as if you don't value them?

"As to the money question," declared a business man, "it's a comforting feeling to know that you don't know anything about it."

Wealthy Father (pertly)—Well, young man, you wish to speak to me? Out with it—quickly; do you want to marry my daughter or borrow money?
Suitor (cooly)—I don't mind, sir—which would you prefer?

Lives of great men are footprints on the sands of time, maybe, but fingerprints in bureaus of identification are the practical things of life.

Lass—I shouldn't let you kiss me; I hardly know you.
Visiting Youth—Well, what you don't know, won't hurt you.

Youth—I could lend you $5, but loaning money only breaks friendships.
His Friend—Well, we never were real good friends, you know.

"That reminds me I must get the pendulum on my clock fixed," remarked old Ragson Tatters from Brushville, as he watched a dancer in action at the Big City theater.

Visitor (in lawyer's office)—What's the patient in the dentist's office next door crying about. He's been yelling for the last hour.
Lawyer's Stenographer—There's nothing wrong. It's a crooner on the dentist's radio.

Don't ruin a big idea by expressing it in big words.

Hubby—You never tell me what you buy? Don't I get any voice in the buying?
Wife—Certainly, darling! You get the invoice.

When a girl's heart is thirsty for love—she drinks in every word the boy friend says.

Lillington—I can't understand how Titawad would pay $5 for a kiss from his own wife!
Pennington—No? Well, the policeman who caught them kissing in a parked car wouldn't believe they were married and the judge fined him $5.

You don't have to invent a mouse-trap to have a world of house-to-house canvassers beating a path to your door.

"You must wake and call me early. Mother dear."
That was often said to mothers by the girls of yesteryear. But the girls now tell their mothers, as they part for a spin:
"You must wake up early, mother; some one's got to let me in."

Detective (2 a. m.)—Hey, you! What are you hanging around that front door for?
Burglar—I'm waiting for the woman inside to get to sleep. We're married.

If you want people to think you are very wise, you had best not talk much. Otherwise most of them will soon get on to you.

A hustler is all right if he knows where he is going.

The regular meeting of Mary C. Keeney Tent, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, will take place this evening at the State Armory. A full attendance is desired as plans will be made for "Daughters' Day", August 24, at the Cromwell home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Ward of 50 Goshen street, Hartford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Beatrice Ema Ward, to Kenneth C. Anderson, son of Mrs. Carrie Anderson of Edmund street. The wedding will take place in September.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the South Methodist church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 on the west lawn at the church. If the weather is unfavorable the social will be held indoors. All women of the church will be welcome to attend.

The Manchester Kiwanis club will have a special meeting Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the Manchester Country club. Instead of the usual hour. Past, present and honorary members are invited to attend, as the affair is in the nature of a farewell party for C. P. Quimby, an enthusiastic member of Kiwanis and a former governor of the New England district. Mr. Quimby, principal of Manchester High school for 10 years, recently resigned to become headmaster of Cushing Academy, Ashburnham, Mass.

Eighteen members of Manchester Grange, P. of H. visited Rocky Hill Grange at its "Neighbors' Night" meeting. Other Granges who were represented at last night's gathering were Tunxis of Bloomfield and Hemlock of Portland.

The Town of Manchester's expenditures for charity for the first quarter of 1933, on which the allotment of federal aid to be made yesterday was $59,824.66. The verified expenditure allowable under the act was $49,080.66, less two-thirds, was $16,360.22. The check of $13,088.18 received yesterday represents 80 per cent of $16,360.22, the amount on which the allotment was based.

ANDERSON TO URGE NRA CAMPAIGN HERE

Says Every Store Should Be Under Blue Eagle and Plans Drive.

A campaign with the two-fold purpose of bringing about the 100 per cent co-operation of Manchester employers with the National Recovery Act program and to pledge consumers to trade only in Blue Eagle stores will be recommended by R. K. Anderson at a general meeting at a meeting that will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Mr. Anderson, who heads the local committee, said today that there is no reason why every employer in Manchester should not comply with the President's re-employment agreement. The campaign will open with an extensive drive to sign Manchester up 100 per cent and this drive will be followed by a house to house canvass to obtain the support of the program by consumers.

After this has been accomplished, the local committee will be called upon to check up in every block on the compliance with the President's agreement and also to check on the proper use of insignia by dealers and consumers.

In regard to the latter matter, Mr. Anderson pointed out that "While it is the desire of those in charge of the President's Emergency Re-employment campaign to see widespread use made of the official emblem of the NRA, which bears the words, 'We Do Our Part', it is a serious offense on the part of anyone who might make improper use of the insignia."

Mr. Anderson made it plain that the NRA official emblem is the property of the United States government and may not be used or reproduced without authority of the NRA.

"The government's regulations permit the use of this emblem," continued Mr. Anderson, "by all employers who sign the President's re-employment agreement and comply with it, and the regulations also permit consumers to wear and display a similar badge but only in the form authorized for consumers who sign a statement of co-operation."

"Any newspaper, magazine, or other publication is authorized to reproduce the emblem in the advertisement of any employer, provided such employer files with the newspaper, magazine or other publication a written statement that he has signed the President's agreement and affixes the sticker thereto."

The general staff which will meet Monday is composed of the following: Mr. Anderson, E. J. Murphy, E. J. McCabe, F. A. Yoplank, Frank Cheney, J. Lawrence W. Case, Dr. D. C. Y. Moore, Wells A. Strickland, Mrs. William C. Cheney, Rev. William P. Jedy, Thomas J. Rogers, Rev. Watson Woodruff, Thomas Ferguson, E. J. Holl, Dr. Edward G. Dolan, Charles Ray and Mrs. LeVerne Holmes.

Nine more signers of the blanket code brought the local total to 253 this morning. The latest signers are: City Market, Arthur's Drug Store, Inc., Sam's Shoe Shop, Oak street, Center Soda Shop, Joseph Hublard, Baldwin's Paint Shop, Nelson S. Smith, John H. Lappan and Hartford Tailor.

The employees of the J. W. Hale Company and C. E. House and Son, Inc., enjoyed their half-holiday yesterday afternoon at an outing at the Shelter Harbor Country Club, Westery, R. I. This is a beautiful Masonic Country Club, and the employees of both stores were able to enjoy the marvelous club through the membership which Herbert House, president of the stores, holds.

Promptly at noon a buffet lunch was served at the store which had been prepared by Mrs. Borst. The party then left by private cars. The afternoon was spent swimming, playing baseball and enjoying the golf course which is located on the grounds of the club. At five-thirty a delicious dinner was served at the club house. Those attending had their choice of a shore dinner and all the fixings, or a chicken dinner. After dinner the crowd enjoyed sports and left around eight-thirty for home.

The highlight of the party was the 17th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Lang, druggist, at the Hale store. A beautiful decorated cake had been prepared as a surprise for the couple and was enjoyed after the dinner. The crowd wished them many more years of wedded life.

AIDED FAMILIES DOWN TO 375 FROM 630 PEAK

Two Hundred and Forty-five Fewer Households on Assisted Lists Than Last December.

Figures from the charity department show that from a peak point last December, when Manchester was furnishing aid to more than 630 families, the number of families now receiving aid from the town has dropped to 375. The big drop has come within the last two months and is due, according to the department, to the extent of re-employment, largely in the Cheney Brothers and Hilliard Mills and in Talcottville, with improvement at the Case Brothers paper mills, the Rogers Paper Manufacturing Company and other paper mills. In the Hilliard mills alone seventy-five persons are now working who have been receiving aid from the town.

There are still a number of the former employees of Cheney Brothers on the aid list. There has been a very large increase in the number of men and women employed in Cheney Brothers, but the demand has been for very experienced workers and such help has not been recalled as yet in such numbers as the highly skilled workers.

CLEAR TON OF TURTLES OUT OF THE HOCKANUM

Biggest One Taken in Fish Protection Campaign Weighs Forty-five Pounds.

Lacking a few pounds, a ton of turtle has been removed from the Hockanum river pond in the vicinity of the Woodland farm. The creatures were taken in traps laid by the State Fish and Game Commission. The purpose of the campaign was the protection of fish in the river and connected ponds. Turtles destroy great numbers of fish. The traps were in the pond for thirty days and there was an exceptional big catch. The largest turtle taken weighed 45 pounds.

Today the traps were moved and are being set in the Boggy Stone pond between Tolland Turnpike and Denning street, which flows into Union pond; also part of the Hockanum river. This pond is not large enough to accommodate all the traps now in use under supervision of Game Warden Walter E. Luettgens and some of them have been moved to the Pleasant Valley pond in Wapping.

CENTER FLUTE BAND GOING TO TORRINGTON

To Take Part in Field Meet There Saturday—Hope to Carry Off the Honors.

The Center Flute Band will journey to Torrington Saturday afternoon to participate in the annual field meet of the Torrington Corps. The local band, which won second prize for music in the annual Fifers and Drummers field day at Bridgeport recently, has high hopes of placing high in the competition which will follow a parade.

The band will leave the Center about 12:30 o'clock Saturday and all members are urged to be on hand at that time. A silver loving cup was the award for second place in the Bridgeport meet.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

Twenty-four happy youngsters went out to Wells Strickland's farm near Buckingham yesterday for a three-day camping excursion. C. B. Loomis, chairman of the Eighth District playground committee, took their tents and baggage, bedding and food; also covered in cars later in the afternoon. Mr. Hughes of Middle Turnpike took his tent out and set it up. The boys at this camp are Billy Archibut, Joe Napoli, Louis Genovese, Howard Holmes, Billy and Jimmie Sullivan, Fritz Lucas, George and Benny Baske, Ralph Pulford, Parker, Andrew and Robert Moon, Alphonse Lucas, Vincent Farrand, Junior Stevenson, Henry Wajner, Charles Hill, Thomas Newbury, Frank Vittne, Walter Lisa, Richard Brannick, Eddie Pavelach, Joe Sudoff. Mr. Hamilton is in charge of the camp.

The north end Y Juniors who are enthusiastic over baseball and who have been having quite a run of successful games lately took a good tumble yesterday when the State Theater Aces got even out at Camp Nabo park and defeated them 15 to 8.

The two girls' teams of playground ball had an exciting game last night. They will play again Friday afternoon after the track and field sports.

All the matches but two are now finished in the first tennis round. These should be finished tomorrow. The annual Y. M. C. A. picnic and excursion to Camp Woodstock will be held Saturday afternoon. Cars will leave the Y building at 1 p. m. Anyone who has extra room in his car would do the Y a favor to let it know by phone before Friday night. There will be swimming, boating, games and a picnic supper.

THREE OF SELECTMEN ACT AS "FENCE VIEWERS"

Perform Ancient Function in Small Dispute Over Center Street Hedge.

The selectmen were called upon to act in the ancient capacity of "fence viewers" yesterday, when three of the members of the board, Wells A. Strickland, John J. Jenney and Sherwood Bowers, were called to settle a dispute regarding a hedge between two pieces of property on Center street. No negotiations had ever been set to define the lines. There was a difference of opinion as to the line followed and part of the hedge was cut down by one of the disputants. The selectmen were appealed to.

The selectmen ordered that there should be no further cutting of the hedge until the rights of the matter are established by a proper survey.
