Plan to Open Drive for Blue Eagle Support in Rousing Mass Meeting Next Mon- day Night.

In an effort to make every man and woman in Manchester feel and reflect the great sea which is now impelling American citizenship to a great and lasting job under the National Recovery Act program, a huge parade and mass meeting will mark the official opening of the local campaign next Monday night. It was decided at a meeting of the general NRA committee at Watkins Auditorium yesterday afternoon.

Two Purposes
The drive will have a two-fold purpose and the battle cry will be "Sign the President's Reemployment Agreement; shorten hours; expand pay rolls, and add to the purchasing power of the American people." Tuesday morning, after the drive is formally opened, the artillery battalion will begin its bombardment to sign Manchester up 100 per cent to the code.

On the heels of the artillery will come the infantry troops, making a house to house canvass of the town to sign consumers to a pledge that they will patronize only those places that display the Blue Eagle. Ready-made drive organizations have been created and volunteer workers are now being selected.

The artillery will be headed by Arthur A. Knofo as colonel and Charles S. Burr as lieutenant colonel. This division consists of seven regiments of six batteries each, the batteries to consist of a captain and one aide, a total of forty-two workers. The artillery majors are: John I. Olson, E. J. Simonds, Arthur L. Hultman, Robert Hathaway, Leonard Sipe, Elmer Weden and William A. Knofo.

A map of Manchester will be cut into forty-two pieces and each battery will canvass one of the forty-two sections, signing up all employers who have not yet pledged themselves to the President's Reemployment Agreement.

The Infantry
A similar plan of action will govern the infantry, headed by John L. Jenney as colonel and Jay E. Rand as lieutenant colonel. This division will also consist of seven regiments of six companies each, the companies consisting of a captain and one aide, making a total of 42 workers. The majors of infantry are: A. N. Potter, Mrs. Charles Holman, J. G. Echnanian, Mrs. Andrew Healey, John Mahoney, L. H. Geer and James Turnbull. This division will also be divided into forty-two sections, making a canvass to pledge consumers to cooperate with the code.

The personnel of the artillery battalion will consist mostly of men, while the infantry troops will consist of women.

GIRL TELLS POLICE SHE WAS ABDUCTED

New Hampshire Girl Escapes from New Haven Hotel While Her Captor Sleeps.

New Haven, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Francis W. Murphy of Concord, Mass., was freed today after a hearing before Judge Raymond A. Devlin in City Court in charges of idleness in connection with the story of Margaret Grimes, 17 years old that she had been abducted from a Concord street.

The charges were dismissed on recommendation of the city attorney, although earlier Judge Devlin had continued a hearing until Wednesday.

Murphy, who denied the girl's charges, was arrested at a New Haven hotel yesterday after the girl told police she was brought here from Concord, against her will. A charge of idleness, which was lodged against her, was also dropped.

The couple returned to Massachusetts with Sergeant M. T. Whitehall of Concord, who came here to aid the local authorities in their investigation.

The Girl's Story
The girl's story as told by police, was that she escaped after Murphy fell asleep in the hotel, where she asserted he forced her to go with him.

Concord police spread an alarm for the pair Saturday night after a girl friend of Miss Grimes reported the latter had been taken away forcibly in an automobile.

Murphy was described to the Concord authorities by the girl friend as being an unemployed chauffeur who had lodged at the Grimes home. He told the court today he had known the girl for six months.

SEND NINE FINGERS WITH JAP PETITION

Tokyo, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Scores of petitions, among them one accompanied by nine fingers cut from the hands of petitioners, have reached War Minister Sadao Araki asking leniency for 11 cadets accused of assassinating Premier Inukai last year.

Those sending the most gruesome request were identified as nine reactionaries headed by a college graduate and including a former wrestler. All were young. They expressed a willingness to die for the sake of the cadets.

Many of the 20,000 signatures to the petitions have been written in blood.

Robert P. Coleman, of Lydall St., Accident Victim This Afternoon.

Robert P. Coleman, 29, of 188 Lydall street, was seriously injured late this afternoon at the ABC elevator plant in Hartford, when he tumbled from a scaffolding three stories up and suffered a fractured skull and shoulder. He was taken to the St. Francis hospital.

Coleman started working at the Hartford plant last week and was today engaged in tearing out an old elevator when the accident occurred. Chief Edward Coleman of the Manchester Fire Department is a brother of the injured man.

PLAN TO DISBAND O'DUFFY'S SOLDIERS

Valera Says Military Organ- ization Has Violated Rule Against Parades.

Dublin, Aug. 21.—(AP)—President Eamon de Valera was expected today to issue a decree banning General Eoin O'Duffy's blue-shirted National Guard, storm center for weeks of a tense political situation.

The President said at a rally in Thurles that it reports were received that the Blue Shirts had violated a rule against uniformed parades the Executive Council of the Free State would declare the organization illegal.

Ample evidence was provided by nearly 100 small parades in all parts of the Free State yesterday. Police apparently had instructions not to interfere with them but to report the number of uniformed men participating.

The week-end passed peacefully enough, although two scuffles occurred. No one was hurt.

O'Duffy's Claims
General O'Duffy maintained that his blue shirts are legal and if the government declares them otherwise, he will lead a revolt.

JOHNSON'S PLANS
Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson, by mid-November or December, intends to retire to private business, leaving to others administration of the National Recovery Act.

Without directly confirming the fact that the NRA chief yesterday told newspapermen:

"I don't want any political job. And I have a living to make. But I will be here until the job is done." He has set Dec. 31 for conclusion of the re-employment drive.

Russians Use Children to Guard Crops in Ukraine

Moscow, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Approximately 100,000 children, ranging from kindergarten age to sixteen years, are being used for the harvest in the North Caucasus, Ukraine and Mid-Coles regions to "protect the Socialist crop."

The children, a Khar'kov dispatch said today, are being organized by the Communist political sections, which now exercise rigid control over all agriculture, into "light cavalry detachments."

Both boys and girls are called on to watch sharply to prevent grain thefts and other depredations in these troublesome areas and also as gleaners to gather grain left in the fields by the harvesters.

Thousands of them have built huts in which they live in the fields of the collective farms. They are fed by the government.

Virtually all of them are children of collective farmers belonging either to the Octobrists, the Young Pioneers or the Young Communists.

To the Octobrists—Children from six to ten years of age—all the tasks of cleaning—the others,

The sixty-eight repeal delegates chosen in the election will convene Aug. 29, in Jefferson City to act favorably on the pending Twenty-first Amendment which repeals the Eighteenth.

Additional Elections
Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Prohibition could be voted out of the Constitution by November 8. Twenty-two states including Missouri in Saturday's election, already have given ballot approval to the 21st constitutional amendment, which repeals the 18th amendment.

With 38-states needed to repeal, the following additional election dates have been definitely set: Texas, Aug. 28; Washington, Aug. 29; Vermont, Sept. 5; Maine, Sept. 11; Maryland, Minnesota and Colorado, Sept. 12; Idaho and New Mexico, Sept. 19; Florida, Oct. 19; Utah, North and South Carolina, Pennsylvania and Ohio, Nov. 7.

Plans also have been made to obtain special elections in several others.

CUBAN MOB BURNS BODY OF EX-CHIEF OF POLICE

He Kills Self as Soldiers Are About to Seize Him; Crowd Exhumes Body and Mutilates It.

Havana, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Punishment for leaders for a hate created mob which took from its new grave the body of Gerardo Machado, ex-chief of police and burned and mutilated it was demanded today by several departments of the week-old Cuban government.

As the Cabinet of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes tried to solve the hard problems of economic peace, there were other evidences of continuing hatred of the previous regime.

A man hunt for the few remaining Machadoists went on; leaders of the opposition, who had been forced into exile were coming back, and soldiers and members of the A. C. secret society began digging again at Atares castle for bodies of those who died because of opposition to the Machado regime.

Antonio B. Anciar, vilified as the director of bloody and repressive measures under the deposed president, committed suicide Saturday night while soldiers and a policeman closed in on his hiding place.

As soon as soldiers left his place of burial, two thousand shouting persons opened the fresh grave, took the body in a truck to Havana University mutilated it, and hoisted it to the cross bar of an electric light pole.

Thousands watched the mob pour gasoline over it and apply a match. Finally the body of an ambulance scuttled in, the crowd and took the remains to a morgue.

"Dump it into the sea," shouted the mob. "Dump it into the sewer,"

COMMITTEE'S VISIT
Vienna, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Official circles, taking cognizance of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss' hurried visit to Italy, or a conference with Premier Mussolini, inclined to the belief today that the chancellor has abandoned his policy of friendship with Germany.

Rather, these quarters think, Dollfuss is trying to win the Italian premier to concerted action by big European powers against what the Austrian government characterizes as German interference through broadcasts with Austrian internal political affairs.

Stations in Munich, Stuttgart and Brautau Saturday sent out a lecture comparing the Austrian and German situations.

Previous broadcasts in Germany of what the government considered anti-Austrian propaganda resulted in representations by the governments of France, Great Britain and Italy. Germany replied that the incident was closed.

The present Austro-Germany situation arose because of the banning of the Nazi Party in Austria.

TREASURY BALANCE
Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The position of the Treasury on August 18 was: receipts $6,780,566.90; expenditures $28,420,812.48; balance $1,226,999,872.02; customs receipts for the month $19,436,814.87.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1): $298,213,123.06; expenditures $600,961,943.61 (including $178,453,108.47 emergency relief expenditures); excess of expenditures—$302,748,820.55.

MISSOURI GOES WET BY VOTE OF OVER 3-1

Anti-Dry Forces Now Pre- pare for Formation of Liquor Control Board for State; Dry's Statement.

St. Louis, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Anti-prohibition leaders of Missouri, successful Saturday in their fight for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, today turned their attention to the formation of an organization which will suggest regulatory laws for traffic control in the state.

As the repeals announced their plans, unofficial reports from 3,500 of the state's 4,104 precincts showed 483,455 ballots for repeal and 135,400 against.

Joseph T. Davis, St. Louis, chairman of the United Repeal Council of Missouri which carried on the pre-election campaign against prohibition, said he had been asked to head the "United Council for liquor control," which was to be effected here today.

Mrs. Nellie G. Burger of Springfield, president of the State W. C. T. U. was not so certain that the wets should go to all their trouble in organizing the "liquor control" council.

"The Eighteenth Amendment still is a part of the Constitution and will remain such until fourteen more states vote for repeal," she said, adding, "these will be harder for the wets to win than the first ones were."

The sixty-eight repeal delegates chosen in the election will convene Aug. 29, in Jefferson City to act favorably on the pending Twenty-first Amendment which repeals the Eighteenth.

Additional Elections
Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Prohibition could be voted out of the Constitution by November 8. Twenty-two states including Missouri in Saturday's election, already have given ballot approval to the 21st constitutional amendment, which repeals the 18th amendment.

AUSTRIA REQUESTS INCREASE OF ARMY

Sounds Out France on Idea; To Ask Britain and Italy About the Same Topic.

Paris, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Austria is understood to be sounding out the governments about a plan to increase her army by 8,000 men to the treaty figure of 30,000.

Earlier this month Rome dispatches said that Austria had privately asked Italy, Great Britain and France for permission to increase her military strength by shortening the enlistment period. The treaty of St. Germain provides that non-commissioned officers and privates must enlist for not less than twelve years. A shorter term would make it possible for Austria to train more men.

The present Austrian army is 22,000 but after increasing the number to treaty strength the approval of France, Great Britain and Italy. The additional men, to be used as gendarmes to guard the frontiers against German Nazi activities, would be only temporary.

French official circles, it was said, look with sympathy on the plans of Premier Mussolini, of Italy to help Austria but consider those plans to be of value chiefly in the future, whereas France sees the necessity for more immediate aid.

It is likely that the Paris government will give Austria more facilities for exports by increasing the quotas on Austrian goods allowed to enter France.

DOLLFUS' VISIT
Vienna, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Official circles, taking cognizance of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss' hurried visit to Italy, or a conference with Premier Mussolini, inclined to the belief today that the chancellor has abandoned his policy of friendship with Germany.

FEAR MANY LOST IN FREAK STORM

Boats Missing After Fierce Wind Batters Long Stretch of Atlantic Coast.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Coast Guard feared today that a score of persons may have died in a freak northeaster that battered the New Jersey and Long Island coast with giant waves yesterday.

Four persons are known to have drowned, two others were almost certainly lost and at least three boats with perhaps twenty passengers were missing.

At least 100 craft—many of them carrying amateur fishermen—were off this coast yesterday, when the storm struck suddenly. With the violence almost of a hurricane, but without a drop of rain, it sent gigantic combers crashing to shore from Absecon inlet almost to Cape May.

Boats Overturned
Boats were overturned and bathers overwhelmed in the gnashing waves. Only heroic rescue work, in which the Coast Guard took a leading part, prevented a much longer death list.

Three of the known dead lost their lives off this coast and the fourth, Joseph Muller, of Union City, N. J., drowned while bathing off Rockaway Point, L. I. The boats listed as missing today were the Renar, the Irene and the Gertrude, all of the Steelman fleet.

Passengers Rescued
A sailing vessel and a speedboat co-operated to save six passengers of the thirty-foot sailboat, Ellen. In what one witness called "the most heroic act ever witnessed," the boat's skipper, Theodore Van Sant, 58, drowned. Harry R. Smith of Camden lost his life with the Anna, captained, but three others with him were rescued by another fishing boat. Ernest Williams, 60, of Ventnor, was the third known victim, when the Goldie R. was overturned, but there, too, was an example of the heroic efforts on the part of rescuers, as five others on the same craft were saved.

At the local weather bureau, it was explained the freak storm was due to a "kick-back" of a tropical disturbance.

TWO MEN RESCUED.

JAPAN CONTESTS ISLES OWNERSHIP

Claims Sovereignty Over at Least Six Which France Wants to Use.

Tokyo, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Japan's opposition to the occupation by France of nine ownership coral islands between the Philippines and French Indo-China has been communicated to Paris, the foreign office announced today.

It was authoritatively intimated that Japan claims sovereignty over at least six of the disputed islands, in which Japanese traders are interested because of their guano and phosphate deposits and which France wants because they will make good bases for seaplanes and air naval craft.

A foreign office spokesman said Renzo Savada, charge d'affaires in Paris, on August 18 handed the French government a reply to the French communication concerning the recent occupation of the isles by France.

Details Not Known
Beyond the fact that the French claims are firmly contested, the contents of the note were not disclosed by the spokesman.

He added that the question would be taken up in Franco-Japanese negotiations.

It was learned that Japan intended to claim sovereignty over the disputed islets on the basis of the Japanese phosphate gathering on the isles.

Old Woman Dies in Moosup and Negro Who Forced Way Into House Is Held.

Hartford, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The state police today reported the "suspicious death" of Mary Lapeck, 70, of Moosup, Saturday night, and the arrest of James Geer, negro, of Central Village on the charge of breaking into and entering the Lapeck home.

According to the police, Mrs. Lapeck objected to a friendship between Geer and her daughter, Josephine. They report that Josephine and her brother, Walter, were drinking in their home that night in the presence of the mother. The three retired at 11:30. About a half hour later the mother heard some one trying to get into the house.

Geer, the police charge, found the front door locked and he forced his way through a rear window. Mrs. Lapeck, the police say, appears to have tripped over a pair of overalls landing on the second floor of the house as she came out to see what was the matter. It is believed she fell and injured herself fatally.

While Johnson and his staff worked at the multitude of problems presented by coal and other lines of work, word was received of an expected visit at the NRA headquarters of a group described as Communists. Police were stationed outside Johnson's office to avert any demonstration or disorder.

The outstanding difficulty surrounding the drafting of a coal code was the question of minimum wages. Johnson has been told that miners throughout the country were expecting a 25 a day wage, with some slight differential for the south, and that labor unions would be likely if any smaller wage were provided. On the other hand, it has been told by a large part of the coal industry that the 25 a day

END OF A PHASE.
 The end of last week ended a distinctive phase in the establishment of the NRA industrial system. The Hindenburg line of the opposition to "government dictatorship" was carried when the President signed the codes of the steel and oil producers. The rest will be a matter of mopping up.

It is a fitting time for the people of the country to take stock of the situation. We have all been so absorbed in this business of bringing about the shortening of working hours and the compensatory readjustment of hourly wages, in the interest of enlarged employment, that there is considerable likelihood that many of us will now conclude that the battle has been fought and won. Nothing could be further from the truth. All that has been done, and all that remains to be done in the establishment and enforcement of the codes, constitute the merest preliminary skirmish in the campaign against the depression and its causes. The government and its supporters in this war have won a tactical position—or will definitely have won it when the codes are in operation.

What has transpired and what is now transpiring is, to be sure, of the utmost importance. Many a great military battle has been won not at the moment when the main forces of two armies met on the center of the line of battle but many hours earlier when a single battery, perhaps, was stationed on a height won by a handful of infantry or when a supply road was captured by a squadron of cavalry.

This country has been fighting for weeks, desperately and doubtless at times a little blindly, to win a "dogfight" with the depression's most immediate manifestation, the unemployment problem of the very moment. That won, the way will be open to further developments of the economic campaign.

There are elements in the present skirmish which could better be done without. In such turbulent melees in physical warfare soldiers have sometimes shot their own comrades by mistake; wounded have been trodden on by their fellows. There are such casualties now. But the "dogfight" has to be won before the great onward movement of the army can be pursued. It is being won by clubbing and trenching and bare handed gouging methods, not by orderly volley firing. We might as well realize that.

Also we might as well realize that this meleé is not the war itself—just a part. When it is over and there is no longer any danger of another winter as perilously bad as the last one, the major task will still confront us—the immense one of establishing in this country an economic system that will enable the people to pay off their enormous accumulation of debt, that will make it possible for business and industry and agriculture to operate under a reasonable expectation of a stability of prices and some guarantee that they will not be shipwrecked at the very launching by another of these terrible visitations of criminally needless paralysis.

direct, you will have someone to make your kick to—an organization which was created for the very purpose of listening to the ideas of the public. Incidentally, Benjamin F. Whitaker is secretary and research director of the Connecticut Special Tax Commission and is, therefore, the person to be directly addressed.

The Commission was created by the last session of the Legislature, for the purpose of studying "the problems of state and local taxation in this state, the financing of its municipalities, the distribution of the tax burden with particular reference to the possibility of reducing or limiting the load of taxation borne by real estate, the problems of assessment and collection of taxes, the borrowing of money by municipalities, the apportioning of sources of taxation between the state and local municipalities and any other questions incidental to the foregoing."

During the coming fall and winter the Commission intends to hold a series of hearings. It will also receive and consider the suggestions of individuals, which of course must be in writing.

The usefulness of this Commission will, naturally, depend very largely upon the extent to which the people avail themselves of their opportunity to have their individual ideas weighed by an official body whose purpose in life is to gather up every intelligent thought to be had, from whatever source.

FOREST CAMPS.
 It is interesting to note that the one feature of the national rehabilitation program which appealed less perhaps than any other to a great majority of the country's people, the forestry work of the Civilian Conservation Corps—which looked to most of us to be a little impractical and very difficult of realization—has been made more completely effective and has settled down into orderly and quiet operation more quickly than any other major item on the schedule.

Now it is announced that instead of the forest jobs lasting only for six months the men are to be kept at work all the year around. Not necessarily the same individuals, for the government wants as many as can find themselves other employment and give still unemployed men a chance at the forestry work, but the same number of units and the same total of workers.

This enterprise seems to us to be one of the most useful things that could possibly have been undertaken, for it has demonstrated something about which there has always been grave doubt—that it is possible, in an emergency, for the government to regiment labor for a campaign against economic distress just as effectively as it can regiment manpower for a war of arms. The proof of this fact may, in the long run, prove even more valuable than the actual physical achievements of the Conservation Corps, though there is no question of the very great worth of the forestry operations themselves.

The marked success of the forestry adventure is pretty sure to make easier such projects as that mammoth one under preparation in the Tennessee Valley, and an extended program of this nature will be pretty sure to be found necessary. It is only the unthinking who believe that, under any workable shortening of hours, the indoor industries of the national will, for many years, afford re-employment for all the vast excess of human labor which, in the face of certain economic calamity, had been herded into the over-expanded industrial plant of the country.

QUITE EARNEST FIGHT.
 There has been many a school fight in Connecticut, between one town and another, but the one in Meriden over the South Meriden schoolhouse has gone a step further than any we remember hearing about.

about, for the present at least, among other schools, willy nilly. Of course there is no legal proof—as yet—that any South Meriden school partisan set fire to the building; but anybody who would bet his money against that probability, rather than on it, would be the kind of a person who will wager that the sun won't come up in the east tomorrow.

All of which would seem to indicate that in South Meriden they take their school squabbles just a little seriously.

WHY NOT STAY AWAY?
 Dr. Daniel Mulvihill of Danbury, this state, has become the center of a minor "international incident" by falling to salute a passing Nazi detachment on the streets of Berlin, where he has been studying. Dr. Mulvihill, it appears, did not understand that it is dangerous for an American citizen in Germany to permit a crowd of Hitler's strong-arms to pass without going through some sort of admiring didoes, so he just looked on. One of the Hitlerites thereupon rushed from the ranks, worked his way to a point in the crowd behind the doctor and smote him on the head, knocking him down.

Now the American consul at Berlin is trying to get an apology for the happening and the passage of a law providing for an indemnity in dollars when such things, in the future, do transpire.

It will occur to a good many people in this country that there is a better way than that to deal with this kind of outrage. That way is for Americans to keep out of Germany until the time arrives when they can visit that land without being called on to sacrifice their self-respect.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington
 By RODNEY DUTCHER
 Washington.—You can't overestimate the importance of the Chicago milk agreement and the court fight over its constitutionality. Uncle Sam for the first time freezes prices and guarantees profits, compelling dealers to buy milk at a fixed price and sell it at a fixed price.

Consumers of 25 per cent of milk sold in the Chicago area must pay 10 cents instead of 8½ cents a quart if the agreement stands, and most of the independent cut-price dealers are expected to be wiped out.

That's a sample of what can be done under the licensing provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act and the National Industrial Recovery Act. Similar milk agreements are planned for other large "trusts."

BACKGROUND: About 75 per cent of Chicago milk is handled by five or six large companies in the Chicago Milk Dealers' Association, sometimes called the "milk trust." That group buys from the Pure Milk Association, a co-operative controlling output of about 18,000 farmers.

CHILD'S CLOTHES MAY AFFECT ITS FUTURE.

The other day I was talking to one of my patients who said, "When I was little, my mother made nothing but red dresses for me. I finally loathed the color, and now that I buy my own clothes I wouldn't have a red dress if my life depended on it."

This one woman's speech indicated what a lasting impression is made by the clothing worn during childhood years. If you will stop to think of some color which you yourself dislike, you will probably recall that you learned to dislike it before you were fifteen years old either because someone made you wear it when it did not appeal to you or because the color was worn a great deal by some person whom you found irritating, and the irritation became associated in your mind with that particular color.

The clothes worn by children may leave emotional records which remain the rest of the life. For example, many people tell me that they are always uncomfortable in a new dress and are only at ease in old garments; as one man told me, he did not become attached to a hat until he had worn it for five years. In some cases, if you probe deeply enough, you will find that such or such did not like new clothes when they were children. Sometimes the reason is that the mother nagged at the youngster about keeping the clothes clean and this destroyed the pleasure of wearing them.

Sometimes the new clothes were several sizes too large and made allowance for growing and were uncomfortable. Sometimes they were violently disliked because the child objected to the color or fashion.

Modern educators try to avoid the emotional crippling due to unhappy experiences in connection with the child's clothes and tell mothers not to insist too much that children keep their clothes clean, and to have the clothes the right size so that they do not chafe the skin, and to allow every child over six years old to help please the child is somewhat new but, nevertheless, a sound principle. A young child may not know how to explain that he is uncomfortable in an account of his clothes, but it is best to watch and see which garments are his favorites, and you will find that the average child has good common sense in his selection.

Some of the good points in selecting children's clothes are as follows: the garment is right for the weather, warm enough in winter and cool enough in summer. It is perfectly comfortable, that is, the right size no binding at the neck, across the shoulders, at the waist, through the seat or above the knee. It does not chafe the neck from being starched too stiffly. It allows the child plenty of room while running, jumping or squatting. It is not so bulky or full that it gets in the way.

The ideal play garments are made of durable material that both washes and wears well, is quickly taken off, is similar to the clothes worn by the child's playmates and does not think after the first trip to the laundry. It is very resistant, that is, the young child's clothes are arranged that it is easy for him to attend the toilet. The best clothes for children who are learning to dress themselves have big buttons that the child can handle himself or a convenient fastener, such as a zipper. These points are important to make the child at ease both physically and psychologically.

Some of the undesirable effects of wrong types of children's clothes are poor posture, cramping of the feet, sensitiveness to colds caused by heavy bungling garments, feeling of inferiority and shyness because the clothes are different from those of playmates. Girls are easily affected by clothes, but even boys "sissyfy," and no boy resists dainty suits that will not stand up under strenuous play.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

New York, Aug. 21.—Central Park is a good place to drive through casually, or to stroll of an evening, or attend an outdoor concert. On the whole, it's a transient crowd that finds brief pleasure there, but there are a few isolated spots for more determined play by the same people, year after year.

There is, for instance, the Union Croquet Club, which is soon to celebrate its fiftieth anniversary. It is down at the south end of the sheep meadow, on the west side of the park, and some of the members are there from morning until dusk practically every day of the year. Wintertimes, they usually move over a little to an earthen baseball diamond and shovel off the snow. When it rains they use hoist umbrellas and go ahead with their games. Such hardhats, they say, does a lot to contrivert the idea that croquet players are doddering old fogies.

A lot of the members are, in truth, elderly and retired from business. James T. Gregg, the president, is one of these; but no one could call him doddering after seeing him sweat an opponent's ball out of bounds. Many of the members are, for some reason, physicians and clergymen. There are 35 men and 6 women. The last of the charter members died only a few years ago. He was John H. Welch, who took up the game in 1884 when his doctor told him he had only a few months to live. But croquet (he said) kept him alive for nearly half a century.

The women hold their own with male competition, especially a Mrs. Kraigman, who started playing from a wheeled chair several years ago and now walks around as well as anybody. She doesn't think, though, that she would be any match for Neysa McMein or Kathleen Norris, who are possibly the best women croquet players in the United States.

The Union Club's best players are men—Walter McCabe, a retired business man; Glen Derujinsky, the sculptor; and Lars Gardell, a retired sea captain.

Then there's the New York Lawn Bowling Club, which traces its lineage back to New York's earliest and has been at the other end of the Central Park sheep meadow for many years. There are some 50 members of this organization too, and they comprise about the same type of men except that most of them are Scotch and that they bitterly resent the suggestion that bowling on the green is an ancient Dutch pastime.

They have a fenced green, with a special permit from the city, and they bowl there four days a week. In some cases memberships have passed to the second and third generations, and five or six old codgers now sit around at some of the matches to watch their sons and grandsons uphold the family honor. You wouldn't think that Conservatory Lake, a shallow, two-acre pool in Central Park, would have much attraction for a lot of men. But there are 80 of them who sail model boats there, and as many again who are on the waiting list for storage space in the little boat-house nearby.

No ordinary toys are these, but six and seven-foot scale models of some of the most famous yachts and schooners and sloops in the world. The little sisters of West-amore and Enterprise are there, and couldn't be bought for a thousand dollars. Others are built on designs original with their makers, and the latter are mostly fine craftsmen—jewelers, mechanics, cabinet makers and such—who have made model sailing their hobby. Sometimes they take their boats to races in other cities, and even to England, where the annual meet gets as much attention as the Cowes Regatta.

Conservatory Lake has helped turn out some famous yachtsmen. Frederick H. Prince, Gerald Lambert and Harold S. Vanderbilt used to sail boats there when they were kids. And Nat Herreshoff, probably the most able of present day yacht designers, still comes around occasionally to pick up new ideas.

SEE DISADVANTAGES IN WORKING HOURS

Business Men Maintain Present Set Up Is Injurious - Restaurant Owners Object.

The working hours under the National Recovery Act, which went into effect in this section during the past week are proving to be a decided disadvantage to the residents of the community, the manufacturers and the business men. Hope of alteration of the hours and certain other changes are now held by the business men of the city of Rockville for the benefit of their businesses and the families of the men employed in the local woolen mills.

The most decided disadvantage is the elimination of the noon hour at most of the factories are on the two-shift basis meaning that their employees are allowed but fifteen minutes, namely from 12 to 12:15 o'clock for dinner in place of the old schedule of from 12 to 1 o'clock. The restaurants and lunch rooms of Rockville and vicinity have reported practically all of their noon-day business eliminated and several have indicated that they were to close unless something was done in the very near future.

An effort is to be made to have the manufacturers re-arrange the noon-day schedule so that there will be at least thirty minutes allowed for the lunch period of the night shift.

Several branches of the woolen mills in Rockville have suffered considerably because of the new schedule as it formerly took approximately 115 hours weekly, in two shifts, to card and spin enough yarn for the looms of the community. This was true when all the carding and spinning machinery was working to capacity. In order to care for increased business two additional mills were opened by the Hockanum Mills Company, namely the old Saxony Mill and the New England Mill, the latter being part of the old Hockanum Mills Company system. The Saxony Mill was recently purchased from the James J. Regan Manufacturing Company by the Hockanum Mills Company.

A statement is expected daily from the manufacturers relative to the proposed changes in their schedule as the one recently put into effect is reported as being unsatisfactory to both employer and employee. The cost of manufacturing is reported as having increased approximately one-third. Much of the local goods has been manufactured on the contract basis with the contracts accepted close to a year ahead of the date of delivery. For this reason the additional cost increase of one-third is proving a handicap to the manufacturers.

Additional help is coming to Rockville in anticipation of finding more work as the local industries are branching out. They are confronting the difficulty of finding places to sleep as all rooming and boarding houses are taxed to their capacity. Several new rooming houses have been opened within the past week or ten days and they are already filled. It is now hoped that more private families will be willing to take roomers. Special arrangements are being made to furnish board to these newcomers.

Elks Hold Clambake
Close to two hundred attended the annual clambake held yesterday afternoon at the Liedertafel Grove by Rockville Lodge No. 1359, B. P. O. Elks. Notwithstanding the threatening weather scores of members were on hand early in the morning and went to the golf course at the Manchester Country Club where golf matches were held between the teams from the Rockville and New London lodges. The latter lodge members were the guests of Rockville lodge at the Liedertafel Grove for the clambake which was held about 1 o'clock yesterday. The catering was done by Caterer Osano of Manchester who served the two hundred members and guests in a very creditable manner. The event was over shortly after three o'clock and many of the members indulged in sports for the remainder of the afternoon. Much credit is due the members of the committee in charge which consisted of the following: Frank Rizzy, William Hauhn, Charles North and John Doyle.

While no appropriation was made by the city for the concert the American Band donated their services for two concerts, the second of which will be furnished in the near future.

BOLTON OBSERVES "OLD HOME DAY"

Program Carried Out Despite Heavy Downpour—Parade in Afternoon.

Despite the heavy shower Saturday afternoon, the first Old Home Day ever held in Bolton was brought to a successful conclusion.

The parade at 2 o'clock consisted of trucks loaded with groups of Bolton youngsters and babies, the choir of the Quarryville Methodist church, the Ladies Aid, the Bolton Band, etc.

On the return of the parade from the Coventry line, the Quarryville Methodist church choir under the direction of organist Mrs. Anna Skinner played an original composition, "Old Quarryville," to the tune of "America, the Beautiful."

Professor Samuel Alvord, the next speaker, told many interesting stories of the Bolton of Colonial times and recited the part that Bolton played in the Revolutionary War.

In the evening a play "The Good Old Days" was presented by a cast of local talent. The characters in the play were: William Skinner, Father Perkins, Mother Perkins, Mrs. Anne Skinner, Judge Whipple, Myron Lee, Lizzie, Mrs. Ethel Yates, Lou Pettengill, Arthur Christianson.

The chorus consisted of Myron Lee, Laura Skinner, Mrs. Florence Downing, Wanda Levinaki, Mrs. Esther Madson, Miss Ella Christianson, Katharine Hicking, Martha Hicking, Annabelle Lee and Beatrice White. "It has been years since we have met. God grant it may not be so long again before we meet—The time just seems to flee. Our days are numbered, can't you see?"

HEAVY RAINSTORM DOES LITTLE HARM

Damage Small Here in Proportion to Amount of Rain That Fell.

The heavy shower Saturday was of record proportions, it was learned today, when the rainfall gauge at the Howard reservoir in Highland Park registered 1.06 inches of rain.

The heavy volume of water overflowed sewer catch basins, depositing large amounts of sand and small stones and debris on sidewalks, basins and in the low-lying sections.

During the shower Blisset street was flooded from the L. T. Wood ice plant to Main street, water being over the sidewalks and on the lawns of houses on the north side of the street.

Lightning struck in several places. A large tree on the lawn of the R. O. Cheney estate on Forest street was struck, bark and small limbs being ripped off as the bolt buried itself in the ground.

Although the shower was one of the heaviest and perhaps the longest in the past few years, what small amount of hail fell, locally, did but little damage.

Many motorists who stopped their engines after having parked during the shower, found upon attempting to start their engines that the ignition was wet.

Newspapers on Pitkin street during the morning by the highway department was washed off into the yards of residents of that street.

Former Local Man Now Hartford Policeman Victim of Odd Illness.

A severe headache brought total loss of sight nearly two weeks ago to William Robinson, Hartford policeman and son of Mrs. Christina Robinson of 352 Center street, this town, it was learned today.

The ailment has been diagnosed as neuritis of the optic nerve but physicians are at a loss to ascertain its cause, as Mr. Robinson had no trouble with his eyesight previously.

Soon afterward he became blind, but specialists, after an examination held to the belief that the blindness was only temporary and that he would regain his sight in the near future.

Mr. Robinson has been a member of the Hartford police force for about seven years. He is well known here, having two brothers and two sisters in Manchester, besides his mother and other relatives.

Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—At the request of Grover Whelan of New York, who has been handling the strike situation in the dress industry for the National Labor Board, the recovery administration today postponed to August 23, the opening of hearings on a code of practice for the women's dress industry.

When reported that virtual agreement had been reached on all vital points at issue among the three codes so far presented for the industry and that a one-day delay from the original August 22 date would allow time for presentation of a unified code.

CLUB BIDS QUIMBY GOODBYE TONIGHT

Kiwanians to Give Departing School Principal Farewell Dinner.

According to Harlowe Willis, chairman of the committee arranging for the dinner which the Manchester Kiwanis club will give tonight in honor of C. F. Quimby who is about to leave Manchester, thirty-five of the members had signed their intention this morning of being present at the meeting tonight at the Country Club instead of at noon, the hour the meeting and luncheon is usually held.

Mr. Quimby has been an enthusiastic member since the organization of the club here. His services as a speaker are in demand at all sorts of gatherings, and tonight he will be given all the time he wants, for an informal farewell speech.

Mr. Willis will also furnish the attendance price tonight. Dr. D. C. Y. Moore and Arthur Knofoff will assist him with the arrangements for the dinner and program. A good time is in store for all who attend, the only regrettable feature is the parting with a valued member, who will be greatly missed in the club and in the community.

McCLUSKEY STAYS BEHIND IN EUROPE

Four Members of U. S. Team are Homeward Bound; More Meets Scheduled.

Four members of the American track and field team that has been touring Europe this summer are homeward bound. They are Ralph Metcalfe, John Anderson, George Spitts and Glenn Cunningham, returning to the United States. McCluskey, a national steeplechase champion; Johnny Morris, national 110-meter high hurdles champion; Henry Laborde, international champion in the 100-meter dash; and Ivan Fuqua, member of the winning Olympic 1,600-meter relay team, are staying in Europe.

The current expedition of the American team, which closed officially in Paris Thursday, was one of the most successful in point of triumphs and reception that any American group has made in these non-Olympic years. The men selected proved their outstanding ability, despite the one-night stands through a month-long tour of ten cities. Ralph Metcalfe, of Marlborough, Mass., swept the 100 and 200 meters. Glenn Cunningham, of Kansas, America's 800 and 1,600-meter champion and the one man who might successfully challenge Jack Lovelock's claim as world's premier miler, rolled along without a defeat in races from 800 to 1,600 meters. Johnny Morris, the Louisiana hurdler; George Spitts, New York University high jumper; and Ivan Fuqua, Indiana's quarter-miler, also went through their specialties abroad without a setback.

PIONEERS TURN BACK P. N. A. NINE, 6 TO 2

The Pioneers journeyed yesterday afternoon to Glastonbury to play the strong Polish National-American team. The pitching of "Frank" Hewitt proved too much for the P. N. A., setting them down with five scattered hits, the locals winning 6-2.

The Pioneers played headsup ball throughout the game. The playing of Jolly and Mahoney was outstanding. Jolly pulled a fast double play unassisted. Mahoney and Cliff Keeny handled 13 chances between them without an error. Dixon and Mahoney featured at the bat for the Pioneers. The P. N. A. threatened in the ninth, but Hewitt bore down and struck the last two men out.

EVEN SERIES BY TAKING WILDLY PLAYED CONTEST

Ten-Run Rally in 8th Paves Way for Victory; Winners Rap Out 18 Hits, Make 6 Errors to 7 for Losers; Play Next Sunday.

The Green fought to win, and yesterday morning at Mt. Nebo occurred a game of ball. As an exhibition of how the National Exhibition should be played, it was perhaps nothing to write home about, but for downright gameness, and sustained fighting in the face of overwhelming odds, it was a spectacle that well repayed the good-sized crowd of fans that braved the threat of rain to attend.

The Green were first at bat, and Grandi, the lead-off man reaching first on an error, scampers home on "Vic's" single, and then came the last of the first inning, and with it trouble aplenty for the Green. Babel, on the mound for the Hublards, hit the first man up, McKey, and then proceeded to hit the man up also, Obuchowski. Apparently a bit upset Babel walked Wiganowski, and then came Lovett to bat. "Butch" promptly rapped out a two-bagger with the Green on top. The nervous Mr. Babel walked the next man, Schelbemping, and the bases were full again. Sullivan sacrificed, and Bedurtha hit safely, the two hits chasing in three more tallies for the Green. Sullivan sacrificed, and Bedurtha hit safely, the two hits chasing in three more tallies for the Green.

In the fourth, timely hitting by Grandi, Patris and Ray Jarvis won the game for the Green. The total of five so far, and then Babel found himself, striking out Baldwin and Gleason in order and the inning was over. Undaunted by this somewhat discouraging first inning the Green fought savagely in the second and pushed a pair of runs across, bringing the score to 5 to 3.

The Green were started on a rally that netted ten runs by Ray Jarvis, and when the smoke had cleared away the score-book showed that

RAIN STORM POSTPONES LOCAL TENNIS MATCHES

Muddy Condition of Court Put Women's Finals Over Until Tonight; Holland-Britton Meet Wednesday Night; Other Matches Slated.

Saturday's terrific rainstorm that turned a section of the High school tennis courts into a quagmire forced postponement of the matches scheduled for yesterday morning in the men's and women's tournaments. It being decided to stage the finals between Gladys Lamprecht and Eleanor Heubner tonight at 6 o'clock and the semi-final between Walter Holland and James Britton on Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock. Good Crowd On Hand Despite overcast atmosphere that gave promise of another storm, a good-sized crowd of spectators was on hand for the women's match, scheduled to start at 9 o'clock. The east corner of the north side of the south court was slippery with mud and rather than risk a mishap to the contestants it was thought best to postpone both matches.

Sport Forum

Baseball Fans of Manchester: The West Sides under my management have been criticized much to my sorrow. On Saturday afternoon we were scheduled to play the Home Circle with Jackson Taylor as an added attraction. On Saturday afternoon the Home Circle could have been before the game started.

every player on the Green team had either hit safely or scored a run. Though Gleason retired in favor of Robbins, and he in turn relinquished the job to Gwensky, the Green just naturally refused to be stopped, and when the slaughter finally did cease found themselves on the long end of a 16 to 1 score. Right back came the Baldwins to take advantage of two passes issued by Babel, and a brace of Green errors, to push three runs across, in their half of this awful eighth.

It was at this point that "Jimmy" Spillane stepped into the breach, relieving Babel, with only one out and the Baldwins all set to place. Jimmy caught Bedurtha's pop-fly, and struck out Baldwin to retire the side and end the threat. The Green was unable to increase their lead in the first of the ninth, and in their half of this last inning, the Baldwins were held hitless by Spillane, though he did walk the first man up, the next Baldwinite hit to Grandi, who pegged him out at first, and then Jimmy struck out the next two ending a game that for excitement, fight, and "coming from behind" has not been equaled in Manchester for many a day.

On next Sunday morning, at 10:15, Mt. Nebo will set the two teams together for the deciding game of the series, and the Championship of the Manchester American League, and what a fight it ought to be.

HOME CIRCLE EXPLAINS

Manchester Herald, Dear Sir: I would like to clear up an unfortunate occurrence which happened Saturday afternoon. I agreed to bring the Home Circle team to Manchester to play the West Sides and to have John Taylor pitch part of the game. Before the game, I informed Mr. Angelo that Taylor would pitch the last two innings. The rain interrupted the game in the seventh inning and Taylor did not pitch.

The Arson sisters returned home with several awards as a result of their prowess against some of the best talent in the state.

WEST SIDES PEEVE LOCAL BALL FANS Taylor's Failure to Pitch Coupled With Postponement Irks Spectators.

Local baseball fans were peeved, and rightfully so, with the type of publicity being broadcast by the management of the West Side club. On two separate occasions Jackson Taylor, the colored pitching sensation of Hartford, was scheduled to pitch at the West Side grounds, the first time he failed to show up.

Whether or not the playing field was "in poor condition," as the managers and umpire of the Bluefields-West Sides decided yesterday, it was not in such poor shape, it eventually was found, as the Bluefields shut out the Rockville Orioles. Any field on which two teams can play, one of them getting a shut out, cannot be too bad.

After all the paying customers are entitled to a little consideration. With the Bluefield team waiting around hoping that the West Side team would call around at the 3-4 at noon game time, the Bluefield manager sought to play an exhibition game to appease the crowd, one of the largest, by the way, that has visited the West Side grounds this year.

SUB-ALPINES SPLIT WEEK-END GAMES

Edge All-Hartfords, 3-2; Take Lacing from Warehouse Point, 16 to 2.

The Sub-Alpines split even in two games over the week-end, losing to Warehouse Point 16 to 0 Saturday afternoon at the Point, and winning at East Hartford yesterday afternoon, 3 to 2.

Warehouse Point had things easy against the Alpines. Three homers, one triple and five doubles were made off the Sub-Alpine pitchers if you could call them such. McHugh whaled two over the fence and Palmer whaled another to lead the Point sluggers. The Point team felled flawlessly. Ding Larr got the only extra base drive for the Alpines.
