Souvenirs for youngsters to feature in afternoon band concert. Tomorrow afternoon at the Tall Cedars carnival will be devoted to the youngsters. There will be free souvenirs for all of them and Emil Miller, general chairman, said today that there probably will be enough souvenirs on hand to go around to everybody on the grounds. Already he has secured 10,000 souvenirs for distribution.

AUTOIST KILLS BOY ON THE POST ROAD

Westbrook Man Is Held In $1,000 Bail On a Charge of Reckless Driving. Madison, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Julius Mack of Westbrook, was free today in $1,000 bail on a charge of reckless driving after police said his automobile struck and killed Robert Sauerman, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sauerman of Middletown, and injured his cousin, Russell Marks. A hearing on the charge will be held before Justice of the Peace Peter C. M. Christensen on Sept. 21. Police said the two boys were pushing a bicycle along the edge of the Boston Post road near the entrance to the Hammonasset airport as the accident occurred. Heck and his wife were returning from Chicago where they attended the World's Fair. Two state policemen from the Westbrook barracks were 180 yards ahead of the Heck automobile as they heard the crash. They returned to the scene and aided the two boys. After an examination of the Heck automobile, police said one of the tires had a slow leak which may have caused the car to swerve from the highway. The two boys had been camping at the Hammonasset state park.

NEARLY 3,000 SIGN AS NRA BUYERS

"Infantry" Returns Are Pleading to Committee—Expect Over 5,000.

First reports received today from the infantry troops of the local NRA committee, making an extensive canvass from house-to-house to obtain consumers' pledges to support concerns operating under the Blue Eagle, places the number of signers at 2,980, it was announced by General R. K. Anderson, who heads the drive committee. A number of regiments still remain to be heard from and it is estimated that the final figure will easily exceed 5,000 names, which is the total that it is believed will place Manchester among the towns and cities that sign up 100 per cent. Reports of the workers indicate that 99 per cent of the residents in each of the forty-two territories will be signed up before the campaign closes. The closing date has been announced as tonight but the drive will continue next week until Wednesday at the latest in an attempt to obtain the best possible results. Employer Pledges Figures on the total number of employers' pledges obtained by the artillery division could not be obtained as the list has not been completed. At the post office today, it was stated that only one additional signer had been obtained overnight, the lowest number since the release of the President's Reemployment Agreement. The lone signer is the Manchester Evening Herald, bringing the Manchester total to 424. It was announced at the Chamber of Commerce, headquarters of the drive, that a file of every employer in town is now being set up, listing all who have and have not signed under the Blue Eagle. This method is being used in order to double check on the local signers so that the NRA committee can canvass every employer in town who has not signed. For this work, four local girls have volunteered their services and several more are necessary. The committee appeals to local young women who have some knowledge of general clerical work to lend their services to the cause.

ABOUT TOWN

Mabel, Roberta and Betty, young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Hodgson of Oxford street, so accompanied their grandmother and aunt, who have been visiting here for the past month; to their home in Athens, Ga. The children will spend the school year in Athens. Miss Mae Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thompson of 99 Hemlock street, was tendered a surprise farewell party at her home last night by 25 young people of the Church of the Nazarene. Miss Thompson, who was graduated from Manchester High school in June, left today for the New Britain hospital where she will train for nursing. She received a number of gifts. Rev. M. S. Stocking of the North Methodist church, who also has charge of the Methodist church in Vernon, will preach at the latter church Sunday morning at 9:30 on the topic, "The Abundant Life." Mrs. Emma Bengt and daughters Miss Marguerite and Miss Elsie, and Mr. and Mrs. Max Bengt and children of Pitkin street have returned from Point O'Woods, where they passed the month of August at the Rau cottage. Rev. James E. Greer, Mrs. Greer and James Jr., who have been spending their vacation with Mrs. Greer's parents, Rev. and Mrs. M. S. Stocking, at their Embassy in Bristol, R. I. Mrs. William H. Dowd of 27 Maple street entertained at her home last evening with a farewell party in honor of Miss Helen Jackson of Cleveland. Games were played and a buffet lunch served. Miss Dorothy Chapin played piano solos. Ernest Chapman sang and Edward Edgar gave humorous readings. Miss Gustafson received a pen and pencil set from the group. William B. Halsted, exchange manager here for the Southern New England Telephone Company, is ill at his home, 22 Laurel place, with an attack of intestinal grip. Chief of Police Samuel G. Gordon and Lieutenant William Barron are in Boston today to see the double-header between the Braves and the Giants. A Ford truck owned and driven by Joseph Reymander, being driven north on Main street this morning at 5:30 crashed into a pole near the home of Police Commissioner C. R. Burr. A tire blew out which caused the automobile to travel about 30 miles an hour. Mr. Reymander lost control of the car when the tire blew and although the pole and the automobile were damaged he escaped uninjured. Officer Arthur Seymour on his way to the police station learned of the accident and made the investigation. There were no arrests. Mrs. Antoinette Savino, of 120 Eldridge street was arrested this afternoon for theft of garden produce from Home Garden plots on Charter Oak street. She will be given a hearing tomorrow morning.

BRAVES AND GIANTS TIED IN THE NINTH

BRIDE-ELECT GIVEN SURPRISE SHOWER

Miss Nellie Swift Is Guest of Honor at Party Given by Mrs. James Findlay. Miss Nellie Swift of 645 Main street was the guest of honor at a surprise miscellaneous shower given last evening by Mrs. James Findlay at her home, 188 McKee street. Twenty of Miss Swift's friends from Manchester and West Hartford were present and spent a pleasant evening. Mrs. Findlay had decorated her home for the party in a color scheme of pink and green. A large basket trimmed with the same colors was filled with a variety of choice gifts. A feature of the buffet lunch was a large, beautifully decorated wedding cake. Miss Swift will be married tomorrow to Clifford House.

(Continued From Page One) hand, asserted that "the law of the land is still the law of the land," and declared that the Constitution has met the test of the emergency and is marching "with the need of the time." "No Unusual Stress" "The constitutional difficulties inherent in the recent legislation, are grossly magnified," he said. "Our Federal government law is faced with no unusual stress or strain." "Emergency legislation." Attorney General Cummings explained, "is recognized as such by the government and must be and will be exercised within the letter and the spirit of the organic law." "Congress has neither abdicated nor shirked its rights or its duties; it has functioned patriotically and efficiently to meet National crisis. What is really happening is not an alteration in the established form or texture of government but a change in the spirit and application of government." "There has not been the slightest Federal government departure from the form of our government or the established order. Our jural system remains intact, the Federal equilibrium has not been disturbed, the life, letter and integrity of the Constitution have not been impaired."

REMOVING CHENEY RAILROAD STOCK

Last Vestiges of South Manchester Line Go Except the Tracks. Cheney Brothers' freight yards hummed with activity today as more than a dozen workers from the New York New Haven and Hartford railroad, which company acquired the South Manchester railroad some time ago, began the work of dismantling. The property includes four passenger coaches, four coal cars and two engines. The coaches and coal cars will be destroyed, it is understood, although one of the coaches may be placed on exhibition at the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield later this month, having been built in 1887. The coaches are of wood and are not usable, according to law. It is also understood that the New Haven plans to sell the engines, if possible. Buildings include combined a work shop and coal house, a freight station, the round house and a car barn. These, it is expected, will be dismantled in the near future. The tracks alone will remain.

IN BANKRUPTCY

New Haven, Sept. 1.—(AP)—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today in United States District Court against the Brooks Stores, cut rate drug and cosmetic concern operating stores in Connecticut and Massachusetts. Judge Carroll Hinkle named Frederick Harris of Meriden received under $5,000 bonds. The petition was filed in behalf of three creditors with claims totaling $2,000. They were Spooner, Inc., of New York, the Wallingford Laboratories, and the Eyrally Transportation Company of Waterbury.

BUILDING NOTES

The large plate glass windows in the Pagen building on North Main street, which is being altered and is to be lowered, were removed this morning by a glass wholesale concern of Hartford, who will keep them in storage until the building is lowered and ready to have the windows replaced. The completion of the alterations in the building will be delayed as it has now been decided to build an entire new foundation under the building before it is lowered as to make the entrance of the store on a ground level. John Hayes, who has the contract for the erection of a dance pavilion in the rear of the so-called Cowles Hotel building has the work well along. As far as the top part of the so-called Hartman block is concerned the upper brick work has been pretty well repointed by Contractor Edward Swenney and carpentry work is being done on sky-lights and other changes that will prevent the rain from dripping through into the tenements below.

COLLEGE STUDENT FALLS TO DEATH

(Continued From Page One) they had taken three girls to dances to two Loop hotels during the evening, one of them a Delta Tau Delta fraternity party. Brown said that after escorting the girls to their homes they returned to the hotel at 4 a. m. He could not tell what happened after that, for he had dropped asleep immediately. Martin was clad in pajamas. Martin had come as delegate to the National convention of Delta Tau Delta. The third youth at the party was Brown's cousin, Allen Brown of Cleveland. Charles Brown said Martin complained of feeling ill as they returned to their hotel. The bathroom window, about three feet above the floor, was open only two feet. The police said Martin might have leaped from the window, while ill and fallen.

DEMOCRATS BRING BATTLE TO COURT

(Continued From Page One) was supported by Samuel W. Tanton, new Chief Deputy of Internal Revenue Collector Edward G. Dolan, while his petition was opposed by Town Chairman David J. McCoy and Senator Raymond J. Devlin. On the stand, Goode declared the primaries are to be held Sept. 7 but no call had been published and claimed the party's convention in 1932 had no power or right to adopt the fee rule as it was not mentioned in the call. The fee proposal was introduced by former Mayor David E. Fitzgerald. Senator Devlin, secretary of the town committee, asserted the rule was enforced by the committee when Mayor James Shanley was a candidate for the Congressional nomination in 1932 and that the ruling had been adopted unanimously.

REPORT MORE STORMS ON WAY FROM SOUTH

(Continued From Page One) island, to New York to Havana to get word to the capital that communications from Santiago as far west as Piscatain, in Santa Clara province, were intact. As the morning wore on the observatories, which described the storm as a hurricane, said it apparently was increasing in intensity as it approached Havana. They announced the danger was great, and all precautions were urged. A tidal wave of unknown height was reported at Isabela and Caibarien, about 200 miles east of Havana, on the north coast. The communications department reported that another tidal wave had struck Varadero. The inhabitants had previously taken refuge in Cardenas. Approximately 100 fishing boats tied up in Havana harbor because of a strike, were moved to the upper end of the bay for safety. Several smacks that sailed four or five days ago for the fishing grounds were believed to have taken shelter somewhere along the coast.

YOUNGSTER MISSING, FOUND AT RELATIVE'S

Eleven Year Old Girl Roller Skates to Hartford Without Telling Parents. At 1 o'clock this morning the police were called and asked to assist in finding a 11-year-old girl, the child's name being withheld because of her age. The police were told she had left home at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and had not returned up to that time. The police on the beats were asked to be on the lookout for the child. The parents, after calling at different places in Manchester where they thought she might have gone, decided to visit a relative in that city as the last hope of securing any information concerning the child. At 2:30 this morning they returned to the police station to make a report. The father of the child, carrying her in his arms fast asleep. It was then reported that the child had gone out in the morning, put on her roller skates and had skated to her relatives in Hartford whom she assured, her parents knew that she was skating and would not worry about her.

CLUB NOT YET HIRED FOR DEMOCRAT RALLY

Although the Italian Democratic club announced yesterday that a rally had been planned previous to town election to be held in the Norman street Italian club officers of the club today said that no arrangements had been made for any such rally. The club officers claim that it is not their policy to hold political meetings and they had not sanctioned a Democratic rally there this year. The Italian Democratic leaders say that they went ahead, and planned their rally expecting that there would be no question about the use of the club house.

THE BARGAIN HOUND

The Dewey-Richman company has some excellent values in rebuilt typewriters. They are priced as low as $28.50 and can be purchased on a monthly basis with a small carrying charge.

Use moderate heat to cook fish, advises Mrs. Fanny W. Yeatman of the home economics bureau. The fattest kinds—herring, mackerel, salmon, shad—are better broiled or baked. For baking, use about 350 degrees. If the fish is large, put it in a rack in the pan and do not add water. If lean, lay a few strips of salt pork or bacon over the top.

A new collar makes a complete change in any dress. There are some lovely new ones in satin and pique in high, low, square and round necks at Hale's. These are priced at 59c and $1.00.

To remove rust from oil cloth, to remove onion odor from your hands or to remove finger marks from paint use Vancoc.

Teach your child early how to cross streets in safety. Teach him to obey the traffic lights and the signals of the policeman. Set him a good example yourself by crossing only when signals are in your favor. Walk briskly across with him, without showing either hurry or nervousness. Early training of this sort is important.

Steiger's in Hartford have a complete assortment of girls' school dresses at $2.25. These come in broadcloth and novelty cottons in stripes, dots, checks, plaids and all-over patterns. The sizes range from 7 to 14, and there are matching bloomers in sizes 7 to 10. These are in the Girls' shop on the second floor.

Fancy wool fabrics, nearly all stocked with white, fashion sport clothes. Diagonal stripes, fancy checks and tweeds, with heavy Melton cloth, represent the novelties.

20 MILLIONS NEEDED FOR SEWERS, WATER

That is Estimate of Amount Required Under the New NRA Regulations.

Bridgeport, Sept. 1.—(AP)—General Sanford H. Wadhams, chairman of the State Water Commission, informed the State Public Works Advisory Board at a conference here this noon that $20,000,000 is his estimate of sewer and water works improvements required in the state under the NRA. General Wadhams said that in his belief, towns and cities needing the sewerage and water works improvements could borrow the money with authority of the municipal relief commission, set up by the Legislature.

It was pointed out, however, that no definite ruling on this has yet been made by the attorney general's office. The program recommended by General Wadhams, he said included sewerage improvements, sanitary construction projects, in towns or cities of the state, where due to present conditions, the state water commission or the state health officials, will be obliged sooner or later to order the work done for the public safety.

FIGHT TAKEN TO COURT Milford, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Demo-

NEW DRY CAMPAIGN WILL BE LAUNCHED

McBride Still Has Hopes That Law Will Not Be Repealed.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Led by its General Superintendent, Dr. F. Scot McBride, the Anti-Saloon League today was launched upon a six-point program that leaders at a regional meeting here said they hoped would result in retention of the Eighteenth Amendment. The program was adopted yesterday at the conference of three National officers and League superintendents of 10 central states and in to be submitted to National directors and state units as the policy of the league.

Its six points, briefly, are: "1. An increasing campaign to retain the Eighteenth Amendment. "2. A program to hold or retain state and local prohibition laws. "3. Agitation for the election of dry executives and enforcement officers. "4. A continuous and comprehensive campaign to get the highest possible proportion of the voters to vote in all primaries and elections. "5. A campaign of education to teach every one the fundamental fact that beverage alcohol is a narcotic habit forming drug, always dangerous and often deadly. "6. A uniform Nation-wide young people's movement for total abstinence and prohibition."

Dr. McBride said the fight would be waged with silent and sound moving pictures, literature, newspapers, educational dramas, debates, lectures and pledge signing and that he favored a return of the pictures depicting the evil effects of alcohol to organs of the body that once appeared in school hygiene books. But, the fight could be won at the polls, he said. "If but 50 per cent of the dregs would vote," he said, "the Eighteenth Amendment would not be repealed."

ASKS FOR RECEIVER FOR CLOSED BANK

Hartford, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Judge Raymond A. Johnson, assistant attorney-general, asked Judge Newell Jennings in Superior Court this afternoon to appoint a receiver for the West Side Bank of Bridgeport. One of three closed Wednesday by State Bank Commissioner Walter Perry.

He also asked that a date be set for a hearing when an application will be made for receivers for the American Bank and Trust Company and the Commercial Bank, also of Bridgeport, which were closed by Commissioner Perry. The three are the only ones whose activities have been suspended since President Roosevelt's banking holiday.

Commissioner Perry, who was represented by Judge Johnson in the absence of Attorney-General Warren B. Burrows and Deputy Attorney-General Ernest L. Averill, was at the hearing, which was attended by a large group of Bridgeport bankers. It is reported that State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn had been retained as counsel for the banks but this could not be verified. He is said to be away from the city.

The American and Commercial banks were closed by Commissioner Perry and because of it the West Side Bank asked the commissioner to take possession of it. Five state bank examiners are now auditing the books of the banks, which are restrained from receiving or paying deposits.

STORM WARNING

Miami, Fla., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Weather Bureau here today issued the following storm warning:

"Continue northeast storm warnings south of Miami to Key West and change to small craft warnings at Miami 10:30 a. m. Tropical disturbance central on Cuban coast 100 miles east of Havana, moving west or slightly north of west about 17 miles per hour attended by shifting gales over a considerable area and by winds of hurricane force near the center. Storm center will pass near Havana early this afternoon. Caution advised vessels in path."

FIVE DIE OF THIRST IN WESTERN DESERTS

Sixteen Have Perished This Year—Five Victims Die When Automobile Stalls.

Los Angeles, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Sixteen persons have perished this year in the southwestern desert country from heat and thirst.

Five victims were found yesterday south of Mexicali, Lower California. After an investigation authorities at Phoenix, Ariz., decided Gus C. A. Donohoe died of thirst and discarded a previous theory that the 49-year-old Southgate, Calif., resident had been slain. A woman, two children and two men died near Mexicali. Their motorcar apparently stalled on the lonely San Felipe Road.

The victims: Elias Huerta, 35; Ruperto, her son, 5; Amelia, infant daughter of Mrs. Rosa Ahumada, Francisco Lujan, 40; Eliseo Ramirez, 35.

Mrs. Ahumada and a nine-year-old son of Mrs. Huerta were found near death in the automobile by two Mexican fishermen who took them to a municipal hospital at Mexicali.

TRUCK DRIVER INJURED

Hartford, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Arthur Brueggeman, 33, of 340 Cambridge street, Worcester, Mass., was injured on Maple avenue, near Griswold street, shortly after 4 o'clock this morning when a five-ton truck he was operating, overturned.

Brueggeman who is employed by the New York and Worcester Dispatch, was removed to the Hartford hospital. He was suffering from a head injury and shock. An electric light pole and a fire hydrant were knocked down when the truck swerved from the road. Brueggeman told Detective William J. Henahan that he sought to avoid a collision with an automobile proceeding in the opposite direction on the avenue which had passed out of the way of a horse-drawn vehicle. The top of the Worcester man's truck was broken off and the freight was strewn along the avenue.

CHENEY SILK SALE DRAWS HUNDREDS

Advertising Campaign Very Successful—Fall Showing On Tuesday.

A little over a year ago Cheney Brothers decided to advertise their retail salesroom in Cheney Hall in The Herald in order to acquaint people in the Manchester trading area with what they had to offer. They were perhaps a bit skeptical at first of the necessity of advertising in a town where so many thousands are employed in making the very same products they are retailing at Cheney Hall.

Nevertheless the plan was carried through and has proved to have met from the very start. Their advertising has brought hundreds of customers to Cheney Hall Salesroom that live right in this trading area but who in many cases admitted that they had no idea of the exceptional values to be had until they saw the advertisements and investigated.

This week's sale of salesmen's samples breaks all records for business and has proved one of the most successful weeks that the retail salesroom has seen. Nearly 900 customers have made purchases there thus far.

Next Tuesday there will be a first showing of new fall satins and velvets in a full line of new colors.

MASONS ON STRIKE

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Westchester county building was held at a standstill today by a strike of the masons which threatened to become general.

The strike was called because of the refusal of contractors to accept union interpretation of the President's re-employment agreement. Work was stopped on an addition to St. Joseph's hospital at Scarsdale, in a science hall at Tarrytown and other large contracts.

N. R. A. Bulletins

Answers To Inquiries Q. What is the exact period of the President's Reemployment Agreement?

A. From August 1, 1933, to December 31, 1933, "or until any earlier date of approval of code of fair competition."

Q. What precedent has been established for self-government of industries?

A. All codes approved provide for planning and supervisory committees of the industry with additional members named by NRA, to make recommendations for future changes in all phases of the industry's problems.

Q. What is the final authority on the codes?

A. The President is the final authority. Q. Will the Administrator issue regulations definitely classifying the various industries?

A. No. Q. May workers be employed by more than one factory?

A. No (see conditions of President's approval of cotton textile code). Q. Should professional societies present codes?

A. Yes; national in scope. Q. What factors are considered in establishing minimum wage standards?

A. The objectives are increase of purchasing power of the mass of the people; to raise wages sufficient in fact to provide decent living standards for the employee and his dependents in the locality in which he resides.

SISTER WILL NOT AD BROTHER IN DISTRESS

Refuses to Take Government Bonds for Mortgage So He Loses His Home.

Bristol, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Gustave Telke was without a home today after his attempts to obtain aid from the Home Owners Loan Corporation, were balked, loan officials told him. because his sister, Mrs. Louise Knoff, did not want government bonds in exchange for her second mortgage.

Telke's furniture was moved from his home yesterday by Constable Thomas F. Hart on an eviction writ. After the eviction papers were served on him, Telke said he communicated with Home Loan officials here who advised him to take the matter to New Britain.

At New Britain, after a conference with attorneys for his sister, Telke appeared at the New Britain office of the Loan Corporation. Telke said he was told the corporation could do nothing for him as his sister would not take government bonds for the indebtedness.

Telke asserted the property was worth $8,000 and that his mortgage and other indebtedness totaled $2,300.

WEDDINGS

Ristow-McGill

Mrs. Mildred A. McGill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Whaley of 108 Summit street, was married this afternoon at 2 o'clock, to Edward H. Ristow, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ristow of Terryville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Marvin S. Stooking, pastor of the North Methodist church, the single ring service being used. The bride and bridegroom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Ristow of Bristol, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom. The bride wore a gown of flowered chiffon with white accessories and shoulder corsage of yellow roses and gypsophila. The matron of honor was gowned in yellow and crepe with brown accessories. Her shoulder bouquet was of Tallman roses and delphiniums. A reception for the bride and immediate families followed at the home of the bride's parents, which was decorated with cut flowers.

Douglas-Paradis

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Paradis of Lowell, Mass., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alice Sarah Paradis, to George Thomas Douglas, son of Frederick Douglas of Collinsville. The marriage ceremony was performed at Millerton, N. Y., Saturday, August 5. The bride has been connected with Cheney Brothers rem department for a number of years and was prominent in the Cheney Girls Athletic Association. A reception for the bride and immediate families followed at the home of the bride's parents, which was decorated with cut flowers.

Nelson-Metcalf

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Metcalf, Jr., of 89 Pleasant street have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Esther Margaret Metcalf, to George Milton Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Nelson of Army street. The ceremony was performed on Saturday, August 12, at Millerton, N. Y., by the Rev. K. M. Reynolds, pastor of the Millerton Methodist church. The ceremony was witnessed by Miss Florence Lillian Wilson and Kenneth George May of Hartford. Pure ocean water has a clear blue color because salt water does not absorb the blue rays of sunlight as it does the red rays. The blueness of sea water depends largely upon its saltness.

May-Wilson

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson of 51 Arch street announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Florence Lillian Wilson to Kenneth George May, son of Mr. and Mrs. George May of Washington street, Hartford, formerly of this town. The ceremony was performed at Millerton Methodist church, Millerton, N. Y., on August 12 by the Rev. K. M. Reynolds. The bride and bridegroom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. George Milton Nelson, whose marriage immediately preceded theirs. Mr. and Mrs. May will be at home to their friends at 15 Elro street after October 1.

Caldwell-Greenough

According to returns made at the town clerk's office today, the marriage of Mrs. Ruth Mead Greenough of Worcester, Mass., to Lewis M. Caldwell of this town took place on June 17, 1933. Rev. Paul B. Van Horn of 10 Kendall Road, Worcester, performed the ceremony. Mr. Caldwell is a brother of Mrs. James A. Irvine and made his home with them at 91 Robert Road. Mrs. Caldwell had been previously married and was divorced. Mr. Caldwell is a salesman.

CHILD LABOR OUT AS NRA COMES IN

(Continued From Page One) guage permitting hiring and firing on a merit basis. Ford had until Tuesday to qualify for a Blue Eagle. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said in a statement issued as acting chairman of NRA's labor advisory board that 29 additional industries were seeking to adopt the automobile labor provisions. "This is a revival of an ancient standard on organized labor," Green said. "x x x Among the industries now so keen for this clause are the very ones that in the past have decimated their labor forces to root out union men, all in the name of individual merit." After the Labor Day peak of the current drive, NRA will attempt to take stock of its gains, single out enough violators of the Blue Eagle agreement for discipline so as to furnish examples to others, no worth running down individually, and expedite hearings on hundreds of little industries whose agreements are now waiting consideration.

GANGSTERS IN CHICAGO WAGING LOSING FIGHT

(Continued From Page One) eral prison as an income tax law violator. Gus Whittier, once suspected of complicity in the St. Valentine Day massacre, and now under sentence as a gun toter. As the crime war rolled on, Chief Justice John J. Frydlaist promised that only a beginning had been made, and that the authorities are "never going to stop." Matthew Capone, 24, whose older brother Alfonzo has changed his address from Chicago to the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., at the request of the government, awoke in a jail cell today. Police said they took him into custody last night on "general principles" but that he was not wanted for any crime. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 1.

to the time he must serve. Instead of the prison term being two years it is likely to be actually twenty, since it would take eighteen years to work out the money penalty imposed.

The situation, then, is that this soldier must serve eighteen years, not for betraying his country but for not having $10,000. That would make it appear that, in the eyes of the United States, it is nine times over a worse offense to be penniless than it is to be a spy against your own country.

Perhaps the court which imposed the prison term and the fine took into consideration, in fixing the former, the length of time the soldier would probably have to serve on account of the latter; two years in jail would seem to be a pretty light punishment for the crime that Osman committed, and perhaps the court considered that twenty years was not too much. But it leaves a bad taste in the mouth nevertheless.

There are a good many persons who find it impossible to convince themselves that punishment by fines is ever logical or even justifiable by any but the crudest kind of reasoning. It is, however, a very ancient institution and seems to be permanently fixed in our system of law enforcement. But in such extreme cases as this it goes beyond falsity of logic and takes on the aspect of sheer dumb-headedness.

observes them or is put out of the game. Simple enough, isn't it?

MAY BE THE FIRST.

Jasper McLevy, the Bridgeport Socialist leader who two years ago made such a sensational run as candidate for mayor that he outdistanced the Republican candidate and was not so very far behind the Democratic nominee, is to be his party's candidate for the same office again this year. The election will not be held till November but the Socialists believe in getting in the field early and making a long campaign.

Very much stranger things have happened in politics than the election of McLevy would be. Bridgeport has been unable to get anything approaching first class government from either Republican or Democratic administrations in recent years and the people down there must be just about ready for a grand revolt. McLevy is much respected and his opinion in municipal matters is deferred to by a great many citizens who would not for a moment entertain the thought of voting a Socialist national or state ticket.

If McLevy should beat both his old party opponents this fall instead of only one of them he would be the first Socialist mayor ever to be elected in Connecticut, though not the first in New England.

PRACTICAL OBSERVATION BETTER THAN THEORIZING

Most of the sciences had their origins in the customs and superstitions of our savage ancestors and many of them passed through thousands of years of theorizing before mankind became sufficiently evolved to catalog facts and weigh the preconceived theories upon the carefully balanced scales of observation and experimentation. For instance, astronomy had its origin in astrology, medicine in magic and necromancy, psychology began in the humble field of dream interpretation, and statesmanship from the forestal might of a strong right arm and a heavy club.

Before the days of ancient Greece there was apparently no extensive effort to gather or catalog facts for scientific use. Aristotle was the first real scientist of whom we have knowledge. He did not work the extensive work of classifying the various types of plants and animals that were known at that time, and he was able to produce some magnificent works that laid the foundation of modern science as we know it. He was enabled to carry through the tedious work largely through the bounty of Alexander the Great who was his pupil, which was, perhaps, the one good mark to go down on Alexander's credit to balance his extensive conquests of plunder and wholesale murder.

What Aristotle did for the general sciences, Hippocrates, who lived about the same time, did for medicine. Unfortunately, the works of these two great men were largely lost for about 2,000 years and their value was not recognized until after the Middle Ages in Europe. But with the revival of learning the scientists of the Renaissance began to search out the fragmentary records of the teachings and writings of these pioneer scientists, and upon these re-discoveries are based much of the science of today.

In the field of health it is especially true that theory cannot take the place of practical observation. By closely observing in our own experience those conditions which make us sick or keep us well, we will proceed faster than if we build our health ideas about a certain set of worn-out theories. Theories may change from time to time, but practical observation always remains a good guide.

I would suggest that you learn to observe closely in order to find out just what results your habits produce. In a general way you have probably already done this and have discovered that, if you eat a certain food, it disagrees with you, or that other foods digest well. Practical common sense tells you to avoid those which you find harmful. Or, you may have discovered that, if you exercise each day, you will feel better in every way. Then the sensible thing for you to do is to see that you exercise every day, to see that you eat only those foods which you find agreeable, and that you do those things which you find give you the most pleasure and health.

By closely examining the various acts you perform you will find which are good for you and which ones you may count on to produce the effect of making you feel well and strong. Keep looking for better habits which you may adopt that will further add to your well-being. You cannot have too much health and the healthier you become, the more you will discover keen joys and abilities to go ahead which you did not know existed while you were half-sick.

What is good for you and what is harmful is that you catch those first vague signs of ill-health in time, before we are 35, we have lived in such a way that the first signs of the disease which will eventually kill us are already present. If we continue to live as we are after that age, then a major disorder has time to develop. However, if between 35 and 50 we begin to observe those habits of living which are doing the damage and change them to good ones, there is a chance to improve the health and to reach middle age sound and whole.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

Green and Hillman Scrap It Out—Inflation Sentiment Growing Among Members of Congress — Senator Tydings' Junket to the Philippines Encounters Obstacles — Steel Bigwigs Cool Their Heels.

—BY RODNEY DUTCHER.

Washington.— President Green of the A. F. of L. didn't like being high-hatted by the steel barons who refused to sit with him at Secretary Perkins' conference.

But an experience the same day at the Labor Advisory Board's meeting pained him still worse.

At one point he even threatened to resign from the board.

The board had been secretly fighting a bitter row between A. F. of L.'s United Garment Workers and Board Member Sidney Hillman's larger, more powerful Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

Amalgamated, engaged in a whirlwind organizing campaign, has called several strikes. U. G. W. has been willing to break those strikes for its own benefit, through agreements with employers. Amalgamated men call it a "scab labor agency."

Hillman excoriated Green, producing a letter which Hillman said put the A. F. of L. chief in the position of handling factory owners' propaganda against Amalgamated. The board, willing enough to disapprove the steel men's treatment of Green, exhibited a majority sentiment against his clothing strike attitude.

Green's threat to quit subsided after John Lewis of the mine workers had mollified him.

New Inflation Sentiment.

A renewed wave of inflation sentiment seems to be gathering force. Senators and congressmen are hearing about it from home and they, in turn, are becoming more articulate.

Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, has been trying to convince Roosevelt that prompt inflation is vitally essential. He says declines in cotton prices have depressed many southern farmers.

If action is not forthcoming, Smith will try to arrange a meeting of Senate and House committee members to discuss the issue.

Steel Chiefs Wait.

President William A. Irwin of U. S. Steel and his lawyer were waiting at NRA for Chief Counsel Don Richberg. An official tried to entertain them with funny stories, but they said they didn't think they were receiving adequate consideration.

"Oh, yes," said the official, quickly, thinking of another 10 minutes of entertainment, "you're going to have your picture taken."

A photograph was finally located and urged to do his stuff. But the steel men still had a long wait for Richberg.

GRAPE JUICE BEER MADE BY ITALIAN WINE EXPERT

Congliano, Italy.—(AP)— Beer made from grapejuice has resulted in a patent for Professor Alfredo Maszai, instructor of wine-making in the Institute of Enology here.

Professor Maszai takes fresh grape juice, and through a process not made public removes all its vinous characteristics. Then he ferments the liquid with yeast, and treats it with hops.

Professor Maszai is a national authority on enology, or the science of wine-making, and Italian newspapers hail the invention as a cure for the serious overproduction of wine.

Some 498 aviators were killed in the American Expeditionary Forces in France; 234 of these were deaths by battle and 264 death by accident.

HUMAN WEEDS.

Clarence E. Martin, president of the American Bar Association, regards with an unfriendly eye the pending amendment to the federal Constitution giving Congress direct power over child labor.

"No reason exists for the grant," he says. "It is not a child-labor amendment. It was not so intended. Although advocated by many well meaning people it is a communistic effort to nationalize children, making them responsible to the government instead of to the home. It strikes a blow at the home."

We have no settled opinion about this child-labor amendment. But we are quite thoroughly convinced that much of our jealous safeguarding of the family life of the nation is mistaken effort.

In a recent issue of a popular magazine there appeared an article written by a Chicagoan who has spent years studying the problem of the development of the gangster. According to that article—and we believe it—there are wide areas in that city in which a stolen automobile, a few of its major parts removed and the machine left "on its transmission" in the vicinity of a public school, would certainly be stripped of every removable part down to the upholstery cloth, during the first school noon-hour thereafter—by a swarm of children from seven to fourteen years of age.

For such children the public maintains pre-natal clinics, baby clinics, schools, play grounds, free milk service, free lunches. It assumes, at immense cost, complete responsibility for their physical well being. It leaves their moral development in the hands of parents with no more moral structure than wild animals, not the first shadow of a sense of responsibility or good citizenship. The sacredness of the home, the inherent obligation to refrain from interfering with the parental influence, about which we hear so much, become somewhat less sacred and inherent when we endeavor to apply them to those quarters in our great cities where the children's heroes are boy bandits and successful wholesale murderers are popular idols among the grownups.

It is somewhat ridiculous to set up such a phrase as "the home" and make a fetish of it, in application to regions or strata where there are no homes at all of any civilized sort. And if society must, as it does, bleed itself white in supplying physical sustenance, schooling and recreation for countless thousands of children who otherwise might live or die as happened it does not make sense to pretend that the moral and social upbringing of these subjects must, necessarily and at all hazards, be left to those responsible for their existence.

A SPY IS FINED.

Corporal Ralph Osman of the United States army, found guilty in a Canal Zone court of espionage and sentenced to two years in prison and a fine of $10,000, besides being dishonorably discharged from the military service, patently deserves no sympathy whatever. He attempted to deliver certain undescribed secret military documents to New York state Communists and was receiving money from Reds in this country.

The case, however, brings out one particularly offensive provision of the Espionage Act under which he was tried, and that is the one which makes the imposition of fines applicable in such cases as this. It is wholly outside the probabilities that an enlisted soldier would be able to pay a $10,000 fine. Failure to pay it would, in effect, add nine times the original prison sentence

HIGHWAYS OR SEWERS.

On the face of it, the request of Highway Commissioner Macdonald that the NRA amend its priority policy toward public works to the extent of giving preference to highway building over sewer and water-works projects, so far as this state is concerned, appears to have a good deal of reason to support it.

It is almost unquestionably true that the road building program would provide employment more speedily than undertakings of the other class, because in many cases the surveys have already been made and actual construction could be started on many road projects practically at once, while in the case of the water and sewer projects which may be in contemplation practically all, we assume, must yet be worked out by engineers before any actual operations whatever could be begun. Which might occupy months.

So far as haste in providing jobs is important—and its importance would seem to be very great—the weight of argument seems to be in favor of the highway work.

There is, of course, more than one angle to the question. Much consideration must be given to the question of which class of public work involves the expenditure of the greater proportion of the appropriation directly in wages, and whether the difference in the proportions is great. Another thing that the federal government will probably insist must be taken under consideration is the relative economic and social value of water-works and sewers on the one hand and highways on the other.

For our part, while we are open minded in the premises, it seems to us that it may be quite as important that the state's sewage shall have proper disposition as that we shall have some more good roads. We are pretty well advanced in the matter of roads. We have just crawled out of the middle ages in the matter of sewage disposal. A fine highway running alongside the Naugatuck river provides a curious contrast in the parallel veins of our civilization.

FOR SPORTS-PAGERS.

When General Johnson in his Boston speech said that NRA was not a cardroom but a rules committee he hit upon a simile that goes to the root of the matter and is understandable by anyone.

It is not the most fortunate thing in the world but probably inevitable that there are millions of people in this country who are better informed in matters of sports than concerning any other general facts whatsoever. For the benefit of these people Johnson's phrase was peculiarly apt.

Every baseball fan, every football enthusiast, every fight addict, every golfer can instantly visualize the chaotic conditions that would prevail in his special sport if there were no rules commanding universal observation. That makes it easier to understand the conditions that have existed in industry and business, where so far every player has made his own rules as he went along.

The National Recovery Act is a rule-making law. It has made possible the calling of rules meetings. The players in each particular "sport" have the privilege of establishing their own rules. If they can't agree then the President has the power to make the rules himself. And to see that each player

IN NEW YORK

Gay Paris? Yes, it still is—
 Julia Blanshard reveals today in another gossip column that records a New Yorker's observations in the glamorous French capital.

By JULIA BLANSHARD
 Paris, Sept. 1.—There is no depression in Paris night life. Enough people always are on the street or sitting in the all-night cafes to give the impression that Paris never sleeps.

The evening's round for Americans starts with the Select and the Dome. Youngsters all, at the Select—artists, dancers, students, actors, none in evening dress, all eagerly expounding their theories of life, or languidly sitting and slipping. Two youths have lavender hair! Many drink big mugs of beer at the moment. . . . Across the street, a slightly more affluent and less arty crowd assembles. No seats are available so more tables are put out on the sidewalks, almost to the curb. . . . Sydney Franklin, Brooklyn bullfighter, entertained a party. He was just up for a week's vacation from Madrid, where he is writing a book. (He gave Hemingway much valuable material for his "Death in the Afternoon.")

Around the corner from the Dome is a tiny bar, "Dingo," very popular because of the merry, big dark girl who pounds the piano and can play by ear any American tune whistled to her, though she just misses the American jazz beat. . . . "Stormy Weather," "Shuffle Off to Buffalo" and "I'm Young and Healthy" are the three most popular American tunes here right now. A young American boy might double for Vines stands by the piano and sings a very bad solo, "Sidewalks of New York."

Harlem in Paris
 From Montparnasse, go across Paris to Montmartre. . . . The Moulin Rouge is a picture house now. Zell's is "out." Au Grand Ecart is the smart night club of the moment, exotically done in black walls, black floor, a fringe of tiny blue lights around the edge of the ceiling and eerie, feathery lighting coming from the bottoms of the rectangular, daisy-filled crystal bowls on every table. . . .

NEW TRADE TALK IS IN THE AIR "Velvet Glove" Policy Should Link Two America's Closer Together.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Negotiations now under way here with Colombia are only the first of a series of such pow-wows that will explain, as they unfold, the reasons for the United States "velvet glove" policy during the Machado overturn in Cuba.

Neener had the comparative failure of the London Economic Conference become certain, that the United States announced definitely that it was going out to improve trade relations with its neighbors to the south.

The comparative mildness of United States policy in Cuba was undoubtedly influenced by consideration of the negotiations which are now beginning.

"Imperialism" at End These talks with Colombians are to be followed by similar talks with Argentina, Brazil and others. They all lead up to the seventh Pan-American Congress, which meets next December in Montevideo, Uruguay.

The United States is most anxious to make a success of this conference and cement closer the interests of the western hemisphere by proving that it means what its president says when he speaks of a new era of being "good neighbors" to supplement the old policies of business imperialism.

The conference low on with Colombia, represented by Dr. Don Fabio Lozano Torrijos, aim at increasing trade between the two countries by reciprocal tariff arrangements.

Colombia now sends to the United States principally coffee, bananas and cacao, all tariff free. We ship to Colombia mostly machinery, textiles, lumber, automobiles, furniture and electrical goods.

Colombia is one of six southern countries which bought more goods from us in the first half of 1933 than the first half of 1932. The others being Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Venezuela and Mexico.

Task for Picked Envoys Jefferson Caffery, the assistant secretary of state, who is reported, is expected to be of special value in the present negotiations, as he is a former minister to Colombia.

A special effort is being made in the state department to build up a strong South American section.

Alexander W. Weddell, now on his way to take up his post as ambassador to Argentina, gave a hint of what may be expected of the "new deal" of special value in the present negotiations, as he is a former minister to Colombia.

Development of American shipping and air mail routes to South America has undoubtedly helped to overcome the handicaps imposed by tariff policies, a fluctuating dollar, and the United States' general reputation as a meddling bully.

Great Britain gradually has been getting a larger share in trade with South America, and has an advantage in the stabilized pound, once more resuming its former place as the international money.

The "salesman's tour" of the Prince of Wales to South America was principally aimed at Argentine trade. In 1928 Britain sold Argentina $108,000,000 worth of goods, the United States $140,000,000.

Shape New Sales Policy The aim of the present administration seems to be to reverse the era of "super-salman" of previous administrations.

That was to make loans almost under pressure to countries of the south, and to press the markets with an elaborate government sales organization (Hoover's Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, now greatly reduced).

The present aim seems to be not so much "sell the goods as often as" as "sell the goods as often as the deal benefits both parties."

Even the tourist trade is to be encouraged. In countries like France, England and Germany, the money left behind them by American tourists is a big item of national income every year.

But the possibilities of greatly increased traffic of this kind between the Americas is shown by a party of 17 Brazilians now on their way to "See America First" on an American liner bound from Rio to New York.

The party is to tour the United States widely, and may be the vanguard of a two-way army of tourist travel which would not only be a great benefit in itself, but result in lessening of the mutual ignorance of the two Americas of each other.

Vast Market Offered The new Latin-American policy, while partly defensive because of the failure to make mutual agreements with Europe, is also one that looks to the future. In 1918, the world trade of Latin-America was around $2,800,000,000. In 1928 that had climbed to almost $5,000,000,000.

Countries like Brazil and Argentina still offer opportunities for development comparable to that of our own west, and they have been far less hard hit by the depression than World War countries.

The conferences now going on in Washington are the prelude to a determined effort to participate in this present and future trade on a mutually beneficial basis.

AMUSEMENTS "CAPTURED" PRESENTS MOST UNUSUAL DRAMA

Story of the Unhonored Heroes of the War—Several Stars in Leading Roles.

The heroes of the prison camps during the World War—the men whose daring and courage has gone, for the most part, unhonored and unsung while the more spectacular achievements of their comrades still in the trenches have been chronicled—these "forgotten men" of the international conflict come into their own in the Warner Brothers' production, "Captured!"

which will be shown at the State Theater here Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

No Victoria Crosses, Congressional Medals or Croix de Guerre were awarded the officers and men who distinguished themselves in the prison camps under conditions often more trying and helpless than war; to be found in the fighting sections on the western front.

Sir Philip Gibbs, famous British war correspondent and probably the most brilliant of all the newspaper representatives who followed the titanic struggle during the four years of its continuance, was one of the few writers to memorialize, with his pen, the prisoners of war.

His novel, "Fellow Prisoners," is almost unique in its vivid delineation of the trials and sufferings endured by the inmates of prison camps, and it is the Gibbs story that has been dramatized with all the resources of a modern motion picture studio, in "Captured!"

Leslie Howard, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Paul Lukas share the leading honors in the story, the first two as two British army officers who have not seen each other since the days of their university friendship until they meet, as prisoners of war, in the bleak German prison camp behind the Hindenburg Line.

The love of these two men, comrades in both war and peace, for the same English girl, who is the wife of one of those who is lost in the lives and fortunes of the hundreds of prisoners herded into the camp. This love triangle results in the most amazing, yet thoroughly credible series of events ever shown on the screen. It makes powerful drama, which, while laid in the main in a German prison camp, is not a war story, but a tale of heroic sacrifice for the sake of love.

An exceptional cast is assembled around Leslie Howard, young Fairbanks and Paul Lukas for the interpretation of "Captured!" Margaret Lindsay as the girl Monica, Frank Reicher as the German lieutenant, and Arthur Eohl, Philip Faversham, Robert Barrett, William LeMaire and J. Carroll Nash in equally important parts, lend brilliant support to the principals.

BOULANGER'S ORCHESTRA AT RAU'S SATURDAY Charlie Boulanger and his orchestra will play their first engagement at New England since their return from the South at Rau's, Crystal Lake this coming Saturday night. A large number of dancers are sure to be present. Charlie had a dance band when he was a boy. Music has always been his hobby as well as his work. After graduating from college he got a band together and went to Cleveland, Ohio, where his orchestra was the first to broadcast over radio station WTAM.

In 1928 he came to New York to play for a year at the Taft Hotel, where Hal Kemp had just left. Later he moved over to Young's Chinese-American restaurant. During this time his orchestra was the first to broadcast over radio station WTAM.

The past four months he has been engaged at Virginia Beach, Virginia, one of the fashionable resorts of the South. On Sunday evening Dick Benvenuti and his Easterners, a clever group of musicians from New London, Conn., will play their first engagement at Rau's. Dancing will be from nine until two o'clock. Dick Benvenuti and his band have played in this territory before and several requests have been received for their engagement at Rau's.

TASKER CROSBY BAND AT SANDY BEACH Sandy Beach Ballroom was the first to introduce Tasker Crosby and his Ten Statesmen to Connecticut and their popularity has developed in leaps and bounds, so that today a New England tour of the bigger and better ballrooms is assured starting September 21st.

This splendid dance orchestra in a recent popularity contest among the dance fans of Sandy Beach this season and the urgent requests of numerous patrons for a Saturday engagement of Crosby and his band prompted the management to sign the band for both Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 2nd and 3rd, which will be the band's final appearance in this section prior to leaving for a tour that will bring them to various parts of New England.

The week-end opportunity to hear this real hit band is being most favorably received by hundreds of dance lovers and two capacity crowds are assured at Sandy Beach Ballroom Saturday and Sunday nights. A special "Dawn Dance" will be held on Sunday evening featuring Tasker Crosby and his boys.

A Kissing Contest... And They're on the Last Lap!

They're in a tight squeeze, to be sure, but these boys and girls didn't mind the spotlight and stares when they battled for honors in a kissing contest—the first ever staged—at Coney Island's Luna Park, in New York. They just did it for the love of it. Anyway, this was the scorching scene as the umpire cast an all-embracing glance over the field as the contestants passed the 30-minute mark.

TELL-TALE PHOTOS FLASHED TO COPS MAY TRAP YEGGS

Television May Help To Identify Fleeing Criminals In The Future.

By NEA SERVICE.

New York.—A killer was at large. His fast automobile darted through New York's mazes, seeking a way out. He laughed at the police general alarm. Hadn't he changed his car, and its license number, even his own clothing? Confidently, he approached the entrance to the tunnel that led under the river to New Jersey.

"Look at the dumb cop!" he chuckled. "Well, let him try and pick me out."

He joined the line of cars nearing the entry, then stopped with a jerk. The handsome limousine ahead of him had suddenly been halted by the traffic policeman. Arguing with him, its occupants laughed. They moved rearward. Suddenly they closed in on the killer's car. He saw drawn revolvers, heard a voice roar:

"Put 'em up—quick!"

"One of the men strode forward. "Now, let's have a good look at you!" he said.

A glance at what he held in his hand, and the killer quaked. It was a picture, etched in odd-looking, but beyond doubt, an exact likeness of him, the killer.

"Where did you get that?" he gasped.

The detective grinned. "Outta the air, fellas; outta the air," he replied.

Again he stretched out his hand. It held handcuffs.

In the Future The exact scene has not, to be sure, been enacted—yet. Not yet handed through the flashing of a picture by television to a radio-equipped police car. But that the flashing of pictures and more to such cars is no idle dream, was demonstrated on a recent night, in New York's Central Park, to the satisfaction of expert witnesses.

A police radio car cruised slowly up and down the Mall, as if waiting for something. Its five occupants peered frequently at their watches, then at a peculiar apparatus something like the old-fashioned phonograph cylinder. Suddenly, from this apparatus issued a piercing whistle. The car stopped, drew to one side. Then, "tut-tut-tut," the cylinder began to turn. It unrolled a piece of paper marked in the reddish brown of iodine. When it stopped, one of the men tore it off, dried it, and held it up.

"Know him?" he asked. It was a readily recognizable picture of the Police Commissioner of New York City. Once more, the cylinder turned. This time, the photographed face it transmitted was of a different cast, and on the paper strip a stylus pen plainly wrote these words:

ARREST AND HOLD FOR MURDER: FATS MCCARTHY, FUGITIVE OF HIS SIGNATURE FOLLOWS.

Followed a perfect reproduction of the photograph of the notorious gangster, who has since been published.

them on the air. This, he had arranged, should be done under conditions agreed upon. Then, with the police experts, he had entered the car equipped with his own special receiving apparatus, driven to Central Park, and awaited the moment for the test.

That test had shown that broadcasting to police headquarters, stations, even to cruising radio-equipped cars, of photographs of criminals, of their handwriting, and of written messages describing them, is already a practical possibility requiring only a little more perfecting.

That means a great change in police methods, particularly in the case of some desperate criminal immediately after a crime from which he is trying to flee, or of any fugitive trying to get out of New York City or any other.

For instance, at this moment there are cruising about New York 260 police and detective automobiles and 140 more auxiliaries, equipped with radio receiving apparatus. These cars receive and act upon 75 to 100 emergency calls every 24 hours, but the instructions are entirely conveyed by loud-speakers in the car roofs.

But suppose, to these loud-speakers, were added the new cylinder that can receive photographs, autographs, written messages! This equipment could be installed not only in all these cars, but in all police stations, traffic booths, bridges, tunnels, roads leading out of the city, so that to them could be flashed instantly not only the description, but the photograph of every criminal trying to escape.

SLEEPING SICKNESS ON THE INCREASE

St. Louis, Sept. 1.—(AP)—During the last week the mysterious outbreak of encephalitis, or "sleeping sickness," has taken more lives and affected nearly as many persons as it did in the first three and a half weeks that it gripped this district. Twenty-seven deaths and 186 cases were attributed to the disease during the last seven days, as compared with a total of 68 fatalities and 399 cases since the malady took its first victim on July 30.

Six deaths were reported in the last 24 hours, as compared with two the previous day, while 37 additional cases have been diagnosed as "sleeping sickness."

The disease, which is being studied in the laboratories here by a number of experts from the U. S. Public Health Service, was dominant in St. Louis county—a group of suburbs—during the earlier stages of the epidemic, but now is gradually encroaching on the city of St. Louis.

A week ago four deaths had occurred in the city and 23 in the county. Today the figures are 19 in the city and 34 in the county, and the number of cases have increased in direct proportion.

St. Louis, Sept. 1.—(AP)—During the last week the mysterious outbreak of encephalitis, or "sleeping sickness," has taken more lives and affected nearly as many persons as it did in the first three and a half weeks that it gripped this district. Twenty-seven deaths and 186 cases were attributed to the disease during the last seven days, as compared with a total of 68 fatalities and 399 cases since the malady took its first victim on July 30.

Six deaths were reported in the last 24 hours, as compared with two the previous day, while 37 additional cases have been diagnosed as "sleeping sickness."

The disease, which is being studied in the laboratories here by a number of experts from the U. S. Public Health Service, was dominant in St. Louis county—a group of suburbs—during the earlier stages of the epidemic, but now is gradually encroaching on the city of St. Louis.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Moundville, W. Va., Sept. 1.—(AP)—NRA leaders had a "bird" of a Blue Eagle problem on their hands. An indignant housewife complained that an NRA worker—a woman with whom she is not on speaking terms—invaded her home during the house-to-house canvass. Officials mollified her by letting her sign a consumers' pledge at headquarters.

New York.—Relics of the first air mail 65 years ago have been put on display by the American Air Mail Society. They consist of letters sent by balloon from Paris when the city was besieged by the Germans in 1870.

Carter Glass, Jr., is exhibiting a collection of letters carried by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh when he was an air mail pilot.

Joliet, Ill.—A day's search among the 8,000 prisoners at Stateville prison near here revealed: Pink silk underwear, finger nail polish, old cream and perfume, and a recipe for making home brew.

Chicago.—Stephen Marzak, 16, and jobless heard that Joseph Wolkwitz, a friend would aid him in getting a job.

Stephen went to see him, but Wolkwitz had retired for the night. In his eagerness for a job Stephen attempted to climb in a window. Wolkwitz mistook him for a burglar and fired a bullet.

Stephen went to a hospital where doctors said he would recover.

Philadelphia.—He blew a hole in the dining room wall and set fire to the house, but Anthony Savio certainly cleaned his chimney.

Anthony poured gasoline down the chimney, touched a match to a crumpled newspaper and sent it after the gasoline. An explosion did all the damage.

And was Anthony's face black. He'd been looking down the chimney at the time of the blast.

Seattle.—Frank Jack Beardon drove into town, clad in overalls, with a truckload of apricots.

Later he drove back out again, towards his Wenatchee ranch, still in overalls, his truck empty, and a fair passenger at his side.

He had bought a marriage license from the proceeds of the apricots, and married Miss Harryetta Lucille Steenman.

Kansas City.—Over the telephone to the General hospital came this question: "What does a fellow do when the baby swallows a mothball?"

The necessary information was furnished after which the man was asked if his child had swallowed a mothball.

"No," he replied, "but we are packing some clothing and filling the pockets with mothballs and we feel sure the baby is going to grab and swallow one any minute."

Y. He was 64 years old and is survived by his mother, one brother, Frank Howard, and a sister who resides in Washington, D. C.

FRANCE PREMIER TALKS ON NATION'S DEFENSES Paris, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Premier Edouard Daladier today told the French Cabinet about the strength of France's new steel and concrete defense chain along the German frontier, while Nazi followers of Chancellor Hitler were opening their "victory convention" in Nurnberg, Germany.

The premier's report of his recent inspection tour, as war minister, of the solid barrier of ultra-modern fortifications occupied the Cabinet meeting, except for Daladier's outline of Austro-German troubles.

The new fortifications cost $100,000,000 and include trenches and dugouts over a 125-mile line.

M. Daladier described the new defenses as adequate in blocking an invasion.

Approval was understood to have been given of Austria's announced intention of raising her army to full treaty strength of 30,000 by recruiting 8,000 militiamen. No action, however, was announced by the Cabinet.

The early convocation of Parliament to tackle urgent problems, including the budget deficit and a tense European situation, was indicated by the decision of the ministers to cancel traveling engagements and to remain in Paris after Sept. 12.

For the LOVE OF EVE

by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, marries DICK RADEB, a construction superintendent temporarily working in Lake City. Dick wants Eve to give up working but she refuses.

SAM HOLBRIDGE, an advertising man employed by another store, becomes infatuated with ARLENE SMITH, stenographer at Bixby's, but she fancies herself in love with GEORGE BLISS. Bliss has been vamped by MONA ALLEN, blond copy writer.

Eve begins playing the stock market without Dick's knowledge. She becomes worried because he does not explain several mysterious absences from home evenings. The theatre, on which he has been working is opened to the public and they attend the first performance.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIII

Though Bixby's store had been featuring new spring apparel since mid-winter, the approach of Easter brought new merchandise and new activity to almost every department. Even in the housewares, rugs and draperies a special effort was put forth to interest prospective Easter brides.

And although this meant added work in the advertising office Eve, Arlene and Marya enjoyed it. Even Mona showed some enthusiasm when a consignment of especially smart new hats arrived—one-of-a-kind hats bearing the magic names of famous designers on their lining bands.

One morning a dozen of these hats were sent to the advertising office so that Marya might select several to sketch. Eve looked them over. She smothered an exclamation and hurried to the mirror to try on a tiny black and white sailor. Marya cried out, "It's lovely on you, Eve! Oh, that should make a grand sketch!"

Eve tilted the hat this way and that to find exactly the most becoming angle. Then she turned for Arlene to approve the result. The hat was close-fitting and made of black straw. Its brim, entirely covered with tiny white violets, was set on to give the effect of a halo about the face.

"What a love of a hat!" Arlene exclaimed. "And it's perfect on you, Eve. Just perfect!"

"I do like it," agreed Eve. "It would be nice with that black wool crepe mitt I had laid away for Easter."

She replaced the hat carefully in its tissue paper wrappings, and returned it to its bandbox.

The buzzer on Eve's desk sounded and she arose to answer Mr. Barnes' summons to a conference for a full hour and when Eve returned she found that the other girls had gone to lunch.

She slipped down to the main floor, found a lettuce sandwich and a cup of tea. "Dick would think a lunch like this one perfectly terrible!" she told herself. "But I don't care. What I save on lunches I can invest."

The little hat with the white violets refused to leave her mind for more than an instant. She was glad it was safe in the advertising office. Her spirits were gay as she went to the French room of the millinery department on her way back to the office. "I'll make a deposit on that hat and have it laid away until payday," she thought. "What a difference a hat can make in a woman's life! A truly lovely model like that one would give anyone a new lease on life!"

But a moment later Miss Marchand, the hat buyer, was echoing, "The little model by Celeste—the one with the white violets? Oh, I'm sorry, Miss Bayless but that is already sold! The blond girl from your office—Miss Allen—bought it not an hour ago."

Eve smothered her wrath as best she could and went back to the office. Mona had not yet returned but Arlene was at work transcribing notes.

She glanced up as Eve entered and then stopped typing. "My word!" she cried. "What's wrong now?"

Eve told her about the hat.

"I might have guessed it!" Arlene moaned in sympathy with Eve. "When Mona saw that you were still in conference at lunch time there was a look on her face that should have warned me. You know—the smile of the cat that has not only eaten the canary but licked up all the cream as well!"

After the black and white sailor hat she did not select another until the Saturday before Easter when, without enthusiasm, she bought a black beret that she never cared for later. In the meantime, indignant though she was at Mona Allen, she had to forget this prejudice in the interest of her work. It seemed to Eve that she lived entirely for the future and foresight was her watchword.

Occasionally during these busy weeks Eve was obliged to work overtime. She would telephone Dick who usually arranged to meet her for a late dinner. Often he would drop in to see a five o'clock movie before coming to the store for her. Although he professed to get little pleasure from any of these movies, Eve resented the fact that he was being entertained while she worked.

But when she was through at the office, and met Dick at the side entrance, her resentment always left her and she snuggled by his side and lifted her eyes to his in a glad smile.

The Tuesday evening episodes

SUITS LIKE THESE FOR LAD AND LASS MAKE THEM EAGER TO GO TO CLASS

New Togs For School Are Smartly Made—(Pupils in Linen Will Make The Grade)

A Little Boy should start to school So simply dressed that he Won't lose a button, tear a seam 'Til after half-past three. And if he has short linen pants That fasten to a shirt Of cotton stuff that's loose and white, And doesn't pick up dirt, He'll learn to read and write and spell, Or take it on the nose (When he gets in an alley fight), Unhampered by his clothes!

Little Girls should wear wide skirts With pleats sewn half-way down, (They fasten like the grown-up skirts You see around the town). The cotton shirt is white and it Has buttons in a row; The neck's a Peter Pan affair, The collar, as you know, Is fashioned for a small boy's shirt— No girl will want to miss A single day of school, you'll find, If she is dressed like this!

Little Boys should wear simple suits With short linen pants that fasten to a shirt Of cotton stuff that's loose and white, And doesn't pick up dirt, He'll learn to read and write and spell, Or take it on the nose (When he gets in an alley fight), Unhampered by his clothes!

still bothered Eve, however. Dick did not leave her every Tuesday but when he did go out alone it was always on that evening. What was he concealing from her? Why didn't he take her into his confidence? Once it occurred to her that she had never had an engagement with him on a Tuesday before their marriage. Now that she was Dick's wife wasn't she entitled to know everything that concerned him? There were times when she thought of following him but her sense of honor prevented her from doing that. She must bide her time, she concluded. Still on the Tuesday when she had to work until eight o'clock and Dick did not meet her she was furious.

And then one day Marya paused beside Eve's desk and motioned to Arlene to join them.

"I've been waiting all morning," she said, "to talk to you two alone. Ray and I have decided to be married the day after Easter! He's been wanting me to marry him for a long time but I wanted to wait until we had enough money saved to give us a good start."

It was Eve's turn to wish Marya happiness and she did so sincerely. Arlene pretended to go into a faint and then said, "But you wouldn't leave us, would you, Marya?"

"That's what I'm in doubt about," admitted Marya. "I would like to keep on working for a while but my mother and Ray say I shouldn't. Mother is old-fashioned, you know. She thinks I ought to stay at home and spend my time making veal stew with sour cream sauce and all the other dishes she's taught me. My mother's sweet, but she just won't see things the modern way. And she won't hear to anything but a regular church wedding with a reception and refreshments afterward, though I don't want her and my father to go to so much expense for me."

Barnes rang for Marya just then and she hurried to his office.

"Well, that's certainly a surprise!" ejaculated Arlene. "Of course if there is anything I like better than a wedding it's two weddings. But I'd hate like anything to lose Marya from this office. I wonder whether they will live with his parents or with hers or take an apartment? That diamond Marya wears would set most men back at least three years' savings so I suppose they'll have to pinch pennies. Well, she's an angel and I adore her and Ray is a lucky man!"

Eve wanted to warn Marya against continuing her work at Bixby's after marriage. Marya was not the sort to spare herself. She would give to her home the same effort that a home-keeping wife does and also put in eight exhausting hours a day at the store. And to what end?

Eve's own experiment as a wage earning wife was not working out any too successfully. She suspected that Dick was learning to depend on others for the companionship she was often too tired or too busy to give him.

But she found it impossible to open this subject with Marya. It would be cruel to cloud the other girl's perfect happiness. And it would be a confession of Eve's failure also. So pride held her silent. Anyhow if she lost Dick she would still have her career. That would be something to live for and to give her courage to keep on.

But it would not be enough, her heart cried out.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

"How are the children?" inquired Mrs. Holmes. Mrs. Clark, a very caller, replied that they were very well.

"How fortunate," sighed Mrs. Holmes. "Beth has had a series of summer colds. I really don't believe she is fit to go back to school."

The conversation turned on school for a few minutes, but it was more about Beth's school prospects than about Mrs. Clark's children's school prospects.

The visitor, sensing this, listened as patiently as possible to all the misfortunes of Beth during the last two years.

Clothes were the next thing. Mrs. Clark said she wanted to take in a sale of rain coats on the way home.

Center of Conversation Mrs. Holmes related in detail all about Beth's wardrobe. Then she went over Beth's wardrobe, piece by piece—where she had seen the plaid dress and how she had copied it for half price; how it happened that her aunt had knitted her a green sweater instead of a blue; and how the dimity had faded.

Mrs. Clark was there an hour. In that time her hostess turned every trick of conversation toward Beth. Beth sat and listened. When she had the opportunity, she would say, "Mama, tell Mrs. Clark about the time I fell into the lake" or "Tell about the time the lady at the library said I was smart."

When Mrs. Clark left she thought, "Every nine years, more or less, there is a scarcity of rabbits."

Hints on How to Keep Well by World-Famed Authority

INFANT DEATHS FEWER

Rate for American Cities is Now Lowest On Record And Only Half Of What It Was 20 Years Ago

By DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene and Health Magazine.

It is generally recognized that the number of deaths of infants under one year of age in any community is a fairly good test of the sanitary conditions in that community.

For some years now the American Child Health Association has made available the report of infant deaths in almost a thousand cities. The records for 1932 are striking and afford valuable information concerning health conditions in various parts of the country.

The total rate for 943 cities was 56.8, the lowest ever attained in this country and approximately half what the rate was 20 years ago.

The lowest rate in cities with populations over 250,000 was for Portland, Ore., with 1 death for each 1,000 births.

St. Paul, San Francisco and Oakland (California) follow closely after Portland with rates of 39 and 40.

In cities from 100,000 to 250,000 population Long Beach, Calif., is first with 36; Grand Rapids, Mich., second with 37 and Spokane, Wash., third with 40.

Cleveland Heights, Ohio, a suburban city in the 50,000 to 100,000 population class, had no infant deaths of this type and thus leads all the cities in the country. It is followed by Cicero, Ill., and Berkeley, Calif., each with a rate of 35.

Among the 10 largest cities in the United States, Chicago led with a rate of 49, followed by New York with 51, Philadelphia and Detroit with 52. But even the remaining six of the largest cities in the United States show decreases from 1911 rates. The figures for these cities including Cleveland, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore and Pittsburgh, range from 53 to 67.

Low infant mortality rates are the result of many forces, including the social and economic status, climatic factors and similar influences, as well as public health effort.

It is clear that the number of babies under one year of age dying in the United States is steadily decreasing and that the effects of modern, scientific, preventive medicine are directly measurable by these records.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

Your coat of tan isn't likely to be prized so highly once the social season begins and you think about wearing party clothes.

Neck, shoulders and arms which stood out in handsome contrast against the background of a pastel summer dance frock will be at a disadvantage when you step forth to fall parties in glamorous satin or velvet.

Fall and winter wardrobes require skin that is smooth and white.

It's a bit of a nuisance to work all summer to get a nice, dark brown coat of tan and then have to begin right away to get rid of it. But that's exactly what you'll have to do if you wish to present a sleek, suave appearance at the first fall parties.

Your own beauty shop can give you bleaching facials that help to remove the tan. However, if you can't get to a regular beauty parlor for treatment, you'll have to do something at home.

So much has been said about buttermilk, lemon and tomato juice and the water from soaked cucumber rinds that you surely will think about them when you plan your bleaching campaign.

There are lemon creams which help and strawberry cream masks which seem to do the trick. If you use a very strong bleach, always apply a bit of nourishing cream directly afterward.

EUGENE PORTER DIES SUDDENLY

New Britain Merchant Drops Dead While Passing the City Hall.

New Britain, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Eugene J. Porter, vice-president and assistant treasurer of B. C. Porter Sons, Inc., retail furniture dealers and undertakers, dropped dead in front of the City Hall on West Main street today.

Mr. Porter was passing the Municipal building when he uttered a cry as if in acute pain and fell to the sidewalk. Sergeant Thomas J. Feeney of the Police Department, who was a few steps behind him, tried to catch him but failed. Dr. Louis J. Dumont, superintendent of the Health Department, was summoned from his office in the City Hall but Mr. Porter was dead when he reached his side.

Mr. Porter, who was 67 years old, had been a funeral director for about 50 years. He was a member of many Masonic bodies and was a 32nd Degree Mason. He had served several terms as a member of the State Board of Embalmers, being reappointed last June by Gov. Cross. He was active in St. Mark's Episcopal church and in the organization of the church. He also was a charter member of the Rotary club and a member of New Britain Lodge of Elks.

When business men's organizations were in their infancy in this city, Mr. Porter was one of the leaders, holding office in the New Britain Business Men's association, the predecessor of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Porter's brother, Frank J. Porter, and his nephew, Maxwell S. Porter, were on their way by auto to Franconia, N. H., when the auto occurred. The police sent out a teletype message asking police along the route to halt them and inform them of Mr. Porter's demise. Their car was stopped at Northampton, Mass., and they started immediately for this city.

Mrs. Howard Bruemmer, daughter of Mr. Porter, is in Chicago.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Financial markets continued their pre-holiday lull today as trading activity dwindled to around the low point of the year and prices generally fluctuated in minor fractions.

Board rooms, for the most part, were all but deserted. Big and little operators alike, seemingly had "beaten the gun" on the Labor Day recess. What few transactions in stocks there were emanated principally among the professionals. The ticker tape stuttered occasionally, but was silent for minutes at a time. Grains were also slumberous, although quotations in this category were a bit easier most of the day. Cotton was indifferent. Bonds were listlessly firm. European gold currencies rose moderately against the dollar, but sterling held around its previous rate.

With little pressure on shares, some leading issues edged up fractionally to around a point. Best improvement was shown by the oils, including Standard of California, Standard of New Jersey, Amerasia, Seaboard, Houston, Ohio and Atlantic Refining. U. S. Smelting got up a point and slightly higher prices were recorded by U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Dupont, Case, General Motors, Kennecott, Liggett & Myers B and others.

Although traders generally left the security markets to their own devices, proponents of the advance were further encouraged by weekend trade reviews which reported that business and trade were progressing steadily. Retail activities, it was said, have been highly satisfactory. News of the rise in consumer buying, it was pointed out, is being supported by sales reports which show that buying has been increasing at a far more rapid rate than the seasonal decline in some industries.

Various commission houses, in their search for market cues, say that foreign investors recently have shown renewed interest in the American field. Buying from abroad, although not in any great volume, is said to have been confined largely to the motor, rail and steel stocks, with scattering commitments in a few specialties. Foreign governments also are understood to have been quietly buying up some of their own dollar bonds since the depreciation of American currency in terms of gold.

Successful bond conversion operations abroad, in the opinion of some financial quarters, may be followed here by the Treasury in the near future. Officials at Washington, it is reported, have for some time been considering the advisability of refunding some of the high-interest-bearing Liberty loans. Liberty Fourth 4-14s now outstanding amount to $6,268,150, while Liberty First 4-14s total $888,982.100. Under proper market conditions, some bankers feel that at least part of this huge debt could be refunded on a basis of around 3 per cent. The recent 3-14, eight-year bond offering of the Treasury was oversubscribed six times.

CONTRACTS ARE SIGNED FOR 37 WAR VESSELS

Sec. Swanson Says It Is Beginning of Building Up to the Naval Treaty.

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Secretary Swanson today signed contracts for 37 vessels to be constructed out of the $238,000,000 allotted the Navy from public works funds and Congressional appropriations.

He also named the vessels, 21 to be constructed in private shipbuilding yards and 16 in Navy Yards. He named two other vessels under construction.

"I hope this is the beginning of a Treaty Navy—a Navy built to the limits of the London Naval Treaty and second to none," he commented. "The President has acted generously with the Navy and thinks that we should not only have a good Navy, but that work should be given through Naval construction."

Names of cities were assigned to vessels of the cruiser and gunboat classes, names of famous battles and of vessels of earlier days to aircraft carriers, names of distinguished naval officers and heroic enlisted men to destroyers and names of inhabitants of the deep to fleet submarines.

Contract for the vessels were awarded recently and the signature will permit work to begin immediately.

PASTOR TRANSFERRED.

Torrington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Rev. George Francis Green, pastor of the Workman A. M. E. Zion church here for the past five years, has been transferred to the pastorate of the Plainville church. The Rev. Edward W. Gantt of Great Barrington, Mass., succeeds him here.

A gold nugget weighing nearly 51 ounces, one of the largest found in recent years, was discovered on Sheep creek near Wiseman, Alaska.

SAVANTS BATTLE AT LAMSON TRIAL

Noted Surgeon Tells Jury That Wounds Could Be Caused by Blows.

San Jose, Calif., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The battle of scientists over physical evidence in the trial here of David A. Lamson on charges of murdering his wife, Aliene, continues today with the prospect of its becoming more intense.

It started when the prosecution produced as a surprise witness, Dr. A. W. Meyer, head of the Anatomy Department of Stanford University, whose testimony tended to support the state's contention that the attractive young matron was bludgeoned to death with a 10-inch length of iron pipe in the Lamson cottage on the Stanford campus last May 30.

In contrast with testimony by autopsy surgeons earlier in the trial, Dr. Meyer said the wounds in Mrs. Lamson's skull could have been "easily produced" by the pipe.

Dr. Milton Sailer and Dr. Blake Wilbur, the latter a son of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford, previously had testified the pipe could have produced the wounds but that "considerable force" would have been necessary.

Answering a question evidently aimed at defense intimations Mrs. Lamson's death might have been accidental, Dr. Meyer said she would have had to fall down four times to produce the wounds he found. He added he also had discovered hemorrhages which were missed by the autopsy surgeons and which had been caused by "tugging on the hair."

Statement Confirmed
Dr. Frederick Proescher, county pathologist, confirmed Dr. Meyer's statement as to the cause of the hemorrhages and added "they were made before Mrs. Lamson's death." Dr. Proescher testified he found evidence of charred blood on the length of pipe, which was taken from a bonfire Lamson had been tending the morning of the tragedy. Also there was evidence of blood on the pieces of cloth which were found in the fire, he added. He added he was positive the blows could have been inflicted by the pipe and said "one blow would have caused her death."

The noted criminologist, Dr. E. O. Heinrich of Berkeley is aiding defense attorneys.

Eldridge Ray of Sacramento testified yesterday the 31-year old Stanford Press executive visited Mrs. Sara M. Kelley, a divorcee, five or six times at the State Capital last March and April.

The "General Sherman" tree in Squoia National Park is said to be the largest and oldest tree in the United States; it is 280 feet high and has a diameter of 88.5 feet.

JUDGE GIVES $10 FINE AS A WEDDING PRESENT

Westport, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The former Bettie V. Cowgill, of Philadelphia, today possessed an unexpected wedding gift that added nothing to her capital, but saved it from being depleted to the extent of $10.

Arrested recently on a charge of speeding, her bond was ordered forfeited when she failed to appear in Westport Town Court Monday. The court agreed to reopen the case yesterday and she explained that she was hurrying to New York to be married when she was arrested. She said she was unable to appear Monday because of her honeymoon.

Judge James K. Bradley fined her $10 and costs, but remitted the $10 fine as a wedding present.

Miss Cowgill was married in New York August 21 by Assistant City Clerk, Philip J. Hines to Stephen Fay, 47, of Brooklyn. In applying for the license she gave her age as 24.

JOHNSON 'DRIVE' INFUSING ENTIRE NRA HEADQUARTERS

Washington—It would be interesting to know what kind of an organization the NRA would have been had President Roosevelt chosen someone besides General Hugh Johnson to take charge of that gigantic project.

No other department of government in Washington seems so clearly to reflect the personality of the man at its head as does the NRA. One has only to walk through the corridors on the fourth floor of the department of commerce building to realize this.

The spirit of the man seems to be everywhere. The drive and force so characteristic of him seems to have pervaded the whole atmosphere around NRA headquarters. There's no pomp or display around the NRA. While housed in what is generally considered the most pretentious government building in Washington, that's as far as that sort of thing goes with Johnson's outfit.

The accommodations in the various offices are almost bare. And Johnson's office is perhaps the barest. It doesn't even have a door knob any more. So many people kept blundering in by mistake that he had it taken off.

His office is a place where work —hard work is done. You realize it the moment you step inside. It contains only a phone, a desk, and a few dilapidated chairs. That's all.

It's much the same with the other offices. Desks that have seen a lot of wear have been pressed into service by the various deputy administrators. There are few chairs, because everybody must keep moving. Hundreds wander up and down the corridors seeking information. Everybody is kept on the go.

Some of the officials change quarters so rapidly that it is almost impossible to keep track of them. Big cars loaded with office furniture parade up and down the corridors at all hours of the day.

The general has permitted himself only one luxury during the long hours he spends at his desk. And he didn't have anything to say about that.

He had a birthday the other day. A group of his associates in the NRA went out quietly and bought a cooling machine and had it installed in his office as a birthday gift. They were moved to compassion after seeing him working so hard in Washington's terrific heat, collarless and coatless.

He has one other diversion. He permits himself two hours for dinner in the evening. A part of that time is taken up by walking with his little fox-terrier.

And curiously enough the dog's name is "Toughy."

RUSSIANS PLAN STRATOSPHERIC ATTEMPT SOON

Leningrad (AP)—Soviet aviation's first venture into the stratosphere is scheduled to be made within the next few weeks in a specially constructed balloon designed for an ascent of from six to 15 miles.

Three—possibly four—of the country's leading aviators intend to set out on a voyage into the upper reaches of the atmosphere before the summer ends on what is contemplated as the first of a series of such flights for scientific observation.

To Study Cosmic Rays
Their primary purpose is to study the cosmic rays, electromagnetic phenomena and the physiological influence of great heights on human beings. But they also hope to better the record of Prof. Auguste Piccard, who on his second ascent reached a height of more than 55,000 feet.

The first test flight of the balloon, constructed in the Air Institute's factories here along the general lines of Piccard's craft, was pronounced satisfactory by the constructor, M. Vassenko and B. Fedosenko, the chief pilot, although it was allowed to climb only 3,100 meters during its almost 14 hours in the air. It was brought down safely some 30 miles from Leningrad, its starting point.

Both Vassenko and Fedosenko probably will make the first flight. Prof. D. Molchanov, director of the institute and organizer of the ascent, likely will be in command. Whether the flight will be started from Leningrad or from Moscow will depend on weather conditions.

The balloon, designed by Engineer I. Chertovsky, was more than a year in construction and only Soviet materials and equipment were used. The envelope is made of a special rubberized fabric to which a paint compound has been applied to make it impervious to the sun's heat. It has a capacity of 20,000 cubic meters of hydrogen gas.

Basket Type Suspension
The cabin is constructed of non-magnetic stainless steel and can accommodate four men for a minimum of 12 hours. It is slung in what resembles a basket, the botton of which is fitted with a shock-absorbing device to soften the impact of landing. Portholes fitted with non-sweating and non-freezing glass—four around the sides, one on the top and one in the floor—provide the means of observation and photography.

The crew will receive necessary air from a liquid oxygen apparatus within the sealed cabin, which also will have a powerful short-wave radio transmission and receiving set.

THESE MECHANICS MAKE CARS READY FOR WRECK

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy Keep Busy Figuring Out How to Smash Up Autos.

Hollywood—When Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy step into an automobile in a picture the movie audience, through long experience, can anticipate with delight the unhappy ending of that car.

The comic pair have a fateful affinity for motor vehicles. When they so much as approach anything on wheels, it is a doomed chariot. That is because audiences have been taught to expect them to meet, if not major disaster, at least convulsing mishaps when they go a-motoring. And last year, because audiences expected it not only of Laurel and Hardy but of other comics, Hal Roach spent about $20,000 on automobiles destined only for slaughter.

Knocking 'Em Apart In 44 pictures about 50 cars were sent to the junk heap, for the amusement of fans who think it's funny when a comic comes to grief. And it must be, or the budget watchdogs wouldn't spend the money.

They aren't new cars, of course, except very rarely. Even those that "look like new" have been doctored at the studio garage to simulate up-to-dateness while wearing, under disguised hoods, old and worn motors.

At this particular garage, mechanical genius takes strange forms. The ability to wreck a vehicle artfully, so that it will have oddly at just the proper moment, is lauded as much as the knack for making temperamental flyers run.

One day they needed a car—for Laurel and Hardy—that would run only in a circle. The situation called for a traffic smash-up, in course of which their car would be knocked into its eccentric state.

Revolutionary

The collision was easy, and it was fairly simple to bend the car into pretzel-like curves, but to make such a vehicle run afterwards was a challenge to ingenuity. They succeeded, and the self-chaser is still on the lot, among the other relics of forgotten films.

When you see the screen demis-of some antique car the chances are it is a car worth more than the latest model, not as a vehicle, but as a museum piece.

Over the weeks, however, aren't a total loss. They pick up the pieces and store them away. When they need a junk-heap set, they build their own!

TOLLAND

The Town Hall of Tolland was packed to overflowing and many were turned away Wednesday night when a group of Tolland young people presented a three act drama entitled "The Road Back". The cast was assisted in the introduction and between the acts by Nell's orchestra and by Mrs. Libbie Meyer Crandall who sang three numbers: "Calm as the Night", "Until", and "I Passed by Your Window," all of which were greatly enjoyed and appreciated.

The work done by the cast was highly commendable. The members of the cast were well chosen for their parts hence there was a balance and smoothness that made the movement of the play very delightful. The characters were taken by the following: "Ma" Fowler, Alice West; "Pa" Fowler, Larry West; Jennie Fowler, Minnie Tobiasiana; Millie Fowler, Grace Hirth; Mrs. Binders, Helen Svacha; George Fowler, Edward Wochomurka, Jr.; Arthur McLeod, Nick Zelinka; Blake Chester, Harold Hirth; Mr. Harrison, William Svacha; Ben Fowler, Arthur Bushnell; Mrs. Chester, Doris Luhrs. The director of the play was Mrs. Helen Luhrs. Needham. In staging and directing this play Mrs. Needham has shown much ability. "The Road Back" was presented for the benefit of the Tolland Federated church and this contribution of Mrs. Needham and the cast is much appreciated by the church. After the play refreshments were sold and the young people remained for a dance. Nell's orchestra furnished the music with James Rhodes prompting.

Mrs. Robert Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Doyle who have been at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, Ill., Canada and Maine have returned after a most enjoyable trip.

Mr. and Mrs. William Phelps of New Haven and Mr. and Mrs. Nils Adamson are guests at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Sano at Stripic Lake.

Mrs. John Riley with her sister, Miss Dolly Thomforde have returned from a two weeks trip to South America.

Dodge McNight with his sister-in-law, Miss Elsie Quysel of East Sandwich, Mass., were recent guests of Miss Edmee Pratal.

Mrs. Walter Button of Cherry Valley, New York, with her sister, Mrs. Harry Caboon of Manchester, were guests Wednesday of Mrs. Samuel Simpson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. William Overman are entertaining guests from New York City.

Florence Meacham with friends returned Monday afternoon from a cruise of several days on the South Atlantic coast visiting at St. Augustine, Fla.

Mrs. Hilman and daughter of White Plains, New York is spending two weeks at her summer home in the northern part of town.

Mrs. W. Sumner Simpson and son Billy who have spent several weeks with relatives in the suburbs of Rochester have returned to Tolland. A short business meeting will be held at the regular meeting night of Tolland Grange next Tuesday evening, Sept. 5 in the Community House. The Grange picnic will follow with entertainment and refreshments.

WELLS PREDICTS WAR

London, Sept. 1.—(AP)—In his new book H. G. Wells predicts a European war in 1940 with a reconstructed world without rent or interest, but with happiness for everyone, following a period of "new order," he writes, "There remains no way of becoming passively wealthy. Gambling x x is ruthlessly eradicated. There are no speculators, shareholders, private usurers, or rent lords."

NINE PASSENGERS SAVED AS SPEED BOAT BURNS

Thousands at World's Fair See Accident on Lake Michigan a Mile Off Shore.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Nine passengers and the pilot of a speedboat were apparently none the worse today for the unexpected dip they took in Lake Michigan a mile off the World's Fair grounds when the craft caught fire and sank.

The mishap occurred last night in full view of thousands of visitors to the fair shortly after the boat, Texas, piloted by Bud Sheldon, had taken off from a dock on the grounds.

Occupants of other nearby boats saw smoke arising from the speedboat and hurried to the scene, but before their arrival Pilot Sheldon had ordered the passengers to don life preservers and jump into the lake.

They were taken from the water and returned to shore aboard the rescue boats and then put to bed in the emergency hospital on the fair grounds. After their clothes had dried all were released.

Those on board included Marvin Trimbley, 10, and Billy Heller, 10, Boy Scouts of Chanute, Kan., and Nolan Frey, Longmont, Colo.

The accident was the second in which speedboats operating to and from the fair grounds were involved within a week. Last Friday night three persons were drowned when a speedboat and a cabin cruiser crashed.

Following the rescue of those aboard the Texas the boat burned to the water's edge and then sank.

Salvage operations on the Lutine, British ship wrecked off the Dutch coast in 1799, are expected to net nearly $10,000,000 in sunken treasure.

BATES AND SHANNONS TO MAKE PLEAS TODAY

Alleged Kidnapers of Oil Millionaire, However, Will Be Kept in Jail While Lawyers Enter Plea.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 1.—(AP)—This was arraignment day for Albert Bates and the three Shannons, alleged co-conspirators in the kidnaping for $200,000 ransom of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire, but the government doesn't plan to let them leave their cells.

District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde announced that unless Judge Edgar S. Vaughn rules to the contrary, Bates and the Shannons will stay in the county jail while their attorneys enter their "not guilty" pleas to Federal charges of conspiracy to kidnap for ransom. Counsel for seven Twin Cities men, indicted as a result of disposal of part of the ransom money, will enter similar pleas. None of the seven has been brought here yet.

Hyde's decision was made as a precaution against any attempt at delivery of the prisoners or reprisal by those of the alleged kidnap ring still at large. George (Machine Gun) Kelly, who is accused with Bates of hustling Urschel from his sunporch here the night of last July 22, still is a fugitive.

Bates, arrested at Denver, was brought here by plane yesterday. Hyde said. Harvey Bailey, alleged "brains" of the kidnaping, would be transferred from Dallas for arraignment here in a few days.

SPAIN'S PROBLEM CHURCH VS. STATE

No Country Except Mexico Has Made Such Bitter War Upon the Church.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of three articles by Milton Bronner, reviewing conditions in Spain under the Republic.

By MILTON BRONNER
Madrid. — One of the biggest problems that republican Spain is facing, one of the biggest battles the issue of which cannot yet be predicted, is that of the relations between the Spanish government and the Roman Catholic Church.

No country, unless it be the Spanish-speaking land of Mexico, has made such bitter war upon the Church as has the republic of Spain. Spain has not gone to the extremes seen in Mexico some years ago when government troops and police actually prevented the faithful from entering the churches to participate in religious services. But in all respects the new rulers of Spain, prodded on by the Socialists, have been most drastic.

Spain was, perhaps, the last land for which such a program could have been predicted. Even more than France or the old Austro-Hungarian empire, Spain has been the eldest daughter of the Church. It was the Christian sovereigns, Ferdinand and Isabella, who in the 15th century conquered all of Spain for the cross and drove out the Moslems. It was Spain which carried Christianity to the West Indies, to South America, Mexico and the Philippines. It was the Spaniard, Ignatius Loyola, who in the 16th century founded the famous order of the Jesuits. In Spain the church waxed in power, riches and influence.

But even in the most halcyon times of the reign of ex-King Alfonso, when there was social unrest, there were savage attacks on church property by mobs, notably in Barcelona in 1909.

The church and its orders, however, seemed so interwoven in the life of the country that it did not seem possible to separate them.

Ladies estimate that 800,000 children were taught by Catholic religious orders. The orders saved annually for 150,000 sick people in clinics and hospitals and visited 100,000 more in their homes. Money, clothes or food were given to 200,000 poor. Eighteen thousand lunatics and 10,000 lepers were cared for in their institutions. It was estimated that when the republic was proclaimed, there were 80,000 monks and nuns engaged in this work of Christian charity.

In the beginning of the Spanish revolution in April, 1931, there was no violence against church property. But in May following the holding of a monarchist meeting in Madrid, there was an outbreak of savagery all over Spain. Some 80 churches, monasteries and convents were burned to the ground, although there were few, if any, attacks upon monks and nuns themselves.

The government took stern measures to suppress the excesses, but it then proceeded by laws to make a far more drastic attack upon the Church. It separated church and state and declared the laic republic with equality for all citizens. It decided to stop the subsidies from the public treasury paid to the church. It dissolved the order of the Jesuits and confiscated much of their property. It took over some of the properties of the church. It itself and, in a manner, took possession of the priceless art treasures of the church. It was decided that, hereafter, all teaching should be in the hands of the state. It was decreed that religious processions should be allowed after due authorization of the governors of the provinces.

Bishops would be named freely by the church as heretofore, but the state reserved the right of veto on those considered enemies of the government. The final laws nationalizing much church property, forbidding the teaching of religious doctrines in the schools, prohibiting religious orders from maintaining schools or engaging in industry were adopted on May 17 last by the Cortes, by a vote of 275 to 142.

Spread Fantastic Rumors

Just how far and how much these drastic laws represent the real wishes of the mass of the people it is impossible to say. In Madrid, for instance, the writer found the most fantastic notions entertained by some he met. Some of the common people believed the country honey-combed with Jesuits. As a matter of fact there were 80 communities, comprising a total of 1383 Fathers, 789 novices and 664 lay brothers.

Through the centuries these communities had undoubtedly accumulated great wealth, thanks to legacies left them by wealthy Spaniards, who liked their teaching and hospital work. In Madrid it was no unusual thing to be told that every time a person rode in the subway or in a tram car, he was paying tribute to the Jesuits, who, it was asserted, owned these concerns.

The more rampant Socialists and republicans hated the religious orders, too, because they looked upon them as bulwarks of the monarchy. Loyal Spanish Catholics pointed out that nowhere were Catholics better subjects of the country and nowhere did they progress better than in the United States where there is complete separation of church and state.

There are sections of Spain, too, where the action of the republic is bitterly resented. For instance, there are the Basque provinces in which are situated one of the greatest Spanish industrial cities — Bilbao. Yet the Basque sent only one Socialist to the Cortes. All the rest were Catholics.

Women's Vota New Factor
The republic has given the votes to women. What they will do in the next election is the great problem. Women are always more faithful to their religion than the men. It is believed that considerable portion of the women will vote against the government because of its action toward the church. On the other hand, the Socialists claim that the women folk of the workers will offset this.

In the meantime the tension has increased. Right after President Alcalá Zamora — himself a practicing Catholic — signed the law which is so obnoxious to the Church, the Pope in the first week in June 1933, issued an Encyclical to the bishops, clergy and people of Spain in which he strongly condemned the conduct of the Spanish government toward the Church. He exhorted the faithful to use all legal methods to induce the Cortes to rescind measures which were hostile to the Church.

The Pope disclaimed any intention of opposing real political reform in Spain. What he opposed were laws which, in his view, were at variance with the proclaimed principle of civil liberty in the republic. The objectionable laws, he said, could not be excused as being needed to defend the republic. They were inspired by hatred of the Church.

The Pope's encyclical was quickly followed by a manifesto issued by the Catholic bishops of Spain denouncing the church laws, declaring the excommunication of those responsible for them and prohibiting good Catholics from sending their children to the state schools. Early in the days of the republic, the government expelled Monsignor Segura, the Primate of the Spanish Church. Last July was marked by the entrance of the new Primate Monsignor Gomez, the new Archbishop of Toledo. He is centering his activities upon two things: to collect from the faithful funds which will support the church now that the state subsidies have been taken away, and to arrange for private teaching of Catholic children. Upon the Primate and the Spanish Cabinet depends whether Spanish Catholics will become increasingly reconciled to the republic or become its bitterest foes.

NEXT: The New Deal for Spain. The Spanish republic's program for industrial and farm relief.

WAR BIRTH RATE BLAMED FOR ENGLISH STUDY SLUMP

London. — (AP) — The industrial crisis and the low birthrate of the late years of the World War are blamed by the board of education for a slump in the number of part-time students attending technical schools in England. Enrollments dropped from 997,870 in 1931 to 943,299 last year. Students taking full-time courses, however, showed an increase from 29,515 to 30,495.

Overnight A. P. News

Everett, Mass.—John Vito, 30, reports that five men, led by a South Boston gangster, invaded his home and threatened to beat him and kidnap his wife if he continued to work in a canning factory where a strike is in progress.

Montpelier, Vt.—Judge Howe in Federal Court dismisses bill brought by group of Boston milk dealers for injunction to restrain permanently the Consolidated Dairies, Inc. from consummating the purchase of proprietary creameries in Vermont.

WALL STREET BRIEFS

New York, Sept. 1.—Diamond Match Co. had June quarter net profit of $48,402 compared with $510,826 in the previous quarter and $527,940 in the second quarter of 1937.

First National Stores, Inc., has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 62 1/2 cents on the common stock, payable Oct. 2 to shares of record Sept. 11.

National Investors Corp. is paying a special dividend of $5.50 a share on its $5.50 preferred issue on account of accumulations.

Kelvinator Corp. reports that the month just passed was the best August in its history. Shipments were 358 per cent of those of August, 1937, and a sufficient backlog of unfilled orders is being carried over to assure relatively high employment for September, says H. W. Burritt, vice president in charge of sales.

GAS PRICE GOES UP

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Effective tomorrow, an advance of half a cent a gallon will be made by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey throughout its territory in the service station price of gasoline.

A similar advance applies in the territory of the Standard Oil Company, of Louisiana.

The advance, it was explained, will enable dealers to take care of the extra costs of operation under the National Recovery Administration.

REAL MOVIE QUIZ

SOON TO START

Ex-President Lowell of Harvard Heads Movement to Learn Effects of Films on Children.

Boston, — Dr. Abbott Lawrence Lowell, the blue-blooded 77-year-old educator whose long presidency at Harvard left indelible marks on America's richest and oldest university, is going to lend his influence to making the movies social-minded.

The Council already has accepted unanimous election to be chairman of the Motion Picture Research Council, a five-year-old organization for making studies of the social influences of the movies. Following such studies the council expects to make suggestions for more effective use of the movies as a social force.

The Council already has produced a series of reports which Dr. Lowell has said "impressed me very much." Dr. Lowell succeeds his old friend, the late President John Grier Hibben of Princeton, in heading the council's work, which Dr. Lowell believes to be "most important."

Research Has Wide Scope

The movie researches being engineered by the council are in three parts:

The first is a study of the influence of pictures on the audience, especially on children.

The second will be the effect of movies on international understanding and world peace, and especially the ideas of America which are being given people all over the world by the present Hollywood output.

Third will come a study of the economic, financial, legal, and administrative aspects of the movie industry with reference to whether these fit or unfit it to perform its social duty properly.

These second two phases of the council's study would have to be completed under the guidance of Dr. Lowell, recommendations made, and plans devised to get them adopted. The first, relating to the effects on youth, is largely complete.

New Field for Savant

Dr. Lowell, last of a long line of Boston bluebloods, only recently retired as president of Harvard. During his presidency he not only revolutionized the physical aspect of Harvard, building and putting in operation its famous "house units," but he increased its endowment nearly $100,000,000 and made it the richest university in the country. Now from his retirement he essays to direct studies that will ultimately bring the movies to a greater sense of responsibility for what they are doing to, and for, America.

The original set of studies was made in collaboration with the Payne Fund, which is concerned with the informal education of youth through all influences outside schools. The Payne Fund created a committee of scientists of high standing, and studied various phases of the effects of movies on young people.

Such questions were studied as these: What sort of ideas do children get from the movies? How deeply are they affected emotionally? How many children go to the movies, and how often? Do the movies inspire criminal and delinquent tendencies? Do they affect children's sleep or nerves? And so on.

Potent Educational Factor

Four years of studies, conducted in a most careful manner, resulted in a series of reports which are now being published. The author of the first of these, for instance, Henry James Foreman, concludes that the movies are as powerful an influence in American life as our whole costly educational system.

The investigation "has been indicated in accepting the new post, and details of the manner in which it was made seems to bear this out.

Sleep Found Disturbed

For more than a year, under direction of Professor Samuel Beneshaw of Ohio State, the sleep of 170 children was automatically recorded by instruments to determine whether going to the movies cost them lost or troubled sleep. The tests showed definitely that it did, not only on the night of the picture, but for as long as five nights afterward.

A general report on the studies by Dr. W. W. Charters, also of Ohio State, was approved by Dr. Hibben just before his death in an auto accident. Dr. Hibben commented that the research showed that many current films conflicted with the teachings and standards of the training of home, church, and school. They "constitute a very real basis for apprehension about their influence on children," Dr. Hibben added.

Youngsters Highly Impressionable

The studies included such interesting findings as these: Of 39,941 boys and girls between eight and 18 years old, each girl went to the movies 46, and each boy 57 times a year. Another check showed that every week 28,259,000 youngsters between five and 20 years old go to the movies. The tremendous potential effect on youth is evident.

Other tests showed definitely that children take movies more seriously than grownups, that they are more real to them, and that their emotional reaction is sometimes as much as eight times as marked as that of grownups watching the same picture.

The council does not aim at censorship, and is the first to admit that some movies may have a relaxing and even beneficial effect on children. It has no idea of preventing children from going to the movies, for it is first to admit that they will go anyway.

Nor has it any idea of demanding that all movies be reduced to a level where they will be suitable for nine-year

 Now the glad year's afternoon
 Hurries on apace,
 Now the mountain ash tree,
 With a dainty grace,
 Dons her lovely party gown—
 Coral beads and lace.

We have often wondered why the corn begins to curl up on a hot day while the cockle burrs remain green and flourish just the same regardless of whether it rains or not.

Hay-fever cures are consistent anyway. It isn't a fever and it isn't caused by hay and they don't cure it.

Man—you seem to be no lover of music, although you have four musical daughters.
 Neighbor—If you had four musical daughters you would be no lover of music.

Most folks would plan better vacations if they knew what to use for money.

Impatient Man Outside Telephone Booth—Can I help you find the number that you want?
 Sweet Young Thing—Oh, no, thank you, I don't want a number. I'm looking for a pretty sweet name to give my new dog.

Despite the depression, girls without principle draw interest.

The telephone bell rang in the fire department. The operator plugged in for the call.
 Timid Voice—Is this the fire department?
 Fireman (eagerly)—Yes, that's right.

Timid Voice—Well, I've just built a new rock garden and I've just put in some new fall ferns—
 Fireman (roaring)—Where's the fire?

Timid Voice (going on)—Some of these ferns and other fall plants are very expensive and—Fireman—Look here! You want a flower shop.

Timid Voice—No, I don't. I was coming to that in a minute. My neighbor's house is on fire, and I don't want your clumsy firemen treading over my new rock garden when you come here.

Doctor (gazing critically at patient)—Did you take my advice and sleep with all the windows open?
 Patient (murmuring)—I did, Doctor.

Doctor—Good, and I suppose you've pretty well lost that cold you had?
 Patient—No, Doctor. Only my best suit, watch and chain.

SCHOOLS TO START ON 7 P. C. COST CUT

Budget to Be Proposed at Town Meeting 35 P. C. Below Two Years Ago.

The public schools of Manchester will open for the 1934-35 year next Wednesday morning and will operate, it is expected, on a budget seven per cent lower than last year and thirty-five per cent lower than two years ago. The budget for the coming year, as it will be recommended to the annual town meeting in October, totals $277,198 exclusive of the cost of maintenance of school buildings, estimated at an additional $26,000.

No figures are obtainable at present on the total enrollment anticipated in the local schools next year. At Manchester High, it is estimated that the enrollment will be 1376 students, with an additional 100 pupils added after the mid-year grammar school promotions. The 1376 estimate is about forty more pupils than the peak figure of last year.

At the close of the school year last June, seven teachers were released and it was announced that the vacancies would not be filled in order to economize to the fullest possible extent. Two teachers have been added to the high school staff, however, due to the promotions made necessary by the resignation of Clarence P. Quimby as principal.

The local school budget has been steadily decreasing annually this year's figure being the lowest in many years. Schools were operated on a budget of $440,000 in 1930-31, $430,000 in 1931-32, $313,000 in 1932-33.

Two years ago the cost of education per pupil in Manchester was 108.38. Last year it was about $90 per pupil. Principal Arthur Illing announced today that all students who are required to make up examinations are requested to report at the High School, room 14, at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

He also requested that all who plan to enter school next week and have not registered as yet do so before next Wednesday.

New Teachers Here F. Edgar Hubbard of Medford, Mass., one of the two instructors added to the high school faculty this fall, has arrived in town with Mrs. Hubbard and the small daughter. They will make their home on Laurel street. Mr. Hubbard will teach freshmen mathematics and science.

Many parents of high school graduates who desire to send their sons and daughters back to school for post graduate courses this fall, have the impression that tuition must be paid for the privilege. This is not the case, according to school authorities, as the cost of operating local schools is underwritten by taxes.

Undergraduates However, due to the capacity enrollment of undergraduates expected when school opens next Wednesday morning, no effort is being made to encourage or urge graduates to return for post graduate courses. In many cases, it is necessary for graduates to return and enroll for studies that are required to enter college. In many other cases, graduates return because of inability to obtain employment.

Last year, about twenty post graduates were enrolled. The number enrolled so far this year is negligible, it was stated at the principal's office today. No figure could be released on the anticipated enrollment as registrations are being received at the office daily. The figure will probably be available next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weir of 178 Wetherell street will have, as their guests for the week-end, and Labor Day, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson of New York City.

POLICE BEATS Chief of Police Samuel G. Gordon has made his assignment of beats for the month of September, which will be subject to change when school opens on September 6. Officer Arthur Seymour will, as usual, start his work at 6 o'clock in the morning covering the Main street beat and after school opens will also take care of the school children at the Manchester Green District. Officer Rudolph Wirtalla will report at 10 o'clock until schools open when he will come on duty at 8 o'clock in the morning to take care of school traffic at the Center and also at the Hollister street street school. Motorcycle Policeman Herman Muske will be on duty work, counting on to help out in the children's protection and cover the town on special calls and a regular motorcycle beat. During the remainder of the vacation period of Michael Fitzgerald Policeman Marti will start work at 11 o'clock in the morning. Other police are assigned to night duty as follows: Cavagnaro, Center; Casella, Depot Square; Prentice, automobile; Galigan, midnight.

HOSPITAL NOTES "A son was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Miller of 15 Williams street. Mrs. Sarah Miller of 104 Woodbridge street was admitted. Mrs. Mary Kallner of 38 Union street and the local clinic patients were discharged.

Yesterday John O'Clou of 488 Middle Turnpike and Mrs. William Stratton and infant son of 32 Church street were discharged.

Enrico Scrimaglio, of 87 Blawell street, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to keeping liquor with the intent to sell. He was fined $100 and costs by Deputy Judge Thomas Ferguson. He was not represented by counsel. Scrimaglio was arrested when he answered a telephone call asking him to bring a pint of liquor to a nearby place of business. While en route he was stopped by Captain Schandal and Patrolman David Galigan. Scrimaglio readily admitted his guilt and was taken to the police station. Later police visited his home and found nothing but empty bottles.
