BYRD WILL SAIL FOR POLE AGAIN SEPTEMBER 25TH

Noted Explorer to Sail from Boston With Crew of 70 Men for the Antarctic—May Take Two Years.

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, U. S. N., Retiree, announced today at the White House that he would sail from Boston on September 25, for another expedition of the South Pole.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd

White House talking over his plans with President Roosevelt, departed this morning for New York to hasten the preparations for his exploration, which he expects to take two years.

Asked why he was returning to the dreary Antarctic regions, Byrd replied that there was an area there still unexplored as big as the United States and Mexico combined.

"As long as there is a surface as big as that on the face of the earth," he said, "we ought to know about it. Also I think we can supply some missing links to the problems of science in thoroughly exploring this country that is in the clutches of the ice."

The youthful looking explorer will use the old Coast Guard cutter Bear, which has been the property of Oakland, Calif., since it was decommissioned, after years in the Arctic.

70 Men in Crew
He will have with him about 70 men and probably several airplanes. His old base at Little America will be used again. It was from there in 1929 that Byrd and his companions flew over the South Pole.

Harold June, who was with him on that flight, will be the chief pilot.

WOMAN REENACTS SCENE OF MURDER Shows Police Just How She Killed Man Who Threatened Son.

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A dark-haired housewife was near collapse today after re-enacting a woodland death scene in which she killed a middle-aged Jeweler.

Her dress stained with blood, Mrs. Millie Prince, 31, stood in a Queens wood late yesterday and showed police how she stabbed Charles J. Wolfert, 56. She said Wolfert had threatened to kill her husband and 10-year-old son unless she eloped with him.

Standing on the death spot, she cried: "He spread his arms out wide and came up to me and said: 'Go on. You haven't got the nerve to kill me. But I deserve to be killed.'"

Threatens Husband
"All my friends have left me," she quoted him as saying. "You're all I've got. I'm going to have you if I have to get rid of your husband."

"Then, she said: 'He punched me in the face. He caught me. I knew it was me or him. I stabbed him. I don't know how many times. I knew I had to finish it or he'd get me.'"

The stabbing was done, she said, with a souvenir knife she carried in her bag.

Last night Mrs. Prince was treated for abrasions and a possible fracture of the jaw and was detained pending the filing of homicide charges.

FARLEY JUNIOR PICKS ELEPHANT

"You're a Fine Democrat," Says Postmaster General As His Son Selects a Toy.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 7.—(AP)—James A. Farley, Jr., six-year old son of the postmaster general, is already causing his father some concern as to his fidelity to the Democratic Party.

Mayor Harry Bacharach had obtained three dolls for three Farley children on visit here with their parents, supposing all of them to be girls.

Young Farley, of course, would not have a doll, so he was permitted to choose something else from a toy shop. He selected an elephant.

"You're a fine Democrat!" his father chided him.

"I am glad to see at least one Farley pick the right party," said Mayor Bacharach, who is a Republican.

FORD CONTROVERSY AIDS AUTO TRADE

Leaders in Industry Declare Public Now More Interested in Motor Cars.

Detroit, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The controversy between Henry Ford and General Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the National Recovery Act, is accomplishing nothing else, say leading figures in the automobile industry, has served to make an already motor-minded public more deeply than ever conscious of the part the automobile industry plays in every day life.

In the discussion of the NRA and the automotive industry interest has not centered alone in the Ford-Johnson disagreement; no little thought is being given to exactly what volume of production by the industry would be required to take up all the unemployment among those whose livelihood came mainly from work in the production and distribution of automobiles.

There is no disagreement among automobile factory executives that an annual output of considerably more than the average of the four years ending next December will be required.

RED CROSS SURVEYS HURRICANE AREAS

Four Thousand Homes Destroyed in Texas—Telephone Wires Restored.

Hartlingen, Tex., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Army ambulance detachments to-day began a systematic search through hitherto inaccessible sections of the hurricane devastated lower Rio Grande valley for injured refugees.

It was considered likely additional fatalities would be discovered in remote communities unheard from since the disastrous storm.

Preliminary Survey
A preliminary survey by the Red Cross, covering that part of the stricken area linked by paved highways, accounted for 4,000 deaths and hundreds of persons injured. There were found to be 3,750 families destitute, 4,000 homes destroyed and 8,000 damaged.

Clearing weather today allowed the telephone and telegraph company repair crews to restore communication lines put out of commission by the winds which ripped and tore at the rich agriculture section from Monday night until past noon Tuesday. Highways were being opened to traffic again as water slowly receded.

The storm denuded citrus groves of their ripening crop, valued at around $4,000,000 and leveled cotton all over the fertile valley. The damage to property was expected to run into the millions.

Savage Berber Tribes Conquered by France

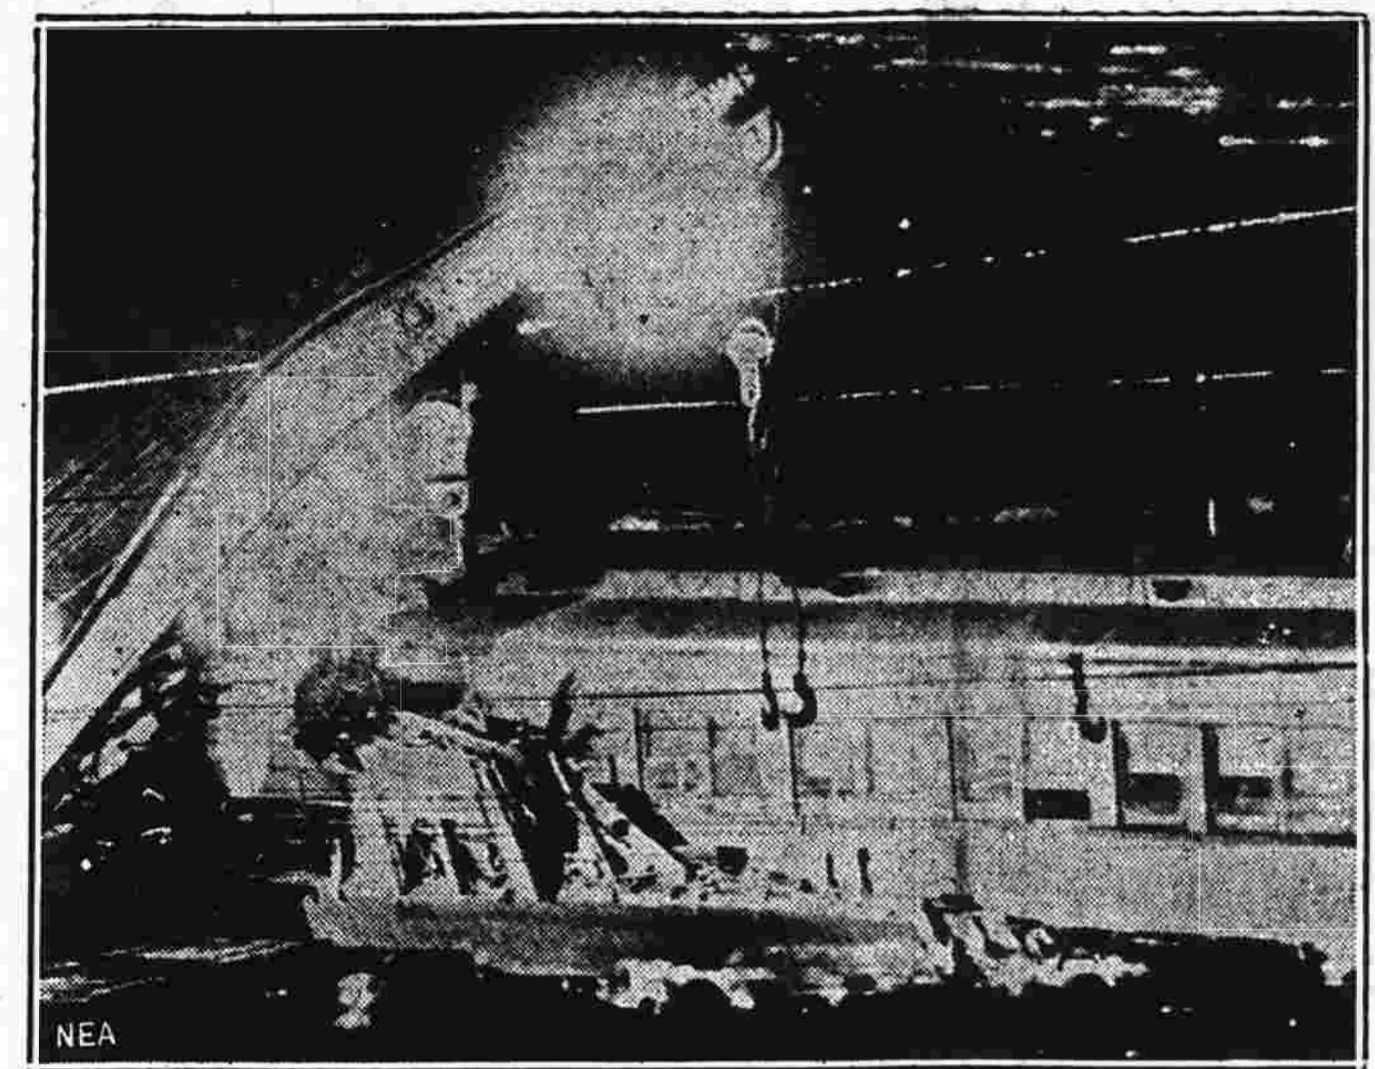

Rabat, Morocco, Sept. 7.—(AP)—French pacification of Morocco finally was achieved today after twenty-five years of warfare against the savage Berber tribes.

The last die-hard chief, Sidi Ali Hocine Ou Temga, surrendered to the French besiegers of Koucer peak in the Atlas range. His warriors laid their arms at the feet of their conquerors.

Numerous casualties were inflicted by both sides in the last desperate resistance of the fierce tribesmen who have been fighting foreign legionnaires and other French troops under General Jacques de Loubat.

Their resistance was broken when their stronghold on the 9,000-foot

View of Crash That Cost 15 Lives

When the Erie railroad's Atlantic Express, bound from Chicago to Jersey City, N. J., halted for a signal near Binghamton, N. Y., a speeding milk train rammed its rear, killing 15 passengers and wrecking the express. Here is shown the steel car of the express that plowed into wooden "death" coach. Workmen were trying to extricate the bodies of victims and clear wreckage when this photo was taken.

VISCOUNT GREY IS DEAD; WAS BRITISH DIPLOMAT

Gave Germany the Ultimatum Which Plunged Britain into the World War—Was 71 Years Old.

Christon Bank, England, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Viscount Grey of Fallodon, who, as Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, gave Germany the ultimatum plunging Great Britain into the World War, died today at the age of 71.

He virtually retired from public life in 1916 because of failing eyesight and had been seriously ill for more than a week.

Death came to him at 8:05 a. m., at Fallodon, his beautiful home on the Northumbrian coast.

As foreign secretary for the eleven years from 1905 to 1916, Viscount Grey was fated to play a leading role in the destinies of Europe. He never wavered in his stand on behalf of Belgium after exhausting every effort to avert the war.

The United States became acquainted with him during a five-month period in 1919-1920 when he was the temporary British ambassador to Washington, but President Wilson's battle with the Senate and his own poor health conspired to place him in the background.

Long Unconscious
Viscount Grey had been unconscious for nearly 70 hours. A sister, Mrs. Cockburn, and her daughter maintained a constant watch during his last hours.

The exact nature of his illness was not announced, but is believed to have resulted from high blood pressure.

A little less remarkable than his fame as a statesman was his prominence as a friend of birds and animals. It was said he won the trust of the most timid creatures.

Near the gates of his estate groups of anxious country folk gathered daily during his illness to receive news of his progress or to pray for him.

Viscount Grey married Lady Glenconner in Windsor, Wiltshire, on June 5, 1922. His wife died suddenly in London November 19, 1923.

Was Liberal Leader
As the Liberal leader in the House of Lords he favored the intervention of the League of Nations in the settlement of international questions. He frequently voiced his condense in the League and early in 1923 he

AGREEMENT NEARS ON CODE FOR COAL

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson announced today that as a result of the conference with President Roosevelt last night, bituminous coal operators and the United Mine Workers have "cleared up their points of disagreement" on phrasing of labor clauses in the contract being framed for the industry.

In a prepared statement, the NRA executive went on to say that the hitherto contending parties are proceeding "to negotiations of details with what, I am informed, are excellent prospects of success."

The principal point which had been before the operators and miners is phrasing of a clause by which, despite the claims of preponderant organization of the bituminous coal fields by the United Mine Workers, opportunity of employment would be left open to non-members of this union.

Unions Claim
Such a clause was considered necessary because the industrial control law guarantees a free right of workers to organize is construed by the administration as

FEAR THAT CIVIL WAR WILL FOLLOW IN CUBA

Thirty U. S. Warships Now On Way to Cuba

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—An expeditionary force, they were prepared for immediate movement. The heavy cruiser Indianapolis, bearing Secretary Swanson, is proceeding down the Atlantic coast.

Admiral Standley ordered the destroyers Claxton, Taylor, Cole and Bernadou to proceed at once to New York to disembark the naval reservists on board. The destroyer Hamilton was ordered to the Washington Navy Yard for the same purpose, the Fairfax to Bridgeport and later to the Philadelphia Navy Yard, the Ellis to White Stone, Long Island, and the Dupont to the Boston navy yard.

The Coast Guard destroyers dispatched were the Badger, the Herndon, the Hunt, the Welborn C. Wood, the Wainwright, the Wilkes, the Semmes and Able P. Upshur.

These destroyers are of the same dimensions as Navy destroyers, and each carries four 4-inch guns, and has a maximum speed of around 34 knots. The displacement of each is over 1,000 tons, and they are about 315 feet in length.

O'CONNOR DEFENDS BANK INSURANCE

Federal Comptroller Says Smaller Institutions Will Be Included in Plan.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A pledge from President Roosevelt that the deposit insurance provision of the banking law would be fairly and justly administered was given the American Bankers Association today by J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency.

Vigorously, he denied what he termed "vicious, unwarranted, and untruthful propaganda" to the effect that the small banks and the independent banker were to be eliminated, and said:

"The present administration has demonstrated its policy of protection for the little fellow whether individual or corporate. At a conference with the President on Tuesday afternoon, he authorized me to say to you and through you to the country that the object of the insurance provision of the new Bank Act was to insure as many non-member banks as possible. He discussed the details of the act with me, and his knowledge of its provisions. He discussed real values, appraised values and liquidating values with a fine discrimination. He said 'justice must be avoided.' In that sentence, the Chief Executive summarized, all his comment and directions."

JOHNSON COMPANY IS UNDER ATTACK

Union Leader Claims NRA Head's Firm Has Broken the Rules.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Eric Ross, labor union official, charges violation of the NRA at the Lea Fabrics Inc. factory, of which Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, is president, in telegrams sent today to President Roosevelt, Gen. Johnson, Secretary of Labor Perkins and the Labor Board of the NRA.

Ross, who is secretary and treasurer of the International Carpet Workers Union, with offices here, said the Lea firm has cut the working week of its employees from forty-eight to forty hours without increasing their hourly wage which is forty cents. This, he said, reduces weekly wages from $19.20 to $18.00.

He also charges that Herbert Smalley, an employe, was discharged from the Lea factory for attempting to organize a union. Ross said that Smalley had been with the firm four years and that no satisfactory reason for his discharge had been given.

Added Employes
While the Lea firm had added additional employes, Ross said, it is now operating on a 24-hour schedule, seven days a week. In a statement yesterday Ross declared he felt that the Lea firm has failed to live up to the spirit and the letter of the NRA.

Lea Fabrics Inc., is a subscriber to the National woolen and worsted carpets code which was filed yesterday.

Ellery K. Files, vice-president and general manager of Lea Fabrics Inc., finds no basis for the charges made by Ross, he said.

The normal working week at the Lea plant, he said, is forty hours while last year it was only thirty hours a week. Smalley, he declared, had been discharged for incompetence.

Mr. Files said Ross is affiliated with the Associated Industrial Workers of America in Camden which the plant official described as "a radical organization."

BE WISE! ADVERTISE.

Intervention by United States Expected by One Faction While Radical Rulers Believe Their Program Will Be Successful Without Outside Interference.

Havana, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Soldiers set up machine guns in uptown parks this afternoon as Havana was stirred by many confusing rumors, including an insistent report that the United States would ask the two-day-old radical government to surrender power.

Havana, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Turbulent Cuba stood at the crossroads today, with some political factions convinced that civil war would be necessary to solve her governmental problem, while others looked for intervention by the United States.

The radical administration which has seized power continued on the surface to be optimistic that Tuesday's coup d'etat would be successful.

Members of the provisional government declared that order would be maintained and that there would be no intervention by America. But all sections of the more conservative political groups considered intervention inevitable unless there was an abrupt change in the tense situation.

Among these latter factions were members of the A. B. C secret society, the followers of former President Mario G. Menocal, and a considerable part of another important revolutionary body, the O. C. R. among whom fears of a counter revolution were expressed.

In the face of this acute crisis the administration—a five man junta set up after soldiers, sailors and national police ousted commissioned officers and obtained the resignation of President de Cespedes' month old provisional government—courageously tackled head-on its most dangerous problem.

It secretly resolved to disarm all civilians and began to try to restore to their former positions officers ousted Monday night and Tuesday morning.

Impartial observers believed that neither course would be crowned with success.

Military units at Camp Columbia, origin of the movement for a "purely revolutionary government," at San Ambrosio barracks, and at Camaguey were reported divided on the course of events.

It was considered significant that Sergeant Francisco Saldaña, a leader of the anti-Cespedes revolt, and others of the executive committee now in power refused to give out the total number of officers subject to reinstatement nor any of their names.

Credence to reports was lent by the refusal of many officers to re-assume their commands, preferring to await developments.

The officers' reluctance was explained by the belief that none of them is willing to compromise his position by accepting the new movement.

In the presence of an Associated Press representative Sergeant Batista received several of the younger officers, privates, corporals, and sergeants. They saluted him solemnly as chief of the army. Their demeanor was not at all enthusiastic.

For an unexplained reason a strong guard was placed on all four sides of the presidential palace at 3 a. m.

Many Rumors
Rumors circulated freely that all revolutionary factions—opponents of the Gerardo Machado regime, which toppled Aug. 12 and gave way to the short-lived de Cespedes regime—were in a state of intense agitation.

Scores of automobiles went to and from the residences of Menocal and Colonel Carlos Mendita, prominent opposition leaders, and B. C. headquarters constantly throughout the night.

Army headquarters began monitoring telephone calls to the interior. The only other communication system in use at night is the government telegraph.

Of the 150 members of the American colony who had taken refuge in the National hotel, designated American territory, all but 40 returned to their homes last

DISPOSE OF TOWN UTILITIES BONDS

Hartford Firms Bid for $650,000—Get Ready Response to Offering.

The $650,000 bond issue authorized by the town as part payment for the purchase of the Cheney utilities was taken late yesterday afternoon by Eatabrook & Company and Putnam & Company, both of Hartford on a joint bid of 101.75, representing a premium to the town of $17,900 per each $100 bond or a total of $1,580 on the entire issue of 40 year serial bonds.

The bids were opened at 3 o'clock and the award certified by the Board of Selectmen and the Town Treasurer, and at once action was started by the successful bidder to dispose of the issues of bonds on the open market. It was reported later in the afternoon that several of the issues had been disposed of and with good prospect of placing the entire issue on the open market within a short time.

The town will receive from the sale of the bonds in cash for the $650,000 issue of bonds the sum of $661,880. The issue will bear interest at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent. The bonds are expected to be received for the qualifying signatures of the Selectmen either the latter part of this week or early next week.

Temporary Arrangement. Cheney Brothers have continued to manage the two companies since September 1, the date on which the sale of the companies became effective, as per an agreement reached between the town and the silk firm.

Alterations are being made in the Gorman building on Oak street. The store that has been occupied by the Oak street Tavern has been found too small. Part of the store that has been occupied by Greenberg's Cleaners and Dyers is being taken over by the owners of the tavern and, giving an extra space to the patrons of the tavern and making the Greenberg store smaller. The changes that are being made will leave the same supports to the upper part of the building, but the new additional space is arranged to appear in arch work. The plastering is in charge of Domenick Enrico, who expects to have the work done by the end of this week.

WOULD CANONIZE AMERICAN SISTER

High Catholic Dignitaries Are Hearing Testimony in Chicago Today.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Testimony to the virtues and miracles attributed to the late Mother Frances Xavier Cabrini, founder of the Missionary Sister of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, who died in 1917, is being heard by a tribunal of high dignitaries of the Catholic church, presided over by Cardinal Mundelein. The witnesses were brought forward by those who would have her canonized by the church.

The decision rests with the Congregation of Sacred Rites in Rome, and finally with the Pope. However, all of the important testimony on the case is being taken at the local hearing which is expected to continue throughout the month.

Mother Cabrini was a native of Italy but became a naturalized American citizen.

The miracles attributed to her have occurred since her death and have had to do largely with cures of the afflicted. Two of the witnesses are Sister Delina Graciosi of Seattle, and Peter Smith, 12, of New York.

After completing their work here some of the members of the tribunal will go to West Park, N. Y., to examine the body of Mother Cabrini and examine it for any unusual signs of preservation.

As the hearing proceeds behind locked doors in a room of Columbus hospital, founded by the nun, of the most important and interesting participants are the "devotees" whose duty it is to point out possible objections as the testimony is given.

One of the "advocates" is the Very Rev. Canon J. Casey of Chicago, and the other is the Rt. Rev. Mgr. John Della Cioppa, who was sent from Rome for the hearing.

BUYERS OUTNUMBER SELLERS IN MARKET

Farmers Prefer to Sell Direct Than Under Auction Method Now.

There are more buyers at the Fruit and Vegetable Producers' Market, Inc., of Manchester on Charter Oak street than there are producers, but the sales are not large. The farmers are now ready to bring in peaches, but have decided that they would rather sell at private sales than through the auction system. Yesterday there were buyers from Philadelphia, New York, Springfield, Bridgeport and New Haven ready to do business, but the farmers were not willing to sell at the prices that were being offered and many were disappointed.

There are two buyers from Philadelphia against one during the strawberry season. The number of calls and letters that have been received by R. M. Reid asking for opening dates of the market seems to indicate that there would be many buyers in this market if they had fruit for sale. Peaches are in demand. The members of the association are now allowing the buyers to go to their farms and buy there instead of bringing their fruit to the market, which is also one reason why so few are at the market to sell goods.

An attempt has been made to start selling by auction, but offers were being turned down by the farmers, expecting to get better prices at private sales on the lot. They are not being charged for bringing a truck onto the grounds unless they sell at auction. The way things look now there is not likely to be much offered by auction until there are more peaches ready to sell.

MRS. READ WILL TELL OF BROKEN ROMANCE

Broker's Wife Is Suing Claire Windsor, Film Star, for $100,000 Heart Balm.

Los Angeles, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The closing chapter of her story of how she lost the love of her handsome husband will be told today by Mrs. Alfred C. Read, Jr., in her $100,000 allegation of affections suit against Claire Windsor, film actress.

The blonde screen player's attorneys announced they will move for a non-suit when Mrs. Read has finished her testimony and her attorneys rest their case.

Mrs. Read so far has related how her romance with the broker commenced during their college days and how they were happy until the broker met Miss Windsor. The couple now is divorced.

Miss Windsor had testified Read had her heart on a transcontinental train trip by declaring himself a single man.

In December, 1931, Mrs. Read said she left her husband after a quarrel about Miss Windsor.

"He kept saying everything about Claire was so much grander than the things about me," Mrs. Read said. "I went to my parents' home not later, when he begged me for no more chance, I returned to him and we were happy until March 13, when we separated again."

Miss Windsor yesterday told of her romance with Read faded after she learned he was interested in other Hollywood personalities, she mentioned no names.

ROCKVILLE

NEW JUDGE HEARS FIRST CASE IN CITY COURT

Civil Accident Over Automobile Accident Is Associate Judge Larkin's Initiation.

Associate Judge Thomas I. Larkin of the Rockville City Court tried his first case yesterday morning, being the civil action of Town Attorney Benjamin J. Ackerman of Rockville against Lutz & Wells, local electricians, growing out of an automobile accident at the so-called "Goat Farm" on July 1.

The greater part of the morning was taken in the trial. The damages sought were limited to $300 by agreement of the attorneys.

The case was heard by the law firm of Schatz & Schatz, appearing for Attorney Ackerman while Attorney Cyril Coleman of Day, Berry & Howard appeared as defending attorney.

It was shown in the testimony that Attorney Ackerman was turning from Hartford with James Ward in a new automobile when he was hit by the truck of Lutz & Wells, driven by Alfred O. Dryer, about 11:30 o'clock in the morning. The Ackerman car was pushed across the road into a fence, partly wrecking it.

James Ward, restaurant owner, who was riding with Attorney Ackerman and who was injured, described the accident as follows: Captain Richard E. Shea of the Rockville police presented a map showing brake marks of the Ackerman car for 33 feet on the south side of the point of contact.

Attorney Coleman presented Alfred O. Dryer, aged 24, driver of the truck. The driver said he saw the Ackerman car fully 100 feet away and "stepped on the gas" so as not to stop at the intersection.

Learn P. Moore, radio technician for Lutz & Wells, also told of what he saw while riding in the Lutz & Wells truck.

Louis J. Smith of Talcottville, who lives at the point of the intersection, was sitting on his porch when the accident happened. He testified that he saw the Ackerman car 500 feet up the Hartford road and the Lutz & Wells truck about 200 feet up Worcester road.

Wills testified that the brakes on the truck were in good condition. The defense claimed the right of way under Section No. 1639 of the General Statutes as arriving at the intersection first.

Judge Larkin reserved his decision.

Body Taken to Stafford. The body of Eoline Pero, aged 40 years, who died at the Rockville City hospital on Tuesday afternoon shortly after a fall from his motorcycle, was taken to his home in Stafford yesterday afternoon from the funeral home of F. H. Burke on Park street. Pero died of a broken neck after he fell from his motorcycle when it crashed with an automobile owned and driven by Eugene Plumstead of Wilmington, Del.

County Coroner John H. Yeomans of Andover held an inquest into the death of Pero but failed to hold Plumstead after hearing the testimony of the several witnesses to the accident.

Hospital Report. The report of Miss Annie Hathaway Smith, superintendent of the Rockville City hospital, for August, shows an active month at the institution. Close to 75 cases were treated, of which over 56 were admitted during August.

LAMSON DESCRIBES FINDING OF BODY

Murder Suspect Says He Tried to Lift Wife from Tub But Could Not.

San Jose, Cal., (Sept. 7.—(AP)—Still exposed to the fire of questions, David A. Lamson was under call to continue his testimony today in his trial on charges of murdering his attractive wife, Allene, with a length of iron-pipe.

Overcome only by emotion on the stand yesterday as he told of finding the nude body of his wife in the blood spattered bathroom of their Stanford University campus home last May 30, Lamson regained and held his composure while state attorneys lashed away at his professions of innocence.

Defense attorneys had sought to lay the ground-work for a possible contention Mrs. Lamson's death was the result of an accidental fall.

Defense Attorney E. M. Rex and Lindsay during cross examination yesterday asked a legal argument over the questioning of Lamson about an iron pipe which officers had taken from a bonfire Lamson had been attending the day of the tragedy.

Lamson testified he had not seen the short length of pipe, which the state alleged was used as the death weapon, in the bonfire, but acknowledged his familiarity with a longer piece of pipe from which the prosecution contends the shorter one was cut.

The five women and five men jurors examined the pipe to see if the ends matched.

Clothing Exhibited. The clothes that Lamson wore the night before the tragedy were brought out by the prosecutor. Lamson had testified he had hung them in the bath room several hours before the tragedy. Lindsay pointed to a blood spot on them and asked Lamson to explain its presence. The defendant said he could not tell how the spot got there. Here he told a detailed story of finding his wife's unclothed body in the blood-spattered bathroom. At this point he wept, but soon recovered his composure.

Lindsay asked Lamson what he did when he went into the bath room and saw his wife's body. "I lifted up Allene, under the arms," the witness answered.

"The witness answered. "My impressions at that time were a little hazy. I remember she slipped and went entirely into the tub."

"What did you do?" "I tried to lift her and couldn't." "How much do you weigh?" "About 180 pounds."

"How much did Allene weigh?" "About 115 pounds."

An apparent attempt by the defense to set forth the accident theory was made when it drew testimony from Mrs. Olive Lewis, Hollywood assistant national treasurer of the Delta Delta Delta Sorority, that her father, a school principal, had fallen in Los Angeles ten years ago and received four skull fractures. There were four fractures in Mrs. Lamson's skull and previous witness.

New Haven, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Dr. George P. Clinton, botanist for the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, today said there is no need for alarm that the Dutch Elm disease will spread to Connecticut from New York and New Jersey.

"So far," the botanist said, "the Dutch Elm disease has not been found in Connecticut and there is perhaps no need for great alarm even should it be found. However, it is well to be on the lookout for it here."

He said that three members of the station staff recently visited New Jersey to study the tree in question to learn methods for its control and eradication should it be found within the state.

He also said that "one other fungus has been found in the twigs of elms" in Connecticut, but that it does not cause serious damage. He said that the presence of this fungus makes it impossible to identify the Dutch Elm disease without special tests.

Dr. Clinton was in New York today attending conference of botanists at the New York botanical gardens in the Bronx where a study of the disease is being made.

DUTCH ELM DISEASE NOT FOUND IN STATE

New Haven, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Dr. George P. Clinton, botanist for the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, today said there is no need for alarm that the Dutch Elm disease will spread to Connecticut from New York and New Jersey.

MAY TAX MILK

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A processing tax on milk is likely to be a part of the National relief plan for the industry now being worked out by the farm adjustment administration. The milk program has been worked over for weeks by Dr. Clyde L. King, head of the administration's dairy section and other experts. The conclusion virtually has been reached that a tax is the only way to assure production control.

Suggestions that the farmer be paid from funds raised by the levy to remove old cows and poor producers from his herd are receiving serious consideration.

REMOVE GERMAN ENVOYS

Berlin, Sept. 7.—(AP)—It was officially announced today that German Consul Generals Otto Kiep at New York and Hugo Ferdinand Simon at Chicago have been given indefinite leave. Johannes Borchers, German consul at Cleveland, O., will replace Dr. Kiep for the time being. Baron Heinrich Ruedt von Gollenberg-Boedigheln, consul general at Shanghai, has been appointed minister to Mexico. Herbert von Dirksen, ambassador to Moscow, will go to Tokyo.

Von Dirksen will be replaced by Rudolf Nadolny from Ankara, the Turkish capital.

BLOOD STAINED SHIRT NOT A MURDER CLUE

Stamford Police Turn Over Two Suspects to New York Police.

Stamford, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Satisfied that a blood-stained shirt found in an automobile held no significance, police reported today they had turned Clarence Parsons, 35, of Philadelphia, and Walter Tillman, 35, New York, over to officials of Tappan, N. Y.

Police said the men were wanted in Tappan in connection with the theft of the car in which the shirt was found.

Parsons and Tillman, a negro, were questioned about the shirt after the car they were riding in was halted yesterday. The blood, police said, apparently came from a mauling with which one of the men was afflicted.

Tillman said he was a chance passenger having been picked up in New York by Parsons. The latter, police said, corroborated his story and also admitted the automobile was not his property.

EMBROIDERY WORKERS THREATEN TO STRIKE

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A strike of 15,000 embroidery workers was called for 10 a. m. today by the Bonnaz Embroidery Workers Union but local NRA officials expressed hope of a speedy settlement.

The strike, observers said, threatened to tie up much of the dress industry employing more than 100,000 people in New York and vicinity.

The industry is now operating under a blanket code calling for a 40-hour week. The demands of the union include a 30-hour week.

Leon Hattab, manager of the Embroidery Workers Union, said a special attempt will be made to organize the hand embroiderers and crocheter beadlers, who, the union maintains, are mostly home workers and earn sometimes as little as 10 cents an hour.

Grover A. Whalen, local NRA chief, also was trying to avert threatened strikes of 10,000 workers in the children's wear industry and of 4,000 motion picture machine operators.

CARDINAL THREATENED

Philadelphia, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A threat to bomb the home of Cardinal Dougherty unless he produces $50,000 was disclosed today by Lower Merion township police. It was contained in a letter received by the prelate yesterday.

Police placed a guard around the cardinal's residence.

Authorities expressed the opinion that the letter, which was unsigned, was the work of a crank.

LINDY'S TOUR SWEDEN

Stockholm, Sweden, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh continued their automobile tour of southern Sweden today after spending the night in a country hotel near Jonkoping.

The route they are following indicates that they may visit the old country estate at Smedstorp, where Lindbergh's grandfather once lived. It was announced in Stockholm that the American flier may participate Sunday as an honorary patron in ceremonies in connection with the annual Children's Day charity drive.

GUARD EINSTEIN AFTER THREAT

Report Reaches Belgium That Nazi Secret Society Has Set Price on His Head

Brussels, Belgium, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Great anxiety has prevailed at Villa la Savoyarde Professor Albert Einstein's Blankeberg residence, since a report was received saying a secret Nazi organization set a price of about $45 on the famous physicist's head.

Mrs. Einstein has been particularly alarmed, as her husband continues his habit of taking early morning walks and occasional strolls across the downs.

Police are keeping a watch in the neighborhood of the villa, and body guards precede and follow the professor on the walks.

All Germans spending holidays in the vicinity are carefully investigated.

Professor Einstein said he plans eventually to leave Belgium and live either in England or the United States.

NATIVE MUSHROOMS ARE PLENTIFUL NOW

Heavy Rains and Humid Weather Have Induced Rapid Growth of Edible Fungus.

Local lovers of native mushrooms report that there are quantities of the edible plants in many places around the town. The recent rains and warm weather has been suitable for their growth. At the same time there are quantities of poisonous toadstools growing on lawns, damp spots and in other areas where mushrooms usually grow, and care should be taken by those unfamiliar with the characteristics of the edible varieties, not to pick those concerning which there is a question of doubt.

living on the Connecticut farms is higher than in other states.

All of which would not be highly encouraging to the consumer who has to pay more for milk than is paid anywhere else, if it were not for one thing. That thing is the assurance given to the Herald by the commissioners that they are by no means through their investigations yet. They propose to find out exactly what it costs to produce milk in this state under conditions of reasonable efficiency and what it costs to distribute it—facts which no one, so far, has been able to determine except approximately.

Then, if it is found that the spread is greater than is warranted, the mandatory prices will be changed—possibly that to the consumer lowered and that to the producer raised.

Granting that this is no easy job, it is something that, if done thoroughly, would ease the minds of thousands of persons who cannot understand why it is necessary for families to pay the highest milk prices in America while the farmers who produce the milk continue to insist that they are not getting a living return for their labor, to say nothing of their investments.

So long as the Milk Control Board admits that its schedule of prices is in some measure a stab in the dark and promises to work energetically in the direction of improvement in the interest of consumer and producer, there is ground for encouragement. We must confess to having entertained some suspicion that the only interest to get much consideration was that of the big dealers.

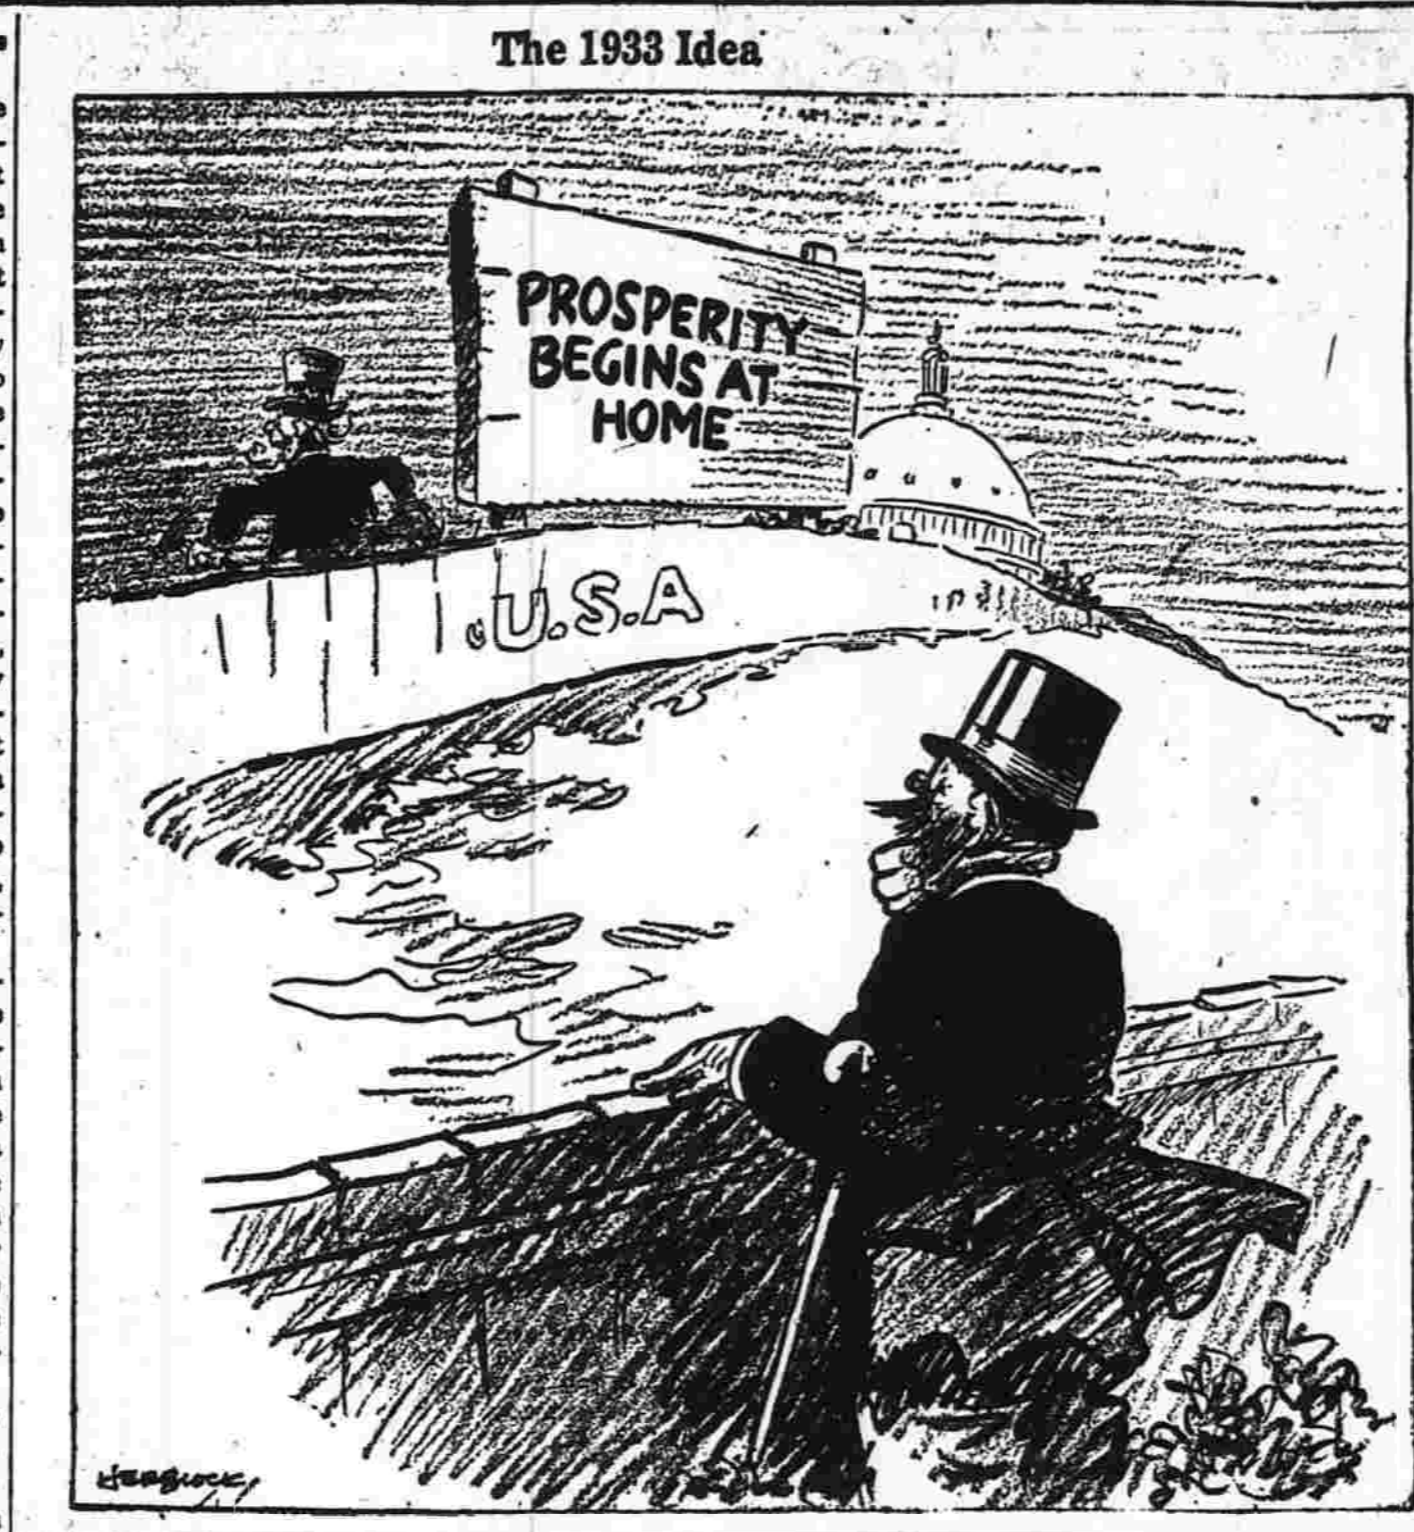

President, the latter through his advisory and veto authority.

The Supreme Court is a creature of Congress. Congress has the unquestioned power to rebuild that tribunal at any time, as it has done in the past. In co-operation with the executive, Congress could, if it were so disposed, "pack" the Supreme Court with as many friendly justices as might be necessary to insure a favorable majority in the court for any measure that Congress might be interested to formulate. Or, as an alternative in case of an attempt by the court to nullify any great national policy, Congress and the executive could merely ignore the opinion of the court, for that body has absolutely no way of translating its opinions into orders and enforcing them. This fact alone should make it clear enough that the whole function of the Supreme Court is, and was intended to be by the Congress that created it, merely judicial and not governmental.

If there were any real justification for this queer notion that the final governing power in this country is the Supreme Court, why on earth should the Constitution have provided for a Congress and a President at all? If the ultimate function of government had been intended to be reposed in five or eight or twenty-eight justices of the Supreme Court, what was to have prevented the original Constitutional Convention from saying so?

Several times the United States Supreme Court has intruded injudiciously into the business of government, but it has always been very careful that it did not do so in such a way as to provoke a challenge on the part of the people or of Congress and the President to put its own opinion into effect.

The continuation of the authority of the Supreme Court is utterly dependent upon its toleration by the country and by the superior power of Congress. Nobody knows that any better than the first-class lawyers who make up its personnel. It is therefore of the greatest doubt that the Supreme Court will make any attempt to stem the tide of change which has set in—and practically certain that if it should make such an attempt it would merely be disregarded.

Ickes Wants Action in Starting Public Works Program—Question Raised as to How N.E.A. Will Detect Monopolies. Winning a Presidential Election in Latin America. The Real Job of Johnson's Guard.

By RODNEY DUTCHEE
Manchester Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington, Sept. 7.—Secretary of the Interior Ickes, who doubles as public works administrator, is chafing at criticism of the slow get-away on his $3,300,000,000 program.

He got after other cabinet members and their assistants at the public works board's last executive session, demanding that they report within two days their progress in translating money grants into actual operations and jobs.

He was talking to the heads of the War, Post Office, Treasury, Commerce and Labor Departments. About $1,200,000,000 had been allocated, but little actually expended and relatively few persons put to work.

Among the reasons is the inadequacy of the P. W. A. personnel.

Deputy Administrator Henry M. Waite, General Counsel Henry T. Hunt and Director of Housing Robert Kohn, with one or two other specialists, are high grade. Otherwise the outfit looks weak, with a notable lack of outstanding engineers and other experts.

Some P. W. A. employees are political appointees. Some were picked by Waite and a few by Ickes. Recent assignment to P. W. A. of Emil Hurja, Jim Farley's patronage, doesn't raise anybody's hopes.

Protecting the Communists

The latest wise crack on Recovery Row is that the four policemen stationed outside the administrator's office when Communists were reported on the way were simply there to protect the Communists from Johnson.

How can the NRA discern a monopoly on the basis of an industry's mere paper evidence and so uphold the Borah amendment to the recovery act forbidding codes which permit monopolistic practices?

Oswald F. Schuetz, the famous "trust-buster" who is now concentrating on Andy Mellon's "aluminum trust," says it can't. He proposes that when an industry has been investigated by the Justice Department or Federal Trade Commission its code be sent to that body for scrutiny.

Attorney General Cummings has just finished an investigation of the Aluminum Company of America. Schuetz says the Mellon concern makes all the crude aluminum and has maintained a price of 23.2 cents a pound through the depression; that its control enables it to sell the semi-finished metal at 26 cents while independents, whom Schuetz represents, must sell at 33.

This story may be apocryphal, but it's told of a well known gent who has received a fine advisory job from the government of a small republic. He enjoyed the friendship and the highballs of the country's official here. Last winter he told him the president was having re-election difficulties on the issue of which candidate would make the biggest hit with Washington.

He went to Albany and obtained a large photograph of Roosevelt, a president-elect, autographed by him.

Lunch: A large raw salad of bland leafy vegetables, excluding onions, garlic, peppers or other pungent foods; also one or more of the following cooked, non-starchy vegetables: celery, spinach, small string beans, asparagus, summer squash, cucumber, egg plant, beet tops, turnip tops, small beets, small carrots, small parsnips, small turnips, pumpkin, lettuce, okra or zucchini.

Dinner: The choice of cooked and raw non-starchy vegetables as at lunch; and in addition one-quarter pound of lean beef, chicken, turkey, fresh fish except salmon, rabbit or mutton; no dessert.

These rules are very easily followed and you may expect a complete and permanent cure in every case where there is no mechanical irritation in the nasal passages.

(Symptoms of Adhesions)

Question: L. S. Writter: "Have been reading your column from time to time and would like to know the symptoms of adhesions are. Was operated on for ruptured appendix about a year ago, and since then I have had a couple of weeks ago. Have had continual headache as if from stomach, unusually constipated, and pains in back that lead up to back of head."

Answer: Adhesions binding the intestines together are the common cause of constipation. The only way you can be sure whether or not you have adhesions is to have an x-ray examination made. Adhesions may produce symptoms in almost any part of the body if they are of sufficient strength to interfere with the functional activity of the stomach, intestines, or other abdominal organs.

Question: Robert asks: "What causes puffiness under the eyes? I am only 19 years old and get an average of 9-12 hours sleep every night, so I do not think lack of sleep could be the cause. The upper part of my eyelids also appears to bag. Could you suggest a cure? I also dream a lot. Can anything be done about it?"

Answer: First, go to a competent ophthalmist and have your eyes examined. You are certainly getting enough sleep, but sometimes an amount of sleep will properly rest eyes which are continually subjected to strain. The commonest cause of excessive dreaming is from digestive disturbances, due to using the wrong foods or combinations of food at the evening meal.

even when the disorder existed for years by carefully following my instructions. This is one of the disorders in which the patient may expect a great deal of improvement if he will follow the directions exactly, though even slight changes in the dieting may prevent the desired results.

The change back to normal is sometimes slow and cannot be hastened by any local treatment except, perhaps, by a daily application of the cold ultra violet ray onto the membranes of the nose and throat. This treatment will sometimes assist in bringing about a healthier condition by the action of chemical effect of this ray.

The diet after the initial water fast should be entirely free for a considerable time from all starch and sugar foods, and especial care must be used in avoiding any food made from white flour or white sugar. In most cases it is well to discontinue milk and cream for a time. Bananas, cocoa and chocolate should not be used. A little butter may be eaten with the vegetables but not over two or three ounces daily. Keep up the skin elimination and try to sweat each day through exercising, following the exercises with a cold shower bath. The perspiration brought on by exercising is much more beneficial than that produced by artificial means.

A sample diet which proves satisfactory in the majority of cases after a fast is as follows:

Breakfast: The white, but not the yolks, of one or two eggs, cooked in any manner except frying; a large dish of cooked, non-starchy vegetables; not over three or four prunes or their equivalent in other sweets, unspiced fruits.

Lunch: A large raw salad of bland leafy vegetables, excluding onions, garlic, peppers or other pungent foods; also one or more of the following cooked, non-starchy vegetables: celery, spinach, small string beans, asparagus, summer squash, cucumber, egg plant, beet tops, turnip tops, small beets, small carrots, small parsnips, small turnips, pumpkin, lettuce, okra or zucchini.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

New York.—Meanderings: Broadway may be nicknamed Beer Alley, but one of the main streets in snooty Southampton, Long Island, is officially identified as Gin Lane.

The estate of the late Joseph Urban, theatrical designer and architect amounted to only about $20,000, though the productions for which he did the scenery grossed many millions. Urban used to confide that his work, particularly a little kind of art—the scenery got carted away to junk heaps, and the costly clubs he designed went to smithereens under the axes of Federal raiders.

Which, a somebody reminiscent of the grand old ad 'b'ing done by W. C. Fields, the comedian, some years ago when a big section of scenery—part of a stone house, in fact—started to fall on him during his act. The audience gasped and Fields leaped against it just in time, finally pushing it safely into place. He turned back to the footlights and shook his head sadly: "They certainly don't put up these buildings like they used to," he said.

Mary Pickford On Broadway

At the smart Riviera the other night a party of collegians arrived with an enormous package that turned out to be their own ginger ale. . . . Waiter Damrosch invites his symphony orchestra to a luncheon every year. And Mrs. Damrosch and her four daughters don waitresses' garb and serve the meal.

There are two socialities in the production end of the L'ovies. Dudley Murphy directed P. U. Robeson in the "Emperor Jones," and Jock Whitney is to produce some pictures of Technicolor. . . . Mary Pickford's air dash here, it develops, was for the purpose of selling a couple of stories she has written, and to talk over plans to appear on the Broadway stage during the autumn. . . . Will Rogers will help make two pictures when he returns to Hollywood. One will be a starring vehicle, but in the other he'll be heard but not seen. The script of the latter called for so voice supposed to be that of Will Rogers singing a snatch of song offstage. And after a frantic search the director decided that only Rogers could make a noise like Will Rogers singing.

A Code for Burlesque

Only a few weeks ago there was great to-do and official frowning over the strip acts in the burlesque theaters. And the producers, warning of impending ruin, actually ordered the burlesques to do their dancing only in the undressing rooms. . . . But the torso-tossers are back at their old tricks, now scattering garments all over the stage with verve, but not too much abandon. And business is ever so much better.

Few outsiders know that girls of lowly burlesque are for the most part entirely serious about their job and always acting wistfully for notice from the big musical comedy producers. Between shows and rehearsals they gather in the musty, dusty wings and practice kicks and bends as faithfully as any Vanitie ballerina. L. a. c. i. s. g. Vanitie direction, though—and usually being just a little under the music comedy beauty standard—they have a pathetically small chance ever to reach Broadway. A few, however, have been chosen for the big time, so the others, stage-struck and strangely naive about it all, keep on trying.

There's Limit to Everything

Their private lives of them will tell you are less exciting than the average stenographer because they work much incredibly long hours that they have neither the time nor energy to go on parties. And as for modesty, here's an incident: For a publicity stunt a press agent managed to have an in re chorus invited to a nudist camp for a day. And the girls not only refused to go, but threatened to strike if anything more was said about it in the papers. "What," asked a little blonde who thinks nothing of posing semipude on the stage, "do you suppose my friends would think if I did a thing like that?"

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Too often parents have the idea that children may be kept happy by excitement.

"Excitement" is just what it says—exciting or stimulating the senses. The senses are sight, taste, hearing, touch or smell, by the way, are not the only channels by which we get pleasure—far from it.

Our emotional fibres are as complicated as the electrical system of a robot. They have a thousand kinds of "feelings" and respond to ten thousand excitements.

Effect of Stimulation

To keep ourselves constantly stimulated gives pleasure, of course—we like to taste candy, for instance, rather than bread. Or we would rather hear music than the soft splash of a waterfall. To dance is more exciting to our nerves of rhythm than to walk down the street to buy groceries.

We could go on, but make your own comparisons.

With children we are really making a mistake if we think we have to fill their nerves constantly just to keep them happy. Sensation we do provide, certainly, for more stimulus, excitement and contentment contain, few of the same letters.

A child on a farm can be as contented and really happy as the child in a city who gets a hundred sensations a day by just turning his head. He doesn't even have to keep his ears or eyes open. A thousand noises are all about him, a thousand sights to see.

The child in a modest home can be, and often is, more sincerely content than the rich child whose mistaken parents buy him toys and new toys, clothes, candy, rides, and spending money.

Contentment vs. Excitement

There is a very clear reason for it. Nerves do not long respond to the same stimulus, but nerves once started do demand new and more stimuli. Excitement wears off, but the hunger for it lasts. In time even that wears away and we find hundreds of young folk that deal with boredom. The symptoms of this are broken tempers, pouting faces, and a decided tendency toward disobedience. Disobedience is often just one more way to find a thrill, to the fed-up child.

There is another point to be made. Young nerves cannot stand much excitement as those of the matured body, just as the fur of a young animal won't stand

Stuart Chase Describes His Vision Of the Future

By BRUCE CATTON

Mr. Stuart Chase, having been high up on the mountain top seeing a great vision, comes down to tell us about it in "The Promise of Power," one of the John Day Co.'s 25-cent pamphlets; and in the telling there is a good deal of genuine excitement.

So far, says Mr. Chase, we have hardly scratched the surface in our use of electric power. We began by using it to light our lamps and we wound up by making it run street cars and t. u. r. n. factory wheels; but eventually it will remake our whole society, free the laborer of drudgery, emancipate the farmer, bulk up our small towns, reduce the swollen size of our great cities, redesign our homes, revolutionize our transportation system and put poverty on the rap heap.

In fact, Mr. Chase asserts, "if it is not wrecked by the brute claims of an obsolete financial system, it promises a world replete with more freedom and happiness than mankind has ever known."

Mr. Chase's pamphlet does not explain just how all of this is to be worked out, in a world bereft of human greed, stupidity and prejudice; but that it will be worked out somehow in the near future he is quite positive.

"Electricity," he declares, "can give us universally high standards of living, new and amusing kinds of jobs, leisure, freedom, and to drudgery, congestion, noise, smoke and filth."

There's a job in the deck, however. Your engineer is the true revolutionary. Mr. Chase concludes with the remark:

"But the price of this bright Utopia is an economic system which is based on use and function, and not on debt and greed."

FLAILS THE BANKERS.

Members of the American Bankers Association received in accordance the warning given to them by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, at Chicago that if they didn't do their part in financing the national recovery movement the government would soon go into commercial banking on a large scale. Instead of taking the admonition to heart, however, the leading spirits in the association made speeches and read papers and reports which indicated with considerable clarity that the only thing to be expected from that group is first continued resistance to the government's efforts at rehabilitation and, secondly, propaganda aimed at the repeal of much of the new banking law created at the last session of Congress—a hopeless effort.

Mr. Jones demanded of the bankers that they take advantage of the new provisions of the law which enables the federal government to go into partnership with the banks through the purchase of preferred stock—or capital notes in cases where states forbid banks to issue preferred stock—with a view to increasing bank capital and make much larger the credit lending capacity of the institutions. Only a few banks, comparatively, have taken the steps necessary. Many merely continue to sit on their deposits while their communities are starving for commercial accommodation to enable business to expand.

The R. F. C. head "poured it on to" the bankers at one point in these words:

Be smart for once. Take the government into partnership with you and then go partners with the President in the recovery program without stint. . . . It is easy to say "no" and if that is the program we want the government to do our banking, what is to become of our high priced banking talent? The office boy can say "no" and the note taker can collect the notes if they are good. Why not use our bank talent to find ways and means of providing the necessary credit for home requirements in co-operation with NRA?

As about the only reaction to this was more of the hackneyed mumbling about "sound banking"—as if any banking could be sound that left the nation's assets mired in the quicksands of deflation—and a renewal of the talk about branch banking be a panacea.

What Mr. Jones was talking about when he intimated very clearly that the government might go into the banking business was, of course, that provision of the law which, though it has never yet been employed, authorizes the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to lend money to anybody for anything. A whole credit banking system could be set up under that law. If the banks do not abandon their present attitude of non-cooperation there would seem to be mighty little doubt that it very soon will be.

PRIVATE, NON-COMS.

The latest Cuban revolt, bringing down in a crash the Cespedes regime so joyously inaugurated less than a month ago, differs from the customary military coup of Latin America in one important particular, in that it was a move made not only by the army and navy but by the enlisted personnel thereof.

This is so unusual as to be, on the surface, astonishing. Yet, actually the wonder is that rank-and-file military insurrections are not more frequent than those led by officers.

The ordinary military coup is usually in the interest of a small group with the enlisted men standing little if any chance of benefiting. They are called on to do the killing and the being killed while having nothing of consequence to gain. Yet it is almost always the class from which the rank-and-file are derived that stands most in need of governmental change, or at least believes that it does. And in the last analysis the real source of power rests in the hands of the privates and non-coms of almost any army, big or little. It is they who hold primitive control over the lives of their own officers and of the civil rulers whose servants they are supposed to be. This is because there are so many of them and because the weapons of their trade are in their very hands.

Of course the rulers and the military officers are usually correct enough in assuming that they can handle their enlisted or conscript soldiers through superior wit. But in this newest Cuban affair there seems to have been enough of wit and self confidence among the men to offset those of their officers—and the possession of the arms settled any controversy in advance.

There are a good many governments in this world that wouldn't last any longer than Cespedes' if the military rank and file should take it into its head to do its own thinking and act according to its thoughts.

FINGER PRINTS.

Rugged individualism, personified by J. Gresham Machen, D. D., puts up its back and spits furiously at Senator Copeland's proposal that everybody be fingerprinted. Dr. Machen writes at length to the New York Times protesting against the degradation which the savage Dr. Copeland proposes to inflict on a free people.

We wish we had no worse things to contend with than the sense of degradation that would come to us through being required to smear a record card in a police station or a town clerk's office, along with everybody else. It is easy to conceive of life being just one glad sweet song in such a situation.

From our point of view there is something a little more serious the matter with the Copeland scheme than the Machen objection. Just about how many more political job holders does the senator figure it would take to make, record and keep tabs on a hundred and twenty-five million sets of fingerprints with an additional couple of million coming along every year?

Body's Food Supply is Important As Poorly Nourished Person Cannot Resist Disease.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

A suitable food supply is at the very basis of good health. When recruits were examined during the World War it was found that a substantial proportion were in ill-health due to the fact that they had not received proper nutrition during that period of life when the body grows most rapidly.

It is well established that a well-nourished body can resist disease but a poorly nourished one does not. All specialists in diseases of children agree that the child fed at the breast by a well-nourished mother is capable of withstanding conditions that would be fatal to a child fed artificially and perhaps improperly.

Quite frequently the children of the poor, who are fed by their mothers, show remarkable resistance to disease whereas children of the rich, improperly nourished, fall victims to nutritional disorders.

It is well established that tuberculosis is a disease almost invariably associated with bad nutrition. The number of cases diminishes when the food supply is sufficient and correct, and the number of cases increases when food is difficult

MILK PRICES.

Two members of the State Board of Milk Control honored the Herald with a visit yesterday in an effort to disabuse this newspaper's mind of its impression that there is, in the prices fixed by the Board, too great a spread between the price received by the farmer and the price paid by the consumer. What we gathered from the conversation was that, while the retail price of milk is two cents higher in Connecticut than it is in New York City or Boston—higher in fact than in any other state in the Union—the milk grower is not getting any more than he should; that the big distributing companies, having come under the NRA, are laboring under increased expenses; and that the standard of

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCoy

TREATMENT OF HAY FEVER

Many kinds of foolish advice and palliative treatments are given to a person who suffers from hay fever, but the cure is really very simple and depends entirely on dietetic treatment. The person who has a tendency to this disorder must first cleanse his blood stream by a short fast of several days from all foods. He must drink large quantities of water, possibly three or four gallons per day, and use at least one daily enema of a quart of warm water. The congestion in the mucous membranes can be relieved through stimulating the skin by using two sponge or shower baths daily, afterwards vigorously rubbing down the body with a rough towel until the entire skin surface is glowing. This treatment will increase the activity of the millions of pores in the skin and increase the elimination of body poisons, thus relieving the burden of the mucous membranes.

The fast on water only gives the body a chance to correct derangements of the digestive functions which usually accompany hay fever as well as other catarrhal troubles. It is surprising how quickly hay fever will disappear when this regimen, but one must be patient and persevere if the condition is chronic, as the membranes have been literally soaked in mucus for a long time and have learned to be practically eliminative organs.

I have received many letters from the readers of my newspaper articles telling of instances where they have been able to cure themselves to obtain and its quality becomes inadequate.

During the early years of life a correct diet favors the building of a constitution which in adult life will be able to resist various types of disease.

Vitamins in the diet prevent the appearance of specific disorders which occur when they are absent. The mineral salts prevent the appearance of disorders associated with their insufficiency. Thus, such conditions as scurvy, xerophthalmia, rickets and polyneuritis do not appear in the presence of sufficient amounts of vitamins A, B, C and D.

When food contains a sufficient amount of iodine and iron, of calcium and phosphorus there is satisfactory growth of bone and muscle, satisfactory action of the thyroid gland and suitable development and repair of the blood.

But even beyond the appearance of specific disorders associated with deficiencies there is a general welfare of the body which seems to be almost wholly dependent on satisfactory nutrition.

The old proverb, "Tell me what you eat and I will tell you what you are," is certainly true.

HOW FEDERAL AID MAY BE SECURED

McNeil Explains How Towns May Get Funds for Road Work.

Bridgeport, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Certificates of indebtedness, issued by municipalities of the state with state aid road funds pledged as collateral will be accepted by the Federal government as the local financing on paying projects on which 30 per cent. Federal grant will be requested under the public works section of the National Recovery Act.

The government's decision, made on the basis of an inquiry formulated by the city of Bridgeport in connection with a city-wide paving program opens the way for paying with Federal aid here and in Hartford and Norwalk. Other cities of the state are expected to make application for Federal aid on the same basis.

The Federal government's only stipulation in regard to financing city highway repairs with Federal aid is that the state highway department endorse the certificates, signifying that state aid road funds going to the cities involved under the statutes will be turned over to the government to retire the debt. Highway department officials have agreed to do this.

In 1929, when the country's automobile factories produced more than 5,000,000 passenger cars and trucks, there were employed directly and indirectly 4,700,000 persons. Last year when the low point of output in more than 15 years was reached, the employment of the industry and affiliated concerns aggregated approximately 3,900,000.

None of the automotive leaders will venture a conjecture of just what constitutes an average annual output, although most of them are quick to point out that the high point of 1929 was decidedly above the normal production volume of the industry. A few of these executives are inclined to refer to the 1928 record when talk about "normal" in the industry is heard, but they constitute the more optimistic element among the leaders of motorcar producers. Output at that time aggregated 4,600,000 units.

Needs Fewer Men That it requires fewer men to produce automobiles now than it did five years ago is conceded on all sides. Yet, the industry expects, under the terms of the industrial code, to employ as many men in the production of 4,000,000 cars and trucks, should that figure be reached next year, as it did for the same volume in 1929-30.

New Model Output Already in Under way in the industry, with the first of the 1934 types about to be announced within the next few days. The first of these new models will be from the assembling rooms of one of the higher priced producers. Several others in the medium price bracket, however, are scheduled for new model production work within the next few weeks.

Was Anticipated A falling off in output and consumer demand is being noted as compared with the figures of July and early August. The tapering off, however, has been anticipated, and while it is not particularly welcomed by the industry's executives, it is long overdue as a seasonal factor. The sustained consumer demand that held good through July and into August delayed the new model plans of virtually every producer. With the contraction that has been noted during the last fortnight or more the blueprints that have been ready in most instances for some time, have been turned over to the toolmaking department for the installation of whatever new equipment may be needed.

The fact that there has been no intimation of a suspension of operations on the part of any producer for the re-tooling operators gives additional weight to the conjecture that has prevailed for several weeks, that the changes to be made in the new models will not involve as great an outlay for new machinery as has been the rule in the past. The change in manufacturing facilities is being made in many of the factories apparently without serious interference with current production.

LABORITES RESENT DR. DOLAN'S TALK

"they were trying to make seabs appear to be patriots."

John J. Egan counseled caution in criticizing anyone until a full investigation could be made.

Be Missionaries. State Commissioner of Labor Joseph A. Tane told the delegates that they would lose the greatest opportunity to improve working conditions for those who toil if they failed to "become missionaries to the unorganized working people" and give them the leadership they needed.

He said they could gain nothing except by hard work and that carrying "union cards and attending labor meetings" was not enough.

C. J. Danaher, attorney for the federation, asserted that the relation between employers and workers called for a philosophy of co-operation rather than antagonism. He said that where it remained with individual employers, this co-operation existed, but employers forced by associations of their trades, were often forced to take actions which caused trouble with their workers.

DETECTIVES GUARD AIMEE'S HUSBAND

Minneapolis Police Chief Gets Tip That He Was to Be Kidnaped.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Portly David Hutton, singer of "torch songs" on the vaudeville stage, arrived today and reiterated there would be no reconciliation with his wife, Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, evangelist.

Concerning threats of kidnaping received shortly before he left Minneapolis last night and which prompted police to escort him to his train, Hutton said:

"I knew nothing about them until Chief of Police Lehmyer told me he had received information I was going to be abducted. That was just before I left the city. I have received threats before and am inclined to regard them lightly."

Hutton will spend two days in Chicago waiting the World Fair; then he is going to New York to resume his theatrical career. His estranged wife will get there about the time he completes his engagement.

They will probably meet, Hutton said, but it won't mean a thing.

"We're through. She is going her way and I am going mine. In Minneapolis where Mrs. Hutton is conducting revival meetings we met and talked things over sensibly for the first time since I began divorce proceedings."

"We're on friendly terms. I think she is a great woman, a sincere worker. But when a man marries he doesn't want to marry a board of elders and a congregation."

Hutton was not met by a police escort here.

BEER TAX COLLECTIONS

Hartford, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Less than $250 of the beer tax due to state for the taxing period ended on June 30 remains unpaid, it was said today at the state tax department. The amount outstanding is from six delinquents for whom warrants have been issued, two being in New London, two in Norwalk, one in New Haven and one in Danbury.

The total tax collected to date is $80,463.25. Chain stores in the state sold beer to the amount of $310,581 on which a tax of $12,422.04 was paid. The breweries of the state paid taxes to the amount of $8,331.86 on gross sales amounting to $833,185.72. The number of permits issued for the sale of beer was 3,396 and of these to date 78 have been discontinued.

DEFEATED GERMANY

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—James W. Gerard, former American ambassador to Germany, extolled Viscount Grey, of England, who died early this morning, as "probably more responsible for the defeat of Germany during the World War than any other man."

An British foreign secretary from 1905 to 1916, the late viscount delivered Germany the ultimatum that plunged Great Britain into the World War.

"He never wavered in his attitude toward Belgium's right to neutrality," said Gerard today. "And because he succeeded in bringing England into the war on behalf of the Belgians, I would say he sounded the knell of defeat for Germany."

"Personally he was very charming and retiring, with quiet, literary tastes. He was very much loved by everyone who came in contact with him."

Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state in the Wilson Cabinet, said: "The death of Viscount Grey takes from the world one of its commanding figures. He was a statesman in the highest sense of the word, one of those gifted and admirably equipped public men in which England has been so singularly rich."

"Although at the time the United States entered the war he had left the foreign office, his voice and influence were still potent, and his knowledge of European situations made his advice indispensable."

"The impression he made upon everyone was that of a responsible statesman, a man of elevated ideas, an keen consciousness of public duty."

MANY TRIBUTES London, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Tributes to the life and achievements of Viscount Grey of Fallodon began pouring in today from all quarters—his former political colleagues, statesmen, and various other persons prominent in all walks of life when news of the death of the former British foreign secretary spread.

One of the most striking came from the Marquis of Reading, who as Lord Chief Justice at the outbreak of the World War. His message read: "His memory will always be revered for his efforts to avoid a long-threatened European war and for the important part he played in reaching the vital decision in August, 1914, as well as for his consistent and successful efforts and endeavors to steer clear of entanglements with America before she entered the war."

On August 19, 1934, he yielded his post as Liberal leader of the House of Commons to a younger man. He declines said poor health was the reason, he himself volunteered no explanation.

His health had been poor, and his eyes had been a source of considerable anxiety. For a while his physicians feared he would become permanently blind. Although his sight improved in 1921 his friends felt that the condition of his eyes imposed limitations on his political activity.

The viscount denounced the great general strike which took place throughout England last May, 1926, and asserted that the aim of the strikers was the overthrow of organized democratic government.

He and other Liberal leaders were dissatisfied with the government's solution of the strike problem, and as a result they brought about the expulsion from the Liberal Party of David Lloyd George, then the Liberal leader in the House of Commons.

O'CONNOR DEFENDS BANK INSURANCE

work with the banking commissioner and that all examiners in the state clear through the examiner at the Capitol. In this way the work will be decentralized. It is my belief that whenever a piece of work can be done in a state just as well as at the National capital, it should be done in that state.

"Thirdly, that the home of the banks insured and their location be given simultaneously."

O'Connor offered the following "as a matter of opinion": "It is my firm opinion that the insurance features of the law will save millions to our people. The high pressure and not too scrupulous salesman often plants the seed of suspicion as to a bank's solvency in the prospective purchaser's mind. The life savings of men and women have been withdrawn and invested in worthless securities or enterprises because of this fear."

"When the suspicion becomes a belief, the confidential relation between the banker and the depositor is destroyed. HOW ONE WOMAN LOST 20 LBS. OF FAT

Lost Her Prominent Hips—Double Chin—Sluggishness Gained a Shapely Figure

If you are fat how would you like to lose it and at the same time gain in physical charm and acquire a clean, clear skin and eyes that sparkle with buoyant health.

Why not do what thousands of women have done to get rid of pounds of unwanted fat? Take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast and keep it up for 30 days. You can help the action of Kruschen by cutting down on pastry and fatty meats and going light on potatoes, butter and cream.

The tragic mistake was that no machinery had been set up in advance, and when the test came it was too late to set it up.

BEER TAX COLLECTIONS

Hartford, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Less than $250 of the beer tax due to state for the taxing period ended on June 30 remains unpaid, it was said today at the state tax department. The amount outstanding is from six delinquents for whom warrants have been issued, two being in New London, two in Norwalk, one in New Haven and one in Danbury.

The total tax collected to date is $80,463.25. Chain stores in the state sold beer to the amount of $310,581 on which a tax of $12,422.04 was paid. The breweries of the state paid taxes to the amount of $8,331.86 on gross sales amounting to $833,185.72. The number of permits issued for the sale of beer was 3,396 and of these to date 78 have been discontinued.

SINGER WINS POINT

Waterbury, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Fritz Scheff, famous singer, today won another step in his legal battle to save her summer home on Lake Hitchcock, near Waterbury. Judge Frank P. McEvoy of the Superior Court granted the singer a second extension of 15 days in the foreclosure action filed by the Colonial Trust Company in which the judgment is $1,591. The law day is Oct. 20. Judge McEvoy, however, said there should be no additional extension.

"I wish so clear that I think every one should come out in the open and say what they think."

He said he visited many nations on his way home and that everywhere "it seemed that the countries turned their eyes in rather than out." He was asked directly if isolation would be logical for the United States and he replied: "We certainly all know that charity begins at home."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt met her son at the pier. His sister, Mrs. Curtis Ball, also was there to greet him. All planned to go directly to Washington.

Young Roosevelt was accompanied on his European tour by two school friends, Drexel Paul of Philadelphia and Charlie Symington of New York. Both returned with him.

Giants Split Twin Bill, Regain Lead of 6 1-2 Games

WEST SIDES-BLUEFIELDS TO CLASH ON SATURDAY

Dispute Is Finally Settled and Third and Deciding Game Will Be Played; Alpines-Pirates to Settle Issue on Sunday.

The West Sides and Bluefields have finally patched up the dispute that threatened to ruin the baseball tournament for the town championship and will play the third and deciding game of their series at the West Side stadium Saturday afternoon, it was announced today. Each team has captured one game and the winner of Saturday's tussle will meet the winner of the Sub-Alpines-Pirates tilt, which will take place Sunday.

A week ago last Sunday the West Sides-Bluefields met in the second game of their series, the latter team having won the opener. The West Sides had a 5-4 lead in the ninth when the Bluefields managed to push across two runs, which were later nullified when it was learned that one of the runners had failed to touch third base. The umpire's decision was questioned and a general hubbalo arose that caused the West Sides to be ousted from the tournament by the other three teams involved. However, all has been forgiven and the tournament will now resume its serene progress, providing the winter doesn't set in and call a halt to the proceedings.

As the baseball situation now stands, the winner of the game Saturday will meet the winner of the Alpines and Pirates in a three-game series for the so-called town title. Manchester Green, winner of the Manchester "American" League honors will challenge the winner of the latter series.

The West Sides will practice tomorrow night at the West Side.

Yesterday's Stars

By the A. P.
Al McColl, Senators—Held White Sox to four hits to win major league debut, 2-1.
Gus Mancuso, Giants—Made three hits in first game against Pirates, knocked in three runs in second.
Jimmie Fox, Athletics—Walked 41st homer of season against Indians.
Bill Hallahan and Joe Medwick, Cardinals—Hallahan held Phillies to 3 hits in opener, Medwick batted in six runs.
Lou Gehrig, Yankees—Hit homer, double and single, scored all Yankees runs in 3-2 victory over Browns.
Bud Tinning, Cubs—Limited Braves to six hits to win 4-3.
Hank Greenberg, Tigers—Batted in four runs against Red Sox with three singles.
Chick Hafey, Reds—Hammered Brooklyn pitching for five hits.

It now appears that Francis X. Shields, rather than the somewhat tennis-weary Ellsworth Vines, will be the Horatio at the Bridge when American singles prestige is defended against the invading hosts in the national championships at Forest Hill this September.

The tall, dynamic New Yorker's return to top form late this summer is little short of amazing. Nearly two years ago the Davis Cup committee engaged the serious tennis player to defend the national title. He admitted he had the ability to become a champion but decided he was too erratic and uncertain to waste any more Davis Cup funds on.

As if to justify this opinion of him, Shields left Paris early this season with a party of friends to say goodbye to them at Cherbourg, enjoyed himself so much that he decided to accompany them right back to the United States, leaving his baggage and a long array of tennis engagements behind. That, everyone promptly remarked, was just like good old Frank Shields. Just a big, good-natured playboy. A good thing, of course, he wasn't engaged in the serious Davis Cup business of the year.

On his come-back form, however, the fact is that Shields would have been a vital, if not decided figure in this year's Davis Cup competition. He would have fought two years ago to get an even break with Perry and Austin, the British Aces. He has whipped every rival in sight, including Vines, on home courts within the past few weeks.

Mr. Shields can explain the reasons for this consistency, suddenly acquired again and convincingly demonstrated. Your guess may be as good as mine, as to how long it will last, but it is almost certain that through the national singles, the Davis Cup committee no doubt will forgive, forget and invite him right back into the fold for 1934.

MCGRATH'S DOUBLE BARREL BACKHAND AMAZES NET CROWD

Aussie Star Hits Ball from Port Side With Both Hands on Racquet; Is Exceptionally Fine Player.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Vivian McGrath, the smiling young man from Australia and his double barreled backhand are playing to standing room in the national men's tennis championships.

Amazons Experts
Billed strictly as a novelty, the only living player who hits a tennis ball from the port side with both hands grasping the racquet, the lad from "down under" has proved far more than that. He is an exceptionally fine tennis player, and that two-fisted shot of his now has the experts doing mental and literary cartwheels.

"There's the most important thing tennis has seen in many a day," declared Mercer Beasley, the old tennis maestro. "The greatest backhand in the world today, and the lad has it all to himself."

Clifford Sutter of New Orleans was scheduled to play the sensational young Australian today.

The "big four" of the tournament—Ellsworth Vines, Jr., and Frank Shields of this country, Fred Perry of England and Jack Crawford of Australia—were promised pretty stiff opposition today.

Vines, the defending champion, faced Bryan Grant, of Atlanta. Shields met Ryoosuke Nunoi of Japan, who yesterday upset George Lott, veteran U. S. Davis cup star, in a five set match. Crawford encountered Sidney Wood, Jr. Perry appeared to have his hands full against Keith Glendhill.

First Grid Call At M. H. S. Answered By 65 Team Candidates

Southern Fans Can Root for Either Team, If They Meet in World Series; The Players from Dixie.

The first meeting of candidates for Manchester High's 1933 gridiron football team was held yesterday afternoon, 65 students answering the call. This number is slightly less than last year's total but Coach Tom Kelley is confident of finding enough good material to fill the gaps caused by graduation last June. The first practice session was scheduled for this afternoon.

Coach Kelley announced that he plans to have three teams on the field all season and will use the rest of the candidates in practice as long as they come out for the teams. The prospects this season are considerably brighter than last year, when the Kellyites split even in eight games, as the squad includes five lettermen from last year's backfield, namely, Mosser, Johnson, Robert Smith, Jude and Fraser.

The ends include Salmonds, a veteran; Hutchinson, Rautenberg, and Wolfman. Tackles include Mistretta, Shedd, both subs last year. Others are O'Leary, Green, and Pond. Three veterans seek berths at guard positions, Captain Eddie Rowe, Comber, and Robinson. Ed

SENATORS-GIANTS ARE LOADED WITH STARS FROM SOUTH

Southern Fans Can Root for Either Team, If They Meet in World Series; The Players from Dixie.

Atlanta, Sept. 7.—(AP)—If Washington's Senators and New York's Giants come together in the world series, as it appears likely now, Southern fans hardly will know which side to root for.

And with reason enough, for both clubs are chock full of Dixie's baseball sons. No matter which outfit wins, Dixie will feel its own part of the title flag.

Bill Terry of the Giants—they call him "Memphis Bill" down here—was born in Atlanta and now lives in Tennessee's river metropolis. Mel Ott, the young slugger, comes from the Louisiana bayou country.

Catcher Gus Mancuso learned his draw in Houston, Texas. Travis Jackson is from Arkansas, a little place called Waldo. Outfielder Homer Peck is from Cameron, Texas. Hughie Critz is a Mississippi native of Starkeville, the player in Bell comes from Louisville, and pitcher Glenn Spencer is from North Carolina. Byrne James is a San Antonio boy and Joe Moore is from Gaule, Texas.

Heine Manush of the Senators is an Alabamian. Buddy Myer comes from Laurel, Miss. Catcher Cliff Bolton calls High Point, N. C., home. Dave Harris is from neighboring Greensboro, N. C. Luke Sewell is another of the Alabama boys, the Monte Weaver started from Lansing, N. C. Alvin Crowder spends his off seasons in Winston-Salem, N. C. Jack Russell is a product of Texas, but lives in Gainesville, Fla. Walter Stewart is from Crossville, Tenn., and Alphonse Thomas hails from the border-line Baltimore.

The ultimate winner makes little difference down here. The South's going to be vitally interested in either case.

There still was plenty of trouble in sight for the New York Giants today but behind them was convincing proof that they have the ability to come back when they have to.

The Giants' lead, which dwindled at an alarming rate in the first two games of their important series at Pittsburgh, was cut to 3½ games as they rallied brilliantly to win the second game of yesterday's doubleheader and the third of the series, 9 to 1, after the embattled Buccaneers had pulled out a 6 to 5 ten-inning decision in the opener.

Tough Foes Ahead
The triumph, which it ruined Pittsburgh's hopes of sweeping the series and cutting the Giants margin to a mere 2½ games, left the league leaders with two more games against their nearest rivals today and tomorrow, and a pair of tough customers, Chicago and St. Louis still to be met after a breathing spell at Cincinnati against the last place Reds.

The Pirates did come-back work of their own in the first clash, rallying to drive Freddy Fitzsimmons to cover in the late innings after an exciting four run rally in the sixth had given New York the lead.

Cubs Top Braves
While the big twin bill was going on, the Chicago Cubs crept half a game closer by knocking off the Boston Braves 4 to 3 behind young Bud Tinning, who pitched a three-hit shutout up to the final inning. The St. Louis Cards did even better, beating the Phillies twice, 3-1 and 3-7. After taking the opener on Bill Hallahan's three-hit flinging, the Cards had to stage a seven-run spurt in the last two innings of the nightcap.

Brooklyn and Cincinnati divided a meaningless doubleheader, the Dodgers taking the first, 7-3, and the Reds pounding out 21 hits to reach their high scoring mark of the season in an 18 to 8 victory in the second.

Rookie Features
The American League situation remained unchanged with Washington ½ game ahead of the New York Yankees. Alex McColl, 37-year-old Senator rookie, pitched four-hit ball in his first major league start and batted in two runs in a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Lou Gehrig did all the Yankee scoring in the Yankee 3-2 triumph over the St. Louis Browns, hitting 24th homer among other blows.

Jimmy Foxx came through with his 41st homer and Lefty Grove hurled effectively in the place for his 20th victory of the season as the Philadelphia Athletics downed Cleveland, 5 to 4. The Detroit Tigers combined four hits with a flock of walks off Boston pitchers and beat the Red Sox, 11 to 6.

Glen Falls, N. Y., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Glen Falls open championship brought 200 amateur and professional golfers from the United States and Canada together today for the opening round. It was a record field for the $3,500 prize event which in five years has become one of the east's outstanding golf battles.

The three former winners of the event were here, one—Billy Burke, of Greenwich, Conn.—seeking permanent possession of the E. W. West trophy. Burke, former national open titleholder, won in 1929 and 1931.

Denny Shute, 1933 British open king, and Tony Manero of Elmsford won the major title of the prize money in 1932 and 1930.

Others who have their war clubs polished for the three day grind include Ralph Guldahl, St. Louis; Gene Sarazen, Johnnie Farrell, Ed Dudley of Concordville, Pa.; Johnny Golden, Noroton, Conn.; Tom Crehan of Albany; Wild Bill Mehrlorn, New York, and Willie Lamb, Canada.

FORWARD PASSING STRESSED BY NAVY

First Practice Devoted to Air Game; 86 Middies Seek Berths on Team.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 7.—(AP)—If a first practice means anything, "Rip" Miller's Middies are going in for passing in a great big way this year. In their initial rehearsal yesterday, they spent a good portion of it hurling the football hither and yon in a manner bespeaking mid-season form.

The backs lined up facing each other and tossed the ball for a while. Then the team had signal practice and virtually every play ended with a toss. Of course there was some running with the ball but the passing easily was the feature of the practice.

Miller had 86 hopefuls on Farragut field yesterday, all of them in full football regalia and all of them apparently chock full of pep. Two members of the squad were unable to be present. An infected ear kept Bill Brooks away and an injured eye kept Patterson on the sidelines.

The practice was much more strenuous than is customary for Navy teams this early in the season.

Demonstrate Rules
New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The demonstration football game to show how the latest rules changes work out, which attracted considerable attention last year, will be repeated by the Columbia squad Saturday for the edification of the gridiron coaches and others who will attend the annual rules interpretation meeting.

A morning meeting at which Dr. Max Baer, A. Stevens, former Navy coach, Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler, Princeton coach, and Dr. E. J. O'Brien of Tufts will speak on various phases of the game and a night session at which members of the football rules committee will answer questions on interpreting the new rules also are on the program laid out by the eastern intercollegiate association.

TROJANS TO RETURN TO POWER FOOTBALL

Howard Jones Is Tired of Frills—And (We Suspect) So Are His Opponents; Isn't Satisfied With 20 Victories in Row.

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN (Associated Press Sports Writer)
Los Angeles, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Coach Howard Jones, whose football cunning has seen University of Southern California's teams through their last twenty games without defeat, is tired of getting the Trojan's puzzled frowns. They're all so simple, Jones' grid geometrics, yet so hard to solve. Generally speaking, blocking deception rather than ball packing deceit is his team's stock in trade.

The Trojan coach never has cared much who knows what man is going to carry the ball. More often than not the quarterback or fullback gets the call. Jones doesn't go in for hidden ball tactics.

Instead an individual's assignment on each play is designed to give him both the physical and the mental advantage over his opponent.

Tandems More Complicated
As in the last two seasons, when Southern California collected two national title championships, one national title and a national argument for the other, the tandem shift will be in vogue. But there will be changes.

In 1931, when the shift was first evolved, opponents learned to sort out their assignments by the way the Trojan's re-arranged themselves in the huddle and getting the signals. Then Coach Jones eliminated the sorting-out process.

Last fall the defensive teams caught on to the general rule that the three-lined tandem shift, in its first year, Coach Jones last year usually forsook the play to be executed. Now Jones has covered that up by working any sequence of plays off one or several tandem formations.

"That's Football!"
Trojans' Head Man contemplates one definite trend from his 1932 team's brand of football. Lacking the power play backfield talent of other years, Coach Jones last year taught more pass throwing, and most of the games were won through the air.

But his first love in football has been the running game. That, in his opinion, is solid proof of definite superiority, so with some good blocking backs in the lineup again this fall he probably will go in for the old power plays of 1931 again.

"It's the running game," says he, in his roughest slang.

Philadelphia — Ernie Dusek, Omaha, threw Charley Strack, Springfield, N. Y.
Camden, N. J. — George Zaharias, Colorado, defeated Paul Boesch, New York.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Adhesive tape by the mile, mouthwash by the gallon, ammonia inhalants by the gross—that's the way health insurance is bought for a college football squad.

For Notre Dame's varsity squad of 68 this fall, Trainer Eugene "Scrapiron" Young makes his purchases of preventives, emollients, stimulants and healers on that sort of wholesale scale.

Twenty Miles of Tape
A glance at Young's shopping list reveals, among other things: 15 miles of white tape; five miles of cheaper gray tape for holding pads on; nine miles of gauze; 1,440 ammonia "smellers" used to clear a groggy player's brain; 15 gallons of mouthwash for sore throat prevention, and 150 quarts of citro-carbonate to reduce stomach acidity.

"We even order 100 pounds of epsom salts," says Young, "but not for internal use. We use the salts for hot packs on bruises and sprains. We'll use several gallons of mercuriolate for application to cuts from flying cleats, and two gross of eight-ounce tubes of dermanolene, used for bringing the blood to the surface preparatory to massage of deep-seated bruises."

Electricity Plays Big Part
Aside from these aids, electricity plays an important part in keeping the gridders in condition. There are diathermy machines for applying heat to deep-lying bruises and congestions, sun lamps for speeding up circulation, and a poly-sine generator which is useful in treating "charley horses", breaks, sprains and weak arches.

Young was a star miler and swimmer in his student days at Notre Dame.

When Zeke Bonura of Dallas was sold to the Chicago White Sox in mid-August he was leading the Texas League in home runs, runs scored and runs batted in.

NORWICH TO HOLD MEET ON SATURDAY

Program Was Postponed from Labor Day; Rec Has Team of Stars Entered.

Norwich, Sept. 7.—The Conn. Association A. U. Championships which were scheduled to be held here at the fairgrounds, Labor Day, have been postponed until Saturday, Sept. 9, it was announced today by the joint committee of the Duwell A. A. Inc., and Norwich lodge of Elks, No. 430, in charge of the events. All athletes competing in the 12 championship events are expected here Saturday for the postponed program.

The entire program, including the 12 championship events, horseback-pitching contests, 10 bouts of fast amateur boxing, wrestling, air circus and fireworks display, will be conducted on Saturday, the same as planned for Labor Day.

The entire program was "washed out" Labor day, necessitating the postponement.

The entry list for the 13 track and field events, for which championships will be crowned in each, swelled to 238 just prior to the date of the scheduled affair.

683 ARE ENROLLED AT STATE COLLEGE

Almost Capacity at Storrs Where Only 700 Students May Be Registered.

Storrs, Sept. 7. (AP) - President Charles C. McCracken of Connecticut State College today announced that 683 students have registered for admission to the college when the 1933-34 school year begins Sept. 20.

The advance enrollment, he pointed out, is almost capacity as the college can accept only 700 students.

He said that the college by law cannot accept more than 500 students for residence in dormitories, and while there is no specified limit for day students, laboratory and classroom facilities limit the total number of students to approximately 700.

The president also announced the appointment of three new members of the college faculty.

New instructors. They are: Dr. E. Lowell Kelly, who will be assistant professor of educational psychology; Alton M. Porter, instructor in vegetable gardening; and Dr. Kenneth E. Gideon, assistant in chemistry.

Dr. Kelly recently returned from a year's study in Berlin and Vienna, where he received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Vienna.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, marries DICK RADEEM, a construction superintendent temporarily working in Lake City. Dick wants Eve to give up working but she refuses.

SAM HOLEBRIDGE, an advertiser in man employed by another store, becomes infatuated with ARLENE SMITH, stenographer at Bixby's, but the fiancée is in love with GEORGE BLISS. Handsome THERON REECE has been forcing unwelcome attentions on Eve.

Unknown to Dick, Eve has been playing the stock market on money borrowed from her mother. MONA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and tries to make trouble for her. When an error, costing the store $2,000, appears in an advertisement, Mona is really responsible but the blame falls on Eve.

Eve sells her stock market holdings at a gain. Elated, she arrives home to hear the telephone ringing. She answers and recognizes Mona Allen's voice. "They must have given me the wrong number" and the connection is broken. Eve wonders if Mona has been calling up Dick.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVIII. Eve entered the offices of the brokerage firm of Sloan and Sanford on Monday morning. She felt no urge to turn back. She had made one investment through the bank and now was exploring new fields. Eve had decided to shift the scene for her next financial venture.

She asked for Mr. Sanford and this time he was at his desk. Her naive smile had amused him, for more than once she noticed a twinkle in his large blue-gray eyes. "I'm through with Pure Soap," Eve told him. "I don't want to overdo any one thing, you see. I thought I might like to try one of the industrials. Will you tell me about them?"

Mr. Sanford told her about the industrials and agreed with her that it might be well to invest in one of them. He advocated Atlas Coupler. Eve placed her money on Atlas Coupler.

And then Miss McElhinney, one of the teachers who lived upstairs, came out on the porch. "It's such a gorgeous evening and you look so snug here! I hope you don't mind if I join you."

She perched herself on the newel post, nearer to Dick than to Eve. Before many minutes had elapsed she was off on a monologue which threatened to continue for hours.

How to Reduce Heating Costs by JOHN BARCLAY, Heating Expert

You will probably be interested to know just what a dirty furnace means in actual money and heat loss.

Suppose you are burning Stove size coal costing $13.50 a ton. If you use 10 tons a year, your total fuel bill is $135.00. Now, if the heating surfaces of your boiler have an accumulation of 1-16th of an inch of carbon deposit there is a loss of heating efficiency of 26.6 percent.

Based upon the total amount of coal you use per year, this means a total loss of $35.57, or, in terms of coal, a waste of a little less than three (3) tons.

Here is a table showing amount of heat loss caused by various amounts of fly ash deposit:

1-32" of deposit will cause 9.5 percent loss. 1-16" of deposit will cause 26.6 percent loss. 1-8" of deposit will cause 45.3 percent loss. 3-16" of deposit will cause 69 percent loss.

It won't take you long to figure how much money and coal you are wasting if any such carbon deposit is on the surface of your heating plant. You know how much your fuel costs per year and that figure multiplied by the percentages shown above, will give you an idea of how much you are wasting because of a dirty heating plant.

Heating engineers have found that a deposit of the type that we are discussing has insulating properties five times as great as asbestos. Certainly you would not put an asbestos lining on the heating surface of your boiler and yet a good many of us are actually doing this when we fail to have our furnaces cleaned at regular intervals.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Question: One of my friends told me that the fly pipe should be disconnected and taken down during the summer months in order to prevent it from rusting. Is this necessary? E. H. W., West Chester, Penn. Answer: If you have not done anything about cleaning your furnace and fly pipe after the fire was al-slowly to go out at the end of the last heating season, there is every possibility that the fly pipe will corrode. This is caused by the accumulation from the previous heating season. This will absorb moisture from the air and cause an acid formation which, in time, will destroy the metal. Small holes will appear in the fly pipe and these, in turn, will cause poor draft when you start using your furnace during the heating season.

Wee Cobby surely had good aim. Said he, "This is a dandy game. Just stay around and watch me, lads. I'm having tons of fun."

"I've made each baby doll go flop except just one, and I won't stop until I win a prize by knocking over every one."

"What is the prize?" asked Dotty. "Gee, I hope that you'll share 't with me. In fact I think you ought to share with every Tynmite."

"I will," said Cobby. "Don't you fret. You'll all get part of what I get." And then he took three more baseballs and threw with all his might.

"Hurrah!" All of the Tynites roared. "At last, three baby dolls you've scored," exclaimed the owner of the stand. "And now you get a prize."

"Six lollypops I'll give you, son, 'cause dandy throwing you have done. Just wait until you see them. They're a treat for youngsters' eyes."

He opened up a box and then the Tynmites all cheered again.

"Just help yourselves," the kind man said. "They'll last you through the day."

"Please give the dwer one, as well," said Goidy. "'cause he treats us swell." The diver said, "Twas kind of you to think of me that way."

The whole bunch walked around a while and then the diver, with a smile, cried, "There's a greased pig. Here's where I give all of you a treat."

"I'll ride that pig. At least, I'll try. I am, I only hope that I land on my feet."

The porker scampered 'cross the ground and made the diver slip around. "My, what a sight," cried Goidy. "How that funny pig can run!"

SENSE and NONSENSE

They've tried everything to bring prosperity back to consciousness but artificial respiration.

Judge (just before passing sentence on a convicted pickpocket)—Just what good have you done for humanity?

Old Rogue—Well, I've kept three or four detectives working regularly.

The Plodder They call him plodder, for each day he goes along the same worn path, where his bestows no shining honors on the men who toil. No gifts except the crown of honest toil.

He seems to gain by trickery or stealth, Preferring honest labor to ill-gotten wealth; But works with diligence and strives to hold Love of mankind above the love of gold.

So quietly he lives few know his name; He does not seek the world's applause or fame; A plodder—yes, but plodders such as he Bear on their shoulders all humanity.

The difference in stealing and embezzlement is that in the latter you get so much more and draw so much lighter a penalty.

Senator—When are you going to preach your sermon to the golfers? Pastor—The first rainy Sunday we have.

Because the news gathering agencies and the newspapers consider Henry Ford news he doesn't have to spend so much for advertising.

Things were rather strained between two sweethearts. She—But, George, darling, I do love you still. You cannot imagine how warm my love for you really is.

He (groaning inwardly)—Oh, but I do all right. I've always noticed how my money burns when I'm near you.

The "black sheep" of a family sometimes is the one who furnishes the wool to keep the rest of the household warm.

Mrs.—What was that man cursing about I just met coming out of your office, dear?

Business Man—He had a book he was offering only to our best people, and I suppose he was revising my place on his list.

THINGMABOBBS: Never give a man the lie; he might return it with a kick as interest. . . . The person who is insincerely wrong has little patience with one who is sincerely right. . . . One who has a rotten youth is not likely to reach a ripe old age. Stuffy: Another way of spelling coward. . . . Knowledge may be acquired but wisdom comes from on high. . . . People are learning that material things are not material aids to happiness. . . . Few men who attend strictly to their own business die from overwork. . . . A woman is seldom called an old maid until she begins to act like one. . . . When the family mirror is used by the same persons for 30 or 40 years it begins to show age. . . . Woman's inhumanity to woman causes many men to live and die bachelors. . . . The best way to halt a lie or an unkind truth is not to repeat it. . . . The natural tendency of man is to swallow flattery and spit out advice. . . . Few newspaper readers are ignorant enough to qualify for jury duty. . . . Those advertisements describing the horrors of halitosis almost make one hold his breath. . . .

Mrs. Juggs—The man is so beautiful tonight, dear. Won't you come out on the porch and watch it with me.

Mr. Juggs—Yes, dear. Just a minute till I find my magazine.

Mrs. Juggs—Bring my book along, too, will you?
