

PUTS INSPECTORS ON THE HIGHWAYS

Motor Vehicle Department Employees to Have Part in Safety Campaign.

Inspectors of the Motor Vehicle Department were reminded today that one of the major aspects of their work henceforth would be the patrolling of the highways, in a memorandum issued by Col. Michael A. Connor, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. Commissioner Connor pointed out that in conformity with the Street and Highway Safety Campaign recently instigated by Governor Wilbur L. Cross, the inspectors would be expected to make reports not only of violations, but of reprehensible practices on the part of operators upon the highways.

Inspectors' Work. Commissioner Connor recently advocated the formation of a Citizens' Volunteer Motor Patrol, wherein he requested that each licensed operator report to the Complaint Section of the department infractions of the law. At that time he made it plain that those persons reporting such infractions would not be embarrassed or inconvenienced by the necessity of appearing in person at a hearing. In the memorandum issued today, he made it plain to the inspectors of the department that their activities as patrolmen would be of tremendous assistance in bringing to the attention of the department names of those persons who disregard the motor vehicle code. "I do want you to bear in mind very definitely," Commissioner Connor said "when you are on the highway, that you are a patrolman and should exercise such vigilance over other drivers as is consistent with this role."

The Commissioner has informed the inspectors that he will expect courtesy from them at all times in their dealings with the public, pointing out that in the prevention of accidents, courtesy has a very important place.

His memorandum reads in part as follows: "As you are no doubt aware, Governor Wilbur L. Cross recently designated September as 'Street and Highway Safety Month.' In conformity with this proposal, I recently invited the citizens of the state to assist the Department of Motor Vehicles in the reduction of accidents.

Motor Patrol. "To bring this about, I have advocated the formation of a 'Citizens' Volunteer Motor Patrol.' I have asked that each operator make a report to the Complaint Section of the department of infractions of the law. In a sense, each operator is to regard himself as a patrolman for the department, constantly patrolling the activities of the other fellow on the highway, reporting violations to us. "I realize that the duties of the inspectors are numerous, but wish to point out that one of the major aspects of the work should be the patrolling of the highways. From reports which have come to my attention, the number of complaints from inspectors seems to be negligible. As officers of the department, heretofore I shall expect all of the inspectors to make reports, not only of open violations, but of reprehensible practices on the part of operators on the highway.

Bring in Names. "As your duties take you to all parts of the state at all times, both day and night, you should certainly be of tremendous assistance in bringing to the attention of the department the names of those persons who disregard the motor vehicle code. I do not insist that you actually go to the trouble of apprehending these operators nor do I expect that you are to make formal arrests in every instance. I do want you to bear very definitely in mind when you are on the highway that you are a patrolman, and should exercise such vigilance over other drivers as is consistent with this role. Forms are now available for this purpose.

"On previous occasions, I have brought to the attention of the public the important part courtesy has in accident prevention. Appropriate of this, I shall insist that every inspector in the department in his dealings with the public shall conduct himself as a gentleman. I am sure it is possible to be at once courteous and firm. It is possible certainly, to discharge your duties authoritatively yet not offensively. I will not tolerate arrogant or offensive conduct on the part of any inspector, and should instances of discourtesy be brought to my attention, I shall deal with it in a forthright manner."

NEW DISPUTE ARISES OVER MURAL PAINTING

Artist Asked to Leave Christ Out of Picture of The Sermon on the Mount.

New York, Sept. 15.—(AP)—A new dispute arose today over mural paintings in Rockefeller Center. Frank Brangwyn, noted English artist, said in England yesterday that he was disturbed over a request to leave Christ out of a panel depicting 'The Sermon on the Mount.' John R. Todd, president of a concern constructing the buildings, said: "There was no thought of portraying 'The Sermon on the Mount without Christ.' He said that it had been 'mutually decided' that instead of an actual figure of Christ 'a great light shining on the mount signifying the presence in the background' would be more appropriate."

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15.

administration, however sincerely devoted to an eventual policy of currency expansion with a stabilized dollar as its ultimate goal, has been anxious to see all its re-employment measures in effect before inaugurating important inflation. They are not all in full effect yet by any means. The time is not, therefore, ripe for the employment of the fiscal remedies.

Still it may very well be that the reasons for expansion at this time have become more urgent than the reasons for postponement. The attitude of the banks in refusing to co-operate in the financing of NRA costs encountered by countless of the smaller industries and businesses is becoming a factor that may force the government's hand. The unconscionable slowness of municipalities to take advantage of government aid in the starting of local public works is another.

Senator Harrison probably knows a great deal more of what he is talking about than ninety-nine out of a hundred who pretend to know that the administration regards inflation as a sort of desperate forlorn hope. As a matter of fact we have all long been convinced that expansion is a cardinal principle at the White House, for the reason that the entire philosophy of this administration is such that it must inevitably be opposed to anything else.

enough to determine what it wants and to ask for it, it will be just too bad about it but it is not likely to get any sympathy anywhere.

There seems to be a surprising amount of unrealism on the part of local officials in some parts of the country, particularly in Connecticut, concerning the big idea back of this Public Works Administration's financing of local jobs. The idea is to get people to work—not by and by, after the depression is over nor after all the jobless have starved to death, but now; right away; without procrastination or delay to the extent of a single avoidable moment.

To this end the federal government is willing to make immensely valuable contributions to the ability of towns and cities to engage speedily in construction activities. But the government has no interest at all in providing the means for local public works which the municipalities may dawdle over and ponder and spit hairs about for endless weeks before they are finally ready to proceed.

There is no compulsion about this business. No town or city has to avail itself of the opportunity unless it wants to. But there is a condition—the condition that the applicant municipality snap out of its trance and do it now—if it is to get into the game at all.

Behind the Scenes in WASHINGTON

Business Improvement Expected to Put Many More Back to Work... Frank C. Walker is "Champion Commuter"... Farmers' Position Steadily Gets Better, Advance Inside Figures Show.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Sept. 15.—First figures measuring the amount of new employment created by the NRA codes won't inspire any bonfire. To many industries the codes will mean no decrease in the worker's average weekly hours. That's because the work week in so many mills and factories was sharply curtailed during the depression.

Steel workers have been putting in less than 40 hours a week, for instance. The same thing goes for the oil industry, among others.

Others to Get Jobs... But, according to the statistics and research experts now engaged in compiling the figures, business improvement will bring armies of workers back to their jobs under the codes. The foundation of the short-hour week has been laid so that stimulated activity will automatically mean the taking on of more people virtually in proportion.

The "share the work" idea was adopted by industry to a large degree. Now the hope is that higher wages will provide the push that is lacking in a mere program of shorter hours with proportionately less pay.

The re-employment figures are being worked out with the aid of the Census Bureau, Bureau of Labor Statistics, trade associations, the National Industrial Conference Board and questionnaires to members of each industry.

3,000,000 Re-employed

There was no "baloney" in Gen. Hugh Johnson's assertion that 2,000,000 persons had been re-employed since March.

Experts who were quick to puncture inflated employment claims in the Hoover regime say this summer is positively the last time that France will see her idols play.

You can tell Americans because the majority of them have "Anthony Adverse" under their arms... One thing you miss here in Paris is beggars. New Yorkers loom large. It is only at churches that you encounter them at all this summer in France... The loveliest French chateau near Paris owned by an American is Gerard Atherton's, on the edge of the city.

Stroll and Learn

You can see Paris, shop and eat without knowing a word of French. But you cannot get anywhere without a good pair of dependable walking feet. Stroll and learn—that's the way to learn Paris' fascination.

The majority of American tourists take one night off to go to Les Halles, the great central markets. Get there around 2:30 a. m. and you view more big truck horses hitched to loads of cauliflower and other vegetables than you see in America in a whole year... For two hours there is tremendous bustle, chickens crowing, sheep bleating, restaurant and home shoppers bargaining, men and women rushing about in their blue denim or brown smocks, some in carpet slippers, some with their heads tied up in handkerchiefs.

About 4 a. m. there is a rush for little cafes, where you climb crooked stairs to the smoke-filled "Le Chien Qui Fume" (the dog who smokes) for onion soup... Sundays there are Bird Markets on the Left Bank. On Thursdays and Sundays there are Stamp Markets on the Champs Elysee, where old men and little boys crowd about; some vendors may have only two valuable stamps, others whole collections which they exhibit on easels or camp chairs... The Flea Market attracts all who search for antiques... There are Ham Fairs, Gingerbread Fairs, and all kinds of weekly markets and fairs in different parts of Paris.

Americans Seek to the Restaurant Les Alpes. Located in the little shops quarter, Americans gravitate there, spotting its sign, "American food." Homesick American officers and soldiers taught the managers how to cook their favorite dishes. They still make them—apple pie, strawberry shortcake, made with biscuit dough, corn on the cob, cold slaw, corned beef hash and handsome vegetable plates. General Pershing ate there. George Arliss and his wife always come for some meals, when in Paris. They always enter and leave via the kitchen and sit quietly upstairs, to elude autograph hounds.

Where the Stars Dine

Across Paris from here is the Viking, off the Champs Elysee, where Gloria Swanson, Ramon Navarro, Douglas Fairbanks and Rex Ingram go for Norwegian hors d'oeuvres. Reindeer filets are another specialty of the house... The maitre d'Hotel vouchsafed the information that Mariene Dietrich has come several times this summer.

In good etiquette, announcement of an engagement should be made upon the day that the bride-elect chooses to wear her engagement ring for the first time publicly.

Those noiseless street cars that Chicago is getting ready to introduce should certainly mark an important step in that city's war on rackets.

LET YOUR UNCONSCIOUS MIND HELP AND NOT HINDER

If someone asks you whose slave you are, you would probably reply that you are not the slave of any man; however, literally thousands of people are enslaved just as much as though they wore chains of iron. Almost everyone is enslaved in some degree by that type of handicap which we impose upon ourselves through the careless cultivation of wrong mental habits which chain the freedom of mind just as much as a ball and chain would interfere with the freedom of the body. All around us we see people who are slaves to fear, worry, jealousy or self-pity. Some of them are so hampered by a feeling of inferiority or by lack of self-confidence that almost every action is stopped short before it is accomplished.

I had a friend who had in many ways a brilliant mind and a wonderful personality. Time and again he developed and promoted enterprises which would have made him extremely wealthy, but because of some curious mental quirk, when the deal was almost finished and the agreements were drawn up, he would find some reason or excuse why he could not go through with the deal. Sometimes he would turn up for the appointment; at other times he would be sick or he would want to change the terms of the agreement. In talking about his enterprises, he would point out how bad fortune dogged his footsteps, and he stated it with almost an air of satisfaction. That may seem perhaps like an extreme case, but I am sure that similar conditions are much more prevalent than is generally realized.

At first such undesirable mental states hold one in bondage for only a short time, but, if through carelessness they are allowed to control the mind, they become firmly entrenched habits. Whether we realize it or not, our mental habits are largely of our own choosing and they may be either good or bad. We alone are responsible for the slavery of bad habits and we can make a definite choice as we convert bad habits into good ones.

The fact that some of our emotions and mental states do good in the body has been known for a long time. This thought's brought out in the quotation from the Bible where it states that, "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine. Some of the good mental states are the following: cheerfulness, tolerance, kindness, patience, friendliness, honesty and calmness. The man or woman who steadfastly clings to a period of five years to a frame of mind which establishes the growth of the above attributes will not only improve in happiness but will also increase in health and often becomes more prosperous. When we are in a positive contented frame of mind the body is at ease, the digestion is unhampered, the breathing is normal and we feel strong and vigorous.

On the other hand, the effects of those emotions and mental states which are not good extend to the entire body. Worry's destructive effects are unhampered, the breathing is entirely stopped, the hands and feet are cold, the face is pale, breathing is shallow and a feeling of weakness is present. These harmful mental states produce powerful poisons in the body which will eat away health as acid eats away metal. These evil emotions keep you back from doing many things which you are able to do and to do well. They are like cruel, heartless masters cracking whips over the backs of slaves.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Buttermilk and Acidophus)
 Question: Mrs. Frances E. asks: "What is the difference between buttermilk and acidophus milk?"
 Answer: The old-fashioned buttermilk was a milky substance left after churning sour cream to make butter. Acidophus milk is milk fermented with an acidophilus culture. The buttermilk commonly sold at the present time is not made from churning sour cream as practically all dairies now make butter from sweet cream, precipitating the milk with lime, which would make the milk unpleasant to the taste. Buttermilk is, therefore, cultured from plain milk. It has however, just as much food value as the old-fashioned kind.

(Twisting Leg)
 Question: K. G. writes: "I am troubled a great deal with my right leg. After I walk a few blocks, it seems as if I have no use of it from the hip down, simply have to drag it along, and at night as soon as I lie down my leg keeps twitching all the time. Would greatly appreciate it if you could suggest a treatment I could follow."
 Answer: You should have an x-ray examination of your lower spine. There is no doubt some faulty position of the vertebrae or the pelvic bones which is causing a pinching of the nerves.

AS TO INFLATION.

There are numerous commentators and forecasters who deal with Washington affairs in these days of new experimentation while still tied firmly to the traditions of the past. One of these traditions is that currency expansion is a fearsome thing which even an administration as liberal as this one would employ only in a desperate emergency. Some fairly enthusiastic supporters of the National Industrial Recovery Act, the farm relief measures and other revolutionary measures, including the great public works program, turn a little pale and tremble at any mention of dollar devaluation or of the issuance of greenbacks. "It may be unnecessary," they frequently remind us. The erudite Mark Sullivan, whose understanding of the money question would do considerable credit to any kindergarten pupil, but would greatly distinguish none, has told us this week that so long as there is some prospect of inflation the effect is precisely the same as inflation itself in raising prices, so it is to be hoped that the President will see the unnecessary of any real expansion of the currency.

In one form or other this idea is constantly finding expression—that the President will, as a matter of course, avoid employing the inflationary powers granted to him by Congress until it has been completely demonstrated that recovery cannot be accomplished without recourse to the cheapening of the dollar.

Nor does this opinion come only from the old fogies and reactionaries who hope that somehow or other we shall be able to eat our cake and have it; that we shall be able to get the country out of its morass of debt and deflation while still preserving the purchasing power of fixed incomes and fixed dividends. In some instances it comes from inflationists who are impatient because the administration has not, before this, taken strenuous steps in the direction of their favorite remedy and who, because it has not, emit dark hints that the President has fallen under the influence of the deflationists and is likely to ruin the whole great adventure.

Today there is a new stirring of the question in the prediction by Senator Pat Harrison, after conferences with President Roosevelt, Budget Director Douglas and Governor Black of the Federal Reserve Board, that there will very soon be something doing in the expansion line, perhaps without any preliminary announcement.

It has long seemed to us that the only reason the administration has not had recourse to inflationary measures beyond the very effectual one of abandoning the gold standard—which halted deflation in its tracks—was that the time was not yet ripe. There has been one condition of which a good many inflationists lost sight but which undoubtedly has been in the administration's mind all along; that is the intolerable situation that would be created by a sudden and serious increase in the cost of living while such a large proportion of the people were out of work and without incomes.

It is perfectly clear that the first thing to do was to get as many as possible of the unemployed into jobs so that they could at least maintain themselves before undertaking the task of redeeming the country from its paralyzing burden of debt and insolvency—which for a certain period, while wages are catching up with prices, must be imposed some hardship on the individual worker even while it is leading him to security and a permanent prosperity.

It is to be surmised that the ad-

"HOTEL" PERMITS.

As the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment impends, the magnitude of the blunder perpetrated by the General Assembly of Connecticut in adopting the miserably Liquor Control Law becomes better understood. It is possible that this state will not enter the forthcoming era of state control of the liquor traffic with the worst liquor law in the Union, but if there is to be another any worse it will have to be a very triumph of stupidity.

Just one point which we do not recall having seen made—not by any means one of the most important among the many to be scored against the Control law but fairly typical of its slovenliness: It would be impossible, under this law, for a first class apartment hotel of the admirable type common enough in the great cities, if one were to be built and conducted in Connecticut, to serve alcoholic liquors of any kind, even beer, in its dining room or anywhere else. Any little third rate dump of a transient hotel could legally acquire a license but not a high grade hotel which catered to permanent guests only.

Here is the definition of "hotel" set forth in the Liquor Control Act:

"The word 'hotel' means every building or other structure kept, used, maintained, advertised or held out to the public to be a place where food is served and sleeping accommodations are offered to TRANSIENT guests, in which ten or more rooms are used for the sleeping accommodations of such transient guests and having one or more dining rooms where meals are served to such transient guests..."

The operator of a bona fide apartment hotel could not get a restaurant license for his dining room because this incredible law insists that, in order to be entitled to a permit the restaurant must be open to the public—that is, to anybody who has the money to pay for food and who is not misbehaving himself. Some apartment hotel dining rooms are not open to the public.

This is merely a minor fault among dozens contained in this curious mass of idiocies, semi-idiocies and serious injustices.

What are the people of Connecticut going to do about it?

RARE DRY DELEGATES.

A glance at the record of the twenty-two state conventions which so far have ratified the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment discloses that there were only three in which any dry delegates at all had won seats. In nineteen instances the vote for repeal in the convention hall was unanimous. In Michigan there was one lone dry in opposition to 89 who voted for repeal. In New Jersey two prohibitionist delegates won their way to the convention to find arrayed against them a phalanx of 202 wets. Only in Indiana did the friends of the Eighteenth amendment go to the convention in numbers sufficiently large to constitute an appreciable fraction. In that state there was almost exactly one wet to every three dries in the convention hall, the number of them being 83 as against 246 repealers.

That was the nearest thing to a contest that the dries have been able to make in any of the conventions so far held. In none of the seven other states which have elected delegates but whose conventions have not yet been held will the dries have delegates enough to make and second a motion to adjourn.

IN NEW YORK

By JULIA BLANSHARD

Paris, Aug. 15.—Mrs. Helen Willis Moody's defaulting to Helen Jacobs, instead of letting her win the Forest Hills tennis matches, has furnished Paris tennis fans with plenty of gossip... They remain innumerable incidents of the animosity existing between the two California stars. It was recalled that when the two Helens were here in 1920, with Lott and Van Ryn, Helen Willis not only would not speak to Helen Jacobs but wouldn't even ride in the same auto with her... A fact never mentioned in any French paper nor spoken of publicly by anybody is that the great Cochet, has heart trouble... That was the real reason why he refused at first to play in the Davis Cup matches. It is understood that that's a conservative estimate, inasmuch as about 1,000,000 persons had been employed by mid-June and 400,000 more by July.

Champion Commuter

Frank C. Walker, secretary of the president's Executive Council and sometimes called the "assistant president" is the capital's champion commuter.

Late Thursday of each week he takes a train or a plane to New York and hustles out on a two-hour ride to Huntington, Long Island, where his family is spending the summer.

Friday morning he commutes back to New York for a visit to his law offices, returning to Huntington late in the day. Saturday he plays golf and swims with his family. (His golf game is around 100.) Sunday afternoon he flies back to Washington and begins to prepare for the council meeting on Tuesday.

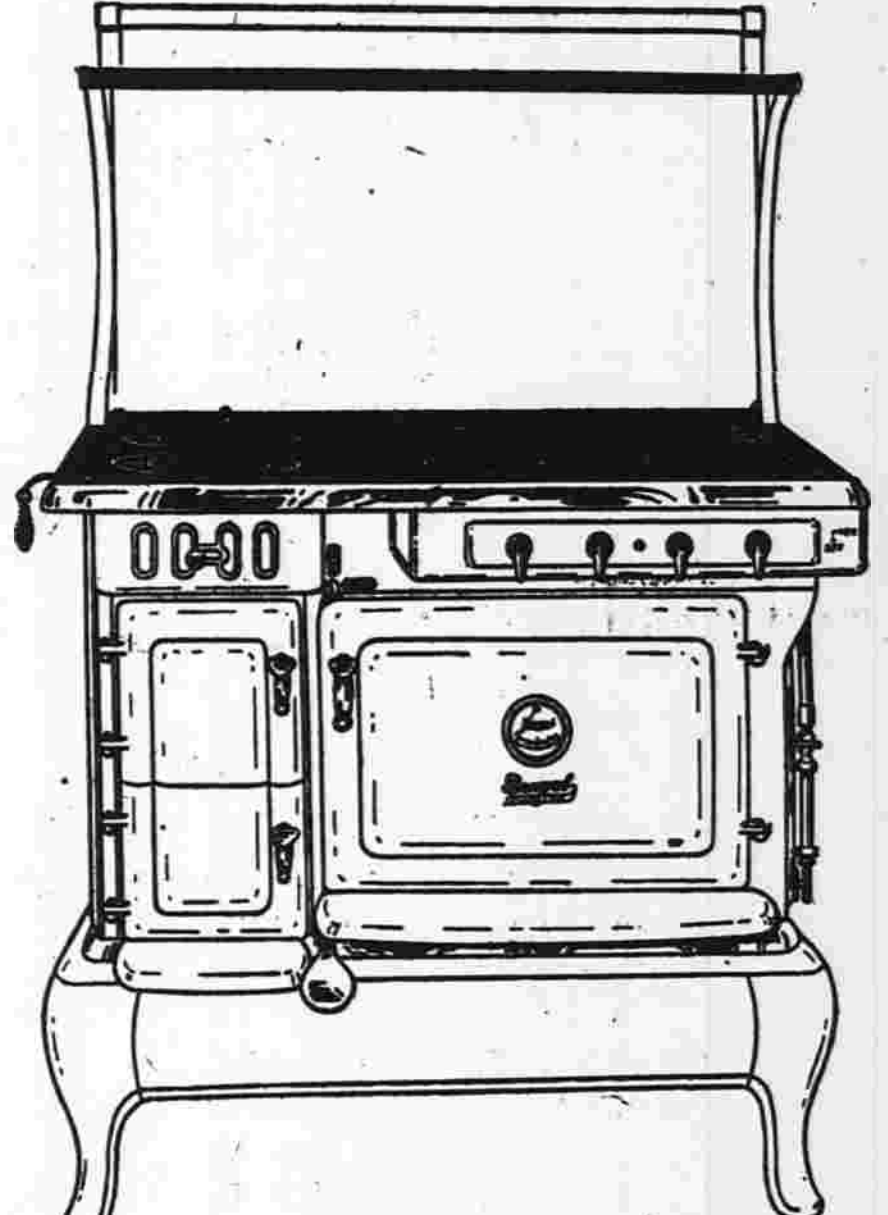

Farmers' Position Better

Farmers are creeping up in the race between the prices of farm products and manufactured goods, according to advance inside figures. The Agricultural Adjustment Administration's goal is partly with the relationship which existed on an average in the 1910-14 period between what the farmer sells and what he buys. You take that average as 100.

Since February what he sells has advanced from 49 to 73, while what he buys has risen from 101 to 112 in the same period.

The way it works is that whereas the "what he sells" percentage of the "what he buys" price level was only 63 for last year and only 49 in February, it is now 65. It went to 71 per cent during the July price boom. The farmer is still far away from the 100 per cent goal—and even from the 81 per cent average of 1922-29—but AAA officials are encouraged. Their program has only begun.

SNAP OUT OF IT.

Communities which intend, when they get around to it, to get some of the federal government's Public Works Administration fund for the furtherance of local job-giving undertakings, such as road building and paving, are very likely to discover, when they finally do shake themselves awake, that the show is over and the tent down.

Our Rockville correspondent told us yesterday that the Selectmen of the town of Vernon had decided not to call a special town meeting to deal with this subject because a meeting would cost a few dollars and because the annual town meeting takes place anyhow in October. It is not only possible but probable that any town that waits for an October town meeting before adopting a program of public works to be financed by federal funds will find itself completely and permanently out of the reckoning and will be much too late to get a dollar of Public Works Administration's funds.

It was announced yesterday that all such applications must be made within the next month or so in order to stand any chance of being granted.

DEAUVILLE SMILES AS GAMING BOOMS

Noted French Resort Enjoys Period of Popularity in Midst of Hard Times.

Deauville, France, Sept. 8. — Take one good look at Deauville and you'll ask where that depression is that France is talking so much about.

The oldest inhabitant can't remember such crowds as this season has drawn to the Plage Fleurie (flowered beach). The hotels have turned away hundreds during the August holidays. Millions of francs have been lost and won in the Casino, more than a respectable amount has changed hands at the races. The beach is swarming with bathers; the boardwalk is jammed with sippers, sipping liquors or tea; the basin is dotted with gleaming, expensive yachts; and there is a procession of sleek limousines.

Built as a resort rendezvous for royalty back in the 60's, Deauville with its flower-bordered beach, manicured Normandy gardens, impressive chateaux and palatial, gable-roofed hotels combines the tradition and leisure-class elegance of our Saratoga Springs with the luxury and display of Palm Beach. Over the summer holidays it adds the crowds of Cannes.

Its location is one reason for its popularity. Situated only three hours motor ride from Paris, just across the Channel from England, and only an hour's ferry ride from Havre, where Americans embark from home, Deauville gets the most international crowds of any French resort.

Deauville is France's Monte Carlo. The sprawling, palatial, one-story white stone Casino comes alive at 10 p. m., though it is open from mid-mornings until 4 a. m.

The elite dine in Les Ambassadeurs, the exclusive restaurant in the Casino, at 10 p. m. Here, on gala night, the celebrated French interior decorator, Maurice Chalmers, created a gorgeous setting and the entire program was old Normandy costumes, costumes dances. Dinner cost $18 a plate. Champagne was the only wine sold.

Ambassadors and Mrs. Straus were guests of honor at the Princess de Faucigny-Lucinge's table. Across the room, looking very pompous and important, the Right Honorable Winston Churchill, former Chancellor of the English Exchequer, sat at a table with some English notables.

It was a colorful, brilliant scene—men in long tails, officers in dress uniforms, scores of little red Legion of Honor ribbons in distinguished lapels; a few Easterners in silken robes; the Maharajah of Rajpala, wearing a white turban that contrasted sharply with his swarthy, immobile face; one Chinese princess in rich brocade; all women gorgeously gowned, beautifully groomed and coiffed and literally dripping diamonds, rubies, emeralds and pearls.

Fee for "Looking On" New step into the baccarat, Chemin de Fer, Roulette, Trente et Quarante and other high-powered gambling rooms. You must pay 100 francs ($6.00) just to get into the rooms to look on. If you want to watch in the far room, marked "Private," it cost you 300 more francs. Moreover to enter any of these rooms you must register, show your passport, give your name, local and home address, occupation, right age, date of birth and your mother's maiden name.

Six huge, high-ceilinged rooms, with oblong tables enclosed by brass rails on which spectators lean, are illuminated with spot lights hung low over the tables. No sound is heard but the crooning voices of the croupiers at their high stools at each table. The crowd collected about each table is six feet deep. You can play 50,000 francs a throw at this table. Flush through to the rail and you see a group of nine or ten stony-faced men in full dress and one woman, a dark-skinned, flinty-eyed Levantine, in printed daytime suit and white hat. She started playing at noon, when she could hardly see over her pile of 5,000 franc notes. She hasn't moved all day or all evening. At 2 a. m. she has lost everything but a few bills. Each time before she plays she turns her huge cashbook, emerald ring clear around once on her finger — for good luck!

Men Behind the Wheels In the far room, the Privee, fortunes are lost and won in a single evening. Here you see the Greek gambling syndicate "ead, M. Zographos, a dapper, contained little dark man with a fine smile. Though faces register nothing, there is an electric tension in the air.

The man behind all this excitement, the man who runs the Casino, manages the three leading hotels, two race tracks, the tennis matches, golf tournaments, regattas and everything else, is a huge, capable, genial Frenchman, Francois Andre. "Andre really is the man who puts the "dough" in Deauville."

Born in poverty in Southern France, apprenticed young to a brewer, Andre never got started on his way to wealth and fame until, after the war, having 10,000 francs, he started a small farming house for about half that amount for a single day, made a gain, took it for another day, and soared to success. Having won on such a gamble, he figured human nature is like that, so he started big pleasure projects.

Andre is the man who launched Cannes and the one who made Deauville what it is today.

Simplicity Amidst Luxury Visit Andre in the Casino and you'll get a real surprise. His is no spacious, regal office, such as you might expect. It is a small shabby office, in the basement, with a worn carpet and an old roll-top desk with maps of France, a few Desau-ville posters and a calendar on the wall.

Andre is a powerful, fine looking man, with black eyes that misbehave, iron gray hair, beautiful white teeth, a genial kindness about him and an easy manner with his inferiors who hover about to do his wishes. He wears snappily cut double-breasted suits and never goes out into the sun without his umbrella.

He is a perfect dynamo for work, keeping a half dozen men busy at once doing his bidding. puts in an 18-hour day during the season, never goes to bed before 4 a. m., never eats regular meals (but always has regular wine), yet he has time to sit back in his swivel chair and talk about America, the Depression, how the world is coming back and just how much better than all other entertainers American jazz orchestras are.

BRIDGE EXPERT TELLS HOW MUCH HE EARNS

Culbertson Says Net Income in Last Four Years Was Less Than $200,000.

New York, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Ely Culbertson disclosed today that the total net income of himself and wife from contract bridge activities in less than four years had been $200,000. He was financially ruined by the Russian revolution before contract began to develop.

As aftermath of the defeat this summer of two British teams by a Culbertson quartet, some British newspapers have criticized him as a multi-millionaire, giving figures. Asked if these figures were correct, he offered to show his books.

"I'm only like a prosperous doctor or lawyer in a city of 100,000," he said, stressing that much had gone from the $200,000.

In detail his disclosures were: Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson and their corporation have gross income of $200,000.

Their payroll is $100,000 a year. Expenses for promotion, traveling and entertainment are heavy. "If at the end of a year we had $75,000 we could call our own, I'd consider it a tremendous lot of money."

He meant the total net income of himself and wife and corporation, without deduction of personal expenses.

BURNED BY ACID

Troy, N. Y., Sept. 15.—(AP)—A broken pipe spurted sulphuric acid on two workmen at the Hudson Valley Coke Company's plant today. They were rushed to a hospital.

One of the men suffered a broken leg when he jumped from a platform to escape the deadly spray. C. W. Cook, general manager of the plant, said the men were named Pitiello and Dupres. The seriousness of their injuries were not immediately determined.

Sulphuric acid, which can burn quickly through clothing, causing it to crumble apart, and can inflict serious burns, was said to be flowing as a by-product of the company's gas plant.

The stem of a giant bamboo tree may grow a foot in one day.

AMATEUR FLIER KILLED IN UNUSUAL ACCIDENT

Brooklands, Eng., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Lady Clayton-East-Clayton, noted young amateur pilot and the widow of the explorer, Sir Robert Clayton-East-Clayton, was killed today in an unusual airplane accident here.

As she was entering the plane it started to fly. She tried desperately to climb into the cockpit as the machine rapidly gained speed but was thrown to the ground violently. As the plane turned over on its nose, her skull was fractured and she died shortly after being taken to a hospital.

Sir Robert died last year from a mysterious germ disease contracted during an unsuccessful airplane and motor journey searching for a lost oasis in the Libyan desert a few months previously.

FLIER AT TORONTO

Toronto, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Captain James Mollison, British trans-Atlantic flier, arrived here today from Montreal to meet his wife, Amy Mollison, and make final plans for a hop that may take them from some point in Ontario to Europe.

Mrs. Mollison is to arrive from New York later in the day.

Mollison said the choice of a takeoff site rests with his wife, who has been flying in the United States and Canada for several weeks.

NO REQUESTS YET ON LOCAL OPTION

State Secretary Says He Will Not Ask Opinion at This Time.

Hartford, Sept. 15.—(AP)—State Secretary John A. Danaher, who yesterday announced there would be no voting on local option in the small town elections in October of this year, has not yet decided to seek an opinion from the attorney general confirming his views on the interpretation of the liquor control act adopted by the last General Assembly.

"There is no reason as yet apparent for requesting such an opinion," said Secretary Danaher, who further explained that nothing had been received in his office which might indicate that others held view different than those expressed by him yesterday. "Until there appears to be some justification for asking for such an opinion, none will be sought," he said.

"It appears to me that we have no authority to place on the ballots any questions except those relating to constitutional amendments, those affecting educational matters under some special legislative enactment, or some question to be determined by virtue of some special law," the secretary said today.

Ordered Ballots

It had been reported that the town of Trumbull had ordered ballots for its town election including a request for the determination of local option at the polls in October, but the order had not been received at the secretary's office up to noon today. It is also reported that the officials of the town of Orange may bring mandamus proceedings to compel the secretary to compel him to make provisions on the ballots for a vote on local option, but nothing of this has officially come to the State Capitol as yet.

The state secretary on Thursday dropped a bombshell into the small towns where it had been hoped not only to ban the sale of intoxicating liquors when they became legal in the country, but also to prohibit the sale of beer which is now legal and which is described as non-intoxicating. The secretary held that no vote on legal option may be held under the provisions of the state liquor control act, until after the Federal prohibition law is repealed, and accordingly his office would make no provisions on the ballots to be used in the October elections to obtain the sentiment of the small towns in this respect.

Would you recommend the use of nose adjusters at night? I am seventeen years of age." Answer: I have never been able to find that the nose adjusters were of much value to those of my patients who tried them. Because of your youthful age, you will probably not notice the size of your nose as much when you grow older. Anyway, a large nose is considered a sign of intelligence.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

(Reducing.) Question: Miss Marie W. asks: "Can I reduce and at the same time eat all I want of the non-fattening foods?" Answer: One can usually eat a large amount without gaining weight, providing most of the foods are of low calory value, such as the non-starchy vegetables. The most fattening foods are those made of any kind of flour. The starches may be entirely eliminated, but in addition to eating large amounts of the green vegetables one who is trying to reduce should also use

WOULD SELL POWER AT LOWER RATES

Muscle Shoals Plant Can Produce It Cheaper by 60 Per Cent.

Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—
The Tennessee Valley bade fare today to become an economic battleground to test the justness of the 20 to 60 per cent lower rates for power from government owned and operated Muscle Shoals.

Proposing to sell power at rates much lower than in most American cities, the Tennessee valley authority, in charge of Muscle Shoals, has marked out a Rooseveltian yardstick which probably will stir up the years old argument of public versus private ownership and operation.

David E. Lillenthal, assigned to the execution of the power program, apparently has taken every precaution to be sure that Muscle Shoals expenses will be comparable to the expenses of a privately operated power plant, has allowed 25 per cent for good measure—and then proposes an average of 2 1/2 cents a kilowatt hour as against the private company's average of 5.58 cents to the ordinary consumer.

The accuracy of the authority's figures on costs and capitalization are tremendously important to the private utilities, not only strictly as competition but as an example which might result in a wholesale

SOCIALIST TO ADDRESS POLISH MEETING HERE

Martin Plunkett Coming Here Under Sponsorship of the Polish Alliance.

Martin Plunkett, State Chairman of the Socialist Party will address a picnic meeting at Oakland street, station 86, Sunday afternoon under the sponsorship of the Polish Alliance of Hartford.

Mr. Plunkett, a veteran Socialist, is an executive member of the Continental Congress of Farmers and Workers and will doubtless give some outline of these plans adopted at the Congress held in New Haven Sept. 9. Socialists, workers and others interested will be cordially welcomed.

Fifteen thousand people in Tellington, a London borough, are living one family to a room.

ALL-BRAN RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Delicious Cereal Brought New Health to Mr. Bartholomew

Mr. Bartholomew writes: "I had considerable trouble with my stomach. Digestion was out of the question. I got medicine which gave me only temporary relief.

"Then I thought of taking ALL-BRAN. I started eating a cereal dish two or three times a day.

"It has been over a year now
since I ate that first dish of bran, but from that day to this I have had the pleasure of enjoying the proper functioning of the digestive organs.

"Thanks to ALL-BRAN, I still eat it regularly and like it better all the time."—Lester Bartholomew, Cadillac, Mich.

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote elimination. ALL-BRAN supplies both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Certainly this food is more natural than taking harmful patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Due to inclement weather, the straw ride scheduled for tonight by the Luther League of the Emanuel Lutheran church has been postponed indefinitely, but a business meeting tance are slated for discussion and all members are urged to be present.

Clergyman Pays a Visit To a Colony of Nudists

Chicago, Sept. 15.—(AP)—A nude colony at Chicago's very back door where a recent visitor said he "hung his clothes on a hickory limb and enjoyed a most exhilarating game of volleyball, then took a washdown" was described today by the Rev. Henry S.
Huntington, Scarsdale, N. Y., head of the International Nudist Conference.

The Rev. Huntington was the visitor referred to, but in discussing the incident in the office of attorney Kenneth Krippence he refused to reveal the location of the camp.

"I paid a visit to the camp on Wednesday with a group of Chicagoans who believe in the principles of nudism," he said. "In the group were a consulting scientist, a young engineer and his wife, a young business woman, a Chicago clergyman, and the director of the camp and his wife."

He said it was just getting under way and promised to be a pleasant place to spend a holiday. At present a remodeled chicken house passes for a dormitory and the camp is only in use on week-ends.

ARRANGE MASTER CODE FOR RETAIL DEALERS

Washington, Sept. 15—(AP)—A new draft of a master retail code was under examination at the NRA offices today, carrying a provision for maintaining minimum prices at ten per cent above wholesale cost instead of above the invoice cost as previously specified.

This change was made to protect small unorganized dealers who have to buy their goods in low quantities and at higher invoice price than the larger merchant.

Although designated as a master code, covering eight or nine lines of retail trade, neither drug stores nor food dealers were included. A separate code is being completed for the druggists although it was described as almost identical in both respects to the master code.

Along with the cost-plus feature, the new code carries a provision for maintenance of retail prices on trade marked goods, setting a limit on discount which retailers may allow at twenty-one per cent below the price fixed by the manufacturer. This was expected to result in approximately the same level as the ten per cent plus regulation.

TWO SUSPECTS HELD

Stamford, Sept. 15—(AP)—Amos Paul Fisher, alias Phillip Geffen, 32, of 1520 Sheridan avenue, and Simon Rosenthal, 33, of 2116 Morris avenue both of the Bronx, were ordered held for the Superior Court in bond of $5,000 each by Judge Clement H. Fuller of Stamford City Court this morning, when he found probable cause for charges of theft of an automobile and possession of an automobile with mutilated identification numbers against them. They were arrested here Monday, when they attempted to sell an automobile, which was stolen in New York, on June 29. Fisher is free in bail of $5,000 on a similar charge in New York and Rosenthal is held by local police to have a criminal record.

AUTO SINKS IN RIVER; THINK DRIVER DROWNED

New Haven, Sept. 15—(AP)—Pasquale Porpora, 39 years old vegetable dealer, was believed to have drowned today when his truck crashed through the rail at the Tomlinson bridge and plunged into the Quinnipiac river.

Police said they believed Porpora, father of three children, was the only one in the truck.

The truck, laden with vegetables, skidded against the bridge and then swerved across the highway, crashing into the opposite rail. It landed in 24 feet of water after tearing down about fifty feet of rail.

A police boat was sent to the scene to drag the river and to aid in attempts to raise the truck.

The accident occurred east of the Sargent factory.

The second largest telescope in the world is at the Dominion Astronomical Observatory, Victoria, British Columbia. It has a 72-inch reflector.

SENSE and NONSENSE

So many of the so-called strong-minded men didn't get their reputation around their homes.

The Prospect—Am I the first man you ever kissed?
The Maid—Why? Do I go about it like an emmaur?

Two little words that made the world run more smoothly, that ease the hard places of life and absorb many of its knocks, are "Thank you."

Man—What's the idea of the suit case—going away?
Neighbor—No: I hear there's going to be a rummage sale in the school, and I'm taking my best clothes down to the office, until it's over.

"Bee That Get Honey Don't Hang Around the Hive." Yes, and may we call your attention to the fact that they don't whine.

Hubby—It's queer, but the biggest idiots seem to marry the prettiest women.
His Wife—Now, you're trying to flatter me, dear.

Man—Do you suppose Bill actually carries between $95 and $100 on his person?
Business Associate—Yes, $5! That's between $95 and $100.

As Long As a Man and a Woman Like to be Together There is no Danger of a Divorce Suit—Provided They Are Married to Each Other.

Jim—I don't mind looking after your horses, but I don't want to be called a hostler.
Tom—Oh, that's all right—I'll call you our stabilizer.

The sweetest music we hear these days is the starting whistle at our great manufacturing plants throughout our land. Cheerfulness is returning—courage coming into its own. Thank God—the tide has turned—we're on our way out!

The difference in men is their thoughts. The man who does not think can be nothing more than a plodder, while the man who thinks places himself in new fields.

Executives Who are on the Outlook for Business are Not Worried About the Business Outlook.

Wife—Do you love me still?
Her Hubby—I might if you'd stay still long enough.

Thought—Fr., Sept. 15
For I will give you a mouth and wisdom, which all your adversaries shall not be able to gainsay nor resist.—St. Luke, 21:15.

CHAFF... Business' like flying you have to keep moving to stay up... Wo'd you call a fingerie salesman an undercover man? ... A bus doesn't stop scratching when worms are scarce... Watching the parade from the curb never made a leader... The man who is guilty of sharp trades will find his business growing dull... If business waited for the "right time" there would be no business... If somebody else is doing your thinking, you are probably doing someone else's work... Speaking straight from the shoulder is usually done by a man who does not use anything higher up... Never meddle with a hornet, or a man who is minding his own business... Radio singers should practice what they preach... You can't expect you, all, to come in unless you have sent one out...

Druggist—Say, Doctor, can you fix this twitching eye of mine?
Doctor—Is it troubling you very much?
Druggist—Well, yes, in a way. You see, every time I wait on a man and he sees, that twitch he says: "I don't care if I do."

A youngster put two small children on a street car and ran along beside it himself.
"It's all right, mister," he yelled to the conductor. "I'm taking the two kids down town. Let them off there, please."
"Sure," said the conductor, "but how about their fare?"
"It's all right," yelled the boy. "They don't pay fare; they're under five."

SEEKING PAYROLL
DATA FOR THE NRA

Local Headquarters Also Urging All Who Have Not
Signed to Do So.

Two form letters have been issued from the headquarters of the local NRA committee, the first being sent to all Blue Eagle employers with a request for information that will bring out the increase in employees and payrolls under the National Recovery Act program.

Strict Confidence
The second letter of persons employed as of July 1 and the present date, and also the total amount of weekly payrolls for all employees and executives of the concern on July 1 and the present date. It is pointed out that these statistics will be used to arrive at the aggregate figures for all business houses and firms and only these totals covering all employment and all payrolls in Manchester will be forwarded to Washington. The separate figures of the individual employers will be kept in strict confidence.

The second letter is being sent to all local employers and is intended under the Blue Eagle, urging them to sign the President's Reemployment Agreement immediately. In order to send these letters out today it was necessary to call upon volunteer workers for assistance. Mrs.
Grace Kennedy, Miss Edith Jeffers and Miss Lillian Carney giving their services.

One More Signer
It was reported at the post office
today that only one additional employer has signed the President's Reemployment Agreement, bringing the total to 537. The lone signer was Walter F. Hobby. No increase was reported in the list of consumer pledges, but an appeal was made that all who have not signed the consumer pledge to support Blue Eagle firms call at the Commerce office and do so at once.

"Fraternism" — Plan Full
Season of Activities.

The Booster Club of King David Lodge L. O. F. plans to open the fall season on Friday evening, September 22, with one of the ablest

England. Willard E. Rogers has been obtained to address the members and will, in all probability, speak on the subject of "Fraternism."
The club feels that it has been fortunate in being able to get
Mr. Rogers for this meeting.

In addition to this the Booster Club will announce its plans for the carnival to be held late in October, 1933, at the meeting. The rough plans will be thoroughly discussed tonight and Noble Grand Stanley Nichols and a large committee is hard at work getting the affair into shape at the present time.

A comprehensive program for the entire winter season has been announced by the Booster Club and indications point to a very busy fall and winter. Inter-lodge affairs, degree work, a carnival and the annual anniversary meetings are now being arranged for. In addition to the above activities there will be a ping-pong tournament and a baseball league, indoors, with the darts, formed as soon as cold weather sets in.
