LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health. Today, you can get rid of common constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily will overcome most types of constipation. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Retzky was 58 in the victim's pockets, tending to discount a robbery theory. He telephoned his wife at 8 p. m. yesterday and said, "I'll be home in 40 minutes."

For the LOVE of EVE

BEHOLD HERE TODAY EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bippy's department store, marries DICK RADEB, a construction superintendent. Dick is sent to take charge of a construction job in the Adirondacks. It will require at least a year to complete but Eve refuses to give up her work and go with him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Saturday afternoon Arlene received a telephone message from Sam who was coming to take her to dinner at a new seafood grill at 100th street. Since Mona's boarding house was on 100th street Arlene invited Eve and Mona to ride home with her and Sam. At 6 the four met outside Bippy's. Arlene insisted that Eve should ride with Sam while she shared the rumble seat with Mona. Eve entered into a lively discussion with Sam about the subject of advertising and was impressed by his shrewdness and vision. The ride to 100th street seemed short. Mona led Eve to her room on the third floor of the green frame dwelling. It was an attractive room with a piano containing sheet music and windows. The work had been painted orchid and there were yellow and orchid draperies at the windows to match the yellow and orchid bedspread. These colors were used in a waven rag rug on the floor. The girls removed their wraps and went down stairs to dinner. Eve glanced about her as she entered the spacious dining room. Evidently a wall had been removed and two rooms thrown into one. Tables seemed to be everywhere with a subject of advertising and most of the diners were women. "But leave it to Mona!" thought Eve as she followed the other girl to a small table at which were seated an elderly woman and a young man. The young man flashed Mona a quick smile and introduced her as "Mr. Miller." He explained that Mr. Miller roomed in the neighborhood but came here for his meals. Eve felt an uncomfortable third party as the conversation between the two grew animated. Later, when it was suggested that she should accompany Eve and her mother to the new seafood grill at 100th street, Eve pleaded a headache and asked to be dropped off at her home. "But the ride will cure your headache!" Miller insisted. "Miss Allen and I often drive after dinner. Come on—the more the merrier, you know!"

TO BE CONTINUED

Finally she came to a farm house bearing a sign "Tourists Welcome." Eve rang the doorbell and when a motherly looking woman with graying hair answered she changed her mind about asking for directions but asked instead if she could stop for the night. She was shown a spic and span room with pink rug and a Jenny Lind bed. Then the farmer's wife turned to her and said, "I'll just send Pa out after your baggage. Did you want to drive your car into the barn for the night?" When Eve told her she had no car and no baggage but offered to pay her immediately, her hostess looked dubious, went below evidently to consult "Pa." She returned soon, smiling reassuringly. "I'll be all right," she said. "Did you want to camp, or set with you a while in the living room or did you just want to go to bed?" Later as Eve sank with relief into the deep feathered bed she thought, "I suppose 'Pa' is lying awake with a thought 'thinking he's harboring a suspicious character.'"

THEY WERE FRIENDS

"You little fool!" he said. "Do you think I'd let any harm come to you?" she said. "I'm mad about you! Why can't we be friends? Your husband isn't above a little flirtation when the occasion offers. Why not give him a taste of his own medicine?" Abruptly Eve hung up the receiver. She was shocked and terrified at the threat of danger in Reece's persistent attentions and terrified at his insinuations about Dick. Were they true—Reece's hints that Dick had been phoning? How was she to bear it if they were true!

THEY WERE FRIENDS

"You know I'm not," she answered. "Then you can't mind if I sit down?" he responded. "You must be pretty young. Why you look like a kid!" He pulled a flask from his hip pocket. Eve felt trapped. It was a flat-back little flask, she thought. She had not been aware that Reece was in town but apparently he had come to town with Mona. Oh, why did they take such delight in making her uncomfortable? Was it because she made no effort to connect her initials with Reece? Now the incident...

The Crown Topples!
THERE GOES OUR PRISONER! HELP! YEAH! AN' O' KING GUZZLE TOO! I HOPE THEY NEVER COME BACK!

By HAMLIN

In just a minute they all heard, "Quack, quack!" Out came funny bird. "My, what a duck," said Goldy. "See the hat upon her head!" "Come on, now," said the parrot, "soon as you have entertained us all, you will be fed." The rope was then stretched good and tight. The duck flapped up with all her might and landed safe and sound. Then Copy cried, "All right, let's go!" "We're going to swing you 'way up high. Much higher than you'll ever fly." It was a sight to see the big duck swinging to and fro. (The Tinnies meet a cub bear past in the next story.)

PARK BOARD SEEKS CEMETERY CONTROL

Report of Commissioners Tells of Year's Work, Urges Amendment O. K.

The report of the Park Commissioners, for the year past shows that the Park Department participated in many major work projects during the year, furnishing the unemployed with jobs in the town's parks and playgrounds, and co-operated with the Highway Department in the construction of street grading and curbing adjoining the parks.

Chief among the work projects during the year were: Filling and grading the Valley street playground; the construction of street grading and curbing adjoining the parks.

Other projects were: Grading 1 1/2 acres of town land in rear of the Municipal building, the Center Congregational Church and Fire House No. 2; grading small park at the intersection of Lydall and Vernon streets in Lydallville and removing a large knoll at the junction of Center, West Middle Turnpike and Hilliard streets, where the State Highway department contemplates the construction of a small park.

In addition to the foregoing improvements, some maintenance work was carried on in various parks. All work in connection with maintenance was done by men on the work relief payroll.

The new skating lodge, at Center Springs Park was used the past winter during the few weeks that it was possible to maintain the ice and the report holds that its erection was justified. The lodge is available to responsible organizations which may wish to make use of it at any time during the year, the report states.

There were 136 elm trees sprayed in the vicinity of Depot Square and other elms at the junction of Fairfield and West Streets, for the Elm Tree beetle.

The report of the tree warden shows that 395 inspections were made during the year. Seven permits for removal of 11 trees were refused. Twenty-six permits were granted for the removal of 103 trees and 25 permits were granted for pruning 38 trees.

The park department removed 247 trees, removed deadwood from 202 trees and did miscellaneous work on nearly 300 others.

Seeks Cemetery Control The special act concerning placing of cemeteries under the control of the Board of Park Commissioners will soon be placed before the voters for approval.

Commissioners declare themselves unanimously in favor of the approval of this act as they believe greater efficiency and better service will result from such consolidation.

The cost of park work was $7,145.78 and of tree warden and spraying $2,530.85. An appropriation of $9,500 will be sufficient for the ensuing year, provided that additional help can be secured under an emergency appropriation, the commissioners believe.
