STATE VOTERS TO BALLOT ON 2 AMENDMENTS

To Decide Whether Governor Will Be Given More Time to Sign Bills—Also His Appointive Power.

New Haven, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The Connecticut electorate will vote this year on two proposed amendments to the state constitution—one giving the governor more time to sign or veto bills and the other empowering him to nominate judges of the Court of Common Pleas in the same manner as he now nominates for the Supreme and Superior courts.

The amendment dealing with the signing of bills was born from the famous McCook case in which the Supreme Court ruled a mass of legislation invalid on the ground the governor had not signed the bills three days after the adjournment of the General Assembly.

Kills Pocket Veto This amendment, which does away with the pocket veto. Under its principal provision, the governor would be given 15 days after legislative adjournment to veto a bill. If he disapproves a bill, he must notify the secretary of state, within 15 days after adjournment. He must at the same time list his objections to the bill.

Given Five Days While the General Assembly is in session, the governor would have five instead of three days in which he may sign or veto a bill after it is presented to him.

CHICAGO BANDITS USE SMOKE SCREEN

Hold Up Bank Messengers; Kill Policeman as They Flee from the Scene.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Behind a smoke-screen laid in Chicago's Loop today five gunmen staged a daring holdup of four Federal Reserve bank employees and five minutes later shot and killed a policeman after their automobile collided with another.

The robbery, carefully planned and swiftly executed, probably will not net much in the way of loot, an official of the Federal Reserve bank said. W. C. Bachman, cashier and assistant deputy governor of the bank, said he believed the two bags contained nothing but cashed checks from member banks.

The policemen approached the desperadoes car about a mile from the scene of the robbery, not knowing of the holdup, was Miles Cunningham, 35.

A moment before the machine had overturned after striking another, and Cunningham and Policeman Morris Fitzgerald stepped into the street the men crawled from the wreckage and sent a barrage of machine gun bullets toward the officers. Cunningham fell mortally wounded while Fitzgerald jumped behind a metal sign and returned the fire for a moment.

The desperadoes commandeered a passing motorist's machine and sped from the scene. A few minutes later they forced another motorist from his car, and fled, leaving the other behind.

The whole chain of events occurred in such swift succession that police were not informed of the holdup until word of the officer's death was received.

WORLD WAR HERO GETS JOB AGAIN

First Yankee Captive Whose Picture Was on Liberty Loan Poster Was Long Unemployed.

Detroit, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Edgar M. Halyburton, whose defiance of the enemy as the first Yankee captive during the World War was perpetuated in a statue and on Liberty Loan posters, has been mustered out of the army of the unemployed.

Out of a job since he lost his harbor ship during the banking crisis here last spring, he will go to work Monday on one of the 5,000 jobs the Ford Motor Co. has offered Detroit war veterans with good records.

A German camera snapped Sergeant Halyburton as, with clenched fists, he shouted to his captors, "Shoot and be damned." The picture created a sensation when it was smuggled out of Germany to the United States.

CONSUMER BUYING IS WEEK'S FEATURE

Trade Review Reports That Good Weather Helped the Nation's Business.

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., in their weekly trade review today, said that overshadowing other trade news of the week were the reports of a strong resumption of consumer buying and a perceptible retardation of the industrial downturn.

The review asserted that clarification of methods of procedure under the various codes has brought greater freedom for progressive action to industrial divisions, while the absence of rain and unseasonably warm temperatures, which prevailed in most districts last week, has permitted the covering of autumn requirements in retail centers to be pursued with more vigor.

The trend of retail distribution, continued the review, "was less uneven than a week ago, although reports varied from a gain of 10 percent for the Pacific coast states to a 15 percent for some of the middle western districts, while slight losses were more or less generally reported for the east and some parts of New England. In the southwest progress was halted by labor troubles."

Industrial trends have been reversed to some extent this week, and the downward line of many of the major indices has been shortened. General retail trade continues to move ahead at an increased pace, both in comparison with the preceding week and with the totals for the same period a year ago, with the exception of a few districts where the 1932 volume reflected a pronounced recovery of consumer buying which was of brief duration.

"Current gains appear to be well spread in all directions, although department store sales gradually are attaining the advantage in the upward movement."

YALE'S GRIDSTERS MYSTERIOUSLY ILL

Seven Members Taken Sick Suddenly—Doctor Believes Food Is to Blame.

New Haven, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The ailment which affected seven of the Yale football squad and an assistant manager, passed today as quickly as it came, and all the men were released from the New Haven hospital.

Dr. Orville Rogers, acting director of the Department of University Health, described the illness which sent the players to the hospital last night as "an acute stomach upset."

"That some one of the food-stuffs they ate at luncheon disagreed with them it is assumed. We are trying to find some common food they ate that disagreed with them, but so far we have not found it," Dr. Rogers said.

"It was an acute stomach upset—one of those things that makes you feel like you're going for a few hours—but then you're all right again after a few hours."

As Lawyers' Commission Inquired Into Reichstag Fire

Shown here in session in London is the unofficial international legal commission which declared for the innocence of the five Communists now on trial in Leipzig for high treason in connection with the Reichstag fire. The commission stated that suspicion for the deed rested with high Nazi officials instead. Left to right, standing, the members are Dr. Branting, of Sweden; Arthur Garfield Hays, United States; Dr. Baker-Nort, of Holland; D. N. Pritt, of England; Mr. Vald-Huv, of Denmark; Mr. Vermeulen, of Belgium.

TO SPEND 75 MILLIONS TO FEED, CLOTHE NEEDY

President Outlines Plan to Get Rid of Surplus Stocks and Help the Unemployed at the Same Time.

Washington, Sept. 22.—(AP)—A $75,000,000 program promising aid simultaneously to the farmer and the unemployed today was directed by President Roosevelt to help bridge the gap between surplus supplies and consumption.

A President's order, the agricultural adjustment and Federal relief administrations prepared to purchase quantities of foodstuffs and staples for distribution to the destitute on relief rolls.

"Through his action much of the oversupply of important foodstuffs and staples will be placed in the hands of the destitute unemployed who are living on the short shrift of public unemployment relief," said the White House announcement.

APPEALS FLOOD SUPREME COURT

Dry Law Violators Hope That Nation Will Be Wet Before End of Year.

Washington, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Convicted prohibition law violators are piling up the docket of the Supreme Court with appeals, hoping that repeal will become a fact before the tribunal disposes of their cases.

Meanwhile, Justice Department officials are considering adoption of a policy of leniency—if repeal is voted—toward those sentenced for liquor law infractions.

During the recess of the court, 425 petitions for review were filed of which, more than 300 are liquor cases. The court will meet October 2, and its members are planning to deal with the petitions as quickly as possible.

Probably most of the appeals will be dismissed as, in the opinion of court attaches, they present no substantial question for the court to entertain.

Another question which Justice Department officials must settle soon is whether in view of official forecasts of repeal by early December, cases now pending in the court are to be prosecuted.

One high department official said that a "common sense policy" would be adopted. He declined, however, to elaborate on what it might be.

OVER MILLION DOLLAR WAGE INCREASE HERE

Replies to NRA Questionnaire Disclose Amazing Results of Blue Eagle Campaign in Manchester.

The total annual increase in Manchester payroll under the National Recovery Act today was estimated at more than one million dollars, this figure being based on a compilation of first returns of the questionnaire sent out by the local NRA committee.

The figures were compiled from about 300 replies to the 800 letters sent to business concerns that have signed the President's Reemployment Agreement and take in the period from July 1 to the present date.

Employment increase This uncollected survey also brought out that a total of 682 persons have found employment in Manchester since last July, this figure and the payroll figure being exclusive of the increases made under the NRA previous to July 1, when the local committee began its activities. It is pointed out that the returns cover only one-half of Manchester's Blue Eagle business concerns and that the figures will be greatly increased when complete returns are made.

The weekly increase in payrolls since July 1 was also estimated at $23,072.68. It was reported that close to eighty concerns, large and small, have increased their payroll since July 1. The immediate response was most gratifying and replies are still coming in steadily.

This was the first opportunity to compile the individual reports to obtain the aggregate increases in both employment and payrolls.

JERSEY EXCHANGE TO START OCT. 2

Will Begin With 25 Stocks and Gradually Move the Entire List.

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The New York Stock Exchange will lose about 25 of its most active stocks on Oct. 2, when trading will definitely be started in New Jersey, it was asserted in well-informed brokerage quarters in Wall street today.

Leading brokers said that trading on the newly organized New Jersey Stock Exchange would start on that date, regardless of whether or not Mayor O'Brien had signed the New Jersey City tax ordinance and stock transfers by that time.

While trading will begin with only about 25 stocks, it was explained that the New Jersey list would be expanded as rapidly as mechanical facilities would permit. Also, it was said that as soon as stocks were removed to New Jersey, trading in those shares would cease in the New York Exchange.

Two Sets of Prices It was expected the Stock ticker would quote both New York and New Jersey prices, inasmuch as there would be no duplication of trading in individual issues. This, it was explained, would obviate setting up a separate ticker system.

In the meantime, Stock Exchange quarters were prepared to wage a strong legal contest against the New York City taxes. Regardless of the outcome of this contest, many members of the exchange said they favored moving to New Jersey anyway, to avoid the New York state stock transfer and income taxes already in effect.

Some leaders in the financial district feared dire consequences to the Wall street area of the city, should the Stock Exchange be removed, lock, stock and barrel.

It was explained that the Stock Exchange had been the chief factor in knitting the financial district together and holding it on the tip of Manhattan island. In the meantime, there has been a considerable movement of offices of leading corporations away from the financial area to mid-Manhattan.

NATIONS PREPARING FOR A NEW PARLEY TO CUT DOWN ARMS

Germany to Ask for Equality, France for Security and the Others Will Demand Reductions—How Various Nations View the Situation.

Wellesley, Mass., Sept. 22.—(AP)—An element of mystery today entered the circumstances surrounding the finding of Miss Eleanor Crosby, 18 years old Wellesley sophomore from Hartford, Conn., on the tracks of the Boston and Albany railroad yesterday, a minute before the Twentieth Century Limited roared over the spot.

Contradictory statements were made today by college officials and authorities of the Newton hospital, when Miss Crosby is in a critical condition with both arms broken and severe cuts and bruises.

Will Not Talk At the college it was said Miss Crosby regained consciousness early this morning, told inquiries she did not know how she was injured, and asserted she last remembered walking along a state highway some distance from the tracks. Hospital officials on the other hand said when Miss Crosby was found, she was unconscious since being admitted to the institution and had declined to make any statement.

Not Hit by Auto. Sergeant James F. O'Day, acting chief of police, said authorities had been unable to obtain any information of the accident, but discounted a theory that the girl might have been hit by an automobile and hurried to the tracks. For this to have happened, he said, she would have had to be thrown through a heavy wire fence, down a 20 foot embankment, and pitched a like distance to the spot where she was found. Police did, however, give some credence to the belief that a panic-stricken hit-and-run driver may have carried her to the tracks. The police officer who found the girl is heavily wooded.

The situation was further complicated today by the refusal of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Crosby, parents of the girl to make any statement after they had visited her at the hospital.

France's proposals call for: (1) Doubling Germany's army from the present 100,000 to 200,000 and increasing small arms proportionately. (2)—Transforming European armies into militias with but few months service and abolishing professional armies and semi-military groups.

Three Men Arrested in Antwerp—American Consul Ordered to Investigate—Very Few Details Given.

Paris, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The trail of the Lindbergh kidnapers was sought today by Paris police who said they had the name of a man who had in his possession a 1,000 pound note identified by the Bank of England as part of the ransom money extorted from Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh last year.

The Lindbergh ransom money was paid in United States $5, $10, and $20 bills, and heretofore there has been no report that British currency was involved. The American bills might, however, have been exchanged for British currency and the 1,000 pound note later have been traced to that exchange.

Three men were arrested in Antwerp, it was reported, after trying to cash the British note. It later was discovered, however, that the note was a forgery and was not the ransom money. One of the prisoners later revealed the bill had been enclosed in an envelope addressed to the judge and mailed after the three had been surrounded by police.

The judge thought the matter a joke, jotted the envelope to a clerk, who crumpled it and threw it away.

Other Murders Other slayings the police sought to connect him with were: The machine-gunning of Vincent Coll, Bronx desperado; the ride killings of Marcel Poffo, Max Parken, Anthony Russo, and Joseph Callegro, whose bodies were found near Harrison, N. Y.; the killing of Joe Ruggiero, believed to have followed a quarrel over the loot from a New York bank robbery; the "sack murder" of William Price and Edward Flanagan in Brooklyn, and the "sack murder" of David Belzer, who has been arrested with Scarnici for a robbery of the post office at Salisbury, Conn.

Kidnap Charges Scarnici, and two of his seized companions, Anthony Reimo and Charles Herzog, were all accused of the Rensselaer robbery and killing.

Horse Struck by an Auto Tries to Wreck Machine

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Old Dobbin (the one Hugo van Laanen owned) is no more, but he proved before his passing that no small automobile could push him around and get away with it.

His only mistake was that he picked on the wrong car. What he did to it while dying was a shame—and a revelation.

Dobbin, or maybe his name was Jake, was struck by an automobile yesterday. His skull was fractured. August Kroening drove by, saw him lying beside the road, and notified Van Laanen. Together they investigated. The horse was apparently breathing his last, but struggled to his feet when Van Laanen called and was led to the barn. Suddenly he saw Kroening's car and things began to happen.

OPEN FORUM

USE SILK MORE Editor of The Herald: A short time ago a number of Japanese gentlemen visited our town.

When we read of the many factories where sweat-shop conditions are found, with wages as low as three dollars a week whose owners are actuated only by greed and self-interest, and giving us thought to employee's welfare, we may consider ourselves fortunate that our town is free from such that our three dollars a week which is the life and prosperity of the town depends, is managed by men who consider the welfare of their employees as important as their own.

For many years pensions were paid to old and disabled employees. This represented an outlay of more than seventy thousand dollars a year. It was recently discontinued because of the depression.

But their benevolence and generosity extends beyond town limits, and reaches back more than sixty years to the great Chicago fire, to which a generous donation was sent for the relief of the sufferers.

THE BARGAIN HOUND

It's smart to take to quilting these days, and as well as its being an enjoyable and inexpensive pastime, the finished product makes you feel as though you'd really accomplished something. You'll find no better selection of silk patchwork pieces anywhere than at Cheney's Remnant Room, and they are only $1.00 a pound. There's enough in a pound for one quilt top.

Consider your back before you select an evening frock that is absolutely backless. Few of us have backs which warrant complete display. Unless you are sure that yours does, better stick to intricate straps which partially cover the bare skin.

Stockings, as usual, are on the run. Don't let them get the better of you. Keep their elasticity by washing them in Robertson Sudsy Suds.

You had better be jewel-minded if you intend looking smart this winter, and don't buy cheap jewelry. Take time to select from the great assortment of costume jewelry offered, smaller, individual, unique and with real character. It can add so much to your costume if you will be discriminating and clever in your selection.

Mothers, it's time to have your children begin their piano lessons again. Call Mr. Otto Neubauer 6583. He has proven his success for several years as a teacher of modern and classical music.

The autumn races at Belmont Park were a mecca for all society folk just home from abroad, and most of them wore new clothes they got over there. Every society woman seems to have gone to the hands-knit thing, a big way—whether whole suits, or separate little sweater blouses for suit wear, or some of the new turbans.

Smart new gloves have cuffs to match your suits or dresses. A good trick is get plain kid gloves the color you want, then make your own furring cuffs of material just like your costume. If you want to be ultra smart, sew decorative buttons onto your gloves and make buttonholes in your cuffs to attach them.

Don't miss the Main Street Fair next Tuesday and Wednesday at the Manchester Y. M. C. A. There's to be everything from a country store to an exotic oriental booth. Come at 5 o'clock Tuesday and have a delicious supper.

SEEK OFFICE ROOM FOR TOWN UTILITIES

Water and Sewer Departments Will Be Located in the Municipal Building.

The office of the town water and sewer department will be located, it is expected, in the Municipal building when the commission and manager of the companies have been selected by the Selectmen and confirmed by the town. The Selectmen this morning inspected the building now occupied by Reuben McCann as an office and found the building unsuited for the purpose of housing the utilities offices.

The best location for the office, it is believed by the Selectmen, will be the office in the Municipal building now occupied by Building Inspector Edward C. Elliott. This office adjoins the Town Engineer's office where a vault is available for the large number of maps and plans of the companies which will be turned over to the town by Cheney Brothers when the transfer of the equipment is made.

Another office less adaptable for the purpose is the room in the rear of the building now used by the Charity department. Adjoining this room is a smaller room which might be used for storing the equipment. There is plenty of storage space in the basement for extra equipment.

In the event that the room now used by the Charity department is designated for the utility office, the charity department may be removed to the Knox homestead, owned by the town and used for the past year by the Manchester Emergency Employment bureau for the employment office.

which President Roosevelt discussed with newspapermen.

Plan Outlined
The plan, as outlined personally by the chief executive last night, "will add to and not replace items of relief already provided."

Under consideration for handling in a manner similar to the 100,000-000 pounds of cured pork recently distributed by the relief administration were such products as beef, dairy and poultry products and products of cotton and cotton seed. Officials estimated $75,000,000 would be expended on such purchases, but this figure was not final.

"The President said he considered the program arranged between the agricultural adjustment administration and the Federal emergency relief administration, one of the most direct blows at the economic paradox, which has choked farms with an abundance of farm products while many of the unemployed have gone hungry," the White House statement said.

Urges Speed
"He has directed the departments concerned to expedite in every possible way their combined attack on the food surplus and hunger problems."

"There are approximately 3,500,000 families now on relief rolls throughout the country. The amounts of food and clothing given the destitute still are inadequate. "A real effort to bridge the gap between supplies and consumption will be made. In this way two major objectives of the recovery program

Get $3.96 from Center Street Man Saying He Had Ordered Magazines.

Pictures of President Franklin D. Roosevelt come high the days at Daniel Rudaz of 582 Center street can testify. Daniel separated himself from $3.96 this morning for a large print of FDR and a couple of subscriptions to magazines. Two alleged agents called at the Rudaz home this morning and told him that they had called in connection with the magazines he had ordered, and displayed before his eyes the leader of the "New Deal" done in several attractive colors.

Could Not Explain.
What it was that prompted him to strip four berries off his roll to pay for the magazines in payment for the magazine subscriptions and the picture, Rudaz could not say when he appeared at the police station shortly before noon to see what could be done about it. Captain Herman Schendel called a local news dealer to find out if the magazines for which Rudaz had signed, were authentic periodicals. The information given him was to the effect that they were not listed in the catalogue at hand. Further investigation in connection with the picture, Rudaz had signed, and the concerns listed on the receipts given Rudaz will be made by the police.

"I no care for myself," said Rudaz. "I can afford the $3.96. I only want to see that others do not lose money."

Previous to the appearance of Rudaz and two friends at the police station, they called at the Chamber of Commerce office and the matter was referred to the police.

Other Places Informed.
Rudaz told Captain Schendel that the agents were driving a Buick coupe with New York markers when they called at his home. After the transaction they departed hurriedly down Olcott drive and to parts unknown. Officer Rudolph Wirtalla was sent to investigate but the agents had flown. The police of East Hartford were notified to be on the watch for the pair.

thorized the local council of the American Legion to employ 5,000 war veterans, which, it was stated, would bring the employment roster of the Ford company to 50,000. Employment of the veterans, under the auspices of the Wayne county, Detroit Council of the Legion, already is under way and about 2,000 men have been sent to the company plants. The interviewing of applicants will continue during the next 10 days, until the quota of 5,000 is filled.

Thousands of veterans have sought jobs, and Legion officials have noted that all applicants present records of army discharge and evidence of a "fine war record."

they quickly disarmed them and lined all four up against the walls of the adjacent Continental Trust Company.

Then, working methodically, they transferred the bags from the truck to a second automobile which had been slowly following in the rear and in a second were off in it heading west on Jackson boulevard.

In the machine abandoned at the scene of the killing police found a map which had been heavily thumbed in the vicinity of Kansas City, and Oklahoma, leading to the theory that the desperadoes may have been members of either the George (Machine-gun) Kelly or Verne Miller gangs.

The slaying of Officer Cunningham was the 12th in the ranks of Chicago policemen in 1933. Unpaid for months, due to the city's financial difficulties, Policeman Cunningham had received a long delayed salary check a few hours before and died with it on him, still uncashed.

The suggestion was made that with the four-cent-a-share state tax avoided by the removal, as well as the new four-cent city tax, the exchange itself might levy the small charge of one-cent-a-share, which should net a few million dollars a year, and quickly defray the expense of building complete new quarters.

GUARDSMEN'S RIFLE PRACTICE TOMORROW

Company G Going to Bolton Range—Attendance of Men Is Compulsory.

The members of Company G, 168th Regiment, C. N. G., will assemble at the armory tomorrow at 1 o'clock for transportation to the Bolton rifle range for record practice. Transportation will be furnished those who are without cars and attendance is compulsory. Those who absent themselves will be subject to a fine.

Medals, which have been displayed in the window of a main street store will be presented to the members of the company who turn in the highest scores. An additional medal will be presented to the member who makes the highest score, standing.

Twenty shots will be fired in this position, the riflemen using the highest scores. Members of the company who are unable to report Saturday on account of having to work or for any other reason, will report at the armory Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, and will proceed to Bolton immediately and complete their record firing at that time.

NEW WARD STORE MANAGER ARRIVES

William Lyons Takes Over Local Store, Coming Here from Burlington, Vt.

William Lyons, who has been manager of the Montgomery Ward Co store at Burlington, Vt., arrived in town yesterday to take over the management of the local store. It was in the Manchester store, when first opened, that Mr. Lyons entered the employ of the Montgomery Ward Company to train for other positions. H. J. Sampson arrived last evening from Hanover, Pa., to become the assistant manager of the store. Both were at the local store today.

tions throughout this eastern country as those of President Roosevelt or Al Smith. It appears to be thoroughly well understood, or at least taken completely for granted, that the ubiquitous Scarnicid has been going up and down through the land for a number of years, sticking up people and killing a considerable proportion of them, pretty much as he pleased and without any particular let or hindrance. He has been, it would seem, an almost omnipresent figure in police circles for quite a long time. Yet it has not apparently occurred to anybody that it might be a good idea to go to the trouble of hunting him up, between jobs, and putting him where it would be difficult if not impossible for him to murder or kidnap anybody.

The case of Scarnicid presents fairly convincing proof that there is very serious need in this country of a federalized police service such as several times recently has been advocated by criminologists. It is to be suspected that even right now Leonard Scarnicid and the rest of his highbinder crew would still be at liberty to pursue the tenor of their ways had it not been for the intervention of federal officers.

A police system which ceases to operate as soon as a criminal drives across the boundaries of the city in which he has been operating is not the most efficient imaginable set-up for the protection of citizens against crooks and desperadoes. There is a growing feeling that similar criticism applies to systems which terminate at state boundary lines.

When thugs, bandits, machine gunners and snatchers can hop from one state to another in an hour, the job of dealing with them in any effective way is, quite clearly, a very difficult one for local or state police organizations.

Canadian market are supplied by the trappers, the rest coming from the fur farms. Of the three-tenths of the fur output provided by the farms, however, it is stated that 85 per cent is represented by silver fox skins. Since the farms produce something above three million dollars worth of furs annually it is apparent that there are marketed from Canada farms alone, each year, about two and a half million dollars worth of silver fox skins.

Yet the confined production of fur in Canada may be regarded as in its infancy, since of the thirty-two varieties of fur that figure in the Canadian output only three, aside from the silver foxes, cut any appreciable figure in the farm raised supply. These are the mink, the patch fox and the red fox. Small numbers of pets of fifteen other varieties are raised but the main supply in all of them comes from the trappers, while there are thirteen more which figure largely in the trap crop which have never been raised on farms at all. Only an insignificant number of Canada's muskrat peltries come from the fur farms, though the muskrat is the second largest contributor to the Dominion's fur wealth, and it may be that in the future fully as much success will be attained in the breeding of these animals as in the raising of silver foxes.

At the present rate of opening up the wild spots of the earth it may not be more than a generation or two when all the furs will come from animal propagated under the control of man.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
The Herald Washington Correspondent

Washington.—The administration's careful Cuban policy has had exactly the desired effect in Latin America.

Not in many years, diplomats from this hemisphere's other republics admit, has public sentiment below the Rio Grande been so favorable for such a program of economic co-operation as Roosevelt is planning.

Latin-Americans have long memories. They recalled that Roosevelt, when an assistant secretary of the navy, had much to do with the occupation of Haiti.

Armed intervention would have had a bad effect. Any hard-boiled threat to Cuba from Washington would have been poorly received.

Roosevelt is now glad.

Now, the diplomats tell you, their people are impressed by the respect shown here for Cuba's sovereignty. Relations have been psychologically improved.

Gen. Fuller to Betrie.

Maj. Gen. Ben H. Fuller is not expected to be commandant of the Marine Corps much longer and there's a lively under-the-surface fight as to his successor.

The navy's admirals favor Brig. Gen. John H. Russell, now assistant to Fuller, who graduated from Annapolis like themselves. The principal other candidate is Brig. Gen. James Carson Breckinridge, head of the marine school at Quantico, for whom there is stronger support in the service. Breckinridge was graduated from Heidelberg, in Germany.

Russell is a Republican, Breckinridge a Democrat. Senator King of Utah and other Democrats who scored Russell's performance as American high commissioner in Haiti are opposing him now. Russell is credited with causing Haiti to bar King from the country when he sought to investigate conditions there a few years ago.

Pigs For Russia.

Ex-Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa, whose job in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is to figure out what farm products we can sell to Russia—and how—has been paying special attention to pork.

Russia could easily absorb our pork surplus of about 100,000,000 pounds, he says. Russia's is a cold climate which calls for more fat and oils than ours. She has 15,000,000 hogs and 185,000,000 people. We have 38,000,000 hogs and only 125,000,000 people.

Brookhart urges long term credits for Russia, declaring she has bought $600,000,000 in goods from us and always paid her bills.

Roosevelt's Urbanity.

President Roosevelt is nearly always urbane. A week or so later he called him to the White House again and the senator was glad to come. Relative amicable relations were restored.

F. D. laughed, knowing the senator's temperament. A week or so later he called him to the White House again and the senator was glad to come. Relative amicable relations were restored.

HOME NOT THE SAFEST PLACE

At the present time drivers of trucks who do not have accidents are being awarded medals. This is a splendid idea and the more drivers we can get interested in safe driving, the better. Furthermore, I believe we should carry the good work even farther and should start awarding medals to private homes— for example every time we find a home in which no bad accidents have occurred in a year's time, we would give a medal to show that the people in it are careful as to the safety of human life. It is a well-known fact that the highest number of accidents occurs in the home. This is partly because of the total number of hours spent at home which is greater than the number spent elsewhere and partly because people have not been carefully trained to "play safe" and forestall needless accidents.

You might think while you were flying in an airplane or riding in an automobile you were in greater danger than while you were at home; but according to the very latest statistics, while you are taking a bath or getting out of bed in your own home you are just seven times more likely to have an accident while flying or motoring. After learning this, I believe that we should all join a tremendous safety drive to cut down on home accidents and try to make home the safest spot on earth, instead of the most dangerous.

Some of the common home accidents against which you should guard yourself are the following: 1.—slipping on stairs or steps, on a icy or wet sidewalk, on sliding rugs or waxed floors, over furniture, over toys, from ladders, from chairs while standing in them, from windows, out of beds, by walking off porches in the dark, over misplaced articles left lying around such as brooms, mops, pads, or boxes. 2.— bathroom accidents: slipping on soap and falling, losing the footing on walls with hot water heater, touching electric fixtures while standing in water and thus sustaining a severe shock. 3.—other accidents such as: injury when gasoline used to clean clothes explodes, injury from lifting heavy objects which may cause harm from strain or an injury to the foot when the object slips out of your hands, accidental swallowing of poisons, burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, bump, broken bones, crushing of fingers which are caught in cracks of doors, in food grinders, hit with hammers, or caught in washing machines and wringers.

Children suffer a high percentage of accidents at home, some of which may be guarded against. A child may be injured while playing, by falling off roller skates or bicycles, by swallowing hot liquids, by touching electric fixtures while standing in water and thus sustaining a severe shock. 3.—other accidents such as: injury when gasoline used to clean clothes explodes, injury from lifting heavy objects which may cause harm from strain or an injury to the foot when the object slips out of your hands, accidental swallowing of poisons, burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, bump, broken bones, crushing of fingers which are caught in cracks of doors, in food grinders, hit with hammers, or caught in washing machines and wringers.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Seattle—Leut. Governor Victor A. Meyers thinks one of Seattle's greatest needs is a committee to cogitate about things.

"The committee should do the entire worrying for the city," he said yesterday. "Taxpayers should be able to vote themselves solely to drinking beer and raising mustaches."

Gettysburg, Pa.—Men students get all the attention now at Gettysburg College—because there are no co-eds. They aren't allowed any more.

Pittsburgh—New hazing rules for co-eds at Duquesne University are not an unzumbed blessing. Spanking is sternly prohibited, but New York—There's a certain bull-dog on the sidewalks of New York which has better go into hiding for a day or so.

An upright piano dangled yesterday outside a third floor window of a Bronx house. The dog snatched up behind the moving men and bit through the hoisting rope. The piano hit the sidewalk with a crash. Haled into court, the moving men asked a day's adjournment to "find that dog."

Chicago—The National Hair Dressers Association wound up its convention by selecting the new coquette bob as the smartest and newest thing of all the 1933 hair dresses.

OLD MILL SOLD
Dainelson, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The Whitestone mill property here, last idle plant in good condition in the Elmville section has been sold by the Whitestone Rubber Co., to the Connecticut Cordage Company, Inc. The plant will be equipped and operated at once, it was announced today. Much of the output will be on automatic machinery.

LOSS LEADER" SELLING

The provision in the retail codes now under consideration by the NRA, prohibiting the sale of goods at less than a 10 per cent advance on the wholesale price, may not be acceptable to that part of the public which frequents bargain basements and is always on hand to take advantage of morning hour "specials," but we are not at all sure that it will not, if finally adopted, operate to the advantage of the average man and woman.

The purpose of this provision is, of course, to do away with what is termed the "loss leader" method of doing business. Under that system the merchant sometimes sells a lot or line of goods, as a "special," at or below cost, figuring on compensating himself for the loss sustained through increased patronage of his store and the sale of other goods which return a profit.

When this system of merchandising becomes a fixed practice there can hardly be any question about its adding substantially to the retail prices of non-leader goods. The store which regularly sells some goods at a loss would appear to be under a real necessity of taking more profit on other goods than would otherwise be necessary. If this is the case—and the code makers seem to agree that it is—injustice in more than one direction would appear to exist.

The selling of "loss leaders" is a big store activity. The small merchant cannot effectively engage in it. But he may be quite seriously victimized by it. He may have on his shelves a considerable supply of a certain article which he has bought at an advantageous price and which he has expected to sell at a very reasonable profit. He finds one morning that some big store in his vicinity is selling the same article at retail for less than either he or the big store paid for it. The market for that part of his stock is ruined, because, though the big store price may have been fixed for only a day, that is the price which sticks in the mind of the customer and he feels that the small dealer, who really is charging only a fair profit, is trying to rob him.

The small dealer is not the only one who possibly may suffer. If the practice of selling "loss leaders" is followed extensively and is accompanied by even a slight lifting of the prices of non-leader articles, then the customer who does his buying without regard to the temptations of "bargain days" and special sales must be paying, not only a reasonable price for his own purchases but something on the side to compensate the merchant for the insufficient prices the latter gets from the chronic bargain hunter who buys practically everything at "loss" prices.

On the whole, the devious system of "loss leader" selling is one without which the retail trade of the country would, apparently, be just as well off. It is something that grew up, from small and casual beginnings, until it has become more or less of a nuisance, which however, the retail world saw no way of ridding itself. The NRA codes offer the way.

Probably the only persons who would regret the passing of the system are the few irrepressibles who thrive by persistently "taking the bait off the shop-keeper's hook."

SCARNICID.

Apparently Leonard Scarnicid, held for the O'Connell kidnaping, is, for his years, one of America's best known young men. Not, perhaps, quite so familiar a figure as Babe Ruth or the ample Mr. Carners, his name and personality seem to be almost as well known in police sta-

LIQUOR LAWS.

We have never been lost in admiration for the views on the liquor traffic held by that incorrigible dry former Senator Jim Watson of Indiana, but it is to be freely admitted that Mr. Watson talked more sense, at a meeting of retail beverage dealers held in Washington Wednesday, than we have heard from any of the defenders of the Connecticut Liquor Control Act, either wets or dries.

The meeting was called for the organization of the beverage dealer to seek uniformity of state laws with special attention to preventing brewers and distillers from owning liquor dispensaries and to keeping liquor taxes low enough so that no premium will be put upon bootlegging. Mr. Watson, freely admitting that the end of prohibition was at hand, said that the people had shown by their votes that they wanted repeal and that they wanted the liquor traffic considered as a "legitimate business." He urged that the laws be framed so as to make it and keep it legitimate.

It is because the Connecticut Control Act approaches the subject from the exactly opposite direction that we have so strongly opposed it. The Connecticut idea of liquor control seems to be, if judged by this law, that the liquor business is essentially an evil, and a hopeless one, which is to be kept from getting wholly out of hand by all sorts of strong-arm methods. This view is simply adaptation of the convictions of the prohibitionists—and the convictions of the prohibitionists, it is being pretty conclusively demonstrated, are not the convictions of anything like a majority of the American people or of the people of Connecticut.

Former Senator Watson was altogether right when he said that the dispensing of alcoholic beverages should be regarded as a legitimate business. Being legitimate it should be kept respectable. What we need in this state is a liquor code that will insure the operation of the dispensaries in an orderly, respectable way, by orderly, respectable and responsible people. The present Liquor Control Act is solely calculated to keep such people out of the liquor business and turn the traffic over to the sort of folks who, during prohibition, have been rum runners and bootleggers.

The best thing to do with the Liquor Control Act is to scrap it, lock, stock and barrel, and build a new one designed from the opposite angle of approach.

ALL "TAME" FUR SOON?

Though the institution of the fur farm is fairly familiar to a certain proportion of people in this country it is doubtful if many persons realize how important a part the controlled propagation of fur bearing animals has come to play in supplying the American market for pelts.

A bulletin of the Canadian Pacific Railway states that only 70 per cent of the furs handled in the

IN NEW YORK

By JULIA BLANSHARD

New York, Sept. 22.—September home-comings prove that increasing numbers of notable New Yorkers find the best way to spend the summer is to get back to the land and go as native as possible.

Professor John Dewey has returned from a little cabin in the Nova Scotia woods, where he and a daughter live in almost primitive manner, cut the wood for the fire, haul water and re-learn the pleasure of early American doing-things-for-themselves. . . . Max Eastman is back from Martha's Vineyard, brown as an Indian after days spent in the nude on the lonely stretches of beach near his place. . . .

Nora Thomas is in town again, after a summer spent at his Long Island farm where he raises chickens and cookey spaniels. . . . Anne Parrish is in her Park Avenue apartment after being a New Jersey garden-farmer this summer. . . .

Louis Bromfield went completely native on his farm in Seneca, France, where he raises his own vegetables, fruit and berries, has chickens, cows and even harvests hay.

A New York newspaper woman, just returned from Los Angeles, tells a story which reads like a page from the "West Coast." . . . At the last meeting of the Cop Jate newspaper women's club they were presented with a handsome gift by La Desea Gibson, owner and manager of the Westwood Memorial Park. . . . Miss Gibson gave the girls a whole cemetery lot, with space for eight graves. In accepting the generous present, the girls thanked her very seriously, for her "fondness for us which extends beyond the grave!"

Authors seem to get tremendous satisfaction out of doing things with their hands. . . . Floyd Dell, whose new book, "Home-Comeing," is out this fall, does exquisite cabinet work. He has made some handsome tables, cabinets and chairs for his new farm, near Winchester, N. H. . . . Stuart Chase, economist, has a work-bench with a full set of carpenter's tools in the basement of his place at Georgetown, Conn. . . . Maurice Hindes, author of "The Russian Always Likes to Tackle a Huge Wood Pile when 'Upset' or Thinking Hard. He will put in a ten-hour day at it, working with the rhythmic precision of a seasoned wood-chopper, and maintains nothing on earth is quite so good for mental relaxation. . . . Question: K. G. F. writes: "I enjoy reading your question and answer column and would like to ask a question, myself. I had my tonsils taken out about four months ago, but when exposed to wind or in a real warm place, I have coughing spells. Please advise me if you approve of having tonsils taken out if they are diseased. Also if the exposure to wind and heat after a certain length of time will cease making me cough. Is it an early sign of tuberculosis of the throat?"

Answer: The cause of any cough should be very thoroughly investigated. Yes, it is true that it may be an early sign of tuberculosis of the throat, but not necessarily so, as it may be simply a result from your operation and not advise promiscuous removal of tonsils. They are composed of lymphoid tissue and, when diseased, can be made healthy again through dieting and following the proper hygienic habits.

(Find Cause of Brooding)

Question: Mrs. Clarke S. writes: "I am continuously brooding over troubles which I know are imaginary but cannot seem to stop. My doctor says there is nothing organically wrong. I have tried will power."

Answer: Anyone with this trouble should have an x-ray examination to find out if there is anything wrong with the alimentary tract. It will usually be found that there is a severe prolapsus of the abdominal organs in these cases. The pictures should be taken in the standing position as prolapsus often does not show if one is reclining. Nothing will produce neurasthenia in a woman as quickly as the pressure and congestion in the pelvic region that it so often associated with prolapsus.

For the LOVE OF EVE

by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, marries DICK RADER, a construction superintendent. Dick is sent to take charge of a construction job in the Adirondacks. It will require at least a year to complete but Eve refuses to give up her work and go with him.

MONA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is constantly causing trouble at the office. She is responsible for several mistakes for which Eve is blamed. Mona is friendly with THEORON REECE who continues to force unwelcome attentions on Eve.

Unknown to Dick, Eve has been playing the stock market, borrowing money from her mother and sister. She loses this, as well as all her savings and $400 Dick left in the bank.

Eve is lonely and misses Dick. She begins to wonder if she should not give up her job and go to him. O' hanksgiving day she writes him a long letter telling him she is willing to come to Pine Forest.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLII

But Eve did not give up her job at Bixby's next morning. Instead she burned the letter she had written to Dick.

"I'll have to keep away from Mrs. Penney and Mary," she decided. They always put me in a sentimental mood. After all, there's no more reason why I should give up my work than that Dick should give up his."

It would be foolish, she assured herself, to give up the comforts she enjoyed in Lake City for the privations under which she was sure Dick lived in Pine Forest.

In mid-December he wrote to her: "When it snows up here it snows and stays snowed! We have had to hurry away through the drifts for several weeks now and there's no knowing how long it will be before this blanket of snow thaws. We have had some difficulty getting over the hills to the north because the roads are almost impassable at this time of the year. Fortunately, though, we work under cover. We've had enough men on the job to make considerable progress. The two buildings are separated by a path, so I don't have to make frequent trips back and forth, keeping an eye on both jobs at practically the same time. By night I'm pretty tired and don't need to be rocked to sleep."

Dick did not seem to mind the hardships of this life in the woods. Indeed he did not even consider such primitive surroundings a hardship. He never wrote to Eve that he missed her and she failed to read between the lines that he was missing her. "With all my love—Dick," Eve wanted more proof than that of his steadfast devotion.

She was disappointed that he made no reference to the holidays. Her resentment grew until she felt she had a real grievance because he failed to show concern over the Christmas ahead. The day was to fall on Wednesday and Eve felt that Dick should come home to spend a week or 10 days. Her judgment told her it would be a long expensive trip to make and that Dick's work was too important for him to leave to others at this time. She knew that the wives of some of the men who were working with him had gone to Pine Forest and were making homes for their husbands there. Eve wondered how Dick explained the absence of his own wife who remained in Lake City to work despite the fact that his name topped the camp payroll.

Ten days before Christmas she mailed a box to Dick which she took great pleasure in packing. There was the pair of slates she had wanted for years. Eve was sure they would mean more to him this year, perhaps, than at any other time. She slipped with him the homemade fruit cake and Christmas cookies her mother had sent her. Kate Bayless' holiday baking took place early in December, and she was generous with it. Eve packed a box of candy with a generous supply of the chocolate centered butter creams of which Dick was so fond. And in the sporting goods department of Bixby's she had found many articles of wearing apparel she felt would make his winter more comfortable. The card which Mrs. Penney designed for her bore the message, "Christmas love to Dick."

The Saturday night before Christmas she boarded the westbound train which would carry her to her parents' home, a 12-hour ride distant. She felt she could not endure Christmas alone in Lake City although she knew she should have saved the money spent for railway fare to help pay her debts.

The day before Christmas a telegram for Eve was delivered at Bixby's advertising office. Arlene signed for it.

"From Pine Forest, N. Y., no doubt," she said to Mrs. Penney. "I suppose Eve's husband is wishing her an extra Merry Christmas. He certainly is the answer to a maiden's prayer—and I don't see how Eve dare be so casual about him."

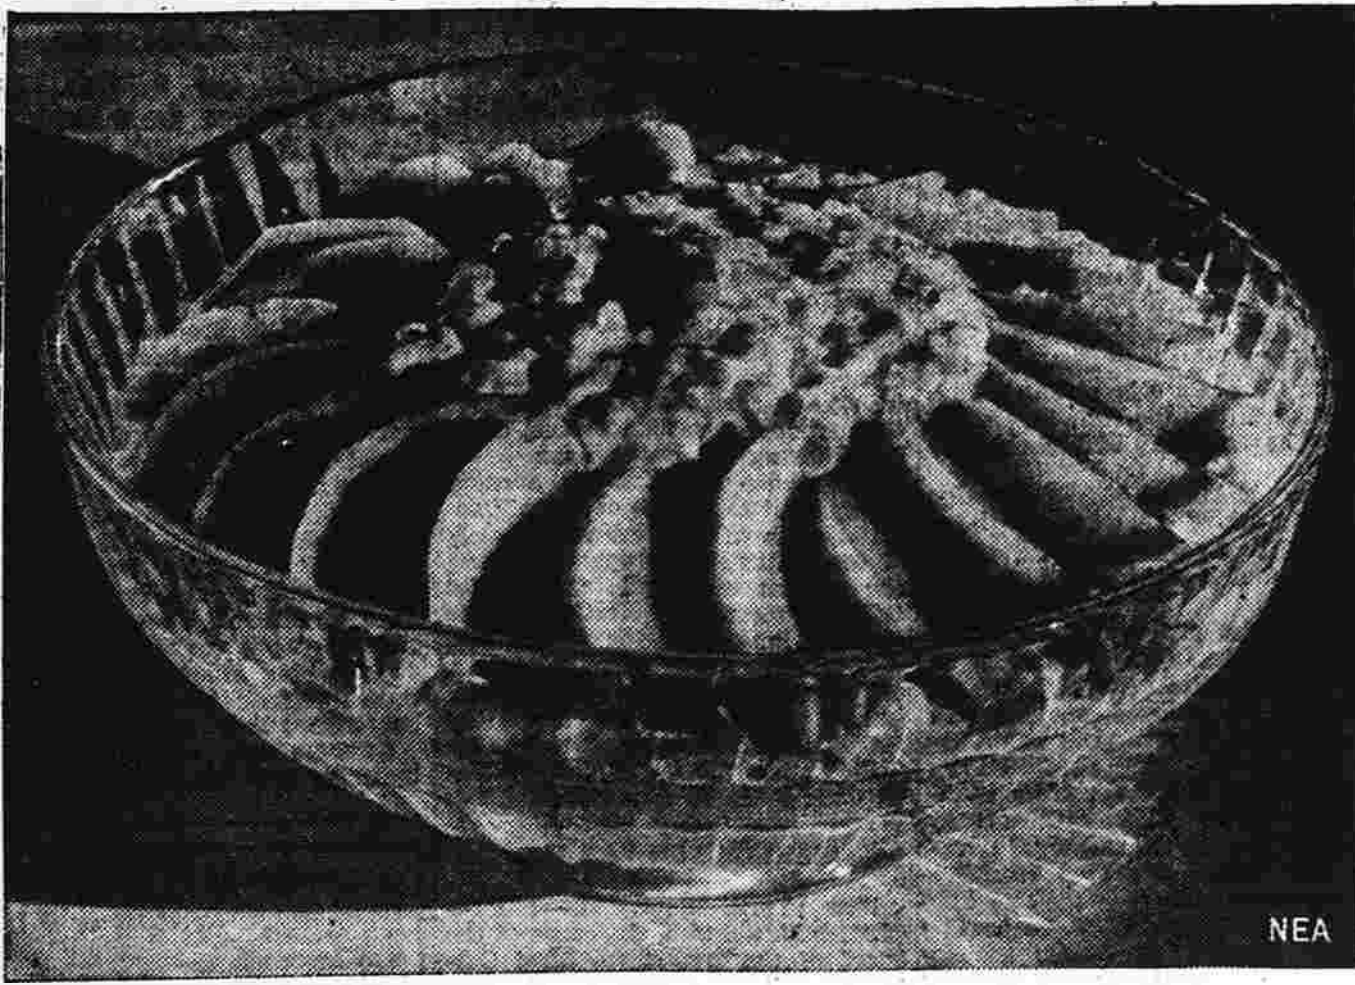

Mrs. Brooks expressed the same sentiment to her oldest son Christmas morning. The Rader doorbell had been ringing incessantly for many minutes before her own sounded. She hurried to see who her caller might be and opened the door to face Dick, who stood, hat in hand, with a worried look on his face. He all but ignored her Christmas greetings in his haste to ask about Eve.

"Oh, I'm so sorry!" Mrs. Brooks hastened to explain. "Mrs. Rader left to spend Christmas with her parents. Didn't you know?"

"I must have missed her letter

It's Substantial Addition To Luncheon

Peach-and-Tapioca Pudding Arranged Like This Should Tempt Any Appetite

telling me she was going," Dick hastened to defend Eve. "I was away from Pine Forest and didn't get my mail for a few days."

Mrs. Brooks had a key to the apartment which she gave Dick. After he had gone she shook her head mournfully. "The poor dear!" she said, "I come all that way for Christmas and then find nobody at home. I'll ask him to dinner."

Dick found himself placed next to Dorothy McElhinney at the dinner table. If he missed the companionship of his wife he suffered nothing from lack of solitude. Miss McElhinney gave him her undivided attention, engaging in a sprightly conversation and causing him to laugh frequently. When the dinner came to an end Dick lingered in the pleasant living room of Mrs. Brock's suite. Later when Miss McElhinney noticed that he was becoming restless she suggested a walk and directed his footsteps toward the theater district.

"Let's go inside," Dick suggested as they approached the building on which he had worked so long. "I'd like to look up some of my old friends."

Dick placed Miss McElhinney in a seat and then left her while he visited in the manager's office and then went backstage.

After the matinee they followed a throng to a popular Christmas restaurant where they dined and danced. Then it was time for Dick to take the train east. He called a taxicab.

"Someone ought to see you off," Miss McElhinney said sweetly. "I'll ride to the station with you."

And of this experience Dorothy McElhinney made the most. She met Eve in the hall the first evening after her return from home, and with a maliciousness she took little pains to conceal, told of Dick's arrival and her own part in entertaining him.

"The poor man!" she purred. "I felt so sorry for him. I did my best to make him forget his loneliness. I dare say you did," Eve retorted and closed the door abruptly.

Dick's telegram, lying on Eve's desk when she arrived at the office that morning, had been a shock. Her Christmas at home had been most unsatisfactory, due to the fact that she missed Dick so and none of her relatives seemed to sympathize with her. Women of her mother's type knew but one code after marriage—duty to husband and family.

Eve noticed the ashes in the tray next to Dick's favorite chair. Wearily she sank into the chair and tenderly stroked the arms because Dick had been there so recently. She closed her eyes and tried to picture just how he looked, wondering whether he were thinner, tanned and looking robust and happy. Miss McElhinney would know, she thought bitterly, and her resentment against Dick and the girl increased as she pondered over the latter's story of Dick's Christmas.

Of course they had planned it all. She had been blind to fail to see before. That was why he had not notified her sooner of his plans. Uncontrollable sobs broke from Eve and her body shook. At last she went to bed.

It was then that she found Dick's Christmas gift. He had placed the package under her pillow. Eve drew it out and unwrapped it. Inside was a name pin with an old gold setting.

Of course Dick was hurt because Eve had not intended to visit her parents. She had had plenty of time to do so. It had only been the day before Christmas when he found that he could get away from work long enough to make the trip to Lake City. The severity of the winter snow storms was causing much difficulty on the job and Dick had been prepared to spend most of Christmas day at work. Thus he had been unable to foresee the change in circumstances which made it possible for him to leave.

In Eve's next letter to Dick she berated him for neglecting to let her know that he was coming. His answer was a frank retort. After reading that letter Eve had no doubt that he considered her selfish. That he was displeased with the outcome of their marriage was also evident.

Eve destroyed the flippant reply she had composed. She had the grace to admit to herself that the present situation was her own fault. But something perverse in her nature prevented her telling Dick this.

Thus the breach widened. (To Be Continued)

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

GET ACQUAINTED WITH UNUSUAL FRUITS

By SISTER MARY

The modern methods of transportation and distribution are bringing unusual fresh fruits to our markets in great abundance. Foods which have long been considered as delicacies distinctly characteristic of the localities in which they were produced are now offered in every city market. If you will learn to know and use these fruits you can serve delightfully novel dishes to your family and guests.

Not many years ago the avocado was associated exclusively with Florida and California and available only at certain seasons even in the large city markets. Now it is obtainable practically the year round in most markets. Known as the alligator pear, vegetable butter, midshipman's butter and butter pear, it varies decidedly in size, shape and color, inasmuch as there are over two hundred varieties grown. We use avocados in salads, appetizers and sandwiches with huge success.

Beware of the Thorns

The prickly pear is less common than the alligator pear and is not as adaptable to menus. However, the luscious orange-colored pulp is served fresh or made into a delectable jelly. Beware of the tiny thorns that grow in dark wart like spots on its brightly colored peel. These little thorns prick and burn much like nettles if you get them in your fingers.

There are two new varieties of orange rapidly becoming popular. The King or King of Siam has a thick rough skin sometimes quite green in color. It is very large and noticeably flat on top and bottom. Although very juicy it peels easily and is at its best in the later winter and early spring.

Another citrus fruit called the tangelo is a cross between a grape fruit and a tangerine. It is much larger and lighter in color than a tangerine but is eaten like a grape fruit with the worthy quality of being squirtless.

Pomegranate Popular

The pomegranate is another fruit of increasing popularity. It is in season from late summer until December and is a variety of Oriental pomegranate. Large and of a dark brown color, with several seeds, it is usually eaten fresh like an apple or with a spoon depending on the firmness of the fruit. Served with sugar and cream it makes an excellent breakfast fruit or a dessert.

The pomegranate is one of the most decorative of fruits, with its leathery skin vividly colored purple, orange, red or yellow. It is eaten raw and its pulp is often used as a garnish. Grenadine syrup is made from pomegranates.

Quadruplets Enter College

They may not look it, but Roberts, Mary, Leota and Mona Keyes, left to right above, are quadruplets—said to be the only living quadruplets in the United States to reach maturity. The 18-year-old sisters of Hollis, Okla., dressed identically, are pictured as they entered Baylor University at Waco, Tex., the other day.

a button, and revolve to the next room—I might consent to live in one. But it will have to have windows. If windows go out of date, I shall have to hunt up a nice banyan tree and set up housekeeping.

To be serious, I think the windowless school-house could never be anything else but a great mistake. A child may not glance outdoors very often during school hours, but he knows the outdoors is there.

We are not Martians yet, whatever they are like. But likely if we did know, we would think them crazy. A few generations without windows, I think, would find our inhabitants crazy, too.

the girl won't tell him the truth about things, our lawyer almost is accused of the murder himself; and when he escapes that fate his client is arrested.

So Perry Mason has to get her out of it; and he does it in a manner that makes a swell story. Mr. Gardner is that rarity, a detective-story novelist who writes as if he had actually seen cops and lawyers and so on in action. He avoids the numbo-jumbo stuff and presents real people behaving as real people do behave. His lawyer-detective is tough, cynical and completely convincing. I can't say quite as much for "Murder in Trinidad," by John W. Vandercor (Crime Club: $2). This one is an unabashed thriller about a League of Nations sleuth who tries to smash a dope ring in the tropics. There's a hidden village in a swamp, a fair lady in distress, an island cave, and a good deal of unadorned homicide. The yarn isn't especially convincing, but it does provide a good deal of excitement.

BEST OF THE FALL DETECTIVE NOVELS

By BRUCE CATTON.

The best detective story of the fall season, so far, seems to be "The Case of the Sulky Girl," by Eric Stanley Gardner (Morrow: $2). Here we have Perry Mason, the completely hard-boiled lawyer, who dives head-first into a sea of trouble by taking a retainer from a pretty young heiress just as her guardian gets bumped off. Because

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

"What do you think of the new idea in school buildings?" I was asked. "School buildings are a perfect ventilating systems of washed air and indirect lighting that throws an even glow equally into every part of the room."

My answer was quick and decisive. "I'd die, I replied quickly. "Why? We think it's a grand idea."

"All but the windows," said I. "I need windows; we all need windows. Everybody needs to feel there's a world outside."

Naturally Crave Freedom

And I think the very first instinct a baby shows is a protest against physical construction. Hold him tight and he will scream. As we grow older, we shake this off somewhat, but the real fear never leaves us. We have to have the feeling of physical freedom, or contact with other fellow men, the chance to look at the sky or only the building next door if we want to.

I always write near a window. I cannot write even at a secretary with a Jop. Somehow I feel that cabinet in front of me shuts out vision. I cannot work facing a wall if the wall is too close.

On the coldest days when I can feel the air fairly congealing on the glass, I seek the window. No warm secluded corners for me! I can think more clearly if I feel the world is outside, near. It isn't a feeling of loneliness—I like loneliness; it is a deeper instinct so insistent I do not try to define it.

I'll admit that not all people are this way, but I know many, and surely I want the percentage of children to feel it too. Oh, yes perhaps we could "condition" children to it. Catch them young enough and you can do anything, I guess. The cave child, for that matter, may never have seen daylight until he could handle his own club.

But the cave child wasn't filled with imagination. He doubtless lacked many of the sensitive instincts centuries of breeding have deposited in us.

Must Have Windows!

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

Hair that is dirty simply can't be beautiful. Cleanliness is the first requisite of a charming and becoming coiffure.

When you go to a beauty shop to have a reliable operator plan a new coiffure for you, the first thing she does is wash your hair. Profit by his example. Know that unless your hair is clean, it won't flatter your face or form a fitting background for one of the new fall hats.

It is true that wetting your hair each time you comb it, or letting it get damp when you take your daily shower, is bad for the scalp and has a tendency to make the hair dull and lifeless. However, if you live in a place where the air is full of dust or coal soot, once a week is not too often for a shampoo.

Always use a liquid shampoo. Rubbing the cake of soap right on your hair isn't a very good method. If you do care for one of the prepared liquid shampoos, then make your own. You can melt little pieces of a bland soap and have a perfect liquid shampoo. Simply put the soap in a jar, cover it with a little water and give it time to dissolve.

Always wrap a towel tightly around your head before you apply creams and cosmetics. It keeps the hair and your face from getting covered with powder and the like.

RINGING IN THE EARS

Sounds Are Due to Muscular Contractions or Passage of Blood Back of the Ears.

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Most times when people hear ringing in their ears, the sounds are heard only by them. There are occasional cases, however, in which ringing in the ears may be so positive that it can be heard also by the doctor.

Recently Dr. Samuel Ignauer described cases in which ringing of the ears could be heard by the physician when he put a stethoscope on the side of the affected patient's head.

The ringing is due to spasmodic rhythmic contractions of the muscles around the tube that leads from the back of the nose to the ear, the eustachian tube. In other cases, the sounds are due to the blood within the large blood vessel that pass near the ear.

The sounds due to muscles having a clicking or snapping sound from the back of the nose to the ear, they may be heard several feet away from the patient. Usually the sounds are heard at times when the palate contracts.

If the sounds come from passage of the blood in the blood vessels, pressure on the blood vessels will cause the sounds to disappear. They also disappear when the head is turned to the side, so that the patient may develop an habitual turning of the head in order to shut off the sounds.

Sometimes the sounds disappear when the patient lies down, but they return when the patient rises.

In many instances they seem to be associated with changes in the action of the glands of internal secretion. Sometimes ringing in the ears is so serious because of the nervous reaction of the patient that it is necessary to perform a surgical operation to bring about relief.

In the vast majority of cases, however, it is unnecessary to take so radical a step. To tie up the large blood vessels of the neck, going to the head is itself a relatively serious operation, affecting to some extent the circulation within the skull as well as that going by the ear.

There are, of course, other cases in which ringing in the ears is heard only by the patient. Sometimes the ringing is due to a slight inflammation in the middle ear.

In such cases the attention of a competent specialist in diseases of the ear may permit release of the material. In other instances, the use of sedatives results in relief. Sometimes it is possible, by the use of a blowing device, to cause fluid that has accumulated to move into a position which does not cause ringing.

Most patients well advanced in years become accustomed in time to the annoyance that is associated with ringing in the ear, particularly when the patient has a high blood pressure or some condition which cannot be readily controlled.

G. A. R. OFFICERS

St. Paul, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Leadership of the G. A. R. during the coming year lay today between Russell C. Martin, Los Angeles and Harding I. Merrill, Wichita, Kansas, as the aged veterans of the Civil War get ready to cast their ballots at the election of their 67th annual encampment.

Rocheater, N. Y., Des Moines, and Grand Rapids, Mich., are seeking the 1934 reunion and encampment also to be voted on today. Sentimental parently favors Rocheater. Friday, Sept. 29, the encampment will be devoted to a visit to the Minnesota soldiers' home in Minneapolis.

The Story of BILL TERRY by Daniel M. Daniel

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of six articles by Daniel M. Daniel, New York World-Telegram baseball writer, who has traveled with the Giants on their pennant march.

By DANIEL M. DANIEL (Copyright 1933 by NEA) New York, Sept. 22. — William Harold Terry, manager of the New York Giants and leader of a pennant-winning enterprise in his first complete season as successor to John J. McGraw, is a native of Georgia. Incidentally, Terry, is a southerner among a grand lot of gentlemen from Dixie; for the New York club features southern talent strongly.

Terry was born in Atlanta Oct. 30, 1898. At that time a lot of folks around the country, excited over our success in the little fracas, were hating their new boys George Dewey and Theodore Roosevelt. But the Terrys were strong for William, and were determined to have that Harold in there, too.

Bill was only 16 years old when the Atlanta club of the Southern League signed him. He was farmed out to Thomasville, of the Georgia State League, did a bit of hurling with that team before the 1914 season closed and went back to school.

In 1915 he reported back to Atlanta and, much to his chagrin, got notice that he was not needed. While laboring in this slough of despond, appointment and mental depression, he ran into Pat Monahan, then scout for the Browns. Incidentally, the first thing Terry did when he became manager of the Giants was to sign Monahan as an ivory hitting pitcher.

Johnny Marcum's Specialty Is Making Brilliant Debuts

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Johnny Marcum, 24-year-old Kentuckian who broke into the majors with the Philadelphia Athletics by pitching two straight shutouts made his entry into the American Association three years ago in a manner almost as spectacular.

But from there on it was a different story. Marcum, set the Minneapolis players down in order in an inning after inning, the Louisville team came to life and slammed out a 13 to 11 victory, behind his steady firing.

With the brightest prospects in several years, Manchester High's football stalwarts open the 1933 grid season tomorrow afternoon against one of its strongest rivals, Hartford Public High at Batterson Field in Hartford at 2 o'clock, and indications are that the Red and White will push their opponents to the limit, possibly achieving revenge for the 20 to 2 defeat inflicted on the locals last year.

World Series Should Be Hammer And Tongs Fight

Both Giants and Senators Have Shown Ability to Win Under Pressure; Fortunes Favored Pennant Winners This Season.

By ALAN GOULD Associated Press Staff Writer New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Chief among the reasons why it should be a hammer and tongs battle between the Giants and the Senators in the world series is that each pennant winning club has shown the ability to win under pressure.

Washington has an older, more experienced and better balanced club, outside the battery department, but it has shown no more class nor steadiness under fire than the spirited group of young men directed by Bill Terry.

TO RESUME NIGHT SCHOOL THIS YEAR

Chester Robinson to Succeed A. N. Potter as Principal in Charge.

After a temporary suspension last year as an economy measure, Manchester's evening school will resume again this fall, it was announced today by Superintendent of Schools, F. A. Verplanck, opening on Monday, October 9. For the first time in twelve years, the evening school will be under the guidance of a new principal, Chester Robinson, A. N. Potter having declined to accept the position.

Mr. Potter's first educational duties in Manchester were in the evening schools, where he taught for five years before becoming a member of the Manchester High faculty. He has done much for the education of native and foreign-born students in Manchester. At present Mr. Potter is confined to his home with an attack of tonsillitis, his first absence from school in twenty-five years.

Mr. Robinson, the new evening school principal, teaches chemistry and physics at Manchester High. He obtained his B. S. degree at Colby College.

Due to the necessity of slashing the school budget to the lowest figure possible last year, a special dispensation was obtained from the State Board of Education to suspend evening schools last fall. This year, however, no excuses are being accepted and it was therefore necessary to appropriate $1,000 to finance the school for two and one-half months.

State Rebate
In order to obtain a rebate from the state of $4 for each pupil in average attendance, the evening school must be held for seventy-five nights. Superintendent Verplanck also announced that October 3 and 5 have been set aside for the registration of students. Classes will be held in the main High School building, the Franklin building and the School street Rec.

Two years ago, the cost of evening school in Manchester was $2,544. Out of a total registration of 351 students, the average attendance was 142. Mr. Verplanck pointed out that this is usually the situation in evening schools, many persons registering who never complete the course.

Subjects
Subjects to be presented in the evening school will include classes in English for foreign-born people, stenography, typewriting, mathematics, high school subjects, dressmaking, sewing, cooking and citizenship. Classes will be held in these subjects three nights per week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, from 7 to 9 o'clock each evening. The class in citizenship, however, will be held on only one night. Classes will not be opened unless ten or more pupils register.

As in former years, a class in sewing will be held at the West Side Rec. providing the registration of pupils warrants the expense of establishing such a class.

SEEK WOMAN'S ASSAILANT
Hartford, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Identified from a photograph, as her assailant, Mrs. Beatrice M. Gaudet, who was slashed in the throat when she resisted his attempts to assault her in her home at 210 Park Terrace, early yesterday morning, Diego Utrera Barroso of 28 Lawrence street, a Spaniard was the object of a state-wide police search today.

Mrs. Gaudet, reported somewhat improved this morning at the Hartford hospital, where she was taken following the stabbing, was positive of the identification when police showed her photograph of the man, last evening. His descriptions fits that given to police yesterday, by her and by neighbors who had seen him loitering in the neighborhood earlier in the morning. About 5 feet, 6 inches in height, weighing about 160 pounds, dark in complexion and having short stubby iron gray hair.

POST RECOVERING
Quincy, Ill., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Wiley Post, globe circling aviator injured when his plane crashed yesterday, was on the way to recovery at a hospital today, despite cuts and a slight skull fracture.

The man who made a seven day solo flight around the world was forced to postpone indefinitely his speaking tour. Post's round the world plane, the Winnie Mae, was placed under guard to preserve it from souvenir hunters until it could be rebuilt.

Flying the Winnie Mae, Post had twice circumnavigated the globe, in 1931 with Harold Gatty and again this summer alone, but he had never been in a serious crash until yesterday when the motor cut out at an altitude of 50 feet and the plane sideslipped to earth.

CHASE HEADS ASSOCIATION
Bridgeport, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Sherman Chase of Boston, vice president of the England Water Works Association, was elected to the presidency of that body at its annual business meeting here today. Chase succeeds Richard H. Ellis of Newton, Mass. George A. Sampson, also of Boston, was elected to the executive board. Roger W. Eley of Danvers, Mass., was named vice president.

PLANS ARE ARRANGED FOR PURPLE HEART TALK

Derby, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Extensive plans for the first National convention of the Purple Heart Association of the United States, an organization of World War veterans who received the purple heart citation for valor founded by President Washington and revived by Congress during his bicentennial celebration were made at a meeting of the association held last night in the Aldermanic Chambers in the City Hall and presided over by National Commander Frank J. Cushman. One of the features of the convention will be the presence of Mrs. Mabel E. Patton of Los Angeles, who is president of the National Association of Purple Heart Auxiliaries and who during her visit here will formally bring into existence an auxiliary of the association composed of wives, mothers and sisters of Purple Heart in this section. The discussion at last night's meeting centered in the parade which is to be the big feature on Saturday, Oct. 7, the last day of the National convention. The parade, which is expected to be one of the largest and most colorful held in this section in many years, will form in Shelton, proceed to Derby and thence to Ansonia.

TOOK PILLS FOR 30 YEARS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF

Mr. Forsythe Endorses ALL-BRAN for Constipation

If you suffer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this voluntary letter:

"After taking pills and tablets for about thirty years for constipation, I started to take your ALL-BRAN three times a day according to directions. Today I can eat cheese, and that is binding, and certainly feel fine."—Mr. Ed. Forsythe, Box 219, Youngstown, N. Y.

Science says ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using patent medicines—so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. In serious cases use with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

FARMERS TO SIGN FOR NRA'S ADVICE

Producer-Retailers in Odd Position Plan to Protect Their Trade.

Farmers who retail their own produce in the cities and towns of Hartford County or along the roadside are invited to register with the Hartford County Farm Bureau in order that a better appreciation of the problems confronting the farmer-retailer as the result of the N. R. A. program may be had.

In giving out this announcement, one of the Farm Bureau officials stated that a number of farmers who produce their own eggs, milk, fruit and vegetables and retail them on the streets had complained that they were being told by their customers that they could not buy from them because the farmers were not displaying the N. R. A. insignia.

Local N. R. A. officials have indicated that there was no intention to co-operate in any way possible to help the producer-retailer but that there is no code for agriculture and it is therefore difficult to find any way to sign these people under the N. R. A. banner.

This same official suggested that a meeting of the producer-retailer be called in order that the matter may be discussed and a definite understanding reached. One farmer asked if by registering at the Farm Bureau office, they would obligate themselves in any way and it was made absolutely clear that the farmer was in no way obligated but that the registration was being offered in order that the Farm Bureau may get an accurate list of all producer-retailers who are interested in their status as regards the N. R. A.

If after this list is compiled, it seems advisable, notices will be sent to all those registering, calling a meeting in Hartford at which time the provisions of the act and the alternative the farmer-retailer may have.

All producer-retailers whether members of the Farm Bureau or on any mailing list, should register at the Farm Bureau office by telephone, personally, or mail giving their name and address on or before September 30.

HEALTH GROUP TO LEARN-OF DRIVE ON TUBERCULOSIS

Five Conn. Authorities to Explain Campaign at Annual Meeting of C. P. H. A. in Torrington.

According to an announcement made today by the State Department of Health, the entire morning session of the annual meeting of the Connecticut Public Health Association which will be held at the Charlotte Hungerford Hospital in Torrington, Thursday, September 28, will be devoted to the X-ray drive on tuberculosis.

Included as part of the program will be a demonstration of the procedure followed in taking chest X-rays of children in wholesale numbers at a cost of $1.00 or less for each child. Prior to the demonstration, there will be a series of five fifteen minute talks by prominent health authorities on various phases of the redoubled attack on tuberculosis.

After addresses of welcome by Mayor Ernest Novey and Health Officer Dr. Edias Pratt of Torrington, the morning program will be as follows: The speakers discussing the campaign from the viewpoint indicated in the title of their talks: "From a Public Health Point of View," Dr. Stanley H. Caborn, State Commissioner of Health; "As a Tuberculosis Specialist Sees It," Dr. Stephen J. Maher, State Tuberculosis Commission Chairman; "The Educational Side of the Problem," Ernest W. Buzard, State Commissioner of Education; "The Family Physician's Part in the Program," Dr. Ralph A. McDonnell, President, Connecticut Medical Society; "Practical Experience in X-ray Case Finding," Dr. Herbert R. Edwards, Director of the Bureau of Tuberculosis, New Haven Department of Health.

In the afternoon session, following an informal tour of the hospital, the program will be as follows: "The Chamber of Commerce Health Contest," Dr. Carl E. Buck, Field Director, American Public Health Association; "Health Conditions in Germany and Austria," Dr. John L. Rica, Health Officer, New Haven, and present president of the C. P. H. A.; "Sanitation of Taverns and Steins," Warren J. Scott, Director of the Bureau of Sanitary Engineering of the State Department of Health. Mr. Scott's talk will be followed by a discussion opened by C. D. Gallagher, Inspector, Meriden Dairy and Food Commission.

MAIL PILOT KILLED

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Harold L. Neff, Cleveland air mail pilot whose plane crashed in a swamp near here early Saturday, died at 8:30 p. m. today.

Neff, who lay beside his wrecked plane for 68 hours before being discovered, had been in a Jackson hospital since Monday night. He had suffered a severe reaction from his long exposure.

SHOT THREE YEARS AGO, IS NOW DYING OF WOUND

Ocean City, Md., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Wounded in a pistol battle three years ago with a safecracker, Samuel J. Monkhouse of the Baltimore police force is fighting for his life at the home of his mother here. A bullet, which struck the patrolman in the neck, police department physicians reported, has worked its way so close to his heart that his condition is critical and fears are felt for his recovery. The bullet was not removed because the physicians considered such an operation would endanger his life.

Patrolman Monkhouse was patrolling his post early on the morning of Oct. 14, 1930 when he found a panel smashed out of the door of a produce establishment. As he placed Albert Gaffney, standing nearby, under arrest, he shouted for the man inside of the building to come out and was answered by gunfire through the doorway.

Turning Gaffney, later identified as a lookout man, over to two civilians, Monkhouse returned the fire but a bullet struck him in the neck. The man inside the building, Wilson Knott, the man inside the place, freed his companion but the patrolman recovered sufficiently to recapture Gaffney. Knott, who had taken $9.80 from the store's safe, was apprehended and sentenced to 15 years in the State House of Correction.

TOLLAND

The annual meeting of the Federated church Ladies Aid Society was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John H. Steele when reports were read of the different branches of the church work.

The following officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, Mrs. Midge Wilcox; vice president, Mrs. Samuel Skempson; Mrs. James A. Davidson; secretary Mrs. John H. Steele; treasurer for the Congregational branch, Mrs. Marion Agard Baker; treasurer for the Methodist branch, Mrs. L. Ernest Hall.

Mrs. H. M. Haskell of Northfield, Mass., is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles Broadbent and Mr. Broadbent.

New. received from Miss Eleanor

Luce who has been seriously ill in the Hartford hospital is that she is much improved which will be pleasing news to her Tolland friends.

Mrs. Alice Clark Baker and daughter, Reba of Hartford, were recent callers on several of their former neighbors.

Charles C. Talcott has returned from his recent fishing trip to Canada and left Friday for a few days in Oradell, N. J.

The first meeting of the fall months of the Tolland Men's Community Club will be held Thursday evening, Sept. 28, in the Federated church social rooms. Rev. C. Baldwin, pastor of the West Stafford church will be the speaker. He will have for his subject his tour through Alaska with pictures to illustrate. Committee of arrangements, Latrop West, Emory Clough, Charles Broadbent. Delegates will be present from men's club of West Stafford. All men are welcome.

DIETRICH ROLE SHOWS

NEW ACTING POWER

Work of Glamorous Star in "The Song of Songs" Uncovers New Ability.

A new Marlene Dietrich, different than her millions of screen admirers have ever glimpsed in her previous pictures, will be seen in "The Song of Songs", her new Paramount picture, coming to the State theater on Sunday.

Miss Dietrich, who hitherto has appeared as a sophisticated, worldly woman, is revealed in her new production as an innocent young country girl of rare beauty, who goes to Berlin, and, fitted by a handsome young sculptor, runs the gamut of tragic experience.

She marries a rich and elderly Baron, whom she does not love, and, following their divorce, she becomes bitter and disillusioned, and a notorious woman in the gay German city's night life.

"The Song of Songs", adapted from the literary classic of Hermann Sudermann, was directed by Rouben Mamoulian. This is the first Dietrich film which has not been directed by her discoverer, Josef von Sternberg.

An outstanding cast of actors appears in support of the glamorous star who recently has commanded the attention of the world as the sponsor of the trousers for women style-vogue.

Brian Aherne, referred to by drama critics as the most romantic actor of the New York stage, following his work as Katherine Cornell's leading man in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street", makes his screen debut as Miss Dietrich's leading man. Lionel Atwill, who has been a stage star for sixteen years, appears as her husband. Allison Skipworth, Hardie Albright and Helen Freeman also have good roles.

TO KEEP POSTOFFICE

Washington, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Senator Lonergan (D., Conn.), was notified today by the Postoffice Department not to carry out its plans to abandon a mail delivery route in Orange, Conn.

Senator Lonergan protested the abandonment after receiving a letter from Robert J. Woodruff, attorney of Orange and New Haven, who said it was feared the plan might lead to the abandonment of the Orange postoffice. It had been proposed to drop the route from West Haven and Woodmont, for reasons of economy.

BOLIVIA PROTESTS

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The Bolivian minister has protested to the Argentine chancery that the Steamer Gascon has unloaded sixty tons of munitions here which were transhipped to Paraguay, in violation of Argentine neutrality in the Gran Chaco dispute.

SANDERS ORGANIZING YOUNG REPUBLICANS

Boston, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The Young Republicans of New England, New York and New Jersey met today at the Republican state committee headquarters and planned for a general strengthening of party lines.

In a message to the gathering, Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican National committee, said "under a two-party form of government the existence of a vigilant, well-organized minority party is the best preventative against economic and political excesses upon the part of the party in power. For that reason, if for no other, the Republican minority owes it to the country and to the people to be vigilant, to organize and be ready to take to the court of public opinion any issues upon which it differs from the present administration."

Wallace Stearns, state chairman for Massachusetts, told the delegates "as loyal American citizens it is our opportunity to serve our country by supporting all measures that will restore America to her leadership among the nations of the world." He urged the cultivation and training of foreigners for citizenship.

COLUMBIA

Miss Nancy Elliott and Miss Mary Thompson of New York spent Monday night at the Christliff cottage on the Green on their way home from Maine.

George Fox of Camden, N. J., Cleveland Collins and Miss Laura Collins of Hartford and Miss Myrtle Collins of Columbia were dinner guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lyman. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Collins of Hartford and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Collins of Willimantic joined the party.

The Kasmick family from the Bronx, N. Y., moved into the Judson Itham farm Saturday night. Their furniture came in a huge moving van, and on account of the pouring rain no attempt was made to unload the furniture until Sunday morning.

Mrs. German and daughter Amelia, and sons Adolph, Otto and Alfred are visiting relatives in Chicago, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Robinson of Post Hill, with Prof. and Mrs. Wetmore of Williamstown, Mass., spent the week-end at the Robinson cottage at Misquamicut Beach.

Little Miss Virginia Carol Hurlbutt of Charleston, W. Va., is visiting her cousins, Marion and Fannie Belle Hurlbutt.

Several parties from Columbia went to Hartford Tuesday evening to witness the big NRA parade, and all were much impressed with the sight.

Miss Flora Wheeler spent the day Wednesday at her home in Scotland. Several Columbia people visited the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield Wednesday.

SEARCH FOR PLANE

Southampton, England, Sept. 22.—(AP)—A Royal Air Force plane joined a flotilla of ships today in a search for a seaplane catapulted from the liner Bremen 500 miles at sea.

The seaplane was due with mail at 7 a. m. yesterday. Fifteen minutes after that hour a report said it was south of the Isle of Wight and was running out of gasoline.

A destroyer and a mine sweeper were dispatched to look for the seaplane, and other ships were warned to keep watch.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Bridgeport, Sept. 22.—(AP)—An elopement to South Salem, N. Y.,

Dec. 13, 1929, went on the rocks a few days later, when Herman Zeitlin of Norwalk, insisted that his new father-in-law buy him a $10,000 home in Norwalk, according to testimony offered before Judge John Rufus Booth in Superior Court by Bessie Sellick Zeitlin also of Norwalk. When her father refused the request, Zeitlin "walked out on me," Mrs. Zeitlin told the court. In addition to the decree, she was granted the right to resume her former name.

SENSE and NONSENSE.

Kind words are a cheap investment that is very much inclined to return a big dividend. Make such an investment TODAY.

Sally—Why did you break your engagement to Randolph?
Edith—He deceived me. He told me he was a liver and kidney specialist, and I just found out he only works in a butcher's shop.

You may make a big mistake if you trust everybody. But you will make a greater mistake if you distrust everybody.

Customer—I want a mustard plaster.
Drug Clerk (from force of habit)—All out of mustard, sir. How about a mayonnaise?

Farm relief demands probably started the first year after Adam and Eve lost their soft jobs in the Garden of Eden and had to sweat to make a living from the soil.

Judith—I really couldn't resist Franklin when he proposed. The dear fellow patted his arm around me and—
Dorothy—I see dear, you yielded to pressure.

Believing a fool story is almost as bad as telling a fool story.

Politician—The people won't elect me because of my youth.
Supporter—But you are 50 years old and your youth is spent.

Politician—That's just the trouble. They found out how I spent it.

Lecturer (who has spoken for two hours)—I shall not keep you much longer. I am afraid I have spoken at rather great length. There is no clock in the room, and I must apologise for not having a watch with me.
A Voice in the Rear—There's a calendar behind you, mister!

Make a better mousetrap than your neighbor and the world will beat a path to your door—to borrow it.

Lady—I wish to purchase a radio on the deferred payment plan.
Dealer—Can you give any references?

Lady—Yes, indeed. The last dealer we bought one from will be glad to tell you that there wasn't a scratch on the cabinet when he took it back.

Bald-Headed Customer—Say, have you got anything that will clean old ivory?
Grocery Clerk—I have just the thing here, sir—the best shampoo soap made.

THOUGHTS WHILE TRYING TO THINK—There ought to be a law against people buying musical instruments until after they learn to play them. . . . Is a miser what might be called a dough nut? . . . Next year—the celophane bathing suit! . . . You can't expect much of the spokesman who won't put his own shoulder to the wheel. . . . In a land of two million laws you need no other intelligence test if you keep out of jail. . . . Well, anyway, give a girl a string of pearls and she'll love you for the present. . . . One thing that doesn't require any capital to start is a rumor. . . . In the old days the word economy was pronounced stinginess. . . . What this country needs is more bath tubs and fewer singers. . . . This is a funny land. Three million looking for jobs and six million looking for somebody to do their washing. . . . We never could see why they appoint a committee to escort a man to the platform when it only takes one man to cart a fellow off to jail. . . .

Sambo—Rastus, yo'all reminds me of Easter!
Rastus—How come? How come?
Sambo—You's jes' a colored hard-boiled egg.

You'd think during the depression the movie stars would band together and get the benefit of reduced divorce rates.

Nothing gets so little sympathy as a city that goes broke.
