COMPLETE JOB OF EQUALIZING DISTRICTS TAX

Abstract of Assessments of Assets and Liabilities of All Districts Now Ready for Committee's Study.

The final act of consolidation of the town schools will be completed with the laying of the equalization tax at the adjourned town meeting next March. The equalization committee consisting of Wells A. Strickland, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Thomas Lewis, chairman of the Board of Assessors and Harold Alvord, member of the Board of Education has completed the computation of the equalization tax of the several districts and will render its report within a few days. The schedule of assets and liabilities of the districts is printed elsewhere in today's Herald.

Consolidation of Manchester's schools was for many years a lively subject for discussion. Consolidation of the town's schools was attempted in 1928 when the charter revision was defeated. The agitation for consolidation dropped up again four years later and at a special town meeting held April 19, 1932, consolidation of the schools of Manchester was voted.

Under the state laws governing consolidation of schools of towns or cities, all districts whose assets are greater than their liabilities will receive credits, and all districts whose liabilities are greater than their assets will be taxed. The town will assume the property of the districts and will be responsible for district debts within their respective limits.

Under the act an appraisal of all district property was required and the debts established under the direction of the committee selected for that purpose. The firm of Bliss & Cole conducted the appraisal of the district properties.

MUMMIFIED HEAD OF KING IS FOUND

French Photographer Buys It At Auction In 1919—Thought To Be That Of Henry IV.

Paris, Sept. 22.—(AP)—A mummified head which is claimed to be that of Henry IV is now in the possession of a Montmartre photographer named Bourdais, the novelist Paul Reboux writes in the current issue of "Vu," a review. The photographer bought it at an auction in 1919, for three francs. The general cast of the countenance, a nose, and other marks, Reboux writes, have convinced the owner that it is really that of the King, who was assassinated May 14, 1610.

SPEEDING PROGRAM TO REOPEN BANKS

Treasury Lists 375 National Banks in 37 States to Be Reorganized.

Washington, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Pushing the administration's plans to reopen banks of the Nation and expand purchasing power, the Treasury has completed details for reorganization of 375 National banks in 37 states.

The action followed the recent administration announcement that it would hasten the reopening of banks to release nearly two billions of dollars still tied up in the closed institutions.

Announcement of the approval of the reorganization plans was made by J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, whose department has been expanded to speed up the re-opening program.

O'Connor did not say how soon the banks would be open for business, contenting himself with making public the list and saying the plans for reorganization had been approved by the offices of the Treasury.

The last report on the general banking situation showed 13,080 banks of all kinds were operating on an unrestricted basis with deposits of $31,930,275,000.

MERIDEN LAWYER COMMITS SUICIDE

Irving G. Smith Found Dead in Small Closet of His Law Office.

Meriden, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Attorney Irving G. Smith, prominent local lawyer and Republican leader, was found dead in a small closet in the library of his law suite on Church street about 8:45 o'clock this morning. Beside him was found a large revolver and on the floor a .38 calibre bullet.

Dr. H. DeForest Lockwood, medical examiner, pronounced death due to "suicide by gun shot wound." The medical examiner stated that Attorney Smith had been dead since between 11 and 12 o'clock last night.

Floods Inundate Tampico After Hurricane

Devastated by a hurricane that killed at least 80 inhabitants and left more than 10,000 homeless, Tampico, Mexico, is shown in this air view as flood waters inundated streets of the residential east section. This photograph was taken during a gale by the pilot who flew the first relief plane to the stricken city to drop food and medical supplies.

LABOR IS NOW ASKING FOR A 30 HOUR WEEK

Green Declares Slack in Employment Is Not Being Taken Up as Fast as Conditions Demand.

Washington, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Organized labor today threatened an appeal from the NRA to Congress to obtain a thirty hour work week in recovery codes.

William Green, president, gave this notice at a pre-convention gathering of some American Federation of Labor members. Even then, a number of NRA officials were considering possibilities of temporarily relaxing present standards of wage raising and hour shortening efforts so far as they affected the construction and allied industries.

Green's thirty hour week demand virtually clinched the absolute opposition of union labor to any such plan, whether for the construction or any other industry. NRA officials giving thought to the problem, also were quick to emphasize that their considerations must be reviewed by Hugh S. Johnson before approaching the stage of final drafting.

Green told the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor yesterday that "the slack in employment is not being taken up as rapidly as conditions demand."

The NRA Argument. No code yet promulgated has reduced maximum working hours to 30 a week. At NRA headquarters, officials said the study being given the construction industry, including the possibility of granting even higher maximum hours than have yet been approved, was founded on a desire to keep labor costs down in order to attract capital investment.

After a period of perhaps one year, they said wage rates would be increased and hours reduced. By thus making it profitable to build now in order to avoid higher costs 12 months later, they felt the building boom needed for this almost.

SUSPECT TELLS HOW REICHSTAG BLAZE WAS SET

Dutch Communist Gives Details of How He Broke Into Building and Started the Fire.

Leipzig, Germany, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Marinus van der Lubbe made an unequivocal admission of guilt in the burning of the German Reichstag building at today's session of the case in which he and four other men are on trial.

Judge Wilhelm Buenger announced Van der Lubbe would give his own version of the burning. Thereupon the defendant, standing with drooping shoulders and downcast eyes replied hesitantly and reluctantly as Buenger on a basis of an earlier confession, drew a confirmation from Van der Lubbe.

"Do you admit setting fire yourself to the Reichstag?" the judge demanded.

Almost inaudibly Van der Lubbe replied "yes."

The father of Blagoi Popoff, one of the three Bulgarian political refugees among the defendants, attended court today and was permitted to see his son during a recess.

Starts His Story. Later, in response to repeated prodding, van der Lubbe added: "I had no intention of so doing when I awoke that day. The idea came to me as I walked past the Reichstag at two o'clock. I spent the afternoon in a suburb returning to the city at eight o'clock."

According to Van der Lubbe's story, he climbed up the west facade of the Reichstag building to a broad window ledge, smashing a window to enter.

The fire was lighted with matches and tinder as Van der Lubbe dashed in a zigzag course through the corridors into many rooms.

McKEE ANNOUNCES HE IS CANDIDATE FOR O'BRIEN'S JOB

Former Acting Mayor of New York City Breaks Silence That Had Politicians on Edge for Several Days—Scores Tammany Hall and Republicans Alike in Statement—Fusion Leaders See It a Move to Split Anti-Tammany Vote.

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Joseph V. McKee announced his candidacy today for mayor of New York City.

His announcement, handed out by Charles Keegan, his associate, set at rest one of the most vigorously played guessing games that has struck New York political circles.

McKee will run as an independent Democrat, against Major Fiorello LaGuardia, independent Republican, under the fusion banner, and Mayor John F. O'Brien, candidate of Tammany Hall.

For the last 72 hours word from McKee has been sought, desperately by the big town, and four times the former city aldermanic president set an hour for announcing his political intentions, but each time postponed it.

"For nearly two weeks, by letter and telegram, by resolution and personal appeal," the statement said, "I have been asked to be a candidate for mayor of New York City on an independent ticket."

"The request has come in great numbers from all sections of the city and from people of all walks of life. One and all protested against a leadership that has shattered the city's credit and made the people of this city bow their heads—an arrogant leadership of stupidity and corruption unmatched since the days of Boss Tweed."

"Since Tweed's day, Tammany has stretched out and has entertained its way to the neighboring borough of Brooklyn, where John H. McCooey is the Tammany vice-regent and the mainstay of Boss Curry.

SOCIALISTS AGAIN DEFY CHANCELLOR

Austrian Leaders of Party Announce They Are Against Dollfuss Regime.

Vienna, Sept. 22.—(AP)—On his homeward journey from Geneva today Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss found time for a pre-breakfast conference with Foreign Ministers Edouard Benes of Czechoslovakia and Nicholas Titulescu of Rumania.

The fire was lighted with matches and tinder as Van der Lubbe dashed in a zigzag course through the corridors into many rooms.

He smashed his way through a floor glass into a cellar and finally came to Pienary Hall. When the door gave out on the way, he used his coat, shirt and then towels and strips of drapery as he found them.

He finally was caught in the Blumark room.

At the conclusion of the questioning of Van der Lubbe, court was adjourned until Wednesday in view of a convention of Nazi lawyers here.

PROBERS UNCOVER STARTLING FIGURES

Ships Bought for Million That Had Cost U. S. 42 Millions to Build.

Washington, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The record of the Senate committee investigating ocean and air mail subsidies today received figures showing that in the Coolidge and Hoover administrations, the Export Steamship Corporation obtained $45,230,151 in Federal grants and that the line bought 23 Shipping Board vessels for $1,851,307 that had cost the government $42,114,117.

The figures were produced by Senator Black (D. Ala.), chairman, during testimony by E. V. Nevin, treasurer of the company, who said that in addition the Export company owed the government more than a million dollars and financially "is in a worse condition now than in 1929."

JAPANESE TERMED ROMANS OF EAST

Congressman Tinkham Gives His Impressions After a Stay in Manchuria.

Peiping, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Congressman George H. Tinkham of Massachusetts believes the Japanese a military genius rather than a capacity for administration and colonization.

He gave this estimate in an interview today upon his arrival from Manchuria, the Japanese-sponsored state through which he toured as a guest of the Japanese government.

Tinkham, who is on a trip through the Far East, is the first American National official to visit Manchukuo since its establishment last year.

He said he was greatly impressed by Manchukuo's agricultural, economic, and financial progress, the establishment of order and security, and the reduction of banditry, but declared it is premature to consider the question of American recognition.

Because he stayed in Changchun, the capital, only one day he did not meet Cabinet members or the governor, Henry Pu-Yi, so the American said, he was unable to form a definite opinion as to the character and ability of the government.

The American said he believed, however, that the military ability of the Japanese outshone their colonization capacity.

Since he heard that banditry was prevalent, Tinkham carried a money belt around his waist. He encountered no brigands, however.

CHILDREN POISONED

Bridgeport, Sept. 22.—(AP)—While medical authorities at St. Vincent's hospital today were fighting to save the lives of two children critically ill of food poisoning, a preliminary investigation into the poisoning was being conducted by city health officials. Four children from one family are at St. Vincent's hospital and a brother and sister of the four were at home recovering from the illness.

The two in critical condition are Daniel Bruy, 9, and his five year old sister, Pauline. Two others in a less serious condition, but still under observation at the hospital, were 2 year old, Norman and Leon, 10 years old. Francis, 12, and Beatrice, 7, were at home nearly recovered.

Autoist Gets Revenge on Cop Who Nabbed Him

Glenwood, Iowa, Sept. 22.—(AP)—This will serve as an introduction to Mr. R. C. Townsend of near Glenwood—a man with ideas, particularly with reference to officers of the law.

Constable Fred Nix arrested him for passing a stop sign in his motor car. He paid his fine, and then waited patiently for something to happen. It did when the constable went past a stop sign.

and announced that the constable might well consider himself under arrest.

"Nix" or words to that effect was the officer's reply as he sped away. Undaunted Mr. Townsend went to Council Bluffs, where he consulted with legal authorities. Were officers immune from stopping at stop signs? Certainly not, he was told. So he got a warrant. Officer C. W. Kelly of Hastings made the arrest.

Constable Nix was fined $1 and costs.

He paid.

Strikes Dot Country From Coast to Coast

By Associated Press. Strike scenes dotted the country from coast to coast today, with these highlights:

Pittsburgh—3,000 to 5,000 striking, shouting miners converged on the big Chrysler plant of Carnegie Steel. They sought to swing 4,000 Chrysler workers into the "holiday" movement of a 50,000 steel and mine workers in three states.

COMMUNISTS CALL STRIKE IN CUBA Street Cars to Be Stopped in Havana for Six Hours, Part of Plan.

Havana, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Shooting began along the Prado Boulevard today as Communists started a march in honor of Julio Antonio Mella, the student Communist leader killed in Mexico.

At least one person was wounded as the firing continued from soldiers among the several hundred projecting into the streets, where thousands paraded from anti-Imperialist League headquarters along Havana's principal streets.

Havana, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Another element in the complex Cuban political scene is projected into the foreground today as Communists called for a six hour general strike in Havana.

to banks in New York and Philadelphia. A mail contract entered into with the Postoffice Department in August, 1928, called for payments of $1,044,000 a year to the line, but with the addition of four faster boats built under the Jones-White Act, former Postmaster General Walter Brown amended the contract in 1930 increasing the annual payments to $2,185,000.

The mail subsidy alone for the ten-year period totaled approximately $18,397,000. Black told Nevin, who said he assumed the figure was correct.

Another subsidy, which Black said was granted, was in the sale of shipping board vessels to the line in 1925 at $3,564,694 less than what he called the world market value.

tator bill for T. V. O'Connor, former chairman of the Shipping Board, Herby Herberman, president of the Export company, denied paying the bill.

Senator Black pressed Nevin for an explanation of the fee of $15,000 Herberman ordered paid to C. Bacon Slomp in July, 1925, in connection with the purchase by the line of 18 Shipping Board vessels.

WHEN 36TH STATE RATIFIES, DRYS OUT laws will remain effective until the formal proclamation of the secretary of state is issued.

Department's Scheme Under the Justice Department's scheme, the proclamation would be given the same date as that of the 36th state's ratification. If this plan is used—and a final decision has yet to be made—officials say there would be no doubt that prosecutions brought for violations after the 36th ratification would not stand in the courts.

In the decision referred to by the lawyers—the case of ex-parte Dillon—the Supreme Court in approving the action of a trial court pointed out that the ratification of the 18th Amendment was consummated January 16, 1919, when the 36th state ratified. It added that the fact the secretary of state did not proclaim its ratification until January 29, 1919, was not material.

Governor Wilbur L. Cross, Congressman Herman P. Koppelman and David A. Wilson, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, have been invited. A program of sports in the afternoon will be followed by a dinner.

OBITUARY

DEATHS

Mrs. George W. Reynolds Mrs. Kate (Cragin) Reynolds, widow of Rev. George W. Reynolds, died last night at her home, 24 Whiting Lane, West Hartford, from a heart attack. Mrs. Reynolds attended Center church, Hartford, last Sunday, and on Monday was taken ill. The late Dr. Reynolds was pastor of the Center Congregational church here from 1901 to 1914, preceding the Rev. Charles Hesselgrave. During their residence in town both Dr. Reynolds and his wife made many friends who continued to keep in touch with them since they lived in West Hartford.

Mrs. Reynolds leaves two nieces and a nephew, the children of her brother, the late Dr. Cragin of Colchester, her native town. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at her home, and 4 o'clock at Colchester, where burial will take place.

Miss Ruth Chapman daughter of George M. Chapman, of 78 Chestnut street, died at her home this morning following a three-month illness. Miss Chapman was born in Naugatuck and came to this town at an early age. Her father was for a long time employed as a bookkeeper by Cheney Brothers.

A member of St. Mary's Episcopal church Miss Chapman has been active in the work there before her illness. She had also been an active member of Temple Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, and Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth. The latter court received its name from her mother.

Besides her father she leaves one sister, Miss Olive Chapman, of this town. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Emma F. Green The funeral of Mrs. Emma F. Green, a native of Manchester, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Whitney's funeral home, 92½ Main street, East Hartford. Rev. Truman Woodruff of East Hartford will officiate and burial will be in Center cemetery, East Hartford.

Mrs. Charles M. Saunders. The funeral of Mrs. Charles M. Saunders was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of her son, Walter Saunders of 82 Chestnut street. Rev. Watson Woodruff of the Center Congregational church conducted the service. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes, testifying to the esteem in which this long-time resident of the town was held by a host of friends. The bearers were her two grandsons, Earl Saunders and Douglas Robertson of Syracuse, N. Y.; Will Saunders, Jr., Robert Seaman, Edward G. Saunders, and Harold Saunders. Burial was in the East cemetery.

LOOKING FOR SUSPECT BRING IN HITCH-HIKER

Two men were picked up by the police last night hitch-hiking through Manchester. The police had been on the watch for Harry Cahill, wanted in connection with the death of 17-year-old Richard McCarthy of Cambridge, Mass., when a report was received in Hartford from the Springfield police that a man suspected in connection with the case was enroute to Connecticut from Massachusetts.

Early this evening a hitch-hiker was picked up and brought to the station. He said that his home was in Taunton, Mass., and gave the police something of his record. Early this morning another hitch-hiker was brought in. He told the officer that he was on his way to Providence and had no money. For subsistence along the way he had a couple of sandwiches.

Both men were given lodging in the police station until this morning.

place corruption and stupidity in public office and who want the city's credit restored.

"To accomplish this is my sole purpose in making this difficult decision. I am not actuated by any political consideration. I refused to enter the Democratic primary because I felt that to do so would mark me as a tool of the machine and thus would prevent my doing the job that had to be done to restore our city government. I was not offered a fusion nomination, but had it been offered, I should have refused to accept it because to do so, would have implied an obligation to Samuel Koenig, whom the decent Republicans have just ejected from power.

"There is no real fusion in this campaign. The so-called fusion standard-bearer is as objectionable to the solid element of our Republican citizenship as he is to the vast majority of Democrats who are disgusted with machine politics. The present standard bearer of the alleged fusion is a poor compromise by a faction of would-be bosses. "As mayor, I shall be absolutely free from political domination by any leader or any set of leaders. "I pledge myself to act, not for the benefit of any political leader or faction, but in the sole interests of the people of the city for I know that the people of New York City want the municipal government, what they now have in the nation—a new deal."

CONVICT SHIP SAILS

St. Martin De La France, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The convict ship La Martiniere sailed today with a cargo of some 670 caged criminals in its holds, voyaging in chains toward the "dry Guillotine" of French Guiana, 4,000 miles away.

Condemned in many instances to banishment for life, the human freight was the first shipment in two years for the three islands—including the famous Devil's Island—off the eastern coast of South America that form the distant prison colonies of France.

Among them was Guy Davis, 36-year-old "heir-to-wealth" convicted of slaying an American, Richard Wall, for the 1930 that wall a chance acquaintance, in New York the time. Davis, the many of his fellow convicts, was sentenced to hard labor and exile for life.

POLICE HEAD RAPS RADIO BROADCAST

Claims Station Reported Fight With Convicts That Did Not Take Place.

Chester, Ind., Sept. 29.—(AP)—The Federal Radio Commission may get an echo of shots allegedly fired to add a touch of realism to a radio cast depicting northern Indiana's extensive man hunt for the convicts who recently escaped from the state penitentiary and kidnaped Sheriff Charles Neel of Corydon.

This was revealed last night when Captain Mathew Leach of the Indiana state police said he understood that Station WIND of Gary, Ind., had failed to broadcast a retraction of an allegedly false radio report purporting to describe a fight between the escaped convicts and police. As a result the officer said he would file charges against WIND.

"The charges he said, would be deliberate falsification of a news report. The broadcast was made Thursday night from the scene of the manhunt.

Meanwhile Sheriff Neel is still missing. He is all set of the convicts who slugged and shot their way to freedom from the Michigan City state penitentiary last Tuesday.

CHARGES DENIED

Chicago, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Leslie Atlas, vice-president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, today denied charges of an Indiana police official that a broadcast Wednesday night of a search for a group of escaped convicts was "malicious and ridiculous."

Captain Mathew Leach of the Indiana state police has threatened to take the matter before the Federal Radio Commission. Leach has demanded a retraction of the broadcast, repeats with the sound of bullets.

Atlas, in charge of the broadcasting chain's Chicago office and its Midwest territory, said Columbia and not Station WIND of Gary, Ind., was responsible for the broadcast.

Although not present at the scene himself, Atlas said he had obtained full reports from employees who were there.

He insisted all the shots were fired by the police themselves, although admitting a belief that the police may have been over zealous "and perhaps thought they were radio actors." No convicts were captured.

Atlas said he would take witnesses of the incident before the commission to prove the broadcasting employees did not "add sound effects" or include untruths. "There is nothing to retract," he said. "We broadcast exactly what happened."

Atlas is a brother of Ralph Atlas, head of Station WIND.

AUTO VICTIM IDENTIFIED

New Haven, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The woman who was crushed to death by an automobile near downtown New Haven was identified as Mrs. Adeline Coassin, 63, of New Haven, today by her son, Nicholas.

Mrs. Coassin was struck by a car last night while crossing Howard avenue. She suffered a fractured skull, crushed chest, broken neck and other injuries. The body remained unidentified at the New Haven hospital until today.

The driver of the car, John Daywood, 56, of New Haven, was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

GAINS IN SALES

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Substantial gains in the sales of department stores, chain stores and wholesale houses in the New York Federal Reserve district during August, were reported to the Federal Reserve bank.

The bank's monthly tabulation of business activity, to be published in its October 1 review, will show a rise of 52 per cent in the August sales of reporting wholesale concerns and the largest gains in chain stores and department store sales since April 1930.

DEPARTMENT PRESIDENT GUEST OF AUXILIARY

Coming to U. S. V. W. Meeting Here Wednesday Night—Annual Inspection Night.

Department President Eva Stewart of Bridgeport and her official staff will be the guests Wednesday evening at the state armory of Mary Bushnell Cheney Auxiliary, U. S. V. W. at the annual inspection of the order. At the same time, the auxiliary will be host to Department Commander Hitchcock, of Winsted, United Spanish War Veterans. Members of War Veterans Camp have been invited to the supper which will take place in the basement of the armory at 7:30 p. m. The inspection of the auxiliary will begin at 8 o'clock.

The State officers of the United Spanish War Veterans and its auxiliary will bring messages from the National Commander in connection with recent legislation affecting veterans of the Spanish-American War, widows and orphans.

Mrs. George Johnson of Elisell street is chairman of the committee arranging for the supper.

MACDONALD DENIES REPORT ON ROADS

that somebody in Washington has gone off half-cocked."

WASHINGTON REPORT Washington, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The public works administration feels there is a distinct hope it will not be forced to carry further its threat to withdraw emergency highway funds from states which have been dilatory in getting such projects under way.

It was learned today the administration held the view that the situation would adjust itself, and all states involved would make such immediate progress as would obviate any necessity of going forward with any plan to recall the allocations made to them.

The public works special board yesterday asked for a legal opinion as to whether it could withdraw such funds from Alabama, California, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Mississippi, New Jersey, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Tennessee.

The outstanding cause of the delay in most, if not all, those states was lack of sufficient organization to carry forward existing projects and at the same time put under way new projects approved by the government.

At least six of the states—Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, New Jersey, Oklahoma and Tennessee—have had new or virtually new state highway organizations, with a consequent loss of time that perhaps would not have occurred had there been no break in routine.

Thus, the administration believes the roads program is gaining daily momentum, and that in the states now in the threatened list, cumulative efforts soon would see projects under way.

The bureau of public roads has approved some 2,000 projects to cost around $125,000,000. The rate of highway employment was said to stand about where it did last September in this, the third year of the highway employment building program.

STRIKERS PICK FORD FACTORIES

Workers at Edgewater, N. J., Plant Await Action by NRA Board.

Edgewater, N. J., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Striking workers at the Ford assembly plant here continued to picket the buildings on the river-front today and awaited word from Newark where a delegation was to meet with state NRA officials.

The delegation of approximately 2,300 strikers from the Ford plant at Chester, Pa., weary from sitting in cramped positions in automobiles all night long, left at 10:30 a. m. to return to their homes.

The strikers demand a five-day week, seven-hour day and $5 a day minimum pay.

There continued to be a wide divergence in the estimates of those falling to report for work. Finley MacDonald, assistant secretary of the United Automobile Workers Local, said today 1,400 men are on strike, out of a total of 2,300 employees.

"The office of Nell Brown, superintendent of the plant, said 1,400 of the force of 2,300 were still at work this morning, showing 800 were on a strike as compared with the company's report that 311 were out yesterday."

The Ford management announced approximately the same number are out today as were out yesterday. MacDonald said the production was cut from a normal assembly of 250 cars, to 50. This, the management said, also was inaccurate.

The local strikers said if the strike here is 100 per cent successful, a delegation from here will go to Buffalo to attempt to line up the workers there by the same method used by the Chester workers.

ROCKVILLE

HALT OF SCHOOL BUS SERVICE IS DENIED

P. U. S. Orders "New Haven's" Company to Continue Carrying School Pupils.

The New England Transportation Company's bus line between Rockville and Springfield has been ordered continued with the present service or improved service at least until the schools close next June. A hearing was held before the Public Utilities Commission in the State Office Building at Hartford yesterday morning with Chairman Richard T. Higgins presiding.

The hearing had been continued from September 21 when the residents of this community claimed they had insufficient notice. At the opening of the hearing yesterday Superintendent C. V. Wood of the Hartford division made an offer to carry all of the Ellington school children to Rockville for $15 per day in place of the $10 now charged. This would mean approximately 66 children in place of the 33 children now carried on the bus.

The offer of $15 brought Miss Hattie Berr, secretary of the Ellington School Committee, to her feet. She stated that she was informed on Tuesday night of this price and stated that it had not been brought before the School Board as they would not hold a meeting until next Tuesday, October 3. Miss Berr also stated that the New England Transportation Company never solicited business and it had to be forced upon them. She related her experience during the summer in carrying the school children and made a verbal agreement of $10 a day for a bus load. No written agreement was ever signed.

Miss Berr also stated that Harold Price, traffic manager of the company from South Boston, had offered her this additional service for $14.50 daily. Assistant General Counsel W. L. Bennett of the New Haven railroad from New Haven asked questions of Messrs. Wood and Price at this time to contradict Miss Berr.

W. C. Dixon, of Warehouse Point, pleaded for the continuance of the bus line service from Warehouse Point to Phelps Corner where a connection is made for Rockville. Mr. Price stated that the company would furnish transportation in a sedan from Thompsonville to Phelps Corner if they could take off this service.

A petition from the residents of the town of Ellington, signed by 120 residents including all of the town officials, was presented praying for the continuance of the service. Attorney Bennett placed Harold Price, passenger traffic manager, on the witness stand at the hearing. Mr. Price presented figures for a four day test showing the revenue but four cents a mile. He also showed the revenue by months and years since 1929.

Mr. Price claimed the revenue for the first seven months of 1932 averaged only 4 cents a mile but his report showed figures of $1,382.40 for the revenue received. Mr. Price received from regulars of $1,863.90 from school children revenue making a total of $3,246.30. The Commissioner Joseph Alsop began analyzing the reports of the railroad, which seemed to be disturbing the officials. He asked that the additional service offered by carrying school children would amount to $1,000 and the miles of travel would only total approximately 1,000 miles. Commissioner Alsop arrived at the per mile figure by asking the total revenue miles for 1932 which were stated as 27,678 and dividing this into the revenue of $3,246.30. He asked the railroad officials if they were not receiving 11-13 cents per bus mile in place of the four cents per mile as claimed in their reports.

LOCAL COUPLE WED FIFTY YEARS TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Johnson Celebrating Their Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Johnson of Chestnut and Laurel streets today are observing their golden wedding anniversary, and tonight will celebrate the event with a reception and banquet at the Manchester Country Club, which will be attended by 175 invited guests. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were married fifty years ago today by the Rev. O. A. Lendell, the first regular pastor of the Emanuel Lutheran church here.

Mr. Johnson came here from Sweden in 1879 and Mr. Johnson a year later. Mrs. Johnson's maiden name was Miss Amalia Lieberg. During the more than a half century they have resided in Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have gained numerous friends. Both are in the best of health and are very active. Mr. Johnson entered the Public Works Administration owing to the delay in making application. It has been hinted that the Connecticut allotment may be recalled because no actual road work has been started in the state.

The efficiency of Rockville's Volunteer Fire Department was shown yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock when a general alarm was sounded from Box No. 25 in the center of the city. The alarm was sounded by Walter Yost for a fire at the rear of the Rockville Hotel where Cadillac Sedan, owned by Raymond Condesan, was damaged by fire while on the greasing stand. The car was formerly used as a taxicab but was discarded recently. There was a very hot blaze for several minutes as the fire and grease about the greasing stand were burning rapidly. Before the fire apparatus arrived the fire was practically extinguished with portable fire extinguishers from the Rockville hotel and the Rockville Garage, both nearby. Hundreds of people, however, had rushed to the center of the city, realizing that Box 25 is a general alarm, calling out all fire apparatus.

Charles E. Milne was ready to turn in a recall before the four rounds of the fire alarm had finished. The damage was about $100 with no insurance. Auxiliary Elect The annual election of the American Legion Auxiliary was held on Wednesday evening in the G. A. R. rooms, Memorial building. Officers elected: President, Mrs. Olive LeRoux of Somers; first vice-president, Mrs. Florence Marley; second vice-president, Mrs. Bertha Phillips; chaplain, Mrs. Mabel Morgan; secretary, Mrs. Anna Trickett; treasurer, Mrs. Margaret Marley; sergeant-at-arms, Miss Anna Marley; executive committee, Mrs. Mae Chapman; Mrs. Elsie Southwick and Mrs. Alice Backson.

Annual Outing Saturday The annual outing of executives, overseers, salesmen and office force of the Hockanum Mills Company will be held at Lake Compounce on Saturday. The men will gather at Lake Compounce about 11:30 for the sports. A chowder will be served at noon and the athletic program will open at 12:30 o'clock. There will be boat races between six crews, representing the various mills and the New York office. A bowling match will be held at 1 o'clock between a New York and Rockville team for the Nettleton Bowling Trophy. A baseball game will be played at 2:30 o'clock for the Ainsworth Trophy with the Rockville and New York team as opponents.

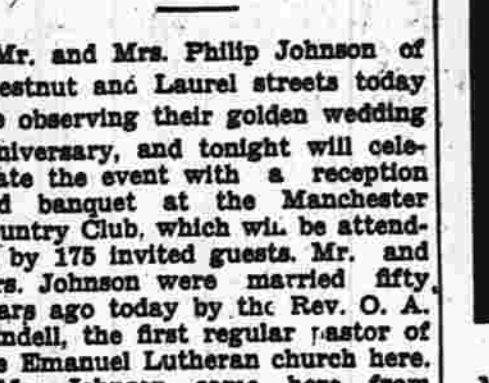

A barbecue lamb dinner will be served at 4 o'clock after which the prizes will be awarded. This will be followed by a short program. Notes A class of candidates were initiated at the meeting of Rockville Lodge, No. 1359, B. P. O. Elks at the Elks club last evening. Former Mayor John P. Cameron acted as exalted ruler in place of Exalted Ruler Lewis Chapman, who has been suffering from impaired health. A social and smoker followed the meeting. A dress rehearsal was held last evening of the Show Boat Musical Show which is to be presented tonight in the town hall under the sponsorship of the Jefferson Club, popularly known as the "Young Guard" Democrats. Miss Corinne Lee is directing the presentation. The Rockville Baptist church held its quarterly business meeting last evening in the church social rooms with Rev. Edward L. Nield, pastor, presiding.

The card party and social held yesterday afternoon at Grange Hall, Vernon Center, under the sponsorship of the Vernon Grange, was well attended and proved a big success. Work is progressing rapidly on the resurfacing of the section of Market street, south of the railroad tracks, popularly known as "Opera House Hill." The public works department is resurfacing this section because of the unweaviness of the old macadam road. The Jewish residents of Rockville are observing "Yom Kippur" today, which means the day of atonement. Practically all of the stores owned by the Jewish people are closed for the day but will re-open at 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon. It has been estimated that it would cost $543,400,000 to make the entire St. Lawrence river navigable for ocean-going vessels.

New York, Sept. 29.—Stimulated by public works funds, heavy engineering construction contracts awarded in the week ended Sept. 25 totaled $41,200,000, the second highest weekly total this year, says "Engineering News-Record." The weekly average for September is $26,689,000, the best for any month since July, 1932.

Year-end stocks of sugar available for the United States market will amount to 580,000 long tons, a decrease of 471,000 tons from Dec. 31 last, reports B. W. Dyer & Co., sugar broker. This figure includes 350,000 tons segregated by decree of the Machado government of Cuba. No allowance has been made for hurricane damage, but "this is believed to have been small" in the firm's opinion.

Miss Harriet Fuller was one of five sisters present at the birthday party of Miss Nancy Fuller of Liberty Hill, who celebrated her 81st birthday at the home of Mrs. Milo Davoll of Liberty Hill. The five sisters were Miss Nancy Fuller, Miss Mary Fuller, Mrs. Milo Davoll, Liberty Hill, and Mrs. Edward P. Lyman and Miss Harriet Fuller of Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fuller of Hartford called Sunday on Mr. Fuller's cousin Miss Harriet Fuller. Mrs. Eveline Dorosis is spending several days in Willimantic. During her absence her daughter, Lucy, is staying with Mrs. Nellie Cole. There was a well child conference held at the hall Tuesday afternoon, with Dr. Haskins of the State Board of Health in charge, assisted by Miss Lewis, nurse, and Miss Peck, dental nurse. Mrs. Howard Rice, Mrs. Raymond Clarke and Mrs. Clayton Hunt assisted with the clerical work connected with the conference.

Mrs. Julia Little and son, Horace Little, spent the week-end in Yonkers, N. Y., at the home of Mrs. Harold Austin. The Austins have spent several summers at Columbia Lake, staying in Horace Little's cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bond are spending a week in Brooklyn at the home of Mr. Bond's niece, Mrs. John Flatley. Madison Woodward and his housekeeper, Mrs. Rose, have gone to Ferry, N. Y., to visit Mr. Woodward's daughter, Mrs. George Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Lyman with Mrs. Luella Little and Mrs. Lyndon Little, the latter two of Willimantic, motored to Manchester Tuesday to the home of Mr. Lyman's daughter, Mrs. Helen Stollenfeldt, coming home through Glastonbury.

Mrs. White and Miss Mayberry of Willimantic called Monday at the home of Miss Harriet Fuller and took Miss Fuller and her friend, Miss Winchester of North Easton, Mass., who is visiting here to lunch and a long automobile ride.

Miss Alice Frieble of Hartford and Miss Minnie Emerson of Boston are spending a few days at Overlook. Miss Katherine Christliff of New York who is staying for a while at her Columbia cottage, went to Ogunquit, Maine, Wednesday, for a few days to close up a cottage she owns there for the winter.

LAUDS UTILITIES ON SAVING TREES

Rigid Rules Laid Down for Protection of Shade Trees Along State Highways.

"Splendid cooperation on the part of the public utility companies in the State with the Bureau of Roadside Development of the Connecticut Highway Department has resulted in the conservation of many of our beautiful roadside shade trees which otherwise would undoubtedly have been lost," Luther M. Keith, director of the Bureau of Roadside Development of the Connecticut Highway Department, declared today in a statement summarizing the department rules which now govern the stringing of utility wires and laying of underground mains and conduits.

Although those rules are rigid and in many cases difficult of compliance, the various utilities have adhered to them strictly; most companies now employing men specially trained in this type of work and others employing commercial tree firms to do the work for them, Mr. Keith said. Where the work is especially difficult, some public utilities have insisted on having one of the highway department's tree experts on the job during the entire process of placing carriers.

The regulations governing underground work are particularly important and more difficult than the rules for pole line operations says Mr. Keith. They are based on the botanical axiom that nature so constructs her plants that there is a perfect balance between the parts above the ground and the parts below, if left undisturbed; and that when the latter are disturbed or partially destroyed the plant will strive to adjust itself until the balance is again attained, or, if that damage has been too great, it will die in part or in toto. More damage can be done to a tree through destruction of its roots in fifteen minutes than man and nature can rectify in fifteen years, the director declared.

Therefore, the regulations prescribe the danger area in the root system around trees and strictly limit the amount and size of root which may be cut in that area. They explain how the soil shall be removed and replaced; how the roots must be protected with pipe or conduit in part or in toto. More damage can be done to a tree through destruction of its roots in fifteen minutes than man and nature can rectify in fifteen years, the director declared.

There were 34 present at the Grange meeting Wednesday evening. The subject for discussion during the Lecturer's Hour was "The place of school, church and Grange in a well-balanced community program." Following this play "The King With a Terrible Temper" was acted out by those present, and "Simple Simon Fishing" was the closing stunt. Boosters' Night will be observed Saturday evening with an open program for all.

POPULATION DRIVE STARTED BY NAZIS STRESSES HEREDITY

German citizens, says an appeal sent to all German newspapers, must be taught to think in terms of "heredity," or heredity.

Societies enlisted. "Fundamentalists must be hammered into the consciousness of the nation," says the appeal. Germany's vast number of "verreine," or civilian societies, have been drafted for the campaign. They have been asked to cut fees for members with large families and to distribute propaganda literature so "every German in the remotest village will be reached and permeated through and through by this enlightenment."

Pointing out that penetration of the nation's life by the hereditary idea, has always been a Nazi aim, it is stated: "That a puny, microscopic and insignificant individual should put his own welfare before that of the nation, is petty and despicable. 'Hereditarily-thinking,' it explains, 'extends beyond the narrow sphere of the individual, into the vast reaches of generation, centuries, and millenniums.'"

AMUSEMENTS

"I LOVED A WOMAN" IS THRILLING DRAMA

Edw. G. Robinson Has Romantic Role in Film at State Starting Sunday.

"I Loved a Woman," the first National production starring Edw. G. Robinson... with Kay Francis... and coming to the State Theater Sunday again presents the widely acclaimed hero of "Silver Dollar" with a role of romantic portraiture...

When, in turn, he discovers that the opera singer has made him only one of many men in her life, Hayden cuts himself off from her, and throws himself with fiery enthusiasm into a career of ruthless business aggrandizement...

When, however, he attempts to reach out and control food sources on a world scale, his colossal schemes topple of their own weight, and to avoid criminal prosecution, he is forced to flee as an exile to Greece.

Kay Francis has the role of the opera singer who, despite her casual infidelities to her benefactor, proves to be his only loyal friend at the close of the drama. Genevieve Tobin plays the part of Robinson's vindictive wife.

Other members of the unusually large cast are Murray Kinnell, Robert Barrat, George Blackwood, Robert McWade, Henry Klokner, Walter Walker, J. Farrell MacDonald, E. J. Ratcliffe, Paul Porcasi, William V. Wong, Morgan Wallace and Loren Layson.

Commodore Richardson, who dislikes Conway's new-fangled methods of manipulating stocks. The Commodore threatens to blast Conway off Wall Street, and the bold Conway, adventurous and eager for excitement, accepts the challenge.

Meanwhile, Conway is accused of murdering his wife, whom he shot accidentally, and is threatened with blackmail by his scheming secretary who has discovered "evidence" which would incriminate him.

Elizabeth Young is cast in the principal feminine role; Sharon Lynne plays the role of the scheming secretary, and Dorothy Peterson appears as the vindictive wife. Tom Mix and his famous horse Tony, Jr., will appear on the same bill in their newest western picture "The Rustlers Roundup."

BEAR LEAVES PORT - Bayonne, N. J., Sept. 23. (AP)—Heavily loaded with various kinds of fuel, the Bear, a supply ship of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition, left here this morning with Norfolk, Va., as its next stop.

A tug took the ship as far as Gravesend Bay, and it then headed seaward under its own power. It arrived here yesterday from Boston on the first leg of its long journey.

CORTEZ HEADS CAST OF CIRCLE TOMORROW

"Big Executive" to Open at Oak Street Theater Saturday—Other Feature.

Ricardo Cortez, Richard Bennett, Elizabeth Young and Sharon Lynne head the featured cast of Paramount's "Big Executive," exciting drama which relates the intimate secrets of a young financial wizard, which opens tomorrow at the Circle Theater.

The picture is a graphic interpretation of the lives led by multimillionaires, their struggle for fame and wealth on the street supposed to be paved with gold—Wall Street. Intimate glimpses of their private lives are depicted in interesting fashion, and the action moves swiftly through skyscrapers, magnificent yachts, mountain estates and town houses.

Ricardo Cortez, who was last seen in "Midnight Mary," plays the role of Victor Conway, blessed with fame, fortune and youth, but the victim of a nagging and jealous wife. He falls in love with Helena, great-granddaughter of

BETHANY GIRLS, HAWLEY HEARD BY 400 HERE

Dorcas Society's Concert at Emanuel Church Last Evening a Notable Event.

A capacity audience of nearly 400 persons greeted the Bethany girls quartet of New Britain in their first concert appearance at the Emanuel Lutheran church last night. The concert, which was under the auspices of the Dorcas Society, was particularly notable in that it brought to Manchester this splendid quartet of women's voices, which has made such a hit on the radio.

After a greeting by the girls, Elizabeth Hawley in a piano recital added the final touch to the program. Mr. Hawley's playing was a delightful complement to the quiet, subdued songs of the Bethany girls, subtitled songs by Rev. K. E. Erickson. The program opened with a group of songs by the quartet, "Peace, Jesus My Saviour," "He Did It," and "Throne of Grace."

The quartet accompaniment consisted of three guitars and a cither, which provided a pleasing background to the flute-like voices of the girls.

Mr. Hawley appeared in two groups, one of Torjusson's and the "Norwegian Suite" in which he excelled in "The Legend." Mr. Hawley's style is dynamic and vigorous and popularly suited to the rugged Norwegian suite which he had selected for his first group.

The Bethany Girls appeared in two more groups, the first "Salvation Suite: Then All," "Grumblers" and "More Than Gold," and in the second "God's Promise," "Hymn Reverts," "Home Coming," and "Dear Lord, Forgive." As a closing number the quartet sang its "Song," "God's Way is the Way." The program was brought to a close with a benediction, Rev. Erickson.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29.

CAMPBELL, KELLY.
 The impounding of gold was an absolute essential to the process of getting the United States off the gold standard. To get the country off the gold standard was an absolute essential to halting the process of deflation. If the process of deflation had not been halted it is probable that general values in this country would now be fifty per cent lower than they were last February. Instead of having a diminishing depression on our hands we should by now have had complete collapse and more than likely, rioting and revolution.

If Frederick Barber Campbell, New York lawyer, should succeed in his defiance of the government's impounding orders, the consequence would be the destruction of everything that has been done to prevent and correct deflation, because he could only succeed by the establishment of the fact that the government had no right to control gold or to prevent gold from controlling all business and all values.

We do not know what individuals Mr. Campbell represents besides himself, if anybody, but he is playing the game of that very small but hitherto almost limitless powerful group who have controlled the United States for many years by controlling the sources of money.

We may be very sure that if this hitherto unknown attorney succeeds in getting legal hold of the eight hundred thousand dollars in bullion which he has on deposit with a New York bank every other owner of gold will get control of his share—and away will go every prospect of better times. Because if the impounding of gold does not hold, neither will that legislation invalidating the gold clause in contracts, and immediately the country will be locked fast in the grip of a desperate demand for the yellow metal which will practically destroy the values of all other forms of property.

It is beyond belief that the courts, and particularly the Supreme Court of the United States, will lend itself to the support of an abstract theory the result of which inevitably must be the destruction of all hope of national recovery.

Nevertheless, and despite the fact that defeat in the courts for the group for whom this lawyer acts as spokesman would forever end their pretensions, the prompt counter-offensive of the government in causing the indictment of the attorney for failing to declare his gold ownership is a subject for congratulation. It is to be hoped that his prosecution will be conducted relentlessly and that he will be put in jail as provided by law.

It is only by the application of stern measures that people of Campbell's class and those who may be prompting him can be taught that there are limits in individualism which cannot be transcended. Like Machine Gun Kelly, Mr. Campbell esteems himself as above and beyond the law. He shall see.

F. D. AND INFLATION.
 This newspaper, though of a different political party from the President of the United States, has given its loyal support to the policies of Mr. Roosevelt's administration because it has been and still is convinced that the President has had at heart, in all that he has done, a sincere and courageous determination to restore the nation to as great a measure of well being as is humanly possible; that he has been animated by an all-mastering desire for the relief of the sufferings of all classes, first of all the working folk who make up the vast bulk of the population and whom it is no slightest disparagement to call the common people.

Because we have been fully aware that no President and no administration could achieve such purposes without obtaining and holding the confidence and faith of the huge commonplace majority of the newspaper has made it a special point to refrain from captious criticism of this or that minor proceeding which might fail to be useful. We have not, for example, seized upon the rather ludicrous over-spread of the Blue Eagle as an excuse for attacking the fundamental principle of the NRA codification and of government regulation of industries, as has been done by some other newspapers. We have, on the contrary, tried to keep in mind, and to help our readers to keep in mind, the splendid effort being made to restore some measure of prosperity, and the vital necessity of supporting that effort and of overlooking the inevitable minor mistakes.

In pursuit of this policy of maintaining confidence the Herald has steadfastly refused to give credit to a thousand and one rumors, guesses and propagandizing reports that President Roosevelt's currency policy is a straddling one; that he is under the influence of the banker point of view to the extent of fearing inflationary methods beyond such as would cure the very worst of the deflation and leave the rest to luck or the tender mercies of an old money trust readjusted to somewhat less favoring conditions.

It has seemed to us, and still seems to us, that it is simply incredible that a man holding the liberal economic views of the President, so ready and courageous an experimenter with ideas utterly shocking to the bourbon mind, should in this one matter of an adequate currency inflation, when it is absolutely essential to the success of all that he is doing and all else that he is trying to do, develop a timorous, reactionary, fussy minded streak and ruin his whole structure of economic revolution by robbing the arch of its keystone.

Until there is some far more convincing evidence that Mr. Roosevelt is suffering from a blindspot in his outlook on the economic situation and that he is going to balk at the most essential factor in his program we shall reject as the work of mischief makers this growing mass of rumor concerning the President's currency intentions.

If it does develop that we have been utterly mistaken in appraising the consistency of the President's liberalism and that he is a valiant exponent of brave new ideas for eleven hours but a trembling follower of the ancient pagan gods for one, we shall not hesitate to admit that the nation has been leaning on a broken reed. But we cannot believe that any man of such excellent intentions and such clear vision in so many directions can be blinder than a bat in one. It is our faith that the President will, before very long, completely discredit these prophets for the money trust.

NUMBER PLATES.
 There is something depressing about the biennial announcement by the Motor Vehicle Department that next year Connecticut's pleasure car markers will be dark blue with white letters and numerals. One year we get red markers with white numerals, the next, the dark blue ones also with white numerals, and so it bids fair to go on, world without end. We seem to recall something about a sort of compact or agreement between the automobile registration authorities of the various states by which some permanent division of marker colorings was arranged. Apparently by it this state is forever precluded from issuing anything but blue and white or red and white number plates. And the blue-and-white things are terrible.

In the first place they are vinty blue and white for just about a day. After that they become a discouraged, dismal, dirty black as to background. Nobody not possessing a positive genius for color gradations would ever suspect that any blue pigment entered into the enamel. On a handsome, shiny new car they have the edifying effect of a blob of road mud on a boiled shirt front; they make a red old one look twice its age and three times as mournful.

There's snap and character to the yellow-and-black of New York and this year's red-lettered New Jersey markers. Our own white-on-red of the odd years is not so bad; but why, every even year, should we have to be afflicted with an automobile marker color scheme deliberately calculated to take the joy out of life?

If we must have blue number plates let us have a blue that looks like blue and not so internally like the blues.

NO FIRST MATE.
 The illness of Recovery Administrator Hugh M. Johnson, a condition remarkable only for its having been so long delayed, is having a noticeable and depressing effect on the operation of the industrial recovery program. General Johnson labored for months under such a stress and strain and at such a pace as made it a sheer miracle that he could continue as long as he did. How long it will be before he can again take his place at the helm of this tumbling, tossing ship the NRA there is no way of knowing. It is not, of course, perfectly certain that he will be able to resume command at all; when a man finally breaks under such a terrific strain as that under which Johnson has labored he is fortunate indeed if he ever gets all the way back.

Meantime there appears to be no actual first mate. The ship is more or less following its own course. And it complicates the situation that just at this time there should develop trouble between Henry Ford and his employees, which the Ford Company threatens to solve by closing down at least one of its factories and throwing more workers out of jobs.

If the Fords are allowed to get away with that solution of their troubles the fat will be in the fire indeed. No industrialist who has signed a code would be permitted to lock out his employees in case of a labor dispute. If one who has persistently refused to come under a code, and who has defied the government to do anything about it, can save himself loss by callously shutting down an industry, then every manufacturer who has tried to co-operate with the NRA will feel that he is placed at a serious disadvantage as compared with the outlaw concern.

The situation needs a Johnson at his most virile. There doesn't seem to be one in sight.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington
 Labor and Capital Argue It Out in the NRA — Cuban Situation a Threat to Our Foreign Policy — Capitol Hill Busy Despite Recession of Congress.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER.
 Evening Herald Washington Correspondent.

Washington.—The NRA was either saved or sunk the other night—it all depends on whose interpretation you take.

Now it may have to be saved or sunk all over again.

The big war between capital and labor came to a head at a secret meeting of the Industrial and Labor Advisory Boards of NRA. Open shop industrialists were berating their representatives here because labor had been making tactical gains, especially in Administrator Johnson's promise that the "most" clause of the automobile code would be in no more codes.

L. A. B. members were charged with betraying industry's interests. Two of them, Harriman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and Land of the National Manufacturers' Association, were threatening to quit.

So Chairman Wolman and George Berry of the L. A. B. were trying to persuade their other members to sign an agreement which would pacify the L. A. B. Argument lasted several hours, but labor men were more placidly dramatic than that failure would split the country wide open and put it in a bad hole. Text Closely Guarded.

Text of the document, supposed to be some vague modification of labor's previous position, has been closely guarded. One or two persons who saw it say they couldn't understand what it meant. It was passed to Roosevelt for his approval and Roosevelt doused it, feeling that this interpretation of the recovery act's labor provisions would require still more interpretations if accepted. Any interpretation of the law, he held, should come from the courts or the National Labor Board.

So those who felt the nation had been saved and those labor elements which thought it had been sunk through an L. A. B. retreat are again contemplating the possibility of L. A. B. resignations.

The Cuban Problem.

Few on the outside realize what a serious threat the Cuban situation has been to our entire foreign policy.

Latin-American diplomats have been asserting privately that American intervention probably would evoke official protests—from their republics. Their governments would be compelled to satisfy public sentiment at home, especially since most of them have committed themselves to the U. S. policy during non-intervention.

State Department Feared.

Aroused nationalist feeling in Cuba and widespread arming of Cubans combined to make the State Department fear a bloodier warfare than occurred while our marines were after bandits in Nicaragua. Japan, meanwhile, would eagerly seize the intervention as justification for her Manchurian occupation.

The Pan-American conference at Montevideo, on which our foreign policy has centered since collapse of the London economic conference, probably would collapse.

Business at Capitol Hill.

Even with Congress adjourned there's enough business on Capitol Hill to keep 34 telephone operators actually busy.

Heavy all the offices are open and there's heavy wire traffic with the new emergency agencies.

Health and Diet Advice
 By Dr. Frank McCoy

HOW TO USE SAUSAGES
 Many readers who are living strictly on the foods recommended in my weekly menus write to me asking how they can use sausages. For those who are trying to regain their health, I do not usually recommend the use of any of the ordinary sausages because they are generally made with such a large mixture of ingredients and are too heavily spiced. The meat contained may be, and usually is, perfectly wholesome as far as meat poisoning is concerned, but sausages are always hard to digest due to the large amount of fat which they must necessarily contain in order for the meat to be prepared and mixed together in that form.

There are hundreds of kinds of sausages made in different parts of the world, but they may be generally classed under the divisions of "Dry" and "Fresh." The ingredients in the sausage vary with each manufacturer even though the name is called by the same name. The fresh or domestic sausages are prepared to be used soon after they are made, while the dry ones may be kept even for several years. The fresh sausages are sometimes eaten as purchased but usually cooked before being served.

Bologna sausage as made in America is composed of beef, veal and pork which is mixed, spiced, then cooked and smoked.

Pork sausage is generally made entirely of pork trimmings and seasoned with various spices and herbs. The very small kind are usually of the best meat and the casings are of tender sheep intestines. Frankfort sausages are a mixture of about three-fourths lean beef and one quarter lean pork. These are also smoked but should be used while the inside is still juicy and not dry.

Liver sausage is made from a mixture of hog liver but often parts of pork meat are also added and sometimes other kinds of meat. The best is made with a larger portion of liver.

Good liver sausage is also made with a mixture of calves' liver and pork with frequently only a small amount of goose liver. The best is made from goose liver only and is then similar to pate de foie gras.

Many kinds of sausage are made throughout Europe with a variety of stuffings such as chicken, fish, game, the yolk of eggs, etc. Some have a binder of bread crumbs or ground grains.

If you have a strong desire to use sweet meat, it is well to remember that large quantities of both cooked and raw vegetables should be used at the same time. Fresh sliced raw tomatoes make a very valuable addition to a sausage meal, owing to the effect of the tomato acids upon the fats of the sausage. Fats of all kinds digest more readily when fresh raw tomatoes are used at the same meal. Try to select sausages that are not highly spiced. You can usually secure some that are not flavored with garlic or onions. The next time you have a weiner roast or take along sausages on a picnic, be sure to take with you plenty of green vegetables and leave the bread and rolls behind.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 (Edema)

Question: Mr. Robert McE. asks: "What is the cause of edema of the heart and kidneys and all right? What would you recommend to better the condition, or is there a cure? The case is of about 15 years' standing."

Answer: Edema is caused by a too great retention of the vaso-motor nerves supplying the blood vessels. I have found good results for this trouble in the use of the fasting and dieting regimen, which assists in eliminating the toxins from the system. I would advise repeating the fast at intervals of about a month apart, using a well-balanced diet in between these fasting periods.

(Myalgia and Arthritis)

Question: Mrs. Sylvia L. asks: "Can one have myalgia on the salad vegetables mentioned in your cleansing diet, and also can anyone with arthritis have creamed vegetables or put butter over them when cooked?"

Answer: I do not advise the use of the myalgia on the salad vegetables while following the cleansing diet for this disease. With arthritis one may use butter over the vegetables, but it is better to avoid cream and milk until the pain in the joints has subsided. You may use sour for thickening the vegetables.

Question: Mrs. Maria C. asks: "What is the artificial food for a baby? How old should a baby be before he may have vegetable juice?"

Answer: After changing from breast nursing, the baby should be given nothing but Hogen's milk and cream up to about two years of age, after which he should take a little less milk and begin using the minced non-starchy vegetables. You may send for my free article on Infant Feeding, care of this new-born baby to receive a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Symptoms of Thyroid Enlargement)

Question: Mrs. B. writes: "I have a queer feeling in my throat, just below the larynx, and a lump in my chest. Seems as if something were pressing hard on my windpipe. Also have pains in my hands and arms whenever I put them in cold water."

Answer: You are doubtless suffering from some enlargement of the thyroid gland which would produce the symptoms you describe. I would be glad to send you some special articles on the subject. The cause and cure of thyroid troubles, if you will, is a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

SEVING MANCHESTER 58 YEARS

BATS OF SENATORS SHOULD WIN SERIES

But Walter Johnson Warns Hurlers About Bill Terry

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series of six stories in which Walter Johnson discusses the world series. For 20 years, one of the world's greatest pitchers, Johnson is particularly equipped to comment on a series in which fine pitching promises to play a vital part.

By WALTER JOHNSON
(As told to Bill Braucher, NEA Service Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 29.—If this world series is to be settled by batting power, Washington certainly will be the winner.

The Nationals not only have four men who have been hitting consistently above .300, ranging from Heltie Manush's .388 down to Gohl's .308, but they have other regulars as dangerous at the plate when runs are to be driven in, as the season's averages indicate.

In the day to day lineup of the Nats, there are four right-handed hitters and four left-handed hitters and four who can hit from both sides. This is the ideal balance that managers dream about.

The right-handed hitters are Cronin, Schulte, Bludge and Luba. The left-handed punch comes from Manush, Kuhl, Gohl and Myer. Bludge and Myer are not heavy hitters, but in a pinch they are fellows I wouldn't like to see up there if I were the pitcher.

Baseball writers used to kid me in the days when I was managing the team about the club being a "sucker" for a left hand. There were certain southpaws in the league that we simply could not beat, and some of them were pitchers who had very little on the ball.

Managers all around the circuit used to save their left-handed pitchers until Washington came to town. But this year that has been changed, and it was Washington's ability to give the southpaws all the trouble they wanted that helped greatly to make the club a winner.

The trade with St. Louis that brought Fred Schulte to the capital helped to give Washington the ability to beat a lot of left-handed

TERRY AND CRONIN INDULGE IN PAENS OF MUTUAL PRAISE

Rival Managers Show Respect and Admiration for Each Other; Harridge Names Senators Winners.

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The "mutual admiration society" has two new members in Joe Cronin and Bill Terry, at least for the time being and while they are busy shaping their plans for the world series, beginning next Tuesday at the Polo grounds.

No quarrel will be asked or given once the umpire in chief dusts off home plate and shouts "let's go," but there is an off the field friendship and on the field respect for each other that marks the rival managers of the Senators and Giants as two of baseball's most engaging and colorful personalities. Praise Each Other.

"Joe is a great guy, a wonderful shortstop, and has done a swell job in bringing the Senators through to the top, from all I have been told," remarks the black-haired, dark eyed boss of the Giants.

"You can't help but admire Terry for the spirit and drive he put into the Giants this year," says Cronin. "They showed they could produce the stuff, just the way our club has done. It should be a great series from every standpoint. I should not be surprised to see it go six or seven games, unless one team or the other is lucky enough to get most of the breaks."

"Hubbell must be as great as they all tell me he is," says Cronin, his blue eyes twinkling, "but we have been going against some pretty good pitchers all season and doing pretty well against them. Therefore, I have the greatest confidence in all four of our probable starting hurlers—Crowder, Whitehill, Weaver and Stewart. I can't say what order they will work until the day the series starts."

"In short series," asserts Cronin, "I have got to play my best available pitching star every day. Our pitching choices won't be based on what the Giants do. We will have to go to top speed and play for the breaks from the start."

Playing the "percentage," Cronin has about decided to use the veteran Goose Goslin regularly in right field, against right and left handed pitching, instead of alternating the Goose with Dave Harris, the number one outfielder.

"The Goose has a great faculty for rising to the emergency," says Cronin. He is the nearest thing we have to Foxx, Ruth and Gehrig type of slugger.

Reserve Players. The Giants are well fixed with outfield reserves in Lefty O'Doul and Homer Peel, but they are handicapped otherwise for any emergency operations. Most of the infield reserve strength already has been called on by the replacement of Vergez by Jackson at third base. The Senators have a hard hitting youngster, Bob Boken, for infield duty and two able-bodied backstops in Bolton and Berg, if anything happens to Luke Sewell.

Harridge Picks Senators. Chicago, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Sure, Will Harridge, scholarly looking president of the American league, picks the Senators to win the world series; but he's waving a batch of statistics instead of a flag to back up his arguments.

As he finished packing his suitcase today for his trip to the big city and the big show, he hauled out the offensive and defensive records of both teams and started in.

"Before I get started," he interrupted himself, "I'd like to say that this talk about the difference in the National and American balls is greatly exaggerated. I'll admit the National league ball has been called by the replacement of Vergez by Jackson at third base. The Senators have a hard hitting youngster, Bob Boken, for infield duty and two able-bodied backstops in Bolton and Berg, if anything happens to Luke Sewell."

M. H. S. Booters Open Soccer Season Today

Manchester High's soccer team, champions of the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League, opens its season this afternoon at Charter Oak field against Hartford Public High. The complete schedule for the season was announced today by Coach Hugh Greer, who anticipates another successful year, despite the fact that several of his star players have been declared ineligible.

Eagles Strengthen Team For All-Burnsides Game

When the Eagles tackle the All-Burnsides Sunday, they will have a stronger lineup than last week. With the baseball season closing in the morning it will allow Coach "Big" Farr to be present and "Patsy" Vinco, George Rowe, "Andy" Fiddler will also be in the lineup. Farr will need these men when Coach Johnny McGrath's warriors invade Hickey's Grove.

McGrath will bring one of the strongest teams in the state with him. All of McGrath's men are former high school and college players. All-Burnsides have two halfbacks who will give the Eagles a run for their money, namely, Carl Knowles and Earl. Both of these men are from Manchester and are Century Board members. They have been playing for three years. He is a triple threat man being a wizard at blocking, kicking and throwing punts.

COAST TEAMS MEET IN GRUDGE BATTLE

Clash Between Stanford and California Heads Grid Slate for Tomorrow.

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A "grudge battle" at Palo Alto between Stanford and the University of California at Los Angeles, the debut of what expert predict will be another Pittsburg juggernaut, a big ten struggle between Northwestern and Iowa, and a half dozen intercollegiate tussles head the National football schedule for tomorrow.

A few major schools will get the jump on their rivals with night games tonight. Among these, South Carolina's invasion of the north to face "Pop" Warner's Temple Owls at Philadelphia; Iowa State's trip into the far west to encounter Denison; an all-eastern duel between Duquesne and West Virginia at Pittsburgh; and Texas Christian's contest with North Texas Tech.

Army and Navy both open against southern schools, the Cadets meeting Mercer of Macon, Ga., while Navy encounters Wake Forest. Oklahoma of the big six engages a major intercollegiate foe in Vanderbilt of the Southeastern conference, and Tulane and Louisiana State, also members of the southeastern group, face each other in Baton Rouge, La. The A. and M., and Rice, respectively.

BALDWIN'S ACES OPEN GRID SEASON SUNDAY

Baldwin's Aces, one of the fastest junior teams in town, will play the Middletown Toughest at the "Notch" stadium at 2:15, Sunday. Baldwin's team has been improved considerably and has been favored to win the first game of the season.

Baldwin will hold a practice at 5:30 tonight. All players are requested to appear at this practice if weather permits.

JOE CRONIN GIVEN HEAVIEST VOTE IN NATION-WIDE POLL

Seven Players from American Circuit and Five from National Gain Places in Lineup; Here's Setup.

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Seven players from the American League and five from the National League gain places on the Associated Press all-star major league team, selected on the basis of balloting by sports editors and writers.

To Joe Cronin, youthful manager of the American League champion Washington Senators—Goes the honor of polling the heaviest vote. He received 88 of the 89 votes for the shortstop post, Dick Bartell of the Phillies getting the other one.

PLAY DECIDING TILT

With each team winning one game the German Lutherans and Zion Lutheran will play the deciding game tomorrow afternoon at Bluefields at 2:30. Both games were closely contested last Sunday. In the first game the German Lutheran looked the better team while in the second saw the Zion Luthers playing a better game. Both teams will be vouching for the difficulty of this tilt.

Every Saturday for nine weeks this fall—from September 30 to November 25—Chicago will have a major university football game, either Northwestern or Chicago playing a home game.

FORDHAM AND COLGATE STRONG TEAMS IN EAST

Jock Sutherland, Famous Mentor of Pitt Panthers, Writes on Prospects of Grid Season; Also Expects Much from Navy's Eleven.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 29.—A good football team, should be measured by the caliber of its opposition, not by the number of games won and lost. Many a good team will not have the winning percentage of an eleven that has rushed through a nicely built up schedule, merely because the former had to play four or five strong opponents, but in the minds of those who know football there will be little doubt as to its superiority over the latter.

Then, too, a schedule might have four teams on it, but they might be so nicely sandwiched between set-up contests that the edge will be taken off victory. On the other hand, some cards have important intercollegiate games separated by contests with sectional rivals. These are hard. Pittsburg had such a card last year, and has another this fall.

There are two teams in the east that have better than average chances of finishing the 1933 season with winning records. While there are going to be lots of others who are likely to turn up with exceptionally strong teams, Fordham and Colgate, on paper at least, have the most cheerful prospects.

Fordham will be under the direction of Jimmy Crowley, former Notre Dame "horseman," and successful coach at Michigan State. He is taking the job held by the late Major Frank Cavanaugh, whose death shocked the football world this last summer. Crowley is a good football coach and at Fordham will get the most out of his material. Fordham has one of the toughest schedules in the east. Colgate will have few worries.

A number of last autumn's leaders will not be so formidable. The Army, under its new mentor, Lieutenant Davidson, who is replacing Major Ralph Sasse, will find the going rocky. The Cadets lost only two games last year, and their 1932 victims will be gunning for them. Harvey Harman's Penn eleven, also lost only to Pittsburg, but this year will be hit by graduation and will have a difficult time winning as many games. Brown and Cornell face the same problems.

Pittsburgh in turn must replace Warren Heller and three veteran linemen. Our 1932 opponent will vouch for the difficulty of this task. However, Pitt's chances must be rated as reasonably bright.

The real challengers for the pacemakers will be the Navy, where Rip Miller is looking forward to his best year since taking over the reins at the Academy, and where two of the East's outstanding players, Bob Harbold, center, and Gordon Chung-Hoon, halfback, will perform.

Temple, with Pop Warner back in the east after an absence of nine years, and Columbia, where Lou Little has his system fairly established, should offer the stiffest sort of opposition. N. Y. U. will be stronger.

There are other schools where the rise of one or two individual stars, hitherto unknown, may give the team the necessary spark to carry it to the top. Such a team may be Fritz Crisler's renovated Princeton Tiger. The Nassau outfit made giant strides last year. Eddie Casey's Harvard team will bear watching, and Jack Cannell's Dartmouth Indians are about due for another great year.

Victor Hanson at Syracuse and Howard Harpater, Tech's new and popular mentor, may give better days to their schools. Grassy New at West Virginia had a sophomore team last fall, and these sophomores should benefit from experience. Duquesne, Villanova, Lafayette, Holy Cross, Boston College and Manhattan are angling for a more secure place in the run and may arrive this year.

Reggie Root, in his first year at Yale, cannot hope for a lot of victories. Penn State, Lehigh and Rutgers are not optimistic.

VINES NOT MISQUOTED, A. P. SURVEY REVEALS

Deposed Net King's Attempt to Repudiate Criticism Investigated; Results Prove Truth of Stories Carried in Papers.

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The attempt of Ellsworth Vines, former National Tennis champion to repudiate his criticism of American Davis Cup strategy and management this year, has been investigated by the Associated Press, with the following results:

1—Vines, instead of repudiating remarks he made at Newport earlier in the summer, repeated and amplified them when he talked with sports writers on his return to Los Angeles.

2—The former champion's categorical denial of criticism of Davis cup methods, made in a telegram to Berton Prentice of New York, captain of the American team, was dispatched after consultation with Perry Jones, secretary of the California Tennis association.

3—The subject matter of Vines' remarks, criticizing the "psychology" of "fight talks" given to players abroad and during cup matches abroad and urging that a former internationalist be put in charge of the next American team, was confirmed by Vines teammates, as well as by all sports writers, who talked with the Californian.

The original story, carried by the Associated Press under a Newport, R. I., date line last week, was based on an interview written for the Boston Transcript by its sports editor, George Caron, one of the best informed tennis writers in the east. He sent the following telegram today to Alan Gould, sports editor of the Associated Press.

"Vines absolutely was not misquoted. I had a 40 minute talk with Vines on Tuesday of Newport week and agreed to hold the story until after he was beaten at Los Angeles. As you know I have 22 years of sports writing experience and I do not misquote athletic celebrities."

Vines told Caron, in effect, that the Davis cup players were "treated like babies" before the matches with England and urged the appointment of an explorer like Frank Hunter, Vincent Richards, Dick Williams, as non-playing captain, instead of an executive of the type of Prentice.

When he got back home, Vines elaborated on his theme to Los Angeles writers, adding William T. Wilden and William M. Johnston to the list of nominations for the captaincy. While paying tribute to Prentice's "honesty" and "loyalty," Vines nevertheless criticized the

SERIES' PITCHERS PASTED BY YANKS

Schumacher, Stewart and Crowder Rather Wild in the Tune Up.

By HUGH S. FULLETON, JR.
(A. P. Sports Writer)

The tune up games for the World Series are meaningless affairs but it's interesting to note that of the four prospective World Series starting pitchers who have gone through the motions of preparing for the big fray, Carl Hubbell alone has had any success.

The Giants star southpaw came through his trial brilliantly Wednesday. The same afternoon, his teammate Hal Schumacher, took a trimming and yesterday two of Washington's mound mainstays, Wally Stewart and Al Crowder, were pestered all around the lot by the New York Yankees.

Both Stewart and Crowder suffered ed costly streaks of wildness. The former was the victim of a seven run uprising by the Yankees in the first inning, and only the power of the Senatorial sluggers kept Washington in the running long enough to Jimmie Foxx delivered two doubles to bring his year's total up to 200 hits. But the Boston Red Sox came through with a pair of two run rallies to beat the Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 2, in the only other American League game of the day.

The Boston Braves, striving for a first division berth in the National League, pulled up closer to the St. Louis Cardinals by defeating Brooklyn's Dodgers 5 to 4 in the first game of a doubleheader. An exciting afterpiece wound up in a 2-2 tie when darkness halted the proceedings at the end of the tenth.

PAWNER'S TEAM
All members are urged to be at the practice Sunday morning at 10:15 in preparation for the game with the Orioles at 1:15 in preliminary to the league.

Yesterday's Stars

Danny Taylor, Dodgers—Hit double and single in first game against Braves and scored tying run in second after a rick run trip.
Mal Alameda, Red Sox—led attack on Athletics with three singles and stolen base.

Forgotten Sweetheart

By MARY RAYMOND

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BOB WESTON, son of a millionaire, and JOAN WARING, a Memphis girl, are attracted to each other on the train, en route to Memphis. Joan has left college before graduation to assist her father in a financial emergency. Bob is coming to Memphis in connection with construction of a southern branch of his father's mills.

Bob speaks to Joan but, thinking he is starting a flirtation, she rebuffs him. He notes the initials, "J. W." on her traveling case and at the station hears members of her family call her "Joan." He loses sight of her but tells a friend, DUKE TURNER, that he is determined to find her.

Because of the family's difficulties Joan's sister, PAT, 18 years old, has gone to work. BENNY, the 15-year-old brother, is an invalid and BILL, the older brother, works in a garage.

Pleasure-loving Pat declares her intention of marrying for money to escape the privations and hardships of her mother's life. She asks Joan if she has met any men who interest her. Joan, remembering the attractive young man on the train, answers, "Well, yes."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER II

"At eight o'clock, Joan, tell me about him! Are we going to have a wedding in our family?"

"Not if you're waiting for me. Pat, he was one of those conceited men. Well, maybe not conceited just handsome and impudent and used to having his own way. You know the kind."

"What are you trying to tell me? Have you really met somebody?"

"I met him on the train. That is— I didn't really meet him. We just talked and I ran away from him when I saw you all coming. You see, he was so perfectly sure he had attached me. But he was really wonderful, Pat. Handsome and sort of rugged, like he had played football or planned big bridges and helped build them."

"Imagine!" scoffed Pat. "A Superman!"

"No more like a knight come riding," Joan said slowly. "And then, you know, 'Oh, Pat, I'll never see him again!'"

"Well, don't lose any sleep over it! Pat was out of bed now, hastily sorting out lingerie from a bureau drawer."

Joan was dressed now, looking very smart in her tweed suit with a small, dark hat hugging her cloudy hair.

"Now," she said, "I'm going out to get a job."

This confidence carried her through the morning, but by noon much of her assurance was gone. At lunch time she sat in the Latté Tea Shop. It had been a discouraging experience. Professor Jayne was speaking at a principals' conference and both Professor Hartson and Professor Wilson were attending it.

Joan had driven downtown, parked the battered old family car near the Cossitt library and walked over to a business exchange.

Just as well have several irons in the fire. Any kind of work would be preferable to going back home and reporting failure. Of course, they wouldn't expect her to find work immediately. But how much nicer it would be to go home with a job tucked away in her coat pocket—so to speak—and see the anxious look leave her mother's eyes, if only temporarily.

Only a few days before her mother's letter had come, revealing the difficulties. Mrs. Waring had written: "Bill and Sara have decided to be married in June, dear, which means Bill must save pennies. He is 28 now, you know, and Sara is 25. And they've waited a long time. Bill is afraid he'll lose her if he waits any longer. He's helped so long and it's only right that he should have his happiness now. The place isn't rented yet—of course it will be eventually. We had to take what we could get for the cotton because we couldn't wait. Pat has finished her business course and found a small job, typing."

When she had finished the next paragraph Joan had put the letter aside for a moment and walked to the window. Without really seeing it, she stared at the campus, white with snow.

Things must have been hard for mother ever to write that letter. She had been doing things for them all their lives, sacrificing to make the two years at Miss Barrington's possible for Joan. She had wanted her to meet the right people. And worrying through somehow while Joan was at Holbrook Hall. Mother's face had grown old and tired, sacrificing for her children. It was all wrong. Mother had had so little happiness. Marrying father had been a mistake. Aunt Maude had told Joan all about it when she was 16. How pretty mother had been, and happy, in the little Mississippi town where she sang in the church choir. Father, passing through the town, had come to the church. Chicken, fried, roasted and a la king, 's long been a favorite for wedding breakfast served at noon or night. However, if you want to be original, why not consider fine cuts of other kinds of meat?

Lamb is perfectly delicious and has a certain "company" air about it. For this very important occasion, the chops are not quite formal enough. Choose instead, kernels of lamb. Your butcher will cut them right up to the saddle or rack of the lamb. Allow one for each person to be served.

This is the way to prepare milk fed lamb, beau rivage:

Each serving should weigh about six ounces. Sprinkle with pepper and salt and saute, about four minutes, on both sides in hot butter. Remove the kernels and make a sauce in the same pan with a little white cooking wine and butter. Pour the sauce over the lamb and place one kernel in the center of each dinner plate.

Surround the meat with a small bouquet of cauliflower, a potato, helping of roasted Parisienne potatoes, stewed fresh tomatoes or artichokes and string beans.

Be sure the vegetables are well seasoned and covered with butter. Put the lamb and the vegetables on the plates just before they are ready to go to the table. The success of this dish lies in serving it extremely hot.

Joan could scarcely remember the time when she had not lived in the old house. And she had only a dim recollection of the tragic, terrible time when father was brought home to them dead. He had shot himself, but it was not until later that mother had learned about the money he had taken.

After that the few people in the neighborhood who had been friendly stopped coming. Then the "best families" were moving off the street and building beautiful homes in suburban sections. Now, with the exception of the Waring, the entire block was filled with boarding houses.

But her mother had managed, somehow, to give them music and dancing lessons and they had kept up an appearance of comfortable living on the rental from the farm. People had forgotten about father after a while and they had had some happy times at school.

"I'm going to make up to mother for everything as much as I can," Joan thought as she walked along Madison. The important thing, looking larger than anything else just then, was finding a job.

The woman at the business exchange listened to Joan's brief recapitulation of accomplishments with a speculative look in her eye and then showed an application blank in front of her.

HERE COMES THE OCTOBER BRIDAL BREAKFAST DRESSED UP WITH LAMB

HEALTH IN NEW YORK

LOOSE KNEE CARTRIDGE

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

One of the most common injuries associated with the football season is the development of a loose cartilage in the knee joint. The one usually affected is known as the semilunar cartilage.

By a sudden twist of the foot outward and the knee inward, this cartilage is broken or torn so that immediately there is pain on the inner side of the knee joint, with locking of the joint and practically always with swelling and inability to straighten the leg.

In the vast majority of cases after the leg is pulled into position and a bandage applied, the pain will be sufficient to prevent the patient from using the knee very much. In a short time the swelling disappears and the knee feels better. If the incident occurs once, there is a tendency to have it occur again and again.

Occasionally a portion of this cartilage is broken loose and remains loose, but in most instances there is healing. It is now well established that an operation on the knee joint with removal of the cartilage will bring about the prevention of further disability.

However, any operation on the knee joint is a serious matter and many people hesitate to have it done, preferring to give up athletics or to try some other procedure rather than undergo the operation on the knee.

Recently, a Canadian physician, Dr. C. S. Wright, has developed a procedure which he believes is helpful and which has been used on a considerable number of patients with success. He says the first thing to do is to make sure that the tissues are back in place by pulling the leg and at the same time turning it inward so that the locking is relieved.

After that some iodine is injected, which creates a rather mild inflammation and causes the cartilage to join together again by healing. After the iodine injection, the leg is fixed in the extended position with a splint, which is kept on for two weeks. Then this is removed and the person is permitted to walk for short periods so as gradually to bring about complete movement of the joint again.

Doctor Wright mentions the fact that it is possible to prevent mechanical strain on the cartilage by elevating the heel of the shoe on the inner border in cases in which the inner semilunar cartilages are the ones involved. Usually the foot is elevated from 1-4 to 3-8 of an inch. The eminent writers on "Football Injuries," Drs. A. M. Stevens and W. M. Phelps, feel that after the cartilage has been dislocated or torn three times in the case of any one football player, it is well to have it removed by operation if the player wants to keep at work.

A player who has had a torn cartilage may play again as soon as the swelling and pain disappear, but the knee is likely to be thrown out in any game. In such an instance it becomes locked, making it impossible for him to continue and, at the same time, giving him severe pain.

Some players have had the injury so often that it becomes more or less painless with them, and they learn to throw the joint back into place when the slipping or pinching of the cartilage occurs.

THIS PRIZE NOVEL

"No Second Spring" Is Told With Skill and Insight

By BRUCE CATTON

"No Second Spring" by Janet Keith, is the novel which won the recent $20,000 international prize contest—don't let that scare you off.

Somewhat prize novels usually seem to be written by bright young things who have a vast talent for leaving the reader with a bad taste in his mouth. This one is different. It is quiet, compact and charming, and it brings over with sincere and valid emotions.

The scene is the Scotch highlands of a century ago. An ardent, devout and somewhat dour young minister comes up from Edinburgh to fill a pastorate in a lonely, seaside village. With him he brings his wife—youthful, loyal, innocent and endowed with an unsuspected capacity for deep and fervent living.

She assumes, as a matter of course, that she loves her husband. He is good, learned, powerful; besides, all wives are supposed to love their husbands, so why shouldn't she? It is not until the town is visited by a roving artist, a limping veteran of Waterloo who brings with him a philosophy which is the direct antithesis of the minister's Scotch Presbyterianism, that she learns how mistaken she has been.

Yes, she and the artist fall in love; but they don't, after the manner of people in modern novels, conclude that it is their sacred duty to run away together in spite of everything. Instead they say goodbye to one another and part. And the author presents for you that beautiful, cruel and insoluble mystery—the way life can offer a divinely ecstatic richness of experience which can only be completely understood by those who see it and then lose it.

"No Second Spring" is published by Stokes at $2.50.

Tea-Time Attire

This distinctive style for mature figures, with soft revers, becoming neck line, and a pleasing yoke formation in the skirt, is designed in-gize sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 40 requires 4 1/2 yards of 36-inch material. The revers of lace requires 1/2 yard 36 inches wide, cut crosswise, or 1 yard of lace banding 1 1/2 inches wide. To finish with bias binding requires 1/4 yard 1 1/2 inches wide.

To secure fasteners and singly sewing chart of this model, test cut this sketch and mail it to Julia Boyd, 103 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y., together with 15 cents in coin. GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

To get rid of an exaggerated hollow in the middle of the back should be the aim of every woman who has one.

Here is an exercise designed to correct a hollow back, otherwise known as a sway back.

Lie flat on your back on the floor with your buttocks flat against the wall. Bend your knees so that they touch your chest.

Then begin, step by step, to walk up the wall. And when you have walked upward as far as your legs will reach, all your weight should be on the back of your neck and the upper part of your shoulders.

Hold that position five seconds and then slowly turn your head to your right and your left, and your legs will reach, all your weight should be on the back of your neck and the upper part of your shoulders.

You must be very, very slow in sliding down, and with each little slide try to feel each vertebra of your spine. Keep your feet on the floor. Keep letting your feet slide downward until all of your backbone rests on the floor. There must be no hollow in your back.

When you have reached the bottom, draw your knees upward until they again touch your chest. Relax.

The exercises should be done ten times each morning and again each night.

IN NEW YORK

By PAUL HARRISON

New York, Sept. 29.—Psychologists might find some fascinating studies among a few New York business men who follow strange hobbies. For instance, there's the attorney who bribes elevator boys in his office building to let him run a car up and down the 30 stories.

And the theatrical fellow who often leave his comfortable hotel suite of an evening to go out and sell newspapers. He goes to a stand near the Hotel Knickerbocker, gives the newsmen a dollar to buy a few papers, and takes over the stand for a couple of hours. Thanks the customers cheerily and keeps meticulous account of receipts, which he turns over to the owner when the latter returns.

The story behind this is that the man, now a fairly prosperous theatrical agent, began his life as a newsboy and struggled against abject poverty for years. To return to the trade, even for an evening, makes him better appreciate the measure of success that he has attained.

Up near Seventy-second street and Broadway lives a second street, chubby merchant whose years have been filled with more prosperity than excitement. All during his youth he planned to become a policeman, but after inheriting his father's establishment he settled into a sedentary routine without even a hold-up to break the monotony. Now, though, he finds some relief in helping the cop at a busy corner direct traffic.

The pair are friends, and the one who understands allows him to do the whistle-blowing when the lights change.

Then there's the sprightly old gentleman who visits a basement speakeasy in Greenwich Village occasionally to help tend bar. This started some years ago when the gentleman, a frequent patron, indicated to show the owner how to mix some fancy concoctions of the old days. It turns out, however, that he enjoys mixing or pouring any kind of drink, likes to polish glasses and to talk to any customer who's conversationally inclined. Never has he interested any information about himself, but the guess is that he's a lonely ex-bartender who came into an inheritance.

Of course, too, there are dozens of amateur orchestra leaders. Many night clubs have a few wealthy and regular patrons who along the floor do their bidding for the leader's baton and a chance to wield it during a dance number. The bandsmen, who pay no attention to the exhibitionists' gyrations anyway, split handsome tips after they have packed their instruments.

Another type of thrill-seeker are the "buffs"—men who follow the engines for excitement, and who often perform valuable services along the freeways, such as serving coffee to the men or delivering messages from the battalion chiefs.

Some of the wealthy ones have donated equipment that the city was unwilling to buy. Edward J. Kenny, for example, the brother of Al Smith's friend, William F. gave the department a costly searchlight truck and used to operate it himself. And Robert H. Mainzer, a banker, established a loan and aid fund for firemen.

Dr. Harry M. Archer is dean of the city's buff's own, honorary surgeon of the department, and also an honorary chief. The latter title was won several years ago when he remained on "duty" for 28 consecutive hours at a sulphur fire.

And most of the other enthusiastic chase-chasers have special alarm signals at their bedside, and always turn out for a three-alarm. Dr. Archer used to go to fire in an ambulance, picking up other buffs on the way.

These men don't like the term "buff" since most of them are honorary officials of some sort. The word, however, dates back to 1865, when paid firemen succeeded, volunteer companies. The volunteers refused to be called "buffs" and took to sleeping in the fire houses. When the city then refused to furnish them bedding, some brought heaps of buffalo robes to sleep on. So they were nicknamed "buffs" and later "buffs."

Occasionally a portion of this cartilage is broken loose and remains loose, but in most instances there is healing. It is now well established that an operation on the knee joint with removal of the cartilage will bring about the prevention of further disability.

However, any operation on the knee joint is a serious matter and many people hesitate to have it done, preferring to give up athletics or to try some other procedure rather than undergo the operation on the knee.

Occasionally a portion of this cartilage is broken loose and remains loose, but in most instances there is healing. It is now well established that an operation on the knee joint with removal of the cartilage will bring about the prevention of further disability.

However, any operation on the knee joint is a serious matter and many people hesitate to have it done, preferring to give up athletics or to try some other procedure rather than undergo the operation on the knee.

Recently, a Canadian physician, Dr. C. S. Wright, has developed a procedure which he believes is helpful and which has been used on a considerable number of patients with success. He says the first thing to do is to make sure that the tissues are back in place by pulling the leg and at the same time turning it inward so that the locking is relieved.

After that some iodine is injected, which creates a rather mild inflammation and causes the cartilage to join together again by healing. After the iodine injection, the leg is fixed in the extended position with a splint, which is kept on for two weeks. Then this is removed and the person is permitted to walk for short periods so as gradually to bring about complete movement of the joint again.

Doctor Wright mentions the fact that it is possible to prevent mechanical strain on the cartilage by elevating the heel of the shoe on the inner border in cases in which the inner semilunar cartilages are the ones involved. Usually the foot is elevated from 1-4 to 3-8 of an inch. The eminent writers on "Football Injuries," Drs. A. M. Stevens and W. M. Phelps, feel that after the cartilage has been dislocated or torn three times in the case of any one football player, it is well to have it removed by operation if the player wants to keep at work.

A player who has had a torn cartilage may play again as soon as the swelling and pain disappear, but the knee is likely to be thrown out in any game. In such an instance it becomes locked, making it impossible for him to continue and, at the same time, giving him severe pain.

Some players have had the injury so often that it becomes more or less painless with them, and they learn to throw the joint back into place when the slipping or pinching of the cartilage occurs.

Occasionally a portion of this cartilage is broken loose and remains loose, but in most instances there is healing. It is now well established that an operation on the knee joint with removal of the cartilage will bring about the prevention of further disability.

However, any operation on the knee joint is a serious matter and many people hesitate to have it done, preferring to give up athletics or to try some other procedure rather than undergo the operation on the knee.

For the LOVE of EVE

By Lucy Wainwright

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE MAYBERRY, pretty assistant manager of Bibby's department store, marries DICK BARNES, a contractor superintendent. Dick is sent to take charge of a construction job in the Adirondacks. It will require at least a year to complete but Eve refuses to go with him.

MONA ALJEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is constantly causing trouble at the office. She is responsible for several mistakes for which Eve is blamed.

Unknown to Dick, Eve has been playing the stock market, borrowing money from her mother and sister. She loses this, as well as all her own savings and $400 Dick left in the bank.

Following a misunderstanding at Christmas Eve passes in which Eve does not hear from Dick. She is too stubborn to admit that she was in wrong and apologizes. Eve works harder at the office, trying to forget her troubles. Her mother comes to visit her and tries to persuade her to give up her job. Then Eve learns that Barnes, the advertising manager, is resigning and that she has been selected to take his place.

On a doctor's advice she takes her vacation early and decides to visit her mother and sister. Eve feels they must arrive at some understanding about their future.

Dick welcomes her but not so eagerly as Eve had hoped. He takes her to visit his Aunt Sophronia, 90 years old. Returning, Eve is sure she's lost his love.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVII

Eve occupied the time while Dick was in idles, pleasant ways. The work drive with him to camp in the morning, return with the roadster and later drive back again for him at the close of the day. When she was alone she usually spent the time exploring the village or following inviting country.

Mrs. Williams accompanied her on a short drive occasionally but for the most part Eve went alone. She preferred to be alone because there was so much to think about. Lake City and Bibby's department store seemed far away and relating to the present, quite a new environment. Here in Pine Forest man things Eve had regarded as trivial took on a new significance—the wind whistling in the pine trees, arbutus nestling under rusty leaves on a hill sloping to the blue woods, quiet doorways leading into honey white cottages.

There was one cottage in particular that attracted Eve. Perhaps it was because the cottage was vacant and there was a "For Rent" sign in the window. Emboldened by this, she went out one day and went inside to explore. Through the windows she caught fascinating glimpses of the interior of the house with fireplaces, a charming stairway and beautifully paneled doors. In her imagination she would plan just how she would like to furnish the rooms. It would be a delightful place, she thought, to spend a year—or a lifetime. There was a garden in the rear with old-fashioned perennials pushing up their heads in the middle of the year before. There was an ancient apple tree or two and a lilac bush.

Eve wondered if Dick, too, had been attracted by the cottage. She directed their steps part it one evening when they were out for a stroll in the woods. No comment. Indeed, he did not so much as glance toward the little house.

Well, if he no longer cared about a home there was no reason why Eve should care either. Perhaps he would have grown indifferent even if he had given up her work at Bibby's when they married. Now she at least had something to turn to if

GOV. LEHMAN STRICKEN WITH APPENDICITIS

New York, Sept. 22—(AP)—Governor Herbert Lehman remained confined to his Park avenue home today under physicians' care after being stricken with an attack of appendicitis.

The governor, his secretary said, was forced to bed Wednesday night but word of his illness did not become known until yesterday evening when a short announcement was made from his home.

Attending physicians said his pulse and temperature had subsided nearly to normal last night, and an operation was not believed necessary at this time.

Despite the fact he first became ill on Tuesday, Governor Lehman went forward with exhausting conferences with bankers and city officials on a plan for saving the city's credit. The plan was passed yesterday evening.

During the entire summer the governor has been absent from official duties made pressing by the special session of the State Legislature, the milk strike and New York City's fiscal emergency.

At the governor's home it was said bulletins on his condition will be issued twice a day, in the morning and the afternoon, until he has recovered.

NORTH COVENTRY

The young people of the Tolland County Rural Promoters gave a shower for Miss Elizabeth Grover, County 4-H club agent of Tolland Monday evening.

The club is made up of senior young people of the 4-H clubs and the group presented Miss Grover with a Universal mixer and a better, besides many small gifts. Miss Grover plans to be married shortly and will continue her work in Tolland county.

Mrs. and Mrs. Paul Griswold and children of Manchester spent the day with Mrs. Ernest Gowdy recently.

Mrs. Storrs Gowdy of New Hampshire is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Ernest Gowdy.

Mrs. Newell Hill visited her brother, Charles Lee, of New Britain Tuesday.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Fragment Society was held at the home of Mrs. Walter S. Havens Wednesday. Miss Kathryn McKnight was taken into the organization. Several other new members are expected to join shortly. President Mrs. Leon H. Austin appointed the following committees for the coming year: Entertainment committee, Mrs. Wallace McKnight; Mrs. John Kingsbury, Mrs. A. B. Porter; missionary committee, Mrs. H. C. McKnight, Mrs. H. D. Barnes, Mrs. Julian Beville; publicity committee, Mrs. Walter S. Havens; flower committee, Mrs. Emil J. Koehler. The board of directors appointed were, Mrs. C. Irving Loomis, Mrs. Floyd Standish, Mrs. Anna Anderson, Mrs. A. Reed. The first undertaking of the group will be the annual harvest supper to be held Oct. 11. The committee in charge is Mrs. Anna Anderson, Mrs. Elsie Koehler and Mrs. Grace Reed. Mrs. Nettie Standish attended the meeting and was hidden away by Coventry people.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Standish started Thursday morning taking Mrs. Nettie Standish to her home in Lansing, Michigan. They plan to make a short stop there and then go on and visit the Century of Progress, returning to Coventry by a southern route.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Abbott of Stafford Springs visited Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Tomlinson, Jr. recently. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tomlinson were classmates at the Conn. State college in the class of 1930.

Herbert Tomlinson of Woodbridge recently visited his son Herbert Tomlinson, Jr.

Poultry club members of Tolland county met at the County Home Thursday evening to attend a farewell party in honor of Edward Walford, poultry extension worker of Connecticut. The group consisted of Mr. Walford with Gladstone traveling bag. Mr. Walford has been connected with 4-H club work in Connecticut for the last six years and has now resigned to accept a position at Hall Bros. poultry plant in Wallingford, Conn. Mr. Walford has done much for 4-H work in Connecticut and will be greatly missed. He spoke saying: "4-H work and folks of Connecticut have meant a great deal to me and I hope to continue club work in some way." He expects to become 4-H leader of the Wallingford 4-H club and has already been appointed on the New Haven county club committee.

Joseph Wood has sold his farm and has moved to Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Strong who have spent the summer months in Coventry moved to Hartford this week.

Miss Cora Kingsbury and John Kingsbury attended the Gutterford fair in Gutterford Wednesday. Miss Kingsbury visited her classmate, Miss Marjorie Beecher.

Saturday evening all Coventry people are invited to attend "Excursion Night at the Grange." Commissioner Olcott King will be the main speaker of the evening. The 4-H Garden club will arrange an exhibit. Everyone is urged to attend.

Choir rehearsal will be held this evening at the church.

North School No. 9 has been invited to attend the flower and pet show to be held at Silver street school Friday afternoon.

Attached to a bird's back, a new instrument can be used to record its motions in the air, revealing the secret of a bird's perfect flight.

MENUS For Good Health

A Week's Supply Recommended By Dr. Frank McCoy

MENUS

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, October 1, 1932:

Sunday
Breakfast—Glass of tomato juice upon arising; Coddled eggs; Melba toast; Pear sauce.

Monday
Breakfast—Real whole wheat bread and peanut butter; Stewed figs.
Lunch—Avocado salad; Cooked beef tops.

Tuesday
Breakfast—Baked eggs; Melba toast; Stewed peaches.
Lunch—Orange soufflé; Glass of milk.

Wednesday
Breakfast—Cottage cheese; Pineapple (fresh or canned).
Lunch—Carrot loaf (grated carrots mixed with chopped celery and baked); Oyster plant; Milk.

Thursday
Breakfast—Orange juice thirty minutes before breakfast; Poached egg on Melba toast; Crisp bacon; Stewed figs.

Friday
Breakfast—xxFrench omelet; Melba toast; Applesauce.
Lunch—Ten or twelve dates; Pint of buttermilk.

Saturday
Breakfast—Oatmeal with milk or cream.
Lunch—Baked sweet potatoes; Cooked celery; String bean salad.
Dinner—Stuffed and rolled round steak (use sliced carrots, celery, parsley and Melba toast crumbs as stuffing, and bake one hour); Salad or raw chopped cabbage and parsley; Prune whip.

FRANKED EGGS: Butter individual baking dishes and break an egg in each. Cover with a tablespoonful of cream and a little salt. Bake in a hot oven till well puffed, then serve at once.

FRENCH OMELET: To two ounces of milk add one egg. Put into a dry frying pan over a slow fire and beat the milk and egg together. Stir and beat constantly so that it doesn't stick to the pan, and continue this until the mixture assumes a jelly-like consistency. Do not fail to keep on stirring the mixture even after it has been taken from the fire, as the frying pan will retain a good deal of heat which will continue to cook the egg. Serve in sauce dishes or egg cups. You will find that one egg prepared with two ounces of milk in this way will serve one person and exactly fill a large self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for the article called Best Ways of Preparing Eggs.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Lost Nerve Power)

Question: C. J. T. writes: "I have been very lame for a long time. One limb lacks the power of the normal one, and I am compelled to use a cane to walk. A specialist told me it was due to a lesion or breaking down of the nerve in that part and that there was nothing to be done. What is your advice?"

Answer: If the nerves supplying the limb have been completely destroyed it is unlikely that you could expect a pronounced improvement only insofar as other nerves might be trained to supply the functions of the destroyed ones. Very careful training of the muscles is necessary to accomplish this. If a careful adherence to proper fasting and dieting produces any improvement, in the functioning of your limbs, you may feel encouraged enough to continue the regimen, repeating the fact at intervals of about a month apart. Sinusoidal electrical treatments and massage may also help. A good Osteopathic or Chiropractic doctor should be able to give you the correct treatments.

(Erysipelas)

Question: Mrs. Caroline S. writes: "I would appreciate it very much if you would give me a general synopsis of erysipelas, its cause, and the food the patient may eat. He is seventy years old

FOOTBALL PLAYERS FINED

New Britain, Sept. 22—(AP)—The last chapter was written in Police Court today to a riot during a football game here last Sunday. Salvatore Malone, coach of the Sons of Italy team of Middletown, and Joseph Malone his brother, fined back on the team, being fined $25 each on a charge of breach of the peace. A similar charge against Nicholas Emma, also a member of the team, was nolle.

Middletown players and fans rushed the umpire near the end of a game with the Pawnees of this city at Willow Brook park when they disagreed with a decision. Policemen Lincoln May sought to intervene and was struck on the side of the head and deprived of his badge and club. Other policemen came to his assistance and fired shots in the air.

STORM WARNING

Washington, Sept. 22—(AP)—The Weather Bureau today issued the following storm warning: "Advisory 10 a. m. conditions remain unsettled over the entire Caribbean area but no definite centers can be located.

KING IN LONDON
 London, Sept. 29.—(AP)—With London wrapped in its first autumnal fog today, the King and Queen reached Hutton station from Balmoral castle, Scotland, after an all-night journey. The Prince of Wales also came back to London. The court will remain at Buckingham Palace for a few days. Then the King and Queen will go to Sandringham, Norfolk.

ODD FELLOWS LODGES TO HEAR MILK STORY

Wives and Friends of Members of Affiliated Orders Welcome to Tonight's Meeting.

The milk question being one of the most important problems confronting the average family today owing to the manner in which the production, sale and distribution is handled the Booster Club of King David Lodge I. O. O. F. announced this morning that wives, friends and members of Sunset Rebekah Lodge would be welcome this evening to hear Clarence K. Peterson tell what is going on. Many requests during the past two days prompted the committee to make this arrangement. The meeting will be open at 8:30 o'clock sharp.

The far reaching effect of the new law enacted in the 1933 General Assembly creating a Milk Control Board in the State of Connecticut is mainly responsible for the present chaotic condition. To create a mutual feeling among producers, dealers and distributors has been a tremendous task and at the present moment far from being settled. The general trend of all the past developments and efforts now being made to equalize all the ramifications will be told at the meeting this evening.

In answer to the many requests that the Booster Club felt that the wives of the members, their friends and the Rebekahs would like the opportunity of hearing the situation explained.

Members of King David Lodge who still have tickets to return for the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs field day are requested to make returns this evening to Charles Lathrop either before or after the meeting.

5 GROUPS WILL SING FOR EMANUEL CHURCH

Beethovens, G. Cief, Children's Chorus, Choir and Old Timers to Share Musical Services.

The Beethoven Glee Club enters its ninth season this fall and has already been rehearsing for three weeks. The club will appear for the first time in public at the Emanuel Lutheran church on Sunday evening, when it will take part in the regular evening service.

The Sunday evening services at Emanuel have been well attended throughout the past year. Assisting in the services during the coming year, the Beethoven club of 65 voices will sing on the first Sunday evening of each month.

The Emanuel choir, a mixed chorus of 40 voices, still sing on the second Sunday evening of each month. On the third Sunday, the Children's Chorus will furnish the music. This chorus consists of voices of children from seven to 14 years of age, numbering 35.

The G. Cief Club, a women's choir of 35 voices, will sing the fourth Sunday and whenever a fifth Sunday presents itself in the month, an organization of the alumni of the choir, known as the "Old Timers", will sing.

This will insure a musical treat for every Sunday evening during the coming season.

PICK QUISS MODERATOR FOR MONDAY'S ELECTION

Registrar Edw. J. Moriarty Names Him Today—Machine Demonstration Today.

Frank Quish of 48 Foster street was selected by Registrar of Voters Edward J. Moriarty as moderator of the town meeting Monday. The registrars are today conducting a demonstration of voting machines in the Municipal building.

The moderator of the adjourned town meeting in High School Hall beginning at 8 o'clock on Monday night will be named by Moderator Frank Quish.

Recruiting for the army does not show any increase in those parts of the country where employment is scarce, contrary to common belief.

CURTAINS BLAZE UP AS GIRL POPS CORN

Blow Over Gas Stove Causing Fire - Neighbor Smothers Flames in Rug - Little Damage.

Mary Grande, age 13, daughter of Mrs. Anna Grande of 40 Church street, was alone at home last evening and decided to pop some popcorn, which decision brought Hose Companies No. 1, 2 and 3 of the South Manchester Fire Department to the scene in answer to an alarm from Box 561 at the corner of Chestnut and Garden streets. The gas stove in the home is located near a window and that's what caused the trouble. A curtain blew over the stove and caught fire, which increased and James Wilson of Garden street, seeing the blaze, rang in an alarm. John Hoffman, age 14, who lives at 38 Chestnut street, also noticed the fire and heard the girl's cries. He ran upstairs and quickly tore the curtain from the window, using a rug to protect his hands. He smothered the fire and when the firemen arrived there was no necessity to turn on the water. Assistant Chief Daniel Haggerty was in charge in the absence of Chief Albert Foy, who is on vacation. The house is owned by Thomas Joyce and the Grande family has been occupying the tenement only six weeks.

OPEN FORUM

THE CEMETERY QUESTION

Editor, The Herald: Your word picture of the East cemetery in Tuesday evening's issue was most beautifully drawn. To us of the older generations who through the years have laid to rest many of our dear ones within the borders of this quiet, peaceful cemetery have come to regard it as a hallowed ground.

How sadly true the words of Oliver Wendell Holmes seem to us as we walk along its shady pathways: "Now the mossy marbles rest On the lips that he has pressed 'In their bloom' 'And the names he loved to hear 'Have been carved for many a year 'On the tomb."

Edgar A. Givens has said "It takes a heap of living that makes a heap of home." It also takes a "heap" of years to make a man a sexton of a cemetery.

Through the years Mr. Duncan has become a part of the picture. In our sad hour of bereavement when hearts are heavy we meet him, not as a stranger, but as an old and trusted friend at a time when kind friends mean so much.

Why must this peaceful scene be invaded by the grasping politicians? Is there nothing they hold sacred? Is even the grave to be no longer a place where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest?

Many of us cannot own houses and lands but we all, sooner or later, own a plot in God's acre. Let us vote "no" and keep the politicians out of the cemeteries until they go there on a one way ticket.

OLD TIMER. Sept. 28, 1932.

URGES "NO" VOTE

Editor of The Herald: Would you kindly allow me a small space in your valuable paper to endorse first your editorial a short time ago, also the article in last Tuesday's Herald in regard to the parks and cemeteries. Truly, if one would take a walk or drive through the East cemetery he could not help but admire the beauty of it and feel, as you say, that the town is indeed fortunate in having a man like Mr. Duncan as sexton to do such wonderful work. And again when one stops to think that when our representative introduced the bill in the Legislature for permission to combine the parks and cemeteries not one word of criticism against Mr. Duncan or his work was given, so in the face of these facts let us as voters and taxpayers go to the polls on Monday and vote "No," thereby still retaining our right to rule and govern such questions. Justice to all.

Since 1918, 1,350,000 houses have been built in England, providing homes for five or six million people.

TWENTY ACRE FARM Large house and barns in excellent condition. Variety of fruit trees. 10 acres of tillable land. Balance is pasture and wood land.

ACCIDENT RE-ENACTED

Torrington, Sept. 29 (AP)—A four-year-old child was re-enacted today as a railroad train and a bus went through the motions of a crash at Schib's crossing, three miles north of Torrington, where such an accident occurred January 24, 1929.

The same engine which was involved in the collision was brought to the scene from Waterbury, and was manned by the same crew. New Haven railroad officials declined to comment on the results of the re-enactment.

In the original accident, the train struck a New England Transportation Company bus, which was turning around at the crossing. The driver, who was later discharged, was injured. It was understood the driver had brought suit against the railroad.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE) The pony was a friendly sort and Scooty cried, "Let's call him Sport. We'll take him to some nice, tall grass where he can graze a bit."

"I'll let he'll love to run around, 'cause he's been locked 'up safe and sound. Why, in that wagon, all that he could do was stand or sit."

"There's long grass back among the trees and you can lead him there with ease," exclaimed the friendly parrot. "Grab the rope. He'll follow you."

"Don't let him. He won't run away. He'd rather stay right here and lay. You Tinymites can all sit down and watch him till he's through."

At first the pony raised up high. Then Scooty shouted, "Ma, oh my, I am not going to hurt you. Act real nice and come along."

"We'll find green grass all in a bunch. Then you can have a gandy lunch. Don't try to be a smarty, Sport. I know that you are strong."

They watched him nibble for a while. Then Scooty shouted, with a smile, "I want a little ride, Sport. It will be a lot of fun."

"My turn is first. Now don't forget. The other will be mad, I'll bet, but they can also have a turn at ridin', when 'm done."

And then the pony swung around and lifted Scooty off the ground, by grabbing him right by the pants. This made the Tinies roar.

"Th' joke" on you, and I am glad, because you are a selfish lad," said Dotty. "Maybe you won't yell for first chance any more."

(Of joll parrot sees some fancy ridin' in the next story.)

A Family Row Is Interrupted! By HAMLIN

SENSE and NONSENSE

A certain woman comes forth with this snappy remark: "A business partner can only disappear with the funds, but a marriage partner can skip out with the stenographer."

The little girl was reading laboriously. "See Mary and the lamb," she read slowly. "Does Mary love the lamb, button-hook?"

Teacher—Why did you say button-hook?

Little Girl—There's a picture of a button-hook here (pointing triumphantly to the question mark).

"EGOTISM AND MUMPS ARE MUCH ALIKE EXCEPT THAT THE SWELLING SHOWS IN DIFFERENT PLACES."

A dinner guest in a Virginia home was telling his host how to prepare ham that would be even better than the famous Virginia ham.

Guest—Place the ham in a deep pan, and the first day soak it in a bottle of rye whiskey and let it cook awhile. The second day, add a bottle of Jamaica rum, and the third day a bottle of port wine, and the fourth day a bottle of Bourbon.

Host (turning to the colored cook)—What do you think of that? Negro Cook—Ah don' know about de ham, but it sho' sounds like mighty fine gravy.

Man (at the breakfast table, as he picked up one of his wife's rolls)—Now, if I were only an ostrich, then—

His Wife (interrupting)—Yes, then I might get a few feathers for that old hat I've worn for the last three years.

This Nero wasn't such a bad sort of a guy. He onlyiddled while Rome burned, whereas he might have played a saxophone.

Man—Say, Higgins, I understand you have Neighbor Pennington's coal shovel?

Neighbor Higgins—I have.

Man—If you'll lend me that occasionally, I'll let you have Palmer's lawn mower next spring when you need it.

If you have been forced to swim rivers, creeks look small to you.

Many a boy goes with a girl because she understands him so well, and then turns her down because she knows entirely too much about him.

Beautiful Girl (who doesn't dance so well)—Oh, what a slippery floor this is, isn't it?

Her Boy Friend (in disgust)—No, I've just had my shoes polished.

Twilight Reverie.

Sittin' quiet in the shadows, Watchin' sunset colors fade, Listenin' to the drowsy prelude Of the crickets' serenade; I can dream my old dreams over When my hours of toil are through, And on dream-paths go a-windin' Over far-off hills to you. Sittin' quiet in the starlight, Dreamin' dreams I love the best, While the breezes in the poplars Ebb a weary world to rest; I can see a moonlight garden Where we parted, you and I, Where you wept as I was leavin' Your hay fever made you cry.

And then, of course, there are the emergency church members, a sort of insurance policy for marriages and funerals.

Young Man—I saw Aurora Borealis all lit up last night. His Sweetheart—Well, what can you expect of these foreigners.

KID YOURSELF INTO THINKING NO ONE ELSE CAN HOLD DOWN YOUR JOB AND SOON THEY WILL APPOINT ANOTHER JUST TO STOP YOUR KIDDING.

A man in prison wrote this: "Personal liberty is a grand thing. It allows a man to make an ass of himself as many times as he pleases."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

With hot cakes on the menu, each good turn always seems to deserve another.

ABOUT TOWN

Walter R. Schober, of 52 Delmont street celebrated his twelfth birthday this afternoon at his home with a party. Games were played, home-made ice cream and cake were served and a jolly time had by all. Among his friends present were Harry Reinborn, Howard Grant, Gordon Dean, Earl Grant and Leroy Schober. Walter is a pupil in the 7th grade in Miss McGuire's room at the Hollister school.

The ladies of the Swedish Congregational church on Spruce street will conduct a food sale tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the J. W. Hale company's store. A wide variety of Swedish baked goods, brown bread and beans will be on sale.

Walter Kochin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kochin of 215 Autumn street, has returned home after spending four months in Salina, Kansas. Walter, who is 17 years old, worked in a garage and in a restaurant. He made a number of friends during his short stay and regrets to leave. It took him only four days to "hitch-hike" home, a distance of 1,700 miles.

Miss Irene L. Vichi of 147 West Middle Turnpike gave a miscellaneous surprise shower in honor of Miss Anna Viminisky of Rockville, who is to be married on October 4 to Feasvante Vichi. About thirty young women friends of the bride-to-be were present and enjoyed themselves with various games. The hostess served a buffet lunch.

A progressive bridge party will begin the season's activities tonight at the Manchester Green Community club. Four prizes will be awarded the winners and all players will be welcome.

Miss Lylian Hutt will be accompanist for David Hutchinson, who will give three vocal numbers at the musicale by Miss Grace M. Adams, tonight at 8 o'clock at the South Methodist church parlors. Miss Hutt is a pupil of Archibald Sessions and is an excellent accompanist. Miss Adams will play a variety of piano numbers and Frank Krieski two selections on the violin. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested.

Rev. Marvin S. Stocking and Mrs. Stocking left today for Bristol, E. I., where Mrs. Stocking will remain with the family of Rev. James E. Greer, while Mrs. Greer, her daughter, remains at the Lying-in hospital in Providence. A son, their second, was born yesterday afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. Greer, who formerly lived in Manchester.

Shining Light Circle of Junior King's Daughters has elected the following officers to serve during the coming year: President, Gladys Braithwaite; vice-president, Beverly Belknap; secretary, Ruby Cordeur; treasurer, Mary Donnelly.
